OPENING PENNIMAN ALLEN THEATRE

Plymouth's Handsome New Theatre Will Be Opened to the Public, Friday Evening, October 25th

A Home Talent Playlet and Eight Big Vaudeville Acts and a Dance In the Auditorium Will Furnish Splendid Amusement; Proceeds Go to Y. M. C. A.

PENNIMAN ALLEN THEATRE AND AUDITORIUM

Plymouth's handsome new playhouse, the Penniman Allen Theatre will be opened to the public on Friday evening, October 25th. The opening of the new theatre has been eagerly looked forward to by our citizens for some time, for everyone is more than anxious to see the interior of the new playhouse. It is going to be a most delightful surprise for those who attend the opening entertainment, for in all of its appointments and equipment, it is right up to the minute, even to the smallest details. Mrs. Kate E. Allen, the owner, and whose public spiritedness made possible the new building, has left nothing undone to provide Plymouth with a playhouse that will compare favorably with the best theatres in the state.

For the opening night Mrs. Allen has decided to put on an entertainment for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., and the proceeds received therefrom will go to that great organization, which is doing so much for our boys "over there." It is most fitting indeed, and very thoughtful and generous of Mrs. Allen that the new theatre be dedicated with such a worthy object in view. It is patriotic and proper.

"Moses and Marmora," is the title of a playlet that will be given by some of Plymouth's best talent. This little playlet abounds in fun and comedy, and there is not a dull moment from beginning to end. The play is being staged under the direction of Mrs. Anna Ward Foster of the Anna Ward Foster School of Dancing and Dramatic Art of Detroit. The following is the cast of characters:

Gertie Gay, a saleslady at Marmora Co. Millinery Department. Mrs. W. T. Pastingill. Mary Mocher, another saleslady. Mrs. E. E. Cooper.

Miss Ann Thorpe, who needs no label. Miss Mary Conner. Miss Waver, a typical shopper. Mrs. H. C. Robinson friend. Mrs. John Quartel, Jr. Mrs. Eminence Blount, a modern mother. Mrs. F. D. Schrader. Francesca Blount, the latest thing in daughters. Gladys Schrader. Miss Optimist, a humorist unafraid. Mrs. R. O. Mimsack. Mrs. Daniel Cherry, an old-fashioned lady. Mrs. F. A. Dibble. Floorwalker. Harry C. Robinson. Scene—A millinery shop. Time—Morning.

Following the playlet there will be a splendid high-class vaudeville program, which will include, Jessica Cree Armstrong, whistler; Harold Jarvis, the noted Detroit singer, and pupils of the Anna Ward Foster School of Dancing and Dramatic Art. Every number is a head-liner that cannot fail to please.

Fitzel's orchestra of Detroit, will be in the orchestra pit, and furnish music for the evening. At the conclusion of the entertainment a grand present will be invited to the Penniman Allen auditorium, adjoining the theatre, where dancing can be indulged in by those who desire. Those who do not care to dance are welcome to come and listen to the music.

The admission to the entertainment at the theatre has been placed at $1.00 and the war tax of 10c, which also includes the admission to the dance at the millinery, or in other words it is two big entertainments for the price of one.

Reserved seats will be on sale at Pinckney's Pharmacy, Tuesday, Oct. 22nd.

PLYMOUTH GOES OVER THE TOP AGAIN

Our Full Quota of $100,050 and Then Some, Has Been Subscribed.

Plymouth has gone over the top in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign by subscribing its full quota of $100,050, and it is expected that there will be quite an over-subscription before the campaign ends, Saturday, October 19th. The members of the committee, under the leadership of Coello Hamilton, chairman, have worked hard to accomplish what seemed to be a herculean task, but the workers were persistent and worked day and night in their efforts toward the successful culmination of the event, and are entitled to much praise and credit for the successful and effective manner in which the campaign was handled.

What made the task more difficult in the campaign just closed was the cutting down of the territory in which the local workers were permitted to canvass. A part of Canton township has been turned over to Wayne by the county committee, while a large number of people of Salem and Superior townships, who have heretofore subscribed through Plymouth, subscribed in their own school districts for the Fourth Loan.

LIVONIA SOLDIER DIES AT CAMP CUSTER

Edward Burger, aged 27 years, son of John Burger of Livonia, died at Camp Custer, last Sunday afternoon, after only a few days' illness from pneumonia. He was a member of the 77th Infantry, and had been stationed at Camp Custer since last July. The remains were brought to Plymouth, Monday, and later were removed to his late home in Livonia. The deceased is survived by his wife, father and five sisters, Mrs. Julius Wolgast of Plymouth; Mrs. W. Hawley, Mrs. G. Trinka, and the Misses Lina and Edna Burger of Livonia.

The funeral was held at Livonia, Thursday afternoon, Rev. B. F. Farber of Detroit, conducting the services. Interment in Livonia cemetery.

The family has the deep sympathy of many friends in their sad bereavement.

Better Dressed for No More Money

"Some men," you have thought, "just naturally look better-dressed than others who spend just as much money." But "just naturally" does not explain it. The secret is that the better-dressed man spends his money to better advantage. Here's the way a good many of them do it: For what others pay for one suit, they buy two. Or they get a suit and an overcoat at the price that others pay for one alone. This can be done if you buy the wear-guaranteed Clotheraft Clothes. These scientifically-tailored garments look well and fit comfortably. You won't be disappointed in them. Why not run in today and try some of them on?

Howard Sly of the U. S. N., was home on a four-day furlough, the latter part of last week. Howard has made one trip to France and back, and had many interesting things to tell, among them the sinking of a submarine, of which he was an eye witness.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS

Met With Painful Accident—While working on the schoolhouse at Farmington, last Friday, Herman Gotschalk accidentally caught his left hand in a rip saw and lost two fingers. He was brought to Plymouth, and is getting along as rapidly as could be expected.

Rabbi Franklin Will Give Lecture—Rabbi Franklin of Detroit, will give an interesting talk in the High School auditorium, next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock. The Woman's Literary club will bear the expense of this lecture, and cordially invites the citizens of Plymouth to attend.

Promoted to Sergeant—Mrs. George Meddaugh has received word that her son, Harlan E. Lake, a member of Co. H, 118th engineers, has been promoted to a sergeant. Sergeant Lake is stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis, Indiana. Mrs. Meddaugh has just recently returned from a visit with her son.

A Quiet Home Wedding—W. H. Blanche of Fowlerville, and Mrs. Charlotte Willetts of this village, were married at the latter's home at 151 Depot street, last Saturday evening. Rev. F. M. Field performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. After congratulations a bountiful wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Blanche will make their home here.

An Interesting Lecture—A very interesting lecture was given by Rev. B. F. Farber in the Presbyterian church, last week Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary society of that church. The subject was "The Great War and World Missions." Several selections were rendered by the choir during the evening.

Eastern Star Met—About thirty members of the Order of the Eastern Star attended the regular meeting, held in Masonic hall, Tuesday evening. After the business session a fine report of Grand Chapter, recently held in Kalamazoo, was given by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. D. Schrader. She attended the convention as a delegate from Plymouth chapter. At the conclusion of her report a rising vote of thanks was extended her. A special meeting of the chapter will be held Wednesday evening, October 30, for the purpose of initiation.

Lecture at School Auditorium—Mrs. Louise M. McIntyre of Winona Lake, Indiana, who spoke here on the Chautauque course, last summer, has been giving some splendid health lectures here, this week. Tuesday evening she spoke to a goodly number in the High School auditorium on the subject of "Physical Preparedness." Wednesday afternoon Mrs. McIntyre gave a talk to women in the Presbyterian church chapel on "What Mothers Should Know?" At this meeting a class in health exercises was formed. This course of six lessons teaches many exercises and ways of caring for our health, which heretofore have gone unnoticed. The members of the class feel that great benefit has already been derived from her instructions.

Methodist Mention—Inspiration and helpful encouragement have already been felt in the church by the presence in the congregation of Rev. G. H. Whitney and family, Mrs. Whitney and daughter, Ruth. Rev. Mr. Whitney is a well known member of the Detroit conference, having served in that capacity during a happy and useful ministry. Retiring from active work this last conference, he has chosen Plymouth as their home, and they are living in their home recently purchased at 1261 Ann Arbor street. Rev. Mr. Whitney has consented to preach from this pulpit next Sunday morning, at the earnest invitation of the pastor.

Rally Day was observed in the Sunday-school, last Sunday, with encouraging results, the classes being large and enthusiastic and ambitious for good records during the coming year. An inspiring patriotic program, entitled, "A Call to the Colors," was presented under the direction of Miss Roxie Jones, and was especially in honor of the Sunday-school boys with the colors. The decorations in autumn leaves and the flags of the allies were very appropriate, arranged by the Sorosis bible class.

All present last Sunday morning seemed to enter into the spirit of the short intercessory service in behalf of the boys represented on the Methodist service flag. As the congregation stood, the names were read from the honor roll, and prayer was offered for their guidance and protection. Many parents and other relatives of the young men were present. There are now twenty-seven names on the honor roll. This very appropriate service will be a feature of the morning worship each Sunday.

The announcement in the rally day service, last Sunday, of the serious illness of one of the Sunday-school members, Kenneth Bartlett, produced a feeling of deep concern through the whole school and special prayer was offered for him.

Pastor and Mrs. Frank M. Field attended a reception, Tuesday evening, tendered to the Detroit Methodist preachers and their wives by Mrs. George O. Robinson at her beautiful home at 425 Cass avenue, Detroit. Mrs. Field and Mrs. G. H. Whitney also went in to the first meeting of the Detroit Methodist Preachers' Wives, last Monday afternoon.

SENDING GIFTS TO SOLDIERS IN THE ARMY

Christmas Parcels for Men With American Expeditionary Forces Aboard.

In an effort to meet the eager desires of the families of men in service abroad, the War Department has decided that each man may receive from his family a Christmas package of standard size, and approximately standard articles. To this end, an arrangement has been completed between the War Department, Post Office Department and the American Red Cross, whereby the latter has undertaken to co-operate in the preparation and mailing of these Christmas parcels. To expedite the plan a large number of specially manufactured cardboard cartons have been purchased by the War Department, which will be distributed through the Chapters to the relatives and friends of men in service overseas.

General Description of the Plan (1) To insure avoidance of duplication and erroneous addresses, army authorities under General Pennington are issuing a Christmas parcel label to each man. This measure is required by shipping space limitations.

(2) The men will be instructed to mail this label to home relatives or friends, who upon receiving it, will present it to the nearest Chapter or Branch headquarters, or such other place as may be designated by the Red Cross. They will secure one carton 3x4x9 inches in size.

(3) The person receiving a carton may fill it with any combination of articles which will fit in it, and which are not barred by the Post Office Department. See list of unmailable articles attached. When completely packed and ready for mailing, the weight of the carton must not exceed three pounds.

(4) Parcels ready for shipment will be presented at place designated where Red Cross representatives will examine the contents in order to: (a) Exclude any articles barred by Post Office Department from Christmas parcels (see attached list). (b) Remove any notes or messages found among the contents. (c) Wrap, tie and weigh the parcels.

(5) Place on the parcel the Christmas parcel label received from abroad bearing the address of the man for whom it was intended. The person sending the parcel shall then, in the presence of the Red Cross representative, affix stamps sufficient to carry the parcel to Hoboken, New Jersey. The postage in charges for Christmas packages shall be at the rate of fourth class or parcel post zone rate.

(6) The Red Cross inspection label certifying as to the complete inspection of the parcel by the Red Cross shall then be placed on the parcel.

(7) Parcels ready for mailing shall remain in the custody of the Red Cross until delivered by its representatives to the Post Office authorities.

No Christmas Parcels Can Be Mailed Later than November 15, 1918. Articles Prohibited in the Mail. The following is a list of the principal classes of articles which are unmailable, whether sent sealed or unsealed: 1. All spirituous, vinous, malted, fermented or other intoxicating liquors.

2. All kinds of poisons and all articles and compositions containing poison. 3. Explosives of all kinds. 4. Inflammable materials, including friction matches. 5. Infernal machines and mechanical, chemical or other devices or compositions which may ignite or explode.

(Note: Under this classification would come cigarette lighters, etc. 6. Liquids and liquefiable articles, fragile articles and other admissible matter when not packed in accordance with the requirements of the postal laws and regulations. 7. All other articles which may kill, or in any wise hurt, harm or injure another or damage or deface or otherwise injure the mails or other property.

Packing Your Christmas Parcels. Nothing should go in a Christmas parcel which will not keep fresh from the time of packing until Christmas. Dried fruits and other food products should be packed in small tin or wooden boxes, one-quarter to one-half pound size.

Hard candy, including chocolate, would probably be safe in tin foil or heavy cardboard boxes, but should be packed in such a way that it could possibly be crushed should be used, as the remaining contents of the package might be spoiled thereby.

Several dainties packed in oblong tin boxes holding each a quarter of a pound will provide a better variety for a parcel than an larger quantity of a single confection.

No liquids nor articles packed in glass should be placed in the package. The officers of the Plymouth Branch of the Red Cross will carry out the details of the plan as above outlined, and ask the full co-operation of our citizens in the matter.

FUNERAL OF WELL KNOWN CANTON MAN

The funeral of B. W. Huston, an old and respected citizen of Canton township, was held from his late home at Cherry Hill, last Friday afternoon, with interment in the Cherry Hill cemetery. He was a man well known, and had been supervisor of his township for several terms. He was also prominent in the Grange. He is survived by a widow and four children, Mrs. Fred Baker of Sheldon; Mrs. W. B. Kelley of Ypsilanti; Milton W., of Nkravaga, Central America, and Frank of Memphis, Tennessee.

A careful inspection of this attractive folder must convince one of the extraordinary value offered in this series of entertainments. Although the prices asked are the same as formerly, excepting the small war tax, a more expensive course was purchased by the committee, including higher priced concert companies. The first number, Monday, October 28th, is given by the famous Spanish cellist, Senor Antonio Sala, assisted by three other artists. Senor Sala was royal court cellist to King Alfonso at Madrid. He was decorated by the king and queen, and was chosen as official cellist for the Coronation ball of 1911. He began his musical career when five years old, giving public concerts at the age of eight. Several Plymouth people heard Sala a year ago with great delight. He appeared on a course costing $1750.

The succeeding numbers follow on the dates named, giving a great variety of high class entertainment: November 28—Charles Howard Plattenburg, popular lecturer, ten years on Ypsilanti platform; appeared in 4 states with universal satisfaction. Subject, "Worms Beneath the Bark." January 3—Saxophone Sextets, representing the highest in musical art, but playing popular novelty numbers for which there is so great demand. Assembled and coached by the grandmaster, Bohumir Kryl. Full orchestra besides the six saxophones.

January 16—Musical Guardsmen, six young men with excellent voices and skilled on numerous instruments, making a real "Singing Orchestra" appear in evening dress for their popular medleys and song hits and in military uniform for their marches and instrumental selections.

February 18—Dr. Preston Bradley, in great demand for lectures in his home city, Chicago. Subjects, "The Future of the World," and "The United States of Tomorrow." April 14—Woodland Singers, a male quartet, with a straight singing program of a novel character suggested by their name, partaking of the spirit of the woods and the great out-of-doors.

These six splendid entertainments in a six hundred dollar course are furnished the people of Plymouth at a cost of twenty-five cents each by advance course or fifty cents by single admissions.

A PLEASING MUSICAL

Glen Ellison, the Celebrated Scotch Baritone, Pleased a Large Audience in the High School Auditorium Last Friday Evening.

Probably a number of people who attended the recital, given last Friday night by Glen Ellison, at High School auditorium, were at first puzzled and disappointed when they discovered a photograph cabinet occupying the center of the stage. They felt that they had begun in going to hearing a charming singer and a clever violinist and naturally thought they had been imposed upon. They were hardly reassured when Glen Ellison appeared on the stage and commenced to talk about "reproduction," "Re-Creation," and other like matter. It finally became apparent that the photograph was to receive assistance from the singer, but even then the mental outlook was not exactly bright.

Mr. Ellison explained the purpose of the recital was to illustrate that Thomas A. Edison, after years of work had achieved an ideal to perfect a musical instrument which would actually Re-Creation music so perfectly that the Re-Creation would be indistinguishable from the original.

This was a broad claim, but it was established before the evening was over for Mr. Ellison actually stood beside the New Edison Phonograph and sang in unison with Mr. Edison's Re-Creation—so-called—"of" his own voice. This would have proved little as his voice might easily have overbalanced the tone of the instrument—swallowed it up—so to speak; but Mr. Ellison did more, to be accurate. He paused from time to time, apparently at random and permitted his Re-Created voice to be heard alone. This gave an opportunity to compare one with the other, and it is no more than just to state that there is no discernible difference in tone quality.

There must have been a slight difference in volume when Mr. Ellison stopped singing, but it was not noticeable for the voice which came from the cabinet was round and luscious with all of the vibrant, pulsating quality of that which came directly from Mr. Ellison's throat. It was only by watching the singer's lips that one could be sure when he sang and when he did not.

Music such as Mr. Edison has given the world is especially gratifying and inspiring in these war times, and it is interesting to know that several thousand New Edisons, especially enclosed in durable tin cabinets, have been furnished to the boys in camp and "over there" without profit to Mr. Edison.

The recital was arranged by the Beyer Pharmacy, and Mr. Beyer is to be congratulated on its success.

He paused from time to time, apparently at random and permitted his Re-Created voice to be heard alone. This gave an opportunity to compare one with the other, and it is no more than just to state that there is no discernible difference in tone quality.

There must have been a slight difference in volume when Mr. Ellison stopped singing, but it was not noticeable for the voice which came from the cabinet was round and luscious with all of the vibrant, pulsating quality of that which came directly from Mr. Ellison's throat. It was only by watching the singer's lips that one could be sure when he sang and when he did not.

Music such as Mr. Edison has given the world is especially gratifying and inspiring in these war times, and it is interesting to know that several thousand New Edisons, especially enclosed in durable tin cabinets, have been furnished to the boys in camp and "over there" without profit to Mr. Edison.

The recital was arranged by the Beyer Pharmacy, and Mr. Beyer is to be congratulated on its success.

FROM OUR BOYS

Friends and relatives of several Plymouth soldiers have received letters from them from away up in the bleak Archangle region of Russia.

September 11, 1918. Dear Mother and Father: I only have a few minutes before this mail goes, and I'll drop a line and say that I am well, and to say more, the whole company in well with the exception of one in a while one will have a cold.

LEE R. SACKETT. P. S.: Did you get my letter from England. Oh, say, yesterday was my birthday, and will say that I hope to spend the next one at home.

We are permitted to publish the following letter from Lieut. Karl P. Miller, former pastor of the Presbyterian church, which will be of interest to his many Plymouth friends:

ship was "hoodooed" and that the ship's crew were "skipped" because their "monkey died yesterday"—that was the ship's mascot—and then there were to be these chapters aboard was a sure sign of—well, almost anything ill. But if there are down-hearted American soldiers aboard they surely are keeping the trifle to themselves.

I would like to tell you something about our crew and ship, but would be sure to write something "cautious." We are observing military hours and habits as far as practical aboard, though as you may well imagine there are many things that can be done at camp, which are somewhat inconvenient on ships—such as twenty mile hikes.

The omnipotent Y. M. C. A. is aboard our vessel, and I understand that not a ship sails without a Y. M. C. A. secretary in with them.

September, Aboard Steamship. My Dear Mr. Henderson: As we were marching to the train to go to port in U. S. A., a fellow officer, who had got my mail before starting, handed me this bill which I enclose, it being the last bit of mail that came to me in America.

Mr. Henderson, I want to thank you for the hospitality you and your wife showed me on my last day in Plymouth, and yes, for the help you gave me in making the last few calls in your machine. I have no doubt you got the portrait to Milton Wisely's parents all right.

Give my kind regards to all the trustees. I expect as time goes on, to get off a letter to each one of them, but if I should not be able to do that, well, I know they will understand and know that I think of them often, and I do not want them to forget me either.

SUPPLY OF SUGAR IS SUFFICIENT

F. S. Neal of Northville, assistant Food Administrator, says: "There is still a sufficient supply of sugar available for all necessary purposes. Because of certain restrictions people are sometimes unnecessarily alarmed. These restrictions are, however, for the purpose of insuring a sufficient supply of sugar at all times for everyone."

Canning and Preserving. "For canning and preserving purposes there is a sufficient supply and the local food representative has authority to approve of purchases for as much as is required in lots of 15 pounds or less. The restrictions are, that the sugar is to be used SOLELY for canning or preserving purposes and for immediate use (within one week.)"

For Home Use. "For home use, the requirements of the two pounds per person per month. This is in addition to the canning sugar. In this requirement householders may have consideration for visitors, threshers, extra help, in the way of a special permit on the sugar card for an extra amount in the same proportion as they themselves are allowed."

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS. The Milford schools took $116.25 in prizes at the State fair. The auto dash factory at Milford has closed down until industrial conditions make it practical to resume operations again.

Rev. A. N. Riley, pastor of the Baptist church at Northville, has tendered his resignation to take effect November 1st.

The Northville fair broke about even financially, after paying $1100 for the new grandstand. The total receipts were $3800.

Congressman Patrick H. Kelley of the Navy Officers' committee of the U. S. congress, will give a lecture on the World War at Northville, Saturday evening, October 19th. The apple crop of Hills' orchards has been sold to Chicago parties at $1.40 per bushel, or $4.20 per barrel. The cost of the apples, including freight, shipping costs, etc., are paid the cost of the latter will have reached $7.50 per barrel by the time they reach the buyer's store house in the big city. The consumer will do well to get them eventually for $4.00 per bushel. And yet no one will be getting one cent of the fair profit at that.—Northville Record.

Dancing More Than Amusement. Dancing is something more than an amusement—it is the outward manifestation of harmony that lies at the heart of things whichever has been and ever will be the idea that the dance is endeavoring to express. The result of research into history seems to prove that dancing is the first art, as it is the earliest impulse that takes an outward embodiment. All nature teaches rhythm, which manifests itself in the waves and tides, in the vibrations of light and sound, and in the harmonious movement of the spheres, and when man began to express his emotions by the rhythmic movements of his body, he was merely taking part in the everlasting "dance of the universe." Rhythm, grace and beauty are the enduring qualities of any or all dances. Dancing contains a message in itself, which if understood and used aright, makes for the betterment of mankind. Dancing, properly interpreted is the outward expression of inner joy, rhythm and melody. Confucius says: "when words, signs and exclamations fail to show the depth and strength of our emotions, we break out at last and all at once into music, poetry and dancing."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE WELFARE HOUSE

London, England.—On August 1, as already announced in a cable dispatch to the Christian Science Welfare House, for the use of the allied forces, was opened at 112 Eaton Square, London E. W. 1. Week after week fresh contingents are being added to the vast American army already transported across the Atlantic; consequently thousands of soldiers and sailors now find a temporary home in the little island from which their forefathers set sail in quest of liberty three centuries ago.

The Christian Science Welfare House is situated in a convenient center, close to the American Embassy and the busy thoroughfare around Victoria Station. Various bus routes pass close by, and tube and underground railway are easily and quickly reached, but the creper-clad house itself stands in a wide, sunny square, where spreading plane trees cast a cool shade in the long, hot summer days.

The house is designed to help and befriend in every way the men of the allied forces. It is actuated by the desire to do everything to make the men feel as much at home as possible. The reception rooms, it is hoped, will provide an accessible place where friends can meet, while for the convenience of the men an information bureau will be open from 10 a. m. till 6 p. m., and a register will be kept of the addresses of those who let rooms or take boarders. The bureau will also be prepared to make arrangements for those officers or men who wish to spend a quiet time in the country, while for those anxious to see something of the sights of London expeditions to interesting parts of the city, including picture galleries and museums, will be planned, and the bureau will always be ready with the names of hosts and hostesses willing to invite officers and men, singly or in small parties to their houses, so that all who desire may share the social intercourse that can only be enjoyed in the midst of home life.

The Christian Science Welfare House, too, has reading and writing rooms, in the quiet of which the men can make themselves at home with their books and papers, or can sit and write their letters undisturbed. A certain number of bedrooms will also be available at the Welfare House, to provide sleeping accommodation at a reasonable price, for men staying in London, and breakfast will be provided at a moderate charge.—The Christian Science Monitor.

HUNDREDS OF U. S. SOLDIERS DROWNED WHEN SHIPS CRASH NEAR SCOTLAND

Many Soldiers Were Taken to Belfast By the British Destroyer Mounsey Which Made an Attempt to Rescue in the Face of a Terrific Gale.

OTRANTO AFTER THE COLLISION WAS DASHED TO PIECES ON THE ROCKS OFF THE SCOTTISH COAST

Reported That Austria-Hungary and Turkey Have Asked for Peace—Crisis Stirs Foe Countries—Germany's Reply to Wilson's Note Drafted Says Dispatches.

A British Port—Three hundred and seventy-two American troops have been lost as the result of the sinking of the transport Otranto in the North channel between the Scottish and Irish coasts in a collision with the steamer Kashmir.

Of 699 American soldiers on board the Otranto, 310 were landed and 17 were rescued alive at the island of Islay.

Three hundred and one men were taken to Belfast by the British destroyer Mounsey, the only vessel which made an attempt to rescue in the terrific gale when the Kashmir, another vessel in the convoy, rammed the Otranto amidships.

Seventeen men were picked up alive on the Scottish coast.

The Otranto after the collision was dashed to pieces on the rocks off the Scottish coast.

The Otranto struck the rocks south of Saligo bay, Islay island, an uninhabited section where the coast line in many places rises straight peaks many feet above.

As the destroyer neared the side of the Otranto the men began to jump from 30 to 40 feet from her decks.

Many Are Crushed.

As the destroyer steered toward the side of the steamer the men leaped too quickly and dropped between the boats. Some disappeared in the water, and others were caught and crushed to death between the vessels and the lifeboats which had been lowered to act as buffers. The destroyer was badly battered.

The captain of the destroyer, each time it was brushed away from the side of the Otranto, again would push near enough for many more men to jump to the deck of his vessel. He described as a veritable rain, the number of men landing on the destroyer.

Many of those who reached the decks of the vessel suffered broken bones or were otherwise hurt.

Destroyer Is Loaded.

Four times the battered destroyer came alongside, and each time the previous scenes were repeated. At the end of the fourth trip she had 310 Americans, 236 of the crew, 38 French sailors and one British officer on board. The bow was full and, having done all possible, she started for port.

The survivors saw the Otranto drifting helplessly toward the rocks as they pulled away toward the Irish coast. The destroyer barely had time to send a brief message when the wireless was carried away. The little overloaded vessel had a rough trip to port.

The American troops on board the Otranto exemplified the noblest traditions of the army for heroism and discipline.

Austria-Turks Ask Peace.

Amsterdam—Austria-Hungary and Turkey have officially informed Germany that they "accept" President Wilson's terms," according to reports here. This, at the present hour, is the latest development in the race between surrender and the greatest military disaster in history.

Since both Austria and Turkey had previously agreed, in Germany, to "accept" President Wilson's 14 principles, their latest declaration saying they "accept" their latest declaration saying "without any qualifying afterthought, means the virtual surrender of Germany's allies—provided, of course, that the brief bulletin announcing the news is substantiated.

As far as Austria-Hungary is concerned the unequivocal acceptance of President Wilson's terms, if authentic, means that she is ready to evacuate the large area of occupied Italian territory, the relinquishing of what ever is left of her military hold on part of Poland, Russia and the Ukraine.

As far as Austria-Hungary's armed forces in the Balkans are concerned they are in the same position as Germany's armies in northern France and Belgium. For them it is not a question of "evacuating," but of retreating fast enough before the Serbo-Italian advance to escape a debacle.

Turkey's troops that had occupied the city of Baku were at last reported being withdrawn posthaste for "purposes of home defense."

Germany's Hand to Be Forced.

The note from her remaining two allies, which is tantamount to the declaration: "We quit, no matter what you do," comes as direct confirmation of what was said in dispatches, namely, that Austria and Turkey, remaining under the American president's silence toward them pending messages from Germany, would exert powerful pressure at Berlin for submission to Mr. Wilson's demands.

On the other hand, the Austro-

Turkish move is expected to facilitate in no small degree such a submission by Germany, since it provides no food for excuse, already voiced in a large section of the German press, "We die of our allies!"

Speeding to Berlin were the heads of all the federal states of the German empire, in answer to a summons from the Kaiser, for a crown council, such as has not taken place since the historic proclamation of Wilhelm I, as German emperor, in 1871.

Luna May Evacuate Territory.

Honolulu—The consensus in authoritative quarters here is that Germany, through Chancellor Prince Max in the Reichstag will declare her willingness to evacuate France and Belgium. The answer to President Wilson's inquiry may contain, it is believed here, a suggestion of what Germany considers "the necessity to clear up certain misunderstandings regarding the basis of negotiations."

Premier of Austria-Hungary Quits.

Budapest, via Vasei—Dr. Alexander Wekerle, the Hungarian prime minister, announced his resignation after an audience with King Charles. Vienna newspapers received here say that a ministerial crisis in Hungary is imminent and that a coalition cabinet is probable.

Turkey Looking for Peace.

London—Reuters Limited says it learns that Turkey has approached the United States with a view to peace.

Women and Housecleaning.

When a woman returns from a month's visit she says "Oh, how I dread to begin cleaning up this house." But she doesn't. You can tell by the gleam with which she seizes the broom and the duster and stirs up a great cloud of dust that she is now realizing that which she has eagerly anticipated all the time she was away. There is nothing a woman enjoys so much as kicking up a dust. For the dust is sure to come down again, and the source of fun is never exhausted.

PRINCE BECOMES A HERO OF ANOTHER ADVENTURE WHICH INCREASES HIS POPULARITY.

Synopsis.—Her father and mother reported lost at sea when the Dunraven, on which they had sailed for Europe, was sunk, Carolyn May Cameron—Hanna's Carolyn—is sent from New York to her bachelor uncle, Joseph Stagg, at the Corners. The reception given her by her uncle is not very enthusiastic. Carolyn is also called by the stern demeanor of Aunt Rose, Uncle Joe's housekeeper. Carolyn is dismayed when he learns from a lawyer friend of his brother-in-law that Carolyn has been left practically penniless and consigned to his care as guardian. Carolyn hears of the estrangement between her uncle and his one-time sweetheart, Amanda Parlow, and the cause of the bitterness between the two families. Prince, the mongrel dog that Carolyn brought with her, and the hoodlum companion of the lone house girl, in disfavor with Uncle Joe, who threatens to dispose of him, but Prince becomes a hero and wins the approval of the Corners by routing a tramp in the act of robbing the schoolteacher.

CHAPTER VII.

A Sunday Walk.

Really if Prince had been a vain dog his ego would certainly have become unduly developed because of this incident. The Corners, as a community, voted him an acquisition, whereas heretofore he had been looked upon as a good deal of a nuisance.

After she recovered from her fright Miss Minnie walked home with Carolyn May and allowed Prince's delighted little mistress to encourage the "hero" to "shake hands with teacher."

"Now, you see, he's acquainted with you, Miss Minnie," said Carolyn May. "He's an awful nice dog. You didn't know just how nice he was before."

Almost everybody went to church and all the children to Sunday school, which was held first.

The Rev. Afton Driggs, though serious-minded, was a loving man. He was fond of children and he and his childless wife gave much of their attention to the Sunday school. Mrs. Driggs taught Carolyn May's class of little girls. Mrs. Driggs did her very best, too, to get the children to stay to the preaching service, but Carolyn May had to confess that the pastor's discourses were usually hard to understand.

"And he is always reading about the 'Begats,'" she complained gently to Uncle Joe as they went home together on this particular Sunday, "and I can't keep interested when he does that. I s'pose the 'Begats' were very nice people, but I'm sure they weren't related to us—they've all got such funny names."

"Hum!" ejaculated Uncle Joe, smothering a desire to laugh. "Flow gently, sweet Afton, does select his passages of Scripture mostly from the 'valleys of dry bones,' I allow. You've got it about right there, Carolyn May."

"Uncle Joe," said the little girl, taking her courage in both hands, "will you do something for me?" Then, as he stared down at her from under his bushy brows, she added: "I don't mean that you aren't always doing something for me—letting me sleep here at your house and eat with you and all that. But something special."

"What is the 'something special'?" asked Mr. Stagg cautiously.

"Something I want you to do today. You always go off to your store after dinner and when you come home it's too dark."

"Too dark for what?"

"For us to take a walk," said the little girl very earnestly. "Oh, Uncle Joe, you don't know how dreadful I miss taking Sunday walks with my papa! Of course we took 'em in the morning, for he had to go to work on the paper in the afternoon, but we did just about go everywhere. If you would go with me," the little girl added wistfully, "just this afternoon, seems to me I wouldn't feel so—so empty."

"Humph!" said Uncle Joe, clearing his throat. "If I'm going to do you any particular good, Carolyn May, I suppose I can take a walk with you."

It was a crisp day—one of those autumn days when the tang of frost remains in the air, in spite of all the efforts of the sun to warm it.

Here and there they stopped to pick up the glossy brown chestnuts that had burst from their burrs. That is, Carolyn May and her uncle did. Prince, after a single attempt to nose one of the prickly burrs, left them strictly alone.

"You might just as well try to eat Aunt Rose's strawberry needle cushion, Prince," the little girl said wisely. "You'll have a sorer nose than Amos Bartlett had when he tried to lick it down with a wood rasp."

"Hum!" ejaculated Mr. Stagg, "whatever possessed that Bartlett child to do such a fool trick?"

"Why, you know his nose is awfully big," said Carolyn May. "And his mother is always worried about it. She must have worried Amos, too, for one day last week he went over to Mr. Parlow's shop, borrowed a wood rasp and tried to file his nose down to a proper size. And now he has to go with his nose all grown and shiny till the new skin grows back on it."

"Bless me, what these kids will do!" muttered Mr. Stagg.

It was just at that moment that the little girl and the man, becoming really good comrades on this walk, met with an adventure. At least to Carolyn May it was a real adventure and she was not to forget for a long, long time.

Prince suddenly bounded away, barking, down a pleasant glide, through the bottom of which flowed a brook. Carolyn May caught a glimpse of something brown moving down there and she called shrilly to the dog to come back.

"But that's somebody, Uncle Joe," Carolyn May said with assurance, as the dog slowly returned. "Prince never barks like that unless it's a person. And I saw something like that."

"Somebody taking a walk, like us. Couldn't be a deer," said Mr. Stagg. "Oh," cried Carolyn May later, "I see it again. That's a skirt I see. Why it's a lady!"

Mr. Stagg suddenly grew very stern-looking, as well as silent. All the beauty of the day and of the glide they had entered seemed lost on him. He went on stubbornly, yet as though loath to proceed.

"Why," murmured Carolyn May, "it's Miss Amanda Parlow! That's who it is!"

The carpenter's daughter was sitting on a bare brown log by the brook. She was dressed very prettily, all in brown.

Carolyn May wanted awfully to speak to Miss Amanda. The brown lady with the pretty roses in her cheeks sat on a log by the brook, her face turned from the path Joseph Stagg and his little niece were coming along.

And Uncle Joe was quite stubborn. He stared straight ahead down the path without letting the figure on the log get into the focus of his vision.

Hanging to Uncle Joe's hand but looking longingly at the silent figure on the log, Carolyn May was going down to the stepping stones by which they were to cross the brook, when suddenly Prince came to a halt right at the upper end of the log and his body stiffened.

"What is it, Prince?" whispered his little mistress. "Come here."

But the dog did not move. He even growled—not at Miss Amanda, of course, but at something on the log. And it was just then that Carolyn May wanted to scream—and she could not!

For there on the log, raising its fat, wicked head out of an aperture, was a snake, a horrid, silent, writhing creature, the look of which held the little girl horror-stricken and speechless.

Uncle Joe glanced down impatiently, to see what made her hold back so. The child's feet seemed glued to the earth. She could not take another step.

Writhing out of the hole in the log and coiling, as it did so, into an attitude to strike, the snake looked to be dangerous indeed. The fact that it was only a large blacksnake and non-poisonous made no difference at that moment to the dog or to the little girl—nor to Joseph Stagg when he saw it.

It was cotted right at Miss Amanda's back. She did not see it, for she was quite as intent upon keeping her face turned from Mr. Stagg as he had been determined to ignore her presence.

Carolyn May was shaking and helpless. Not so Prince. He repeated his challenging growl and then sprang at the vibrating head. Miss Amanda uttered a stifled scream and jumped up from the log, whirling to see what was happening behind her.

Joseph Stagg dropped Carolyn May's hand and leaped forward with his walking stick raised to strike. But the mongrel dog was there first. He wisely caught the blacksnake behind the head, his strong, sharp teeth severing its vertebrae.

"Good dog!" shouted Mr. Stagg excitedly. "Flee dog!"

"Oh, Miss Amanda!" shrieked Carolyn May. "I thought he was going to sting you—did!"

She ran to the strangled wretch and clung to her head. Prince nipped the black snake. Mr. Stagg looked on in amazement. Miss Amanda recovered her feet and her voice simultaneously.

"That a brave dog yours is, little girl," she said to Carolyn May. "And do so despise snakes!" Then she looked directly at Mr. Stagg and bowed gravely. "I thank you," she said, but so coldly, so Carolyn May thought, that her voice might have come "just off an iceberg."

"Oh, I didn't do anything—really I didn't," stammered the man. "It was the dog."

Both looked very uncomfortable. Joseph Stagg began to pick up the scattered chestnuts from the overturned basket. The lady stooped and whispered to Carolyn May:

"Come to see me, my dear. I want to know you better."

Then she kissed Carolyn May and slipped quietly away from the brook, disappearing quickly in the undergrowth.

Joseph Stagg and the little girl went on across the stepping stones, while Prince splashed through the water. Carolyn May was thinking about Miss Amanda Parlow and she believed her Uncle Joe was, too.

"Uncle Joe," she said, "would that bad old snake have stung Miss Amanda?"

"Huh? No; I reckon not," admitted Mr. Stagg absent-mindedly. "Blacksnakes don't bite. A big one like that can squeeze some."

"But you were scared of it—like me and Prince. And for Miss Amanda," said Carolyn May very much in earnest.

"I guess 'most everybody is scared by the sight of a snake, Carolyn May." "But you were scared for Miss Amanda's sake—just the same as I was," repeated the little girl decidedly.

"Well," he growled, looking away, troubled by her insistence. "Then you don't hate her, do you?" the child pursued. "I'm glad of that, Uncle Joe, for I like her very much. I think she's a beautiful lady."

To this Uncle Joe said nothing. "I guess," thought Carolyn May wisely, "that when two folks love each other and get angry the love's there just the same. Getting mad doesn't kill it; it only makes 'em feel worse."

"Poor Uncle Joe! Poor Miss Amanda! Maybe if they'd just try to look up and look for brighter things they'd get over being mad and be happy again."

When Uncle Joe and Carolyn May returned from this adventurous walk Mr. Stagg went heavily into his own room, closed the door and even locked it. He went over to the old-fashioned walnut bureau that stood against the wall between the two windows and stood before it for some moments in an attitude of deep reflection. Finally, he drew his bunch of keys from his pocket and opened one of the two small drawers in the heavy piece of furniture—the only locked drawer there was. He drew forth a tintype picture, faded now, but clear enough to show him the features of the two individuals printed on the sensitized plate.

His own eyes looked out of the photograph proudly. They were much younger eyes than they were now.

And the girl beside him in the picture! Sweet as a wild rose, Mandy Parlow's lovely, calm countenance promised all the beauty and dignity her matured womanhood had achieved.

"Mandy! Mandy!" he murmured over and over again. "Oh, Mandy! Why? Why?"

He held the tintype for a long, long time in his hand, gazing on it with eyes that saw the vanished years rather than the portraits themselves. Finally he hid the picture away again, closed and locked the drawer with a sigh and with slow steps left the room.

Carolyn learns from simple Chat Gormley some things about her financial affairs that cause her much worry. Read about it in the next instalment.

TAKE PHOTOGRAPHS AT NIGHT

Handicaps of Fog and Darkness Have Been Overcome by Development of New Process.

Neither fog nor darkness handicaps the superexposed of the war department signal corps cameras, according to Edward Hungerford, who describes the remarkable progress of wartime aerial photography in Everybody's. He gives some interesting examples:

"I have seen a photograph of a waning moon over Rome—taken by the new process. It is the first real picture of the moon that I have ever seen, although I formerly attempted the thing myself. Most of the moonlight pictures that one sees are 'fakes,' made by photographing the sun in various unusual and artistic phases. But this was real. One could see the tiny pools of water standing in the uneven places of the faggings, the flickering street lamps at the corner. A picture whose reality almost makes it uncanny. And the photographer who took the picture in the rain was arrested by a gendarme as being mentally unsound. He was only released when he took a picture of the lieutenant at the police station and proved beyond a question that he could make good portraits by artificial light."

"I have seen photographs made by this new process from the front row of a theater balcony during the progress of the play; others made in church during vespers and illumined entirely by the candles upon the high altar. The process is very new and it is very wonderful. Moreover, it is susceptible of adaptation to night, observation, both from airplanes and upon the land."

This country now manufactures practically everything along chemical lines

GOOD-BYE BACKACHE, KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

For centuries all over the world, GOLD MEDAL Hamlet OH has afforded relief in thousands upon thousands of cases of lame back, lumbago, sciatica, rheumatism, gallstones, gravel, and all other affections of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs. It acts quickly. It does the work. It cleanses your kidneys and purifies the blood. It makes a new man, a new woman, of you. It frequently wards off attacks of the dread and fatal diseases of the kidneys. It often completely cures the distressing diseases of the organs of the body allied with the bladder and kidneys. Bloody or cloudy urine, sediment, or "brickdust" indicate an unhealthy condition.

Do not delay a minute if your back aches or you are sore across the loins or have difficulty when urinating. Go to your druggist at once and get a box of imported GOLD MEDAL Hamlet OH Capsules. They are pleasant and easy to take. Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill. Take a small swallow of water if you want to. They dissolve in the stomach, and the kidneys soak up the oil like a sponge does water. They thoroughly cleanse and wash out the bladder and kidneys and throw off the inflammation which is the cause of the trouble. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gallstones, gravel, "brickdust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs. Your druggist will cheerfully refund you money if you are not satisfied after a few days' use. Accept only the pure original GOLD MEDAL Hamlet OH Capsules. None other genuine.—Adv.

Heartburn, Belching, indigestion Food Repeating and Nearly All kinds of Bodily Miseries

The first sign of stomach misery usually comes after over-eating. The doctors call it "superacidity." The people say—"sour stomach."

Millions of people who have lost their ambition, energy, courage, vitality and strength—who are weak, pale and listless—who go through life just dragging one foot after another—fired and worn out nearly all the time—nervous, irritable, subject to severe headaches, insomnia, and a long train of physical ills—would be surprised, you dumbofounded, to learn that it is just an acid-stomach that is causing their misery. Yet in nearly nine cases out of ten that is just where the trouble starts.

Now a sour, acid-stomach, or "superacidity," of course, simply means too much acid in the stomach. You can now quickly rid your stomach of its excess acid. A wonderful modern remedy called EATONIC literally wipes it out. It does the work easily, quickly and thoroughly. It makes the stomach pure, sweet, cool and comfortable. It helps you get restful sleep out of every restless hour you can get unless you do get full strength from your food. You cannot enjoy robust, vigorous health.

EATONIC is in tablet form. They are pleasant tasting—just like a lot of candy. They are absolutely harmless. They are not habit forming. They are not addictive. They are not dangerous. They are not expensive. They are not difficult to get. They are not hard to take. They are not hard to keep. They are not hard to use. They are not hard to understand. They are not hard to believe. They are not hard to doubt. They are not hard to deny. They are not hard to dispute. They are not hard to contradict. They are not hard to confute. They are not hard to refute. They are not hard to overthrow. They are not hard to overthrow. They are not hard to overthrow.

WHERE HIS 'CLATS' HAD GONE

Youngster's Ingenious Answer Averted That Threatened "Bad Quarter of an Hour."

A three-year-old youngster was helping his mother on a hot, sultry afternoon by entertaining his little sister, who had been dressed in readiness for some calls later. The babe showed signs of restlessness and the lad was at his wit's end in devising ways to amuse her. Finally he caught a glimpse of the lawn spray, on full force, a few yards away. He pushed the cab under the spray and the baby ceased crying.

A few moments later the mother appeared at the door to see how affairs were progressing and was astounded to see the baby under the spray. She rushed into the yard, picked up her young daughter and then turned to her son sternly:

"I'm surprised! You ought to know better than that! Haven't you any sense at all?"

The youngster looked at her innocently and replied:

"No, mother, I've spent all my cents in the Thrift stamps."

The rod was spared.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

And Then He Wasn't Pleased.

After Thomas Sour, Esq., had been a member of the city council for several years he thought that at the earliest opportunity he would endeavor to get a permanent record of his term of office there. Nothing would be more fitting than to have a street named after him.

After having expressed his desire to several of his cronies on the street Q. T. he got his wish. They had a place named after him:

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR THE CURE OF ALL URINARY AFFECTIONS

Forward!

With no thought of bursting shrapnel and poisonous gases into which they plunge—with every muscle tense, with every faculty of mind alert, with one thought—only—TO FIGHT AND WIN.

That is the way our men are going into battle. When the shrill whistle sounds the advance, out they go—their whole heart in the task before them. No power on earth can hold them back.

Forward!

The same sharp challenge to battle is sounding for us. We must answer in the same proud way—the way of our fighting men—the American way. We must lend the way they fight.

We must show the war-maddened Hun a united American people moving forward shoulder to shoulder, irresistibly, to Victory.

Our task is to supply the money, the ships, the guns, the shells that we must have to win. It is a tremendous task. We must do it as our fighting men do theirs—with the indomitable spirit of Victory.

We must work, and save, and lend with one thought only—TO FIGHT AND WIN.

Get into the fight—with your whole heart. Buy Bonds—to the utmost!

HE WOULD SEE TO SHIPMENT

Old Darkey in No Sort of Doubt as to the Disposition of His "Remains."

Judge Milton C. Elliott of Virginia, counsel of the federal reserve board, told a story last week which quickly spread over all official Washington.

It appears, says the judge, that an old darkey recently applied for a job at high wages at the Du Pont powder plant in Hopewell, Va.

He was ushered into the employment bureau and piled with the usual questions put to all new hands taken on at the works.

"And who would you like to be notified in case of a serious accident?" was asked.

Uncle Jake after a little while thought of two persons who might like to know of his misfortune.

"And, last of all," said one of the examiners, "where would you like your remains shipped?"

"Where would I like my remains shipped?" repeated Uncle Jake in a grumpy sort of voice. "Boes, I've gwine to take 'em away from here right now!"

Preserving Conventions.

"I hear that Jones is a gentleman farmer now."

"Yes, and he's the real thing in that line. Puts evening dress on all his scarecrows at dusk."

Don't Judge Harshly.

Nine times out of ten there is an explanation for what seems unreasonable upon first notice. Wait a while before passing judgment.

Oculist's "Break."

A woman alert of figure and attractively groomed was having her eyes tested. And while the oculist treated them she seemed to think it necessary to explain:

"I'm afraid I have overtaxed my eyes. I use them all day and then read half the night."

The oculist interrupted to contribute his share to the sociability:

"Nothing to worry over. The eyes always need stronger glasses as one gets along in years."

For the barest flush the woman had the appearance of one who has received an unexpected shock. Then she rallied and took another turn:

"Of course, I never thought of that. I ought to realize that I am getting old, but, somehow, I feel so young—inside."

Which shows that one oculist in this town would be in a bad way if his skill was on a level with his tact.—Washington Star.

Smoke in Dark.

"Yes," he said, "I drew a full house the first time in action—two eyes and a nose—high explosive. I may not be so bad, though. There's one eye left and they may save it. Anyhow, I've always wondered if a fellow enjoyed a smoke when he couldn't see the smoke and I've just found out now. You enjoy it just the same, but you've got to lunge to find out if your pipe is lighted."—Stars and Stripes.

In order to get the best of an argument, all you have to do is state your side and walk away.

Love is a great help to the girl who wants to make herself miserable.

Coats of Distinction

Fashion has decided that Coats may be great collared, cuffed and hemmed with fur—belted at waist or loose and cape-y and all-enveloping, whichever mode Milady's stature carries best. Made of rich-looking fabrics, in the warm colorings of autumn and winter. Most any woman can satisfy her preference here—as to line, fabric, coloring and price.

Our Coats are all made of materials which give very satisfactory service. For instance the coats at $25 to $30 are mostly dark shades, some full lined and some half lined. Push and fur trimming are used as are the belts which add so much to the attractive styles.

As the qualities of materials and trimmings vary so do the styles and exclusiveness of design.

Such styles as are offered from $30 up are to be found with only one of each style, giving you the exclusive style for the city. It's time now to get that new winter coat and get the utmost of good out of it this season. This season is different than other seasons inasmuch as there will not be the big sacrifice made on coats at the end of the season. This is easy to understand when one realizes the shortage of coat materials.

Coats at $19.50, $23.75, $25.00, $29.75, $32.50 and up to $65.00

Make up your mind about what you want to pay and then ask us to show you what we have at that price.
