COMMENCEMENT WEEK

CLASS DAY

The class day exercises of the Plymouth High school were held in the auditorium at the school building, last week Wednesday evening, June 18th. The twenty-eight members of the 1919 class were present, and the girls were very attractive in their simple white Peter Thompson suits, while the boys made equally as good appearance in their light trousers and dark coats. The class marched to their seats on the stage to the strains of a march played on the piano by Miss Gladys Schrader, and the program was presented as printed in this paper, each doing his or her part in a creditable manner. The little Japanese song given by eleven of the girls in costume as the concluding number was pleasingly rendered and enjoyed by all present.

COMMENCEMENT

The commencement exercises on Thursday evening were an exceptionally fine closing to a successful school year. The school auditorium was beautifully decorated by the members of the Junior class, and the appearance of the twenty-eight young men and women to be graduated was a sight which brought delight to all who are interested in the future of our community. Millard's seven-piece orchestra furnished excellent music. The chorus by the Girls' Glee Club was surely a treat and credit to the school. The address, "Educating for Democracy" by Prof. Frederick B. McKay was exceptionally appropriate. It was a pleasure, inspiration and help to all who heard it.

ALUMNI

The twentieth annual reunion of the Plymouth High school alumni occurred in the prettily decorated High School auditorium, on Friday evening last. The meeting was called to order by Everett Jolliffe, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Miss Ruth Huston
Vice Pres.—Kenneth Harrison
Sec'y-Treas.—Dorothea Livrance
Executive Committee—Miss Ada Safford, Mrs. Gertrude Hutchins and Miss Edna Mather.

Following the business session a very pleasing program in charge of Robert Jolliffe, was given. Those assisting on the program were: Miss Czarina Penney, pianist, and Harold Jolliffe, whistler. Interesting talks were given by our genial superintendent, George A. Smith, and former superintendent, Prof. Isbell of the Northern High school, Detroit. All present joined in singing popular and patriotic songs, the words of which were chanted on the screen by Rev. F. M. Field. After a social time the guests were invited into the domestic science lunch room, which had been beautifully decorated with ferns and daisies, and were served with ice cream and cake. Among those present were a number of our boys who have recently been in service "over there."

BURGLARS ENTER HOUSE

RESIDENCE OF C. M. MATHER WAS BURGLARIZED LAST FRIDAY NIGHT AND VALUABLES STOLEN.

The home of Charles Mather on Main street was burglarized early last Friday morning. The thieves gained entrance to the house through a kitchen window, which had been left unfastened. The rooms down stairs were gone through, drawers were pulled open and thoroughly ransacked. In one of the pantry drawers the robbers secured $329 in cash, and a diamond ring was taken from the living room. A $100 Liberty bond in an envelope on the table was overlooked, as was also a valuable pin. Officers are working on the case, but as yet no clue to the robbers has been found.

ICE PLANT WILL CLOSE

William Rambo of Marlette, owner of the Plymouth artificial ice plant, announced that the plant will close down tomorrow, Saturday, and there will be no more delivery of ice after that day. Mr. Rambo, who is engaged in business in Marlette, feels that he cannot give the time and attention necessary to operate the plant himself, and has been trying for some little time to dispose of it to local people, but has not succeeded in doing so. He has had several chances to sell the plant to parties who would move the outfit away from Plymouth, but these he has passed up with the hope that he could dispose of the business to someone who would keep it in operation here. The closing of the plant at this time will be a great inconvenience to ice takers here, who are depending upon the local plant for their supply. It is to be hoped that arrangements will yet be made whereby the ice plant will remain in Plymouth. Mr. Rambo informs the Mail that all unused ice tickets will be redeemed by him.

CAMPBELL-FISHER

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fisher on Main street, last Tuesday evening, when their only daughter, Edna E., was united in marriage to Fletcher E. Campbell, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Campbell of this place. The ceremony was performed at six o'clock by Rev. Charles Strasen, pastor of the Lutheran church, in the presence of about thirty relatives and friends, the ringy service being used. The bride was becomingly gowned in pink georgette with bead trimming, and carried sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Sarah Gayde, who wore an attractive gown of figured georgette, and carried sweet peas. Roy Fisher, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The bridal party entered the parlors, where the guests were assembled, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Helen Passaga. After the ceremony a delicious supper was served. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion in pink and white, the same color scheme being carried out for the table decorations. A large jar filled with pink moss roses formed the center piece, the beauty of which was the cause of many remarks of admiration during the evening. The bride and groom are both graduates of the Plymouth High school and are well known and popular young people of Plymouth. Later in the evening they left for their new home in Wayne, which had been chosen by the bride and was in readiness for occupancy. Mr. Campbell is in the employ of the Ford Tractor Plant at Dearborn. Plymouth friends extend their wishes for happiness and prosperity. The following out-of-town friends attended the wedding: Mrs. Roy Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. E. Blue and two sons, Edwin and Raymond, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brubaker of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Hall of Etoite.

NEW CHANGE IN THE POSTAL RATES

Postmaster Brown is already for the new change in postage rates. Supplies of new one-cent postal cards, two-cent stamped envelopes and two-cent stamps have already been received.

Arrangements have also been made to redeem all unused three-cent stamped envelopes and two-cent postal cards held by patrons of the office.

All unused two-cent postal cards and three-cent stamped envelopes will be redeemed from the original purchase for full value by exchanging them for an equal value of postage stamps or envelopes. The redeemed value of stamped envelopes may be applied on the purchase of a new envelope supply. No adhesive stamps of any denomination can be redeemed. Exchange may be made any time on or after July 1, 1919.

Specified cards and envelopes will be redeemed in accordance with the usual redemption rules.

The new postage rates are exactly the same as those in effect prior to November 1, 1917, namely: all first-class matter, letters, (including books) the rate of four cents per each card or stamped envelope; second-class matter, including postal cards and post cards, one cent each. The rates on third and fourth class and postage matter are not affected in any way.

BATTLESHIP MAINE MEMORIAL

CHANCE FOR PLYMOUTH TO GET ONE OF THESE MEMORIAL TABLETS.

Memorial tablets made from metal from the old battleship "Maine" may be secured by cities or military or naval societies, according to Congressman Earl Michener. The cost of the tablets is about five dollars and cost of transportation. If Plymouth or any military organization here wants to obtain such a memorial, Congressman Michener will supply the necessary application papers.

The government has more than 1,800 memorial tablets made from the metal recovered from the wreck of the old battleship Maine, and under an act of Congress, they are now available for municipalities or naval or military societies, and to former officers and members of the Maine, or their heirs.

Requests for memorials may be directed to the secretary of the Navy, who will furnish application blanks and information concerning the cost and delivery of the relics.

ALL READY FOR THE FOURTH

The stage is all set for the big Fourth of July celebration in Plymouth. That it is going to be the biggest event of the kind ever pulled off here goes without saying. There is going to be something doing every minute. As an added attraction the committee have secured the Peace Exposition Shows, which will exhibit from July 1st to 5th. This company carries a merry-go-round and a number of feature shows that will furnish entertainment for both old and young. On another page of this paper will be found a complete program of the day's events. You are cordially invited to come to Plymouth and spend the Fourth. Remember all roads lead to Plymouth, July 4th. Come and have the time of your life.

PERE MARQUETTE CHANGES TIME

One Hundred Bushels More

"I used Pyrox this season and am more than pleased. The vines were green when others were dead and they are yielding 75 to 100 bushels to the acre more than those not sprayed. Its adhesive power can't be beaten."
—HARLAND BARNES, Gardiner, Maine.

You can protect your crops and increase the yields if you spray with Pyrox That Adds to Your Yields!

Pyrox is a smooth, creamy paste which is all ready to use simply by mixing it with cold water. Just measure out the proper amount and mix it with water for your spray solution. Pyrox sticks like paint. Re-spraying is necessary only to cover the later new growth.

Get this Pyrox Crop Book. It tells how to protect your crops against bugs, worms and disease. Ask for a copy.

Are You Seeking the Most Convenient GAS RANGE

Now, we have it in the new style Detroit Jewel "Special." This truly a wonderful range. It is designed to save fatigue in cooking and baking—oven, broiler and cooking top being just the right height.

It is superbly finished, too. Requires no blacking—wipes clean with a cloth, and is white enameled equipped.

Add to all these advantages its gas saving features and exceptional baking ability and you will understand why it is every woman's choice.

If you expect to buy a Gas Range this summer, you should by all means see this range, and learn how reasonably it is priced.

PLYMOUTH IS GROWING
Probably no town of like size in the state is enjoying a more prosperous or substantial growth than Plymouth is today. All of our local manufacturing industries are running at full speed, and each month sees them putting on new members as their production. Quite a bit of property has changed hands this spring. Several new business blocks are under course of construction, and another we understand is contemplated being built this summer. There is considerable activity in the construction of new residences in Plymouth, which continue to be in good demand. There is not a vacant house in the village, and at least fifty could be rented on short order if they were to be had. Plymouth is bound to grow and prosper.

COMMUNITY HARMONY
Stop and reflect—stop and think of the happiest and at the same time the most wide-awake and progressive family you know in Plymouth. Think of the one which most closely illustrates your ideal of family life. Analyze the secret of their success and you will no doubt find it lies in their power of co-operation and compromise. No member insists on carrying out his own wishes regardless of the interests of the others. Each claims a little and yields a little. The real basis of their life is the spirit of mutual helpfulness and forbearance. The community is only a larger family. To accomplish satisfactory results there must be a body of citizens working in harmony. And in order to achieve anything worth while each man must not insist too strongly upon his own wishes and ideas. When he finds they conflict with the ideas of others he must be prepared to yield the less essential details of his plan, or perhaps to attain only part of his object. He must be ready to support his neighbor's pet project, if it is not distinctly an unworthy one. He must learn to control his temper; to use tact and consideration. And, by the way, these are the qualities we must cultivate to work with each other successfully and to do our part in the community life.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
Human nature is pretty much alike wherever you find it, and in Plymouth the same as elsewhere, we find many people hunting something for nothing. They do this despite the fact that thousands upon thousands before them have learned that it is impossible to get it. We may not think we are paying at the time we get it—but in the long run we find we have to settle, and as a rule that thing that appeared to be "free" proved more costly than if bought outright.

We read the other day where a man who has made a fortune by selling through the mails said he always put the word "free" in his ads, and always made that word the biggest one of all. He said people as a general rule will read an ad that has a big black-lettered "free" in it quicker than they will read any other kind. And he said that the one little word, leading people to think they were going to get something for nothing, had really made him rich.

You can't beat it, no matter how hard you try, and the quicker you realize it the better. The mail order houses are not putting the word "free" in their ads just because they are so big-hearted they actually have something to make you a present of. You are going to pay for it in the long run. You are going to find that the very thing you thought was "free" for the asking cost you twice what the same thing could have been secured for here at home. Remember that the next time you pick up a paper and see the little black-lettered word "free" in a mail order advertisement.

GOING TO COLUMBUS

PLYMOUTH PEOPLE WILL ATTEND GREAT CENTENARY EXPOSITION.

The great religious World's Fair, which is now attracting hundreds of thousands of people to Columbus, Ohio, will include at least four people from Plymouth among its visitors. Rev. and Mrs. Frank M. Field will drive through to Columbus, next Monday, taking with them Mrs. H. S. Doerr and Mrs. Fred Lee, and the Plymouth party will spend about seven days at the exposition. It is expected that at least 300,000 people will have attended the exposition before it closes July 13th. The attendance on the opening day, last Friday, was estimated at 27,800.

Besides these four people going by auto, Plymouth has a representative in Lyman Judson, who is one of the one thousand Centenary Cadets, serving as guides, guards and pages at the exposition grounds. The cadets are quartered in the aviation barracks on the University of Ohio grounds, and are having the time of their lives. They are under rigid military discipline with national army officers under the direction of Col. Bush.

During the absence of Rev. Field from the city, the work of the Methodist church will be taken care of by acting pastor, Rev. G. H. Whitney, 1251 Ann Arbor street, who will be available for any pastoral service for which he may be called.

H. J. GREEN, Treas.

OBITUARY

MISS MARY ANDERSON

The friends of Miss Mary Anderson were shocked to hear of her death which occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Robinson, on Maple avenue, Wednesday morning. Miss Anderson had been a teacher in Detroit for several years, and a year ago accepted a position in the Plymouth school, but during the summer her health failed and she was unable to take up her work in the fall, and her sister, Mrs. George Robinson, has filled her position during the past year. Miss Anderson, in hope of regaining her health, went to Arizona in November, but she did not improve as she had expected, and returned to Michigan in March. Since that time she has been staying with relatives in Ypsilanti, until last Saturday, when she came to the home of her sister here. She died at 10:30 a. m. on Sunday. She was survived by her mother, Mrs. Henry Anderson, three brothers and four sisters. The funeral will take place this (Friday) morning at ten o'clock from the home of Mrs. George Robinson. Rev. Karl P. Miller, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this place, will conduct the services. An obituary will be published in next week's issue.

MRS. MARY SMITH

Mrs. Mary Smith, wife of Charles Smith, passed away at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Passage on Church street, early Thursday morning. Mrs. Smith had been in poor health for some time past, and about six weeks ago underwent an operation at Harper hospital. Two weeks ago she was taken to the home of Mrs. Passage. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been residents of Plymouth for the past year, having purchased one of Mrs. L. C. Hall's houses on Dodge street. She is survived by her husband, three brothers and one sister. The funeral services will be held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, this (Friday) afternoon, at one o'clock, Rev. F. M. Field officiating, and interment will take place at Redford.

MRS. N. L. COFFMAN

The remains of Mrs. N. L. Coffman, who passed away at Los Angeles, California, Monday, May 26th, were brought to Plymouth, Wednesday, and burial took place Thursday morning at ten o'clock in the family lot in Riverside cemetery. Mrs. Coffman was formerly Miss Luella Johnson of this place. She had been in Los Angeles for the past two years on account of ill health, tuberculosis being the cause of her death. The deceased is survived by one only sister, Mrs. J. A. Kimmel of Findlay, Ohio, her mother, Mrs. Johnson, having preceded her to the higher life only eight months ago.

MRS. KATE STEVENS

Mrs. Kate Brockway was born in Detroit, September 4, 1847. She was married to Nelson Stevens, November 12, 1865, at Whitmore Lake. Eight children were born to this union, four of whom have passed away. The deceased left to mourn their loss, Mrs. S. M. Florina of Chicago; Mrs. B. M. White of Salem; Thomas Stevens of Detroit, and Charles Stevens of Ann Arbor. Mr. Stevens died on March 29, 1916. Mrs. Stevens passed away Thursday, June 19th, at the home of her daughter Mrs. R. H. White, where she had spent the last fifteen months. A precious soul has gone. A voice we loved is stilled; A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled. The boom his love hath given; And though the body slumbers here, The soul is safe in heaven. The services were held in the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, last Sunday afternoon, and were conducted by Rev. Luther Moore Bicknell, pastor of the Presbyterian church here.

JUVENILE JUNE PARTY

The annual juvenile June party at the Detroit Yacht Club, Saturday afternoon, conducted by Mrs. Underwood, was a lovely scene. Janet and Doris Whipple, Katherine and Julia Wilcox, Barbara and William Bate, Thelma and Rhea Peck and Margaret Goyer deserve the highest compliments for their part in the program.

Inez Cousins, Virginia and E. J. Perry were delightful in their individual work. Dorothea Hurbit was the embodiment of artistic expression in her solo dancing. The composition of Mrs. Mande Sherman, sung by Mrs. Earling Border, were the highest art in rendition and composition. The interesting and always apparent feature of Mrs. Underwood's dancing children is they are ever children dancing with the same freedom and abandon as the bird carolling its message with no thought of attracting the passer-by.

The party closed with a Rainbow Frolic, and the skipping children, daintily attired, tossing the gayly colored ribbons over the wire network made a picture beautiful.

KING'S CORNERS

The Helping Hand society will meet Wednesday, July 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Lena Fisher in Wayne on Norris street.

A little baby girl came to make her home last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Zielasko.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hix were Detroit visitors, Wednesday, the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Dyball.

Eland H. Moore, son of N. I. Moore of this village, graduated from Albion college, Thursday. He has accepted a position as superintendent of schools in the Upper Peninsula.

NANKIN SOLDIER RECEIVES COMMISSION

Robert G. Robinson of Nankin township, who did such creditable service on the battlefields of France, has received a second lieutenant's commission. He is now in the Marine hospital in Washington. Sixteen bullets were taken from his body after the last engagement in which he took part. His commanding officer was killed, hence the services of the Nankin soldier were overlooked at the time. He was connected with the marine aviation service, and is credited with bringing down four German airplanes, two after one elbow was shot away. Lieut. Robinson is expected home within a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gayde pleasantly celebrated their silver wedding at their home on Mill street, last Friday evening. Dinner was served at six o'clock, covers being laid for thirty guests. The host and hostess were the recipients of many lovely gifts. Mr. and Mrs. John Strenk of Detroit, were the out of town friends present.

At the last regular meeting of the Northville village council, that body granted the Plymouth & Northville Gas Co. the right to make a meter rental charge of 25c per month in that village. This same request was made by the gas company here, and the commission will probably take the same action as the Northville council at their next meeting.

Miss Julia MacColleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. MacColleston, returned home from France, Saturday, where she had been for twelve months serving in the capacity of an army nurse with the A. E. F. Miss MacColleston received her preliminary training at Camp Grant, Illinois, where she was stationed for eight months, going from there overseas.

The recital given in the High School auditorium, last Tuesday evening, by the pupils of Miss Anna M. Youngs, was well attended considering the severe storm during the early part of the evening. The entire program was exceedingly well rendered, and the pupils not only did justice to themselves, but credit to their teacher as well. Miss Youngs has a large class in music here, and her friends are pleased to note her success in this work.

A goodly number of friends and relatives attended the recital given in the Methodist church, Wednesday evening, by the pupils of Miss Czarina Penney, assisted by Miss Evangeline Foster. The entire program was pleasingly rendered, and was enjoyed by all present. The marked progress of the pupils since the recital of last year was very gratifying to parents and friends. Miss Penney is one of Plymouth's best musicians, and is also a conscientious teacher. She should be complimented on the success of her work.

No Modern Sickroom is without its Fan

Doctors appreciate the necessity of keeping the air of the sickroom in motion and renewing it frequently. An electric fan, properly placed, will aid ventilation without causing a draft. Its use is essential to summer time comfort in every room of the house. It costs but a trifle to operate.

Presbyterian Notes

Rev. Mr. Bicknell has been called east on account of serious illness in his family. Mrs. Bicknell's sister is dangerously ill in the hospital, and Mr. Bicknell received a telegram Saturday calling him east immediately. He left Monday, and will be gone five weeks when he expects to return here to take up his work again. The services during his absence will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Field of the Methodist church. Next Sunday Mr. Field will hold the union service in the Presbyterian church, and the Sunday following the service will be held in the Methodist church, and so on during the month, alternating between the churches. Let everyone feel his responsibility in keeping up the interest and devotion during Mr. Bicknell's absence and help make the services a splendid success. Watch the Mail for announcements and advertisements of services and plan to be present.

Today's Reflections

The old-fashioned man who used to rock the boat now has a son who tries to see how near he can come to breaking Barney Oldfield's best time.

Shortly after he had drunk a bottle of "near-beer" one Plymouth man said that the fellow who named it "near-beer" was a darn poor judge of distances.

The Kaiser is quoted as saying that he did not want this war. That's right—the kind he wanted was one that Germany could win.

We've often thought what a pity it is that a Plymouth man can't dispose of his experience for what it cost him.

Among other things that Plymouth people never give an editor credit for is spending his time in prayer. And yet every day he spends several hours praying that rollers on the press won't melt.

The only thing that prevents more Plymouth men from kneeling to their wives is that there's a good many cases of rheumatism.

If there is anything more exasperating than to have a wife who can cook and won't do it, it is to have a wife who can't cook and will try it.

About the time the average Plymouth man thinks he has saved up for a rainy day, there comes along an unexpected water-spout.

We also notice that the fellow who wore a long face a few weeks ago while telling how his wheat had been frozen has since buckled down to helping harvest a bumper crop.

If you will study a grouch when you meet him on the streets of Plymouth, you'll find that nothing makes him madder than for somebody to be pleased with something.

It usually happens that the man who hates to garden worse than he hates to work will lament over having to leave the garden if his house is sold and he has to move.

Commissioner's Notice

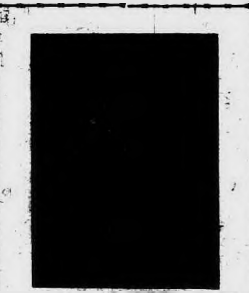

In the matter of the estate of John Reeves deceased, the undersigned having been appointed by the Probate Court for the county of Wayne, State of Michigan, Commissioner to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet at the office of J. N. Passarelli, Plymouth, Mich., in said county, on Saturday, the 2nd day of August, A. D. 1919, and on Thursday, the 2nd day of October, A. D. 1919, at two o'clock P. M. of each said day, for the purpose of examining and allowing said claims, and that four months from the 2nd day of June, A. D. 1919, were allowed by said court for creditors to present their claims to us for examination and allowance. Dated, June 2nd, 1919.

MORE LOCAL NEWS

E. C. Deneau of Memphis, Tenn., has been visiting at C. H. Bennett's, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rea of Kenton, Ohio, were calling on Plymouth friends, Monday.

Clarence Stevens and family of Ann Arbor, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Stevens, over Sunday.

The Misses Catherine and Mildred Goepfer of Indianapolis, Indiana, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Coverdill on East Ann Arbor street.

Mrs. John M. Cool of Brighton, visited her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Cool, on East Ann Arbor street, and other friends here, last week.

Mrs. Wyman Bartlett was taken to Harper hospital, Detroit, the first of the week, where she underwent an operation, Tuesday. She is rapidly improving at this writing.

F. L. Becker brought to the Mail office, Saturday, several stalks of oats all headed out. This is quite remarkable at this time of the season. Mr. Becker also has garden corn all tasseled out.

Mrs. John E. Wilcox left last week for Twin Falls, Idaho, where her husband has been visiting his son for the past few months. Mrs. Wilcox will visit friends at Lawrence, Mich., enroute there.

Postmaster Brown announces the following postoffice schedule for July 4th: There will be one city delivery in the morning; no rural delivery. Postoffice will close at 10:00 a. m. as usual on holidays.

A party of eight drove over from Manchester, Sunday, to spend the day with Supt. and Mrs. G. A. Smith. Five of the number being teachers from that school, it was indeed a happy reunion.

Supt. George A. Smith went to Ypsilanti, Wednesday, where he received his A. B. degree from the Michigan State Normal College. Prof. Smith will attend the University of Michigan summer school during the summer vacation period of the local schools.

In taking the assessment this spring Supervisor N. J. Moore has found that there are 150 dogs in the township. The tax roll for 1919 will show a total increase of $80,000 over that of last year. Mr. Moore attended a meeting of the board of supervisors, Monday, for the equalization of the tax rolls.

Earl Stanbro and Miss Grace Barber of Northville, were married at the Methodist parsonage, last Saturday noon, by Rev. Frank M. Field. The young couple were accompanied by Mrs. Myrtle Dean of Royal Oak, and John Englehart of Ann Arbor. The groom has just recently returned from army service, and is a graduate of the Plymouth High school. They are staying in Northville for the present, but will later reside in Plymouth, where Mr. Stanbro has a position.

State Game Warden John Baird says that small mouth black bass may be taken with hook and line the same as the large mouth bass. No bass under ten inches in length may be taken, and the limit for one person is ten in one day. The law passed by the legislature two years ago which opened the season for small mouth bass July 1 was repealed at the last regular session, and the season for both now opens June 16. Many inquiries have been received at the state game warden's office from fishermen as to whether the law of 1917 relative to the latter season for small mouth bass had been repealed.

FOURTH OF JULY AT LAKE ORION

The greatest celebration in the history of Lake Orion is promised this year, and will cover a period of four days, starting Thursday, July 3rd. Dancing with many other amusements are scheduled for this day, as well as a splendid display of fireworks at night. On the Fourth, Capt. Blondell gives two exhibitions of the Tuscania Disaster and the destruction of the ship, Wm. P. Frye, with gorgeous fireworks displays. Many features are promised for the 5th and 6th as well.

ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS' MEMORIAL

The memorial services of the I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs were held at the Presbyterian church, last Sunday evening, Rev. Bicknell presenting a very fine sermon, and the choir rendered fine music. They say old friends are dearest, whom we've known in days of old; That memory enshrines them in garbs of green and gold. That the past is sweetly hallowed with the reward light of years, That the heart is ever lower, or the things which time endears. Brothers' and sisters' voices are strangely hushed. The laughing eyes, The kindly, loving, tender heart in solemn stillness lies. But cherished memories ever rise of words and smiles as sweet, That made our days with them of joy and happiness complete. Fall gently, snowflakes, o'er the spot that covers their dear face; Blow softly chilling winter winds around their resting place. Call not back our friends who've anchored safely where storms are o'er, On the border land they greet us, soon to meet and part no more. When we leave this land of changes, when we leave this world of care, We will find our friends are waiting in our father's mansion fair; But with faith in God to guide us and assist us from above, We will hope again to meet them in Friendship, Truth and Love.

Talk is being revived of securing the right of way and seeking the construction of a D. U. R. line from Wayne via Romulus to Boston and Flax Rock to Rockwood. This line has been in mind for years. One of the new county parks will no doubt be located along the Huron river below Romulus, and a car line touching same would add greatly to its popularity.

It is reported that a motorcycle cop from Dearborn is making life miserable for drivers who exceed the speed limit of 25 miles an hour on country roads. Several arrests have been made where the guilty parties were going but slightly over the limit, and it begins to look as if Dearborn township was taking this means of adding to funds that are running low. Beware the cop.—Wayne Weekly.

Tourists are requested to avoid the Grand River road between Detroit and Lansing because it is closed most of the way for construction.—Detroit Courier. As a matter of fact there is only a small part of the road from Detroit to Lansing under construction at present, a few miles near Farmington and a few miles between Howell and Fowlerville. We hope there will be a few more miles, between Island Lake and New Hudson, under construction in the near future.—Brighton Argus.

The sale of the Stilsonberg Beach at Whitmore Lake is not to deprive the public of a bathing beach for Groomes' Beach, just east of the Stilson property has been opened up and last Sunday entertained a big crowd of sight-seers and bathers. They have a bath house containing private dressing rooms and lockers to accommodate 200 or more bathers. A water slide for the kiddies is one of the new features and is patronized as largely by the grown people. A diving dock and springboard has also been built. The property is being wired for electric lights, to be used in the big refreshment and ice cream pavilion, the bath house and dock. A free picnic ground has been opened with plenty of space for the parking of autos. The enterprise of the Groomes will no doubt be appreciated by the church societies and schools in this vicinity as an attractive beach and as a conveniently located as Whitmore.—South Lyon Herald.

A long time ago, so long as they were a set of whiskers to be right in style, Ypsilanti had a band and a real band wagon with scroll work on the side. An old photograph which was found in the Henry Hodkins house on Huron street brings to light the above facts. The photograph was undoubtedly taken at the depot in front of the block now occupied by Joe Thompson as a second-hand car sales room, Root's hardware and the McPherson & House grocery. The building in all these years remains the same. The wagon was a six-seated affair with an extra seat for the driver. Four horses were hitched to the turnout. Raised letters on the front of the wagon gave due notice that this was the Ypsilanti Cornet Band. Mr. Al-

The Ford Model T Trucks

The Ford Model T One-ton Truck is now a little over three years old, and we have yet to hear of the first trouble it has given. That's because of the worm drive. Not a bit of the power of the motor is lost through the worm drive. It simply cannot be. Up to the introduction of the Ford Motor Truck, you could only get the worm drive in the highest priced motor trucks. It is too expensive an equipment for ordinary priced trucks. That's one reason why we put it on the Ford Truck. Quality in materials, scientific application of transmission of power, dependability in service and economy in operation are cardinal virtues in Ford production. These are what made the Ford "The Universal Car," and these are the qualities that will make the Ford One-ton Truck "The Universal Motor Truck." In town, in the city, in village and farm, the Ford Motor Truck is the essential necessity because it solves the problem of economical transportation. Come in and let us give you a demonstration. Let us have a chance to point out the superior merits of the Ford Motor Truck. The firm listed below will be only too glad to take your order and give you the delivery with the least delay possible, and assure you of splendid "after service." The Ford Motor Truck sells at $550.00 without the body, but we will supply you with such a body as you may desire.

HEALTH FADS SEEM FOOLISH

After All, Their Devotees as a Rule Lie Down and "Die Like Anybody Else."

Twenty years ago I knew a man called Jiggins, who had the health habit, observes Stephen Leacock in the Dallas News.

He used to take a cold plunge every morning. He said it opened his pores. After this he took a hot sponge. He said it closed the pores. He got so that he could open and shut his pores at will.

Jiggins used to stand and breathe at an open window for half an hour before dressing. He said it expanded his lungs. He might of course have had it done in a shoe shop with a boot stretcher, but, after all, it cost him nothing this way. And what is half an hour?

After he had got his vest on Jiggins used to hitch himself up like a dog in harness and do shadow exercises. He did them forward, backward and hindside up.

He could have got a job as a dog anywhere. He spent all his time at this kind of thing. In his spare time at the office he used to lie on his stomach on the floor and see if he could lift himself up with his knuckles. If he could then he tried some other way until he found one that he couldn't do. Then he would spend the rest of his lunch hour on his stomach, perfectly happy.

In the evenings in his room he used to lift iron bars, cannon balls, heavy dumb bells and haul himself up to the ceiling with his teeth.

He liked it.

He spent half the night slinging himself around the room. He said it made his brain clear. When he got his brain perfectly clear he went to bed and slept. As soon as he woke he began clearing it again.

Jiggins is dead. He was, of course, a pioneer; but the fact that he dumb-belled himself to death at an early age does not prevent a whole generation of young men from following in his path.

They are ridden by the health mania.

They make themselves a nuisance.

They get up at impossible hours. They go out in silly little suits and run marathon heats before breakfast. They chase around barefoot to get the dew on their feet. They hunt for ozone. They bother about pepin. They won't eat meat because it has too much nitrogen. They won't eat fruit because it hasn't any. They prefer albumen and starch to huckleberry pie and doughnuts. They won't drink water out of a tap. They won't eat sardines out of a tin. They won't use oysters out of a shell. They won't drink milk out of a glass. They are afraid. Yes, sir, afraid. Cowards!

And after all their fuss they presently incur some simple, old-fashioned illness, and die like anybody else.

Treaty Will Be Hand-Written. News dispatches from Paris say that the old tradition that treaties shall be written by hand survives, and that Joseph Ciano of the French ministry of foreign affairs, official calligraphist and palater, is writing the new peace treaty.

For about 40 years the post of official illuminator in the French ministry of foreign affairs was held by M. Garapin. He had one love in life—"the pen," to quote his own words, "this simple and marvelous instrument through which human thought is transcribed and forever preserved," one hate—"the vulgar and unesthetic typewriter which prints without art pages that time will not respect."

The official calligraphist not only writes treaties and conventions, but also all the official documents conferring orders of decorations on sovereigns, and all the letters which are sent to them and signed either by the president of the republic or ministers.

Pretty Smart Chickens.

A recent morning a Missouri farmer placed three crates of chickens and five bushels of potatoes in his trailer, hitched the trailer to his automobile and started for town. He was almost there when he discovered he had no trailer. He found he had parted company with it a quarter of a mile from home, and when he got back to it the crates were empty and the potatoes frozen.

He presumed, of course, the chickens had been stolen, and was greatly surprised when he went to the henhouse early next day after breakfast to find every one of the chickens there. Not one was missing. They had all returned home, but how they got out of the crates probably will always remain a mystery.

Army Discipline.

The cistern had sprung a leak, and the master plumber and his demobilized men came to investigate, says a writer in London Evening News. The hole was found, and the master said to his man: "Put a patch on here, Jim," indicating the place with his finger. The patch was fixed, but the cistern still leaked, and the master found that the patch had been put on at the side of the hole. "I put it just where you pointed, guv'nor," said Jim. "I've been two years in the army, and now I always do exactly as I am told."

Letters.

"Do you get any letters about the images of nations?" "Letters!" exclaimed Senator Borah. "I'm keeping the post office busier than the village queen as St. Valentine's day."

HAVE PURPOSE IN WALKING

Noted American Authors Gather Ideas While on Pedestrian Tours Over the Country Roads.

The other day in a little literary gathering upstairs over a bookstore in San Francisco, Bailey Millard writes in San Francisco Bulletin, I heard one more or less famous California author say to another:

"I hear you have bought an automobile. I suppose that's the end of those celebrated walks of yours."

"Not at all," was the reply of the writer addressed. "It only extends them."

"How's that?" "Well, I have had my machine more than six months. I find that an automobile is a fine thing to take you to some place like the Marin hills, where you can go and get a good walk."

Writers as a rule are walkers. They do not necessarily walk because they write, nor do they write because they walk; but almost any of them will tell you that walking, even along a dull street in town, is inspirational. It would seem as if a writer's legs, moving steadily and rhythmically, pump out of his inner consciousness ideas that eventually get upon the printed page.

Lean as a grayhound and brown as a berry, Julian Hawthorne was walking along a country road near Poe's old home in Fordham. I happened to be accompanying him, but was saying very little, for the son of the famous Nathaniel seemed to be in what our good old bromides call a "brown study."

Of a sudden he left my side and darted up a bypath through the woods, springing up the hillside like a deer. After a few minutes he came tearing down again, apologizing for his sudden freak by saying:

"I saw a half-formed idea floating about and thought I would chase it down. It was a mythical idea and a tough one. I have it now and I'm going to put it into a story."

Henry Lewis and David Graham Phillips, two authors with whom I was well acquainted during the latter years of their lives, both took long walks nearly every day and often I accompanied them. While they walked they talked and in the case of Phillips it was wonderful talk. In New York city we used to walk from the Players' club in Gramercy park, not far from Phillips' home to Nineteenth street and to Forty-second street and back again, always along dingy old Fourth avenue. Sometimes we would tramp along as far as Fifty-ninth street and then over the Central park paths.

Phillips told me that but for his walks he never would have been able to write his novels.

Britain Fighting Rats.

In England, where the scarcity of food during the war was a much more serious matter than in this country, they have been giving much more attention to measures to prevent the depredations of rats, and a concrete corn crib is coming into general use throughout Great Britain, which will keep the grain in good condition and at the same time keep the rats out. The interior of the crib is built of concrete blocks with holes in them for ventilation of the building. The floor is of solid concrete, and on the sides where the blocks have openings the inside of the structure is covered with mesh. The trench in the center of the floor is built so that the extension feeder of the corn sheller can be placed in it when shelling out the crib. Short pieces of board are laid over this trench, and are removed as fast as the corn can be shelled. This trench is a labor-saving feature of this corn crib. It has been found by the modern farmer that concrete is the only effective way of fighting rats.

Balzac's Home is Restored.

The home of the famous French author, Honore de Balzac, in the Rue Raynouard at Passy has been reopened as an artists' center. The house had been sadly neglected, but has been restored to present the appearance it had in Balzac's time, with its vestibule painted blue and the original oak carvings and dark red tapestries decorating the apartment where Balzac wrote his masterpieces.

On the table stands the big china coffee-pot from which the author was wont to refresh himself, for Balzac was a mighty drinker of coffee. Old woodcuts and original printing proofs adorn the walls. In the garden the vine that Balzac tended still grows and his beloved lilacs have been replanted there.

In one room there is still the trap-door through which Balzac used to disappear when importunate creditors called.

Matters of Importance.

"Young woman, I have waited here three-quarters of an hour to see Mr. Wadson. How much longer will I have to wait?"

"I can't tell you, sir. He's very busy."

"Won't you mind finding out?"

"Indeed I would, sir. Mr. Wadson is chairman of the grounds committee at the country club. He and the other members of the committee are discussing plans for improving the golf links. I wouldn't dare to interrupt him now if a million dollars were at stake."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Politics and Statesmanship.

"A politician is a statesman out of a job," remarked the superficial cynic. "Not these days," rejoined Senator Sorghum. "A politician is a statesman who is willing to get down to shirt-sleeves and hustle for what he regards as his country's best interest."

Chronic Constipation.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. They also take a good deal of water out of the body, and make you feel like a dried-up mummy. Give them a wide berth.

SUGGESTS GUNS AS POSTMEN

Englishman Cites War Tests as Argument for Plan That Seems to Have Possibilities.

New uses have been found for many things that were invented largely or entirely for war. Submarines may yet assist us in peace time for certain purposes in connection with salvage, airplanes as a means of rapid transport, munition factories for the manufacture of sewing machines. Of these things we have heard much, but what of that first and foremost instrument, the shell?

Men are being demobilized in millions, but shells in hundreds of millions.

A shell has all the points that go to make a good servant and a reliable messenger. It is quick, punctual, certain, accurate, is not unromantic, can travel in all weather, can carry a heavy load 5, 10, 20 or 75 miles, brooks no outsiders on its journey, and is, moreover, available in such immediate and abundant supply that it is a little short of an act of folly to relegate to the scrap heap or war museum, without fair investigation of its potentialities, our vast and wonderful array of artillery.

Every one is familiar with the system of collecting and receiving customers' payments in big shops. The money is put into balls which roll along skeleton tubes to the cashier's desk, where they are unscrewed, the money taken out and the ball sent rolling back with the change and the receipt.

Here is an army of messengers, each of whom is a rolling ball. Do not think that my suggestion that shells should be used likewise is altogether new.

When a brigade is "going over the top" one of the gun teams of the Stokes mortar battery is sometimes told off for a "mysterious purpose." They have been attached, with their gun, to headquarters, and supplied with a strange-looking kind of shell that unscrews to receive messages, which they fire to battalion headquarters across the barrage. The shell contains a smoke cartridge, and when it falls the stream of smoke shows the position so that the battalion signaller can dash from their cover to pick it up.

This method was improvised to meet certain contingencies; it contains, however, the possibilities of infinite extension and elaboration. Instead of the casual Stokes gun, imagine that we are going to use a 9.2 howitzer, which is accurate to a yard in 12 miles—so accurate indeed that a shell could be depended upon to arrive at the appointed spot without the aid of a smoke stream to advertise its position—and can carry not a hastily scribbled note, but a mail of 2,000 or 3,000 letters.

Air Current to Grade Coal.

An interesting method of grading fine coal by means of an air current is in use at an English colliery. The coal is delivered to the washery by a bucket elevator and discharged onto shaking screens. The grading apparatus is fixed immediately over the delivery chute of the elevator, the mixed coal allowed to flow over a hinged weir plate. Immediately under this plate is an orifice through which a powerful current of air is drawn by means of a centrifugal fan. The size of the opening is capable of adjustment by means of a sliding plate. The passing stream of air is brought nearer to or kept farther from the section by adjusting the hinged weir plate, so that any desired proportion of small coal can be drawn off. A deflecting plate is fitted into the receiver, which serves to throw the larger pieces of coal to the bottom; the fine dust, passing with the air through the fan, is finally collected in cyclone separators.

Sir Douglas Haig's Popularity.

The prime factor in Sir Douglas Haig's great popularity among the British armies was undoubtedly the interest he always showed in the boy soldiers. During the many inspections in France it was the invariable practice of nearly all generals—Kitchener and French included—to hurry along the ranks until they came to the old soldiers with the rows of campaign ribbons on their breasts. Sir Douglas Haig always singled out the youngest boys for his attention. You could see them flush and stammer and straighten up with pride at being noticed by the commander in chief. Nor did he ever omit in these early days his special word of thanks "to all those who have left their benches, shops, and offices to help us professional soldiers to see it through."

Banish Pain

THERE is no use talking—in one I can work or play when they are not feeling well and strong. Life, without health and strength, is a mere painful, pleasureless existence.

One of the most important conditions of good health is to keep the kidneys cool and active. When weak or diseased, they do not filter out of the blood the impurities that should be eliminated from the system. When these impurities remain, the blood stream is poisoned and pain and suffering result.

Relief Kidney Pills

Old and well-known. They strengthen and invigorate weak or diseased kidneys and help them do their work. When weak or diseased, they do not filter out of the blood the impurities that should be eliminated from the system. When these impurities remain, the blood stream is poisoned and pain and suffering result. Only one name need be mentioned—Relief Kidney Pills. They are the only pills that will give you relief. They are the only pills that will give you relief. They are the only pills that will give you relief.

Took Warning of Dire Danger Impending to Get Angelina to Leave That Car.

With sundry rattles, clankings and strange noises, the motorcar of obsolete make seemed to have taken into its head to behave in a most uncomplimentary manner.

Out jumped a young and handsome driver and endeavored to coax the car into a better temper by pulling various levers.

"Angelina," said the young man, in tones of trembling emotion, "I'm afraid you will have to get out."

"Oh, George, why?" queried the dainty one.

"Get out," he repeated more anxiously.

"But, George, dear, I want to stay in!" replied the girl, almost tearfully.

"Get out at once!" cried George.

"The holler is going to bust."

Then Angelina obeyed.—London Tid-Bits.

EPISODE NO. 9.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Six pieces of a chart flag are the only key to the location of a treasure buried years before on the Gulf of Mexico.

Certain that Polly and his friends were confined and helpless within the box-car, and that they were speeding to a horrible death in the debris of the railroad wreck that must come.

It seemed like a hopeless task to try and head off that ponderous juggernaut that was rumbling on its way down the grade, and even should he succeed in getting to a certain point ahead of it to all appearance his race would have been a futile one.

Dick and his friends boarded the train to return to Los Angeles, while Scarface and his gang, confident Dick's party were all dead, started for old Mexico, to get the last piece of flag.

"This is Captain Ransome's Son." bend and approaching at dizzying speed; in the opposite direction could plainly be seen the approaching passenger train, but around a bend so it was impossible for the engineer to see the box-car.

Realizing a collision was inevitable, Dick raised his eyes as if in prayer and caught sight of the tell-tale. Like an inspiration he saw a possible chance to save his friends.

From the engine and cars of the passenger train the crew and passengers came pouring as they demanded to know what it all meant.

THREE CENTURIES ON THRONE

Record Made by Emperor Charlemagne is Not Very Likely to Be Duplicated.

In these days when a king's seat on the throne is uncertain, it is interesting to read of the king who sat on his throne and held his scepter in his hand for 300 years.

her before his closest follower had set foot upon the floor of the car. He raised her bodily in his strong arms.

"All well!" he cried as he looked down into her face. It was paler than usual, but she smiled up at him.

"I have had more enjoyable rides, Dick. The worst part of it was that we were shut in here in the dark and could not watch the passing scenery.

"I am afraid I spoiled some horse-flesh in doing it. Talk about your cold shivers as I watched this old caboose sliding down the grade to meet the passenger train!

"She never let a whimper out of her all the way down," said Teel bound in the corner, where he lay huddled.

"She was the gamest one of the bunch," "She No-Afraid white squaw," granted the Indian. "She make fine wife for heap big Injun chief."

"Drawing his knife Dick quickly severed their bonds and once more they stood upon their feet free and safe.

"We're on the last leg of our journey now, men," encouraged Scarface as they left the scene of Dick's exploit behind them. "We've had our ups and downs in this race for the treasure, but at least the coast is clear and all our enemies behind us.

"That girl and that party Dick was sure some tough propositions to handle," returned Roper. "I wouldn't mind having a gal like that for myself. She has got more nerve than an eye tooth and is as smart as they make them."

"And that man of hers, Van Brunt, has got a fist like the hoof of a mule," added Scrawley. "I'm glad that I've seen the last of him. I'd as soon be hit by that box-car, almost, as have him land on me again!" Scarface grinned.

"But we've seen the last of the pair of them. Two or three times we thought they were goners, but each time they bobbed up like a pair of corks. But now they are gone for the last time—and back to them."

Dick, Polly and the others, safe in the security of their Los Angeles home, soon forgot the perils and privations that had undergone and were keen to continue the search for the treasure. It was Dick who first made a definite proposal.

"The sooner we get busy the better chance we will have to beat them to it. They think we have quit for good now, and feeling safe they will be careless. They think they have got the right pieces of flag and that they need only one more fragment to make the thing complete.

"Chief Terriblo, here, says his father used to visit a vaquero named Diaz, who had a horse ranch near San Rafael, on the Altar River, in Sonora."

"He thinks the last piece of the flag is there. Scarface is headed in that direction, and we can head him off."

They started in at once to make ready for their expedition. As they were going into a pretty wild country which was infested by savage Indians and roving bands of guerrillas, Dick was determined that they should leave nothing undone which would help to make the expedition a success.

He had built for himself in Aix-la-Chapelle a tomb with a throne in it, and when he died he was placed in a sitting position on the throne.

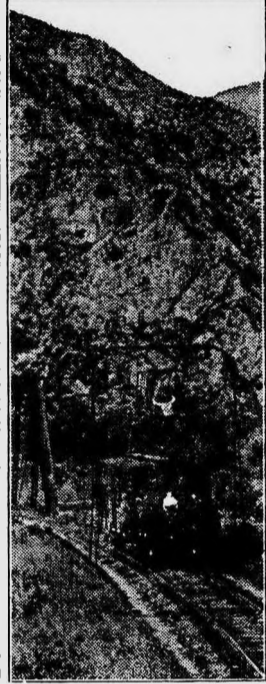

This was in 814. Two hundred years later, Emperor Otto had the tomb opened, and there he still sat, his crown on his head, his scepter in his hand.

Two days later they started across the desert in two touring cars, one carrying a machine gun and equipped with wireless. They met with but one adventure, when they fought off a band of Mexican guerrillas, one of whose bullets punctured a gasoline tank.

Scarface and his men negotiated the trail towards the ranch of Juan Diaz without adventure, save where a mile from their destination, they ran up a blind trail, from which they backed out, finally reaching the cabin and corral of Juan Diaz, the seventh holder of the Riven Flag.

"You saved my life, Senor Bender. I and all that I have are yours."

"This is Captain Ransome's son. We want your piece of the flag, then we'll find out where the treasure is and go and get it and Ransome, here, will do the right thing by you."

Dropped to the Roof of the Car.

Whereupon Scarface told him a long story of their adventures in collecting the pieces of flag which they had, and how they had been continually followed and harassed by a gang of outlaws who also had been in pursuit of the hidden wealth.

Diaz was much impressed by the story of Scarface and became very indignant at the recital of the latter's injuries at the hands of the merciless desperadoes headed by Dick and the girl. He lost no time in telling Scarface that he would keep his eyes open for the others, and if he should run across them he would do all in his power to thwart them.

"Now," said Scarface after he had completely won the Mexican's confidence. "You had better give me that piece of flag that you have so that I can match it up with the other pieces and then we will begin figuring out the combination. Besides, it will be safer in my keeping than in yours, and of course you will go along with us and share with us in everything."

Diaz was easily fooled and gave up his piece of flag and, later, when Dick and his party were seen approaching, believed when told they were enemies of Ransome and agreed to turn them to their death.

Not suspecting treachery, Dick's party followed Diaz up a blind trail, on one side of which rose a sheer cliff. To the edge of the cliff the outlaws had rolled a huge boulder and as the first car, driven by Teel, passed beneath they shoved the boulder over the brink.

Those in Teel's car, hearing the noise, looked up to see the mass of rock in midair directly above Dick's car. They shouted an alarm, but the hapless occupants of the car had no time to leap to safety, and followed by a shower of rocks, the boulder landed squarely on the top of the car and crashed through to the very ground.

GERMAN, ITALIAN CABINETS RESIGN

SCHEIDEMANN MINISTRY QUILTS ON EVE OF TIME SET FOR TREATY SIGNING.

ORLANDO, REJECTED, STEPS OUT

Refused Vote of Confidence By Chamber of Deputies, Italian Premier Hands in Resignation.

Paris.—The Scheidemann government in Germany fell June 26. Scheidemann was understood to be the chief opponent to acceptance of the revised peace terms.

The early reports said Gustave Noake, minister of defense, was forming a cabinet. Previous advices had indicated four members of the Scheidemann cabinet were insisting on signing and it is presumed that this caused the fall of the ministry.

Italian Cabinet Also Quits.

Rome.—Premier Orlando and his cabinet resigned on June 19, following an adverse vote against it in the chamber of deputies.

The chamber of deputies, had, by a vote of 259 to 78, rejected Premier Orlando's motion in favor of discussing the question of confidence, which related to the foreign policy of the government, in secret session.

Premier Orlando had demanded that the chamber meet to hear explanations regarding the foreign policy, and make it a question of confidence in the government.

"Remain faithful to our duties toward the Allies," was a passage in the address of Premier Orlando, which turned the tide against the premier and resulted in the adverse vote which had its sequel in the resignation of the Orlando cabinet.

The premier's words aroused the hostility of the deputies, several shouting across the chamber at the government bench from which the premier was speaking. There was a great tumult and cries of "The Allies have never been faithful to us. Why should we be faithful to them?"

The resignation of the Orlando government had an embarrassing effect on the peace conference, as Premier Orlando has been a member of the Council of Four with Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau and President Wilson.

TENSION ON BORDER IS EASED

Carranza Troops Sent to Protect Americans in Mexico.

El Paso, Texas.—With Mexican federal troops moving to districts where with local officials of both sides taking with local officials of both sides taking a more optimistic view of the situation as a result of announcements from Washington that the Mexican federal government would act to protect Americans from any possible violence, the situation on the border appears more quiet than for some time past.

Scattering bands of Villa men have been reported from various points along the border, but little importance is attached to their appearance, as it is not thought they are acting according to any pre-arranged plan but merely as stragglers from Villa's command, dispersed by American troops last week.

REPUBLICANS TO FIGHT LEAGUE

Congressional Leaders Plan to Trail President On Speaking Tour.

Washington.—Daily conferences are being held by Republican leaders in congress on ways and means for a national campaign to popularize the League of Nations.

While the plans are somewhat nebulous up to date it has been decided to send Senators Borah, Hiram Johnson, James E. Watson, Warren G. Harding and probably Poindexter and McCormick out for a two-weeks' campaign on the president's trail to answer his arguments.

A plan which Republicans have in mind, and which will be a feature of their responsive campaign against the president, is to send ex-Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, to the Pacific coast and back, making a complete "swing around the circle." Beveridge was one of the most outspoken opponents of the proposed league and is an orator of well known capacity.

Fertilizer Prices to Be Reduced.

Washington.—Fertilizers, Department of Agriculture reports, will be 30 per cent lower in price for fall planting.

More Bomb Plots Predicted.

Washington.—The menace of bomb outrages still hangs over the country, in the belief of officials of the department of justice. Wm. J. Flynn, chief of the department's bureau of investigation, said he believed there were "more bombs to come," but said it was impossible to say when the next attempt to create a reign of terror by explosions might be made.

Senate Kills Hope of Wet Leaders.

Washington.—Certain defeat for efforts to have congress exempt beer and wine from operation of the wartime prohibition law was seen in an overwhelming vote of 55 to 11 in the senate against an exemption proposal. By that margin the senate tabled a motion, to add a rider to the agricultural appropriation bill. The sentiment of the senate thus expressed in the first test vote of this congress was taken generally to sound the death knell to "wet" measures.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

The Difference.

She was a very society bred spinster of fifty odd years and she was reproving her nineteen-year-old niece for not showing any more interest in society than she did. In ending her argument, she said: "Why, my dear, when I was your age I was the belle of seven counties."

The niece was provoked. That may be so, auntie," she admitted dryly, "but I see that no young man took the trouble to ring the bells."

Brave Woman.

"I understand you had a burglar scare at your home last night."

"So we did. The fellow got away without stealing anything."

"Did your wife keep cool?"

"Never lost her head for a moment. She asked me if I had kept up the payments on my life insurance, and when I told her I had she said: 'Do your duty, Henry!'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A true philosopher never argues. He mentally concludes his opponent is a fool, and lets it go at that.

In golf as in life traps are always much easier to get into than out of.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curves of line and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as Nitro-Phosphate. It is a simple, inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric acid elements, Nitro-Phosphate produces a wholesome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should disappear. Full eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Nitro-Phosphate is a phosphate which is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness. It should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

The Adjutant's Warning.

With the demobilization of the army some new stories are being demobilized here. One is the story of the bright thought of an adjutant. The commanding officer of a force behind the lines had acquired or "won" (as they say in the army) a cow, and he was much envied by all the messes.

His Escape.

"My least, boy, Barakat, was playing in the dust of the big road tuffer day when a motorcar knocked him gally-winding," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "For a minute I shored thought he was a goner. But he ris up, gave a few high kicks like a chicken with a burr in its neck, a cloud of dust poured out of his mouth and he began to cuss everything and everybody he had ever heered of. 'Thank the Lord!' says I. 'The little feller is all right yet!'"—Kansas City Star.

An Artful Dodger.

"Henry, my dearest friend told me a girl in France is writing to you."

Neat Compromise.

"Sisters of our returning heroes will please line up on the left," said the chairman of the reception committee. "I'm not exactly a sister," said one pretty dame, hesitatingly. "But I promised to be a sister to at least a dozen of these boys. Am I eligible?"

Taking Head.

"You do not seem to take any great pride in your oratorical ability."

Too Soon for That.

I overheard the following conversation between my nephew and a neighbor's son who had just that morning received a new baby brother:

"How much does he weigh?" asked my nephew.

"Oh, they haven't weighed him yet; he isn't big enough to stand on the scales."—Chicago Tribune.

UNION SERVICES FOR MONTH OF JULY

CHURCHES UNITE FOR PREACHING SERVICES.

During the next six weeks and perhaps longer, the Methodist and Presbyterian churches will unite for the preaching services, alternating from one church to the other. Next Sunday the services will be held in the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Frank M. Field, pastor of the Methodist church, will be preacher at both services in the morning he will preach on "The Divine Magnet" and in the evening will discuss the question, "Shall We Know Our Friends in Heaven?" The Presbyterian quartet will furnish special music.

During the first week in July, while Rev. Mr. Field is at the Centenary celebration at Columbus, Ohio, Rev. G. H. Whitney will be in charge, but Mr. Field will return by July 10th, and look after the interests of the two churches until the return of Rev. Mr. Bicknell about August 1st.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY

The Detroit Normal school is now offering unusual opportunities to present and past Wayne county High school graduates, who may wish to qualify themselves for teaching. Advantageous arrangements have been planned both for those who wish to teach in the rural schools, and for those who would like to prepare for city teaching positions. Assistant County Commissioner of Schools Fred Fisher and Principal John F. Thomas of the Detroit Normal, recently addressed the graduating class of our High-school on this matter.

A county institute will be conducted for those who wish to meet certification requirements and for those who wish to make additional preparation for their work. Full credit will be given in all these courses. The dates are June 30 to August 8, and the hours are from 9 to 12. There are no fees to Wayne county teachers or students and no entrance requirements.

A limited number of the graduates of Wayne county High schools may enter the Detroit City Normal on free scholarship to prepare for teaching in the Detroit schools. A number of the present graduates are planning to enter either June 30 or September 8. This offer is open also to graduates of the 1917 and 1918 classes. Anybody interested should consult the local superintendent of schools.

A county normal class will also be established at the Detroit Normal in September. This work is open to all residents of Wayne county, and leads to a certificate that entitles the holder to teach anywhere in the rural schools. This course is one year in length.

The Detroit City Normal is a Detroit public school, conducted under the Detroit Board of Education. Heretofore its graduates have been limited to graduates of Detroit High schools, but the growth of the city has resulted in the above described extension of its facilities to Wayne county people. County Commissioner Eber W. Yost and Acting Superintendent Frank Cody have both taken personal interest in this movement and are enthusiastic about its possibilities for progress in the schools of the county. Teaching as a profession is looking up financially, and is more and more commanding the respect of the community. Young people should give it careful consideration when choosing a vocation.

Most Needed.
 People are often very much disappointed to find the family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all that. Buy it now; it may save life.—Adv.

Willard SERVICE STATION

FOR A QUICKER START

When you start your car, don't try to do it all with the starter button, for that only wastes current. Prime your cylinders and then:

1. Set your controls right, with retarded spark and throttle slightly open.
2. Use your choke to get a richer mixture and quicker explosion.
3. Throw out the clutch and take some of the load off the engine.
4. Then—and not till then—step on the button, and away they go.

There are lots of other little wrinkles that prolong your battery's life and make car operation easier. Drop in and let us post you on them.
