THE IONIANS.

This quartet is made up of a group of ladies who play and sing and read. They feature the accordions and own perhaps the most beautiful set of accordions to be found in Chautauqua work. Both solo and accordion quartets will have prominent places on their program. In addition to their work on the accordion they offer instrumental trios, consisting of violin, cello, piano; violin and cello solos, and readings. They also produce a little play entitled "Second Childhood," which has proved a well-merited hit. They combine genuine musicianship and artistry with the novelty of their accordion work.

THE PRIMARY SCHOOL FUND

The various school districts in Wayne county will receive more money from the state primary fund this year than last. The per capita allowance for each person of school age will be $7.70, which will be quite a boost to rapidly growing districts. By the recent school census taken by Mrs. S. E. Campbell, it was found that there were 683 school children in this district. This is about forty more than last year. This means that Plymouth will receive $5,259.10 of the primary school money.

IMPATIENTLY AWAIT GREAT CIRCUS

RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY COMBINED SHOWS AROUSE A KEEN INTEREST HERE.

"Circus Day," the big holiday for which young and old impatiently wait at this particular season promises to eclipse all other events of the calendar year at Detroit, Monday and Tuesday, July 28 and 29.

It would seem as though everybody in this locality were planning to attend. The very name of the great new circus—Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined—has been sufficient to arouse far more interest than has ever before been shown in the coming of any amusement enterprise. And word from the Ringling Brothers who are the directors of this gigantic super-circus is to the effect that those who attend the performances will witness the greatest program ever presented in America. This is likewise true of the mammoth street parade, which will positively take place showday morning, the mammoth menagerie and all else connected with this biggest of all amusement institutions. The famous showmen have made a complete survey of both the great circuses and merged the finest and best of each into one. Hundreds upon hundreds of performers will appear in the gigantic main tent. There will be scores upon scores of the cleverest dumb actors. A gorgeously costumed pageant of stupendous size, will open the program. Great companies of characters, representing the best loved stories of fable and nursery lore, will appear. There will be splendid and many groups of beautiful horses in jeweled trappings. The army of clowns exceed all past records for fun and numbers. All contribute to the biggest circus in history.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Slade of Detroit, were guests of Mrs. Hulda Knapp, the latter part of last week.

FINE PROSPECTS FOR CHAUTAUQUA

LINCOLN SIX DAYS PROGRAM HERE AUGUST 22 AND 27.

A fine spirit of optimism marked the meeting of the Chautauqua backers at Schrader Bros. store, last Monday evening, every indication pointing to the largest attendance and most successful Chautauqua yet held in Plymouth.

The programs for this season have just been received, and the men who looked over the program seem to think there will be many rare treats. Among the attractions will be a Major General, who saw considerable service and a lot of other things in Russia and Armenia.

Over 400 tickets are already pledged for and these will be gotten into the hands of the buyers within a week or two.

Officers for the Chautauqua committee were chosen as follows: President—F. D. Schrader; Vice President—Frank M. Field; Treasurer—Karl W. Hillmer; Ticket Committee—R. R. Parrott, Calvin Whipple, John S. Dayton; Grounds and Equipment—D. G. Brown, William Sutherland, William T. Pettigill; Transportation and Entertainment—C. H. Bennett, C. H. Rauch, Edward Gayde; Advertising—L. B. Samsen, E. V. Jolliffe, D. G. Brown.

The picnic will be given in honor of the soldiers and sailors of Livonia township, and it promises to be one of the greatest events in the history of old Livonia. The committee who have the arrangements in hand are going to leave nothing undone to make it a gala occasion for all who attend. There will be a basket dinner at noon. Then there will be band music, ball games, athletic sports, dancing, etc. Anyone desiring to secure concessions on the picnic grounds should apply to Charles Wilson, R. F. D. No. 5, Plymouth, or to John Harland, Farmington. More particulars next week.

England to Honor Pilgrims.
Behind the efforts of those who are seeking to link Great Britain and America in a lasting union of friendship two historic episodes stand out in bold relief.

It is almost precisely 300 years since the Pilgrim Fathers set sail from Plymouth in the Mayflower to make, on an undeveloped continent, a brave experiment of self government.

By way of contrast to that great adventure one thinks of that other pilgrimage last year when 2,000,000 heroic soldiers left their homes in America to speed across the Atlantic to the rescue of the old country. They came actuated by that love of liberty which had been handed down to them from the ancient Pilgrims, and with the British brothers they testified on the battle field to the essential unity of the Anglo-Saxon stock.

Water taxes are also due and payable July 1st.

Pardon Recalls Famous Crimes.

A famous crime is recalled by the granting of a decree of pardon to a large number of convicts in Italy. Among those thus pardoned are Doctor Naldi and Tullio Murri, who were sentenced in connection with the murder of Count Bonamartini, Murri's brother-in-law. Count Bonamartini, a Bologna spendthrift, who frequently quarreled with his wife, was found in his flat with his throat cut, in August, 1902. The trial, lasting six months, of the countess and four accomplices in the murder, in 1905, aroused enormous interest throughout Italy.

Works With Hands and Mouth.

They were having an argument on the question of which was the more intelligent, man or woman. Seventy-year-old Dorothy was emphatic in her belief that woman was the superior of man, and nine-year-old Joe was quite as convinced that man was the wiser creature. To prove her point she told of mother's accomplishments, ending with her mending ability.

Honor Before Ease.

MEAT IN HISTORY

And Wondrously Beautiful is the City of Lisbon.

Portuguese Capital Has Had Many Names Through the Centuries—Was Last Stronghold of the Moor in That Country.

The way of a name, especially a well-known name, is interesting to very many people outside the ranks of the confirmed etymologist. The strange way in which, through the centuries, a name, gradually changes and changes until it has really changed out of all casual recognition, yet never quite parts from its original, has a fascination all its own. Lisbon is a very first-class example. No one, ordinarily, would think of connecting the name with Ulysses, and yet your etymologist dives into the subject and so connects it without apparent difficulty. Every one, of course, knows the legend that Lisbon owes its origin to Ulysses. It makes no difference that the mythical city founded by the great wanderer is declared by Strabo to have been rather in the mountains of Hispania. In the extreme south of Spain. Such contentions never make any difference to a well-established tradition. And so the oldest name by which the city ever was known, that is to say, Olisipo, came to be written as Olisippo. This on Phoenician lips, says the authority, appeared as Allimubbo, or the friendly bay. Then came the Romans, changing the name, but selling their appreciation of the happy situation of the beautiful city on the heights above Tugus by calling it Felicitas Julia. After the Romans came the Moors with their Al Aschbuna, still carrying out the same idea, and after the Moors, the Portuguese, with the Allasubbo of the Phoenician carried a step further, and appearing as Lissabona. From that to the Lisboa or Lisbon of today is but a step.

And what a history there is in it! It carries one safely through the centuries, touching lightly on the story of Phoenician, Roman and Moor as each, in turn, held sway along the shores of Friendly bay. Lisbon, indeed, was the last stronghold of the Moor in Portugal, and the story of how King Alfonso I laid siege to it through many months, in 1147, and, at last, with the aid of English and Flemish cruisers on the way to Syria captured it, is one of the great romances of history. Other landmarks and epochs in the history of Lisbon are the burning of the city by the Castilian army of Henry II, in 1373; its period of splendor and greatness in the sixteenth century, when the Portuguese empire was spreading itself into India and Africa; its long years of humiliation from 1580 to 1640, when Lisbon was a provincial town under Spanish rule; its release from the Spanish bondage; the great earthquake of 1755; and the grand rebuilding of the city under the famous Caravhalho.

Caravhalho had a gracious task: Lisbon has always been famous for the beauty of its situation, and few who write about Portugal today fail to attempt, once again, to convey the beauties of its blue waters, its white, red-roofed houses, the wonderful verdure of its gardens, and over all the "peerless blue of a southern sky." "The eyes rest," says one writer, "upon a succession of amphitheaters built up with tier upon tier of houses, great and small, which the sorcery of Lusitanian sunlight transfigures into the semblance of a city of palaces and many mansions built up of marbles of delicate and varied hues." The westernmost of European capitals spreads itself in leisurely fashion over its 11 hills, extending for more than five miles along the shores of the famous Rada de Lisbon, and for more than three miles inland. Beyond the narrow channel leading out of the Rada through which flow the waters of the Tagus lies the open sea, and some 800 miles away over the horizon in the west are the Azores.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Stories They Tell.

They say on Broadway that one of the best-known workmen took a contract to write a book for a new comic opera and received an advance fee of $1,000. When the time came to deliver the work he had not written a line. He did not want to admit this and he did not want to give back the $1,000. So he went to a bookstore, bought the book of an old opera, had it typewritten and read it to his patron.

"That," said his patron, "is the worst I ever heard, Harry. I can't take that mess of junk. It wouldn't last two days on Broadway."

"Let me try again," he begged. So he turned in the book of a big success when the amended date came around. The first book was that of "Patience," by Gilbert and Sullivan.

Make Study of Eugenics.

The eugenics record office at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., is engaged in building up an analytical index of the inherent traits of American families, especially with a view to studying the inheritance of such traits, tracing their recombination in given pedigrees, etc. Down to the beginning of last year the office had on file 534,625 cards indexing individuals who are described in the archives of the establishment, on the basis of surname, natural trait and geographical locality. An elaborate classification of traits has been worked out.

The Joy of Living

Life we must have good. We can reasonably hope to get a good deal of it if we are not too busy to enjoy it. The joy of living is not a matter of money, but of a certain attitude of mind. It is a matter of being able to enjoy the things that are around us. It is a matter of being able to find pleasure in the simple things of life. It is a matter of being able to live in the present moment. It is a matter of being able to love the people who are around us. It is a matter of being able to have faith in the future. It is a matter of being able to have hope. It is a matter of being able to have courage. It is a matter of being able to have patience. It is a matter of being able to have kindness. It is a matter of being able to have gentleness. It is a matter of being able to have meekness. It is a matter of being able to have self-control. It is a matter of being able to have long-suffering. It is a matter of being able to have peace. It is a matter of being able to have joy. It is a matter of being able to have love. It is a matter of being able to have life.

HOLDING FAST TO RELIGION

Writer Refuses to Believe That the American Nation as a Whole is Falling Away.

In our universities we find multitudes of young men who claim adherence to the Christian faith. The indifference of their adherence is in marked contrast to what I observed in the University of Calip, where are thousands of youths, Moslems in name, and also in spirit. Captain Arthur Hent Chute writes in Leslie's.

In Damascus, in Aleppo, in Brno, and in many other cities of the near East, I have often been held up in front of a bazaar by a fishnet drawn across the entrance. On inquiry I was told, "The master has gone to pray." Five times a day throughout the Moslem world the mezzin, or call to prayer, echoes from its minarets, and wherever they may be the faithful bow themselves. Before sights like these I bare my head, and I return to our superficial western cities with less of boasting and pride of spirit.

Two generations ago Emerson was writing his famous essays, in which we read the name of God on every page. In these more superficial times we have not gained by our indifference to that which was the heart of Emerson's message.

Some socialist syndicate will exclaim: "If you will only leave out the word 'religion' we won't object." But I shan't leave out the word "religion," for in that word I see America's greatest need today. There are hypocrites all around and the cynic points me to them, but I answer: "I have seen a good man, the secret of his goodness was religion, and a good life is an argument that I cannot answer."

Despite appearances to the contrary, I believe that America even yet is not so far away from Plymouth Rock. In the cabaret shows, amidst the roof garden follies, and in the gayest whirl, there are many in the giddy throng who still bear like a magic talisman the memory of the white spires of New England.

Sabbatier, the French modernist, says: "Man is innately religious." With especial truth I believe we may say the American is innately religious. This nation had its origin in the struggle of faith. The Huguenot, the Covenanter and the Pilgrim have bequeathed to us a national sentiment whose potency is not merely in the love of our country, but also in allegiance to our God. Therefore, today, our patriotism should express itself, not in flippancy, but in the deepest reverence and devotion. God and the flag are one and inseparable in this land, and the citizen who does not reverence his God can not truly honor his flag.

French Patriot's Letter.

A remarkable story of the patriotism and devotion shown by a French-American family is related in the Petit Nicolas, the continental edition of the London Mail states.

At the outbreak of war a Frenchman named Calles, forty-four years old, who kept a drug store in Los Angeles, Cal., left his wife, daughter and two sons to come over and fight for his native country. He was mortally wounded before Verdun in January, 1915, but before dying had the following cablegram sent to his wife: "I die facing the enemy. Let our two sons come out and take my place in the ranks. Adieu."

On receipt of this cablegram the two sons, Joseph and George, joined up and in due course arrived in France. Joseph was killed in 1917, not far from the place where his father met his death. He was thirty-four and was also a druggist.

There is Nothing Left but to Try to Meet Death Bravely. of this human devil made Dick grind his teeth, and time and again he exercised his great strength against the bonds which fastened him.

simulated being injured, and he saw the resemblance between her and Ransome.
Sipping the locket in his pocket
he rode hurriedly from the scene.

Under Scarface's directions each of the prisoners was tied to a tree with their backs to the cliff. Then the outlaws retreated several yards through the dry grass, which they set on fire, then rode away, leaving their victims to be choked or burned as the wind drove the flames against the cliff.

"There is nothing left but to try to meet death bravely and pray for a swift end," said Dick, and the others nodded. But even as he spoke a knife flashed through the air and buried itself in the tree an inch from his wrists. It was easy, then, to free himself and the others, who in a short time were revived by the cool waters of a brook near by.

On the shore of the Gulf of Mexico
there lived one Lopez, a full-blooded Mexican Indian, who now and then took loads of lumber across the gulf in his two-masted schooner. And one afternoon Scarface and his gang, with the automobile and horses, came to Lopez's shack, and hired the boat to take them across. Leaving the car and horses, with the wireless and other of Dick's equipment in the Lopez corral, all hands set sail for the buried treasure.

At about the same time as a fishing settlement not far distant, Diaz hired a cat-boat and set sail, telling no one of his plans. While scarcely had Lopez's schooner disappeared around the point, Dick and his companions arrived at the Mexican's shack and were told by his wife in answer to questions as to Scarface:
"No wind. You catch um around point—maybe."
Sure enough, less than a mile off shore, her sails flapping idly, lay the schooner in fair view of Dick's party lying behind a sand dune. Only Lopez, smoking a cigarette, could be seen on deck, and Dick rightly surmised the others were below asleep.

HARD TO TRACE ITS DESCENT
Story of the Standard Yard and Its Origin Must Be Accepted With Some Reservation.
The picturesque story of the relation between the length of Henry I's arm and the standard yard which the lord chancellor will disinter from the walls of Westminster palace is one we should all like to accept, writes a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian. But the historical standards have changed so often that there must be many gaps in the chain of descent. If the yard and the pound are as described they must be exact copies of the less romantic standards of the board of trade, which date from no later than 1824. And why proxy Victorians should have buried them in a wall is hard to understand. The oldest standard in existence, so far as I know, is the yard of Henry VII, which should be in the Jewel house, but as it has only 35.983 inches it is no longer good measure. Parliament had a standard troy pound and a new yard constructed in 1760. They were deposited with the clerk to the house of commons, but in the fire of 1834 the pound was lost and the yard injured.
This yard was then lost sight of until 1831, when it was placed in the lobby of the clerk's residence, together with a standard "stone" of 14 pounds.

Youngster Was a Diplomat
After His Explanation, What Was
There for the "Slender" School-mistress to Do?
The principal of a certain Indiana school is very thin. Also she is very sensitive about this quality. At her school no one mentions it.
Recently several of her boys had a long series of quarrels with the boys of the neighboring ward school. The principal talked and talked against fighting, but with no results. The fighting continued. Finally one day, she announced that she would give the combatants at her school a thrashing if any more frays followed. A long time and all was quiet. Then one day came the usual fight and, of course, the inevitable lining up for the
"lickin'."
"Before I punish you, I want you to tell me what you were fighting about this time," the principal told the recalcitrant ones.
All were silent, but finally the least fighter spoke up. "Well, the boys up at that building teased up and said that we had the skinniest principal in town, and we told them you weren't skinny at all, but slender, and then they began fighting."
Needless to say no one got thrashed.

GENERAL MESROP MEYTON AZGAPETIAN

General Mesrop Meyton Azgapetian

The General is an American citizen, but an Armenian by birth. He is a graduate of Robert's College, Constantinople; University of Geneva, Switzerland, and of Columbia University, New York. He served for many years in the Persian army and was aid de camp to the Shah, secretary of the Persian legation in Washington, and is a traveler, writer and linguist. He has but recently returned from Petrograd after two years of active service with the Russian army in the Caucasus.

In speaking of an address delivered in Hartford, Conn., the Daily Courant of October 13, 1918, says: "General Azgapetian was at his best when he spoke of his service with the Russian army. He looked very much the soldier in his plum-colored tunic and blue breeches. His uniform was as striking as the face of the man himself. His decorations were bestowed upon him by the Shah of Persia. He wears the service stripes gained when serving with the Russian army. He told the story of the Russian army which was attacking the Turks in speaking of Turkey, he said she was not averse to massacre. To kill was the only rule of the Government, when her subjects had any grievance—massacre them. The German military leaders detailed the plans of the Berlin gang to willing Turkish soldiers. The men of Armenia were gathered together in squads, herded together till they were killed by the thousands; shot, pushed into the water, starved, anyway to get rid of them. He estimated that the Turks had slain 2,500,000 because Berlin wanted it done."

The General understands perfectly the conditions existing in Russia and Armenia today, and will speak on the evening of the fifth day on "Russian Bolshevism and Its Relation to the American Problem."

ONE THING MORE

Most car owners know that this is the place to have their batteries tested with a hydrometer.

That it is the place to buy a Bone Dry Battery with Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation—which carries with it the evidence of battery newness.

That it is the place to come for battery charging, repair, and a final battery.

But, one thing more—it is the place to come, just as soon as you buy your new car, to have your battery registered and get the benefit of the Willard 90-day battery insurance.

Drive in, whether you have bought a new car or not. Perhaps we can give you some battery information that will mean longer life to your battery and fuller use of your car.

Another Indian burring ground has been found in the gravel pits near the U. S. Steel plant. Nearly every day workers uncover new graves, seven skeletons having been uncovered within the past few days. The skeletons are in sitting posture and faced the east.—Plymouth Record.

The concrete highway construction crew is now pushing the work between Belleville and Romulus, and it will not be many weeks before that important link in our system is also thrown open to the public. Work is also progressing on the extension of the Seven Mile Drive through Northville to the Health farm of the city of Detroit, which also is an important extension.

During the past few weeks earnest action by the Fore Margrette R. R. has been taken which means considerable aid to the commercial development of Redford township and especially as to Redford village and vicinity. About four miles north and a half-mile south and a mile and a half west—in the village of Beach.

At last, because of the location of that village near to Farmington, Redford and Cass counties, all the land and crossing condition of Detroit. And as the railway people have allowed the crossing to be built, the new railway will be a great benefit to the community.

One of the buildings on the new Detroit health farm near Northville will be named in honor of Dr. Victor Vaughan, Jr., a former member of the tuberculosis staff who was recently drowned in France.

Mrs. W. A. Whipple of Plymouth, has bought the driveway, barn and lot between the Robert Thompson home and Mrs. Nettie Simmons' house on Wing street, and will move the building forward and convert it into a pretty residence.—Northville Record.

The Detroit Milk Commission will meet during the present month to fix prices for August, September and October. Producers expect to see the prices hovering near the $4 mark most of the time. There is no surplus and with foreign markets open a big export business is expected in all dairy products.

Closer co-operation between the village schools of Wayne county and the city of Detroit in the matter of uniform courses of study and teachers' salaries will result in the near future if the plans of the superintendents of the village schools and Superintendent Frank Cody are adopted by their respective boards of education.

The usual complaints are being heard about the automobilists from the city who seem to have the idea that they are privileged to help themselves to anything they see in the country that isn't pretty securely fastened down. It is related that a farmer not far from here found a party secretly helping themselves to fruit on his place and seemed to disbelieve the idea that the owner had the first right to it. It is related that the farmer took the number of their luxurious sedan and in the excitement they found it rather expensive fruit.—Milford Times.

The new outer belt line of the Pennsylvania R.R. will scrape along through the village of Dearborn, Michigan, the route is planned in the development of the territory for certain of other industrial projects than the Ford enterprise. As the new transportation system will reach not only the Ford plant but also the other industrial plants in the area, it is expected to be a great benefit to the community.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

It is with much satisfaction that we are able to announce to the motorists of this city and surrounding territory that we have been made an authorized distributor for the Horse-Shoe Tire.

For many months we have carefully been going over the tire field to select the tire which we could recommend with absolute conviction that it represents the utmost in quality and service.

Our choice gradually narrowed down to the tire so good that the demand for it has increased thirty-fold in five years—the result, not of advertising, for it never has been advertised until now, but of downright quality and word-of-mouth recommendation. Today the distinctive Horse-Shoe tread is known to nearly a million motorists as the mark of a great tire.

While the Horse-Shoe Tire is guaranteed for 5,000 miles, it usually doubles and often trebles this mileage. You who know tires and realize that the cheap tire is usually the costliest in the end, we urge to try the Horse-Shoe. Let us put one on your car for you—we will stake our chances of your future tire business on the mileage your first Horse-Shoe gives you.

attractive to large industries. With a couple of hundred new houses under course of construction and others being started as fast as men can be secured to work on the job, Dearborn is today certainly one of the busiest spots in Michigan.—Detroit Courier.

How It Began.

Customary figure as the boy scout has become in the United States, General Baden-Powell's visit added much to American knowledge of the movement. A good many newspaper readers were probably surprised to learn that it owes its beginning to the Boer war and the siege of Mafeking, without which it may be questioned whether there would be any boy scouts. In command at Mafeking, General Baden-Powell looked far beyond the siege and saw that a great and useful organization of boys might be developed from the corps of boy messengers organized to serve the forces holding that hard-pressed town. That was the beginning of it, but the same force of character that defied Mafeking carried forward the boy scout idea until it was generally recognized as a project for character building rather than encouraging militarism in the young. Another bit of information that probably surprised many Americans was that Baden-Powell is descended on his mother's side from Capt. John Smith.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Model T Trucks

The Ford Model T One-ton Truck is now a little over three years old, and we have yet to hear of the first trouble it has given. That's because of the worm drive. Not a bit of the power of the motor is lost through the worm drive. It simply cannot be. Up to the introduction of the Ford Motor Truck, you could only get the worm drive in the highest priced motor trucks. It is too expensive an equipment for ordinary priced trucks. That's one reason why we put it on the Ford Truck. Quality in materials, scientific application of transmission of power, dependability in service and economy in operation are cardinal virtues in Ford production. These are what made the Ford "The Universal Car," and these are the qualities that will make the Ford One-ton Truck "The Universal Motor Truck." In town, in the city, in village and farm, the Ford Motor Truck is the essential necessity because it solves the problem of economical transportation. Come in and let us give you a demonstration. Let us have a chance to point out the superior merits of the Ford Motor Truck. The firm listed below will be only too glad to take your order and give you the delivery with the least delay possible, and assure you of splendid "after service." The Ford Motor Truck sells at $650.00 without the body, but we will supply you with such a body as you may desire.

Thirty-one lots have been sold during the past few weeks. We want to sell them all and sell them before we have to close the books. Money in the bank may earn you 4 or 5 per cent. It is not unreasonable to assume that money invested in lots so close to the city will earn you 10 per cent. The lots in this subdivision are all small, and will make the perfect investment for all who want to invest in real estate. In fact, it has already been sold in several instances. If you don't want that, we believe the lots are a safe investment. They are small and convenient in size. They are in a desirable location. They are in a desirable location.
