Geraldine Farrar and Wallace Reid in "THE DEVIL-STONE." How many people are there in this partially enlightened world who still shudder at the appearance of a black cat in a storm? Educated as we are in the fallacies of the superstitious beliefs of our forefathers, we still preserve some of the relics of superstition which cast a spell of gloom over commonplace occurrences. The sinister influences of an ancient superstition have a great part in the story of "The Devil-Stone," the latest Artcraft release, produced by Cecil B. de Mille with Geraldine Farrar as the star.

MICHIGAN CROPS SHOW DECLINE

Lansing, Mich., August 9, 1919. From the excellent prospects that prevailed on July 1, a marked decline in all crops has taken place since.

The estimated yield of winter wheat is 19.5 bushels per acre, which is considerably above the ten-year average, and the largest crop in the last fifteen years, except that of 1915.

Corn withstood the effects of the dry weather to a remarkable degree, and only small local areas "died" to an extent beyond recovery.

Barley suffered similarly with oats, the condition declining from 70 to 65 per cent during the month. The yield will be about 19 bushels per acre, which will give a total production of 5,369,000 bushels.

Some Tires "Climb"

DID you ever wonder why it is often so hard to "stay in the ruts" when driving over poor roads?

Usually you will find the reason in your tires.

Many so-called non-skid treads tend to "climb" up the sides of ruts—the fancy bumps and ridges of rubber on the sides of the tread act like the climbers which telephone linemen strap to their legs.

HORSE-SHOE TIRES have no such tendency. They are anti-climb as well as anti-skid. They run true and straight on rough roads—and noiselessly on paved streets.

This is just one of the reasons why experienced motorists, when buying tires,

Today's Reflections

Why is it that no Plymouth man wants his wife to interfere in his business, and yet he never gets into the kitchen but he has a lot to tell her about how to run hers.

Germany has hit on a plan to pay off her laborers in meat and bread. At the present state of the market meat and bread is about all the workers in this country get.

We don't want to appear as one who would take the joy out of life, but we can't help warning Plymouth people that the man who isn't looking after his winter fuel is going to be mighty sorry a little later on.

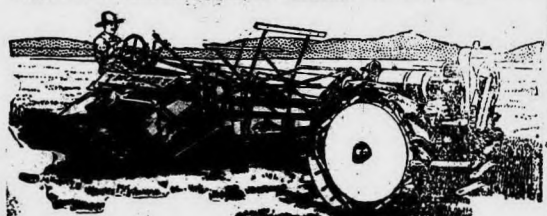

We see where one paper likens the Chicago packer to Judas. Yes, but if it were Judas, even Judas grew ashamed and went out and hung himself.

Of course every Plymouth man ought to be liberal with his wife, but there is no sense in furnishing her with enough money to hire a divorce lawyer.

If clothing prices keep on soaring, a lot of us fellows here in Plymouth will soon be writing to Germany for quotations on paper pants.

The wealthiest citizen we have in this country today is the one who can make two ears of corn grow where but one grew before.

WILSON ASKED TO RETRENCH

SPECULATORS STORE SUPPLIES FOR RAISE AFTER STRIKERS WIN, IS CHARGE.

EXPORTS MAY BE PROHIBITED

Prices Are Higher Than Last Year and Stocks in Storage Are Larger.

Washington—President Wilson has been requested in a joint resolution introduced by Chairman Campbell, of the rules committee, and Senator McCormick, Republican, Illinois, to submit not later than December 1, such reductions in estimates of government expenditures as will permit an annual reduction of one billion dollars in taxation next year.

Another resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Myers, Democrat, Montana, relating to the high cost of living, asked the senate judiciary committee to report whether legislation to prohibit exports for a limited time, at least, of foods, clothing and other necessities, would be advisable.

Although prices of practically all important foods have shown a substantial increase during the last year, stocks of food held in storage June 1 this year were approximately 20 per cent greater than those held June 1, 1918, according to a memorandum showing the relation between storage figures and prices issued by the federal trade commission.

Government stocks were excluded from the comparison.

"The fact that stocks of many important foods were much larger June 1 this year than on the same date last year," said the commission's statement, "while prices were as high or higher, apparently means that they are being withheld speculatively for a world demand which is not now here, but which is expected when hunger-impelled strikes secure higher wages with which higher food prices are to be paid."

To show that the law of supply and demand is not working, the commission listed eight staple foods which on June 1 showed an increase in stocks withheld from the market ranging from 9 to 388 per cent over stocks on June 1, 1918, and in each instance there was shown to have been a substantial advance in the wholesale price during that period.

Fowl Prices Go Up.

Stocks of frozen fowls showed a maximum increase of 288 per cent and the price, despite this fact, increased three cents a pound.

Wheat stocks showed an increase of 174 per cent, with an increase in price of 31 cents; flour stocks, an increase of 31 per cent, with an increase in price per barrel of nearly $3; egg stocks, an increase of 9.8 per cent, with an increase in price of 11 cents, and butter stocks an increase of 139 per cent, with the price soaring 13 cents above last year's figure.

Salt beef, canned salmon and canned corn completed the items in this table, the latter showing an increase of 91 per cent in stocks with an increase in price.

Wheat Price Stands.

Director Julius H. Barnes, of the grain corporation, decided to maintain the government's guarantee on wheat at $2.26 a bushel as a "reserve protection against a higher price later."

At the conclusion of a day's activity by the president, the sub-committee of the cabinet appointed by Attorney General Palmer and by the attorney general himself, announced. Several were made of these immediate steps to be taken and of the government's wheat policy.

In a lengthy statement, showing why the price of wheat would rise but for the government guarantee, Director Barnes promised a readjustment of flour prices at the expense of the national treasury as authorized by congress, if later developments indicated a world price for wheat lower than the guaranteed price.

Steps will be taken by the grain corporation to sell standard export flour in every community of the country in carload lots at a price not greater than $10 a barrel, Mr. Barnes announced. This price, he added, is lower by $1 a barrel than any price ruling during the last four months.

Mr. Barnes said the grain corporation is buying the new crop so as to sell flour at $10 a barrel in any community where prices are now improperly high. This is regardless of the wheat price.

The government is spending one and a half billion marks ($275,000,000) in an attempt to bring food prices to a permanently low level. The cutting in half of the cost of living is the direct result of the railroad strike. The railroad men asked for higher wages and accepted cheaper food as a compromise.

This was decided on by the Michigan milk commission at its thirty-second session at which both producers and distributors of the state were given a hearing. The commission held in the highest increase ever in milk prices in spite of the fact that a large number of distributors agreed both that such a small increase in price to the consumer would have been their opinion, if a limited quantity of milk was to be sold.

Inquirer Might Be Excused for Thinking Old Lady Was Gone Beyond Recall.

Concerning the cheese that made Limburger famous, a bulletin of the National Geographic society quotes a communication from William Wisner Chapin as follows:

"Limburger is sometimes called the garden of Holland. Of the celebrated relish known as Limburger cheese it has long been a query how an article of food made from delicious material and considered such a delicacy can possess so obnoxious an odor and still retain its self-respect. This peculiarity has made Limburger cheese responsible for many amusing incidents.

"A Dutch-American rural citizen once went to town to make some purchases, among which was some of this odoriferous commodity. For convenience he placed it in a long box in the wagon behind the seat. Happening to stop on the road, an inquisitive acquaintance approached and asked what the box contained.

"In answer he raised the lid and replied, 'I have my grandmother.' "Well," rejoined the inquirer, as he caught a whiff of the contents, 'she's not in a trance."

Practical Man. "Helen's lips are drifting down," quoted the literary person. "Now, that's my idea of a poetical line."

"It is rather pretty, I guess," said Mr. Gawker, who hasn't a thought outside of business. "I'm glad you mentioned it."

"Then you are a lover of poetry?" "No, but that quotation reminds me that I have an engagement in about half an hour with a chap who wants to sell me the state rights to a new type of street sprinkler. I believe there's money in it."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The pen may be mightier than the sword, but it isn't in it with the pretty typewriter.

Its Effect. "How did you like the moving picture play?" "I thought it was real nice."

Funeral a Picnic for Dog

Rover Had Quite a Good Time While on His Way to His Last Resting Place.

A big picnic was planned and I was slated to transport the refreshments and a crowd of relatives to the picnic grounds, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. I placed the boxes and baskets containing the sandwiches, cake, friend chicken, etc. in a trailer, hitched the trailer to my car, already filled to overflowing, and started gayly on my way.

A huge dog, belonging to my aunt accompanied us, and I had the misfortune to run the heavily loaded machine over him, killing him instantly, as we all thought. My aunt was deeply affected and insisted that I take Rover's body along and bury it beside the river. I loaded the dog's carcass into the trailer and started on again, but not so gayly.

When we reached the picnic grounds and I reconnoitered in my trailer I beheld Rover sitting up licking his chops, as large as life, or larger. I should say, for he had devoured all our provisions.

Sportsmen Cooperate in Staging Wild Life Exhibit at Michigan State Fair

Detroit (Special).—Plans announced for the second annual Wild Life exhibit at the Michigan State Fair, in Detroit from August 29 to September 7, provide for the greatest collection of wild animals, birds and fish ever assembled in this state.

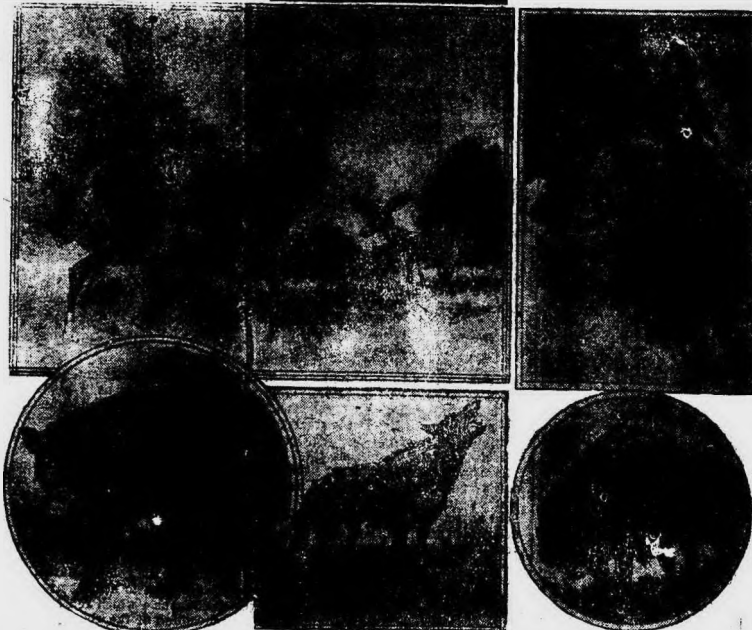

During the 1918 exposition, when the first wild life exhibit was staged, hundreds of thousands of fair visitors viewed it and expressed their appreciation of the efforts expended by the fair association in placing at their disposal specimens of the wild life of the state which they had heard of but never had seen.

When G. W. Dickinson, secretary-but this year the exhibit is of such extent that the entire floor will not accommodate it as the overflow will be placed in a large park which is being completed between the automobile and poultry buildings.

Co-operation of the Michigan Sportsman's Association and the Public Domain and Michigan Fish commissions, this year, has made it possible to assemble the largest and most complete exhibit of the kind which has ever been collected in the country.

The exhibit has been arranged and is under the direction of Albert Stoll, Jr., of Detroit, secretary-treasurer of the Sportsman's association and ac-manager of the fair, realized the enthusiastic reception this department received from the people of the state, he immediately commenced to plan for a greater and more comprehensive exhibit this year. Since last fall many expert hunters have been scouring Michigan to secure specimens of the animals inhabiting the wooded sections which were not included in 1918. Last year but half of the upper floor of the automobile building was used credited one of the leading authorities of the country on wild life. The problem of the preservation of game in Michigan is one in which the leading sportsmen of the state are vitally interested.

Battle of Chateau Thierry at State Fair

Historic Fight At Which Many Michigan Boys Lost Their Lives Will Be Shown With Fireworks Each Evening. Returned Soldiers Will Take Part.

Chateau Thierry, that historic battle which turned the apparent victory of the German armies into rout and marked the beginning of the end for Kaiser Wilhelm's dreams of world's conquest, is to be re-enacted in complete detail with fireworks each evening during the 10 days of the seventeenth annual Michigan State Fair, Detroit, Aug. 29 to Sept. 7.

More than 400 men, nearly every one of whom actually participated in the great battle will take part in the spectacular display.

It was at Chateau Thierry that Michigan's boys encountered their hardest fighting of the war. It was here that practically whole companies of the famous 125th and 126th Infantry regiments were wiped out. Thousands of small mounds, last resting places of heroes of Michigan, dot the country side about the once peaceful little village in France. Thousands of Wolverine youths are destined to go through the rest of life crippled and blind as a result of the terrific fighting in which America saved France.

Michigan Doughboy Fight.

Because Chateau Thierry always will be a name to make the heart of Michigan beat faster and because the great fight practically was a Michigan Doughboy—U. S. Marine engagement, G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the Michigan State Fair has arranged for its reproduction as one of the biggest features of the fair this year.

Trained military men will have direct supervision of the "battle." Both American infantrymen and Marines will be seen as they dash into the pick of the Hindenberg forces. All will be equipped as they were in the actual battle.

Nearly every known appliance of war will be brought into action—slog and machine guns, hand grenades, gas masks, smoke screens, barrage fires, armored cars, tanks, star shells signals, search lights, trench fares—all exact duplicates of pyrotechnical effects used in the great conflict. There will be startling realistic hand to hand and bayonet combats by specially trained units.

The scenic setting, or picture, will be 450 long. It is a big oil painting, representing the historical old French City of Chateau Thierry. It is architecturally correct, taken from photographs from the Bureau of War Photographs.

DADDY GROBECKER'S SWISS YODLERS.

The only genuine Swiss yodler company on the American platform today, presenting to the American public a program of true Swiss mountain folk lore, full of educational as well as entertaining features. The Columbus (Ohio) Journal, in speaking of their entertainment, says: "It was thoroughly unique and altogether delightful. Dressed in the picturesque native costume they constitute an atmosphere that is like a real breath from the air of the mountains. There must be something in that air that must be conducive to vocal development of a high order, for these Alpine singers are all endowed with magnificent voices."

Throughout a delightful program, which was entirely out of the ordinary channel of entertainment, and in which there was not a moment of monotony or dullness, a large audience was kept thoroughly amused and entertained. They all sing and warble and echo their national songs with delightful enjoyment and zest.

Daddy's Yodlers will appear in the afternoon and evening of the fifth day, Lincoln Chamberman, Plymouth, August 29-30-31.

There is a very potent and profitable reason in this why you should buy Ford cars for your business and for your personal use. It is a demonstrated fact that Ford cars have, in every line of human desire so far as motor cars are concerned, best satisfied their owners with the service given. They must be safe; they must be comfortable; they must be always reliable; they must be convenient and they must be economical, or they wouldn't be so tremendously popular with all classes of people. The big Ford Factory has not yet reached normal production, but the war is over, and it is getting back as fast as possible. We are getting a few cars in right along, and we will do the best possible to give you early delivery.

THE LOUIS KREIDLER COMPANY.
AN EVENING OF GRAND OPERA.

For the first time in the history of the Chautauqua movement, the smaller cities and towns will be privileged to witness grand opera as it is sung and presented in the larger cities. The National Lincoln Chautauqua presents to the public one of America's great grand opera stars, Louis Kreidler, who has been a member of the Century Opera Company, New York City; Metropolitan Opera Company, New York City, and Chicago Opera Company, Chicago, Ill. The New York Times says: "Mr. Kreidler, as Athanael, was deserving of much credit for his sincere and skillful impersonation as well as for his excellent singing." The New York Evening Mail, in speaking of the role of Sebastiano, writes: "It would be difficult to conceive of a better type for Sebastiano than Mr. Kreidler, who seemed purely Latin in psychology. His voice, diction, and easy presence contributed everything that made for his success in the part." The Chicago Daily Journal says: "The best performance of the evening was given by Louis Kreidler in the role of Marcel. Here was some really big singing. It was indeed a pleasure to hear the resonance, clarity and authority with which he invested the music which fell to his part. He can also claim a human appeal to his conception of the character."

Mr. Kreidler will be assisted by Miss Elic Wortham, soprano, a native of Texas and who received her vocal training in Boston and later in Chicago under the direction of Louis Kreidler. Her work has already received recognition and recommendation of Maestro Gampantini of the Chicago Grand Opera Company.

Samuel Hungerford, violinist, toured the country on different occasions as "The Boy Wonder." He has now outgrown the boy, but has added much to his art under the tutelage of Harry Weisbach, concert master of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Maryalisse Rosa is one of the most versatile pianists before the public today. She comes from Georgia and has devoted much of her time as a teacher in one of the largest music schools of the South.

Mr. Kreidler and this group of artists will sing popular arias from the operas "Carmen," "Thais," "Traviata" and "Pagliacci."

Hundreds of dollars have been spent for scenery and special curtains in the presentation of these operas. Remember the fourth day in the evening.

FAMOUS PEACE TREATIES

By H. IRVING KING. (Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) TREATY OF BUENOS AYRES, 1823

When South America Emerged From Spanish Domination, Uniting the Revolting Colonies.

The independence of Spanish South America was rendered possible by the Treaty of Buenos Ayres, which united all of Spain's revolted colonies below the Isthmus of Panama in a league against the mother country, or any other country which should question their right to set up for themselves as free and independent nations. Strangely enough, the South American revolution started in an uprising of the colonists in behalf of the legitimate king of Spain, Ferdinand VII. Napoleon having placed his brother Joseph, New Granada (Colombia) and Buenos Ayres (Argentina), revolted almost simultaneously in 1810, deposed the royal officers, and established juntas with the avowed purpose of holding those colonies for King Ferdinand. In March of 1811 a Venezuelan congress was convened and on July 5 a declaration of independence was adopted. In New Granada the province of Cartagena declared its independence in the same year. Bogota, or the province of Cundinamarca, proclaimed itself independent "during the captivity of the king."

The eastern provinces sought an alliance with Venezuela. Meantime, a revolution broke out in Ecuador, which was joined by the part of New Granada adjoining, but this seems to have been a rather mixed up affair, the revolutionists not exactly sure of what they wanted. Revolution Expanded. The revolution in Buenos Ayres spread over all that section, but it was not until after independence was declared, what is now the Argentine Republic taking the name of the United Provinces of La Plata. Paraguay, which revolted in 1810, proclaimed its independence the next year and refused to unite with La Plata, which, as yet, had not revolted. Uruguay had been made a part of Brazil in some of the royal and imperial deals of Europe and was held by a Portuguese army. The revolution broke out in Chile in 1812 and was suppressed only to break out again. It was not until 1818 that Chile finally declared her independence.

1814 King Ferdinand had been restored to the Spanish throne, so those colonies which remained in revolt and had not declared their independence seemed to have little excuse for their independence or existence as governments. Between the beginning of the uprisings in 1810 and the Treaty of Buenos Ayres in 1823 there was constant warfare between the Spanish and colonial forces, each colony playing a lone hand. Peru was the center of the Spanish power and from there the Spanish viceroys waged war on the other colonies. In Upper Peru, or what is now Bolivia, however, there was a strong antagonism to the royal authority which spread gradually to the other parts of viceroyalty and rendered the Spanish supremacy precarious. In 1821 this Peruvian movement had gained such strength that an assembly of Peruvians declared independence, though the viceroy still held his post and, by the command of the sea which he possessed and the strength of the royal forces, still fought to subdue South America to the Spanish crown.

Brazil's Independence Declared. In 1822 Brazil declared its independence of Portugal and set up as an empire under the head of the royal house of Braganza, who gave up his claims to the Portuguese throne. In the tumult which raged around her in South America Brazil took no part. Her revolution was peacefully accomplished and her independence peacefully secured. But all Spanish-American colonies could not agree among themselves and were rent by international discords. It looked as if Spain, by a vigorous effort, might restore her authority in South America, attacking the revolted colonies in detail. Simon Bolivar had now succeeded in forcing out of Venezuela, New Granada and Ecuador the Republic of Colombia. He saw that union was necessary for the securing of the independence of the colonies and in January of 1823 sent Don Joaquin Mosquera to Buenos Ayres to propose a defensive alliance of the United Provinces of La Plata and the Republic of Colombia.

Hoped to Have Colonies Unite. Rivadavia was provisionally in charge of the La Plata government. His idea was to have all the colonies unite in a peaceful understanding with the mother country by which the revolution should be completed; he was evidently listening to the siren song of the royal commissioners. Mosquera insisted upon a military alliance against Spain. The result was that for the first time Spanish South America showed a united front. The treaty was signed on March 8, 1823. On December 8, 1824 was fought in southern Peru the battle of Ayacucho in which General Sucre with the allied army defeated and captured the Spanish viceroy, La Serna. Fourteen Spanish generals gave up their swords that day and the war of independence was at an end, except for a few minor engagements.

TREATY OF FREDERIKSHAVN, 1809

Sweden Gave Up to Russia All of Finland and the Aland Islands.

Amid the breaking up of empires, the birth of new nations and the rebirth of old ones, Finland seems to have come in for a place as an independent country, something that she never has been before since the thirteenth century, when the Finns were subdued and Christianized by the Swedes. For over a hundred years Finland formed an integral part of the Swedish realm and furnished to that kingdom a host of men eminent in letters and peace. Under Swedish rule Finland enjoyed an autonomous constitutional government and developed a unique civilization of its own. Swedish was spoken in the towns and by the cultured class, but the peasantry clung to the old Finnish tongue. Then came the invasion of Finland by Russia in 1809 and the treaty of Frederikshavn, by which Finland passed to Russia and the troubles of the Finns began.

The Finns are a rather singular people to find in the northwestern corner of Europe, being Mongolian, a tribe of that race which, wandering or driven from the great plateaus of Central Asia, found a resting place at last between the Baltic sea and the Arctic ocean. Near the Finnish border. When Peter the Great built his new capital on the swamps of the Neva he placed it only 33 miles from the Finnish border and from that hour Russia looked upon Finland as something that must eventually be hers. The adventures of Charles XII of Sweden afforded Peter his first opportunity to seize a part of the coveted territory. Charles was so determined to crush the growing power of Russia as Peter was to make her the "colossus of the North." At the battle of Poltava, June 27, 1709, fought in what now calls itself the Ukraine, the destinies of the two nations for a while hung in the balance. But "victory passed to the triumphant czar" and Charles escaped a fugitive into Turkey. By the treaty of Nystad in 1721 Czar Peter granted peace to the exhausted Swedes, but only upon their relinquishing the Baltic provinces to Russia and also the peninsula of Viborg, a part of Finland. By taking Viborg Peter pushed the Finnish border back and when the Russian ambassador intimated for the retention of this province by Sweden, Peter replied that it "was not pleasant to see his neighbor's grounds from his own windows." But a good chance to grab all Finland did not present itself to Russia until the general upheaval of the Napoleonic wars. After the peace of Tilsit, Russia and France being allies, the czar had a free hand with regard to Sweden and himself seized Finland. He called it himself "an act of bad faith toward a relative and an ally." In February of 1808 a Russian army invaded Finland. The aged and incapable field marshal Klingenspor, who commanded an army of Finns and Swedes in Finland, was ordered by the panic-stricken Swedish king, Gustavus IV, to save his troops as best he could. "Gibraltar of the North." With the fall of Sveaborg, which the Swedes called the "Gibraltar of the North," all hope of saving Finland was lost; but during the summer a Finnish army fought several battles with the Russian troops not without success. In the fall, however, the Russian army was increased, and on September 14 was fought the battle of Oravala, famous in Finnish annals. The battle lasted 15 hours and was only decided in favor of the Russians by the timely arrival of re-enforcements. In this battle the Swedes and Finns lost 2,000 killed, one-third of the whole force with which they went into battle. The remnants of the army withdrew under the cover of night when the increased number of Russians made it folly to continue the battle, and crossed the Swedish frontier. Finland was now lost. In Stockholm when the disastrous news reached there, the king was deposed and his son, Prince Charles made regent. In Sweden lay a French army under Bernadotte—destined to become king of Sweden later—ready to attack. The regent now turned his attention to Russia and attempted to give out a Russian army which occupied West Pothnia. It was unsuccessful, but finally the army withdrew of its own accord. The czar now signed peace and was willing to treat for peace and on September 17, 1809, Frederikshavn a treaty by which Sweden gave up to Russia all of Finland and the Aland islands. After that treaty, Finland was the constant state of unrest and contentions with her Russian masters. Now his proposition to set up for himself.

FEW LARGE RUBIES KNOWN

Unlike the diamond and emerald, rubies of large size are exceedingly rare, but mention has been made of a few in the world of Mexico, Persia, India, and other countries. In the Orient, which is the source of the great number of rubies, there is said to be a large quantity of this gemstone, but it is not known where it is found.

BOY WINS LIFE BY POKER GAME

Stephen Scanlan Relates Hair-Raising Experience While in Mexico.

USE CORN FOR MONEY

Falls into Hands of Martin Lopez, Most Bloodthirsty of Villista Followers—Happy to Be Back in United States.

El Paso, Texas.—Stephen Scanlan, 18 years old, is the youngest soldier of fortune. Steve has just tasted all the hair-breadth escape and "bite-the-dust" adventure you hoped to experience when you were his age and were thrilling to the dare-devil feats of Diamond Dick, Handsome Harry and Wild Bill.

Steve lives to tell how he played poker with Martin Lopez, most bloodthirsty of Villista's followers: How he narrowly escaped execution against "dobe wall"—How he scouted for the Mexican federal troops, and—How he was held by bandits.

All this below the Rio Grande whether he had wandered in search of adventure when he ran away from his home town, the tame city of Providence, R. I.

Young Scanlan had read much about Mexico, and decided that was the country for him. Making his way to El Paso, he evaded the soldier and immigration authorities on both sides of the line, riding across the Rio Grande in a box car.

From Juarez he went south on a Carranzista troop train, and at Mequill he got his first thrill. Villistas threatened to attack the train. When the bandits retreated Scanlan volunteered to sneak after them and do a bit of scouting for the federales. By way of appreciation, the federales boarded the train, leaving him to the mercies of the military police of the little town. He was being taken to jail as a Villista suspect when an interpreter happened along and secured the boy's release.

Rejoining the troops, Scanlan eventually arrived at Parral. With an American boy's proper pride, Steve refused to act as a servant to a captain, and the officer in a rage threw the youngster against a "dobe wall and had drawn his gun to shoot him when soldier friends intervened.

Then came the battle of May 4, in which the Villistas drove the Carranza garrison from Parral. Steve was captured by Martin Lopez, the Villista tiger man. Was he afraid? He was not. When the battle was over, the boy calmly proposed a game of poker with the bandit chief. It struck Lopez as amusing. He admired the lad's cool courage.

"Sit down," he laughed uproariously, slapping his thigh and commanding his soldiers to gather round. "Here's a gringo boy who would play the great game with Lopez."

Used Corn for Money. Kernels of corn were used instead of money. Lopez lost several pecks of corn—and his admiration for the American boy grew.

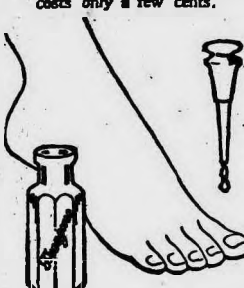

In this way Steve won his release from the bandits. He concluded he had enough thrills to last him for a time, and started hiking the long trail back to the border. An American mining man gave him some money. He worked a little, here and there. A few days ago he reached El Paso—sunburned, in rags, penniless but happy.

Just a plain American kid, who had the nerve to go out and get the adventure which you, gentlemen, got second hand from the thumb-marked pages of "Wild Bill."

New he's on his way back to that tame, respectable Providence to tell the other kids about it. The population of Madagascar at the close of 1917 was estimated at 2,227,470.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezons costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet. A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Perhaps He Had Repented. A funny one happened the other day in the office of a justice of the peace. A young couple were being married, surrounded by several friends. As usual, the ritual came to that place where the justice said: "Does anyone present know of any reason why this couple should not become man and wife?"

And to everybody's amazement, the groom spoke up, "I do."

As he said afterwards, "that's what comes of too many rehearsals."

Gifted. Visitor—What makes you think that William Will grow to be a great doctor? Fond Mother—While playing doctor with his little playmates, he said: "Gentlemen, before we begin to operate you hold the patient's hands and feet. I'll get the three cents out of his right-hand pocket."

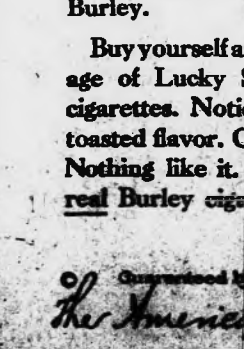

New York city contributed one-sixteenth of the entire nation's army.

SAVED TWO FAMOUS PICTURES

Old Masters Taken by British Officer From the Ruins of Ypres Cathedral.

The king of the Belgians will shortly have returned to him two famous pictures which were rescued, four years ago, from Ypres cathedral. It appears that during the bombardment of Ypres in 1915 a young British artillery officer noticed inside the cathedral, which was being heavily shelled, that the only things not shattered by German fire were two large Flemish masters, dated 1600, hanging some 20 feet high on the walls. How to get them and save them for Belgium was the question which immediately presented itself. The officer called two private soldiers to help him, and with the aid of some long gas pipes which had been thrown down by the German fire, and two large hooks, the pictures were lowered to the ground. The officer, Lieutenant Daniels, R. A., then cut the pictures out of their frames and put them in a large sack, which he used for a time as a bed. In the end he took them to London, where, with the approval of the Belgian minister, they have been placed on exhibition prior to being returned to King Albert at Brussels.

His Complaint. "Say, looky yur!" began a citizen of the Sandy Mush region, entering the Palace drug store in Tullahoma. "You fellows sold me this yur rat plizon last week, and three or four of my children got hold of the box and et up right smart of the stuff. It didn't 'pear to damage 'em none, and I'll be dogged, if I don't believe I've been swindled."—Judge.

What a beautiful world this would be if flowers only grew to resemble their pictures in the seed catalogue.

Don't Poison Baby. FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PARGORIO or landanum to make it sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the BLUES FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by pargorio, landanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without your or your physician's knowledge of what it is composed. CASTOR OIL DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Omas H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Omas H. Fletcher.

When He Did It. "From what you tell me, Sam, you have been a busy man all your life?" "Yes, sah; yes, sah." "You've done a great deal in your time and day Sam, I guess." "Yes, sah. Dat is Iuz done a good lot in mah day but I ez wuz in de boss's time."

Some men imagine they are the whole orchestra because they have drums in their ears.

WARWICK MALE QUARTETTE

It is doubtful if any combination in music so nearly meets with popular approval as a male chorus of well-trained voices. In symphonized songs, popular ballads, or divine sacred harmonies, the appeal of such music is irresistible. Churches offering competent male quartettes experience no difficulty in filling their pews, while no popular musical festival is complete without it.

In the Warwick quartette the National Lincoln Chautauqua offers to its patrons a highly competent group of young men with voices of rare beauty and volume. This company comes directly from the coast to fill its engagement with the Lincoln.

They will be heard in a versatile program afternoon and evening of the second day.

AVIATORS' DEAN AT STATE FAIR

Will Be Seen In Conjunction With the Great Feature in Fireworks, "The Battle of Chateau Thierry", Each Afternoon and Evening.

Detroit (Special).—Louis Gertson, one of the best known aviators in America, has obtained his release from the aerial mail service and is to resume exhibition flying. He will appear at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit during the 10 days of the fair August 29 to September 7.
 He was one of the first pilots carrying mail by airplane between Washington and New York. Several times during his months of flying for the postoffice department he had narrow escapes, from which a fiercer experience than he might not have emerged successfully.
 Gertson was one of the first fliers in this country. In the earliest days of the airplane he did exhibition flying at expositions and fairs. He appeared at the Michigan State Fair two years ago and electrified the thousands of spectators by looping the loop, flying upside down and through flying by only the light of the moon. He was the first to attempt night flying.

Shortly after appearing at the fair in Detroit he became an instructor at military aviation camps where America's army of flying men received the training with which they later were able to drive the Germans from the sky.

Night flying with many new tricks Gertson has learned in the past two years, together with all the "stunts" known to flying men will be included in his daily and nightly programs at the Fair this year.

MRS. MARTHA E. ABT
 ONE OF CHICAGO'S BEST KNOWN SOCIAL WORKERS

For twenty years Mrs. Abt has given almost her entire time to familiarizing herself with every phase of social work. She has during the late years worked directly under the social service department of Cook county, Ill. She has made thorough investigation in both civil and criminal cases, and has made a specialty of crime and insanity among women and girls. During the recent war she took an active part in Red Cross work and was awarded the distinguished service medal for 1,000 hours of speaking. The Chicago Tribune in speaking of her efforts estimated that Mrs. Abt had influenced more than 85,000 persons. Mrs. Abt will appear but once upon the program, the afternoon of the fourth day.

Cure for Dysentery
 "While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman heard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitlaw of Dearborn, Iowa. "He told me in detail what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter, who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believed that by doing so saved the life of his child. He stated that he had also used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."—Adv.

BIG FARM BUREAU PICNIC

SATURDAY, AUGUST 23; ALL DAY PROGRAM

Tractor Demonstration in Morning With Milo D. Campbell As the Principal Speaker in Afternoon; Games and Music.

All of the plans are completed for the first Wayne County Farm Bureau picnic which will be held at the Avondale Stock farm, on Michigan avenue east of Wayne, Saturday of next week, the 23rd of August.
 It will be an all day affair, starting with a practical tractor demonstration at 9:30 in the morning, among the participants in which will be included the following machines: Bates Steel Mule, Fordson, Rumley Oil Pull, Titan, Moine, Republic, Cleveland, J. I. Case and Sampson. A twenty acre field will be used for demonstration purposes and the farmers of Wayne county will be given an opportunity to see this flock in action all at once.
 Also during the morning there will be a track meet for the boys and girls; special events for those over and under thirteen years of age. There will be an egg race for members of poultry clubs only; a corn race open to all; a needle threading contest for boys only and a half driving contest open only to girls; also a cracker eating contest open to all. The games will be under the direction of State Club Leader Turner, and County Leader Stewart.

 Play For Big Folks
 One of the real events of the day will be the tug of war at 12 o'clock, the captains of the two teams being George Van Riper, of Flat Rock and Fred Kennedy, of Plymouth. This will be some event with the pivot point being located in the creek.
 The community dinner at noon will be of the picnic variety with a luncheon tent also conducted by the Ladies' Aid society of Wayne, which promises to put up a real farmers' dinner.
 Miss Margaret Havens of the M. A. C., will have a special exhibit for the ladies; also the Sand Hill Poultry club will show their work at a special exhibit, while the Boy Scouts of Dearborn, will be in charge of the first aid tent.

The speaking program will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock with community singing under the supervision of R. A. Turner of the M. A. C. Comfort A. Tyler, Detroit, farmer-banker will act as chairman, the speakers being G. A. Branch, the municipal market director of the city of Detroit; Miss Estella Downing of the Ypsilanti Normal; Charles A. Bingham of Oakland county, secretary of the state federation of Farm Bureaus; Milo D. Campbell of Coldwater, one of the best known speakers on agricultural topics in the middle west; Mr. Campbell is president of the National Milk Producers' association, and also a very successful Michigan farmer, whose talks are broad in scope, to the point and very interesting.

At four o'clock a ball game between the East Nankin team and a nine from Newburg will finish the field program of the day.
 The officers and committees of the Farm Bureau have worked very efficiently to make this first county wide meeting a success. Every farmer and citizen interested in the advancement of the agricultural industry is invited to attend. Various community organizations, Grange lodges, Cleaners and milk locals are asked to hold union picnic dinners to add to the neighborhood feature of the event and join in aiding the officials to make the meeting all that its promoters desire.

Drive right into the Avondale stock farm front gate, on Michigan avenue, east of Wayne; park your machine in the east field and watch the tractor demonstration on the other side of the lane. Good shade in the grove and all necessary conveniences for a real picnic.

Milton Carmichael, acting as president of the Farm Bureau and chairman of the picnic committee, has been assisted by the following in particular in making the arrangements for the picnic a success: Charles Woolger, Wayne; George VanRiper, Flat Rock; Mrs. Samuel Spicer, Canton; Fred Kennedy, Plymouth; E. M. Stewart, Inkster; Mrs. E. M. Bray, Inkster; also County Agent Gregg and Club Leader Stewart. The assistants in fact have done most of the work, so now if the farmers and citizens generally will do their part the event will be a huge success.

If you have anything to buy or sell, you cannot do better than to try our want column. The cost is little. Try it.

Many Visitors at State Fair to Camp on Grounds

Detroit (Special).—Plans for a city of campers, at the Michigan State Fair, in Detroit from August 25 to September 7, have been completed by G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the fair association. Each year since the use of the automobile has become general among the agriculturists of the state, Mr. Dickinson has received queries concerning the possibility of people driving to the exposition and bringing their camping outfit.
 At the coming exposition complete arrangements have been made to take care of the visitors who wish to camp on the grounds. One section has been set aside for placing of tents. Special arrangements have been made for permitting the members of this colony to go to and from the grounds. Mr. Dickinson announces that he expects to make this a permanent feature of the fair.

A Bilious Attack
 When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter.—Adv.

A Test of Re-Creation

This remarkable scene pictures an Edison tone test in which the living artist sang in direct comparison with Mr. Edison's Re-Creation of her voice

Caroline Lazzari, the popular contralto of the Chicago Opera Company, is singing. And seated around are several noted operatic stars. This distinguished and critical audience agreed that, except by watching the singer's lips they could not tell when they heard the living voice and when it was Re-Creation upon The New Edison.

Over two million music lovers have heard tests like these, with the same result. Will you be satisfied with anything less than this new art in your home?

Presbyterian Notes

After a most delightful vacation, Rev. Mr. Bicknell and family returned last week, much refreshed and invigorated. Mr. Bicknell hoped to visit his mother and sister on the Pacific coast, and planned to take Junior along, but was prevented from doing so. The vacation was spent in Trenton, New Jersey, with Mrs. Bicknell's mother and sister. Mr. Bicknell says he had a wonderful time because he was permitted to do just as he pleased. He preached only once, when he occupied the pulpit of the Fourth Presbyterian church for the pastor, Rev. Dr. Curry, who is a devoted friend. The whole family is wonderfully well and happy and delighted to be home again. The pastor's family were happily surprised to find the manse brilliant in its new coat of paint, which makes it more attractive than ever. The manse had also been cleaned, and good things to eat were brought in which made the welcome home more cordial. Mr. Bicknell started in his work with energy and spent a most busy day on Sunday. He preached three times, conducted a wedding and funeral service all in one day. He preached for Mr. Field at Newburg, and had a most splendid time with the splendid people of that place. At high noon he united in marriage, James A. Darnell of Detroit, and Miss Nellie Link of Plymouth. In the afternoon he conducted the funeral of Mr. Sackett from the home. Mr. Bicknell feels perfectly fit and is ready for real hard work this fall. Rev. Mr. Field will be in his pulpit on Sunday morning, and regular service will be held in the Presbyterian church also. It is hoped that the union services of an evening can be continued during August. Mr. Field has rendered such splendid service during July, and it is desired that these services might be continued. Further announcement will be made. Rev. Bicknell conducted the funeral of Miss Macomber on Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Announcement will be made shortly concerning the fall work for the church. Special plans are being evolved for the Sunday-school and Missionary educational movements and the regular program of the church. Be planning to co-operate heartily with these plans and do your best to make them real.

NEWBURG

Those who attended church, last Sabbath listened to a good sermon by Rev. Bicknell. Rev. Field will preach next Sunday at the usual hour. The Violet division of the L. A. S. were very much elated, last Friday night, at the experience social, when the announcement was made that they were victorious. For the past three months the contest waged fast and furious, first one division and then the other giving socials, entertainments and bake sales. Miss Hattie Hoisington, captain of the modest little Violets, got such a hustle on in getting subscriptions for our own home paper, the Plymouth Mail, that she landed in the largest amount, $15, of any one person; also read many amusing items out of the Plymouth Mail that would have astonished the editor of said paper had he been there to hear them. The experiences were many and varied, some were given in rhyme; some were long and some were short, and interspersed with readings and songs. Clarence Clemens and Sidney Coats' parody on the L. A. S. brought down the house. The president, Mrs. Clemens, made a clever little speech, setting forth the good work done by both divisions and announced the final result of the contest: Violet division, $161, and Golden Rod division, $72. The L. A. S. feel more than pleased at the outcome of the contest.

When you were given the chance to buy lots in the STARK-WEATHER SUBDIVISIONS.

Thirty-one lots have been sold during the past few weeks. We want to sell them all and sell them quickly in order to close the estate. Money in the bank may earn you 4 or 5 per cent. It is not unreasonable to presume that money invested in lots so central, so near to churches, school, banks, business houses of all kinds, railroad and car lines, will make the investor several hundred per cent. In fact, it has already been done in several instances. We told you last week that we believed the lots now offered would double, treble and quadruple in value. Did you think that idle talk? Well, it was not. Did you ever learn or hear of one single lot bought from the Starkweather property that on re-sale did not bring more than the original amount paid? YOU HAVE NOT. It never happened. However, we can show many lots that on re-sale, sold for two or three times the original price paid, and some that cannot be bought at quadruple the original lot price.

We are going to sell all the lots in the STARKWEATHER SUBDIVISIONS. We believe it will prove a good investment for all those who may take advantage of the opportunity to buy choice lots with the best of features. Water main, gas main and trunk line of the Detroit Edison Co. go through center of subdivisions.
