BAD FOR FRUIT

Reports from all sections of the United States indicate that the fruit crop has suffered terribly from April cold snaps. Many states in the middle west report not a bud has been left, while the south has been hit hard on account of the season being so far advanced when the chill came. Possibly the result will not be as black as now predicted, but whether it is or not, Plymouth people will be justified in giving more than the usual attention to their gardens, the next best thing to tide them over the winter when the fruit crop is a failure. More work and harder work and more care in raising and canning vegetables will help offset the shortage of fruit. And those who are fortunate enough to have some of the latter will do well to not let even the smallest measure of fruit go to waste.

PREVENTING ACCIDENTS

Plymouth parents can do a good deal to prevent serious accidents if they will see to it personally that their children do not play in the street, and that they are taught to be careful, and to keep their ears open when walking along the roads. Too many children have a habit of dodging across the street or road in front of an oncoming auto. Others try to be "smart" by dodging first one way and then the other, to confuse the driver, and more than one accident has been the result of this. Teach your children that there is danger in an auto, no matter how careful the driver may be, and no matter how closely they watch. It is always the unexpected that happens, and your own little boy or girl

BALL PLAYERS PRACTICE

All ball players who wish to become members of the Plymouth team must be out to practice Saturday afternoon. On account of the weather conditions and the grounds, we haven't been able to do much, but hope to do a lot of work next week, as the opening game is only one week away, May 7th. Everyone take notice that tickets for this game will go on sale Monday morning, at Glen Smith's. The line-up will be announced next week.

DRAMATIC BOOK SERMON

FICTION CHARACTERS TO ILLUSTRATE GOSPEL MESSAGE.

Rev. Frank M. Field, has arranged for a novel and striking presentation of his gospel message next Sunday evening, using several fiction characters whom he will present in a Dramatic Book sermon. The characters are taken from J. G. Holland's famous novel, "Seven Oaks" and appear in the picture "Jes' Call Me Jim," which was shown at the church last Wednesday evening. Jim Fenton, who learned how to love and to pray; Paul Benedict, whom God never forgot; Robert Belcher, who couldn't fool God, and Mrs. Dillingham the woman who came back, are the characters to be presented in the message on "Sin, Providence and Prayer."

The picture, "Jes' Call Me Jim," attracted considerable attention at its showing Wednesday evening. The Monday night showing had to be called off on account of no lights, but a print was secured for Wednesday evening.

SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Green of the Northville school, visited the High school, Monday. Alice Chambers, Everett Weaver, Helen Compton and Laura Kincaid have re-entered school again. They have been out with the whooping cough.

The tennis court has been completed and is available for use. A court has been constructed, which the grade children will use for newcomb and volley ball. Later goals will be erected here so that they can be made use of for outdoor base ball.

Elaine Hamilton had a little birthday party at her home, Monday, and entertained the little girls of her grade.

A drain has been constructed under the running track to take the excess water from the base ball field. A track meet between the two teams of the High school is also planned in the near future.

Last Friday, Plymouth High school played its first base ball game of the season at Northville, and while defeated in the first game, there were several bright spots in the fielding and hitting, which give promise of a successful team before the season closes.

The eighth grade, entertained at Junior assembly, Friday afternoon. The program consisted of two group songs, three piano solos, a solo dance and a recitation. The assembly was closed with chorus singing.

New numbers in Muslin, Georgette and Tricotee Waists, from $1.50 to $8.00, at Riggs' store.

THE UNITED GUN CLUB

The second registered club shoot held on Sunday, April 24th, was an enjoyable affair. Beautiful weather brought a good attendance, nineteen entering in the 75-target program. Many spectators parked their cars on the grounds, and watched the shooters test their skill at the elusive birds. A strong wind carried the targets very high, making it exceedingly difficult to judge speed and distance.

George Peterson of Detroit, finished high gun with a score of 67. H. Passage was high club member, winning the A. T. A. trophy. Frank Hills won first club trophy, and S. A. Bone of Pontiac, second. Below are listed the scores:

The community is asked to share in a stamp sale for the Chinese famine sufferers. People are dying in the famine district at the rate of one a minute. Three cents will preserve a life for a day. All who will purchase stamps at the price of three cents each are asked to give their names to Mrs. Inez A. Hathaway, phone 138. Arrangements are being made to reproduce the Chinese Pageant given recently in Ann Arbor by the Christian Chinese students of the University. If successful, an announcement of time and place will be found elsewhere in this paper.

A very interesting young people's meeting was conducted last Sunday night by Elizabeth Burrows and Virginia Giles. Special features of the meeting were a talk by the president of the village, W. J. Burrows; a piano solo by David Alexander; a recitation by Virginia Giles, and a musical number by Miss Anna Baker, Mrs. B. E. Giles and Miss Evelyn Thomas. Over half a hundred were present.

The executive committee of Christian Endeavor will meet next Monday night, May 2nd, at the manse. Several interesting letters have been received from C. B. Weaver, describing their church life in Oakland, California, and containing greetings to the many friends in Plymouth.

The Brighton Argus doesn't like the idea of charging anyone who fishes a dollar for a license. Two years ago we strenuously objected to the same thing. Since that time we have visited many lakes frequented by city fishermen, and after seeing the fish caught by these people we hold up both hands and say, "go to it! Get their dollar, for it will be needed to restock the lakes of the fish fry they catch.—South Lyon Herald.

At a recent gun club shoot at Birmingham, two of Northville's crack "shots" were among the prize winners. F. E. Hills won first place in Class B, being presented with an electric flat iron, and Mrs. Howard Hall won third in Class D, receiving a generous slice of bacon. W. H. Osman, who is over 80 years of age, made a run of 57 out of 75. The club members served a bountiful supper to their guests from Detroit, Northville, Lansing and Pontiac.—Northville Record.

With potatoes selling at 25c per 100 pounds, and grocers in the cities asking from 60 to 75c a bushel, prices quoted in a city paper of just six years ago appear rather refreshing. Here they are: Granulated sugar, 10 lbs., 59c; six bars Flake White soap, 15c; potatoes, 7c a peck; picnic hams, 10c a pound. Of course, all the above were specials, but it clearly shows that the laboring man was surely getting the benefit of the low prices paid to farmers for produce.—South Lyon Herald.

GRANGE NOTES

Thursday, April 21, Plymouth Grange held a very successful fourth degree meeting. The ladies' degree team conferred the third and fourth degrees on a class of six in a very creditable manner. C. D. Cook, county secretary for Oakland county, gave a very fine talk on "Organization and Co-operation," pointing to the way stupidity often gets the best of our good judgment in grasping the penny at the end of the nose, and in doing so, lose sight of the ten dollars in the bush to be gained only by organizing and working together, which in time is sure to bring results in establishing a more desirable condition of affairs by creating a better understanding between producer and consumer. Educate ourselves is a prying factor in the great movement. O. I. Gregg, in his pleasant way, added a few remarks.

The regular meeting for the summer months or until further notice, will be held on the Friday evening following the first Thursday of each month. Members please take notice and attend as it will do us good to meet together Friday evening, May 6th. Those to whom material was issued for the Grange silver cases, will please bring the cases to the next meeting.

NOTICE

From now on until further notice, I will ship every Tuesday on the P. M. railroad, and will be in the market for all the cattle, hogs, sheep and calves I can get. If we should fail to agree on the price of any cattle, I will ship them for you to M. C. stockyards, Detroit, for $1.50 per head, including war tax and insurance. Charles S. Today's Reflections

Don't think our hardest job is finding something to put in the paper. The hardest job is deciding what to leave out.

A wise Plymouth woman never gives her husband a letter to mail, if she is looking for an early reply.

That Plymouth man is wise who knows that the longer he studies women the less he knows about them.

Maybe the reason we can't hear the dove of peace cheer is because we're making so much noise building battleships.

The same fellow who complains that the home paper has nothing in it, is the one who hollers loudest when it's a day late in getting to him.

Our advice to Plymouth people is not to wait for happiness until someone hands it to them on a silver platter.

Another thing we can't understand about the movies, is why the hero always insists on fighting the villain on the edge of a cliff.

The trouble with more than one Plymouth man is he doesn't realize that devotion before marriage means keeping it up after the pastor has closed the book.

Some people still go in for old-fashioned remedies, but a bag of asafetida around the neck won't ward off Bolshevism.

It seems almost impossible for editors and owners of umbrellas to save anything for a rainy day.

Few Plymouth boys can recall the time when both their neck and ears were clean enough to suit their mother.

Now they're talking about coining a half-nickel. Let's wait until we get something a half-nickel will buy.

Some people's idea of dividing their trade is to patronize two mail order houses instead of one.

Our idea of a good husband is the Plymouth man who doesn't object to eating off the corner of the kitchen table during housecleaning time.

A CARD—We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors and especially Rev. and Mrs. Field for their kind assistance, words of comfort, and for the many floral offerings during our late bereavement.

GARDEN NOTES

By M. A. C. Horticultural Dept.

Early cabbage plants should be in the garden now. If necessary to purchase plants, Early Jersey Wakefield is a good variety.

A small tarred felt disk placed on the ground around the stem of each plant will help control the cabbage maggot.

Early potatoes are now being planted on warm sandy soils. Irish Cobbler and Early Ohio are excellent varieties to grow in Michigan.

For potato scab, soak the tubers 30 minutes in a solution of Formalin (one pint to thirty gallons of water). This should be done before the potatoes are cut.

This is a good time to divide and reset perennial flowering plants, such as larkspurs and phlox. These often do better if the clumps are divided every three or four years.

"Strawberry Shortcake in October." You can have it if you set everbearing strawberry plants now. We have found the Superb one of the best varieties of this type.

Better tomato plants are secured by giving them plenty of space in which to grow. Remove the plants from the seed boxes and transplant them at least two inches apart in flats or shallow boxes.

First-Build on Paper

What a barn costs depends in no small degree on the care with which it is planned in advance.

By having your plans completely worked out and blue printed, you can safely let the contract to the lowest bidder.

Contractors and those supplying materials are held to exact requirements; substitution of inferior materials or workmanship can be prevented; wastes are avoided; no excuse is given for expensive "extras"; and misunderstandings with contractors, sub-contractors and workmen are unlikely.

James Barn Plans
The James Barn Planning Department is a national "clearing house" of barn ideas. The best of these ideas are in a 320 page book on barn building, remodeling, ventilation and equipment which we will give you free on request. Come in and see us now; tell us your barn problems, perhaps we or James Barn Experts can help you solve them.

Col. Milton J. Foreman, national executive committee member of the Illinois department of the American Legion, is a Chicago lawyer.

meeting he was named chairman of the temporary executive committee.

Returning to the United States, he was elected commander of the Illinois department. In 11 months the membership in Illinois increased from 19,000 to more than 65,000.

While serving with the First Illinois cavalry, in 1864, Mr. Foreman acquired an active interest in military affairs.

After the war Mr. Foreman began the practice of law in Chicago, and became major in the First cavalry.

With the outbreak of the World war, Colonel Foreman requested the transfer of his regiment to field artillery.

While not in the military service, Mr. Foreman practiced law in Chicago and took an active interest in public affairs throughout the state.

AN ALL-AROUND LEGION MAN

Michigan's Newly Appointed Head of National Service Division is Equipped With Information.

A sailor, a traffic cop, a first sergeant, an assistant provost marshal and a patient in an army hospital for almost two years.

Albert E. Haan of Michigan, newly appointed head of the American Legion's national service division, is well equipped to minister to the needs of ex-service men.

Mr. Haan gained the rank of captain on the battlefield and was severely wounded in action at Jurigny, France, while serving with the Thirty-second division.

In Walter Reed hospital, Washington, for more than a year, he found out what the government intended to do for the wounded by studying plans and legislation concerning the subject.

Discharged from the hospital last fall, he was made a special representative of the bureau of war risk insurance.

In army and navy camps he was instrumental, through the American Legion, in causing the reinstatement of over $5,000,000 in war risk insurance.

As field representative of the war risk bureau, he directed a cleanup of hospital, insurance and compensation claims that placed the state ahead of all others in welfare accomplishments.

During the campaign he investigated the condition of ex-service men in the state prison at Jackson and the insane asylum in Kalamazoo.

He worked with the Legion's welfare department to cause the parole of 150 men last year to the Legion.

He obtained $300,000 in funds raised during the war and used it in settling claims, relief of the disabled and their dependents and in untangling insurance difficulties and remedying hospital conditions.

Mr. Haan is twenty-eight years old. Coming out of high school, he entered the United States navy as an apprentice seaman.

He served four years on the U. S. S. Idaho and was discharged as a quartermaster, second class.

He then became a motor and traffic policeman in Grand Rapids, Mich. In 1916, he went to the Mexican border as a first sergeant in the Michigan infantry.

Before he entered the lines in France, he was assistant provost marshal at St. Nazaire, as a first lieutenant. Before the battle in which he was wounded, he had served in three offensives.

BOOKS FOR DISABLED HEROES

Congress Appropriates $100,000 for Reading Material for Soldiers Confined to Hospitals.

Disabled heroes of the World war are not to be without good books to read while they are fighting to regain health in the hospitals of this country.

Congress has appropriated in the civil sundry bill the sum of $100,000 for the purchase of books, with the result that each of the 23,000 disabled veterans will soon have three or four new books to read.

The American Library association, which still has charge of the libraries in the larger hospitals, has been embarrassed by a shortage of funds, and up to this time posts of the American Legion have taken over the duty of supplying books to the disabled in hundreds of the smaller hospitals.

The appropriation by congress does not mean that either the services of the American Library association or the American Legion in this respect are to be dispensed with, but that they are to be greatly augmented and reinforced.

CREED OF THE DISABLED MAN

Afflicted Fellows of Washington, D. C., Post, Look on Brighter Side of Things.

Disabled veterans of the World war, nearly all of them overseas veterans and members of the Walter Reed post of the American Legion in Washington, D. C., have adopted what they term, "The Creed of the Disabled Man," which, called to the attention of President Harding upon a recent visit to the hospital, was by the President pronounced fine.

The "creed" reads as follows: "Once more to be useful—to see pity in the eyes of my friends replaced with commendation—to work, produce, provide and to feel that I have a place in the world, seeking no favors and given none—a man among men in spite of this physical handicap."

Cost of Living in Paris. The cost of living in Paris is not exorbitant for an American, who is paid in American dollars, according to a letter from a member of the Paris Post of the American Legion.

"Beware the big restaurants and duck into the side streets frequented by tourists," the veteran warns. "I had a fine meal today for 8.50 francs, or about fifty cents."

"The menu included: Friture de la Loire, 1.50 francs; omelette champignons, 2.25 francs; Chateaubriand (which is fried spuds and watercress), 2.50 francs; coffee, 75 centimes; macaroni, 75 centimes and fromage, 75 centimes."

"And after the meal, cafe cognac 'or 25 centimes!"

For a Severe Cold. "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured my daughter, Anna, of a severe cold and cough a few years ago, and ever since then I have never missed an opportunity to recommend this medicine to anyone suffering from throat or lung troubles. I cannot speak too highly in praise of it."

They Speak Well of It. "I frequently hear Chamberlain's Cough Remedy praised by friends and acquaintances, which only tends to strengthen my good opinion of it."

"Hard Time Dance" at the Penninsula ball, Thursday evening, May 5, 1921, by Montgomery's orchestra. Dancing, etc., including car tax. Dancing 8:30-12:30.

HIKE TO NATIONAL CAPITAL

Plan Suggested by Kansas Committee-man to Tell Lawmakers What Legion Men Need.

"Join the army and walk around the world." Do you remember that slogan? Dough boys whose weary feet are up the kilometers on the other side and the miles on this side so paraphrased the advertising of the recruiting service during the war. But walking won the war.

"Let's keep it up," urges W. F. Kurtz, Kansas national executive committee member of the American Legion.

"Let's walk to Washington and tell them what the Legion wants for its disabled and for its whole membership."

According to Mr. Kurtz' plan, delegates from each state department of the legion would hike overland to the nation's capital, arranging their schedules so as to meet on the White House steps on the same day. However, he would permit representatives from the other side of the Rockies to ride the omnibuses across to this side.

Legion posts along the way would feed and shelter the hikers. "I'll lead the way, and outwalk anyone in the Legion," the Kansas Pedestrian declares.

C. O. D. An old dandy visited a doctor and received instructions as to what he should do. Shaking his head, he was about to leave the office, when the doctor called out:

"Hey, there, uncle, you forgot to pay me."

"Pay you for what?" "For my advice."

"Nonsense, boss, I've contemplated it from all angles and decided not to take it."—American Legion Weekly.

Second Hand. "I want two sheets of fly paper," said the lady entering the corner general store.

The non-too-brilliant clerk extracted two sheets from the window. "Ten cents," he said.

"How embarrassing! I've only a nickel with me."

"Aw, I s'pose you can have the two for five cents," he grumbled. "They're half full of flies already."—American Legion Weekly.

What other phonograph dares this test?

DID you ask some one about the Edison Tone-Test recital given Wednesday, April 6, in the High School Auditorium? The startled audience heard Marie Morrisey's living voice flood the packed house. It then heard the New Edison" match that voice, even unto its finest variation of shading and feeling. Any one who was present will tell you:

The art of the living artist and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison can not be told apart.

It is no idle phrase that you can enjoy Case, Middleton, Hempel,

OLD TANNERS DID GOOD WORK

Leather Made in China 3,000 Years Ago Has Been Found in Comparatively Good Condition.

Originally skins were cured by simply cleaning and drying. Then it was found the texture of the leather was improved by the use of smoke, sour milk, various oils and the brains of animals themselves. Later it was discovered that certain astringent barks and vegetables effected permanent changes in the texture of skins and stopped decay. The ancient Egyptians possessed this knowledge, for engravings on their tombs depict the process of tanning. In China specimens of leather have been discovered in company with other relics that prove them to be more than 3,000 years old. The Romans used leather which they tanned with oil, slum and bark. Early explorers in America found the Indians wearing skins prepared with buffalo dung, oil and clay.

No improvement in the general methods of preparing leather took place from the most primitive times until about 1790, when the use of lime to loosen the hair was introduced. By 1825 English tanners were attempting to introduce new methods by which the tanning process could be shortened. One of the pioneers in these experiments was John Burridge, the inventor of the barkometer, an instrument for determining the strength of tanning liquors.

In 1630 the first tannery in America was built in Virginia. A second one was established a few years later at Lynn, Mass.

FIRST "BLUE LAW" EXPONENT

Emperor Constantine Laid Down Strict Rules for the Guidance of His Subject Peoples.

Constantine, the great Roman emperor, who ruled in 321 A. D., was the first ruler in Europe to impose blue laws upon the people. Constantine was highly religious, and he demanded strict observance of the Sabbath throughout his vast empire.

He decreed that "judges, inhabitants and artificers" must rest on the Sabbath. He exempted husbandmen from this order, however, since "sowing was a necessity and could not be done on any other day." Slaves could not be compelled to work on this day, by the emperor's decree. Should masters be caught in the act of forcing their slaves to labor, a heavy fine and perhaps a jail sentence would be imposed. Children were emancipated from labor on the Sabbath. Constantine also ordered his vast armies wherever they might be to devote this day to prayer. At the same time he set aside Friday as a day in which prayer was required of all the people. Later he extended his order to include Saturday as a day when the wheels of Roman industry should remain still.

The Price That Is Set.

The gods have set a price upon every real and noble pleasure. If you would gain the favor of the Deity you must be at the pains of worshipping Him; if you would be beloved by your friends you must study to oblige them; if you would be honored by any city you must be of service to it; and if you would be admired by all Greece, on account of your probity and valor, you must exert yourself to do her some eminent service. If you would render your fields fruitful and fill your arms with grain, you must labor to cultivate the soil accordingly. Would you grow rich by your herds, a proper care must be taken of them; would you extend your dominions by arms and be rendered capable of setting at liberty your captive friends and bringing your enemies to subjection, you must not only learn of those that are experienced in the art of war, but exercise yourself also in the practice of military affairs; and if you would excel in the strength of your body you must keep your body in due subjection to your mind and exercise it with labor and pains.—From the "Memorabilia of Socrates."

Unnecessary Courtesy.

American parents often deplore the abruptness of their children's speech, but few American children would venture to address their parents in the incisive language sometimes used in the Gladstone family, as indicated in a recent book by Mary Drew, Mr. Gladstone's daughter. It bored Mr. Gladstone, she says, to hear people apologetically differ—"My dearest love, I really think you are wrong," etc. "He thought it more to the point to be short and sharp—"A lie!" It is impossible to forget Lord Morley's face," adds Mrs. Drew, "when he first heard one of us say to Mr. Gladstone, 'A lie!'" This freedom of expression half startled and shocked guests at Hawarden. Mr. Gladstone's daughter observes, but it broke the self-consciousness of discussion and "put everyone in good humor."—From the Outlook.

Straightening Wire.

Stray pieces of copper wire have many uses, but it is often necessary to straighten out wire that has already been used before it can be employed again. See that there are no sharp bends or kinks in the wire, and straighten out by hand any of these which are found. Fasten one end of the wire to some firm anchorage, grip it the vice if necessary. Loop the other end of the wire around a hammer handle or similar instrument and then pull out the length of wire. Repeat this operation as often as necessary. If the wire is of soft copper it will stretch a little, which improves it.

For a Severe Cold
"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured my daughter, Anna, of a severe cold and cough a few years ago, and ever since then I have never missed an opportunity to recommend this medicine to anyone suffering from throat or lung troubles. I cannot speak too highly in praise of it," writes Mrs. D. J. Sibley, Earlville, N. Y. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no narcotic and may be given to children with perfect confidence. It is a pleasant syrup, so they do not object to taking it.—Adv.

CUT THIS OUT OF YOUR PAPER

Mr. E. E. Combs, expert piano tuner and regulator, of 406 North Hamilton street, Ypsilanti, has contributed, through the National Piano Tuners Association, the following instructions as to the care of pianos:

Have the piano tuned at least twice a year by a competent tuner. It is especially important that it be tuned at frequent intervals while new. It will give longer and better service if tuned three times during the first year. A new piano "settles" just as a new horse does, therefore, will go out of tune sooner the first year than thereafter.

There are about 230 highly tempered steel strings in a piano which when drawn to international pitch exert a strain on the frame approximately 15 tons. The strings bear upon a spruce board, called the sounding board, which is so designed and constructed as to exert an even resistance to the strings when the latter are in tune.

When a string is out of tune, its tension and pressure upon the sounding board is either greater or less than the designer of the instrument intended. The nice balance that originally existed between pressure and resistance is upset; and, if an abnormal strain happens to be concentrated in one section of the scale, the result may be a split sounding board, a cracked metal plate, a broken string, or serious loss of resonance.

Tuning, therefore, is not only a matter of making or keeping the tone agreeable to the ear, that is its musical purpose, but its mechanical function of balancing the strain is equally important.

Pianos go out of tune because they are affected by the same atmospheric conditions that cause the dresser drawers to stick or the rungs of chairs to become loose. Moist air swells the wood and felt parts, very dry air shrinks them. Sudden changes of temperature also cause contraction or expansion of the wood and metal parts, varnish, etc. It would be impracticable, and perhaps unhealthy too, to maintain a uniform temperature and a fixed degree of humidity in your home at all times; and this is not necessary, but since the piano must be subjected to atmospheric changes, it also must be tuned.

Pianos should be tuned at least once in every six months. It is important that the tuner be a skilled man. We suggest that you engage a member of the National Association of Piano Tuners, as all members of this organization must have five or more years experience, and are also required to pass an examination as to efficiency.

We warn you not to employ "tramp" tuners. No matter how many letters of recommendation from real or supposed customers or diplomas from tanning schools they may present, as such tuners often are fakirs, whose tinkering will do the instrument more harm than good.

REGULATING. Have the action inspected once or twice a year, as atmospheric changes are likely to effect the nice adjustment of the metal, wood and felt parts, and if played much when out of regulation, abnormal wear is very likely to occur in certain parts, followed at length by breakages.

Sluggishness in the action, thumping, squeaking and other unusual sounds, weak or mushy tones when playing, are some of the indications of needed regulation. It would be much better, however, to have the regulating attended to, before these symptoms forced themselves upon your attention.

MOISTURE. Set this piano with its back toward an inside partition if possible, rather than an outside wall, and not too near open windows. Protect it from dampness, especially in summer. Excessive dampness is one of the worst foes of the piano. It throws the strings out of tune, rusts all steel and metal parts, causes action parts to swell and bind, and may even open up the glue joints of the sounding board, back and case.

The presence of rust on the strings, or the sticking of several keys is to be regarded as proof of excessive dampness in the room where the piano is kept.

Dampness often causes the case to "bloom" or take on a bluish, cloudy appearance in spring or summer. This is not serious, as it consists only of moisture, dust and mould, which may be washed off with a piece of cheesecloth, wrung out of tepid water. If necessary, use a little Ivory soap in the water, dry immediately with a soft cloth, rubbing with the grain, not across it.

DRY HEAT. In winter, keep this piano in a room where the temperature is moderate (about 72 degrees) and the humidity about normal. Do not let it stand over in front of or near any register, radiator, steam pipe or other heating device. If a temperature higher than 72 is necessary for the comfort of children or old people, evaporate water in the room to maintain normal humidity.

Excessive dryness, such as is found in many homes in winter, shrinks the wood parts and the felt bushings, cause rattles, injures glue-joints and varnish, may crack the sounding board, or make veneers loosen and curl.

SUDDEN CHANGES OF TEMPERATURE. Do not throw the windows of the room open in very cold weather, without first protecting the piano with blankets or similar covering.

WHEN MOVING. Under no consideration allow this piano to be brought from a cold or frosty atmosphere, directly into a warm room. If it is necessary to move in severe weather, open the windows of the room in which the piano is to be placed. After the piano is installed, close the windows, and allow the temperature to gradually rise. Failure to follow this advice is absolutely sure to result in rusty tunings, pins, strings, etc., and may possibly ruin the tonal quality forever, to say nothing of the disastrous effects upon the varnish.

POLISH. Use no polish on this piano, except one approved by us. Some polishes "kill" the varnish in time.

KEYS. Bring no colored substances into contact with the ivory. Do not play when fingers are red with benzoin dye, pigment from clothing or furniture. Both ivory and its imitations are absorbent.

Do not keep the keys covered for any considerable period, as they will yellow quickly in the dark. Ivory is yellowish by nature. The whiteness of the keys is due to the natural color of the ivory, and the natural color will return with age, but plenty of light and an occasional cleaning with a damp cloth will delay the yellowish process. Ivoryine (imitation ivory) will retain its whiteness.

When you think there is something wrong, consult us or call in a member of the National Association of Piano Tuners.—Adv.

Why We Are Strong for Willard

We've seen a lot of batteries, but never another like the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.

Threaded Rubber insulates the plates instead of separating them the way wood separators do.

No carbonizing, puncturing, checking or cracking, because Threaded Rubber Insulation retains all the valuable insulating qualities of rubber and is not affected by acid.

That's one reason why we're strong for Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries.

Countess Potocka, of Obscure Birth, Became Wife of Great Nobleman of That Country.

The Countess Potocka lived obscurely in the days between the first and second partitions of Poland. She was born in 1766, and was the daughter of a Greek shoemaker at Constantinople. Her extraordinary beauty and her poverty brought her to misfortune. A French consul named Boscamp took her away from Constantinople to Poland. There she is said to have married a Russian general, and later to have divorced him.

Then she married Count Stanislaw Felix Potocka, one of the wealthiest noblemen of Europe, who is regarded as a traitor who did much to bring ruin to Poland. The countess lived for many years in Berlin, where her beauty created a furore in the ranks of society. She died there in 1822.

Count Potocka was the Rockefeller of Poland. He owned several castles and enormous estates, possessing in the Ukraine alone no less than 3,000,000 acres. When he became of age he married secretly a very attractive cousin. When the story of their elopement was divulged there were terrible scenes. Although he was old enough to be a husband Felix was fogged and his young wife, berated and shunned, finally threw herself into a pond to escape her persecutors.

FIGURES IN POLISH HISTORY

Countess Potocka, of Obscure Birth, Became Wife of Great Nobleman of That Country.

The Countess Potocka lived obscurely in the days between the first and second partitions of Poland. She was born in 1766, and was the daughter of a Greek shoemaker at Constantinople. Her extraordinary beauty and her poverty brought her to misfortune. A French consul named Boscamp took her away from Constantinople to Poland. There she is said to have married a Russian general, and later to have divorced him.

Then she married Count Stanislaw Felix Potocka, one of the wealthiest noblemen of Europe, who is regarded as a traitor who did much to bring ruin to Poland. The countess lived for many years in Berlin, where her beauty created a furore in the ranks of society. She died there in 1822.

Count Potocka was the Rockefeller of Poland. He owned several castles and enormous estates, possessing in the Ukraine alone no less than 3,000,000 acres. When he became of age he married secretly a very attractive cousin. When the story of their elopement was divulged there were terrible scenes. Although he was old enough to be a husband Felix was fogged and his young wife, berated and shunned, finally threw herself into a pond to escape her persecutors.

Nothing could, he says, have been more tempting than that cool white bed, after his laborious trip, and without saying a word to the Senora Pareno, he threw himself at full length upon it.

Scarcely had he done so when a shriek arose, and the little woman flew at him like a wild creature. She seized him and dragged him off the bed with the strength of two men. He was too much dazed to resist, but retreated before her.

"Oh, Dios mio, Dios mio!" she shouted. "They are ruined—ruined!" Whereupon she tore back the cover of the bed, and to the traveler's amazement disclosed row after row of biscuits! They had been placed there to rise. To rise! Down the center of the rows his weight had fattened them beyond recognition; only at the farthest edge had a few escaped.

Pumice Should Make Us Bright. Pumice is formed by the solidification of the foam produced on molten lava by the escape of gas. The inside makes of high-grade pumice is cellular and the specific gravity of the stone is so low that dry pumice floats in water. The known deposits on dry land are not considerable; although the stone is scattered over large areas of the world's ocean bed.

Italian pumice is the highest grade known to the trade. The volcanic island of Lipari lying off the north coast of Sicily about 40 miles from the Italian mainland, is the seat of the industry.

Pumice is used chiefly by automobile and carriage manufacturers, marble workers, lithographers, platers and manufacturers of patent leather and enamel. Crushed to powder, it is used for scouring and polishing. Shipments amounting to 8,600,000 pounds of pumice were made to the United States in the six months from January to June, 1920, by one firm in Lipari.

Much Iron in Philippines. The finest unworked iron fields in the world have been discovered in the Philippines, according to a report from government experts recently received by the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, says the Washington Post. The quantities of ore adjacent to good harbors, they state, will be sufficient to assure the future iron and steel production in the United States for generations. Already land believed to contain more than 500,000,000 tons has been surveyed. Deposits on the island of Mindanao are believed to be without a rival. They contain 275,000,000 tons close to good harbors and 130,000,000 tons within easy transportation distance of Dajkin bay, perhaps the best natural harbor on the islands. Only crude iron work in primitive smelters is being carried on at present.

The Defiling Hand of Man. It is a humiliating reflection that man, when he comes in his numbers, defiles and defaces, and makes ugly more than the wild beast. One has but to find his trail on any green place. The orange peels, the dirty and torn newspapers, the old boots, the broken crockery and utensils, have power to destroy beauty and peace and banish the Spirit of Place. When he stretches out a hand over what once was countryside, how depressing are his little houses, his dingy paths, his fields where the most devoted industriously from dawn to dark, where the lark climbed a thousand winding stairs into Heaven.—Katherine Tegen in the King's Highway.

CHOOSE POOR PLACE TO REST

Traveler in Spain Not Fully Aware as to Just What Uses Beds Were Sometimes Put.

An American tells of a visit he once made to the town of Yuste, in the northwestern corner of Spain. He had sought rest under discouraging circumstances, after a ride on mule-back over miles of dusty road. While the hostess of the inn was preparing his dinner he proposed to himself to rest upon the bed in the public room.

Nothing could, he says, have been more tempting than that cool white bed, after his laborious trip, and without saying a word to the Senora Pareno, he threw himself at full length upon it.

Scarcely had he done so when a shriek arose, and the little woman flew at him like a wild creature. She seized him and dragged him off the bed with the strength of two men. He was too much dazed to resist, but retreated before her.

"Oh, Dios mio, Dios mio!" she shouted. "They are ruined—ruined!" Whereupon she tore back the cover of the bed, and to the traveler's amazement disclosed row after row of biscuits! NEWBURG

Rev. Wakefield will preach next Sunday. The topic for next Sunday is, "Does Christ Rule My Community?" leader, Miss Reulah Ryder. There were forty-six present last Sunday night.

Beatrice Davey's class will furnish flowers for the church next Sabbath. The classes of the primary department had a fine time last Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Marrows, playing games and good things to eat, with a birthday cake in honor of Mary Bennett and Avis Perkins.

A number of young folks of Newburg had an enjoyable time with the Clemens young people, Tuesday evening.

Don't forget the cemetery meeting at Newburg hall, Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock. Everyone interested is urged to be present. This is one of the oldest cemeteries in Wayne county, the first burial occurring in 1827.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bassett of Jackson, spent over Sunday visiting at Floyd Bassett's and A. J. Geer's. Mrs. Ella Wight and daughter spent the week-end at the Smith homestead.

Miss Florence Whitney of Wayne, spent Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder. Miss Willmetta Peters, of Detroit, also spent over Sunday at the same place.

Mrs. W. R. LeVan visited Mrs. Ike Gunsolly, Tuesday.

Mrs. James Norris and son, Edwin, of Detroit, spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. Mackinder. They are making plans for their overland trip to California this summer.

The roads are being repaired on Newburg and Ann Arbor road, under the supervision of William Shields, much to the delight of a long suffering people.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers of Plymouth, spent Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mackinder.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and son and Mrs. Alfred Bakewell motored to South Lyon, Sunday, and spent the day at George Henry's.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barlow and children are visiting at Jesse Jewell's.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Lawry of Cleveland, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jewell.

Jesse Jewell has sold six sows and fifty-two pigs, and seventy-five yet to sell, all registered.

Mrs. Charles Ryder has received word from Mrs. Charles Armstrong of Alhambra, California, that Dr. John Armstrong passed away at the Pasadena hospital, April 22. The relatives have the sincere sympathy of friends here, where the doctor was well and favorably known during his younger days.

SALEM

Mrs. Laura Smith was called to Highland, Thursday, by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Losey.

Mr. George Foreman was a South Lyon visitor, Thursday.

Forrest Roberts and C. M. McLaren were Ann Arbor visitors, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Whittaker were at Clyde, Friday, visiting her sister, Mrs. Roy Warner and family.

Bert Rider was in Ann Arbor on business, Saturday. F. C. Wheeler went with him and remained over Sunday.

METHODIST MATTERS

Several women from the local Woman's Foreign Missionary Society were in Pontiac, Thursday and Friday this week, attending the annual meeting of the Detroit conference society. Mrs. I. N. Dickerson and Mrs. F. M. Field were the official delegates.

The men of the Brotherhood Bible Class and their wives enjoyed a social evening last Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hill, west of town. An enjoyable time was spent directed by the social chairman, Robert Joffe.

The Standard Bearers met at the church for their monthly meeting last Monday afternoon and had supper together. They intended to stay for the pictures in the evening, but were disappointed by the lack of lights.

Mrs. Bertha Cook's Sunday-school girls, who call themselves "The True Blues," are in business Saturday afternoon, with a bake sale at the gas office. They are dealing out cherry pies, fried cakes and home-made candy and will turn the proceeds to the starving children fund. Here is a chance to eat something good and help someone else eat who otherwise might starve.

A number of families of the Methodist congregation have been reading J. G. Holland's novel, "Seven Oaks" which was shown on the screen Wednesday night under the title of "Jes' Call Me Jim." For the benefit of those who haven't read the book, Rev. Field will give some portions of the book which do not appear in the picture in a dramatic book sermon next Sunday evening.

BASE BALL COLLEGE STORY

CHARLES RAY IN "THE PINCH HITTER" AT M. E. CHURCH, MONDAY NIGHT.

Particularly appropriate at this season is the base ball photoplay, "The Pinch Hitter," which appears at the M. E. church recreation night program next Monday evening. Just to say it is a Thos. H. Ince production and that Charles Ray takes the part of the country boy from Turkey Creek is enough to indicate its quality. He was the "bashfullest critter" in the country and sort of dumfified, but he went to college, and although the laughing stock of the campus for awhile, he made good with a vengeance.

This picture is presented under the auspices of the Epworth League and the proceeds will go into the fund for sending delegates to the State Institute at Albion in June. The young folks are hoping to send at least nine of their number, which will require about one hundred dollars. Sixty dollars of this amount is already on hand. An admission of 20c and 10c will be charged.

CHEAP EXCURSION SOUTH

Several people from this vicinity are leaving this week for an eight-day trip to the Lower Rio Grande Valley on a special excursion conducted by Yoder, Chase & Stebbins of 317 Huron street, Toledo. These trips are made semi-monthly at a rate of $75, which includes meals, berths and all expenses. A sight-seeing stop-over is afforded at New Orleans and Galveston, boating on the harbor, bathing in the surf, banqueting, etc. Two days are spent in the valley, where a complete inspection tour is made by auto. Corn in the valley is now tasseling, potatoes being dug, tomatoes and melons ripening, alfalfa being cut third time this season. A wonderful crop of grape fruit, oranges and lemons is nearly half grown.

This trip affords a most delightful vacation, and anyone interested in better money making opportunities, better climate, better social and educational facilities, where it is warmer in winter and cooler in summer, where rheumatism, catarrh and asthma do not exist, where roses bloom and birds sing, the whole year around, cannot afford to overlook its advantages. John A. Acker of Chelsea, is district representative for above concern, and will be glad to call on those interested.

Elmer E. Gray of Plymouth, is a recent purchaser of land in the valley, and expects to move there this fall. Adv.

TO THE GOOD PEOPLE OF PLYMOUTH:

The writer, whose likeness appears on this page, in introducing himself, begs to state that as a native of Michigan, born and raised in Flint, when (like Plymouth today), it was a beautiful small community of peace and home-loving real American people. Like hundreds of Detroiters, I am looking the Plymouth way for a future home.

I want to make it clear from the start that I am not a promoter, but intend to make my business that of selling Plymouth property, and my first operation will be the selling of home sites and the building of attractive homes, in what I consider the most choice available spot within the village limits, and I have many Detroit friends who are interested in my project, both as investors and home builders.

My ambition is to build up a neighborhood that Plymouth will be proud of, and in the spirit of making every home and its surroundings a beautiful one at a modest cost and in doing so and whatever other task I may undertake here, sincerely hope I may be instrumental in developing a healthy growth of the village, and in maintaining it as a quiet, dignified, home community of its present standard.

SATURDAY, APRIL 30

providing the sun shines, I will be on the grounds and hope to have the pleasure of meeting every resident who may find it convenient to come out.

From an investment standpoint, I wish to state that I am in a position to know that within two years important events in connection with Detroit Industrial developments and increased population will undoubtedly include rapid transit via P. M. R. R., between Detroit and Plymouth. It's the only logical direction for Detroit business men to look for that grand privilege which every other large city is blessed with, and with the wealthiest Detroit men back of the project, it is no longer a dream. If you will trust to my judgment and advice, and pin your faith to Plymouth's future, you will invest now in the property, and thank me later for a handsome profit. Mr. Jesse Hake will be associated with me, and for the present we will maintain office desk room at 370 Main street.

I am, sincerely,

BRADLEY P. GRIFFIN.

We will build you one of these attractive 5-room Bungalows, 26x40, for if you will pay for your lot. If you prefer a different type we will build to your plans from $6,000 up on Penniman avenue. Lot dimensions, 50x120. Prices, $780 to $960. Lots on other streets 45x140 and 150 deep, $830 to $690.

If you believe in

you will invest some of your savings in this property. It's the most desirable spot within the village limits, and with coming events will be the first to increase in value.

Terms within the reach of all.

AND Then—There's the kind that inspires your confidence, and gets results that you can depend upon.

Such service is possible only where it is backed by a reliable company, and responsible representatives.

THE THEATRE

"Blizzard," played by Lon Chaney, whose character work as "The Frog" in "The Miracle Man" will never be forgotten. In "The Penalty" he has a part that is unique in the annals of the screen. Lon Chaney's marvelous characterization is sure to be greeted as one of the finest pieces of acting ever done before the camera. See this great feature at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday evening, April 30. For many years, Clara Kimball Young has occupied the exalted position as "Queen of the World's Screen." Millions know her thru pictures and love her for her charm, her beauty, and her brilliant histrionic ability in the portrayal of widely different characters in the silent drama. In the presentation of the great character of Raquel in Marah Ellis Ryan's magnificent love story of golden California, Clara Kimball Young reaches the very zenith of her long and dazzling career, which with its supporting cast, photogenic effects and investiture makes "For the Soul of Raquel." This great picture will be seen at the Penniman Allen theatre, Tuesday evening, May 3. Is woman's love deeper and more lasting than man's? Let Pauline Frederick answer this question for you in "Madame X." Jacqueline Floriot's love for her son knew no past, no present, no future. It encompassed all time. It was a love more fiery than passion, more tenacious than desire. It was a love stronger than death itself. For Jacqueline Floriot's death will ever live. You must not miss this production—the supreme accomplishment of Goldwyn Pictures, at the Penniman Allen theatre, Thursday evening, May 5th.

GEMS NOT TRUE TO COLOR

Popular Fallacy to Ascribe to Precious Stones Hues That May Be Called Definite.

Story writers talk of the sky being as blue as a sapphire, or of a wild beast's eyes glowing as yellow as topaz. Most of us are under the impression that we can recognize gems by their colors, and that certain colors belong definitely to certain stones. Quite a mistake. There is hardly a precious stone which is always true to color. Diamonds, of course, vary greatly. The famous Hope diamond is a green diamond, and others of a lovely crimson, but these are very rare. Black diamonds are common enough. Black pearls are rarer, but are found. Pink pearls are greatly prized. One of the finest in existence was found in a fresh water mussel in the Mississippi river and is valued at $15,000. Off the Pearl Islands, South of Panama, pearls are found which are lead-gray and also green. Sapphire mines in the Rocky mountains produce stones which touch the whole color scale from blue and red to an exquisite purple. In Rhodesia is found a topaz of a most lovely pale blue. Yet the chemical composition of the gem proves it to be identical with the yellow topaz. The colors of most gems are more or less fugitive. That is, under certain circumstances they are liable to fade. Take two rubies exactly similar, shut one in the dark, and leave the other exposed to full sunlight, and at the end of two years there will be a distinct difference between them. The one that has been exposed to the light will be decidedly paler than the other. Similar results may be observed with both emeralds and sapphires. Garnets also will turn lighter, white in the case of the topaz, sunlight ends by diminishing and dulling the color of this stone.—Stray Stories.

DONKEYS FIGURE IN HISTORY

Merits of Patient Creatures Have Been Sung by Poets and Depicted by Painters. The "common or garden" donkey is one of the most laughed-at animals, and few of us pause to think what a figure this stubborn but patient creature has made in literature, art, and history. The very first picture the visitor to the London National gallery sees as he enters the building is a beautifully painted ass upon which the Virgin sits with her infant Son. It is Holman Hunt's "Triumph of the Innocents." Balaam's ass has passed into a proverb of the foolish instructing the wise! There is, too, the Golden ass of Apuleius, a romance of the Second century, Balzac with his "Ass's Skin," Sancho Panza with his adored donkey, and Sterne with that dead donkey which he has immortalized. Then who can forget Robert Louis Stevenson's delightful "Travels With a Donkey," where the donkey is almost as entertaining as the author? There was, too, the famous donkey of Maffeking, and still Roy's donkey which was shaved of its ears by a British shot, and there was Matanza's mule killed in Cuba—but that was only half a donkey! King Midas was said to have ass's ears, and it was upon an ass that Mohammed went to paradise to learn the will of Allah. It was named Al Borak (the fighting), so it must have been the swiftest ass on record!

Dogs and a Hunting Dog. The dachshund is a true bond and is used for hunting in Europe, especially for getting foxes and other such animals out of holes, as it is a great digger, and its peculiar build enables it to go down a relatively small hole. It has an excellent nose, and will trail rabbits, foxes and other game with great tenacity, but it is little used for hunting in this country because it is hard to train and manage, paying little attention to orders, and doing as it pleases. If the game goes to earth, it is almost impossible to get the dachshund away until it has been dug out. This breed is of great antiquity, one of its kind being painted on an Egyptian monument of 2000 B. C.

Characterology. To the lazzarone it may seem an impossible task to learn all of the things disclosed by the many parts of a human being, and yet, through the work of the men who have made these things their life study, the fundamental principles of characterology can be quickly learned and applied by the average business or professional man. Such a knowledge will enable business men to choose their associates and employees so that natural ability will harmonize with work in hand and every man will possess the precise innate capacity which will enable him to become an expert in the department to which he is assigned.

One of the Sky. Not one in a hundred persons can tell why the sky is blue, or why the sunsets and sunsets are red. But any one can easily demonstrate the working of the "blue sky" law of nature. Blow a puff of smoke into a darkened room and admit the light from one window only. Look at the smoke against the dark background of the room and its color is blue, but look through it at the light and it appears reddish. The illumination of the blue rays by small particles in the atmosphere produces the blue color. The red rays cannot be so easily light. Jump the gaps between these particles.
