Off Summer Pastures

As your animals come in off the pastures they'll miss the tonics and laxatives which nature supplied to keep them in condition. It's a big change. You must supply what is lacking in the dry feed—hay, grain and fodder—or they will get "off feed" and out of fix.

Dr. Hess Stock Tonic

Supplies the Tonics—Laxatives—Diuretics

It keeps animals free from worms. It keeps their bowels open and regular. It keeps the appetite and digestion good. It helps to keep up the milk flow. It keeps the blood pure. It keeps the animals in good health. It keeps the animals from getting sick. It keeps the animals from getting fat. It keeps the animals from getting thin. It keeps the animals from getting old. It keeps the animals from getting young.

DEARBORN DEFEATS PLYMOUTH

VISITORS WIN FOOT BALL CONTEST LAST FRIDAY BY A SCORE OF 43 TO 0.

SECOND TEAM WINS FROM NORTHVILLE SECOND TEAM BY A SCORE OF 19 TO 0.

Last Friday the Dearborn High school foot ball team came to Plymouth for the annual contest on the foot ball field at the High school, and when the smoke of the battle cleared away, the visitors were the possessors of the big end of a 43-0 score. Nor was it all luck. Coach Millard's team is by far the best that will be seen on the Plymouth field this season, and nearly all are veterans of two, three and four years' experience. The Plymouth line, though out-weighted and out-charged, were game to the end, and the back field carried their threat of a score well into the last quarter. Naturally they did not show up as well as in previous games with weaker teams, but Stevens looked as well as the much-touted Wiener or Webster, and Williams and T. Strasen repeatedly broke through the line to get the man with the ball for a loss or very slight gain.

The score did not measure the difference between the teams, for when Dearborn's plays "went," they went far, the kick-off in the second half being returned nearly the length of the field for a touchdown. In the last part of the game, however, Dearborn found it impossible to score, Plymouth holding them safely in the pinches.

The line-up was as follows:
L. E.—Sayles
T. M.—Strasen, Williams
L. G.—Williams, Schoof
C.—T. Strasen
R. G.—Schoof, Richwine
R. T.—Norgrove
R. E.—Sutherland, Stevens
Qr.—Seger
L. H.—Millard
F. B.—Stevens, Doudt
R. H.—Bartlett
Referee—Steimle, Ypsi Normal

Second Team Beats Northville
Monday night the Plymouth second team demonstrated to all observers the value of teamwork and practice. Out-weighted on the line, at ends, and in the back field, Captain Birch's team produced shift plays, line smashes, and an aerial attack that netted three touchdowns in the first half, by Kenyon, Seger and Doudt, who kicked one goal, making it 19-0. In the second half, Northville's defense stiffened, and though nearly all the play was in Northville territory, a field goal by Doudt was the only score. The line-up was as follows:
L. E.—Taylor, Trucks, Finnegan
L. T.—L. Miller
L. G.—Cline, Goyer, Holcomb
C.—Birch
R. G.—H. Cochran
R. T.—Holmes
R. E.—Kenyon, F. Millard
Qr.—Palmer
R. H.—Doudt, Hickey, Kenyon
L. H.—Holcomb, Doudt
F. B.—Seger
Referee—Walker, Plymouth
Umpire—Winn, Northville
On Thursday the second team play Belleville on the local field.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION TONIGHT

ARMISTICE DAY AND THE TURNING ON OF THE NEW BOULEVARD LIGHTS WILL BE OBSERVED WITH APPROPRIATE PROGRAM.

A double celebration has been planned for Plymouth this, Friday evening, November 11th, when Armistice Day and the turning on of the new boulevard lighting system will be appropriately observed.

A procession headed by the Millard band will form on Main street in front of the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7 o'clock, and march down Main street to Starkweather avenue, thence north on Starkweather to Liberty, and then return to Central Park, opposite the village hall, where it had been planned to have the exercises take place, weather permitting, but if not, the program will be carried out at the High school auditorium. At the present writing it is altogether probable that the auditorium will be used.

W. J. Burrows, president of the village commission will preside over the exercises. P. W. Voorhes of Detroit, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county will give the Armistice Day address. George A. Smith, president of the new Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and a representative from the Detroit Edison Co. will also speak. Music by the band and singing. Everybody is most cordially invited to join in the procession and make the occasion a great success. Don't forget the procession will form on Main street at 7 o'clock sharp. Everybody turn out.

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stewart pleasantly celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home on West Ann Arbor street, Saturday, November 5th. Their three children and families, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stewart and children of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown and children of the procession and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lester of Freeport; also Mr. Stewart's two sisters, Mrs. M. S. Lee of York, Pa., and Mrs. E. M. Joy of this place; and Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Dutton of Birmingham, were their dinner guests. During the afternoon, other relatives and friends called to congratulate them. The hostess of this place, was united in five ten dollar gold pieces, the gift of their children, also flowers and other appropriate gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are both well and active and are planning on soon going south to spend the winter. They have the best wishes of Plymouth friends for many more years of happiness together.

TAYLOR-AMRHEIN

At 4:00 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, November 5th, a pretty little wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage, when Isabelle Amrhein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Amrhein of this place, was united in marriage to Thomas E. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor of near Newburg, by Rev. D. D. Nagle. The bride wore a beautiful gown of net over white satin, with a corsage of bride's roses, and was accompanied by her sister, Fern Amrhein, who wore a lovely dress of white organdie and a bouquet of roses. The groom was accompanied by Fenn Day of this place. Both the bride and groom are very popular young people of the community. They will reside in a pleasant home just outside the village on the Plymouth road. Their many friends unite in extending to them congratulations and best wishes.

PICTURE SHOW TONIGHT

The usual Thursday evening picture show at the Penniman Allen theatre, will be given this, Friday evening, Nov. 11th. There will also be a dance at the Penniman Allen auditorium.

PACKAGE BOXES PLACED ABOUT TOWN

Postmaster M. G. Hill announces the placing of package boxes in the following locations about the village: Corner Holbrook avenue and Liberty street, corner Main and Union streets, city hall, corner Church street and Blunk avenue, corner Ann Arbor street and Fairground avenue, corner Main street and Maple avenue, and corner Penniman avenue and Harvey street.

These boxes are not for the reception of letters, and parties mailing letters should put them in the regular letter boxes or deposit them in the postoffice.

Any parcels placed in these boxes with insufficient postage thereon, will be held at the postoffice and the sender notified if his name is on the parcel, if not the party to whom it is addressed will be notified and asked to forward postage for it to be forwarded to them.

These boxes are primarily for the use of the carriers to leave packages of papers and letters too heavy to be carried around with them, for further distribution to patrons.

NEW STATION AT PRISON FARM

Supt. Edward Dennison of the Detroit House of Correction prison farm, near Plymouth, has been notified that the Pere Marquette railroad company will establish a station at the prison farm, which is on the Detroit-Grand Rapids division of the Pere Marquette. The station will prove a great convenience in transporting prisoners to and from the city.

WELTZER-LOOSEMORE

On Monday evening, November 7th, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Loosemore of Redford, when their daughter, Helen C. Loosemore, became the bride of Daniel J. Weltzer of Plymouth. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Peters of Redford.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attractively gowned in white satin, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The maid of honor was Miss Ida Johnson, who wore a gown of white georgette over satin, and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. The bridegroom was attended by John Bloxom of Plymouth, as best man. Only the intimate friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present, numbering about thirty in all. After the ceremony a very dainty lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Weltzer were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. They are extended the best of wishes for future happiness by all who know them.

MORE "RECIPROCIETY"
Older voters of Plymouth can remember when one of the two great political parties made a great deal to do about "reciprocity." In this day one seldom hears it mentioned, and yet we believe nothing better was ever designed as a stimulant to business.
We don't mean the reciprocity between nations, as the politicians used to argue for and against. But we mean reciprocity right here at home. It means reciprocating, and reciprocating means that when the other fellow patronizes you it is up to you to reciprocate—to patronize him. If you need something that is sold here at home, buy it here and the man you buy it from, if he is the right sort of man, will turn right around when he needs what you have to sell and buy it from you. That is reciprocity in its fullest sense, and it means that it won't be long before our dollars are circulating at a rapid rate, and yet not leaving the community. For there's mighty few things a human being can need or desire that can't be had right from our home merchants.

And our farmers can supply most everything that the merchant doesn't keep in stock, or cannot order.
Another thing buying from each other and trading with each other enables all of us to pay each other with a greater degree of promptness—and that makes for progress and prosperity. Money thus kept in circulation stimulates outside interest, and pretty soon trade from other communities commences to find its way here. Let's try a little more reciprocity right here at home—a little more trading with each other and less with the stranger whose only interest in us is to get all the money out of us he possibly can.

CAN YOU SPELL?
Not long ago we urged citizens of Plymouth to start a movement looking toward the establishment of a series of community sings here, a night set apart every few weeks when the entire community could assemble and indulge in an hour or two of singing. Now we want to amend that suggestion a little and couple with the sing an old-fashioned spelling bee. No form of entertainment ever approached the spelling bee, and for many years it afforded amusement for people in every section of our broad land. Why not revive it; why not see if there isn't just as much entertainment to be had nowadays at a spelling bee as there were in the days of our fathers and mothers, days before anyone dreamed of moving pictures and lecture courses? It strikes us that it would be a good idea to try it at least, and see if we can't add a little more pleasure to the winter evenings ahead of us than we have ever known in the past.

COMMUNITY PRAYER MEETING

The people of this community are called to attend a union prayer meeting, to be held at the Methodist church on Friday morning, at 11:00 o'clock, which is that fateful hour of Armistice Day. Surely the citizens of this land can do nothing better to secure for ourselves and all mankind, the blessings of international peace than to implore the aid and direction of Almighty God upon the Disarmament Conference, which is to open in Washington on that day. The pastors of the various churches are co-operating to make this an outstanding event on Armistice Day. Every loyal citizen should be on hand.

WOMAN'S CLUB

A regular meeting of the Woman's club was held in the kindergarten room at the school building, last Friday afternoon, November 4th, with a good attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. D. E. Murray, and a pleasing diversion from the regular order was a song by the kindergarten chorus for the opening number. This was followed by a business session. Several new names were added to the membership list, and Mrs. Coello Hamilton was elected first vice president to fill vacancy caused by the removal of Mrs. F. M. Field.
The chairman of "Better Speech Week" committee, Mrs. William Shaw, offered several splendid suggestions for work along this line, and urged the members of the club to help in the week's work as much as possible. The following resolution from committee on American Speech of Chicago Woman's Club was read and adopted: "Whereas, we believe in a democracy of which every member uses the same language. We believe in unifying the people of the United States by using American speech as a national language, and by conducting both public and private schools in the American language. We believe in a democracy of which every member uses a clear, pleasant and accurate speech. We believe in increasing American efficiency in all walks of life, industrial, military, civic and social by improving American voices, articulation and enunciation. Therefore, we endorse the efforts of the American Speech committee of the Chicago Woman's Club to raise the standard of American speech and to make American speech a symbol of American unity."
"Problems and Possibilities of the World Today," was the subject selected for next year's study.
"English as she is spoken"—Better English was the response to roll call. Mrs. J. R. Rauch, chairman of the second division, presided during the program. Several vocal duets by Mrs. Maxwell Moon and Mrs. Geo. H. McLaren accompanied by Mrs. Wm. Wood were pleasingly rendered during the afternoon. Mrs. Geo. H. Robinson, delegate to the State Federation meeting held in Grand Rapids last month, gave a very interesting report. Her clear and concise way of reporting the various sessions made her report one of the best ever presented to the club. At the conclusion she was given a rising vote of thanks.
This (Friday) afternoon, Charles M. Novak, principal of Northeastern High School, Detroit, will give a lecture in the kindergarten room on "Americanization from the Standpoint of an Americanized Citizen." Mr. Novak comes very highly recommended and it is hoped that the room will be filled. Anyone, not a member of the club, desiring to attend this lecture may do so by paying twenty-five cents. The hour is three o'clock, the place, the kindergarten room. Come and hear this fine speaker.

Mrs. W. T. Conner has gone to Battle Creek sanitarium for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lundy of Hollywood, California, former residents of this place, are visiting friends in Detroit, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Crumbe and family, last Sunday.

PAUL A. MARTIN

Paul A. Martin, state commander of the American Legion, states that his organization plans for the "greatest program ever undertaken by any soldier organization" to see that every ex-soldier in Michigan who has a valid claim against the federal government, shall receive his due within a year.

In private life, Mr. Martin is a news paperman in Battle Creek.

DR. FRANK B. BRODERICK

None of the "hard-boiled" discipline which marks some hospitals for former soldiers will be tolerated at the Roosevelt Hospital of the American Legion, designed particularly for tubercular veterans of the World War. Dr. Frank B. Broderick, state welfare officer of the American Legion, has outlined a plan which the Legion is certain will maintain order without imposing on the men.

"Self-government is the answer," said Dr. Broderick and "the necessary regulations will be made by the men, as a body."

Good Health

If you would enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. No one can reasonably hope to feel well, when constipated. When needed, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are mild and gentle.—Advertisement.

HOW TO BE SUCCESSFUL

Have Friend Tell You What Your Most Serious Faults Are and Correct Them.

A million people may read this article. Some have been successful in the battle of life, others haven't. Some will be successful, others won't. It may be too late to save the non-successes; but there is time to rescue a hundred thousand or more of those who, ordinarily, would recruit the army of the unsuccessful.

To them I would say this, speaks a writer in the London Answers: Not one of us is perfect. You may be qualified to do the work which you have to do. You may do it efficiently, but are you even now conscious that there is a something which hinders your progress?

Assuming a reply in the negative, then the chances are a hundred to one that what you need to accelerate your progress and establish your success is a candid friend.

I could set down here the names of three men who are successful in life. It is highly probable that they would have been failures, or but part success, had it not been for a candid friend. The latter, seeing them day by day, watched their development, and marked the beginning of each fault, each flaw, each idiosyncrasy. These handicaps. And the handicap increases as the fault, or whatever it is, develops.

One of the men is a young barrister. He had the brains, the gift of speech, knowledge, and some influence. But he developed a flaw, an idiosyncrasy. How it started he knows not; but in the courts, when pleading, he began to wear a sort of insane smile. His candid friend told him of it, and the smile came off.

A clergyman who to-day is a canon, and will go farther, has several times been rescued by a candid friend. As a curate he developed a trick of sticking his head ludicrously forward and blinking. The candid friend cured him.

Instances could be multiplied, but you see the point?

Select a friend, and invest him with the office of candid friend to yourself. Tell him that you desire him to tell you, with no apologies and no kindly dilution of his criticism, what your faults, developed and developing, are. And then take the medicine and cure yourself.—London Answers.

Japan's Original Name.

The English word "Japan" and the Japanese "Nihon" or "Nippon" are alike corruptions of Yih-pen, the Chinese pronunciation of two characters literally meaning "sun origin," that is, "the place the sun comes from"—a name given to Japan by the Chinese on account of the position of the archipelago to the east of their own country.

From Chinese Yih-pen, says the East and West News, the Japanese derived the present name Nippon, which was officially adopted, according to the history, in A. D. 670. Before that time the usual native designation of the country was Yamato, properly the name of one of the central provinces. Yamato is the name still preferred in poetry and belles-lettres.

The English name Japan seems to have originated with the Portuguese, who spelled the Chinese Yih-pen Japon, the letter J being silent or similar to H according to their language. This is the way the Spanish and the Portuguese still pronounce Japan. From "Japon" came the English Japan.

On His Way.

A professor had promised to deliver a lecture in London; but owing to the poor train service he found he had very little time to spare if he was to get to the hall in time. On arriving in London all he could find was a "growler."

"Drive as fast as you can!" he shouted to the caddy as he jumped in. The caddy whipped up his horse and after 10 minutes' furious driving the professor put his head out of the window.

"Do you know where you're driving me?" he asked.

"No," growled the caddy, "but I'm driving as fast as I can."

May Secure Famous Building.

An American educator has been trying to buy, as a Franco-American memorial, a building that few Americans ever heard of, though it has been called the "baptismal font of America." It is the house in Saint Die, on the Meurthe river, about six miles from the old German frontier, in which in 1807 the name America was first put upon the printed page and engraved upon the map. In the same neighborhood soldiers of the first separate American unit wrote the name of their country in their blood.—Youth's Companion.

All Around.

Mary's hair was curly and her mother had allowed it to grow naturally until a few weeks ago, when she sent her to the barber shop to get it cut. She was gone quite a while, and then she came rushing breathlessly home. "Oh, family," she cried in great glee. "Now I have bangs in the back just like them in the front."

Fitting Ornament.

"Lydia has such a nice sense of the appropriate."

"What made you notice it particularly just now?"

"Didn't you see she carried a gun metal bag with her shot silk dress?"

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold bath every day in a warm room, avoid overheated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming overheated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.—Advertisement.

WEIRD FIRE WALK FESTIVAL

Tamil Hindus Have Day of Thanksgiving for Paying of Vows Made During Illness.

When a Tamil Hindu recovers from a serious illness he sometimes makes a vow to do something entailing discomfort and pain to himself as a sort of manifestation of gratitude combined with self-sacrifice and self-abasement. These vows take different forms, such as rolling over and over on a hard metal road, lashing himself or being lashed on the back or wearing a hair shirt, but walking over live coals is the means most commonly chosen by the devotee, this being very often accompanied by other forms of self-torture.

The particular day of the year reserved for the paying of these vows is the occasion of a religious ceremonial which is known to outsiders as the Fire Walking festival.

Tuesday, July 19, was the festival day this year, and the Hindu temple was crowded. The Tamils present were not those of the coolie class only. There were shopkeepers, traders, merchants, clerks, and the number of cars outside testified to the wealth and position of some of those present.

A little after five o'clock in the afternoon the image of the goddess to whom these vows are paid was brought to the temple in procession, those who had vowed to pay being among the immediate escort. Place was made for these as the procession entered the temple grounds and approached the "fire." The fire consisted of a bed of live coals about 18 feet long and 6 feet broad. Although it was not glowing—water having been thrown over it from a little trench at one end—still one felt the heat some feet away.

The first man to get over carried a "pagoda" on his head weighing about 20 pounds. He danced over the glow coals in slow, measured steps. This method was followed by the others also. There was no stepping over the coal gingerly. Each foot came down as if the owner trod a cement floor. The "fire" was not "walked" over once, but three times.

As each person left the coals he made a circuit of the temple and then entered it. The first man to get through the ceremony dropped at the temple door as he gave up his "pagoda."—North China Herald.

PIERIC ACID CLEARS

30,000 MICHIGAN ACRES

STATE FARMERS SAVE SIXTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ON WAR EXPLOSIVE ALLOTMENT.

Thirty thousand acres of cleared land will be added to Michigan's total as a result of land clearing operations being carried on this fall with Picric acid, according to estimates of land clearing specialists at the Michigan Agricultural College. In addition, it is said, that farmers of the state have saved $65,000 in the purchase of the war salvaged explosive, which has been distributed at about eleven cents a pound lower than the cost of dynamite ordinarily used in land clearing work.

"We received orders for nearly a million pounds of Picric acid," says A. J. McAdams, assistant land clearing specialist at M. A. C., "although the Michigan allotment was only 624,000 pounds. The different state allotments were based on their acreage of cut-over land, and the Michigan total proved insufficient to meet the demand."

"Picric acid is not ordinarily a competitor of dynamite for land clearing purposes, as it actually costs more to manufacture than dynamite. This a lotment was turned over by the government at merely the cost of carting, freight and distribution, which made the price unusually low. It was intended originally for military purposes."

Michigan's allotment of the explosive has been distributed by the extension division of the Michigan Agricultural College, through L. F. Livingston, its land clearing specialist. Twenty-seven carloads were placed in the state, thirteen in the Upper Peninsula and fourteen in the northern counties of the Lower Peninsula.

A SHOW WITHOUT PARALLEL

All previous entries have been exceeded this season by aspirants for honors at the 1921 International Live Stock Exposition to be held at Chicago, November 24 to December 3. At a period of depression and discouragement in this, as other industries, such a response by the western breeders and feeders of cattle, swine and sheep is distinctly and gratifyingly encouraging, demonstrating not only confidence in the stability of the industry, but that progress has not been interrupted even by the most discouraging set of conditions that has ever involved the industry.

Not only are the entries larger in a numerical sense, but the galaxy of exhibitors has increased. Such mediocrity as was inseparable from early exhibitions has now been eliminated, the 1921 display in every department, including the hay and grain exhibit, having the assurance of quality and merit in the superlative degree.

The 1921 International Live Stock Exposition will be the most comprehensive and meritorious aggregation of products of the soil ever gathered in a display arena.

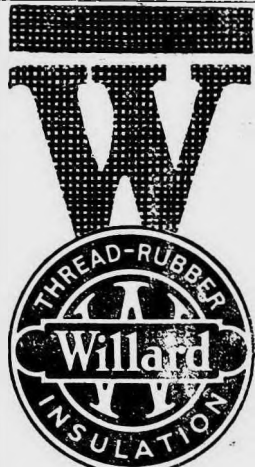

Original Meaning of "Dunce."

A stupid person is called a "dunce" for a most peculiar reason. "Dunce" comes from "duns," the name of one Duns Scotus, one of the greatest doctors of the ancient church and of the Franciscan order, a man known for his keenness and sharp wit.

Back in the Middle Ages theologians who had received their education in the cathedral schools founded by Charlemagne and his successors, were revered for their learning. Later the writings of these "schoolmen" formerly regarded as authoritative, fell into disfavor, mainly because the form in which their thoughts were expressed was unattractive.

Adherents of the teachings of the "schoolmen," particularly of Duns Scotus, one of the leaders, were often scornfully told, "O, you are a Duns!" when in arguing a point they quoted from the "schoolmen." This is how it happens that "dunce" means dullness.

Legion To Open Finest Hospital For Vets

For the relief of Michigan's tubercular veterans, the American Legion soon will throw open at Battle Creek the finest hospital in the United States exclusively devoted to former soldiers.

The healthfulness of its surroundings, its site on a beautiful range of hills, and the size and character of its buildings combine to give it this prominent position, in the opinion of medical men who have examined it.

The institution will be known as the Roosevelt American Legion Hospital. The buildings and site were originally designed as a sanatorium for relatives of soldiers who came to visit and as a place for entertaining the khaki-clad.

Meets Need of Veterans.

The Armistice was signed before the building was completed. But the state had gone so far it decided not to turn back.

For a time, it was turned into a private hospital. Then arrangements were made by Gov. Grosbeck for the state to regain possession of the building. This has now been transferred to the American Legion, along with a fund to maintain the institution.

300 to 500 Patients.

Fred Z. Pantlind, of Grand Rapids, who worked unceasingly for the institution for former service men, is chairman of the committee which will act as the board of managers.

The hospital will accommodate from 300 to 500 patients. Dr. Frank B. Broderick, of Detroit, state welfare officer, estimates that there are between 1,500 and 2,000 tubercular former service men of Michigan. Doctor Broderick's department is separate from the hospital management, but will work in conjunction with it.

Experts for the Staff.

The best tuberculosis experts in the state will be placed on the medical staff. All employees will be former service men and women. Only Michigan tubercular former service men will be admitted, with the exception that some from the United States Public Health Service will seek haven there under special arrangement with the Government.

In addition to the advantages of proper and scientific care, there will be injected an atmosphere of sunshine and cheer, one of the great medicines in fighting the white plague.

In choosing its patients, the Legion will pay no attention to a man's membership or lack of membership in any soldier organization.

CANTON COMMUNITY CLUB MET

The Canton Community Club held a very successful meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Spicer, Wednesday evening, October 26th.

The Wayne County Farm Bureau had the program in charge. Mr. Carmichael, Secretary-Treasurer, gave a talk on the project under consideration for the coming year's program. Miss Marian Rogers, home demonstration agent, Mr. L. W. Ross, leader of Boys' and Girls' Clubs, Mr. Turner, State Superintendent of Boys' and Girls' Clubs and Mr. O. L. Gregg, County Agent, each gave an account of some of their achievements and purposes of their respective departments, each in his line having obtained results. At a meeting of the executive board at Mrs. E. W. Moyer's, Saturday evening, Nov. 5th, a year's program was arranged for the local community club.

GRANGE NOTES

Four members were obligated in the first and second degrees Friday evening, Nov. 4th, and will be instructed in the third and fourth degrees on Friday evening, Nov. 18. After the advisory election for three members of the executive committee of the state Grange, Mrs. James Swegles gave an excellent description of their trip with the Farm Bureau on the tour from Fruit Ridge, Michigan, to Wheeling, West Virginia. On account of the lateness of the hour, further program was closed and Grange dismissed without form. All were pleased to know that Mrs. F. L. Becker is getting along as well as could be expected with her broken shoulder. Attention is called to the dance, given by the ladies at the hall, Saturday evening, Nov. 12th. Be there for a good time.

OLD AND PLEASANT CUSTOM

As This Winter Points Out, the Practice of Kissing Has Much to Recommend It.

Kissing is an established custom in all countries inhabited by white people who refrain at times from eating onions. It is a practice that insures the longevity and universal distribution of germ life and encourages the habit of matrimony.

Some one who didn't know much about kissing said years ago that stolen kisses are sweetest. The opinion is still quoted, but all persons who have had any experience of kissing know better. A kiss is never wholly satisfactory unless the kiss and the kisser show an equal degree of enthusiasm.

Kissing a pretty girl does not afford the unalloyed bliss it is commonly supposed to afford. If she has never been kissed before, her performance is crude and lifeless and, therefore, a little bit disappointing, and if she has been kissed too often she displays a degree of technique that robs the kiss of its flavor. In the old days the flavor of a kiss was imaginary; you couldn't taste anything but girl. But frequently the modern girl's kiss has the stale and unprofitable flavor of rouge. Some day a shrewd manufacturer will put out a line of rouge in all the popular flavors—vanilla, strawberry, lemon and the like—and then each girl can offer her young man the flavor he prefers. —Baltimore Evening Sun.

Russian Musician Makes Noise.
Charles Henry Meltzer, the American critic, writing from Europe, where he is in touch with European musical movements, in an article published in the Forum magazine, says of Igor Stravinsky that he "is today the most discussed, most advertised, most detested and most eulogized of musicians. To some he seems another Bach or Berlioz. By others he is viewed as an impostor. In London and in Paris his more recent works are being lauded to the skies, and torn to tatters. And, on the strength of the abuse which has been heaped upon him, his noisy worshippers have founded a new cult."

Of Stravinsky's opera, "The Rite of Spring," Mr. Meltzer says: "Some of the folk-songs, which were freely used, impressed one, although, by their strange character. But these were incidents in an amazing work which sought to shock, distress and terrify the ear. The 'tonal values' juxtaposed by the composer were at times so awful that they recalled the noises of a modern boiler factory. The players hanged on the percussion instruments. The woodwinds and the brass blasphemed to heaven. The strings let loose weird fogs of anarchic. The effect was Bolshevistic, brutal, bestial."

Japanese and Americans.
American life is realistic, utilitarian, epicurean, more inclined toward comedy than tragedy, rational, and, above all, a life of common sense. Japanese life, on the contrary, is eccentric, sentimental and essentially pessimistic. Japanese life is local, provincial, insular. It is in no way international. One proof of this is that when the country people come to town it is usually possible to tell from the patterns of their clothes, the stripes in them and from their methods of speaking just what particular part of the country they come from. In America no one can tell a country person from anyone else. The fourfold division of society—manual, farmer, artisan and merchant—which prevailed from early days in Japan has so stamped the members of each group with class individualities that even today it is very easy to tell to which hereditary rank a person belongs.—Atsushi Matsuzawa, in the Japan Advertiser.

Sunflower Silage.
Sunflower silage, in places where large tonnage of corn for silage cannot be produced, is reported by the United States Department of Agriculture to have given varying results. In some sections it seems to compare favorably in palatability and feeding value with corn silage, but in certain districts of the Northern Great Plains, where the growth of sunflowers is rank and succulent, the resulting silage is often not very palatable. Reports from the Huntley experiment farm in Montana show that while 25 to 30 tons of sunflowers per acre may be produced, the silage is not as much relished by live stock, as that from corn, which yields less than half as much per acre.

If you have anything to buy or sell, you can get quick results by letting your wants be known through this paper.

HORSE HAS PLACE OF HONOR

Body of Only Survivor of Custer Massacre Is Preserved in Museum of Kansas University.

The place of honor in the natural history museum of the University of Kansas is held by Old Comanche, an Indian pony. In a glass case in the center of the museum stands all that is mortal or immortal of a horse that has a unique place in the history of the country. Old Comanche never won a race, belonged to no certain breed, was of no celebrated ancestry. Old Comanche was the only living thing that survived the Custer massacre of the Little Big Horn fight of June 25, 1876. After the battle, after the terrible massacre of Custer's troop of soldiers, the relief expedition which arrived the morning following the massacre, found a saddled and bridled pony, wounded but able to walk, grazing on the buffalo grass near the scene. A tradition says that the pony wandered across the prairies and found his way into a camp of United States cavalry. But the war record of Old Comanche states that he was found at the scene of the massacre eating grass and keeping faithful vigil over the bodies of the soldiers and the horses that lay piled about him, the victims of the bloody fight that has been immortalized by American historians.

Old Comanche never had a rider after the massacre. In the fight his rider was Capt. Miles W. Keogh, Troop I, Seventh cavalry. After the recovery of Old Comanche an order was issued that he should never have another rider, but that in every parade or public appearance of the Seventh cavalry, Old Comanche should be led, riderless, properly draped in mourning, and with the colors. This order was carried out to Old Comanche's death, which occurred in 1882. In 1888 he was brought from Fort Meade to Fort Riley. At the death of Old Comanche the late Dr. L. L. Dyche, for years at the head of the K. U. museum, was asked to mount the horse and preserve it for the regiment. But the regiment had no money and the War department, unmoved by sentiment pertaining to a mere flea-bitten pony, would not make the appropriation. The agreement between the regiment and Doctor Dyche was that the state university should meet the expenses of the mounting, and that the War department falling to unke the appropriation, Old Comanche was to become the property of the university museum.

The saddle and bridle which form "Old Comanche's" trappings are those that he wore when he was ridden into the Custer massacre by Captain Keogh.

Home-Made Perfumes.

Perhaps you, happy possessor of a yard with many little paths, flower-decked on either side, would like to make your own perfume, your own tinctures? It's very simple! And quite pleasing are the results of home effort!

Geranium perfume is so easy to make. Take the leaves of your sweet-smelling geranium, quantities of them, and pack them quite closely into a glass fruit jar. Then fill it with alcohol and put it away to draw new strength for several weeks, after which you will squeeze out the leaves, strain the liquid and put it in small bottles tightly corked.

You can make various kinds of tinctures in this way—tuberose, jasmine, heliotrope. With these, however, use the fresh blossoms instead of the leaves.

If the odor isn't sufficiently strong after the separation of the blossoms and liquid put more blossoms in and let the mixture remain several days or a week longer. Then squeeze the flowers out and strain again.

Round-Headed People.

Round-headed mid-Europeans have very different traits from the British and Scotch ancestors of so many Americans. Their descendants are long headed as they were and so distinguished by initiative, capacity to govern and colonizing ability. The Poles, Germans and Russians who come here in countless numbers bring other traits which anthropologists say must have certain effects. It may improve and it may harm Americans.

The round-headed peoples have a great capacity for patient labor, but are lacking in initiative. It is said the immigration of these people to Great Britain in the last 200 years has changed the cephalic index of the ordinary Britisher 2 per cent. The cephalic index is the ratio of the breadth of the skull to its length. Britons thus are said to be 2 per cent more round headed than their forefathers of 200 years back.—New York Herald.

TRACTOR OPERATORS TO STUDY AT M. A. C.

SPECIAL SHORT COURSES IN FARM GAS POWER MACHINERY OPENS NOVEMBER 28—OTHER SCHOOLS LATER.

Truck and tractor operators on Michigan farms will study correct methods of handling their machines at a special short course, which opens at the Michigan Agricultural College on November 28. The school, which is to be run for one month, will be the first of four similar ones to be held at M. A. C. during the winter.

"The farm operator of trucks and tractors must be thoroughly trained if he would handle his machines economically and efficiently," says H. H. Hesselman, Professor of Farm Mechanics at the college. "It is just as important for him to give his gas power thorough attention as it is for him to take care of his horses."

Ability to make adjustments and ordinary repairs will be one of the results of the work of the school. All practical phases of operation will be studied, farm conditions and experience governing the outlining of a course. Stationary engines, ignition systems, and shop work will be included in the schedule, in addition to trucks and tractors proper.

Numerous other special farm courses are included in the Winter Short Course program at M. A. C. Two weeks' Cow Testing and Dairy Farm Management course opens December 13. Courses in general agriculture, horticulture, poultry, farm business and dairy production and manufacture start early in January. One week's Poultry Husbandry course opens Nov. 28.

MICHIGAN GETS BIG SOIL SURVEY MEET

SPECIALISTS FROM UNITED STATES AND CANADA TO HOLD ANNUAL CONFERENCE AT EAST LANSING, NOV. 18 AND 19.

Soil survey experts from all parts of the country will gather at the Michigan Agricultural College on November 18 and 19 for the annual conference of the American Association of Soil Survey Workers.

Questions in connection with survey operations will be taken up at this time, with Michigan problems coming in for a major portion of attention.

The Soil Survey Workers' Association is composed of representatives from the various state agricultural colleges, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Canadian agricultural institutions and various co-operating bodies. The chief purpose of the annual meeting will be presentation of soil survey methods by different members of the association, with the idea of correlating the work in various parts of the country and developing new features.

Recognition of the work being done in Michigan in the soil survey field led to the scheduling of this year's meeting at East Lansing by the Survey Association. For two years the soils department at the Michigan Agricultural College, co-operating with the Bureau of Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been actively engaged in soil survey work in the state, with the result that an important start toward a state-wide survey has already been made.

Dr. M. M. McCool head of the M. A. C. soils department, will address the coming conference on "Laboratory Work Which is of Value to the Soil Survey." A dozen other nationally known soils specialists will deliver papers on various phases of the work.

If you have anything to buy or sell, advertise it in the Mail. It will cost but a small sum. Try it.

Methodist Matters

The Men's Bible class had a delightful social occasion at the home of Brother Wilson on the Northville road, Tuesday night. A lot of fishy stories were told to prove who was the biggest fish in the pond. A fine lunch was served before the men departed to their dreams.

Mrs. Kenter's division met at the home of Mrs. Frederick Thomas on Monday afternoon.

The monthly meeting of the Missionary societies met at the home of Mrs. W. D. Stewart on Wednesday afternoon. Reports were given of the district convention. The lesson discussion was led by Mr. Nagle.

The Standard Bearers held a bake sale, Saturday, at the gas office. The money will be used for their Africa fund.

There will be no movies next week on account of the revival meetings in progress at the Baptist church. Our friends are urged to attend these meetings.

Next Friday morning at 11 o'clock, the public is invited to attend a prayer meeting at the Methodist church. This fateful hour ought to be a distinct call to the people of this community to prayer, especially in view of the fact that the disarmament conference opens at Washington that day.

Next Wednesday night is the big Methodist rally at the Redford Methodist church. All the Methodists are going. Sure.

The Epworth League hold a business and social meeting at the church, Friday night, this week, at 8:00. Come.

The Ladies' Aid society meets at the home of Mrs. Wyman Bartlett, next Wednesday afternoon.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of William Edgar Jolliffe, who departed this life November 14, 1918.

We have laid him away in deep sadness. Yet not without hope in our breast; For again we shall join him in gladness. And enter that heavenly rest.

His Parents and Brother.

LURE IS VARIED

Men Have Odd Motives for Seeking Exile in South Seas.

Sometimes it is More or Less Humorous, Occasionally Deeply Tragic, but Always Interesting.

I have often speculated on the motives actuating the men and women who come to the South seas—most of them of a class neither adventurous nor imaginative. Why have they left home at all, and why have their wanderings led to a place so insignificant and remote?

In some cases, of course, the motives are not complex. I remember a middle-aged Californian, who did not hesitate to be frank. We were sitting on the hotel veranda, wasting an afternoon in idle talk.

"Why did I come to Tahiti?" he said. "That's simple—I wanted to live in a place where I could have a drink without breaking the law. I reckon I'm a good American, but I like to be let alone. The French are great fellows to mind their own business; I found that out during the war. Yes, I was there—over age, but I got into the National Guard at the start. When I got home I took a look around and, then made my partner a proposition to buy me out. We had a nice little business; my share of it, turned into bonds, brings in about three thousand a year.

"When the deal was fixed, I got a map and hunted up the nearest French colony—I reckoned it would be quieter there than in France. I guess I'll leave my bones on Tahiti. My house will be finished in another month; it's close to the water and a big shady veranda where you can sit and look out across the lagoon to Morea.

"I don't want any women, or servants, or newspapers, or plantations, or business of any kind—I just want to be let alone; but any man who doesn't talk politics will be welcome to drop in for a drink."

Here was one accounted for. A few moments later, on the same veranda, another man told his story in eight words, pregnant as they were brief.

There was an Englishman with us—a traveler, who was stopping over a steamer in the course of an eastward tour around the world. He had been in India, and was showing us his collection of photographs of that land. While the pictures were passed about, I noticed an elderly American, of morose and corpulent mien, sitting at some distance from the rest of the company and taking no part in the conversation, though he uttered from time to time a series of nasal sounds vaguely suggestive of French and correctly interpreted by the native girl to mean: "One rum punch."

In time we came to the inevitable picture of the Taj Mahal; and while we gazed at it, marveling anew, the tourist spoke of the vast expense of raising such a monument. When he had finished, the man who wanted to be let alone was the first to speak.

"Just think of that guy," he remarked, "spending 10 million dollars to bury his wife!"

Musing on the ancient and costly bit of sentiment; we sat for a moment in silence—a silence broken by a sepulchral voice.

"I'd give more than that to bury mine!"

It was the orderer of rum punches who spoke, addressing the company for the first and last time. He said it without a shadow of humor—so earnestly, so convincingly, that several seconds elapsed before any of us smiled.

He had placed himself. Curiosity regarding him was at an end; if he chose to spend the rest of his days in the South seas, gossip would pass him by, to whisper of others less communicative—the ever-present rumored murderer or defaulting financier. For all we knew, the morose gentleman might have been quite capable of building's second Taj Mahal.—Charles Bernard Northoff in the Atlantic Monthly.

Be Vacation-Minded.

It is unfortunate that every individual cannot have a real vacation away from his business. But for those who cannot, to be vacation-minded, and to keep that way as long as they possibly can, is the next best thing.

Few businesses are so active in the summer time that a little let-down in hours and attention will do any great harm. So why not shorten hours and let down a bit, performing only such part of the day's labors as are absolutely necessary to maintain the existence of the undertaking, and letting every other detail go? The time gained should be spent like any vacation time, in the coolest and pleasantest spots possible.

Nothing is surer than that work will be there when we get back. The Lord saw to that when he sent man forth to earn his bread in the sweat of his face.—Concord Monitor.

Tablet to Long-Eared Heroes.

A bronze tablet commemorating the services of the 243,135 horses and mules attached to the American forces during the war, 68,682 of which perished, was unveiled in the state war and navy building, Washington, recently. The tablet, which is placed in the east wall of the building, just inside the Pennsylvania avenue entrance, was presented by Dr. W. O. Sullivan, president of the American Equestrian association, and was received on behalf of the government by Maj. Gen. Willard H. Brooks, chief of cavalry.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done Her a World of Good.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have done me a world of good," writes Mrs. Ella L. Sutton, Knoxville, New York. "I have recommended them to a number of my friends and all who have used them praise them highly. My children, troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial and realize for themselves what an excellent medicine it is.—Advertisement.

IS BUDDHA'S HOLIEST SHRINE

Shwe Dagon Pagoda in Rangoon Attracts the Devout From All Parts of the World.

My Burmese friend Maung Hkin and I visited together the Shwe Dagon Pagoda in Rangoon, which springs like a golden flame to the height of 368 feet among its flame-bright trees. Holy and most holy, to it come all the Buddhist pilgrims of the world, for in its inmost heart lie hidden relics of the four earthly Buddhas—the staff of Kavatthau, the water filter of Gawnagong, the robe of Kathappa and eight hairs of the Gautama Buddha. Surely, the most gorgeous shrine of all the earth, covered with thin plates of gold up to the jeweled tree swimming in the blue air aloft! The original shrine is said to have been built in 585 B. C. but who can think of anything so cold as chronology amid such color and glory? We stood upon the noble platform, before the towering golden pinnacles of the many shrines, each holding its calm image of the blessed one—images from China, from Tibet, from all the countries of the faithful, and the ardent green of the trees framed them with waving grace, and the happy people came and went and made their homage about us, and they and all the day overflowed with sunshine and joy.

"And now," said Maung Hkin, "it is fitting that we make an offering to the Lord Buddha. Thus is merit acquired and blessing gained. You think?"

I did not doubt, and we proceeded to buy some flowers from the heaped masses of fragrance sold on the steps ascending in flights and pauses from where the great leopards 60 feet in height guard the portals with their noble grotesque. We bought also a bunch of tiny tapers and little green and gold sticks with which to light them, and with all these we approached the central Buddha, majestic in peace. The attendant lit the tapers from the burning rows with our sticks and set them on the iron grille, white with the dripping of myriad candles. He took both my hands in his and softly repeated the invocation, and we laid down our flowers among the many that made the shrine glorious. And then, taking each of our right hands, he touched them with gold leaf on the back, and that was all. We had paid our homage. Gold leaf is always sold at the entrance, that merit may be acquired by touching with it the images or any gilded part of the shrine. Buddhism is a golden and jeweled faith in Burma—many villages have their golden pagoda—flames lit, as it were, from the central fire of the Shwe Dagon.—Asia Magazine.

Young Jimmy a Philosopher.

Just now Jimmy, seven years old, is about the most interesting person around the Swedish hospital, according to nurses. Jimmy was taken there several days ago for an infection in his hand. The nurses tried to keep him in bed, but as soon as they left the room Jimmy was out and investigating the mysteries of other wards. The other day a nurse was astonished when she entered Jimmy's room and was greeted with:

"Say, do you know a man died in that room down there last night?"

"Yes, I knew it. But how did you?" the nurse replied.

"Oh, I read it on the report sheets," said Jimmy. "And say, do you know there was a baby born in the room next to mine?"

"Well, for heaven's sake, how did you know that?" demanded the nurse.

"I read it on the report sheets," Jimmy replied. Then he mused:

"I guess there is some truth in the saying, 'The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away.'"

But the nurse was too astonished to reply to that.—Kansas City Star.

Significant Storm Warning.

Below the 35th parallel of latitude in North America, a fire-colored sunset in the hurricane season may be a storm warning to be heeded. The United States weather bureau finds that, even without any particular fall in pressure, such a sunset may precede 24 or 48 hours such signs as the sea swell and the moving of the upper clouds in unusual directions, and may be the only early indication of dangerous tropical storms of small diameter forming over the Gulf stream, or as offshoots of larger hurricanes. The fire-colored sunset is quite different from the ordinary. It is an awe-inspiring spectacle, and is apparent to the most untrained in weather signs. An approaching hurricane may affect the atmosphere, and the light rays passing through it, for more than 1,000 miles.

PRESBYTERIAN PARAGRAPHS

The visit to the Methodist church, last Sunday was happy and uplifting. We thank the Methodists for their good services and cordial welcome.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held Wednesday afternoon, November 2nd. After a short business session, the program committee took charge and offered the following numbers:

A solo, "I Have Prayed for You" —Miss Anna Baker.

An instrumental duet with piano accompaniment—Miss Anna Baker, violin; Mrs. B. Giles, mandolin; Miss Evelyn Thomas, piano.

Mrs. Clyde Alexander, delegate to the second annual convention, synod of Michigan, gave a good and interesting report.

Mrs. W. R. Shaw read a letter from Dr. McCandless telling about the narrow escape from bandits during a boat trip on the way to visit one of their children.

Two solos were rendered by Mrs. Cooper, "Punchinello" and "The Slave Song." Miss Thomas played the accompaniment.

A letter was read by Mrs. Charles Humphries, telling of the work of Miss Parsons and Miss Rice, and about their new settlement house at Caspian in the Iron River parish. How much they appreciate the new Ford sedan and the furnishings for the living room. They sent many thanks to the donors, and also to the board for the $600 to be used for furnishing the settlement house.

The Iron River parish is a mining community, populated almost entirely by immigrants from the south and east of Europe. This requires a varied program and a distinct work of Americanization as well as Christianization.

The Woman's Auxiliary is furnishing new linoleum for the kitchen of the manse.

N. I. Moore and B. E. Giles are a committee appointed to confer with other churches concerning Boy Scout matters.

The Busy Woman's Bible Class held an all-day meeting at the church, last Tuesday, trying quilts. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon.

An illustrated lecture entitled, "The Transformation of the Alaskan," will be given next Wednesday night, at 7:30 at the church. This lecture is given under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary and an admittance charge of 25c for adults and 15c for children will be made.

Visit the primary department and see how the lesson is represented on the sand-table.

Mrs. D. M. Merrylees is recovering from her recent illness.

The pastor is to give an Armistice Day address this afternoon at the Jarvis school; Miss Alta Fisher, teacher.

The Sunday-school committee on Christmas entertainment is composed as follows: C. H. Rauch, Mrs. Charles Humphries, Mrs. Clyde Alexander, Miss Genevieve McClumpha and Miss Evelyn Thomas.

WEST PLYMOUTH

Mrs. LeVan and Mrs. McLean of Detroit, were Sunday guests at Joseph Weber's.

NEW LOW PRICE $1045

F. O. B. FACTORY

Breaks All Car Value Records

This final drastic reduction brings the leader of high grade light cars to a popular car price

No such striking contrast between quality and price has ever been known in the motor car industry.

The great Nash Four factory at Milwaukee was built solely and exclusively to produce this car on a quality basis and to make it the unrivalled leader in the light car field.

At its original price of $1395, this great car represented a generous measure of value. Demand has always been far in excess of production.

Now at its present reduced price, $1045, a new standard of value is established, through greatly increased production and a narrow profit margin.

SEE AND DRIVE THIS NASH

See this car today and go over it in detail. Observe its big, handsome, roomy, straight-line body; the choice coachwork of its deep Nash blue finish; the depth and luxury of its genuine leather upholstery.

Then consider the Nash Perfected Valve-in-Head Four-Cylinder Motor—the acknowledged performer among four-cylinder power plants. This famous engine, now refined to the utmost degree, gives this car a responsiveness, flexibility and ease of handling that is rare even in cars costing hundreds more.

Now ride in this car and get the full meaning of Nash Four riding comfort on its extremely long, semi-elliptic springs. Take it over the rough spots and observe the ease with which each bump and jolt is absorbed.

In the three outstanding essentials, appearance, performance and riding comfort—

STATE DOES ITS BEST IN BONUS, SAYS LEGION HEAD

Though the process of paying the state bonus has dragged over several months, the state officials are handling the matter efficiently, is the opinion of Paul A. Martin, state commander of the American Legion.

In a written statement to Legion members, Martin urges them to recognize the difficulties in paying out so large a sum as $30,000,000; and to give help and encouragement rather than unfriendly criticism.

The statement is particularly important because of Martin's outstanding vigor in pressing the just claims of ex-service men.

In part, Martin says: "The state administration has been faced with a tremendous task which, in my belief, has been handled in a most efficient manner and with a minimum of errors.

"The fact that it has been able to sell $30,000,000 of bonds at a time when the money market was at its worst; that it has been able to check over 120,000 records of Michigan soldiers in four months' time, and issue $7,000 checks for a total of over $17,000,000, speaks well for the efficiency of the work, and the speed with which it was handled.

"It is beyond all reason to believe that this work could have been done without some errors, but the department commander believes that these errors have been remarkably few.

"In the matter of securing help for the handling of the work at hand it was with satisfaction that it was learned, and shown on the records, that ex-service men were always given the preference; that none were discharged except the absolute incompetent; and that no women were employed except where it was necessary to secure expert typists to expedite the payment of the bonus checks.

"Former service men who have appeared in person at the state capitol to receive first hand payments of their checks were treated with the utmost courtesy, and in every case where it was found that the need for the money was pressing steps were taken to speed up that check ahead of its regular order.

"The department commander believes that the governor, the auditor general and the adjutant general are deserving of the greatest commendation for the manner in which the bonus has been handled, and that the time is now here to praise them for what they have done, rather than criticize them for the few mistakes or delays that might have appeared."

Faulty addresses, or changes of address, have caused over 1,000 bonus checks to be returned. All applicants are urged to notify the auditor general of any change in address.

LAPHAM'S CORNERS

On Friday, Nov. 11, at two o'clock, the Jarvis school will hold a memorial service in honor of those who served in the great war. "That the world might be made safe for democracy" Rev. Hathaway of Plymouth, and Mr. Sessary of Ann Arbor, will be the speakers. We invite you to join with us.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whitaker, a daughter, Irene May, on November 5th; weight nine pounds. Ira Savery and Ford Smith of Detroit, were Sunday callers at Coda Savery's.

Kenneth Truesdale is attending the M. A. C. this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitts and son of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Dupont were Sunday guests at Frank Warren's.

Miss Velma Nelson has been ill the past week and unable to attend school.

Miss Vangie Shoebridge of Ann Arbor, spent the week-end at W. B. Rorabacher's.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Glinesmith and family motored to Royal Oak and Detroit, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Newton and Miss Mildred Wilson were Sunday visitors at William Mager's.

Mr. Pitts went north hunting on Tuesday.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 17th, there will be a shadow social and dance given at the home of Harold Davy for the benefit of the State school. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

CARITAS HOME NOTES

Sunday, October 26, the Sunday-school at the Caritas Home was in charge of Mr. Shaw, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday-school of Plymouth.

On Nov. 6th, Rev. Hathaway, wife and children visited the Home, and conducted the Sunday-school, assisted by Miss Mers and Miss Ellen Gardner. The children of the Home wish to express their thanks to the above named, and say that they look forward to these Sunday visitors.

On Friday evening, Nov. 4th, the children were treated to a birthday party. Wesley Williams, who celebrated his thirteenth birthday, was surprised by a visit from his mother, who furnished ice cream and a large cake. The same evening, Mrs. Ramsey was a very welcome visitor, and furnished candy.

Saturday afternoon, Nov. 6th, a meeting of the Caritas Home was held at Palestine Lodge House in Detroit. The new directors and officers are as follows:

Pres.—Senator Robert Y. Ogg
Vice Pres.—Fred H. Talbot
Second Vice Pres.—Walter Haskett
Executive Secy.—Harry Clough
Treas.—Myrtle E. Ferris
Legal Adviser.—Van E. Riser
Director.—Arthur Briggs, Clyde Whelan, W. H. Hill, George L. Smith, Dr. J. W. Lovings, S. E. Hillen.

The work of graveling the Novi road is progressing rapidly this week and if good weather continues for another week the work will be completed as far as Yerkes corner at the Base Line. They reached the Christensen corners last night.—Northville Record.

While drilling for a well on the Frederick C. Martindale farm on Grand River, just west of New Hudson, samples of what seemed to be a good quality of bituminous coal were brought to the surface on Tuesday. Mr. Martindale announces that he will have the samples of coal submitted to experts and if their opinion warrants, will endeavor to ascertain the extent of the coal vein.—Milford Times.

By a substantial majority, Cady school district in Nankin township, at the special meeting last week Monday evening, voted to authorize the issuance of bonds for the construction of a new school in accordance with plans which had been prepared by the building committee. Contract will now be made immediately and the work started without delay. The building will be of tile and stucco, with brick trimmings.

Next Sunday night a special Pullman coach will bear from Northville over the Pere Marquette railway, members of the Henry party, who will go to Keweenaw, Houghton county, in search of deer. This party has made its annual pilgrimage for many years, and great plans are being made for the coming year. Among those who will go will be Dr. Dan Henry, W. H. Stark, Ray Baker, G. W. Hill, Reginald Hill, C. A. Sessions, George Henson, Dr. Holcomb of Novi, Thomas Gibson, of Farmington, Don VanAtta and a Mr. Ehead, of Plymouth.—Northville Record.

Pacific coast and back, according to reports received by F. W. Hillman of the Reo Garage, local Reo distributors.

It was on this trip west that Rev. Williams believes he established a record for economy in automotive transportation. He states that a distance of 3,700 miles was covered at a total cost of $185. This amount includes the total expenses for food, gas, oil, repairs and all incidentals in connection with the trip.

The truck body is 17 feet in length and 7 feet wide, the height being 6 feet, 6 inches. In spite of these unusual dimensions, Rev. Williams states that they have experienced practically no difficulty with the exception of one or two occasions. At one time it was necessary to dig out a roadway beneath a railroad trestle in order that the Speed Wagon could pass under. "Oftentimes we have encountered vehicles on extremely narrow roads, and it seemed to be a puzzle as to how we were ever going to get by, but we have always managed to make it," states Rev. Williams.

This house on wheels contains every convenience and its equipment is complete. All the cooking is done on a gasoline stove in the rear of the truck. All of the heavy baggage is carried underneath and in this way a remarkably even balance has been maintained. A curtain divides the truck into two compartments. There are not only chairs, bunks and carpets on the floor, but there is even a good size dresser and a large oil stove in addition to the gasoline stove.

According to Rev. Williams, his Speed Wagon was not only his home, but he used it extensively in his religious work. The body was designed and built according to specifications which he himself drew up, and he states that it has come up to his expectations in every sense of the word.

In speaking of the trip from the Pacific coast, Rev. Williams recalls many interesting incidents. The accounts of his experiences would make excellent fiction. He has traveled in practically every state, and he says his Speed Wagon has created unusual attention and favorable comment wherever he has been.

Another significant statement which Rev. Williams makes in commenting upon the performance of his Speed Wagon is to the effect that a total of 3,700 miles took only 220 hours of traveling time.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who claimed to be loyal to his home county, but would not take his home-town paper?

A Timely Suggestion

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and the results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.—Advertisement.

MARRIAGE IN BASUTO LAND

Wife is Bought for 80 Many Cattle and Has Nothing to Say Concerning Transaction.

A Basuto girl is looked upon by her father as his bank, for when she reaches a marriageable age so many cattle will have to be handed over for her by the bridegroom, says a writer in the London Daily Mail.

There is little of love and romance in a Basuto girl's marriage. This is not to say that she has no feelings or does not hear the call of romance. Like every girl in this world, these things come into her life and she thinks and dreams as we all do.

But there is no wooing or winning and none of the beauty of realized young dreams for her.

The man who wants her does not consult her—he has known her and she probably pleased his eye, and so the dusky Hendrika goes to the father and says that he wishes to marry Maluma.

The matter is then discussed by the heads of the family and their relations, and the girl gets to know of the coming marriage only by a chance word that may be dropped here and there.

Generally the principal point of discussion among the heads of the family is how many cows and sheep are to be handed over to the father by the bridegroom as "lobola" (a marriage dowry) for the girl.

This being arranged—usually a payment of so many cows down and so many to be handed over later—the girl is informed that Hendrika is to be her husband for better or for worse—generally worse—and whether he be quite an old man or a young man Maluma has to sacrifice herself and go as she is told.

The young natives living near civilization have discarded the old custom and marry without "lobola" being paid over.

The marriage takes place in a native church. The wedding party and the guests are all dressed in European clothes and they return from the church by wagon to the hut of the girl's father on his master's farm, where sheep have been slaughtered and much Kafir beer made, and dancing and singing go on continually for two days.

The music is made by a concertina and guitar, and in all Basuto dances the male and female never dance together.

SCHOOL NOTES

The reporters for this week are Clara Hauk and Ira Kingsley. Kenneth Trux is in school after an absence of six months. Plymouth's first debate will be held with Northville on Dec. 9th. It will be held here unless both teams mutually agree to change the place. The question to be debated is: "Resolved, that the principle of the closed shop in American industry receives the support of public opinion." Plymouth will uphold the affirmative. It is interesting to know that Farmington and Redford debate on the same night. A play will be given next Friday for the purpose of impressing the pupils with the value of good speech. It is entitled, "The Four Verb Brothers," and has the following cast: Judge Goodform—Perry Richwine; Clerk of the Court, Miss Formality—Helen Fish; Sheriff, Given A. Halter—Max Trux. Defendants, The Four Verb Brothers—Mr. Be-Jack Taylor, Mr. Do-Martin Strasen, Mr. See-Douglas Fogarty, Mr. Go-Donald Sutherland. Mr. Insincerity, Lawyer for the Defense—Ira Kingsley. Mr. Nice Usage, State Attorney—Olivias Williams. Witnesses for the Defense—Mr. Smoke M. Out—Philip Millard; Miss Class Criticism—Louva Rowland; Miss Cultured Person—Doris Burnett; Mr. Business World—Daniel Murphy. Complaining Witness, Miss Mother Tongue. Jury of twelve good pupils and true. Stenographer—Jennie Mining. Officers of the Plymouth Aggie Club were elected as follows: Duane Sayles, president; Etha Wiselley, vice president; Alton Sayles, secretary and treasurer. There were two other executive members elected—Margaret Clemens and Daniel Murphy. After the foot ball game last Friday night, the foot ball boys of the Dearborn and Plymouth teams were served with a light lunch by some of the domestic science girls. The Girl Scouts had a "feed" in the domestic science room at the High school, Thursday night. It was planned to provide a social hour for the girls and to entertain prospective Scouts. Besides this an endeavor was made to encourage more girls to become Scouts. The fourth and fifth grades made several banners and posters for the parade that is to take place Better Speech Week. Marion Beyer's eighth grade team is two ahead of Grace Miller's team in long ball. Thirty-six girls were out for basket ball practice, Tuesday and Thursday nights after school. The girls show lots of "pep" and looks are promising for a good team. The ninth grade physical training classes are playing German hat ball. Florence Cline's team is winning. The games won by the various teams are as follows: Florence Cline won four games; Margaret Amrhein won three games; Mary Parrott won two games; Margaret Goyer won one game.

The third grade has learned several new language games for "Better Speech Campaign," having formed a plan for watching and correcting the speech of each other. Mrs. Quirk visited the fifth grade, Tuesday afternoon. The Sophomore class held a masquerade party, last Friday evening in the auditorium. There were forty-two present. The early part of the evening was spent in playing games, and later Irene Brown, Harold Stevens and Alton Sayles sang "Peggy O'Neil" and "Sunny Tennessee," accompanied by Helen Fish. The stage was very prettily decorated with autumn leaves and crepe paper. Pumpkin pie, doughnuts, apples and popcorn balls were served. The children of the first and second grade are playing store, and learning to make correct change with toy money. Miss McClumpha has planned the following program for her class, "Better Speech Week": Tuesday, Language game; Wednesday, Talk about one word that they have learned; Thursday, Make lists of incorrect expressions; Friday, Talk about the use of the dictionary. The Girls' Glee Club has an enrollment of twenty-six—a fine start. The Boys' Glee Club has been disastrously interrupted by foot ball games, and debate try-outs. The boys hope to get started in some real work soon. A new piano has been placed in Room 18 to be used for chorus. It was found that the physical training classes that would have to be held in the auditorium would conflict with chorus and glee club practice. Some splendid "Better Speech" posters have been made by children in the first grade and up. Vernon Lyke made some especially good ones for the High school. The following first grade children have neither been absent nor tardy during the month of October or so far in November: Viola Blossom, Melvin Blunk, Mary June Hamilton, Chester James, Sanford Knapp, Irene Kovak, Alice Lee, Russell Micol, Ralph Minehart, Alice Postiff, Leo Parks, Wilhelmina Ricker, Marian Taylor, Jean Weeks, Vera Woods and Gladys Zietsch. Philip Doerr of the first grade, was absent last week on account of sickness. Room 28 is planning to give a play, written by Kenneth Bartlett, Friday, in honor of "Better Speech Week." The name of the play is, "Miss America Chooses Better Speech," and the characters are as follows: Mr. Better Speech—K. Bartlett. Miss America—C. Pierce. Mr. Slang Phrase—C. Chappel. Uncle Sam—D. Sayles. Chorus—R. Shattuck, W. Briggs, G. Schrader, C. Pierce. The seventh grade are trying hard to observe "Better Speech Week." The members of the Junior class are planning to take a trip to Washington, D. C., in their senior year, and are doing their best to earn as much money as possible this year by giving several plays, moving pictures and selling popcorn at ball games. The seniors are planning to give a play soon.

LIVONIA CENTER

There will be a meeting of the Farm Bureau at the Livonia town hall, Monday evening, Nov. 21. All are requested to come. Mr. and Mrs. John Dethloff visited relatives in Detroit Sunday. Last Friday, Mrs. E. Stringer received word that her sister, Mrs. G. Benton, of Ann Arbor, had fallen and broken her hip. Sunday Mrs. E. Stringer and Mrs. Wm. Smith went to see her and found her comfortable. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bentley and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lee were visitors at Fred Lee's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. John VanBonn and family, also Mr. and Mrs. Julius Landau and son, Harry, visited at Wm. Garchow's Sunday evening. The "Help One Another" club met at Mrs. Julius Landau's Thursday afternoon. Everyone had a jolly time. The guessing contest was very amusing, but the ladies don't yet realize that a feather is the lightest thing in the world. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. Arnold Garchow and Mrs. Gergee. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Wm. Garchow's, Thursday, November 17. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Landau, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Garchow and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Garchow were guests at John VanBonn's, Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Millard and daughter, Hattie, visited at the Stringer home Monday of this week. Mrs. John Base is on the sick list. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson and children were visitors at Wm Garchow's, Monday evening. Miss Mae Garchow was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rewald, of Plymouth, a couple days this week. Several from here attended the school meeting at Newburg, Tuesday evening, and heard the lecture on "Consolidated Schools," by Dr. Pittman, of Ypsilanti. The dancing party at the town hall was well attended. There will be another party Friday, Nov. 18th, at the same place, with same music—Strathmoor orchestra. Come and hear them play. Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Lee have moved to their new home in Redford.

NEWBURG

From the text, Matt. 10:39, "He that findeth his life shall lose it and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it." Rev. Wm. Wise gave an excellent sermon on self-sacrifice. The Ladies Aid will meet next Saturday, November 12th, in the hall. Dinner will be served at noon. On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5th, a very pleasant gathering took place at the home of Mrs. Donald Ryder. The girls that belong to the S. S. classes of Miss Ada Youngs and Mrs.

Ryder arranged a surprise for a former member of their class, Miss Marguerite Thomas, who is to be married soon. Mrs. Ryder had the home very prettily decorated in pink and white and the bride-to-be received a number of useful and appropriate gifts. Mrs. Clark Mackinder is spending some time with her sister in Jackson. The patriotic Society will meet at the home of Mrs. L. Clemens, on the LeVan Road, Thursday, Nov. 17th. A pot-luck dinner will be served. All urged to attend. The stork visited the home of Celie Thomas, bringing a baby girl to them, quite recently. The Epworth League will hold a meeting in the hall, Friday evening. Ed. Taylor and Miss Isabelle Amrhein were united in marriage last Saturday. Congratulations and best wishes are in order. Newburg was favored by one of the busiest men in our state, Dr. Pittman, head of the rural department of the State Normal at Ypsilanti, giving an address on "Better Rural Schools," in the Ladies Aid hall, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 8th. In spite of the first real snow storm of the season, quite a number of people availed themselves of the opportunity, and were present to hear Dr. Pittman and also Mr. Fred C. Fisher, Assistant County School Commissioner, who accompanied him. About thirty-five friends and neighbors surprised Ira Perkins at his home Saturday evening in honor of his birthday. The evening was spent with music and dancing. Refreshments were served at 12 o'clock. All report a delightful time.

KING'S CORNERS

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hix accompanied the latter's sister, to her home in Flint, Saturday, returning home Monday. Mrs. Josephine Hix had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail, which caused her to fall to the ground, spraining her left wrist and also bruising herself otherwise. At last report, she was feeling somewhat better and her many friends wish her a speedy recovery. The Helping Hand society met this month at the home of Mrs. Chas. Jubinville with a good attendance. After the business meeting, the next thing in order was the election of officers for the coming year, which resulted as follows: President—Mrs. Julia Pettibone; Vice President—Mrs. Agnes Parrish; Secretary—Mrs. Mary Hix; Treasurer—Mrs. Agnes Schiffe; Chaplain—Mrs. Ella Jubinville; Organist—Mrs. Alta Myers. After the election of officers, they adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. George Hix, the first Wednesday in December. The word for roll call will begin with V. Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Parrish and two sons were guests Sunday afternoon at the parental home of the former. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish spent one day recently at the home of their daughter, Mrs. L. E. Keiser. Some person, or persons, had the nerve to take J. Frank Parrish's whiffrees off the scraper, where he left them attached to one of the good road scrapers Saturday night. He says he will know them if he ever sees them. Mr. Lockhart is building a large new chicken house. He is going to raise more chickens next year. They had some three or four hundred this year. Mrs. Robert Johnston, of North Farmington, was here to attend the H. H. Society meeting held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Jubinville, at Kings Corners. Mrs. Hodgkiss and son, Ray, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jubinville and two sons, of Royal Oak; also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roediger and little daughters were all guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lockhart Sunday at a six o'clock dinner.

Baptist Notes

The Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. Charles Allen on Caster avenue, last week Wednesday afternoon. The ladies gave the report of their investment. Some weeks ago each woman invested twenty-five cents, and when the reports came in some had made tremendous gains. Several women reported $5.00, some $1.00, and one woman reported $14.00. The total amount was $34.00, that surely was business. Just give the women a chance. Last week a new stove was placed in the church parlors, and all paid for and a balance left, with which to buy some new curtains. Everyone had a hand in these new furnishings from private individuals and Sunday-school class pledges. Also Mr. and Mrs. Scott of Union street, gave to the primary department of the Sunday-school, an organ, which is also to be used for prayer meetings, and other services held in the church parlors. The Sunday-school voted thanks for the gift. Last Sunday evening the B. Y. P. U. was well attended, and led by the president, Mr. Allenbaugh. His talk was on "A Consecrated Character." After the prayer service, Miss Fannie Grainger and Miss Olive Lundy gave reports of the B. Y. P. U. meeting in connection with the state convention at Pontiac. Mrs. Florence Beals gave her class a fine Halloween party a week ago Monday evening, and many dark and shady things took place. Their menu was great—Caldron salad, ghost, witches' delight, devil's dream sticks, sandwiches, also climax ice cream and favors, beautiful chrysanthem-mums. The ice cream and favors were presented by Gilman Beals. The Ladies' Bazaar has been set for December 6th, make your arrangements to buy your Christmas presents then. It will be held in the church parlors. The Young People's Sunday-school class, Harry Sayles, teacher, are planning to hold a mock trial some time in the near future. The Thanksgiving service for Plymouth, is to be held in the Baptist church this year. Rev. D. D. Nagle, the new pastor of the M. E. church, is to give the sermon. Everyone ought to come, and in a public way return thanks unto God for His blessings this year. Last Sunday morning, Rev. F. L. Currey began his work with us in a very fitting way. His sermon was on, "Preparation, Getting Ready." In the evening and on Monday evening, he spoke on, "Prayer, its Place of Importance in Revival Work." The chorus numbered a few over thirty on Sunday evening, and the singing was good. Frank Hamill has led the singing, assisted by the chorus, since Sunday. Next Sunday, Rev. Currey will speak in the morning on, "Type Men," a great sermon for men to hear. In the evening service Sunday, he will speak on, "The Menace of the American Home." It is known as family night. Come and bring all the family. CHURCH NEWS Catholic Father Lefevre Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic church, Union and Dodge streets. Mass every Sunday at 9 o'clock. Rectory, 276 Union street. FEAST FIT FOR THE GODS

Traveler in Asia Tells of Wonderful Food Served Guests at House of Sheik in Bagdad.

I never missed a chance in Bagdad to meet and know the bedouin. He has much of the "dark leonine" in temperament as well as complexion. Yet with all his dignity and reticence he is very gracious to a friend or a guest. How sumptuous a feast he can spread I discovered on a memorable evening when I was asked with four other officers to dine at the house of a sheik.

Though we were conscious that there were servants and women about and felt quite certain that they had viewed us from the latticed windows, we did not so much as catch a glimpse of them; our host brought in the dinner on huge round copper trays and he himself waited on us. There were no forks, or pieces of plates (there were khubz, or pieces of bread, which we knew were made of round thin slabs of dough stuck to the flat sides of a hot earth oven and baked until they fell off. The first course was a chicken splee, followed by Tigris salmon and meat cooked in appetizing ways with strange flavored spices and herbs.

Sometimes the sheik selected a choice bit and thrust it into the mouth of a favored guest. Not the servants, but the wives of our host, had done all the cooking, and before offering us any dish, he himself tasted it, to make sure that it was up to his standard. He pulled a wry face over the sherbet—and sent it back. The second part of the feast consisted of the most delicious vegetables, salads and fruits.

The sheik did not sit down with us and did not eat at all, but continued for two mortal hours to bring in dish after dish, until we had to beg him to have mercy. The fact that we knew he would consider it the height of good breeding if we gave loud and demonstrative signs of repulsion saved the day for us. He was pleased to find us surfeited with his generosity and at last he permitted us to eat the khubz.

What was left of the dinner he bestowed upon a crowd of beggars who had gathered round his door. After dinner there were cigarettes, provided as an especial compliment to the guests, for the Arab is devoted to the leisurely waterpipe.—Roland Garford in Asia.

Soap of Ancient Origin.

While the ancients knew how to make and use soap very little mention is made of it in their writings. It is believed that the detergent mentioned in the Bible in the English version of the Old Testament in Jeremiah were a form of soap made out of the ashes of plants.

Two thousand years ago the Germans were making soap and France had a soap factory in the year 1000.

Before soap making was known people learned that the ashes of some plants when mixed with water gave a smooth, slippery feeling and aided in cleansing. It was later determined that the cleansing agents were the soda or potash which was in the ashes, but it was found that pure soda or pure potash would injure the skin or the article to be cleaned. To eliminate this feature soap was finally evolved by boiling together oil or fat and caustic soda or potash.

The Easier Way.

The leading man of the company billed to play "Romeo and Juliet" at the opera house that night—one evening only—approached the manager.

"Say," the actor declared, "I've got to have 10 cents."

"Ten cents?" exclaimed the other in startled accents. "I never saw such a fellow—always howling for money! What you want 10 cents for in a town like this?"

"I want it for a shave," the actor explained. "You can't expect me to play Romeo with a three-day growth of black beard on my face, can you?"

"No, I suppose not," the other reluctantly admitted, and slowly put his hand into his pocket. Then a happy smile broke over his face and the hand was withdrawn empty.

"That's all right," he declared, cheerfully. "We'll just change the bill to 'Othello.'—Everybody's Magazine.

Suppressing the Flirt in Spain.

An edict has been issued in Madrid against the male flirt. It has long been a custom, sanctioned in a way, for loiterers along the street to pass compliments to unknown ladies who happen to be passing. Wishing to attract the attention of the females, the "gentleman" would make some such remark as "Blessed by thy mother" and the "lady" might or might not accept the advances. At any rate, it is now prohibited by the law, and if the lady feels offended she may have the man punished for his effrontery.

Secret Transaction.

"I wonder why those two men want to hold a conference in a stuffy telephone booth where there isn't room enough to turn around."

"They have papers before them."

"I noticed that."

"Perhaps they are exchanging recipes."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

No More Walks.

Captain Kidd strode from the modern lumber yard with a volley of angry oaths and a tight grip on his cutlass. "Zettons!" he exclaimed to his lieutenant. "It's impossible for a man to be a pirate in these extortionary times. One can't even afford a plank!"—Life.

A Timely Suggestion

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and the results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.—Advertisement.

Today's Reflections

According to a scientist, salmon, pike and goldfish are the only fish that never sleep. How about the poker shark?

Nothing is more refreshing these days than to meet the Plymouth woman who puts more dependence in soap than she does in perfume.

That new bear ruling is going to mean a lot of work for the shops that print prescription blanks.

Ever now and then we run across a Plymouth woman who is so contrary she opposes the things she is in favor of.

As a general rule the Plymouth man who scolds his wife in public is afraid to scold her when they are alone.

The principal use to which love seems to be put these days is supplying material for divorce suits and novels.

One thing about the traffic policemen on the streets of our big cities—they always win every argument they get into.

We've observed that the average

Plymouth man is willing to celebrate anything if it's at your expense.

The time has rolled around again when the amateur hunter can climb the fence and then drag the gun through after him.

More than one Plymouth resident is supposed to have ability, when in fact he hasn't anything more than gall.

A fashion note says women will wear their skirts longer. Yes, probably two or three months longer.

Maybe another reason why they're talking disarmament is we haven't any more wine to waste in christening battleships.

It looks like some people go to the moving picture shows just to practice reading out loud.

It's hard to convince the father of twins that two heads are better than one.

We heard one Plymouth man say yesterday that his idea of artificial joy is finding a set of store teeth that fit.

One of the worst things about living is you have to die to find out what a nice fellow you were.

Gen. Wingate could not tell the living voice from its RE-CREATION by the NEW EDISON

If you are thinking phonograph for Christmas, give serious thought to General Wingate's letter.

It suggests, doesn't it, that Mr. Edison has made his phonograph a new kind of instrument,—something infinitely finer and more desirable than the ordinary phonograph or talking-machine.

The New Edison has created the new standards by which people judge phonographs and talking-machines today.

cover those new standards, you must

marvelous NEW EDISON

You w beauties that actually soothe, refresh, ph that actually gives all the You will find an instrumentality power of the original music to re mind and body.

These wonderfu are possible, because the New Edison RE-CREATES music so perfectly that RE-CREATED performance can not be told from original performance. The New Edison is the only phonograph which sustains this test,—the test of direct comparison. This fact alone sets the New Edison apart.

Christmas Concerts

We are now giving special Christmas concerts, to help Christmas shoppers make comparisons, and to reveal to them the new home-music which the New Edison brings. You are cordially invited. Come any time.

CHAMBERS OF SURROGATE'S COURT BROOKLYN, N. Y.

June 2nd 1921

Mr. Thomas A. Edison, Orange, New Jersey.

Dear Mr. Edison :

I want to tell you how highly impressed I was by the realism which the New Edison showed in the comparison test which was given before the Reville Post of the American Legion..

The quality, tone, and humanness of Miss Clark's recreated voice were the same as the quality, tone and humanness of Miss Clark's living voice. With my eyes shut, I could not tell one from the other. The same is also true when Mr. Young played in comparison with a Re-Creation of his own piano-playing, -- and when Mr. Phillips sang in comparison with the Re-Creation of his own voice.

Very truly yours,

George Albert Wingate

The test General Wingate heard

IN the insert is General Wingate, who commanded the 52nd Field Artillery during the war. The audience, of which he was a part, heard Miss Helen Clark sing in comparison with the RE-CREATION of her voice by the New Edison on May 25th, 1921, in the 2nd Field Artillery Armory, Brooklyn.

Gen. Wingate wrote Mr. Edison, "With my eyes shut, I could not tell one from the other."

Do not think the remarkable New Edison is beyond you. It isn't.

Modern Cleaning—Electric
 Old-fashioned cleaning day, with its upset rooms, its tiresome rug beating and sweeping, is a task all women shun.
 Modern housecleaning—with the Electric Vacuum Cleaner—is simple, easy and pleasant.
 Rugs, carpets, draperies, curtains and upholstered furniture are cleaned with a new degree of thoroughness without moving them from their usual place.
 The Electric Vacuum Cleaner pays for itself in the Savings on cleaning bills, Savings by increasing the efficiency of household help, Savings in rugs by prolonging their lives.
 And it is sanitary because there is no scattered, germ-laden dust, as with other cleaning methods.
 We add our unqualified endorsement to the guarantee of the manufacturer.

About twenty-five neighbors and friends gave Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grisell a pleasant surprise at their home on Holbrook avenue, last Monday evening. As Mrs. Grisell had been ill during the fruit canning season, the occasion was really a fruit shower, and the guests carried with them jars of canned fruit. Cards were the entertainment, and light refreshments were served.

That Frank T. Newton, of this city, will be the next United States marshal for the eastern district of Michigan is the belief of many Michigan politicians. Chas. E. Townsend, senior senator from Michigan, is quoted as stating that he will recommend Mr. Newton.

The time of Marshall Behrendt, the present incumbent, does not expire until May 22. Accordingly the name of Mr. Newton may not be sent to the senate until spring.

Mr. Newton has been sheriff of Wahtenaw county, also state senator, and one of the original backers of Mr. Townsend for Congress and later for the senate—Ypsilanti-Press.

IS SACRED SPOT

All France in Tribute at Grave of Unknown Soldier.

All Classes, All Types, Represented in Unceasing Stream Around Simple Slab of Stone.

The prayers of the faithful go up unceasingly.

No vestal lights are here, no sacred shades of some cathedral aisle, that every one should speak so softly, tread so light. But there is a simple slab of stone upon which flowers are scattered, all radiant in the sunlight of a summer morning.

The busy holiday trade of the Parisian Sunday sweeps unceasingly in every direction across the great Place de l'Etoile. But here in the heart of it all is a little hushed oasis where women cross themselves, where men bow and bow their heads, where even the laughter of little children is stilled in wonderment, for here at the sepulcher of an unknown warrior a nation has enshrined the memory of a million dead, and here, above all hallowed places in the land of France, a nation's prayers are said. F. A. Hubbell writes in the continental edition of the London Mail.

The sunlight of a new-born day had hardly tinged its gold upon the great triumphal arch which rears itself so proudly over the grave of the unknown before the first of the tribute bringers arrived. They came, but in ones and twos, so early in the morning, lingered a little while, and, dropping flower offerings, passed on their way.

Gradually the city awakened. Motor cars came sweeping up the broad avenue of the Champs-Elysees, trams and busses emerged from every converging thoroughfare. Crowds passed to the great pleasure ground of the Bois de Boulogne. Others went farther afield for their holiday, but thousands here had reached their journey's end. They wished to go no farther than this little slab of stone.

The sun mounts higher in the sky and those who press about the flower-sprinkled spot increase in numbers. Two emes are formed. Each winds about the base of the majestic arch on either side. In slow and never-ending procession they converge beneath it before the space of sacred ground.

Noon has gone and still the slow stream of peoples passes. All ages, all classes, all types are represented. Here a widow in somber black who for a second breaks away from the stream to kneel and lay her little bunch of lilies of the valley on the tomb. An aged man, who leans heavily on a stick, pauses, bares his head with trembling hand and passes on. A girl, white-collared, from some distant province, has reached the end of her pilgrimage. She brought flowers with her from the little village, did her best to keep them fresh and fragrant on the way. All flutteringly, she drops them on the flower-sprinkled stone. A soldier, in the sky-blue uniform of France, straightens himself to "attention," salutes and goes his way.

A woman, beautifully robed, whose motor car with noiseless engine, drey up to the curb an hour ago, has reached the grave. She seldom waits for anything; she has never waited in a line. But here all are equal and she has taken her turn with the humblest. Her tribute of exquisite roses is no more fragrant than the faintest violet spray.

It is evening and from the Champs-Elysees Napoleon's triumphal arch upon the hilltop, wrapped in the glory of the setting sun, would seem the entrance to some celestial region.

Men and women are still passing before the sepulcher, by this time hidden quite beneath a pyre of many-colored blossoms which seem almost to burn in the crimson evening glow.

The restless, rushing human tide that surged over the great open space is waning and the silence about the tomb is more profound.

Those who wait to pay their tribute are fewer now, but as they pass onward from the arch toward the west the eyes are blinded by the dazzling light that envelops them.

And in the majestic symbolism of hilltop arch and blazoned sky, an unknown soldier who gave his life for his friends, holds the portals through which men pass to a promised land.

Unlimited Phone Talks.

The present telephone system of Berlin, as well as of all Germany, is conducted on the gloriously unimpaired system that obtained during the childhood of telephones in the United States. The number of calls is unlimited, and the sweet young German thing who wants to tell her best friend all about "what he said" last night, can do it to her heart's content if her big brother isn't telling his best friend a joke that he heard last night, or her mother isn't exchanging recipes. There is talk of the metered system, but the inhabitants of Berlin are protesting vigorously. They say that old-fashioned has gone far enough, and that they want to be able at least to talk without bureaucratic interference.

Greatest Wireless.

A new wireless station, which when completed will be the greatest in the world, will shortly be built at La Prairie, Quebec, according to A. H. Morse, managing director of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada. A start is to be made at once by a research staff in preparation for the erection of two 330-foot steel towers, which will be on this fall.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and the results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.—Advertisement.
