START IT RIGHT

There is but one way to get more out of the year 1922 than you got of the year which preceded it—and that is to start it right.

Good resolutions made upon the New Year are just like so much pie crust, they are very easily broken, unless you make a firmer resolution than all others—and that is a resolve to keep them. There is but one safe way to lay out those resolutions, and that is to look back over the years that have gone, single out mistakes that have been made, and then resolve not to make the same mistakes again.

Despite the fact that there is a lot of misery in the world, if we could corral it, drive it all into one big bunch, and then take note of it. But fortunately there is happiness enough to over-balance it, and where we find one case of misery we find a dozen cases of happiness. There isn't actual want, or privation, or heart-rending cases of neglect in Plymouth, and we know of no such cases in the community surrounding. But with all this there is still more happiness to be had than we have experienced during the past year if we will but make up our minds now, as we start a new year, to search for it. Hunting for happiness is just like hunting for anything else—the harder you hunt the more apt you are to find it. It isn't going to come to you, unless you cultivate the habit of carrying it to others. Why not make one big, wholesome resolution for the year—make it broad and then stick to it. And why not let that resolution be that you will do at least one kindly act toward a relative, neighbor, a friend, or even a stranger who may be in our midst every day during the entire year. This doesn't mean you will have to dig into your pocket for a present every day. It doesn't mean you'll have to neglect your business. For no matter where you are you can find time to do something that will make someone smile, that will make someone's heart happy for a passing moment—and that is as kindly an act as anyone can ever do.

SEND THEM BY MAIL.
We believe we're voicing the sentiment of every taxpayer in Plymouth, and in fact in the state at large, when we say that no wiser thing could be done than to so arrange our laws as to make it possible for tax bills to be sent by mail. We hear much talk about the inauguration of business methods in public office, but here is one way it could be carried out that appears to be overlooked. We do not know of a merchant who expects us to visit his store promptly on the first of the year or the month and stand in line for hours waiting for an opportunity to pay a bill. Then why should it be done in connection with the payment of taxes? Every taxpayer has a postoffice address, and he can be reached by mail. Why not have his tax account mailed to him, just the same as other bills are mailed. Then he could make payment without loss of time. He could send a receipt or a government money order, and no receipt would be necessary, the cancelled check or money order stub serving as such.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

John H. Patterson, 77 years old, head of the great National Cash Register plant, said at his birthday celebration a few weeks ago: "Keep young by associating with young things." The newspapers are the youngest—born every day—or at least once a week.

You can't ignore that truth, and you can't deny that the newspaper is the greatest means of education in any community. Try to conceive a community like Plymouth going for months, or even a week without a newspaper. The whole world might be in flames, great inventions might be born or wars started. Yet, if there were no newspapers there would be no means of carrying such intelligence to the family circle. The newspaper is always a bargain, no matter what price you are asked to pay for it. Fortunately the cost is small, only a penny or two. And no man living has yet found anything for the same money that renders as great service or gives as great benefit.

WINTER DRIVING
Watch the inexperienced motorist next time he drives through a mud-hole in the road, or gets stuck in mire or snow. The first thing he does is to order everyone out of the car. But the old-timer, on the other hand, invites a half-dozen bystanders to get into the car. By weighting the car down, by pressing the wheels in closer contact with the road, he usually manages to lift the car out, and goes on his way. Those motorists around Plymouth who know most about cars point out that occasionally a car wheel may, in spinning, dig a hole so deep that the car is unable to climb the short and steep incline. When this happens, their advice is to fill the hole with stones, snow or other material, which makes it possible to use a jack or a fence rail. Tie the entire length of a tire chain about the wheel, making a big knot in one spot on the tire. This lump will generally pull out. Try it before yelling for help the next time you mire down.

PREBYTERIAN PARAGRAPHS
A large and appreciative congregation witnessed the Christmas pageant, last Sunday evening. The decorations were unusually beautiful and brought great credit to H. J. Green, who designed and arranged them. As a token of appreciation, Mr. Green was presented with a purse of money. C. H. Bennett acted as "Santa Claus" for the Ready Service Class last Saturday night, and brought great joy to the dwellers in the manse—literally "wheeled it in".

The annual meeting of the church and congregation will be held, Monday evening, January 9, in the auditorium of the church. The secretary and treasurer of each organization will be asked to report at this meeting. Trustees and elders whose terms of office expire and a superintendent and assistant superintendent of the Sunday-school will be elected at this meeting, and such other officers as are specified in the articles of association.
A large "soccer ball" was the Sunday-school Christmas present to the Caritas Home. Candy and oranges were also provided by the teachers and individual friends. Thursday afternoon, Miss Olive Merz entertained the pastor, teachers and members of the Caritas Home School at a house party.

GRANGE NOTES
Plymouth Grange held its regular and Christmas meeting, December 22, at which time the officers for the ensuing year were installed by Past Master S. W. Spicer. After the business meeting and exchange of gifts, the Grange was pleasantly entertained with some vocal music by the Howell children and readings by Doretha Hillman.
The next regular meeting occurs January 5.

LIVONIA LUTHERAN CHURCH
Regular services at the Livonia Center Lutheran church next Sunday afternoon, New Year's Day, in the English language. Holy communion will also be celebrated in the English language. The usual communion offering will be taken at the door for the benefit of missions. Sunday-school begins at 1:45, eastern standard time. Everybody welcome.
On Tuesday afternoon, January 3, our annual meeting of the congregation will convene at 1:00 o'clock p. m. Election of officers for the ensuing year, together with all other business necessary to be transacted will be the order of the day. Our church looks back upon 1921 as a very prosperous one for the church, being able to close the accounts of the old year with a neat balance to the good still in the treasury. We hope also to increase the number of our voting membership. All members are kindly asked to be present.

NOTICE
The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Plymouth Home Building Association will be held at the village hall, on Monday evening, January 9, 1922, for the purpose of electing three directors and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before the meeting. The polls for the election will be open from 7 to 8 o'clock, local time, as provided in our by-laws.
W. R. SHAW, Secretary.

Financially speaking, the man who drives his automobile without Full Coverage insurance is skating on thin ice.

One fair sized damage award would pay the premiums on a Peninsular Full Coverage Policy for a life time.

Methodist Matters

One of the finest renditions of Christmas music to be heard in the city was given at the Methodist church, last Sunday night, when the quartette consisting of Miss Foster, Mrs. Baker and Messrs. Roberts and Jolliffe, assisted by Miss Winifred Jolliffe at the piano, gave the cantata, entitled, "Holy Night." It came as a fitting climax to an ideal Christmas Day, and a full house of worshippers went away inspired and happy, and appreciative of the splendid and talented music rendered.

The Christmas "with them," given on Friday night, was also a fine success, each one rendering their part in an impressive manner. The young people are to be congratulated on their efforts in helping to make Christmas more real through their pageantry. Much credit is due Mrs. Nagle and Mrs. Hillman for their success. A large white gift Christmas offering has been turned in for the relief of our needy children's Home, and other needy children.

Start the New Year right by going to church next Sunday, and then keep it right up the rest of the year.

Next week will be observed as the Week of Prayer, a prayer meeting being held each night at the church from 7:00 to 8:00.

January 13-15, Young People's Crusader's Conference, seventy-five or more young people will be in attendance from this part of Ann Arbor district. A splendid program of interest to our young folks will be given under the leadership of Dr. and Mrs. Stair of Ann Arbor. In preparation for this conference, there will be a preliminary meeting on Thursday night, January 13th, with a pot-luck supper at the church for the Sunday-school board and Epworth League cabinet, and all young people. Mrs. Stair will be present.

Official board meets at the church, next Tuesday night, at 8:00 o'clock.

Epworth League box social at the church, this week Friday night at 7:30. Everyone invited, young and old.

Christmas parties held at the church during the past week, given by Sunday-school classes and other organizations, were very enjoyable occasions. The Ladies' Aid society had a pot-luck dinner last Wednesday after which little gifts were exchanged by all, being deposited in a temporary postoffice, and being delivered to various ones in the room. Happy New Year to all.

IN MEMORIAM

When You Are Constipated

They will not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels, without unpleasant effects, but banish that dull, stupid feeling, that often accompanies constipation.—Advertisement.

RECORD ALFALFA SEED YIELD MADE IN STATE

ST. CLAIR COUNTY FARMER PRODUCED FIFTY-FIVE BUSHELS THIS YEAR—ENOUGH TO PLANT 300 ACRES.

What is said to be the largest supply of alfalfa seed ever reported as having been grown by an individual farmer in Michigan was raised this past season by F. A. Petz of St. Clair County. Petz recently finished threshing out fifty-five bushels, enough, according to Prof. J. F. Cox, of the Michigan Agricultural College, to plant 300 acres of the leguminous crop.

"While the past season was unusually favorable for alfalfa seed production," says Cox in discussing the yield, "Mr. Petz has been producing seed reliably for the last three years. He has shown what can be done in Michigan."

Fifteen acres of Petz's alfalfa were from seed of strains planted ten years ago from a selection from the Michigan Agricultural college, apparently Old Franchish. Two acres were from seed secured three years ago from County Agricultural Agent Brody, now secretary of the State Farm Bureau.

"It is probable that this entire supply of seed will be used by local farmers, judging by interest shown in the crop during a recent dairy and alfalfa campaign in St. Clair county Michigan-grown alfalfa seed, where available, or seed from hardy strains grown in the northwestern states, is recommended by the college crops department. Grimm is a variety strongly recommended."

The recent work in St. Clair county was part of a state-wide alfalfa campaign being pushed by field men at M. A. C.

LAPHAM'S CORNERS

The Worden Sunday-school held their Christmas exercises on Saturday evening. The Sunday-school of the Salem Congregational church held their exercises on Sunday evening.

There were about one hundred present at the Christmas exercises at the Jarvis school on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Coda Savery and family and Mr. Walker spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dixon at Denton. Morris See and children of Wayne, also spent Christmas there.

Mrs. Wm. Mager was removed to the University hospital Saturday. She is not getting along as well as hoped for.

Wm. Clay of Detroit, spent Christmas day at Wm. Smith's.

The Misses Helen and Louise Rorabacher of Ypsilanti, are spending their vacation at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rorabacher of Plymouth spent the week end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wilson.

Several from this vicinity attended the Christmas exercises at the Salem Town hall Friday evening given by the Salem Union School. All report a good crowd and fine program.

Wm. Mager and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Newton at Ann Arbor.

Today's Reflections

There wouldn't be so much unemployment in this country if so many people didn't look upon it as a sort of luxury.

When the average Plymouth man was young he was glad to get anything in his sock at Christmas. Now he's thankful to even have a whole pair of socks.

After all, the surest way to elevate the human race is to raise children that can behave themselves.

And what a lot more happiness there'd be in the world if love would continue to stay blind after marriage.

We have the word of a poor but honest Plymouth man that the worst thing about riches is not having any.

If you think there is no such thing as conscience, look how much happier is the man who has his subscription to the home-town paper paid up until 1923.

We often wonder if any of our well-meaning Plymouth friends who offer cold remedies ever take their own medicine.

More than one resident of this garden spot of the world has learned that it's a good deal easier to buy things on the installment plan than it is to pay for them that way.

And if fathers knew as much as their sons think they know, there'd be a lot of wisdom in this world.

We've never been able to figure out why the average Plymouth boy doesn't mind a spell of sickness if it comes during school months.

The world is growing better, but we still have a few editors who joke about the neckties their better-half gave them for Christmas.

Still another way to be happy is to learn not to care for things you know you can't have.

Why is it the average Plymouth girl would rather break a leg when she falls down on the street than have someone see that she has a hole in her stocking?

Not everybody's prayers are answered. We know because there hasn't been a drop in the price of print paper for months.

Some Plymouth men seem to labor under the impression that it's high finance if they win and highway robbery if the other fellow wins.

It has been our observation that the less you know about people the longer you retain their friendship.

If you have anything to buy or sell, advertise in the Mail. It will cost but a small sum. Try it.

Election Notice

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Village of Plymouth, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, that a special election will be held in the Plymouth Village Hall, in said village, on Monday, January 2nd, 1922, for the purpose of submitting proposed amendments to the Village Charter according to the following resolution adopted by the Village Commission at their special meeting held Thursday, Dec. 15th, 1921:

RESOLVED, by the Commission of the Village of Plymouth, State of Michigan,

New Light on Batteries

"Since all batteries look so much alike on the outside, how am I going to tell which one has the most value inside?"

That is a practical every-day question—and it has a simple every-day answer.

What greater assurance could you possibly have than the following combination of facts:

- 1—Extraordinary quality in the battery itself, as shown by the choice of the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery as standard equipment by the manufacturers of 173 makes of cars and trucks.
- 2—A nation-wide organization to serve you; and—
- 3—A record for quality and service dating back nearly to the beginning of the automobile.

You don't need a formal invitation. Come in any old time and a trained night on this battery.

Baptist Notes

The Christmas cantata last Friday evening, "Hope of the Christmas City" was a great success. The costumes and characters were in keeping with the story, and explained the birth of the Saviour, visit of the wise men, and Herod's determination to kill the child. The pantomime of "Christ in the Manger," surrounded by the wise men, shepherds and children, was very pleasing. The church was dark, and the white light of the stereopticon thrown upon the manger, was impressive, as they sang "Hark! The Sleigh Bells of Santa were heard at the front door, and in he came with four reindeer and had his sleigh filled with candy for all the boys and girls. Charles Duryee was Santa. A vote of thanks was given to the committee in charge of the cantata, and to those who decorated the church, which was of great beauty.

The pastor spoke from Matthew's first chapter, Sunday morning—a Christmas sermon. He also gave the right hand of fellowship to two young men and one young lady during the day.

Harold Holcomb was not able to lead the B. Y. P. U., Sunday evening, and Harry Sayles took his place. The subject was "The Great Commission," and was a good meeting.

Mr. Allenbaugh, superintendent of the Sunday-school, was away on Sunday, to spend Christmas at home in Mr. Pleasant with his people. We miss him when he is away for he is almost always at his post.

Episcopal Notes

A good old style supper party and Christmas tree were held Thursday evening of last week for the church school and members of St. John's church. A fine supper was provided in the Grange hall, and there was a very good turnout. After supper, we all adjourned to the church, where the chancel was curtained off and there was the Christmas tree loaded with gifts for every member of the church and church school. The program commenced with songs, recitations, Christmas poems and carols. Most of the members of the church school either sang or recited, and it was just fine to see how, even the little "tots" of the school were so anxious to come to recite their Christmas poems. After the last recitation, three cheers were given for Santa Claus, and he suddenly appeared from somewhere in their midst, much to the great excitement and joy of the little ones. Here Santa Claus had a very busy time distributing the gifts from the Christmas tree, assisted by Mrs. D. Murphy. At the end of the evening, however, Santa Claus had to reveal himself. Dr. Jennings certainly made a splendid and jolly Santa Claus, and much credit is also due to the untiring efforts of the Ladies' Guild for making this such a successful evening.

The Ven. J. G. Widdifield, archdeacon of Detroit, was with us last Sunday, Christmas Day. Holy communion was celebrated at 8:30. There was a good congregation. In the collection plate at the communion service was a special donation, and the vestry of St. John's very much appreciate the kind thought of the anonymous giver whoever he or she may be.

Mr. Gibson hopes there will be a large attendance at the church school next Sunday, as the classes will now settle down to their regular routine lessons.

ENGINEERS REPORT ON WATER IMPROVEMENT

December 24, 1921.

W. J. Burrows, Village President, Plymouth, Michigan.

Dear Sir:

On Wednesday, December 21st, the writer in company with Mr. Strong, made a test of the well constructed by the Cooper-Widemann Construction Company, and of the pumping equipment furnished by the Chippewa Pump Company. The data resulting from these tests has been worked up in graphical form, copy of which is submitted herewith.

Reference to the recorded data shows the water in the well to have stood 2:12 feet below the pump room floor at the beginning of the pumping test at 11:07 a. m. With the valve connecting the well with the line from the large open spring closed pumping was started at 11:07 a. m. and continued without interruption until 12:22 p. m. At 12:22 the distance from the floor to the water surface had decreased to 11:52 feet, which was a depression in the water level of 9.4 feet. At 12:22 the pump was stopped and the water rose 1.25 feet in the next twelve minutes. During this pumping test the pump was operating against only the head built up by the friction in the line, which never exceeded 7 feet.

At 12:35 the valve connecting the well with the line from the spring was opened and the well rapidly filled until at 1:13 p. m. the surface of the water was but 3 feet below the floor. With this valve still open the pump was then started and operated continuously until 1:49 p. m. In this thirty-six minutes of operation the water surface was depressed but about 7 inches, and the amount of depression in the last seven or eight minutes was only about one-fourth or three-eighths of an inch, indicating that the point of equilibrium had been reached. During this pumping test the only head pumped against was the friction in the line.

By partially closing the gate valve in the discharge line located about 700 feet east of the well, the head at the pumps, as shown by the gage, was increased to 50 feet. After this condition was reached at 2:41 p. m. pumping was continued for seven minutes, with the result that the water surface remained practically level. This test was made for the purpose of satisfying the specifications under which the pump was purchased, which require the pump to operate satisfactorily against a head of 50 feet. The writer thought it unwise to continue this test a greater length of time and by doing, even in a slight degree, endanger any part of the plant or pipe line. It is demonstrated that the amount of friction in the pipe line is so small that the unit will never have to operate under a head as high as 50 feet, and it would therefore seem unwise to subject it a longer time to these conditions simply for the purpose of demonstrating that it could be done.

These several tests show that the rate at which water enters the well under the shoe is not now sufficient at the rate of pumping used, to allow the whole supply to be taken with the valve from the spring closed. It is our opinion, however, by studying the rate at which the curve of depression becomes flatter at the lower levels, that by adding several feet of drop pipe below the pump cylinder the well will produce considerably more water. There may be no necessity for doing this now, but it may be done in later years when more water is needed. Such an extension of the drop pipe may be readily and inexpensively made. The lower end of the pipe should extend not closer than 2 1/2 or three feet from the bottom of the well, which distance will be sufficient to insure that sand will not be drawn into the suction line.

Provided there is found a sufficient supply of water, we would advise that the best way to operate the plant may be by closing the valve at the large spring and leaving open the valve at the well. This will allow the line from the spring to the well to act as an infiltration gallery and the water collected by this gallery, together with that coming into the well directly under the shoe, may be sufficient to supply the pump. If this proves to be unwise, it will be unnecessary to longer use water which has been exposed at the surface of the ground.

It will be recalled that during the construction of the well, openings were provided in the walls of the well for future connections to radiating infiltration galleries. This additional construction may not be required for many years, but as the demand for water increases it will furnish a very simple and inexpensive means for increasing the supply.

The pump is found to operate much smoother and without vibration when pumping against the 50 foot head, than when pumping against pipe friction only. This demonstrates the wisdom of adding an air chamber on the line. Provision for an air chamber was made in the original plans and a T with a blank flange was inserted in the discharge line. An air chamber may be easily and inexpensively added whenever desired, and we advise that this be done at an early date for the purpose of decreasing the vibration from the pump. If this be not done the machinery will wear out much more rapidly, and long continued vibration will surely prove of no benefit to the well structure.

The specifications for the pumping equipment provide that the capacity of the pump shall be 435 gallons per minute, against a head of 50 feet when operating at 60 revolutions per minute. Quantity tests were made on the unit during the latter part of October, the discharge being measured over a V notched weir. These tests indicated a discharge of nearly 500 gallons per minute, but at that time the head pumped against could not have exceeded two or three feet. The first eight minutes of the tests on the 21st of December showed that the pump discharged 440 gallons a minute, with no allowance being made for water entering the well during that time. Of course some water, the amount unknown, did enter the well during these eight minutes and the pump exceeded 440 gallons per minute by that amount. When pumping against the head of 50 feet the pump operated at the same speed as before, and since there was no suction head on the pump at this time the discharge was the same as during the eight minutes above referred to.

We strongly urge that the Venturi meter, already purchased by the village, be erected and put into operation at as early date as this may be conveniently done. With the meter in operation the discharge of the pump may be accurately determined under all conditions.

This pumping test completes the work of the water supply improvements, with the exception of the connecting up of the large reservoir with the pumping equipment for automatic control, which work will be done by the village. The float and float switch at the reservoir were furnished by the Chippewa Pump Company and the company is responsible for the operation of this equipment. However, we are unable to test the operation of this equipment until the connections are made. Inasmuch as it is due to no fault nor neglect of the Chippewa Pump Company that the whole equipment has not been tested before, we are unwilling to advise that any amount of money be withheld from this company until the connections have been made. The information in this office is to the effect that 50 per cent of the contract price has been paid to the Chippewa Pump Company. We have no copy in our files of the contract with the company in its revised form, but our recollection is that a second estimate, amounting to twenty-five per cent of the contract price, is due upon completion of tests, if these tests prove satisfactory to the engineer. We enclose an estimate for twenty-five per cent of the contract price made contingent upon the satisfactory carrying out of the terms of the contract by the company. This contingency refers to the furnishing of the auxiliary gear which is to be supplied so that the speed of the pump may be increased to 107 r. p. m., and to a satisfactory adjustment being made with the company in the matter of the pinion now in place on the motor, which pinion seems to be defective. Inasmuch as the pumping tests are satisfactory to the engineers, the third and final estimate to the Chippewa Pump Company may be paid at the discretion of the village manager, without further notice from this office.

In concluding this, our final report, on the work in connection with the water supply improvements which the village intrusted to us, we make the opportunity for congratulating the village upon the very satisfactory and high grade pieces of construction which have been secured. Both the reservoir and the well have been given complete and thorough inspection since erection and the quality of these structures have been found in first-class condition and to have been constructed in full accordance with the plans and specifications. The concrete work at the reservoir is especially high grade as to quality and as to density of the mixture. The pumping equipment is unique for an installation of this type, and we are confident will prove to be extremely economical and simple of operation.

It would be extremely hazardous to offer assurance to the village of the adequacy of the water supply as indicated by the pumping tests made, or by conditions of ground water during this one period of the year alone. A long period of drought may seriously alter present conditions, but we have stated before and we are still confident that additional water may be readily obtained by the construction of infiltration galleries radiating from the well.

We wish to take this opportunity for expressing to the village our appreciation of the whole-hearted and effective co-operation which has been always extended to us by the village officials in connection with the water supply improvements and especially by the very thorough and painstaking work of the village manager in this connection. Mr. Strong has been in touch with the work from the beginning and has offered valuable suggestions looking to its successful execution. He is thoroughly informed of all that has so far been done and of our recommended methods for operation of the plant. A new plant such as the one under consideration should not be expected to fall into full and regular operating conditions at the very start, and during the period of adjustment and tuning up which must be carried out, we will be pleased to co-operate with the village manager whenever our judgment or experience may be of value.

Very respectfully submitted,
HOAD & DECKER, Engineers.
By A. J. Decker.

Rats Prove Milk Value

The lives of thousands of children may be saved from the study of rats. We are used to the illustration of "Sermons in stones, books in the running brooks, but it remained for the common rat to pave the way for better feeding of our children, by proving the value of milk in the diet of the young.

In a recently concluded nutrition experiment, a family of baby rats were divided, half being fed on bread and prepared food, and half on bread, milk and orange juice. The first group registered slight, if any, improvement; the second, reported at once to the diet. Their fur became glossy, their eyes brighter, and their activity more marked.

A second group was divided, the first half being fed meat, potatoes, bread, bacon, turnips and beets—to all appearances a balanced ration. Group number two was fed the same diet, but with the addition of milk. The difference was noticeable from the start, number two gaining with twice the rapidity of number one, because of the milk diet.

Similar experiments with the mother rats proved the value of milk, the richer the mother's diet in milk, the more rapid being the development of the young.

Interesting experiments of this nature are being started at the Michigan Agricultural College now, and will be on display during Farmers Week at the college, Jan. 30 to Feb. 3, in demonstrations to show that milk is vital in the child's diet.
