PLYMOUTH TEAM WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Ever since the Plymouth High school judging teams returned from the state contests, held at the Michigan Agricultural College during Farmers' Week, they have been waiting anxiously for a report of the results. The report arrived this week with the announcement that the state live stock judging championship was won by the Plymouth team, composed of Herbert Miller, Lawrence Miller and Carl Ash, with a total of 1192 points, against 1161 for the Hillsdale team, which took second place. Herbert Miller was also second individual point winner, and Lawrence Miller, third.

The grain judging team, which consisted of Iris Palmer, Lawrence Holmes and Clifford Cochran, while not so fortunate as the live stock judges, made a very good showing, placing fifth with 1357 points, only 3 points behind Ionia in the fourth place. Hillsdale the winner of this contest, received 1448 points, the difference coming particularly in the work on potato judging, in which Hillsdale scored 262 against 152 for Plymouth. As the potato types were not available for study here, it is evident that if Plymouth is to make any better showing another year, we must get potatoes outside for potato practice judging.

Much the same thing is true in fruit judging in which the Plymouth team, consisting of Duane Sayles, Harold Ricker and Iris Palmer, took fourth place, only 37½ points behind Bangor in first, and only five points behind Traverse City in third place. Both of these teams are from the heart of the fruit district, and Plymouth's handicap is indicated by the fact that of the twenty varieties chosen for apple identification, eleven were not obtainable here.

Only two other schools in the state placed teams in all three contests, St. Johns placing second in fruit; second in grain, and tenth in live stock with a total of 2688½, and Ypsilanti, fifth in fruit; ninth in grain, and seventh in live stock, with a total of 2574. This would give Plymouth, with a total of 2719, a better average rating than any of the others. In all 27 schools registered, and 206 students participated in the judging contests.

ANOTHER BIG PICTURE COMING

George Beban in "The Italian," is the picture that will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, next Sunday evening, March 26. Finzel's five-piece orchestra will furnish the music, which will be a pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment.

The Plymouth Grange will give a play, entitled, "Aaron Slick from Punkin Creek," at the High school auditorium, Tuesday evening, April 4th.

COUNTY WILL BUILD MORE GOOD ROADS

The coming summer will see considerable road building in Wayne county according to the plans outlined by the Wayne county road commissioners. Last Sunday's Detroit News contained the following which will be of interest in this community: The Federal Government has agreed to co-operate in building the Grand River-Plymouth-Ann Arbor road. The present gravel highway has been a white elephant, involving especially high maintaining charges. The government and state will bear 75 per cent of the cost of improvement.

Among the north and south roads to be constructed to make the east and west roads more effective will be a stretch of eight miles along the boundary line between Springwells and Dearborn and Redford and Greenfield townships. The north and south road from Wayne to Farmington will be rushed to completion. It will be a 20-foot concrete road.

Of the Middle Belt Route, known locally as the Jim Ruff road, only five miles will be concreted this year, but 19 miles will be graded for final operations next year. This road will bisect the county and be a main thoroughfare between Michigan avenue and the Plymouth road.

The Phoenix road which passes by the House of Correction will be made a 20-foot concrete road. The labor will be done by prisoners.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

A large crowd attended the Masonic party given in the Penniman-Allen auditorium, last Friday evening. Excellent music was furnished by Finzel's ten-piece orchestra, and about two hundred dollars was netted for the Masonic building fund. During the evening, H. C. Robinson, in behalf of the Masonic Order, presented Mrs. Kate E. Allen with a beautiful basket of flowers in appreciation of her kindness in donating the auditorium and music for the occasion. Mrs. Allen expressed her appreciation for the gift in a pleasing manner.

MORE WORK THAN PAY

It is doubtful if the average citizen realizes the amount of time devoted to the public welfare by town officials and members of the governing bodies. They can never consider their time their own. Scarcely a day passes but what some citizen approaches them with some request or suggestion relative to community affairs. Each of these must be carefully considered from all angles, and the good points weighed against the bad ones. This requires much time and thought, all of which is taken from their private business affairs. The slight compensation they receive from the town treasury is but a pittance, not to be compared with the value of the time and energy they devote to the public good.

The social committee of the Rebekah Degree Staff gave another one of their popular pedro parties in 1. O. O. F. hall last Tuesday afternoon. About thirty were present and the afternoon was much enjoyed.

The Pneumonia Month
March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ laden mucus, and not only cures a cold, but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly.—Advertisement.

When is a chump not a chump? Ana—When you ramble off with two games from the Ramblers.

Moonshiners are still trying to dispose of their wares. They injected enough of their recipe into the Rattlers to win one argument.

Yep—it was predicted, "The weather man is right sometimes, too." Well, we said last week the scales would fly high. The Bums went a fishing; the very first cast made by the Bums was grabbed by the Fish so eagerly they had no chance to land it, but the next two tries were successful, and the Bums went home with two good catches.

The Dubs sampled the Prunes just once. H. L. says, not sweet enough. So sweeten up, Prunes, for next week. The Bums may bargain with you.

Is Your Insurance "Guilt Edged?"

Due to heavy losses and expenses and reduced premium income, nearly all Mutual Insurance Companies are under considerable strain at this time. Old Line Stock Companies are not seriously affected, but many light weight concerns, which have been unwisely managed have already succumbed, or have been compelled to call for 80 per cent to 100 per cent Special Assessments, and the prevailing opinion is that others of this class have trouble ahead.

"ROCKS" LOSE CLOSE GAME

Plymouth High school finished their basket ball schedule for the year, last Friday night, when they played Farmington on the local court. Although the number of games won this year is not as great as those lost, nevertheless it is the most successful season the High school ever had.

Of the five games played on the local court, three were won by the "Rocks." Before the game, the "Rocks" had hopes of finishing the season with four straight victories on the home court. They played with that intention throughout the game. The score at the end of the first half was even, each side making nine points or 22 all. But suddenly they lost their eye for the basket, as is shown by the fact that they made but one field basket in the last quarter. Farmington made two field goals and a free throw in the last quarter, that giving them the best end of a 27 to 24 game. The game, Friday night, was not as fast as those preceding it have been, but each side was fighting every minute. The prospects for next year are bright, as all this year's players are expected to return for another year. There should be but one handicap, and that is, the local court is too small.

Episcopal Notes

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, last Sunday, quite a large congregation attended the morning service at St. John's. Franklin L. Gibson preached, taking his text from 1 Corinthians 13th chapter, which teaches that all our gifts, however excellent they may be, are nothing if we have not "love" in our lives. We were pleased to welcome some strangers and friends at last Sunday morning's service.

The Ladies' Guild will meet this week at the home of Mrs. Annie Henderson on Wing street. We hope there will be a full attendance of members.

Our church school is progressing very nicely under the superintendency of Mrs. Murphy, and some more pupils are likely to enroll. Four teachers teach the different grades of church children, and in addition to these four classes Miss Schmidt takes the adult bible class and is now taking as her subject each Sunday, "The Manhood of the Master," and Franklin L. Gibson takes the Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew's class. Miss Schmidt would like to welcome some more members into her Bible class, and those who wish to join please remain after any of the morning services.

During the Lenten season all the children of the church school have taken "mite boxes." These Lenten offerings of self denials will be taken up at Easter, and sent to the domestic and foreign Missionary society in New York for the spreading of the gospel in foreign lands. With each coin put into the mite box there is a prayer asking God's blessing on the work.

Through the generosity of the vestry of St. John's church, Detroit, our vestry have obtained through Franklin L. Gibson some very valuable church furnishings—an altar railing with standards, extending right across the chancel; an altar curtain screen, and some panelling for the pulpit—all these are of solid oak and beautifully carved, especially the altar screen. Indeed, many of the city churches have not finer or more valuable furnishings than these. The men of the vestry with their friends will get together and install them in the church themselves, which will be completed by Easter Sunday. The vestry very much appreciated the kindness of Roy Jewell and Mr. McCordie for bringing these furnishings from Detroit, last Saturday.

STATE OAT CROP SAID
TO NEED FERTILIZERS

YIELDS ABOVE THE AVERAGE
POSSIBLE WITH PROPER SOIL TREATMENT, ACCORDING TO
M. A. C. SPECIALIST.

That much of Michigan's one and a half million acre oat crop is in need of fertilization this year and that crop yields well above the state average can be obtained if proper soil conditions are brought about, is the statement of Dr. H. M. McCool, head of the state soils department at the Michigan Agricultural College.
"Fertility tests we have conducted with oats on widely different soils," says Dr. McCool in discussing the question of fertilization, "bring out the fact that the better soils for this crop (the silt loams, the silt loams and the clay loams), are most responsive to acid phosphate. If the straw development is adequate or excessive, it is a wasteful practice to apply a mixed fertilizer for this crop.
"The acid phosphate should be added in amounts ranging from one hundred and fifty to two hundred and fifty pounds per acre. The larger application should be sufficient for two years. If the soil is rather heavy, yet low in humus and the straw growth not adequate, about two hundred and fifty pounds of a 2-12-0 fertilizer per acre should be profitable.
"Where light soils that are in pretty good condition are used for the production of this crop, the addition of 2-12-2 fertilizer ranging in amount from two hundred to two hundred and fifty pounds may be advisable. If the light soils are somewhat worn and are to produce oats for hay, nitrogen should be the chief consideration. Nitrate of soda may be used as a top dressing in amounts ranging from sixty to one hundred pounds per acre."

WARNS VOYAGERS
WHO GO TO SEA

Where Uncle Sam Keeps Watch
for Ships and Storms.

CAPE HENRY IS VITAL POINT

Government Observatory Gathers
Weather News All Along Eastern Coast—Mere Ships Pass There Than Any One Spot in America—First to Report German Raiders in Our Waters and Also Famous Shipwrecks—Army and Navy Aviators Watch Reports.

At Cape Henry, Va., where more ships pass than at any one spot in America, the government maintains an observatory and weather bureau that furnishes information to ships and individuals from one end of the country to the other.

Marine men say J. Frank Newsome, chief of the Cape Henry bureau, probably sees more ships in a year than any other man in the United States.
There are four assistants to Mr. Newsome, and at least one of them is on duty every minute of the day and night.

Some idea of the number of ships that pass Cape Henry in a year may be had from the figures of 1921 when 16,708 vessels passed in and out of the Virginia capes. In addition to this vast fleet hundreds of other vessels were sighted off the capes.

The government station at Cape Henry is one of the most important, if not the most important, of similar stations in America. In addition to reporting the passing in and out of ships,
the Cape Henry station is important for the meteorological work done there and for the indispensable service it renders ship owners and the public,
and also the army and navy and coast guard.

Their Weather Eye Out.
Mr. Newsome and his experts collect weather observations from along the coast as far south as Hatteras and as far north as New Jersey. This information is sent broadcast over the ocean, is furnished to ships in port and along the coast and to the army and navy and coast guard.

Neither army nor navy aviators will venture a flight along the coast without first obtaining from Cape Henry information on weather conditions.
Cape Henry has such a reputation for accurate weather reports that information is eagerly sought there by ship masters and ship owners from Boston to Florida.

Cape Henry also furnishes the only means of telegraphic communication with the outside world for isolated hamlets and settlements along the coast. Ocracoke Island, one of the most picturesque and interesting places on the coast, would be shut off from the outside world so far as telegraphic communication is concerned
if the government did not operate a telegraph line along the coast from Norfolk to Hatteras and to Ocracoke.

Ocracoke has a population of about 800 people and there are a like number at Portsmouth, and other coast towns.
Several times in years gone by, when severe storms swept the coast, there were grave fears felt for the inhabitants of these towns. Commercial wires went down and even the government wires were blown to the ground.
It was the seacoast wires, however,
that always brought the first news of the safety of the inhabitants of the towns in danger.

Keep Tab on Ships.
One of the most interesting and perhaps the most important duty that Cape Henry observers perform is reporting the arrival and departure of ships; the sighting of vessels, and the transmission by signal of important messages to passing steamers. Every day, and sometimes several times a day, the observers at Cape Henry are called upon to transmit messages to passing ships. Sometimes it is orders from ship owners. Sometimes it is a message of joy for the captain or some officer or member of a ship's crew.
Sometimes it is a message for a passenger on the passing steamer.

In the daytime the message is transmitted to a ship by code flags. At night Morse flashlights are used. During the World war the Cape Henry station was one of the busiest places in the world.
Thousands of ships passed in and out of the capes and important messages were delivered almost every hour of the day and night. During 1918, 23,897 ships passed the Virginia capes. This is the largest number since the Cape
Henry observatory was established.

Before America entered the World war, some of the most important news of the activities of the Germans on this side of the Atlantic was given to the world by the observer at Cape Henry.
It was the observers there who first reported the arrival of the Deutschland,
the first merchant submarine that ever crossed the Atlantic. For almost two weeks a lone tugboat stood guard off Cape Henry awaiting the arrival of the Deutschland to escort her through the Virginia capes and up the Chesapeake bay to Baltimore.

It was Cape Henry that first reported the arrival of the German raiders,
Kronprinz Wilhelm and the Eltel
Frederick, and first to report the arrival of the captured liner Appam.
This vessel passed Cape Henry in the charge of a German crew from the raider Moeewe.

Wreck Reports.
From Cape Henry also has come first reports of shipwrecks along the Virginia and Carolina coasts. The wreck of the Liberator at Virginia March 20 years ago, when five members of the vessel's crew and the captain's wife and baby were drowned, was first reported by the Cape Henry observers from information supplied by life savers.

The Cape Henry observatory was established December 15, 1873. The first weather observations were taken on January 1, 1874. The first observer was William Stein. There have been a number of observers since then, and J. Frank Newsome, the present observer, has held the post for about fifteen years. He is also supervising inspector for the whole district extending from Cape Henry to Cape Hatteras.

He is one of the most popular and accommodating officials in the government service. His assistants are J. R.
Swartz, C. R. White, H. M. Perry and
R. D. Hine.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Ryder and son, Ralph, of Plymouth, called on their cousin, C. E. Ryder, last Wednesday.
A very pleasant surprise was sprung on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davey, Jr., last Saturday evening,
when Mr. Davey's father, mother, five brothers and their families all motored out from Detroit to help Mr. and Mrs. Davey celebrate their twenty-fourth wedding anniversary.
They presented Mr. and Mrs. Davey with a beautiful table cloth. It goes without saying that they all enjoyed the occasion very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Deo Duryee of Detroit spent over Sunday at the parental home.

the Grays will entertain at some future time.

Those interested in the Grange will please notice next week's announcement.

Baptist Notes

The event of the week was the annual meeting and banquet of the B. Y. P. U. at the parlors of the church. About thirty-five sat down to the tables, and it was a fine supper. All seemed to enjoy the repast. At the close of the supper hour, Mr. Allenbaugh, the president, took charge of the evening. Gospel song after gospel song was sung in a very hearty way. Mr. Allenbaugh spoke to the society, and gave a brief review of the first year's work, which was encouraging. He called upon the pastor for a few remarks. He spoke of the necessary things to be done if each member desired to grow in a spiritual way, such as, reading the bible, prayer, personal testimony, always at meeting and on time. The pastor used this opportunity to thank the young people for their faithfulness and assistance in the Sunday evening chorus. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Morgan Williams of Lansing, director of the Baptist Young People's work for Michigan. His subject was, "Watch Your Step." The address was full of good thoughts, mingled with wit and stories, that left a happy thought in the mind of each one who was there. They gave Mr. Williams a vote of thanks, and asked that he might return some day. The secretary, Miss Esther Estep, then gave a full report of the work for the past year, stating meetings had been held each Sunday evening during the year, except three Sundays in the summer. The report was accepted. The table committee was Misses Fannie Grainger, Esther Estep and Madeline Shackleton, and Henry Holcomb. The officers elected were:

President—Dwane Sayles.
Vice Pres.—Henry Holcomb.
Secretary—Fannie Grainger.
Treasurer—Alton Sayles.

The B. Y. P. U. meeting last Sunday evening was led by Madeline Shackleton, assisted by Alta Hamill.

The prayer meeting on Thursday evening of this week was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanley on Mill street.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES

ITEMS GATHERED HERE AND THERE THAT WILL BE OF INTEREST TO OUR READERS.

Wayne expects to enjoy a building boom the coming summer. One hundred ten men working for five weeks on Lake Orion, this winter, stored 50,000 tons of ice.

Farmington's handsome new Methodist church was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies, last Sunday.

By a vote of 240 to 3, Redford voted a bond issue of $100,000 to provide that village with Detroit water.

Frank Shafer of Northville, died at his home in that village last week Monday. Mr. Shafer was born in Plymouth.

Conrad Hammond of Novi, and a former Plymouth citizen, is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the office of clerk of that township.

At a recent meeting of the Fowlerville Chamber of Commerce such public questions as paved streets next summer, a new school and a water works system for Fowlerville were discussed.

The Farmington State Savings Bank had the formal opening of their splendid new banking home, last Saturday. The new building is a great credit to the village. Ex-Governor Fred M. Warner is president of the bank.

The following are the nominations on the Republican and Democrat tickets in Superior township. Republican—Supervisor, George Crippen; Clerk, James Court; treasurer, A. L. Wilbur; highway commissioner, Claude Wright; board of review, Carl Lidke; justice of peace, L. W. Crandall; constables, Fred Meyers, Bruce Aiken, Lewis Casey, Leely Wilbur.

Democrat—Supervisor, George Gill; clerk, Ralph Jameson; treasurer, Emory Mulholland; highway commissioner, Charles D. Sweitzer; justice of peace, Robert L. Clark; board of review, John Hickman; constables, Olin Strang, Herman Schmidt, Geo. Quackenbush, Charles Thumm.

Chelsea Board of Commerce are planning to erect a sign near that village acquainting tourists with the distance to Chelsea and its population. The sign is to be double, each 25 feet long by 10 feet high, and the two signs joined at one end and gradually spreading apart to form the two legs of a "V." The cost is estimated at $248, with $100 per year for repainting and upkeep.—Tribune.

PERE MARQUETTE EXTENSIONS

The Pere Marquette railroad has purchased the Messersmith soap factory property of 40 acres, adjoining the 200 acres occupied by the Wyoming yards and shops at Grand Rapids, to provide for future expansions. The company is planning an expenditure of $700,000 this season in additional shop buildings and improvements, and as much more next year, and the leasing of the shops and their operations under contract will make no difference in this program. The new building this season will be a shop for repairing steel cars and a doubling of the capacity of the power plant. The plans now are in the hands of the Arnold Construction Company, and it is expected contracts will be awarded for an early start on the construction.

SUMMER SCHOOL WORK ANNOUNCED AT M. A. C.

RURAL AND CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL TEACHERS TO HAVE SPECIAL COURSES, JUNE 26 TO AUGUST 4.

Special work for teachers of agriculture and instructors in rural and consolidated schools features the announcement of the summer session at the Michigan Agricultural College, to run from June 26 to August 4, this year.

In addition to regular undergraduate courses in all divisions of the state college, adapted material in agriculture, home economics, applied science and engineering is being planned for the special courses. Increasing demand from teachers of the state for work designed to meet their needs for advanced training along special lines has led to a considerable broadening of the curriculum for the summer term.

Vocational education for home economics teachers, who need further work to qualify under the Smith-Hughes legislation, is included in the courses listed for the first time this year.

A model one-room school, with real pupils in attendance, will be maintained during the summer for demonstration work with the class of rural teachers, according to Prof. E. H. Ryder, rector of the M. A. C. summer school.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The special meeting of the Woman's Club held last Friday afternoon was in keeping with the day. Miss Evangeline Foster, accompanied by Mrs. William Wood, sang two Irish folk songs, "Little Colleen" and "Mother Machree." Mrs. Coello Hamilton then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, George A. Walters, of Detroit, deputy police commissioner, whose subject was, "Tragic and Humorous Experiences," and who began by relating a few amusing Irish official experiences. He said the force strove for an understanding with the public and courts and a help-constructive program. Says Detroit is particularly free from corrupt political influence, and the power is centered in a good mayor and prosecutor. This corrupt influence makes crimes fifty per cent higher in New York than in London.

Mr. Walters divided criminals in three divisions: (a) Mentally deficient; (b) Youth (who through idleness are influenced and endangered by hardened offenders), and (c) vicious criminals. For the first, hope lies in future study and use of psychopathology, and for the second he sounded a big warning to the youth of today. Few people stop to think of the police duties or dangers. In Detroit 275 crippled and blind children are conveyed daily to school by the force. In handling traffic lack of men necessitates educational methods, which is a big factor in safety-first. When asked, Mr. Walters said flogging is very debasing, lowering us to the brute plane. Mr. Walters is sincere and his talk guided his listeners to a serious line of thought.

Today's Reflections

A man and his wife often have words, but it's seldom a man gets a chance to use his.

Many a Plymouth man wouldn't mind sitting on a jury in a prohibition case, if they'd pass the evidence around.

Some husbands can't always make their wives happy, but they can furnish them something to laugh at.

Congress took a suspicious look at the taxpayer's pocketbook and said: "We must get at the bottom of this thing."

Plymouth people can always figure on spring being farther away than the end of the coal pile.

What has become of the old-fashioned sewing club that actually sewed?

The wise Plymouth citizen will tell his income tax troubles to his lawmakers instead of his neighbors.

Most people favor a bonus if they'll leave the "us" out of the tax-paying end of it.

We've heard a lot of excuses for not taking the paper, but an exchange caps the climax by declaring that one woman said the reason she read the city papers is because they have more death notices in them than her home paper carries.

They'll keep on cutting prices in the auto world until pretty soon a tire will cost more than a car.

It's pretty hard to convince a bootlegger that honest tea is the best policy.

Some Plymouth women simply won't believe their husbands, even when he says he is going into the cellar to carry out the ashes.

Usually the fellow who tries to escape hard work is the one who grows most about hard times.

Household necessities are coming down in price, but it costs just as much to rent a place to use them.

It would be well for everyone in Plymouth to remember that the very thing they need a friend is when they are as independent as a hog on ice. That's the time when you're most apt to slip.

If you want to feel good from head to foot—cut out the things you know you ought not to do.

Colonies of Ukrainian Jews in Pressing Need of Help.

Colonies of Jewish agriculturists established more than a hundred years ago in the Ukraine face extinction unless immediate relief is received, according to cablegrams received in New York by the joint distribution committee, which disburses in Europe the funds raised in America. Fifty thousand dollars has been appropriated from the American Jewish contributions, but this amount is entirely inadequate to the need. The fate of the colonists rests largely upon the success of the appeal for $14,000,000 now being made by the American Jewish relief committee to aid the Jewish population of eastern Europe, whose condition is no less desperate than that of the Russians in the heart of the famine area, according to reports.

The colonies are in the governments of Kherson and Yekaterinoslav, and comprise 36 villages, with a population of upward of 150,000 people, who own an area of 125,000 acres. These colonies were founded early in the Nineteenth century and have served as agricultural schools for the Jewish population of southern Russia.

During 1918 and 1919 the colonists suffered severely in the pogroms, and in some colonies almost the entire population were killed and their estates plundered.

Agriculturists who have recently visited the colonies report that all of them except two, Nogalova and Rovnoska, have no grain and no hay. Famine is spreading rapidly and many colonists have died.

BIG MIGRATION AMONG NATIONS

Greatest Exodus Since Days of Moses Now Taking Place.

MOSTLY PEOPLE OF WEALTH

French Are Leaving for Italy as English Move into France—Swiss Trek to Baden While Hebrews and Others From Poland Are Looking to America—Switching From One Country to Another in Europe.

"One result of the war is that a bigger exodus is now taking place among the nations than at any time since the days of Moses." This statement, made on his way homeward through Paris by an American, who has until recently been engaged on Y. M. C. A. work in Czechoslovakia, exaggerated as it may sound, expresses only one side of a very large truth.

For in the days of the Jewish exodus, or of the great tribal movements of the first settlement of Europe, when whole nations moved, they included many individuals, but little wealth. Nowadays it is the people with the wealth who are migrating—a very much more serious thing for those who remain behind, says the New York Herald.

Within the last twelve months several thousand French families—estimated run from two to seven—have left their homes to settle in Italy. They are all more or less well to do, in most cases possessing fixed incomes—which in future, while drawing them from France, they will spend in Italy. The reason is no lack of patriotism or love for Italy—it is simply and purely because the French franc is worth two Italian lire and they can live twice as comfortably on the same income.

The majority of them are from the southern departments and they have not moved very far—in some cases only a matter of twenty miles or so—but the frontier is behind them, and although prices are to some small extent higher than on the French side of the boundary they are not enough nearly to counterbalance the difference in exchange.

Many English Arriving

This is only one example out of many similar migrations, which can only be described as worldwide. While the French are leaving France the English are moving into it. In the old days of the mid-Nineteenth century hundreds of English families lived in Calais, Boulogne, or Montreuil. In many cases they were there to escape their creditors at home as in the case for instance of the famous Beau Brummel, or the even more famous Lady Hamilton, Nelson's friend. For the rest there were innumerable half-pay officers and elderly people with fixed, small incomes such as you may read of in the pages of Thackeray or Albert Smith.

This movement has nowadays revived to a vastly greater degree. It is no exaggeration to say that half middle-class England is turning its eyes toward France, where its money will be worth double what it is at home, and where by a little manipulation it is possible to escape the crushing weight of home taxation.

As one typical instance may be mentioned an English ex-officer, member of a minor country family. Before the war he had perhaps £2,000 a year income, or $10,000. Considering taxation and the cost of living, his income in England would now be reduced to about £300 a year, or $1,400. He no longer lives in England, but in Paris. What is more, he has sold his land and his securities in England—getting a high price for the former when the land boom was at its height. His proceeds are invested in Belgium. He escapes English taxes; he has no income in France; he is, if a bad citizen, almost as wealthy as he was before the war, and his money is worth twice its home value.

Seeking Easier Life

So far as England and France are concerned it is not only the well-to-do who are crossing the channel. Millions of young men and tens of thousands of young women learned during the war as soldiers, W. A. C.'s or W. R. A. F.'s that life can be very pleasant in France when there is not a war on. Now that unemployment has reached such desperate lengths in England they are turning their steps toward France.

Paris is full of young Englishwomen of the clerk and stenographer class, seeking employment in some English or American firm established there. So overstocked is the market that warnings have been officially issued to dissuade them—but they are coming still, by the hundreds and the British consulate is kept busy with their woes. So, if you travel anywhere in France, especially in the North, you will find that it is peppered with young Englishmen, mechanics and the like.

Many of them married French girls during the war and came back as soon as they were demobilized; others have come over in the search of work they cannot find at home and have stayed on. In many cases the plunge has justified itself; there is little unemployment in France and although wages are low, compared to the English trades union standards, they compare more favorably when the difference in exchange is considered.

The case of Switzerland presents yet another aspect of the international exodus. Swiss money is worth a lot just at present—with the inevitable result of commercial crises, lack of foreign trade and unemployment. One curious incidental result may be noticed en passant. The out-of-work Switzer receives a small unemployment grant—averaging something under fifty Swiss francs a week. It is paid him every fortnight. If he remained at home, looking for the work that is not there, he would come near to starving.

Swiss Going to Baden

But he does not stay at home. He slips across the frontier into Baden, where his unemployment dole is worth some 3,000 marks and prices are low and lives comparatively on the fat of the land. Many of them are even venturing as far as Vienna, where on some 25,000 crowns a week he can afford to rub shoulders with millionaires. His life in Vienna is however handicapped by the fact that the railroad fare is considerable, which, as the Swiss authorities insist that application for the 'dole' must be made fortnightly, takes some of the gilt off the gingerbread.

Very much more serious from the national point of view is that many manufacturers, finding that the home rate of exchange, of costs and of wages are rendering it impossible for them to do any export business, are moving their whole enterprises across the frontier, some into France, the majority into Germany. They have already bought large tracts of land in the Grand Duchy of Baden and erected factories, where, through the abundance of cheap labor and the comparatively enormous reduction of overhead, they are doing far better than was ever the case in Switzerland. Especially is this movement evident in the watch trade, for which Switzerland has long been the European headquarters, and it is causing grave concern to the Swiss authorities.

Middle Classes Make Up Bulk

Broadly speaking, however, the exodus is most evident in the middle classes, retired professionals, annuitants and those with small fixed incomes. And it runs round the whole European circle, recalling the doggerel verse about the small fleas that had smaller fleas to bite 'em and so on ad infinitum. For while your small British or Swiss annuitant looks longingly to France, so does the Frenchman to Italy and the Italian to Germany and the Rumanian to Rumania, where at least the limit is reached and the unfortunate native can find no country which confesses to a currency so depreciated as his own.

But even there the movement is not completed. For as every one who has recently travelled through those most depressed parts of central Europe can testify, the Pole and the Austrian and the Gallician and the Hebrews of all these countries are also on the move—or longing to be and all their yearning is in the same direction—toward America. Were it not for the fortunate fact that their money is worth practically nothing, even when they have any, that railroad and steamer transportation cannot be purchased without money and finally that the United States authorities are at last awake to the danger, there is no doubt at all that within a few years the whole of central Europe would have decanted itself into the Land of Promise and left an empty half continent behind them.

Even despite such difficulties many of them are already on their way, though few may ever arrive. There was at least one agency in Budapest, until it was raided by the police, that was making vast profits out of these would-be emigrants. Not only did it actually swindle them in the way of selling them forged passports, medical certificates and permits to leave the country, but it had evolved a scheme, which may or may not have been based upon some actual understanding, of shipping them, not to the United States at all, but to Central America and particularly Mexico and thence smuggling them across the long land frontier, very much as "hooch" and Chinamen have already been taken.

Many Off to Mexico

Whether or no, it is a fact that within the past few months it was perfectly possible to make arrangements in the Mexican city of Monterey by which you could be smuggled across the frontier for as little as 3 pesos Mex. How far an elaboration of the system to the needs of European immigrants can be devised—it was intended primarily for Mexican labor wishing to enter California—is an open question which may be left to the immigration authorities.

To complete the great circle of emigration it were only necessary that the American, driven out before the Pole, whose place is taken by the Rumanian, followed by the Czech, the German, the Frenchman, the Switzer and the Englishman, should head the great procession and in his turn emigrate to a vacated Europe. And indeed already you hear that the number of wealthy Americans resident in England and France is larger than it was in prewar days and is still growing, though whether it be due, as the pessimist has it, to a dislike for prohibition or to other causes—who can say?

Trial Marriages Make Indians Immoral

Trial marriages and easy divorce among the Canadian Indians have resulted in serious immorality, according to a statement by the committee on Canadian affairs, with headquarters at Winnipeg, Canada. Law permitting the free and easy marriages and divorces should be annulled, the committee recommends.

As He Saw It

He was the underpaid minister of a church whose members were wealthy but very thrifty farmers. He tried to get them to raise his salary as the cost of living increased, but failed. And the next Sunday following that board meeting he preached on fulfilling the Scriptures. He congratulated his congregation on the way they had carried out several injunctions of the Bible and finally he spoke of some not so necessary to follow.

"And now I will end with the verse which speaks of myself," he said courageously, and proceeded to read the one beginning, "The poor, ye shall always have with you."—Indianapolis News.

You can have a real NEW EDISON

The above headline is simply a way of saying: To want a New Edison is to get it.

We'll see that you get it. Simply do as hundreds of others have done. Come in today, this week—and tell us what you can afford to lay out for a phonograph right now.

So long as the amount is large enough to indicate good faith, it's large enough for us. Your New Edison will be delivered.

The balance can come out of your monthly pay envelopes, in any amount you wish.

Thus, you'll become the proud possessor of the phonograph which cost Mr. Edison $3,000,000 to perfect, the phonograph which is FIRST with the hits, the phonograph which has proved that there is no difference between its RE-CREATIONS of music and the living music—the only phonograph that has sustained the test of direct comparison with the living artist. Your home will be one of music's inner circle, and your family will develop in an atmosphere of true music culture.

Why wait any longer? Come in—and "fill in your own first payment."
