PLYMOUTH DEBATERS LOSE TO DURAND

The Plymouth High school debating team met their first defeat of the season, Monday evening, in the High school auditorium, when the Durand High school debaters were awarded a two to one decision in the support of the negative side of the question, "Resolved, That the principle of the closed shop in American industry should receive the support of public opinion." The local team presented their arguments for the closed shop in a very praiseworthy manner, not to be discounted by the fact that they failed to receive all of the judges' decisions. The entire debate was a very creditable showing of what the Michigan State Debating League is doing for young debaters.

Although this defeat means that Plymouth is eliminated from the contest for the state championship this year, they have a season's record that compares very favorably with that of any school in the league. Each member of the team, Eva Griffith, Etha Wiseley and Kenneth Bartlett, merits personal congratulations for having so admirably represented Plymouth High school throughout the season.

O. E. S. INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

A delicious six-thirty dinner preceded the installation of officers of the Order of the Eastern Star, held in Masonic hall, last Tuesday evening. About one hundred and fifty members of the order were present, several neighboring chapters being represented.

At eight o'clock the gavel was sounded by Past Patron George A. Smith, who invited the installing officers to take their stations. Past Matron Maude Schrader acted as installing officer, and the retiring matron, Flora Rathburn as marshal. The work was rendered in a very pleasing and impressive manner, and during the ceremony two vocal selections were sweetly sung by Mrs. William Bake and Mrs. J. T. Chapman, with Miss Hall at the piano. At the conclusion of the work, the newly installed matron, Mrs. Ciella Smith, thanked the chapter for the honor conferred upon her, and expressed her desire to maintain the high standard of the order; then in pleasing words presented the installing officers with small gifts, a mark of appreciation from Plymouth chapter. The acceptance of these gifts was made in very fitting words by both Mrs. Schrader and Mrs. Rathburn. In conclusion, the patron reminded the newly installed officers of their responsibilities, and urged them to be ever faithful to the trust imposed upon them.

Potted palms, ferns and Easter lilies made the lodge room attractive, and following is the list of officers installed:

- Worthy Matron—Ciella Smith.
- Worthy Patron—Chauncey H. Rauch.
- Associate Matron—Lyla Chambers.
- Secretary—Mary Brown.
- Treasurer—Clara Taylor.
- Conductress—Janette Holcomb.
- Associate Conductress—Ruby Williams.
- Chaplain—Margaret Rauch.
- Marshal—Rose Hawthorne.
- Organist—Madeleine Wood.
- Adah—Irene Hartung.
- Ruth—Ruth Rotnour.
- Eather—Edna Allen.
- Martha—Florence Furman.
- Electa—Myrtle Brown.
- Warder—Jessie Riggs.
- Sentinel—Melburn G. Hill.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

On Thursday, May 4th, the junior class of Plymouth High school will present James Montgomery's comedy, "Nothing but the Truth." Be sure to see Olivia Williams as Bob, the modern George Washington, who bets for the sake of Carol Pierce as Gwen, his fiancée, that he can tell the truth for twenty-four hours. Martin Strasen as the Bishop, and Max Trux as the shrewd Van Dusen, will appeal to your humor. Perry Richwine as E. M. Ralton makes an ideal Wall street business man—but ask Marion Kiely, alias Mrs. Ralston, what kind of a husband he makes. Gladys Schrader, as Ethel, a pampered child of wealth, and Dick Downelly, otherwise Daniel Murphy, play interesting roles. Mabel and Sabel—come and see Dorothy Hinnau and Dorothy McClumpha as the vaudeville vampires.

The Parliamentary Drill Club held their fourth meeting at the home of Mrs. Dwight Randall, Monday afternoon. Next Monday afternoon the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Schrader on Main street, at 2:15 o'clock.

A SPLENDID SERVICE

Rev. Joyce Halliday gave an interesting and earnest talk to those who assembled to hear him in the Penniman Ahen theatre, last Sunday afternoon. Taking his text from Paul's Epistle to the Romans, the twelfth chapter and tenth verse, "Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love: In honor preferring one another." Mr. Halliday is a magnetic speaker, holding the attention of his hearers throughout his entire discourse, and he interprets the bible in a practical way, which reaches the minds and hearts of all, and can be applied to the lives of each and every one.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Maxwell Moon and a duet by Mrs. Moon and Mrs. William Bake, with Miss Evelyn Thomas accompanying on the piano, added to the impressiveness of the service, Sunday.

At the conclusion of the services, Rev. Halliday, greatly to the disappointment of his hearers, announced that the meetings would be discontinued in the opera house during the summer, but as Mr. Halliday came here only to address the business men on Good Friday, and met with such universal favor that he was prevailed upon to speak on Easter Sunday, and again the following Sunday, he felt that it was not wise to commence permanent services here at this time of the year, when we are nearing the summer vacation. However, in the fall, it is expected that the services will be resumed, and that arrangements will be made whereby Mr. Halliday will be able to speak regularly.

PLYMOUTH WILL OBSERVE CLEAN-UP WEEK

In accordance with the recommendation of the State Board of Health, that a clean-up week be observed throughout the state, the village manager has designated the week beginning Monday, May 1st, as the time for a general clean-up of the winter's accumulation of rubbish, etc., in Plymouth. The latter part of the week the village will co-operate as in former years, by furnishing teams to draw away rubbish placed in receptacles at the street curb. Everybody is urged to collect all unburnable rubbish, and place the same in boxes, barrels, etc., at the curb. Don't forget the time, the week of May 1st.

WOMAN'S CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

About fifty members attended the annual meeting of the Woman's Club held in the kindergarten room at the school building, last Friday afternoon, April 21st. The president, Mrs. Daniel F. Murray, called the meeting to order at 2:30 o'clock, and the regular order of business followed. Two new names were received into membership, making the active membership, seventy-five, and the associate membership forty.

After the annual reports of officers and committees, the election resulted as follows:

- President—Mrs. George H. Robinson.
 - First Vice President—Mrs. Coello Hamilton.
 - Second Vice President—Mrs. Roderrick Cassidy.
 - Recording Secretary—Mrs. Floyd Hillman.
 - Corresponding Secretary—Miss Evangeline Foster.
 - Treasurer—Mrs. William Bake.
 - Directors—Mrs. Daniel Murray, Mrs. Winn Hubbell and Mrs. Fred D. Schrader.
- The place and date of the club picnic has not yet been arranged, but notice will be given later.

THE HOME LOVING INSTINCT

The desire to own a home is one of the most natural instincts of every man, and no matter if he has spent his entire life in a rented house, he knows that the rented house can never become a real home in the highest, truest sense. No family can ever acquire that deep-seated regard and affection for a rented house that is naturally developed toward a home which they own. What incentive is there for a man to preserve or adorn or embellish a rented house, when he knows that any day his landlord may order him to vacate?

But when the place which shelters him and his loved ones is their very own, when no one has the right to raise his rent or order him to move out, then the place, however lowly or humble it may be, is indeed a home. Then every member of the family becomes inspired with love for the place in which they live; they become interested in its adornment and beautifying; every tree and flower and shrub which they add to the place, every new day they live there, adds to the tender, loving associations, entwined about it, until home becomes one of the sweetest words in human speech.

The season of home-building is here. Conditions have shifted around to the point where it is again possible for a man to erect a house without the chance of losing heavily on the investment. So, to the Plymouth citizen who has for the past several years postponed the erection of a new home on account of the condition of the lumber and labor market, we can truly express the belief that now, right now, is the time he has been waiting for—the time to start work on a home of his own—the time to liberate himself from the clutches of a landlord.

BIRD REFUGES

There is a necessity for preserving bird life in the agricultural districts of this country. The Department of Agriculture at Washington declares that the destruction of damaging insects by this wild bird life in the United States saves farmers not less than $400,000,000 annually. For that reason the department is encouraging refuges for birds on the farms of this country. It is said that hardly any agricultural pest escapes the sharp wings and beaks of wild bird life in our rural communities. Many people shoot to kill the birds without considering the fact that they are thereby lessening the number of insect-destroyers, and thus lessening our grain crops. It would be a real little campaign of education in our schools, where the men of tomorrow are growing up, would be valuable in the years to come, while the men who are already grown up should remember the monetary

PLYMOUTH LOSES OPENING GAME

SCHOOL CARNIVAL GREAT SUCCESS

The annual High school carnival of last Friday night, was a decided success from every point of view. Every grade in the school had been enlisted, and each responded with a royal good will. Special credit is due the musical shows. The boys' minstrels, with Gladys Schrader as accompanist, and with the double duty of entertainer when Mr. Holcomb's voice failed him, pleased every audience. Max Trux, Martin Strasen, Olivias Williams, Alton Sayles, Philip Millard and Perry Richwine showed that they had learned the tricks of the trade of merry minstrelsy. The girls, under the leadership of Miss Hall, put on a most charming skit. James Hickey, as leading man, was surely effective; he seemed "to the manner born," as it were. The whole act was colorful and thoroughly enjoyable. The girls were Dorothy Hinnau, Mena Bolton, Doris Coleman, Alice Leslie, Marguerite Hamilton, Fannie Grainger, Robia Fisher and Wilma Briggs.

The various booths all did a rushing business. The Athletic association wishes to thank those responsible for the movie show for their help, and all who contributed to the success of the evening.

MEMBERS OF P. H. S. ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the Alumni association is drawing near, and the phone system is badly damaged. Many requests show that a six o'clock dinner is favored. Many members are unaware that orders for the Plythean should be in now. So many have delayed that the editors are alarmed and ask immediate help. The committee on the directory, who have worked so hard, assure us it will be 99 per cent perfect. We have bits of news, such as marriages, deaths and successes, but there are others who do know of honors gained by members, and have not reported them. Please do it today, and make our column as attractive as the portraits of the seniors. Also we need to feel that the Plythean really belongs to us, too, so we must gladly boast. Now is a good time to write to your old classmates, and urge them to come home to dinner, June 23rd. Any suggestions to make our reunion as fine as last year, will be gladly received. All members are requested to meet in Miss McClumpha's room, Monday afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock. Luella M. Chappell, Pres. Rose Hillmer, Vice Pres. Russell VanGilder, Sec'y.

PLYMOUTH LOSES OPENING GAME

The Plymouth High school base ball team opened their season, Monday, April 24th, on the home field, with Wayne as their opponents. The day was a great one for a game, and a good cheering crowd was present. The two teams were fairly matched, but errors for the Plymouth team in the third inning resulted in five runs for Wayne, but the "Rocks" tightened down so that only two more runs could be gained by the Michigan avenue boys during the remainder of the game. Stevens pitched the first six innings, and was succeeded by Trimble, who allowed only one run. Smith started on the mound for Wayne, but was succeeded by Weberline in the middle of the second inning. Trimble is a new player this year, but with a little training should be a great help to the Rocks.

The score by innings was:
Plymouth 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 2-5
Wayne 1 0 5 0 0 0 1 1-8

The line-up was as follows:
Trimble—3rd
Holcomb—2nd
Sayles—1st
Strasen—C.
Stevens—P.
Hickey—S. S.
Sutherland—L. F.
Pankow—C. F.
Birch—R. F.
Substitutions—Trimble for Stevens, Stevens for Trimble, Huston for Pankow.

The locals play Redford here today. The Rocks want your support on the field.

TROLLEY BOWLING LEAGUE ENJOY BANQUET

The Trolley Bowling League members held a banquet at the Plymouth Hotel, last week Thursday evening, as the concluding event of the season's activities of the league. Forty-two members of the league sat down to a sumptuous dinner served in fine style by Landlord and Mrs. H. R. Thornberry.

After the eats there were a few impromptu speeches, and the old officers of the league were re-elected for the ensuing year.

The winners in the league for the season just closed were as follows: Redford Reds, 1st; Farmington Trolley Liners, 2nd; Plymouth Rocks, 3rd; Jim's Bears, Northville, 4th; Lapham's Five, Farmington, 5th; Indian Games, Plymouth, 6th; Huckleberry Finns, Northville, 7th.

GRANGE NOTES

The Lily Club was very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rodman, Tuesday evening, April 25th. Progressive pedro was the entertainment of the evening. The first prizes were carried off by William Grammel and Mrs. Abbie Fell, and the booby prizes by Arthur Blank and Mrs. Ben Tylet. Refreshments were served, and departed for home at a late hour, with the feeling that Mr. and Mrs. Rodman are royal entertainers. Eight new members were added to our club.

The play, entitled, "Aaron Slick from Punkin Creek," which was given at Salem by Plymouth Grangers a few weeks ago, will be repeated by request, at Salem, Thursday evening, May 4th.

Don't forget the Grange dance given by the Lily Club, at the Grange hall, Saturday evening, April 29th. Come and have a good time.

Last Saturday evening was a banner meeting in the Grange organization, when forty-seven new members were initiated in the third and fourth degrees of the order, and after the initiatory work, a delicious supper was served to 140 members, after which the new members gave a "yell" for the Grange.

By a vote of the Grange the meetings have been changed for the summer months from the first Thursday in the month to the Friday night after the first Thursday in the month, and will continue through the summer.

Due to heavy losses and expenses and reduced premium income, nearly all Mutual Insurance Companies are under considerable strain at this time. OBSERVE BIRTH OF GEN. GRANT Memorial to Be Unveiled in Capital to Great Leader.

CANNON TALKS OF WAR HERO

Centennial Celebration of Birth of Gen. U. S. Grant Leads "Uncle Joe" to Tell of Personal Recollections of "Silent Soldier"—Had No Sense of the Dramatic, No Enthusiasm or Passion, and No Hysterical Development of Any Kind.

The hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Grant will be celebrated on April 27. The recognition this event will get in Washington will be the unveiling of a memorial at the foot of the capitol on the west side, work on which was commenced years ago.

To the great majority of Americans Grant is merely what they have learned and read of him from the printed page. The men alive today who knew Grant when he was at the forefront of those making American history are few. Prominent among this dwindling number is "Uncle Joe" Cannon, oldest member of the house of representatives in years and in point of service. Mr. Cannon's first-hand recollections of General Grant are as fresh as if he had parted from the famous soldier but a week ago.

Grant forced recognition of his ability as a military genius, according to Mr. Cannon. There was nothing flashy, nothing dramatic in General Grant. It is a deplorable fact, but true, that brother officers in the Union armies did their utmost to give credit for victories and military feats to others, often to themselves, when success actually was due to the ability and brains of Grant.

"In April, 1861, this man presided at a union meeting in a small Illinois town, unknown even to a majority of his neighbors," Mr. Cannon points out. "In April, 1863, he presided at that famous union meeting at Appomattox, when armed resistance to the union ended. He had not come to this success and distinction through political favoritism or favorable publicity, unless we accept General Bragg's epigram on Grover Cleveland, 'We love him for the enemies he has made.'"

What Mr. Cannon calls the "political generals" and the "literary generals" all opposed Grant, and envied him. But in spite of their criticism and abuse he compelled recognition of his military ability until Lincoln, before he had ever seen Grant, made the recently unknown soldier commander of all the northern forces.

Grant Had No Enthusiasms. "General Grant was a perfectly normal man," says the Illinois political veteran. "He had neither enthusiasm nor passion, and no hysterical development of any kind. He had no sense of the dramatic and failed to do those things which instantly appeal to the public eye. He was so calm under all circumstances that he seems to have communicated some of his unexcitable nature to those about him, even to the horse he rode. Who ever heard of Grant on a prancing, rearing war horse? Why, even the artists who are ever looking for the dramatic and picturesque have always pictured Grant sitting quietly on a horse standing on four feet, as quietly as though just unhitched from the plow."

Mr. Cannon recalled that at Vicksburg General Grant sent Logan to take formal possession of the city when Pemberton surrendered. On the historical occasion at Appomattox General Grant refused to appear otherwise than he usually did and wore his ordinary service uniform. Grant saw no dramatic climax in this occasion. As soon as it was over he hurried back to Washington to arrange for disbanding the armies under his command, and sending the soldiers to their homes.

"This same indifference to dramatic demonstrations and situations followed him through life," Mr. Cannon recalls. "I recollect in reading in the papers of his trip around the world, how he met the crowned heads, statesmen, and plain people with the same simple manner. He surprised the Germans by walking from his hotel to the palace to call on Prince Bismarck, and the prince, we are told, met him at the door, instead of waiting to receive him in state. He met the queen of England, the czar of Russia, the emperor of Japan, and the king of Siam in the same way, conforming to the etiquette of the courts, but for himself never dropping the role of the plain American gentleman. He might have appeared in the courts of Europe and Asia wearing the four stars of a general, worn rightly by no man from Washington's time to his day, but he refused to appear in the uniform which gave him greatest distinction in the eyes of the world."

Target of Many Critics. Hordes of critics leveled their shafts at Grant from the time of his advent on the national stage until his death on Mount McGregor, Mr. Cannon says. These critics could see nothing good in Grant—no military ability, no patriotic devotion, no moral courage in the soldier while his battles were in progress, but was forced to join in the praise heaped on him when his victories were won.

General Grant refused to have the surrender of Appomattox commemorated in a historic painting representing him as receiving the sword of Lee, as General Gates is represented in the surrender of Burgoyne at Saratoga, in the monster painting which hangs in the rotunda of the national capitol. Mr. Cannon is authority for the statement that Grant never touched Lee's sword.

"You are aware," says Mr. Cannon, "that the federal government has never commemorated in monument or picture the fall of the confederacy. It never will. It has provided for the preservation of the most historic battlefields and there mingle the monuments to the heroism of both armies." Mr. Cannon believes that there is profound wisdom in the policy of not making monuments to the end of the war between the states.

Fruits of Federal Policy. "This policy has obliterated the scars of war more completely than any other policy could have done," Mr. Cannon believes, "for it has spread the industries once confined to New England to the south and west, and although New England has multiplied her industries many, many times, she has now but a minor percentage of the great industrial output of this country."

The criticism and opposition to Grant came to a head when the liberal Republican party was organized with Horace Greeley, the famous New York editor, trying to disrupt the party of Lincoln and unseat Grant. The Democratic convention of 1872 was persuaded virtually to hide the identity of the party and swallow hook, line and sinker the platform of the new organization with Greeley at its head. The Democratic party officially was practically on record as supporting a radical protectionist—for Horace Greeley was that—in order to down General Grant. The platform of this curious coalition contained such terms as "treachery" and "usurpation" in describing the actions of General Grant. Mr. Cannon says that nearly every newspaper of any size and influence in the country was behind Greeley and against Grant. The trouble with the coalition, according to the veteran of scores of political battles, was that the Republican bolters, the Democrats, and others opposed to Grant had little of a constructive nature on which any of them agreed, being united principally in their dislikes and antipathies. The fight resulted in Grant's election by the largest popular vote ever given a presidential candidate up to that time.

FEAR OF TYPHUS BY MAIL

Post Office Official Scouts Danger Through Letters From Russia. Superintendent of Foreign Mails Sands of the Post Office department said that the department entertained no fear that mail matter from Russia would spread typhus to the United States.

He made the statement in connection with recent reports that postal employees at Riga had expressed fears that mail leaving certain portions of Russia might possibly contain typhus germs, with consequent danger to postal recipients in other countries. If such danger existed, said Mr. Sands, the public health authorities in New York would take necessary precautionary measures.

Some years ago, when yellow fever was prevalent in South America, the Post Office department inaugurated a plan of punching holes in letters received from those countries and spraying contents, where possible, with an acid mixture. Mr. Sands explained this plan was said to have resulted in destruction of checks and other valuable correspondence, and was discontinued after a brief trial. There was little danger of infection even then, he added, although precautionary steps were thought necessary to allay fear.

So far as typhus germs being imported into this country was concerned, he said, the public should not be alarmed by reports reaching this country from abroad.

FIND ANCIENT CABIN SITE

Spot Where One of the First Houses in Jackson, Mich., Was Built.

The spot where the second building erected in Jackson, Mich., stood recently was laid bare when a large department store on West Main street was remodeled.

The city's two first log cabins were built by Horace Blackman in 1829 and 1830. The first of these was located on what is now Trail street, on the west side of Grand river. The building was an airy winter home without doors or windows; the logs were green and frozen, unchinked and unsmudged. It had no chimney and no fireplace.

It was occupied by the builder until the following spring, when a more pretentious structure was erected on the Main street location. For several years this log cabin was known as the Hascom hotel, and was the only tavern in the village. Trail street, where the first cabin stood, was so named because it was an Indian trail.

THRIFTY FARM BOY

Pets He Keeps Earn Money for Him in Various Ways.

With prize money earned at calf and chicken exhibits and on the sale of cockerels, Bernard Allan of Tomahawk, Wis., member of poultry and calf clubs, paid for oats and hay for his purebred Holstein calf throughout last winter and until pasturing time, May 1, and with money since earned he is going to try to pay part of his calf note, as well as feed for his poultry.

The boy is attached to his Barred Rock birds.

"They make good sitting hens and good mothers, which helps a lot in the busy summer months when you can put five or six chicks and chickens together," he said. "Best of all, they are good winter layers when eggs are high-priced. My hens haven't stopped laying even in moulting time. They always lay enough to pay for their feed and leave a good margin."

Breaks Her Rib Laughing.

Mrs. John Miner of Fostoria, O., laughed for two minutes at a funny story. While doing so she felt a peculiar pain in her right side. The pain increased and a doctor was called, who found that she had broken a rib from the exertion of laughing.

She explained the need of missionary work, and spoke about the funds and of the efforts to raise a sufficient sum to build the needed buildings at Kalamazoo and Hillsdale colleges. Both have a splendid prospect, and will begin this present year to enlarge and build new buildings. Both schools are overcrowded.

HEALTH SERVICE BATTLES VICE SCIENCE OUSTS SENTIMENT

Little Known Government Bureau Saves Many Millions.

Social Hygiene Board is Interdepartmental Body Which Has Become New and Powerful Force Now at Work Throughout the Nation—Bad Social Conditions, According to Physicians, Are Responsible for 1,500,000 Cases of Diseases Every Year.

When a new chief of police was appointed recently in Washington the announcement went forth that gamblers, bookmakers, drug peddlers and other forms of underworld entertainers had better seek fresh fields for their game. Those forms of vice which exist in every city which has no strong civic consciousness were running wild in Washington. They were run very quietly, but the door was always open.

With the announcement that the new chief of police would start a determined effort to clean up the capital city, a little known bureau of government stepped forward with a long list of places on which evidence had been obtained. Vice was rampant on the very doorsteps of the capital building itself, the report showed. A congressional investigation is under way to verify this report and find why this condition exists in defiance of the law.

The quiet government bureau which had collected these facts goes by the name of the United States interdepartmental social hygiene board. The "interdepartmental" comes from the fact that the secretaries of war, the navy and the treasury are on the board, as are the surgeon general of the army, navy and public health service. The active head of the board is a woman, Dr. Valeria H. Parker, who has had wide experience in social work. Before accepting the position as Uncle Sam's watcher over the young men in the nation's armed forces, Dr. Parker was chairman of the social hygiene committee of the National League of Women Voters and a member of the section of delinquency of the National Conference of Social Work.

The government war on vice is organized through this bureau. The board is definitely charged with the duty of protecting the health of the men in uniform while they are in civilian communities. So well has the work been done that in one year it is estimated that over $1,000,000 was saved the government. This amount would have been spent in the hospitalization of infected men, had not the number of infections been greatly reduced. The cost of the work has been about $225,000. It is a paying proposition.

Science Supplants Sentimentality. The government's war on vice represents a new and powerful force at work throughout the nation today. Science, substituted for sentiment is giving the world a new sense of public safety.

The scientific side of reforms and reformers is the view taken by the interdepartmental social hygiene board. Interested in the health of the nation, the scientific side of health and disease is being preached at every opportunity through public health meetings in every state, attended by medical men, public health officers and representatives of societies interested in the question. The moral side of the question is being left to the churches, as falling properly within their province.

The medical approach to the subject by the hygiene board is short and direct. "Science has proved that no way has been found to make vice safe. Therefore the only safe thing to do is to attack vice. This plan has a proven record and is an excellent example of the 'cheaper to prevent than cure' policy of modern medical practice."

Just how heavy the vice toll has been was gathered from the records of the public health service, which is working at the problem as it affects civilians, while the social hygiene board handles the military end of the matter. Physicians of the service estimate that about 1,500,000 cases of diseases due solely to bad social conditions occur each year.

From the medical standpoint this means great danger of passing on to the next generation a virulent bacillus of infectious in its effect that few children live under the handspan and those who do are sickly and weak. From the national standpoint there is the danger of losing effective citizens.

Vice Cost Is Big. The social hygiene board places the cash cost of this social folly merely among the soldiers in the army during the war period at $22,000,000. In 1918 the cost in the army was placed at $15,000,000. The cost was cut in 1920 to about $5,500,000. It is about one-third less this last year, due to the more effective preventive work, previously mentioned.

In civilian circles medical records are harder to obtain. The accurate type of record kept by the army and navy is not available for civilian affairs. But the draft records show that in civilian life at least $54,000,000 a year is the wage loss alone, due to these social diseases. This is simply the amount lost due to the inability of people so afflicted to perform any useful work. The figure is based on a daily wage of only $4 and is probably low, as disease plays no favorites, but hits all classes of society, rich and poor alike.

The American Social Hygiene society which has long conducted a war against this plague estimates that the complete cost of these ills, largely preventable, is $188,000,000 in one state, Illinois, alone. Ohio's cost is placed by authorities at about $100,000,000. These figures include items such as doctor's fees, lost wages, expensive drugs needed for the cure, which are not met by the individual, then partial costs for maintaining hospitals for the insane and the blind, the cost of treating women who become infected through marriage and are forced to undergo complicated operations, much of which is met by the taxpayer, for such of this work is done at public expense, for the general protection of all.

The old idea that segregated districts tended toward safety in vice has been exploded. It is claimed, as the disease rate among troops in America was about one-third that of troops in foreign countries, where the open districts were in operation.

Vice cannot be abolished by laws, the board holds. Education along the proper lines of sex is essential. The subject which has been hidden under a blanket of assumed innocence must be exposed to the light of understanding. The cure will be brought about that way.

Dr. Parker declared that boys are naturally just as clean-minded as girls. Yet boys, she holds, do not receive in the average home the same instruction on physical questions which come to the girls. The result is that the girls are more clean-minded at the critical age. But she also added that the whole subject does not receive the attention it needs as a primary one in life. The home, the church, the schools, all side-step, she declared, and when sex becomes part of a boy's life he has had little instruction and is generally allowed to drift along as best he can, exposed to the bad influence, too often, of commercialized vice.

Predicts Tighter Laws. The laws in the United States, Dr. Parker believes, as they relate to this question, will become more stringent as time goes on. The United States is leading among the nations in taking action on this question. Regarding the enforcement of prohibition, it was thought that the question would gradually work itself out, when more people had paid the price of blindness by death from bootleg poison. But by stringent laws, it is not meant that the movies would be darkened or that grandpa's pipe would be taken away. The entrance of women into politics probably will lead to more effective laws and heavier penalties for vice operators.

The work of the board throughout the nation is carried on through nine district offices, each a field representative. These in turn are aided by field agents, located in cities near the army and navy posts. The field agents keep in touch with the medical officers of the armed forces and receive weekly reports as to how much or how little commercialized vice in each locality is undermining the health of the men. Closing the red light district in one city resulted in cutting the disease rate from 199 to 27, which is cited as a "health example in disease prevention."

The field agents keep in touch with the municipal, county and state health officials, police officers and other organizations. Thus, very accurate figures are obtainable on the commercialized vice question. The board's figures are also good indicators of the conditions which exist among the civilian population. Through these field officers the board is quickly able to place its hands on the vice situation in any part of the country. The results have been that seventy-seven districts have been closed, and that hundreds of cities have staged "clean-ups" which will have an important effect on the future generations of Americans.

BURIED IN POTATOES

Wayfarer's Head Was Only Part Visible When Car Was Opened. Having to do with nothing around him but food, a wayfarer who gave his name as John Smith of Virginia was found buried up to his neck in potatoes when the door of a freight car was opened by the employee of a fruit dealing company at Snubury, Pa., one day recently.

The man's arms were pinioned by the tubers and he could not move his head. Shifting of the load by the jolting of the car was the cause of his predicament, Smith said, and he asserted he had been helpless for three days.

He was ravenous, but had no chance of even biting into a potato, so tightly was his head pinioned. The car came from Avoca, N. Y.

Today's Reflections

The strawberry and ice cream season is here again, but the old man of Ham & Eggs is still doing the biggest business.

Many a Plymouth man has discovered that a little money is a dangerous thing—at an auction sale.

After reading the daily papers one concludes that if some men had all the brains they think they have their legs wouldn't sustain their weight.

Why is it that an ordinarily level-headed man can't resist making silly speeches when a good-looking girl comes his way.

More than one Plymouth girl would be perfectly willing to learn to sew if it wasn't so useful.

A lot of fellows haven't been able to find out why the assessor expects to list their automobile as an asset.

We are strong for this new radio fad, though fearful that they will get it down to such a fine point our creditors can dun us by wireless.

We sometimes wonder if there is one man in all Plymouth who can hold up his hand and swear that he ever got results from knocking the weather.

Every time they declare a truce in Ireland it seems to stir up another revolution.

Our idea of the stingiest man in Plymouth is the one who knows how to make something worth while out of dandelions and won't give his neighbor the recipe.

Another Plymouth citizen we dislike to run into is the one who is always predicting the worst and who is disappointed if it doesn't happen.

A GRATEFUL WOMAN'S STORY

Mrs. Robert Blair, 461 S. 20th St., Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "I suffered two years with kidney and bladder trouble. After taking Foley Kidney Pills a few short weeks I found my trouble gradually disappearing. The backaches stopped and I am also free from those tired spells and headaches, and my vision is no longer blurred." Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys keep the blood clean and eliminate the impurities that cause backache, rheumatic pains, nerve, stiff and swollen joints and muscles.

CALIFORNIA CONDORS MAY NOT BE EXTINCT

Birds of That Species Have Been Seen, Although They Were Supposed to Be Gone.

The belief that the west coast of California condor, North America's largest bird, is practically extinct, must be revised, for several recent news stories from towns at the mouth of the Columbia river report two pairs of the big birds are frequently seen on the rocky bluffs there. They are evidently preparing to nest later on.

The condors noticed soaring above the extensive stretch of bluffs and sandbars are very large, with a wing spread of eight or nine feet. They are as black as the traditional German eagle.

Since the West was settled the condor has gradually decreased. The chief cause occurred when stock raising became common, and pasture lands being scarce, the herds were moved into the mountainous regions. Here coyotes, panthers and bears preyed upon the calves and lambs. To rid the herds of the pests, dead animals were poisoned. The condors came to feed, and numbers were killed this way each year.

The bird is very irregular in nest-laying and produces but one egg, which does not always hatch.

The condor is not an enemy to agriculturists, because its feet are like those of a chicken and not made to grasp and carry prey. They live upon what other creatures kill and leave.

DESCENDANT OF FRANKLIN SEEKS SEAT IN CONGRESS

Benjamin Franklin's great-granddaughter aspires to a seat in congress. Mrs. Ellen Duane Davis has announced her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress as representative of the Second Pennsylvania district, which is now represented by George S. Graham.

Mrs. Davis, who is chairman of the Women's Democratic Organization of the Eighth Ward in Philadelphia, said that she had intended to run for United States senator, but her husband persuaded her that the statewide campaigning would be too arduous.

GIVE FOOD TO SINGERS

Odessa Opera Patrons Choose Useful Gifts Instead of Flowers.

Presents of wood, bread or meat are more welcome than flowers to Odessa's grand opera singers. Among the gifts to the orchestra conductor of the famous playhouse, at a recent benefit in honor of his 25 years' service, was 25 pounds of firewood. The singers receive salaries, the best of which, 1,500,000 rubles monthly, will pay for only a pound and a half of bread a day.

Many of the best singers have left, but there are still 35 principals, with a chorus and ballet. Several performances a week are given. Many of the seats are free, and a box for six persons costs only the equivalent of 25 cents.

Mme. Marie de Ribas, coloratura soprano, has contracted tuberculosis, but frequently sings leading roles. She is a granddaughter of the General de Ribas, who was delegated by Catherine the Great in 1791 to build a city at Odessa.

The voice of M. Kamban, well known as a tenor, has recently changed to baritone, due to nervousness growing out of lack of food. His salary is 15,000 rubles a day, the price of a half-pound loaf of bread.

WILDCAT'S STRANGE LEAP

Beast Jumps Through Window to Attack Infants in Bed.

A 55-pound wildcat leaped through a window into the hut of John Manning in the Ramapo mountains near Suffern, N. Y., early the other day and flew at his two boys asleep in a bed, tearing their night-clothes from their bodies.

Mrs. Manning hurled a lighted lamp into the animal's face, giving her husband time to get down his gun, with which he finished the beast, the largest ever killed in this section.

The glass in the window had been broken and replaced by paper to keep out the cold. Manning believes the prowler was hungry.

LONG HOG DRIVE IN SNOW

Ranchman in Bad Lauds Had Some Trouble, but Finally Started.

Jesse Speck, a rancher in the Big Bad Lands in South Dakota, has just completed a hog drive that is likely to stand as a record for some time.

He started from his ranch with 200 hogs in prime condition, to drive them to scenic, S. D., for shipment. As the roads were in bad condition from drifted snow, and the distance to scenic is 35 miles, Speck had difficulty in getting the necessary number of cowboys to turn hog drivers, but he finally got started.

The drive required ten days through almost insurmountable obstacles, and when the one-time prize hogs arrived there they were hungry, thin, sick and nearly frozen.

Speck and his helpers had found it necessary to continually prod, push, coax, bully and plead with the unwilling porkers to make time. Hogs which averaged 200 pounds on starting weighed in on arrival at less than an average of 125 pounds.

Organist Plays as Church Burns. While the church was blazing over his head, R. S. Traquir, of Newark, N. J., played the organ in the St. Ursula's Episcopal church. Firemen entered the church before the organist realized there was a fire. The bell, the organ, and most of the roof were destroyed.

SWEDEN DOES ONE-THIRD WORK BY ELECTRICITY

Power Installation Still Increasing With Rapid Strides in Scandinavia.

Electricity has conquered one-third of the entire cultivated area of Sweden, according to the latest official reports.

If Sweden continues electrifying at the present rate, it will only be a few years till almost the whole country will be run by electricity.

Most of the farms within the electrified area are now tapping the new source of energy, and nearly all the power used in the daily labor on these farms is derived from the high-power lines which span whole sections of the country.

Large power stations deliver most of the electric energy used in the rural communities; but in many places the farmers themselves have installed turbines and built private power stations, harnessing for this purpose swift streams and small waterfalls on their own properties. These enterprises, however, are generally co-operative.

A great deal of the most arduous farm labor is performed by electrically driven machinery at a cost far below the cost of machines propelled by steam or horsepower, or of hand labor. Water is pumped for cattle by electricity, threshing machines are driven by electric current, lumber is sawed by motor power, and farm hands are no longer ordered to cut firewood by hand because it is cheaper to have even that labor done by electricity. Candles have almost disappeared.

In many cases grain is dried and cleaned by being passed through electrically driven hot-air fanning machines. It is not uncommon to find on the larger estates electric elevators which lift entire wagon loads of hay or grain and dump them where desired in the barns.

One Swedish estate owner has installed an electrically operated irrigation system whereby a large field can be watered in times of drought. It is now only a matter of a short time till plows and harrows will be propelled by electric power.

DUCRESS "KEEPS FIT" ON A VEGETABLE DIET

The slenderness of Portland, known to be the youngest appearing woman for her age in England, attributes her well preserved being to a strict vegetarian diet. She was, before her marriage, Winifred Dallas-Torke, daughter of a prominent London sportsman. She married the duke of Portland in 1889 after a whirlwind courtship.

AX FOR FOREST GIANTS

Three Huge Oak Trees Had to Give Way to Business Rush.
Three oak trees, estimated to be more than 200 years old, have been cut down in the business district of Valparaiso, Ind., to make way for a new business building.

The three trees are fully 75 feet tall and three feet through at the base. It is estimated the trees contain 18 cords of wood and fence posts.

Many years ago hundreds of these giants of the forest stood on the present site of the city, but they have given way to the progress of civilization. At the Court House square, in the center of the business district, four of the trees remain.

Villa Asks More Land for His Ranch.
An extension to his 200,000-acre farm near Torreon, Mexico, has been asked by Francisco Villa, former rebel chieftain. In a petition to the government, Villa has about 500 employees and says his land is not extensive enough. Villa and his men are ready to fight for Mexico, he says in the petition.

False Teeth in Stomach.
Carl Brand, city marshal of Anthony, Kan., is the champion "ostrich" of the state. He swallowed his set of false teeth recently and did not realize it for nearly a week.
He has returned from the hospital, where he had the teeth removed from his stomach.

Trinidad Col.

How do you expect the Postal Clerk to know whether you mean Trinidad, California or Trinidad, Colorado? ALWAYS SPELL OUT THE NAME OF THE STATE IN FULL IN THE ADDRESS.

"MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT"
This apt phrase was used in President Harding's first message to Congress and applies particularly in postal management where postmasters are being impressed with the fact that they are managers of local branches of the biggest business in the world.

HERE COMES A STRANGER!
Let's make our post office look neat. Mr. Postmaster, straighten up the rural letter box, Mr. Farmer. Tidy up some, Mr. Rural Carrier. First impressions are lasting. Maybe Mr. Stranger, taking notice of these improvements, will come back, bringing you benefits. Start these with "POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK" May 1-6.

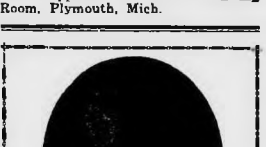

HUMANIZING THE POSTAL SERVICE

"There is no unimportant person or part of our service. It is a total of human units and their co-operation is the key to its success. In its last analysis, postal duties are accommodations performed for our neighbors and friends and should be so regarded, rather than as a lured service performed for an absentee employer."
Postmaster General Hubert Work.

sent direction of Miss Josephine Rogers of Ypsilanti Normal. At noon, a luncheon was served by members of the Plymouth Aggie Club. A large panoramic picture was taken of the entire delegation.
The afternoon program was started when L. W. Ross, County Club Agent introduced Mr. H. C. Stinson, Maple Grove Handicraft Leader, as chairman.
Roll call by Clubs was responded to by a song, yell or stunt. Mr. G. A. Smith, superintendent of Plymouth High school, gave a message of welcome to the club enthusiasts. Other numbers on the program included songs and stories from the various clubs. The Maple Grove girls sang a sewing song which was written by Miss Germaine Cate, a local club member. Much credit is due to Miss Lenore Rice of Belleville on her very clever story, "A Needle."
Achievement Certificates were awarded by the County Club Agent to every member completing a project. The County Champions in Garment Making and Handicraft were announced by Miss VanHeulen, Asst. State Club Leader, and R. A. Turner, State Club Leader, respectively. County Champions were placed as follows:
GARMENT MAKING 1st year work: First place and County champion—Amelia Otter, Willow.

2nd year work: First place and County champion—Ruth Wilkin, Northwest Canton.
Second place—Ruth Godwin, DuBois, Hazel Munro, Flat Rock.
3rd year work: First place and County champion—Florence Artley, Belleville.

Our six weeks' schedule for our Thursday night meetings began this week Thursday night. If you have not yet enrolled in any of the classes, come next Thursday night, and get into the game. There is a class in bible stories for children; a class in the study of life-work decision for young folks; a class for adults in the study of John Wesley, Jr., a delightfully interesting book, and led by Mr. Lombard, and another class in the study of Paul's letter to the Roman's, led by Mr. Cope. These classes meet from 7:15 to 7:45. From 7:45 to 8:15 is a half hour of song service and devotion. From 8:15 to 8:45 is a social half hour with a special feature each week. The pastor and his wife had charge of the social activities this week. Next Thursday night will be stunt night during the social hour. Come and enjoy a happy time together.
The feature of next Monday night's moving picture program will be, "The Stream of Life," a real sermon in itself. This picture has been shown here before, but having seen it once, folks are always anxious to see it again and again. That speaks the worth of the picture. A silver collection will be taken at the door to defray expenses. 7:00 p. m.
The official board meets at the parsonage next Tuesday night.
Husbands come in mighty handy when it comes to putting things on the top shelves of the closet, taking down the bed or threatening to lick the children.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES
Rev. Hamilton gave a very pleasing address, last Sunday morning, and made many friends for Alma College. President H. C. Crooks was in Plymouth, Friday, and visited some of our members.
J. H. Hathaway of Ann Arbor, has accepted a position for the summer in the New York City public library. He will return to the university in the fall, where he will continue his work as an instructor at an increase of salary.
Mrs. F. L. Becker, Sidney D. Strong, A. D. Stevens, O. H. Loomis, N. I. Moore and Alton Trumbull were special speakers at the Christian Endeavor meeting, last Sunday night.
Alma College is the Presbyterian college of Michigan, and was founded that there might be a christian school so endowed and so conducted that its advantages would be within the reach of young men and women of moderate means. Alma does not impose the test of ritual or creed upon its students, but it does maintain the christian point of view and stands for christian education. Michigan needs colleges, and especially of this type. Our state is the 39th state in the Union as far as the number of colleges are concerned, according to the figures of the United States Bureau of Education. Michigan has only one college student for every 399 people. Other middle western states average one student for every 234 people. Alma is now endeavoring to raise a fund of $685,000. One hundred twenty-five thousand dollars of this amount has been pledged conditionally. Only a few thousand more are now needed to complete the fund and hold the conditional offers. How much can you help?
If you are going to have an opinion, advertise it in the Mail.

First to establish the $10.90 price—Usco

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—
"Hereafter the price of the 30x3 1/2 'Usco' is $10.90."
The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value.

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price

$10.90
and even better than the price
