FOUR SQUARE LEAGUE TRACK MEET

Friday, June 9, the annual track and field meet of the Four Square League was held at Dearborn. The new feature this year was a girls' meet held in connection. The boys' meet was almost conceded beforehand to Dearborn, last year's champions, who had nearly every man left from last year's team. They took the lead on the first event, and were never headed.

Fey of Dearborn, was again high individual point winner, with 26 1/2 points; Webster, also of Dearborn, with 15 being second; and Stevens of Plymouth, with 13 1/2, third. No one else scored above 8 points. Fey, by virtue of this, won the Weyhing Cup for high individual man, this cup being donated by the makers of the other League trophies.

The final standings of the various schools was as follows: Dearborn, 82; Plymouth, 40 1/2; Redford, 8; Wayne, 4; Farmington, 4; Northville, 1. This shows that Plymouth was the only real opponent and when it is considered that the local team are just developing, and that the Dearborn team with at least three seniors among its heavy point winners, is at its best, it is evident that next year the cup is apt to return to Plymouth.

The girls' meet provided no "dope" whatever, as the various schools had never before met. Plymouth was thought to have a strong team, particularly in the dashes, and Dearborn was suspected of strength. The first event, the 50-yd. dash gave Plymouth the lead, but the weights gave Dearborn their chance, and when they took first and second in the broad jump they went ahead, 22-17. In the 100-yd. dash Plymouth girls showed their metal, taking first, third and fourth, and winning the relay made the final score 30 to Dearborn's 23, Redford taking third with 9, while Northville and Farmington took 2 each, and Wayne failed to score. Competition was close throughout, and is best shown by the facts that both Northville and Farmington had really strong teams, and that the 20 individual places were won by 15 different girls, no girl getting more than two.

Not a Plymouth contestant was a senior, so the girls seem to have a very good chance at the cup for next year at least, and the girls' track cup may yet be the first trophy to be won permanently for any school, as like the other League trophies, it must be won 3 years to be permanent.

The meet was conducted in a most able manner by Coach C. L. Brewer, director of Athletics at Michigan Agricultural College, and in spite of the thunderstorm in the morning which threatened to spoil everything, was an unqualified success from every point of view.

The summary of events follows: (Initials refer to schools, as P-Plymouth, D-Dearborn, R-Redford, W-Wayne, N-Northville, F-Farmington.)

TOURIST CAMP IN PLYMOUTH

The village commission and the Board of Commerce are co-operating to equip an experimental tourist camp here for the benefit of automobilists. They are going to put comfort station conveniences in the old hose house in Central Park at Holbrook and Spring streets, put in a water faucet, and build one or two out-door stoves. Lights will be placed in the park and the whole place be supervised so that there can be no possible objection to conditions, either by tourists or townsmen.

The equipment will be at the service of picnic parties from our own town, who may desire to take advantage of this pretty place on warm days.

Saturday afternoon, June 10th, there will be a big "bee" at the park to fix up the place. Everybody is urged to turn out with hammer and saw and have a good time helping to make the necessary changes in the building and to generally clean up the park. The village will have lumber on hand.

The Detroit Automobile Club will work with the Plymouth authorities in making our camp known to travelers. This will be a fine way to acquaint many with our village.

HUBBARD-HILLMER

A charmingly informal home wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Mary K. Hillmer on Starkweather avenue last Monday afternoon, June 12, when her daughter, Gertrude, became the bride of Homer Hubbard of Wayne. Rev. S. Conger Hathaway performed the ceremony using the Presbyterian ring service. Only the immediate relatives were present, Davis B. Hillmer and Helen V. Hubbard being in attendance upon the bride and groom. After the ceremony, dainty refreshments were served and each guest was presented with a box of cake to "dream over." Then the happy couple departed for a wedding tour "in the east." After July first they will be at home to their friends at 711 Starkweather avenue.

MEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINED THE LADIES

The Men's Club of the Lutheran church very pleasantly entertained the Ladies' Aid society and their families at the church, last Friday evening. About one hundred were in attendance, and the early part of the evening a fine program consisting of music and readings was given, also an interesting talk on prison work by Captain Denniston, superintendent of the Detroit prison farm. Later refreshments were served by the men. The church was attractively decorated for the occasion with ferns and cut flowers. All in attendance declared the men fine entertainers.

THE RETIRED CITIZEN

Almost every town in the United States the size of Plymouth has its quota of "retired" citizens. By that we refer to citizens, in most cases farmers, who have made a comfortable sum by economy and hard work, and who seek a rest in town where more conveniences are to be had and neighbors are more thickly assembled. As a rule, the man who retires only does so after he has honestly earned the rest he seeks, and we are certainly not going to begrudge any man that pleasure.

But we do believe that this class of citizens could realize more genuine pleasure in life than they are now getting if they would enter more heartily into the activities of the community. The man who moves to town to spend the remaining years allotted him could do no better thing than to announce that he had come to help make the town bigger and brighter by taking a part in all public, civic and charitable movements. He could serve on committees and give other men more time to devote to the community's business interests. He could help in arranging for celebrations, speaking and public gatherings of all kinds, and become generally useful to the community. At the same time he would be occupying his own mind with some worthy movement, and thus make the days of his retirement useful and pleasant for himself as well as those about him.

We have a place in the community for the retired citizen. And nothing is more pleasing to our people than to have as neighbors that kind of retired citizen who goes out of his way to make himself useful to the entire neighborhood.

THE "GREEN" DRIVER

The motoring season is on in full blast—and so are the accidents. And all over the country this question is being asked daily: "Whose fault was it?" In this connection it is interesting to note that a very small per centage of accidents are really due to the "green" driver. On the other hand, they can almost always be laid at the door of the man who has had a car long enough to know how it should be operated. The new driver is far more careful than the experienced one, because he is afraid of hurting both himself and his car. So he looks a long way ahead, keeps well to his side of the road and takes his time. The "wise guy," who feels he knows more about a motor car than the men who build them, invites chance to sit on the seat with him, and, if he gets through unscathed, actually believes it was due to his skill. Our advice to Plymouth auto drivers when out motoring, is to watch the "wise" drivers, for there is no stunt they will not attempt. Don't worry so much about the "green" driver. He will be the last one hurt and the last one to cause you any injury.

THEY SAY

"They say" is the introduction to an awful lot of harm. We often hear the "they say" stories on the streets or in the stores of Plymouth and always, if you will pause and think a moment, the one telling the "they say" story never tells it about a member of their own family. Telling this kind of story is an ill-pastime with some people. They may not mean any harm—and yet "they say" has done more to blacken character and sadden hearts than any other one thing. The victim has no opportunity to combat a "they say" story, even if it should, as it seldom does, come to his ears. The story starts on no more authority than repeated "they say" and with each telling it grows and magnifies. Pretty soon it is common talk, and each time it is repeated, you will hear that damnable "they say" quoted as authority. There appears no way to break up this miserable thing. We wish we knew a way. But the columns of this newspaper are open to you, and if you have a suggestion for stopping the "they say" stories, write it out and send it in.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE

William Wrigley, Jr., is soon to own the largest office building in Chicago—built with money made in selling chewing gum at five cents a package. Back in 1907, just 15 years ago, he was unknown. Then he began to advertise Wrigley's gum. The more he advertised, the greater the demand for his brand of chewing gum, of course. Soon he was spending hundreds of thousands of dollars in advertising—and making millions in return. Today he is among the wealthiest men in America—but he is still advertising—and still selling gum. If Wrigley can do this well with a five cent article and lots of competition, think what others can do with goods on which there is more profit, and in a field that isn't so crowded. There is a lesson in Wrigley's experience for the Plymouth merchant, too, if he cares to learn it. And that is that no matter how small the profit, there's money in it if you sell enough of it. And the surest way to sell enough of it is to advertise it.

ALUMNI REUNION AND BANQUET

Two a year people "spend" money—the shortest, Dec. 21st, for Christmas and the longest day, June 21st, for commencement in all its forms. The Alumni members of the High School are requested to procure their tickets for the reunion dinner in advance to enable the caterers to make their task a success. Each member is entitled to a guest; others who may attend the dinner are the school board, ministers, and present and past teachers. Much pleasure is manifested by all who have seen the new Plytheans. Buy tickets at Joffe's, Mail office, Conner's or the Plymouth bank. The Alumni Association surely plays its part as a civic asset and its strength depends on each local member.

Another Twister...

Another big wind storm Sunday and many people killed and injured in New York. Property damage thousands of dollars. In one instance a house was picked up bodily and carried several feet to be totally wrecked. Plate glass windows were shattered. Evidently Kansas is not the only state that suffers from high winds. We have had them here in Plymouth. Are you prepared for such an emergency? You can insure against windstorm or cyclone damage for a small premium. Better call us up or come in and let us explain this to you.

FARMERS: Are you insured against wind and hail? Farm crops and buildings suffered expensive damage. You cannot afford to be without it. See us today, tomorrow may be too late.

THE DAY OF THE BOY AND GIRL

Boys and girls of today have more wonderful opportunities than ever were presented to their fathers and mothers or their grandfathers and grandmothers. They may read the literature of other days and sigh for the time when the world was younger and big "openings" were before the youth with determination and the spirit of adventure. They may, no doubt they do now, as they did a century ago, sometimes wish for the forests and the settlements of the pioneers when a man's fortune might be carved from the natural resources of unbroken stretches of country when rifle and axe were the tools with which homes were builded and food procured. They may even long for the time when an enterprising young chap could start out into the unsettled places and win wealth in a lucky ore strike or a great discovery of some other sort.

But though they may not realize it, this is the day of the boy and girl. Never before in history has so much been done to assure opportunity for youth. Never have boys and girls been surrounded by so many advantages and such complete facilities for getting more out of life than did their forefathers. Never have fortunes been expended so lavishly to give them the utmost chance for happy, contented, useful and not too laborious lives.

The common schools of today provided for the younger generation in every city, rival the universities of a few generations since. Their equipment is such as would have made a finished scholar envious if he could have known of them. The rural district schools in almost all localities are coming to be the equal of the best available in the cities when American pioneers were acquiring their education.

Recreation opportunities such as were unknown in not very old days now exist on every hand. Supervised play is filling the leisure hours of the young with a constructive development of body, mind and moral fiber a supervised program that could have been obtained half a century ago only in the largest or most exclusive schools.

Organizations of every sort have taken in hand the various departments of boy and girl activity and present opportunities of such glowing description as to afford complete enrichment of the years of adolescence. Farm boy organizations, girls' clubs, Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and Girl Scouts are but a few of the associations that endeavor to make the most of the material that is within the youngster and to bring it out, shape it and develop it to the very best.

What bewilderments would beset the boy of the early part of the nineteenth century if he could but be set down today in the midst of the chances and opportunities that are the every-day lot of the twentieth century boy! He would be so amazed he would hardly know which thing to seize upon first.

Truly the youth who does not find the surroundings of this time replete with opportunity for self-betterment and advancement is lacking in perception.—Pontiac Daily Press.

BAD HUBBY GOOD FOR WRITER

Wife Who Gives Advice on Managing Spouse Gets Some Ideas From Her Mate.

"Yes, indeed," said the Greenwich Villager with a husband as she reached for the matches, according to the New York Sun. "I've placed a lot of things since I married. Especially with the women's magazines."

"I don't see how you ever get so much. You just seem to turn them out with a crank."

"There is a crank involved," admitted the villager, "but unfortunately he's getting better tempered every day."

"Cyril?" asked the friend with interest. "How nice that you're improving him. He did have a fairly bad disposition."

"That's why I married him," sighed the villager.

"Really?" exclaimed the friend. "That seems a rather odd reason."

"Oh, no; it was quite sensible," protested the villager. "You see, I've always done a lot of articles on how to get on with your husband, and I thought I could get a lot of ideas from Cyril. And I have. I've studied his rages and found out just what caused them and how to make him stop them, and then I've written him up. But now I know so well how to manage Cyril that he doesn't get into rages any more—and really, I don't see how I can afford to go to Scotland this summer."

"Still," comforted the friend, "it must be rather nice to think that you get on so well together. Isn't there copy in that?"

"A little," admitted the villager, "but it's the unhappy marriages the women are interested in. But, of course, there's always some copy you can get out of a man—even a good-tempered one."

"Such as—?" prodded the friend.

"Oh—all the foolish things they do," explained the villager. "The ridiculous way they waste their money, and their general helplessness, and their self-centeredness and all that. I'm doing a series along those lines for the Woman's Magazine. Of course, Cyril doesn't know it. But whenever he gets a chance he reads those articles and spatters. He says there never was such a brute and a fool as that woman describes. Declares it can't be true, because no self-respecting woman would live with him. And then I get scared and take the magazine away from him."

"Afraid he'll recognize himself, I suppose?" said the friend.

"Oh, no, indeed!" returned the villager. "Cyril would never do that! But I'm frightened to death he'll—"

"What?" prodded the friend, breathlessly.

"Reform," said the villager.

Stage Illusions.
Lady Bell complained, in a letter to the Times, of the way actors destroy stage illusion. There was nothing new in this. The taking of "calls" has been denounced since most of us can remember. But the number of letters which followed Lady Bell's suggestion that the theater, in this period of decadence, is taken by many with a seriousness that promises better things some day. Not the most serious grudges the actors their applause at the end of the performance, but it is certainly unwelcome to see a row of smiling faces on the stage a moment after the curtain has fallen on a scene of terror, grief or melancholy in which those very faces have worn far different expressions. Whether the illusion is destroyed is another question. Perhaps it depends on temperament. There are some lovers of the theater who are impervious to all its absurd conventions. To these even the back of the stage after a performance on a cold winter's night is still fairyland.—London Times Weekly.

Connecticut Nature Studies.
Mrs. Edith A. Smith has a cat that knows a thing or two. One day last week the cat brought in a quarter snake. It left it in a closet off the back pantry. Mrs. Smith in looking over some articles in the closet that afternoon came across the snake, which was in an almost dormant condition. It had life enough, however, to wiggle, and with the first wiggle Mrs. Smith almost fainted away. This same cat last summer brought in a black snake. The tail of the snake was coiled around the cat's neck. The cat had hold of the snake in the middle and had all it could do to drag it into the house.—Farmingtonville Correspondence Ridgefield Press.

"Moss Growers' League."
A heard on the chin keeps the shaving money in. That's the new slogan of the latest London freak society, the Hirsute Half Hundred, says the New York Sun. That is to say, they call themselves the Hirsute Half Hundred. The rest of London calls them simply Moss Growers. Barbers are contemptuous in regard to these gentlemen who have disregarded conventions and adopted the latest in streamline beards. But the hairy ones laugh and say: "Ala, but think, a shave each day costs a dime. We save 305 dimes a year—now go ahead and laugh at us."

A Disadvantage.
City Man—I suppose you find your automobile a great improvement over your old horse, farmer. Old Farmer—Wal, in some ways, yes, and in other ways, no. I can't go to sleep on my way home from town and wake up in the barnyard, like I could with old Dobbin.

Alan's Business Opportunity

By WINIFRED DUNBAR

COPYRIGHT, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

A nod or a shake of the head was the inevitable rule with John Dorsett in business dealings. Just now he had applied these definite tactics in a transaction of love.

"You won't consider it, Mr. Dorsett?" almost plaintively interrogated his visitor, Alan Barrett.

Again the shake of the head, and the keen old merchant drew some papers across the desk as if to indicate that the incident was closed and that he wished to get back to his own personal business.

The younger man seemed dreadfully depressed and hopeless.

"Why can't I have your daughter, Mr. Dorsett?" he demanded.

"You will have it out with me, will you?" inquired bluff, almost cruel John Dorsett. "Well, I'll tell you. My daughter Blanche has been used to luxury. What have you to offer?"

"I have a fairly good position, $10,000 invested in bonds and some inheritance prospects."

"Bah!" railed the old tyrant. "Your cash would just about cover the kind of a wedding my Blanche must have. As to the rest of it—waiting for dead man's shoes is a poor business. It's the man I'm looking at—no No. 54 hat wearer for my son-in-law! I don't care how poor he may be, for I have plenty of money, and to spare, but he's got to have business sense. He's got to do something worth while, which would show that with mature years he would be a business success."

"I am doing my full duty in the humble position I occupy," declared Alan rather indignantly.

"Then make some opportunities outside of it to show your mettle," advised the merchant.

"Ting-a-ling-ling!"

There was an interruption. Mr. Dorsett picked up the telephone receiver. Some urgent call summoned him to another part of the building. He made such haste that he neither asked Alan to go nor stay. Alan sat staring vaguely at a full-page advertisement in a daily paper. It announced that Dorsett & Co. would present a 12 by 20-inch American flag free to each visitor of the next day; that following was a patriotic local holiday. This was one of the catch trade opportunities that had built up the great mercantile house.

"Ting-a-ling-ling!"

Again the telephone. There was no one to reply. Alan hesitated. Then he picked up the receiver.

"Dorsett & Co.—yes. This is the Eastern Central freight house. Car of twenty thousand flags, shipped from Springfield to you, derailed and burned up last night. Have notified the shippers, Continental Flag Co."

"Hello!" ejaculated Alan, "this seems to be one of Mr. Dorsett's big opportunities sidetracked! What will he do now? Sa—y!"

He called up Springfield and the Continental Flag company. Could they ship per express on quick order twenty thousand 12 by 20 American flags? Thought not. Large order sold day before and stock rather low. Would look up stock and odd lots, however.

Then later. Yes, could make up the order. Then ship to—and Alan gave his address.

METHODIST NOTES

The fine Children's Day collection, which was given last Sunday, will go to help many young people get a college education.

The official board met at the parsonage, Monday night, to transact important business.

Just about two months yet remain in the church financial year. Any who are back on their pledges for the support of the church work are urged to get their accounts straightened up, as the treasurer needs the funds.

The Missionary society held their annual picnic and election of officers at the home of Mrs. Hanchett at Pottsville, on Wednesday of this week.

The mid-week prayer service is at 7:30 on Thursday evening.

A class of young folks will be received into membership of the church, next Sunday morning.

The Ladies' Aid society will hold its annual picnic and election of officers at the home of Fred Lee in Livonia township.

BAPTIST NOTES

Delegates to Howell last week Wednesday and Thursday, were: Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley and Pastor Sayles. Mrs. Bennett gave a partial report last Sunday of the meeting of the Wayne association. It will be completed next Sunday by Joseph Stanley.

Washtenaw association united with the Wayne association at the above meeting, and was received into the Wayne association. Rev. Grimwood, moderator, extended the right hand of fellowship to the delegates from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Chelsea and Dexter Baptist churches, making Wayne association one of the largest in the state.

The young people who attended the banquet and the special service for the B. Y. P. U. were: Miss Fannie Grainger, Miss Esther Estep, Henry Holcomb, Albert Seger, Duane and Albert Sayles. Henry Holcomb was elected first vice president of the B. Y. P. U. of the Wayne association for the ensuing year.

The bright sunshine of Sunday made Children's Day a happy and joyful day. The decorations were exceptionally fine, and the evening program was of the first order, and after days of constant drilling, the program was ready and went through without a skip. The committee, Mrs. Grainger, Mrs. Sayles and Miss Smith, deserve much praise for their earnest endeavor to make it a success. The orchestra opened the service, then songs were sung by the school, and the full program followed. The pastor invited anyone who was not attending Sunday-school at any other place to find a class with us. The evening offering was given to the piano fund. The attendance was large, the church being crowded.

The young people's class, Harry Sayles, teacher, held a "weenie" roast on the banks of the Rouge, Tuesday evening. The fifteen young people said they had a great time.

The label on your paper tells how subscription stands.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The Ready Service class are endeavoring to secure Rev. H. R. Chapman of Ann Arbor, as a special speaker for the final meeting. Announcement of the time and place will be made later by postal card. Let every member be present.

The Busy Woman's Bible Class held a delightful social and business meeting, last Tuesday, at the country home of Mrs. Rose Fulton. After an excellent pot-luck dinner a business session was held, at which the secretary, Mrs. George Cramer, presided in lieu of the president and teacher, Mrs. F. L. Becker, who was seriously ill and unable to be present. The pastor led the devotionals, revived an old custom of "lining the hymns," and finished the story of "The Man Who kept Himself in Repair." Miss Gladys Fulton then favored the company with music. Such meetings are the life of the church.

Our best wishes for joy and happiness are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hubbard, who were married at the bride's home on Starkweather avenue, last Monday afternoon. We are especially glad that their home, for the present, is to be in Plymouth.

Never did babies behave more beautifully than those who were baptised last Sunday. Being Children's Day, they were doubtless trying to set a good example for their parents and elders to follow. Baptism will be administered June 25th, to those who were not able to attend this time. A new booklet containing the service used, an engraved certificate, and instructions to parents, is being presented to each child who is baptised. Robert Champe, David Alexander, Elizabeth Burrows, Marguerite Wood, June Jewell, Frances Learned and the primary department ably assisted in the Children's Day program. This is a code message for all the initiated members of the congregation. Ask the treasurer, Mr. Green.

GRANGE NOTES

The Plymouth Grange will hold their annual picnic at Perry Campbell's, Saturday, July 1st. Basket dinner at noon. The afternoon program will consist of ball game, horseshoe pitching and races of various kinds for children and grown people, too. A good attendance is desired.

Wayne County Farmers Grange will be held at Romulus, Saturday, June 24th. All Grangers, especially those who have not seen the 8th degree, are requested to attend.

The grain in the siding and finish of some houses stands out, while it doesn't in that of others.

Why some hardwood flooring "cups" after a little wear;

Why some windows rattle after a little while and let in cold drafts; Why some roofs always seem to have a new leak;

Why some houses seem to deteriorate much quicker than others.

When the Cat's Away
By MORRIS SCHULTZ
Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Ada was the best little woman in the world, but infernally prosaic. Her soul rose no higher than cooking and cleaning. She made wonderful pies, and her house was a dream of order—too orderly for a mere husband. She had gone to the seaside for a month leaving Walter with mixed regrets and rejoicings.

Walter was a good husband. He never hit the high spots—or never had done until he picked up that copy of the Matrimonial Advertiser in the subway. The car was almost empty, otherwise he would have thrown it away. Ashamed of himself, he read: "Lonely widow, aged thirty-four, considered beautiful, charming and accomplished, with a fortune of forty thousand dollars, wishes to meet congenial gentleman. Object matrimony."

His eyes scanned advertisement after advertisement. It was really remarkable what a large number of beautiful, charming and accomplished ladies there were—with fortunes, too—to be had for the picking up.

He was about to throw away the sheet in disgust when an advertisement near the foot of the column attracted his attention.

"Young lady, aged twenty-seven, beautiful in a way, not unintelligent, accomplished, but no money, seeks society of congenial gentleman for limited period. Matrimony not sought."

The frankness of the communication attracted Walter. He slipped the paper into his pocket and made his way guiltily homeward. Once in his room, after a short struggle, he yielded to temptation. He wrote as follows:

"Madam: I am a gentleman, aged thirty-one, considered handsome by my friends, not unintelligent. Like yourself, I am not seeking matrimony, but should value congenial feminine society for a limited period. I should be pleased to meet you, and, if the suggestion is equally agreeable to you, would suggest that you meet me on Thursday next outside Kinkoff's at seven in the evening, so that we can enjoy a little supper together and have a chat."

Walter posted this communication, and immediately went into agonies of remorse. He felt that he was doing the kindly, patient Ada a hideous wrong. All night his conscience tormented him, and he arose next morning with the determination to pursue the matter no further.

The following day, however, he received the faintest communication from his correspondent informing him that she appreciated the frankness of his letter, and would meet him outside the restaurant at the appointed time. For purposes of identification she would wear a red carnation in her coat.

This was a difficult predicament, for, only that morning, by the same post, Walter had received a most loving letter from Ada. She said that she was enjoying herself at the seaside, and her only regret was that hubby could not be with her instead of leading a lonely life in town. She hoped that he was eating well and that his socks did not want darning.

However, it was too late to draw back now. It would be an act of gross discourtesy to invite the fair, anonymous communicator to meet him and then fail to materialize. He determined, however, that their meeting should be the first and last.

He made his way to the restaurant. Outside was a slim, petite little woman with a figure very much like Ada's—so much so that at first sight it gave Walter a guilty look. She was heavily veiled in black and wore a widow's weeds.

Next moment he found himself accosting her. She answered his salutations in a strained, mechanical and, he thought, unnatural voice. They went into the lounge.

"—suppose we sit down here for a minute," said Walter desperately. "—er—appreciated the frankness of your letter, and before we have supper I think I ought to be still franker with you. I am a married man. I sent you that letter in a moment of fun. But now that we can understand each other, why shouldn't we have a pleasant evening together anyway?"

"Wait a minute," she answered, in a voice shaking with tears—or was it laughter. "I'm in the same boat. I'm a married woman and my husband thinks I'm staying at the seaside. I repented this folly very minute since I wrote to you. And—Oh, I want to go back. I want to forget all this. Won't you take me to the station in a taxi and say good-by?"

Her plea was so vehement that Walter found himself obliged to surrender. He called a taxi, and side by side they rode to the terminal, where he bought her a ticket and saw her aboard the train.

"Good-by," she said at the coach door.

"Good-by," said Walter.

"You will forgive me?"

"Of course. And you me? But—won't you just let me see your face for a minute?"

She hesitated an instant—then lifted her veil.

It wasn't Ada.

No Sense.

Mother—I do wish, Constance, you would dress more sensibly. What must people think?

Constance—But, mother, dear, I should look so silly if I dressed sensibly.—London Tit-Bits.

Chautauqua Commandeers Radio!

Mutual Morgan Scores Another Scoop. Unique Radio-gram Announcement of our Program Attractions. LECTURES—MUSIC—ENTERTAINMENT and the Play—"THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS."

"Hello! hello! is this X Y X? Is this X Y X?" (sputter-sputter).

"Hello, yes, this is X Y X, THE MUTUAL CHAUTAUQUA RADIO station; who is calling?"

"This is Lowell calling X Y X station. When does our Chautauqua open?"

"Oh, yes! Lowell. You want your dates? We are about ready to send them. MUTUAL has added so many new Chautauquas this year it has taken real planning to date each town for local conditions, but we are through now a little ahead of schedule. Get off the wave, Boston, this is Chicago MUTUAL Radio!"

Lowell still calling: "Thanks for date information. Tell us about our program." (click-click-sputter-sputter X Y X—X Y X.). Terre Haute calling. Holland, Michigan, calling. Delta, Ohio, calling; Lebanon, Indiana, calling; a dozen others calling: "We want in on this; tell us what's on the program too."

"All right, get ready, all you eighty towns on this Circuit tune in for the Program Broadcast. All ready, let's go."

EIGHTY TOWNS "Tune In"

"The MUTUAL is surpassing all previous successes in its efforts to deliver a balanced program of worth and excellence." Adrian, Michigan, ticks in: "What's going to be your big number this year?"

"That depends on taste. Some prefer music, others like entertainment better, while many think the lecture the big—" Crawfordsville, Indiana, interrupts with: "But what number draws the crowds this year and gets the single admissions?"

"The MUTUAL tent draws a crowd to every number. However, we have a real sensation this summer. We are presenting a play—a dramatic version of the most widely read book in America—"Blue Island, Three Oaks, Michigan, Waynesville, Ohio, and others call excitedly: "Atta-boy! Hurrah for MUTUAL! Just what we want! What play is it?"

"THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS" Coming

"Listen a minute and we will tell you. The play is Harold Bell Wright's universally loved and always wholesome moral comedy, THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS, with a picked cast of seven people, and all of them—" Bad Axe, Michigan, interrupts: "This is our first year with MUTUAL and this announcement certainly makes us feel safe and satisfied." Voice from Port Byron, Illinois: "This is our eighth year with MUTUAL. We have always been satisfied." Kokomo, Indiana, breaks in with: "What are your lectures about? Are they worth while and practical?"

"The MUTUAL has built and sustained a reputation for wise selection of Lectures and Lecturers. Each of the seven lectures on this circuit fills an essential place in the program and gives—" Linton, Indiana, calls from down Dixie way: "Yes, that suits us, but we are anxious to hear about the music. Is it good? We want—"

Music of Merit—Better Than Good

"We interrupt this time and advise every town on the Circuit that in the music line, GOOD MUSIC (to borrow a newspaper phrase) is the only thing we haven't got anything else of but." THE MORRISON GIRLS' ORCHESTRA will give a program with instrument and voice that sparkles and delights. These girls were personally selected for their proved ability and especially trained for this season's orchestral work by Bess Gearhart Morrison. Besides their own full program they furnish a musical background for the dramatic readings of Mrs. Morrison. HAMMOND'S GYPSIES have the free musical swing of the outdoors. Decorated in traditional turban and spangle this trio tells the stories of gypsy life in merry song and action. Mr. Hammond is an accomplished impersonator and his character work is an important part of the program. Each member of the party known as THE INTERMOUNTAIN ARTISTS has exceptional merit in her chosen profession. We thank Utah for lending us these artists for this Circuit: Virginia Jones, soprano; Mildred Ware, contralto; Helen Hunter, cellist; Mellinger, reader. THE LANDIS BRASS QUARTET will be very popular with its rollicking type of program. Be ready for a good time with these jolly entertainers—men of versatility and art, who both sing and play their way into your favor.

Decatur, Michigan, gets on the wave: "That is all very fine, your Radio message makes us sure that all the farmers will buy tickets this year. We want a good reader. Will you have one?"

"Sure, we have two. ENID LYON, in addition to her part as Pets in THE SHEPHERD COMPANY, will give selected readings, while MELLINGER, who can boast a score of medals for excellence in dramatic readings, appears on artists' day." (sputter-sputter).

"What's that, Valparaiso?"

"Who are your beturers? Our town wants the best."

FOUR LECTURERS—Brilliant and Forceful

"Good; we like your kind of a town. It is hard to make any one understand the marvelous work BESS GEARHART MORRISON will do on your program. Her twenty-five years of platform experience, and her more recent observations of the making of great films will be used for your pleasure and benefit. The challenging material that goes into her evening program is reinforced by dramatic lighting effects and hidden music. DOCTOR WILLIAM FORKELL is a naturally fiery orator and has perfected out of his twenty-two years of experience on the platform a style eloquent, inspiring and forceful.

"DOCTOR W. L. MELLINGER is a versatile, natural orator who delights. On one of the largest seven-day Circuits in America he was voted the honor of first place. Dr. Mellinger has had a residence of five years in Mexico. His intimate study of the people and country has prepared him to give a large amount of first-hand information.

"SUMAYEH ATIYEH will be a distinct sensation, not only in her striking oriental costume and Syrian attitude toward life, but also because of extensive knowledge of the Near East and the manner in which she describes its history, its problems, its tragedies and its future. Miss Atiyeh was added to this program at the last minute through a fortunate combination of circumstances which freed her from another engagement."

McComb, Ohio, calls for more light: "That is a wonderful program, but are you providing sufficient entertainment? What have you in that line?"

CLEAN ENTERTAINMENT AT EVERY SESSION

"Entertainment is built into each day's program. It is always present, especially in the versatile numbers of the LANDIS BRASS QUARTET, the novelty offerings of HAMMOND'S GYPSIES and of course in a supreme way in THE SHEPHERD—" Animated calls from many sections: "Your Radio about THE SHEPHERD COMPANY is stirring our people. We have all read the book; is the play just as good?"

"Our wave time is about up, but still we have a moment to say this: The play follows the story and carries the same message as the book. We saw the play last week for the fifth time. It grips, it teaches. It is the old story of human conflict. Right is pitted against wrong. The Shepherd's life is a character study. The love story reflects human experience. No wonder nine million people have read the book." (sputter-sputter).

"Get ready for capacity tents!" (X Y X goes dead).

MOST BRAINS "LEFT-HANDED"

Human Nervous and Muscular Systems Are Declared to Work in Opposite Harmony.

In the strictly limited sense in which we are right-handed we are left-brained.

As I write these words with my right hand it is the left side of the brain that starts and controls the movements of that hand.

But the thought and memory involved are initiated from neither the right nor the left side of the brain; those "higher centers" are not definitely localized.

But the "centers" for all the movements of the body are.

Place your hand flat over either ear in such a way that the tips of the fingers reach the summit of the scalp, and it will cover, on either side, the area that governs the movements of the opposite half of the body.

Direct experiment on animals and the results of disease in human beings have enabled doctors to construct a complete map of this motor area of the brain.

When a man has a "stroke" and loses the use of his right arm and his right leg and the right side of the face we know exactly where the damage is—on the left side of the brain.

And the outlook is less unfavorable if the left half of the body is paralyzed, because speech is governed by a center in the left side of the brain.

Most people are right-handed. They learn to use the right hand for writing and other purposes from childhood, and its muscles are more quickly responsive to the brain.

But the left hand has an equal capacity of development.

As well as being right-handed, we are also right-eyed.

If one were placed in a field blindfolded and directed to walk in a line straight ahead he would eventually return to somewhere about the place he started from after describing a wide circle towards the left.

This has actually occurred to many who have set out to cross a wide stretch of flat land in a fog, and it is due to the fact that the right leg habitually takes a very slightly more powerful step than the left.

That is also the reason why the shoemaker tries a shoe on your right foot for preference—"A Doctor" in the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Seasickness by Machine

Seasickness does not sound like the sort of ailment for which one might hope to find a serum. Nevertheless, Dr. Pozerski, head of the Pasteur Institute laboratory in Paris, has been looking for a serum for it, and actually believes he has found one. Obviously, however, it has been necessary for him to test it out on cases of actual mal-de-mer; and it has not been convenient for him to embark his laboratory aboard ship in order to meet this requirement. If we can't use a ship, we must have a seasickness machine. The animals on which Dr. Pozerski has experimented have been ridden about in the air in the baskets on this machine, which was carefully designed by M. Jouan, a prominent French engineer, to simulate the motion of a ship's deck. Judging from the doctor's announced success in his investigations, the machine must have been a success in its field.—Scientific American.

Concrete Houses.

The use of concrete houses is becoming common in various sections of the country. In connection with the general program for the investigation and improvement of housing conditions now being carried out by the Bureau of Standards, several trips of inspection have been made by members of the staff of that bureau to study improvements in the building of concrete houses. The trip recently made included many projects in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago and Minneapolis. Great improvements, both in the ordinary uses of the concrete and in the architectural and ornamental effects obtained, were noted on this trip. It seems certain that some style of concrete house will become very common in the near future.—Scientific American.

New Aluminum Alloy.

A new aluminum alloy has been developed in Germany, which is sold under the name "Alumin." The alloy contains 11 to 14 per cent of silicon and 80 to 85 per cent of aluminum. Its specific gravity is 2.5 to 2.65; tensile strength, 20 kilograms per square millimeter, and hardness at room temperature, 90 kilograms per square millimeter, with a 300 kilogram load and a 10 millimeter ball. The alloy is unaffected by wet steam, and resists concentrated nitric acid better than aluminum, which it resembles very much. The alloy is made from its elements directly or in the electric furnace. For further details, see the "Chemiker Zeitung," December 22, 1921.—Scientific American.

Ozark Economy.

"Now, Fretty," feebly began an Ozark invalid, "I'm feeling considerable better this morning, and I reckon I'll get up for a spell."

"Land o' Gideon, no!" ejaculated his wife. "There's mighty nigh half of that bottle of medicine left that I paid a dollar for. You stay right there in bed till you've took it all!"—Kansas City Star.

Careful.

"He's what might be called a careful golfer."
"Plays well?"
"Not at all. Carries a floating ball for use on the water holes."

Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets
"Chamberlain's Tablets have been used by my husband and myself off and on for the past five years. When my husband goes away from home he always takes a bottle of them along with him. Whenever I have that heavy feeling after eating, or feel dull and played out, I take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets and they fix me up fine," writes Mrs. Newton Vreeland, Minoa, N. Y. Take these tablets when troubled with constipation or indigestion, and they will do you good.—Advertisement.

Donald Whitehead and Miss Emma Scheeman of Redford, were married Wednesday evening at St. Pauls Episcopal church in Strathmoor, the home of the bride.

Eleven Detroit men recently paid fines at Howell, amounting to from $10 to $25 for catching blue gills out of season. The largest fine was paid for keeping fish about three or four inches in length.

Work of remodeling the building of the Lapham State Savings bank of Northville, will be started within a few days. The contractor is expected to be on the ground and to begin active operations on the 15th.

The new consolidated school building—the first in Oakland county has just been completed at Walled Lake. It is a two-story structure 140 x 120 feet in size and is located on a five acre tract between the business section of the town and the railway.

Michigan wool prices reached a new high point for the past two years June 15 when Michigan Delaines were quoted at 51 cents f. o. b. Lansing, with lower grades shaded a cent or two down the list to rejections at 33 cents, said the state farm bureau.

A couple outside advertising men came into Howell last week and sold short articles to a large number of merchants about their places of business for $5.00 apiece, and had them inserted in the newspapers. Same fellows came to Plymouth, but Plymouth merchants wouldn't bite.

Hi. Willmarth, with his crew has been surveying and laying out a subdivision of 12 acres just outside of the village limits of Farmington on the south. It corners on the base line road and the paved Division street. They also recently platted a subdivision on West Warren avenue.—Farmington Enterprise.

The total assessed valuation of Northville is $1,707,450.00, an increase over last year of $90,000.00. The tax rate will be $1.81 for each hundred dollars valuation or $18.10 for each thousand dollars. Compare the above figures with the Plymouth valuation of over $3,000,000.00 and a tax rate of $1.00 per hundred.

Highway Commissioner George Shear is at work improving the road on the Cozy Homes subdivision which was mentioned in the Record recently and then expects to do some work on the Beech road south of the Plymouth road to the town line. After these two jobs he will tackle others that are waiting.—Redford Record.

An aged man from Plymouth, driving a new car, was painfully injured Thursday afternoon in attempting to make the turn from Michigan avenue to the Plymouth road. The man lost control of the machine, one of the wheels striking the abutment of the bridge. The auto was thrown into the ditch and badly wrecked.—Wayne Weekly.

The newspaper fraternity was shocked to learn of the sudden death on Sunday, June 4th, of Franklin L. Whipple, editor-manager of the Farmington Enterprise. Mr. Whipple had only been in charge of the paper for a few months and had only recently moved his family to Farmington from Northern Michigan. The remains were taken to Houghton for burial.

Harry J. Merritt of Royal Oak, chairman of the Oakland County Council of the American Legion, says the forthcoming Fourth of July celebration at the Milford fair grounds is to be the biggest ever. We may expect a sham battle, fireworks and horse races galore and a 10-round fight between two light-weights, Eddie Franklin and Pete McCluskie. The celebration is to be staged by the Legion Posts of the county.

Rev. Seth Reed, the venerable Methodist minister whose career dates back to the days of the circuit-riders, celebrated his 99th birthday recently. The event was marked by a banquet at the Court Street Church at Flint. Rev. Reed, neither mentally nor physically, shows his nearness to the century mark. He walks briskly, reads without the use of glasses and his interest in the affairs of the day is seemingly as keen as ever.

The entertainment Friday evening given by the Dramatic Club under the supervision of Mrs. Nellie Woodbury and Mrs. Guy Kissane was well rendered. The program consisted of two plays. "O Joy San" was presented by Mrs. Guy Kissane, Lester Heywood, Edna Fischer, Florence Carpenter, Irene Quackenbush, Howard Stine. Solo, Miss Sutherland, accompanied by Miss Quackenbush at the piano. The second play, "Economic Boomerang" was played by Helen Woodbury, Charles Curtis, Jr., John and Clarence Fischer, Zelma Truesdell.—Sheldon Correspondence, Wayne Weekly.

Autoists should bear in mind the new ruling of the Oakland County Road Commission which forbids stopping of cars on the travelled portion of the highway. One must not stop thereon either to let off or take on passengers, secure water or oil or gas or fix a tire, but must go to the side of the road where traffic will not be interfered with when such a stop is necessary. This may seem a bit unreasonable but the county road authorities have figured it out that the rule is necessary to insure a greater degree of safety on the highways. A severe penalty is provided for violation of the ordinance.

After an illness of but a few days' duration Francis G. Terrill died at his home in this village Saturday night. Though he had been in failing health for a number of years, his last illness came so suddenly that but a few of his neighbors and friends knew of his condition until the news of his death became current Sunday morning. During the years when life seemed to be slipping away from him, he was kindly cared for and watched over by his faithful wife and son, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended in their sorrow. The deceased was the son of Lyman and Catherine Terrill, and was born in the township of Northville on February 24th, 1844, and his whole life has been spent in this section.—Northville Record.

LIVONIA LUTHERAN CHURCH

Regular services will be conducted at the Livonia Lutheran church next Sunday afternoon, June 18th, at 2:30 p. m. in the German language. Every body cordially invited. Sunday-school entirely in English. All children are welcome.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

There was a fair congregation last Sunday when the Rev. Harry Midworth, Rector of the Church of Our Saviour, and our late Missioner, took charge of the service and administered the Holy Communion. Before commencing his sermon, Rev. Midworth spoke very feelingly on the progress the mission was making. He said he was both pleased and surprised upon entering the church doors to see the alterations and the rearrangements of the inside of the church, and he could not help but notice the steady growth of its members and he realized and appreciated the steady sincere work its members were doing, which, through the grace of God is making the Episcopal church a real use to the Community of Plymouth.

Last Sunday was Oddfellows Day and the local order of the I. O. O. F. met this year for their annual memorial service at St. John's at 7:30 in the evening. They assembled at their lodge room and marched in a body to the little mission church. There was a good turn out, and Franklin L. Gibson certainly gave a very inspiring address, taking as his subject: "Friendship, Love and Truth," and his text was from Luke 10:30-37. Mr. Tracy sang in fine voice, two solos, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "The Homeland;" Miss Young was the accompanist and Miss Schmidt was in charge of the organ for the evening service.

Last Sunday finished up the present packages of the weekly pledge envelopes and new envelopes for the next twelve months were given out and are ready for distribution to those who have not yet received them. It is the duty of every church member to put by once a week into the Lord's treasury, and regularly support their church, for we are told: "Upon the first day of the week, let every one of you lay by him in store as God has prospered him."

Last week there was a large gathering of the Ladies Guild and some of their friends at the home of Mrs. Geo. Wilcox. This was the last Guild meeting of the season until the reassembling in September. Mrs. Murphy read her report on the Convention of the House of Church Women held at St. Pauls, Jackson, where she was a delegate from St. John's Plymouth.

Today, Friday, the church school will meet at the home of Mrs. D. Murphy on the Plymouth road at 5:00 o'clock, where there will be plenty of strawberries and cake, and games. All the church school are asked to be there, and we want every child to bring 10 cents. This 10 cents is to go towards our church school pledge to provide for one poor little Armenian child in the near east. So let us turn out in large numbers.

Two of our church members left yesterday for four months vacation in England, Mrs. Arthur Torre and Mrs. Ethel Merryweather, mother of George and Mary. We wish them a very happy vacation and are asked to assure them they will be specially remembered at our services during their absence.

Sunday of last week, Franklin L. Gibson visited in Toronto, Canada, where he was the guest of Rev. Canon Skevy. Mr. Gibson assisted Canon Skevy at the morning and evening services at St. Anne, Toronto, and at each of those services there was a congregation of about twelve hundred people. This is certainly a congregation.

The old-fashioned man who used to think he was lucky if he found a horse shoe, now has a son who only thinks he's lucky if he finds the price of a tire.

Today's Reflections

The old-fashioned night shirt is said to be coming back. Now if a Plymouth man wants to make a fortune, let him invent some way to keep it from rolling up under the arms.

Always keep your eye on the public official who thinks he is making good as soon as he becomes smart enough to borrow the money instead of adding it to the tax list during his term of office.

If the bootlegging business is good today it is a sure sign the undertaking business will flourish tomorrow.

Of course the modern Plymouth girl knows more than her mother, but it sort of gets on our nerves to hear her tell her mother so.

We've reached a point in history where there isn't as much money in raising healthy hogs as there is in running "blind pigs."

A scientist says that the ordinary housefly lays a million eggs a season, and the worst part of it is most of them hatch.

When a Plymouth man says, "I run things at my house," he means the lawn mower, or the washing machine, or something like that.

The reason some wives try to get along with their husbands is because they know they would have a hard time getting along without them.

A Plymouth man may be straighter than a string, and still not able to tell the whole truth about a second-hand auto.

Roosters will never replace alarm clocks. You can't reach out and turn off a rooster and go back to sleep.

We've often wondered what judges and lawyers would do if all men would deal absolutely square with each other.

It used to be wine, women and song that made the young men leave home. Now it's white mule, flapper and jazz.

It has been our observation that the Plymouth man with a grouchy look seldom gets a pleasant one.

It begins to look as if the only one that can make both ends meet is the fishing worm.

Another reason its hard to get the stumps of your unquenchable desires that he doesn't care what the other men are wearing.

As the matter now stands, Germany seems willing to pay if she can find somebody that will let her have the money to pay with.

American Railroads, will for the next four months, try to educate the people against their own folly. Too many accidents at railroad crossings—or even on the railroad tracks where the victim is usually a trespasser—are occurring. Teachers, preachers, business men and women, generally, are asked to use their influence in having these simple precautions followed:

1. Do not walk on railroad tracks or bridges.
2. Do not allow children to play around railroad tracks or stations.
3. Do not crawl under or between cars.
4. Before crossing tracks at crossings, STOP, LOOK and LISTEN to see if a train is coming, and after a train has passed make sure no other trains are approaching in either direction.
5. Do not crawl under crossing gates after they are down. Stop until train passes.
6. Do not allow children to play around turn-tables, cranes, cars, or other railroad property.
7. Use the streets and highways instead of the railroad tracks in going to or from work.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET TUESDAY, JUNE 13

At 6:30 about ninety members of the Chamber of Commerce sat down to a very sumptuous banquet, prepared by their chef, Mr. Wellman. Patterson's orchestra furnished exceptionally well selected and entertaining music during the supper hour. After the banquet, George A. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced the following speakers:

Clifton Jackson, assistant to the president of the Manufacturers' Association of New Jersey, who spoke upon the subject, "Observations." Mr. Jackson's talk was both timely and suggestive, and it was a real pleasure to hear a former Plymouth boy speak upon industrial problems. Mr. Newberry, manager of the Road Service Department of the Detroit Automobile Club, outlined in a clear and interesting way the "Free Road Service," which the club is furnishing to its members throughout Wayne County.

George Walters, deputy police commissioner of Detroit, gave a very interesting and instructive talk upon the subject, "City Growth and Police Problems." Mr. Walters showed himself to be a pleasing speaker, and a man well informed in regard to the methods of handling offenders, whether they are juvenile or hardened.

An outline of the work which the Chamber of Commerce has done and is trying to do, was then given, and the company adjourned. Everyone enjoyed the happiness which cooperation brings.

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES MEET

The Missionary Societies of the M. E. church held their last meeting before the summer vacation, on Wednesday, June 14th, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hanchett of Perrinville. A delicious pot-luck dinner was served at noon. In the afternoon the reports of the year were given, and the officers elected for the coming year. The treasurer for the foreign society reported $267.63 taken in during the year, and the home society treasurer reported about $200 raised for that branch of the missionary work.

The following officers were elected: President—Mrs. Charles Bovee. First Vice President—Mrs. Griffith. Second Vice President—Mrs. Thomas. Recording Secretary—Mrs. Noyes. Corresponding Secretary for Foreign Society—Mrs. Fitzgerald. Corresponding Secretary for Home Societies—Mrs. Strickland. Treasurer for Foreign Society—Mrs. Jenks. Treasurer for Home Society—Mrs. Newell. Secretary of Deaconess and Tithing—Mrs. Dickerson. Home Mite Box Secretary—Mrs. Terry. Superintendent of Flower Work—Mrs. Felt. Superintendent of Young Peoples' Work—Mrs. Doerr.

The following report of work done by the Missionary Societies during the year was given:

In the year that lies behind us, The Methodist women true, Nine times have met together, The Master's work to do.

With an average of thirty people, Six more than last year we could boast,

We have met each month together, To study and learn the most.

Each extra session called for, Be it group, or district withal, Always some of our women Have graced the banquet hall.

The Home and Foreign Mite Boxes, With their pennies and nickles and dimes, Have helped to send the gospel

Into the farthest climes. One Sunday in the autumn,

We listened to our pastor true, Tell of the fields in the homeland, And the need of work to do.

Then when May breezes were blowing, We listened with hushed breath To one who had labored on foreign soil,

Tell of the ruin and death, And out of our abundance, As God had seen fit to give, We gave to send the gospel,

That others might look and live. We have gathered our daughters

Into a "Two in One," Serving a double purpose

For Christ's kingdom under the sun. Also our budding blossoms, Striving to teach each one, To be one of "Christ's Heralds,"

And into the kingdom come. Among a thousand women,

In a city not far away, Gathered to learn of the wonderful work,

That is being done today. Our Methodist women of Plymouth,

To the number of twenty-two, Took their places among the ranks, For service to dare and do.

Our girls at Kansas City, Forgotten have never been; Our money and prayers have been given,

To help them the battle to win. And right proud are we of their service,

And also right glad are we, That even of this small assistance

That we to them could be. And now, dear sisters, we come to the close

Of a year of labor and love; We can only leave the results

To the care of the Heavenly Father above. Mrs. Charles Bovee, Secretary.

Special Fire Basket.

One of the magazines of the current month gives an interesting treatment of an ugly grate fireplace in the living hall of a country home which was remodelled for modern uses. The fireplace was torn away for the entire space occupied by the ornate mantel. A stone shelf on stone brackets was laid at the top of the bricks which taking away the mantel left exposed. These bricks were treated just enough to remove the roughest parts and were carefully pointed. Instead of an oval, the space for the fireplace was made square and instead of the hanging plain wood grate, a fire basket of wrought iron with rough spearheads set in the base, was placed in the opening. Chimney arrangements were not changed, and draft properties of the fireplace were unimpaired. The effect was surprisingly good.

Edict of Dead King Still Felt.

The dead hand of a king who reigned 800 years ago is today preventing many ex-servicemen at Teddington, a Thames-side town a dozen miles out of London, from earning a living as salesmen.

They proposed to open a popular market there, but found they were barred by a charter granted by King John to the neighboring town of Kingston giving that town exclusive market rights within a radius of seven miles, which embraces Teddington. Protests that living conditions have changed in the past 800 years have been met by the Kingston authorities with an announcement that they intend to stand by their charter.

His Beginning in Life.

Having made his money, Mr. Golding became the usual target for questions on "How to Make Cash Quickly," and such topics.

The other day he got some of his own back. A particularly persistent questioner had been wasting his valuable time, and then asked: "I understand, Mr. Golding, that you started life as a newsboy."

"The rich man seized his chance. 'My dear sir,' he replied blandly, 'you have been misinformed. I began life in the usual way—as an infant.'"

TRIUMPH WAS SHORT-LIVED

Professor Remembered to Put Out the Light, but He Had Forgotten Something Else.

At 1:30 a. m. the tired scientist laid down his pen, snapped off the desk light in his study and started upstairs. As he felt his way along the dark hall he was immensely proud of himself for having remembered to put out the light. He saw himself at the breakfast table, receiving the congratulations of the assembled family. He smiled in the darkness as he thought how pleased his wife would be.

Perhaps he should wake her now and tell her, prove to her that this absentmindedness that amused and not infrequently embarrassed her was not as inveterate as she supposed. Certainly it was easy enough to remember things if one tried. He chuckled at the thought of his triumph. He'd show them!

Groping along in the blackness, says the New York Sun, his hand encountered an unexpected gap in the continuity of the wall. He paused in perplexity. Then suddenly it occurred to him that it was the door of his daughter's room—his own was two doors back. He had been so absorbed in self-congratulation that he had gone straight past it.

He smiled—not quite so heartily. It wasn't so easy after all. Yet, with a little effort—

But why was the door open? Jean invariably closed her door at night. He called softly. There was no answer. Yet Jean woke at the slightest sound. Joy fear clutched his heart; he entered, switched on the light. The room was empty!

He turned and ran down the hall to his wife's room.

"Martha!" he called. "Jean is gone! The bed is empty—hasn't been slept in! What shall we do?"

To his complete and utter amazement his wife sat up in bed and laughed until the tears ran down her cheeks.

"Oh," she gasped, "you'll be the death of me! Can't you remember anything? Jean was married this afternoon. You gave her away yourself!"

Something Going to Happen.

Two mountaineers had long enjoyed a blood feud with each other, but at last neighbors, desiring peace, managed to bring them together. For several minutes after the meeting not a word was said. Finally one, scratching his thumbnail reflectively on the butt of his gun, remarked:

"Well, pardner, I'm not goin' to be with ye much longer."

The second was relieved but strived to conceal his feelings.

"Don't talk thata way, Seth," he remonstrated. "We been enemies for twenty years, but of course I'll miss ye. Ye ain't goin' to shoot yerself, are ye?"

"No," drawled the first. "I certainly ain't goin' to shoot myself, and I ain't goin' away, neither, but sezin' as how ye ain't ever goin' to see me agin, I figured ye might have somethin' ye wanted ter say first."—American Legion Weekly.

Considerable Hint.

"This is a nice canoe, isn't it, Maude?" said the tall, dark young man.

"Very nice indeed, Charlie," replied the pretty girl sitting in the stern.

"There's just one objection to it," said the young man.

"Indeed; and what is that?" asked the girl.

"Oh, well, you see, if you try to kiss a girl in this canoe there's a great danger of upsetting it, and then both the fellow and the girl would be thrown into the river."

"Oh, indeed?" said the girl, reflectively, and she sat silent for a while.

At length she remarked, softly, "Charlie, I can swim."

Rude and Unusual.

My nursing training was received at a hospital where all the standards were of the highest and where we were drilled in all the little courtesies of our profession. For that reason I took my work most seriously, and thus suffered a most embarrassing moment, though afterward I realized it was funnier than it was serious.

One night I fell into a sound sleep to be awakened by my patient's laughter. She had asked me the time, she said, and in my sleep I had replied, "Aw, look at your own watch."

That remark was a byword in the hospital for weeks.—Chicago Tribune
