RUDDY-CHEEKED SAINTS OF SUCCESS

"I submit this fact respectfully to Bernard Shaw, Wall Street, Downing Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, and even to the New York Sun, that vast machine for laughing at a world down in its snug quarters in Park Row—that the saint with ruddy cheeks is a totally new and disconcerting fact in our modern life. He is the next fact the honest pessimist will have to face.

"I submit that this saint with ruddy cheeks is here, that he is lovable, imperturbable, imperious, irrepresible, as interesting as sin..... and that he has come to stay.

"He stays because he is successful and can afford to stay.

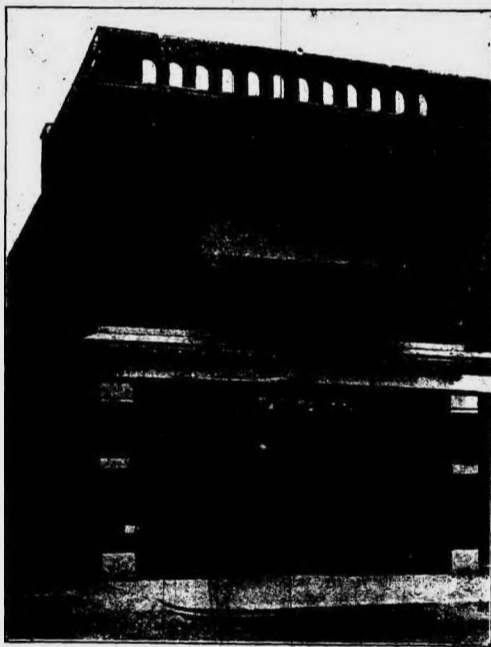

"He is successful because he is good.

"Only religion works."

—Gerald Stanley Lee, in "Crowds."

BLUNK BROS. WILL OPEN NEW STORE

Wednesday, August 2nd, Will Mark the Opening of New Department Store.

On another page of this paper will be found the announcement of the opening of the new Blunk Bros. department store, which occurs on Wednesday afternoon and evening, August 2nd, in the building formerly occupied by E. L. Riggs. On the opening day no goods will be sold, but the people of Plymouth and vicinity are most cordially invited to visit the store and view the improvements which have been made in the building, and the large and complete stock of goods with which the store has been stocked.

William A. Blunk, the owner of the building, has spared no expense in remodeling the front of the store, and the large and attractive display windows will compare favorably with store fronts in the larger cities, and he is to be commended for his progressive spirit in getting the best that money can buy.

The old front has been completely torn out, and one of the modern Kawneer fronts installed. The entrance way to the store is laid with tile, while a beautiful green marble base is used beneath the windows. A rich valance drapery adds much to the attractiveness of the display windows, which give ample room for the showing of goods. A new steel ceiling has been put in place, and the entire store nicely re-decorated. A number of new and modern display cases have been installed for the better display of goods.

The first floor is devoted to dry goods, boots and shoes, ladies' ready-to-wear goods, men's furnishings, etc.

The second floor is given over to the furniture department, rugs, linoleum, etc. A large display window has also been placed in the front of the second floor. The entire building is well lighted and ventilated.

The proprietors of the new store are Irving E. Blunk and Arthur E. Blunk, both popular and well known young men of Plymouth, and their many friends wish them abundant success in their new business venture.

THE ANNUAL FARM PICNIC

GRANGE TO WORK WITH FARM BUREAU TO MAKE OUTING A BIG SUCCESS.

The fourth annual picnic of the Wayne County Farm Bureau will be held at Carpenter's grove, two miles west of Wayne on Michigan avenue, on Wednesday, August 9. All of the Granges of Wayne County, including the Pomona, are co-operating to make this meeting one of huge success; also the numerous community organizations and farmers' clubs will be in attendance and hold little individual picnics during the noon hour.

There will be only one real speaker for the day, the aim being to give all of the time possible to visiting, games and other recreation. Congressman John C. Ketchum, of Hastings, known to every Grange member and farm organization worker in Wayne county, was selected as spokesman and his theme will be the legislative program at Washington and how it is going to benefit agriculture, not only in Michigan, but all over the country. Congressman Ketchum is part of the "farm bloc" in Washington that is doing things and his talk will be of particular interest at this time.

The real feature so far as games are concerned, will be the horse shoe pitching contest open to all comers, with promises of some experts who are training for this event. National rules and regulation weight shoes will be used. There will also be tugs of war and other events during the day.

Time, Wednesday, August 9th, starting as early in the morning as the crowd arrives; place, Carpenter's grove, just off Michigan avenue, two miles west of Wayne on Michigan avenue, where there is a new artificial lake, bathing facilities, boating and other features to give all a good time. The Farm Bureau and Grange are working together to make this party a great success.

The eleventh annual outing and field day of the Detroit Market Growers' association will be held at Put-in-Bay on Tuesday, the 15th of August, boat leaving Detroit at 9 o'clock a. m. A ball game with the Toledo market growers will be a feature of the program at the island.

SCHOOL REUNION

FILLING THE PAPER

A newspaper is always in search of the real live news of the community. But because an editor is always eagerly in search of news and is willing to go to much trouble and expense in obtaining it, people sometimes forget that newspaper space is an expensive proposition, and get the impression that an editor is glad of anything to fill up.

No editor has the slightest trouble to fill up the paper. The real problem is to keep from filling the columns of the paper with “stuff” the readers will not want to wade through to the exclusion of the news matter that they pay to get. There isn't an issue that an editor doesn't consign to the waste basket or turn down enough matter to fill the paper twice over without room for a line of news or advertising.

People often forget that newspaper space is valuable, and that it is about the only thing the newspaper has to sell. They don't seem to understand that it must be disposed of as carefully as a merchant disposes of his stock of goods. Every now and then a Plymouth citizen brings in an item that is not news in any sense of the word, that is advertising pure and simple, and that would mean taking up space to boost someone's business. The fact that an article has merit doesn't always mean it should be printed. If it isn't news the only question to be considered is whether it will be sufficiently interesting to the majority of our readers, that they would like to read it, and whether it is more interesting and of more value than other matter that will have to be omitted if it is given space. And the editor alone must be the judge of that.

YOUR JOB

Many residents of towns the size of Plymouth make the mistake of thinking that the only opportunities worth having are in the big cities. But it is a good idea to remember that in a big city, with higher wages, you have higher living expenses. People in big cities live at such a rate and spend so much time covering long distances that they have little thought or interest for strangers. You may find employment in a store or factory where you never know the man or woman in the next department, or what they are doing. You may work for five years in an organization and never see the “boss.” An office position may mean that you are forced to sit at a desk on one monotonous process day in and day out, while in the smaller towns, where everyone knows you and you know everyone, a job means that a dozen times a day you have an opportunity to be “assistant to the head of the concern.”

PASSING

Where is the old-fashioned home, with its huge double log house with large yard and straight fence of rails or postings; with its broad gravel walk, the yard filled with honeysuckle, lilac, red roses, snowball, ground ivy and other flowers and shrubbery so common before potted plants invaded the rural sections? What has become of the martin box on a tall, straight pole, filled with chattering martins, and where are the little group of beehives that used to sit in the corner of the yard, on post the old well with its windlass and rope that was breaking and letting the bucket back into the well just at the most inopportune time? And where is the long cap and ball rifle that once rested on two brackets, or two deer horns nailed parallel above the door, with the powder horn and charger hanging nearby? We also miss the half-dozen Indian arrow heads that lay in the bottom of the home-made willow basket on the stand table in the middle of the “best room,” and likewise the decorated tortoise shell and varnished pine cone and other curios picked up from nature's garden of riches. If you have a chance to see this old home again, brother, take a good look. Take a mighty good look, for they are rapidly passing away.

A GREAT LESSON

There is a great lesson for the Plymouth man or woman who is constantly imagining they are ill, in the life and death of Herbert McCarty, who died a few weeks ago in Pennsylvania. He was a world war veteran and shortly before the armistice was signed he was ridden with German bullets. He was brought home to battle for life for almost four years in hospitals, with 20 machine gun bullets in his body. In 48 operations he underwent, 18 of them had been removed. The other two he carried to the grave with him. During the 48 operations the surgeons removed 14 of his ribs, his collar bone and part of one shoulder blade. His wounds and the operations made a wreck of his body, but despite this he had recovered, prior to his death, sufficiently to leave the hospital for short periods. That he lived for four years with such physical shock is almost unbelievable. But he did, and therein is a lesson for those who are constantly complaining of little aches and pains, those whose ailments are largely imaginary—those who appear to think nature holds some special grudge against them.

A CARD—To our neighbors and friends for their kindly aid and sympathy; to all who sent flowers; to Mrs. Bake, Miss Thomas and Mr. Nagle, and to all who so kindly aided us in any way at the time of our recent bereavement, we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks.

SAY! LISTEN:

Roy wanted me to write an ad for this week because he is busy. (He's working on a case). He said that Samsen has had his vacation and should be made to change this ad every week. Maybe so. Well, anyway, you know what our business is, if you don't, just go to the phone and call 39-F2, and I'll be right on the job to tell you. Say, that steam shovel certainly made Starkweather avenue look like “No Man's Land.” Reminds me of what a windstorm might do to your property. A Hartford tornado policy would put you right where you could make your property as good as Starkweather will be when they get it all dressed up. Last week we helped another man to enter the class of home owners, and say you should see the bargain that “Dad” bought. Ask him what he will take for his. You fellows who are paying rent had better get busy and get in on some of these while you can. There are some good homes that you can buy now and buy them right, and as for building lots, the space isn't big enough to tell you about 'em. Come in some day and we'll give you the dope or call us up and either one of us will call around and see you.

P. S.: That was a case of “empties.” Want a nice lot over at the lake? I know where there is one that can be bought right.

NEWBURG

All Sunday-school scholars, old and young, are invited to a picnic this Friday afternoon on the flats near the bridge on Newburg road. Everyone requested to furnish something for lunch.

The social given by the trustees of the L. A. S. hall, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Holmes, last week Thursday evening, was a great success. There were a good many from Plymouth, Beech, Perrinville and other places. The Millard band from Plymouth rendered a number of beautiful selections. Alta and Doris Hamill of Plymouth, gave comic readings, which caused a good deal of laughter. They cleared $21.00 from the sale of ice cream, lemonade and candy. The ladies wish to thank Mr. Millard and band, the Misses Alta and Doris Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and others who helped to make it a success.

The L. A. S. hall is being decorated and cleaned, and a new fence put up where the old sheds were torn down, making everything look neat. The August meeting of the L. A. S. will be held in the hall.

Mrs. Carrie Hatt and son, Clarence and wife, of Jackson, were over Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. C. Mackinder. Mrs. Hatt remained for an extended visit, and is also caring for her sister, Mrs. Mackinder, who has been quite ill.

Mrs. Nettie Boyce of Detroit, visited her mother, Mrs. Ann Farwell, last week.

Lydia Joy had a week's outing with relatives in Detroit.

Mrs. W. R. LeVan and Mrs. C. E. Ryder went to call on Miss Edith Pickett at Northville, Sunday morning, finding that she had gone to Ann Arbor hospital the Friday before.

Ruth Joy of New Hudson, is visiting Leona Joy.

Mrs. Mary Paddock and daughter, Florence, were guests at the Ryder homestead, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Floyd Bassett, who has been very low, is somewhat better at this writing.

Mrs. W. R. LeVan left Monday for a two weeks' visit with her son, Arthur and family, near Oscoda.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmwood and son of Buffalo, who were former residents in this vicinity, with Mrs. Sackett of Plymouth, called at C. E. Ryder's last Thursday evening; also stopped at the social to shake hands with old friends. They found many changes had taken place during the twenty-seven years since they left here.

GENEY MARVIN

A pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Rudlak on East Bush street, Wayne, on Tuesday, July 25, at 4:00 p. m., when her granddaughter, Miss Rebecca Marvin, became the bride of Elden Geney of Newburg. Rev. W. F. Abbott of Ypsilanti, was the officiating clergyman, and the ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride was very attractively dressed in white organza and carried white Ophelia roses. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Louise Geney, who wore white organza and carried pink Ophelia roses. The groom was attended by the bride's brother, Percy Marvin. Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Geney left for Detroit, taking the boat for Buffalo. They will make their home in Wayne for the present. Their many friends wish the young couple a long and happy wedded life.

BAPTIST NOTES

The pastor's text last Sunday morning was from Isaiah 63, "A Man of Sorrow and Acquainted with Grief"—revealing our God as a sympathetic, loving and trustworthy God. In sickness, sorrow, trials, reverses or disappointments in life, after all these hundreds of years, "He is the same yesterday, today and forever." The decoration committee have served the time allotted them, the first three months of the year, and the new committee will be announced soon.

The ice cream social last Wednesday evening was a great success. The band gave splendid music all the evening, and the Ladies' Aid wish to thank them for their help.

The superintendent of the Sunday-school appointed two committees last Sunday for the annual picnic—one for place and transportation, one for tables and eats. It is going to be a good time. Date will be announced next Sunday.

A goodly number were promoted in Sunday-school, some whole classes went the next class higher. Certificates were signed and given to the boys and girl who came out of the primary department.

Gaylord Sayles and Harold Holcomb led the B. Y. P. U. meeting, last Sunday night. The subject was "Growth." Next Sunday evening, Miss Florence Kline will lead the meeting. The subject is, "Old and New Japan." Isaiah 51:1-6. Conquest meeting.

The Ladies' Aid will hold a bake sale at Pfeiffer's meat market on Liberty street, next Saturday afternoon.

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

AMELIA

AMELIA is derived from that remarkable word amal, which has formed the root of so many proper names. It appears in practically every language and means "work." As early as the days of the Vikings, it was incorporated into masculine and feminine names.

The first Amelias was an armorer in the court of King Nielsing. Aunlung, another of the early versions, appears in the "Book of Heroes" as naming Aunlung the Strong and there was a Duke Amelung recorded in Danish ballad lore.

Amalia was the earliest feminine name formed from Amal. It was a favorite in Lombardy, but soon penetrated Germany, where it found vogue as Amalie. Meantime, France and Italy had adopted the Latin Amellia and through the similarity in sound, the two names were thought to be identical. France compromised the difference between Amellia and Amalie and produced Amelle, the name which has such vogue there today.

Amelia is the English version. It has replaced all other forms—even in Germany—the French Amelle alone surviving.

The amethyst is Amelia's talismanic stone. It will guard its wearer from danger and protect her, from contagion. According to ancient belief, the amethyst has a sobering effect upon rash or impetuous natures. To dream of it signifies freedom from harm. Saturday is Amelia's lucky day and four her lucky number. The princely, signifying simplicity, is her tower.

NOTICE OF MEETING

To Whom It May Concern: WHEREAS, on the 11th day of July, A. D. 1922, an application was filed with Geo. A. Dingeman, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Wayne, for the locating and establishing of a certain Drain, which said Drain was described in said application as follows, to-wit:

Beginning in the east line of the southeast quarter of the Township of Plymouth and at the north line of the highway running east and west between the Townships of Plymouth and Canton, and extending westerly along the said north boundary line of said highway feet to the Toniquish Creek flowing southerly from the Township of Plymouth and into the Township of Canton, said improvement to consist in removing the six-inch tile now in said described course and to replace same with twelve-inch tile. The drain now therein is not sufficient to give reasonable drainage and it has become necessary to install larger tile as aforesaid, there being approximately thirty-five acres of farm land and eighty rods of highway to be drained by the improvement. Said Drain will traverse the townships of Plymouth and Canton in said County. Therefore notice is hereby given that in accordance with the statute in such case made and provided, a joint meeting of the Township Boards of the Townships of Plymouth and Canton will be held on the 3rd day of August A. D., 1922, at the residence of Alex. Today's Reflections

A New York man suggests a tax on noises. There is already a considerable noise on taxes.

Can you remember when the women in crossing the streets of Plymouth brazenly lifted their skirts half way to their shoe tops?

There is so much killing, according to the daily papers, that most of us are getting to be shock absorbers.

Our idea of being out of work is to have a job doing nothing else but cussing the weather.

You seldom see a Plymouth woman wearing a veil any more. When they don't want to be recognized now they wear short skirts.

Young girls declare that porch swings are money savers. A swing will go 40,000 miles on one can of grease.

It is also well to remember that you don't have to go in swimming to have a shark pull your leg.

And once upon a time a gathering in a Plymouth man's home was called a party, even if they didn't serve anything but lemonade.

We see where a Vermont man ran a paling through his side while climbing his neighbor's backyard fence. He'd probably been over to borrow last week's paper.

Lots of Plymouth people long for the good old days when they had to hitch up and unhitch if they only wanted to ride around the corner.

Two things touch the average Plymouth man's heart—the photograph of an old sweetheart and a dime found in an old pair of pants.

We also recall that there wasn't so much meanness when all we used gasoline for was to clean clothes.

It will pay you to read every ad in the Mail, today.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.—Advertisement.

USCO set the high value mark for 30 x 3½ tires when it originated the $10.90 price last Fall.

USCO today betters that mark with a new and greater USCO—an USCO improved in many important ways.

For instance, a thicker tread—with a surer hold on the road—thicker side walls, adding strength and life to the tire.

And the price is $10.90—with the tax absorbed by the manufacturer.

Men have always looked to USCO for the biggest tire money's worth on the market.

They always get a bigger tire money's worth than they expect.

FALL ONE BY ONE

How Time Brings Changes in a City's Landmarks.

Famous Old Washington Square, in New York, is a Good Example—Once Place of Execution.

It is sweet to dance to violins
When love and life are fair—
To dance to flutes, to dance to lutes
Is delicate and rare;
But it is not sweet with nimble feet
To dance upon the air.

A city grows. Landmarks which have dotted time fall before wreckers and landmarks of the future take their places. The tales whispered about them are lost in the crush of riveting hammers. In the rumble of subway trains, in the roar of truck engines and the shouts of truck drivers.

Often time works to change completely not only the physical aspect of a locality, but also its spirit.

Washington square, says a New York Sun writer, is a name to conjure with, more, of course, in cities and towns far from New York than within the limits of the greater city. Wherever aspiring and hopefully artistic youth congregate, in every city in every state, eyes are turned toward the radical artistic groups with which the square and its environs are inevitably associated. And feet have a way of following eyes.

Countless thousands come every year from Iowa and Missouri, from Arkansas and Texas, to spend a few weeks in the metropolis; perhaps to stay, if the city is welcoming.

They go, after the Woodworth tower, straight to Greenwich Village. They drink bohemian tea in eagerly artistic places; they dance to the strains of violins in the hands of unpublished poets. They dance and are thrilled.

Most of them—perhaps even some New Yorkers—who "dance to violins"—not, it is to be feared, "to flutes, to lutes"—are missing a thrill justifiably theirs.

On a gray morning a hundred years ago a trembling negro girl was led up the steps of a gibbet. Whether the girl, Rose Butler, had committed the murder for which she died cannot be said. Probably, not to do our ancestors justice, she deserved her fate. At any rate she paid the penalty. "It is not sweet with nimble feet to dance upon the air."

The gibbet upon which Rose Butler and others died was set up at the point where now the Fifth avenue busses sweep into Washington square to discharge their loads of sight-seers, many of them to dance in the more commodious of the village ten shops.

But there was no Washington square in those days. Instead, the space it now covers was part of the pauper field in which those too poor to be given the luxury of tombstones were buried. Hundreds of pauper funerals passed through lanes that are now famous streets of New York's "Quarter Latin," wending their way to the public burying ground.

Even in those days the district was taking on a more fashionable aspect, however. Monument lane (or Greenwich lane) passed on one side of the cemetery and it was at the insistence of those who rode over the fashionable drive in still more fashionable carriages that the field was abandoned as a cemetery in 1823, after 26 years of service to the city.

Washington arch has replaced the gibbet as the laughter of gaiety has replaced the silence of the pauper field, as polished wood has replaced the dirt as a dance floor. And time changes thrills as it changes landmarks.

"Poison Squad" at Work.

The Brooklyn Botanic garden has a poison squad which has enjoyed little publicity, but has enjoyed poor health. A paragraph of a recent report of the garden reads:

"Dr. Percy Spaulding, pathologist, United States Department of Agriculture, called at the gardens and secured cuttings of five species of currant. The shrubs propagated from those cuttings will be used by Doctor Spaulding in his investigations of destructive diseases."

The scientist now has this currant bush poison squad working night and day seeing how unhealthy it can get. These currant bushes have all the ailments that a currant bush is heir to, and the chances are they may never get well. If it were possible for these bushes to express their opinion of all this listeners would probably hear some sizzling current opinion.

Elephant Desk Light for Good Luck.

Elephants carved from ebony or ivory have long been popular in the home, superstition having attached to them the power to bring good luck to their owners.

Now comes a glorified symbol of fortune's smile for desk or boudoir, consisting of a beautifully made electric lamp. In this the animal, sturdily made, bears on his back the palm-quin-shaped lamp, which furnishes a richly colored light.

Whether or not an elephant so fitted brings good luck to his possessor beyond the luck of owning such an exquisite accessory, the average girl would find sufficient pleasure in ownership to believe the sign had already "come true."—Exchange.

"White Coal" in Sweden.

In 1920 Swedish hydro-electric stations were developing 1,200,000-horse power. The equipment since added probably brings the total close to 1,500,000-horse power.

ROMANCE OF WORDS

"SABOTAGE"

THE spread of strikes and the resultant efforts of certain dissatisfied elements to cripple industry in every way possible brought into use the French word "sabotage" in such a way that it may be said to have been "Anglicized," much as "valet," "barrage," "bullet" and "camouflage" have been Anglicized.

By "sabotage," as currently used, is understood the act of producing poor work or other damage either to machinery or to the good will of some commercial organization. The workman who is deliberately careless in the manufacture of some article, is as guilty of sabotage as is the workman who wrecks the machine itself—for both of them tend to injure the company for which they are working, either in its reputation or in its operation.

In its original French sense the word was a harmless one, entirely unconnected with crime of any kind, and meaning the cutting of shoes or sockets for rails in railroad ties, "sabot" being French for "wooden shoes." During the strikes which paralyzed internal commerce in France toward the end of the last century, many of the strikers tore up the railroad tracks or loosened the shoe so that the rails spread, thus giving the word its new application and the significance under which it has slipped into the language on this side of the Atlantic. ### A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

A PARADOX

IN CASTING up accounts last night, After a day of sheer delight In which I'd spent a fund of cheer Upon the highways dark and drear, And squandered stores of love on ways Clouded with Evil's murky haze, I found not a diminished acre, But really an increasing store.
A glad surprise? Well, I don't know.
For, as along my way I go, Squandered love and sympathy On a winn' look for it from me, I find the more I chance to spend The greater is my dividend, And giving cheer, and giving peace Is surety of Love's increase. (Copyright.)

How Copper is Hardened.

There are several known methods of hardening copper, the most common being to combine with it a small quantity of cuprous oxide. The metal is also hardened by mechanical work ing.—Popular Science Monthly.

Biliousness and Constipation

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally," writes Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala.—Advertisement.

Fordson TRACTOR

Henry Ford Was Right When He Said:

"The tractor will enable the farmer to work fewer hours in the day, giving him more time to enjoy life. I believe the tractor will make farming what it ought to be—the most pleasant, the most healthful, the most profitable business on earth."

This tractor has done much—very much—in bringing true Mr. Ford's prophecy; for in it is a machine which has harnessed one of the most dependable, efficient, adaptable, economical sources of power in the world—a machine that saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time—a machine which many farmers claim plows, harrows or drills as much ground in the same time as four, six or even eight horses. And more—a machine that takes care of every power job on the farm.

Call and let's talk it over, or telephone or drop us a card and we will bring the facts to you.

RETARD OLD AGE

Certain Foods Known in Asia Minor as Life Preserving.

System of Diet of the Early World When People Lived for Hundreds of Years.

It may interest readers to hear of a system of diet which is that of the early world when people lived hundreds of years without growing old. I heard of it while traveling in Asia Minor from an Armenian woman of sixty of very youthful appearance, writes M. E. Forbes in the Saturday Review. Traditions on diet and long life had been preserved in her family from very ancient times.

Her father had lived to one-hundred and fifty and her grandfather and her grandmother also. She attributed her youth to certain laws of diet and to a particular sweetmeat, a kind of sweet paste, which she claimed was one of the foods of the patriarchs and enabled them to live to their great age. It prolongs youth and retards old age, and is made from two of the life-preserving foods mixed with honey and other ingredients. She believed that old age and disease were due to unsuitable and wrong combinations of food and that a longer youth can be achieved by keeping as strictly as possible to the diet of the ancient world.

The divided food into three classes—the life giving, containing the proteins, fats and carbohydrates; the life preserving, only six in number; wine, olive oil, yohort (fermented milk), butter, honey and dates; and the life destroying, five in number, which should never be eaten, and consist of flesh of meat, tea, coffee, beer and spirits. Her own diet consisted of wholemeal bread, eggs, vegetables, some of each of these life-preserving foods, and lentils, and at the midday and evening meals some of the sweetmeat, the latter being a very essential part of the diet. She claims that it is possible to maintain youth and vigor up to a very long time on this diet.

I have tried it now for seven months, eating only very little fish and fowl. I have grown much stronger, my friends tell me I look much younger, and I have entirely got rid of a troublesome throat affection and cough which I suffered from for years and which I always feared would develop into consumption. Medicine and an operation failed to do me any good, but this diet seems to have eliminated the germs from my system, for I am entirely cured.

There are such a number of systems nowadays that one is apt to think very little of them, but I can testify that this system will yield the fullest results, only it must be conscientiously carried out, and, whatever else is eaten, the life-destroying foods should be given up.

Revenue From Trees.

The United States forestry service is endeavoring to get the cities and municipalities of the country into line for the proper forestation of such lands as these organizations might own and control. The fact is deplored in a recent paper on the subject that less than one-half of the land owned or controlled by the cities of New York state is properly cared for and made to pay for the keep.

Newberg, which leads in the development of municipal lands, has been engaged for some time in the task of reforesting its watershed so as to insure a supply of water and to derive a future income. This consists of 175 acres, of which 18 acres have been reforested. The work has been done by securing the interest of the school children, and each year 200 boys and girls are taken to the country for the purpose of tree-planting.

Burma Needs Farm Implements.

Need for agricultural machinery in Burma is growing every year. With a population of 12,000,000, the growth of which is not keeping pace with the new areas which are being put under cultivation and with a constantly increasing acreage of cultivated land, there is an insufficiency of labor, and it is necessary to import farm laborers from India. Methods of farming are still primitive and the introduction of modern implements would do much toward relieving the shortage of labor. Implements for rice cultivation, similar to those used in the Philippines, would find a ready sale.—Consul J. P. Moffitt, Rangoon.

Makes Record Growth.

A recent note in Science records what is believed to be the temperature zone record for a single season's growth of a shoot of the tree type of the woolly plant. This phenomenal shoot grew from the stump of a be-headed Paulownia and reached a height of 21 feet 6 inches, a circumference of 10 inches at the base and had 24 leaves, one of which, measured late in July, was found to be 38 inches long in the largest dimension.

"And now?"
"Judging from the way he talks in court it was a put-up job."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Good Work of Salvation Army.

M. A. C. LATCHSTRING TO BE OUT AUGUST 4

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE WILL BE MIXED IN EQUAL PORTION AT ANNUAL FARMERS' DAY.

All doors of the Michigan Agricultural College are to be wide open on August 4, when the institution will play host to hundreds of state farmers on the occasion of the annual Farmers' Day Round-up and Conference.

Blue ribbon winners from the best blood of the various breeds will be dressed up for the day in the college barns; extensive test plots on all sorts of crops and soils questions will be ready for inspection; specialists in different phases of the agricultural industry will be "at home" for visitors, ready to give information and to consult on problems of the moment; and speakers of standing in the farm world will discuss vital questions before the assembled guests of the day.

The feature of the program will be a big outdoor meeting in the afternoon under the trees of the college campus. David Friday, new president of M. A. C.; Secretary H. H. Callaway; L. Whitney Watkins, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture, and Dean R. S. Shaw of the college agricultural division, will be leading speakers at the meeting. A band concert and a unique "livestock style review," or educational parade, will round out the afternoon meeting.

Special agricultural exhibits are to be placed on the campus grounds, each illustrating some one timely farm topic of the day.

Women are to have headquarters of their own in the college women's building, hundreds planning to "come along" for the day. Basket picnic lunch on the campus will be a feature. More than 3,000 farmers and their families attended the gathering last year, and an even larger crowd is expected on August 4th.

The label on your paper tells how subscription stands.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Franklin Gibson was with us again last Sunday, and is looking very "fit" after what he describes as a very enjoyable vacation. Mr. Gibson and our boys returned last week from a two weeks' camp at Port Sanilac. They say the time passed all too quickly, and they all wished they could have spent another two weeks in camp. The camp was made up of nine tents, four or five boys in a tent; regular rules and discipline were observed. There was a time for everything, and all the boys were assigned their different duties each day. It was a great success in every way. It was not only healthy, but it was uplifting and spiritual, and in most cases brought out the true characters and dispositions of the boys; and at the end of the day at prayer time, it was fine to hear one of the boys offer a prayer of praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many benefits, the brightness and the sunshine of the days bestowed upon them. Each day the tents were inspected by the directors, and at the end of the two weeks' camp, it was found that "Plymouth tent" was highly mentioned for neatness and discipline. The inspection was not only confined to the tents, but fifteen feet surrounding each tent. There is another instance we feel we must mention. It is the custom to give a silver cup to the best all-around camp boy, as to discipline disposition and general character. This was put to the vote for the boys to decide among themselves. The results of the voting was a tie between four boys, one of which was a Plymouth boy. On voting again for the final, the results was a Birmingham boy, first; our Plymouth boy, second. Good for Plymouth.

Regular services will be held every Sunday now, and next Sunday morning, Mr. Gibson will preach on the subject, "The Lost." We are glad to see friends and visitors join with us in our worship, and we extend a hearty welcome in our little church to all those who feel they would like to be with us any Sunday morning, 10:15.

Mrs. George Baehr is visiting in Detroit, this week.

Mrs. Floyd Wilson of Romulus, spent part of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Steinhauer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hanchett and Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Hanchett called on their uncle, G. E. Stevenson, at Wyandotte, Sunday afternoon.

The Perrinsville Sunday-school spent Wednesday at Walled Lake.

The annual home coming of the Perrinsville school will be held in the school grove, Saturday, August 19th. Everyone who is interested, try and help the committee make it a success.

Mrs. Floyd Bassett is very sick at her home at Pike's Peak.

Howard Dicks of Plymouth spent last week with Lawrence Hanchett.

The Holmes family held their annual reunion at Mrs. Carl Theuer's, Sunday.

METHODIST NOTES

The fourth quarterly conference of the year was held at the church on Tuesday evening, Dr. H. A. Leeson, district superintendent, presiding. Reports were given from the various departments for the work done during the year. We wish it might have been possible for all the members of the church to be present to hear these reports, and know how the church has been prospering through the year. It brings a great joy and a sense of the fulfillment of God's promises to have summed up for us the many blessings of the year. The officers for the coming year were also elected and approved.

Just before adjournment of the meeting, E. T. Cope gave a very pleasing and appreciated speech, requesting the district superintendent and the bishop of the conference to return the pastor and his wife for another year. A vote on the question called forth an unanimous affirmation by those present. The pastor is most grateful for the kind words of appreciation spoken, and feels most keenly his responsibility to measure up to the expectations of his people. He is also desirous publicly to express his heartfelt appreciation of the loyalty and co-operation of the official board and membership of the church and congregation, which has been his to enjoy for the past year. Our labor and fellowship together this year has been most happy and we hope for its continuance another year.

The pastor has been graciously granted a leave of absence for two weeks, beginning the first of August. However, arrangements have been made for the pulpit to be supplied during those two Sundays. Consequently there will be a morning preaching service, and Sunday-school on the first two Sundays in August, but no evening services.

The prayer meeting service is held on Thursday evening at 7:30.

PAPER DOLL'S DRESS

BETTY went to the country one summer to visit her grandmother and grandfather. She took with her all the toys she could carry easily in a trunk with her clothes and, among other things, she took Paper Doll.

For the trip Paper Doll had many new clothes which Betty made for her, and one was a very beautiful gold paper dress trimmed with gold paper lace.

No one would have guessed that the gold dress would have caused Paper

Its wings were clipped so it could not go far and many tricks had the farm man taught Jim Crow.

One day Betty was playing under the tree near the barn with her toys, and Paper Doll was there also, dressed in her very best dress, the gold one. She stood on top of a little table when Betty came in to her dinner, and when she came out Paper Doll had disappeared.

"She must have blown away," said Grandmum, who came out to help look for Paper Doll; but, though they looked all around the yard, and even in the tree, nowhere could she be found.

By and by the farm man came along and Betty told him she had lost her doll dressed in her best gold dress, and nowhere could she find her.

Just then Jim Crow came fluttering to the shoulder of the farm man and sat there, turning his head from side to side, his bright eyes looking all around.

"Your doll wore a gold dress?" asked the man with a smile. Betty told him it was a paper dress, all gold color, and then the man laughed out loud. "I should not wonder if I could find it for you," he said, going toward the barn.

In a few minutes he came out with Paper Doll in his hand. Her dress was all crumpled and her arms bent, but Grandmum soon ironed her into shape and she was as neat and pretty as ever.

And where do you think Paper Doll had been?

In the barn, where Jim Crow hid all his treasures. He loves bright things, and when he saw Paper Doll and her gold dress he picked her up and carried her off.

Betty thought it was quite an adventure for Paper Doll, but she watched her things after that when Jim Crow was around, and when Paper Doll wore her best dresses again she sat in the window inside the house, where Jim Crow could not reach her.

He picked her up and carried her off

Doll anything but happiness, but it did, and was nearly the end of her, as you will soon learn.

The hired man on the farm had a pet crow that he had captured when it was young, in the cornfield. He kept it in the barn, but every day it would fly about the yard as high as the barn window.
