ROYAL OAK DEFEATS "ROCKS" 23 TO 6

BELLEVILLE COMES HERE FOR THE FIRST HOME GAME, FRIDAY,
OCTOBER 13.

The "Rocks" after getting away to a flying start by defeating their ancient rival, Northville, 20 to 0, was unable to continue the good work against Royal Oak, last Friday.

The chief advantage that the Royal Oak players possessed over the "Rocks" was exceptionally good interference. Time and again this was the reason for long gains into Plymouth territory. The "Rocks" defense was unable to cope with the situation, and were compelled to accept the short end of the score 23 to 6.

The local team played without the services of Captain Strasen, who had been declared ineligible for that game. Reiman and Gates filled the position in the center of the line, and showed up well for their first game. More is expected of them in the future.

The "Rocks" were unable to score the first half, while Royal Oak succeeded in running up 20 points. In the second half the "Rocks" showed a change of heart, and held Royal Oak to a drop kick, while they registered a touchdown.

The line-up was as follows: Center, Gates; I. G., Richwine; R. G., Williams; I. T., Strasen; R. T., Sayles; I. E., Sutherland; R. E., Stevens; Q. B., Bartlett; I. H., Seger; F., Millard; R. H., Hickey. Substitutes—Mott for Strasen; Birch for Hickey; Mitchell for Millard.

FISHER-NEWELL

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Newell, 334 Harvey street, was prettily decorated with fall flowers on Thursday, October 12th, when their daughter, Florence Elma, became the bride of Alex C. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Fisher, of Brown City, Mich. Rev. Frank M. Field, pastor of the Martha Holmes Memorial church, Detroit, formerly of the Methodist church here, impressively read the marriage service.

At three o'clock the bridal party took their places before a trellis of pink and white snapdragon and smilax. Miss Mae Hallahan of this place, was bridesmaid, and Oren Burkeholder of Brown City, acted as best man. The bride was gowned in white chiffon over silk, and carried sweetheart roses and valley lilies. The bridesmaid wore henna canton crepe, and carried roses and baby chrysanthemums.

The occasion was doubly impressive, being the twenty-fourth anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents. Only the immediate relatives and friends were present. Dainty refreshments were served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Fisher left by auto for their newly built home at Brown City.

The bride is a member of the graduating class of 1918 of the Plymouth High school, and attended the Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti. For the past two years she has been a teacher in the Plymouth public schools.

Mr. Fisher graduated from the Brown City High school in 1918. He attended the Michigan State Normal College, being a member of the S. A. T. C. stationed there. At the present time he is connected with the A. E. Fisher shoe store in Brown City.

The out of town guests at the wedding were: Rev. and Mrs. F. M. Field of Detroit; Miss Kathryn Hallahan of Fenwick; Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Fisher and Oren Burkeholder of Brown City; Mrs. James Keys and daughter, Emma, of Yale.

Mrs. Harold Bissell and Miss Mae Hallahan were hostesses at a shower and dinner on Tuesday evening for the bride-elect. Wednesday evening the bridal party were honored by a dinner given at the bride's home.

WERNETT-FRITZ

William Wernett of this place, and Miss Hattie Fritz of Detroit, were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents in Detroit, last Tuesday evening, October 10th. After a few days' motor trip to Washington, D. C., and other eastern places, they will reside on the groom's farm, "Maple Lawn," just east of town. Plymouth friends extend best wishes to the happy couple.

A GREAT PICTURE COMING TO LOCAL THEATRE

NORMA TALMADGE SCORES
NEW SPECTACULAR TRIUMPH
IN "THE ETERNAL FLAME."

After "Smilin' Through" it may sound almost too good to be true to say that Norma Talmadge has made an even better production. But after viewing her in "The Eternal Flame," the First National attraction which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, October 17 and 18, you will agree that here beyond all doubt is the greatest photodrama of Miss Talmadge's career, her incomparable achievement to date.

Further than that, "The Eternal Flame," proves the supremacy of American art on the screen even over the most ambitious and massive foreign productions of foreign producers. For "The Eternal Flame" is a massive and spectacular production, a great human drama that tugs at the heart strings, moistens the eyes, grips with its dramatic sweep and warms the soul. Yes, and in its all embracing humanity, it at times brings out the smiles.

Filed on a magnificent scale with all the splendor and fine trappings of the early eighteenth century, with hundreds of players appearing in the scenes, "The Eternal Flame" may be well termed a motion picture masterpiece. An unusually well balanced cast of artists, in addition to Conway Tearle, is seen in support of Miss Talmadge.

Adolphe Jean Menjou gives a particularly fine characterization as the Duc de Langeais, while Rosemary They make an admirable Madame de Serizy. Wedgwood Nowell is seen as Marquis de Ronquerolles. Kate Lester as Princess de Viamont-Chauray, Thomas Ricketts as Viscount de Pamier, Irving Cummings as Count de Marsay and Otis Harlan as Abbe Gonrand.

The production was personally directed by Frank Lloyd, and without doubt is his finest screen achievement. Don't miss seeing this great picture, next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

CELEBRATED FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Last Sunday, October 8th, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beyer pleasantly celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

In the morning a special service was given in their honor in the Lutheran Evangelical church, of which they are members. The pastor, Rev. Charles Strasen, gave a pleasing and appropriate sermon. Special music was also furnished for the occasion. After the services, the honored guests were each presented with a handsome bouquet of roses from the Ladies' Aid of the church. At noon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ebert very agreeably entertained at dinner, not only in honor of their parents' fiftieth wedding anniversary, but also the fifty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. Beyer's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Oldenburg, and the second anniversary of the host and hostess. The table appointments were attractively carried out in lavender and white, cut glass candle sticks and candles in these colors forming a handsome centerpiece. Mr. and Mrs. Beyer were presented with several appropriate gifts from their children. It is the earnest wish of many friends that they may all celebrate many more such pleasant occasions.

FIREMEN WILL GIVE DANCE

BOOSTER TICKETS

Booster Tickets on sale for the first time by the Athletic Association of Plymouth High school.

There is a feeling in the Athletic Association that special recognition should be given to those persons in our community who always back all of the school activities. The Athletic Association, in recognition of the above feeling, have issued what they call Booster Tickets, which will admit the bearer to all athletic games; (first and second team) foot ball, basket ball, physical training exhibitions in the winter, base ball and track with the exception of the Four Square League meet which is not under the control of the High school.

The price of the ticket is to be $3.50 for the year, which is materially less than it would cost to attend all the events to which this ticket will admit, but it is the feeling of the school that we want you to be present at all of our events and hence the tickets which you will soon be offered.

WHAT WE NEED

Citizens of Plymouth and vicinity are no different from those of other communities when it comes to wondering what the world needs most to put it back in the groove it ought to be running in. But usually in seeking the cause for conditions we complain about we go too far from home. An ordinary St. Paul newspaper man has discovered this, and we believe our people will agree with him when he says that most of the things this country needs can be found and applied at home. Listen to the way he sizes up the nation's needs:

What this country needs is not a new birth of freedom, but the old-fashioned $2 lower berth.

What this country needs isn't more liberty, but less people who take liberties with our liberty.

What this country needs is not a job for every man, but a real man for every job.

What this country needs isn't to get more taxes from the people, but for the people to get more for their taxes.

What this country needs is not more miles of territory, but more miles to the gallon.

What this country needs is more tractors and less detractors.

What this country needs isn't more young men making speed, but more young men planting the right kind of seeds.

What this country needs is more paint on the old place and less paint on the young face.

What this country needs isn't a lower rate of interest on money, but a higher interest in work.

NORTHVILLE PEOPLE PLEASSED WITH PARADE

In commenting on Plymouth Day at the recent Northville Fair, and the big parade staged under the auspices of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, the Northville Record has the following to say in part, that bespeaks the appreciation of our neighbors, on this most happy occasion for both villages:

"Northville had received a slight intimation that Plymouth people were coming over in force for it had been announced that business was to be suspended for the afternoon, but no one looked for the splendid demonstration that was made by our neighbors.

"Besides the business firms represented there were many others also decorated, every one vying with his neighbor in making the parade an attractive feature and one worthy of the beautiful and enterprising community it represented. As the procession proceeded through the grounds and around the track it was greeted with hearty applause and every one was delighted with the exceptional showing made. It was certainly a very neighborly act and one that will long be remembered by Northville people, and we trust that at some future time we may be able to return the compliment. The parade reflected great credit upon the business firms and the people of Plymouth and they are to be congratulated upon the splendid spirit which prompted this display of neighborly interest and co-operation."

COUNTY TAX LEVY LESS BY MILLION

TOTAL ASSESSMENT FOR YEAR TO BE $3,830,045.

The county tax levy for the ensuing fiscal year will be $1,176,604.34 less than that for the last year, the board of county auditors will state in a financial report to be filed Tuesday with the board of supervisors.

There will be required for all county purposes next year $5,134,401.76. Of this sum there will be received from other sources of revenue and estimated $1,904,356.84, leaving a tax levy of $3,830,045.11. Last year's tax levy was $5,006,049.45.

Last year's deficit of $684,737.74 has been wiped out, the auditors will state, and there is now on hand a balance of $56,179.73.

There still remains on last year's delinquent tax rolls the sum of $426,720.60. This, however, includes $108,443.80 state taxes, which the county is compelled by law to turn over to the state, regardless of whether or not it is collected.—The Detroit Free Press, Tuesday, October 10.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Fred Garchow, on the Seven Mile road, last Sunday, when Mrs. Fred Garchow, Sr., all of her children, and most of her grandchildren and great grandchildren gathered there to celebrate the home-coming of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Hart and husband, of Scottville. Ice cream and cake were served. There were thirty-four present.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson were in Ann Arbor one day last week, to visit his brother, who is in the hospital there. His condition is serious. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cort of Southfield, entertained the following guests at a birthday dinner, Sunday, Oct. 8th, in honor of Mr. Cort's fifty-second birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William Cort and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Baze and family, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Gardner and Mrs. Nesson and daughter, Metha. A beautiful chicken dinner was served at noon, and ice cream and cake in the evening. Everyone had a very enjoyable time. There will be mission services at the Livonia Center church, Sunday, October 15th. Two sermons will be preached, German in the forenoon and English in the afternoon. The ladies will serve dinner at the town hall for all who wish. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leslie and son, Dale, were callers at the Stringer home, Wednesday of last week. They also attended the funeral of Cass Benton of Northville. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crookery and son, Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Curtis and son, Kendall, of Winn, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. William Garchow, this week. Mrs. Fred Garchow, Sr., has gone to Scottville, to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Hart.

There will be another dancing party at the Livonia town hall, Friday (tonight). Good music will be in attendance. Come and enjoy yourself. Shotka, Vera Bassett, Ethel Bassett, Elmer McKee, Marvin Kubic. Miss Ellis, the nurse, and later Fred C. Fisher, have visited the school. The girls and boys greatly enjoyed Mr. Fisher's visit, and his delightful talk to them. Our boys have bought a new foot ball. The school has been deeply grieved because of the death of our director, George Hix, Sr. The school has sent out a unanimous request that Mrs. George Hix, who has endeared herself to the entire school, be now made director. Our school is to be "at home" to its friends and patrons on Thursday afternoon of each week, from 1:00 to 2:30. We will review the work of the week by the socialized recitation method, followed by discussion. All are welcome.

AROUND ABOUT US

Ypsilanti has hopes that Henry Ford will establish a factory in that city. The Ypsilanti Normal has an enrollment of 1,941, with prospects of reaching the 2,000 mark. The Senior class of the South Lyon High school will give the people of that community a lecture course this year. The total enrollment in the University of Michigan for the present year, including the summer session, is 11,001. This is somewhat below last year's enrollment. James Bridson, president of the village of South Lyon, died at his home there last week Thursday evening, having suffered a stroke of apoplexy, Wednesday morning. The Clarenceville Hatchery owned by H. A. Williams, is to be greatly extended, which, when completed will give Clarenceville the largest hatchery in the world. The plant will have a capacity for hatching 10,000 chicks every seven days. Tomorrow, Saturday, October 14, is the date of the big Masonic barbecue at Redford. It is to be a real event, with the ox roasting right on the ground. There is to be a dance on the pavement, band concert by the Grotto band from Detroit, and other things to entertain the big crowd that is expected to attend. Two young men from Brighton, John Bidwell and Ralph Collins, have the distinction of having made the trip from Kansas City to Brighton, a distance of 900 miles in a Ford car, in 48 hours steady pull. The young men took turns at the wheel and did not stop from the time they started until they arrived in Brighton.—Howell Democrat. Twenty Chinese girls will attend the U. of M. at Ann Arbor this year,—the largest number in any university or college in the United States. Including the men, there will be nearly 90 Chinese students. About half of these are sent by the government, about half are independent students, some having parents of wealth sending them, and some are helping pay their way by working here.

THE FRUIT TREE PLANTING IN SPRING

ADVANTAGES OF FALL OUTPLANTING IN MICHIGAN BY WHICH WINTER KILLING, IS AVOIDED.

The safest course for the Michigan orchardist is to plant his trees in the spring, in order to avoid danger of winter injury. In severe cold, is the opinion of C. Bradford, of the Michigan Agricultural College department of horticulture.

Advantages of fall planting, are great in certain sections, more than outweighed in this section by the chances that an unusually severe winter will result in injury or even actual killing of newly planted trees.

Arguments in favor of fall planting are logical enough," says Bradford. "There is generally work to be done on the farm that season. Conditions in all favor good root growth and establishment of the trees. In spring, there is danger of a heavy drain upon the trees in supporting not only root growth but also the opening leaf buds.

The advantage, then, would seem to rest with the fall-planted tree, other things being equal. However, the other things are not always equal, and climatic conditions must be taken into consideration. In some sections fall-planting is almost universal, but in others, it is just as universally avoided. Where winters are really cold, fall-planted trees are liable to severe damage, while in other sections, generally southerly in location, mild winters make fall planting advisable.

"Michigan lies, for the most part in a sort of neutral zone where some winters are mild enough so that trees planted the previous fall come through nicely. Some Michigan winters, on the other hand, are so cold that even trees set out the previous spring are in danger and fall trees have no chance at all.

"Hazzmuth as we cannot predict in October what the winter will be like, the safest course is to plant in the spring in Michigan."

KING'S CORNERS

Mrs. Charles Treat of Belding, was a week-end guest of Mrs. George Hix and family.

David McCracken is much better at this writing.

Charles Voss, who has been in poor health nearly all summer, does not improve in health, and Dr. Tupper of Redford, was called last week.

The Helping Hand will not hold a meeting this month. It is requested that all who have blocks for the quilt will please send them to Mrs. Charles Parrish or Mrs. Ed. Pettibone.

Work is progressing quite rapidly on the new school house at King's Corners.

Mrs. George Hix, son, George, Jr., and daughter, Clarissa, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hix called on the former's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kempf of Detroit, have bought three acres of land of the latter's father, Mr. Bakewell, at the corner of Wayne avenue and the King road, and have broken ground for the erection of a new house on the same.

Mrs. Charles Treat of Belding, is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish and other friends here.

HAVEN FOR MICE

Small Rodents Said to Infest New York's Skyscrapers.

According to Trustful Janitors, They Burrow into Steel and Concrete, and Establish Homes.

A stenographer on the third floor of a downtown office building recently aroused considerable comment by climbing on top of her desk and waving her arms around in the air and crying loudly for someone to save her. She had seen a mouse. Now, mice do turn up in odd places in New York, everybody knows, remarks the Sun of that city.

It is of recent newspaper record that one came out of the stony walls of the aquarium and fell into the shark tank and another mouse is reported as emerging inside the Statue of Liberty, up near the top, and looking at a party of school teachers and starting a disturbance in which several of the teachers were badly shaken up.

"Mice" exclaimed the head janitor of a steel and concrete skyscraper. "Is that the first mouse you ever saw round this joint? Listen, I bring five cats to this place so far, and I been on this job just three weeks."

"Yes?" replied the investigator. "And how have they come out?"

"You mean how have they gone out. You never saw cats go out of a place so fast. They takes one look around and blow. When a mouse gets just so competent, you know, a cat doesn't eat him any more—he eats the cat."

Another building was investigated, one of the richest banks on Wall street, a structure of terra cotta, tile and marble and skeleton steel, and from basement to top floor library, the janitor says, it is one grand cheese.

That janitor has tried everything. He says he began with traps; but gave them up. Then he turned to professional exterminators. Every week they would come and kill all the mice in the building. Every week. He grew tired of having them around after a while and bought a high-priced cat. He still keeps the cat, but it is more for sentimental reasons than anything else. He likes to have something around to pet.

Still further investigation brought to light an incident which happened on the twenty-eighth floor of a forty-second street skyscraper. The woman in charge of a roomful of girl filing clerks looked up to find her force suddenly begin to conduct itself in a way she never approves under any circumstances.

Three girls began to walk upon the tops of their desks. Three more shinned up the sides of filing cabinets. Another girl stood in a waste basket and called for the police. And the rest cruised about the office in a riotous manner.

The department head looked upon all this as a breach of discipline. She arose and went down into the heart of the riot, intending to say so. But arriving there she changed her mind. She let out a whoop which traveled half way across Manhattan island, and picked up her skirts and fled.

A mouse had come out of the fresh-air shaft looking for a cat.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

We were pleased to have H. E. Piper, Superintendent of Religious Education for the Diocese of Michigan, with us last Sunday morning, and he gave a splendid address. Mr. Piper also met with the pupils and teachers of the church school after the service and gave a short address. We were pleased to see such a full attendance at the service and the church school to welcome Mr. Piper, although there were a few absent through sickness.

The church school will give a weekly supper party in the village park on the flats, on Thursday, at 4:30. Mr. Murphy wants to see all the pupils of the school there and as many of the members of the congregation who can be there. The proceeds of this outing will go toward our church school pledge, for the Armenian child. It will be remembered that when the call was made for the church at the end of May for the Armenian Aid, this call was readily responded to; the small band of members at the church service responded liberally both by donations and pledges. This was followed up nobly by the church school pupils who pledged themselves to take care of one Armenian child for one year.

All the members of the church congratulate our warden, A. J. Lapham, many happy returns of the day.

The time of service and church-school has been altered. See announcement in church service column.

The Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew's will meet with Mr. Gibson in the church on Friday evening, at 6:30.

In addition to his annual allowance, Mr. Gibson will be given an automobile. Mr. Gibson will have his office in the vestry of the church, and at present, he will attend at his office every Thursday afternoon between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 o'clock.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Freshmen reception, given in the High school auditorium, last Friday evening, was well attended. Games were played, such as Faith, Hope and Charity. Some beautiful freshmen's faces were worth the price of admission when they found out they had been fooled by the sisters. Hiram and Mandy and Maggie Music were played also. The president of the senior class, Perry Richwine, gave a welcoming address to the freshmen class, and Blanche Freeman, president of the freshman class, gave the response. Then the seniors gave a short play, which was very entertaining, after which cider and doughnuts were served.

The Plymouth Reserves played at Redford, last Wednesday afternoon. The score was 21 to 0 in favor of Plymouth.

Mrs. Russell Wingard visited the B first grade, last week Thursday, and Mrs. J. H. Fleury was a visitor on Monday.

Doris Lockwood has returned to school, after an absence of several weeks.

Ardath Baker has re-entered school after an illness of several weeks.

The Seniors cleared about twenty dollars on the bake sale, last Saturday. The proceeds will go towards the Washington trip.

The testing of the voices in the seventh grade chorus has just been completed, and the chorus is now ready for regular work.

Miss Quigley, a senior teacher in Essex, Ontario, visited the seventh and eighth grades, last Friday afternoon. Miss Quigley praised especially the attention and courtesy of the seventh and eighth grade pupils whom she visited. Miss Gibbs, an intermediate teacher in Kingsville, Ontario, and Miss Chamberlain of Leamington, visited the elementary grades the same afternoon.

Juanita Coe is accompanying for Junior chorus and one orchestra.

There will be a foot ball game here, Friday afternoon, 8:45—Belleville and Plymouth. Let's go.

An apple auction was held in Mr. Ross' assembly, Monday night after school. The proceeds will go to the Aggie club.

The Seniors will sell hot dogs at the foot ball game, Friday. Bring your appetites and money.

Miss Schmid's English 10 class has a new method for promoting better English. Each member is fined one cent for each mistake he makes. The proceeds will be used for pictures. Are the policemen busy?

Island Religious Shrine. Star Island, one of the Isles of Shoals, ten miles off the mainland of New Hampshire, has been dedicated exclusively to religious service for 120 years. On its rocky summit is a small graystone church which was built in the year 1800. This has been used ever since as a place of worship, first by fishermen's mothers, sisters and sweethearts who prayed for the safe return of their loved ones. During the last 26 years it has been a shrine for Unitarians and Congregationalists.

At ten o'clock each night long lines of men and women, carrying small lanterns, wend their way thither and, a churchful at a time, hang their lanterns on the walls and bow their heads in prayer or raise their voices in appropriate hymns.

But Not His Perfumery. Bobby, a five-year-old citizen of Irvington, had been suffering from quinsy and the specialist found it necessary to give the lad ether when he lanced his throat, says the Indianapolis News. As soon as Bobby had sufficiently recovered, plans were made to have the offending tonsils removed. In order to smooth the way, Bobby's mother said:

"Now, Bobby, the same kind doctor who took away the pain from your throat last week is coming again to remove your tonsils, so that you will never have another sore throat. You liked the doctor, didn't you?"

After a short pause, during which Bobby's face showed signs of unpleasant reflection, he answered:

"Yes, I liked the doctor all right, but I didn't like his perfumery."

Palladium and Platinum. In the investigation of methods for assaying platinum, conducted by the bureau of mines, recent experiments have developed that with certain ores, especially when the quantity of platinum is considerable, nitric acid will not effect a separation of platinum and palladium. A method which has been found to be accurate and to result in a complete separation of these metals is described in Serial 2353.

Today's Reflections

Whenever a Plymouth girl tells a fellow that her dress is made of a kind of material that won't rumple, that's sufficient.

The most fashionable form of entertainment this winter is going to be a house-warming.

You never can tell how a girl looks at the breakfast table, by the way she looks at the postoffice in the afternoon.

We heard one Plymouth man say yesterday that he'd invest in a high-priced auto, if he wasn't afraid the neighbors would think he was boot-legging.

The governor of Tennessee has entered an old-fashioned fiddling contest. But for fiddling around, give us congress.

Plymouth girls should remember that it's not too early to begin hinting around about what they want for Christmas.

Every now and then Bryan remembers that President Harrison was 68 years old when he was inaugurated.

The dead letter office at Washington is said to be swamped with political letters—and that's where most of them belong.

Lots of Plymouth people can remember the good old days when all they had to do was to order some coal and they got it.

After chewing tobacco for 81 years, a Deafolines man has quit. He must have been afraid the habit would grow on him.

Some Plymouth folks take too much trouble in making pleasure, and too much pleasure in making trouble.

We overheard a Plymouth citizen declare a few days ago, that if hair tonic is as long developing a jag as it is developing hair on a bald head, it makes a poor substitute for booze.

A Matrimonial Truce

By MYRA C. LANE

(Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Father's coming to spend a week with us."

"Little Mrs. Harrison looked up at her tall, athletic husband in dismay. 'Now of all times,' she said.

"You haven't sent him that letter announcing our intention of separating?"

"No, I haven't posted it. What's to be done? We can't smother his last days by letting him find it out."

"We'll have to stick it out for another week. I'm sorry for you, Mary."

"I'm sorry for you, Tom, compelled to spend a whole week with such a dreadful person as myself."

The Harrisons had talked things over and absolutely decided that they could no longer endure life together.

Tom was such a brute, always grumbling about the bills, and bothering one whom one was working—and how could you fry an egg and at the same time listen to a man talking about his friend Bill! And then he smoked in the drawing-room, and was untidy and mused things up, besides having a fiend of a temper.

And Mary was cold and hard as nails, and utterly unsympathetic; and she made the home into a museum, and hated tobacco and all the good things of life. And—oh, well, they had just made a mistake, and there was no hard feeling.

"We'll have to pretend to care for each other while father's here," said Mary.

"Pretty hard, but we'll try," said Tom.

"Oh, you are a brute, aren't you?" said Mary.

Nevertheless, as they had agreed, it had to be done. Old Mr. Radcliff belonged to the old school. It had never entered his mind that married folks could seriously disagree, and as for separation—why, that was absolutely impossible.

They drove up from the station, the old man plying them with sympathetic questions. They showed him over the house and garden.

"You two young folks must be as happy as turtle doves," said Mr. Radcliff.

"Ha—ha! I mean—of course we are," said Tom, in a hollow voice.

"I've got to get lunch ready," said Mary.

"Don't be long, darling," said Tom, drawing her into his arms and kissing her sweet lips.

Mary wiped the kiss away when Mr. Radcliff's back was turned, and departed with a ferocious scowl.

"Tom, you're overdoing it," she said, when the old man had gone to take his afternoon nap.

"Sorry," said Tom.

"Yes, you look as if you were sorry! You know you only kissed me out of spite; you monster!" said Mary, stamping.

"It didn't give me any pleasure," said Tom.

"I absolutely hated it," said Mary. "And did you consider that we'll have to have the same room while father's here, because he's so old-fashioned?"

"We'll just have to put up with it," said Tom.

"It's horrible," said Mary. It was indeed a terrible week, and Tom was determined to do everything he could to make it unbearable. He always kissed Mary night and morning, right in front of the old man, loud, vulgar, resounding salutations, and when they were in the garden he walked with his arm round her.

"I'm glad to see you young folks get on so well together," said old Mr. Radcliff, chuckling. "You might have looked further and fared a good deal worse, both of you."

"Yes, indeed," said Tom. "I bless every hour of the day when I first met my angel."

"Damn fool!" whispered Mary in his ear.

"Come, young people, no love-making in public!" said old Mr. Radcliff.

The visit came to an end as visits must. The horse was harnessed, the buggy was driven down the hill. They waited on the platform for the train. It puffed into the station.

"Good-by, young people," called the old man. "I've spent a splendid time with you. I shall make a point of coming back for Christmas."

They watched each other as the train departed. Evidently they got into the buggy, and Tom drove Mary home.

"Well?" she asked jolly.

"Thank goodness that father is over."

"Oh, you brute, you brute! You were trying to make me care for you again," sobbed Mary.

Tom's arm was round her in a moment. "Don't cry, darling," he said. "Go home and hug me."

"Hug! I'm leaving this afternoon!"

"Where are you going, darling?"

"To Chicago—to—let's haven't decided."

"I have, haven't. What if you say to a bank at Atlantic City? We just got state, moved up in the country, that's all."

"Don't do you mean that! Please! Please!"

"What's wrong?"

"You'll never forgive me."

"You'll never forgive me?"

"You'll never forgive me?"

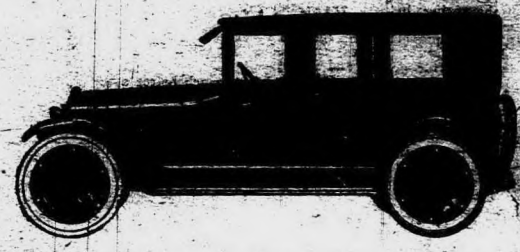

"I want to father to come down in person."

"What's wrong?"

"You'll never forgive me?"

The Woman-Hater

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

Mrs. Davenant, white, determined, faced her neighbor, Henry Slade, over the privet fence.

"You scolded my little boy and made him cry!" she accused him.

"All right; you keep that little boy of yours off my flower beds," said Henry Slade.

"He just climbed over to get a ball."

"Climbed through and ruined my prize nasturtiums. Children ought to be looked after properly."

"You're just a mean, miserable old man," said Mrs. Davenant, turning away because she was not going to let him see her cry.

Henry Slade winced, but he turned away in time to prevent her seeing it. He was not really so old—in the late forties, perhaps, but all the town knew he was a crusty old bachelor, whom even his charming neighbor had failed to soften.

"That's the woman all over," muttered Slade, as he went to repair the ruins of his flower-bed. "What that little widow wants is some fool of a man to marry her and keep her in order!"

Certainly things had been badly strained between them since Mrs. Davenant and her little son rented the house next to the Slade place. Henry Slade had lived so long in solitude, since his unhappy love affair of long ago; the sound of the girlish laughter and the boy's prattle were a perpetual reminder of what might have been.

And he had been harsh with the child. He knew that. A few days later, looking up from his flowers, he saw the child's figure at the gap in the hedge.

"Hello!" he said.

"Mummy says I'm not to go near you."

"Why not?"

"'Cos you're a cross old man."

The boy developed a fascination for seeing his neighbor working. The next day Slade looked up and saw him at the gap again. He beckoned mysteriously, and the child went forward timidly.

"D'you like candy?"

The boy looked at it. "Tain't poisoned, is it?" he said, as he took it.

"Of course not. Did she—your mother—tell you that? I'll—I'll—"

Henry Slade marched furiously up the garden and rang a peal upon the bell. Nevertheless, the pretty, cool-looking, girlish woman who confronted him at the door checked the fires of his anger.

"Oh, thank you so much for the candy you gave Danny."

"So you told him I'd give him poisoned candy, did you?"

"Nothing of the kind, Mr. Slade!"

"Humph! You let him think so."

"I didn't! You are a suspicious person. I think the trouble with you is, you've been shut away from the world so long that you've become a regular human-being hater."

Henry Slade crimsoned and turned away. Mrs. Davenant ran to his side.

"I—I didn't mean that," she said.

"Forgive me. And—can't we be friends, Mr. Slade?"

Henry Slade hesitated, then put his broad palm out and took Mrs. Davenant's dainty little one. And after that they said good-morning over the hedge, and Danny spoiled the flower-beds at his sweet will.

There came a day when Slade missed Danny. Next day he felt as if something had gone out of his life when the house remained silent. They had not gone away, but—why, there was the doctor's car!

He hurried to the door after the doctor had gone. Mrs. Davenant was weeping. "It's spotted fever," she said.

"He's in such pain, and—asking for you all the time. I was going to ask you—won't you go up to him? It's not infectious for grown-ups."

Henry Slade mounted the stairs. There on the bed lay Danny, flushed and moaning.

"I want the cross old man who gave me candy," he kept crying.

"Hush, darling, here he is!" said his mother.

All that day Henry Slade sat by the bedside, holding the little hand. The doctor found him there and raised his eyebrows ironically. Next day it was touch and go. On the third day Danny was smiling up at Slade, conscious.

The fever left no paralysis, and during convalescence Henry Slade discovered that he had an inexhaustible reservoir of stories about liars, pirates, and fairies. The two were inseparable.

Then came the day when Slade said: "Well, I guess I won't be needed any more, now he's up and about. I suppose he'll be breaking down my privet hedge again tomorrow."

He held Mrs. Davenant's hands, and the look in her eyes suddenly awakened him to realities.

"Come whenever you like," she said softly.

"It will be to see—you, then," said Henry Slade.

On His Way.

"Mose, what would you do if you received a letter from the Ku Klux Klan?" a local negro was asked.

"Well, sah, I'd read it on a train," replied Mose.

Souful Sympathy.

"Oh," she walked, "why did Fate deprive me of my first dear, kind, considerate husband?"

"There, there," he said consolingly, "try to bear it bravely. I'm just as sorry as you are."

A Remarkable Record

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds, croup and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities become better known. It is the standard and main reliance for these diseases in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.—Advertisement.

DOWN WITH THE ICONOCLAST

Writer Refuses to Give Up Youth's Illusions at the Bidding of Scientific "Sharps."

Must all our illusions be dispelled? Reading Les Annales we learn from a formidable scientific man who writes in a cocksure manner that nowhere near the French coast, nor near the Channel Islands, is there a devil-fish, a pieuvre, to be found capable of grappling with and destroying a man by the exercise of his blood-pumping suckers. And so we must no longer be excited over the adventure of Victor Hugo's "Gilliat." No longer should that sinister line, "Something seized him by the heel," which ends the chapter describing Slenr Clubin's dive into the ocean, cause us a thrill of curiosity.

And now another ingenious scientific gentleman assures us that Noah's ark was really one of the great pyramids of Egypt; that the animals entering the ark—marshaled two by two—the elephant and the kangaroo—were really the signs of the zodiac—the ram, the scorpion and the rest of them—symbolical figures, as shown in the old-fashioned medical almanac.

We still prefer the Noah's ark of our childhood, with the little wooden Shem, Ham and Japheth, with the little wooden animals that were so easily broken, Philip Hale writes in the Boston Herald. Are these arks still for sale in toy shops? We shall continue to find pleasure in the old illustrated family Bible, where the ark is shown securely resting on Ararat. Did not Dom Calmet give a minute description of the ark, making this profoundly original remark: "We find, Gen. 8:18, that the ark wato have 'a door in the side thereof'; this is indispensably necessary, for the purpose of ingress and egress." Did he not prove that the ark was without a keel; that it was no other than a large house "whose timbers instead of going into the ground, whereby they would have been held, were detached from it, so that when it was required to float, the waters might easily 'lift up the ark'?"

And in like manner we believe in the Kraken, that great bird, the roc, the sea-serpent, and above all the huge squid—"a vast pulpy mass fur-longs in length and breadth, of a glancing cream color, innumerable long arms radiating from its center, and curling and twisting like a nest of anacondas, as if blindly to clutch at any hapless object within reach"; the squid without perceptible face or front, "an unearthly, formless, chance-like apparition of life"; the great live squid, "which, they say, few whale ships ever beheld, and returned to their ports to tell of it."

She Could See the Man.

When Grandmother Burch was beyond her three-score and ten, with uncertain eyesight, she amazed and perplexed her married daughter, with whom she lived, by declaring that she intended to marry an old man living nearby, who had been coming to see her.

"But, mother," said her daughter in protest, "you are not very well, and your eyesight is falling so fast you cannot see 50 rods away."

The old lady protested that she could see "real good," and her daughter said:

"We will put it to the test. If this old man comes around today I will have him stand near the barn and see if you can really see him. Be home" about it."

The old lady agreed to this, and the aged suitor appeared a few hours later. He was asked to stand at one corner of the barn, and the old lady came out to be put to the test. Standing in the door of the kitchen she shaded her eyes with one hand and finally said:

"Well, I can't somehow or other see the barn, but I do see the man!"—Judge.

New Use for Typewriter Cases.

A new use has been found for the carrying case of a widely known make of portable typewriter. The owner, who is very enthusiastic about her machine, recently was planning a week-end trip. When she began to pack she found that another member of the family had borrowed her traveling bag. She was at her wit's end to solve the difficulty. She must either abandon the visit or turn borrower herself and there was little time left in which to do the latter.

Then she had a brilliant idea, and the typewriter was removed from its case, set away on the piano and the necessities for the week-end visit were packed.

As the young woman started for the train, case in hand, she admonished the only member of the family who had witnessed the proceedings:

"And don't tell any of the rest that I have my clothes in this. Let them think it is the typewriter I am taking, or the next time I won't even have the case to fall back on."

Hot Dogs.

"An' dat," concluded Sam, who was arguing with Snowball about the relative merits of dogs they had once owned, "was a wunnerful houn'! Why, one day he come fooling roon' mah daddy's blacksmith shop an' mah daddy got mad an' chucked a hammer at him, an' da dawg—yo' know what he done? Well, he done made a bolt fo' de do'."

"Hmf!" sneered Snowball. "Nuffin' tall, nuffin' tall! One time Ah throwed a hammer at mah dawg, an' he started makin' tracks fo' de Atlantic Seaboard railway. An' maybe he's making tracks yet, fo' he sho' was de wunnerfulest dawg!"—American Legion Weekly.

How Better Than Pills

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? ### BAPTIST NOTES

The church had a fine dress on for Sunday—the flowers and decorations were splendid. It gives good cheer to all.

The prayer meeting will be in the church parlor on Thursday evening. Come to the basement door at rear of the church. Meeting at 7:00 p. m. The new piano seems to be nearer a reality than ever before. More are giving, and the interest seems to be good. The church hopes to have it in place in a few days. We want it in place for the B. Y. P. U. rally, next Tuesday evening.

All the young people of this village, are invited and will be welcome to the rally of the young people of Wayne Association.

Miss Alta Hamill led the B. Y. P. U., last Sunday evening. The discussion was on "Procrastination," and took in neglect in school, business and religion. A good attendance made the meeting more interesting. All young people are invited every Sunday night at 6:00 o'clock. All the church services in the evening are one-half hour earlier.

STILL MATTER FOR RESEARCH

Astronomical Science, Although Enormously Developed, Has Yet a Great Deal to Discover.

A century of continuous achievements in the knowledge of other worlds has brought us, as Professor Eddington suggests, to the threshold of expectations which a generation ago would have been deemed fantastic.

We have giant telescopes beyond the imagination of fifty years ago. The camera has, in the minds of many of the public, almost brought the sun and his satellites onto a dissecting table. Above everything else the spectroscope has revolutionized astronomical science by revealing the materials of which the sun, moon and stars are composed.

But we must calmly await the information of science which admits the existence of vegetation in Mars as to the mysterious "signals" of its inhabitants. There may be men in the moon in the breathable atmosphere of its stupendous craters. The field of astronomical research excludes nothing but the impossible. We all share the "feeling" to which Professor Eddington gave expression, "that we are on the verge of something greater than our dreams can shape."—London Mail.

WOODEN LEG A HANDICAP

Physician Had Forgotten That Apprehension Would Not Help Duck in Its Native Element.

A distinguished doctor of Baltimore, Md., has a flock of Muscovy ducks running around his country place and bearing a great commotion in the chicken yard one afternoon hurried hence to see one of his ducks doing a line of dare-devil stunts in mid-air. The "falling leaf," "tail-split" and such performances were following one another with startling rapidity when the doctor discovered that the cause of it all was a big rat which was hanging on the duck's leg. The rat held on until the duck came off, when the rodent dropped to the ground and escaped. The doctor tied the injured member and his surgery was a success in that the bird recovered, but it had a great handicap in its possession of a single leg. The doctor made a wooden leg for the fowl which answered all purposes on the land, but when the bird ventured into the water its efforts to juggle with one leg caused it to describe one circle after another so that it finally did reach the shore it was by the merest accident.

Swallowed by London.

Cheam was once a delightful village in Surrey; today it is fast becoming a suburb of London. But it still has some respect for the days when it was simply a decorative feature on a beautiful countryside. When it was found that Cheam's beautiful fourteenth century cottage was in the way of the road being widened, Cheam did not say either "Down with the cottage" or "Let the motorcars go round another way." It simply decided to put the house on rollers and move it back a little way, as was done a few years ago with Trinity house, in the old cathedral city of Worcester. Everybody gains, the motorist by having a wider road, and the artist by contemplation of a fine specimen of fourteenth century architecture; while Cheam should be happy in having entered a practical protest against an act of vandalism.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Last Straw.

It had been a trying day and Raymond's father was rather irritable. He stood for a few questions from the youngster, but when the latter asked what caused the desert of Sahara, he laid down his paper and answered: "I guess it formed when the Israelites lost their sand. And if you don't quit asking me so many questions I'll see you mother puts you to bed before I get home hereafter."

"But, pa," came the question, "how can you see her put me to bed if she puts me to bed before you get home?" And that question was Raymond's last—for that evening.—Boston Transcript.

In Different Classes.

A visitor in an Australian home inquired of his host's little son, "Do you go to school now?"

"Yes, sir."

"And what do you learn—reading, writing, sums?"

"Oh, yes, and I learn religion, too."

"Religion?"

"Yes. I learn the little religion which teaches that we all come from Adam. But my older brother is in a higher class; he learns the big religion and that teaches that we all come from monkeys."—Boston Transcript.

Wonder of Small Things.

The greatness of our life depends on so little! In the midst of the humdrum incidents of ordinary days, the verse of a poet may suddenly reveal to us something stupendous. No solemn word has been spoken, and we feel that nothing has been called forth; and yet, why has an ineffable face beckoned to us from behind an old man's fears? Or why does a vast night, starred with angels, extend over the smile of a child?—Maeterlinck.

The Missionary Society held a very delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. W. S. Thomas on Main street, Wednesday of this week. The program was in charge of Mrs. Fitzgerald.

The Ladies' Aid Society plans of division organization are progressing very nicely. A fine, aggressive set of officers have been elected in each section, which means that there will be sure to be something doing.

WHEREAS, on the 4th day of October, A. D. 1922, an application was filed with Geo. A. Dingman, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Wayne, for the locating and establishing of a certain drain, which said drain was described in said application as follows, to-wit: Beginning at a point about fifty-five (55) rods south of the center of Section 35 on the west side of the highway in Canton township, Wayne County, Michigan, thence in a southeasterly and easterly course in the S. ### W. C. T. U.

The Frances Willard meeting held by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Thursday, October 5th, at the home of Mrs. W. Jennings was well attended and the program was excellent. "A brief sketch of Frances E. Willard," by Mrs. G. A. Smith and "Memories of Rest Cottage," by Mrs. Clyde Alexander, were greatly enjoyed by all. A number of interesting readings and choice quotations from the writings of Miss Willard were also read by the members.

A Tea meeting will be held, Thursday, October 26th, at the home of Mrs. M. A. Patterson and Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd.

The Viscountess Astor who is American born and English by adoption, is a zealous booster for the dry cause. In her present efforts for local option she has created quite a stir among the dry bones of English social custom. She has published a pamphlet from which we quote the following: "Complete freedom for each individual must mean anarchy, and, with human nature as it is, a society based on this kind of liberty could probably not last 24 hours. Civilization involves a surrendering of private liberties; for the sake of the people's liberty; and the state can no more afford to let every man indulge his tastes in drink than his desire to drive at 60 miles an hour down Edgware Road."—From the Michigan Union of October.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEET

The opening meeting of the Woman's Club, after the summer vacation, was held in the new club room in the Conner building, last Friday afternoon, October 6th, with about sixty members present. The room is large and pleasant and has a kitchenette and lavatory adjoining. The members of the building committee, with Mrs. R. E. Cooper, chairman, had selected the furnishings for the room and everything was in readiness for the first meeting of the club year. Sixty folding chairs with two larger mahogany chairs for the presiding officer and secretary had been placed in the room, also a handsome Brambach baby grand piano, floor lamp and rug, while a massive library table, the gift of Mrs. Ellen Nichols, a former member of the club, added greatly to the convenience and attractiveness of the furnishings. Several jars of beautiful flowers made the room still more inviting, and indeed the many expressions of approval and pleasure by members of the club during the afternoon added new zeal and interest in the organization. This room is really the first home the club has ever possessed in its 20 years of existence.

The meeting was called to order at the appointed hour by the president, Mrs. George H. Robinson, who presided over the business session, while the program in charge of the leader of divisions, Mrs. Coello Hamilton, was presented as follows:

Message from the President—Mrs. George H. Robinson.

Two pleasing piano selections—Miss Evelyn Thomas.

A short talk on the Bazaar, which will be held Friday afternoon, Nov. 10th—Mrs. Fred Campbell.

Mrs. Campbell, as chairman of the Bazaar, made the following appointments: chairman of miscellaneous booth, Mrs. Luther Peck; handkerchief booth, Mrs. Frederick Casady; apron booth, Mrs. William Pettigill; baked goods, Mrs. Harry Shattuck; kitchen booth, Mrs. Coello Hamilton. Several new features will be added to the Bazaar this year.

The program concluded with a selected reading by Mrs. Charles Hunt. A social hour with light refreshments followed. The next regular meeting will be held Friday afternoon, October 20th.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

On Monday, October 9th, Andrew J. Lapham was pleasantly surprised at his home on Holbrook avenue, the occasion being his eighty-first birthday. His four own cousins present were: Henry Aldrich of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. David C. Lapham of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Angell of Nova; Mr. and Mrs. Milton West of Milford, and his oldest daughter, Mrs. A. S. Norris of Detroit; also Mr. and Mrs. John L. Shaekleton and family and Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Ware of this place.

The guests all arrived in time for a beautiful dinner served at one o'clock. Mr. Lapham has been engaged in active business for 56 years, starting at the age of 25, and is now the oldest merchant in business in Plymouth. At the close of the day the guests departed, all having had a splendid time, and wishing Mr. Lapham many more happy birthdays.

Young Stevens sent in a list numbering about 867 words.

BEATTLE-TRUESDELL

A charming wedding was solemnized last week Thursday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Truesdell when their daughter, Naomi Estelle, became the bride of Claude William Beattle, son of Ben Beattle of Michigan avenue. The ceremony was performed at the farm home of the bride on the Artley road which had been prettily decorated in pink and white for the occasion.

To the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march rendered by Miss Lucile Kingsbury of Wayne, the bridal party, consisting of Miss Mattie Lamphere, Detroit, as maid of honor; little Miss Sherley Beattle, Lansing, ring bearer, Alfred Truesdell, brother of the bride, as best man, and the bride on the arm of her father, proceeded to the parlor where they were met by the groom and Rev. Biddlecombe of Wayne, who performed the ring ceremony. Mrs. Cady Moore sang "O, Promise Me," following the ceremony.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a gown of white satin and carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Following the wedding ceremony a delicious two-course wedding supper was served. Guests were present from Lansing, Gregory, Detroit, Wayne, Denton and Cherry Hill, and some lovely gifts were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Beattle will leave shortly for Florida where they will spend the winter.

FRAIN'S LAKE

Ernest Fishbeck and wife of Detroit, spent Sunday with Fred Fishbeck and family.

Edward Lyke and daughter, Evelyn, spent the week-end with friends at Macon.

The G. R. O. W. class will be entertained tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kock.

Evelyn Lyke accompanied Mrs. Blais, the teacher, to her home in Ann Arbor, Wednesday night.

William Lyke and family were guests of Mabel Sherwood, Sunday, and found her recovering from her illness.

Gus Lidkie and family spent Sunday with William Richter in Ypsilanti.

Charles Freeman and family attended a reception in Ypsilanti, in honor of Spencer Davis and bride.

Mr. Cole and family of Ypsilanti, have occupied the Lucas place, formerly occupied by Lloyd Lyke, the latter having moved to Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Mame Prince, who has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Jewell, returned to her home in Martinsville, last week.

Edward Lyke and wife and Willard Geer attended the Powlerville fair, last Thursday.

Albert Shock and son-in-law have taken possession of the farm formerly owned by Eugene Staebler.

Some stolen goods were picked up in front of Dan Jewell's home a few days ago, belonging to some parties who were moving. The mover's cart gave out this side of Ann Arbor, and when some very sympathetic strollers came along and offered to take them back to the garage for repairs, they readily accepted the offer. Leaving the moving family at the garage they hurriedly pursued their trail, only to load up the goods, which they could easily carry and went on their way, but they lost a fortune of earned goods and a suitcase near Jewell's. Obtaining an address from a letter found in the suitcase the officers were able to find the owner and gave chase to the thieves, but they have not yet been found.

"Business First" His Motto.

A small Franklin boy secured a route for the News and in so doing his first work he did the responsibility of it more than his parents realized. When the day for school came his route came around there was a big phone on the line and the family was wondering what John was going to do about it.

However, before they had time to make his plans for him, he announced to them:

"You know, mother, get it the phone, and it's just a matter on a few lines that get a business and always says, 'Business first,' but that's what you've got to do when you're in business." He turned out proudly to call on his subscribers.—Indianapolis News.

Ended First Love Affair.

When I was in the fourth grade a boy whom I admired very much used to come and call for my brother, also hoping to see me. He usually did, one Saturday when returning from a rabbit hunt he stopped in front to talk to my brother, but failed to appear. Then he exclaimed: "Watch me bring her out!" He fired the gun and did "bring her out," but the "her" was my mother, and the "bringing out" he got ended my first love affair.—Exchange.
