PLYMOUTH WINS FROM BELLEVILLE

The game was called at 4:00 o'clock, Plymouth kicking to Belleville. Not much happened this quarter, the ball first being Belleville's and then Plymouth's.

The second quarter started with the ball in possession of Plymouth. The team, using nothing but straight foot ball, carried the ball down the field and finally succeeded in getting a touchdown. The try for point failed. Plymouth kicked to Belleville, and the half ended with the score 6 to 0 in Plymouth's favor.

The third quarter started with Plymouth kicking off. Belleville failing to make their downs, the ball went to Plymouth. After a series of line smashes and end runs, the Rocks gained another touchdown. A try for point failed again. Belleville again chose to receive. Unable to make any gains, they were compelled to kick. After a few passes and some end runs, Plymouth scored another touchdown. Millard scored a point by a drop kick. Belleville received and the quarter ended.

The next quarter, Belleville tried their luck with passes and got away with some very nice ones. But Stevens intercepted one and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. A try for point failed. Belleville chose to receive and ran the ball within Plymouth's 30 yard line. Then they tried a field goal, but failed. Plymouth getting the ball and going down the field for another touchdown. Again the try for point failed. The game ended with the ball in Plymouth's possession. Final score, 25 to 0.

DEATH OF AGED LADY

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Nash, a pioneer resident of this vicinity, died Tuesday afternoon, October 17th, at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. George Gittins, on South Main street, where she was staying for a few weeks, while her home on West Ann Arbor street was being repaired. The deceased passed her 95th birthday the fourth of last May and for the last eight years has been confined to her home and a wheel chair, due to a broken hip, but although sorely afflicted, she was always cheery and considerate of others. She is survived by one son, Erford Nash, of Fowler, Mich., one daughter, Mrs. Ella Sillington of Northville, several grandchildren and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jessie Nash, with whom she has resided for more than thirty years. Her husband and a son, John Nash, preceded her to the higher life several years ago.

Mrs. Nash has been a resident of Plymouth for about fifteen years, having moved here with her son and wife from their farm in Canton.

The funeral services were held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Horace E. Sayles pastor of the Baptist church, of which the deceased was a member for many years, and Rev. D. D. Nagle, pastor of the Methodist church officiating. Interment took place on the family lot at Cherry Hill.

With the passing of this aged lady, Plymouth loses one of its oldest and most respected residents. Among the relatives and friends called here this week on account of the death and burial of Mrs. Mary Nash were, Mr. and Mrs. Erford Nash and daughter, Mrs. Mary Waters, of Fowler; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sillington of Northville; Mr. and Mrs. James Erwin of Novi, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jarvis of Lansing.

Mrs. Kate E. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robinson and Harry Lush left Thursday morning for a few days' stay at Sage Lake.

DELEGATES AND GUESTS AT PRISON FARM

ABOUT FIVE HUNDRED DELEGATES AND GUESTS ENJOY BARBECUE AT PRISON FARM TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Last Tuesday afternoon was a red letter day in the history of the Detroit House of Correction Prison farm, when several hundred delegates to the National Prison Congress convention, which has been in session in Detroit for the past week, were guests of Superintendent Edward Denniston, at the prison farm. Supt. Denniston extended an invitation to the citizens of Northville and Plymouth to be present also and enjoy the feast and help entertain the guests, and a goodly number were there from both towns. Delegates were present from nearly every state in the union. The barbecue was prepared and served by inmates of the farm, among whom are a number of expert chefs.

At about three o'clock the delegates and guests to the number of about five hundred sat down to a most sumptuous dinner, served in one of the large buildings, which had been arranged with long tables, that presented a very attractive appearance. The building was decorated with the national colors. The menu was all that could have been desired, a great abundance of good things, excellently prepared and nicely served.

After the conclusion of the dinner, J. O. Stutsman, superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction, of which the prison farm is a part, welcomed the delegates to the prison farm, and gave an interesting talk on the work that has been accomplished and what plans had been made for the future development of the prison farm. The new prison building when completed, he stated, would be one of the most modern in the country. Mr. Stutsman told the visitors how several hundred prisoners are serving time without the aid of locks or bars. The speaker paid a splendid tribute to Capt. Edward Denniston, under whose management the prison farm has been made such a success, and at this point introduced the captain to the visiting delegates.

Dr. H. H. Hart, president of the American Prison association, was next introduced, and spoke words of praise of the good work being done at the prison farm.

George A. Smith, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, was next introduced, and spoke briefly of the kindly feeling which existed between the citizens of Plymouth and the officials of the prison farm, and also of their interest in the splendid work that was being accomplished at the farm. Mr. Smith then introduced Oliver Goldsmith of Plymouth. Mr. Goldsmith made a few remarks and then called Capt. Denniston to his side, and in a most impressive manner, on behalf of the citizens of Plymouth, presented to the prison farm a beautiful new upright piano, a large bible and a lexicon, and a personal gift to Capt. Denniston of a beautiful basket of flowers, as a slight token of the high regard and esteem in which he is held by his friends in Plymouth.

Capt. Denniston accepted the gifts on behalf of the prison farm, and expressed his appreciation and thanks to the donors of these splendid gifts. He also spoke feelingly of the personal gift to himself.

Much credit for these splendid gifts to the prison farm belongs to Mr. Goldsmith, for it was he who was instrumental in circulating the subscription paper to raise the funds with which they were purchased. These splendid gifts will be of great assistance in making the religious services, which are held at the farm on Sundays, much more interesting and helpful.

Everybody who was present at the barbecue enjoyed themselves immensely, and voted the captain and his splendid corps of officers royal entertainers.

THE PUBLIC IS INVITED

On Monday evening, October 23rd, at 7:30, a meeting will be held in the kindergarten room at the school building for the purpose of electing officers and directors of the local Red Cross, also to discuss plans for the annual Wayne County Red Cross Roll Call, which is to begin October 28th. A report of the treasurer will be given at that time.

Plymouth Reserves played Farmington Reserves. Plymouth kicked to Farmington, but they could not gain very much. Farmington couldn't make their gain and had to kick. Plymouth made a few gains but not enough to score. At the beginning of the second quarter, Kenyon made a long run around the end for a touchdown, making the score 6 to 0 for Plymouth. At the end of the half, the ball was on Farmington's three-yard line. Nothing was done in the third quarter, and the ball was on Farmington's one-yard line. At the beginning of the last quarter, Holmes carried the ball through center for a touchdown, making the score 12 to 0 for Plymouth. The teams were evenly matched in size, but Farmington didn't seem to be able to get through our line. The ball was in Farmington's territory most of the time. Following is the line-up:

How Better Than Pills

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.—Advertisement.

What might have been a very serious accident occurred just west of the brick school house, Monday afternoon, when a car with three occupants was thrown over into the ditch. The car was badly damaged, but no one hurt. The tourists were headed for Detroit and going at a good speed, and it is thought that loose gravel was the cause of the accident.

Today's Reflections

About the hardest thing we know of on a man's digestion is having to swallow insults.

The Plymouth boy who is looking for a housekeeper, had better dodge the girl who looks coyly out of the corner of her eye.

It has been our observation that a woman takes a life-time job when she marries a man to reform him.

Mighty few Plymouth boys are as good as their parents think they are—or as bad as the neighbors think they are.

The young fellow who has money to burn usually has a hot time while it lasts.

The fly that bites you now is a great-great-grandson of the one you neglected to swat last spring.

The average Plymouth man believes that the proof of the pudding is not in the eating, but in the effect it has on a fellow after he has eaten it.

After all, there's only two sides to a political question—the inside and the side the candidate professes to make clear to you.

Home with a lot of fellows is just a place where they get their mail.

We're also getting back to the season of the year when the Plymouth girl who has a comfortable parlor is considered popular.

The wise Plymouth man will start in right away to make friends with his neighbor's children—Halloween is coming.

At the present rate it won't be long now before stealing a bucket of coal will come under the head of grand larceny.

"If Winter Comes" is the name of a popular novel. But it's when winter comes that the wise Plymouth man finds his home-town paper the most popular thing about the house.

A New York woman wants a divorce because her husband hit her with an axe. Some women are so awful touchy.

LIVONIA LUTHERAN CHURCH

Last Sunday, October 15th, was a day long to be remembered by our St. Paul's Lutheran congregation of Livonia Center, it being the day of their mission festival. In spite of the inclement weather, the two special services, especially the afternoon service, were attended by large numbers of devout worshippers. In the morning service, Prof. E. J. Berg of our college at Saginaw, delivered the sermon, and in the afternoon, Rev. Alfred Maas of Ann Arbor. Both pastors impressed their audiences with the value of a single immortal soul, and urged each one to accept his or her responsibility for the salvation of such souls, as the Saviour has commanded and exhorted us to do. That we have among us many such faithful followers of Jesus, who do accept their christian responsibilities, is attested by the offering list in these two services, which amounted to very nearly $200. The ladies gave all present a bountiful spread for dinner, which surely was appreciated. The choir of St. John's Lutheran church of Wayne, helped to beautify these services with appropriate hymns. A hearty thanks is herewith extended to each and every one who contributed to the success of this day and made it such a memorable one.

On Saturday, October 21, the Holstein pure bred cattle breeders of Washtenaw and vicinity will stage the biggest sale of pure bred cattle ever held in Washtenaw county, at the Ann Arbor fair grounds, where approximately 100 head of Holstein cattle will be sold.

For the quarter ending September 30th, Wayne county automobile operators and owners contributed to the state treasury the sum of $304,486, nearly ten times as much as was contributed by any other county in the state. Of this amount $152,243 will be returned to Wayne county.

Labor day traffic on the Grand River road was something immense. The highway department kept tab of the number of motor vehicles, passing a certain point near Brighton, and during the 16 hours' count, 3,200 automobiles passed. The heaviest hour's traffic recorded 481 machines, which means eight a minute.

The property known as Walled Lake Shores, which has been operated for a number of years by J. D. Taylor and sons, has been sold to Louis Tolleline. Included in the deal is the dance pavilion, store building and the residence on the corner. The Taylor estate retains the property in the subdivision. Walled Lake Shores has been a popular gathering place for the people of this section for many years, and old friends will regret to learn that the Taylors have decided to dispose of the property and to retire from its management.—Northville Record.

To Gain a Good Reputation

The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you appear. That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Every bottle that has ever been put out by the manufacturers has been fully up to the high standard of excellence claimed for it. People have found that it can be depended upon for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take.—Advertisement.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

The Ven. J. G. Widdifield, arch-deacon of Detroit, was with us last Sunday, and administered the holy communion. He gave a very impressive address to a good congregation. The church-school too turned out in large numbers, there were thirty-six present and several pupils were absent. At present Louisa Riber is the highest winner of the gold star in the church-school. Jim Henry comes in second winner.

The wienie supper party, which was to have been held last week at the tourist camp, was unavoidably postponed, but it will be held this week, weather permitting, and we hope all the pupils will be there with their parents. The same invitation and arrangements of last week stand good for this week—weather permitting.

Franklin Gibson will be in Plymouth two or three days in the week, and has appointed every Thursday afternoon, from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock, as his office hours. Mr. Gibson will make his office in the vestry of the church, but during the week, should he be wanted for anything such as sick visits, advice on baptisms, confirmation, burials, etc., a message can be left with Sidney Strong at the village hall, who will see that Mr. Gibson receives the request promptly.

This week the members of the Ladies' Guild will hold a social at the home of Mrs. Annie Henderson, in honor of Mrs. Torre and Mrs. Merryweather, who have lately returned from England. Every member is asked to be present and any friends of the mission will be welcomed.

Next Wednesday afternoon, the 25th, the Ladies' Guild will meet with Miss Emma Oliver, at the home of Mrs. Winfield Burch, on south Main street at 2:00 o'clock. All the members of the Guild are asked to be present.

The class of the Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew's will meet in the church, Friday evening, at 6:30, under Mr. Gibson's tuition.

We were glad to see our church warden, A. J. Lapham, in his usual place in church last Sunday morning, and are thankful that his illness of last week turned out to be not so serious as it was at first feared.

Notice the change in the time of service, Sunday morning, 9:45.

The young people's chorus filled every chair, last Sunday night. Frank Hamill leads them.

The new piano is a great asset to the church. It is an "A. B. Chase" high grade piano, second to none. The Baptist people are happy to have it in the church for use.

Tuesday evening at 7:15, the orchestra began to play, and while the young people from the villages and cities were gathering, the music was enjoyed by all. The song service began at 7:40, led by Harry Sayles.

Rev. Berry of Walled Lake, offered the opening prayer. E. Victor Creed, of Saginaw, gave the first address on "Methods of Work." Rev. Morgan Williams of Lansing, state director of Baptist Young People, gave a splendid talk on "The Power of Control."

The Glee club from the First Baptist church of Pontiac, gave several selections, to the joy and satisfaction of the audience, who cheered them time and time again, and they responded. The closing address was given by Rev. Colman of Highland Park Baptist church, on "Kindling the Flame." He captured the audience, and all were sorry when he closed.

Ray Howard of Walled Lake, president, called Rev. R. E. Sayles of Ann Arbor, to the platform to offer the closing prayer. Thus closed one of the best Young People's rallies ever held. Many of the friends from away went to the dining room and had a hot lunch before leaving for home. The decorations are worthy of mention. The young people of our B. Y. P. U. certainly put up in fine taste all fall colors, black and yellow. They used fall leaves, cornstalks, vines, crepe paper, bouquets, etc.

FRIGHT CAUSES

WOMAN'S DEATH

SUFFERING FROM NERVOUS SHOCK, MRS. O. THIERSTEIN DIES WHEN MOUSE RUNS OVER HER HAND.

A very sad and sudden death occurred on the John Forshee farm, near Frain's Lake, when one of the tenants, Mrs. O. Thierstein, a bride of only a few months, passed away from heart failure, caused by fright.

Mrs. Thierstein had been in this country only about two months. Previous to coming here she lived in Switzerland, and just before leaving there her mother was choked to death before her eyes, by robbers who had entered their home.

Mrs. Thierstein had never recovered from the shock, and when a mouse suddenly ran over her hand while she was cleaning a dark closet, last week Wednesday night, she died instantly, an autopsy showing death due to heart failure caused by excessive fright.

Mrs. Thierstein had just fallen heir to several thousand dollars, inherited from her mother's estate, according to her husband.

The Thiersteins have not been in this country long enough to learn the English language, and it was some time before the neighbors were able to find out just what had happened. Both are young people, Mrs. Thierstein having just passed her twenty-first birthday.

The remains were taken to the Detroit crematory for cremation, Saturday, October 14th.

The committees of the Ladies' Aid society, having in charge the arrangements for the bazaar and supper, wish to thank all who are so cordially co-operating to make the affair a success.

Perry Richwine leads the Epworth League service next Sunday, at 6:30. All the young folks are invited.

The proceeds from the bazaar and supper, are to be used to apply on our church debt. The ladies are all working hard to make a big hole in it. That debt will no doubt look sick before the ladies get through with it, or else the ladies will.

Sunday night at 7:30, attend the big Union Mass Service at the High school auditorium, in the interests of "Week-day Religious Education."

Dr. E. R. Bartlett of Detroit, will address the meeting. He is a worthwhile speaker, and has a timely message. Let's pack the auditorium.

The Shoplifters' Decoy

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1922 Western Newspaper Union.)
"Say! See that woman!" whispered the little man with the dented derby. In the jewelry department of Hutchison's, the big department store.

It was not the part where thousand-dollar rings and twenty-thousand-dollar necklaces are displayed in glass cases and watched over by lynx-eyed attendants, but there were a number of good gold bracelet watches and rings with real stones lying handily about.

The woman was walking slowly along the store. She was coming to the jewelry. She was passing the silks. Deftly she picked up a half-dozen fine silk handkerchiefs, fumbled with them, sighed, and let them go.

Then, opening her fur coat, she displayed, just for a moment, an array of hooks and pockets inside, where neither hooks nor pockets ought to have been.

All the crowd was observing her. The store detective was already on the spot. And so eager was everybody to see something happen that they all pretended not to be looking at her.

At the end of the silks she whipped up six pairs of silk stockings, made as if to thrust them under her cloak, and then replaced them. A whisper of excitement went up from the crowd. "A kleptomaniac," muttered the little man with the dented derby. The store detective tried to look as inconspicuous as possible. The clerks at the jewelry counter were dreadfully alert.

"Funny, that impulse to take things," said the little man. "If she was a poor woman, now, it would go harder with her. She'll not be able to resist those watches, you take my word for it."

The woman in the fur cloak, quite unconscious of the interest that she was arousing, came to the jewelry counter.

"I want to see some rings," she said. "Yes, madam," answered the clerk, watching the store detective out of the tall of his eye. "About what price, madam?"

"Oh, seventy-five to a hundred dollars," answered the woman.

The clerk showed her some rings, the other clerk drew near; the store detective pretended to be a customer; the man in the dented derby put his hands in his pockets and whistled.

The tray of rings proved dubious. The woman picked up several, examined them.

"I don't think," she began.

The store detective stepped up. "Pardon me, madam, but I must ask you to step into the office."

"What do you mean? Who are you?" the woman flared up.

"I must respectfully ask you to submit to be searched, madam. There are two rings missing from that tray."

"Three," said the clerk with the tray.

"Quite so," said the store detective.

The woman strode six paces along the counter. The detective, bland and imperturbable, stopped her by standing immediately in front of her. All about them was a gaping crowd. The clerks leaned forward intently, watching her.

"Unless you are willing to submit to a search, madam, I must call the police."

The woman struggled. Her fur coat opened, disclosing the hooks and pockets. The pockets were filled with a miscellany of objects.

"For heaven's sake don't arrest me. I was a fool, I know. I was tempted so badly. What right have you to expose goods of such value and tempt people to steal?"

The detective led her away. In the room of the general manager a woman detective subjected her to a rigorous examination. She was puzzled.

"I haven't found the rings you spoke of," she said to the manager and the detective. "And these goods—well, hey ain't ours."

"From some other store, I expect," said the detective.

"Well, what are you going to do about it now?" sneered the woman.

"Madam, please remember you have confessed."

"Say, are you going to let me go, or am I going to bring a charge of false imprisonment?"

There was nothing to say to that. They stood aside, and the woman swept to the elevator and passed down.

"I know her face; she's an old hand," said the detective, puzzled.

The manager of the jewelry department came running up. "They've got away with five thousand dollars' worth," he stammered. "Rings—watches—it was a plant. That woman didn't take a thing. It was the little man with the dented derby."

The average man today is right-handed. Estimates differ regarding the prevalence of left-handedness. Probably not over five persons in a hundred are left-handed. Criminologists find the percentage among criminals and epileptics three to six times as great.

The ancients also were right-handed. In Judges 20:16, it is stated that out of 26,700 warriors only 700 were left-handed, a percentage of 2.62. A study of the tools of cave men of the Stone Age shows them to have been right-handed in the proportion of 146 to 135. Both hands seemed to have had equal preference—a condition which changed with the ushering in of the Bronze Age, when right-handedness came to the fore.

How Better Than Pills

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. Advertisement.
