You still have time to fortify yourself against the winter's cold!

The seemingly little bit of cold air that seeps in through the tiny cracks around your doors and windows does more harm than possibly you think. A few cubic inches of cold air can add a great deal to a fuel bill, in addition to creating cold drafts that endanger the health of the family—especially if there are children.

PLYMOUTH LOSES TO WAYNE IN GOOD GAME

In one of the best foot ball games of the season, the local team was defeated by Wayne, Thanksgiving day, by the close score of 6 to 0.

Wayne won the toss and chose to receive. Cozard received the ball on his 15-yard strike and ran it back 15 yards. Using line smashes, Wayne gains a first down. On first down, they try a cross-buck and it gains 40 yards for them. Using smashes solely, they move toward Plymouth's goal. On first down they carry the ball to Plymouth's one-yard line. Plymouth line holds and in three downs they are unable to gain the necessary yard. They lose the ball on downs and Millard punts out of danger. Wayne immediately gets a first down and then on first down they again work the cross-buck successfully. This time they gain 20 yards. The quarter ends with the ball in Wayne's possession on Plymouth's 22-yard line. Score, 0-0.

As the quarter opens, Wayne tries a cross-buck, but this time it draws a five-yard loss. On the next play they fumble, and Plymouth recovers. Plymouth gains a first down on two plays, and by an end run they gain 11 yards more. Plymouth then fumbles and Wayne recovers. Wayne again works their pet play, the cross-buck, this time for 15 yards and first down on Plymouth's 1-foot line. Wayne loses the ball on downs. Plymouth punts but the ball is partly blocked, and as a result, it only goes 10 yards, and it is Wayne's ball on Plymouth's 10-yard line. In three downs, Wayne carries the ball to Plymouth's 1-yard line where, on fourth down, Cozard carries it over for a touchdown. The try for point fails, making the score 6-0. Plymouth receives and Hickey carries the kick-off back 20 yards. A pass is incomplete, and Plymouth punts. Half ends with score, Wayne-6, Plymouth-0.

Half opens with Plymouth receiving. Plymouth fumbles and Wayne recovers and gains 15 yards and first down on Plymouth's 14-yard line. Wayne is penalized 10 yards and they try a pass. Seger intercepts it and gains 30 yards. Plymouth starts with a rush and they gain two first downs in succession. Millard tries a drop-kick from the 35 yard line, and it fails by inches. The quarter ends with the score 6-0.

Quarter opens with the ball in Wayne's possession on their 20-yard line. Wayne is penalized 15 yards, and they punt from behind their goal line. Plymouth works a pass, and then they fumble and Wayne recovers. Wayne fumbles and Seger recovers. Plymouth works another pass, then one of Plymouth's passes is intercepted by Wayne. Wayne makes 2 first downs by using off-tackle smashes almost wholly. Wayne is penalized 15 yards and ends with the score, Wayne-6, Plymouth-0.

BURR-BENNETT

A quiet but pretty home wedding took place at the Paul L. Bennett farm on Golden road, last Thursday afternoon, November 30th, when Mildred Irene, eldest daughter of Mrs. Maud Bennett, was united in marriage to George Sanford Burr, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Burr. The double ring service was impressively used by Rev. Nagle. The bride was attended by her sister, Marian, the groom, by Grant Smith, a college chum. The decorations were in blue and yellow, colors of both the U. of M., of which the groom is a graduate, and of the Delta Phi Sorority, of which the bride has been a member since attending the Michigan State Normal College, from which she graduated in the class of '21. Both young people are graduates of Plymouth High school. After refreshments were served, the bride and groom left for Detroit, where they will be at home to their friends at 2833 Lothrop avenue.

Mrs. Ella King visited friends in Detroit, the latter part of last week.

"EAST IS WEST"

ANOTHER GREAT PICTURE TO BE SHOWN AT PENNIMAN ALLEN THEATRE NEXT TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY EVENINGS

"East is West" the great picture film starring Constance Talmadge, will be seen at the Penniman Allen theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, December 12 and 13. This picture has scored a tremendous success in all the largest cities, and its presentation at the local theatre will be looked forward to by many with keen pleasure and anticipation. The Saturday Evening Post has been running a series of six advertisements, appearing weekly, written by Ellis Parker Butler, world famous humorist, and author of "Pigs is Pigs," telling America about this new screen play. Mr. Butler accepted this commission only on condition that he be permitted to say exactly what he pleased on the subject. The following is one of the ads written by Mr. Butler, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post:

When it comes to a matter of love and hate, good and evil, West is East, and East is West. And that's true. To prove it the story takes an altogether delicious little China maid, who "don't feel China," and puts her in danger of the hideous things that can happen to a Chinese girl whose father sells her as a slave. In the picture this little Ming Toy, who later boasts she is "99 per cent American-girl," is Constance Talmadge, and all through the picture she seemed to me just about the most charming thing I have ever seen on the screen.

The story begins in China with little Ming Toy flashing into a most un-Chinese and thoroughly American bit of temper in a shoe-shop because the shoe merchant dares hint that her feet are too large for beauty. By the time she has said her say with her tongue and her paper umbrella the street before the shop looks as if China had just had a bad spell of riot and raw rebellion. This naturally enough, attracts the attention of Billy Benson who happens to be a "seeing China." Billy is an athletic young American, son of the American Minister, and as Ming Toy has about forty-seven parcels to manage, as well as sixteen little sisters and her temper, Billy sends them all home in "rickshaws" or whatever the things are called in China. That is how he meets Ming Toy and is all he sees of her just then, but we are in mysterious China and know some thrilling thing is about to happen. And it does.

NEW BASEMENT STORE

O. P. Martin has had a part of the basement of his store converted into a basement store, and announces the opening of this new department, Saturday, December 9th. Shelving and display tables have been installed, and with plenty of light the room presents a very nice appearance indeed. The basement department will be given over to the showing of notions, bazaar goods, etc. For the holiday season, Mr. Martin has put in a fine stock of toys for the little folks, which, with the Christmas decorations, presents a very pretty sight. A most cordial invitation is extended to the public to visit the new department at the Martin store, Saturday, the opening day.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Tuesday, December 5th, occurred the eighty-fifth birthday of one of the oldest members of the Newburg L. A. S., that of Mrs. Emily LeVan, she being a charter member and also the first president. They thought it meet and proper they should remember her on this occasion, thinking the best way to do so would be to surprise her. Twenty-eight met at the LeVan home at 11:00 a. m., and were quietly gotten into the parlor by Mrs. Ada LeVan. Then Mrs. LeVan was ushered into the room, so it goes without saying that she was more than surprised and pleased.

A fine chicken dinner was served, at which a beautiful birthday cake with the number 85 and several candles on it, was presented to Mrs. LeVan to blow out the candles and cut the cake, which she did in her usual graceful manner. The table was decorated with a lovely bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums. The guests of honor were Mrs. Emily LeVan and her cousin, Mrs. Anna Ellis of South Lyon. Mrs. Catherine and Mrs. Ryder, whose birthdays occur about this time were also remembered with birthday cakes, cards and pretty remembrances.

After the dinner, the president of the L. A. S. called the guests to order. "Blest be the Tie that Binds" was sung. Mrs. M. Eva Smith then read a beautiful birthday poem. Miss Ada Youngs in behalf of the L. A. S. presented Mrs. LeVan with a beautiful brooch as a token of their love and esteem, also telling some witty stories for which Miss Ada is noted. Mrs. LeVan responded in a manner fitting the occasion. She also was the recipient of a number of other nice gifts and numerous cards of congratulations. At four o'clock, all departed for their homes, wishing the participants in this birthday party, many happy returns of the day.

The H. S. Lee Foundry & Machine Co. are now occupying the new addition to their plant, which was just recently completed. The new building is 30x80 feet in size, and gives them much more needed room. This part of the plant will be devoted to the making of pistons for automobile motors.

Thrift

If you were ever in Salt Lake City you were doubtless impressed by the fact that so large and beautiful and prosperous a city should have sprung up on the Utah desert.

It was built under the most difficult conditions and demanded the most severe self-denial. It was and is kept up by the most rigid laws of thrift. The city is practically owned by the Mormons, who exact from each member of the sect one-tenth of his income. This one-tenth has built magnificent hotels and backed many other enterprises, which have made the Mormons immensely wealthy.

If one-tenth can make other people rich, it can you. Save one-tenth of your income, put it in this strong bank and then let us help you invest it wisely.

CHRISTMAS JOY

The key that unlocks the door of affection and esteem is the Christmas gift. Not the gorgeous bauble carelessly purchased by some wealthy person, but the little sensible, useful, thoughtful gift given by the millions of us to the millions of us—the simple gift made by you and me along with which goes our hearts warmed by the spirit of Christmas Joy.

This year thousands of people in Plymouth have been looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the day when they can show their affection and love and throughout the weeks of the past year they have been carrying their Pass Book to the Christmas Club window in the Plymouth United Savings Bank and depositing small sums which have steadily increased and which will furnish them with the ready money so necessary at Christmas Time.

These fortunate ones can look upon the past year with the satisfaction that they planned and carried out successfully the acquiring of Christmas money and it is pleasant to realize that it was done with a little sacrifice each week and in an unselfish spirit.

Don't Let Children Cough at Night

It is hard on both parents and children and quite unnecessary
"Our baby had a bad cough, was nervous and kept on crying and coughing all night, all the while we were all getting along all right."
W. S. Vandegriff, Kalamazoo, Mich.

DOG TAUGHT TO STEAL SHEEP

Intelligent Collie Made His Master
Rich Until the Trick Was Discovered and Stopped.

At one time sheep stealing was a capital offense in England, and many men were hanged for it. The records show that the most successful of these rogues owed their prosperity to the faithful dogs which they had trained for the purpose. In one case a notoriously criminal practiced sheep stealing on a large scale. Whenever charged with the offense, he was able to prove an alibi.

Here is the explanation. When sheep were for sale he would view them as a prospective purchaser, taking his dog with him. The dog carefully noted the individual sheep handled by his master. Man and dog would then depart. Later in the day, or during the night, the dog was sent back to the fold. In an incredibly short time the collie sorted out the selected sheep—from ten to twenty out of a flock numbering hundreds—and drove them away to a spot where he knew his master would be.

Ancestry of Birds.

Evolutionists believe that man arose from the basic stock that produced the apes. The ancestry of birds can be retraced still further to none other than the lowly reptile. Fossil birds, to which we must look for our evidence, are almost as scarce as fossil men. Extinct reptiles and mammals have been preserved for us in abundant, but the very power of flight, which raised the bird above its reptilian ancestors, has done much to cheat us of avian remains. Cumbrous, awkward creatures, without this magic gift, chance caught in sticky pitch or the treacherous mud of some lagoon, are unable to escape its grip.
But the light-bodied, quick-winged bird is seldom trapped in such a way.

Chinese Idea of Goldfish.

It is said that there is a universal belief among the Chinese that the finer kinds of goldfish are raised from the eggs of the silk moth. According to the belief of the Chinese the silk moth lays its eggs on a fresh brick or tile, and this is placed in shallow water and exposed to the sun. In several days, they hatch out minute larvae and are fed on pond slime, developing rapidly into gorgeous goldfish.

Great care has to be used in the preparation of the water, but the process may be aborted by an intervening thunderclap, which sometimes makes such havoc with the eggs that they hatch out frogs or scorpions instead of the much desired goldfish.

Assuring Real Holidays.

A very interesting and important decision of the British courts is that a wife may take a holiday alone, if she desires, and that her husband cannot stop her.

It was horn of a case following twenty-one years of reasonably calm marriage. The wife decided on a vacation of a week without the company of hubby. He forbade it. She made an unexpected and astonishing appeal to the court and she won her case.

And because the husband made any objection whatsoever she now sues him for a permanent separation and secures it—just for that like that.

Insects That Sing.

Japanese do not care for cats and orite is a singing insect, which is kept in a cage that hangs from the eaves of the house.

Although the little creature does not perform on all occasions, the sound of rain will at any time start him chirping. So, to amuse strangers in a Jap home, one of the family will go on to the roof and pour down a bucket of water to produce the dripping sound of rain.

As soon as the singing insect hears what he imagines to be the real thing, he begins to warble.

Taking Desperate Chances

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding attack and paves the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle?—Advertisement.

SCHOOL NOTES

The children of the first grade are making Christmas scrap-books for the boys and girls in the hospitals.
Fordes Smith of the same grade has moved to Canada.

Gerald Hondorp of the fifth grade, was severely burned while building a fire.

The contest between the boys and girls of the sixth grade, to see which one has the least number of absences, is still continuing, the boys being in the lead.

David Daner has left the sixth grade and is to attend school in Chicago.

Raymond McCullin entered the sixth grade, December 4th.

The girls' Glee Club is preparing a Christmas play, "Aunt Sobraina's Christmas," for assembly, December 22nd.

The library received a set of Bur-bank's books, "How Plants are Trained to Work for Man," which are very interesting.

The fifth grade is following the program for "Education Week."

The several rooms of the school are keeping a record of the number who have not been vaccinated during the past five years, and as the number is diminishing from day to day, our school will eventually be practically 100 per cent immune from small pox.

The sale of tuberculosis stamps is on in earnest in all the rooms of the school, each trying to do its bit and a little more than its neighbor, in stamping out tuberculosis.

NOTICE

To hunters and owners of dogs:
Dogs were after my sheep again.
All hunters with dogs that trespass my farm will be prosecuted. All stray dogs will be shot on sight.

CHRISTMAS SEALS HELP TO SAVE THE CHILDREN

Florabel Jessica Jane is chasing the cure in the children's infirmary at the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium.
She has her rest periods twice a day, and takes her "temp" every afternoon; and she is beloved of every small maiden in the girls' infirmary.

menace to childhood. Christmas

NEWBURG

There was a good attendance at church service, Sunday. Miss Ada Youngs sang a solo, "Flee as a Bird," accompanied by Miss Anna Youngs. The solo was appreciated by all. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested during the Sunday-school hour in the singing, the girls proving to be as good whistlers as the boys on the chorus. A Christmas cantata is under way and parts have been assigned. Everyone come next Sunday and find out more about it.

The L. A. S. will hold their regular meeting and dinner at their hall, next week Wednesday, December 13th. Everyone cordially invited.

Newburg Sunday-school will give a box social at the L. A. S. hall, for the benefit of the Christmas fund. Ladies please bring box with lunch for two. Everyone come and enjoy a good time and help in a good cause.

Last Friday evening quite a crowd attended the Thanksgiving entertainment given by the teachers, Mr. Allenbaugh and Miss Reddeman, giving the public an opportunity of seeing the new $30,000 school house. It is a beautiful brick structure, three stories in height, including the basement, which has two large play rooms for the children. There are commodious toilets and lavatories, sanitary drinking fountains, etc. The interior of the upper story has not been finished, but will be later if the school increases in numbers enough to warrant their so doing. Mr. Fisher of Belleville and Mr. Stringer of Redford, were present, and organized a parent and teachers society, with Mrs. Harmon Gates, president; Mrs. Edgar Stevens, vice president, Mr. Allenbaugh, secretary; Miss Reddeman, treasurer. Their meetings will be held the second Tuesday evening of each month in the school building.

The pupils who attended Newburg school forty years ago can remember the time when there were 100 scholars enrolled and crowded into the old school house. They little dreamed there would be such a fine edifice for their grandchildren to attend school in on the same grounds. There are families living in the district, who for three generations have attended Newburg school.

Epworth League was well attended, last Sunday evening. All were interested in the story of the bible, read by Mrs. M. Eva Smith, which she will continue once a month. It is written by Dr. VanLoon. Mrs. Edgar Stevens will lead next Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bennett entertained at Thanksgiving dinner. Mr. and Mrs. William Sherwood, Mrs. John Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Badelt and daughter, Norah, Miss Eva Bennett and Roy Garchow.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Clemens and family spent Thanksgiving with the latter's sister, Miss Matherson in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Clemens also entertained a home full of guests over Sunday, Ruth Kiebler of Salem, being among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Smith and son, Clyde, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith and children, Vivian and Clifford, and Miss Beulah Ryder for Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. LeVan and mother motored to Flint, Thursday morning, taking dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Gay Casterline, the latter returning home with them, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Dunn of Elkhart, Indiana, and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dunn of Detroit, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dunn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jewell entertained the following for Thanksgiving: Mr. and Mrs. Askin and son and father, and E. A. Donaldson of Detroit; Mrs. Graham and granddaughter, Lillian, of Royal Oak; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jewell and son, Durward, of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. R. Gardiner and daughter, Ellen, and Milton Laible. All report a wonderful dinner, such as Mrs. Jewell is noted for.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson and two children and Leigh Ryder spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. George Henry of South Lyon.

Mrs. Ella Wight of Wayne, was a Sunday visitor of her sister, Mrs. M. Eva Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. William Meeker and baby of Plymouth; Mr. Pigeon and Mr. Mitchell of Detroit, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davey, Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. H. Grimm and little Virginia ate Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. Mary Paddock and daughter, Florence, in Detroit.

Don't forget the Gleaners' bazaar and supper, next Thursday evening, December 14th, at their hall. Everyone invited.

Clyde Smith, while working in the Hamilton Rifle shop last week, had the misfortune to cut two fingers on his left hand quite badly.

The young people had a very pleasant evening, last week Wednesday, at their Epworth League eye social, held in the L. A. S. hall.

LIVONIA CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. VanBonn of this place, have sold their farm here, and purchased another five miles west of Plymouth. They moved to their new home this week Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Garchow and family spent Monday evening at Herman Johnson's.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolfrom of Detroit, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Wolfrom's brother, Joe Hewelt, of this place.

Miss Mae Garchow and Miss Eva Bennett were Detroit shoppers, Saturday.

Mrs. Dan Smith called on relatives at Elm, Monday afternoon.

Friends and neighbors were sorry to hear of the death of August Jayska, which occurred at his home north of Livonia Center, Friday, December 1st. They also wish to extend their heartfelt sympathy to the relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Powers of Detroit, are to reside on the farm vacated by Mr. VanBonn for the coming year.

Anton Himmelpach has been on the sick list the past week.

WOMAN'S CLUB

A regular meeting of the Woman's Club was held in the club room, last Friday afternoon, December 1st. Although the attendance was not as large as usual it was a very interesting meeting and a splendid program was given. A short business meeting, with the past president, Mrs. D. F. Murray, presiding, preceded the program. It was voted to aid the tuberculosis fight, as in former years, by purchasing ten dollars worth of Christmas seals. New books and something about them was the response to the roll call.

The program, in charge of the fourth division, with Mrs. William Freyman, leader, was presented as follows: Opening number, vocal solo by Mrs. William Bake, with Mrs. William Wood at the piano.

Book Review—Mrs. H. S. Doerr. Mrs. Doerr gave a review of one of the new and much discussed books at the present time, "This Freedom," by A. F. M. Hutchins. This book has brought forth considerable comment, but she handled her subject well, bringing out the strong points of the book, and also noting the weaker ones. A short discussion, with criticisms on the book followed the review.

During the afternoon, Miss Gladys Schrader delighted the ladies with piano selections, and Mrs. D. D. Nagle gave several readings from the Michigan poet, Douglas Malloch. This writer was educated in Saginaw, and his poems are filled with outdoor life and natural beauties. On motion the club adjourned to meet Friday afternoon, December 15.

MEN'S BEEFSTEAK SUPPER

Next Tuesday night, at the Methodist church parlors, at 6:30, the men and young men of the community are invited to come and enjoy themselves at just a good old-time get-together affair, with a delicious, juicy beefsteak supper with all the fixings included. A good program of speakers and music is being arranged by the committee in charge. Another committee of special men cooks, (please don't mention it to their wives afterwards) will prepare the eats and cook the beefsteak. Another committee of men will do the serving, and still another committee of men will do the eating, (arrange to get in on this committee), and another committee of men will wash the dishes. The women are not in on this at all, and they are already getting jealous.

This is just the first of a series of such get-together meetings that is being planned by the Men's Class of the Methodist church, during the winter months. Come and enjoy the first one, and bring another man with you. No charge for the supper, but a silver offering will be taken to help pay for the beefsteak.

Do your Christmas shopping early. The American Legion of Ypsilanti, will give a big fair at the Masonic temple in that city today (Friday), and Saturday, Dec. 8 and 9. There will be plenty of fun for everybody. Dancing both nights.

Uncle Santa Claus

By Christopher G. Hazard

© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

"TELL us a story, Uncle Peter," I said the children, as they climbed over their kindly relative one Christmas eve. "A story!" repeated Uncle Peter, affecting surprise, but willing to draw upon his inexhaustible stock; "well, have you ever heard of Uncle Santa Claus?" "Oh, you mean Uncle Santa Claus!" exclaimed Jack. "No, I don't," said Uncle Peter; "I mean the old man with the plug hat, the blue swallowtail coat, the striped breeches; the old man with eyes like stars and a smile that never comes off excepting when somebody is treading on somebody else; the old man with the striped flag, whose headquarters is up in Alaska; the biggest Santa Claus there is." "All right, then," answered the children, "tell us about him."

"Well," said Uncle Peter, "he has his hands full just now and is doing all he can to fill the hands of others. The air is so noisy with wireless cries and clamors, there are so many hands reaching out over the sea, that he is almost distracted. Ever since he got back from the great war he has been repairing its damage and renewing the prosperity that it spoiled. And long before that he was in the Christmas business. He surprised China by refusing to accept the great sum of the Boxer Indemnity. He let the Cubans have Cuba when he had made them free, and many thought that he had a right to take that fair island for himself. He is working hard at his task of making America truly American, a sober, industrious, enlightened, prosperous, happy, Christ-mas nation."

"I'm glad I'm one of his American children," said Agnes, when Uncle Peter had concluded; with which sentiment all the rest agreed.

A little cloud of doubt had arisen on the Christmas sky, however, as

"I'm Glad I'm One," Said Agnes.

Uncle Peter had spoken of Uncle Santa's lavishness in far countries. Edith voiced it when she wanted to know if it would be of any use for them to expect anything that Christmas, whether or not they were to hang up their stockings. "You'll put your foot in it if you do," said George. "No, she won't," said Uncle Peter; "I have had a special delivery letter from Uncle Santa, saying that he has had his eye on this house for the last twelvemonth, and that this will be one of his stopping places because from it so much of service for others has been going out. He says that you are his gardeners, and that you have planted so many seeds of kindness that a lot of beautiful things will be sure to come up. That is always the way, he says; in fact, it is the way in which he got rich himself."

This was a very pleasant assurance for the children. It made them think of a happy mistake that one of them had made when they were having war gardens all over the town: A certain Mr. Rose had been appointed by the mayor as inspector of gardens for the whole place, and one day Betty pointed him out to a friend with whom she was walking. "There goes Mr. Rose," she said; "he's an expecter of gardens!"

When the children had been reminded of Mr. Rose they also remembered what Betty had done at their last Christmas party: stalking heavily and pompously down the room, she had said: "I'm Mr. Atlas, who holds up the world." So one of them stood on tiptoe, threw back her head and threw out her arms and said: "I'm Uncle Santa Claus, who holds up the world." "Well done!" cried Uncle Peter; "that's just it!"

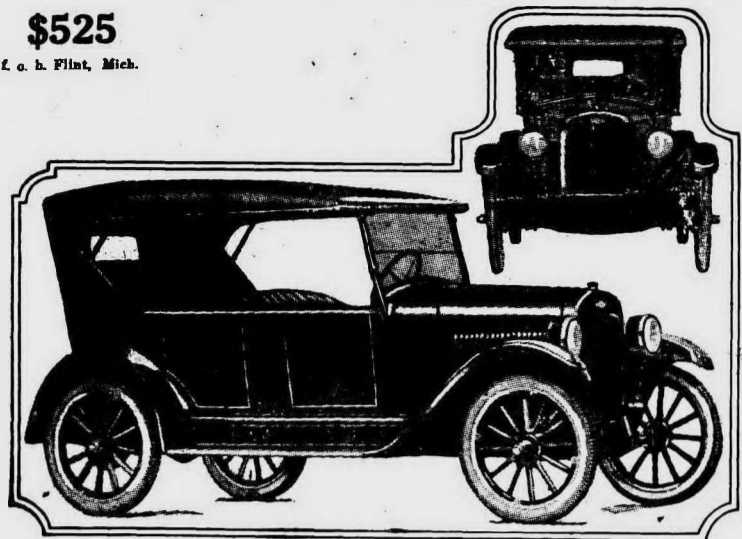

There wasn't any disappointment in the house the next morning. "Did you get all that you wanted?" asked Uncle Peter. "Yes," said Mary. "Were you at all disappointed?" "No," said Mary. When Mary said "Goodness," her mother said, "You shouldn't say 'goodness,' Mary." "Gracious!" said Mary. But Mary was too excited to have a care for her expressions. In describing the situation afterwards she said: "I was in a perfect stupor of excitement."

Uncle Peter had a present, too. After all the rest had been made happy Agnes brought out a parcel, and when Uncle Peter opened it there were two big books that told over again the story of all that America had stood for and accomplished. This made him very glad indeed, and he asked them to write his name on the fly leaf and to say that it was from his Young Americans. Then the Christmas party ended with a verse of our national anthem, heartily sung and followed by all the other verses, with a hurrah for Uncle Sam instead of an amen.

THE CHRISTMAS PICNIC

By Mary Graham Bonner

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE young people were going to give a Christmas picnic on the day after Christmas. They had all decided that it would be no end of fun to take their skates and have a long day of skating, and to have their dinner out of doors.

They felt it would be particularly good for them, too, to get away from the sweets and holiday food they would constantly be nibbling at if they were home.

So on the day after Christmas they went on the Christmas picnic and skating party.

They all had so much enthusiasm. Everyone was going to help and assist and work.

But when it came time for dinner everyone seemed hungry but helpless, and somehow the cold seemed to have gloved in their cheeks and hearts as they skated, but to have numbed them as the work of the picnic loomed in view.

There, gay and debonair young man who called himself the life of the party and who had come garbed in knickerbockers and sport sweater was suddenly quiet. He said he was not much good at making a fire. Instead, he seemed to admire himself and his handsome legs and to ignore the opening of the baskets. To be sure, he looked well and his attitude said quite plainly:

"The man who invented knickerbockers, without a doubt had good looking legs himself, and perhaps an enemy with particularly ugly ones, but he certainly didn't get the better of me."

But Jerry, who was always a good fire builder and upon whom the work always rested, despite previous protests that it would not this time, was the one now who built the fire.

And the rest of the typical picnic people did the usual things. There was the man who talked about building the fire so as to keep the smoke from blowing in the faces of everyone present.

There was the girl who spoke from time to time in alarmed, sudden sentences, wondering in turn if the salt, pepper, bacon, sugar, milk or coffee pot had been forgotten.

There was the girl who was obviously helpless.

There was the girl who kept asking what she could do to help, who would have received any suggestions with a very bad grace.

And there was Milly, who really didn't do the packages and cooked the bacon and saw that everyone had enough to eat.

The man who said most about not being hungry inquired with more than an academic interest as to what the filling of the sandwiches might be.

And there was the man present who spoke from time to time of the good things that could have been brought if only he had thought of them sooner.

But Jerry and Milly saw that the picnic was a real picnic, while the others gave their eating services.

And after the picnic was over and Jerry was helping Milly as she washed off the dishes in the boiling water Jerry had saved in the old big kettle, he said:

"Milly, you're the most unselfish girl I've ever known. Different from everyone. I've always thought so. And don't you think we'd make a good team—not only on a picnic but through life?"

And Milly answered:

"That's very much the way I've thought about you, Jerry."

So that you see, Milly and Jerry weren't so much cheated at that picnic as you might have thought. In fact, they had a very merry Christmas picnic!

At the Christmas Party.

The wise hostess wishes to prevent her young guests from pairing off and remaining with their escorts the entire evening. To change partners in a novel and entertaining way in the course of the evening, have ready a circle of green cardboard divided into as many sections as there are girls present. Write a girl's name in each division. Now cut out a large red pasteboard star, with a white arrow painted on one of the points, and fasten this star to the center of the cardboard circle by means of a large pin. Each boy in turn comes up and spins the star, and the maiden whose name is indicated when the white arrow comes to rest is accorded him as partner. Of course, if a girl's name has already been chosen the boy must spin again. This spinning star will result in much mirth for the young people.

4, for two weeks. At the platform meeting on Monday evening. Rev. Curry spoke on, "The True Motive." Rev. Knight, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pontiac, spoke on, "The Urgency of the Message of Everlasting Life." Rev. Burns, pastor of the First Baptist church of Ypsilanti, spoke on, "The Need of Carry-on Work." The male quartet gave some splendid music for the evening. The quartet was composed of Messrs. Hamill, Sayles, Allenbaugh and Trimbal. The Ladies' Aid served the meals for the ministers.

The Young People's Bible Study class met at the church, Wednesday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock.

The cottage prayer meeting was held on Thursday evening at Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stanley's on North Mill street.

The entertainment at the church on Friday night, given by Miss Gardiner and Mrs. Humphries, promises to be a good evening of enjoyment. Be sure and come.

Rev. H. E. Sayles and Gaylord are making their home at Joe Stanley's, 632 North Mill street, during the illness of Alton.

The committee has been appointed to plan for the Christmas entertainment, and Mrs. Stoneburner is the chairman.

The Evangelistic Band from the Highland Park Baptist church, will visit the church, next Sunday, and have charge of all the services. These young people were here about one year ago, and we all enjoyed them very much.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Last Sunday, Franklin Gibson preached a very inspiring sermon on "The Second Advent," and took as his text Job 19:25, "For I know that my Redeemer liveth and that He shall stand at the last day upon the earth." Next Sunday morning, Mr. Gibson's subject will be, "The Talents," Matt. 25:13.

Thanksgiving day was a very happy one at St. John's mission church, where the union service was held this year. A good representative congregation filled our little church, and it is gratifying to note the spirit of unity existing among the churches of Plymouth. The Rev. Nagle read the lesson, and the Rev. Hathaway preached a most appropriate sermon. This is the first time in the history of St. John's, Plymouth, that a pastor of another denomination has occupied its pulpit, and we trust that these exchanges of pulpits will continue from time to time. Last week there was a special service at the Methodist church in Wayne. Our missioner was asked to preach on that occasion, and Mr. Gibson certainly gave a very impressive address.

We are very pleased to announce that we have secured the services of Miss Pierson as organist. Miss Pierson commenced her duties last Sunday, and is already taking much interest in the music and singing. She proposes to have a general practice once each week, and we want as many members of the congregation who possibly can to attend these practices. We regret that Mrs. Paul Ware has been compelled to give up her place at the organ on account of home duties, but the members of the congregation are very grateful to her and appreciate her past faithful service.

It was fine to see some of the boys of the Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrews in vestments, last Sunday morning, taking their place in the band of Brotherhood is under the junior leadership of Dan Murphy, and it is splendid to see the spirit of the Brotherhood manifesting itself in these young men. The officers, under Mr. Gibson's supervision, are: Dan Murphy, vice president; Ernest Henry, treasurer; George Merryweather, secretary; Wilbur Murphy, flag bearer.

Last Sunday night was special Brotherhood night at St. John's, Wayne. The service was conducted by the boys of the Brotherhood and in charge of Rev. F. S. Adams of St. John's church, Detroit. There was a good number of the Detroit Brotherhood present, and the Plymouth boys went over with their vestments and the flag and took part in the service. The Rev. Adams preached a most appropriate sermon from the text, Eph. 6:11, "Put on the whole armour of God that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil." The Brotherhood hymn was sung by the Brotherhood, "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult," and after the service they all went over to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mahen's, where "hot dogs" and coffee were served.

Bishop Williams will visit Plymouth, next Friday, December 15th. He will hold a confirmation on that evening, and give a special address. We want Plymouth people to try and be present on that evening.

The December number of the Michigan Churchman has been received. Those who have not had a copy please notify Mr. Gibson, who will see that it is sent.

The members of the Ladies' Guild will have a sale of work and a bake sale at the gas office, next Friday, December 15th.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The 20th Century Club of Detroit is to present a dramatic presentation of the Book of Job at Arcadia hall, Tuesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 12. Tickets ranging in price from 50c to $2.00 are on sale at Grinnell store. Because of the interest which is being shown in this "Greatest Poem of All Literature," the pastor will take it for his theme next Sunday night, and will preach on "The Patriarch of Uz."

A missionary barrel has been sent out by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the church.

The trustees met last Wednesday night to draw up a budget for the ensuing year.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary was held in the church parlors, last Wednesday afternoon.

GRANGE NOTES

The next regular meeting of the Plymouth Grange will be held Thursday, December 7th, at 1:30 sharp. All patrons are urged to be present, as we are to have election of officers. The Lily Club will give another popular dance at the Grange hall, Saturday evening, December 9th. Stone's orchestra will furnish the music. Dancing from 8:30 to 12. Everybody welcome.

When You Are Constipated

They will not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels, without unpleasant effects, but banish that dull, stupid feeling that often accompanies constipation.—Advertisement.

Today's Reflections

They used to put their spare penies into a home but now they put their home into spare tires.

The trouble with a lot of Plymouth citizens is they lose a dollar.

Maybe one reason fat men are always good natured is because good-natured men are always fat.

We've never been able to make ourselves believe that the devil does not take off his hat every time he meets a hypocrite.

Some Plymouth men can't get any comfort out of the fact that shoveling coal and carrying out ashes strengthens the muscles of the back.

It's got so nowadays that we spend about six months getting ready for the holidays and six months recovering from them.

What the average Plymouth man wants for his Christmas is to see turkeys priced so low that he really can't afford to buy roast beef.

If they're making moving pictures in Russia now they probably call them "commotion pictures."

Now that the swimming season is over Young America can take a chance on death by seeing if the ice is strong enough to hold up.

The hunter who says he is going to bring in a couple of ducks next time he goes hunting is a cousin to the fellow who is always promising to come around and take you for a nice auto ride.

They're blaming the recent earthquake in Chili on sun spots. And that's as good a guess as any.

Nobody can make a defeated candidate believe that it's going to be anything else but a cold winter.

Every married man in Plymouth is head of his house at least once a month—and that's when the bills come due.

After all, poverty keeps many a Plymouth man from making a fool of himself.

Some fellows do not hesitate about breaking a promise because it's so easy to make another one.

Every now and then they remove a landmark in Plymouth but the gossips seem to hang on forever.

We'd hate to be the Michigan man who won by one vote. Every supporter will now be claiming he cast it.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eckles entertained a company of guests Sunday, in honor of their fifth wedding anniversary. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Eckles and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and daughter, Annabell, of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Eckles of Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Shear and son, Albert, of Redford, and Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of South Lyon. The guests were served a sumptuous dinner and enjoyed a royal good time. Mr. and Mrs. Eckles were the recipients of some lovely presents.—South Lyon Herald.

LIVESTOCK JUDGING TEAM RANKS SEVENTH AT INTERNATIONAL—NINETEEN STATE TEAMS ENTERED.

A team of Michigan boys, winners of the state championship in Boys and Girls Club judging events at the State Fair in September, finished seventh among nineteen state livestock judging teams at the International Livestock Show in Chicago last week.

Virginia, Iowa and Georgia ranked first, second and third, respectively, at the International. The composition was unusually keen this year, according to reports, all of the nineteen state teams doing splendid work.

Cecil Loomis of Jackson county, was high on the Michigan team, all three members of which came from Jackson County. He stood eighth among the sixty individuals judging in the Club division.

The Michigan team was trained by Nevels Pearson, assistant state leader of Boys and Girls Club work under the Michigan Agricultural College extension division. Mr. Pearson accompanied the team to Chicago.

ARGUND ABOUT US

Milford is organizing a new band.

Wayne is making plans for a community Christmas tree this year.

Ypsilanti will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of that city, next July 1 to 4, 1923. The citizens of Ypsilanti are planning on a great event.

Ex-Governor Fred M. Warner and wife of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Richardson of Northville, are enjoying a few weeks' stay at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Mrs. Howard Hall is in Detroit receiving medical treatment. She suffered an attack of pneumonia a few weeks ago and since then her condition has given members of her family much concern.—Northville Record.

With eggs bringing from 70 to 80 cents per dozen C. L. Berry of Walled Lake is owner of a valuable hen. The bird is now laying 'em in gangs of two a day, the eggs being connected by a membrane 2 1/2 inches long.—Farmington Enterprise.

R. C. Reed, for seven years secretary and manager of the Michigan Milk Producers' association, declined re-election at the annual meeting and has turned the office over to his successor, John C. Near of Flat Rock. The office will be located in Detroit.

The University of Michigan's stadium is the fifth largest in the United States. Yale leads with seats for 77,000; then follows Ohio State university with 72,500; Leland Stanford, Jr. university with 62,000; Harvard with 43,000, and Princeton with 40,000.

Sheriff Butler of Oakland county, announces that he is going to have the roads of that county patrolled by officers in touring cars in addition to the regular motorcycle cops. It seems that drivers are getting wise and slow down when they find they are being followed by a motorcycle.—Brighton Argus.

Rev. Fr. Dowdle of Milford, has been assigned to the pastorate of the church at Deerfield, Michigan, by Right Reverend Bishop Gallagher. Rev. Dowdle has been pastor of the Catholic church at Milford for a number of years, and at one time was in charge of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church of Plymouth.

W. E. Scotten is superintending the erection of an addition to be 28x40 feet in size to the residence at Broadview, which is being remodeled into a health institute. Village water has been piped to the grounds and among other contemplated improvements is the erection of a chapel for use of those who will receive treatment at the health institute.—Northville Record.

Officers were again re-elected to head the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau. George McCalla, of Ypsilanti township, is president; Henry Bremeritz, of Saline, vice-president; Elmer Blaisdell, of Bridgewater, and C. D. Johnson, of Dexter, with the president will represent the bureau at the state convention. The executive officers are: Jay Smith, Scio; George Gill, of Superior, Mrs. Orvil Ferguson, of Pittsfield, and E. C. Loveland, of Milan.

While removing the upholstery in a small chest, purchased at the Batchelder auction sale, Mrs. Oliver Stirling found a ten dollar bill, neatly tucked behind a covering on the inside cover of the chest. The currency is drawn on the Commonwealth Bank, of Boston, dated Oct. 8, 1883. The name of John K. Simpson, president, and Charles Rood, cashier, is plainly visible, and the money is in a fine state of preservation. The chest was "knocked down" to Mr. Stirling at the auction for 25 cents.—Romeo Observer.

The state department of agriculture, in co-operation with the American Legion, is working out a plan which probably will mean the location of a colony of upwards of 150 ex-service men on a tract of land to be obtained in the upper peninsula. It is the plan of the state department to arrange a purchase agreement for the settler, giving him 20 years in which to pay for his land. The department will also arrange for loans and give various other assistance in clearing and developing the acreage. More than one hundred ex-service men have indicated to the department that they would be interested in the project.—Holly Advertiser.

FORD PLANTS MAKING RECORD RUNS

On October 13, the Ford Motor company completed 1,000,000 cars of the 1922 production. The production for October in the American plants was 121,765 or 32,000 in excess of September production. At the end of October the total output of Fords in America and foreign countries was 1,053,169. Activities at the Fordson tractor plant this year show a remarkable increase over 1921. During the ten months which ended with October, a total of 57,705 tractors were built, compared with 35,833 for the corresponding period of 1921.

Tb. Convalescents Need Occupational Training

"Can't I make a tray?"
"There's a basket I believe I could make."
"Do we have to stop at four?"
One of the happiest rooms in the Michigan State Tuberculosis Sanatorium is the occupational therapy room, popularly known as the O. T. room. It represents the delight of self-fulfillment, absorbing occupation, and a chance for pocket money to the lucky patients whose temperatures allow them to enroll for instruction in real work, raffle, or the various other crafts taught there.
Occupational training for consumptives is still in its infancy. Apart from its curative value in giving variety to monotonous days, it may be used to help the convalescent back to a foothold in the wage-earning world.

Inquiries made by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association have disclosed the fact that many patients, on their discharge from a sanatorium, are confronted by acute financial problems. Few are able to return to their former employment at once, and some must permanently change their occupation.

Next year the Michigan Association will put the Christmas seals you buy at work upon this problem. Michigan must not desert her consumptives at what is often the most crucial point in their restoration to life and usefulness.

M. A. C. DAIRY SHORT COURSE LENGTHENED

SPECIAL PRODUCTION WORK TO RUN FOR TWELVE WEEKS THIS WINTER—OPENS JANUARY 1.

The special short course in dairy production at the Michigan Agricultural College has been lengthened to 12 weeks instead of 8 this year, according to announcement just made by Prof. O. E. Reed of the college dairy department. The course will open January 1.

This course offers general training for farmers of the state who wish to equip themselves for more efficient handling of their dairy herds and dairy farms. It also gives an opportunity for young men to train themselves for positions as Cow Testing Association testers.

High Cost of Failure

In his book, "The Evolution of Medicine," Sir William Osler quotes a bit of the ancient Hammurabi code thus: "If a doctor has treated a gentleman for a severe wound with a bronze lancet and has cured the man, or has opened an abscess of the eye for a gentleman with the bronze lancet and has cured the eye of the gentleman, he shall take 10 shekels of silver."

"If the doctor has treated a gentleman for a severe wound with a lancet of bronze and has caused the gentleman to die, or has opened an abscess of the eye for a gentleman and has caused the loss of the gentleman's eye, one shall cut off his hands."

Ancient Roman Empire

The Roman empire during the reign of Augustus is supposed to have contained 100,000,000 inhabitants, half of whom were slaves. It included the modern countries of Portugal, Spain, France, Belgium, western Holland, Rhineland, Prussia, parts of Baden, Wurtemberg and Bavaria, Switzerland, Italy, the Tyrol, the former Austrian empire proper, western Hungary, Croatia, Slavonia, Turkey in Europe, Greece, Asia Minor, Syria, Palestine, Egypt, Tripoli, Tunis, Algeria and most of Morocco.

The Flute Player

By Christopher G. Hazard

OF ALL the Christmas gifts of past years but one remained. It seemed surrounded by a charm that was all its own and that was as unaffected by the atmosphere of the bare and dingy room as a light in a dark place. The old schoolmaster took it up, looked lovingly upon it and replaced it upon the shelf. Then, advancing to the window, he looked out upon the lighted star in the church steeple that was proclaiming Christ's birthday and listened to the shouts of the merry-makers in the streets as they rose upon the snowy wind.

The old man's mind was busy with happier days. In the picture gallery of his memory visions of home cheer and gladness were upon the walls. Faces looked out from their frames with old glances of love, and figures passed before him full of the beauty of young life. Again he was in the midst of joyous and successful activities, companioned and enthralled. Then, as memory's mirage faded away and left but two receding images before him, he looked once more upon one who had gone to some unknown land, the son who had so mysteriously disappeared from the home fellowship and ken, and he saw again the form of her who had set out for the land that is beyond the stars, but not before she had placed in his hand the precious vase with the pictured flute player upon its side.

At the time he had not fully noted the significance of the happy urchin in the red robe as he held his flute to his lips. Pleasures and pursuits pressed upon him and left the musician unnoticed through the days and nights. But the boy had never ceased his playing, and now with some remembered melody, then with some new adventure in the world of harmony, he seemed to be waiting for the recognition and appreciation that he knew would come. A steadfast and inveterate optimist, he played on; to weariness and loneliness he played a hopeful song; forbidding dejection and despair, he became a prophet of better days to come. In solitude and uselessness he was as an only but changeless friend. To him the old man turned to an oracle. Poverty had taken on after the other of his possessions, but had never been able to separate him from this merry genius, this incorrigibly persistent promiser.

If the prelude does not get discouraged fortune is likely to admire it and introduce the performance, and this turned out to be the reward of the industrious hope of the flute player. He did not hear the step upon the stair or the knock upon the door, and he did not see the amazement with which the schoolmaster listened to the tale of his lost son, as he embraced him and tried to realize that he had indeed come back and brought good fortune with him, but even more merrily and madly he played in the dance with which these two were to go down the future.

Habits are strange things. One can get so far into a habit of gladness as to be unable to get out of it. A face can get so used to smiling as to have no night there. A boy can become so committed to fluting as to be unable to stop. It was so with the flute player: to this day he plays and does nothing else. He sits upon another and a better shelf, but not idly. He is among happy people, but busy sending joy out into all the neighborhood. He has played the old schoolmaster young again and fixed his thought upon a life that never grows old.

Indeed, the flute player has even encouraged the schoolmaster to begin teaching again. The scholars are his grandchildren. They are not having a hard time, for they sing on their way to lessons. They are not unhappy scholars, for one of them threw a kiss to the last Christmas moon. Last summer another of them became a poetess and composed the following appreciation of nature:

A Star is shining fair;
Its gentle beams awaken
The young men sleeping there.

Again in songs of angels
The birth of Christ is told,
The young men go to greet Him
With richer gifts than gold.

The flute player is setting this to music. This scholar has already learned to write. She has proved that by producing an invitation to one of the school sessions in this form:

Dear Aunt Fanny:
Please come Friday, if you can; and if you can't come, don't come.

She is not a flatterer, however, when she said one day, "Grandpa, you don't look a bit over twenty."

No Longer Dread White Hair

One by one, all our old ideas are being turned topsyturvy. We used to dread white hairs. Now, at the bidding of Laine Fashion, we want them, a writer in London Answers asserts.

The white hair craze seems to have started in Paris, and it is spreading to this country, where well-preserved young women with impressive white locks are being admired.

Most of the hair comes from the south of France (for it is not all come by naturally), and the lighter the shade, the higher the price. A face will show its age under gray hair, but under white it may take on fresh youth—that is the secret of the matter.

Many villages in southern France are holding periodic "hair markets." Women with more hair than they need, attend these markets with their superfluous locks, and white hair of good length and strength is worth many times its weight in gold. The best qualities are said to fetch $30 per ounce!

He Knew

The old story about some one always being willing to give the bride away was beaten by a happening in Indianapolis the other day. A spinster in the early thirties who is soon to be married was completing arrangements for her wedding. She had selected her bridesmaids, and then she turned to her family and said: "I would be happy if I only could decide who would present me to the bridegroom."

No one made any suggestion, but her little nephew piped out: "Why I thought he was a present to you auntie. The neighbors said he was something you had wanted for a long time."

And now none of the neighbors is included on the wedding invitation list.—Indianapolis News.

THE ANNUAL ROMANCE

By Mary Graham Bommer

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

ROSALIND was engaged to be married. She was to be married the day after Christmas. She couldn't very well be married before then as her fiancé was so especially, unusually busy at Christmas time, and it would have been cruel, too, not to have waited.

For Bill, her beloved, took the part of a Santa Claus every Christmas for one of the big city stores. He was an ideal Santa Claus. He wasn't too tall, he was not too short; he was rather inclined to a stockiness of build, and extra clothes made him look an ideal round Santa. He had a ruddy face and snapping blue eyes—and dressed in a Santa Claus costume he was perfect.

How the children did adore him! And how he loved them! They whispered their secrets to him and their eyes danced with rare happiness when he waved a good-bye to them and called them:

"Sweethearts," and "My dears," and "Children dears," and other affectionate terms.

Rosalind had been thrilled when she had heard him first. In his deep beautiful voice uttering such beautiful words! For Rosalind had met him first when he had been a Santa Claus and she had been an extra sales girl taken on for the Christmas rush.

It had been her first meeting with him. But she had been kept at the store after the Christmas rush was over, and Bill had worked for the store for seven years now. Every December he was Santa Claus. The other eleven months he spent in selling kitchen utensils in the basement. They had fallen in love with each other, though, at this time when he had been Santa Claus. And many a time when he had said: "Good-by, dearie," to a child, he had been thinking of the pretty girl who was at that very moment selling dolls and giving her smiles, her beautiful smiles to a mother or to children.

And now a second Christmas was coming around, and once more Bill was Santa Claus, and as soon as he was through being Santa Claus they would be married.

"I've always had lots of romance in my nature," she said to him one evening. "I've always thought it would be awful to be like some folks—some I know and some I've heard talk. One lady who came to the store with a friend was telling how she and her husband got along perfectly. They each had other friends, and sometimes they met and embarrassed others when they told that they were married. For one time the husband had been having dinner with a friend, and the friend had been looking flirtatiously at his wife who was also in the restaurant. "The friend had been much embarrassed when he discovered he had been flirting with the husband's wife. And she was telling this as a good joke. "I wouldn't want that kind where one goes one way and the other the other way. And I wouldn't want to be known as a wife because I was quarreling with my husband."

"You know how you hear folks say 'Well, you could tell they were married, all right.' I don't want that kind."

"And you won't have it, little girl," Bill said. "I'm for your kind of romance every time. I'm for the kind of a married life where folks won't think we're married—we'll be so happy! I had a friend once like that. Why, a cop called him down because he was making love to his wife and wouldn't believe they were married 'cause she called him 'darling.' They found it awkward, all right, but they had the right idea."

And as Rosalind listened to her Santa Claus, as she counted the days before the wedding, she said to herself:

"It will be an annual romance to see Bill as Santa Claus, for it was as Santa Claus that I, too, fell in love with him as well as the children, and every year our happy, merry memories will be revived for us. We believe in romance and romance believes in us, for it, too, is going to play its part."

And someone who knew them both said:

"It wouldn't be a bad idea if every man could be as he was during his courtship days for a whole month of every year!"

A THANKFUL OCCASION

Miss Leona Beyer and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ebert were surprisingly presented with a handsome new Ford sedan on December 1st, the occasion being Leona's twelfth birthday. The presentation was made by W. J. Beyer, father of Miss Leona and brother of Mrs. Ebert. It was to be regretted that the occasion had to be saddened by finding Leona ill in bed, which made necessary the cancelling of several invitations that had been sent out to some of her schoolmates to help brighten the day, although Leona received several nice presents, with many thanks to the givers. All are very thankful to know that her illness turned out to be nothing serious, and she is able to be out again.

Or will you ever be;

As long as life and memory lasts,

We will remember thee.
