P. H. S. TAKES PART IN ACTIVITIES AT M. A. C.

Farmers' Week at the Michigan Agricultural college drew much interest for the eighteen students of the agricultural classes, who took part in the judging contests held February 1st. For most of the participants this was not their first visit to Lansing and the college, but their enthusiasm was increased by a second trip to Michigan's Aggie college. Many people are not interested because they do not know the college. The eighteen Plymouth people were chaperoned by Mr. Holcomb, the Plymouth agricultural instructor, and Mrs. S. W. Spicer. Four cars, driven by Louise Spicer, Ralph Moyer, George Palmer and Mr. Holcomb, left Plymouth, Wednesday noon, and arrived at Lansing in the afternoon. The girls were unable to secure rooms on the campus, since it was filled with other visitors, but the boys stayed at the Old's Engineering hall. That evening, after a supper in the Woman's building, part of the group went to a lecture in the gymnasium and the rest to see a movie in Lansing.

Thursday morning at 9:00, the stock judging began. The team placed horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep and hogs. The poultry judging team placed Barred Rocks, White Wyandottes, Leghorns and Rhode Island Reds. Those who were not entered in these contests attended a program, in which Dr. Marian Dyes, the "college nutrition specialist," and Mrs. Thompson, the "college girl's mother," were the principal speakers. At noon there was a parade representing the divisions of the college work. The grain and fruit judging began at 1:30 o'clock. Grain contestants were expected to place corn, potatoes, wheat, rye and oats, and give reasons for placing; also they had to identify the kinds of seeds. Those judging fruit had to identify ten kinds of apples and place four plates of four different varieties. At 4:30 o'clock all judging was finished, and the cars left for Plymouth as soon as the party could be collected. It is estimated that about 325 students attended the contest. An average of 200 entered for stock judging, 100 for fruit, 150 for grain, and 185 for poultry. Of course, a great many entered in two or more of these contests. The results will be published as soon as they are received.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE HELD HERE THIS WEEK

The Southern Michigan Conference of the Lutheran church held its sessions at St. Peter's Lutheran church of Plymouth, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Eleven pastors were present. At the meetings, Rev. H. Heyn of Detroit, acted as chairman, and Rev. Hugo Hoenecke, also of Detroit, as secretary, while the local pastor, Rev. Charles Strasen read a doctrinal paper on 1 Timothy, chapter 6. A report was also read by the synodical treasurer, Rev. O. Eckert, and by the president of the mission board, Rev. John Gauss. Several of the pastors were unable to attend these very interesting sessions on account of sickness or pastoral duties at home. Services with the celebration of the Lord's Supper were held Tuesday evening, Rev. H. Hoenecke preaching the confessional sermon, and Rev. J. Nicolai of Adrian, the regular sermon.

BOY SCOUT ANNIVERSARY WEEK

Thursday, February 8th, records the 15th anniversary of the organization of the Boy Scouts of America, an organization that has done more perhaps than any other similar organization for the welfare of boys and men that has yet been begun in this country. Standing as it does for the best and highest type of citizenship, it is training boys of 12 years of age and over in those ideals of life which make for respect of the flag and American ideals of true citizenship. And not only that, but the Boy Scout program trains the boy in the knowledge of essential things that every boy should know to help make him a strong, healthy, virgous, capable type of man. It trains him in outdoor life, teaches him to be prepared for every emergency of life that may arise, and gives thought and emphasis to the boy's physical, mental and spiritual growth. Moreover, it helps the boy to form clean habits, utilizes his idle hours, and helps to keep him out of mischief. Surely a most worthwhile program for any community to have for its boys.

Plymouth at present possesses one troop of boy scouts, meeting each Wednesday evening in the basement of the Methodist church. It is composed of about 25 boys of various ages from 12 to 16, and of various religious faiths. This troop with its leaders and troop committee are active and interested in making themselves proficient in all the ideals of scouting.

This being Anniversary Week, with celebrations all over the country, the local troop is planning certain events to accord with the spirit of the occasion. At their regular meeting Wednesday evening, the members of the troop and troop committee and troop leaders, after a special program of demonstrations and stunts, and talks by the members of the troop committee, together renewed the solemn oath of every true scout, as follows: "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country; to obey the Scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

On Thursday, Anniversary Day, different Scouts visited the various rooms at all repeated and repeated the Scout oath and laws for the benefit of the various pupils of the school. And on next Sunday, the Scouts of the various churches will attend their respective churches in a body, and the minister is asked to speak a brief message to them in honor of the occasion.

Next, Tuesday night, the Scouts together with their fathers, will meet at the Methodist church for a good old-fashioned Scout supper together, after which there will be a delightful program of demonstration by the Scouts for their dads, and speeches by various ones, both boys and fathers. It is hoped that Plymouth will take an increasing interest in the Boy Scout movement, and thus help our boys to be the type of future citizens that Plymouth needs.

THE USELESS "GOOD CITIZEN"

There is a certain type of man in every community who poses as a good citizen. He breaks no laws, lives morally, pays his honest debts, and is never tangled up with the law in any manner. But he lives of himself, by himself and for himself exclusively. When the call is issued for volunteers to put across a community movement and give a boost, he never answers. When calamity has befallen people in certain localities and charity flies to their rescue, he is never one of their number. When money is needed for a public enterprise his name is never on the list. When he sees some neighbor stuck in the mud he detours to avoid him. In fact, if he stood on the shore and saw the ship of State sinking, he would never offer to throw out a line. And if all mankind was fashioned from this same kind of clay, have you ever thought what would happen? There would be no churches, no hospitals for the sick, no institutions for the unfortunate, nor rest rooms for the weary. Think it over, Mr. Plymouth man. And if you are about to become a useless "good citizen" read this little article twice.

"THE VOICE FROM THE MINARET"

AT PENNINGTON ALLEN THEATRE, SUNDAY AND MONDAY, FEBRUARY 11 AND 12.

Norma Talmadge, in "The Voice of the Minaret," will be seen at the Pennington Allen theatre, on Sunday and Monday, February 11 and 12. This great feature film is being shown this week at the Capitol theatre, Detroit, and we take the following from the Detroit Free Press of Monday, February 5th:

"Whoever is responsible for bringing together again Norma Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien is entitled to a vote of thanks from every screen fan. These two appeared together in a score of notable screen productions in the past, but the handsome Eugene has not been seen in support of the fair Norma for about three years. Now they are together again, and in the Capitol, Sunday, they presented one of the finest pictures of the year, 'The Voice From the Minaret,' a colorful romance which was lavishly produced and splendidly acted.

"The Voice From the Minaret," is a tale of love—illicit love, it is true, but which develops into one of the sweetest romances the screen ever has unfolded. So fine is the work of Miss Talmadge and Mr. O'Brien that there is never a moment in the midst of several impassioned love scenes that these two do not have the sympathy and well wishes of the entire audience, and there are moments when the audience is held in breathless suspense awaiting the outcome with the possibilities of harm or happiness to the lovers.

"The tale is that of a handsome English girl married to a high official many years older than herself. The wife discovers him making love to a notorious woman, and in her anger takes the first boat from India to London. But she meets a handsome young man who has decided to devote his life to the service of the church, and who is bound for the Holy Land. Lady Adriene is interested in the young man, and smarting from the hurt of her husband's unfaithfulness, decides to accompany the party to Palestine. Thrown together a great deal, the couple fall desperately in love, but always as they are about to declare themselves the bells of the minaret calling the faithful to prayer are heard, and they realize that they have both broken their vows.

"How the story is finally worked out, bringing happiness to the disillusioned wife and the young churchman is the basis of the photoplay that will well repay a visit to the Capitol this week.

"Scientifically the production is on a par with the splendid cast. The story opens in Bombay, India, where the populace have assembled to witness a polo match. From there the scenes shift to Damascus with its exotic atmosphere, its rolling plains and illimitable deserts. Then scenes in old London are shown, with the interior of one of the capital's fashionable churches.

"Miss Talmadge is seen in a truly bewildering array of gowns, some of the most ultra fashionable, others typical of the far East, in gorgeous wraps and stylish traveling gowns, making it a display of fashions that will appeal irresistibly to feminine hearts and to men who admire beauty.

"Miss Talmadge, always charming, was never prettier, and her acting of the unhappy wife, who finds love, but whose vows hold her back from declaring herself, is as fine as anything this young woman has ever done."

HOW TO REMOVE SOOT

Large numbers of shingle roof and defective flue fires are being reported, due to the increasing use of soft coal. The accumulations of soot on heating surfaces reduce the value of the fuel, and frequently clog the flues and start fires. The Federal Fuel Administration Board suggests the following plan for removal of soot:

The fire is put into good condition with a substantial body of hot fuel. Common salt, thoroughly dried, is then thrown or sprinkled onto the incandescent fuel bed in a quantity depending entirely on the size of the furnace. In the case of a house heating furnace, one pound at a time is ample; in the case of a large power plant boiler, four or five scoops full may be required. The dampers are kept open so as to maintain the furnace temperature and the salt is allowed to remain until the fumes have entirely disappeared.

Immediately upon charging the salt, the furnace becomes filled with dense white fumes, which may require as much as half an hour entirely to disappear. If results are not secured on the first application, it should be repeated as many times as necessary.

Once the heating surface is thoroughly cleaned a small application every few days is usually sufficient to keep it so.

Everyone using soft coal is urged by the administration to use this remarkably simple and cheap process for getting rid of the soot, cleaning the heating surfaces of boilers thus saving large amounts of coal, preventing fires from chimneys and generally conserving all along the line of heating and the production of power.

ROBERT B. MANTELL AND GENEVIEVE HAMPER TO APPEAR IN SHAKESPEAREAN AND CLASSIC PLAYS AT THE NEW DETROIT OPERA HOUSE, DETROIT.

One of the most important announcements of the season is the engagement of Robert B. Mantell and Genevieve Hamper, who will appear at the New Detroit Opera House, Detroit, week of Monday, February 12th, in a series of Shakespearean and classic plays. "Macbeth," which is said to be the swiftest moving of Shakespeare's plays, will be the opening bill. In this character Mr. Mantell shows him as no mere villain, but as a man obsessed, a mind diseased, and a victim of ambition. Miss Hamper brings all her emotional power into play in her impersonation of the wicked Lady Macbeth.

On Tuesday evening, "King Lear" will be the offering, with Mr. Mantell in the title role, a part in which he is without an equal, in fact no other tragedian of the present day attempts to assay the mad king. Miss Hamper will be seen as Cordelia, the faithful daughter.

For the mid-week matinee, "As You Like It" will be given, and it is certain a more fascinating Rosalind never romped through the "Forest of Arden" than Miss Hamper. As the cynical Jacques, Mr. Mantell takes every advantage of the quaint humor of the character, and his reading of the famous, "All the world's a stage" is a rare dramatic treat.

On Wednesday evening in "Julius Caesar," Mr. Mantell appears as the Roman patriot Brutus, who believed the death of Caesar was necessary for the public welfare. Miss Hamper makes just such a wife as Brutus would have.

Edward Lytton's "Richieu" on Thursday evening affords Mr. Mantell fine opportunity as the Cardinal. Minister to give one of the most remarkable portrayals of the stage. Miss Hamper gives a lovely characterization of Julie, the Cardinal's ward.

On Friday evening, "Macbeth" will be repeated.

The "Merchant of Venice" will be the Saturday matinee bill. This is probably the best known of all poetic dramas, and it is certain that the Shylock of Mr. Mantell is one of his most delightful and impressive impersonations. Miss Hamper plays Portia with much skill and charm, and the woman jurist, makes an effective delivery of the "Quality of Mercy" speech.

A magnificent production of Richard III will conclude the engagement on Saturday night. Mr. Mantell in the title role presents this cruel, cunning demon in a manner that has removed all rivalry in the part. Miss Hamper will be seen as the gentle-hearted Lady Anne.

Each play has been given a complete scenic production, with correct costuming and novel lighting effects.

THE SENSATIONAL RISE OF CHEVROLET

The most discussed automobile on the market is Chevrolet, which in less than a year's time jumped from seventh to second place in current registrations, and yet promises still more sensational developments in 1923.

This car has been on the market about seven years, but not until the fall of 1921 was it regarded as seriously as a contender for leadership in the low-priced field.

At that time a line of new models was brought out, embodying important engineering improvements, high-grade bodies on all closed models and prices ranging from $525 for the Touring Car to $875 for the 5-passenger sedan (later reduced to $860).

The Chevrolet motor had always enjoyed an excellent reputation, and the added improvement caused a rapid increase in demand that resulted in a shortage of supply that persisted all during 1922 in spite of double shifts and plant enlargements.

The new models announced in October included marked improvement in design and some added equipment at no advance in price.

About this time it was announced that new assembly plants were being built at Buffalo, Cincinnati, and Janesville, Wis., also new body plants adjoining the automobile manufacturing plants at Buffalo, Cincinnati, Flint, St. Louis, Janesville and Oakland.

Inasmuch as the demand for closed cars of all makes has of recent years always exceeded the supply at least part of the year, this new Chevrolet capacity is very important, because as is well known in the trade, closed car business goes to the concern that can make the quickest delivery.

And now comes the copper-cooled Chevrolet, which has been discussed in engineering and trade circles for more than a year, all sorts of conflicting rumors having circulated regarding its existence, its performance, price, etc.

Although it is said this new motor embodies no new scientific accomplishments, but merely successful application of established laboratory principles, it is very new to the trade and general public, and has been the center of interest at the New York show.

Production is stated to be limited, due partly to the extensive and expensive equipment required in the new metallurgical process employed for brazing the copper to cast iron—a feat hitherto considered impossible.

The practical measure of the remarkable progress of Chevrolet is told by sales figures for the last two years. In 1920, up to that time the motor industry's best year, Chevrolet marketed 153,646 cars; in the bad year of 1921, sales fell to 71,909 cars; 1922 rolled up the splendid total of 243,000 sales, and production schedules for 1923 are said to be about double the 1922 sales.

Why is it that Chevrolet has risen from 7th to 2nd place in production?

In these days of the keenest sort of competition it MUST mean something for a car to pass the leaders of the industry in this fashion.

It means that people are nowadays demanding lower prices for quality automobiles.

It means that Chevrolet is meeting this demand better than any other car built.

Chevrolet is the lowest priced quality automobile in America.

If you are interested in the most economical investment in a quality automobile, let us show you a Chevrolet—let us demonstrate the truth of these statements.

SCHOOL NOTES

The school notes for this week were contributed by the following people: Glen Mitchell and Kenneth Bartlett furnished the write-up for the boys' basketball; Fanny Grainger and Bonnie Mueller furnished that for the girls' basket ball; Genevieve Butler and Gladys Schrader wrote the High school notes; Juhvia Rowland and Alice VanArsdale those for the grades; Clara Hauk and Avis Blackmore wrote the Lansing trip.

The orchestra and glee club practices were interrupted last week, on account of the illness of Miss Fern Hall.

The semester examinations took place last week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Report cards and semester credit slips were given out Wednesday.

The Aggie Club members have been busy earning money with which to send judging teams to Lansing. They contributed about thirteen dollars.

In Miss Savidge's room those neither absent nor tardy for the semester were: Madeline Shackleton, Louis Seifoff, Dorothy Caldwell, Georgia Barnes.

The commercial law class, taught by Mr. Smith, is succeeded by a course in economics. This class consists of thirty members, all seniors. This subject has never been previously taught.

The High school orchestra played during the community banquet, which was given by the Chamber of Commerce. They have been commended several times for their good work.

Lloyd Lundy, who has played in the High school orchestra five years, has moved to Flint.

The debate, which was to have been at Dearborn, last Monday afternoon, was forfeited. This gives the Plymouth team the same number of points as if it had won a complete victory.

The Aggie members have sent for patterns for club pins.

The library has recently acquired two good volumes: Fritz Bahr's "Commercial Floriculture," and Vilhjalmur Stefansson's "The Friendly Arctic."

The three highest in Type 2 for the semester were: Elbert Seger, 51 words a minute; Eva Bennett, 43 words a minute; Ruth Mecklenburg, 41 words a minute.

The two highest in Type 1 for the semester were: Madeline Shackleton, 22 words a minute; Doris Coleman, 19 words a minute.

The kindergarten has an enrollment of eighteen new members, who come in the afternoon this semester.

The first grade has a class of seventy-one, of which thirty-one came from the kindergarten. During the first semester neither Genevieve Robinson nor Catherine Compton were absent from school. In the month of January, Sheldon Baker, Wilbur Kincaid, Alexander Kronoziski, June Nash, Leon Parks and Lucille Wilden were neither absent nor tardy.

The first A and second B classes have a larger enrollment than last semester, fifty being the number, while the second grade only have a membership of forty-eight.

The fourth grade members are very much interested in making patriotic booklets for February birthdays.

The sixth grade accepted eighteen new members from the fifth grade, but lost sixteen old members, who are now being taught the wonders of Junior High school. The sixth grade now totals a membership of seventy-one.

HARBINGER OF ILL TO FRANCE

Ill-Omened Raven Said to Have Appeared Recently in the Gardens of Elysee Palace.

France's famous raven is reported to have again appeared in the gardens of the Elysee palace, in Paris. It is a bird of ill-omen which, for 150 years, has heralded some kind of catastrophe to the chief of state each time it has been seen.

It was on Saturday toward sundown when the old gardener saw it perched on a sycamore tree in the president's grounds. Recognizing it at once by its unusual gray plumage, the aged servant immediately reported the fact, sending slivers down the spines of his comrades—for no member of the presidential staff likes to meet the unlucky bird.

The raven's history is a curious one, several of its appearances being recorded in historical documents preserved at the Bibliotheque Nationale. Each time it has been seen, its appearance has been followed by some sort of catastrophe or accident, the victim of which is usually the head of the state to whom it has shown itself.

The first record of its appearance was in 1785. The gray raven then haunted Versailles. One day, just when she was dipping a biscuit into a cup of milk at Trignon farm, Marie Antoinette suddenly saw the bird looking at her from the tree. The queen, knowing its history, fell into a dead faint.

In 1810 the Empress Marie Louise was partaking of a meal almost at the same spot. She said the bird's cawing seemed to warn her of the approaching end of her happiness, and it was only a few days later that Napoleon's triumphant career came to an end. She returned to Austria a fallen empress.

No further appearance of the raven is recorded until President Thiers saw it in 1872, while staying at Versailles. Thiers, who was familiar with the bird's history, said he was unafraid, and the bird followed him to the Elysee palace in Paris.

Six months before President Carnot's assassination the great black-gray bird was seen again, and its next appearance was shortly before Felix Faure's sudden death. Since then no bird has seen it until now, not even at President Deschanel's unlucky accident.

Believers in omens of this nature point out that the case of President Thiers was the only one in which the gray raven's arrival did not precede some sort of unhappy event.

Sailing Under False Colors

SENATOR YOUNG has introduced Senate Bill No. 62 in the Michigan Legislature, known as the "full crew law." Under the guise of a Safety measure, it means really—

An additional tax of $1,500,000 at least to the users of Transportation in Michigan.

The creation of an artificial demand for more labor.

Waste in man power.

Greater hazards to the men, it is designed to protect, since it divides responsibility.

THERE is another phase to the issue: In the event of a strike, such as the "outlaw switchmen's strike" of three years ago, complete paralysis of the transportation system will follow, because one clause of that measure makes experience mandatory upon the newest recruit to the train crew—the flagman. Had such a law been in full force and effect when the strike referred to occurred, there would have been a complete tie-up of not alone the railroads, but of every factory in the country. Not a pound of farm produce could have been transported to market, nor a ton of coal brought from the mines by rail. There would have followed in its wake greater misery, greater chaos, greater general suffering upon all who are dependent upon transportation—and profiting on a scale the like of which the country had never seen!

This bill would give to organized labor in the general of peace what the country reluctantly gives to the times in the field in times of war.

SENATOR GANNBERRY'S bill No. 72, requiring automatic fire doors installed on all locomotives means the scrapping of a number of serviceable engines. This bill, too, means higher transportation costs to you, who "pay the shot" eventually.

Send your local representative a "man and" today telling him that these measures are un-American, unnecessary, and un-American.

Frank H. Alfried,
President and General Manager.

MICHIGAN LAGS BUT STILL LEADS STATES

LOCAL FARMERS WEEK LARGEST IN COUNTRY, ALTHOUGH ATTENDANCE BELOW 1922 FIGURE.

Michigan's annual Farmers' Week held at M. A. C. Jan. 29 to Feb. 2, fell below 1922 by nearly a thousand in total attendance...

Practically impassable roads, especially in central Michigan, cut down the number of "automobile" visitors to a minimum.

Comparison of available figures from other states, however, shows that the local agricultural conference ranks high in the matter of attendance.

A St. Louis woman shot her husband because he wouldn't work. You men of Plymouth had better not show this to your wives.

The weather man says 1922 was one of extreme drouth. Prohibition agents say the same thing.

The Plymouth man who has tried to get a piece of No. 40 thread through the eye of a needle knows what the Bible means when it says a camel can't pass through one.

The Plymouth man who has to figure out how to make one salary buy shoes for seven pairs of feet, often wishes he'd paid more attention to arithmetic when he went to school.

Of course it isn't done to dodge taxes, but it's funny that stock dividends became so popular all at once.

No man can know it all; but he can be interviewed a few times and get the notion that he does.

You never can tell about the styles. A few years from now Plymouth girls may be buying freckles at the drug store.

Doctors say there's 50 miles of hair on a woman's head. That's all right so long as she keeps it out of the soup and the butter.

Today's Reflections

Our advice to Plymouth women is to hunt the bright side. The longer winter lasts the longer until house-cleaning time.

No system of government will work in a land where everybody tries to work the government.

A Seattle man plans to plant corn from an airplane. Now if he'll learn to harvest it by radio maybe he can get his crop in.

Most Plymouth girls read the spring styles now to see how much out of date they'll be by next spring.

A careful study of present-day reading habits suggests that there are too many sex novels and not enough cook books.

Number 33 has for sometime been regarded as a "jinx," but will bet a perfectly good dime that the year 1923 will be a winner for the man who doesn't talk too much and who attends to his own business.

TRACE EARLY MAN

Much Is Being Learned of Development of Humanity.

Scientific Discoveries Seem to Give Point to Idea of Evolution From the Early Apes.

Within fifty years great discoveries bearing on man's development from his apelike ancestors will be made, Dr. Alex Hrdlicka of the Smithsonian Institution predicted recently.

"The surface has hardly been scratched," he said, "by discoveries of early man so far made in western and southern Europe, while nothing has been done to explore the tropics for evidence of early man and his predecessors, which are probably present there."

"At Ehringsdorf, near Weimar and Oberassel, Germany, at La Quina, France, at Predmost, Moravia, and elsewhere," Dr. Hrdlicka said, "primitive cave-dwellers of the Neanderthal or later type lived one hundred and fifty thousand or more years ago, and the accumulation of various cultural remains left by them is very striking."

"At La Quina the talus containing remains of ancient man extends along the low cliff bounding the valley for nearly two miles, with a strong probability that there are caves in the cliff in which man of a hundred thousand years ago found shelter, and of these accumulations not one fiftieth has yet been examined."

The skulls of these early inhabitants of Europe, though probably ancestral to those of man of today, are distinctly different from those of any modern races, Dr. Hrdlicka explained. They are heavy and low-browed, heavy jawed and the lower jaw has as yet no chin prominence, the chin in fact is often markedly receding, as in the great apes.

"These people represent various links in the chain of man's evolution from early apes. Man did not develop from any of the present-day apes," Dr. Hrdlicka said, "but represents a separate line of descent from the pre-human form which in turn arose from long extinct simian forms."

Had Heard About Goldsmith. Among her Christmas presents was a large bowl of goldfish. Now it happened that while she had read widely in the fields of literature and science, goldfish were out of her line, and in order to familiarize herself with the life, characteristics, habits, appetites, prejudices and idiosyncrasies of goldfish she went to a book store.

"I desire a goldfish book," she told the young man who waited on her. A puzzled look overspread his countenance as he asked: "A what?" "A goldfish book, a goldfish book," she replied.

Suddenly his face brightened as with a lordly air of condescending superiority he said: "Oh, yes, I know what you want. You mean Goldsmith's works."

His Lack of Judgment. "Bud Buckover hasn't got no sense worth mentioning," said a citizen of South Marsh, Ark. "Tuther evening he got into a fuss with his wife and b'uz ahtlin' or nuther didn't suit him, he began to yell and slash around with his revolver. Then he boogled out of the door and fired his gun in the air. Prob'ly he figgered his wife would think he'd shot himself, and be sorry. But, about that time, Hamp Sockery came in at the gate and, nacherly s'posin' Bud was shooting at him, pulled his gun and let dzive and shot Bud through the shoulder. If Bud had had any sense he'd a-recollected that a family row is like the feller said of charity—it begins at home, and ort to stay there."

Compressed Air Runs Locomotive. A device for running a locomotive with compressed air, with a 60 cent saving in fuel has just been completed by the Italian engineer, Tabanelli. It has just been tested out successfully and it is said government officials are convinced that the invention is practical. The machine, which can be adapted easily to the type of engines now in use, requires only a small quantity of crude oil, substituting heated compressed air for steam.

Fed Him on Raw Meat

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

Mike, facing his opponent in the ring, tried to nerve himself to his job, but he began to see the face of Terry Ornstien through a wavering mist. He reeled under his blows. It was the fourth round. And it looked uncommonly like a knockout for Mike.

He heard the cries of derision come from the throats of the spectators as he reeled around the ring, evading Terry's terrible punches. He had been taken on at the last moment, Terry's opponent having failed to materialize. Oh, and he could have licked Terry to a frazzle. He had not trained those months for nothing. He knew that within himself there lay the power to knock out his adversary, to leap at one bound into affluence and celebrity. To knock out Terry meant fame, and more money than Mike had ever had in his life. It was the opportunity of his life.

At home his wife lay sick, more from hunger than fever. That was at the bottom of it all. She had gone hungry that Mike might keep in condition, waiting for the chance that had now come to him.

But that evening Mike had gone supperless to the amphitheater. The last bit of food in the house had gone for Polly. Mike had not dreamed that within an hour he would be facing Terry Ornstien. The dream of his life came true! Fighting upon a stomach that had been empty for seven hours! That faintness and nausea!

Mike's blows landed light as feathers. Through the bloody mist that swam before his eyes he saw Terry, grinning and confident, as he landed one punch after another. "Finish him, Terry! Gee, stand up to him! This ain't no dancing school!"

And suddenly missiles began to fly. A rotten orange landed in the ring and went bouncing along till it came to rest under the ropes. As a matter of fact it was that orange that saved Mike from a knockout. It temporarily diverted Terry's right from his jaw.

Then something struck Mike squarely under the eye, and he tottered and fell. At that instant the round ended. And Mike lay, clutching in his fingers a burnt paper bag, containing a large piece of raw steak that some enthusiast had been carrying home for his evening meal.

His second was fanning him. "You gotta pull yourself together, Mike," he said. "You gotta hold him. Whas-ermarrer with you?" His eyes fell upon the steak. He looked at Mike and swore softly. "Hungry?" he asked.

Mike nodded. "Well, for the love of—of Mike! You didn't have no supper? Say, think you could get away with that before the next round? Hurry, lad. Bolt it! It don't digest in the mouth—no need to chew steak. Get some thing in your stomach, and get it quick!"

Somehow Mike managed to get down the raw meat. Nobody was paying much attention to what he was doing. The derision of the audience had turned upon Terry for failing to knock his opponent out. "Finish him next round, boy!" they were shouting.

When the fifth round began Mike walked forward like a lion. That bit of raw meat in his stomach had revolutionized his cosmos. He felt his old fighting self again. His second looked at him.

"By the lord, Mike, I think you can beat him!" he said to him. "Finish him, Terry! Attaboy!" A terrific punch had sent Mike reeling. For a moment the arena swam around him. Then, out of the fog, came Polly's face, wistful and patient as she lay in bed. She had always believed in him.

And the next moment Terry Ornstien was lying flat on the floor, with the most amazed expression on his face. The audience suddenly grew still.

After that a fight was fought which had never been seen since the palmy days of the ring—whenever they were. It was a battle without mercy, without finesse, of two giants who stood up in the middle of the ring and slugged each other. The silence of stupefaction had given place to a frenzy of excitement. Everybody was upon his feet, shouting, shrieking, howling.

The amazed spectators saw the champion reel, fall, and collapse. At the count of ten he was still lying senseless upon the floor.

Care of Floors. If hardwood floors are badly spotted and dirty, the best way to clean them is wiping them up with gasoline. Moisten a clean piece of cheesecloth with gasoline and wet the surface of the floor rigorously with moisture of cheesecloth, changing cloth as soon as it becomes much soiled.

If floor is not very dirty use a good liquid wax. Slippery wax floors are prevented by the use of liquid wax and a light wax mop.

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR A PERSONAL LETTER Dear Sir: If you intend to be the proud owner of a Ford car in the near future, we urge you to place your order now without fail. There is always a shortage of Ford cars every year when the Touring Season opens, which will be especially emphasized the coming year, in view of the extremely low price and high quality of the improved Ford car. You will want to protect your and your family's health during the raw, wet and cold days, and you will find that there is no comfort like your own cozy car. Taxi bills count up fast and sloppy sidewalks and long cold waits on corners for street cars are soon forgotten by Ford owners. With Ford prices at their present low point and the opportunity which we give you to split up the cost into monthly payments extending over a full year, it becomes a real economy for you to own one of our open or closed models. We do not wish to unduly urge you, but we should like mighty well to receive your order or at least have a chance to talk over our proposition with you, and you will have to admit that it would be extreme business foolishness on our part to urge you this far if we did not know that you would, after following our advice, thank us for calling your attention to the shortage of cars that is going to exist in the spring. May we see you in person or hear from you in this regard? Sincerely yours, Carl J. Wiedman Plymouth Motor Sales Co. 448-470 South Main St. Plymouth

PLYMOUTH WINS ONE AND LOSES ONE

BOYS' GAME

The same old story, "the boys lost." With Farmington the victor by a score of 24 to 9, the "Rocks" lost their fourth consecutive game of the season, last Friday night.

When the "Rocks" took the floor, they had the best chance of winning that any athletic team could be given. First, they were on their own court with the home crowd backing them to the limit, and second, they had played such a good basket ball game the week before against Dearborn, that it was expected by everyone that Friday night would be the ideal time for the local team to stage a comeback.

The first few minutes of play were filled with much excitement, both teams passing and guarding the ball with good judgment, but a break gave the visitors the first points. The rosters supported the team, and the result gave Plymouth a point from a foul, two from a basket. Both teams seemed to have been affected by the weather, neither could hold onto the ball very well in the last part of the first quarter, but "Suds" managed to make the score read 5 to 3 in favor of his own team.

The next quarter proved that Coach Walker's men were not playing their best. The passing and guarding of Farmington looked well in contrast to the lack of judgment used by the Plymouth boys. Many times in the opening minutes of this quarter, the ball was in Plymouth territory, but was not dropped in. The last part of the quarter, the visitors rallied and made a basket, causing the home team to fall to pieces, giving Sallow, the giant opposing center, a chance to score twice more. A conference was called by the Plymouth boys, which came to nothing, their opponents scoring two more points as soon as possible after the whistle blew.

A new lineup was substituted, which stopped the Farmers' scoring streak as the half ended. Both teams returned to the floor determined to make the score read highest in their favor. Plymouth started by placing a neat shot from the center of the floor. The outsiders then took it upon themselves to stop their opponents scoring and also to run up their own total. The Farmington center was the cause of the next two baskets, making the score read 18 to 9. With no chance to win the home team put up a weak defense, which the outsiders evaded and made six more points. The game ended with 24 points for Farmington and 9 for Plymouth.

The line-up was as follows:
R. F.—Cline.
L. F.—Stevens.
C.—Sutherland.
R. G.—Williams.
L. G.—Holmes.
Substitutions—Palmer, Strasen, Birch, Wilson, Richwine, Bartlett.
Referee—Groves, Ypsilanti, Normal College.

GIRLS' GAME

Friday evening at least four hundred people gathered in the High school auditorium to watch one of the most exciting games of the season. Enthusiasm grew every moment as the crowd waited patiently for the coming of the Farmington team, which was delayed because of D. U. R. disconnections. The tired crowd set itself go in wild cheers as the two teams ran out on the floor. This was the first game in which the girls wore their new white and blue uniforms. The middies and bloomers were white, the socks were white with blue stripes, the ties were blue, and the head bands, which the domestic art girls made for them, were blue with a white letter, "P" in the center.

It was a battle all the way through, and although Plymouth was always in the lead, not until the last quarter did they insure the game. Many times the girls went to the floor on their knees, but they still hung on to the ball or followed it outside.

At the end of the first half the score was 13-11, which showed the closeness of the game.

The referee, Miss Ryan, was very strict and fair, and as a result of this the last quarter was held up by arguments over fouls and the removal of fouls.

Plymouth High forwards had a good eye for the basket, and although they missed many shots from the foul line, they made good nearly all chances for field baskets.

This game was considered the most important of the season, since Plymouth has now conquered the champs of 1922. As the final whistle blew everyone cheered, and began to talk of the game as a first class, evenly matched and hard fought contest.

They Appeal to Our Sympathies

The bilious and dyspeptic are constant sufferers and appeal to our sympathies. Many such, however, have been completely restored to health by the use of Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets strengthen the stomach, invigorate the liver and improve the digestion. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. When you have any trouble with your stomach, give them a trial.—Advertisement.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Last week St. John's held their annual meeting of parishioners. The reports of the different societies connected with the church were presented by those in charge. In the absence of Mrs. Paul Ware, the retiring president, who was not able to be present, Mrs. William Bakewell, the newly elected president of the Guild, read the report of the Guild; Dan Murphy, report of the finances of the church-school; Ernest Henry, treasurer, Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew's report; Mrs. Murphy, general report of the church-school; Sidney D. Strong, secretary of the vestry, gave some interesting statistics of the mission for the past year, and the church treasurer presented his annual financial statement for 1922, making special mention of the splendid work done by the Ladies' Guild. Franklin Gibson in reviewing these reports said that he very much appreciated the work done by the different societies; he also congratulated those in charge on their complete and businesslike records. The meeting then proceeded to elect the vestry, and upon the recommendation of Mr. Gibson appointed the following men to serve for the ensuing year:

Warden—Andrew J. Lapham.
Secretary—Sidney D. Strong.
Treasurer—Arthur J. E. Torre.
Vestryman—Dr. W. G. Jennings.

Ladies' Guild—
President—Mrs. Wm. Bakewell.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. George Wilcox.
Treasurer—Mrs. Annie Henderson.

Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew's—
Director—Franklin L. Gibson.
Vice Pres.—Dan Murphy.
Treasurer—Ernest Henry.

Church-School—
Secretary—George Merryweather.

Supt.—Mrs. Dan Murphy.
Treasurer—Dan Murphy.

House of Church Women—Mrs. George Wilcox, Plymouth representative.

Organist—Miss M. A. Pierson.

Mrs. George Wilcox, representative, and Mrs. W. G. Jennings attended the annual meeting and dinner of the House of Church Women in Detroit, last week. The special speaker was Rt. Rev. Charles H. Brent, bishop of western New York, who spoke on "The World Situation." They report a very inspiring and instructive time there. Bishop Brent is not merely one of the outstanding bishops in the Episcopal church, he is also one of the outstanding characters in American public life. Out of his experience as a missionary, bishop of the Philippines, and later as chaplain in chief of the American expeditionary forces in the World War, he has come to an understanding of the world's problems and a vision that is unexcelled in America.

The members of the vestry very much appreciated the ready and generous response by the merchants and business men of Plymouth to two ladies of St. John's Guild, on Sunday of the community supper, given this week in the Grange hall. The proceeds of this supper goes towards paying off Plymouth's pledge to support one Armenian child for one year. As there is only a small balance required, and the pledge does not expire until May, it is anticipated that the remaining portion of the pledge will be met now. Several parties have been given by members of the church-school for this purpose. They have proved a great success, and have enabled us to send funds from time to time to the Armenian Relief.

On Sunday morning, the Rev. Harry Midworth, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Detroit, will be with us, and will administer the holy communion. We want all members and our old friends to come next Sunday, to welcome Mr. Midworth back to Plymouth again. Mr. Midworth was our first lay reader, who labored among us so faithfully for nine years, laying the foundation of our little mission church in Plymouth.

Next Wednesday afternoon, the 14th, the Ladies' Guild will meet at 2:00 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ernest Burden on Adams street. All the members are asked to be present.

Next Thursday evening, there will be a special service in the church at 7:30. The Rev. C. McCurdy, rector of Birmingham, will be the preacher, and he will bring an inspiring message for us. Brothers of the Masonic Order have signified their intention of coming in a body, and, of course, their wives and daughters will be welcome too.

A CARD—We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness, the many beautiful flowers and expressions of sympathy shown us in the sickness and loss of our dear wife and mother; also Rev. Wilham Wise for his comforting words, also to the singers.

Mr. William Sherwood,
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bennett,
Mr. and Mrs. William Herr,
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Badelt.

NEW SOCIETY ORGANIZED

At a meeting of the young ladies of the Presbyterian church assembled in the church parlors to discuss the possibility of having a social organization for the promotion of interest in the musical department of the church, and after a very interesting discussion, it was decided to organize such a society. The following officers were elected: President—Miss Ellen Gardiner; secretary and treasurer—Miss Olive May Merz. A motion was made to have a musical tea on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was a great success. It was moved and seconded that we have a vested choir of thirty-five voices; the motion was carried, and many responded to the membership call. The society wishes to extend their heartfelt appreciation and thanks to all who gave their services in any way.

The Fisher Body Corporation made the announcement, Monday, that Pontiac was to have a new body-building plant, which would employ 2,500 men. The other plants of the company are to be expanded, to give employment to a thousand men, and work on the new plant will begin in the spring.—Milford Times.

WELL DESERVED HIGH HONOR

Margaret K. Haughery of New Orleans was the first woman in the United States honored by a monument. For a time she was a laundress. Later she bought two cows and opened a dairy, and herself drove a cart to deliver the milk. Presently she bought a bakery, and peddled bread instead of milk. The bakery grew to be a factory, and she gave up peddling. Margaret, she always wore a calico dress and had a small shawl over her shoulders, and her only head covering was a sunbonnet.

Symbols of the Nine Muses.

The symbols of the Muses were as follows:
Calliope, the epic Muse, a tablet and stylus, sometimes a scroll.
Clio, Muse of history, a scroll or open chest of books.
Erato, Muse of love ditties, a lyre.
Melpomene, Muse of tragedy, a tragic mask, the club of Hercules, or a sword. She wears the cothurnus and her head is wreathed with vine leaves.
Polyhymnia, Muse of sacred poetry, sits pensive, but has no attribute because duty is not to be represented by any visible symbol.
Terpsichore, Muse of choral song and dance, a lyre and the plectrum.
Thalia, Muse of comedy and idyllic poetry, a comic mask, a shepherd's staff, or a wreath of ivy.

Wire Telegraphy for Mines.

In a mine disaster it frequently happens that the same agency that causes the disaster puts the telephone system out of order. That is why mining engineers are experimenting with the wireless system. In recent tests near Pittsburgh a receiving station 50 feet underground got short-wave signals from outside distinctly, but the audibility fell off rapidly as the distance underground was increased. In experiments in England a three-tube set placed at a 2,000-foot level communicated easily with the pit mouth, and better results were obtained at great depths than at points comparatively near the surface.—Youth's Companion.

Human Brain During Sleep.

Most authorities appear to be agreed that during sleep there is a lessened amount of blood in the brain. This is why excitement prevents sleep, or hard thinking, for then there is a greater flow of blood to the brain. This was proved in an interesting manner by Mosso, who balanced a man on a scale and showed that the head end would become depressed when the man was made to think or was subjected to excitement. This knowledge helps in the treatment of insomnia.

"Deadheads."

Deadhead is the literal translation of the Latin phrase, caput mortuum which was much used by the old chemists to denote the residuum of chemicals when all their volatile matters had escaped; hence the word is figuratively used of anything from which all that rendered it valuable has been taken away. Spectators or passengers who do not pay are not valuable, from a revenue standpoint.
