I HAVEN'T TIME

A common excuse for non-attendance at church is lack of time. But you have time for the things you really prize. You find time for your meals, your club or lodge, your business, your home. Don't fool yourself. If you truly think God is worth while you will have time for him.

D. E. S. INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

The annual installation of the officers of Plymouth Chapter, No. 115, O. E. S., was held in the Masonic hall, Tuesday evening, May 15th. The meeting was called to order by Past Patron P. B. Whitbeck. After giving a short history of the chapter, he invited the acting marshal, Past Matron Sarah Cook to escort the installing officers to the east. Mrs. Flora Rathburn, past matron, presided during the installation, and she was assisted by Past Matron Maude Pettingill as marshal and Mrs. Adella Markham as chaplain.

A very pleasing feature of the installation was the flower work given by Mrs. Rathburn in an impressive and beautiful manner, and the officers representing the five points of the Star were each presented with a basket of flowers, appropriate in colors of their stations.

Mesdames Moon and Bake gave two musical selections, which were very much appreciated by those present.

The hall was beautifully decorated with baskets of flowers, and was in charge of Mrs. Sadie Draper, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Bartlett. Remarks were made by Mrs. Ciella Smith, P. B. Whitbeck and others.

The marshal proclaimed the following officers regularly installed:
Worthy Matron—Ciella Smith.
Worthy Patron—C. H. Rauch.
Asso. Matron—Jeanette Holcomb.
Secretary—Clara Taylor.
Treasurer—Winifred Willett.
Conductress—Anna Stever.
Asso. Conductress—Lulu Barnes.
Adah—Pauline Cobb.
Ruth—Ruth Rotnour.
Father—Avena Streng.
Martha—Marna Burnett.
Electa—Lavina Rondorp.
Chaplain—Margaret Rauch.
Marshal—Rose Hawthorn.
Organist—Madeleine Wood.
Warder—Ina Jewell.
Sentinel—Milburn Hill.

After the installation, the Worthy Patron, in his pleasing way, and with well chosen words, presented each of the installing officers with a small gift in appreciation of their good work. Then all were invited to the dining room to partake of refreshments, served by the men of the chapter. When the hour grew late and the last light was dimmed, the impression remained of a most delightful evening.

DEATH OF MRS. ANNA HOWARD

Mrs. Anna Howard of Mill street, passed away at Providence hospital Detroit, Sunday morning, where she had been taken for an operation a few days previous. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Rev. G. H. Whitney officiating. Several members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Engineers of Grand Rapids, attended the funeral and performed a short service of respect, following the regular service. Burial at Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. Howard was a woman of large heart and sympathies, and spent her time in doing good for others. Wherever anyone was sick or in need, there she was found helping to relieve their suffering. All who knew her loved her.

Anna Mae Brown was born in Ohio, December 16, 1865. On April 11, 1893, she was united in marriage to William S. Howard, an engineer on the Pere Marquette Railroad, and for some time they made their home in Grand Rapids, after which they moved to Plymouth. Mr. Howard passed away in 1912.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Daggett of Holly, have been visiting relatives here the past few days.
The Detroit Outlet Store has a large ad in today's paper announcing a re-opening of their store in the Gayde Block, Saturday, May 19th.

MRS. FRANK WESTFALL DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Mabel Christine Guenther was born July 22, 1882, in Canton township, and departed this life, May 11, 1923. September 22, 1904, she was united in marriage to Frank Westfall, who survives her. Her life was spent largely in and around Sheldon until about two months ago, when they bought a home in Plymouth. She was a member of the Methodist church at Sheldon. Besides her husband, she leaves a mother, Mrs. Emma Dickerson; five brothers, Will, Harvey, Elmer, Herman and Bennie; three sisters, Mrs. Willard Huston, Mrs. Myrtle Hartford and Bertha Guenther, a number of other relatives and a host of friends to mourn their loss. She was always a kind and loving wife and neighbor.
The funeral services were held at the home Monday at two p. m., and at the Sheldon church, conducted by Carl Ziegler. Interment in Sheldon cemetery. The family have the sympathy of the community.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

The Parent-Teachers' Association met Friday evening, at the High school. From seven to eight o'clock, parents and friends looked through the various rooms and viewed the work of the children. Great credit is due the teachers and pupils for the splendid work exhibited. At 8:00 o'clock the audience gathered in the auditorium, and after a very short business session, enjoyed four reels of moving pictures on the Canadian Northwest. The picture was wonderfully interesting and instructive. The program committee is to be congratulated on securing this film for the entertainment of the audience.

MRS. EDWARD WARD PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Edward Ward, a highly esteemed lady of Plymouth, died at Harper hospital, Detroit, Thursday, May 10th. The funeral services were held from the Baptist church, of which she was a member, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, and was largely attended. The L. O. T. M., of which she was also a member, attended the services in a body. Rev. H. E. Sayles, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated. Interment in Riverside cemetery.

Jennie Roberts Ward was born August 2, 1884, at Milford, Michigan. On May 7th, she was taken to Harper hospital, Detroit, where she passed away three days later of sleeping sickness. Surviving her are her husband, Edward Ward, and one son, Lovene. She also leaves five brothers, seven sisters and a stepfather.

PUBLIC SAFETY WEEK MAY 20-27

The Public Safety organization of Detroit, are desirous of extending safety activities to all parts of Wayne county, and Sheriff George A. Walters has asked the officials of Plymouth to join in this great movement. The date of this intensive campaign is May 20 to 27. During this time every effort will be made to cut down the number of traffic accidents.

Among the things the organization urges is that the merchants call attention to the campaign by suitable window displays. School teachers are urged to talk safety to the children, and to have the children write suitable compositions about traffic dangers and fire hazards. People walking on the country highways should realize the importance of walking on the left side of the roads so as to be facing traffic on their side of the road, and to step off the traveled path when a vehicle is about to pass.

Owing to the large number of accidents caused by defective equipment, including faulty brakes, it is suggested that motorists be urged to give attention to proper equipment.

Everybody is asked to work together in this movement to save human life.

DEATH OF MRS. ROSA BRUNER

Mrs. Rosa Bruner, aged 78 years, passed away at her home on Holbrook avenue, Tuesday noon, after an illness of some time. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon, from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Rev. Charles Strasen officiating. An obituary will be printed next week.

F. D. Schrader is driving a handsome seven-passenger Studebaker sedan.
Miss Rhea Peck was a guest of Miss Virginia Giles at Ypsilanti, last week-end.

Mrs. Mary Blakely of Central Lake, Mich., who has been visiting her son in Paris, France, for the past five months, arrived in Plymouth, Tuesday morning, to visit her sister, Mrs. Ray Dunham. She will make an extended stay, and assist in caring for her aunt, Mrs. Dalrymple, who is confined to her bed with a broken hip.

MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION

By the Governor

Lee's surrender to Grant at Appomattox marked the close of the Civil War which had cost this country millions of treasure and many, many thousands of precious lives. Three years later Memorial Day was instituted to honor the memory of the brave men who had given their lives in the Union cause.

A generation passed and America again found herself in arms, not to put down rebellion but to establish the liberties and maintain the rights of a young, sister republic. Less than a score of years saw the outbreak of the great world conflict and, while at first it seemed that we might be able to keep out of it, as the war progressed it became more and more evident that the fruits of liberty, so dear to the heart of every American, were seriously menaced and that to insure our national independence we must take our place by the side of those who were battling for the freedom of the world. We all know the story. We know how splendidly our land and sea our gallant soldiers, sailors and marines upheld the honor of the American name.

Memorial Day is for the men who took part in all these wars, but our first thought will be for the grey-haired veterans, that fast thinning blue line whose step is growing feebler year by year; and in this thoughtfulness for the old soldier now will join more heartily than the younger veterans of more recent wars.

Therefore, in order that we may pay a tribute of respect and affection to the surviving veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish American War and the Great World War, and do honor to the memory of their fallen comrades, I hereby sincerely urge Wednesday, May thirtieth, 1923, be fittingly observed as Memorial Day; and I earnestly appeal to the people of Michigan for hearty cooperation in plans for the observance of the day in their respective communities.

On Memorial Day flags should be displayed at half-staff until noon and then hoisted to the top of the staff.

SCHOOL NOTES

The High school notes were furnished by Juvvia Rowland; the grade notes by Lucille Dickerson; the account of the play by Clara Hauk, and that of the game by Bonnie Mueller.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The High school girls are practicing every evening from seven to eight for track.

During the late snow storm, the girls' physical training classes played indoor base ball.

The fourth hour girls' physical training class of section two, hiked Tuesday, May 8, to Bennett's woods, located about two miles northwest of the school house. They built a fire and roasted weenies for lunch. The girls also walked back, returning in time for their fifth hour classes.

The girls' cooking class served dinner for the Hudson orchestra and double quartette, Thursday, May 9th. Harper's Dictionary of Classical Literature and Antiquities, by H. T. Peck, is a new book in the school library.

The Hudson orchestra and double quartette gave a splendid concert in the High school auditorium, Thursday afternoon, May 9th. It was enjoyed by the entire school and many outsiders.

GRADE NOTES

Although speed has never been a special requirement of the manual training department, the boys of the forty new hurdles for the Athletic Association, last week.

Mrs. George Webb of Providence, Rhode Island, visited Mrs. Root's room, May 7th.

Mrs. Gottschalk visited Miss Harris' room, May 9th.

The sixth grade history classes are studying the Civil war.

In the annual exhibit, last Friday afternoon and evening, a general display of all kinds of work was presented by the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Two special lines of work were shown in the first grade room—examples of the construction type, chairs, beds, barns and May baskets, and examples of the seasonal handwork from September until the present. For their part in the display, the manual training boys made baskets, toys and small pieces of furniture. In the domestic art department, the work exhibited was done by the sixth, seventh and the High school classes. The garments displayed consisted of jumpers, bungalow aprons, undergarments, dresses, blouses, skirts, sport suits, sewing bags, holders and table mats. Besides these there were sample patches, seams, button holes and construction work. A quilt that the advanced class had just finished tying was shown. Scraps left over from garments that the girls had been working on were used for this quilt, which is to be put in the rest room.

The advanced sewing class has worked hard during the past two weeks to complete the boys' costumes for the operetta, which Miss Fern Hall gave Wednesday night.

The following second grade pupils are on the honor roll in spelling for last week: Melvin Blunk, Elva Hill,

Mary Jane Hamilton, Philip Doerr, Winifred Holcomb, Vera Woods, Raiva Schilling, Katherine Mandell, J. D. McLaren, Russell Micol, Betty Donnelly, Berton Schwab, Dorothy Wnuk, Alice Lee, Alice Postiff, Woodrow Wilson, Lucille Ruthrof, Gertrude Smith, Silvia Powell.

SENIOR PLAY GREAT SUCCESS

The senior play given Thursday evening, May 10th, was a great success. On account of the illness of Herbert Miller, Kenneth Bartlett had to be substituted in the part of George Boyde, a friend of Austin Bevans, played by Olivia Williams. Kenneth did not start his part until Monday, but there was no sign of forgetting on his part, and the acting was entirely satisfactory.

The seniors, Dorothy Hinnau, Fannie Grainger, Genevieve Butler, Juvvia Rowland, Carol Pitzer and Gladys Schrade, at the boarding school, all managed very easily to fall in love with their new manager, Austin. Avis Blackmore and Wilma Briggs, as teacher and secretary, seemed very willing to forgive nearly anything he did. Kenneth Bartlett, Donald Sutherland, Jack Taylor and William Stamann made very good teachers, that is as far as falling in love with the pupils was concerned. Elbert Seger was very realistic in his part of the rich uncle and holder of a heavy mortgage on the school. The proceeds of the play are to be used for a class memorial.

Wan weather during April resulted in increased production among all pens, according to E. C. Foreman, head of the M. A. C. poultry department and general manager of the contest, with the result that the first half of the year's run closed on May 1 with the birds just reaching their best production.

Leading pens in the contest are closely grouped, with the exception of the first place birds. The ten White Leghorns performing under the colors of E. E. Shaw, of South Haven, boast a six-months' mark of 1,120 eggs, for high honors. Northland Farm, Grand Rapids, with a Leghorn pen showing 993 eggs; and O. S. Thompson of Allen whose Leghorns have produced 966 eggs hold down second and third places.

Plymouth Rocks entered by the Brummer Poultry Farm of Holland, Michigan, top their breed and stand fourth in the whole contest, while fifth place is held by a pen of Wyandottes, carrying the name of the Evergreen Poultry Farm, Greenville.

One of Mr. Shaw's Leghorns leads among individuals with 142 eggs for the first six months of the run.

Line-up—Hickey, Rowland, Trimble, Holmes, Millman, Cline, Sayles, Sump and Wiseley. Substitutions—Bartlett for Sump and Seger for Millman. Northville vs. Plymouth here today.

LIVONIA LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be regular services at the Livonia Center Lutheran church on Sunday, May 20, 1923, in the English language. It being Pentecost festival, the congregation will celebrate Holy Communion in the English language. The usual communion offering will be lifted for the benefit of the new seminary at Milwaukee.

Lumbago

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."—Advertisement.

MICHIGAN HENS LEAD IN EGG LAYING TEST

WHITE LEGHORNS SETTING PACE AT HALF WAY POINT OF M. A. C. INTERNATIONAL.

Michigan pens hold all honor places at the end of the first half year of the International Egg Laying Contest being held at the Michigan Agricultural College. State birds not only top each section but actually hold the first four places in every breed—a clean sweep for Michigan entries.

The White Leghorns have come up from behind in recent weeks, and now hold top honors among the different breeds, the first three leghorn pens standing ahead of any pen of other breed.

Wan weather during April resulted in increased production among all pens, according to E. C. Foreman, head of the M. A. C. poultry department and general manager of the contest, with the result that the first half of the year's run closed on May 1 with the birds just reaching their best production.

Leading pens in the contest are closely grouped, with the exception of the first place birds. The ten White Leghorns performing under the colors of E. E. Shaw, of South Haven, boast a six-months' mark of 1,120 eggs, for high honors. Northland Farm, Grand Rapids, with a Leghorn pen showing 993 eggs; and O. S. Thompson of Allen whose Leghorns have produced 966 eggs hold down second and third places.

Plymouth Rocks entered by the Brummer Poultry Farm of Holland, Michigan, top their breed and stand fourth in the whole contest, while fifth place is held by a pen of Wyandottes, carrying the name of the Evergreen Poultry Farm, Greenville.

One of Mr. Shaw's Leghorns leads among individuals with 142 eggs for the first six months of the run.

BAPTIST NOTES

Sunday was again used to speak of mother and her love of home, family and church. Fletcher Campbell gave two selections, one from the Book of Romans, the other a reading arranged for Mothers' Day. He also sang the offertory. Alton and Duane Sayles sang, "My Mother's Bible." Mr. Ross of Highland Park, gave the sermon. Mr. Churnside spoke in the evening from the last invitation in the Bible, Rev. 22:17.

The Sunday-school elected officers for the coming year: Supt.—Rollin Allenbaugh. Ass't Supt.—Joseph Stanley. Chorister—Frank Hamill. Pianist—Miss Fannie Grainger. Sec'y.—Mrs. May Allenbaugh. Ass't Sec'y.—Charles Duryce. Treas.—Kenneth Wilkie. The B. Y. P. U. was led by Duane Sayles, and a good attendance at the meeting. The decorating committee gave a fine background of flowers for "Mothers' Day." The pastor hopes to be back in the pulpit next Sunday, and carry on the regular church services.

BRILLIANT PROGRAMS FOR ANN ARBOR MAY FESTIVAL.

The thirtieth annual May Festival will take place in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, May 16, 17, 18, 19, and will consist of six concerts—four evening concerts and two matinees. World famous stars have been engaged to appear as soloists, including Suzanne Keener, soprano; Jeanne Gordon, contralto; Beniamino Gigli, tenor; Giuseppe Danise, baritone; Clarence Whitehall, baritone; Henri Scott, bass; all of the Metropolitan Opera company; Florence Macbeth, soprano; and Charles Marshall, tenor; of the Chicago Opera association; Mabelle Addison, contralto; and Arthur Kraft, tenor; renowned American artists, as well as Erna Rubinstein, the distinguished Hungarian violinist, and Ernest Schelling, the well-known master pianist. These artists will appear in miscellaneous programs and as soloists in the great choral work which will be offered.

The program will be conducted by Gustav Holst, the eminent British composer-conductor, who, accompanied by his wife, has come from London to conduct the American premiere of his "Hymn of Jesus," Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Earl Vincent Moore, conductor of the University Choral Union; and George Oscar Bowen, conductor of the Children's Festival chorus.

Three important organizations will participate: The University Choral Union of 350 singers, which is probably the world's largest and oldest student choral society; The Chicago Symphony Orchestra of 70 players, which since 1905 has furnished the orchestral background of the Festival; and the Children's Festival chorus of 500 singers made up of youngsters from the Ann Arbor public schools.

All of these forces will unite in providing musical offerings which will stand out as monumental. Wide variety will be provided but all selections will be limited to those which are standard in character and which appeal to the intelligence rather than to the spectacular.

METHODIST NOTES

The district meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society is to be held at Clinton, the 24th and 25th of this month.

Next Sunday is the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society thank offering day.

The Epworth League recently elected officers as follows: President, Pierre Kenyon; first vice president, Mary Parrott; second vice president, Miller Ross; third vice president, Juanita Coe; fourth vice president, Mildred Shogren; secretary, Margaret Amrhein; treasurer, Dorothy Caldwell.

one's own personal christian experience. You need the inspiration of this hour of prayer and study in your daily life.

The service next Sunday evening is a union service in the interests of the Anti-Saloon League. Rev. Leckliter of Detroit, is speaker.

Epworthians should plan to be on hand for the first meeting of the new year, at 6:30 Sunday evening. A new set of officers and some new ideas. Glad to see you there.

SUPERIOR

Mrs. Jennie McKim, who fell early last week, is still confined to her bed. On account of her advanced age, she is not recovering very fast.

Mrs. Henry Priebe, who has been seriously ill the past week, is thought to be gaining now. Her sons were out from Detroit early in the week to visit her, and Miss Margaret came Friday evening, staying until Sunday evening with her. William Priebe and wife and George Priebe came out Sunday, Miss Margaret returning to the city with them, while George will spend the week here. Several of the neighbors have called to see her during the week.

Sunday, May 6th, a large family gathering was held at the Clarence Shock home. There were about thirty or thirty-five present.

Mrs. Luis J. Kuhl, who has been with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John VanBuren in Ypsilanti, ill for the past four weeks, was brought home, Thursday afternoon, and has again been confined to her bed. At this writing she is thought to be on the gain again.

Frank Perry and wife and Miss Katherine Michels of Detroit, were Sunday visitors at Peter Michels.

One of Peter Michels horses has lock-jaw.

Mr. and Mrs. John VanBuren of Ypsilanti, were guests, Sunday, of their children, Luis J. Kuhl and family.

May 9, 1923, will go down in history as a day long to be remembered, because of the blizzard. It is feared that much of the fruit has been destroyed, but the moisture the snow furnished was very beneficial to wheat, oats and hay. Then the rain that has followed will be of much benefit in preparing the corn and potato ground.

Emery Mulholland was in the neighborhood, Saturday, distributing the new culverts to be used in repairing bridges. Mr. Mulholland is our road commissioner.

Luis J. Kuhl made a business trip to Ann Arbor, Saturday afternoon. The Free Church school closes the last of the month, and teacher and pupils are busy preparing for the final examinations.

100 R. R. CARS WILL BRING GIANT CIRCUS

RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY ADD ENTIRE SHIPLOAD OF BIG, NEW EUROPEAN FEATURES.

Arriving aboard 100 double-length railroad cars forming trains more than one and one-third miles long, and made even greater than in 1922 by the addition of many big, new foreign acts, Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined will exhibit at Detroit, June 1 and 2.

Those who read the daily papers or who keep in touch with the movie news-reels need not be reminded of the shipload of acts and animals recently imported by the Greatest Show on Earth. The remarkable cargo included two companies of baby elephants, two joined with the forty adults of the mammoth herd. There were also 100 more performing horses accompanied by Europe's greatest trainer, Ernest Schumann, and many wild animals, some of which have been added to the scores upon scores of trained jungle beasts, while others have become part of the marvelous menagerie.

More than a million persons saw the mammoth new circus of 1923 during the weeks that it exhibited in Madison Square Garden, New York. Now this marvelous exhibition is touring the country aboard five great trains. It is a third bigger than the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey show of last season. It is ten times larger than any other circus on tour.

Big as is this wonder circus of 1923 with its more than thirty trained wild animals in steel arenas, fully 200 wonderfully schooled horses, 700 men and women performers, 10 clowns, and scores of features—the price of admission is no more than before. And though the trained animal numbers and the immense horse show were circuses in themselves while touring Europe, they are not offered as separate attractions by the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined shows. Instead all are on one gigantic program. Everything is in one mammoth main tent. One ticket admits to all these and to the tremendous double menagerie. There are more than a thousand animals in the zoo of this circus and these include entire families of hippopotami and giraffes. Another remarkable zoological feature is an armored rhinoceros, the only one known to exist and alone worth $50,000.

NEWBURG

Rev. Wise took the second chapter of Exodus as his text, Sunday last, citing the mother of Moses as an ideal mother. Misses Anna and Ada Youngs sang "Rock of Ages." Large bunches of violets with a lovely bouquet of roses and carnations, besides pretty house plants, made the church look attractive. During the Sunday-school hour, several children under the direction of Miss Beatrice Davey, gave recitations suitable to the occasion.

Memorial Sunday services will be held a week from Sunday, May 27th, at 1:30 in the afternoon, instead of 11 a. m.

The L. A. S. held a very pleasant meeting, last Friday afternoon, at the hall. Mrs. Holmes in the capacity of hostess, made it quite homelike. Mrs. C. E. Ryder and Mrs. Albert Stevens were appointed to see about a covering for the floor in the church. A nice lunch was served by Mrs. May Stevens' committee.

Don't forget the cemetery meeting, this Saturday, at 3:00 p. m., at the church. The cemetery is being well taken care of, and presents a nice appearance.

Misses Anna and Ada Youngs attended the jubilee service of the Grand River M. E. church on Thursday evening of this week, and had the pleasure of meeting and singing with the old choir that was directed by Mr. Booth a few years ago.

Isaac Gursolly is making extensive repairs on the interior of his residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Detroit, are spending a few weeks at the LeVan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy and family, accompanied by Mrs. Hattie Ostrander of Wayne, motored to Howell, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder and daughter, Beulah, and Clyde Smith called on William Farley, Sunday afternoon, finding him somewhat improved.

Jessie Goney has been quite ill, the past week.

KING'S CORNERS

Mrs. Foster, sister of the late David McCracken, after spending nearly two weeks with Mrs. McCracken, returned to her home at Sarnia, Ontario, Tuesday.

Miss Blanche Klatt, who has been on the sick list the past few weeks, was able to ride to Plymouth, last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Zinnage have sold their farm here to Mr. Wendt, and with their children started for the old country, this week.

Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. Foster entertained a nephew from Sarnia, Ont., Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jubenville of Royal Oak, were calling on the former's father, Sunday.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hix, Sunday, May 13th, a little daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kaiser and daughters, Lillian and Lottie, and son, Norman, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Kaiser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish, on King road.

J. Frank Parrish returned home with his team, Saturday, from the good road, and will work on the Lamson Sub. at Newcomb's Corners on Warren avenue.

Charles Kaiser has sold his farm to a Redford party but does not give possession until fall.

IN STORM'S GRIP

Vivid Description of Hurricane Which Devastated Guam.

Said to Have Been the Worst in the History of the Island—American Ship Lost.

The worst hurricane in the history of Guam visited the island in 1900 when Admiral Schroeder was governor and Guam is used to hurricanes. In "A Half Century of Naval Service" the admiral gives a graphic account of the visitation, which began at about four o'clock in the morning.

"The storm shutters in Government house," he writes, "had to be closed, barred and braced from the inside. One shutter after another was crushed in, and everything inside was wrecked. Not long afterward a fierce rapping announced that the galvanized iron roof had begun to go, and soon the whole of it had been deposited in sections on the slopes and summit of the high ridge at the lark.

"At noon the wind shifted, showing that the storm had passed to the southward. I made my way out to see if anything could be done to help the townspeople. The fury of the wind made it impossible to stand or even to crawl in exposed places; the only recourse was to the flat and roll or wriggle to the shelter of some wall or low ruin. I reached a piece of wall and stood behind it to catch my breath, but was soon driven away by fragments of it that were blown down on me; although brought to my knees, I escaped beyond a few bruises and a wrenched shoulder. By that time virtually everything—tiles, timbers, roofing and coconuts—that could blow about had already been blown away, and there was less danger from that source. But the sea was slowly rising, sucked up because of the diminished atmospheric pressure; its majestic swelling was awe-inspiring as without a wave it engulfed all the low parts of the town and finally reached the plaza in front of the palace. There it stopped."

To that phenomenon, terrifying as it was to behold, one of the two station ships in the harbor—the Yosemite—owed her escape from instant destruction. "She had first been driven by the north wind against the coral-lined shore on the south side of the bay; and when the wind shifted to the east she was torn from there and driven out to sea, the rising of which enabled her to pass over the Calalan bank, on which ordinarily there is not enough water for a vessel. If she had struck that bank she would inevitably have gone to pieces, and every man on board would have drowned."

Her companion ship, the Justin, which was sent in search of her, found her the next day, a hopeless wreck. Heroic work had kept her afloat. But she was slowly settling. Her officers and crew were transferred to the Justin and took with them all the money, papers and other public property that they could carry. Then the Yosemite went down with her colors flying; and the people on the Justin stood with bare heads while three volleys of musketry gave to her the burial rites of a human being.—Youth's Companion.

Generous Son.

Habits of industry formed in youth, quiting an adage, remain with one through life. To work all through life is some people's ambition. Others, however, would retire early—too early, in fact—would retire before they begin.

When Jackson persisted in giving play the better of the argument when his father wished him to work, the fond parent reproached him severely. "Boy, what do you mean by loafing on the job?" he said with heat. "Get busy and do something."

"Ain't I busy?" son responded.

"Yes, busy doing nothing."

"Well, I know, but I don't want to work. I hate work."

"Hate work? Why, work is a pleasure to me."

"Well, dad, you can have all the pleasure you want."

Ideal Operatic Score.

A report from Luxor, which we fear is not very veracious, states that the papyrus score of a 4,000-year-old opera has been unearthed in the mortuary chamber of the Egyptian King who is occupying so much space on newspaper front pages. We place little credence in a rumor that the work has been secured by a noted operatic manager of New York, as a novelty to add to his yearly dozen. The work—according to an exceedingly unofficial report—offers tempting possibilities to the modern impresario. Its cast happily avoids culling for a tenor, but instead supplies excellent parts for four contraltos and seven baritone, with a blonde prima donna silent role.—Musical America.

St. Elmo's Fire.

The well-known phenomenon, St. Elmo's fire, which is a form of atmospheric electrical discharge, was recently observed aboard a steamer. During heavy rain squalls, accompanied by heat lightning, the port wire of the radio aerial aboard a steamer became illuminated for its entire length with a glowing white light, giving the wire a foxy appearance. This continued for about ten minutes, after which the light gradually faded from the ends of the wire and finally disappeared from the center of the aerial. The compasses were not affected.—Scientific American.

Whooping Cough

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.—Advertisement.

Only Six Days to Live

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Twenty minutes before Harrison had gone into Dr. Embree's office filled with the zest of youth. He was twenty-eight, he had just been promoted to the position of manager of the corporation, and he was engaged to Edith Day, the most charming of girls. The world seemed rosy indeed. He had been suffering from a little indigestion, which he had attributed to lack of proper slowness in eating his lunch. Dr. Embree, a pleasant old gentleman, and a stomach specialist, had been treating him.

Now he left the office with Embree's words ringing in his ears: "It is my duty to tell you the truth, Mr. Harrison. You are suffering from an affection of the heart, obscure, but well known to pathologists. You may die at any moment. It is now in its last stages, and I should give you about six days before the walls of the heart collapse. That means instant death. There's no use mincing matters. I advise you to go home and make your will."

Harrison had bowed, laid down the fee—how absurd that matter of the fee seemed—and gone out!

So he went home. It was Saturday. He sat down and wrote to the office, resigning his position. On second thought, however, it occurred to him that there was no particular purpose in resigning. He would be happier carrying on with his job and dying in harness than taking an aimless holiday.

Edith, fortunately, was at the seaside. He would not have seen her for another week, when he was going down to spend the week-end with her and her mother. He would carry on there, too, and give no clue of his condition until the end came. He had not the least doubt of Doctor Embree's decision. The great specialist rarely erred; certainly he would not have made such a prognosis unless he were sure.

Harrison went home to his bachelor apartment. He had always hoped to be spared until a ripe old age; and yet now it was absurd how very little he could find to do before his death. His will, leaving everything to Edith, had already been made.

No, there seemed absolutely nothing for him to do. So he called up his friend Tyler, and they went to a show together.

Sunday morning he awakened with a queer wonder at what had happened to him. He yawned, stretched, tried to throw off some burden, and then remembered. A letter from Edith, which had arrived the night before, was in his letter-box; he had not noticed it. He opened it.

It was a chatty, bright, affectionate note, such as she always wrote, saying how they were looking forward to the week-end visit, and sending her dearest love.

He put it down, and there rose up in him a fierce desire to live. He decided then and there to go back to Embree and ask him to examine him again. It was not exactly the thing to do, and Embree probably would not like it, but—well, he meant to know more surely.

Twenty times he nearly turned back on the journey. But at last it was made, and Harrison was ringing at the doorbell of Embree's staid, quiet little home.

There was quite a long delay. When at last the maid came to the door, she looked at him as if she were scared. "Doctor Embree isn't at home today, sir," she said. "But Doctor Austin will see you."

"Doctor Austin?" "He's Doctor Embree's partner. I think he'd like to see you, sir," she added, as Harrison was about to ask when Doctor Embree would be back.

The expression on the maid's face was decidedly a panicky one. Harrison wondered whether she knew he was a doomed man, and whether all people looked in that particular fashion at a man doomed to an early death.

He went in. He had never seen Austin before. Austin came bustling out, a lively little man. He took Harrison inside the consulting room and looked at his card record.

He examined him. "A little indigestion, I should say, Mr. Harrison, nothing more."

"But Doctor Embree told me it was a fatal form of heart disease and that I had only six days to live."

It was Austin's turn to stare. "Embree said that?"

"Yesterday." "That's too bad, too bad. Doctor Embree has been frightening a good many of his patients, I'm afraid. Not a word of truth in it. Embree was removed to a sanitarium last night for overstrain."

Primitive Hawaiian Music. Two hollow gourds joined together like a figure eight (pulu) and rattled and pounded on a palm mat comprised the primitive musical instruments of the old-time Hawaiians. The gourds, being filled with seeds, made a sound somewhat like that of tambourines. Thus the rhythmic accompaniment was produced, which is such a vital element of the music of today. The air was carried on bamboo flutes (ohé) and rude clarinets (hokio). Of course, all this comprised the grand orchestra which played for the religious choral singing, and on such occasions as when the hula-hula girls serpentine in the mellow glow of the kukui lamps celebrating the sacred rights of the great god Wakea.

Evils of Constipation. Perhaps the most serious of the diseases caused by constipation is appendicitis. If you would avoid this dangerous disease, keep your bowels regular. For this purpose Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent, easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.—Advertisement.

THE BIG-SIX SPEEDSTER, COMPLETELY EQUIPPED AS ILLUSTRATED, $1835

$45,000,000 Worth of Studebaker Big-Sixes in 1922

The public paid more than forty-five million dollars for new Studebaker Big-Six automobiles in 1922, buying more of this model than any other car selling in the same price field.

In the entire world there were only eleven other automobile manufacturers whose total sale of all models equaled the sale of Studebaker Big-Sixes for 1922, and no other manufacturer sold as many cars of the Big-Six class. In addition to the Big-Six, Studebaker builds the Special-Six and the Light-Six in large volume.

For the first quarter of 1923, Big-Six sales showed an increase of 70 per cent over the same period of 1922, evidencing the growing popularity of this model. Big-Six popularity is the result of Big-Six superiority. Materials and workmanship are unexcelled in any car at any price, and unequaled in any car at the Big-Six price.

With its long 126-inch wheel base, big 4 1/2-inch tires, heavy frame, scientifically distributed load, long Studebaker-made springs, the Big-Six Speedster rides more comfortably than most cars selling at much more money. Its 3 1/4 x 5 motor delivers a world of power, plenty of speed and a quickness of getaway hard to equal.

The price is the result of quantity production. The name STUDEBAKER is assurance of quality. It has stood for high grade transportation for seventy-one years.

Two extra wheels complete with tires, tubes and tire covers. Trunk and dust proof covers. Nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear. One-piece rain proof windshield. Automatic windshield cleaner and glass proof wiper. Courtesy lamp. Tonneau light with long extension cord. Combination stop-and-tail light. Quick-action cow ventilator. Eight-day clock. Aluminum bound running boards with corrugated rubber mats and step pads. Aluminum kick plates.

Minette Was Harrigan's Girl

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Minette was—well, Minette. A girl in Fat Adolf's resort in the woods, frequented by lumber men. Minette's job was to please. Minette flitted from one man to another as indiscriminately as the rain falling on the just and on the unjust. Just now Minette was Big Harrigan's girl.

Big Harrigan, the hated boss, who drove his men with blows and curses. No man in the camp could stand up to Harrigan. Nobody tried. He used them like cattle, and he got results. That was the function of big Harrigan.

Over the tables the curses rang loud and deep. All sorts of plots were mooted against Harrigan. None of them ever came off. Men quailed before Harrigan's cold blue eye and his terrible fists.

Little Smith, the bookkeeper at the mills, not being under Harrigan, had never come into conflict with him. Smith had escaped with a curse or two. Harrigan would hardly dare lay hands on Smith, reckless as he was. And little Smith sat at a table in the shebeen, and near him sat Harrigan's girl, Minette, waiting for Harrigan, and laughing at the threats against him.

"I tell you, you fellows ain't got the spunk of a mouse," said little Smith. "I'm not afraid of Harrigan."

He leered viciously. Then he leaned forward, extended one arm, and put it around the waist of Minette. Minette, a little surprised, snuggled back against him, giggling. Little Smith kissed her.

There was an awestruck silence in Fat Adolf's shebeen. All eyes were turned toward the door, through which Big Harrigan might be expected to enter at any moment.

"Say, Mr. Smith, you've certainly got your nerve with you," said Minette, who was enjoying the situation. She pictured Big Harrigan, frantic with jealousy. That would be delightful, as indicating her power over him. Then there would be a fight—a very unequal one, of course, but still, that would be nice, too.

"Say, young fellow, do you know what's going to happen to you?" demanded Kelly, the straw boss. "There won't be a piece of you as big as a dime when Big Harrigan's finished wiping up the floor with you."

"Hats!" said little Smith. "Think I care for that big stiff? Huh! I guess I can show Big Harrigan a thing or two."

The silence that followed this sally was really one of stupefaction. All the men could see Big Harrigan's bullet-fists impacting on little Smith's face and body.

As for Minette, she looked at little Smith for the first time in admiration. Little Smith very deliberately lifted Minette up and put her on his knee. Minette's shrill tittering filled the shebeen with sound.

"Say," said Kelly, "you set that girl down and beat it while the going's good, young man. And I wouldn't stay around these parts neither. If Big Harrigan catches you, your little name 'll be Smithereens."

Little Smith laughed in his vacuous way and kissed Minette again.

The door was pushed open. An enormous form stood at the entrance. The atmosphere was so thick with tobacco smoke that at first Big Harrigan did not see what was going on, and he took the silence as a tribute to his appearance.

"Eh, you rats, you gutter-rats, filling yourselves up, as usual!" he growled.

Then his eyes fell upon the scene—little Smith holding Minette upon his knee. Minette giggled again.

Big Harrigan's fists clenched, and he strode forward. He was a giant of a man—six feet-two in height and as round as a barrel. He could almost have torn little Smith in two with his mighty arms.

"Hey, you big boob, you beat it!" he commanded. "Nobody wants you around here. I guess your day's done, Harrigan."

There was a backward movement on the part of the audience. The look on Harrigan's face was fearful. Minette screamed and hid her face in little Smith's shoulder.

And then suddenly the giant's arms dropped to his side. "My God!" whispered Big Harrigan huskily. The tears were streaming down his cheeks. He turned and made his way out of the shebeen. He stumbled like a stricken man.

Somewhat, nobody jeered. Big Harrigan was broken. But they hadn't wanted him broken in that way.

Alchemist Finds "Wild Spirit."

It was in the days of the alchemists when men were vainly searching for something which would change baser metals into gold that the discovery of artificial gas was accidentally made. John Baptist van Helmont of Brussels, an alchemist, while experimenting with fuels in 1600, discovered that they yielded what he described as "a wild spirit." He ascertained that this "spirit" could be produced by means of combustion, fermentation, and the action of acids on limestone. So phantom-like and elusive did the strange substance seem to Helmont that he named it "gas," which is the old German word for spirit. More than 200 years elapsed before any attempt was made to put Helmont's discovery to practical use.

Whooping Cough

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.—Advertisement.

Ford ANNOUNCEMENT

Of Interest to

MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the multitude"
SAID HENRY FORD IN 1903—READ HOW THE FULFILLMENT OF THAT PROPHECY IS NOW MADE POSSIBLE THROUGH THE

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the Universal Family Car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in the local bank, where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today? Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford Car.

HAD HER FAILINGS

Florence Nightingale Depicted as Extremely Human.

Not by Any Means the Saint She Has Been Pictured, Though World Owes Her Much.

No saint in the calendar had a legend more firmly fixed and authenticated than Florence Nightingale. The public not only knew what she did, but was convinced that it knew what kind of a person she was.

She was the lady with the lamp, the gentle ministering angel, who went about through the hospitals in Crimea. She was the one who brought the feminine touch to war.

Mr. Strachey (in his biography) does not change the outlines of her story. That is a matter of historic record. She did all and more than we have been taught to believe. But he shows Florence Nightingale as an altogether different kind of person.

The feminine way to a masterful personality, Florence Nightingale was the stuff that successful politicians and captains of industry are made of. She appears as a formidable person, abrupt in manner, often bitter in speech, the terror of evildoers and, still more, the terror of incompetent well-to-do. She was strong-minded, neurotic, intense in her antipathies, and not pleasant to live with, but she got things done.

She was born in a wealthy family, she wanted to have her own way, but was never quite sure what it was to be. This was an endless trouble to her family, who never knew what to do with Florence, or rather what Florence would let them do for her.

When marriage was suggested, she writes: "The thoughts and feelings I have now I can remember since I was six years old. A profession, a trade, a necessary occupation, something to fill and employ all my faculties I have always felt essential to me. Everything has been tried—foreign travel, kind friends, everything. My God, what is to become of me?"

Then came the Crimean war with the breakdown of the hospital service. At last she had her own way. She won immortal fame.

The war ended, and Florence Nightingale had 50 years of invalidism. But she was the same energetic, pugnacious personality. Almost to the end she refused to wear the halo prepared for her by the public which she continued to serve faithfully and acrimoniously.

We are made to feel that Florence Nightingale loved her fellow men, but not as an amiable person loves those friends whom he finds congenial. She loved mankind as a thoroughly conscientious person might love his enemies. "Sometimes," says Mr. Strachey, "her rages were terrible. The intolerable futility of mankind obsessed her, and she gnashed her teeth at it."

This is a triumph of biographical reconstruction. We see Florence Nightingale as great and good, though with very different virtues.—Samuel McChord Crothers in the Atlantic Monthly.

Reform in Japan.

The Japanese nation has never been known for promptness in keeping its appointments; in fact, quite the reverse has been true, and foreigners in that country often are irritated by what seems to be a national disregard of punctuality. Now, however, the electric bureau of Tokyo has taken a hand in the matter and at many tram stops in all sections of the city clocks are going to be installed to remind one that time flies. In addition to these numerous time recorders, 24 large clock time recorders, 24 large clock towers are to be erected in important sections of the city. When the installation has been completed, a few weeks hence, the director of the municipal electric will not, he declares, feel further responsibility for his countrymen who arrive late for their appointments.

Phrases Used Long Ago.

The word "waitress" can be traced back to the Sixteenth century, when the countess of Pembroke, in her translation of the Psalms of David into "divers and sundry kindes of verse," embodies it in the passage: "Unto thee . . . lift I my earthly seeing . . . As the look of a waitress fixed on a lady lieth."

Nor ran any charge of novelty he brought against the title of "doctress," whose ancestry appears to be of still greater antiquity. "Her grace . . . is mistress of troupe and doctrine of discipline" is an example from "De Imitatione," published as long ago as 1450; and Evelyn, in a letter to his fellow-diarist, Pepys, imparts the information that "Hellen Cornaro . . . received the degree of Doctoresse at Padua."

Wants Tunnel to Asia.

Connection of America and Asia by tunnel across Behring strait was suggested by Prof. William Hung of the history department, Peking university in a luncheon address at the Philadelphia City Business club. America's future destiny was more closely bound with Asia than with Europe, he said.

"It pays for America to be interested in the education of the Chinese," said Professor Hung. "If they are better educated they will produce more, they will earn more and they will buy more from America. If they are better educated they will understand and appreciate better the American ideals and methods, and they will serve better with America in the great world task."

Evils of Constipation.

Perhaps the most serious of the diseases caused by constipation is appendicitis. If you would avoid this dangerous disease, keep your bowels regular. For this purpose Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent, easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.—Advertisement.

QUAINT SPOTS IN NEW YORK

Frame Dwellings Still Nesting Among Skyscrapers Are a Connecting Link With Old Days.

No one has ever explained satisfactorily why a little white frame house should be considered so much more romantic than a red brick or a gray stone house of the same size. The fact remains that whenever our enterprising creators of fiction want to provide the ideal setting for their simple country girl heroine they always put her in a little white frame house.

And in plays where the hero and heroine, after three acts of storm and trials, settle down in a little love nest, it is always in this type of a house.

Consequently, cliff dwellers have come to have a most romantic regard for this type of dwelling, and view the few remaining examples within the city limits with the same affectionate regard given to the old homestead. Strange as it may seem, excellent examples of this type of architecture exist within the heart of the city, and provide an interesting contrast to the towering buildings of our age.

High in the heart of the roaring forties, just off Broadway, is a row of simple, two-story frame dwellings, under the shadow of skyscrapers like ghosts of a vanished generation, says a writer in the New York Sun. When they go there will vanish a row of quaint book shops, tea shops, coffee houses and antique dealers.

That some of the members of this generation prefer quaintness to newness is proved by the fact that in the fashionable eighties, just off Fifth avenue, a little white wooden house boasting that parity, for New York, a real front porch, and a real back yard, is still used as a residence. Its immaculate whiteness stands out sharply in contrast to the gloomy brownstone dwellings around it. It looks for all the world like a wedding cake in among some cold chocolate pudding.

Another example of the moving picture setting right in the midst of New York is found on the upper West side, just off Riverside drive. This little frame dwelling, in addition to wide porches and green blinds, boasts a real garden bounded by green hedges that are the envy of all the residents of the fashionable apartments that surround it.

That the quaintness is not unappreciated by the wise city dweller is proven by the frequency with which cameras are opened in front of these houses. Doubtless, many of these pictures are sent back home to the folks, just to prove that New York still has some real scenery.

Decentralizing a City.

A scientific plan for the future development of New York city, more thorough and comprehensive than anything of the kind ever before attempted, and including all the territory within fifty miles of Battery park, is being begun by a committee of experts appointed for the purpose by the Russell Sage foundation. The committee is known as the "committee on the plan of New York and its environs."

All suburban territory will be divided into six sections and one expert will make a particular study of its problems and of their relation to the whole plan. The survey will include consideration of every phase of city life with special reference to housing, transportation, zoning and recreation.

The ultimate object is the decentralization of New York to the greatest practical extent, possibly through the creation of self-contained suburbs or "satellite towns" whose inhabitants will find opportunities for work, education, religious observance and recreation without going to the center of the city. A preliminary report will be made October 1.

Formation of Waterspout.

A water spout is a remarkable meteorological phenomenon, frequently observed at sea, and exactly analogous to the whirlwinds experienced on land. It occurs when opposite winds of different temperatures meet in the upper atmosphere, whereby a great amount of vapor is condensed into a thick black cloud, to which a vortical motion is given. This vortical motion causes it to take the form of a vast funnel, which, descending near the surface of the sea, draws up the water in its vortex, which joins in its whirling motion. The whole column, which after the junction extends from the sea to the clouds, assumes a magnificent appearance, being of a light color near its axis, but dark along the sides. When acted on by the wind the column assumes a position oblique to the horizon, but in calm weather it maintains its vertical position and is carried along the surface of the sea.—Boston Globe.

Of Biblical Origin?

The phrase, "at sixes and sevens," probably owes its origin to the Biblical "six, yea seven" used in Hebrew to indicate an indefinite number, as in the Book of Job, chapter v, 19. It is also explained as denoting originally the hazarding of one's fortune, or carelessness as to consequences; in later usage it means the existence of a confusion or disorder. The idiom was in use at the time of Chaucer, and has been associated with an expression in dicing, "to set all on cinque and six," these being the two highest numbers.—Literary Digest.

Then It Will Be a Nuisance.

Barber—Shave, sir?
Mr. Stubblebrush—I dunno. Do I need it?
Barber—Well, in about another week the children will be stopping you on the street to tell you what to bring them for Christmas.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Franklin L. Gibson had charge of the service last Sunday, "Mothers' Day," and he preached a very fine sermon on "Mother," taking his text from Exod. 20:12. "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

Next Sunday the Ven. J. G. Widdifield, Archdeacon of Detroit, will be with us, and will administer the Holy Communion. Mr. Gibson wants all members to be present and friends of the mission will be welcome.

Mrs. Murphy was very pleased to have had such a big attendance at the Sunday-school last Sunday. The new lessons are now nicely started, and teachers and pupils are taking quite an interest in them each Sunday.

Next Sunday afternoon the combined vestries of Plymouth and Wayne will meet at St. John's, Wayne at 3:00 o'clock. The meeting will be presided over by Archdeacon Widdifield, and the chief discussion will be the appointment of a new minister in charge of these two parishes. Mr. Gibson will have four more Sundays to be with us before he leaves for Montana, where he takes up important mission work under Bishop Fox. Every member try and attend these last days of Mr. Gibson's ministry at Plymouth.

Last Friday, we had our Ascension Day service in the evening. We had a good congregation and had we known the Rev. C. H. McCurdy, rector of Birmingham was to have given the address, our little mission church would have been filled, as it has often been on previous occasions to welcome Mr. McCurdy. But as it was we had a very good congregation, and the Rev. McCurdy gave a very inspiring address on the "Ascension of Christ."

PERRINSVILLE

Rev. Wise preached from the second chapter of Exodus on Mothers' Day. Many beautiful plants decorated the church.

The many frosts lately have done a great deal of damage to corn that was up and tomato plants.

A very pleasant Aid meeting was held at Mrs. John Shotka's, Wednesday last. The society has formed a contest with Mrs. Klatt as leader on the white side, and Mrs. Nellie Beyer on the blue side. Every one is to work hard for the benefit of the church.

There will be a maple syrup and ice cream social at John Beyer's, May 25th. Everybody welcome.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hix, May 13th, an 8½ pound daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Erland Bridge and family and Mrs. George Baehr spent Sunday afternoon in Detroit.

The barn dance given at Ed. Holmes was well attended. There will be another one next Saturday night.

WEST PLYMOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Widman of Detroit, and Paul Fisher of Stone Church, Pennsylvania, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Schoch.

Mr. and Mrs. August Miller of Hamtramck, called at Mr. and Mrs. Eli Schoch's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mulholland and little son of Detroit, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Widmaier.

Gus Gates is not gaining in health as well as his friends would like to see him.

A. Neehs and son, Elmer, Miss Florence Neehs and friends, Miss Charles Peters, Edward Peters and Mrs. Margaret Sillifant, of Detroit, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Gates.

Store News

Summer days are almost upon us, although the cool winds do linger. When summer does come it will surely come with a rush and you will want to be ready. Cool frocks, dainty and tubbale make one able to bear the hot days with more composure. The newest thing for summer is one-piece dresses of Fantasi silk, made in simple straight lines and trimmed with dainty collars and cuffs. These dresses, which are easily tubbed, come in stripes and plain white.

Voile dresses are lovely for summer days. Dark shades, which will not show the soil, or dainty light colors are here in numbers. Trimmed with white organdie or in self frillings these dresses speak of comfortable afternoons to come.

Pleated skirts are the last word for spring. No matter what the occasion you can feel well dressed with a skirt of this kind. Colors are grey, tan or white. Skirts in silk are also here.

To wear with the pleated skirts are sweaters and golf coats of all kinds. Either with or without sleeves and in a variety of colors. Dainty blouses are ready to complete your costume.

The Store of Individual Service

Probably the most important factor in our store is our individual service to our customers. To us the essential thing is that you be satisfied. All our efforts point in this direction. We want you to make this your shopping center. We want you to feel free to consult us about your purchases and to know that we will always do our best to advise you in the right way. Our store is centrally located, easy of access and easy to find. On your next visit to Ann Arbor, favor us with a visit.

Give Your Tractor A Chance

To produce all the power it was built to develop. The service it will give depends upon the kind of fuel and lubricants used.

American Certified Quality Kerosene and Tractor Oils

Are dependable and highly satisfactory. American Kerosene is an odorless, sootless oil that burns up completely, thereby an economical fuel oil. American Kerosene delivers power along the full length of each piston stroke, thus giving the utmost in service. American Tractor Oils when used as recommended will function under high pressure and intense heat, maintaining a film of oil between the frictional surfaces, that insures perfect lubrication. Your tractor represents a substantial investment and is deserving of a special concern as to fuel and lubrication. Use American Kerosene and Tractor Oils.

Today's Reflections

Some men count themselves lucky if they live next door to a neighbor who has good garden tools.

We're pretty sure of one thing, and that is that if we were looking for a wife we wouldn't pick a non-stop dancer.

Nobody seems to be content in this world. The young want to be old, the old young, the skinny fat, and the fat thin.

The woman who drops in "just for a minute" usually mistakes the minute hand of the clock for the second hand.

We read that an eastern college professor says pie is a necessity. The politicians will probably all agree with him.

It's going to be a fine world when all Plymouth women are as willing to give their husbands credit for what they do as they are to roast them for what they don't do.

"As ye sow, so shall ye reap," isn't always true when a man reads the seed catalogues.

Kicking seldom gets anything done. The way to lower sugar prices is to buy just as little as you can get along with.

Why is it that some Plymouth husbands expect about $50 worth of cooking and petting for about $5 a month spending money.

We heard a Plymouth man say yesterday that the old-fashioned boy who used to carry away a lock of her hair, now has a son who carries away a part of her complexion on his coat.

Maybe another reason it's still hard to get fellows for jury duty is they won't let 'em sample the evidence in a bootlegging case.

Over in Russia they grant a divorce for twenty cents. When they can find anyone who has twenty cents.

We want to remind Plymouth boys that it is always best to keep both hands on the steering wheel, even after you're engaged.

Another good time to raise a rumpus with the man you bought your seed from is when you discover a geranium has come up where you planted carnival beans.

BIG CARNIVAL AT REDFORD, May 19th, 1923.

THE THEATRE

"WITHIN THE LAW"

H. R. Lush, manager of the Peniman Allen theatre announces the coming of two big picture films next week. Both of these pictures will be shown in Plymouth before they are presented in Detroit.

"Within the Law," starring Norma Talmadge, always a favorite with Plymouth audiences, will be the attraction on Sunday and Monday, May 20-21.

No "hit" of the speaking stage can compare with "Within the Law" in point of popularity and financial success. Written in 1911 by Bayard Veiller, noted playwright, it was produced by the Selwyns in 1912 at the Eltinge theatre in New York City, with Jane Cowl in the leading role. It remained in New York for two years, breaking all long run records up to that time. So successful was the show that the Selwyns sent nine companies on the road. It played Chicago for six months, Philadelphia for four months and Boston for five months. It was also road-showed and in many towns where a company never stayed for more than one night, "Within the Law" remained for a week. Practically every city, town and hamlet in the United States knows the play.

In all the history of the stage there is no play that has grossed as much. Not only were companies sent throughout the United States, but the play was produced successfully in Australia, New Zealand, Africa and England.

Now Norma Talmadge brings "Within the Law" to the screen as a First National picture which will rank with "Smilin' Through" and "The Eternal Flame" in point of popularity.

Love, romance and thrills are a part and parcel of it. Miss Talmadge, first as a department store girl railroaded to prison for a crime she did not commit, and then as a member of a gang of extortionists, always within the law, proves what critics have claimed for her—that she is the greatest of all emotional photoplay artists.

Frank Lloyd, who directed Miss Talmadge in two of her successes, "The Eternal Flame" and "The Voice from the Minaret," rises to even greater heights in the handling of this production.

An added attraction is the fact that three members of the Norma Talmadge cast were in the original company of "Within the Law": Dewitt Jennings, whose portrayal of Inspector Burke at the premiere of the play in New York proved one of the outstanding figures, has that identical part with Miss Talmadge; Lincoln Plummer, the Cassidy of stage fame, is the Cassidy in this photoplay; and Lew Cody, once Dick Gilder on the stage, returns to the screen with Miss Talmadge, as the forger, Joe Garson.

Jack Mulhall, a star in his own right, gives his best performance as Dick Gilder, and Eileen Percy, as the blackmailing Aggie Lynch, gives a characterization that places her in the front ranks as a photoplayer.

Joseph Kilgour, whose name has blazed on Broadway for years, has an important role, as have Helen Ferguson, Ward Crane, Lionel Belmore, Catherine Murphy and Thomas Ricketts.

In number of sets "Within the Law" has few rivals. Art Director Frank Ormstrom is responsible for the erection of 29 sets, each one having an important location in the plot. There are the exterior and interior of the Tombs, Auburn prison, and interiors of the famous court of General Sessions of New York, the inspector of police office, with the cells in the background, a famous New York yacht club, with its care-free gathering, and other sets too numerous to mention.

The dramatic intensity of this production is far superior to anything yet made by Miss Talmadge. It shows prison life as it really is, to what extent blackmailers will go to gain their ends and it shows the giving of the third degree by the police in order to wring a confession from those suspected of murder. Scenarized by Frances Marion and presented by Joseph M. Schenck.

"THE BRIGHT SHAWL"

Richard Barthelmess with Dorothy Gish in "The Bright Shawl," will be the attraction for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 23-24.

A picture representing the most ambitious undertaking Richard Barthelmess has yet made for the screen is coming to the Peniman Allen theatre. It is the film version of Joseph Hergesheimer's tremendously popular story, "The Bright Shawl," dealing with the days of Spanish oppression in Cuba. In order to obtain the proper atmosphere, a large part of the story was filmed in Cuba, the balance being made in New York. John S. Robertson, responsible for such productions as "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and "Sentimental Tommy," was the directorial genius behind the camera.

Barthelmess has perhaps the most romantic role of his entire screen career, that of an adventurous young American, who takes up the cause of the rebels, and incidentally falls in love with the daughter of a rebel leader. The complications which ensue when La Clavel, a Spanish dancer, the favorite of the most despised of Spanish officers, becomes infatuated with the young American, who encourages her so that he may gain information of value to the rebels, are said to make this one of the most absorbing photoplays of a decade.

Supporting the star are Dorothy Gish, as La Clavel, the dancer; Mary Astor, as his screen sweetheart; Anders Randolph, as the Spanish tyrant, Santacilla; Jetta Goudal, as La Pilar, female spy; Andre Beranger, E. G. Robinson, Margaret Seddon, Louis Albani, William Powell and George Humbert.

"The Bright Shawl" has been filmed on a most elaborate and colorful scale. The screen adaptation was made by Edmund Goulding. Known as a John S. Robertson production, it is presented by Inspiration Pictures through Associated First National as one of the most important photoplays of 1923.

AROUND ABOUT US

Farmington will have a Chautauqua this summer.

There are eleven aspirants for the Howell postmastership.

Ypsilanti is to have a third bank. It will be a national bank with a capitalization of $125,000.

The Detroit Panel and Plywood Co. will soon commence the erection of a factory in South Lyon, that will give employment to one hundred people.

Northville will entertain the public on the Fourth of July with a program of sports, horse racing, ball games and a free street dance and fireworks at night. The officers of the Northville Fair association and members of the Exchange club are behind the project as they were last year, and its success is assured.—Northville Record.

Speaking of May snow storms, Wm. P. Johnson states that on the morning of the fourth of May, 1866, the ground was covered about eight inches deep. On that morning he drew a cord of green hickory wood on a sleigh from his place to Milford using two yoke of cattle for the job. The temperature was way above freezing, however, and before he reached home at noon the sleigh was traveling in the mud.—Milford Times.

Dr. H. B. Britton has introduced an innovation at Beyer hospital. Wednesday prints were taken of the hands and feet of a baby born to Mrs. George Arno, and this morning prints were taken of the baby born to Mrs. Harold Gaudy. When the new arrivals leave the hospital prints will be taken again and compared in order that no mistake be made in the identity of the babies. Eight infants are registered at the hospital today, five having been born this week, and to take care of the latest it was necessary to procure a basket from the attic of the hospital.—Ypsilanti Record.

The work of widening and paving Grand River road between Redford and Detroit has started and motorists are now obliged to detour. That portion of the road between Wyoming, where the present brick paving ends, and Meyers Road is now under construction, and the detour is by way of the Town Line and Plymouth Roads. The part under construction now is within the city limits of Detroit, but it is expected, so the Redford Record states, that the work will be immediately followed by the Wayne County Road Commission and that the paving will likely be laid, on the north side at least, as far as Mill Road this year. "The D. U. R." will not promise to relay the street car tracks any farther than that point this year.

A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Over forty relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Wolfrom gathered at their home, Saturday evening, May 12th, to remind the former he had reached the two score and ten year mark, it being a complete surprise. The evening was spent in playing progressive pedro. Miss Celia Hewell and Barney Tuck won first honors, while Leona Garchow and Elmer Garchow carried off the consolation. The guests presented Mr. Wolfrom with numerous and useful gifts. A bountiful lunch was served, after which the guests departed, wishing Mr. Wolfrom many more happy birthdays.

MADE GOD 'SPEAK'

Chinese "Talking Idol" Really Ingenious Deception.

Fraud Revealed During the Boxer Uprising—Greeks Had Worked Out the Same Idea.

Idolatry, chicanery and deception always seem to go hand in hand together and from the remotest antiquity the Chinese, Egyptians, Hindus, Greeks and Romans introduced deceptions of various kinds into their forms of worship in order to strengthen their grip upon the people and play upon the instinctive superstitions of mankind.

In ruins of temples of ancient Egypt have been found huge statues of Isis and Osiris containing wonderful contrivances worked by the priests in the prosecution of their deceptive religious rites.

The same desire manifests itself in modern idolatry.

During the Boxer uprising in China many of the temples were despoiled by the invading European armies. Costly ornaments, gorgeous trappings, and even the idols themselves were removed and shipped away as "souvenirs" of the occasion. Of the many strange things revealed, none was quite so remarkable as the "Talking Idol," whose secret was discovered for the first time by the invaders.

The idol stood in a rather remote Chinese temple and occupied a place of honor upon a raised platform in a large room. Outwardly, it resembled many of the other idols, but it possessed one remarkable peculiarity. It had, on several occasions, been heard to address the worshippers as they bowed before it. It had spoken in a deep voice, and had bestowed a brief blessing upon those fortunate enough to be present.

For this reason the idol was looked upon with special awe and when the "foreign devils" entered the temple, the natives fully expected to see them struck dead by the outraged image.

But, instead, the temple was ransacked and the long-guarded secret of the idol's power was revealed.

A thick wall was built directly behind the platform on which the idol stood. The head of the idol was hollow, and from a hole in the rear of the head, a tube ran through the wall into a concealed compartment. The tube was removable, and, when the hole was closed the idol stood for months at a time, devoid of its miraculous power. But when the time came once again to remind the people that the idol heard their prayers, the pipe was fitted on, and the image would make its annual speech.

At the time of the invasion by European troops the speaking tube was fitted on, ready for use. Experiment proved that any one speaking from the hidden chamber could be clearly heard, the words seeming to come from the idol itself. By a peculiar hollowing of the head, the voice was deepened in sound, so that with a bass voice speaking through the tube, the words of the "idol" had a most awe-inspiring tone. During the temple rites, one of the Chinese priests evidently served as "voicemaker" for the idol.

The "Talking Idol" was merely a modern employment of a principle well known to the ancients. Greek temples have been discovered with tubes passing from a central compartment to all parts of the building, so that a single voice could be heard in many places at once. It is probable that the Chinese devised the "miracle" themselves, as they could have had no knowledge of the methods of the ancients.

Fish Cooked by Volcano.

Fish ready cooked have recently come to the surface in large quantities on Lake Lucrin, near the north shore of the Gulf of Naples. The fish were at first eagerly collected by the Italian fishermen, who anticipated a hearty meal without the trouble of preparation.

Government authorities, however, forbade the collection of the fish, fearing that they had been poisoned by an eruption of gases. The lake is said to have been formed by volcanic action and the belief is held that poisonous gases forced up from the volcanic bottom had made the water hot and partially cooked the fish. Lake Lucrin was famous in Roman days for its fine shell-fish, but the whole region is more or less subject to volcanic disturbance. The neighboring waters of Lacus Anemus were regarded by the ancients as the entrance of the infernal regions.

Mr. Gloom Wants Much.

E. W. Howe, in his Monthly, rejoices in the discovery of a library paste that will remain moist and serviceable clear to the time the last bit is brushed from the bottle. J. Fuller Gloom doesn't believe there is any such paste. "Oh, yes, there is," he said. "It is made of a substance that evaporates slowly, and the bottle is equipped with a light-fitting cover that makes evaporation practically negligible."

"Oh, ho," said Mr. Gloom. "So you have to keep it covered, do you?" Mr. Gloom, it seems, is looking for some paste that will never dry up no matter how long you leave it exposed to the elements.—Kansas City Star.

Thoughtful.
"I came in to borrow yer new hat, Mrs. Mulligan."
"I was goin' to wear it meself, Mrs. O'Brien."

"Shure, ye wouldn't be wearin' it out when it looks so much like rain, would ye?"—Boston Evening Transcript.

How It Excelled.
When the punitive expedition was in Mexico in 1910 and 1911, one of the newspaper correspondents asked a negro trooper of the Tenth cavalry what he thought of Mexico. The trooper studied a minute and then answered: "Well, boss, there is more cows and less milk, more rivers and less water, and you can see farther and see less than any country in the world."—Judge.

Male Penguin's Love Token.

The love-making of penguins is described by Surgeon (Commander) Murray Levick, a member of Captain Scott's Antarctic expedition. In the spring, he saw, the hen birds swoop out a hollow in the frozen ground, sit in it and wait. When a male bird came a hen who takes his fancy he places a pebble at her feet. This is the signal for an attack on him by the other males, but after a fight he is left in possession.

On one occasion, says Commander Levick, a member of Captain Scott's expedition was sitting down watching the birds when a male came up and placed a pebble at his feet. The bird, finding its advances ignored, inspected the strange, silent animal, nibbled at his trousers and then went away.

Fine Examples of Wood Carving.

Some interesting examples of Italian Renaissance wood carvings were brought to America in 1918 and placed in the Carnegie museum. The carvings formerly were in the collection of M. Emile Dreyer of Paris, a noted antiquarian. All the pieces are of a religious character and formerly were part of the decoration of a church, the name of which is unknown. There are seven panels, carved in high relief and decorated in polychrome. They depict for the most part incidents from the life of St. John, the evangelist, and were set either in the paneling of a wall or were part of the decoration of interior doors.

Potato Row Ten Miles Long.

The world's longest potato field, with rows ten miles long, is believed to be in Union county, Oregon. The owner of the elongated patch leased the right of way from the Oregon-Washington railway and plants his crop, four rows on each side of the track. It requires a farmer one whole day to make a round trip of cultivating two rows, or 20 miles of plowing.

Aside from the money this potato field brings its owner, the railroad profits somewhat in that the green vines in midsummer are a fire preventative and serve as a fire break for those started elsewhere.
