FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

REV. S. CONGER HATHAWAY, A. M., PASTOR

IN THE PASSING OF PRESIDENT HARDING

the whole world mourns the loss of a Christian statesman. In September, 1920, Mr. Harding said to an interviewer:

"I wish every man in America would attend church. . . . I wish men would be as much interested in the churches as they are in their own business."

Think of this when the Sabbath dawns again and GO TO CHURCH EACH SUNDAY MORNING

PLYMOUTH WILL HONOR PRESIDENT HARDING TODAY

The Village Commission Asks General Participation in a Memorial Service in Kellogg Park, This Friday Afternoon at 3 O'clock.

At the regular meeting of the village commission held Monday evening, a resolution was adopted, calling upon the citizens of Plymouth to cease their labors on Friday, at 2:00 o'clock for the rest of the day, that they may join in the memorial services to be held in Kellogg Park at 3:00 o'clock, in commemoration of the burial of our late president, Warren G. Harding, at Marion, Ohio. Rev. S. Conger Hathaway will speak, and Rev. Fr. Schuler will offer a memorial prayer. The other ministers of the village, who were out of town when the arrangements were being made, will also be expected to take part in the services if they have returned today. A double quartet will render several selections. The citizens of Plymouth and vicinity are invited to attend this service to the memory of our beloved president.

PROCLAMATION

The village commission at their meeting Monday evening passed a resolution as follows: That all places of business be requested to close on Friday afternoon, August 10th, from 2 o'clock on, out of respect for the late President Harding. And that all the citizens of Plymouth be invited to join in a short memorial service at the band stand in Kellogg Park on Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Sidney D. Strong, Village Manager.

LARGE CROWD HEARS BAND

The first band concert of the season, given by the Millard band, under the auspices of the business men, in Kellogg Park, last Saturday evening, was thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd. Hundreds of autos were parked on the streets. The band, under the direction of Frank Millard, rendered a splendid program of popular and classical music, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd, who voiced their approval by hearty applause. Another concert will be given on Saturday evening, and everybody is cordially invited to come and hear the music. Remember every road leads to Plymouth.

ANNUAL EXCURSION OF DETROIT MARKET GROWERS.

The annual excursion and outing day of the Detroit Market Growers association takes place this year on Wednesday, August 15th, on the steamer Put-in-Bay, which leaves the foot of First street, Detroit, promptly at 9:00 o'clock. The excursion committee has prepared a fine and novel program for the entertainment of their members and guests, particularly the children, during the five hour stay at the resort, Put-in-Bay, Ohio. This excursion is one of the big events each year for the farmers and gardeners of Wayne county, and their nearby neighbors.

THE PATCHEN SCHOOL REUNION

The Patchen school will hold their annual picnic and reunion on the school grounds, August 18th, 1923. Basket lunch at noon. There will be a program in the afternoon. Any one wishing to help take part in the program would be appreciated.

Miss Regina Lutten returned Saturday from an extended stay in Grand Rapids. Her cousin, Miss Dorothy Whittier of Grand Rapids, returned with her to make a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper of California, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Sarah Hoisington on Union street, have returned here from an extended trip through the east.

TRAFFIC WELL HANDLED IN PLYMOUTH

Stop signs have been placed on both sides of the street, where Penniman avenue crosses Main street. Village Manager Strong informs the Mail that the stop signs have been placed there for the purpose of safeguarding this dangerous crossing, and as an invitation to the motorist to co-operate with the village officials in their efforts to make Plymouth streets safe. Manager Strong says it is not obligatory on the part of the driver to come to a stop at the Penniman avenue and Main street crossing, but it is hoped that they will do so, and many are doing it. It might be well to state here that the traffic rules and regulations in force here, and the manner in which they are enforced by local officers is drawing the favorable attention of other towns, and officials from several places have visited Plymouth to see how our traffic problems are being so successfully carried out. Chief of Police Springer and his deputies are to be commended for the manner in which traffic is handled.

ANOTHER NEW BUSINESS BLOCK

Penniman avenue is to have another new business block that will be materially to the appearance of that thoroughfare. Bert Bea of Kenton, Ohio, who owns the wooden building which stands next to the new Huston block, will erect a new building on that site. The building will be a little over 17 feet in width and 75 feet in length. It will be one story in height. Fancy brick will be used for the front. Contractor Fred Rhead will erect the new building.

BAND CONCERT AT NEWBURG

The Millard Band have kindly consented to give one of their fine concerts, for which they are noted, under the auspices of the Newburg L. A. S., on the church lawn at Newburg, Tuesday evening, August 14th. Ice cream and cake and ice cold lemonade will be on sale. Everyone come and bring your friends.

I. O. O. F. REFRESHMENT STAND

Have you seen the new refreshment stand on South Main street, opposite the Ford garage? Do you want to help in a worthy cause? Cause? The Odd Fellows are working for a new temple to hold their meetings in and to grace the town of Plymouth. Every building added to Plymouth makes her just that much greater town. So remember, when you are thirsty, hungry or that sweet tooth begins to ache, that the Odd Fellow Brotherhood of Plymouth are catering to all these needs. Advertisement.

A FRIEND

"A friend is one who backs you up
When other men assail;
You'll find him near when others cheer,
And near the times you fail.
He's by your side through thick and thin,
He'll back you to the end;
And great is he whose'er he be
Who's worthy of his friend."
—Edgar Guest.

"No longer do I call you servants,
But I have called you friends.
Ye are my friends if ye do the things
Which I have commanded you."
—Jesus Christ.

Stay Out of the Kitchen

Hot weather cooking is the bane of woman's existence unless she cooks electrically.

Boiling and frying over a kitchen range, when the thermometer approximates 90 in the shade, has spoiled many a dish which might have been speedily and tastefully prepared and served at table in an electric chafing dish or electric grill.

An all year convenience—a summer necessity.

THIS SOUNDS GOOD

Deposits in the savings banks of this country show a big increase this year over the same period in 1922, the aggregate savings of the entire nation amounting to over $17,000,000,000. A lot of the credit for this must be given to the schools in this country in which teachers see the value of installing the lessons of thrift into their pupils. Some credit must also be given to the newspapers, for they have preached unceasingly the value of putting away a little bit of every dollar you make or earn. Bankers, too, deserve credit for advertising the safety of their institutions. But more than one Plymouth citizen has learned within the year that saving money is a matter of habit, a habit that grows easier with the years. The desire to put away something for a rainy day is growing stronger and stronger with our people each day. That is one reason why we are getting along pretty well in a period of high prices. There is more money in circulation than ever before, and it is easier to get it to put away. As long as we are warming up to the saving habit and laying aside, in a safe place, every dollar we can possibly spare, there isn't much need to fear for the outcome of the nation.

Several pictures taken at the time were exhibited, which provided a very pleasant program.

THE THEATRE

"THE LAW OF THE LAWLESS"

For the first time in the history of motion pictures, the colorful life of southeastern Roumania—the home of the Tartar and gypsy—has been filmed in "The Law of the Lawless," Dorothy Dalton's latest Paramount picture, which will be on view at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, August 11.

Gypsy stories have been filmed but never in the colorful setting of Dobrudja, the little-known and romantic Roumanian province which numbers many native gypsy tribes among its inhabitants. Konrad Berecovi, a gypsy author, wrote the story of "The Law of the Lawless" for the screen from his own personal experience in his native land.

Berecovi's story tells of a Tartar girl, daughter of an impoverished householder, who is sold on the auction block to pay her father's debt. She is bought by a gypsy chief who marries her by the colorful gypsy ceremony, but who respects her dislike of him.

The girl's Tartar sweetheart attempts to rescue her but proves himself a coward in the crises while the gypsy chieftain shows himself a fair and courageous fighter. The girl's liking for her Tartar lover gives way to a new love for the gypsy. Their chief captured by the Tartars, the gypsies, led by the girl wife, attack the Tartar village in a fierce hand-to-hand fight. The money lender who sold the girl meets his death, the gypsy chief conquers the Tartar youth in a fierce struggle in a blazing innaret and the girl proves her love for her husband. Peace brings renewed prosperity for her father and friendly relations between the warring factions.

Romance, drama and stirring action are packed into every scene of the story. Dorothy Dalton gives a superb characterization of the hot-headed, high-spirited Tartar girl, and she is ably supported by Theodore Kosloff in the role of the Tartar lover and Charles de Roche as the gypsy chief. The latter makes his first American appearance in this picture. Tully Marshall is also featured.

OBITUARY

Virgil Tillotson was born in Sheffield, Connecticut, November 16, 1835. He came to Michigan with his parents, who settled on a farm in Canton township. He was married to Jane Corwin in 1868, and to them six children were born: Mary, Ann, Allen, Martha, Isaac and Arthur. Four children survive him, Allen and Mary having preceded him to the eternal home.

Mr. Tillotson was among the last of the group of early settlers who experienced the hardships of pioneer life in this community. He united with the Plymouth Baptist church about 1858, where he has always kept his membership. Nine years ago, he left his farm in Canton, and since that time, has made his home in Plymouth, where he died August 1st. Mr. Tillotson never lost interest in the events of the passing years, and always had a keen insight in the industrial problems of the day.

During his recent illness he has been tenderly cared for by his children, who will miss his counsel and fatherly interest in all their affairs.

OBITUARY

Bert E. Rivers was born in Saginaw, Michigan, March 29, 1875, and died in Detroit, July 29, 1923, at the age of 48 years, 3 months and 29 days. He came to Plymouth about fifteen years ago, and while here, he was employed as switchman on the Pere Marquette railroad, until four years ago, when he moved with his family to Detroit.

He is survived by his wife, one son, four brothers and one sister, and numerous other relatives and friends. Funeral services were held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Wednesday, August 1st.

A OARD—We wish to thank those who so kindly assisted us at the time of our recent bereavement, especially do we wish to thank Mrs. R. E. Cooper for the music, and those who so kindly furnished autos.
The Tillotson Family.

Christ's Return Soon Manifest

"millions now living will never die"

—Judge Rutherford

That there will be a personal, second COMING and PRESENCE of Jesus Christ is generally believed by Christians, but as to the object of his COMING and the manner in which his PRESENCE will be revealed there is almost universal confusion. Indeed, few ministers care to discuss the subject.

Jesus did not leave his followers without information, however. He gave certain, clearly defined signs which should be looked for as indications of his presence in the world, and left with the injunction: Watch!

Do you know that most of these signs are either already fulfilled or are in process of fulfillment?

Do you know that most of the problems which mankind has vainly sought to solve (many of them ages old) Christ himself has come to solve during his second presence?

Do you know that the second presence of Christ means that there are millions of people living today who will never go into the tomb, but will live on the earth forever?

You are cordially invited to hear a lecture on this topic by

OLD DAYS LIVE IN MEMORY

Wagoner Recalls Ancient Times When He Revisited the Trails That He Used to Ride.

There's a scope of country that stretches hundreds of miles north and south of the Santa Fe. The tourists when they go through it pull down their windows for fear of the dust. You can hear 'em say, "What an awful country it is; how desolate and destitute of life; a person would surely die of loneliness living in such a dreadful place," etc. Well—that's where I'm headed for, if I don't get my throat cut by barb wire before I get there. The water-holes are 40 miles apart and maybe dry when you get to 'em. You'd be surprised, but there's cattle there and no fences. Fact is, the country ain't worth fencing. The only gate is on the corral by the spring. When you get out of it on your crow-hopping bronc you're free to go whichever way you please. The old trails are the same there, and I can spread my loop without getting it caught in a fence post. It's a place where nesters never stop and sheep can't live.

Some folks call it the country God forgot, but I think different.

As I'm setting upon this little knoll, taking a last look at the country where I'd put in so many hard rides, a little coyote ambles up the side of the hill, sees me and stops, starts to run some more, then somehow feels that I'm harmless and stops again. I see him limping and notice a trap kept one of his paws. He, too, has been crowded a heap, and somehow I have more admiration for him than I used to. I'd like to let him know we're no enemies no more.

The sun is going down as I straddle my horse and head south for an all-night ride. It's most dark before I look back. I can see the outline of the river breaks I know so well, and not so far behind I can hear the Yip! Yip! of the little old three-legged coyote—his's follering.—Will James in Scribner's.

The Weakest Link.

The victory of August 8, 1918, which Ludendorff confessed was the most smashing blow he ever received, owed its success to surprise. It was all important the Germans should not suspect that an attack was to be made and it was hoped they would think the southward movement of our troops was just to relieve French divisions. In the early hours of August 4 the enemy raided three posts on our front at Hourges and secured a prisoner. He was an Australian. What he said made the enemy sure that the extension of our front was just to set free French troops. Another instance of the loyalty which made the surprise possible is the story of two runners making their way down the line the night before the battle. They suddenly came on a long line of tanks. "Goodness," exclaimed the one, "just look at that." "Sh," said the other, putting his finger to his lips. "I guess there's a raid on." This story occurs in "Sir Douglas Haig's Command." How many lives depended on the loyalty of that Australian prisoner!—London Times.

Real "Meanest Man" Is Found.

"The Meanest Man in the World" crops up every now and again in the police court, some chap who has robbed a blind beggar or done his poor old mother out of her savings. It is rather difficult to say which is the meanest. There are so many. And you never figure in the police court at all, observes the New York Sun.

The other night on a Bronx Park express subway train there was a male individual who is undoubtedly a charter member of "The Meanest." He was standing in front of a seated old woman who was worried as to her destination. When the train pulled into the Fourteenth street station, "Is this Ninety-sixth?" she asked him timidly.

"Yes, ma'am," he replied, and slid into the seat which she, in a hurry, vacated.

Swedish Queen Finds Home.

Queen Victoria of Sweden has just begun the establishment of a rest cure for women as her investment of the $45,000 which she received on her sixtieth birthday, last year, as a gift subscribed by the women of her country, and her popularity has been enhanced more than ever by this act.

The site of the new rest cure, says a Stockholm paper, is the picturesque island of Oland, in the Baltic, just off the southwest coast of Sweden, where the queen's favorite summer villa, "Sollden," is situated. She has purchased three houses, which will be reconstructed for the new institution.

Surplus on Hand.

An elderly young lady passed the club window. Most of those assembled at the window knew her, and the general verdict was that she was a nice girl but had entered the old-maid class. One clubman spoke up.

He was asked to explain and did so. "Ten years ago she refused to let me have a kiss."

"Well?"

"Now she has a large stock that she can't dispose of."

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions of respect and condolence of Tonquish Lodge, No. 32, I. O. O. F.:

WHEREAS, the Divine Ruler of the Universe has silently closed the eyes and sealed the lips of our late and beloved brother, Bert Rivers, leaving bereft in grief a sorrowing wife, one son, four brothers and one sister, and

WHEREAS, that while we submit to the will of God, we deeply mourn with sorrowing hearts our sad loss and bereavement.

RESOLVED, That we as a society, deeply sympathize with the relatives and friends in their sad hour of bereavement, and would extend to them that sympathy and consolation which warm hearts can give, who feel that their sorrow is our sorrow, that their loss is our loss, and above all, we would commend them to Him who doeth all things well.

Just at the sunset, the west glows with radiant colors, so our horizon of memory glows with tints painted by his life's work. He was faithful to his ideals, to his friends, to his loved ones, to the Order that he loved. He invested in friendship and received back the love and respect of the whole fraternity.

We shall miss him from our councils. The voice is hushed and the hand is cold, but his influence will live on to bless and inspire us.

RESOLVED, That our charter be draped in mourning for thirty days, and a copy of our resolutions be spread on our minutes and one be sent to the bereaved family of our deceased brother.

Oh, thou who mournest on thy way, With longing for the closing day, Bear up, bear on, the end shall tell, The dear Lord doeth all things well.

1924 Models Are the Finest Big-Sizes Studebaker Ever Built

The enthusiasm with which the new 1924 model Studebaker cars have been received locally is an indication of the receipt they have enjoyed throughout the country.

No wonder. They are emphatically the most compelling values Studebaker ever offered and the public knows that Studebaker has been a consistent leader, year after year, in the amount of intrinsic value per dollar invested.

The Big-Six Sedan and the Coupe are the finest cars that have ever borne the name Studebaker. They provide all the performance, all the comfort, and all the dependability that any car will give—at a price that smaller producers cannot approach.

Everything for which one can wish in motoring convenience, comfort and utility has been provided—even to the extra disc wheel with tire, tube and tire cover (two on Sedan); handsome nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; large, roomy trunk; automatic gasoline signal, and many other features. There is nothing more to buy.

The prices of the Sedan and Coupe are moderate because of Studebaker's large production, vast physical and financial resources, the manufacture of all vital parts in Studebaker plants, and the accumulation of experience and prestige gained through 71 years of building quality vehicles.

SEEK BEST TREATMENT FOR MUCK SOIL AREAS

FERTILIZER AND CULTURAL NEEDS OF STATE'S LOWLAND SOILS COVERED IN M. A. C. EXPERIMENT SERIES.

The needs of the muck soils of Michigan and the best treatments for them are being studied in an extensive series of experiments being carried on by specialists from the soils department of the Michigan Agricultural College. The experiments, which are being conducted under the direction of Dr. Paul M. Harmer, M. A. C. muck specialist, in co-operation with local county agents, are the most extensive that have ever been made in the state.

"The experiments," says Dr. Harmer, "will cover all phases of muck soil problems. They will take up the question of the kinds and amounts of fertilizers needed on different types of muck, the moisture conditions desirable for various crops, the cultural methods giving the best results, and the time element in the application of fertilizer."

The work is being conducted on 34 sets of plots located on 31 farms in 28 different muck areas of the state. Fourteen different fertilizers, on the average, are being tested on each set of plots. On most of these projects, general farm crops, that are adapted to muck soil, are being raised. These include celery, onions, mint, cabbage cauliflower, lettuce, and several root crops.

One or more of these experimental projects is being carried on in the vicinity of Lansing, Mason, Gagetown, Lum, Eaton Rapids, Buchanan, Homer, St. Johns, Scottville, Ithaca, Walkerville, Jackson, Fennville, Centerville, Seney, Ann Arbor, Hastings, Bay City, Holland, Decatur, Hudsonville, and Hamilton.

METHODIST NOTES

The pastor has returned and will be glad to greet everyone at the services next Sunday.

A delightful vacation has been spent for two weeks by the pastor and his wife in a motor trip across the state to Bay View, one of the finest summer resorts in the state, owned and controlled by Methodists, and managed with a deep religious purpose. The return trip was along the West Michigan pike, stopping overnight at Epworth Heights, Ludington, another Methodist summer resort.

We honor this week, with all true Americans, the sacred memory of our noble president. Let us make Friday a sacred, solemn day of devotion, to his honor, and to the high ideals of our great nation, for which he stood.

Next Monday evening, beginning at 7:00 o'clock, the voting by ballot will take place at the church, for one lay delegate and one reserve delegate, to attend the Laymen's Conference in Detroit in September. Every member of the church 21 years of age and over are entitled to vote. Any member of the church 25 years of age or over may be voted for as a delegate.

Next Tuesday evening at 8:00, the regular meeting of the official board at the parsonage.

Next Wednesday evening an Epworth League social. Hear more about it Sunday. A big time is to be pulled off. Every young person will want to be there.

The Epworth League devotional service will be resumed next Sunday evening at 6:45, after two weeks' vacation. Miss Mildred Shogren leads the meeting.

Mid-week prayer service next Thursday evening at 7:30.

Sunday evening services will be resumed next Sunday evening at 8:00. The pastor will preach.

Biliousness and Constipation

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally," writes Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala.—Advertisement.

AROUND ABOUT US

Former Sheriff A. C. Pack of Washtenaw county, is Ann Arbor's new postmaster.

Brightmoor, between Redford and Detroit, now has a population of 4,556, and is still growing.

The Board of Commerce of South Lyon are back on a proposition to stimulate the building of houses in that village.

Grand River road is now closed to traffic between Farmington and Novi, owing to the construction of the 20-foot concrete roadway.

The officials of the Milford fair, which opens September 12th, are planning on a night fair, in connection with the regular fair this year.

Redford's new consolidated school will require the services of 60 teachers next year and a lot more room than its present building will supply.

Work on paving the Washtenaw road between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor has commenced. When this road is completed there will be a continuous concrete highway between Detroit and Jackson.

Surveyors are now working on Grand River near Howell on the proposed widening and paving program. The ultimate plans call for a 40-foot pavement on a 100-foot right of way, and the straightening of the curves.

During the past few weeks engineers have been engaged in taking soundings on the Ford flats where it is proposed to construct Northville's new power dam, and as soon as this work is completed it is expected work will start in earnest. Mr. Ford is in Northville Saturday, and gave instructions to start work on the dam as soon as possible and to rush the work to completion with all speed. The new dam will be constructed along Griswold street, and its embankments will form a sort of horseshoe as they are built from the basin for the storage of water.—Northville Record.

The latest power project of Henry Ford to reach completion is the new dam at Flat Rock on the Huron river. This work of engineering is unique in that it serves a three-fold purpose. In the first place, it is a power dam; then it serves as a bridge for highway traffic and at the same time it is also a bridge for the Ford railroad, the D. T. & I. Power generated at Flat Rock will be used to run a lamp factory, to make head and tail lights for automobiles. The number of horsepower generated is 700. Construction of the factory was recently started. The Flat Rock dam will also be used as a sub or "booster" station in the electrification of the D. T. & I., the main generating plant being at River Rouge.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

There was a large attendance last Sunday morning at the memorial service. The pastor had planned to preach on "Mid-summer Religion," but Saturday morning, in response to the call which was sent out from the Detroit Council of Churches, he changed his plans and arranged a service in honor of resident Harding. Miss Catherine Curtis of Northville, played the organ, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray VanValkenburg of Northville, assisted Calvin Whipple, in the absence of the chorus choir. Mr. VanValkenburg sang as a solo, Whitler's "I Know Not Where His Islands Lie." It was very appropriate and was beautifully given.

The Sunday-school attendance was not large, but was very good for this time of year. Walter Nissley, the assistant superintendent, acted acceptably in the absence of W. R. Shaw, the superintendent. Miss Gladys Fulton presided at the piano.

A special paragraph belongs by right to H. J. Green for the excellent decorations which he arranged for church, last Sunday. On short notice, too, and on Saturday, his busy day, at that. Mr. Green has unusual talent and ability along that line, which Plymouth will do well to appreciate. And he adorns his talent with a cordial spirit of cheerful willingness, which is very gratifying to the whole community.

When the vested choir returns in September, you'll want to be at church the first Sunday, that's all.

There were a number of visitors, last Sunday from within and without the state—notably a whole pewful from Kentucky. That's right, bring your guests to church with you and let us help you make them feel welcome.

NOTICE

Village Treasurer's office will be closed all day, Friday.

Airplanes to Carry Lights

All British airplanes will have to carry a rear light while flying at night now. This safety regulation has just been made by the air ministry. It compels aerial traffic to "light up" half an hour before sundown, and in addition to the tail light, similar illumination must be placed at the end of the wings. White lights will be used. A similar arrangement was utilized by some of the airplanes during the war, and these rear lights of the sky to ground observers will have the aspect of stars on the nose. Added significance is given to the regulation by the fact that shortly a night service of airplanes will be run by the civil department of the air ministry. Although intended as an experiment, which will be continued over a month, it will probably lead to the establishment of a night service run on lines similar to that of the ordinary day service. The route selected for the trial is from London to Paris.

The Fairy Tales

By MYRA CURTIS LANE

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"AND these are the children." Ella Prentiss looked at the little boy and girl in their beds, who had clamored for a story from their father, and then desisted at the entrance of the woman.

It was the first time Ella Prentiss had been in John Clavering's house. It was the first time any woman except the servant had entered his house since the day when his wife left him. Left him in shame, with another man, leaving a bitter note behind her. Left him to the scorn and pity of the community.

And Ella had stood by him in friendship all through those dark days when the children were left motherless. And there was no one in the town who did not venture on a guess at the date of their wedding.

For John Clavering had quietly and remorselessly proceeded with steps for his divorce. And that matter had almost been attended to.

In Clavering's pocket at that moment lay a letter from Mary. He had discussed the matter with Ella. He was just sad and chivalrous, but very hard where his honor was concerned.

This was the letter:

"For the sake of the babes I beg you, I implore you to take me back. I will not ask to be a wife to you. Things have gone too far for that. I will be a servant, wait on you, and my happiness in serving you, and in being with my children. You cannot refuse the plea of a wretched woman who was once your wife."

It touched him, as it would have touched any man.

"I'm trying not to think of our happiness, Ella," he said. "I'm trying to see it from the children's standpoint, from the view of their interest. Is it better for them to grow up without their mother, or is it better to adult her to my home again?"

"I don't know, John," Ella confessed.

"Daddy, are you going to marry Miss Prentiss?"

The question had almost stunned him. He had evaded it somehow. But he had thought with bitterness.

"So even they are discussing things. Soon they will know that they have a mother alive. One lives in a glass house."

And he could not have answered the question satisfactorily to himself, even.

They went out of the room wrestling with their mutual problem. But presently the sound of the children's voices reached them. They listened.

Nora was reading:

"Little Brother took Little Sister by the hand and said: 'Since our dear mother died we have not had a single happy hour. Even the little dog under the table is better off than we. Come let us go into the wide world together.'"

"Now the wicked stepmother was a witch . . ."

A pause. The listeners held their breath.

"Johnny, do you know mother isn't really dead? She's just gone away. And she wants to come home again. I heard daddy saying so to Miss Prentiss."

"Will he let her come?"

"I don't know. I don't think Miss Prentiss wants her to."

"Why not?"

"Because she wants to marry daddy herself."

"Then she'd be our stepmother, wouldn't she?"

"Oh-hub! Wouldn't it be terrible to have a stepmother! I wonder if Miss Prentiss is a witch?"

"I expect she'll turn into a witch if she becomes our stepmother."

"Stepmothers are bad, aren't they?"

"Awful bad. They beat you and give you crusts to eat and make you wear rags like Cinderella. She had a stepmother, you know."

"I wish dear mother would come back. I don't want to have a stepmother. I'm going to pray to God not to let Miss Prentiss be our stepmother."

The listeners looked at each other as the childish voices died away. Miss Prentiss was the first to speak.

"Out of the mouths of babes," she quoted softly.

"Ella, dear—"

"No, no, John, you must take her back, on her own terms or any. I—I've seen the light, John. I guess that's why I was brought here this afternoon."

Raising One's Own Fish.

Experiments by the bureau of fisheries in fish culture in small ponds like those found on many farms has proved, it is claimed, that any ordinary family can obtain enough fish from such a pond to warrant a healthful change in diet by the simple process of stocking the pond with such fish as may be desired. Frequent stocking, it is asserted, is not necessary unless an unusual amount of fish is required. The fish need no care and need not be fed.

An experiment made by the bureau in a small pond in Fairport, Ia., showed that the net production per acre increased from 203 pounds and 14 ounces in 1919 to 440 pounds 14 ounces in 1922. The fish used in the experiment was the bluegill, a species of sunfish. This fish is not considered an especially good pan fish because it is very bony, but the test was made to prove only that fish could be propagated without much trouble. The sunfish, as any angler knows, lives and thrives in the same waters where are an abundance of perch, bass and pickerel.

Heart Twice Normal Size.

Staggering and falling on the sidewalk at Miles Plitting, England, an ex-soldier was found, on removal to the infirmary, to be dead. He had been discharged from the British army as medically unfit, and pensioned. A post-mortem examination indicated that death had been due to valvular disease of the heart, the man's heart being twice the normal size.
