HE SLIPPED OUT THE BACK DOOR

The great physicist, Michael Faraday, was lecturing in London before a body of scientists. At the close the Prince of Wales rose to move a vote of thanks. When carried, he looked around for the lecturer; but he was gone. Faraday had slipped out the back door, and had gone over to a prayer meeting to mix his science with his religion by renewing his fellowship with God.

FLOATS TEACH TRAFFIC PERIL

PLYMOUTH REPRESENTED IN BIG "SAFETY WEEK" PARADE IN DETROIT, WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Floata depicting children dying in the streets, reckless drivers and the general menace of reckless motoring were seen in a parade staged by 21 municipalities in Wayne county, east side of Detroit, as the beginning of "Safety Week" in Wayne county, Wednesday evening in Detroit.

Hamtramck's float won first honors. It depicted a workman bidding good-bye to a child as he starts for the factory in the morning, and his return in the evening to find the child dead, the victim of a reckless driver. Other honors were won by Springwells, which entered a float showing the grave of a jay-walker, and River Rouge, which showed a band of motorists clad in prison stripes and working on a road.

Floata were entered by all townships and towns in the county. The safety week was planned as an educational campaign to reduce the traffic accidents that have made the highways perilous.

Sheriff George Walters was chairman of the arrangements committee. He will speak every night this week, urging safety precautions in county villages and towns. The village of Plymouth was represented in the parade by two floata and the Millard band, riding in one of the big buses of the Renne Motor Transit, which was kindly donated for the occasion through the courtesy of Mr. Renne.

The Chamber of Commerce float depicted a boy and girl seated in a roadster, mounted upon a large truck, in which the young man gave a demonstration of one arm driving. A dummy, representing a small child, as a victim of this practice of driving, was in the act of being knocked down and crushed beneath the wheels of the car.

The village municipal truck, nicely decorated, carried a large banner upon which appeared the words, "Plymouth a Safe Place to Live, No Serious Traffic Accidents in Six Years."

Before and after the parade, the Millard band, the only band in the parade, was invited to play several selections in front of the reviewing stand, and their music was highly complimented upon.

Plymouth was also represented by the members of the village commission, a committee from the Chamber of Commerce and four members of the police department.

Plymouth officials are giving full co-operation in "Safety Week" and on next Saturday evening, Sheriff George Walters will make an address from the bandstand in Kellogg Park, giving an outline of the work of the campaign.

DEATH OF WILLIAM ROSENBERG

William Frederick Rosenberg was born near Berlin, Germany, June 29, 1850, and died in Grace hospital, Detroit, August 9, 1923, aged 73 years, one month and eleven days. At the age of ten he came to this country with his parents, sisters and brother, and settled in Livonia. Later he was confirmed in the Lutheran faith, and December 5th, 1876, was married to Delilah Gates, who preceded him in death, August 25, 1918. The early part of their married life was spent in South Lyon, after which they bought a farm in Livonia, and Mr. Rosenberg found his real calling. Three children gladdened their home: Charles S., who died in infancy; Luella M., now Mrs. Robert Chappel, and Welcome A. Seven years ago Mr. and Mrs. Rosenberg desired a rest, sold the farm and moved to Plymouth, but the latter soon passed away. Mr. Rosenberg was very industrious, a great lover of home and children, and of recent years many of his splendid qualities were often hidden, due, of course, to a growth on the spinal cord, which was discovered in the hospital. Besides the son, daughter and grandson, Charles Chappel, he is survived by a brother, Charles, of Alma, Mich., and several nieces, nephews and cousins. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, at Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. E. King of Highland Park, and Mrs. R. E. Cooper sang two beautiful hymns. Mr. Rosenberg was laid to rest in Riverside cemetery.

BRIGGS SCHOOL REUNION

The annual reunion of the teachers, pupils and friends of the Briggs School was held on the school grounds, Saturday, August 11th. A picnic lunch was served at noon, followed with delightful music furnished by Miss Gladys Schrader and Daniel Patterson. Community singing, led by Mrs. Cassidy, was enjoyed by all, after which P. B. Whitbeck, in his usual pleasing manner, gave an appropriate talk, and Miss Nellie Riddle read an interesting history of three periods of the school life. A most welcome guest was Mrs. Arley of Wayne, who attended the Briggs school seventy-three years ago.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—Miss Lina Durfee; Secretary—Mrs. Mrs. John Melow; Historian—Miss Caroline Riddle.

WILL PLAY OFF TIE WITH WINDSOR

The officers' base ball team at the prison farm defeated the Newburg team in a one-sided contest, last Sunday. The score was 34 to 4. Next Sunday, August 19th, the officers' team will play the tie off with the Windsor, Canada, Beavers, at the farm. The first game was 8 to 2 in favor of the Beavers, while the second game was 5 to 4 in the officers' favor. The game next Sunday promises to be a hotly contested one.

PLYMOUTH PAYS TRIBUTE TO HARDING

BUSINESS WAS SUSPENDED AND MEMORIAL SERVICES WERE HELD IN KELLOGG PARK.

Plymouth paused Friday afternoon, while its citizens joined with those of the nation in making a public manifestation of their sorrow over the death of Warren G. Harding. From the rock ribbed coast of Maine, westward across the continent to the sunny shores of the Pacific, and beyond its expanse to the outposts of civilization, wherever the Stars and Stripes are floating, Americans bowed their heads in solemn requiem for their dead president.

And so in Plymouth, even as the bells in Marion were tolling forth their measured notes of sorrow, as the body of the fallen executive was tenderly carried from his father's home to its temporary resting place, Plymouth citizens gathered in Kellogg Park to listen to eulogies of him. By proclamation and common assent business in the village was suspended. The bandstand in the park had been most artistically and appropriately decorated for the occasion by Harry J. Green. In the background there was a picture of the late president, set in a beautiful floral wreath, the gift of Carl Heide.

The exercises were opened with the singing of one of President Harding's favorite hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee," by a double quartette, most impressively. Rev. D. D. Nagle read the scriptures from the 4th chapter II Corinthians, and Rev. Fr. Schuler delivered the memorial prayer. Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, A. M., pastor of the Presbyterian church, made the address of the afternoon. Rev. Hathaway spoke from the text, "Know ye not that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel?" II Samuel 3:38. The speaker paid a splendid eulogy to Mr. Harding as president, publisher and man. In glowing terms he spoke of his admirable characteristics, his sterling character, and the inspiration of his useful life upon the people he loved so well, and whose welfare and best interests were so near his heart. The speaker called the attention of his hearers to the many expressions of the late president made in his addresses, pleading with his countrymen for a greater religious thought, and more of the Christ spirit in the life of the nation. It was a splendid oration, feelingly spoken, and presented a graphic picture of the fallen hero for whom the services were held.

After the singing of "Lead Kindly Light," another favorite hymn of the late president, Rev. D. D. Nagle pronounced the benediction, and the exercises were brought to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ruttman and Mrs. Center of Detroit, spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts.

A GOOD TIME TO BUY

There is always a little tendency toward a buying slump during the summer months, as all Plymouth merchants can testify. People go on vacations or sit on their front porches with fans and ice water or decide it is too hot to think, and stop thinking. Housewives pick up a new apron here or an ice-cream set there, but for the big purchases they await the stimulation of the first fall winds.

Yet for the thrifty soul who can turn her imagination ahead a bit, there is no better time to lay in stocks than in August. Not only are linens and china and cotton dresses in quantities large enough for good selection, and at reduced prices, but furniture beckons, and the wall-paper man clears out his stock at a reduction before the fall patterns begin to come in. It's dull season for the paper hanger. Usually the carpenter can give a day or two to putting up shelves or re-hanging a bulky door.

While part of the family is away, or things are dull all over town is a good time to do odd jobs of painting about the house. The tinner can mend the leaky spouting and get it in shape for the fall rains. The woman who takes in sewing is going to be rushed to death as soon as school starts, but maybe she can find a stray day or two right now. And there's many a remnant of the summer silk-and-wools or sturdy serges that will make a fine winter dress for the growing girl. For any purchase from a new latch for the front gate to a new pair of white shoes, this is a good time to buy. For at no other time will you find merchants in better position to make a little sacrifice.

THEY'RE COMING BACK

We read in a daily paper that the Department of Agricultural has been giving some attention to county fairs now being held throughout the United States, and that up to the present time the attendance at almost all of them is beyond all expectations. The report states that for several years the fate of the old-fashioned county fair in this country hung in the balance. Many of them gave up their charters. Others were replaced by "Home-Coming Weeks" or something of that kind. But this year seems to have found the fair again becoming the well-attended and enjoyable event that it used to be. And the report further states that the credit for this rests largely with the automobile. People can get to and from the county fairs more quickly and more cheaply than in the old days. And they are going to support them, as they used to be supported, and as they now deserve to be supported. So we'll have to credit one more good deed to the auto.

THE THEATRE

"FOG BOUND"

During the filming in Florida of scenes for Dorothy Dalton's Paramount picture, "Fog Bound," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, August 18, Irvin Willat's production unit attracted much attention in the vicinity of Palm Beach. Society folk flocked to wherever the location was on that particular day—one of Florida's many small lakes—even the swamps of the Everglades were invaded. It is a novelty to see a picture filmed, and Palm Beach could not afford to have it said that they missed anything out of the ordinary. In automobiles and carriages, on horseback and in launches, some on foot, a veritable army of fans was present at the shooting of every scene for this production which provides a splendid role for Dorothy Dalton. David Foyall is her leading man, and the supporting cast includes Maurice Costello, Martha Mansfield and other popular screen artists.

"DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS"

Thrills, breath taking and gripping, romance, heart interest, humor, pathos and scenic effects that surpass anything ever before attempted, are combined in the Elmer Clifton production, "Down to the Sea in Ships," which will be the feature attraction at the Penniman Allen theatre on Sunday, August 19th. Before the astounded eyes of the audience is depicted in this amazing drama an actual combat with a 90-ton whale. This huge leviathan of the deep is seen in battle with a crew of six whalers, one of whom, Raymond McKee, the star of the picture, has launched his harpoon into the ocean monster. At the thrilling details of this unusual combat are vividly shown, in which the lives of the participants were in jeopardy many times; the chase, the harpooning, and finally the great moment when the mammal, enraged and maddened with pain, charged the small boat and smashed it to kindling.

The story is written by John L. E. Fell, a native of New England, and the co-operation of all the citizens of New Bedford was eagerly given in the production of the picture, which is intended to perpetuate for all time the golden days of whaling. In addition to an abundance of thrills, it is replete with heart interest revolving around a beautiful Quaker maiden and a youth not a Quaker, who is determined to become a whaler in order to win the girl of his heart. Raymond McKee is seen in the leading male role, with Marguerite Courtot as Patience Morgan, daughter of a God-fearing Quaker who is portrayed by William Walcott.

"THE EXCITERS"

"Come down to earth!" An expression especially applicable in the case of Ronnie Rand, played by Bebe Daniels, co-starred with Antonio Moreno in the Paramount picture, "The Exciters," which is due at the Penniman Allen theatre, next Wednesday, August 22nd. Miss Daniels, as Ronnie Rand, a typical example of the modern girl, seems to take great delight in leaving mother earth as far behind as possible. To accomplish this, Ronnie, to the annoyance of her parents, forces into service a number of power boats and airplanes, either from her own collection or those loaned by admiring friends. But into the life of this carefree girl comes a certain Pierre Martel, a supposed crook, who is in reality a secret service agent, thus employed for the same reason that Ronnie employs speed wagons—for excitement.

Antonio Moreno plays this role to perfection. It is at the first meeting of this pair, that the love interest of the story is brought to light. Their marriage in dramatic circumstances follows and then comes an unexpected climax. The picture is delightfully entertaining and is said to have exceptional heart appeal.

GAME AND FISH LAW CHANGES FEW BUT IMPORTANT.

Several important additions and changes were made by the last state legislature in the game and fish laws of Michigan. Contrary to general belief there has been no open season declared on male Chinese ring-necked pheasants. Their hunting is still prohibited. The open season on ruffed grouse, commonly called partridge, has been changed in the upper peninsula to October 15 to November 9th, inclusive. The season in the lower peninsula remains from October 15th to November 20th, inclusive. Bob White or quail remain protected indefinitely, but are still classed as game birds. The season on Sora Rail opens September 16th, instead of September 1st. Cotton tailed rabbits may now be hunted from October 15th until January 31st, and for squirrel from October 15th to 31, inclusive.

NEW LAW PROHIBITS PARKING ON COUNTRY ROADS.

A new state law, passed by the recent legislature, will go into effect the 27th of this month, when it will become unlawful to park an automobile or truck on any paved road, highway or beaten path. The law is aimed at drivers who are accustomed to park their cars on country roads, where they are a menace to the passing autoist.

Country Homes

are worth far more, when there is running water, in all the buildings, and for every use. A water system increases property value far more than it costs.

This modern convenience has so many profit making time and labor saving advantages that it would be hard to fix its true worth.

Fire protection, economy of time and labor, comfort and convenience are some of the points in its favor.

The price of a load of corn or a team of horses, will buy and install a water system.

WHEN THE ROD WAS SUPREME

Stern Discipline Marked the Uprising of Boys and Girls of a Few Generations Ago.

Boys and girls of the present day find the road to learning much smoother and pleasanter than did their forefathers. Something over a century ago the favorite text in almost every family was "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

A rawhide or bunch of birch hung over the mantel-shelf in many houses, to be used upon the boys of the family, the usual rule being that a whipping at school must be followed by one at home. Those given at school were usually the more severe. In many old schools in England the "birch horse" is preserved as a curiosity; a high wooden frame shaped like a saddle, on which the delinquent was strapped to receive his lashes.

Watson, in his "Annals of Philadelphia," tells us that girls as well as boys were whipped in the "academies for the children of the gentry" something like a hundred years ago.

Other punishments than whipping were common. Talking in school was sometimes punished by fastening a frame over the mouth, from which lolled a huge red flannel tongue. Almost every school had its dunce's cap, and some of them had a "log," which was a block of wood that was strapped to the leg of a truant and worn outside of school.

Dull scholars were often made to stand open-mouthed under the clock, to be pointed at by their comrades as they marched past. In certain English schools a large wicker cage, is preserved in which the delinquent was fastened, the cage being then drawn by a pulley to the ceiling, where it remained until the ill-doer was supposed to be sufficiently punished.

The tardy scholar was sometimes forced to march through the streets preceded by an usher who carried a lighted lantern, to the amusement of the jeering crowd.

Inventing a Surname in Persia.

Although Teheran is the capital of Persia few of its streets are dignified with names. The city's principal thoroughfare is known as Street of the Gas Lights, from the fact that an attempt was once made to illuminate it by means of gas lamps, and though the lighting failed the name of the street remained. As none of the houses has a number, it is extremely difficult to find a given address. Until very recently there were, with certain exceptions, no family names in Persia. This led to so much confusion that two or three years ago an edict was issued obliging all persons in the empire to adopt a family name within a given date. As may be supposed the names chosen were frequently curious and sometimes amusing. An old man who had been for many years guardian of the gate of one of the Christian missions, chose for himself the Persian equivalent of "Honest and Faithful." A postman styled himself appropriately "Here, There and Everywhere," while a merchant who was of a practical turn of mind, selected as a surname his own telephone number, "Three Hundred and Ten."

Golden Girdle for the Earth.

You would find it difficult to measure the width of one of your hairs, but compared with some things a human hair is incredibly thick. The actual width of an average hair is about one-six-hundredth of an inch. The hair-spring of a watch is about half as thick as a hair. You might not think so at first, but a hair-spring is a flat strip, not circular, and usually its thickness is about one-twelve-hundredth of an inch. Its width makes it look comparatively big.

A piece of pure gold can be flattened out into a sheet so thin that 300,000 similar ones piled on top of each other would only be an inch high!

If it was drawn out into a wire, it could be made so fine that one ounce would be nearly fifty miles long. Forty pounds of gold would make a wire long enough to encircle the earth!

The smallest thickness known to exist in a substance may be seen and made by anybody. In its thinnest parts, a soap-bubble has been estimated to be about one-three-millionth of an inch thick.

YOUR farm may burn tonight. Farms do burn. There is a frightful loss of farm property every year and it is impossible to tell when and where fire will claim its next victim. Check up your insurance! Make certain that you will not suffer a serious loss if fire does come. Remember too, that a farm fire is quite likely to result in very complete destruction—to cause a total loss. All your property should be included in your insurance contract. Is it?

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR SECOND YEAR'S WORK

M. A. C. SPECIALISTS PLAN ADVANCED NUTRITION COURSE FOR 50,000 OF STATE'S RURAL SCHOOL KIDS.

Nearly 50,000 rural school children of Michigan learned what and how much to eat last winter through the extension nutrition classes conducted by the Michigan Agricultural College. The work, tried out in 1,774 different schools of the state, was so successful that it has been decided to offer an advanced course to all schools that completed the course last year.

The advanced course, which will be ready for distribution on September 1st, includes a series of stories, written in attractive style and containing scientific truths, pictures and illustrative material and a set of wall roll call charts.

The first year course will also be offered again this year to all schools of the state that did not have the course last year. Either the advanced or the first year course will be sent free of charge to any school upon application to the extension division of the Michigan Agricultural college.

The first year course contains various stories, studied each month during the series, taking up the value of milk, vegetables, fruit, adequate breakfasts, proper amounts of rest and "growth" foods in relation to the general problems of nutrition.

"Establishment of correct nutritional habits among the young people of the state, particularly in the rural districts, has been the aim of our nutrition lessons," says Miss Mariel Hopkins, nutrition expert of the college staff. "Modern science has taught us the absolute need of proper diet among our children if growth and development are to be gained in full measure. Establishment of correct habits among the school children now will go a long way in insuring more healthy and alert young manhood and young womanhood in the years to come."

To Stop Bleeding From Nose.

When we remember that not very long ago venesection, or bleeding by the physician, was a favorite method of treatment and that leeches were used for local bleeding, we can the more readily understand that a simple attack of nosebleed is nothing to be afraid of. At the same time, however, it may be well to commit to memory a few simple precautions. The patient should always sit upright and should hold the chin down to enable the blood to flow forward through the nose and not backward into the throat. Tight collars and bands round the neck should be loosened, and cold should be applied to the wrists or to the back of the neck. It often helps to snuff cold water up the nose. If the bleeding comes from a small spot inside the nose, the spot should be treated with an astringent or with nitrate of silver.—Youth's Companion.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he can not be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.—Advertisement.
