William and Mary Period Design $325

The lasting appreciation for a phonograph comes to a degree from the attractiveness of the cabinet which encases the music-producing devices. The characteristics of the William and Mary period design are followed with unusual fidelity in the beautiful cabinet shown above. Its delicate carving and rich brown mahogany finish make it worthy of a place in any home.

PROMINENT CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

Albert M. Eckles, whose illness of typhoid fever was mentioned in this paper last week, died at Harper hospital, Detroit, Wednesday evening about six o'clock. Mr. Eckles was taken to the hospital Monday afternoon, when his condition had become worse. Mr. Eckles' death came as a great shock to his many friends in Plymouth and vicinity, where he was one of our most prominent farmers, and highly esteemed by all. Funeral services will be held from the farm home, north of the village, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. A more extended notice will be given next week.

PLYMOUTH HIGH LOSES TO NORTHVILLE.

Inability to cope with a lucky forward passing attack was a decided factor in the 16 to 0 defeat of the "Rocks" in their initial football game of the season, at the Northville fair last Thursday. The Plymouth team outplayed Northville in nearly all phases of the game, but in the backfield allowed opposing ends or backs to get away with long and short passes. Northville got two touchdowns early in the game through forward passes, and from then on played a slow defensive game. Plymouth made long gains through the line, around end and off tackle, but frequent fumbling ruined their chances to score, and before the team could pull itself together, the final whistle blew, and Northville had beaten Plymouth for the first time in four games.

The squad, under Coach Coatta, has spent a greater part of the week in "breaking up forward passes and blocking and tackling. The team will go to Ypsilanti, today, eager to wipe out this setback of last week, and although they will be out-weighted, the "Rocks" are determined that Ypsilanti Central or any other team played this season will not out fight them. Everyone try to go to Ypsilanti today, to support the team. Next week, we play Orion at home.

SCHAUFLE-BROWN

John C. Schaufele and Miss Marie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Brown, who reside at Plymouth, were married at the Presbyterian manse, by Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, Monday evening. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Philo Forshee. Mr. and Mrs. Schaufele will reside upon the Frank Rambo farm, just west of the village. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

CAPTAIN DENNISTON HONORED BY WARDENS' ASSOCIATION.

Supt. Edw. Denniston of the Detroit House of Correction and the Prison Farm at Plymouth, returned home a few days ago from his trip, with others, to attend a convention of the National Wardens' Association at Boston, and to inspect state prisons and reformatories in the east. The Captain was absent about three weeks and relates some wonderful experiences and insights into prison management, some of which he characterizes as good and others bad. But he failed to observe anything in prison farms that excelled that of his own in Plymouth. Mr. Denniston was elected second vice president of the association, which numbers some four hundred members in the United States. The next meeting of the association takes place in Salt Lake City.

LUTZ-PALMER

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer announce the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Dr. Earl Forest Lutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Lutz of Wyandotte, Saturday, September 29, at twelve o'clock in the First Presbyterian church house, Detroit. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Millie Palmer, and the groom by Dr. Roy H. Holmes of Grand Rapids, a former classmate. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at Hotel Statler. After a short stay in Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Lutz will return to Detroit, and will be at home to their friends about October 15th, at 2547 Elmhurst avenue.

PLYMOUTH AT THE NORTHVILLE FAIR

Plymouth day at the Northville Wayne County Fair last week Thursday was a great success in every particular. At the noon hour practically all business places in the village closed for a half holiday. The parade, which was under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, formed around Kellogg Park, and got away promptly at 12 o'clock. While the number of cars in the procession was not up to that of last year, yet it was a most creditable showing indeed.

On arrival at the fair grounds, the parade was headed by a platoon of horseback riders, led by F. D. Schrader as marshal of the day. Next in line came the Plymouth Band, police department, the Plymouth Fire Department with the fire truck, and then came the long line of decorated cars representing the various business concerns of the village and citizens in autos. It was a very pleasing sight as the gayly decorated cars passed the grandstand, and the large crowd already in the stand upon the grounds, gave cheers of approval. Every courtesy and attention was extended the Plymouthites by the fair management that made the day a most pleasant one for all.

We are not going to attempt a description of the many "beautifully decorated cars in the procession, but it is suffice to say that our business concerns are deserving of much credit for the splendid showing they made. The committee from the Chamber of Commerce who had the details of the parade in charge, are deserving of much credit for the success in which everything was carried out.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR L. H. CHAPPEL

Funeral services for Lester H. Chappel, who died in Toledo, Ohio, Wednesday, September 26th, were held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Saturday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, Rev. S. Conger Hathaway officiating. Mrs. R. E. Cooper sang two beautiful selections. The interment took place in Riverside cemetery.

Lester H. Chappel, son of Lester Chappel and Lucretia Fairman, was born at Milford, Michigan, November 6, 1843, and died at Toledo, Ohio, September 26, 1923, lacking but a few weeks of eighty years. His parents were members of early pioneer families of Michigan, who came to the then territory from New York in early childhood. When he was eight years old his parents moved to the farm home in Canton township, where he grew to manhood. He attended school in Milwaukee for a while, and in 1871 was united in marriage with Mary A. Osborne. They began housekeeping in Dayton, Ohio, and were blessed with three children, M. Balls Hall of Toledo, whom he had of late resided; Robert O. of Plymouth, and the late Lieut. Charles F., who was killed in Archangel, Russia, September 27, 1918.

For twenty-two years, Mr. Chappel was connected severally with the railway mail service, Dayton postoffice and police force. After being injured in a wreck while in the mail service, Mr. Chappel, with his family, returned to Plymouth, and made a home for his widowed mother. He was raised in the Spiritualist faith, but his own ideas of religion were centered in social uplift work. He was a man of high ideals; an ardent student of moral, social and economic laws and of unquestioned integrity in his dealings with his fellow men. Mr. Chappel was for years a member of the Press writers and his articles were analyses of the leading topics of the day. Mr. Chappel is survived by his widow, one daughter, one son, four grandchildren, two great grandchildren, several nieces, a nephew and other relatives.

CANTON COMMUNITY CLUB

A very successful meeting was enjoyed with Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Campbell, Friday evening, September 28, when the entire program was presented in a very able manner, the "Hot Lunch" demonstration being especially fine. A good attendance was present to hear Mr. Pittman's talk, which was all that could be desired, the trend of thought being the responsibility of the parents for the children's attitude toward education; also farm life. A strong appeal was made to increase interest on the part of the patrons, toward improving the present condition of the average rural school system. The next meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Root, the date to be announced later.

THIS YEAR'S CROPS

Experts say that for the fifth time in history this country will harvest a 3,000,000 bushel corn crop. Considering the jump in price over a year ago, it means prosperity in many states, and will mark a break in agricultural depression. Cotton and tobacco are two money crops which show a fair increase. These things will not help the western and north-western wheat farmers, but it will bolster the bank balance of the southern and eastern growers and that is some consolation—the entire country won't be hit at the same time. It isn't going to restore the farmers of this country to their prosperous condition of war time, but it is an advance over the depression of 1921, for which the entire nation can be thankful. It is also evidence that the farmers of this country are winning back some of their lost ground. We may not be faring as well around Plymouth as some sections. But we can at least be thankful that we are getting by all right, and that all indications point to a prosperity by next season that will affect all sections alike.

KNOW YOUR TOWN

Many a citizen of Plymouth who brags about his own community speaks from faith rather than knowledge. A local man suggests it would be a good idea to "know your home town," and he has asked us to print a few questions. Here they are. Study them, post yourself on them, and the next time you go to boast about the town you're proud of, you'll be in position to back up the argument. Here are the questions: What is the population? How did the site of the town happen to be selected? How did it get its name? What is the birth rate? What is the death rate? What are our chief natural resources? Do most of the citizens own their own homes? What per cent are renters? What about our water? Is the supply adequate to meet all emergencies, and is the water pure? Is there proper ventilation and light in our school houses in this community? What kind of schools have we? Are they receiving the co-operation of our citizens that they deserve? What have we here to offer the man with a family who is seeking a permanent home?

TIME TO BE CAREFUL

Pres. Coolidge has lived in the country, and has also spent a good part of his time in small towns. So he knows what he is talking about when he declares that fires in rural sections and in our smaller towns are the greatest menace that a people can face. He referred to it but a few days ago when he called attention to the fact that we are now entering the dangerous period, when leaves, weeds and grasses are becoming dry and highly inflammable. All of us know how easy it is for a camp fire or even the fragments of a cigar or cigarette carelessly dropped in the woods to start a fire that will destroy many hundreds of dollars worth of timber, and quite frequently dwelling houses and barns. Citizens of Plymouth realize the season is here when it is necessary to inspect all chimneys and they should not need a second warning along this line. Water may or may not be plentiful—fires are not always easily quenched even when the water supply is unlimited. We do not particularly need a "fire prevention day" to remind us of our duty. We can make today a fire prevention day by cleaning up dry rubbish in yards and alleyways; by seeing that summer rains have not endangered chimneys or rusted holes in flues and stove pipes and by cleaning them out before starting a fire in the house. The old proverb about an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure must have been spoken first of fire prevention. At least it fits it mightily well—and right now would be a good time to put it into practice.

SHOOTING TOURNAMENT AT NORTHVILLE FAIR

The Annual Fair Tournament of the Northville-Plymouth Gun Club was a decided success. Some twenty-odd shooters from Michigan and Ohio attended, and competition was very keen from the very start. During the two days of the shoot, some of the best shooting ever witnessed on these grounds, was done by the trapshooters contesting. Through the courtesy of the Peters Cartridge Co., the shoot was managed by Mr. Howard Hall, whose management of a tournament is enough to insure its success, and this tournament was more than that. Mr. Frank Hills was in charge of the field, most ably assisted by R. C. Miller of Lansing.

Harry W. Potter took charge of the high gun trophy by turning in a perfect score on the hundred targets, on Friday. It was a "plumber" shooting exhibition throughout, and looks like he had the habit.

Frank Holznaple took second honors with a 99, and Frank Hills "busted" 98 clays in his string. The second day's shooting was not so pleasant, owing to a wind blowing from the cold northwest nearly all day, while an overcast sky made the "seeing" none too easy. In spite of these handicaps, the scores turned in were mighty fine. Fred Brint and Wm. Covers tying for high with 99 each, closely followed by R. C. Miller, Ben Gaylord and F. Briegle with 98 each. H. W. Potter (keep him down), E. Burroughs, Dr. Britton and J. Campbell turned in 97 each. 5200 targets were shot at, with a score of 91 1-3 per cent on total.

SHIP FOUND ON AN ICEBERG

Another Un-solved Sea Mystery Added to the Log's Catalogue of Tragedies.

"Mystery ships" have sailed the seas for centuries. Now the hulk of a vessel lost years before appears in some strange out-of-the-way place; now a familiar piece of deck work washes ashore in the night to tell of disaster and of lost hopes. All are tragedies, like the two following cases described in a recent magazine article—mysteries that probably never will be explained, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In 1911-12 the captain of the French bark Emille Galline, homing from New Caledonia, reported on reaching Bordeaux that when rounding the Horn the ship had run into a vast field of great icebergs and that while groping its way into the open it passed a gigantic berg that, to the amazement of all hands, was carrying in a cleft a large three-masted schooner, partly dlamasted but otherwise apparently intact with its boats still on the booms. The captain had made every effort to find the survivors but there were no signs of human beings on the iceberg.

A Greenland whaler out of Peterhead came upon a strange-looking derelict; the running gear and standing rigging were broken and flying loose; the canvas was in tatters and the hull was hattered and weather-worn. The boats were gone. When men from the whaler boarded it they saw that it had been built early in the last century and had been icebound for many years. In the main cabin on the floor was the body of a young woman, perfectly preserved by the arctic frosts. Sitting near it and not far from the long dead fire was the body of a young man still holding in his hands a flint and steel, which he appeared to be striking. In one of the cabins of the cuddy was the body of another man; he was sitting in a chair, leaning back in a most natural position and had all the freshness of life in his attitude and expression.

The sailors could find no clues to the identity of the three.

SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The High school notes were furnished by James Hickey.

Determined to wipe out their defeat of last Thursday by Northville, Plymouth's football squad will journey to Ypsilanti, to play Central High school of that city on October 5th. Coach Coatta will have a slightly changed line-up from the first game, and the whole team has been benefited by the absence of over confidence which was evident in the game at the fair. The "Rocks" realize they have made a very poor start, and they are intent on earning again the confidence of their followers.

If the Freshmen do not enjoy the reception given them by the Seniors on October 12th, it will not be the result of lack of preparation on the part of the Seniors, who have been busy planning for the entertainment of the first year people for several days.

Although our judging teams were not as successful at the fair as in former years, they did their very best and deserve credit. In the Monroe corn and potato judging team they had very strong opposition, as that school got the championship last year, and was again represented by the same team. The team took a third in fruit judging, and fourth in corn and potato judging. Their defeat in stock judging forces them to give up the big cup which they won last year.

Edwin Schrader was appointed major of Plymouth High school's Thrift Army. His duties consist of filling the new thrift banks with stamps, opening the banks each morning for business, and removing the deposits and checking up with the Plymouth United Savings Bank at the close of school in the afternoon. Many times during the day Edwin is called from his classes to fill up the penny machine on the first floor.

Thursday was Plymouth day at the Northville Fair. Our school was closed at 11:00 a. m., and everyone went over to enjoy the afternoon. The football team failed to make a complete success of the day, but everyone enjoyed himself in spite of our defeat.

During the fair we noticed the seniors of Northville High school were all working hard to make a trip to Washington at the end of this school year. They had a lunch stand on the grounds, and their slogan, "Washington or bust," seemed to help sell much of their goods. Their success was looked on with interest by Plymouth Seniors, who are also planning on a trip.

Classes were held up for a few minutes Friday afternoon, while the High school voted for members on the Executive Board on control of athletics. The outcome of the election was: President, Harold Stevens; Senior boy member, James Hickey; Senior girl member, Margaret Amrhein; Junior high member, Alice Hathaway. This organization is the most important one in High school, as it handles all athletic questions, and spends more money than any other student group. Besides the people named, Mr. Smith, Miss Allen and the two coaches, Mr. Coatta and Miss Beals, are on this Board.

The Sophomores held a meeting recently at which they elected Elsie White, president; Russell Robinson, vice-president; Kenneth Wilske, secretary; Julia Wilcox, treasurer.

Girls' physical training classes are practicing soccer in preparation for the class games held on the athletic field each year.

Miss Newman, who teaches music and art in Orion, was a visitor last Tuesday.

OCEAN MAIL WELL WATCHED

Officers of Experience Keep a Constant Check of the Pouches on Vessels at Sea.

The disappearance of several mail bags from the Atlantic Transportation company's mail steamer, the Minnehaha, is a strange occurrence.

That it is due to an error in checking can almost be considered as impossible for so often and accurately are the mails counted by postal experts that so large an error could never have occurred, observes London Tit-Bits.

When mails arrive on the quay side for transshipment to the waiting mail boat they are taken out of the closely guarded van and transferred to the floor of the shed alongside which the ship is berthed.

Then comes the work of loading and checking the mails. The task is performed by two independent checkers, one representing the postal authorities, who are responsible for the safety of the mails till they are finally on board the mail boat, the other being the mail officer of the ship, usually the second officer, a man of many years' experience and service in the company.

Each bag is counted as it is carried up the gangway and placed in the mail-room—a specially constructed and burglar-proof compartment—where yet another officer is superintending the stowing and guarding against any possible pilfering.

When the last bag is safely aboard, usually about an hour before sailing time, the tally is reckoned up, and the second officer signs a receipt for the number of bags aboard his ship.

Now the responsibility of the postal authorities is ended. The keys are handed over to the commander, who only parts with them for a few minutes each day, when they are handed to the mail officer, whose duty it is to visit the mail-room and see that everything is secure.

Each day of the voyage across the Atlantic he carries out this duty, and a daily entry is made in the official log-book: "Mail-room visited at noon; everything correct."

When port is reached the same scrupulous care is taken in unloading the mails. The mail train draws up alongside the ship. Each bag is again checked as it is placed in the van, and the second officer breathes a sigh of relief as the postal official signs the receipt that testifies that "the mail of the R. M. S. — has been received intact and in good condition."

Fight Intruders.

Wild creatures often have well-defined ideas as to where they belong and, as if certain places belonged to them, will fight off rivals. A male humming bird will take possession of a California garden and be ready all day to cross swords with any other of his kind that comes that way.

"Cross swords" is a good expression for one can hear the clashing of the long bills as the birds soar high into the air. In the end the intruder is driven off. The male ostrich on a South African farm draws imaginary boundaries to its "land," and will attack even a human being who crosses them during the breeding season. These birds are dangerous customers, but the farmer, in making his rounds, is never attacked by more than one at a time.—Sportsman's Digest.

The Cent That Went to Church. A silver dollar and a 1-cent piece once started an argument which deteriorated, as so many disputes do, into the purely personal. At this stage, the big coin thought it would squelch its opponent beyond resurrection by declaring:

"I am one hundred times as good as you are—one hundred times as good as you are."

But the insignificant cent came back at him with:

"Like fun you are! I go to church every Sunday."—Everybody's Magazine.

Not What She Expected. Woman candidate (to heckler who had been pestering her for a plain yes or no to his various questions)—If I ask you a question will you answer "Yes" or "No?"

Heckler—With pleasure. Candidate (employing well-known device)—Have you stopped beating your wife?

Heckler—No; I beat her this morning.

Candidate—What! Heckler—Yes—three up and two to play.—Punch, London.

Joyful Surprise. After arranging with the undertaker and the sexton, Abraham Yake of Stoutville went to Toronto to bring home his wife's body, and found that she was still alive. Yake had been visiting and a telephone message that she was "back in bed" was misconstructed to "bill and dead." The grave had been already prepared.

Abe's Best Joke. Abe requests to reprint his best joke about the monkey in the restaurant that grabbed his half-dollar and swallowed it.

"It made me so darned mad," said Abe, "that I picked the monkey up by the hind legs and shook him good, and before I got through I shook $2.25 change out of him."

Curiosity. "Daddy, can you still do tricks?" "What do you mean, my son, 'do tricks'?"

"Well, I heard mamma say that when you were young you used to drink like a fish."

The Mode. Mrs. Homebody (eagerly)—What did she wear? Mr. Homebody—All I could see from where I sat was an air of sophistication.—Life.

Man's Strange Breed. At a farm at Dalton, near Ormskirk, England, a buff Orpington hen is acting as foster-mother to a litter of young spaniels, which creep under her wing at night.

Woman Testifies She Pokes Fires for a Living.

London Firm Supplies Attendants for Dogs. While Good Conversation-ists Are Always in Demand.

The woman who stated in court recently that she earned a living by poking fires is only one of the many hundreds of people who follow occupations of which most folks have never heard.

This curious form of employment is common in big cities where Jews are numerous. By rabbinical law Jews are forbidden to mend or tend to any fires on their Sabbath. As many as 50 houses may be visited by these professional firemakers, who receive a small fee from each.

Strange as this may be, there are many stranger ways of making a living. For example, a good conversationist need never be "down and out." Some employment agencies are always on the lookout for interesting talkers to entertain insomnia victims at night. A sufferer from this complaint actually pays a retaining fee to a woman well known in the West End of London for her bright and vivacious conversation.

Just as little known is the work of men who take dogs for an airing. There is in London at least one firm which, at the shortest notice, supplies dog attendants, who may be called by women to take charge of their pets in the parks.

This strange "profession" is not such a sinecure as it would appear. Thieves of valuable dogs have been increasing very rapidly in recent times; and the thieves are very ingenious in their methods. So where valuable animals are taken for an airing only people who are up to the tricks of these pests can be entrusted with them.

Another little known way of earning a living is the work of the searchers at the British museum. These men are employed chiefly in looking up references dealing with heraldry, genealogy, and the history of ancestral mansions or of regiments—anything and everything indeed.

Many of the searchers have been employed in the queerest tasks imaginable. In one case a three years quest produced evidence, found in the rolls of some ancient parchments, regarding the disputed ownership of a rich seam of coal in Yorkshire. This resulted in a gain of £37,000 for the man's employer.

It is not only in London that one finds queer trades; they abound in many parts of the country.—London Answers.

A Responsive Chord.
Betty Brown, the prettiest girl in the village, was blest with a father who snubbed all the young men who came to see her. One evening a handsome young man named Samuel Green called.

After the trio had sat together in silence for some time, the young man ventured to remark:

"It looks as though it might rain, sir."

"It's not going to rain," was Father Brown's gruff reply.

For nearly half an hour there was complete silence. Finally the old man's curiosity got the better of him.

"Who are you?" he growled.

"Samuel Green," was the response.

"What? Not old Tom Green's son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, then," exclaimed the father, "what's it may rain, it may rain."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Saved Embroidery.
She was comely and a widow. She mourned Macintosh, her late husband, for 18 months, and then from a crowd of suitors chose honest, homely MacIntyre for her second.

"I'm no' guld enough for ye, dear!" he whispered. "What for did ye choose me out o' a' snee many?"

"Aw, weel, ye see, your name's MacIntyre."

"Yes, but—" began the bewildered suitor.

"An' ye ken," finished the widow, "all my lhen's marked 'MacI.'—that's why, Donald."

Wonderful Earrings.
The latest delirious splash in earrings! She was a pale and interesting type. A little enamel basket filled with green leaves and pink roses, also in enamel, hung from the ears by slender platinum chains. In the heart of each rose in the basket glinted a diamond.—New York Sun.

Lost Ring Oddly Found.
A Boston woman lost a ring highly prized as an heirloom. She searched diligently for it and offered a reward for its return. A few days later she was eating some cookies she had made and, to her joy and surprise, found that a particularly hard substance she bit into was her lost ring.

A good offering was received for Baptists in Japan, Sunday morning, where we lost several large school buildings, five missionary homes, many small chapels, etc. Mrs. Beals, our missionary treasurer, is holding the amount until next Sunday, so that each one may help if they desire. The loss was more than $500,000.

Make every plan to be at the church, next Tuesday evening. Pot-luck supper at 6:00; program later. Come and have a good social time. Church and congregation invited. There will be good music by the orchestra.

Miss Madeline Shackleton led the B. Y. P. U., last Sunday night. The subject was, "Japan."

At the Sunday evening services, Albert Seger and Frank Millard played the offertory on French horns, accompanied by Mrs. Sayles at the piano.

Rev. Horace Sayles is suffering with an attack of sciatic rheumatism.

We wish to thank the Plymouth people who so liberally patronized the Ladies' Aid lunch counter at the Northville fair.

LIVONIA LUTHERAN CHURCH WILL BE RE-DEDICATED.

There will be special services at the Lutheran church at Livonia Center on Sunday, October 7, 1923. Our church edifice will be re-dedicated on that day. Thanks will be returned unto God in two divine services for the blessings He has bestowed upon our church.

The morning service, beginning at 10:00 o'clock, eastern time, will be in the German language; Rev. John Gauss of Jenera, Ohio, will deliver the sermon. The afternoon service at 2:30 will be in the English language; Rev. Herman Heyn of Detroit, will deliver the sermon. At noon the ladies will serve dinner in the basement of the church to all present.

The neighboring Lutheran churches are all invited to join with us in returning thanks unto the Lord, our God, for the blessings He has bestowed. Everyone is welcome and cordially invited to join in these services and festival of thanks.

It is just eleven years ago since the church was dedicated after extensive repairs and renovating had been done. This year the church has been raised and a basement placed underneath with kitchen, Sunday-school room, furnace room and furnace. A tower has been built and a bell hung in it. On the inside the church has been partly re-plastered, entirely re-decorated, and the altar rebuilt to receive statues. A baptismal font, hymn tablet, statues, carpets, and altar and pulpit hangings have been added to beautify our House of God. Nothing has been spared to make the House of God, as far as earthly outward things can do so, an "amiable tabernacle of the Lord." (Ps. 84:1). May He bless our efforts and the labor of our hands to His own glory and the salvation of many souls. May our church edifice continue to be, as it has been so long, a place where God's word is preached in truth and purity, where Christ, the crucified, is preached as the only hope of a sinner for time and eternity.—C.

GOOD STORAGE SPUDS NEED HARVEST CARE

KEEPING QUALITY OF POTATOES DETERMINED LARGELY BY PROPER HANDLING AT DIGGING TIME.

Use of more careful methods of harvesting Michigan's potato crop would result in a saving of thousands of dollars to farmers of the state, through better keeping quality of the tubers when placed in storage.

Many farmers fail to realize the need for care at digging time, with reference to keeping qualities of the crop, says H. C. Moore, extension specialist in potatoes at M. A. C. who gives the following general rules for handling the spud harvest.

"Potatoes should be dug when they are well matured, so that the skin is not easily broken in handling. Immature potatoes are easily bruised and skinned. Such stock takes on a dark color, which renders it undesirable on the market. Furthermore, immature potatoes are likely to rot in storage, and the shrinkage loss is heavy.

"If possible, the digging should be done on bright, cool days, and when the soil is comparatively dry. When harvested under these conditions, the potatoes will maintain a bright color and will keep better in storage than when dug in warm, rainy weather.

"One of the main criticisms on the markets against Michigan potatoes is that many lots show too high a percentage of mechanical injuries. Growers are urged to use more care in digging. When digging with a fork or potato hook, pains should be taken not to stab the potatoes.

"The use of the mechanical diggers is becoming more general throughout the state. When properly operated, these machines dig the crop with a minimum amount of injury. The shovel point should be adjusted deep enough to avoid cutting the tubers.

"After the potatoes have been dug leave them on the ground for an hour or so to dry and toughen their skins."

THE THEATRE

"THE MIDNIGHT ALARM"

One of the most spectacular fire scenes ever screened will be seen in "The Midnight Alarm," at the Penniman Allen theatre on Saturday, October 6th. A complete four-story office building is burned down to give spectators thrills in the film.

The fire sequence is an integral part of the story of "The Midnight Alarm," which revolves about the disappearance of a girl at childhood, and the attempts of her father's business partner to keep her from gaining her wealth. Miss Alice Callahan plays the role of Sparkle, a wife, who really is Susan Thornton, missing heiress. Percy Marmont appears as a fire captain and rescues her from the burning building in which she is imprisoned in a vault.

Cullen Landis is a pleasing crook in the film. He helps Sparkle regain proof of her identity. Joseph Kilgour plays the villain. He is Silas Carrington, one of the most heartless and cunning types ever characterized on the screen.

"LAWFUL LARCENY"

Hope Hampton, Nita Naldi, Lew Gody and Conrad Nagel are featured in the Paramount picture, "Lawful Larceny," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, October 10 and 11. Samuel Shipman wrote the stage play of which this production is a highly creditable picturization. Allan Dwan was the director.
