Why You Should Build Now!

The average man builds one house in a lifetime. It means a considerable outlay of money,—BUT—that house will last twenty-five years or longer, AND the amount of money required to supply the average family with food for the same period will far exceed the cost of the house. So, after all, the HOUSE is NOT the BIG item of living expense.

A FREE MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT

THE ENTERTAINMENT WILL BE GIVEN AT KELLOGG PARK, THIS FRIDAY EVENING AT 8:00 O'CLOCK.

The first of a series of monthly entertainments to be given under the auspices of the Plymouth Safe Drivers' Club, and under the supervision of L. J. VanSchoick, supervisor of Public Safety in Wayne County, and the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, will be given at Kellogg Park, this Friday evening, June 20th, at 8:00 o'clock. The entertainment provided for this evening is a free open air musical program by Harry Bennett with Friendship orchestra and the Ford Dixie Eight in southern melodies and harmony. This entertainment promises to be one of the best that has been heard here for some time, and everybody in the village and surrounding country is cordially invited to come to Plymouth and hear this splendid program. Remember, the entertainment is tonight, Friday, June 20th, at 8:00 o'clock. Everybody come.

MASONIC BANQUET FOR FATHERS AND SONS

LARGE GATHERING OF FATHERS AND SONS ATTEND BANQUET IN MASONIC HALL LAST FRIDAY EVENING.

A very successful banquet was given last Friday night, when a large number of Masonic fathers and sons sat down to the tables which had been tastefully spread in the Masonic hall. Members of Kinyon's orchestra dispensed music during the time given to the viands, and were generously applauded. After the repast, Toastmaster George A. Smith took charge of affairs and presided in his usual genial and efficient manner.

Rev. S. Conger Hathaway was introduced as the first speaker. Responding to the toast, "Fathers and Sons," he said in part: "Fathers and Sons of the Masonic Order, I thank you for the invitation you have extended to myself and son to attend this banquet. It is a privilege to be here, and I count it an honor to have share in your program. Much is being done for Plymouth to make it beautiful and desirable as a home center—a work in which our local lodges have large interest and part. You are about to build a temple which will be a credit to the community, and a memorial of your faithful and progressive citizenship. I congratulate you upon this worthy ambition soon to be achieved. And I do so the more heartily because I realize from your action in calling the fathers and sons of the community together this night, that you purpose to have not only a building of brick and mortar, but a still more enduring and ennobling one founded upon, and builded out of, the lives and characters of our best citizens. You recognize the fact that men and boys are the best assets of any civic or social organization, and when you improve them, you add permanent value to the community in which they live. I congratulate you upon the facilities which you possess wherewith to do this work, and I share with you a lively interest in them all." He then spoke briefly of the Bible, square and compass, and closed by asking a number of searching questions, some addressed to fathers, some to sons, and some to both.

EXPECT TO PAVE ANN ARBOR STREET WEST

In accordance with a proposition received from the Wayne County Road Commission, the village commission, at its regular meeting last Monday evening, passed a resolution to lay a sanitary sewer and pave Ann Arbor street from its intersection with Main street to its westerly village limits. The Wayne County Road Commission is desirous of paving the Ann Arbor road from the village limits to where it makes a junction with the new Federal road, this summer. The county will pay a large proportion of the cost of this improvement, the same as they did in the case of Starkweather avenue. To make this improvement it will be necessary for the village to float a bond issue, and therefore a special election will have to be called.

This is a golden opportunity for the village to get another street paved at the lowest possible cost, because of the fact that the county assumes a large share of the burden. A public hearing on the project has been called for Monday evening, July 7th.

CLIFFORD MC CLUMPHA DIES

Friends and acquaintances of Clifford McClumpha, a prominent citizen of Canton township, were shocked when they learned of his death, which occurred at the University hospital, Ann Arbor, at 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. McClumpha had been in poor health for the past year, and for the past six weeks had been confined to his bed the greater part of the time. A week ago he was taken to the hospital for treatment. At the time of our going to press, no arrangements for the funeral had been made.

A NEW COMPANY ORGANIZED

The Universal Bumper Co. is the name of a new company just formed here by local people, for the manufacture of a seamless steel tube bumper, which will sell on the market at a popular price. The new company has leased the Foster Chemical plant, just east of the village, and is now installing machinery and getting ready to commence operations next week. There is every indication that the new bumper will find a ready sale when placed upon the market. Here's wishing the new concern every success.

Charles Carruthers is the new yardmaster of the Pere Marquette in the local yards, taking the place of Mr. Kelly, who resigned to take a position as conductor on the Chicago division.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES HELD TUESDAY EVENING

On Tuesday evening, the class of 1924 presented their class day program in the High school auditorium. While the orchestra was playing a march, the thirty-three members marched on the platform and took their places. The platform was artistically decorated with daisies and ferns woven in a lattice. A very unique program was given by the class, the general theme being Nature. Each participant represented some element in nature. The president, Clifford Cline, "The Wise Old Bird," gave the address of welcome. He welcomed the people in behalf of his class, then spoke of some plans for improving the morals of our public schools by organizing a Boys' High Y and Girls' Reserve Club.

James Hickey lived up to his reputation by cracking nuts well filled with meat.

Two piano duets were well rendered by the Misses Alta Hamill and Helen Fish.

Miss Marie Johnson gave the oration, the theme being how to make our people 100 per cent American.

Henry Hutton, in his pleasing manner, read the Class Will, thus giving to the other classes all their former rights and titles. The giffarian, Ruth Wilkin, acted the part of postman and brought in a parcel post package, containing appropriate gifts for each member of the class.

Miss Marion Bennett, very cleverly revealed to the members their future career. She gave us a very vivid picture of Plymouth in 1934, when each one would be a prominent leader in our town.

The exercises closed with a song by the class, "Farewell."

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

The commencement activities of the week were ushered in on Sunday evening, June 15th, when Rev. H. E. Sayles of the local Baptist church, delivered a very pleasing and inspiring baccalaureate sermon to the class of 1924. He took for his theme, "The First Things First, Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God and His Righteousness," Matt. 6:33. The stage was prettily decorated for the occasion. A male quartet composed of Messrs. Frank Hamill, Fletcher Campbell, Chalmers Trimble and Roland Allenbaugh, sang several numbers in a most pleasing manner.

At the meeting of the village commission, last Monday evening, the village manager was authorized to purchase a number of street signs, something that Plymouth is much in need of. The signs selected are substantial and modern, and will be a fine improvement and a great convenience. It is expected that about fifty signs will be purchased this year, and next year enough more so that every street in the village will have a sign.

ASTRONOMERS FIND ANOTHER UNIVERSE

Add 700,000 Light Years to Greatest Known Distance.

The growth in the known size of the universe which began when Galileo devised his small, low-powered telescope has just received another startling increment at the hands of the astronomers of the Harvard observatory.

This time a new and distinct universe has been found, and its great distance adds a matter of 700,000 light years, or about four quintillions of miles, to the greatest known distance to anything in existence.

Man still continues to diminish in relation to the general plan of things. The new universe is so far away that the rays of light which reach us after traveling through empty space at a rate that would carry them twelve times around the earth in one second have been journeying from the newly discovered universe to the photographic plate of the Mount Wilson telescope ever since the earliest known type of man, the apeman of Java, began evolving from his altogether simian ancestor nearly a million years ago. One cannot grasp its significance, even dimly.

Stars have names, but so far astronomers have had to do without names for universes. "N. G. C. 6822" has been known for many years, but pictures of it made by the 100-inch reflecting telescope at Mount Wilson (Cal.) observatory have now resolved it into a complete universe of suns, like our own stellar universe of suns or "stars." Whether there are also planets or "worlds" cannot be said, because at these immense distances they would not be visible.

In fact, "N. G. C. 6822" itself is wholly invisible to the naked eye. It lies in the constellation known as Sagittarius, the Archer, which is itself too close to the sun at this time of year to be visible.

Visible from the southern hemisphere are the Magellanic clouds, which are now known to be stellar systems wholly separate from our own and from the Milky Way. In apparent magnitude "N. G. C. 6822" is very much smaller than the Magellanic clouds, but the great difference in size is only apparent, for it is vastly farther away. In other respects it is similar.

It is a universe, distinct and isolated in space by distances which, when compared with those between the earth and other objects in our own universe, such, for instance, as the distance to the nearest fixed star (some 200,000 times as far as from the sun to the earth), are even then almost incomparable.

The mind reels. It has been said that nothing so greatly influences to a belief in religion as the study of astronomy.—Outlook.

California Cork Trees

It is said that within the past decade cork culture has shown promise of becoming one of the important industries of California. A considerable acreage of Spanish cork oak is now in cultivation at the forest plantation owned by the University of California, and all of the trees are, it is said, thriving and growing vigorously. On the elder trees there is a good growth of young bark, some of it more than an inch in thickness.

Most of the trees are now about seven years old and are from twenty-five to thirty feet in height and from eight to ten inches in diameter at the butts. This culture has been made in ordinary soil. Both the climate and soil seem very favorable to the growth of the Spanish cork oak.

This is the first time that any attempt has been made to grow cork in California and the experiment seems to have been worth making.

A Serious Case

A notoriously absent-minded man was observed walking down the street with one foot continually in the gutter, the other on the pavement. A friend meeting him said: "Good evening. How are you?"

"Well," replied the absent-minded one, "I thought I was very well when I left home, but now I don't know what's the matter with me. I've been limping for the last half hour."

Where is Florence?

An old colored woman came up to the ticket window at a big railway station and addressed the agent. "I want a ticket to Florence," she said.

The ticket agent spent some minutes turning over railway guides, apparently with no success, and then asked:

"Where is Florence?" "Settin' over dar on de bench," replied the colored woman.—Everybody's Magazine.

Diseased

A young doctor said to the girl of his choice, "Do you know, dear, I have a heart affection for you?"

"Have you had it lung?" she coyly inquired.

"Oh, yes. I feel that I will liver troubled life without you," he fervently responded.

"Then you had better asthma," she lisped softly.

This Bride Solves

Dishwashing Problem

Some say the little bride is a poor housekeeper, and some say she is a good one. It's all in the point of view. The negative side is firmly upheld by her mother-in-law, maiden aunts and even her own mother. Those who approve highly of her methods are the other members of the sorority to which the little bride belongs.

And even a few of her neighbors who have taken advantage of a neighbor's inalienable privilege to drop in unexpectedly have yielded grudging admiration.

For no matter how hastily the little bride has departed to attend a meeting of her sorority, those whom she gathers up to bring home to dinner always find her kitchen looking neater than an office boy applying for a job. No matter how soon after breakfast one of her neighbors chooses to make the borrowing of a cup of sugar the occasion for a little chat, the kitchen never shows a sign of an egg plate or an unwashed percolator.

"How do you ever manage to get your dishes done so soon?" one of the neighbors finally asked. "Why I declare, it isn't ten minutes since I saw you at the window waving good-by to your husband. And now there isn't a sign of a dirty dish."

The little bride giggled that silly little giggle that her husband says is the cause of his downfall.

"Well," she explained, "I loathe the sight of dirty dishes myself. And often I can't stop to wash them immediately after every meal. In fact, for a while I had to lie down for an hour after each meal and rest. The thought of those dishes nearly drove me crazy and destroyed all the good the resting did me."

"So, finally, after I had returned time and again to an upset kitchen, I decided I would just stick them in the wash tub after each meal and then wash them all together at the end of each day. They go ever so much easier, particularly if I have Friend Husband here to help me, as he most always does."—New York Sun and Globe.

Copper the Unique

Copper is unique among the metals and, if permissible, we would say "big unique" at that. It is the most ancient of all the minerals, far antedating all authentic history. Excavations in Egypt have disclosed copper tools and utensils which were in use before the building of the pyramids. Its industrial importance has grown without a lapse throughout the ages until, today, it is developing more rapidly than ever. Thus, as copper has dominated the past; so it will probably dominate the future; and its complete history can never be written as both ends of the story reach far away into invisibility.

Not only do we find limitations in the history of copper as related to its uses by man but, in discussing on its other relations, the same difficulties occur. Copper is a typical and phenomenal "mixer." It is found associated in one way or another with a great variety of substances. It exists in most soils and in ferruginous mineral waters; and all copper ores are always associated with something. It has been discovered in seaweed, in straw, hay, eggs, cheese, and meat—in short, in the liver and kidney, and traces of it have been found in the blood of man and animals.—Compressed Air Magazine.

Mosaic Glass

Mosaic glass is produced by arranging vertically side by side threads or small canes of variously colored opaque or transparent glass, of uniform lengths, so that the ends shall form a ground representing flowers, arabesques, or any mosaic design. This mass is now submitted to a heat sufficient to fuse the whole, all the sides at the same time being pressed together so as to exclude the air from the interior of the threads. The result is a homogeneous solid cane or cylinder, which, being cut at right angles or laterally, yields a number of layers or copies of the same uniform design. This process was practiced with great skill by the ancients, who are supposed to have produced pictures in this way; but in existing specimens the pieces have been so accurately united, by intense heat or otherwise, that the junctures cannot be discovered by even a powerful magnifying glass.

Exactly

Aunt—Can you explain wireless telegraphy to me, Arthur?

Arthur—Well, if you had a very long dog, reaching from London to Liverpool, and you trod on its tail in London, it would bark in Liverpool. That's telegraph; and wireless is precisely the same only without the dog.—Passing Show, London.

Seeking Information

Young Lady (on first visit to Western ranch)—For what purpose do you use that coil of line on your saddle?

Cowpuncher—That line, you call it, lady, we use for catching cattle and horses.

Young Lady—Oh, indeed. Now, may I ask, what do you use for bait?—London Telegraph.

Would-be Diner (who has been waiting thirty minutes)—Why ask me now?

Waitress—Because we're all out of ham.

AROUND ABOUT US

Fenton is another town that will celebrate the Fourth. Redford's village tax rate is $15 per $1,000 valuation this year. Northville village tax roll has passed the two million mark—an increase of nearly $150,000 during 1923. Chelsea's state cement plant, turning out from 13 to 14 carloads of cement a day, to be used mostly on state road work, was partially destroyed by fire some time ago. It involved a loss of $300,000, which was covered by insurance.

George W. Burt, president of the village of Redford, has been presented with a loving cup from the citizens of that village, as a token of appreciation for his services as their chief executive. South Lyon will have a home coming celebration this year, under the auspices of the Board of Commerce of that village. The dates have been set for August 20 and 21. A like event was held there two years ago, and it is planned to make the program of even greater interest for those who attend this year.

Officers from the local patrol were called to the store at the intersection of Canton Center and Cherry Hill roads on Thursday to investigate a robbery, which was committed some time during the night. The burglars forced an entrance at the rear of the store, and made way with the contents of the cash box, amounting to about $65. They worked so quietly that a clerk sleeping in the store was not disturbed.—Northville Record.

The Wayne county road commissioners have recently carried out a remarkable campaign of tree planting. Last year they planted 2,000 such trees along the roads, mostly American elm and sugar maples. They now have 60 miles of improved roads planted with trees, 8,000 in all having been set out. They propose during 1924 to plant 2,500 more trees, covering 25 miles additional. Also they have planted 1,200 trees and 6,000 shrubs in and near the county parks.

Two hundred forty acres of farm land on the Five Mile road just west of Telegraph road, has recently been purchased by John A. Mercer, Detroit contractor. This property includes the following farms: John Esch, Charles Perry, Arthur Apple and Tiffin. The purchase prices of these farms was well over $200,000. The Narlin farm of 55 acres has been sold to several Detroit buyers, who are now developing the property, which was named Aberdeen Heights. George Hutton of Detroit, and George Perry of Redford, represented the parties in making the above mentioned transfers.—Redford Record.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will have a "Flower Mission Day lawn party" at the home of Mrs. W. S. Thomas, Thursday, June 26th, at 2:20 p. m. Members are urged to be present, and are asked to bring flowers to make bouquets for the sick and shut-ins. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Charles Draper, flower mission superintendent. C. R. Ross will give a talk, and it is expected that some of the members will have short papers presenting different phases of the work of the W. C. T. U.

The Michigan Union for May, in its "Around the World with Temperance" column says: "In Poland they are forming a teachers' temperance society." "Bulgarian wine-growers' congress recommends that its members make part of their grape crop into non-alcoholic fruit juice." "A German sociologist says that country is in line for prohibition and that youth, as well as women and labor forces, are committed to the total abolition of alcohol."

Good Health Is Always Attractive. Good health, clear skin, attractive color, bright eyes, quick wit, belong to those who keep themselves fit, and free from harmful gassy stomach troubles, torpid liver and constive bowels, with Chamberlain's Tablets. They stimulate the entire intestinal tract to healthy activity and keep it so. Only 25c.—Advertisement.

Today's Reflections

Business may get a little dull during campaign year—but never as dull as most of the speeches. Our idea of a good sport is the Plymouth man who gives his new straw hat fifty yards start before he begins chasing it.

The trouble with too many politicians is they bury the hatchet and then dig up the axe. The inventor of the Remington shotgun is dead at the age of 83. One of the secrets of his long life is that he never blew down the muzzle of one.

Once upon a time a Plymouth child rode a whole minute on a train without asking for a drink of water or getting a cinder in its eye. Buttermilk may contain alcohol, as one congressman asserts, but it never made a man want to shake hands with a total stranger.

Who remembers what city women did with their time before there were any movies to go to. Some Plymouth women are so modest they will not wear calico because they hate to see themselves in print.

An old car newly painted fools folks at a distance—and it's the same way with a woman. Maybe it isn't significant, but we've always noticed that a woman grows to be more patient with fools after she gets married.

It may be true that Plymouth fat people are cooler in summer than thin people, because, on a hot Sunday afternoon, it always makes a thin person awfully hot to look at a fat person.

Maybe another reason why the pioneers were hardy, is they didn't think they had to have medicine chests in their homes. They say the tendency is toward smaller farms. That's good. You can't lose so much on a small farm. No citizen of Plymouth would look very handsome under a microscope, but that's the way the most of them want to treat folks who run for office.

It is believed by some that the party that can get the bobbed-hair vote will sweep the country, but wait until somebody comes along and organizes the bald-headed vote. The story that katydid make that noise with their hind legs can easily be believed after you've heard a jazz musician play.

We've also noticed that the Plymouth girl who jilts a fellow never forgives him for marrying a handsome girl than she is.

MORE THAN 200,000 FORD CARS SOLD AT RETAIL DURING MAY. May was another 200,000 sales month for the Ford Motor Company, making that month one of the highest in the company's history, and completing three consecutive months in which domestic retail deliveries exceeded the 200,000 figure.

The company announced here today that 209,601 Ford cars and trucks were sold at retail in the United States during May, an increase of 38,000 over the same month a year ago. The demand for Fordson tractors both for industrial and agricultural purposes continues strong and retail sales for May average more than 300 a day.

HOUSEWORK WITHOUT LABOR

The exhausting labor of the home is a thing of our grandmothers. The home of today is an electrical home. Its heavy tasks are done easily, quickly and cheaply by electricity.

The electric washer frees the housewife from the back-tiring washboard; the electric ironer cuts out half the time and labor of the old way; the electric dish-washer cleans, dries and rinses the dishes in five minutes; the electric vacuum cleaner keeps the house neat and clean with slight effort.

Come in today and look at these comfort producing appliances.

METHODIST NOTES

Ladies' Aid Society annual meeting and picnic at Phoenix Park, next Friday afternoon, the 27th. Meet at the church at 2:00. Those who do not get in the autos can take the 2:07 car. Business meeting and election of officers in the afternoon. Supper at 6:00 for the whole family. An entertainment will be given in the evening by the ladies. Plan to be there for a big time.

The Epworth League Institute opens at Albion, next Monday evening with an address by Dr. Paul Voelker, president of Olivet College. Program of study classes, recreational features, pageants, etc., all the week. Several delegates are planning to go from Plymouth.

We are anxious to have as many of our young folks from this church attend the institute as possible. No finer opportunity for an inspirational religious gathering for that son or daughter of yours, Mr. and Mrs. Parent, than at this institute. Over 500 Methodist young folks from Michigan were in attendance last year. They expect as many or more this year. As to the actual expenses, they will be around $12, a part of which the local chapter will pay out of a special fund which it has for this purpose. You will have one of the big times of your lives, young folks, spiritually, socially, recreation-ally.

Plan to attend church next Sunday.

The blue-prints for our new community house will soon be ready, and we hope operations begun within a week or two. Pray, preach and pay should be the continuous program of every Methodist.

It was an inspiring sight last Sunday morning to see the altar flanked with young folks at the first communion table. May the Lord richly bless the young life of our church and community, and keep them true to Him.

We congratulate those of our young people, who have graduated from High school this week.

Driving Economies

Well inflated tires. Proper carburetor adjustment. Brakes in correct working order. All working parts lubricated to assure smooth running. Disengage clutch whenever possible and coast. Obtain sufficient momentum when approaching a heavy grade to carry the car a considerable distance up the grade before changing gears.

Plank Support Prevents Bending During Repairs

The multiple castings, trusses and other parts that extend over the body of a car, have a tendency to bend or warp during repairs. This bending is due to the fact that the running boards, as shown in the drawing, have been substituted for them. This change of construction necessitates a change in the method of supporting the body while removing the rear end for repair.

If the usual method is employed, of blocking under the running boards, the latter, and the dust shields, are bent and otherwise damaged. To prevent this, a strong plank with blocks of wood securely attached to the ends, as indicated, has been found very satisfactory. The blocks fit on the outer edges of the running boards as shown, and prevent them from spreading apart when the car is jacked up and blocks placed under the plank.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

A Plank Support Prevents Running Boards and Dust Shields from Being Bent by the Blocking Used During Repairs.

It was at the battle of Bunker Hill that the now historic command, "Don't one of you fire till you see the whites of their eyes," was given by Colonel Prescott. The officers knew how scarce powder was; the men did not.—Detroit News.

You Can "Shoo" Bears Away if You Know How

Mostly bears are humorous clowns. 'Lazy, good natured, whose general appearance is of one who would like not only to live at peace with life, but who would love to sit fatly down and joke about it.

But once in a blue moon there is a grizzly, this is especially so in the case of the black or brown bear. The latter is essentially a peace loving citizen. His main desire is to get away. Even when encountered at such close quarters that most animals put up a panic fight, his mind is still focused on getting away.

He is very fond of wild berries and frequently is encountered in the woods. Escaping bears are often startled up on his hind legs the bear to see what it is all about. With a yell the human decamp. If they had waited two seconds longer they would have seen the bear light out as vigorously in the opposite direction.

Jim Loney, out in the berry patch looking for a stray horse, had a black bear rise up to look at him right in his face. The animal must have been asleep, or much preoccupied with the berries. Jim was carrying a rifle and with it he fetched the bear a clip across the nose.

"Get out of here!" Jim advised the bear. And the bear promptly got. Jim knew bears; the average tenderfoot would have had "a narrow escape."—Saturday Evening Post.

Table manners in the Seventeenth century must have stood in need of considerable improvement, if we may take seriously the advice that Hannah Wooley gave to young ladies in the "gentlewoman's Companion, published in 1672. It must be admitted that Miss Wooley "wielded a trenchant pen."

"Gentlewomen, discover not by any ravenous gesture your angry appetite, nor fix your eyes too greedily on the meat before you, as if you would devour more than your throat would swallow. In carrying avoid clapping your fingers in your mouth and licking them after you have burnt them. Close your lips when you eat and do not smack like a pig. Fill not your mouth so full that your cheeks shall swell like a pair of Scotch bagpipes. It is very uncomely to drink so large a draught that your breath is almost gone and you are forced to blow strongly to recover yourself."—Youth's Companion.

How Not to Eat

Expression is the nucleus of the artist's power. What is expression? It is the process of externalizing what was in the artist's mind, in some object of sense that shall convey it to others. The material used may be actual form and color, as in painting and sculpture; or imaginary objects and actions through the medium of language, as in literature; or pure sound, as in music; always there is some material which is perceived by the senses and intelligible only through their mediation. Slight, indeed, would be the artist's power and inept his skill, if he should not so frame the lineaments of his work as to stamp on the senses of all comers the same intelligible image, and give for the bodily eye what the bodily eye can see in picture, statue or story. The work of art, however, is not merely the material object, but that object charged with the personality of the artist. It is in his power to make that charge effective that his true faculty of expression lies.—George E. Woodberry, in "The Heart of Man and Other Papers."

Famous Bunker Hill Order

On a night in June, in 1775, early in the Revolutionary war, Col. William Prescott of the American army had orders to seize and fortify Bunker Hill against the British. The next day, as the British marched, firing now and then, the Americans gave no answering shot.

The British could see the muzzles of the rifles of the invisible defenders resting on the ramparts, but what they could not see or hear was the officers in the trenches running up and down the line, commanding the men to hold their fire.

It was at the battle of Bunker Hill that the now historic command, "Don't one of you fire till you see the whites of their eyes," was given by Colonel Prescott. The officers knew how scarce powder was; the men did not.—Detroit News.

"Clay Dogs"

A "fossil apple" and a "fossil banana" recently were sent to the New York Botanical garden with requests for explanations. Dr. Arthur Hollick, paleobotanist, says many strange objects are sent to museums for identification or for verification of the finder's conviction as to what they are. A large number of these finds are concretions and apt to simulate any object, organic or inorganic. A concretion consists of an inner part—a nucleus of some kind—around which is deposited layer upon layer of the mineral substance that forms the exterior part. These concretions, which are commonly called "clay dogs," usually occur in connection with clay deposits.

Making Herself Clear

An Indian paper furnishes us with a recent specimen of "English as she is wrote." It is a copy of a letter sent by a lady teacher to the Director of Education, Manila, and reads: "Dear Sir, I have the honor to resignate as my works are many and my salary few. Besides which my supervising teacher makes many loving to me to which I only reply 'Oh not, Oh not!' Very respectfully, Josepha."—Manila Bulletin.

Embarrassing Attention

"Do you know that you receive better attention from merchants who appreciate your patronage?" inquires an ad. We can't say as to that, but we must confess that we're getting a lot of attention right now from merchants who have enjoyed our patronage in the past, if you get what we mean.—Buffalo Express.

Time to Cheer

Steamboat Captain (who has just fallen overboard)—"Don't stand there like a dumbbell. Give a yell, can't you?" College Student Deckhand—"Certain'y, sir. Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! Captain!—Denver Clarion.

Eighty Music Schools for Poor in the U. S.

Since the founding of the first music school settlement 30 years ago the movement has been so successful that there are now 80 such schools in the country. Seven of the schools are in New York city and have recently banded together as the Association of Music School Settlements. Their aim is to bring the beauty and the solace of fine music into lives that are more or less dreary.

In a city like New York are many young people whose lives are hemmed in by hard necessity; young folk, to whom beautiful joy is largely denied; to whom an experience such, for example, as a day in the country seems almost a myth. These young people in considerable numbers turn instinctively to music as the only available means to satisfy the craving of the spirit for better things. They lack the money to go to hear a good orchestra or to buy a phonograph or a radio set. All they have is their hands and their voices.

Yet hands and voices are useless without instruction; wherefore the music school settlement has found its reason for existence. In these schools the young people are taught by teachers who love the work; the lessons are within the reach of all. Free scholarships are provided for those who excel. The standard of work done is said to compare favorably with that of any conservatory.

The support of the schools is derived from private contributions and benefit concerts. In New York a series of concerts is being given this winter at Carnegie hall, at which artists such as Ignace Paderewski, Mischa Elman, Miss Margaret Matzenauer, the New York Symphony orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, and the Society of the Friends of Music, under the leadership of Arthur Bolanzki, contribute their services.

There are more than 3,000 students in the New York schools and their numbers are growing so fast that the schools are not able to take care of all applicants and have had to institute waiting lists.—New York Times.

The Artist's Power

Expression is the nucleus of the artist's power. What is expression? It is the process of externalizing what was in the artist's mind, in some object of sense that shall convey it to others. The material used may be actual form and color, as in painting and sculpture; or imaginary objects and actions through the medium of language, as in literature; or pure sound, as in music; always there is some material which is perceived by the senses and intelligible only through their mediation. Slight, indeed, would be the artist's power and inept his skill, if he should not so frame the lineaments of his work as to stamp on the senses of all comers the same intelligible image, and give for the bodily eye what the bodily eye can see in picture, statue or story. The work of art, however, is not merely the material object, but that object charged with the personality of the artist. It is in his power to make that charge effective that his true faculty of expression lies.—George E. Woodberry, in "The Heart of Man and Other Papers."

Stereoscopic X-Ray

In order to produce an apparently solid image of such an object as a broken bone or a foreign substance embedded in the flesh, with the aid of X-ray photography, physicists cause the tube producing the ray to oscillate, by means of a cam revolving 300 times a minute. The cam is so cut that the time taken in moving from one position of rest to the other is about one-tenth of the period of revolution.

Two radiographic images of the same object, seen from different points, are thus formed on the viewing screen, and by means of shutters, electromagnetically controlled by the oscillating apparatus, the right eye sees one image and the left eye the other, vision being cut off while the tube is changing its position.

A Brave Spirit

The late Paul Rainey, the millionaire sportsman and big game hunter, preserved his brave and somewhat sardonic humor to the last. Mr. Rainey, on towards the end, went out one day for a little fresh air and exercise. An acquaintance said to him: "Ah, Rainey, you're walking slow."

"Yes," said he, "but I'm going fast."

Yes, Indeed

She—The world is full of rascals—this morning the milkman gave me a counterfeit half dollar. He—Where is it, my dear? She—Oh! I've already got rid of it—luckily the butcher took it.

Ought to Be Satisfied

Wife—It says here in the paper that there was a married couple in Omaha who didn't speak for ten years and then got a divorce. Husband—Why?

A Closed Incident

"Here is that suit I bought of you last week," said the angry customer to the tailor. "You said you would return my money if it was not satisfactory."—Reynold's Newspaper, London.

The Snappy Comeback

Mr. Knag—What do you want with a new bathing suit? You can't swim. His Wife—Well, you're wearing a new sport suit and you're a poor sport.

WILL CONDUCT A COURSE IN RADIO TELEGRAPHY AND TELEPHONY.

Howard S. Pyle, A. M., I. R. E., a well known radio engineer and technical writer, has recently leased the Alstro home on Northville road, just out of Plymouth, where he will reside with his family until late fall.

Realizing the great enthusiasm the recent tremendous growth of the radio science has caused, and appreciating the fact that young men and women who wish to enter this fascinating profession, have little or no opportunity to obtain instruction in the art, Mr. Pyle will conduct a course in radio telegraphy and telephony at his home with a view to preparing any local young people who wish to register, for the U. S. Department of Commerce examination for radio operator license. Applicants successfully passing such examinations are eligible for positions as radio operators on any U. S. vessel or shore station, and Mr. Pyle states that competent radio operators are in constant demand.

Mr. Pyle is well qualified to conduct such a course, having just recently been connected with the U. S. Department of Commerce Radio Service, conducting radio operator license examinations and licensing and inspecting broadcast, ship and shore stations in the 8th Radio District. He has also had charge of radio instruction in the United States navy, and has served in various radio operating and engineering capacities in practically all parts of the world.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE VILLAGE COMMISSION

Plymouth, Mich., June 2, 1924. A regular meeting of the Commission, held in the Commission room of the village hall, Monday evening, June 2, 1924, at 7:00 p. m.

NEWBURG

The Children's Day exercises with Mrs. I. Gansolly leader, were exceptionally good. Special music by the choir, a beautiful solo by Miss Gladys Horton, recitations by the children—"Little Boy Blue" by the boys, and "Dolls' Drill" by the girls—were fine. The pastor gave a talk on the benefits derived from the Students' Fund for Albion College. Several children were baptized. A number were taken into the church in full connection. Many pretty bouquets made the church bright and cheerful. Several Perrinville people attended the exercises.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Champion of Detroit, will preach at 11:00 a. m., with Sunday-school immediately after. Everyone cordially invited to attend these services.

The L. A. S. will hold their regular meeting next Wednesday afternoon, June 25th. If the weather permits, it will be held on Burt Paddock's lawn, next to the L. A. S. hall. Picnic supper, with Mrs. Bertha Joy's committee in charge. Everyone invited.

An endowment fund has been started by the Newburg Cemetery Association for perpetual care. Mrs. Don Packard was the first to respond with $50.00, for caring for her lot. It is hoped that more will follow her example.

Mrs. Rose Ryan of Detroit, Mrs. Harry Bassett of Wayne, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bassett Sunday, and attended Children's Day exercises.

Mrs. Ella Wight of Wayne, visited her sister, Mrs. M. Eva Smith, Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Steinhebel and children spent Sunday with relatives in Wayne.

A TRAIN LOAD OF SHINGLES PASSES THROUGH PLYMOUTH.

A train load of shingles passed through Plymouth this week over the Pere Marquette that is worthy of special notice. The train of 55 cars is a part of the train load of 125 cars, which left Everett, Washington, June 7th, and was bound for the far east.

The train of 125 cars was from the Hunting Merritt Lumber Co., Limited, and subsidiary mills. It carried over 25 million red cedar shingles, or sufficient to roof about 2,000 average sized houses, and estimating five to a family, to roof a town of over 10,000 people. This year this company, with its subsidiary mills, expect to manufacture sufficient shingles to roof about 33,000 average houses.

Over four thousand three hundred miles would be required to take the shingles if they were laid end to end on the ground, and over eleven and three-fourths million square feet could be covered if the shingles were laid side by side in a square.

Starting at Seattle, and placed on the ground end to end, they would reach to New York City and three-quarters of the way back to Seattle.

The manufacture of red cedar shingles is one of the principal industries of the Province of British Columbia, employing about 2,800 mill hands. 575,615,000 feet of cedar logs were cut in the forests in 1923, and a very large proportion of this was used to produce shingles. The estimated value of the shingle mills is between $3,000,000 and $10,000,000, and the value of the 1923 output is placed at $16,000,000.

THE THEATRE

"SHERLOCK, JR."

Prepare yourself for a really hilarious evening. Buster Keaton in his newest Metro picture, "Sherlock Jr.," is coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, June 21st. The star's latest effort is described as a "nut" comedy in several million episodes that fizz with concentrated pop and are flavored with unlimited touches of humor.

Buster plays the part of a small-town movie theatre helper who yearns for the glory of Hollywood and the hand of "Hollywood's Sweetheart," a pampered, but pulchritudinous, darling. He realizes all of his desires, and a few more for good measure, but in a delirious way that promises a hoghead of fun for the spectators.

"Sherlock, Jr." is presented by Joseph M. Schenck through Metro, and was directed by Keaton himself. The story was evolved by Jean Haver, Joe Mitchell and Clyde Bruckman.

"THE MARRIAGE CHEAT"

Thrilling situations abound in "The Marriage Cheat," a First National attraction produced by Thomas H. Ince, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, June 22 and 23.

One of these takes place aboard a palatial yacht cruising in South Sea Island waters. A banquet level is in progress in the dining salon, the host being a wealthy New Yorker seeking new pleasures and sensations in strange parts. A door opened, casting a ray of light on the billowing waters, and a young woman ran to the rail. In a moment she had leaped overboard into the black waters, with no one on board aware of the tragic incident.

Another remarkable feature of the photoplay shows the wrecking at sea of an ocean liner. The New Yorker, having found his wife alive on the island, was taking her back, reluctantly on her part, when the vessel ran into a terrific storm and foundered on the rocks. They managed to make their escape in a lifeboat, and then followed a series of thrilling adventures before the young wife found the love and peace which she craved.

These are but two of the unusual features of Frank R. Adams' story, which was directed by John Griffith Wray and filmed on a South Sea Island. In the cast are Leatrice Joy, Percy Marmont, Adolphe Menjou, Laska Winter, Henry Barrows and J. P. Lackney. The production is noteworthy, also, for the remarkable scenic effects which were obtained in the South Seas.

"THE ETERNAL THREE"

Marshall Neilan pays his respects to the members of a noble profession—physicians and surgeons—in his new photoplay, written and directed by himself, "The Eternal Three," which will be screened at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, June 25th. It was produced on the Goldwyn lot, for release by that firm, with every facility which the perfectly equipped studios afforded.

The story concerns a noted surgeon who marries a young wife with whom his scapegrace foster son becomes infatuated. On his way to elope with her, the foster son suffers a brain injury and only a delicate operation can save his life. The surgeon loves his wife, the ethics of his profession demand that he perform the operation and restore his foster son to life—and to his own wife. What does he do?

Marshall Neilan's denouement to the problems forms a most intensely exciting finale. Goldwyn gave the author-director a notable cast to interpret this stirring story. Hobart Bosworth, Claire Windsor, Raymond Griffith and Bessie Love have the leading roles. Others in the cast are Tom Gallery, George Cooper, Alec Francis, William Norris, Helen Lynch, Marion Aye, Victory Bateman, Lillian Leighton and Peaches Jackson.

LIBRARY NOTES

Vacation Reading

Blackwood, Algernon—Episodes before thirty. An autobiography as absorbing as fiction, by an English novelist with a peculiar talent, not unlike that of Machen, for describing the horrific and psychical. He tells graphically the story of his early struggles in Canada and in New York, in varied pursuits—reporter, artist's model, gold seeker, and his unfortunate business adventures, ending with his return to England just before his thirtieth birthday.

Rolland, Romain—Mahatma Gandhi. In this eloquent though no uncritical interpretation of Gandhi's religious and political ideals, the well known French writer pays tribute to India's great "moral guide," giving him rank among the world's spiritual leaders. Gives insight into the Indian problem from an interesting and important angle.

Rinehart, Mrs. Mary R.—The Out Trail. Humorous narrative of varied camping adventures in the deserts of the southwest, Mexico and Florida, and other favorite American outing areas, into which the author has injected much of her joy of life.

Ferber, Edna—So Big. A study of Selma Peake, truck farmer, who in spite of drudgery, believes in reality, beauty and self-expression, and tries to bring up her son in this creed. Rural Illinois and Chicago background reflect keen observation and characters are shrewdly sketched.

BAPTIST NOTES

Last Sunday was a bright Sabbath, and everyone ought to have been in church on a day like that. The pastor's subject was a little cloudy for he spoke about the "Devil," his origin, his purpose, his final doom; also our attitude towards him and our victory over him.

The Sunday-school will be all ready next Sunday evening, with its program for Children's Day. The songs, drills, tableaux, recitations, and everyone is welcome. Come and enjoy the meeting.

The pastor preached to the graduating class at the high school, last Sunday evening.

The B. Y. P. U. Sunday evening, discussed the subject of music. They are planning now to send for music, and form a male quartette; also one for the young ladies.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the church is called for next Tuesday evening, at the church. Everyone is expected to be there.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Service last Sunday was held in the morning, and the good congregation present listened to a splendid sermon by the rector, on the church season, "The Trinity," taking his text from St. John, 15-26, "He shall testify of me."

The Sunday-school which followed the morning service was fairly well attended, the rector again addressing the school, practically explaining the Trinity with the aid of three of the boys, and simplifying his address so that the youngest members of the school were able to understand.

We are glad to report that pews have been secured for the church, and these will be installed by the men of the congregation, we hope, this week or next. The secretary, Mr. Strong, is making arrangements for their transit from Detroit, and when they arrive the men will be notified. This will be a very welcome improvement to the interior of our church, and when the pews are in place, will be more in harmony with the beautiful altar rail and screen which the men erected two years ago.

The ladies held a rummage sale last week, and they are certainly to be congratulated on their activities. The church service next Sunday, will be in the evening at 7:30. The rector will give the address.

All have a welcome here.

GRANGE NOTES

Our next meeting, coming a little out of the regular order, having been called a week early, the members are urged to bear in mind the July meeting will be Friday evening, June 27. There will be roll call, with "Liberty" for the response. Let us meet and greet and enjoy the cheering program.

Tuesday evening of this week, the Lily Club met at Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gardner's, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. F. L. Becker and James Gates won first honors, with Mrs. James Gates and Frank Palmer as seconds. All spent a pleasant evening. The July 15th meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. John F. Root, and all interested will be gladly welcomed.

The Grange secretary will give special attention to all orders for twine. Phone 317-F31.

FILM AND RECORD MUSEUM PLANNED

London Institution Where Future Can View Us.

The future will both see and hear us if the rest of the world adopts plans which are now being made to establish a film and phonograph record museum in London.

Whether the generations to come are to be congratulated or commiserated for having their ancestors thrust upon them instead of conveniently escaping them, as other generations have always done, is a question to be touched on with discreet and appropriate lightness.

The new museum, if it is formed, will be built around the nucleus of film already in possession of the Imperial War museum. There are hundreds of thousands of feet of moving picture film in this collection, reporting historic military and naval engagements of the war, among which are the Battle of the Somme and the blocking of Zeebrugge harbor.

Hitherto preservation of films has been difficult because the negatives from which they are made eventually contract, but a new celluloid material, which is unshrinkable and unburnable, promises to solve this difficulty.

One film also in existence chronicles events as far back as 1899, showing Queen Victoria's visit to Dublin in that year and her funeral in 1900 with the former kaiser as one of the mourners.

To the purely visual collection of the War museum may be added the strictly vocal collection of the British museum. This includes phonograph records of the voices of King George and Queen Mary, Patti, Melba, Caruso, Chappin. Among the statesmen whose voices have been taken are Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, Winston Churchill, Admiral Peary, Sir Ernest Shackleton and various others.—Living Age.

Causes Sap to Rise

The cause of the ascent of sap has long been a mooted question, but Sir J. C. Bose, a noted Hindu plant biologist, has recently announced that as the result of a long study of the problem he believes that it is due to a pumping action, akin to that exerted by the heart of an animal. Whereas the pumping in an animal is done by a single large organ, in plants it is carried on by minute cells, each of which expands and contracts with a throbbing action, continually drawing up water from below and expelling it upward to the next cell. The active cells are mostly in the cortex or inner bark, next to the woody tissue. The biologist explains the experiment which led to his conclusion, as follows: "A chrysanthemum plant had all its leaves removed and the stem coated with an impermeable varnish, thus causing a complete stoppage of transpiration. The root pressure was eliminated by cutting off the root. The cut end of the stem was next placed in water, and the ascent took place at the rate of 90 feet per hour, and this in the complete absence of transpiration and root pressure. The ascent must, therefore, be due to some independent cellular activity present in the interior of the plant." Sir J. C. Bose is the inventor of an electric probe, as he calls it, which reveals the minute processes of cell activity.

Lava Tides of a Volcano

The investigating scientist has made the discovery that the lake of molten lava in the crater of the volcano Kilauea in Hawaii has ebb and flow tides.

There are two daily fluctuations that change the level from two to seven feet, a mid-day variation of about five feet and a monthly shifting of the time for the maximum and minimum levels, the noticeable fact being reported that one of the sharp fluctuations occurs just about sunrise, while there is another variation that takes place with marked regularity shortly after midnight.

There is no explanation for the lava tides, the power that produces them being wholly unknown.—Ohio State Journal.

He Must Have Been

At a public school examination in free-hand drawing a pupil appeared without a pencil. He was promptly taken to task by the teacher. "What would you think of a soldier without a gun?" she demanded. "Why," stammered the boy, who happened to be a member of this school's training corps, "Why, ma'am, I should think he was an officer."

Something Wrong

Proud Father—Well, Tommy, what do you think of your new bouncing brother?
Tommy—Something's the matter with him, paw. I dropped him as hard as I could on the floor, but he wouldn't bounce.

Good Training

The Boss—Yes, you've been with us a year at a very small salary but you must have gained a valuable knowledge of the business in that time.
The Clerk—Sure I have. I've learned how to hire good help and pay for it in experience.

From Better to Worse

Friend—So they aren't going to hang after all?
Foe—No, gringo, someone chopped down the only tree in the country, so now we'll have to shoot you.—Chicago Wit.

MICHIGAN HAS NAVY ON DETROIT RIVER

Commissioner Harry H. Jackson of the Department of Public Safety might now add the title of "admiral" to his name. He is in command of a fleet of four armed speed boats which are now plying the border waters between Ontario and Michigan. Their mission is to do away with the smuggling, principally of liquor, which has been such a heavy traffic in the narrow waters.

Inasmuch as Monroe, in Wayne county, has been the receiving point for a very large share of the liquor smuggled across the border, it will receive particular attention from the fleet both by day and by night. Several smuggling vessels were picked up in the first week of operations of the fleet.

CHEVROLET

for Economical Transportation

Everybody wants an automobile
Everybody can pay for a Chevrolet
Everybody can afford to own a Chevrolet

You can buy a Chevrolet just as you buy any other important necessity. Not one family in a thousand pays cash in full for a home. They make a substantial down payment, then pay off the mortgage with what they used to pay for rent plus other savings, and in a few years obtain full title to a home of their own.

This most popular and most economical family car is just another home—but on wheels. It takes the whole family evenings and holidays to where they are eager to go, and daily transports one or more of the family's workers to and from their business, therefore, all the family gladly helps to pay for it.

It can be bought just as you buy a stationary home. It earns its own way and you ride while you pay.

It is the best paying investment any family can make because it provides transportation, saves time, and makes all outdoors your playground, bringing health and happiness to the whole family.

A VISIT TO SANTA FE

The following interesting article was written for the Mail by Miss Verne Rowley, and describes her recent visit to Santa Fe, New Mexico: To The Plymouth Mail: In entering the little city of Santa Fe, New Mexico, for the first time, at once I felt the atmosphere of mystery, romance and reverence. Such a quaint old town, hidden in a beautiful valley, outlined by snow-capped mountain peaks, these averaging about 13,000 feet in height. I could imagine I had crossed the Big Water. Going up and down its streets, visiting the old churches, some dating back as far as 1541, old missions founded before the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers on our east coast, the adobe homes in the narrow streets, dark-eyed women dressed in black with the all season black shawl worn over the head, reaching to the bottom of the skirt, the seniors smoking their cigars, wearing the sombreros; little children showing their mixture of Spanish-Mexican-Indian blood, quick with their interpretation that you are a tenderfoot; all this and more, made an interesting time for me and one could easily spend a month in Santa Fe and see unforgettable things each day.

The commercial part of the town is built around three sides of a square, like our park, called the Plaza. On the fourth side is the Old Governor's Palace, a long low adobe building, centuries old, containing a remarkable collection of antiques, paintings, old books, old letters; two or three of those I read written by General Lew Wallace and his wife to friends. While living in this building Wallace wrote part of "Ben Hur." In the early morning hours, on the south side of the palace, the little burros, laden with pinyon, line up, waiting until their pack is sold. At the north end of the palace is the State Art Museum, a beautiful building of pueblo architecture, containing landscape and Indian life art work.

Perhaps, to me, the most interesting time, was rambling around the narrow streets, off the main and modern Santa Fe, exploring the little tucked-in shops, small and perhaps dirty, whose owner would greet you with what sounded to me like "you spek Spaniola?" Shaking my head, we would continue our sign and word language, and in time a sale was made, I pleased with my find, he glad of his silver.

One delightful day was spent riding around the outskirts, passing Indian schools, the state penitentiary through canyons, crossing arroyos and irrigation ditches, in and about Bishop's Lodge, a mountain hotel and ranch, noting the wayside shrines, marking the spot of some fallen monarch, or a one time bloody battleground, for Santa Fe has its tragic story, its memories of revolts and uprisings.

Another memorable day at the Pueblo ruin of Tyuonyi, in the Canyon of El Rito De Les Frijoles (pronounced as though spelled Fra Ho Les) meaning "Little River of the Bean." From the rim of this canyon wall one looks down on the circular ruin of some three hundred rooms, recently excavated, and this pueblo is best described and illustrated in the June 1921 issue of National Geographic Magazine. Down in the canyon, you walk along the wall for miles, finding several hundred of the cliff dwellings, pictures and interpretations of their life chiseled in the cliff wall, many pueblos, yet unexplored, but easily traced by the outline of the top wall.

When tired and hungry, you are well taken care of at the ranch house in the canyon, and you are ready to eat everything on the table, even to the traditional bean, which to me looked like our kidney bean, but with the added Spanish-Mexican-Indian flavor.

On the return trip, we passed through innumerable Indian villages, one in particular will mention, the village Tesuque, where we visited the homes, and perhaps "Joe" will never know what became of his "snake," (a gourd dried with the seeds left inside, a wooden handle with buckskin strap to go around the wrist. If I tried to spell or pronounce the name for this musical instrument as the Indian told me, you might think I was talking about some new vegetable relish;) while his father did the dance for me, in which the rattle is used, and then smilingly told me, "maybe you try him when you get home." We would like to have listened long to the legends he told us, even if his speech was hard to follow, as he said, "I not spek best, only four year Carlisle, and I try please you and mek you unestant while little Florencito, his granddaughter, the daughter of Joe, hides behind the skirts of her smiling grandmother, Rosito, and we catch a glimpse of little sister, four months old, swaying in her hanging basket cradle. In this village, I was allowed to take pictures of the streets and ceremonial chamber, where their dances and religious rites are regularly performed. One Indian village is not like every other one, for their customs, habits and dress vary. Here, little Florencito wore her hair shorn on the crown, with a fringe of two inches or more hanging all around the clipped crown, while her grandmother Rosito, wore hers bobbed like any flapper. During this day I learned what we call a whirlwind of sand in the road, to be known as rim-o-lena, meaning "coffee grinder."

Then again following the Rio Grande river for miles and miles, through wonderful canyons, whose mesas, plateaus and mountain peaks had a strong resemblance to Grand Canyon of Arizona, on a smaller scale, but with the same rock formations and strata, coming suddenly upon beautiful waterfalls; finally arriving at the enchanted town of Taos, Taos, this little town is noted for its artistic colony well established by Kit Carson, and his burial place in a little country cemetery; and if one is fortunate enough to be welcomed in one of the artist's studios, there you will find a story on canvas, for their special study is cliff effects on mountain peaks, and the Indian life.

The last morning of my stay in Taos, I walked out to the pueblos early; the mountain tops were veiled in a mist; the long pretty valley was an orchestra place with the songs of the birds; the dashing gurgling mountain stream, Taos Creek, hurrying on its way, and the Indians coming in town on their various errands, some riding horse back, walking, driving a team, but everyone dressed in a sheet, white, wrapped about the head across the shoulders, around the waist, reminding me of pictures of the Arabs, (but not members of the Ku Klux); and I understand, that was a custom adopted by some past generation when in another country, possibly Mexico, where they had been driven by hostile bands, but even when coming into their own beautiful land again, they still retain this dress, and it is rather picturesque at that, and seems to be a weird spell over all the rest of the enchanting country.

And I was sorry to leave this peaceful valley, the pleasant "How" of the Indian in greeting, the soft girly voices of the women who smiled at you, the songs of the pinyon jay and the meadow lark, the quiet resting place of Kit Carson, will live in my memory for many a day, and I would suggest to those who travel West, to get off the beaten path and hunt out old Santa Fe and its hundred miles surrounding of enchantment and adventure, for Santa Fe is different.

REGULATION COVERING THE SALE OF FIREWORKS IN MICHIGAN.

I, Harry H. Jackson, State Fire Marshal and Commissioner of Public Safety, by virtue of the authority vested in me by Section 5 of Act Number 178 of the Public Acts of 1915 as amended, hereby amend Section 12 of the regulations heretofore made by me, (as last amended February 20, 1924) to read as follows: Except as hereinafter provided, no person, firm or corporation shall after this date sell, offer for sale or place on display within the State of Michigan any blank cartridge, toy pistol, toy cannon, toy case or toy gun in which explosives are used; the type of balloon which requires fire underneath to propel the same; fireworks, torpedoes or any fireworks containing any explosive or inflammable compound or any tablets or other device commonly used and sold as fireworks containing nitrates, chlorates, oxalates, sulphides of lead, barium, antimony, arsenic, mercury, nitroglycerine, phosphorus or any compound containing any of the same or other modern explosives.

Provided, that the council of any city or village, or the township board of any township may, upon application in writing, grant a permit for the public display of fireworks by municipalities, fair associations or amusement parks, when handled by a competent operator. After such permit shall have been granted, sales of fireworks for such display may be made for that purpose only.

Provided further, that this regulation shall not prohibit the sale within this state of any firecrackers, torpedoes or other fireworks purchased by a resident dealer of this state prior to February 20, 1924; upon condition, however, that such resident dealer shall within sixty days from the date of this order submit to the State Fire Marshal a list of such merchandise so purchased and when and from whom purchased.

Whenever any of the provisions of this section are violated, the State Fire Marshal or his deputy or any assistant, or the Mayor, Chief of Police or Chief of the Fire Department of any town or city or the Supervisor of any township within the State of Michigan, is hereby given authority and is hereby directed to confiscate and destroy all such fireworks offered for sale, on display or in use within the State of Michigan.

Dated, this 16th day of April, 1924.
HARRY H. JACKSON,
State Fire Marshal.

WOMAN'S CLUB HELD ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Woman's Club was held Friday, June 13th, at the home of Mrs. John Williams. A dainty pot-luck luncheon was served at noon by the social committee, after which a short business session was held. Special committees for the year were appointed at this time by the president, Mrs. Charles Humphries.

The program for the day, in charge of Mrs. W. T. Pettingill, was as follows:

Piano Duets—Mrs. Gilbert Brown, Mrs. Fred Tighe.

Purposes of Club—Mrs. Charles Humphries.

Solo, "June"—Mrs. Roderick Cassidy, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Thomas, who composed her own accompaniment.

Original Poem, "Toasts"—Miss Athalie Hough.

Duet—Mrs. Gilbert Brown, Mrs. Fred Tighe.

Plans for Beginning of a Club Home—Mrs. Roderick Cassidy.

A rising vote of thanks was given the social committee and the hostess, Mrs. Williams. A social hour followed, after which the members departed for their homes.

What does your money buy?

Many an unthinking motorist has driven up to a Gasoline Station with the careless order, "Five gallons, please", taking the service for granted. There is a better way to buy gasoline. Buy it where you know you'll get real gasoline service. How are you to know? Anywhere you see the sign—

AMERICAN

Certified Quality

GASOLINE

The Power Behind Your Motor

That's your guarantee of real gasoline service. American Gasoline is, in itself, giving the maximum in power, mileage and economy. The purchaser also receives that extra bit of personal service that always accompanies every sale of American Gasoline. This quality and service has created a preference for American Gasoline. Go where you get it—to your local American dealer.
