Why You Should Build Now!

The average man builds one house in a lifetime. It means a considerable outlay of money—BUT—that house will last twenty-five years or longer, AND the amount of money required to supply the average family with food for the same period will far exceed the cost of the house. So, after all, the HOUSE is NOT the BIG item of living expense.

We will close Saturday afternoons during July and August.

PLYMOUTH MAN RECEIVES HONOR

At the convention of the Michigan Funeral Directors and Embalmers Association, held at South Haven, Mich., recently, Fred D. Schrader of this village, was elected president of that organization. The honor was totally unexpected by Mr. Schrader, as he was unable to be present at the convention. The Mail wishes to take this opportunity to congratulate you, Fred, as we realize from your years of experience in the art of embalming and funeral directing, you are well qualified to fill the responsible and honorable office to which you have been elected. The following verses of a poem were read at the convention in honor of the new president:

Our faithful Fred, Schrader is here in all his might; He's with us in his glad rags, with the smile that is so bright. He's smiling in the springtime and he is smiling in the fall; Fred for the association, surely beats them all. Our country in the morning and our country at night, We're working and we're giving when the stars were shining bright. We love him in the springtime and we love him in the fall; Fred for president of the association, we love you best of all.

MIELBECK-BASSETT

Henry Mielbeck and Miss Iva Bassett, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bassett, were quietly married at the summer home at Island Lake, last Saturday afternoon, June 28th, at 4:00 p. m., by Rev. Paul B. Havens, using the double ring service, which was beautiful and impressive. The bride wore a gown of steel grey silk, and was attended by Miss Helen Gow of Detroit, who wore a gown of king blue. Ora Chilson, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate family. The cottage was prettily decorated with pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Plymouth High school, class of 1923, and is a popular leader among the young people of Newburg. Mr. Mielbeck is a veteran of the World War, and is foreman of Ford's plant at Pike's Peak, being also a leader among the younger set of that community.

The happy couple will be at home in the vicinity of Newburg, after the middle of July, to a host of friends, who wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Mrs. Raymond Hills and little son are spending several days at Almont, where she attended her sister's wedding, Monday evening.

Miss Vera Hetzler, who has been teaching in the schools of Benton Harbor, is spending her summer vacation with her mother, Mrs. Carl Heide.

Rev. S. Conger Hathaway and family, left Wednesday morning for Bellevue, Ohio. They will visit friends there and at Oberlin, Ohio, and then start for an auto tour of the south, visiting Cincinnati, Ohio; Louisville, Kentucky, and the Mammoth Cave, and returning via Indianapolis, Indiana, and Chicago, Illinois.

LOCAL BUILDING ASSOCIATION PROSPERING

Your attention is called to the semi-annual statement of the Plymouth Home Building Association that appears on another page of this paper.

The association now has a paid up capital of over $65,000, and is constantly growing. The association each year, since its organization, has been able to pay from its earnings, a semi-annual dividend of 2 1/2 per cent, besides placing in its reserve fund more than the state law required, and today's statement shows undivided profits of $2,262.60.

During the past year the association has financed the building of sixteen new houses in Plymouth, and have now on hand several applications for loans, which will be taken care of before the end of the year.

We wonder if the people of Plymouth appreciate what this association is doing for their home town, and do they realize that every dollar they place with the association is not only a good investment on their part that will bring them good returns, but will help boost the home town by providing more homes, therefore increasing property valuations and business all along the line. If you have money to invest, go and see the secretary of the association and have a talk with him. We think you will conclude that your best investment is right here in Plymouth. Don't let some stranger get your money for some doubtful investment, on the promise of big dividends, which 999 cases out of a 1000 never materialize. Plymouth is full of people who are saying, "I wish I had kept my money at home."

Money that is sent out of town does not do Plymouth any good.

HORSE STOLEN AND RECOVERED

A riding horse owned by Miss Dorothy Hillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hillman, was stolen from the Czar Penney barn, last Saturday morning. As soon as it was discovered that the horse was stolen, local officers and Mr. Hillman and daughter began the searching for the missing animal. Mr. Hillman and Dorothy, accompanied by a deputy sheriff from Chelsea, overtook the horse and its rider near Grass Lake, and the officer placed the man under arrest, and he was taken to the jail in Ann Arbor, where he was later turned over to Chief of Police Springer, who brought him to Plymouth, Monday, and he was arraigned before Justice Phoebe Patterson. He gave his name as Lon Smith, alias Baker. He had been recently employed on a farm west of Plymouth. He pleaded guilty to the theft of the horse, and was bound over to the circuit court for trial.

SPLENDID MUSICAL PROGRAM

The free musical entertainment, which was given in Kellogg Park, last Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Plymouth Safe Drivers' Club and the Chamber of Commerce, drew out a large crowd of people. A splendid musical program was given by Harry Bennett and Friendship orchestra and the Ford Dixie Eight in southern melodies. J. E. Goldie, executive secretary of the Detroit Safety Council, was introduced by Leon J. VanSchoick, who has charge of the safety work in Wayne county. Mr. Goldie gave a very pleasing and interesting talk on what was being accomplished in the county safety movement campaign.

If you are not now a member of the local Safe Drivers' Club, and you are the owner or driver of a motor vehicle, you should join the club and help in this splendid work of safe-guarding the lives of men, women and children from death or accident upon the highways of this community. It only costs $1.00 to become a member. Any one of the following officers of the local club will be glad to take your membership:

H. S. Lee—President
Carl Shear—Vice President
William Wood—Secretary
George A. Smith—Treasurer
Another entertainment will be put on by the club and Chamber of Commerce during this month.

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING

The Golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sayles, July 1, 1924, was celebrated at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Elam Moyer, of Canton. Although there are many relatives and friends of the couple, on account of the recent illness of Mr. Sayles, it was thought best not to have a large gathering. So only some of the nearest relatives were present. Among the number, guests were present from Detroit, Ypsilanti and Plymouth. A bountiful and delicious six o'clock dinner was served by Mrs. Moyer, assisted by Mrs. Courville of Detroit.

During the day many bouquets of beautiful flowers, cards of greeting and presents were brought to the house. The Methodist folks sent a remembrance of five ten-dollar gold pieces, while the Sunday-school sent a large bouquet of white carnations and asparagus ferns. Many of the relatives also remembered the happy couple with gold pieces or other presents. The day will be long remembered by them, as it showed the love, respect and kindly thoughts of their many friends.

A little poem sent in by a friend:

For fifty years, through thick and thin,
You've taken time each day
To gather round the altar
To read and sing and pray.
You've been a blessing to the church,
A blessing to your neighbor;
You've given in an hour of need
Your time and thought and labor.
You've always tried to do your best
To make this old world brighter,
To plant a flower, to sing a song,
To make some sad heart lighter.
Now stay until the roses bloom
And skies are blue above you;
We'll plan to come in one by one
And tell you how we love you."

PIANO RECITAL GIVEN BY MISS PENNEY'S PUPILS.

A well-filled house greeted the pupils of Miss Czarina Penney in their recital at the Methodist church, last Thursday evening. A rather lengthy program was relieved by a delightful reading by Miss Virginia Giles in her usual effective style. Each number of the evening clearly revealed the careful training these young folks have been receiving at the hands of their instructor, who is to be congratulated on her splendid achievements. Some exceptional musical talent is always revealed in such a recital, and this one was no exception. However, it may be said that each one participating took their parts well, and exhibited fine promise of future development along musical lines. Each number was received enthusiastically by those in attendance.

By Going to Church Somewhere Next Sunday

If—as Roger Babson says:

"The prosperity of a nation is very closely allied with its religion;"

And—

"Religion is both the anchor and rudder of prosperity;"

Then—

EVERY CITIZEN WHO LOVES HIS COUNTRY should be lined up with some church, for the christian church is the main exponent of religion.

LIBRARY NOTES

Remember the change of hours. Beginning with June 30, the library will be open every day from 1:00 to 5:00 and from 6:00 to 8:00 p. m., with the exception of the first and third Mondays of each month, when we close at 7:00. The village commission meets on those evenings.

Report for the Year—The Plymouth library now has a collection of 1495 volumes, as compared with 522 when it was opened a year ago. The circulation for this period has been 12,439. Since there are 793 borrowers from the library, each has read on an average of sixteen books during the year, and we have reached approximately 22.5 per cent of the people of the community, and about 38 per cent of the school children. We have had 452 interloan requests, which have been filled from the Detroit library system, which is almost as many books as this branch opened with. Library will be closed Friday, July 4th.

W. C. T. U.

A delightful lawn party and flower mission meeting was held by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union on Thursday, June 26th, at the lovely home of Mrs. W. S. Thomas. During the meeting the guests were seated on the beautiful lawn overlooking the garden, which was a mass of fragrant and many colored blossoms. There was an interesting program in charge of Mrs. Phoebe Patterson. The talk by C. R. Ross on "The Care and Cultivation of Flowers," was greatly enjoyed by all, as also were the vocal solos by Rev. D. D. Nagle. Bouquets were sent to the sick and shut-ins, and the hostess presented each of the guests with some beautiful pennies. The superintendent of flower mission, Mrs. Charles Draper, asks that members will report to her all bouquets and delicacies sent to the sick.

The next meeting will be held July 24th, at the home of Mrs. Draper.

Mrs. E. L. Calkins, state president of the W. C. T. U., says in a letter to the Michigan Union for June: "There will be no doubt be another vote taken this fall upon the question of opening the flood-gates of the traffic in intoxicating liquor in our state. This is a crucial hour and every christian man and woman should stand on guard."

NOTICE

A public hearing will be held by the Village Commission in the village hall in this village, Monday evening, July 7th, at 7:00 o'clock, to consider the Ann Arbor street pavement, the Plymouth road pavement and the Ann Arbor street sanitary sewer. The property affected by the two Ann Arbor street projects is as follows: "All those lots and parts of lots fronting on Ann Arbor street from its intersection with Main street westerly to the village limits." The property affected by the Plymouth road pavement project is as follows: "All those lots and parts of lots fronting on the Plymouth road from its intersection with Mill street easterly to the village limits." Sidney D. Strong, Village Clerk.

FIVE AMENDMENTS TO COME UP THIS FALL.

Voters of Michigan will have a chance to pass on five proposed amendments when they go to the polls in November, in addition to settling state and national issues.

It is now certain that the income tax amendment will be submitted to the people and the public school issue has been ordered on the ballot by the supreme court. Wayne county will come forward with two amendments on apportionment and the vote will submit the "question of light wines and beer."

This year is an unusually favorable one for constitutional amendments. The vote for governor in 1922 was a little more than 500,000, and as signers numbering 10 per cent of the total vote for governor at the preceding election is the basis, the number this year is just about half what it was two years ago. This being presidential year, indications are that upwards of 1,500,000 votes will be cast in the November election, which will require 150,000 signers for submission of amendments two years hence.

SUPERIOR

Mrs. James Court has been entertaining her brother, John Klogg of Elkhart, Indiana, and his niece, Mrs. Joe Walsh of Mishawaka, Indiana. They all visited their sister, Mrs. J. H. Palmer and husband at Redford, the latter part of the week.

Sunday visitors at the Kuhl home were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. VanBuren, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Raymond and three children of Ypsilanti, and Ed. Marfert of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mosher entertained company from Ypsilanti, Sunday.

George Priebe of Detroit, called on his parents, Saturday afternoon.

Misses Hannah and Ida Thurnm visited in Ann Arbor, the forepart of last week. Miss Hannah remained to spend some time with Mrs. Graham and sister on West Huron street.

The heavy rains of the past week has caused the farmers considerable trouble in getting their alfalfa hay cured, and has also delayed their other work.

Miss Beryl Kuhl spent Sunday night and Monday with her sister, Mrs. F. E. Raymond, in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Edwin Conklin has had as her guests during the past week, her mother, Mrs. Dillon, and sister, Mrs. George Sturdivant, husband and children.

Mrs. Edward Morgan of Middleville, who has been visiting her son, Harry, and family, was taken to Beyer hospital, last Wednesday, where on Thursday morning she underwent a major operation. She was reported doing very well considering the serious nature of her trouble.

Several from this way attended the party at William Schrader's at Fran's Lake, Saturday evening, and report a very pleasant time.

The Misses Carrie and Lillian Crippen expect to make an extended visit with their nephew and niece in Utah, this summer.

LIVONIA CENTER LUTHERAN CHURCH. There will be regular services at the Livonia Center Lutheran church on Sunday, July 6th, in the English language. Services begin at 2:30. Sunday-school at the usual time. Everybody welcome.

AROUND ABOUT US

The dates for the Oakland County Fair this year, are August 13 to 16.

A motor bus line has been established running from Ann Arbor to Flint, via Milford.

The last week in August is the date of the Livingston County Fair. Like all the rest of them, it will be "bigger and better than ever."

Northville is to have a community play ground this summer, provided the parents of the community will co-operate by having their children attend. The enterprise is being supervised and directed by A. K. Miller, Northville's efficient physical director.

It is now proposed to electrically light Grand River road in Farmington township from the Wayne county line to Farmington, it being the only section of the road from Detroit to Farmington Junction not now lighted at night.—Farmington Enterprise.

Mrs. Frank Buer, of near Salem, found a wedding ring last Friday while pulling weeds in her garden. It was returned to its owner, Mrs. Myrtle Wheeler, Wednesday. The ring is 18 carat and is like new although it had been lost 26 1/2 years.

Among the leading feature exhibits at the 1924 Wahtenaw county fair will be a Shorthorn Sire, weighing approximately a ton and a half. State Agricultural Trainers are agreed that this animal is by far the largest of its kind in this state, and probably in the country. Eight years old, active and owned in Wahtenaw county. Visitors at the coming fair will enjoy seeing him.

The U. S. Naval Observatory at Washington makes known the fact that three comets are due to visit the vicinity of the earth this year—in November and December, and six comets are due near the earth in 1924. The Observatory also paints startling pictures of what might happen should the heavenly wanderers come too close to or strike the earth.—Ex.

Children of the public schools of Ann Arbor saved nearly $20,000 during the past school year—a sum more than four times larger than other years. Prior to this year the old stamp system of school saving was in vogue. Last fall the school and industrial savings plan was put in force and has proved very satisfactory, not only in the teaching of thrift among the children but as an educational value.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of dear Junior Bell, who died one year ago, July 3, 1923.

Just when his life was brightest, Just when his hopes were best, He was taken from the world To a better home than ours.

As some sweet blossom droops and when blighted in the frost, He faded from before our eyes, And all too soon was lost.

But in God's garden free from pain, Where grows His fairest flowers, We know that we will find again, This vanished spirit of ours. Sadly missed by all his loved ones.

The Only Safe, Sure Way

There is only one way you can be absolutely sure of the motor car you buy. You must find out how it is engineered and built, and of what it is built.

Hupmobile makes it easy for you. It shows you a Parts Display—and the parts are the vital parts, the gears and shafts and rods which make the car go.

Under each part is a card, describing the part, the material of which it is made, and the construction in which it is used.

On the card also appears, in red letters, a description of cheaper construction. So that you, can, if you desire, use the information in checking other cars selling for as much or more than Hupmobile.

Fragrant Musk Plant Is Losing Its Scent

Why has the fragrant musk lost its scent? This is the question which many English florists and gardeners have been asking and wondering for 30 years. Formerly this little flower was among the most fragrant in the botanical records. It was originally found by David Douglas in 1826 growing on the margins of the Columbia river, and was exported to various parts of the world from there. When discovered it was sweetly scented. In 1877 the musk was hybridized in England, and although much larger flowers were produced by this artificial method of culture, the flower was often devoid of fragrance. One theory is that the loss of scent dates from this time.

Only in one instance has an odor been recently ascribed to the English musk, and that was in 1917, when the Earl of Waldegrave sent a few rare specimens to the Royal Horticultural society in London. Although only seven years have elapsed since the Earl made his report, the same plants, unmolested and untransplanted, have already lost their scent.

In addition to the hybridization theory of the loss of the musk's fragrance other ideas have been advanced to account for the discrepancy. One is that the human sense of smell is no longer so acute as formerly and cannot register the flower's odor. Another theory is that the leaves of the musk 50 years ago were very hairy, but after transplantation in alien countries the hairs were lost and with them the scent.

The idea most endorsed by the English botanists, however, is that essential oils, conducing to the flower's fragrance, have been lost in the process of acclimatization.

Old French Wedding Custom Is Revived

An odd old custom was revived last October in the Flemish village of Comines, tucked away in the north of France.

About 1454 the Seigneur Jean de Comines, having been imprisoned after the good old custom by a neighboring prince, managed to reveal his whereabouts by throwing the wooden utensils given him for table use out of the dungeon where he was confined.

When his faithful subjects came to rescue him, he established a fair at which the ceremonial of throwing these "louches"—as the country people still call them—among the crowd was always carried out.

But after a few hundred years of throwing louches the people of Comines got tired of it, and the custom was abandoned. This year, however, some enterprising member of the Comines Rotary club thought it high time to disinter the old tradition, and the white-headed father of the municipality solemnly mounted a platform guarded by two huge and grinning wooden dolls, and hurled the wooden louches into the assembled throng.

Not everyone in the crowd escaped injury, but, according to a French account, "You could see people boasting of the fact that they carried on their heads the marks of the blows received in this rough distribution."—Living Age.

Employment Aids Ignored

Juvenile unemployment centers, established in England by the co-operation of the ministries of education and labor to assist and protect school boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, seeking work, have not been entirely successful in Middlesex, England. The object was to enable the youths to better themselves while accepting the "dole" and were compelled to attend classes. The "dole" is the government unemployment stipend, but many of the younger generation, especially the girls, surrender the "dole" rather than attend classes.

Everything Provided

An old Highland clergyman was lecturing a group of his people in the village hall, and again and again repeated the words: "There will be weeping wailing, and gnashing of teeth."

A would-be wit at the back of the hall called out: "What about those that have no teeth?"

The minister looked down over his glasses and said with great solemnity and complete conviction: "Teeth will be provided."

The Diva

The poster advertised the world's greatest diva and depicted a very corpulent lady. Members of a crowd assembled were discussing it.

"Queer spelling," ventured one. "Don't they mean diver?"

"I don't think so," declared another. "It is evidently a foreign word for something or other. She's too fat for a diver."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mongols Were Suspicious

It took some persuasion to convince the Mongolian government that the purposes of the Andrews third Asiatic expedition were purely scientific. An elaborate expedition of 28 men, 78 camels and motor cars was not believed to be looking for old bones. A quest for gold and oil was thought more likely.

South African Women Wear Smart Millinery

An interesting word picture of millinery modes in South Africa is given in a bulletin of the Retail Millinery Association of America by Mme. Amy Adams. Among other things, she tells of the use of ostrich feathers by "smart" women there, some of these plumes running nearly a yard in length. "Milliners in Cape Town and Kimberly make most attractive displays," she writes. "They also take the greatest possible pains to suit the features of their clientele, and build the hats accordingly. No one seems to wear a home-made hat, as there is no attempt to instruct the amateur to make her own chapeaux. The result is that the 'tout ensemble' of an afternoon gathering is surprisingly smart.

Shapes are identical under the shadow of Table Mountain with those worn in New York, but they seem more tightly wired and of a softer buckram. Just now, in the height of their summer, very light colors are in vogue. These are usually faced with dark silk, or even velvet, which serves to give a little shade in the glaring sunshine.

"The South Africans believe in supporting home industries, so that really magnificent ostrich plumes, at least 34 inches long, adorn the more 'dressy' hats. They circle the crown completely and drop down the right side. Each flue and tip of these plumes must be perfect and the long blades sewed or arranged by a master hand. No apprentice can manage them. With specially designed hats nothing can achieve more flattery than the white plumage which is so popular. Horse-hair or very light-weight straw is the material of their foundation."

Scientists Use Colors to Combat Insects

Men of science over Cambridge way in England put their heads together and then take time out to announce to a pestered world that mosquitoes favor navy blue above 16 other colors. Reporting further on the effect of colors, the scientists say that mosquitoes are unanimous in their aversion to yellow, and that they shun light blue almost to a mosquito. One observer says that house flies are indifferent to colors; another is positive that flies avoid pale blue and settle freely on white. A sense of color and a sense of smell are possessed by many kinds of insects, notably bees and butterflies, according to Darwin, Lubbock and other naturalists of the last century.

Just as we were dazzled with the idea of baffling the stings and arrows of outrageous insects by the trickiness of our apparel, or maybe even ridding the earth of the busy boll weevil by some smelly lure, along comes the esteemed Engineering Foundation with a dissertation on combating mosquitoes by means of fishes, especially young ones. The most useful species for that service, so the announcement of the Foundation says, are the common sunfish, the mud minnow, and the killifish. Competition and struggle for existence in the mimic world. The minnow plays Goliath to the mosquito's David. Lay on Macquisto—and d-d be Goliath if he cries "Hold; Enough!" A sting may outdo a sting. Watch your fins, Mr. Killifish.

Guarding Our Animals

The vigilance of the United States Department of Agriculture was impressed upon Thomas A. Pife, of Mishawaka, Ind., when two deer shipped to him from Canada were recently held up in Detroit by a United States government veterinary inspector for the lack of a certificate from a Canadian official veterinarian. Government regulations covering such shipment require that the animals be accompanied by a certificate stating that the area from which they come is free from contagious diseases and has been so for a period of 60 days immediately preceding the importation. The certificate must be signed by a veterinarian of the Canadian government.

Predicted Power by Radio

Dr. C. P. Steinmetz, whose development of electrical science brought him to a place of eminence in the scientific world, said shortly before his death that those adults of today who lived to a ripe old age would see electric power transmitted by radio over a distance as far as from Chicago to Canton, China. He emphasized the word "power" and said much of the world's work would be done by radio when it was fully developed.

All the Same

Slimkins considered himself a humorist. He sent a selection of his original jokes to the editor of a newspaper and confidently awaited a check. His excitement ran high when he received a letter, obviously from the newspaper office.

He opened it with feverish haste. There was no check, however, just a small note, saying:

"Dear Sir—Your jokes received. Some we have seen before; some we have not seen yet."

Might Be Elsewhere

"I knew your daughter was keen on classical music, but that's a popular song she's singing, isn't it?"

"Not in this house," was the gloomy reply.

THE THEATRE

"MINNIE"

Marshall Neilan has another big success. It is a fine human, humorous story of a homely girl in a small town, and a big town reporter who is continually forgetting things. It is "Minnie," a First National attraction, and is coming to the Penniman Allen Theatre next Saturday, July 5th.

Leatrice Joy, who entered pictures through the prize beauty rots, is the homely girl, and Matt Moore is the reporter. It is something new for Miss Joy to be homely, and it is something out of the ordinary for Matt Moore to give a character portrayal, but, to play on names, there will be Moore Joy in this picture than anything these two have ever done before.

The situations in "Minnie" are a scream from beginning to end and will be extra fine entertainment for the patrons of the Penniman Allen theatre. The character "Minnie" is a girl whose pretty face sneers at the homely "Minnie."

In fact, all through this story it is the little tragedies of everyday life that give the picture its many laughs and side splitting humors.

"THE FIGHTING COWARD"

"The Fighting Coward," produced by the man who made "The Covered Wagon," James Cruze, and featuring Ernest Torrence, Mary Astor, Noah Beery, Phyllis Haver and Cullen Landis, will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday, July 6th.

It's a story of a man and a young fellow who bluff everyone along the Mississippi. The idea being to convince folk that the youngster is about the most dangerous gun-fighter thereabouts. And the whole thing is just one long thrill.

Cruze has established for himself a reputation of being the one director who can take a screen story, in this case an adaptation by Walter Woods of the stage play, "Magnolia," by Booth Tarkington, and get out of it every possible element of humor. "The Covered Wagon," a Western western drama, as produced by Cruze had some of the finest comedy touches of anything ever made. And he's done even more with "The Fighting Coward."

Torrence is at his best in the character of Gen. Orlando Jackson, Cullen Landis handles the leading man's role to perfection, while Noah Beery gives his usual excellent performance in a heavy role. Mary Astor and Phyllis Haver are well cast as the sisters, Elvira and Lucy. And there's a thoroughly capable supporting cast.

"FAIR WEEK"

"Fair Week," a new Paramount picture starring Walter Hiers, comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, July 9th. It's a story of a big man in a small town. There's love interest, a villain and all that sort of thing. But it's not just another comedy. Far from it. And guess who plays the star? Constantine Wilson, Lois' sister. Carmen Phillips is in the cast, too, and so are J. Farrell MacDonald, little Mary Jane Irving and a host of others.

You'll get the thrill of a lifetime from the balloon episode at the Tri-County Fair, which annually brings the little town of Rome, Mo., out of its drowsiness with a bang and generally finds it weeks afterward trying to recuperate, with the sheriff, mayor and a few others still hunting around for their watches and other trifles. But this time they make arrangements to cope with these sly carnival fellows, and Hiers is appointed one of the seventeen deputy sheriffs. But that's where the fun begins. Better be in on it.

If you know of an item of news, phone or send it to the Mail office.

Deep Soil Is Required for Growing Licorice

Licorice belongs to the pea and bean tribe. In this country the plants flower scarcely once in ten years, and they do not ever appear to bear seed! As long ago as the sixteenth century licorice was first grown in Pontefract, near Leeds. Pontefract possesses an unusual depth of soil, without which it is impossible to grow the plant.

The whole usefulness of the plant lies in the root, which grows to a depth of over six feet. This contains a substance known as glycyrrhizin, and it is this transparent yellow juice which gives licorice its medicinal qualities and its distinctive flavor.

The plants are propagated by sets or stools something in the style of rhubarb, and in Pontefract these sets are guarded with the utmost care. Nowadays there are probably not more than eight or ten growers.

The roots often take five years to mature, and for the first two or three years other vegetables are grown between the rows of licorice.

In its raw form licorice looks rather like a dark kind of glue. It is boiled down in a cauldron with treacle and sugar to give it the desired flavor. Later it is pressed out into a pliable mass and carried to tables, where girls make it up.

After pounding it to the correct degree of pliancy, the workers break off pieces, which they pull out into a kind of string, and then at enormous speed they nip off small pieces and throw them onto a tray in long rows. In Pontefract 500 people are employed in this industry.—London Tit-Bits.

Malays Build Homes on Posts to Foil Tigers

An American who had seen service abroad as a consul tells of some interesting dwellings in the Orient. The ordinary Malay house is built on posts from five to seven feet high, but sometimes safety measures add considerable to the length of the posts, this being particularly true of tiger-infested districts.

As tigers have been known to leap 18 feet from the ground, a lift of 20 feet is considered the safety limit for prospective builders in such sections. At best the Malay house is a frail and flimsy structure of sticks tied together with rattan, thatched with palm leaves and walled with platted bamboo or tree bark. It is, therefore, an easy matter for a tiger to break into a house. Many tragedies, with a hungry tiger as the villain, have been recorded. In one case a whole family, with the exception of one man, was killed. He climbed to the roof and thus escaped the notice of the tiger, but was the horrified and helpless witness of the cruel slaughter of his relatives.

Canine Intelligence

"You can't overestimate the intelligence of a dog," declared Col. Spangwood Telfair, of Mountain View, Georgia, recently at his favorite hound engaged in snapping feebly at the pestiferous flies.

"When Towser was in his prime he had an uncanny way of knowing in advance the sort of game I was going to hunt. For instance, if I left the house carrying a rifle Towser would dash for the woods and trail nothing but squirrels. If I started out with a shotgun Towser would trail nothing but rabbits.

"One day I decided to puzzle the old rascal, so I took down my fishing pole and started to the river. It may sound preposterous, gentlemen, but when I got to the edge of the yard I found that darned dog scratching up fishing worms for me!"—Judge.

Scarce Articles

At the club they were talking of germs and germ carriers. One member maintained that kisses carried germs. Another considered paper money the chief offender.

"Your opinions are merely vague guesses," declared a third. "What have the scientists found out on the subject?"

Nobody knew. A college professor drifted in and they called on him.

"We were discussing germ carriers, professor. What do the scientists have to say about kisses and paper money?"

"Kisses and paper money, eh?" echoed the professor. "The average scientist has had little experience with either."

Knew Her Dad

A small child was having her first ride in a subway train. Suddenly the train passed over a switch and the lights went out for a moment.

When they went up again, the little girl said: "Did you do that, daddy?"

"Daddy denied it.

"Well," replied his small daughter, "it's just the sort of thing you would do."

His Reputation

"Prisoner," said the magistrate, "you have already been sentenced 11 times for vagrancy, violent assault, embezzlement, theft and so on."

"Would you mind not speaking so loud, your worship?" was the reply.

"My intended father-in-law is in court, and you might damage my prospects."

Absent

A negro woman was telling a friend that she had been to a wedding. She described the bride's white satin gown, the veil, the slippers, the flowers, and everything.

"And what did the bridegroom wear?" asked the friend.

"Well, do you know, that good-for-nothing fellow never showed up at all!"

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE

In the matter of the estate of Walter R. LeVan, also known as Walter LeVan, deceased.

I, the undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, commissioner to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against said deceased, do hereby give notice that I will be at the Broadway Meat Market, Plymouth, Mich., in said County, on Tuesday, the 26th day of August, A. D. 1924, and on Saturday, the 25th day of October, A. D. 1924, at 10 o'clock A. M. of each of said days, for the purpose of examining and allowing said claims, and that four months from the 26th day of June, A. D. 1924, were allowed by said court for creditors to present their claims to me for examination and allowance.

Dated June 26, 1924.

CHARLIE H. RATHBURN, JR.,
Commissioner.

The Shingle that never Curls

THESE shingles are made of extra heavy felt saturated with asphalt, the most efficient waterproofing material ever discovered. Then they are heavily coated with asphalt and surfaced with crushed slate in everlasting blue-black, sage green, or Indian red natural colors, making them spark-proof. These fadeless shingles never need painting.

Let us quote you on these beautiful non-curling shingles.

VAST SUNKEN FOREST BELTS ENGLISH CITY

Huge Trees, Ages Old, Supply Farmers With Fuel

The discovery of ancient human and animal remains in the fens around Ely, England, serves to draw attention to the industry connected with this vast sunken forest.

The forest extends in a circle round Ely and runs without a break for nearly forty miles, and the mystifying fact about it is that trees, some eighty feet in length, all lie in an easterly direction. Was it some terrific primeval whirlwind that laid them low, asks "A Fenmare" in the London Mail.

With the coming of every spring scores of these great trees slowly emerge from the ground, for each wind that sweeps across the ever-drying fens conveys more and more of the dusty surface soil into the dykes.

Instead of regarding the trees as a nuisance, the farmer looks upon them with a friendly eye, for half a dozen ten oaks will supply him and his employees with firewood for a year.

The farmers and small holders are at present busy with eight-horse teams dragging these giants out of the soil, having previously trenched the trunk and sawn them into sections to facilitate carting. Near Littleport, it is computed, there are roughly a thousand of ten oak trees lying just under the surface of an eighteen-acre field.

In some districts of the fen the work of exhuming the trees is known as "oaking," which must always be done when—

"The winter's past, and corn all thrashed,
And safely in the bins;
Then yoke your eight or merry lads,
And get the ten oaks in."

Though the trees must be thousands of years old, their wood is as sound now as it was on the day they crashed to the ground. Pines of huge dimensions have been exuding resin, when sawn through, as if they had been recently felled.

The oaks, too, are in no way different from modern seasoned timber, with the exception of a black speck, not often found, which resembles Irish bog oak.

The farmers know from age-long experience how to deal with the trees. They are sawn into sections and then split with wedges. They will tell you that, although the trees sometimes "upset the plowing a bit," they would not like to be without them, for fens and pine make good fire, are cheaper than coal, and the supply is never affected by strikes—certainly important considerations in these days.

At the present day the lanterns of Ely cathedral rest on four oak beams, each three feet in thickness and nearly forty feet in length. Are they brothers of the monster oaks of this hushed forest of England's fenland?

Pidgin English, but Logical

Inexpressibly funny, says Miss Beatrice Grimshaw in the Wide World Magazine, are some of the candid quarrels between the down-river, or older, natives of the Sepik river, in New Guinea, and the up-river natives, who know little or nothing of civilization. Here is an example:

"You savvy kal-kal man!" (You are a man-eater!) one big bully who came down-river taunted a slim youth from up-river.

The youth did not deny the impeachment; he merely retorted: "You no savvy anything; you savvy kal-kal tinn! Hss (tinned fish), thass all!"

A roar of laughter from the others stung the semicivilized fellow, and he shouted the universal pidgin insult: "Head belong you all the same stone!"

"I no fright belong man he savvy kal-kal hss," replied the youth. "I savvy kal-kal you; you no savvy kal-kal me." (I am not afraid of a tinned fish eater; I could eat you, but you could not eat me.)

The logic was unanswerable, and the big fellow did not attempt a retort.

Fish Benefited by War

Although war and famine have in recent years made a fair start at the extermination of the human race over large areas, the races of fish have been immensely benefited, says Science Service. War called many fishermen away from their nets; famine and revolution disorganized society and made nets hard to get and markets uncertain. Fishing declined and the fish have multiplied. This is particularly the case in southern Russia, along the Black sea, where fish are reported to be larger and more abundant than in many years. They are likely to continue so, for, owing to the economic disorganization of the country, fishing tackle is hard to obtain and the fishermen are neither so numerous nor so efficient as formerly.

Powerful Motor Ship

The largest vessel to be driven by Diesel oil engines has been ordered by the Union Castle Mail Steamship company for South African service. It will be a 20,000-ton twin-screw passenger liner, and will be built by Harland & Wolff, Ltd., at Belfast, according to information received at New York by Power. The vessel will be by far the most powerful motor ship in the world. It will be equipped with two sets of double acting eight-cylinder internal combustion engines, developing approximately 20,000 indicated horse power, through the use of crude oil. Pumps for circulating salt water and lubricating oil will be electrically driven, as will all the auxiliaries. Electric power will be available for heating and cooking.

After Years of Suffering
Will Browning, Plattsburg, Mo., says, "Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured my wife of serious bilious attacks and constipation from which she had suffered for years." So easy to take, so pleasant in effect, and so small a cost—only 25c.—Advertisement.

BAPIST NOTES

The church wants to thank the B. Y. P. U. for their faithfulness in decorating the church with flowers during the past month. The Aid society will have charge of it this month.

At a meeting of the board of trustees last week, it was decided to come together on Monday evening, and clean up the church yard and fill the approaches on the drives with gravel, and this was done; also new locks were put on the doors of the church, which made a decided improvement.

On account of rain, the B. Y. P. U. held their picnic on Thursday evening instead of Tuesday, at Phoenix Park, as they had planned.

The Ladies' Aid society will hold their next meeting with Mrs. George Schryer on the Whitebeck road, next Wednesday afternoon, July 24. Every member is urged to come and bring someone with them.

Don't forget the special offering at the B. Y. P. U., next Sunday evening. The evening service last Sunday was larger and full of enthusiasm. The young people filled the choir loft, and sang with good spirit. Work you make it a part of your program to be at church every Sunday during the vacation and bring someone with you.

BASE BALL NEWS

Crotonville defeated Salem in a fast game last Sunday, at Crotonville, at Warren avenue and the Northville car line, by a score of 3 to 0. The feature of the game was the pitching of J. Pizarek, who did not allow a hit. Both pitchers were given fine support. The one-hand catch of F. Heiden was the fielding feature of the game.

Odd Birth Certificate

The egg with the greatest claim to distinction is one which was used as a birth certificate! This unique "document" was submitted to a meeting of a school attendance committee held at Norwich in February, 1896. Mrs. Bell, a widow, had been called upon to prove that her daughter had reached the school exemption age.

She produced an egg, colored in tints of purple, yellow and cream, with the name of her daughter and the date of her birth picked out in white in almost copperplate lettering. In addition, two texts had been written on the egg—"The Lord shall guide thee continually" and "Teach me to do Thy will." This was the only record Mrs. Bell had of her daughter's birth, and after the "certificate" had been passed round and admired, the committee accepted it as evidence.

Modest Request

The motorist was quite certain that he had not been exceeding the speed limit, so he was astonished when the village policeman brought the car to a standstill.

"I say," protested the driver, "I wasn't doing more than ten miles an hour. I swear it."

"Oh, that's all right, sir," replied the officer. "I wasn't worrying about that, but I'd be obliged if you could spare me a little gasoline. I'm going to a wedding tomorrow and I want to clean my gloves."

Volcano in United States

The United States has a live volcano of its own in northern California, called Lassen peak. Its latest important eruption began in 1914, and it has been more or less active ever since. The mountain is nearly two miles high, and there is enough fire inside it to run the machinery of all the factories in this country.

Today's Reflections

The summer time is a good time to hope. So while you're at it just hope the next congress won't be any worse than the last one.

Business all over the country is better, and prosperity is said to have turned the corner. Let's hope it's headed direct for Plymouth.

A New York man who can speak six languages has married a woman who speaks three. Well, that ratio makes them just about even.

An Arizona chicken was hatched with four wings. But what the average Plymouth boy is waiting for is one with six drumsticks.

Another thing we never could understand is why football is called "play," and shoveling coal is called "hard work."

Just because you've failed is no sign you're a failure. Did you ever pause to think that maybe you just happened to try the wrong thing?

Our idea of an optimist is the Plymouth man who carries an umbrella with him to church when he goes to pray for rain.

This is the time of year when the college graduate starts to worry over how much money bricklayers are making.

We overheard a Plymouth citizen say yesterday, that it's hard to tell which will wreck a town quickest—an ambitious widow or a jitted old maid.

It has also been our observation that when some men get wrapped up in themselves, they make a mighty small package.

When you see a $1600 car parked in front of an $800 home, you commence to get some idea of what is the matter with America.

What has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth woman, who could get her skirt to "hang" when she dressed up?

An old scratching hen running at large in the spring can undo the work of 40 evangelists in the winter.

Wonder why it is that the fellow who doesn't smoke, drink or chew is just as hard up as the fellow who has all three of those habits?

Any Plymouth man who has ever been sick doesn't have much trouble believing that the whale wasn't doing anything wonderful when it got rid of Jonah.

No matter how much a wife may love her husband, she doesn't want him banging around when a bunch of females meet at her house.

THE NEW BUICK MODEL

The attention of automobile circles will be centered today on a new Buick, six-cylinder car on an entirely new chassis, and featuring eight body models. Mechanically it is essentially the same as the present Buick car, and is capable of a speed of seventy miles per hour.

The engine is designated the "Standard Six" and has a wheel base of 114 1/2 inches, a valve-in-head engine similar to the engine now in use in the other models, four-wheel brakes, and low-pressure tires.

The chassis shows advanced ideas in numerous new details of simplicity and accessibility. Among the body models will be a five-passenger touring; the same with an enclosed body and heater; a two-passenger roadster; the same with a closed top and heater; a five-passenger double-service sedan; a two-passenger double-service coupe; a five-passenger sedan; and a four-passenger coupe.

The permanent touring car is obtainable with the open models are of glass and are fitted tightly to the tonneau.

The engine is a valve-in-head type with automatic lubrication throughout and with the cylinder head removable. The clutch and transmission form integral parts of the engine which is suspended at three points from the main frame.

The crank shaft is a drop-forging, extra heavy and balanced with four large bearings. The pistons and connecting rods are properly weighted and carefully manufactured. Large valves are operated by noiseless, adjustable push rods through rocker arms which are automatically lubricated from the engine.

The motor produces fifty actual break horsepower. It has pressure feed lubrication to the crankshaft and connecting rod bearings, also to the camshaft and pump gears. The oil pump is of gear type, positive drive, located on the right side of the engine, and driven by a worm on the center of the camshaft.

It has a maximum pressure of thirty pounds regulated by relief valve. Pump oil screen is reinforced to prevent collapsing. Pistons, cylinder walls, cams, rollers, and the other three camshaft bearings lubricated by mist of oil and oil capacity 4 1/2 quarts. Fully automatically lubricated from reservoir in hub. Water cooling is by centrifugal pump operated from the camshaft by spiral gears. Harrison cellular radiator is employed.

Control is by means of short spark and throttle levers in the center of steering wheel, friction-retained. There is a button type foot accelerator with rest. The clutch pedal is easily operated. Long leverage brake pedal and starter pedal conveniently located. Gear shift and emergency brake levers are convenient to the right hand.

The carburetor is the improved automatic float-feed type, supplied by vacuum system from the gasoline tank mounted on the rear of the frame. Automatic heat control insures proper vaporization at all speeds. The air regulator and choke buttons are on the instrument board.

Ignition is supplied by the high tension jump spark system, the current being supplied by storage battery and Delco electric generator. The spark advances automatically. The starter is a complete Delco single-unit system for starting, lighting and ignition, built as an integral part of the engine and operating in conjunction with the large storage battery.

The clutch is a multiple disc, dry plate, requiring but slight pressure to operate. It is very smooth in engagement and very positive in action, and the adjust is particularly simple.

The transmission is the selective sliding gear type, three speeds forward and one reverse. The gears are special and heat treated. There is positive interlocking hand control so easy to operate that the gears can be shifted with the tips of the fingers.

Through single, large, improved, automatically lubricated universal joint and fully enclosed propeller shaft, through spiral gears in rear axle, is the drive. The propeller shaft housing connects directly with the rear end of the transmission by ball joint enclosing universal. Struts rods from the front end of the propeller shaft housing to the axle housing keep them in perfect alignment. Both torque and drive are taken through ball joint.

The rear axle is the three-quarter floating type which means that all the weight of the car is taken on axle tubes and only driving torque is taken by axle shafts. The differential is mounted on high duty ball bearings, pinion shaft on extra large ball bearings, rear wheels on Hyatt roller bearings. Spiral bevel gears are fully adjustable.

The service brakes are Buick type, external contracting, operating on drums of unusual size and area on all four wheels. The equalizer insures proper distribution of pressure to front and rear brakes. They are adjusted with ease by adjusting levers very accessible. Hand brake of internal expanding type operating on rear wheel brake drums only.

Drop-forged I-beam of carbon steel, reverse Elliott type, double heat treated steering knuckles and tie rod yokes characterize the front axle. Axle especially designed to operate with four-wheel brakes. New departure ball bearings for the front wheels.

The wheels are of artillery type with hub flanges. Tires are 31 by 4.95 inch, low-pressure, on all models.

The steering gear is of improved semi-irreversible split bronze nut and steel worm with large adjustable ball bearings to take up wear. Steering wheel 17 inches diameter, short spark and throttle levers in center of steering wheels. Horn button on top of steering post.

The frame is of re-inforced pressed steel channel, section, exceptionally stiff and deep side members. Four heavy cross members, integral gasoline tank support and spare tire carrier.

The front springs are semi-elliptic type. The rear, cantilever type, both being exceptionally long, especially heat-treated, and adapted for each body type.

Top on open cars have a new design quarter curtain, made of special stain-proof fabric. Inside operating side curtains open with doors. Models with permanent tops, sides enclosed by glass windows adjustable for ventilation. Enclosed models with stationary type tops with windows adjustable.

Models 24, 24-A, 25, 25-A, have two-piece ventilating type windows. Top operating with adjustable friction stops to hold glass in position.

tion. These models are equipped with cowl ventilators and windshield wiper. All closed models equipped with sunshade, automatic windshield wiper, new style one-piece windshield easily raised or lowered for ventilation by handle in similar manner to windows.

All models have been equipped with drip pan for the carburetor, and completely insulated wiring which, with the attention to other details approved by the insurance underwriter's laboratories, entitle Buick owners to the lowest rate for fire and theft insurance.

As standard equipment on all models are carried thru and full head-lights with anti-glare lenses. Parking lights on cowl, tail lamp and instrument board lamp, motor driven horn, seventy-five mile speedometer, gasoline gauge, tire carrier with extra demountable rim, jack, new type high pressure grease gun, full kit of tools, pump, tire repair kit, transmission lock, cowl or windshield type ventilator, rear vision mirror, running board, scuff plates, new sunshade and dome light on all closed models, windshield wiper, automatic windshield wiper on all closed models.

GREATEST ON EARTH POSITIVELY COMING

RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY TO BRING BIGGEST SHOW THAT EVER TOURED AMERICA.

A rumor heard sometime since is now confirmed by the official announcement that the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows will positively exhibit at Detroit, July 14 and 15.

That this biggest of all amusement institutions is to come within easy distance is of unusual interest to local people because of the many changes that have taken place in this mammoth circus since it last visited this locality.

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey super-array of men and women stars has now reached a total of eight hundred of the world's premier riders, aerialists, gymnast and athletic champions. There are a hundred of the funniest clowns on earth. The total personnel of this amazing circus exceeds sixteen hundred persons. More than fifty trainers and keepers are alone required for the splendid troupes of jungle animals that are exhibited in four steel arenas as part of the gigantic program. The pachyderm line-up numbers forty-three elephants; for the main-tent stages as well as the three rings are now occupied by elephant troupes. This is the first time in circus history that five herds of elephants have been presented in a single display. The trained horse numbers have been augmented by the importation of new companies of supposedly untractable Russian stallions. Thus the various displays—sixteen in all—are equally distributed throughout the entire length of the mammoth main-tent.

Some idea of the increased size of this great circus may be had from the estimate made by a New York statistician when it was playing at Madison Square Garden. After taking a census of the Big Show's people, horses, trained animals and the thousand animals contained in its menagerie, he announced that were it possible to place them shoulder to shoulder they would form a line more than two miles long! A hundred railroad cars, all double length, are used to transport this enormous institution, its properties, paraphernalia and huge equipments. The latter include many innovations for the comfort of patrons. Among these are forty Jumbo-electric fans operated by specially designed dynamo sets that audiences may enjoy cool and freshly filtered air throughout the hours of performance.

Among these are forty Jumbo-electric fans operated by specially designed dynamo sets that audiences may enjoy cool and freshly filtered air throughout the hours of performance.

Some idea of the increased size of this great circus may be had from the estimate made by a New York statistician when it was playing at Madison Square Garden. After taking a census of the Big Show's people, horses, trained animals and the thousand animals contained in its menagerie, he announced that were it possible to place them shoulder to shoulder they would form a line more than two miles long! ## PIPE ORGAN RECITAL A SPLENDID SUCCESS

The pipe organ recital given Tuesday evening, July 1st, for the benefit of the Choir Chapter of the First Presbyterian church, was well attended. Miss Olive May Merz, organist, assisted by her instructor, Dr. Francis A. Mackay, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral of Detroit, pleased the audience with various selections which were most graciously and charmingly rendered.

Miss Marjorie Pollock of Detroit, sang a beautiful solo, "Yesterday and Today," and responded to an encore. Vocal solo, "Roses of June," was pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Carlton S. Blake. Mrs. Blake also responded to an encore.

A reception for Miss Merz and her assistants followed the musical. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with branches from Oak trees, white and yellow daisies and gorgeous baskets of roses which were artistically arranged by Harry J. Green. During the reception, Marguerite Wood played two splendid selections on the piano. Miss Merz was the recipient of many beautiful flowers. The silver offering proved that the entertainment was a real inspiration to those in attendance.

MERTHEW-WATERMAN

Miss Dorothy Waterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Waterman of Waterford, and Harold Merthew of Northville, were quietly married in Redford, last Saturday evening. They will reside in Northville. Their many friends wish them much happiness in their wedded life.
