Why You Should Build Now!

The average man builds one house in a lifetime. It means a considerable outlay of money—BUT—that house will last twenty-five years or longer, AND the amount of money required to supply the average family with food for the same period will far exceed the cost of the house. So, after all, the HOUSE is NOT the BIG item of living expense.

We will close Saturday afternoons during July and August.

VILLAGE COMMISSION HELD BUSY SESSION

At the regular meeting of the village commission held last Monday evening, taxpayers on Ann Arbor street west and Plymouth road were given an opportunity to express themselves on the paving proposition on those streets, at a public hearing on the matter. There were a goodly number of the Ann Arbor street taxpayers present, but no objections to the project were offered. None of the taxpayers on the Plymouth road pavement improvement were present.

The estimated cost of the Ann Arbor street pavement is $23,395. The property owners will pay $14,190, and the village share will be $9,205, which includes the amount for street intersections.

It is roughly estimated that the cost of the pavement to the abutting property on both sides of the street will be $2.61 per lineal foot. The commission will proceed with arrangements for the calling of a special election as soon as possible.

A petition of taxpayers on Forest avenue asking for a storm sewer, was received and passed upon favorably. The matter of erecting a storage building at the village hall was taken up for consideration by the commission. After some discussion, the matter was laid on the table.

There is no question but what such a building is badly needed. The yard at the side and rear of the village hall is certainly not in keeping with the general orderly appearance of the village. Machinery, tools and material are exposed to the weather, and this is not economy. The Chamber of Commerce recommended the erection of such a building, and we believe it is the economical thing to do.

BIG DOUBLE BILL AT LOCAL THEATRE

As an extra attraction at the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday evening, July 13th, Manager Lush has secured the Famous Ford Dixie Eight, who will appear in song numbers. These colored singers recently appeared here in the entertainment given by the Safe Driver's Club in Kellogg Park, and everybody enjoyed their singing immensely. It will be a rare treat in harmony for all who hear this well trained octette. A splendid picture will also feature the evening's program in the presentation of "Bluff" with Agnes Ayers and Antonio Moreno. There will be two shows, 7:00 and 8:30 o'clock.

INSTALLING NEW MACHINERY

Jewell, Blain & McCordle, Plymouth's enterprising plumbers, have just added two labor-saving pieces of machinery to their equipment that will be real time savers. One of the machines is an electric thread cutter that will cut a thread on piping from the smallest to the largest size used in their line of work. It does the work quickly and accurately, and is a great advantage over the old method. Another machine just installed is a brake, which will bend all kinds of sheet metal into any shape desired. It does the work smoothly, and when the work is completed it is a finished job. Machines of this kind are only found in the larger places, but Jewell, Blain & McCordle are anticipating the future growth of Plymouth, and with a desire to give their customers the best service possible, are making their equipment for doing plumbing and heating work, right up to the minute.

HANDKERCHIEF SHOWER

The ladies of the Lutheran church will hold a handkerchief shower at the home of Mrs. Walter Westphal, 273 Liberty street, Wednesday afternoon, July 16th, in preparation for the fall bazaar. Refreshments will be served, and a silver collection taken to help the young people pay off their debt. All members are urged to attend and bring their friends. Mrs. O. F. Beyer and Mrs. Walter Westphal will be hostesses for the afternoon.

G. I. CHRISTIE HEADS FARMERS' DAY PROGRAM

M. A. C. CONFERENCE AUGUST 1 TO HEAR PURDUE UNIVERSITY DIRECTOR AND FAMOUS ORATOR.

G. I. Christie, director of extension and experiment station work at Purdue University, and one of the best known and most popular speakers on agricultural topics in the country, will address the Farmers' Day meeting at the Michigan Agricultural College on Friday, August 1, according to announcement made here this week. Along with Christie on the general program will be Prof. J. T. Horner, of the M. A. C. economics department, who will discuss Effective Marketing; and A. M. Brown, of Schoolcraft, former secretary of the Michigan Agricultural College, who will trace the history of Michigan's agricultural movements under the title, "Progress in Agriculture."

One of the big features of the meeting will be the annual livestock parade or "style review." Prize winners from the various M. A. C. herds and flocks will be led past the speakers platform, while specialists from the college staff discuss the good points of the animals. The result is a combination of parade and "short course school" which proves popular with the Farm Day audiences.

Dean R. S. Shaw, acting-president of M. A. C., will preside at the afternoon meeting, while a band concert will round out the program. The morning of Farmers' Day is to be given over to inspection trips through the college barns and over the extensive experimental plots on the 1200 acre farm.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING NEXT MONDAY EVENING

Next Monday evening, the annual school meeting of District No. 1, Fractional, will take place at the High school auditorium, for the election of two trustees to take the place of William Sutherland and Mrs. D. F. Murray, whose terms of office expire at this time. Aside from the regular routine of business to be transacted, the meeting will be asked to consider the purchase of four lots on Adams street, to be used for school purposes. The meeting will be called at 7:30 o'clock, and every citizen who is interested in our public schools should attend this meeting. The annual school meeting is one of the most important public meetings of the year.

ROTARIANS AT FLAG RAISING

The Plymouth Rotary Club had a very enjoyable luncheon hour, last week Thursday. Dr. Hickey of the x-ray department of the University of Michigan, was present, and gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the work of the x-ray department at the university, and illustrated his talk by means of moving pictures.

At the close of the meeting, the members of the club were invited by Rotarian E. C. Hough to participate in the raising of a new flag at his home on Ann Arbor street. Immediately after the meeting, the members went to the Hough home where the stars and stripes were drawn to the top of a new flag pole. Following the singing of "America" by the club, President George A. Smith spoke briefly on the significance of the occasion, and the ceremony closed with the club singing the "Star Spangled Banner." It was a most pleasant occasion for those in attendance and coming just before Independence Day it was most opportune.

NEW MONUMENTAL CONCERN

E. W. Whitlock and C. J. Spilliey are the proprietors of the new concern, and the Mail welcomes them to the business circles of Plymouth.

IT PAYS TO HOLD ON

Those citizens of Plymouth who invested their money in Liberty and Victory bonds back in 1916, '17 and '18, and who have been wise enough to hold on to them, even when it looked like they stood to lose, now have cause for jubilation. Every issue is now well above par, and what is happening is just what sensible financial men of the country predicted would happen. When the bonds were first offered they were bought through patriotic motives as an investment. When they fell off from par, wise investors snapped them up eagerly, some laying the foundation for snug fortunes, when they actually advertised for the bonds and bought them at from 15c to 20c discount on the dollar. They knew that Liberty bonds would make good—and now they have.

Since the war there has been more or less trading in them. The fact that they were on the market indicated that for some reason or another their owners had to part with them, and until a few weeks ago they parted with them at a loss. But we know of some people around here who kept them securely locked up, and remained hopeful that some time they would be worth what they figured they would be when they bought them—and a sensible investment. Today they realize that they have used good judgment, for Liberty bonds are worth more than 100 cents on the dollar.

The moral is—never bet against anything that Uncle Sam is back of. Hold to your U. S. bonds if you've got any, and if you haven't try to get hold of some. They are now, and always will be, the safest and best investment in the world.

ABUSING THE HORN

The auto horn is an essential part of a car's equipment, we suppose, else it would not be put on every machine that comes out of the factories. But we believe a vast majority of Plymouth citizens will agree with us when we say that it can be made a bigger nuisance than any other part of a car. Unnecessary use of the auto horn gets on people's nerves, and never accomplishes any good purpose. If a driver is blocking the road ahead of you, sound your horn. But when he indicates that he has heard you, but can't move on, common sense ought to teach you that blowing your horn continuously isn't going to open up traffic any more speedily. When a pedestrian is crossing the street, it is very easy to honk the horn in a violent manner and so frustrate and confuse him as to develop an accident. There is a right and a wrong way to use your voice. And the driver who hasn't learned to use it the right way deserves as little respect as he shows other people.

OUR WORST HABIT

We're all possessed of habits we'd be better off without, but we feel that if a canvass of Plymouth residents was made today the majority would vote that the habit of saying unkind things about other people is the worst habit that we have. Yet all of us are guilty of it, more or less. We may call it criticism, but that doesn't take away the fact that it is a bad habit. It grows on one just as any other habit, and ere long the victim finds it impossible to see any good in his neighbor—he can only find fault with him, with his church, his school system or the town in general. It is a wise rule to say something good about people or say nothing at all, and the man or woman who makes that a practice comes nearer being free of the criticizing habit than anyone else. All of us detest a gossip, and yet a gossip is only a person who has grown into the habit of criticizing. Let us hope that some day we will give this subject more thought than we have yet given it, that we will discover there are more good things to say of a neighbor than there are bad things, if we will only look for the good ones.

DON'T HOG-TIE YOUR DOLLARS

Here's a maxim that has guided many a merchant to success: "Money is made in turnovers; Money is lost in leftovers." Solid stocks, chained to the shelves, eat their heads off in carrying charges. The merchant who lets his goods dwindle in the store for lack of selling policy—backed by steady advertising—is hog-tying his dollars and cheating himself. Quick turnovers cut down interest charges and operating expenses. It multiplies the number of profits per year for each invested dollar, and it therefore permits a lower price on goods. Lower prices bring more customers. Where is there in Plymouth a business man who wants to argue that as long as he has got the goods he isn't losing money? Where is there a man who can dispute the fact that no merchant is making money if he isn't turning over his stock? And where is there one to argue that advertising won't turn over stock—get it off the shelves—quicker than anything else in the world?

FORGETTING

We are so used nowadays to wonderful things that we are apt to forget their application to our needs. Some people, for instance, forget that a very efficient general servant waits behind the electric push-button in their homes.

It should be remembered that lighting is only one of the functions of this ever-present, never-tiring servant. It will also respond to your call, at any hour of the twenty-four, to perform, perfectly and at trifling cost, your heaviest and most tiring house-work.

Your washing, your ironing, your sweeping, your dish washing, can all be done electrically at immense saving of your time, your health and your strength.

Today's Reflections

Every Plymouth man is boss of his own home—when his family is away.

Wonder if we're coming to the time when a man will have to wait in a barber shop for his wife to have her hair bobbed?

When a woman gets so angry with her husband that words fail her, she ought to hit him with a dictionary.

When you heard a Plymouth family talking about a machine twenty years ago, they meant a sewing machine.

After forty or fifty years eating practice, some men never know when they have had enough.

We like winter better than summer because getting cold doesn't wilt your collar down.

Our idea of a good citizen is the Plymouth man who doesn't consider himself too dignified to swat a few flies.

We take this stand on the marriage question, that the man who can't stay at home ought to stay single.

It may be that "there's no place like home," but we don't know of even one man in Plymouth who isn't always glad to get a vacation.

How does it come that you never read where a poor man has been sued for breach of promise?

Some fellows aim pretty high—and then go off half-cocked or forget to pull the trigger.

A Plymouth boy's idea of a hypocrite is the pupil who goes to school with a smile on his face.

When things go wrong in Cuba, they start a revolution, and when they go wrong here the senate starts an investigation and makes things worse.

Some fellows say their favorite perfume is "New Mown Hay," and yet they never cut the weeds on the vacant lots they own.

You never heard of a divorcee around Plymouth in the good old days when friend wife had to hammer her alimony out of friend husband with a rolling pin.

As a usual thing the fellow out making political speeches is after a whole lot more votes.

Still another trouble about wars is the fellows who start them have money enough to pay an expert to beat the tax assessment for them.

USE BARRIERS TO STOP ARMY WORMS

SERIOUS PESTS REPORTED IN STATE—M. A. C. GIVES CONTROL MEASURES.

Control measures to stop the army worms, serious crop pests which have been reported recently from different sections of the state, have been given out by the entomology department at the Michigan Agricultural College.

A warning that the army worms might break out in the state this year was sent out a week ago by Prof. R. H. Pettit, of the college staff. Since that time reports have confirmed the prediction that farmers would have to be on guard against the pest this year.

"When a farm or field is found to be infested with army worms," says Professor Pettit, "there is usually no hope of saving the occupied fields or portions of fields. It becomes imperative at once to take measures to prevent the spread of an army to uninvaded parts. To do this, place barriers in the furrows." Usually about three deep, clean-cut furrows placed parallel, about ten or twelve feet apart will stop them. Turn the furrows toward the advancing worms, and when each fills up, turn it under, leaving a fresh furrow, burying the worms already in the furrows and making ready a new one at once.

"When the soil is sandy, mucky, or otherwise, difficult to make stand in a clean-cut furrow, or when there is no room for a series of furrows, make one good deep furrow and drag a small log through it and forth through the furrow, crushing the larvae as fast as they collect. Army-worms are poor climbers, and one finds them easy to confine in a furrow.

"The same baits as those used against other cut-worms may be used to advantage in gardens or lawns and in places where some of the larvae get by the barriers."

DEATH TOLLS PAID AT GRADE CROSSINGS

Some otherwise than sane person willing to take a chance at a grade crossing and gamble with death. How many of these chance-taking folks there are is attested by the death tolls payable at railroad crossings. Here is a visualization of what happens to those who do not stop, don't look and don't listen when they come to grade crossings, but take a chance to beat the train to it. The party in this car took the chance. They disregarded the flagman's signal. The inevitable smash and loss resulted. It was the most realistic grade accident which could happen. The stunt was staged by the New York Central railway in connection with the automobile club of Corning, N. Y., at Corning, as a warning to those who are apt to become careless when coming to a grade crossing. The figures in this case were dumfries. They didn't know better—don't be a dummy. Be careful.

BUICK WILL CONTINUE TO BUILD MODERATE PRICED CARS

One of the most significant facts in the announcement by Buick this week of its Standard Six models, is that Buick will remain in the class of builders of moderate price cars. Speculation was rife previous to this announcement as to the likelihood of Buick's bringing out a car that would be considerably higher in price than any it had produced before—a car that might be a competitor in what is known as the exclusive "fine car" field.

Those who have followed Buick's history carefully, however, were more or less prepared for the launching of this new car, which is taken to be good evidence Buick will not retire from this division or the six cylinder field it has dominated for so many years. One reason, perhaps, why this rumor persisted so strongly was because Buick was first among the large volume producers to equip its cars with four wheel brakes as it did a year ago, and likewise to introduce many other improvements of chassis and lines—all of which gave its car greater value.

A careful inspection of the Standard Six models shows even the laymen that they are Buick through and through—with the same type of engine, of clutch and rear axle that have contributed so much to Buick's record of performance for so many seasons. With these models it is evident that Buick is providing a lessor price than has been in effect since the war, a Buick six cylinder car that will record even greater performance accomplishments than were reported from the cars at that time. In addition to four wheel brakes these new cars have many other outstanding features that contribute to their responsiveness at the wheel and their work on the road.

That Buick is not blind to the enthusiastic reception its large six cylinder cars have received during the past year may be seen from the line of Master Six models, which likewise are on display this week for the first time. Comment seems to be that these cars will prove the stiffest competition for all manufacturers in the upper portion of the six cylinder field.

TEN MILLIONTH FORD SPEEDING ACROSS COUNTRY

With half its journey from New York to San Francisco completed, the Ten Millionth Ford car is rolling along across the western states towards the Pacific, reeling off a vivid and colorful motion picture for the automotive history of America.

Crossing the Missouri river into Nebraska, the sturdy little car that represents ten million transportation units of one kind, left behind it for the eastern section of the United States along the Lincoln Highway a picture that will live long in the memory of the thousands that enjoyed it—a picture filled with enthusiastic scenes, lengthy processions and unique features, all in tribute to the great industry of which the car is a product.

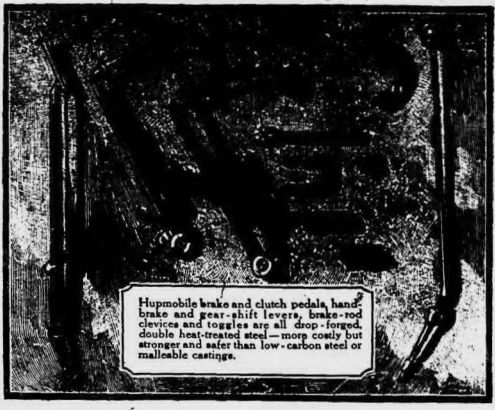

As it progresses westward the picture takes on a new and varied atmosphere, with the great welcoming hand of the West outstretched to receive it and send it on its journey to the coast.

Entry of the Ten Millionth Ford into Chicago was triumphant, if anything, for it was accompanied by a parade of 300 cars. The trip across Illinois was one ovation after another. At Clinton, where the car entered Iowa, the state in which rain has lately been trying to outdo the corn, it was greeted by a big delegation of Ford dealers, a band of Scotch bag pipers and songs written to the optimistic tune of "It Ain't Goin' to Rain No More." At Omaha city officials are preparing a warm welcome for the car, and will participate in the big parade which will feature its entry into Nebraska's metropolis.

Former Plymouth Girl Writes

Interestingly of California Trip

The following interesting letter was written for the school by Miss Mazie Jones, a former pupil, who recently moved to California:

Monday, May 21st, the day of our auction was cold and rainy, but we waited patiently the Wednesday when we were to start for California. That morning dawned bright and sunny, for which we were glad as we could remember our last day in Michigan to be at least nice. Finally the train steamed in, and there followed a hurried rush of adieus and we were on the train travelling away from Plymouth to Chicago, reaching there at 5:00 p. m. After waiting six hours, we boarded our Overland train for the coast. Our reservations were made, so the porter was waiting to show us to our births. We all spent a very restful night, and rather exciting experience as the first place we stopped was Kansas City, where we obtained a new porter; the one we had broke the Volstead Act and as a result stole sixty dollars from a woman on the train. It was all a rather exciting experience and relieved the monotony of the trip. While stopping there, we walked around the depot to while the time, and saw the Montgomery Ward buildings and The National Suit Co.

It took us all day Thursday to cross the state of Kansas. The eastern part certainly was pretty, with cute little houses surrounded by neat little fences, and the stations with the green vines and flowers that were to be found all along the way. But as we went westward, the homes became more scattered and the land extremely black.

We ate dinner at Marcelline, and from there to Hutchinson, where we ate supper, the land was rolling and gloomy. When we reached Hutchinson it was twilight, and the city was wonderful with its clean streets and bright boulevard lights. It looked like a fairy city dropped in the midst of midnight.

At Las Vegas, Colorado, we stopped for lunch. It was just a little town planted in the center of the plains. Beyond this was Diablo Canyon, a great mass of precipitous walls which formed a natural canyon that the earth's crust had rent and time had eroded. It lay near the zone of desert expanses. It was here that we saw our first snow-capped mountains, and it certainly gives one a thrill when he looks upon his first view of the mountains. They look as though one could touch them, but they are about one hundred miles from the track.

In Arizona we got our first glimpse of the desert. It was indeed desolate. All one could see was miles and miles of sage brush covered land. The desert is almost entirely inhabited by Mexicans and Indians. Their houses are low built adobe buildings of the Spanish type, with not a tree or living thing surrounding them, and the sand whirls and shifts constantly. It seemed a mean existence, and no white man could live that way.

We stopped at Albuquerque, New Mexico, for lunch, and as the train remained an hour, we got off and wandered through the Indian Museum, which is situated near the station. As we entered the building, Indians sitting on the floor called to us in their high pitched, cracked voices for us to buy their wares. The interior of the building proved fascinating indeed: Mexican and Indian trinkets were on display everywhere. In one room Indians were weaving the Navajo rugs and carding the wool; another contained nothing but woven baskets of raffia and reeds. Just outside of Albuquerque we crossed the Rio Grande river, whose waters were red and dirty looking.

Saturday morning we arrived at Flagstaff Peaks. It is just another typical western town set in between two mountains. The elevation here is seventy-five hundred feet; it makes one feel all quivery inside and as though he were walking on air.

Just beyond this begins the real pine forests, and they surely are beautiful, so fine and straight; millions of them. One could look away up and see the trees that grow perpendicular to the mountainside. Beyond this where the desert begins, one sees just once in a while a little Mexican adobe to break the monotony of the trip. From there on to the state of California, there is nothing but desert. The hot waves make everything look hazy.

At one place that we stopped, there was an old Indian couple named Jim and Jenny by passengers of the overland train. We called to them, and immediately they answered in their high pitched voices, "Penny! Penny!" When the passengers said they would give them a penny, she came hobbling to the train. One person asked her how old she was, and her husband said "sweet sixteen," but we found out later that she was one hundred and six years old.

Gradually we came into the mountains, and on every side we saw different varieties of cacti. Some of them grew up higher than a man's head; some grew like enormous trees with great pointed spikes. Then the Yucca bloomed everywhere, loaded with cream colored waxen flowers.

We reached Needles at six p. m., Saturday, and from there on we saw our first glimpse of sunny California. Roses were in bloom everywhere, vines were crawling over the buildings; a real paradise of sunshine and flowers. Our train waited there an hour for dinner, so we had quite a long time to enjoy the beautiful scenery. We were soon speeding once more on our journey, and at sunset we were entering the barren wastes of the desert once more. Nothing but rocks, shrubs and hot sand, so we were glad to retire to our births at nine-thirty. All were awake at four a. m., and sitting by the windows watching the acres of orange groves across the golden fruit of California. At 8:00 a. m., our train steamed into Los Angeles, and we bid a hasty good-by to our fellow travelers, and our five loved ones were waiting with arms full of roses, to give us a hearty welcome to the Golden West, the land of sunshine and flowers. My big brother took us to the top of the palisades, where we caught our first glimpse of the great Pacific. It is all too wonderful for words to express and must be seen to be appreciated. The bright sunshine, the vast expanse of water and deep blue waves as they were rolling on the white sandy beach, the hazy mist away over the mountain tops, the wonderful Palisades covered with the verigated shades of flowers, the winding paths lined with roses and bright geraniums in bloom the whole year; this is my first impression of Santa Monica, California.

In the afternoon, we took a ride to the top of Topanga Canyon, an elevation of sixteen hundred feet, and it certainly was rightly named "The Garden of the Gods." With the ever changing scenery and the snow-capped mountains in the distance, it seemed too wonderful to be real. We take a ride along the ocean front nearly every evening to watch the sun sink across the ocean and behind the mountain tops. And the glorious view with the silence unbroken except the roar of the waves, bring to us tender memories of our friends back East. And we cannot help but long to have them with us to enjoy the wonders of the Golden West where the sun always shines and the birds always sing, the roses always bloom, and life seems really worth the struggle away from the snow and cold of old Michigan. We are all very happy and content, and send our regards and best wishes to our friends back east, and give you all a hearty welcome to visit us in sunny California.

Sincerely,
Mazie Jones

Thirty relatives and friends came out from the city, and helped Rev. and Mrs. Paul Havens celebrate the glorious Fourth, at the new M. E. parsonage. We make, paint, repair and store house screens.

Our screens are made as follows: All frames are made of the best quality lumber put together with mortise and tenon joints and pinned. All frames are given one coat of primer before wire is applied and covered with a 16-mesh galvanized wire, making them mosquito and bug proof.

All frames are made 1 1/8 inch thick where building permits. We take the measurements so there will be no mistakes.

We install them if you so desire, so it will not be necessary to hire another man to finish the work. We furnish all hardware, either japanned or brass.

GAYDE BROS.

THE THEATRE

"THE WHITE MOTH"

Gay Paree, its glamorous night life, the theatre, the brilliant Bal des Artistes, a beautiful dancer known as The White Moth, who is the idol of the stage, an extraordinary romance—these are some of the chief ingredients that went into the making of "The White Moth." First National picture which will be shown at the Pennington Allen Theatre on Saturday, July 12.

Two young American millionaires, brothers, visit Paris, and one of them who is already engaged, falls in love with The White Moth. The other, in order to prevent the marriage, weds her himself, and the same day leaves his bride. This is the unusual situation that brings about what is said to be one of the most novel of denouements ever screened.

Barbara La Marr has the title role as The White Moth and in it she is said to give the screen her best characterization. Conway Tesler, co-featured with her, portrays the brother who goes through the marriage ceremony. The other brother is played by Ben Lyon.

Maurice Tourneur, the great French director, produced "The White Moth" from Izola Forrester's story of the same name, and the supporting cast includes such well known names as Charles de Roche, Edna Murphy, Josie Sedgwick, Kathleen Kirkham and William Orlamond.

"BLUFF"

"Bluff," the new Sam Wood production for Paramount which comes to the Pennington Allen Theatre Sunday, July 13th, is a story of a pretty young gown designer, who goes to New York to earn a living. She does so. Her method is bluff. Agnes Ayers and Antonio Moreno are featured in the production which was adapted to the screen by Willis Goldbeck from the magazine short story by Rita Weiman and Josephine L. Quirk.

Miss Ayers plays Betty Halliwell. She is down to her last dime and has a brother, invalidated in an automobile accident, on her hands. Betty searches without results for work, when she hits upon the bright idea of impersonating a certain internationally famous beauty, Nina Loring, whom she greatly resembles. Now the contracts for her gown designs come pouring in, while, as Betty, the modistes wouldn't even favor her with an interview.

But Nina Loring is wanted in London for embezzling Red Cross funds. Betty is arrested, but Robert Fitzmaurice (Antonio Moreno), attorney for the people in London, sees through Betty's bluff and, although he doesn't know her game, is sure it is nothing crooked. He takes over her defense, bluffs a politically controlled deputy of police into his way of thinking and—but that would be telling too much of the story.

"Bluff" has been produced with a light comedy touch and is a real novelty as picture entertainment goes.

E. H. Calvert, Clarence Burton and Fred Butler head the strong supporting cast. Others are Roscoe Karns, Jack Gardner, Pauline Paquette and Arthur Hoyt.

"THE CONFIDENCE MAN"

Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture, "The Confidence Man," which will be shown at the Pennington Allen Theatre, Wednesday, July 16th, is a crook romance with a brand new angle and bristling with punches—and not unlike "The Miracle Man."

Meighan chose it from over one hundred and fifty stories that he considered. It was written by Laurie York Erskine and Robert H. Davis and ran as a serial in Argosy All-Story Weekly. So did "The Miracle Man." Victor Herman directed, and the supporting cast is A.A.-1.

In the story, the strongest Meighan has had in months, the star has the role of Dan Corvan, the greatest of all confidence men. He is the master-mind type of crook rather than the plug-ugly kind. Corvan hooks an old sucker, Queritt, falls in love with a young country girl, (Virginia Valli), plays philanthropist to get "in right" with the town-folk, collects from Queritt and prepares to skip town.

But the real action starts when Corvan is exposed for the crook he is. Laurence, Wheat and Charles Dow Clark have prominent supporting roles in the cast. Others include Helen Lindroth, Jimmy Lapsley, Margaret Seddon, David Higgins, George Nash and Dorothy Walters.

CANDIDATE FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY HERE MONDAY

Frederick B. Brown, candidate for prosecuting attorney on the Republican ticket, was in Plymouth, Monday. In discussing his platform Mr. Brown said among other things:

"It will be my policy, if elected, to personally try as many of the important cases as possible," said Mr. Brown. "I will gather about me the very best organization of assistants that can be procured, and in this organization there must be at least a half dozen aggressive trial lawyers who will be able to give the people's side of the case at least an even chance with the defense.

"I believe the most effective way of enforcing laws and instilling respect for the law into the minds of people is to promptly and vigorously prosecute all cases. Having this in mind, I would insist that every case be disposed of without delay, and that every assistant assigned to a case prepare himself on the facts and the law in advance, and be in court ready to insist upon immediate trial.

"When defendants are in jail awaiting trial, their cases should be promptly disposed of not only in the public interest, but in fairness to the defendants themselves, and when defendants are out on bail, the interests of society demand that instead of adjournments time after time, the cases be tried immediately when reached.

"Vigorous and relentless prosecution of criminals and the trial of cases himself were the foundations of the great success of the late Allen H. Frazer as prosecuting attorney, and I think that conditions in Wayne county at the present time demand a similar administration of the prosecutor's office.

Mr. Brown's entrance into the race for the office of Prosecuting Attorney was occasioned through the efforts of a committee of Detroit and Wayne County business men who recently sent him the following communication:

"There is an imperative demand in the minds of the residents and taxpayers in Wayne County and the City of Detroit for a capable and aggressive Prosecuting Attorney to continue and extend the good work being done towards the enforcement of the law. Because we believe that you possess these qualities, by reason of your broad training and experience in the general practice of law and in the office of Prosecuting Attorney of a near-by county; and because we know you to be a firm believer in law observance and enforcement, we earnestly urge upon you that you become a candidate for nomination on the Republican ticket for office of Prosecuting Attorney.

"We believe the demand for such a man as you in this office is so great that the time and expense of a campaign would be very greatly minimized if you would consent to be a candidate. If you will do so, here and now we pledge you our unwavering and active support both for the nomination and the election, and we hope you will hear the call and permit us to make the fight for you."

Mr. Brown is a practicing attorney with offices at 1212 First National Bank Building, Detroit. He has been a resident of Detroit 12 years. Prior to that time he was Prosecuting Attorney of St. Clair County. He is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law, where he is now a member of the faculty. For five years after coming to Detroit he was general attorney for the Pere Marquette Railroad. He is general counsel and a member of the Board of Directors of the Realty Trust Co., also holding similar offices in the Railroad Warehouse, Incorporated. Mr. Brown was commissioned by President Harding as a major in the Judge Advocate General's Officer's Reserve Corps, the legal department of the United States Army, which commission he still holds.

City comforts for country homes

The city dweller need no longer feel sorry for his "country brother," because he lacks city conveniences; unless the "country brother" wishes it that way.

Running water, indoor water closets, a complete bathroom, modern kitchen and laundry and sanitary sewage disposal, all of these are available to the farm or suburban home—as cheap or cheaper than they are in the city.

No room in any house represents as much value in health and comfort as the bathroom. A visit to our store will show you economical ways and means of putting the most important of city comforts and conveniences in any farm or suburban home.

AROUND ABOUT US

Redford has hopes of securing a 21-acre park for that enterprising village.

Two thousand eight hundred students enrolled at the University of Michigan summer school.

Thomas Meighan and George Beban, two movie artists of nation-wide reputation, are guests at the Island Lake hotel for two weeks.

Ypsilanti celebrated its first Fourth of July just 100 years ago last Friday. There were just twenty-eight persons present at the celebration at that time.

The Detroit House Car Company is the name of Wayne's newest industry. The "House Car" is just what the name signifies. It is a house built upon a Reo chassis, and is therefore also a car. Inside this "house" may be found all the conveniences and advantages found in any home.

Charles and George Bentley celebrated their birthday anniversaries with a day's outing and dinner at Deer Lake Inn, last Tuesday. In the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuckey, and also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lee and daughter of Plymouth.—Redford Record.

Of the more than 40 miles of highway between Howell and Lansing which is being improved, 20 miles have already been paved thus far this summer. The state highway department is authorized by the statement that Grand River avenue between Detroit and Lansing will be continuous pavement before the frost arrives the coming fall.—Redford Record.

Fish experts for the Michigan Conservation Commission are to make a special study of the conditions affecting fish in Oakland county lakes this summer. Commissioner John Baird of Lansing, has received complaints from various parts of Oakland county to the effect that fish, blue-gills in particular, are dying from what is believed to be a disease of malignant form.

According to reports circulated in the village, the Wayne county members of the Ku Klux Klan have purchased the farm of Sam Bills, on the Middle Belt road, and intend to create a recreation spot for the property for Klan members and their families. It is also reported that initiation and ceremony, attended by several hundred people, was held on the farm, Saturday night.—Wayne Weekly.

The proposed annexation of Dearborn township to the village of Dearborn, which would have increased the latter's area from four square miles to 36 square miles, was rejected by voters at a special election held June 24th. They approved an appropriation of $20,000 to provide for new fire equipment, a rest room, jail facilities, a public works building and remodeling the village hall. A bond issue will be floated to carry out the program.

TECUMSEH CELEBRATED 100TH ANNIVERSARY

Tecumseh celebrated the 100th anniversary of the founding of the village, last week Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The village was fittingly decorated for the occasion, with relics of a bygone age, in each store window and flags in profusion.

A pageant depicting the history of the nation, as well as of Tecumseh, was given its initial performance Friday evening in a natural amphitheatre near the village, and Saturday evening it was presented again.

The cast was drawn from Tecumseh, Adrian, Clinton, and other communities, and the amphitheatre was near the old Pottawattamie camping grounds and the secret ball room, where the savages abandoned themselves to their ritualistic dances. In nine episodes the pageant dealt with the discovery of America by Columbus, the Revolutionary and other wars, the march of the pioneers westward, the settlement of Tecumseh and Lenawee county, and then, step by step, it traced progress up to the present.

Plymouth's 100th anniversary occurs next year. Are we going to commemorate the event? If so, it is none too early to begin planning for it now.

A CARD—I wish to extend my sincerest appreciation and thanks to the members of St. John's Guild, Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary and W. C. T. U., also to all friends for their beautiful flowers and numerous kindnesses shown me during my illness.

Emma C. Oliver.

TAX REMOVED ON TOLL AND LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE MESSAGES.

Removal of the federal tax on toll and long distance telephone messages, effective at midnight, July 2, is resulting already in greater use of that service, according to Roy E. Crowe, manager here for the Michigan Bell Telephone company. That is particularly true of the use of the circuits to nearby points, he states.

Repeal of the federal tax on telephone messages was contained in the 1924 revenue act, recently signed by President Coolidge. The government tax on telephone toll traffic was felt to a greater extent by users of "short haul" messages—those to nearby points—than by users of the longer circuits, Mr. Crowe says. That was due to the fact that the tax on messages costing from 15 to 50 cents was five cents, while on messages costing more than fifty cents the tax was 10 cents, which was the maximum impost. The proportion of the tax charged on messages over the short circuits, was considerably the greater.

Records of the Michigan Bell company show that the greater number of toll calls from the local exchange are made to nearby points. That means that the removal of the federal tax will effect a considerable saving on toll messages costing more than 15 cents.

Toll rates to points most frequently called from the local exchange, together with the federal tax imposed per message, prior to July 2, are shown in the following table:
Ann Arbor, .15, tax 5.
Pontiac, .20, tax 5.
Detroit, .20, tax 5.
Flint, .35, tax 5.
Jackson, .40, tax 5.
Lansing, .50, tax 5.

To a person or firm making considerable use of the toll wires, the removal of the federal tax is a large item, Mr. Crowe says. The tax was assessed in addition to the regular federal, state and other taxes paid by the telephone company, and was charged as provided by the law, direct to the user of the service. Mr. Crowe announces that the Michigan Bell company, anticipating increased use of the toll wires with the removal of the federal tax July 2, has prepared, both with equipment and personnel, to care for the added call upon its service.

GRANGE NOTES

Plymouth Grange held the July meeting Friday evening, June 27. After the business program, roll call was responded to by quotations on "Liberty." S. W. Spicer's ideas on "Teaching Agriculture in the public schools," and the discussion which followed approved the plan, as a better understanding tends toward increased interest which means, oft times, the adoption of improved methods to the advantage of all concerned.

A violin solo by Mrs. Postiff, who also accompanied the piano for the singing, was a pleasing feature. Elizabeth Spicer added spice to the occasion with her recitation, "When Ma Wants Something New." Mrs. Alma Spicer presented a few personal memories of the late Oliver Wilcox of this, Past Master of the National Grange, and read a portion of the obituary published in the National Grange Monthly. Following numbering and the penny drill, grange closed without form, to meet the Friday evening following the first Thursday, August 8th. Remember the Lily Club at J. F. Root's, Tuesday evening, July 15th.

5 ELEPHANT HERDS IN PLACE OF THREE

RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY INCREASE ENTIRE PROGRAM IN LIKE PROPORTION.

Traveling on a hundred railroad cars carrying more than 1600 people—including 800 of the greatest men and women stars ever assembled—the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows will exhibit in Detroit, July 14 and 15.

The 1924 program of the Greatest Show on Earth introduces a policy of augmentation in every department. For the first time in history five troupes of performing elephants are presented in place of three. These number three companies of giant tuskers in the rings and two herds of baby elephants in steel-structured stakes. Splendid troupes of trained Russian stallions have been added to the European equine displays, and menage and high-school horse numbers increased in like proportion.

Equestrianism is one of the outstanding features. May Wirth, the greatest of all bareback riders; the entire Wirth family, the hurricane comedy rider, "Phil, the marvel" and Rieffensch Sisters, performing sensational acrobatic feats on running horses, but suggest the name of the more than seventy equestrians presented. No less amazing are the scores of modern physical culture champions who perform aloft in the mammoth big-top. Berta Beeson, premier high-wire artist, leads an entire congress of mid-aerial stars, Lily Leitzel, most noted of all aerial gymnasts, heads a world-famous galaxy of fair women athletes. Lillian Kinsaid is foremost among beautiful girls who perform in "revolving cloud swings" at the very dome of the tent. Jenny Roney leads a score of artists on the single and double trapeze.

Further pursuing their policy of bigness in displays throughout the entire length of the main-tent, the Ringling Brothers have united the famous English Clarkonians with the American Nelsons in super-casting acts. This augmented company of artists are pitted against the Silbon, Siegrist and Neapolitan troupes in the most remarkable aerial casting acts ever seen in a circus big-top.

In contrast with the human side of the Big Show are two hundred trained wild animals numbering lions, tigers, coal-black panthers and giant polar bears, exhibited in four big steel arenas. In addition are the "hundred funniest clowns on earth," scores of stage and hippodrome displays, a gorgeous opening pageant of fairyland features, and a menagerie of more than a thousand rare animals.
