FORMAL OPENING OF NEW GARAGE

ALLISON-BACHELDOR MOTOR SALES OBSERVE COMPLETION OF THEIR NEW GARAGE ALL NEXT WEEK.

On another page of the Mail will be found a full page advertisement announcing the formal opening of the new garage of the Allison-Bachelor Motor Sales of this village, which takes place all next week, and at which time Messrs. Allison and Bachelor cordially invite the public to call and see the improvements that have been made in the building, which was practically destroyed by fire several months ago. A special display of Chevrolet Superior and DeLuxe models will be on exhibit. A pleasing souvenir will be given away during the week. Visitors from the surrounding country are especially invited to visit the new garage on Plymouth Day, September 11th.

During the week an exhibition motor will demonstrate the operations of the Chevrolet motor.

The new garage presents a very fine appearance, and is a decided improvement on Main street. The front of the building has been completely changed. There is no drive-in from the front as heretofore, but the front is given over to large display windows with a door in the center. Large display windows also occupy the front of the upper story. On the ground floor is a large display room, which takes in the greater part of the front of the building, where a complete line of Chevrolet models is on display. The office and accessories department occupy the east side, at the front of the building. The drive-in to the storage and service departments is at the rear of the building. Cars are taken to the service department, which is on the second floor of the building, by means of a ramp. The most up-to-date facilities and machinery will be installed in the service department, which is in charge of trained mechanics.

The garage has ample storage capacity for cars on the first floor. It is a splendid building in every particular, and is not only a credit to the Messrs. Allison and Bachelor, but the village of Plymouth as well.

"We made a mistake in last week's issue," says the editor of a Connecticut paper. "A good subscriber told us about it. The same day there was a letter in our post office box that didn't belong to us. We called for 98 over the telephone and got
198. We asked for a spool of No.
50 thread, and when we got home we found it was No. 60. The train was reported 20 minutes late. We arrived at the depot 20 minutes after train time and the train was gone.
We got our milk bill and there was a mistake of 10c in our favor. We felt sick and the doctor said we were eating too much meat. We hadn't tasted meat for two months. The garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer. We cleaned a spark plug and it's run fine ever since. Yes, we made a mistake in last week's issue of the paper.

A STEAMBOAT SERMON

We see a news item to the effect that the pastor of a New York church accompanied members of his congregation on a steamboat excursion up the Hudson river, and during the ride the pastor preached a sermon. He didn't pick a high-brow text and rant about international relations or sex problems—he merely asked the question: "Are you glad you were born?"

We hereby pass the text on to the men and women of Plymouth and surrounding territory. It is a pertinent question, and if you are truly glad that you were born, then it is well with you and well with the world because of you. The pastor contended that joy in life is found in the opportunity to help others solve their problems. He believes it is a great thing to come into the world for a purpose, and to find out what that purpose is. He argued that a little kindness, a helpful word, a little service may assist in the rebuilding of a life struggling at the verge of despair.
It was an old-fashioned sermon—
the kind that has saved the world up to this present hour, and when they returned home from that excusion, members of the congregation urged the pastor to preach more of the same kind. "We don't want high-brow stuff," they said, "we don't want you to preach just to show how learned you are; we want something that satisfies the heart and gives you ease and comfort."

FOOD MAKES THE WORK

If men didn't have to eat, the life of the woman who lives on a farm would be comfortable and free from care. But, aside from the time she spends worrying about what to eat, the average farm woman spends more than a third of her waking hours preparing and serving meals, according to records kept on Missouri housewives for the past four years. We believe the same results would be found in rural homes around Plymouth. The women of Missouri averaged 15.3 hours a day up and about. Subtract, time spent in dressing and recreation, they put in 11.3 hours every day at household duties, or about an hour and a half more than the farm laborer usually works in a day.
The year round their days were divided this way: Preparing and serving meals, 34.7 per cent; care of the house, 9.8 per cent; personal and recreation, 25 per cent; garden, poultry and dairy, 9 per cent; sewing, 5.4 per cent; washing, 4.9 per cent; children's care, 2.4; miscellaneous, 8.8 per cent.
In January, February and October, the housewife spent less time on household duties than in the other months of the year; March, May, June and September seemed to be the heaviest, according to the carefully kept records.

And though Sunday has been called a day of rest, the Missouri farm wives averaged seven and one-half hours of actual housework every Sabbath day. We wonder how this would average up around here?

HIX FAMILY REUNION

The Hix reunion was held at the tourist camp, Saturday, August 30.
A beautiful dinner was served at one o'clock to which all did ample justice. After dinner was over all partook in playing games and visiting.
There were eighty-three members of the family and several visitors present. The relatives were from Los Angeles, Calif.; Detroit, Meccosta, Milan, Perrineville, Inkster, Wayne and Northville. Everyone enjoyed themselves and had such a fine time, they voted for the reunion to be held at the tourist camp next year.

ALEXANDER-GAYDE

A very pretty home wedding took place on September 1st, at eight o'clock, when Miss Clara Gayde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gayde, became the bride of Lysle
Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs.
George Alexander of Northville. The beautiful ring ceremony was used, Rev. Charles Strasen officiating. Miss Hannah Strasen played the wedding march. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father was lovely in a white lace gown and carried a beautiful bouquet of shower roses.
Miss Helen Gayde attended her sister as maid of honor, and was gowned in pink chiffon over satin and carried a bouquet of pink roses.
Earl Alexander, brother of the groom, was best man. Following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served to about fifty relatives and friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Alexander left for Osego Lake, and upon their return will reside at their home on North Mill street.

Besides the groom's parents, the out of town guests were: Mrs. Celia
I. Hurd of Holly; Miss H. Schober, L. Lenhardt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Merrill of Detroit; Miss Helen Penney, Miss Helen Lanning, Miss Helen Cunningham, William Foss and Merrill Sweet of Northville.

OLD MILL SERVICE STATION OPENS.

The opening of the Old Mill Service Station at Bentley's Hill Crest Farm on the Five Mile road, last Friday and Saturday, was well attended.
The horseshoe pitching contest, Friday afternoon, brought out a large number of contestants for this sport.
Mrs. Mayme Francisco, the world's champion woman horseshoe pitcher, was present and gave a splendid demonstration of her wonderful ability in pitching the iron shoes right to the stake, making ringers and double ringers almost at will. There was dancing on both evenings, and a ball game on Saturday afternoon between Rough and Ready and the Center Line teams, the Rough and Ready team winning by a score of 3 to 1.
This service station, besides catering to the wants of the autoist in the way of gasoline, oils, etc., will dispense soft drinks, cigars, candies, etc., and will no doubt become a popular stopping place for motorists along the Five Mile road.

TOMS STANDS ON RECORD

"Pre election performances should outweigh pre election promises with the general voting public and that thought has been the keynote of my campaign for prosecutor," said Robert M. Toms, chief assistant prosecutor, and candidate for prosecuting attorney.

"Some of my opponents have promised a widespread clean up of vice resorts and blind pigs. They have ignored the fact that the necessary evidence must be secured by the police before the prosecutor can act. The nuisance abatement act, usually called the padlock act, has been a very effective weapon in dealing with disorderly houses and the blind pig situation. At present proceedings to padlock 14 resorts are in course of preparation. Since the first of the year 44 places have been padlocked and 23 other establishments, against which proceedings were instituted, have been vacated by the obnoxious tenants."

Some of the more notorious establishments padlocked were the Paris cafe on Grand River at the Townline road; Hattie Miller's at 495 Alfred street, Detroit; the La Belle Inn on the Six Mile road, The Eldorado hotel on Winder street, Detroit, in the rear of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church, was hurriedly vacated after proceedings against it were started. These proceedings were directed by Toms.

During Toms' six years in the prosecutor's office, he personally handled 600 cases of various sorts successfully. Only 915 cases out of more than 23,000 handled by the prosecutor's office last year resulted in acquittals.—Advertisement.

EAST INDIAN BARBER RETAILER OF GOSSIP

One Reason for Calling It Land Without Secrets.

"Sahib! Sahib! Six o'clock whistle!" A faint knock on my door wakens me as the last booming note dies away. The "boy," barefoot and freshly arrayed in white, with a dash of red in his voluminous turban, comes quietly into the room with a salaam for my "Good morning." I hear the splash of running water in the ghush-khans, and in a moment he returns to assure me that the water is "just as master like."

While left to his own devices, he brings in the shoes that he has been polishing for the last half hour and lays out an assortment of clothes, from which later I may make a selection for the day without the trouble of delving through the many drawers of the almirah, which he has carefully arranged on a plan of his own that no one else understands. This done, he hurries away to the cookhouse to see that Mussa, the cook, is doing his work as I would have it done; for in India the "boy," or bearer, is not merely a personal servant, but a butler as well, and as such assumes charge of the other servants.

Already a slender little man, dressed in white, with a small round hat and carrying an umbrella, has arrived. It is Lalla, the barber. In front of him and hanging from his shoulder is a leather bag of many compartments containing the instruments of his art. Each morning he is at my door; for in India it is not good form to shave one's self. If everyone did so, how could the man who is a barber born all his stomach?

The ayah, or lady's maid, is the dispenser of "society" news, but the barber is the one upon whom we depend in the small stations for knowledge of a more general nature. So, when Lalla has become interested in his task I ask, "Any news this morning?"

"Not any today, sahib."
But that is only an indication that he has not yet decided with which particular happening to regale me. After a few moments he remarked: "Burra Sahib give Esmith Sahib two month leave."

"You mean vacation?"
"No, he give leave without rupee."
"Why?"
"I not know." After a moment he goes on: "He too much drinking, not do proper work. Some time beat native. Indian very 'frald. Burra Sahib get angry, say, 'You go.' Then, after a long pause, 'Magistrat Sahib tomorrow coming.'"

"But court opens next week."
"This time coming early, quietly coming, not telling any one. Last night Kall Das arrested. Everyone say he give dipety 200 rupee."
"Does deputy take bribes?"
"God knows."
Thus I start the day in the effete East, where there are no secrets.—John V. McCarthy, in Asia Magazine.

Assassin Was Game

King Milan of Serbia, after he resigned his throne, took with him into exile a personal attendant who invariably attracted a good deal of attention, being a perfect giant of a man, with 50 inches of chest measurement and a marvelous voice. Concerning this man, and the reason for his attachment to him, Milan once told the following story: "At a state banquet in Belgrade my favorite add-camp was to poison me. The poison was actually present in my full glass. This devoted attendant touched my shoulder, told me in a whisper of my danger, and which of my guests sitting at my table had done it. I pulled myself together, stood up, and said: 'Gentlemen, a toast—Serbia. I honor X by sending him my own glass.' The miscreant took it, said, 'Long Live Serbia,' drank it to the dregs, and died on the hearth rug!"

CABBAGE GIVEN HIGH PLACE IN DIETETICS

Vegetable Worthy to Grace Table of Kings.

Should the history of the cabbage ever be written, it may prove to be unexpectedly thrilling. Remarkable facts concerning that humble vegetable have been discovered by Prof. Ruggles Gates, the botanist.

"Cabbages, kales, cauliflower and brussels sprouts," says the professor, "all originated in the wild cabbage, a native of the coast and the south of England. The cabbage, as we know it, was the first development of the wild plant, and from it appeared the cauliflower and the sprout.

"The origin of the species is lost in antiquity, but the Romans appear to have cultivated it. The remarkable thing is that each type entered more or less suddenly into the vegetable garden.

"A gardener in these ancient days may have planted a cabbage on a certain spot and have wakened up some morning to find a cauliflower or a stalk of sprouts in its place.

There was no gradual development. It happened spontaneously. In the case of the cauliflower there was an inflorescence, and the green flower became white, succulent, and fleshy, though not to the degree that we know it today.

"The sprout was the result of the cabbage, instead of confining its efforts to the attainment of one large bloom, determined to multiply itself into a numerous clump of tender heads.

"It is in this way that we now think evolution has taken place—the production of new and marked varieties with fully developed characteristics.

"As a food the cabbage has a long and honorable career," says Dr. Royal S. Copeland, commissioner of health, New York city. "It has graced the table of kings. The favorite dish of Emperor Pompey was cabbage. I have no doubt that many another ruler, if he admitted the truth, would confess a yearning for corned beef and cabbage. It must be terrible to live on ambrosia and nectar."

"Humans require roughage, coarse, indigestible material, just as animals do. Every farmer can testify to the necessity of such foods for his stock. Every dietary expert agrees that roughage must be supplied if we are to be healthy.

"Cabbage is important, then, because it supplies lime and because it furnishes roughage. When it is served with delicious mayonnaise or other dressing it makes a fit dish for any table.

"In Scotland the oatmeal is cooked in the cabbage water, making a dish called 'kale brose.' In this way the mineral elements are saved.

"Almost everybody can eat raw cabbage, but the cooked vegetable disagrees with many. As a matter of fact, too, when the cabbage is hotted much of its valuable material is carried away. Steaming, instead of boiling, guards against calcium loss."

Thrift

During a hard snowstorm a gent drove his car down to a filling station on a side street, intending to get some gasoline. He went down in his jeans to see how much money he had. One piece—a quarter—dropped in the snow. The man scraped around a while in the snow, but couldn't find it. So he left his car there and went away. Three days later he came back. The snow was gone. He picked up the quarter.

"Why did you leave your car here for three days?" asked the gas man.
"Just to mark the place where I dropped the quarter," he replied. "I never would have been able to find it if I had driven away."—Capper's Weekly.

Gifts to the Zoo

Most of the wild animals that come to Bronx park zoo, of New York, are not bought by the zoo. They are the gifts of private citizens. Among gifts received last year are more than a dozen opossums, two canaries, a Texas rattlesnake, which is described as partly albino; a horned grebe from Astoria, L. I., and forty birds from various parts of the world, the gift of Emory W. Clark of Canandaigua. Possibly the oddest gift of all is a collection of 3,700 white rats and 1,600 white mice from Crocker laboratory, of Columbia university, to be used as food for reptiles.

Menace of Vesuvius

Today as Yesterday

A queer life they must have lived in those little houses of Pompeii, whose rough masonry and stained patches of color were first created when Germany was a savage forest, Britain a moist land distant from civilization "the whole globe away," and America had never felt the tread of a shod foot. In the sunny courtyard the master dreams away the hot hours to the splash of the tiny fountain, listening to the sleepy gabble of his slaves from the rooms round the atrium. The rattle of the two-horsed chariots over the lava blocks of the street, the oaths of a driver who fails to negotiate the huge stones placed like massive policemen to regulate the traffic at the entrances to the cross-roads, disturb his slumber, and he remembers the gladiators, "heroes of ten fights," when the aedile Pansa is to exhibit in the arena on the Nones of April. A dull roar, and a vertical column of pearl-white smoke, bellying out into fantastic shapes and floating majestically away on the light wind, shows him that Vesuvius is angry. He glances for reassurance to the picture of the Lares and the snake of fortune, painted on the wall of the entrance porch to avert ill-luck. No need to worry: it has always been like that and always will be.

It is like that today. The monster smorts fire and smoke innocuously into the blue sky. Visitors on sturdy ponies go fearlessly up to gaze into his black, evil-looking jaws. But will it always be like that? Or, when the last bucketful of cinders has been painfully sifted, and the last house cleared, will he again mock human labors and human hopes and cover all once more with dust raining from a lurid sky?—Washington Post.

Seek Treasure Under Sea

The harbor of ancient Carthage is to be thoroughly explored in search of treasure which is now definitely known to exist there, its presence having been revealed by observers in airplanes. For years the sponge divers in that vicinity have repeated stories about seeing an ancient galley reposing on the bottom, but the matter was never given any very serious attention. But from a height the bottom of the sea may be scanned very thoroughly and some aerial observations revealed the presence of a boat of ancient construction very clearly, and some preliminary examinations have shown that it is at least partially filled with valuable specimens of Greek art. Explorations on modern plans will be commenced at once and the cargo systematically recovered. The old harbor will be further searched for treasure ships which are known to have gone down during the Punic wars. In this work the airplane will play an important part.

God, Love and Money

I was greatly struck, approaching Pittsburgh on the train, passing through a black, girdled region where life must lack many of its most harmless pleasures, to notice the astounding number of churches. These, surely, are not there without some sound social reason. There are three prime consolations known to man in the difficulty of his life: God, love and money. Of any two of these you may deprive him without hearing much grumble, provided he has plenty of the third. But if he lacks all three, there is sure to be trouble.—Christopher Morley in the Century Magazine.

The News

"Well, no," said Tobe Sagg of Sandy Mush, in reply to the inquiry of the able editor of the Tulliville Torch of Liberty and Tocsin of the Times. "I don't reckon there's no pertickler news out my way—come to think, though: Some fellers dug up a nest of rattlesnakes tuther day, killed fourteen and hung 'em on the fence beside the road. About six or eight moonshiners and bootleggers came along in course of the day, gave a yell aplece, tumbled over the bank on ruther side of the road and into the creek. Looks sorter like rain off to the south'ard, don't it?"—Kansas City Star.

Pat's Smart Bank

Pat had opened his first bank account and had taken to paying most of his debts by check. One day the bank sent him a statement, together with a packet of canceled checks. Of the statement Pat made neither head nor tail, but the returned checks greatly pleased him. "Mike," he said to a friend, "sure an' it's a smart bank I'm doin' bust nesh wld now." "How's that?" "Why, Ol paid all me bills wid checks, an' be jabbers if the bank wasn't slick enough to get ivery check back for me again."—From Life.

STRESS LAID ON VOTING SEPT. 9TH

FREDERICK B. BROWN, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR PROSECUTOR, SAYS IT'S IMPORTANT.

"Too much stress cannot be laid on the necessity of every voter casting his ballot on Primary Day, September 9," points out Frederick B. Brown, republican candidate for prosecutor, who says that in many respects this voting date is more important than the general election. "It is on primary day that the people select those whom they wish to engage in the final race for the official positions they seek," says Mr. Brown. "It is then that the great field of contestants is narrowed down and the campaign is on in earnest. The voters should by this time have had ample opportunity to hear all candidates or at least know of what they stand for in seeking office. The newspapers have pretty well laid before the voters the many issues involved, and have done their best to give the public the platforms of the men running for office. I have had the pleasure of using the columns of this paper for the past several weeks in setting forth my ideas of how the office of prosecuting attorney for Wayne county should be conducted. I know they have been campaign promises, but I also know that if elected I will be called upon to take an oath that I will uphold the laws as they are written on the statute books, and in taking that oath I am enough of a God-fearing man to take my oath seriously. Everyone is aware of the fact that Wayne county today is overrun with lawlessness and in need of a fearless prosecutor, a man who will enforce the laws without fear or favor. Because of the many issues before the people at the present time some are losing sight of the fact that the office of prosecutor is the most important in the county, for it is there that the people look when they call for protection for themselves and their property. I therefore again call your attention to the importance of casting your ballot on Primary Day, and assure the voters of the county that if elected I will see to it that myself and assistants will have but one goal—to enforce the laws without fear or favor."—Advertisement.

CHARLES A. PARKES FOR STATE SENATOR

Charles A. Parkes, Republican candidate for state senator, First District, is pledged for re-appointment for Wayne county and lower taxes.

Mr. Parkes, who lives at 1219 Fischer avenue, is 52 years old, and has lived in Detroit 48 years. He was educated in Detroit public schools and has spent many years in public service.

"I was a member of the board of supervisors for four years," he said, "and was on the board when the question of Wayne's representation and its share of taxes became acute. I was twice on the board's tax committee because of my experience as clerk for three and a half years in the city assessor's office."

"I also was employed by the water board, the boiler inspector's office and in the county auditor's office. I am now an investigator in the prosecuting attorney's office."

"The experience has brought me in contact with all sections of the county and I am familiar with its problems. I was the last chairman of the old Republican City Committee, before the advent of non-partisan politics in municipal government, and now am representative of the Republican Wayne County Committee and have been for three years."

"On the proposed gasoline tax, I would not vote for such a bill unless it was fair and indorsed by our automobile clubs and interested citizens."

"I am opposed to the Meggison Plan for the distribution of primary school funds because I believe Wayne county is not getting too much of that fund."

Against Bookmakers. "As for gambling, I do not gamble myself and am against bookmakers and race-track gambling."

"I think there should be a change in the constable system. I have thought that some advantage might accrue by giving the sheriff's office the duties now performed by the constables."

"I also believe the Primary Election Law should be amended to prohibit the purchasing of names for nominating petitions."

Mr. Parkes said he has received the written endorsement of Harry C. Bulley, 749 Semable avenue; E. E. Hutchinson, 1823 Burns avenue, vice president and treasurer of the Maxwell Motor Co.; James O. Murfin, 744 Van Dyke avenue, and George B. Russel, 400 Burns avenue, resident vice president of the National Surety Co.—Advertisement.

Young Result of Mistake The founding of Fairbanks, Alaska, in 1902, was due to a mistake in taking a water route by Capt. John Barnette, according to a relative at Seattle.

Captain Barnette sailed up the Yukon river to investigate the Tanana river. Furnished with some of the inaccurate maps of the period, he mistook the Cheus slough for the Tanana river and sailed to the present site of Fairbanks before discovering his error. He was forced to discharge the greater part of his cargo of trade goods to lighten the boat in maneuvering it back to the main stream. When he discovered the possibilities of the place, he built a log store.

RESCUED FROM JAWS OF GIANT CROCODILE

Incident English Officer Is Not Likely to Forget.

The following interesting account of a thrilling fight with a powerful crocodile in an Indian river is told by Lieutenant Colonel Carver, in the Montreal Family Herald:
 One afternoon the column halted by the river as usual and prepared to camp. When the men had cleared the ground and set their food and rest, a captain, unslung his empty water bottle, went to the river to fill it.
 At that spot the bank was perhaps four feet high and rose straight up. It curved in a sharp bend, and the water close in ashore was shallow. There was no current near the bank, but only a few yards out the deep and mighty stream swept along like a mill race.
 The officer knelt on the bank and, lowering the bottle by its long strap, turned his head to speak to a sub-hadar (native company commander) near him. Half a dozen sepoy, some holding their rifles, were standing close by.
 Suddenly out of the still water under the bank came a monstrous head, and like a trout rising to a fly a huge crocodile snapped at the white man's outstretched hand. The great jaws closed on it, and in a twinkling the officer was down in the river!
 As he fell the astonished soldiers gasped in horror. Then without hesitation two or three leaped in after him. Standing waist deep, they clung to the captain's body and strove to pull him away from the giant reptile, which was backing out into deeper water.
 The Englishman, with his hand in the crocodile's mouth, was too dazed to struggle, and submitted passively to be pulled this way and that in the grim tug of war. The native officer snatched a rifle from the man beside him and jumping into the water fired at the monster at a yard's range. A sepoy followed his example, but neither man thought of aiming at the eyes, and so their shots had no effect; an old crocodile's hide is impenetrable to bullets except in the throat, the belly and behind shoulders.
 The weight and strength of the brute was too much for the united efforts of the men. In vain they dug their heels into the yielding sand and pulled with all their might and main. Slowly, remorselessly, the officer was drawn farther out; the sepoy clinging to him were dragged with him.
 The Englishman seemed doomed. The crocodile was swimming now tall foremost out into the swift, racing flood.
 Then a miracle happened! When it seemed that nothing could save the man the strong current caught the monster with full force and swept it away, and by a marvelous stroke of luck the officer's hand was torn from his mouth.
 The irregular teeth of a crocodile fortunately do not fit close together. So little injured was the captain that after the doctor had bound up his hand he was able to attend to his duties immediately.

Wealth of the Indies

"He who would bring home the wealth of the Indies must take the wealth of the Indies with him," was an old Spanish proverb. It was popularized in England by Samuel Johnson in the following sentence: "As the Spanish proverb says, 'He who would bring home the wealth of the Indies must carry the wealth of the Indies with him,' so it is in traveling—a man must carry knowledge with him if he would bring home knowledge." The sentence is recorded in Boswell's Life of Johnson.—Pathfinder Magazine.

You've also doubtless noticed that the man who never knows where he's going seldom gets anywhere.

ROUGH AND READY BASE BALL TEAM DEPARTS CENTER LINE

Rough and Ready defeated the Center Line team last Saturday, at Bentley's Old Mill Service Station, by a score of 7 to 1. Center Line players were helpless before the efforts of Henry Clement, star pitcher for the winners, who allowed but four hits and struck out twelve men.

W. C. T. U.

These same teams clash at the Northville fair, September 23, at 10 a. m., and an interesting game is expected. Next Sunday, Rough and Ready play the strong Koenig Coal Co. team at Rough and Ready park at 3:00 p. m. All Rough and Ready players are requested to report early.

The meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held Thursday, August 28th, with Mrs. Mabel Stewart, was well attended. It is seldom that the Union has a chance to listen to such a fine address as the one given that day by Rev. D. D. Nagle, who took for his topic, "The Child Labor Amendment." The address was both instructive and interesting, and was greatly enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Tena Bovee delighted her audience with a humorous selection, which was heartily enjoyed.

Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, who acted as president, urged the women to be present at the primary election at the village hall, Tuesday, Sept. 9th. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. F. Smith, Mill street. The date will be announced later. There will be a "Smith" program, conducted entirely by the various "Smiths" of the society. It will be a tea meeting, and none of the members should miss it.

THE PERE MARQUETTE JOINS MERGER

Directors of the Pere Marquette railroad approved the offer of the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland to join the proposed "Nickel Plate" merger. The last of five roads to accept the offer, the Pere Marquette, will be combined with the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, the present Nickel Plate, and Hocking Valley into a new "Nickel Plate" system, with total assets of $1,500,000,000 and more than 14,000 miles of track, age traversing the eastern section of the country. Unified control and operation of the properties will be directed by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, who later will effect a complete physical consolidation of the roads.

Each contest is to be under the direction of some person selected by the superintendent of the division in which the contest occurs, who shall choose assistants as he desires. The three highest scores to constitute the team score for that school.

AROUND ABOUT US

The Detroit Automobile Club has opened a branch office at Ypsilanti. South Lyon Masons dedicated their new Masonic temple with appropriate ceremonies, last Wednesday evening. Grand Lodge officers were present.

Walled Lake citizens have formed an improvement association to work for the upbuilding and improvement of the community and to secure better police protection. A handsome and commodious woman's building has been erected facing the north, nearly opposite the main hall, and the new structure is by far the most attractive building on the grounds. It is 28x70 feet in size, and the front is different than any of the other buildings on the grounds. This will be used exclusively for the several women's departments and its erection is a fine compliment to the women of this community who have been faithful year after year in behalf of the fair.—Northville Record.

RE-ELECT SHERIFF GEORGE A. WALTERS

Rapid growth of Detroit and neighboring communities has necessitated many changes and extensions in administration of the Sheriff's office, according to Sheriff George A. Walters, who is a candidate for re-election this fall.

His record and program of activities have centered in crime prevention, safety work and traffic regulation in particular. Some of the services he has developed follow:

A regular highway patrol, working from five scattered sub-stations in the county.

Metropolitan area police squads, made up of officers from all police agencies, operating in Wayne county and co-operating with neighboring counties.

More than 100 volunteer deputies, serving without pay, patrolling roads at night time.

A complete telephone notification system for Wayne county, aiding patrol squads in locating highwaymen and other criminals.

Safety campaign activities in all parts of Wayne County, including establishment of Drivers' Schools and Safe Drivers' Clubs and safety devices at many dangerous crossings. More are planned.

His record shows more than 18,000 court orders executed; more than 20,000 prisoners, without a successful escape, cared for at the jail; more than 250 convictions of law breakers obtained, including highwaymen and five murderers; 350 raids made; 60,000 quarts of illegal liquor, and 100,000 gallons of moonshine mash seized.

His staff includes only 100 men, Protestants, Catholics and Jews. Approximately half are engaged as court attendants, others in service of court orders, and the remainder in office duty and crime investigation and prevention.—Advertisement.

WAYNE COUNTY WILL RECEIVE LARGE SUM.

Wayne will get $4,522,446 from the state primary school fund, according to an apportionment by counties, completed by O. B. Fuller, auditor general. The fund, which is raised from taxes on public utilities will be distributed at a rate of $14 for every child between the ages of 5 and 20.

Today's Reflections

Ever notice how quickly a political candidate starts going to church after he's nominated?

There are quite a few remarkable boys around Plymouth, but we've never yet heard of one who washes his ears voluntarily.

One thing that may be said in favor of the radio—it has made good listeners out of some pretty poor talkers.

A Plymouth young man is never in greater danger than when some girl tells him how big and strong he is.

Old-fashioned women are now canning fruit, and new-fashioned ones are canning their husbands.

The grade-crossings seem to be abolishing the people faster than the people are abolishing the grade-crossings.

After seeing a man in Plymouth the other day wearing a pair of those wide-bottomed pants, we want to apologize to the women folks for anything sarcastic we may have said in the past about their clothes.

A statesman is one who wants to do something for his country, and a politician is one who wants his country to do something for him.

A man says he is going over Niagara Falls in a rubber ball. When he does some presidential candidate is going to lose one vote.

What we'd like to have some Plymouth woman explain to us is why one fat woman always thinks that another fat woman is fatter than she is.

It's alright for telephone girls to give you the wrong number, but what if shoe clerks get into the habit, too?

You can't always tell when you are on the wrong road—there are no detour signs on it.

When a Plymouth man sees another fellow wearing a hat like his, he feels complimented, but when a Plymouth woman sees another woman with a hat like hers, she wants to choke her.

We see where three ounces of moonshine killed a rabbit. When will rabbits quit drinking that stuff?

It must be awful in summer to be a bow-legged girl, and always be wondering if you are standing in the light.

We overheard a Plymouth man say yesterday that his idea of home is a place where you can trust the hash.

The Ford Motor Co. has several men employed in cleaning up the property recently purchased by the Fords at Clarenceville. Reports have it that no building operations will be undertaken until spring. The nature of the buildings to be erected and the use to which the farm will be put, have not been made public.—Redford Record.

Don't miss it.—Advertisement.

Brainy Children Come From Small Families

Do not pity the only child. He has more brains than children with many brothers and sisters, according to conclusions reached by Dr. Hornell Hart as a result of a study of 600 families in a typical Iowa city. The results have been reported to the Iowa child research station at Iowa City, Iowa. Children from large families are handicapped mentally, morally and socially, Doctor Hart declares.

In a representative sample of children from practically completed families in Davenport, Iowa, the ability of the children, as determined by mental tests, was found generally to run higher the fewer the number of surviving children. Children with no living brothers or sisters tend to have mental test quotients about 15 points higher than children with 11 living brothers and sisters, and the average mental test ability decreases fairly steadily as the size of the families increases.

"School progress, that is in excess of the amount to be expected from mental test ability, is at a maximum in families of four or five living children, and at a minimum in families of ten children or over," Doctor Hart says. "The difference between the progress in school of these two groups is such that the average child in the very large family loses about one-third of a year through conditions other than mental test ability associated with large families."

"The larger the family the greater the tendency is for the children to leave school at the earliest possible age."

"Of families with seven or more living children, 14 per cent are chronically dependent, as compared with 3 per cent among families with six children or less."

"As far as can be ascertained from teacher's ratings, children in large families are less energetic, less kind, less sincere and less honest than children from small families. This conclusion is fairly certain for energy, but not so decisive for the other characteristics."

"Contrary to general impression, children without brothers and sisters compare very favorably with children having brothers or sisters. Birth order, as far as it was studied in this inquiry, appears to have very little significance."—Kansas City Times.

Man of Mystery

In Major Beaufort's enforced absence his old black servant Lem was under instructions to welcome the expected guest.

When Mr. Allen was settled comfortably before the library fire, Lem asked as a matter of course, "Can I mix you a highball, sah?"

"No, thanks, Lem."

"Take it straight, sah?"

"No, thanks."

This guest was going to be hard to entertain. Bringing in a humbler, Lem urged:

"Try one of Mistah Jim's cigars, sah. They's vey fine!"

"No, Lem. Thanks just the same, but I don't smoke."

Lem looked puzzled; then: "Beg yo' pardon, sah, but would you min' tellin' me what you does to make you smell like a gentleman?"—Everybody's Magazine.

Took Name From Crow

In using the ordinary crowbar few of us connect that heavy implement with the crow. Dictionary research is needed to explain the relation of the two words. Investigation shows that a crowbar is defined as "a bar with a strong beak, like that of a crow." The beak of a crow is one of the bird's most powerful tools and weapons. When the first crowbars were fashioned it was only natural that the makers should see the resemblance of it prying end to the beak of the bird, and the use of the name "crowbar" was entirely logical. The bird itself, incidentally, took its name from the nature of its cry, suggesting the old Anglo-Saxon word "crawan." In the Anglo-Saxon tongue "crawan" was equivalent to the English verb "to crow."

Famous Work of Art

The victory of Samothrace is a superb fragment of ancient sculpture now in the Louvre at Paris. It consists of a colossal winged statue, without head or arms, carved in commemoration of the naval victory of Demetrius Poliorcetes, 305 B. C. This figure, which is represented as alighting on the prow of a galley, is remarkable for its "noble proportions and grand vitality, making it one of the masterpieces of the majestic style."—Kansas City Star.

Vital Statistics

Among facts regarding health brought out in analysis of recently issued census bureau figures are that cities show a more rapid decline in mortality than do the rural districts; that persons of mature age show an increase in length of life, and that there has been a continuation of the general improvement in the expectation of life at birth, with colored persons showing greater improvement than the whites.

Changed His Mind

Jack—Then you didn't ask for her hand?

Tom—No; when I went to interview her father he was busy with the furnace. He called out to me to come down and after watching his struggles for half an hour and hearing what he said about coal, I decided not to get married.—Boston Transcript.

Willard Pooler has sold his ice cream and confectionery store, which he has conducted in the Plymouth Hotel block for the past several months to Mr. Shea of Walled Lake, who will take possession on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Pooler and daughter expect to make a motor trip to California, where they will spend the winter, leaving here about October 1st.

Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Sayles entertained the Lewis Howard family of Farmington, also Miss Ione Sheldon of Clermont, Florida, last week Friday at a six o'clock dinner at the tourist camp. The new drive-in service station erected by William J. Beyer and occupied by Fleuelling & Lang, is now about completed. It is modern in every respect and presents a very nice appearance. The building is equipped with lavatories for both ladies and gentlemen. Besides gasoline, a complete line of oils, greases and accessories are handled by Messrs. Fleuelling & Lang.

On another page of this paper will be found the full page advertisement of P. A. Nash, announcing his fourth annual sale of hardware, cooking utensils, etc., which commences Saturday, September 6th, and ending on Saturday, September 13th. Mr. Nash has made some very attractive prices on the goods advertised, and it will pay you to peruse his ad carefully and note the many bargains offered.

The new street signs are here, and have been placed in position. They are very nifty and also very substantial, and are a mighty fine improvement over anything we have ever had before, and we know they will prove a great convenience for the stranger on our town. Fifty signs were purchased this year, and they have been distributed on the most traveled streets. Next year it is expected that every street in the village will be properly marked with the same kind of signs.

THE "COVERED WAGON" COMES NEXT WEEK

LOCAL THEATRE MAKING PREPARATIONS TO HANDLE BIG CROWDS FOUR DAYS NEXT WEEK.

One of the greatest pictures that has ever been shown at the Penniman Allen theatre will be that of "The Covered Wagon," which comes to the local theatre for four days next week, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 9, 10, 11 and 12. The people of Plymouth and vicinity have been looking forward anxiously for the coming of this picture and there is no doubt but that every showing will be given before a crowded house. The picture has been shown only in the largest theatres in the country, and Plymouth is indeed fortunate in having an opportunity of seeing this picture right at home, and at the popular admission price of 40c for adults and 20c for children under 12 years of age.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday there will be two shows each night, at 7:00 and 9:00 o'clock. On Thursday, Plymouth Day, the show will open at 12:00 noon and close at 12:00 night. Shows will start at 12:00, 2:00, 4:00, 6:00, 8:00 and 10:00. A singer will appear at each showing of this picture. There will be special music on Plymouth Day. Everybody should see "The Covered Wagon."

LITSENBERGER-GATES

A pretty home wedding took place, Monday evening, at the home of Albert Gates on York street, when his daughter, Mildred, was united in marriage to Marcus Litsenberger of Northville, at eight o'clock, in the presence of fifty relatives and friends, Rev. Richards of Northville, performing the ceremony. The bride was gowned in white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Carrie Litsenberger wore brown silk, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. John Litsenberger, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to the guests. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. The bride is a graduate of the Plymouth High school, and has always resided in Plymouth. The groom is one of Northville's popular young men. Guests were present from Jackson, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Pontiac, Detroit and Northville. After a short wedding trip to the northern part of the state, the young couple will make their home with the bride's father for a time.

WATER NOTICE

All this summer the commission of this village and the manager have been working against the handicap of low water level at the springs, and against the lack of co-operation on the part of water users to keep Plymouth supplied with water. For a while, we had to stop sprinkling entirely. There were numbers of water users that violated that stop order. Later we were able to allow a half hour sprinkling. With the aid of the automatic operation of our pump, we were able to accumulate half a reservoir full of water for reserve. The hot, dry weather a week ago had such an effect upon the use of water that by Sunday, August 31, we had no water in the reservoir, and since then we have had only what water the pump is able to send down the line. This should be enough, but it is not while people in general are so disregarding the best interests of the town by their excessive use of water.

We must have water for domestic use and for fire protection. Therefore, it is ordered that no one shall use water from the village mains except for drinking, cooking, toilet or manufacturing purposes, until further notice. Anyone found using water otherwise will be immediately shut off and may not use the water again without the permission of the commission.

The village meanwhile, is going about the increase of the supply at the springs, by means of new wells drilled in or near the present well.

Sidney D. Strong,
Village Manager.

COMING "The Covered Wagon"

HERALD SELECTED AS "PREFERRED" BY DETROIT CITIZENS' LEAGUE.

Mr. Herald stands for the amendment of the garnishee laws, so that no workman can be garnished until after judgment has been taken against him; that is until he has had a fair trial. This will eliminate thousands of garnishments, will save the different companies and employers from making disclosures, and will eliminate the loan shark and all others with illegitimate claims, from garnisheeing. If they cannot garnishee until after judgment, then only those having an honest claim will sue. As it now stands, a man is threatened with garnishment. He pays a bill which he does not owe rather than take the chance of being garnisheed and thereby losing his job. This procedure is un-American, and has been abolished by other states many years ago. It is time that Michigan awakened to the progress her sister states have made in this regard. In the state of Ohio they abolished this relic of barbarism over thirty years ago, but Michigan still clings to it, because some selfish, unscrupulous interests do not want the law repealed.

Roy Herald is the one candidate out of sixteen running for State Senator in the first district, that the Detroit Citizen's League picked as "preferred" for this place.—Advertisement.
