OPEN SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS

THE NEW MASONIC TEMPLE BUILDING

The new Masonic temple, now under construction upon the spacious lot at the corner of Penniman avenue and Union street, is beginning to assume both size and beauty. Last winter it became evident that Plymouth Rock Lodge, No. 47, F. & A. M., and Plymouth Chapter, No. 115, O. E. S., would necessarily have to erect a temple in order to care for their present and future needs. The two organizations then elected from their membership, trustees, who in turn formed the Masonic Building Association, with the following officers and members:

President—Robert O. Mimmack.

Vice President—Daniel F. Murray.
Secretary—William Wood.
Treasurer—George A. Smith.
Trustees—Henry Hondorp, Herman Mack, John Patterson and Chauncey H. Rauch.

The building committee then secured the services of A. G. Dohman, architect, to design and prepare plans for the new temple, which is a two-story building 44x90 feet. The cost of the temple was estimated to be approximately $40,000.00.

The committee then with the cooperation of Frank Rambo and several others as solicitors, set out to raise the funds. Sufficient money has not as yet been subscribed to complete the temple, but the splendid response has been very gratifying to those in charge. The construction of the building is in charge of our Plymouth contractor, John H. Patterson, who will have it completed before the holiday season. The committee hopes that through the generous cooperation of each member of the two organizations, to start the new year in our new temple free from any financial obligation. The new temple adds greatly to the beauty of our rapidly growing community of homes, and is a fitting edifice for the lodge and chapter erecting it.

RED INDIAN OIL CO. OPEN HANDSOME SERVICE STATION

On another page of this paper will be found a full page advertisement of Red Indian Oil Co., Inc., who have just opened their handsome new drive-in service station on North Main street, just south of the Pere Marquette R. R. The announcement also carries smaller ads of the contractor, who had the construction of the new building, as well as the firms who furnished the material and sub-contractors. E. A. Forsgren of this village, had the general contract for the construction of the new building.

The new building is constructed of pressed brick, and is not only a very substantial one, but very attractive as well. All modern conveniences have been installed to carry on the business advantageously to the company, and for the comfort of the public. The building contains a rest room for ladies and lavatories for both ladies and gentlemen. A long porch has been provided, which covers four ten-gallon visible electric pumps.

A free crank case service will be given, with a specially constructed pit for the draining of the oil and refilling, which can be done in a few minutes time. Free air is also available for the motorist.

A wholesale department for the distribution of Indian gasoline and Havoline oils and greases is operated in connection with the service station. A sidetrack from the Pere Marquette railroad has been constructed. Two 20,000-gallon tanks, one for gasoline and one for kerosene provides ample storage capacity. A Dodge Graham truck with a 600-gallon tank is used for deliveries.

Henry Sage and A. E. Martin are operating the business, Mr. Sage having charge of the retail station, while Mr. Martin will look after the wholesale business. The new service station is a splendid addition to the town, and the company will without a doubt do a good business here.

WILLIAM MINEHART DIES SUD-DENLY.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday evening. The meeting was called to order by President Carl Shear. It was an open meeting for the discussion of any question that might be presented.

One of the matters discussed at some length was the question of more water for Plymouth. President Henderson of the village commission was present and stated to the meeting that the commission realized the seriousness of the water question, and that it was one of the greatest problems that the commission has before it. He stated that a test well was now being put down at the spring, for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of water at the source. The matter of putting down several artesian wells to feed the mains was discussed, and it looks as if this might be a good plan, if it is found that there is a shortage of water at the springs.

Realizing the seriousness of the water problem, the commission are giving this matter their most careful consideration, and every effort will be made to increase the water supply, which means so much to the safety and future growth of the village.

After the discussion of the water question, the meeting was turned over to Chairman Harry C. Robinson of the Plymouth Day celebration. Mr. Robinson outlined the program as it had been prepared, and reported everything in readiness for the big day. Several minor details were arranged for, after which the meeting adjourned.

SPECIAL MEETING OF VILLAGE COMMISSION

A special meeting of the village commission was held Monday evening to open bids for the purchase of the Ann Arbor street paving and sewer bonds. Two bids were received from the local banks. One of the bids only covered part of the issue, and as it is the desire of the commission that the bids should cover the entire issue, general and special assessment bonds, it was decided to re-advertise the sale, the advertisement of which appears in today's paper.

The commission also voted to turn over the Ann Arbor street road from Main street to the village limits to the Wayne County Road Commission for future maintenance, as was done in the case of Starkweather avenue.

FORMER PLYMOUTH ARTIST SCORES AT STATE FAIR

We take the following from the Royal Oak Tribune, which will be of interest to many Plymouth friends of Mrs. VanderVelde, who formerly resided in Plymouth:

Mrs. Fanny VanderVelde, a recent addition to Royal Oak's art circles, was awarded the second prize on her picture, "Flowers," at the Michigan State Fair this week. The picture was entered under the group of decorative compositions in oils, and is a large blue vase filled with pink peonies and blue delphiniums.

Mrs. VanderVelde received her education in art in the Royal Academy of Rotterdam, Holland. Since coming to this country she has devoted much of her time to portrait painting, and is at the present time painting a portrait of a prominent Detroit woman. Her studio is in one part of her home, 1102 Oakwood boulevard (Twelve-mile road) where the family have lived for the past year.

FREE AIRPLANE RIDE

On another page of this paper will be found an advertisement of a sale of lots in Purdy Park, Phoenix road, between Plymouth and Northville, on Saturday and Sunday, September 20 and 21. A free airplane ride will be given to every purchaser of a lot in this desirable location, which is owned by Nettie Purdy Moore.

EDISON CO. BUILDING BIG DAM NEAR BELLEVILLE.

Detroit Edison Company's water impounding project on the Huron river, near Belleville, Mich., at French Landing, will be completed by the end of this year. The power dam being constructed at that point will create a lake covering 1,300 acres, and five miles in length, extending from French Landing to Rawsonville. The dam itself will be 1,100 feet long, and the land acquired around its site will involve an expenditure of approximately $1,000,000.

The dam and power house are being connected by Phelps & Son of Iowa. The spillway will be 200 feet wide, the power house and waste gates 150 feet, and embankment 750 feet. The plant will develop 3,000 kilowatts through two vertical shaft turbines.

Acquisition of the land involved began eight years ago, and was just completed this year. The project involves changing the route of the Belleville road, the new road now being under construction at a cost of $120,000, two-thirds of which is being borne by the company.

NOTICE

Sealed bids for the purchase of bonds of the village of Plymouth will be received by the village clerk of this village, at his office until 7:30 p. m., Monday, September 15, 1924, and then opened.

The bonds include $10,000.00 Ann Arbor street general pavement bonds; $3,500.00 Ann Arbor street general sanitary sewer bonds; $12,400.00 Ann Arbor street special assessment pavement bonds; and $5,600.00 Ann Arbor street special assessment sanitary sewer bonds.

Bids will be received only for the entire issue, and the village reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive any irregularity in any bid.

Sidney D. Strong,
Village Manager.

Optical Illusions

YOUR sight is one of the most precious gifts in the world. The fulness of joy that we get out of nature and life depends to a great extent on this wonderful gift of vision.

For this reason, too much care cannot be given to the eyes, and they should have rigid examination at regular intervals.

Optical illusions many times are natural eyes to those with perfect sight, or it may mean a loud warning that your eyes need professional attention.

You will find our Optical Department Modernly equipped in every sense of the word, and it will entail no obligation for examination of your eyes—we will be happy if we can honestly say that your vision is correct in every way.

REALLY NOT HARD POINT OF "ETIKAY"

Matter of Behavior Settled to Sailors' Satisfaction.

The old sea captain and his mates were sticklers for form, a writer in the Youth's Companion remarks. In fact "etikay," as they called it, had become a mania with them. After dinner when the cloth was cleared, writes Sir Henry Robinson in "Memories, Wise and Otherwise," the captain often would send for the mates and the engineer and as we sat round the table propounded hard cases on points of etiquette.

He used for his guide and mentor an amazing old tattered book that I sometimes think must have been intended to be comic, because it presupposed such utterly absurd situations. For example, if you were on top of an omnibus and saw a duchess in the street you could not with propriety wave your umbrella at her, no matter how well you knew her. Another thing: when dining with strangers you must not ask the butler for a toothpick at soup. There were many such "hard cases."

The captain used to rule a sheet of paper and put all our names down and award marks in accordance with our replies to the queries put. There was one that made such an impression on me that I made a pencil note of it, and I remember it to this day. We were all sitting round the table; the paper was ruled, and the captain began:

"Now, Mackay, we'll take you first. If you was walking in a field with a young lady with 'oom you was but slightly acquainted, and she was to set down on the grass, what should you do?"

Mackay paused to try and imagine what his feelings and intentions would be in such a case and then replied, "I'd offer to get her a chair."

"Um, ah!" said the skipper. "Not bad, but you might 'ave to walk a couple of miles to get one, and it wouldn't look shipshape for an officer of one of Her Majesty's finest cruisers to be walking about the countryside juggling a chair after him. However, it's a thoughtful-like thing, and I'll give you five marks. Now, Mr. Trelawney, 'what do you say?"

"Well," said Trelawney, "I'd argify with her agin it, and if words wouldn't move her I'd take off my coat and give it to her to sit on."

The captain thought deeply. "Well, I don't think that's the answer, but it would be a delicate kind of thing to do, and I'll give you seven. Now, Mr. Lyons, you're next."

"I'd ax the young lady for to get up and run me a race," said the plump little second mate.

"Go on!" said the skipper. "How could you expect a lady with 'oom you were but slightly acquainted to start runnin' races with a potbellied little bloke like you?"

Then after we had all offered our solutions to the hard case the skipper consulted the key at the end of the book and announced what the canons of refined society ordained as the duty of the male escort if a lady of high degree declined suddenly to sit down on the grass.

"The gentleman," read the skipper, "must remain standing till the lady axes him for to sit down."

"Of course, of course," said the mate; "fools we were not to have seen it."

Mixing the Breeds

An Indianapolis woman was the owner of a Jersey dress of which she was fond. It was beginning to show signs of wear as a result and she went shopping one day for another new dress. When her husband returned at night he asked about the dress and what kind she had bought.

"Oh, after I had looked at a lot of 'em, I finally bought another Jersey one," replied the wife.

The husband apparently was disappointed. His next question was: "I'm getting tired of Jersey dresses. Why in the world didn't you get a Holstein this time?"—Indianapolis News.

"Ugly Duckling" Valued

There are 6,000 varieties of the orchid family, and they are all cherished for their exquisite beauty, but like most large families it has an ugly duckling, and the latter is most cherished of all the others, but for her homely and practical qualities rather than her beauty. The vanilla plant is an orchid and its flower is positively repulsive, but its fruit is in demand all the world over. This plant is really a native of Mexico, but it has traveled to East Africa, Tahiti and other distant places, where it is cultivated for the fruit alone.

Traces Weaving Art to Neolithic Woman

Neolithic woman's crude efforts to construct a roof for her primitive hut gave rise to the manufacture of silk stockings for modern girls. Prof. Harris Hawthorne Wilder of the department of zoology at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., has traced the history of weaving back to the Stone Age shelter and even suggests that the apes started the practice which is responsible for Twentieth-century dress goods.

"The chimpanzees and orang-outangs of the present day," he says, "construct for themselves serviceable nests and twine above them the smaller branches, interlacing as well as their thick fingers and inferior brains will permit. But the primitive woman was far above this, and in her twig-twining there soon grew beneath her supple fingers a definite system, by which, perhaps, one set of twigs interlocked in a fairly regular fashion with a set in the opposite direction. Next she made baskets, constructed like the hut, but made small and fastened to her back, they greatly facilitated her work of burden bearing.

"She then developed the new-found art still further and applied it to the construction of large mats, with which to cover the ground of the hut. In searching the forest for plant stems she discovered the characteristics of the fibers of flax. In some way, too, she noticed the peculiar virtue of sheep's wool, which was at first left upon the hide and employed like other furs. Twisting small tufts of wool between the thumb and finger drew them out readily into threads and this perfectly natural motion was probably often indulged in in idle moments before the idea was seized upon and definitely applied. A fairly good yarn can be made by the fingers alone, but the twisting can be more rapidly and easily accomplished by the use of something that can be made to rotate after the principle of a top. Thus came the spindle and spindle whorl.

"The simple stitches learned in basket making were undoubtedly used first in weaving with the more pliable materials. But soon the greater possibilities were taken advantage of and the fabrics and colored patterns that were achieved in the valleys of the Danube and Rhine before the horse was tamed or the use of metals learned, rivaled in beauty the costumes of modern peasantry in countries where primitive methods are still used.

"The native inhabitants of the two Americas often use in their weaving exactly the same process that the women of the Neolithic age employed. Studies of the American Indians are one of the profitable ways of tracing the development of textile industries."

Glass Hospital Walls

Glass walls in hospitals are the latest outlet for potentially large quantities of that product. Glass has been used for walls and partitions in the children's wards of a new $4,000,000 hospital, Beth Israel, New York, so that patients with contagious or infectious diseases may be seen by their parents and relatives without danger of spreading the infection.

It is often the case that education authorities will realize and advocate new economic opportunities some time in advance of their industrial application. Science and medicine have long since put the stamp of their approval on glass for its strength, safety and sanitation and visibility. Packers and bottlers are now beginning to realize to a greater degree how existent these qualities are in the glass container.

Charon the Ferryman

In classic mythology Charon was the son of Erebus and Nox. It was his duty to convey the shades of the buried dead across the rivers of the lower world. For this service he exacted an obolus; and, accordingly, a coin of this value was always placed in the dead person's mouth. To neglect this rite was to doom the unhappy shade to wander restlessly along the shores of Acheron, since Charon refused to ferry any one across who did not pay the fee. Charon is generally represented as an old man, with unkempt beard and filthy clothes.

All Explained

The mistress was attracted to the kitchen by a terrible clatter and evident sounds of scrubbing. When she arrived the room was deserted except for the broom.

"My, Nora, what was all that noise I heard out here?" anxiously questioned the lady.

"You see, mum, the policeman just tried to kiss me."

"Oh, and you were compelled to use force to prevent him?"

"Well, not exactly, mum, but you see, the policeman!"

THE NEW CHEVROLET DE LUXE CARES

Three new DeLuxe models have just been introduced by the Chevrolet Motor company factory officials in Detroit announce. They are the DeLuxe sedan, touring and coupe, and embody the latest improvements and accessories of the automotive industry to increase the comfort and pleasure of motoring. Much attention has been given to beautifying the appearance of the new models and among other innovations is the use of the Duco finish.

For several months past there has been a consistent and steadily growing demand for Chevrolet cars with special fittings. As quickly as this trend appeared, factory officials started to work on the DeLuxe models. Research and experimental work tested every accessory before it was selected, and the color experts of the General Motors Corporation, Chevrolet Motor company, duPont company, makers of Duco finish, and the Fisher Body company were consulted before the finish of the new cars was decided upon. In fact every factor entering into the make-up of the DeLuxe models was thoroughly proven before the company started production on the new styles which now complete the Chevrolet line.

The DeLuxe sedan has a double Duco finish in blue, with a contrasting red trim. This is further set off by the nickled radiator, head and cowl lights and aluminum kick plates. This, as are the other two DeLuxe models, is equipped with disc wheels, front and rear double bumpers, motor meter, etc.

The DeLuxe touring is also finished in Duco in gray, a deep slate color which harmonizes with the upholstery of a shade lighter tone.

The coupe has a roomy, two passenger body finished in the same rich blue as the sedan. Both the coupe and sedan have special deep velour upholstery with Marshall type springs. The upholstery is a gray that harmonizes with the blue finish.

Sails to See Mother, 109

"Tom" Brennan, at the age of eighty-five years, when most men are tired and retired, has left for Ireland to visit his mother, one hundred nine years old, who is too busy to come over and visit her "young" son, who is an active accessory salesman.

One of the infant salesmen was contemplating a visit to his mother. "Tom," spoke up and said he had not seen his mother for twenty years.

"What, your mother still living, 'Tom'?" asked his employer.

"Sure, hale and hearty at the hundred nine," "Tom" replied.

"You're going to see her," commanded his boss. "You can get ready at once."

Knocking Hubby's Book

Mr. and Mrs. Author were going out for the evening. They had engaged a new nurse and she was left in charge of the children for the first time.

"Dear," remarked Mrs. Author, as she came downstairs, "I looked into the nursery and noticed nurse was reading. Who gave her the book?"

"I did," replied her husband.

"What book is it?"

"My last," he answered.

"Darling," exclaimed his wife, "and you know how important it is that she should not go to sleep until we return!"

Squaring Things

An inveterate poker player who hadn't been trotting in double harness very long went to an old married owl for some friendly advice.

"What is it, son?" asked his mentor. "Wife been jumping on you, too severely?"

"No, that's just the point. That's what makes me uneasy. My wife doesn't say much, but when I have been out late with the boys she apparently does a lot of thinking. Now, what should a husband do when his wife looks at him oddly?"

Malaria Long Known

Although malaria was not given its present name until 1753, the disease has been known and described in various writings for thousands of years.

Before 1000 B. C. both the tertian and quartan types of the disease were alluded to in the Orphic poems. According to Deaderick, the Illiad of Homer and the Wasps of Aristophanes contain allusions to what we now call malaria, and according to Goethe, the word AAT, found among the inscriptions of the temple of Denderah, referred doubtless to malaria.—Bass.

METHODIST NOTES

Detroit conference convenes at Saginaw next Wednesday. There will be a big Laymen's Conference on Thursday and Friday, and Junior Laymen's Conference from Friday to Sunday. We hope a number of our young folks will be able to attend.

The Missionary Society held their first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Tait on North Harvey street, last week Wednesday. An all day program was the order of the day, and will be the usual plan for the meetings this year.

On Wednesday evening of this week, friends and members of the church met at the parsonage for a reception, in honor of one of our boys who soon enters the Christian ministry, Howard Burden. This makes the fourth one of our own young folks who have gone from this church into definite Christian work in the last three years. We are truly proud of these splendid young folks. Our prayers will always be with them in the carrying out of their life purpose.

Attend church next Sunday. It begins at 10:00 o'clock. Had you forgotten? Form the habit of being on time at church for worship, as well as to work during the week. You will enjoy the whole service better if you are there for the opening part.

Prayer service next Thursday night at 7:30.

Keep the week of Nov. 2 open. It is going to be a big week in Plymouth.

THE THEATRE

"THE ARAB"

Rex Ingram, the Metro producer who first discovered Ramon Novarro, Alice Terry, Randolph Valentino, Barbara La Marr, and a number of other screen celebrities, has extended his aspirations to Africa and, in his latest picture, "The Arab" which is coming to the Penniman Allen theatre on Saturday, September 13th, he shows a Bedouin girl who seems headed for stardom.

The girl is Reba, and she was discovered on a roadside near Tunis where she was encamped with her Nomadic parents. Mr. Ingram gave her a film test and she took direction admirably. In "The Arab" she plays the role of an Oulad Nile and executes the dances for which the Oulad Nile tribe is famous.

When the company was taken from Tunis to Paris where the interior scenes of "The Arab" were filmed, Reba, accompanied by her Bedouin father, got her first glimpse of civilization. In learning to eat with a spoon the first time she had ever seen, she smashed three plates; and only overcame her habit of going upstairs three steps at a bound after days of arduous rehearsals. Mr. Ingram believes that Reba has an amazing natural talent for acting and has given her considerable scope in the picture.

"EMPTY HANDS"

Can a man and a woman, both products of our modern hot-house civilization, erect a living from Nature, unaided by any of the present-day conveniences?

That is the interesting question that "Empty Hands," the new Paramount picture, coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, September 17 and 18, raises and answers. It is a Victor Fleming production based on Carey Wilson's adaptation of Arthur Stringer's daring novel of the same name which originally was published in serial form in Harper's Bazaar.

The screen play answers the question in the affirmative, but an incident in real life that took place not so very long ago leads one to the belief that the answer should be in the negative. Several months ago in the newspapers throughout the country carried front page stories of the disappearance of a young couple, who, fired with the story of "Empty Hands" went into the wilderness to duplicate the feat of the novel's hero and heroine.

A few days later they were found, half-starved and suffering from exposure. From actual experience, therefore, these two know that it can't be done.

However, it is possible that this real man and woman are not of the stuff of which reel men and women are made. Jack Holt and Norma Shearer in the picture are not only successful in keeping body and soul together but they even find time to fall in love! And that's that!

There may be some argument over the theme of the story but there can be no question as to the entertainment quality of the picture. It is one of the finest photoplays of the present season, according to those who have been privileged to get a review of it. Besides Mr. Holt and Miss Shearer, the cast boasts of such popular players as Gertrude Olmsted, Charles Clary, Ramsey Wallace, Ward Crane, Hank Mann and Hazel Keener.

By all means see "Empty Hands" and draw your own conclusions!

SEE SILO AS MEANS TO SAVE CORN CROP

BACKWARD SEASON CREATES EMERGENCY SITUATION.—M. A. C. MAN WARNS AGAINST HANDLING CROP TOO GREEN.

With many fields of corn in the state which will not mature for grain harvest this year, because of the backwardness of the season, the silo is expected to pay its way rather completely by providing a means of handling the crop effectively.

The farmer with a silo, according to Prof. O. E. Reed, head of the dairy division at the Michigan Agricultural College, will be able to save all the crop that does mature.

One danger against which Professor Reed cautions is that of putting corn into the silo too green. This is frequently done, it is said, to avoid possible frost, but the silage made from very green, sappy corn will make a washy, sour feed that is unpalatable and does not have the feed value it should.

"It is better," says Reed, "to let the corn stand until after the frost than to put it into the silo too green. When this practice is followed, the corn should be cut as soon as possible after it is frosted; otherwise there will be considerable loss of nutriment. The leaves dry very quickly after a frost, become brittle, and are easily lost off the stalk.

"If it is desirable to fill before the frost, the corn should be cut and allowed to lie in the field for at least twenty-four hours, or a sufficient length of time to lose some of the excess moisture. The excessive moisture is the cause of sour silage. It is better to let the corn get too dry, and then add sufficient water to get the silage to pack well, than to ensilo the crop too green."

Watches that last a lifetime!
ANY other kind of watch is not worth the buying, for watches have a heritage value—they should be passed on down to successive generations. When Sonny Boy hears the first tick of his first watch, it is an important event in his life.
But then there must be cheaper watches for him—watches which will stand the wear and tear of Childhood—and finally the watch that will remain with him during all his life.
We have both kinds and all kinds—particularly those delicate watches for women, which must combine perfect utility with beauty.
By the way—we have just received a complete new W. W. W. line of pearls and rings. Pearls—yes, this concern is now putting out a wonderful guaranteed pearl in a special jewel case. You will want to see it.
And the W. W. W. White, green and yellow gold wedding and engagement rings—they are worth a visit alone.

PLANS FOR PLYMOUTH DAY COMPLETED

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CONGRATULATE CHAIRMAN ROBINSON AND HIS COMMITTEES.

As the Mail goes to press, plans for The Biggest Day in the history of Plymouth are complete. The rainy weather of the past few days has somewhat delayed the decorating of the streets, but the committee in charge informs us that the streets will be dressed in their holiday clothes before Plymouth Day dawns if they have to work all night to do it.

Citizens of Plymouth have generously responded to the appeal for funds to finance the day and the entertainment committee have attractions for the enjoyment of all who care out.

The primary object of Plymouth Day is to advertise the best town on earth to the world; to bring outsiders to Plymouth and show them what we have to offer them in the way of an ideal place to build their future homes. No effort or expense has been spared to make the day a real success. The event has been advertised in all nearby towns; noted people have been invited to attend and participate in the doings and with favorable weather the day will go down in history as Plymouth's BIGGEST day, and Plymouth will go down in the hearts of men as the prettiest, liveliest and best town in the world.

The day would not be complete if we did not stop to consider the men who have given valuable time and effort to put the idea across. Six committees have been actively engaged in making arrangements for Plymouth Day. Harry C. Robinson, who has cheerfully donated many dollars worth of valuable time to his duties as general chairman, is deserving of vastly more credit than he will ever receive for the success of the day. It is doubtful if anyone could have been chosen who would have so tirelessly and efficiently devoted himself to the job. Harry has probably done more for Plymouth during the last few weeks than any man has done before him. Our hats are off to Harry. Without a doubt the best known and most popular man in Plymouth, he has unselfishly given his time and energy to the success of the day he has waited 38 years to see. His efforts have not been in vain for he has put his idea over with a bang, proving himself the right man for the job and the biggest booster Plymouth has yet developed. Long may he live and may his tribe increase.

The following committee chairmen have ably assisted Mr. Robinson in his program, and no small credit for the success of the day is due to their hard work in putting across the particular job assigned to them:

Publicity—L. B. Samsen.
Decorating—W. T. Peeling.
Finance—J. W. Henderson.
Guests—W. T. Conner.
Store—F. D. Schrader.

The citizens of Plymouth at large can best continue the good work so well begun by a successful Plymouth Day, by keeping up the booster spirit which Plymouth Day has kindled. Plymouth's live Plymouth: The combined efforts of our citizens will do more to keep Plymouth on the map than anything else—and what helps Plymouth helps YOU.

PLYMOUTH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

ARRIVES HOME FROM INTERESTING ALASKA TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. William Wood arrived home last Friday from a trip of four weeks duration, when they visited points of interest in Alaska, Washington and California. The trip was under the auspices of the Pacific Life Insurance Co., and was made up of those members of the sales force who sold $100,000 or more of insurance during the year. One hundred and fifty-three people made up the party, and of this number fifty-eight were from Michigan.

Among the places visited in Alaska was Katchikan, where one of the largest salmon canneries is maintained. On the same boat that the party returned on was shipped 1000 tons of salmon. Another point visited was the capital city of Alaska, Juneau. Sitka, the old Russian capital of Alaska, was another interesting place visited. Here the members of the party visited an old church built by the Russians, which has stood for 112 years. This church is said to hold a million dollars worth of ornaments in gold and silver and other metals. The doors, which are made of hammered copper are estimated to be worth $65,000. Other places visited in Alaska were Petersburg, Skagway and Wrangell. After the return of the party to Portland, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Wood went to San Francisco and Los Angeles, California, where they visited many former Plymouth people. They also stopped enroute home at Kansas City and Topeka, Kansas.

DEATH OF MRS. GEORGE CARPENTER

Mrs. George Carpenter of this village, died at Harper hospital, Detroit, at an early hour, Tuesday morning. Mrs. Carpenter was taken to the hospital, Sunday, where she later underwent an operation. The deceased was 65 years of age. The funeral services will be held from the home, Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. H. E. Sayles officiating. The interment will take place at the cemetery at New Hudson, Mich.

ARRIVES HOME FROM SOUTH AMERICAN TRIP

Cass Sheffield Hough, returned home last week Wednesday from a ten weeks' trip, during which he visited several South American countries in company with a party of six students and two professors from the University of Michigan. The party went through the Panama Canal to the west coast of South America, visiting Valparaiso, Chile; and including a cruise along the Andes mountains to Buenos Aires. The party also visited points in Uruguay and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. In several of the countries, the party was entertained by the presidents, and everywhere they were shown every courtesy and consideration.
