Doerr, Mrs. Charles Draper, Ms. Albert Gayde, Mrs. F. W. Hillman, Mrs. Robert Mimmack, Mrs. D. F. Murray, Miss Pauline Peck, Mrs. Geo. A. Smith, Mrs. Albert S. Stever, Mrs. Paul J. Wiedman, Mrs. Wm. Wood, Newburg—Mrs. Isaac Gunsolly, Waterford—Mrs. Fred Jackson.

We are reprinting an address taken from the Roll Call Speakers' Bulletin for the Eighth Annual Red Cross Roll Call, which gives a most complete understanding of the great work of the American Red Cross:

The French have a proverb which freely translated means, "There is no need trying to prove the existence of light." There is no need that I should attempt to recount the work of the American Red Cross during the months that we were engaged in the World War. What it did is an ineffaceable part of a glorious history. It fills a page in human history, that gleams with a radiance kindled by lofty heroism, tinged by loyalty and consecrated by sincere devotion and unselfish service.

Springing by an all-consuming impulse from dimensions that, despite their practical utility, were small and circumscribed like lightning from the cloven brain of Jove, it came full panoplied into being.

Assistance to Allies
Between 22,000,000 and 23,000,000 American men and women stood in its ranks at Christmas in 1917; between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 American school children enlisted in the Junior Red Cross; more than 8,000,000 women, with devoted, tireless fingers, toiling ceaselessly night and day, created from raw materials a product valued at millions of dollars, devoted to the care and the comfort of our service men at home and abroad, to the solace and aid of their families and dependents left behind.

To our hard-pressed allies and to the needy and exhausted civilian populations behind their battle lines, it carried material aid and recreated and sustained that indefinable "morale" impossible to military success.

The Question Often Asked
It equipped and turned over to the Army Nursing Corps more than 19,000 devoted, trained women, who face to face with danger and death came to stand behind the fighting line, though in the very midst of the din of battle, to minister gentle mercy and tender compassion to the unhappy victims of man's inhumanity to man. If the Red Cross had done nothing else, its nurses would have won for it immortal glory. Their story is an epic whose splendor can never be sufficiently sung. So long as our generation lives—and then on and on in the tales of heroism that the world loves to remember—the song will echo its unceasing tribute.

"In war's red cross
Stands the Red Cross Nurse—
She's the rose of no man's land."
To the American Red Cross the people of the United States gave the vast amount of more than 340,000,000 and bade it spend it quickly and come back and ask for more.

"There is no need of trying to prove the existence of light."
A question often asked by not cynical or unkindly people, but most often from the very best and most kindly disposed—people most ready and anxious for every good word and work. It phrases itself like this, "Tell us, why is the Red Cross still going on? We know what it did during the war—we gave to it—worked for it—but the war is over now and it is fast being forgotten. Why do you insist on maintaining the Red Cross as a going, functioning piece of machinery? Why don't you let it subside—reduce, skeletonize? Then when the next World War comes—and everybody seems to be expecting another war—can you expand when emergency calls?"

Can't Stop If Would?
Thus the question runs. I can answer it best by a bit of phrase-making. "The Red Cross can't stop if it would and it shouldn't stop if it could." Let me explain what I mean by these two things. The Red Cross can't stop if it would.

It is perfectly apparent that a great many people do not understand what the American Red Cross is. They think of it in terms of the greatest commandment—as one of a group of similar or identical organizations, devoted to useful and charitable service, but entirely voluntary as to objects, methods and regulations, and self-determined as to when to begin and when to end activities. They put the Red Cross in the same category as the Salvation Army, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus—the dozen or more agencies that functioned loyally and admirably during the war—or indeed link up with Associated Charities, Welfare Organizations, a score or more of Boards and Foundations having in view the common good. With any and all of these the American Red Cross is in sincere sympathy and seeks always an opportunity for cooperation—but both in its organization, its purpose and its operation the American Red Cross is distinct and different from them all.

It is first of all the creature of an International Treaty, negotiated and promulgated at Geneva, Switzerland, in August 1864, to which our government gave assent and became signatory in 1882—a Treaty to which 49 nations have now acceded—whose several articles are now federated in the League of Red Cross Societies. The American Red Cross is maintained according to that Treaty and represents the Government of the United States in the sisterhood of nations.

Nationally, the American Red Cross is the creature of the Government of the United States, created by Congress in accordance with the Treaty of Geneva—its duties and responsibilities clearly defined and set forth in its Congressional Charter, not as optional, but obligatory.

There are many things that the American Red Cross may do and does do, but there are certain very definite things that it must do when so directed by the Government. It is a governmental agency—the President of the United States is ex-officio its President; its affairs are directed by a Central Committee of eighteen, of whom six are elected by the representatives of the Chapters, six are chosen by the self-perpetuating incorporation named in the Charter, and six are appointed yearly by the President, one of whom is Chairman, the other five representing the governmental departments of State, War, Navy, Treasury and Justice. Its financial operations are subject to the continual scrutiny of the most exacting audit of the War Department, and its Annual Report is submitted by the Secretary of War to the Congress.

Membership Voluntary
It is a record of which the organization is justly proud that in all the vast operations required in the furtherance of its war work, while the air has been filled with the clamor of accusation and suspicion regarding operations and expenditures, never once has even the suggestion of an irregularity been lodged against the American Red Cross, and this is due to the fact that President Wilson called to the head of the Red Cross as it faced its war duty, Mr. Henry P. Davison, of New York, as loyal and devoted in answer to his country's call.

Another question bothers a great many people: "If the American Red Cross is a governmental agency, why doesn't the government support it? Why do you ask people to join and contribute to an organization that is doing the government's work?"
The membership of the Red Cross is voluntary because from its inception its work has been supplemental to the service that any government could render without wrecking itself in the magnitude of such an organization and the prohibitive cost of its operations.

Humanitarian service—mercy, sympathy, encouragement—these all belong to the human equation. They are the result of individual contact; they can no more be created or controlled by any government, however kindly, than friendship can be made by fiat, or than love can be tutored by law. The call of human misery can only be answered by human sympathy. The Red Cross in the beginning set out to alleviate the suffering that governments cause by the boundless inhumanity of war. A government cannot order its civilian population to posts of peril or to work fraught with danger. They must be part of its "combat battalions," enrolled in its military or naval service before the government can command. To carry out the Red Cross mission of "mercy and neutrality" means to go far beyond what a government can provide, for it means unselfish service, freely given, even in the face of peril and at the risk of life itself. Under the charter of the American Red Cross it is charged with two clearly defined duties:

The Treaty Provisions
First—"To furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of armies in time of war." That, as I have told you, is the fundamental duty of the Red Cross Societies, the purpose of the Treaty of Geneva. And, of course, that means the care of the sick and wounded as a result of war, so long as the necessity may continue, and aid and comfort to those who are dependent upon them.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE, FRIDAY, OCT. 31

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth, announces a free lecture on Christian Science by George Shaw Cook, C. S. B., of Chicago, Ill., member of the board of lecturership of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., which will take place at the Penniman Allen theatre, Friday evening, October 31st, at 8:00 o'clock. The public is most cordially invited.

MANY HEAR DR. BARKER

NOTED SPEAKER GAVE FOUR ADDRESSES BEFORE PLYMOUTH AUDIENCES LAST FRIDAY.

The Plymouth Rotary Club rendered a real service and benefit in bringing Dr. Charles E. Barker to Plymouth, last Friday, when the noted lecturer gave four addresses. Dr. Barker created an extraordinary impression in Plymouth, that will long be remembered by all who heard him.

His talk to the High school boys and girls, Friday morning, will, we believe, have an influence upon all their later life and it will be an influence for great good. His address was, "How to Make the Most Out of Life." He presented in a most convincing manner the highest ideals of life and conduct.

There were about eighty Rotarians and guests present at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, Friday noon. A number of Wayne and Dearborn Rotarians were among the guests. A splendid chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the Lutheran church, in the church dining room. After the dinner had been disposed of, the guests were introduced. Rotarian E. C. Hough, chairman of the entertainment committee, then introduced Dr. Barker, as the speaker for the occasion.

Dr. Barker prefaced his address with a splendid compliment to the ladies of the Lutheran church for the wonderful dinner they had served. He said that his lectures take him to all parts of the country, but that he had not partaken of such a sumptuous dinner in ten years.

The speaker then briefly outlined the principals of Rotary and what the organization stood for in the way of higher standards in business and professional work. Dr. Barker spoke of the club's motto, "He profits most who serves best," and illustrated with many interesting examples that the extension of the golden rule to business, not only elevates the business itself and all connected with it, but actually pays in dollars and cents. Dr. Barker drives home the truth with dynamic force, which leaves no doubt in the minds of his audience of his sincerity. At the conclusion of his address, he was given a generous applause of appreciation.

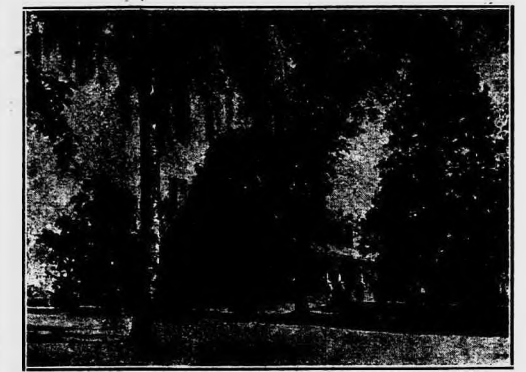

At three o'clock, Dr. Barker spoke to a large gathering of ladies in the Penniman Allen theatre. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Charles Humphries, president of the Woman's Club. His subject was, "A Mother's Responsibility to Her Daughter." Before beginning his address, he spoke in highest praise of the splendid theatre, which is the good fortune of Plymouth to have, saying that he had never found anything like it in towns of this size and much larger, in his travels over the country, and Plymouth should be extremely proud of such a building.

In the evening the theatre was again well filled by the men. Dr. Barker was introduced by George A. Smith, president of the Plymouth Rotary Club. His subject for the evening was, "A Father's Responsibility to His Son."

His addresses of both the afternoon and evening will never be forgotten by those who heard him. His message brushed aside the fogs of ignorance, and let in the light of truth, common sense and the sacred duty upon the relations of father and son and mother and daughter. From his lips fell truths that have been denied to the great majority, and his words must have aroused a greater responsibility in the minds of every parent who hear him.

It is to be hoped that Dr. Barker will be able to return to Plymouth again at some future time.

PLYMOUTH HIGH DEFEATS FORD TRADE SCHOOL

Plymouth defeated the Ford Trade school by the score of 28 to 0 on the local gridiron, last week Friday. The Plymouth team played poor ball the first half, but came back strong in the final period.

The first touchdown came from an intercepted pass by Millard, who ran 85 yards for a touchdown, reversing field twice. In the third quarter, Plymouth gained two points, and then Kenyon ran 55 yards off tackle for the second touchdown. Holmes, in the third period, made the third touchdown by catching a pass from Kenyon. Kenyon kicked goal. Late in the final period, a pass, Millard to Sump, made the last point. Kenyon kicked goal.

CONGRESSMAN MICHENER IN PLYMOUTH TODAY

Congressman Earl C. Michener of Adrian, will be in Plymouth today, and will address the Rotarians at their noon-day luncheon. At 2:30 o'clock, Mr. Michener will address the Woman's League of Voters of Plymouth, at the kindergarten room in the High school building. The ladies of the village and vicinity, and men as well, are cordially invited to attend this meeting and hear the congressman.

HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT LAST SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stimpson of this village, were injured last Sunday afternoon, when the automobile in which they were riding, and a fire department pumper collided at South University avenue and Church street, Ann Arbor.

Mr. Stimpson suffered several broken ribs in being thrown from the car. He was taken to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital in that city. Mrs. Stimpson, who sustained cuts and bruises, was able to return to her home following surgical attention. Mr. Stimpson is getting along nicely at this writing.

Don't forget the Firemen's annual dancing party, Saturday evening, October 25th, at the Penniman Allen auditorium.

Last Friday evening, Mrs. A. G. Griffith entertained eight ladies from Detroit, at a bridge party at her home on Ann Arbor street.

Division No. 4 of the Woman's Club gave a bridge and five hundred party at the home of Mrs. R. L. Hills on Blunk avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Light refreshments were served, and a most pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Plenty of Water in New Well

A representative of the Mail visited the well at the springs, where Plymouth gets its water supply, last Friday morning, and saw water being pumped from the new test well, which has just recently been put down, at the rate of 300 gallons per minute. The water, which was coming out of the well through a six-inch pipe, was being pumped by means of an air compressor. The pump had been in operation for several days previous to last Friday, but the steady stream of water coming from the well did not show that the supply was diminished any at all. This would indicate that there is an abundant supply of water in the new well. Another pump will be installed at the well, so there will always be a pump ready for use in the event of an emergency, such as occurred recently, when the one pump at the well went out of commission for a short time, and Plymouth was without water.

"THE INTIMATE STRANGER" FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 31

CHILDREN ENTER LIGHTING CONTEST

PUPILS OF THE LOCAL SCHOOL WILL COMPETE FOR PRIZES.

School children from the fourth grade up in the schools of Plymouth, Northville, Farmington, South Lyon, Wixom, Walled Lake, Novi, Salem and New Hudson have already entered the Home Lighting Contest, which was started a few days ago by the Detroit Edison Company, which is a part of the lighting educational committee of New York City and the international better lighting activity.

Each child who entered the contest here was given a Home Lighting Primer, which is the basis on which the contest is being conducted. The child must first read the lessons on lighting in the primer before starting to work on his contribution to the contest. He then visits two of his friends homes and marks on a table in the primer the kind and amount of lighting that he finds there. On the same table he does likewise for his own home.

Next he must cut pictures of lighting fixtures out of two of the pages of the primer and place them in what he thinks are their proper places on pictures of the various rooms of the house that he likewise finds in the primer. The next and last thing that he must do is to write a 600 word essay on how to re-light his own home better.

The completed primers and essays are submitted to the local judges who will be named later.

These judges will then pick the winners from among all that are submitted and award the prizes.

The essays and primers of these winners will then be sent to New York, where the international judges will review them together with the winning efforts from the United States and Canada, and award the first prize of a $15,000 home and ten scholarships.

PLYMOUTH HIGH AT REDFORD TODAY

The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. Go and root for the home team.

The husband and father being taken from them when the children were small. She had been a member of the Methodist church since a young girl, and was sincere in her faith, trusting in God at all times; she was also a member of the Maccabees of Sheridan, Mich. PYTHIAN SISTERS ENTERTAIN YPSI LADIES

The Pythian Sisters of Plymouth Temple No. 84, entertained the members of Ypsilanti Temple, very pleasantly, Tuesday evening, October 21. The temple room had been very beautifully decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves, lovely flowers and the colors of the order. About forty guests from Ypsilanti and one from Detroit were present. Ypsilanti temple exemplified the seremonies of initiation on a class of ten candidates. The Most Excellent Chief of Ypsilanti was presented with a large bunch of yellow and white chrysanthemums, to partly show Plymouth Temple's appreciation to them for initiating these candidates. Mrs. Eleanor Chambers of Plymouth, was presented with a fine Pythian Sister pin for having secured all but one of the candidates. After a dainty lunch had been served, the guests departed at a late hour, thanking Plymouth Temple for their hospitality, and inviting them to be their guests in Ypsilanti in the near future.

Mrs. Charles Mers and Miss Anna Bichy left for Buffalo, N. Y., Thursday morning, to attend the funeral of their uncle, Henry Dell.

SENIOR CLASS WILL GIVE PLAY AT HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM NEXT FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 31.

If you were a man, and had almost proposed to a lady you supposed to be younger than yourself, and then became acquainted with her great-niece, what would you do?

This is just the situation in which William Ames finds himself in the play, "The Intimate Stranger," which is to be given by the Senior class at the High school auditorium next Friday evening, October 31.

Marooned together at a lone railway junction, due to remain for unknown hours because of train wrecks and floods, Ames gets into conversation with Miss Isabel Stuart, and in the course of this conversation finds out, what is obvious to the audience from the start, that she is the nicest girl he has ever met. But when they are rescued by an automobile and Florence, Miss Stuart's great-niece, the fun increases, with additions in the person of Johnnie White, the young man who drove the car for Florence.

Johnnie White's part is taken by Everett Cummins, who played "Bobby Tarver" with such success last winter in "Green Stockings." Dorothy Melow again plays the maiden aunt—only much older this year. Gladys Hake has the part of Miss Isabel Stuart. The other members of the cast, new to class dramatics, are: Forest Hubert as Ames; Florence Cline as Florence; Mary Parrott as Mattie, and Louis Sieloff as Henry, the servants; while Ira Kingsley opens the play as station master.

The play is the second number of the Senior Entertainment Course, for which the season tickets have already been sold. Single admissions are fifty cents, the usual price of entertainment course attractions.

COMFORT STATION AT PHOENIX PARK COMPLETED

The handsome new comfort station at Phoenix Park is practically completed. The new building is 30x50 feet in size, and is constructed of fancy pressed brick with stone trimmings. The men's lavatory is located in the east side of the building, while the woman's lavatory occupies the west side of the structure. In the center of the building is an office and the heating plant. The best and most modern lavatory equipment has been installed, Jewell, Blaich & McCordie of Plymouth having the contract for the plumbing. A porch with stone colonades occupies the center and front of the building, which leads into the office. Thousands of people have visited this pretty little park the past summer, which the county road commission has developed the past year, and it has been a most popular spot for picnic parties.

RUNNING THE STREETS

Far be it from us to attempt to dictate to Plymouth parents just what methods they should or should not use in rearing their boys. We are not inclined to be meddling. But when we see a condition that is apt to prove harmful to both our growing boys and the future manhood of the town, we wouldn't consider ourselves a good citizen to keep that condition secret.

We personally believe, and a good many other citizens agree with us, that too many of our young boys are permitted on the streets after dark when they should be at home. There is nothing we know of demanding a boy's time on our streets at night, especially to the extent of loafing. There are lessons to be gotten at home. The things learned on the street after night are not, as a rule, the things that will help to make a better boy of those who learn them.

There are no finer boys in America than we have right here in our own town, and among them are we feel sure, boys due to take a high place out in the world in the years to come. But the high places are not going to be filled by those who spend their spare time loafing the streets at night when there are books at home demanding their attention.

TOO MUCH PRETENSE

We asked a well-known Plymouth man the other day, a man who spent several years of his life in a large city, why he prefers to live in a small town. His quick response was: "There's too much pretense in the city."

It's a very good answer and one we wish all of our readers would study over. We meet from time to time, someone who pretends to be something they are not; people who pretend to have that which they haven't got; who love to boast of rich relatives residing elsewhere, or of how much more they paid for a piece of furniture or a dress or something else than they really paid; people who pretend that "things are too dull here" and that people do things so much better in other towns they have lived in. You know the type we are talking about, and you are probably glad that there are few of their stripe in this community, and that you don't have to sit and listen to them very often.

There is no place for pretense in a town of this size. You may practice it in a large city and get by, but its different here, where everyone is a neighbor and secrets do not long remain secrets; where honesty is still the best policy and where the truth has a habit of cropping out at unexpected moments. When our friend said he liked the smaller town because it is not so full of pretense he gave a mighty fine argument in favor of the place he has picked out as his home. Let all of us try to keep pretense in the larger cities, or at least at a safe distance from here.

BE SURE YOU VOTE

We read in an exchange from a neighboring town an article by a man who favors arresting those who are entitled to vote but neglect to do so. Personally, we do not favor methods that drastic insofar as Plymouth voters are concerned, and yet we can't help feeling that the voter who for some flimsy reason or another, stays away from the polls is not fulfilling his whole duty when he does not vote at every election in which he is entitled to vote. Too many go on the theory that "just one voter staying away won't hurt anything," and when the ballots are counted it is found that there were thousands of the same opinion. As a result someone capable of working serious injury to public improvement programs and the taxpayers generally often slides into office. We boast about this being a free country, why not keep it that way by exercising the highest privilege the country can give—the privilege of voting for any man we desire to vote for? Don't let the wrong man get into office simply because you were too negligent or thoughtless to vote for a man you know is all right.

A GREAT REVIVAL

Because less than 50 per cent of the people of the United States are church members, we are soon to see in this country what promises to be the greatest religious revival in its history. We send out this notice in advance so Plymouth people who do not attend church may get ready to do so, and so those who are church members may prepare for the parts they will be expected to play in the great revivals. As now planned it will be in progress at the same time in every protestant church in America, big or little. There are, according to recent figures, 115,000,000 people in the United States, and less than 45,000,000 of them attend church. Every pastor in the nation will be asked to enlist his congregation in this gigantic revival, and while no date has been set, it promises to be an event of such far-reaching effect and wide-spread interest that it will be well worth watching and waiting for.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Division II of the Woman's Club is proving that excitement is beneficial. Friday afternoon during the business session of the club, an alarm was sounded at the Penniman Allen theatre, all rushed there, and found the wonderfully helpful speaker, Dr. Barker, the good of whose message can never be reckoned.

Today Division II are to have their postponed program, but—the business of last week is to finish promptly, as another alarm is prophesied at 2:30. This fire is to be in the kindergarten room, and the "Have-to-be-theres" are hoping that all the "ought-to-others" will come early to the music room and make a grand rush to hear Congressman Michener. After the "fire" the club members and others will return to the second floor to hear a short, interesting program with slides.

COUNTY PAVES 65 NEW MILES

ROAD REPORT ISSUED, SHOWS
OLD ROADS WIDENED AND GRAVEL LAID DOWN.

More than 65 miles of new concrete road have been built in Wayne County this year, according to the eighteenth annual report of the Board of County Road Commissioners. Besides this, 14.16 miles of old concrete roads have been widened.

This year the commission has departed from its settled policy of building all of the highways of concrete, by building 5 1/2 miles of gravel roadway in outlying sections of the county to connect with completed gravel roads in Washtenaw County.

Some 60 odd miles of road are being graded, and drainage structures for them are being built. This work is about 80 per cent complete, the report states. All roads are marked with a center line safety strip, and standard sign posts have been erected at the limits of every village and city in the county giving the name of the community.

Seven bridges have been completed, ranging in cost from $30,000 to $130,000, while seven more bridges are under construction. Two bridges have also been constructed for county parks, the report states.

The most important road building project of the year, the report says, has been the widening of Grand River road from the old city limits to the heart of the village of Redford. This has been widened from 66 to 100 feet, with the interurban car tracks in the middle of the road. The amount spent on road maintenance this year has been $202,317.37, the report states.

AROUND ABOUT US

Redford is to have a new theatre building erected in that town.

Redford plans to put a system of school banking in its schools this year.

Dogs killed sixty-one sheep on two farms near South Lyon, one day recently.

There are potato diggers and potato diggers but Albert Shelters in the old-fashioned way and without attempting to make a record, dug for John Dawson Wednesday, 75 bushels of potatoes in 6 1/4 hours. At 9 cents per bushel that made a good wage for a little more than a half day's work—and Mr. Shelters isn't so young as he used to be either.

Redford's gala day will take place Saturday, October 25th. The occasion will mark the opening of Grand River avenue to the public. The avenue, most of which is 100 feet wide, has been paved on both sides of the street car tracks from Wilmarth avenue, Redford, to Woodward avenue. A splendid program of events is being planned by the citizens of Redford.

C. A. Sorenson, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Co., has purchased the Fred Goers' 162-acre farm on the south side of Grand River avenue at Farmington Junction. The consideration in the transaction was $125,000. The River Rouge runs through a section of this farm. No announcement has been made as to the intended use of the farm.—Redford Record.

October 1st, Brightmoor's population was 9593. The rate of growth which obtains as a rule in the Magic City means that Brightmoor has now passed the ten thousand mark. Ten thousand people in two years is the astounding record of this community and the end is not yet. Not a day passes without its quota of newcomers. Building, on the business streets as well as along the residential streets, is going forward with especial impetus now that the splendid fall weather is here. It is confidently predicted that the end of the year will see twelve thousand residents in Detroit's wonder suburb.—Redford Record.

The Red Cross, side by side with the government, whose agency it was, has faced and performed a tremendous task in caring for the disabled service men, their families and dependents, and undertaking to re-establish them in the activities of civilian life. Readjustment after a war is always a long, confused and discouraging task. Probably we are making as much headway as we have any right to expect; but we have a constant task in ministering to the permanently disabled.

In hospitals and government institutions we have more than fifteen thousand men who are never going to be absorbed in civilian life—men who must stay where they are until they are borne away to a soldier's last rest. This multitude of sufferers is about evenly divided between the tubercular and psychiatric—and their number is slowly but steadily increasing—and Surgeon General Ireland of the Army warns us that it will not reach its peak for several years.

Service to Individuals
The government cannot deal with these men save in units of mass—it has no means with which to render individual service beyond the standardized treatment an institution affords. Only a voluntary organization such as the Red Cross can furnish to the individual man a touch of personal sympathy, or bring to each separate bedside a bit of individual service and a ray of special comfort—and that's what the Red Cross is for. As long as there remains a single man who in answer to his country's summons brought and gave all that he was and had, so long will the Red Cross "stand by," and God forbid that this nation should ever grow so sordid in materialism and so sunk in the selfishness of present gain that it shall write a new signature to the ancient challenge that "Republics are ungrateful."

The second chartered duty of the Red Cross, to quote the exact words, is "To continue and carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace and to apply the same in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, disease, famine, fire, floods, and other great national calamities; and to devise and carry on measures for preventing the same."

Disaster Relief has been the distinctive work of the American Red Cross from the beginning. Alone of all the National Red Cross Societies, its charter lifted it from the single duty of war service and opened to it the broad field of catastrophe. Wherever disaster strikes, there comes the Red Cross ready for relief. Check them over—Dayton, Galveston, San Francisco, Pueblo, New Bern, Japan, Lorain, savage cyclones, resistless floods, flaming fires, caving mines—it makes no matter what or where, there the Red Cross comes and labors—because that is its chartered duty.

Red Cross Health Work
It is not a medical organization, though it strives to live and to labor in closest contact not only with the physician and the surgeon as they rescue the sick, but in the broader, infinitely more important field of preventive medicine, sanitation and hygiene.

In the important cause of public health, it augments the work of Federal State and civic boards, it goes far afield where organized effort has not yet reached and in small communities amid scattered population, it has installed the public health nurse, the exponent of pre-natal and child care and of all that practical hygiene of living which is rendering curative—medicine less necessary by emphasizing health.

Home Hygiene Teaching
It has its instructors in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick who, all over the country, reach the mothers in the homes and the daughters in the schools, teaching them elementary but fundamental health principles. They are instructed in personal hygiene and home sanitation and simple nursing procedures—though it should be remembered that in serious illness no one can supersede the doctor and the nurse—and are shown, in fact, how to make health catching instead of disease.

The Red Cross is also contributing to the health program through its trained nutrition workers in Chapters. It has recognized with Sir George Newman, Chief Medical Officer, Ministry of Health and Board of Education of Great Britain, that "The sound nutrition of the individual and the community is the foundation of public health," and it has included nutrition instruction for teachers, children, mothers and all others interested by a well trained nutrition worker as one of its peace time activities.

Against the menace of any fresh emergency the American Red Cross maintains the reserve of the Army and Navy Nurse Corps, having continually on its rolls more than forty thousand registered nurses.

With an enrollment of more than 5,000,000 school children in the Junior Red Cross, it is endeavoring to co-operate with our educational system in making the coming generation fit for the duties of their day by training them in the practical gospel of service for the common good.

5,000,000 Children
In the face of the frightful sacrifice of human life caused by speed mania, reckless carelessness and criminal lawlessness, the Red Cross is undertaking practical instruction in Life Saving and First Aid, that may reduce the ghastly toll paid to defective civilization.

Nor is its duty and its obligation confined to our own land. Its charter calls for "international relief." You have questioned why the Red Cross insists on maintaining an active functioning machine throughout the country, represented by Chapters in each county, more than three thousand of them. Here is the answer: Like a flash from a clear sky disaster smote Japan; thousands killed, mangled, naked, shelterless, starving. It was natural that President Coolidge should call on the American people for aid for a friendly, lately allied nation. He asked for $5,000,000 and added, naturally, "In order that the utmost coordination and effectiveness in the administration of the relief funds be obtained, I recommend that all contributions, clearly designated, be sent to the Chairman of the American National Red Cross at Washington or to any of the local Red Cross Chapters, for transmission to Japan."

"That's What It's For!"
There you are! That is just what it is for! There is the whole thing in a single sentence!

Before the ink was dry on the President's signature, the word was flashed to every Red Cross Chapter; inside of six working days the five million dollars was raised and on its way to Japan. Within fifteen days the sum had passed eight million dollars, and when we finally called off and refused to receive any more, the American people had given, through their Red Cross, for stricken Japan, $11,600,000; and for every penny given here there was a cent to spend over there because there had been no overhead—the American Red Cross had been ready and had done the job.

Suppose we had had to wait until a relief organization could have been set up in every city and town—how long would Japan's necessity have cried unsatisfied?

Well, that is the Red Cross—what some people call the Peace Time Program. Really you know there isn't any such thing. Right while we were in the very midst of our war work there were disasters happening and the Red Cross was going right along with its relief.

In the Fall of 1918, when the war was at its climax and we were straining every nerve to win through, the epidemic influenza created an emergency great enough to have staggered ordinary relief forces—but the Red Cross carried on.

Summons to Roll Call
Because of all these things it is a great thing to be a part of an organization that exists only for the sake of serving. After all, the greatest thing in this world is doing something for somebody else; and that is the sum and substance of the American Red Cross.

You can assist in this great work by membership in the Red Cross. Put your name in the list of those who would serve the common good. Do not forget to enroll during the annual Red Cross Roll Call, from October 27th to November 1st.

I AM CALLING YOU

I am the best friend you ever had. I am hung about with sweet memories—memories of brides, memories of mothers, memories of boys and girls, memories of the aged as they grope their way down the shadows.

I am decked with loving tears—crowned by happy hands and hearts. In the minds of the greatest men of earth I find a constant dwelling place.

I safeguard man through all his paths. I lift up the fallen. I strengthen the weak. I help the distressed. I show mercy, bestow kindness and offer a friendly hand. I am good fellowship.

Some time—some day—some hour—in the near or far future, you will yearn for the touch of my friendly hand. I am your comforter, and your best friend. I am calling you NOW!

I AM THE CHURCH

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The next event of general importance is the Red Cross roll call which begins next Monday. As in former years, booths will be located in the lobby of the Plymouth United Savings Bank and Beyers Drug store, thus making it convenient for you to pay your dollar. Let each do his share.

Next week the Regional Sunday-school convention will be held in Ann Arbor. A good program has been prepared, and each church is expected to send at least five delegates. Every officer and teacher of the Sunday-school should attend this source of inspiration. Henry the fourth is going. Dates, October 29, 30, 31.

The choir members have been invited to a Halloween party next Friday night, at the home of Charles Bichy, and are looking forward to a good time.

Wednesday was sewing day at the church. The Sewing Circle of the Woman's Auxiliary met to sew for the Bazaar and the Busy Woman's Bible Class tied quilts. A pot-luck dinner was served.

Our sympathy is extended to Rev. W. G. Evans who has been compelled to resign the pastorate of the South Lyon Presbyterian church on account of ill health, and is establishing his home in Ann Arbor. The South Lyon Herald says in a recent issue:

"Mr. Evans came to South Lyon six years ago the first of September, from a twelve years' successful pastorate at Redford, Michigan. He has made many warm and staunch friends not only in the church, but with the public in general, and his leaving will be much regretted by those with whom he has become familiarly known."

During the month of November four Presbyterian churches for religious work and worship will be dedicated in Detroit Presbytery. They are The First Presbyterian Church of Pontiac, Drayton Avenue Presbyterian Church of Ferndale, Church of the Redeemer on West Grand Boulevard, opposite Ford hospital, and the DeLay Presbyterian Institute.

LIVONIA CENTER LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be regular services at Livonia Center Lutheran Church on Sunday, October 26th, in the English language. Everyone welcome. After the service, a special meeting will be held to elect a delegate to attend the delegate conference of our church body, Toledo, Ohio, on November 5th and 6th. Also a special offering will be lifted to help meet the costs of the synodical reports handed to the members on the first Sunday of the present month.

Sunday, with the bright sunshine, made everything cheerful. The male quartet gave us some more good music, and the singing books gave spirit to the music. The pastor's sermon was from Mark 16:15, "Great Commission," or the necessity of preaching, whether they bear or forbear.

The Ladies' Aid Society held a special meeting last week Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. N. J. Humphries.

This is the season of the year when many of our flower gardens are empty, and no flowers. At the church this summer, we have been blessed with splendid decorations Sunday after Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George Wilskie have looked after much of this work, and we are all thankful.

The Laymen's conference of the Wayne Association is to have as one of its speakers, G. A. Huntley, M. D., for 30 years a medical missionary in China. October 31st the men gather for the meeting.

The joint meeting of the B. Y. P. U. and Epworth League at the Baptist church last Sunday, was a very pleasant and profitable occasion. The meeting was led by Miss Madeline Shackleton and her group. Others also spoke at the meeting. Pierre Kenyon, president of the Epworth League, gave a splendid talk to the young people. Forest Hubert spoke about the Hi-Y, and gave an explanation of the organization and its purpose. Ira Kingsley, president of the B. Y. P. U., spoke about bringing Christ to Plymouth. All of the addresses were well received and everyone felt the young people had a part in the great work of the church.

STATE FARMERS PROSPECTS GOOD

AGRICULTURAL REPORTS SHOW
MICHIGAN CROPS IN EXCEL-LENT CONDITION.

Michigan farmers growing potatoes, beans, sugar beets and apples as cash crops will fare better this year than the average farmer of other states, a report issued October 16th by Verne H. Church, Michigan statistician and Whitney Watkins, state commissioner of agriculture shows.

The reports follow:

Beans
"The Nation's bean crop is approximately 3,000,000 bushels less than last year. While the yield is up to average in most states, the average is considerably less in states growing white beans. Eighty-eight per cent of the Michigan crop is white varieties, 10 per cent red kidney beans and 2 per cent soys. The average pick is 6.5 per cent; the average yield 11 bushels per acre, and the total production 3,621,000 bushels."

Although the bean yield in Michigan is equal to almost half of the United States total production, farmers are getting an average of $2.90 a bushel against an average in other parts of the country of $3.50. The Michigan yield average of 11 bushels compared favorably with the national average of 9.2 bushels. The top price is $4.00 in New York and Idaho.

Potatoes
"The potato crop for the entire country this year promises to be another large one, estimated at 423,508,000 bushels. This has been exceeded twice, in 1917 when 442,108,000 bushels were produced and the new record crop of 453,396,000 in 1923. The condition is relatively high except in a few western states."

The condition of Michigan potatoes is given as 86 per cent which is about average for the country. Maine leads with a condition of 98 per cent and the condition of Virginia potatoes is 94 per cent. Estimated production in Michigan is 33,911,000 exceeded only by New York and Minnesota.

Sugar Beets
"The yield of sugar beets in many of the leading states is not as large as last year, but a good acreage gives a prospective production slightly larger. Michigan's estimated crop is 1,189,000 tons and is exceeded only by that of Colorado. The average yield of the country is 8.1 tons per acre which will produce 950,000 tons of refined sugar."

Apples
"There has been a further decline in the United States apple crop during September. The quality is not as good as that of last year. The Michigan crop is much smaller than last year being only 45 per cent of normal, but total production is relatively high."

SPECIAL FARM SCHOOL TO START AT M. A. C.

WINTER SHORT COURSE EXPECTED TO ENROLL MANY AGRICULTURAL STUDENTS—OPENS OCTOBER 27.

A special "sixteen-weeks" course in agriculture will open at the Michigan Agricultural College on October 27, as the first of eleven farm courses to be given during the winter months.

The Short Courses, as they are popularly known, are designed to give scientific and practical training for young men of the state who desire advanced training in agriculture, but who cannot for one reason or another spare the time for the regular four-year course at M. A. C. Hundreds of graduates of this winter school are now engaged in successful farming operations in Michigan, while others are holding down professional positions in connection with some phase of the industry.

The sixteen-weeks course, which opens October 27, runs for two years and gives a very complete and practical training in general agriculture. The short courses are open to all men and women over 16 years of age, without examination, but the equivalent of at least a good common school education is recommended for entering students.

The short course students have their own organizations and athletic teams, entering into the student life of the M. A. C. campus fully during their residence at the college. All departments of the agricultural division contribute to the curriculum of the courses.

In addition to the course, which opens on October 27, other winter courses listed in the special catalog (which may be had on application to: Director Winter Courses, M. A. C., East Lansing) include: Eight weeks course in general agriculture, January 5 to March 6; dairy production, January 5 to March 20; dairy manufactures, January 5 to February 28; ice cream makers, March 3 to 14; horticulture, January 5 to March 6; poultry, January 5 to 30; post-graduate veterinary, January 26 to 30; bee-keepers, February 9 to 21; farm engineering, January 5 to March 6, and two four-week truck and tractor courses, opening February 9 and March 9.

DOES ANYBODY KNOW?

In the account of the Fourth of July celebration held in Plymouth in 1851, which was reprinted last week, from a poster advertising the event, it was stated in the order of the procession, that Revolutionary soldiers would take part. Does anyone in Plymouth know who any of these soldiers were? If so, please call the Mail office, phone 6-F2.

TAKE NOTICE!

All those owing the late Dr. Wm. G. Johnson are requested to meet at the store of Cal. Whipple and settle their accounts. All accounts not paid within a reasonable time will be placed in the hands of a collector. Ross B. Northrup, Administrator.

Make Each R.R. Crossing A Stop Street

Most Michigan cities compel motorists to bring their cars to a full stop before crossing any heavy-traffic street.

This law is universally approved. It saves time and averts accident. It is wise and fair.

Yet heavy motor vehicle traffic is far less dangerous to you than a railroad train. Speed is the very essence of Railroad service. A train cannot stop quickly. Nor can it turn out to avoid hitting you.

Six states have already passed laws, making stop streets out of Railroad intersections. The time may come when the State of Michigan will compel you by law to thus protect yourself.

But, why wait for law, when you have common sense?

Determine today that, from this time on, you will always bring your car to a full stop before crossing a Railroad track, anywhere—any time.

Everybody will approve your good judgment. Many will follow your example. And you will be relieved forever from the possibility of this, the most serious of common accidents.

Rev. Paul Havens' theme Sunday, was, "A Hunter After God." It was especially interesting to the large number of young men who are taking an interest in the church. Misses Louise and Jessie Geney led the Epworth League Sunday night, when twenty-six were in attendance. Both sides are even in the contest.

There are a great many children in the community that ought to be in Sunday-school. Everyone try and get someone to come with you next Sabbath.

The Epworth League will give a mask Halloween social at the L. A. S. hall next Thursday evening, October 30th. All are requested to go to the back door of the hall to get in. The admission will be 10c. Everyone invited to come.

The L. A. S. Fair and Home Coming at the hall last Friday night, was a great success, both socially and financially, the society clearing $184. A chicken supper was served to 260. Former residents of Newburg who attended from away, were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zanders and son, Leonard, Stark and family of Trenton; Edwin Norris and family of Stratmoor; Harry Armstrong and family, Mrs. Lydia Joy McNabb and family and Mrs. Vina Joy of Detroit; Mrs. Day Dickerson of Farmington, and numerous friends from Plymouth, Beech, Perrinville and other places who enjoyed meeting old friends.

The L. A. S. wish to thank all who so kindly donated toward the booths and supper, especially to the Plymouth Mail for special mention, and Fred Geney for so ably assisting in the kitchen, and Ed Taylor for acting as auctioneer. The church is now only $1,000 in debt on the parsonage, which cost $4,200, and which was completed last June.

Rev. and Mrs. Havens entertained thirty young people at the parsonage Monday evening, in honor of Mr. Havens' sister, Miss Florence Havens of Greenfield, Indiana, the hostess serving the refreshments. Needless to say, all spent a delightful evening. Twenty nieces and nephews of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meilbeck came out from Detroit to spend last Saturday evening with their aunt and uncle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Henry and children of Sech Lyon spent over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Norris and baby of Stratmoor, were guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mackinder, the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Booth and son, Oswald and baby, and Mrs. Mary Wight of Detroit, attended the L. A. S. Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Horton spent over Sunday with their son in Detroit.

Frank Donelson of Baltimore, Md., visited his brother at Jesse Jewell's the latter part of the week, and also attended the L. A. S. Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Landy visited Mr. and Mrs. C. Mackinder Sunday. Mrs. C. W. Leonard passed through a critical operation at Highland Park hospital, Monday morning. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

The Board of Stewards met at the home of Mrs. C. E. Ryder Monday p. m., and elected the following officers: Chairman, Mrs. Ryder; secretary, Miss Anna Youngs; treasurer, Mrs. M. Eva Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stevens and family spent Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. R. Lewis, at Chelsea. Mrs. Lewis furnished the beautiful flowers for the tables the night of the Fair.

Mrs. Klatt, from our neighboring society, gave a beautiful rug to the fancy work booth. Many thanks.

Parent-Teachers' meeting, held last week was well attended, and all enjoyed the entertainment given by the children, after which the business of the evening was taken up. It was decided to give a "rag carpet social" in November, about the 14th, this to be held in the Ladies' Aid hall. The following were appointed on the different committees: Program—Mrs. A. Bakewell, Miss Reddeman, Miss Hall. Lunch—Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Bassett. Fish Pond—Mrs. J. F. Rousseau.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Rousseau, the traffic managers, representing five different railroads, brought their party of about 300 guests out to our Gleasons' hall on Wednesday evening of last week. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and they were so pleased with the floor, for dancing, that they voted to make it an annual affair, to be held at Newburg. Music was furnished by Patrickson's orchestra, which, to say the least, is "good enough for anyone." Newburg guests at the party were: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rousseau and Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Gates.

Mrs. J. F. Rousseau and Mrs. Harmon Gates attended the Wayne county council of Parent-Teachers Associations, held at the County building, Detroit, last week Saturday. Don't forget the big Harvest Party at the Gleasons' hall on Wednesday evening, "University Orchestra," of Detroit University. Lots of specialties, $1.00 per couple; extra lady, 25c.

A PLYMOUTH BOY IN THE MARINES.

Alphonse Minthorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Minthorn, who is a member of the Marine corps, writes the Mail a letter:

Paris Island, Sat., Oct. 4, 1924
To the Plymouth Mail:

I have not had time to write a letter to all my friends, so I thought I would write a few lines and you could print it, so all of the people could get a general idea of the Marine Corps. The Marine Corps is very much improved to what it used to be. Nowadays every man for himself. Of course you all know that. Well, I like the marine corps very well, much better than I thought it would. Now here is where I will surprise somebody. Most every one told me, "You will have to eat like hogs, grab a plate, run and get your chow." But, Oh no, you don't do that. We all go in the mess hall, down to the table, then we help ourselves to what we want.

And we don't live like animals either. We have to wash our clothes every day, scrub our bunk house every morning when we get up, and have small one-man beds, no wall bunks. We have inspection every other day for cleanliness, and Lord help the man that is dirty. The whole company takes him into the bath house and gives him a sand bath until he is clean. So far, we have not had to do that in our company. We have a free movie every night, or we can go to the Marine music hall; in fact do almost anything we wish in the evening. We all turn in before every night, and get up at four-thirty every morning.

We spend three months here on the island, and then we get shipped all over the world, mostly to the tropics, Japan, China and home ports. I will stay here on the island mostly all my four years, because I am going to the cooking school, and when I leave there I will be stationed at some mess hall here on the island.

Well, I must close now because it is chow time again.
A Plymouth Lad.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Abigail Hodge passed away in Detroit, Michigan, October 12, 1924, in the 97th year of her life.

The deceased was born in Port Bay, Wayne County, New York, September 20, 1828. Her parents were strong, sturdy, English-Scotch people of Maine, who had come to New York in 1817. When but three months of age, a fire burned her home with all of its contents, also a brother and sister, but she was miraculously saved by neighbors. When three years of age, in 1831, with her parents she moved onto 100 acres of timber land in Wayne county, Michigan, near Detroit. This city then consisted of only one or two streets, with the Detroit river on one side and low lands mostly wooded on the other. At once her father cut down trees to build a log cabin, and also to clear the land in order to obtain space to grow corn, potatoes and other crops; while in time her mother and she began to spin tow and the flax, weave and make their clothing.

Such were the pioneer struggles with which the present generation is entirely unfamiliar. Experiences with wild animals, snakes and the Indians were numerous, often thrilling and serious. Good courage, good sense and adaptability, which are often the results of such pioneer life, enabled the family to live and succeed.

Their home in the woods was their world in those days, as schools and churches were few and far between, but the teaching and preaching were effective. Sterling character was developed. Then it was necessary to commit much to memory both in day schools and Sabbath schools. In her teen years, while spinning and knitting, she memorized from 50 to 80 verses of the New Testament weekly, repeating them at Sunday-school and thus coming to know her Bible by heart.

As time went on and other settlers came, there gradually appeared the old fashioned spelling schools, the evening neighborhood schools, and the apple paring bees in fall and winter evenings, which helped develop the social and community spirit.

At 22 years of age, she united with the Baptist church in Redford, Michigan, where she regularly attended and taught in the Sunday-school, even though it was four miles distant. Later she prepared herself for public school teaching at Michigan State Normal, and taught several years.

In 1858 she married Eugene Hodge, son of Deacon John Hodge of Redford, Michigan, who regularly attended and taught in the Sunday-school, even though it was four miles distant. Later she prepared herself for public school teaching at Michigan State Normal, and taught several years.

In 1858 she married Eugene Hodge, son of Deacon John Hodge of Redford, Michigan, who regularly attended and taught in the Sunday-school, even though it was four miles distant. Later she prepared herself for public school teaching at Michigan State Normal, and taught several years.

Her children were born to them—George, who after graduation from Michigan University, became one of the secretaries of the International Y. M. C. A., where he still serves; John, who after graduating from the university, entered business in Minneapolis, and is now in Los Angeles, a strong supporter of the church and of christian management in business; Henry, after a course in Michigan University and at Rochester Theological Seminary, became pastor of the Baptist church in Winchester, Mass., serving it 20 years, until 1919, and now he is pastor of the First Baptist church in Everett, Mass.; Myra Genia, born in 1864, lived only three years. The three sons mentioned survive her.

Abigail Hodge, most fittingly called "Mother Hodge" for the last forty years of her life, was indeed a "Mother of Israel." Strong and vigorous in her faith, clear and convincing in her thought, word and service, fervent and effectual in her prayer, thoroughly familiar with God's Word, gifted in an unusual degree with a spark of the divine in human life, filled with the mind of Christ—she stood as a tower of strength for all that is noble and christian developing, in her home, in the church and in the community.

Amid the ashes of nearly a century of her life on earth, the fire of her faith, and the flame of her strong soul convictions, burned undimmed to the last. Of her it could well be said, "I glorified Thee on the earth having accomplished the work which Thou hast given me to do."

The remains were brought to Plymouth for interment in Riverside cemetery, Tuesday afternoon, October 14th.

THE THEATRE

"OPEN ALL NIGHT"

Film fans in search of novelty in picture plays will find it in Paramount's "Open All Night," which marks Paul Bern's debut as a director. The picture, adapted by Willis Goldbeck from several short stories by Paul Morand, has for its thrilling background the first six day bicycle race that was ever put on the screen. It will be the main feature at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Saturday, October 25th.

"Open All Night" is a story of one night in Paris—city of gay lives—and of a cultured woman's search for adventure to break the monotony of her too civilized home life. Married to a man who is a calm sophisticate in the world of Parisian society, she tires of his never-fading courtesy and apparent indifference to her charms. Although cultured and a gentlewoman, her nature is close to the elemental—the kind of nature that would prefer brutality to indifference.

She fancies her search is ended when she meets a famous athlete who is for the moment electrifying all Paris with his skill as a champion bicycle rider in the famous International Bicycle Race at the Winter Circus. Complications follow thick and fast when her husband discovers her infatuation for the athlete and decides to act like a caveman himself for a change.

As can readily be seen it is a farce-comedy that has unlimited humorous possibilities, and the advance reports have it that Director Bern hasn't overlooked a single one. Most of the events take place in and around the race track and for thrilling action and realism nothing ever before flashed on the screen can compare to the tremendously exciting race that is the main feature of the film.

The leading players include Jetta Goudal, Viola Dana, Adolph Menjou, Maurice ("Lefty") Flynn, Raymond Griffith and Gale Henry.

"YOLANDA"

The first Marion Davies picture to be released since "Little Old New York," in which she achieved one of the biggest successes in the history of motion pictures, is a screen version of Charles Major's romance of the daughter of Charles the Bold, Prince of Burgundy, "Yolanda." This photoplay has been booked for showing at the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday and Monday, October 26 and 27. It was in another picture made from a novel by Charles Major, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," that Miss Davies made her big leap into the first rank of picture stars of the day. In "Yolanda" she reveals a charm of personality, a resourcefulness in technique, a mastery of pantomime that even surpasses her work in "Little Old New York" and "Knighthood."

In this romantic masterpiece of the cinema art, Miss Davies is said to achieve new heights in her subtle characterization of the charming Princess Mary of Burgundy, daughter of Charles the Bold, who whimsically impersonates the character of Yolanda, a burgher maid, in order to test the sincerity of the love of her impetuous admirer, Maximilian of Styria.

"Yolanda" was adapted to the screen by Luther Reed from Charles Major's masterpiece of the fifteenth century. It was directed by Robert G. Vignola and embellished with settings designed and executed by Joseph Urban. These are a marvel of graceful effects combined with absolute historical accuracy.

It is said that Miss Davies, in "Yolanda," does the greatest work of her career, her performance excelling in dramatic heights her impersonations of Pat O'Day in "Little Old New York" and Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood Was in Flower." In her dual role of the Princess Mary and Yolanda, the burgher maid, Miss Davies is given an opportunity to display an unusual variety and force of acting.

"THE FEMALE"

Betty Compson is supported by a unique cast in "The Female," her new Paramount starring picture directed by Theodor S. Drzewski. It is an adaptation of Cynthia Stockley's "Dalla, the Lion Cub." All of the scenes are laid in South Africa.

Heading the strong supporting cast are Warner Baxter and Noah Beery, Dorothy Cumming, Helen Butler, Pauline French, Edgar Norton and Florence Wix also have important parts.

There are other featured players who get no credit in the advertising, but they don't care. They are an assortment of lions, fourteen in number, ranging in size from tiny cubs to grown ups. All the zoos in Southern California were scoured by Director Wood and his assistants to find African lions of just the right size and temperament.

"The Female," which will be shown next Wednesday and Thursday, October 29 and 30, at the Penniman Allen Theatre is a story of a beautiful young Boer girl who knows no life outside the African veldt. She meets and falls in love with a handsome young Englishman far above her station in life. Men before always flocked to her, but this one is different. He is strangely cold and ignores her, and his people, the "Englishers," insult Dalla (Miss Compson). The rest of the picture is a gripping and unusually entertaining story of the carrying out of this girl's plans for revenge—against all the ultra-smart of the English colony in general. The picture closes with her completely winning over the young Englishman.

Warner Baxter has the leading man's role in the production. Noah Beery plays the Englishman, the girl's guardian. Others in the supporting cast include Dorothy Cumming, Freeman Wood and Helen Butler.

Today's Reflections

Rockefeller says he's glad to be of some service to mankind. Sure. Look at all the nice filling stations he has given us.

Education is great stuff, but the Plymouth man who writes dollars with one "I" may have the biggest bank account.

Funny how some men will go to war and fight for their country, but won't go to the polls and vote for it.

We see where an eastern man was buried to the tune of "Yes, We Have No Bananas." Maybe it was the song that killed him.

Maybe, to, the Plymouth woman who doesn't make biscuits like mother used to make, has a husband who doesn't make the money that father used to make.

The dead past has mighty little chance to bury its dead during a campaign year.

Why is it that a man will suffer for eight hours, and then raise the roof if the doctor takes ten minutes to get to him.

What has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth woman who used to send her daughter calico scraps of the new dresses she had to make.

Artists can rave all they want to about the beautiful backs, but to us the most beautiful back in America is the greenback.

Our experience is that there's not enough going on in the eight hours a man is supposed to sleep to pay him for staying awake and watching it.

We can't think of anyone around Plymouth we're as sorry for as the young man who is in love and hasn't a fiver of his own.

The Spirit of Protestantism

THE spirit of Protestantism exhibits itself in Love and Tolerance.

A true Protestant grants his fellow-citizen the right to differ as he himself claims that right.

Protestantism stands for certain definite principles, but it does not display intolerance towards those of opposite views.

A Protestant hopes that others may see as he does, but if they do not he still remains neighborly and fair. He does not resort to legislation to force his convictions upon others.

Protestantism is opposed to every type of tyranny over the minds and souls of men. It stands for freedom of conscience and religion. It stands for freedom of thought and speech. It stands for freedom to learn and teach.

It cannot agree to a dictatorship of religion or education without violating its traditional spirit.

It does not believe that the state should establish a monopoly in education.

All who believe in the true spirit of Protestantism will work and vote against the School Amendment, which seeks to give the state a monopoly in education.

Passion must not be permitted to destroy educational liberty, which is one of the best fruits of the Protestant Reformation.

Give Credit where Credit is Due!

THREE per cent of Michigan's population of ten years and over cannot read or write. The nation's average is twice as high—six per cent.

Thirty states have more illiterates than Michigan.

There are 2,203 negro and 14,172 native white illiterates in Michigan.

These are United States Census Bureau figures. They disprove the claims of propagandists that there are more than one-half million people in Michigan who cannot read or write.

Michigan people are broadminded, tolerant, and educated. They are products of schools that are second to none in America.

Public, Private, and Church Schools have worked together in a program of state-wide education. Each deserves credit for the part it has played.

If Michigan were to adopt the School Amendment, private and church schools would have to be closed in less than nine months. Nearly 125,000 pupils would be thrown into an already overcrowded public school system. Chaos would prevail. Work would be destroyed. Taxes would go up.

Many children would be put on a part time basis.

Michigan's splendid record for literacy would be threatened.

Preserve our high standard of education by voting "NO!"

VOTENO on the School Amendment!

THE PROPOSED INCOME TAX AMENDMENT

Among other amendments to be voted upon November 4th, is one providing for the payment of a state income tax on all annual incomes of $4,000 and over. On its face it may look as if such a law, if passed, would effect only those whose incomes reach that amount. But does it? The worker, whose income is less than $4,000 will find he will pay his share in increased rents, increased prices on all living commodities that he buys, and a lessened opportunity for work.

It will add a state income tax of 5 per cent to 10 per cent on top of what you pay the United States government each year in income taxes. No exemption for married men or on children.

This proposed state income tax won't reduce taxes for anybody. It is the history of taxation in Michigan that no new tax has ever decreased the total amount of taxes paid.

The motto of many politicians seems to be: "Easy come, easy go." Every time they find a new way to raise tax money, they find a new way to spend it. The best way to keep our state taxes down is to make it hard for the politicians to get hold of tax money!

The proposed income tax for Michigan starts at 5 per cent and goes up to 10 per cent. The highest income tax percentage of nine other states is: Arkansas, one mill; Missouri, 1 1/2 per cent; Oklahoma and Virginia, 2 per cent; New York and Delaware, 3 per cent; North Dakota, Oregon and Wisconsin, 6 per cent. The Michigan proposal goes to 10 per cent—a higher point than any other state income tax in America.

Remember—the ballot at this coming election will carry the proposals for three amendments to the state constitution.

First, there is the proposed Amendment for a new plan of re-appointing members of the state legislature.

Second, there is the proposed amendment for a state income tax. Third, there is the proposed amendment requiring all children of school age to attend the public schools.

Mrs. David Haselschwerdt, the mother of Miss Mae Haselschwerdt, a former teacher in the Plymouth public schools, died at her home at Grass Lake, Friday, October 17th. The funeral was held Monday afternoon of this week. Miss Haselschwerdt has the sympathy of her many Plymouth friends in her bereavement.

Mrs. Fred Sallow has received word that her brother, William Geigler had been seriously injured in Glendale, California, where he is residing. A pile of lumber fell upon Mr. Geigler, breaking and crushing his left leg and also crushing his right leg. His back and chest were also badly crushed. At the time of our going to press, no further word had been heard from him by his sister.

A truck in which Ernest Wilson and Herman Gottschalk were riding, and a Ford runabout collided at the intersection of the Plymouth and Telegraph roads, Tuesday morning. Mr. Gottschalk suffered a severe cut on the head that required five stitches to close. Wilson, who was driving the truck, escaped uninjured, as did the driver of the other car.

We wish to thank the neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness and flowers during the sickness and at the time of the death of our mother. We also wish to thank Rev. Nagle for his comforting words, and Mrs. Bake for her songs, and Mrs. Lillian Montgomery and Family.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Chapman and Family.
Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Norris and Family.

SIMPLICITY
SINCERITY, SOLIDITY

are the three characteristics of a slab of stone like this shown in the illustration: simplicity of nature, sincerity of convictions, solidity of principles and character. Although such a monument may seem crude and unfinished, it is really a touching tribute of esteem. We make and erect all kinds, plain or elaborate.
