BISHOP NICHOLSON DEDICATES NEW COMMUNITY HOUSE

Many Events During the Week Mark an Important Epoch in the History of the Local Methodist Episcopal Church.

The dedication of the Methodist Episcopal church new Community House, last Sunday, marked an important epoch in the history of the church, which for nearly one hundred years has exerted its influence in a manner which has touched the life of the community in many ways. The little group of men and women who formed the first Methodist church in Plymouth, founded well the organization, which has grown in strength and usefulness in this community, and has helped in no small measure to make Plymouth a better place in which to live.

The Methodist church of today is enjoying a most satisfactory growth under the able leadership of Rev. D. D. Nagle, who is now serving his fourth year as pastor. All of the various organizations of the church are prosperous, and a fine spirit of co-operation and helpfulness is manifested in all the church activities. The members of the church can well point with pride and satisfaction to their latest achievement, the new Community House, which cannot help but play an important part in the uplifting and spiritual development of the community, in the better things of life, which are so much to be desired.

The dedication services of the week were ushered in with the regular morning service, last Sunday. Thomas Nicholson, bishop of the Detroit Area, delivered the sermon of the morning.

The dedication of the new Community House took place at three o'clock, and there was a large number present for the ceremony. The stage was made very attractive by many bouquets of flowers.

After the organ prelude by Mrs. Darwin Wagner of Ypsilanti, and a hymn number by the choir and congregation, prayer was offered by Rev. William Richards of Northville. An anthem by the choir followed, and then came the reading of the scripture lesson.

Rev. D. D. Nagle then made several announcements regarding the week's program, and took the opportunity to express his appreciation to the church trustees, the various committees and all others, who in any way had contributed in making the Community House possible and its dedication a splendid success. After another hymn, Bishop Thomas Nicholson gave the dedication address. The bishop's address was inspiring and helpful, and he held the closest attention of his hearers throughout.

Miss Nellie Huger then rendered a solo in her usual pleasing manner, with Mrs. Darwin Wagner of Ypsilanti, accompanying on the piano. Bishop Henderson then briefly gave a statement of the cost of the new Community House, and the method that had been adopted for its payment. He stated that it was desired to raise $10,000, and called for voluntary contributions, and in a short time pledges and cash totaling $8,511 were secured.

Bishop Nicholson then briefly gave dedication ceremony, assisted by Dr. H. Addis Leeson, superintendent of Ann Arbor district; Rev. Richards and Rev. D. D. Nagle. Following a hymn number, the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Leeson.

After the dedication services, many took the opportunity to look through the splendid new building, which is provided with every comfort and convenience, and a complete description of which was given in the Mail last week.

At the evening service, Dr. Leeson delivered the sermon.

At all the services last Sunday souvenir booklets containing the program of the week's activities, together with several half-tone pictures and other interesting matters pertaining to the history of the church, which will make valuable church, which will make a valuable keepsake, were distributed.

MINISTERS MET HERE

About eighty members of the Detroit Methodist Ministers' Association and their wives, met in the new Community House for their weekly program, Monday morning at 11:00 o'clock. At 1:00 o'clock a fine dinner was served the visitors by the ladies of the Woman's Missionary Society. Following the dinner an impromptu program of short talks was given by some of the visiting clergy. The visitors expressed themselves as delighted with the new building, and Rev. Nagle was the recipient of many compliments for the splendid work that is being accomplished in the local church.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S NIGHT

The young people of the Epworth League entertained 125 young people of the community at the Community House, Monday evening. After various kinds of stunts, an informal program followed.

The address of welcome was made by Pierre Kenyon, president of the Epworth League. The response was given by Miss Edna M. Allen, principal of the Plymouth High school. Ira Kingsley, representing the young people of the community, also responded. Musical numbers interspersed the program, at the conclusion of which light refreshments were served. It was a most pleasant evening for all present.

ORGAN RECITAL

The Organ Recital given on Tuesday evening is reported by those who were privileged to be present, as one of the finest things in the realm of music that has come to Plymouth in recent years.

Professor Russell Gee, instructor in the Conservatory of Music, rendered a number of selections that brought out the real quality of the pipe organ in all its many and varied characteristics, and brought the enthusiastic applause of the audience. He proved himself an artist of exceptional ability. Professor Gee has played in some of the largest churches in New York City, and is at present playing in the North Woodward Congregational church in Detroit.

Miss Annis Dexter Gray was also received very enthusiastically by a well filled house. Her rendition of several sacred selections accompanied by Mr. Gee on the organ revealed the depth of feeling and sincerity of her soul, which after all is the real worth of music. A number of delightful songs were sung, accompanied by Mr. Gee on the piano, which pleased the audience immensely. Four of these little songs, by the way, were composed by Prof. Gee himself.

Altogether it was a program of real merit, and much appreciated by all present. It is to be hoped that more of such concerts can be arranged for during the winter.

RADIO REPORTS

Following the concert on Tuesday evening, radio reports of the election returns were received in the new Community Hall. The equipment was kindly furnished by Robert Tefft, and the loud speaker by Harold Stuart.

POPULAR LECTURE ON "JUNK"

M. S. RICE OF DETROIT, SPEAKS AT METHODIST CHURCH TONIGHT.

The climax of the week of dedication services being held at the Methodist church this week occurs tonight at 8:00 o'clock, when Dr. M. S. Rice of the Metropolitan Methodist church of Detroit, gives his address on "Junk." Nothing just like this has been heard around here in recent years. And it will be interesting to know just what value the speaker can find in a pile of junk, that he should spend time and energy talking about it. Nevertheless, those who have heard this address, which has been given in many of the leading cities of the country, and before Chamber of Commerce banquets, Rotary clubs, teachers' associations, various groups of business men and laboring classes, etc., and has never yet failed to make every listener sit up and take notice, and say that this is one of the best things they have yet heard in the nature of a popular lecture.

Dr. M. S. Rice is a speaker of national reputation, and is in much demand. The committee in charge of the week's program at the Methodist church are fortunate in obtaining a date with him, as he is usually dated up about six months ahead. If anyone in this community has never heard Rice, they have missed an exceptionally worth-while treat, and an experience that will always be classed among the outstanding events of one's life, after hearing him. Humorous, thrilling, inspiring, one's life is not complete until they have seen this virile, vigorous, manly man in action, and heard his stirring voice ringing out his appeals to the everyday life of men. Preacher, lecturer, orator, he is a man of forceful and striking personality that never fails to impress his hearers.

It is costing a considerable sum to bring Dr. Rice to Plymouth. His time and energies are much in demand. People in Plymouth ought not to fail to hear and see him tonight in the new Community Hall of the Methodist church. The price of admission is only 50c.

JOHNSON WINS IN THIRD DISTRICT

James L. Johnson, Plymouth's candidate for state representative from the Third District, was elected by a large majority. He received a splendid vote in Plymouth and Northville.

LADY MACCABEES INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

PUBLIC INSTALLATION HELD WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 29TH.

Members and guests of the L. O. T. M., to the number of 150 gathered in their hall, Wednesday evening of last week, to witness the public installation of the officers of the Hive for the ensuing year. Lady Carrie Gilbert of Detroit, acted as installing officer, assisted by Anna McKeever acting as great mistress-at-arms, and Jennie Cramer as great chaplain. The impressive service was witnessed with pleasure by all present. The following officers were installed:

Past Commander—Mable Dicks
Commander—Grace Martin
Lieut. Commander—Carrie Hillmer
Record Keeper—Dora Wood
Finance Keeper—Edna Magraw
Chaplain—Jessie Terry
Mistress-at-Arms—Zada Gorton
Sergeant—Ethel Micol
Picket—Tena Bovee

After the installation, a short entertainment was given, under the direction of the lieutenant commander. It consisted of music, both instrumental and vocal; a humorous one-act play, entitled, "Sister Madams," and a humorous pantomime acted out by a group of ladies. If one could judge by the laughter and applause of the audience, the entertainment was much enjoyed by all. Ice cream and cake were then served. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion in Hallowe'en colors and chrysanthemums. Lady Martin was presented with a beautiful bouquet as a token of regard from the Hive members. The installing officer and her assistants were remembered with gifts, and the retiring officers were each presented with a bouquet.

This week Thursday evening occurred a pot-luck supper at 6:30, after which at the Hive meeting six candidates were initiated.

BUILDING OPERATIONS STILL CONTINUE

Never before has there been so many houses under construction in Plymouth at this time of the year. There seems to be greater activity in the building line at present than there was at the beginning of the season. Village Manager, Strong has issued more than fifty water permits the past year, and practically all of them have been for new dwellings. Almost in every section of the village, new homes are under construction, and if the good weather continues, more houses will be started. The building of fifty new homes here this season, shows that Plymouth is enjoying a steady and substantial growth that augurs well for the prosperity of the village. Besides the building of new homes, there has been built the new school building, Methodist church community house, the Masonic temple and the new I. O. O. F. temple now under construction.

It is confidently predicted that 1925 will see the largest building era that has yet taken place in the village. Many are now making plans to build new homes next spring, and it is altogether likely that next year will see one or more new business blocks erected in the village.

WOMAN'S CLUB

A regular meeting of the Woman's Club was held Friday, October 31st, at the home of Mrs. Frank Park. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Charles Humphries. After the regular meeting, the following program was given, with Mrs. Carmen East, leader:

Songs, "Smilin' Through," "Mighty Lak' a Rose"—Madames Casady, Moon, Bake and Olaver.
"Our Trip to Alaska"—Mrs. William Wood.
"Little Clock Song"—Quartet.
Book Review of "The Interpreter's House," by Burt—Mrs. R. E. Cooper.

3 WOMEN DIE AS P. M. FLIER CRUSHES AUTO

DETROIT VICTIM HURLED 40 FEET, TWO OTHERS CARRIED HALF A MILE IN NORTHVILLE CRASH.

Northville, Mich., Nov. 5.—Three women were killed instantly late today, when a Pere Marquette fast passenger train crushed their automobile at a dangerous grade crossing near Northville city limits. The victims are:

Mrs. George Shafer, 50 years old, of Northville.
Mrs. Fred V. Goodwin, 30 years old, of Northville, daughter of Mrs. Shafer.

Mrs. Harry Young, 40 years old, 3551 Wabash avenue, Detroit.

Fred V. Goodwin saw the crash from a lumber platform a few hundred feet from the crossing.

The three women, in Goodwin's car, had been out for a drive and were returning to the Shafer home here. Their view at the crossing is said to have been obstructed by a large building near the tracks. A signal bell, operated automatically, failed to attract their attention.

The locomotive hit the automobile squarely in the center and ground it to tangled metal debris. Mrs. Young was hurled forty feet from the scene of the crash. Her skull was fractured and she was dead when found.

The other two women, their bodies crushed almost until they were unrecognizable, were carried on the pilot of the locomotive into the Northville station. The train was traveling at a high rate of speed and was unable to stop until after it had gone half mile, it is said.

Coroner George H. Baker announced tonight that an inquest would be held Wednesday afternoon. Deputy Sheriff William Safford has taken charge of the investigation.

Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Goodwin will be buried in Northville, and Mrs. Young in Highland, Mich.—Detroit Free Press.

PLYMOUTH HIGH DEFEATS FARMINGTON

LOCALS PILE UP A SCORE OF 31 TO 0.

Plymouth gave Farmington a good beating in last Friday's game. The High school team again showed their powers in the Suburban League by defeating Farmington 31 to 0. Only one first down was made during the game by the visiting team, while Plymouth met little opposition in making hers. Had the substitutes of the home team not played, the score would not have been much greater. At the end of the first half, the score was nineteen to nothing.

Mr. Coatts had given the team an easy time for the last two weeks before the Redford game, and at this time practice is being stressed to the utmost. We are hoping that the over-confidence of the Redford game has taught the team a lesson, and that they will use every effort for the rest of the season to make it a most successful year. This week the team plays Holly, where we hope as many people as possible will support our boys.

Miss Margaret Streng gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of Carol Pierce Tait, Saturday evening. The house was tastefully decorated in Hallowe'en colors. After several amusing games had been played, dainty refreshments were served. The guest of honor received many lovely gifts. Out of town guests were: Miss Gladys Funk and Bernona Moeller of Ypsilanti; Miss Dorothy Hinman of Detroit, and Miss Dorothea Livrance of Farmington.

The general election held Tuesday brought out one of the largest votes that has ever been cast at an election in Plymouth township. The weather was ideal for the occasion, which no doubt accounts somewhat for the large vote.

In precinct No. 1, a total of 798 votes were cast. Of this number 387 were straight Republicans, 58 Democrat, 5 Prohibition and 3 Independent Progressive.

In precinct No. 2, a total of 382 votes were cast. Of this number, 202 were straight Republican, 23 Democrat and 2 Prohibition.

All the amendments were defeated as follows:

School Amendment—Yes, 452; No, 704.

Income Tax Amendment—Yes, 112; No, 1028.

Re-apportionment Amendment—Yes, 306; No, 697.

We give below the vote given for candidates on the Republican and Democrat tickets, except on the office of auditor-general and coroner, where there was no opposition. Louis LeBar, for county surveyor, on the Democratic ticket, was also unopposed.

M. E. Church of 1848, Remodeled 1914

Many of our readers will remember the Methodist Episcopal church, when it appeared as it does in the above picture. The story of Methodism in Plymouth goes back to the early days when the village was but a little hamlet of a half dozen log houses, surrounded by dense forests, known only to the Indians and wild animals that roamed at will over a vast territory, extending west from Detroit. Nearly a century ago, in 1825, when the first log house was built on the site that has become the Plymouth of today, the settlement became a part of the district.

the territory lying west of Detroit, was separated from the Detroit district, and Rev. Benjamin Cooper appointed preacher. The circuit, which included Plymouth, extended for forty miles west from Detroit through an almost unbroken wilderness. At the Ohio conference, held at Circleville, August 20, 1834, Plymouth was made a circuit of the Detroit district, with Marcus Swift and Lorenzo Davis, preachers, in charge. The circuit at that time consisted of 10 preaching places, and had 411 members. The early preaching services in Plymouth were held in the Waterford school house, later in private residences at Plymouth, then in the Plymouth school house.

M. E. Church of 1848, Remodeled 1914

Many of our readers will remember the Methodist Episcopal church, when it appeared as it does in the above picture. The story of Methodism in Plymouth goes back to the early days when the village was but a little hamlet of a half dozen log houses, surrounded by dense forests, known only to the Indians and wild animals that roamed at will over a vast territory, extending west from Detroit. Nearly a century ago, in 1825, when the first log house was built on the site that has become the Plymouth of today, the settlement became a part of the district.

At the session of the Ohio conference, held at Chillicothe, September 18, 1828, Huron circuit, including all the territory lying west of Detroit, was separated from the Detroit district, and Rev. Benjamin Cooper appointed preacher. The circuit, which included Plymouth, extended for forty miles west from Detroit through an almost unbroken wilderness. At the Ohio conference, held at Circleville, August 20, 1834, Plymouth was made a circuit of the Detroit district, with Marcus Swift and Lorenzo Davis, preachers, in charge. The circuit at that time consisted of 10 preaching places, and had 411 members. The early preaching services in Plymouth were held in the Waterford school house, later in private residences at Plymouth, then in the Plymouth school house.

BOYS OF OTHER DAYS

Older Plymouth residents will agree with us that a boy didn't cost much in the days gone by. A pair of corduroys, a cotton waist and a 10c pair of suspenders made a wardrobe that came to less than a dollar. If he ate a great deal, he didn't run up a doctor's bill. A stone-bruise or a had case of sunburn were ailments that never cost his father a cent. He didn't have to have a dollar's worth of salve and sterilized bandages every time he went out and stubbed his toe.

He was of some help about the place, too, from the time he was seven years old, and when a father leaned across the checkered table cloth at supper time the evening before circus day and, putting a quarter in his son's hand, gave a few words of advice about staying out of trouble tomorrow, he knew that while he would probably not see his son again for thirty-six hours, the honor of the family would be maintained. He knew he wouldn't have to stop work to get his boy out of jail for speeding or for becoming too friendly with a bootlegger.

There were no Boy Scouts and fresh air camps in those days, and no gymnasiums. But the fellow who has never stood barefoot in pasture or orchard grass, or buried his toes in the cooling dust of a country road, with the rising sun bringing another bunch of freckles to distribute over his face, has missed something out of boyhood he can never put back. Today the world gives a lot to boyhood, but when we think of the boys of yesterday, and then compare their joys with those of the boys of today, we can't help feeling that at the same time the world is giving them much it is withholding still more.

CHOOSING THE JOB

There was a time when Plymouth parents spent the long winter evenings in deciding the future of their offsprings. Johnny would be a teacher, Mary a trained nurse, Bill a minister, and so on. But it's all different now. The schools of the country guide their destinies, and shape the young man or woman into the position for which they are best suited. It is a part of the fine educational system of this country, a system that is becoming more perfect every year. Today the boy with an aptitude for mechanics doesn't study for the ministry just because his parents wanted him to be a minister. He doesn't attend an agricultural college, either, if he feels he has a natural bent for law. There was a time when he had certain studies and couldn't take any others; he was limited and had to make the best of it. Today a boy or girl can take a course in any trade or profession under the sun, and tell within a short time what they are best suited for. All of which should make those among us who have children thankful that they have greater opportunities than we enjoyed when we went to school.

IF EDITORS NEVER LIED

A short time ago a Kentucky editor became tired of being called a liar, so he decided to print one issue containing nothing but the truth. We don't know what became of him the following week, or where he went to when he headed out of Kentucky, but this is what he printed:

"John Beenin, laziest merchant in town, was in Beeville, Monday.

"Tom Coyle, our grocer, has lost most of his trade on account of his store being so musty and dirty.

"Dave Conkey died at his home, Tuesday. The doctor gave it as heart failure, but whiskey killed him.

"Married—Silvia Rhodes and James Collins, Saturday, at the Baptist parsonage by Rev. Gordon. The bride is an ordinary looking girl with a walk like a duck and absolutely no knowledge of housework. The groom is an up-to-date loafer, has been living off of his poor old father and mother all his life and isn't worth the powder and lead it would take to blow his head off."

KLOTZ-DORSEY

A very pleasant and happy wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dorsey on the Seven Mile road, Thursday, October 30th, at 4:00 p. m., when their daughter, Miss Violet Dorsey, was united in marriage to Alfred Klotz of Detroit, in the midst of many relatives and friends. Miss Lottie Dorsey, sister of the bride, sang, "O Promise Me," and Miss Winnifred Smith of Windsor, Ontario, played the wedding march. As the wedding party entered the parlor, Rev. H. E. Slayles of Plymouth, stepped into the alcove of palms and ferns. The groom was accompanied by his brother, Oscar Klotz, who acted as best man. The bride was given away by her father, and her sister, Miss Leeta Dorsey, acted as bridesmaid. The ring ceremony was used. The bride was attired in a gown of russet brocaded satin, trimmed with gray fur, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and baby mums. The bridesmaid was dressed in russet satin, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and asters. The house decorations were pink, and a sumptuous wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Klotz will make their home in Detroit, where he has been employed by Richmond Backus Co., for the past thirteen years. Mrs. Klotz for four years was employed by the same company, but has been with Gregory, Mayer & Thom Co. for some time.

The matter of providing a pension system for county employes will be placed on the ballot at the April election and the voters asked to voice their approval, according to a resolution passed by the board of supervisors, at the recent session.

FARMS FOR SALE

We have a very complete list of farms of various sizes, which we shall be pleased to show to prospective buyers. Some with stock, tools and crops optional. I. O. O. F. HONORS MICHIGAN MAN

HERBERT A. THOMPSON, GRAND SIRE, FORMER PUBLISHER OF COUNTRY WEEKLY.

ADMISSION AGE NOW 18 YEARS

Great Strides Made in Odd Fellowship—Relief Work for Past Year Nearly $8,000,000.

At the recent session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held in Jacksonville, Fla., Michigan was made the hub of Odd Fellowship, so to speak, when Herbert A. Thompson, editor and publisher of The American Odd Fellow at Williamston, was unanimously elected as Grand Sire, the highest rank and office in the world of Odd Fellowship.

As a mark of appreciation on behalf of the Order in Michigan, a banquet was tendered to the entire body and their ladies in attendance at the session in Jacksonville. It was the finale of a dynamic drive that had been started in 1914, when Mr. Thompson first entered the Sovereign Grand Lodge as a representative of the Grand Lodge of Michigan, which he had served a year previously as Grand Master, making a record that stands out as a year of wonderful attainments.

Possibly there never was a session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge that so completely gave itself over to one grand jurisdiction as did the 1924 session to Michigan. In fact the dynamic force that had so completely won the Sovereign Grand Lodge over to the candidacy of Mr. Thompson for deputy Grand Sire at Detroit in 1922, was still felt on all sides at Jacksonville. Michigan was simply bubbling over with joy for the honors that had come to it, the first in the history of the Order, and the committee in charge of the affair "stepped on the gas" and set a pace that will be difficult for any future session to equal, which brought forth favorable comment in the press throughout the entire civilized world where Odd Fellowship exists.

In his new office Mr. Thompson has jurisdiction not only in the United States and Canada, but in Europe and all other countries where the Order has been established. He is the executive head of an organization numbering nearly 4,000,000.

As a fitting expression to its Commander-in-Chief, over ten thousand Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Michigan and Ontario gathered in the City of Detroit, Oct. 4. Among the events was a complimentary banquet at the Hotel Statler at which more than five hundred sat down to a banquet to its honored fellow member. A monster parade was held in the evening, followed by a mass meeting at which Grand Master, John A. Wilde; Grand Patriarch, W. H. Bennetts; Governor Alex Groesbeck and others made addresses of welcome, which were responded to by Grand Sire Thompson in a very eloquent and masterly manner. At the session of the Grand Lodge held at Alpena, Oct. 20 to 24, the new Grand Sire was received in a manner befitting the occasion of honoring one whose authority extends to the furthestmost parts of the earth. The reception was in every way expressive of the keen appreciation Michigan Odd Fellowship felt.

Mr. Thompson is the self-made type of man. He was born on a farm at Stockbridge, Ingham County, Michigan, on July 26, 1872. He was educated in the public schools and colleges of Michigan, and was actively engaged in educational work for six years. He then purchased The Williamston Enterprise at Williamston, Michigan, and later The American Odd Fellow, a fraternal magazine of national reputation, and has continued as the editor and publisher until the present time, his son, Theodore A. Thompson, being in active charge of the plant. During that time he became and is now actively affiliated with several financial and insurance companies, as well as other business interests. He has always taken an active part in public matters, and as a public speaker is known all over the state where his friends are legion. In politics he is a republican, and has served on the state central committee for a number of years. He has served chairman of his congressional committee and his home county committee. He has been honored with the presidency of the International I. O. O. F. Press Association, president of the Michigan Press Association and membership in the University Press Club. He comes to his duties as Grand Sire with splendid training for a big job. He is now living in Detroit, where he has recently built a home.

Mr. Thompson has been an Odd Fellow for over 23 years, and an active worker in all its branches. After serving his subordinate lodge in the several stations, he entered the Grand Lodge where he served on important committees, including the committee on laws. In 1915 he entered the Sovereign Grand Lodge as the "permanent" representative from the Michigan Grand Lodge, his associates in the Grand Lodge believing that the time was ripe for Michigan to make its bid for a Grand Sire. The Michigan Grand Lodge had confidence in his ability to make good and bring this honor to the state. He has attended each session since 1915, serving on such important committees as legislation and on several important special committees. During 1923, he was delegated as the representative of the Sovereign Grand Lodge to make a complete survey of the Order in Cuba, and upon his findings a Grand Lodge charter was granted to Cuba at the recent session in Jacksonville. In the ten years he served in the Sovereign Grand Lodge his friends became universal. Possessed of a genial personality, democratic manner, yet dignified as becomes one in his position, and having the faculty for remembering names and faces, he soon was able to greet the membership without constant introductions, which won him friends from all quarters of the world of Odd Fellowship, and who soon learned to know him, just as his brothers in Michigan know him, by his first name, "Herb."

One of the big problems that has been before the Sovereign Grand Lodge and which was solved at its recent session, was the much discussed question whether the Order should establish a juvenile branch or reduce the age of admission. After viewing both questions from all sides, the Sovereign Grand Lodge decided on reducing the age of admission to 18 years. The new law goes into effect January 1st next, and it is hoped will add thousands of young men to this splendid fraternal society.

Odd Fellowship in Michigan has made wonderful advancement in recent years, until now its membership numbers 92,500 in 550 subordinate lodges. In addition to this it has the Rebekah branch with a membership of 84,000 in 485 lodges. Further honoring its Grand Sire, it is proposed to make an intensive drive to increase the membership to 100,000. With the new field of young men to draw from it is proposed to make a special effort by designating a certain time in which to initiate classes of young men between the ages of 18 and 21.

Odd Fellowship is purely a fraternal society. While it pays to its sick and injured members, certain benefits that is by no means its predominant feature. It seeks to be a helpful factor in the civic life of every community, building up a better citizenship and rendering aid where most needed. Its social activities are leading factors in the life of the Order, and it has expended magnificent sums in lodge building alone. Its relief work for the past year reached the splendid sum of $158,570. That is Michigan's record alone. Any society that carries on a worthy work of this nature, the only due credit to itself, it relieves the community in which it exists from performing a duty that would naturally fall upon it.

Several years ago, the Grand Lodge recognized the necessity of making provision for those of its members who, because of adverse circumstances would become the objects of charity; therefore an Odd Fellows Home was established at Jackson, Michigan that now has a main adult building, an orphanage and other buildings, with 190 acres of farm lands of a value of $250,000. There are 120 residents at the Home, and an annual appropriation of $50,000 is made for its maintenance. An endowment fund was established a few years ago into which is paid all voluntary contributions made to the Home, and on several occasions prominent members of the Order have made provision in their wills for certain sums of money or property to go into the fund, until today it has reached the sum of $107,000.

Going into the broader field of its activities, we find that $7,808,913.47 was spent during the past year for relief work by the Order at large. But the great field of Odd Fellowship is pure fraternity, where men get in contact with one another that ripens into the finest friendships. Odd Fellowship offers the broadest field for working out many of the problems of the day where the man or the woman can get the broader touch and wider field of activity through organized effort.

When one looks back to the foundation of Odd Fellowship in America and finds that its inception was the effort of but five men, he is reminded that there surely must have been something more than the ordinary that built up a membership of such stupendous numbers. When we review its splendid activities during the years that are past, we recognize that it has an abiding place in the life of every community to make it worthy of the best thought of every citizen who desires to play a part in the elevating of human character and the building up of a higher and better citizenship. In almost every community in Michigan, may be found one or more Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges. These organizations are among the great influences that make for a stable citizenship. Where an Odd Fellow Lodge exists there law reigns and order is the watchword of its citizenship.

BUICK WINS FIRST PLACE AGAIN

Spaces for the National Automobile Shows in New York and Chicago were drawn by the manufacturers on Thursday afternoon, October 2nd, at the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce offices, 366 Madison Avenue, New York.

The Buick Motor Company for the seventh consecutive year was awarded first choice of space by reason of the fact that Buick did the largest volume of business in dollars and cents during the past year.

"Winning of first place for the past seven years," says E. T. Strong, General Sales Manager, "is conclusive evidence of the fact that Buick holds the position of leadership in the minds of the general public. If this were not so, the public would not continue to buy Buicks year after year in such quantities as to enable Buick to continue to have first place at the shows."

"Buick has long been the standard of comparison," says Strong, "largely due to the constant efforts of Buick engineers, who for a period of over twenty years, have constantly improved Buick, adopting each year all those advanced features that are found desirable and practical after exhaustive experiment. It is the general opinion that the National shows this year will be the most important for the trade and public in the history of the business.

"As this will be the Silver Jubilee of the industry more than usual attention will be paid to beautiful decorations which will help to make the events memorable."

In New York the show will be held from January 2nd to the 10th in the Big Armory where last year's successful show was held.

Additions to the Coliseum in Chicago mean that the show this time will be under one roof.

"Buick is fully aware of its responsibility as a leader," says Mr. Strong, "and will bend every effort to continue to serve the motoring public as it has in the past and thus maintain its present enviable position in the industry.—Advertisement.

SERVICE!

of the Better Kind

We want to call attention to the fact that NOW is the time to have the car put in shape for Fall and Winter. It can't be expected to go through the cold months and season of heavy roads after a hard summer without necessary adjustments.

BRING IT IN BEFORE THE RUSH SEASON STARTS AND LET US LOOK IT OVER

WE'RE HONEST ABOUT IT!

We handle every job as carefully as if we were doing it on our own car. We try always to have it done when promised. We repair only the things that need repairing, and we don't try to find a lot of extras we know you had not figured on. In fact SERVICE is our motto AND HERE IS ONE GARAGE WHERE THE WORKMEN STILL BELIEVE THAT HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY.

RARE BEAUTIES are the fine fresh flowers that HE always sends to HER, and one reason is that his selections are invariably ordered here, and are picked in our own gardens, reared in our own nurseries. This fact, while flattering us, is also flattering to his good taste and business judgment, in knowing where to be well served.

ROMANTIC HISTORY OF FIRE INSURANCE

Business, as We Know It Now, Long Conducted.

Most people are aware of the prominent part played by insurance in modern commerce and industry, but it is seldom realized over what a long period of history this form of business extends. In feudal Europe, long before any system of fire insurance came into being, it was the custom for tenants to recover damages caused by fire, from their landlords, at whose cost the property was replaced, providing the loss was not due to negligence. In this country in the Seventeenth century accidental fires were made the subject of a petition to the king, whose advisers, after investigation, sent out what was termed a king's brief to churches, sheriffs, justices of the peace, and others, asking for contributions to make good the loss. The system was continued for many years, until in the time of Charles II it was abolished and, as a result, abolished.

The first organized effort to found a fire insurance company was made in 1635, when a number of London citizens petitioned the king to allow them to insure houses at the rate of a shilling a year for each £20 rent, the association undertaking to repair or rebuild houses that were burned and to institute certain precautions against fire, such as watchmen to patrol the streets at night. Political disturbances led to the idea being abandoned, but it was revived by the great fire of 1666, which led directly to the establishment of fire insurance companies. One of the first was founded the following year by Dr. Nicholas Barbon, a son of the famous Puritan, Praise-God Barebones. The business thus started was taken over shortly afterwards by a company styling itself "The Fire Office," its purpose being to insure houses in London for a fixed premium of 2 1/2 per cent for wooden buildings.

The business developed, and so great was the interest taken in it that the common council of the city of London proposed insuring its citizens' houses at lower rates than the company. The plan, however, was vetoed, the judges upholding that the council had no power to transact such business.

Many insurance companies sprang up at this period, among them the "Phoenix Office," which was not, as some suppose, the original of the present Phoenix company; the Union Society; the Company of London Insurers, known nowadays as the Sun Office; and the Hand-in-Hand, which began as the Amicable Contributors for Insuring From Loss by Fire, and with which, it is believed, Daniel Defoe was connected.

A little-known fact is that the present-day fire brigade system owes its existence to these early companies, each of which kept its own fire engine and staff of firemen. Not quite a hundred years ago the companies amalgamated their staffs of fire fighters, and in this way the term "fire brigade" came into being. The first captain of the London fire brigade was James Braddwood, who lost his life in the terrible Tooley street fire of 1861, when £2,000,000 worth of damage was done.

The old "fire-marks" of the companies may still be seen on houses in London and elsewhere. They were metal plates marked with the number of the policy and molded in a distinctive design. Property to which a "fire-mark" was affixed was judged to be safe from incendiarism. The "Sun Office" mark was one of the best known, and in many places it became an object of superstitious regard.—London Tit-Bits.

Already Taken Care Of

Out on Charlotte street an old man, nearing eighty years of age, lives all alone in a large house. Next door to him live the Martin family, who look after the old gentleman's every need. Much expertly cooked food finds its way from Mrs. Martin's kitchen to the old man's table, and Mr. Martin never goes to bed at night without first going in to see that his neighbor is settled for the night. Mr. Martin also attends to his financial affairs and is his friend and adviser in all things. A few days ago the minister called upon the old man. On leaving he said: "Good-by, my friend, and may God bless you."

And the old gentleman, who is a little hard of hearing, replied with a smile: "Oh, that's all right, Martin will tend to that. He 'tends to everything for me."—Kansas City Star.

Not What He Expected

A clergyman from Cambridge, Mass., had occasion to preach to the inmates of an insane hospital. During his sermon he noticed that one of the patients paid the closest attention, his eyes riveted upon the preacher's face, his body bent eagerly forward. Such interest was most flattering. After the service the speaker noticed that the man spoke to the superintendent, so as soon as possible the preacher inquired: "Didn't that man speak to you about my sermon?" "Yes." "Would you mind telling me what he said?" The superintendent tried to sidestep, but the preacher insisted. "Well," he said at last, "what the man said was: 'Just think, he's out and I'm in.'"—Christian Register.

New View Point

John Dos Passos, the youthful novelist, said at a Greenwich Village dance: "The old were to blame for the war, and they were to blame for all our post-war mess." "Respect for old age is silly unless it is the old age of a good and wise person. Old age in itself is not a thing to be respected. Why, is there a man or woman alive so foolish as to respect old age in an egg?"—Exchange.

Belated Honor Paid Founder of New York

The city of Avesnes, Belgium, recently was host to a large delegation of Americans, here to pay tribute to the birthplace of Jesse de Forest, founder of New York. It was just three centuries ago that this son of Avesnes, at the time a refugee at Leyden with other Walloons who were fleeing from Spanish oppression, set sail for America, where he had planned to establish a colony. He died before reaching the shores of the new world, but his sons and son-in-law carried out the plan which he had conceived and perfected during long years. The Walloon emigrants, landing on Manhattan Island at the mouth of the Hudson river, reared there the foundations of a city which they called Nieuwe Avesnes. A few years later Dutch colonists, more numerous than the Walloons, changed the name to Nieuwe Amsterdam. Still later the English again changed the name to New York.

May 20 a monument recalling the above incident was unveiled in Battery park, New York. This was the gift of the provincial council of Raineut, Belgium, and was presented to the American metropolis by Baron de Cartier, Belgian ambassador to the United States. The monument was unveiled by eight-year-old Priscilla de Forest, a direct descendant of Jesse de Forest.

The day following the arrival of the American delegation an exact replica of the New York monument was unveiled in the presence of a representative of the United States government. On one side it bears a commemorative inscription and on the other an engraving of the vessel in which Jesse de Forest started his long voyage, surmounted by the arms of New York and Avesnes.—From Le Petit Parisien (Translated for the Kansas City Star).

METHODIST NOTES

Tonight is the big lecture on "Junk," by M. S. Rice. Sunday evening, Dr. E. J. Warren, a former pastor, preaches. Mrs. Warren will also sing for us. You are invited to hear them.

Sunday morning is a consecration service at 10:00. Opportunity will be given for parents who desire to have their little children christened. Also for adults to be baptized. Reception of members will also take place. Any who are desirous of uniting with Christ's church, are cordially invited to do so at this time. Following which there will be the observance of the Lord's Supper.

The lecture tonight by Dr. Rice is the outstanding feature of this week of good things. Admission, 50c.

The Sunday-school will meet at the usual hour next Sunday in the main church auditorium for the last time. Announcements will be made at that time fully, concerning the reorganization and the arrangement of classes, etc.; 11:45 is the hour.

Plans are under way to change the hour of Sunday-school from 11:45 to 9:30, coming just before church service, which will be at 10:30. It is not certain that this arrangement will be permanent. It will be tried out for several weeks, and if it does not prove satisfactorily, we will go back to the present arrangement. The change will not take place until after next Sunday, however.

What is junk good for? Come and hear for yourself, tonight, at 8:00.

This has been a wonderful week in the history of this church. God has been wonderfully blessing us in the fulfillment of these plans and efforts. The big task yet remains to be accomplished, namely, to put across a real program of service for the community.

Whatever else you do this week, come and hear Rice tonight. An opportunity of a life-time.

"Faith without works is dead." Put your christian principles into application every day.

Finally, whatsoever things are good, true, virtuous, honest and worth-while, come and hear Rice tonight. It will be a revelation to you. If you don't care to have your eyes opened up to see new things in this remarkable world of ours, don't come to the lecture tonight.

The Epworth League will meet in their new room next Sunday at 6:30. Miss Henrietta Kimball will lead the meeting. Be on hand.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

An inspirational conference will be held in the Northville Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 25th. This will be under the auspices of the Boards of National Missions and Ministerial Relief. The afternoon session will begin at two-thirty. Supper at fifty cents a plate, will be served at six-thirty, after which the Board representatives will give addresses, illustrated or otherwise, covering our work among the Indians, Cubans, immigrants and other phases of our denominational task. No money will be raised as these meetings are for information only. Plymouth church is expected to attend this conference in a body. Here is a great opportunity to survey the work of the church at first hand. Let's take it.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bichy again proved themselves royal entertainers last week Thursday night, when they gave a Halloween party to the choir.

A wonderful dinner was served, exceeding the capacity of the guests; and that means something to those who know the choir. All the food was not on the table—string beans and cucumbers and other animated vegetables being among the masked and costumed guests. The house was appropriately decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and Halloween insignias—but why try to describe the indescribable? Ask the thirty-eight or fortunate forty who were there to tell you about it.

Everyone should make special note of this fact: That the annual bazaar and dinners (plural you notice) will be held Thursday, November 13. Thirteen is not unlucky except for the chickens to be served at the dinner at night. The dinner at noon will be fifty cents, and the dinner at night, seventy-five cents. Booths and bargains and everything and everybody will be in evidence. Come in to dinner and stay until they serve again.

A CARD—I wish to thank my friends and relatives for their remembrances and visits during my illness.

Wesley G. Evans.

METHODIST THE CHURCH THAT SERVES EPISCOPAL

BAPTIST NOTES

The meeting of the laymen and pastors of the Wayne Association of the Baptist churches, last Friday night, was well attended, about forty men being present. Rev. Patty, president of the Home Mission Society, and Rev. Austin of Lansing, efficiency expert of the Michigan Baptist State Convention, were the speakers of the evening. The conference was in charge of Rev. George Lawrence of Lansing, Director of county and town churches of the Michigan Baptist State Convention. After a bountiful supper served by Mrs. A. Collins' division of the Ladies Aid Society, the men, with many thanks to the ladies for the supper, went upstairs and began the program. Mr. Allenbaugh and Mr. Hamill sang a special number. The next meeting will be held December 12th, at the Wixom church, and a ministers' conference will also be held in the afternoon.

This week Friday evening at six o'clock, is the regular quarterly gathering of the Baptist church and congregation. Be sure and come tonight and have a good time. Pot-luck supper.

The fall and winter rally of the young people of the Wayne association of Baptist churches will be held in the First Church at Pontiac, November 14th. Be sure and be in time for the banquet. A splendid program is arranged for the evening. Remember the L. A. S. will hold their bazaar and supper at the church, Thursday, November 20th, afternoon and evening.

SOUTH SALEM

The following pupils of Jarvis school, were neither absent nor tardy during October: Marjorie Cole, Doris Cole, Stanley Clinansmith, Walter Clinansmith, Lillian Dolecek, Velma Dolecek, Albert Dolecek, Vivian Groth, Bennie Hansen, Lawrence Rudick and Russell Rudick.

Mrs. Carlton Lewis and children were guests of her niece, Mrs. Luella Trussell-Root, in Canton, last week Thursday.

Miss Wilder and Mr. Essick called at Jarvis school Thursday morning. Miss Wilder outlined the work for the first year garment making club. The helping teachers visited the school Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Curtis and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Glenn Whittaker.

Twenty ladies were present at the miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon for Miss Velma Nelson, who will be a bride this month. It was held at the home of Grace Geiger, Jane Sweet, Gertrude and Hazel Braun assisting as hostesses. The house and tables were beautifully decorated, and the gifts many and varied. A delicious luncheon was served.

Mrs. Carlton Lewis was an Ann Arbor shopper Monday.

Miss Laura M. Bordine attended the Zone One meeting at Popkin's school, Saturday. With three of her primary scholars, Myrilla Savery, Robert Kruse and Elberta Curtis, she demonstrated a beginners' class in reading.

Helen Rorabacher was home from Ionia for the week-end, and attended the shower for Velma Nelson at Stony Lane farm.

Theodore, Victor and Louis Sieloff were in Plymouth Friday evening, attending the senior play, in which Louis had a part.

Parent-teachers' meeting of Jarvis school meets Tuesday evening, November 11th, with Mr. and Mrs. Coda Savery. A full attendance is requested.

The Sieloffs were at a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schwocho Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Schwocho and family moved to Detroit Monday.

GRANGE NOTES

Plymouth Grange will meet tonight, Friday evening, November 7th. Sweet cider, and fried cakes will be served.

John Schrader spent the week-end with his brother, Will Schrader, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Frances Sowles of Plymouth, and Mrs. George Weed spent Friday afternoon with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sockow, Sr. A large crowd attended the dance and bazaar given by the Frain's Lake school, at the Superior town house. The hall was decorated in Hallowe'en colors. The pupils and teacher of Geer school gave a Hallowe'en party Thursday night, inviting the parents and people of the community. The school was decorated with black cats, witches, bats and owls made by the pupils. Games were played. A blood curdling story was told, while a clammy hand and hair-raising objects were passed around. Everyone gathered around a bonfire to eat roasted wienies, rolls, fried cakes and drink cider. Mr. and Mrs. Will Schrader and family attended the zone meeting at Popkin's school. Charles Stacy was a caller at Arthur Walker's Monday. Charles Eschel spent the week-end in Detroit. Fred Sockow, Sr., was seriously injured Friday, when his horse became frightened and ran away, throwing him out of the wagon, and the wagon passing over his legs. He is getting along nicely at this writing.

NEWBURG

Rev. Havens preached a rousing sermon on loyalty to the church, last Sabbath. Twenty-five from Newburg attended the Evangelistic services at the Baptist church in Wayne, Sunday night. The Sunday-school have decided to have a contest, beginning Sunday. All come and find out about it and be ready to take part in it. Get as many new members as you can. Church service at 11:00 a. m.; followed by Sunday-school. Epworth League at 7:00. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock, at the parsonage. All welcome to these services. The L. A. S. will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. C. E. Ryder on the Plymouth road, next Wednesday, November 12. Dinner at the noon hour. The committee is as follows: Mesdames Hattie Geer, Emma L. Ryder, Fay Grimm, Mrs. Grimm, Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Crane. The thank offering boxes will be opened at this time. Everyone cordially invited to attend. The Hallowe'en party at the hall last Thursday night, was a great success, over 80 being present. The hall was nicely decorated with the orange and black colors, the floor thickly covered with autumn leaves, and plenty of Jack O' Lanterns. There were numerous ghosts and goblins to greet the masqueraders, who dared to enter their domains. They made it so realistic that one lady fainted away. All the maskers took part in the grand march, with Mrs. Havens at the piano. Mrs. C. E. Ryder and Miss Hattie Hoisington acted as judges, pronouncing the bride and groom, who proved to be Mrs. Isaac Gumsolly and Mrs. Mark Joy, winners of first prizes, and Elsie Snyder and Frank Ott, winners of second prizes. After a lot of fun and frolic with games, in charge of Gladys Horton and Leona Joy, refreshments were served, consisting of sweet cider and fried cakes. A great deal of credit is due the ones who worked so hard to make it the success it proved to be. Mrs. M. Eva Smith and daughter, Mrs. Donald Ryder and Junior spent last Friday with Mrs. Smith's niece, Mrs. Harry Bassett, at Wayne. Miss Ernestine Roe, who is teaching at Durand, visited Mrs. Clyde Smith, last Saturday afternoon. Thursday, Mrs. Martin Simmon entertained the Neighbor Club from near Farmington, 24 ladies being present. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder took a trip to see the big dam under construction below Belleville, last Thursday. They also had a visit with Mr. Pettigill, who has charge of the Edison electrical plant, every other week. He has been there for the past seven years. Great time at McKinney's store Tuesday night, listening in on the election returns and the splendid programs from New York city. Merritt Lenn of Detroit, called at C. E. Ryder's Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Martin Simmon, Mrs. Edgar Stevens and daughter, Elizabeth, spent Friday with Mrs. Stevens' mother, Mrs. Ransom Lewis of Chelsea. In speaking of the Brown greenhouse on Monier road in last week's Mail, it should have read 85x600 feet in size, instead of 25x600. Mrs. John Blair, who has been very ill for the past week, is some better at this writing. Her sister, Mrs. Aldrich of Dexter, is caring for her. Several from here attended the afternoon and evening services and dedication of the new community house of the M. E. church at Plymouth, Sunday. Mrs. C. E. Ryder took tea with Mrs. Sarah Hoisington and family Sunday evening. Mrs. I. Gumsolly is serving qu for the month of November. Mrs. Chegwidden of Detroit, is staying at the parsonage, assisting Mrs. Havens with her work. John Thompson has his house and barn nicely painted, which improves their appearance. Harry Robinson has sold his farm on Plymouth road, to Detroit parties. Rev. and Mrs. Havens entertained the Evangelists Littrell and Moody, who are holding meetings at the Baptist church at Wayne, at a six o'clock dinner Tuesday evening. Mr. Moody is a nephew of Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist of Chicago. The official board of the church met at the parsonage Monday evening, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Chairman—Donald Ryder Treasurer—Mrs. M. Eva Smith Secretary—Miss Ada Youngs Treasurer World Service Fund—Mrs. Clark Mackinder Ushers—Clark Mackinder and Robert Holmes.

A. was held at the home of Mrs. John Thompson on Tuesday evening. Plans for the social on November 14th, were completed. Mrs. Thompson entertained Miss Reddeman and Miss Hall at a dinner, Tuesday evening. Irene Ellis, Katherine Steingasser and Lionel Coffin have just recently entered the primary grades. The percentage of attendance for October was 91 per cent. The pupils enjoyed a Hallowe'en party, last Friday, from 2 to 3:30.

KING'S CORNERS

Mr. Lockhart and family entertained his brother and wife from Vassar, and a sister from Walkerville, Canada, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Sheldon, called on his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. Parrish on the King road. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston and son, Stanley, were Pontiac visitors Tuesday. Mrs. Lockhart, Sr., of Vassar, is in the hospital in Detroit, for a final operation on her eyes. Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish called on the latter's daughter, Mrs. A. L. Hanchett, and family of Perrinville, recently. Mrs. McCracken spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Klatt. L. E. Kaiser and family of near Plymouth, and J. Frank Parrish and family spent Tuesday evening at the parental home on the King road. A number of the farmers have been fighting fires in the woods nearby. The Parent-Teacher meeting and also the play given by Miss Wright in her grades, drew out large crowds. We hope to see it the same next time and always. At the last report, Miss Blanche Klatt, who was taken to Harper hospital, was getting along nicely after an operation.

ELM

The Parent-Teachers' Association will hold their next meeting at the school house on Tuesday evening, November 18th, at 8:00 p. m. Mr. Smith, superintendent of the Plymouth schools will be the speaker, and there will be special music. Everyone invited, and we hope to see every parent present. Sunday-school will be held in the school house next Sunday at 11:00. Every child in the community is invited to join. There is also a class for adults. Margaret, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley, was taken suddenly ill, and was rushed to Harper hospital in Detroit, where she was operated on for appendicitis and a peculiar growth in her abdomen. The last report we received she showed a marked improvement. Mrs. Bentley will remain with her while she is confined to the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. George D. Michelin entertained Mr. and Mrs. Charles Truscott of Mackinaw Island, over the week-end, and Rev. and Mrs. Frank Copeland of Wayne, Tuesday. Among the many parties on Hallowe'en evening, was one given to the children at the Booth Home on the McKinney road. It started in the afternoon with a splendid program and continued until dark, when all the children in gala costumes visited all the neighbors. The school room was elaborately trimmed with autumn leaves, black cats, pumpkins and the school colors, orange and dark blue. There are 39 children enrolled now. John Burger left Wednesday morning for the north to hunt deer. The Booth Home is enjoying a new four-bulb radio set, presented to them by several Detroit friends. Mrs. Barrows spent Thursday and Friday in Detroit schools getting some new ideas to help in her work. Miss Cleo Maher, teacher at the Booth Home, spent the week-end at her home in Holly. She also attended the Michigan-Wisconsin football game at Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Scott Davis motored to Ohio over the week-end. While out celebrating Hallowe'en, Bruce Hawkins was run over by a passing auto, injuring his leg quite badly. Dorothy Bentley, Edna Keon and Florence Clement gave a Hallowe'en party to their many friends at the Clement home. Marygale Shaffer, Walter Sharrow and Albert Wolfstrom were neither absent nor tardy during the month of October. The defeated side of the tooth-brushing contest entertained the winners, Friday afternoon. Games, contests and refreshments were provided. Both rooms at the Elm school are enjoying some new seats. The one great regret we Elm-ites have with this present election is that we can't help Detroit select her mayor. Miss Nila McCormick of the Booth Home and Catherine Burke of Elm, spent Tuesday in Detroit. Stanley Austin of Ludington, Mich., assisted the matron of the Booth Home in conducting the Sunday-school, last Sunday. If anyone has any news to send in to the paper, will they kindly phone in to 7021 R-4. Help boost your community. CHERRY HILL The Sunday-school Hallowe'en social was enjoyed by everyone who attended. Cherry Hill school entertained Hanford school, last Friday. A ball game was played, the score being 13 to 13 in favor of Cherry Hill. Born, Tuesday, November 4th, a son, Samuel Kelly, to Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Clark. Mr. and Mrs. John Wharton and daughter, Esther, are preparing to move to Franklin, Indiana, November 15th. H. Cooke of Detroit, was a Tuesday caller at the home of William West. Tuesday noon fire was discovered in the roof of the house belonging to Glen Clark, and the blaze was beyond control before sufficient help arrived. The household goods on the lower floor were saved. The Ypsilanti Grange met with Mr. and Mrs. George Gill, Wednesday evening. The primary class of the Sunday-school, under the direction of Mrs. Dunstan, sang at Sunday-school, last Sunday. The Cherry Hill Parent-Teachers' Association will meet at the school house, Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. James Burrell and family attended a birthday party, given in honor of Mrs. Burrell's mother and sister, Sunday. ROUGH SCHOOL NOTES The Hallowe'en social, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dunham, was well attended, and all reported a very enjoyable time. The third grade language class are studying and memorizing, "The Wind," by Robert Louis Stevenson. They are planning to make booklets, illustrating the different seasons. The seventh grade arithmetic class have begun the study of percentages.

The geography classes are beginning work on posters, illustrating the different phases of geography studied. Everyone is working hard to make the zone meeting, held November 15 at Hough school, a success. Old Coin Revised Modern Palestine has adopted as its monetary unit the dinar, or dinarius, of the time of Herod, the Roman governor. Its present value is of two English shillings, or about 50 cents in American money. Originally the dinar was a gold coin issued by the chiefs of the Damascus government and by certain Arabic tribes of the time of Christ. It became a silver coin as that metal grew more precious. As dinarius the coin became widely known by reason of its use in the literature of the day and since. The dinar was a distinctively Palestinian coin. To give needed support to the young government, the issue of dinars will be secured by an equal sum in British bank notes. The new coin will attain circulation independently of the existing Egyptian pound and be a strictly Jewish affair.—Detroit News. Petroleum From Coal The extraction of petroleum from coal by the low-temperature carbonization process is the object of the installation of a plant at Nottingham, England, consular advice to the Department of Commerce state. The promoters expect to make Nottingham a smokeless city (the first in England), to furnish cheap gas and to reduce both waste and danger in the coal mines in addition to securing from 18,000 to 20,000 gallons of oil from every 1,000 tons of coal, which is the expected daily capacity of the plant. Under present circumstances England imports oil to the value of $50,000,000 a year. It is proposed to replace this supply as far as possible with the gasoline and other petroleum products which are to be separated from the small coal haretore regarded as almost a waste product of the mines. Valuable Chinese Trees Many specimens of the Chinese wood-oil or tung-oil tree, which was introduced into Florida some years ago by the United States Department of Agriculture, are now coming into bearing. The oil is expressed from the nuts and is considered one of the most valuable in the paint and varnish industry. It is one of the best drying oils known and is particularly desired in the manufacture of waterproof varnish. The tree does best in a warm climate and does not bear when frequently subjected to temperatures lower than 20 degrees. It has handsome dark green foliage which it sheds during the winter. It is estimated that there are now more than 28,000 of these trees in Florida, 2,500 of which are in bearing. Subscribe for the Mail.

Coöperative Work Shows Rapid Growth

Recently Organized Associations Do Big Business.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The Southern states show greater co-operative marketing growth since 1913 than other states where co-operative marketing is of longer standing, according to a tabulation made by the United States Department of Agriculture. The large volume of business handled by the recently organized tobacco, cotton and rice associations is given as the reason for the change.

Co-operative organizations in the seven West North Central states handled 45 per cent of the total business transacted in all states in 1915, whereas co-operatives in these states now handle 30 per cent of the total business. Organizations in the three Pacific states in 1915 did 24 per cent of the total business, as compared with 19 per cent in 1923. Co-operatives in the East North Central group did 14 per cent of the total in 1915, as compared with 15 per cent in 1923, and co-operatives in the Middle Atlantic group did 9 per cent in 1915 as compared with 12 1/2 per cent in 1923.

The greatest growth is shown in the East South Central group, where co-operatives in 1915 did little better than 1 per cent of the total business, as compared with 9 per cent in 1923. The figures for the South Atlantic states show a jump from 2 per cent to 7 per cent, and the West South Central states an increase from 1 per cent in 1915 to 4 per cent in 1923. A small increase is shown in the New England states and a slight decrease in the Mountain states.

Ventilation Necessary in Storing Seed Corn

Ventilation and heat are the two things necessary to successful seed corn storage. Any place that has a good roof, is dry and has plenty of ventilation is satisfactory.

The chief problem in storing seed corn is to provide a means whereby the moisture content can be reduced to the point where the germ is not injured by freezing weather, and that it remains this way until planting time. If the corn is picked early enough, properly hung and in a dry, airy place, there is usually no need for artificial heat.

Never store corn in sacks, piles or by placing one row of ears immediately on top of another, writes Ralph E. Johnston in the Dakota Farmer. Leave some air around each ear.

There are many different methods of storing seed corn. There is the binding twine method by which the ears are laid on the twine, crossing the cords each time after the ear is laid in place and alternating the butts and tips. Ten to twelve ears are put in each string. There are wire racks of various kinds with both vertical and horizontal strands. There are various kinds of "tree" or "post" systems by which ears are attached to nails which have been driven in or through posts or boards in an upright slanting manner.

Of Much Importance to Keep Outside Cave Dry

The outside cave or storage cellar should be well ventilated and well drained and this is a problem in many kinds of soil. Keeping a pit well drained by using a rather high point of land and with the walls of the entrance several inches above ground there will be no danger of water from the outside.

Seepage can be prevented by digging a large pocket in the floor before the concrete is laid. This is filled with gravel or sand and the concrete then sloped toward this pocket from all sides where it terminates in a drain. Building tile will generally give a dry floor if they are laid flat and end to end. If desired they can be covered with two inches of concrete or cinders.

FARM NOTES

Water cools cream and milk 28 times as fast as air of the same temperature.

A good range and a balanced ration usually prevent bowel trouble in the hens.

What coat do you prefer on your exposed farm machinery? One of rust or one of grease?

Sell all your cull male birds while they are useless and are simply "eating their heads off."

As long as farmers average 16 to 17 bushels per acre, corn will continue to be an expensive crop.

Most farms do not have enough fruit and nut trees. A hazel hedge will hide unsightly buildings.

The dairy farmer with a silo full of silage need take no thought for tomorrow what his cows shall eat.

A county fair built on competitive community exhibits of crops, live stock and other products is built on solid foundations.

Cream tainted with bad odors will be discriminated against at the creamery, as it should be. No matter how expert a buttermaker may be, he cannot make a high quality butter from cream tainted with bad odors.

Lugubrious Message

When Miss Marie Lohr, the clever English actress, was appearing in the part of Cinderella in "Tinkle and the Fairies," a play that was being produced under the direction of Beerbohn Tree, she was also rehearsing for a part in the tragic play "Hannele," in which she had to die. The preparation for both productions was being carried on simultaneously at the same theater. His Majesty's.

In the midst of Tree's reiterated injunctions to the "Tinkle and the Fairies" company to be merry and bright, a lugubrious-looking stage carpenter, working on Hannele, appeared in the wings and, beckoning to Miss Lohr, called out:

"Excuse me, miss, but can you step down below a minute? I want to measure you for your coffin."

At the Ends of the Earth

When explorers and naturalists come back to civilization their accounts often read as if they were fairy tales. William Beebe, who has returned from a visit to the strangest islands in the world, the Galapagos, 600 miles off the coast of South America, apparently discovered the source of many tales of fiction. Buccaneers buried their booty there in old days when the islands were called "The Enchanted Islands." Whalers, mutineers and shipwrecked persons have told of their charrs. In Mr. Beebe's account, entitled "Galapagos: World's End," he speaks of five hundred pound turtles, fantastic reptiles, and birds and beasts that gave no sign of fear when encountered.

Their Tragedies

To Father—A drop in mining shares.
To Mother—The ink spilled on the dining room rug.

To Brother Dick—Having to attend the local college instead of one of his choice.

To Sister Alice—That she can't have a car.

To Aunt Kate—That her knight has never come riding.

To Grandma—That Willie wriggled during prayer.

To Sister's Fiance—Their first quarrel.

To the Cook—That the policeman ate pie in the house next door the other night and she hasn't seen him since.

To Baby—The tooth he's cutting.

"THE INTIMATE STRANGERS"

The Senior Class play, "The Intimate Strangers," by Booth Tarkington, given at the High school auditorium last Friday, October 31, was attended by a very large and appreciative audience.

Considering the lack of time in which to practice, the cast did exceedingly well, and much of its success is due to the untiring efforts of Miss Knowles, Miss Duffy and Mr. Holcomb. Forrest Hubert as Mr. Ames, made his part not only very interesting, but exceedingly humorous, his own natural wit standing him in good stead.

Gladys Hake took the difficult role of Miss Isabella Stuart, and the manner in which she played the part is a great credit to her talent. Florence, the niece, was played by Florence Cline who depicted well the new generation of youth in America. Everett Cummins as Johnnie White excellently typified the modern youthful lover.

A prim and proper starched maid was Mattie, played by Mary Parrott, starched to just the correct degree of stiffness, while Louis Sietoff, as Henry, was the handy man about the house. The elderly Aunt Ellen was played by Dorothy Melow whose art in such characters has been witnessed before. Ira Kingsley took well the part of a gruff station master. Each member of the cast deserves his share of credit for the play, for without each and his time so willingly given, no production would have been possible.

The first act was introduced by a selection from the High school orchestra. Between acts, Mr. Coatta favored the audience with his fine voice, and Miss Miller furnished piano music, both of which were highly appreciated. Before the curtain rose on the third act, everyone enjoyed hearing Pierre Kenyon render his vocal selections.

The Seniors were highly pleased, and considered themselves repaid for their work on seeing so many townspeople and friends at the play. It is the backing of the people that makes the school a success, and the class is very grateful to all those who so kindly gave their support.

What an Old Sea Captain says about Liquid Granite

"There she is mate—clean, tight, and tidy as the decks must be. You can rattle your tackle on that. And if a bit of sea slaps over the rail, mop it up, and no harm done."

Liquid Granite makes your floor clean, waterproof, durable, resisting the buffeting of use, standing up under occasional hard knocks and persistent daily wear.

Developed through years of experiment in search of a floor finish at once beautiful, easy to apply, and simple to care for, Liquid Granite gives a smooth, velvety surface that brings out the natural grain of the wood and retains its beauty under the hardest wear.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

ENTITLED CHRISTIAN SCIENCE:
THE SCIENCE OF SPIRIT, BY GEORGE SHAW COOK, C. S. B.
OF CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF
LECTURES OF THE MOTHER
CHURCH, THE FIRST
CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENT-IST, IN BOSTON, MASS.

The Christian Science lecture, given by George Shaw Cook, C. S. B. of Chicago, Ill., under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Plymouth, at the Penniman Allen theatre, last Friday evening, was well attended, many being present from Northville and other nearby places. The speaker was introduced by Miss Lina Durfee. Mr. Shaw presented his subject in a very clear and concise manner, and held the close attention of his audience throughout.

Mr. Cook said, in part:
The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, has, on page 587 of her great textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," defined God thus: "The great I AM; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise, all-loving, and eternal; Principle; Mind; Soul; Spirit; Life; Truth; Love; all substance; intelligence." God is all-knowing and is, therefore, infinite Mind, that which knows, comprehends, and includes all. God is all-seeing, the Spirit that discerns, or perceives all that is real. God is all-acting, the source and Soul of all activity and power. God is all-wise, the one infallible, divine Principle. God is all-loving, the only invariable impartial, universal Love. Thus it will be seen that God is infinitely good, the source of all true goodness. Samuel Johnson, in his dictionary, defines God as a Saxon word meaning good, and points out that this meaning with slight variations obtains in all the Teutonic dialects. This definition agrees with Mrs. Eddy's statement, on page 286 of Science and Health, "In the Saxon and twenty other tongues good is the term for God." So Christian Scientists think and speak of God as infinite, perfect, changeless good, as being all good and always good.

Universe, Including Man
The spiritual universe comprising all that exists by way of creation must, of necessity, include man—individual, spiritual man, created in God's likeness. And man being the exact likeness, the perfect reflection of Mind, or Spirit, must be and is, in his true nature, mental, or spiritual. Thus it will be seen that the real man is not black or white or red or brown. Man is not something which is so many feet tall or so many pounds heavy. "Man," as Mrs. Eddy says on page 475 of Science and Health, "is the image, the image of Love; he is not physique. This makes the true spiritual man, created in God's likeness, is a necessary factor in the universe of God, necessary to its completeness and its continuity. Spiritual man, the real man, is, then, eternally in his right place in Mind. He is eternally in his right business of expressing consciously and perfectly the divine qualities of health, happiness, harmony, activity, freedom, power, and dominion. This fact insures man's immortality and eternal security.

Mortal Man
Of course, to the material senses man seems to be a human organism with a mind inside of it. It may be said, however, that this "mind" is supposed to control and direct the actions and functions of the human body, has never been definitely located or satisfactorily explained. Indeed, it may be said that, from the standpoint of material scientific research and experimentation, there is no adequate proof of the existence of an indwelling "soul" or "mind." One of the more recent utterances on this subject was by Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, Ohio, and was to the effect that the human body is an electro-magnetic battery of which the brain is the positive, and the liver the negative pole. A well-known materialist is quoted by the London Spectator as saying in answer to his own question, "Can the brain think?"—"A brain is a creamy substance composed of about two tablespoonfuls of dust and a number of ounces of water. One does not find much in these statements to sustain the belief that matter is intelligent. Do they not, rather, turn one for satisfactory explanation to the truth revealed in Mrs. Eddy's wonderful "scientific statement of being" on page 468 of Science and Health, the first sentence of which reads, "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter;" and the second sentence of which contains this illuminating declaration, "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation for God is All-in-all."

Pain and Suffering, Mental Discernment of the unreal nature of matter may come gradually, but even partial recognition of the fact that matter is unreal has been found helpful and practical to students of Christian Science in their daily human experiences, especially in the overcoming of sickness and sin. In combating sickness it is particularly helpful to know that matter is unreal, because it enables one to see that disease is mental and not material. The knowledge that everything of which the senses take cognizance exists because of thought helps one to see that disease must be of mental origin, and that in the treatment of sickness it is futile to apply material remedies. Because sickness, according to Christian Science, originates in thought and exists as a condition of belief it must be met, and can only be effectively destroyed, in the mentality or consciousness of the one who seems to be its victim. This can be accomplished by substituting in thought, or consciousness, the idea of health for the belief in disease, the idea of perfect and harmonious action for the belief in overaction or inaction. If, as Mrs. Eddy points out, there is no intelligence and no sensation in matter, it is obvious that matter cannot experience sickness or disease, and that if there seems to be a sense of pain and suffering, it must be in thought and not in the body. Many progressive medical doctors are recognizing more and more the mental origin of disease. They have said, for example, that fear, worry, hatred, and anger will produce sickness, and they admit that many cases of illness are due to the emotions of the human mind. Christian Scientists would agree with the physicians at this point, but would go beyond them in declaring that all disease has a mental cause. In doing so, however, they do not contend that all disease is the result of conscious fear, nor of willful sin, but that back of every diseased or discordant condition of the material body there is some erroneous condition of thought which must be destroyed before there can be a permanent cure.

Only Healer, Divine Mind
Jesus healed all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people of his time. He did this through the power of God as is evidenced by his own words: "I can of mine own self do nothing." The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." The Master not only healed the sick, but he raised the dead. He walked on the water. He stilled the tempest. He multiplied the loaves and fishes. He passed through closed doors. More than that, he raised his own body from the dead, and, finally, he ascended completely above the belief in matter and mortal existence. All this Jesus did by reason of his divinely bestowed understanding of the allness, the ever-presence, the instant availability of God, Spirit, Mind. This understanding of God's presence and power was Christ, or "God with us," and it was this to which Jesus referred when he said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also." This declaration of Jesus shows unmistakably that the works he did were not miraculous, as they are often reputed to be, but that they resulted from his understanding of divine Principle and can, at any time, be done by those who have gained a demonstrable knowledge of that Principle. The works of Jesus, then, were no miracles in the sense of being infractions of law, but were in fact divinely natural manifestations of the power and law of God, or Spirit, which he, himself, said he came to fulfill. Works approaching those of Jesus were done by his immediate disciples; also by Paul, and for centuries by the early Christians. The New Testament is full of records of healing through spiritual law, and many marvelous works are recorded in the Old Testament showing that Christ, Truth, was discerned and demonstrated to some extent centuries before, and for many years after, the earthly existence of Jesus, the Christ. Every so-called miracle from the translation of Enoch which the ascension of Jesus was a divinely natural manifestation of the power of God. The works done by the patriarchs and prophets of old may be said to have resulted from holy, uplifting faith in the power of God, whereas the works of Jesus, his apostles, and the early Christians should be regarded as having resulted from understanding of divine power, or spiritual law.

Mrs. Eddy's Leadership
Mrs. Eddy founded the Christian Science movement of which she became the revered Leader. She wisely provided for all the needs of this great movement, for its continuity, and for the protection of its varied and far-reaching activities. In 1908 she established an international daily newspaper, which she named The Christian Science Monitor, and in which one may read constructive, helpful, and interesting accounts of what is going on in the world without being obliged to fill his thoughts with that which is harmful and degrading. The establishment of this paper is only one of many evidences of Mrs. Eddy's wisdom, foresight, and courage, and also of her love for humanity. That Mrs. Eddy was ever desirous of turning thought away from herself to her works is shown in a message which at one time she sent to a group of Christian Scientists of which I was a member. In this message she said, "Tell them they cannot know me in my personality, but in my books and my writings, and in my love for them and for all mankind."

Christian Scientists, following the example of their much beloved Leader, are striving so to live that they may prove themselves not only willing, but able to obey the command of the master Christian, "And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils." While Christian Scientists do not claim that they never fail in their application of Christian Science to human needs, still they find much in their experience for which to be grateful and they look forward to greater and more abundant success in their redemptive work which as they become more faithful, more consecrated, and more obedient to spiritual law. It is but fair, however, to say that many well-authenticated cases of healing are constantly being published in The Christian Science Journal, and the Christian Science Sentinel, and are being related weekly in the Wednesday evening meetings of Christian Science churches.

The Methodist church society of Northville, celebrated the nineteenth anniversary of the erection of the first church in Northville, with appropriate services, last Sunday. Rev. H. H. Phelps, D. D., editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, and Rev. W. H. MacClenthan, D. D., were the speakers.

Six editors of automobile club publications in Ohio spent Saturday in Detroit, inspecting Wayne county's system of concrete highways. They were taken on a personally conducted tour of 125 miles of the county's 400 miles of improved roads, by Edward N. Hines, chairman of the board of county road commissioners.

The board of supervisors on their budget for the coming year have approved several boosts in the salaries of county officials. The fourteen circuit judges were given an increase of $2,000 per year, in place of $3,500 as asked; also the circuit court commissioners had $1,000 per year added to their salaries. The county drain commissioner had $500 added to his salary.

The state highway department is advertising for bids for the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge on Grand River-avenue, over the River Rouge, just west of the Redford village limits. The proposed structure consists of two spans of 38 feet and three inches, with a 28-foot roadway and a 10-foot walk. The work is to be completed before May 15, 1925.—Redford Record.

This season will long be remembered in local market gardening circles as one of great length so far as certain crops are concerned. It is not often that Michigan growers are selling outdoor tomatoes and cucumbers in November. A visit to the Eastern market this week showed quite a bit of both articles and prices offerings, stock of quality and prices extra good, 'bout like last July.—Wayne County Courier.

The former Panel & Plywood factory, now the Michigan Store Fixture Co., sounded its first whistle under the new ownership, Tuesday morning. As the plant approaches completion a force of men is gradually being accumulated and regular work taken on. It is stated that one of the jobs which the concern is doing at the present time is the outfitting of a new store in Boston, a $250,000 proposition.—Milford Times.

Miss Elizabeth Stollwagen, Democratic candidate for register of deeds of Wayne county, is thought to have been the only woman ever nominated by a political party for a Wayne county office. She was born and reared at Wayne, and for twenty-five years has taught school in Michigan.

Marking

Armistice Day

To World War veterans and other people alike, November 11th brings a stirring memory of triumph that crowned service of the highest order. Armistice Day is a day of rejoicing—it is a day when each one of us gives thanks for the brave men who brought it about.

Armistice Day brings an obligation, too—to prove worthy of the victory won by those millions who fought so well.

As we pause in tribute to the dead, let each one resolve to commemorate their sacrifice by preserving inviolate the opportunities and security we enjoy.

THE THEATRE

"MADONNA OF THE STREETS"
"Madonna of the Streets," Edwin Carewe's latest picture featuring Nazimova and Milton Sills, will be shown at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Saturday, November 8th. The picture is the first of the famous Russian actress has appeared in since she deserted the cinema for vaudeville and the legitimate stage two years ago.

"Madonna of the Streets," a story of London, is taken from "The Ragged Messenger," by W. B. Maxwell, an English author of world-wide popularity. The book has been acclaimed as one of the most notable literary products of the modern school of English authors, and the scenario is the best that Nazimova has ever chosen. The picture is not only interesting in itself because of its story interest, but it allows both Nazimova and Sills to show their best acting ability.

Nazimova is cast in the role of the friend of a Fifth Avenue millionaire, who, cut off in his will when he leaves his vast fortune to John Morton of London, sets out to make Morton pay the ungrateful millionaire's debt to her. Morton, played by Sills, receives the fortune and begins to give it away among the poor of Limehouse. The former friend marries the clergyman and objects to his using the fortune in this manner when she believes she is entitled to some consideration. How it all works out is told in a tremendously powerful manner which finds Nazimova registering with more dramatic effect than in anything she has ever achieved before.

This picture also marks Edwin Carewe as one of the cinema's outstanding directors. The manner in which the scenario is handled is extremely pleasing, and Carewe has brought out all the genius of both Nazimova and Sills. He has made his characters live as in real life and has made their lives seem real, which after all is the supreme test of the director.

Playing with Nazimova and Sills is an all-star cast including Claude Gillingwater, Vivien Oakland, Courtenay Foote, Harold Goodwin, Rosa Gore, John T. Murray and Tom Kennedy.

"CIRCE THE ENCHANTRESS"
The combined efforts of Mae Murray, Vicente Blasco Ibanez and Robert Z. Leonard have produced a remarkable motion picture in "Circe the Enchantress," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, November 9 and 10.

Mae Murray is the star of "Circe the Enchantress," and she does some of the best work of her career in this production. Ibanez, who is the author of "Circe the Enchantress," has written a highly dramatic and yet romantic story which provides Miss Murray with one of the best vehicles she has had. Robert Z. Leonard is the director, and he has shown rare skill in his handling of the picture.

Miss Murray enacts a triple role. The mythical Circe, the artless, sweet convent girl, the tempestuous, pleasure-seeking coquette: Miss Murray plays them all with the feeling only known to the great artists of the drama.

Miss Murray's supporting cast includes James Kirkwood, William Haines, Charles Gerard, Thomas Ricketts, Gene Cameron and Lillian Langdon. The picture was made by Tiffany productions of which Robert Z. Leonard is director-general and M. H. Hoffman is general manager. It is a Metro-Goldwyn picture.

"MANHATTAN"
All who enjoy real fast-moving action-drama will be right in their glory when Richard Dix's first Paramount starring picture, "Manhattan," comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, on Wednesday and Thursday, November 12 and 13. The story is an adaptation by Paul Sloane and Frank Tuttle of the novel, "The Definite Object," by Jeffery Farnol.

The star has the role of Peter Minuit whose great-grand-grandfather purchased the island of Manhattan from the Indians and Peter is all for giving it back to them. "There might be some life in the old town then," says he.

You take it from this that Minuit is slightly bored with life. He is just that—a millionaire bachelor who has everything in life except that which he craves most—action, adventure, a definite object, something to live for, to strive to be worthy of. He finds action-plus in New York's Hell's Kitchen and a definite object in the beautiful sister of a youthful yegg whom he befriends.

Here's a role that suits Dix to a "T."

Jacqueline Logan has the leading feminine role opposite the star. Gregory Kelly, George Seigman, Gunboat Smith also have important parts. Oscar Figman, Edna May Oliver and Alice Chapin complete the cast. R. H. Burnside directed.

If you liked Dix in "Unguarded Women," "Sinners in Heaven," etc., see what you think of him in "Manhattan," a story all his own.

SUCCESSFUL GRANGE YEAR—BIG FARM ORGANIZATION PROSPERS OVER COUNTRY.

The fiscal year of the Grange organization of the country, closing September 30th, indicates widespread prosperity for that organization in spite of the depressed conditions overshadowing agriculture in general. During the year 127 new subordinate Granges were organized, of which Oregon heads the list with 25, Idaho comes next with 23, Ohio and Michigan report 17 and 14 respectively, and the remaining organizations are divided over 15 other states in all parts of the country. During the year 90 new Juvenile Granges were organized, of which 23 were in Ohio, 12 in New York and 18 in Michigan. Five Pomona Granges and one Juvenile Pomona are also included among the year's fruits.

With the exception of a few states in the northwest, the Grange year was one of universal prosperity, with large classes admitted to the order and good charter lists in the new organizations. In many fields preliminary work to organization has been done and these new units will be completed before the end of the year. The present membership of the country reaches a figure very close to the million mark distributed over 33 different states.

INTERNATIONAL ANNIVERSARY TO BE MEMORABLE EVENT.

The quarter-centennial celebration of the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago, November 29th to December 6th, promises to be a history making occasion in many ways, according to B. H. Heide, secretary-manager of this well known show.

The social side will be especially emphasized this year. Numerous reunions and banquets will give visitors an unusual opportunity to meet their friends from all parts of the country and renew old acquaintances. The business interests of Chicago have arranged unusual forms of entertainment for guests at the metropolis during International week.

The live stock contests between superior specimens of cattle, horses, sheep and swine promise to be of a rare sporting character since many of the previous champions have been retired and the winners this year are expected to include numerous "dark horses."

The grain and hay show will prove to be an exciting battle-ground where the relative merits as crop producing regions of the various sections of the continent will be fought out among over five thousand outstanding samples of grains, small seeds and hay. Some portions of North America have enjoyed favorable conditions this year and others have suffered from unseasonable weather, but competition will be equalized by dividing the territory into zones.

The agricultural colleges and experiment stations are planning to make interesting and valuable exhibits, showing the results of recent investigations in many lines of agriculture. The subjects treated will include many of timely importance, such as the best use to make of the soft corn crop.

A junior live stock judging contest will be held on the opening day, between the various state championship teams for national honors. The three young boys or girls who make the highest individual scores will be awarded agricultural college scholarships by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

A feature of the night horse show this year, will be the class for the old time four-horse hitch, which is coming back in social favor in the east and abroad. A busy week of education and entertainment is promised all visitors to the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago, the first week in December by the management.

Today's Reflections

Uncle Sam's new 16-inch gun will hurl a ton shell thirty-five miles. Wouldn't it be fine to deliver coal with?

No matter whether it's spelled "pumpkin" or "punkin," you can pass this editor a slice any time you feel like it.

More and more we're coming to see that the demagogues can't fool the people when the people know more than the demagogues.

Whatever became of the seven long-haired sisters whose pictures we used to see displayed in the hair restorer ads?

Luck doesn't always mean inheriting money. Look at the man whose last year's overcoat is good enough to wear this year.

There's only one way for a woman to find out how homely she'll look in bobbed hair—and she generally takes that way.

We've noticed that some fellows have a wonderful memory until a few minutes after they are put on the witness stand.

We heard a Plymouth man say yesterday he doesn't believe in capital punishment, because it's hard to find a man who is worth hanging another man for.

Of course the auto helps some, but old Worry still continues to be the undertaker's best friend.

If the saloons hadn't been driven out of the country, where would they have found room to put all the filling stations?

Our idea of the wisest man in Plymouth is the one who has found out that it's safer to be taken for a fool by keeping his mouth shut than to prove it by opening it and talking.

Since most family quarrels begin at the dining table why not cut it down to where we'll only eat one meal a day.

Some of the old-fashioned men who used to smoke behind the barn to smoke corn-silk cigarettes, now have daughters who ask them for a match to light real ones.

Village Manager Sidney D. Strong and Commissioner D. F. Murray were in Ann Arbor last week Thursday afternoon, to see a demonstration of the new American LaFrance fire pumper, which the city has just purchased. It is a 1000-gallon pumper and the demonstration given was highly satisfactory.

The county road commission have been doing a nice job of re-sodding on Ann Arbor street, where heavy cuts were made for the new pavement. The pavement has also been thoroughly cleaned, so that it presents a splendid appearance. The date of the opening of the new thoroughfare has not yet been announced.

Last week Tuesday, Judge Edgar O. Durfee celebrated his eighty-second birthday. For forty-eight years Judge Durfee has presided over the probate court of Wayne county. He was the recipient of congratulations of many attorneys and friends. Judge Durfee was born in Livonia township, but spent his boyhood days in Plymouth. The judge was born on October 28, 1842.

Duane Sayles was home last Sunday, from Kalamazoo College. He came home to see the foot ball game at Ypsilanti. Alton Sayles, who is attending Ypsilanti Normal College, played part of the game, last Saturday, and was also home over the week-end. Clifford Sayles of Detroit, was home Sunday. He acted as yell master for Kalamazoo at Ypsilanti. This was his old position when he was in college.

The Halloween dancing party given at the Penniman Allen auditorium by the eighth division of the Woman's Club last Friday evening, was well attended, and was one of the most enjoyable events of the season. Daniel Patterson's orchestra furnished splendid music for the occasion. The hall was decorated with Halloween decorations. Toy balloons for the ladies and cigar squawkers for the men were given as favors.

Rhea Peck entertained twenty boys and girls at her home, last Friday evening, at a Halloween party. The garage at the Peck home was appropriately decorated for the occasion, and the guests of the evening were dressed in costume. Various games and the telling of the guests' fortunes furnished the amusement of the evening, after which refreshments were served. It is needless to say that the boys and girls enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

A Halloween party was given at the home of little Virginia Cobb, 215 Main street, last Friday evening. Eight little friends and school-mates were invited, each dressed in Halloween costume. Games were played, and marching and singing made up the entertainment for the afternoon and early evening, when refreshments were served in the dining room, which had been decorated in orange and black. Mrs. Cobb's sisters, Mrs. Wm. Fishlock and Mrs. Donald Bouton both of Plymouth, helped to entertain the little ones, who were: Betty Simpson, Doris Fishlock, Lola Mae and Margaret Barlow, Pearl Smith, Audrey Forsgren and Laura Mae Bouton.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

The Ladies' Aid society of the Ev. Lutheran St. Peter's church held its annual meeting in the church basement, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Reports showed a very prosperous year. The total receipts by dues collected, sociables, suppers, dinners, bake sales, and bazaars amounted to $4,798.63. This surely shows that the ladies have been working faithfully for their church. The society has a membership of 53.

At the meeting, Mrs. A. Kohri was re-elected president; Mrs. O. F. Beyer, vice-president; Mrs. Wm. Gayde, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Strasen, secretary. Mrs. H. J. Fisher and Miss Amelia Gayde were appointed as a purchasing committee. May the Lord bless the Lutheran Ladies' Aid Society, and may it prosper.

The special service for the Ladies' Aid Society has been postponed for one week.

LUTHERAN BAZAAR

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran church will hold their annual bazaar in the church basement, Wednesday afternoon and evening, November 12. All kinds of aprons, fancy work and baked goods will be for sale. Also a fish pond for the children. Light lunches will be served during the afternoon and evening. Everybody welcome.

All varieties of winter apples, including Spies, Greenings, Baldwins, etc. Also sweet cider at 5c per gallon, delivered in town every Saturday, or for sale at my place at Phoenix on Plymouth and Northville road. Alfred Innis, phone 800-F4. 474p
