PLYMOUTH HIGH WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF LEAGUE

Plymouth and Wayne Stage One of the Hardest Played Games of the Season on the Local Gridiron.

In Spite of the Inclement Weather a Good Crowd Saw Plymouth Win the Game by the Narrow Margin of 7 to 6.

Playing its last game of the season, Friday, Plymouth won from Wayne High by the score of 7 to 6. The field was wet and slippery, making good playing impossible, and causing many fumbles.

Plymouth received, and put the ball in play on the 30-yard line; then after repeated gains, Plymouth fumbled on Wayne's 30-yard line, and other fumbles followed. On one of these, Wayne recovered the ball and St. Charles circled end for a touchdown, Kenyon tackling him on the goal line. Plymouth came back in the last half and then after a pass to Taylor and a long end run by Millard, Kenyon crashed over for the touchdown, and then won the game by a drop kick.

The line is to be complimented on its fine showing in this last game, playing its best game of the season at both offense and defense. Holmes backed up the line splendidly, and without his help the team would have been decidedly handicapped. Plymouth loses a whole team of regulars by graduation, but will hope for a bright and prosperous season again next year.

Those who have played their last game of foot ball for Plymouth High school, are: Dale Wilson, Russell Reiman, Francis Heiny, Forest Hubert, Frank Millard, Byron Becker, Laurence Holmes, Pierre Kenyon, Ernest Ambros and Elbert Sump.

One of the most beautiful cups ever presented to a suburban league team, was given by Mr. Camp of Ypsilanti. In closing the most prosperous season Plymouth has ever had in foot ball, we wish to thank the Plymouth people for their loyal support and efforts in making it so.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE IN PLYMOUTH

The annual Christmas Seal sale campaign will be launched in Plymouth next Monday morning, and will continue for the next ten days. The campaign, which is under the direction of Mrs. C. H. Bennett, is being carried on through the pupils of the village schools, and the surrounding rural schools. Seals may also be purchased at all three of the local drug stores. You are especially urged to purchase seals from the children, if they should call upon you, which lends much encouragement to them in this great work of alleviating the suffering of many who are afflicted with tuberculosis, through the purchase of these little seals. The seals this year, are very attractive in design and coloring, and every Christmas package and letter should carry one or more of them. As has been the custom for several years past, each copy of the Mail today carries a Christmas seal.

Mrs. G. A. VanEps, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Holloway and family the past week, has returned to her home at Ferris.

Gilbert Yanka and Miss Leocadia White were married at the Catholic church, Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Lefevre performing the ceremony. They will reside in New York City, where the groom has a position.

DEATH OF A FORMER PASTOR

DR. SAMUEL PLANTZ, ONCE PASTOR OF LOCAL METHODIST CHURCH, DIES AT APPLETON, WISCONSIN.

Dr. Samuel Plantz, a former pastor of the Plymouth Methodist church, died at Appleton, Wis., November 14, 1924. We take the following from the Michigan Christian Advocate:

"On Friday morning last, Dr. M. S. Rice received a telegram from his daughter (a student at Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin), announcing the sudden death of President Samuel Plantz, of that institution, who dropped dead on the same morning.

"Dr. Plantz was born at Gloversville, New York, but came westward in early life. He graduated from Lawrence College in 1880. He was for twelve years a member of the Detroit Conference. He united on probation in 1883 and in full connection in 1885. Of the class of sixteen who came in with him, he appears to have been the last survivor. The same year he entered on trial, Claudius B. Spencer was admitted to full connection, and C. M. Thompson came by credentials from another church.

"Dr. Plantz pastored in Detroit Conference were: Plymouth, two years; Fort Street, Detroit, one year; Lake Linden, two years; Woodward Avenue, Detroit, two years; supernumerary one year while studying in Germany; Tabernacle, Detroit, three years.

"In 1894, Dr. Plantz was chosen president of his Alma Mater, Lawrence College, and a year later transferred his membership to the Wisconsin Conference. Thenceforth, for thirty years, the career of this scholarly preacher and splendid educator was identified with that of the great school to which he devoted the best years of his life. He developed unusual administrative ability and built up Lawrence from a modest foundation to its present high rank among the educational institutions of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"Dr. Plantz received the degree of A. M. from his Alma Mater in 1883. He was given the degree of Ph. D. by Boston University in 1889; of D. D. from Albion College in 1894, and of LL. D. from Baker University in 1902. He was a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for Advanced Teaching; a member of the University Senate; of the Victoria Institute, London; of the Economic League of the United States; of the Wisconsin Academy of Arts, Sciences and Letters; of the American Historical Society, and of the American Peace Association. All these honors indicated the wide range of his scholarship and the high esteem in which he was held in educated circles. In the counsels of his own church he was influential. He was a member of several General Conferences. He was the author of "The Church and the Social Problem," published in 1907, and a contributor to Hastings Bible Dictionary and church periodicals.

"Dr. Plantz was united in marriage in 1885 with Myra A. Goodwin, who proved not only a loyal helpmeet and aid in his work, but was an author of unusual culture and gifts, writing under the name, Myra Goodwin Plantz. She died some years ago."

SHOP EARLY, MAIL EARLY

With Christmas but a few weeks away, the average Plymouthite is busy with thoughts of Christmas, and are already beginning to plan their shopping. Local merchants are already displaying their Christmas goods, and it looks as if people were beginning to realize the advantage of early selection of gifts. Plymouth merchants are better able than ever this year to supply everything needed in the way of suitable gifts for old and young.

Postmaster Hill urges all who are sending presents by mail to do so just as early as possible to avoid the last minute rush, as is the usual case every year. Packages may be marked "Not to be opened until Christmas," or some other suitable wording beneath and not too close to the address, which should be written plainly, and leave the space at the top of the address free for stamps. Christmas seals and stickers may be used on the package as long as the space for the U. S. stamps is left clear. If each one sending packages will follow these instructions and co-operate with the post office staff, much confusion will be done away with and it will greatly facilitate the work of those who handle the mail.

PLYMOUTH, A VILLAGE OF BEAUTIFUL HOMES

RESIDENCE OF MRS. L. H. BENNETT AND B. B. BENNETT.

THE JUNIOR PLAY, "COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN"

The Junior Class Will Present Interesting Comedy, In High School Auditorium, Friday Evening, December 5th.

The Junior class of the Plymouth High school will present the three-act comedy, "Come Out of the Kitchen," in the auditorium, Friday, December 5th.

The story of "Come Out of the Kitchen," centers around a Virginia family of the old aristocracy, by the name of Daingerfield. They, finding themselves financially embarrassed, decide to rent their home to a rich Yankee. One of the conditions of the lease by the well-to-do Northerner stipulates that a competent staff of white servants should be engaged for his sojourn at the stately mansion. The servant problem presents many difficulties, and Olivia Daingerfield conceives the bright idea that she, her sister and their two brothers shall act as servants. When Mr. Crane, the Yankee, arrives with his guests, they find that the staff of servants possesses a method of behavior so out of the ordinary that many amusing and interesting complications begin to arise.

The following cast has been chosen:

- Olivia Daingerfield, alias Jane Ellen—Julia Wilcox.
- Elizabeth Daingerfield, alias Araminta—Elsie White.
- Mrs. Falkner, Tucker's sister—Blanche Freeman.
- Cora Falkner, her daughter—Marjan Beyer.
- Amanda, Olivia's black mammy—Muriel Bovee.
- Burton Crane, from the North—Robert Taylor.
- Thomas Lefferts, Statistical Poet—Perrin Hauk.
- Solon Tucker, Crane's Attorney—and Guest—Clair Travis.
- Paul Daingerfield, alias Smithfield—Russell Robinson.
- Charles Daingerfield, alias Brindlebury—Kenneth Wilske.
- Rudolph Weeks, Agent of the Daingerfields—Wilbert Petz.

SOME BIG PICTURES COMING

Manager H. R. Lush of the Penniman Allen theatre, has booked two splendid pictures to be shown at the local theatre in January. They are "America's great masterpiece," "America" and "Abraham Lincoln," now being shown in Detroit. Both of these pictures are spoken of in the highest praise by the newspaper critics, and their early showing in Plymouth will be particularly pleasing to the patrons of the Penniman Allen theatre.

WAYNE COUNTY BEGINS WORK ON 3 FUTURE SUPER HIGHWAYS

$2,000,000 to Be Spent Widening and Paving the County's Highways Next Season.

A road paving program to provide a new highway system running north and south through the middle of Wayne county was announced Saturday by the County Board of Road Commissioners. This program will entail a cost of more than $2,000,000 and will begin early next spring.

The board has recognized the demands of the new development that has come to the west side of Detroit, and of the great residential suburbs being laid out in Oakland county directly north of the industrial West side.

The residential area to the north is accommodated now largely by Woodward avenue. A great relief artery, Southfield, has been projected by the transportation, plan and road officials and Wayne and Oakland counties, and Detroit.

Wayne county will at once pave the middle section of Southfield Way. This future super-highway is now known by six different names in its various sections from Birmingham south to the Detroit River—Southfield road, Mill road, Emerson road, Reck-

FREYDL-NELSON

A very pretty and long to be remembered wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Nelson, Thursday evening, November 20th, at 7:00 o'clock, when their only daughter, Velma Dorothea, was united in marriage to Charles M. Freydl of Northville. A very impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Mrs. Stroh.

Mrs. Louis Vici of Detroit, rendered very beautifully, a solo, "Oh, Promise Me," with Miss Gladys Schrader of Plymouth, as accompanist. The Mendelssohn Wedding March was played by Miss Schrader, a student of the U. of M. Conservatory of Music, and also a High school classmate of the bride.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk georgette, trimmed in Rhinestones, beads and silver, and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Hazel Owenshire of Detroit, who wore pink and gold changeable silk taffeta, trimmed with gold braid bows and Rhinestone buckles, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Edgar Freydl.

The house was beautifully decorated in pink and white. Strips of paper and bells formed an archway in the folding doors, leading from the stairway to the large bay window in the sitting room, where the ceremony took place. The window was decorated with a pink background, and a large white bell and other decorations of white formed an archway.

Mrs. Freydl is a very popular young lady, very active in the church and all social affairs, and was a graduate of the Plymouth High school in the class of '22. Mr. Freydl is a popular young business man of Northville, also a graduate of Northville High school in 1916. Many and useful and more than beautiful wedding gifts and shower gifts were given them.

The happy young couple left Friday morning for Philadelphia, Buffalo and Mt. Vernon, Ohio, for an indefinite stay, and on their return, will reside in Northville, where they have a new house all completed.

Guests were present from Williamston, Fowlerville, South Lyon, Pontiac, Northville, Detroit, Plymouth, Cherry Hill, Newburg, Ann Arbor, Lodi, Whitmore Lake, Roseville and Salem.

Send in the names of your Thanksgiving visitors to the Mail.

The Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church will hold their thimble party next Wednesday, December 3rd, in the church basement. Mrs. Walter Westphal and Mrs. Fred Ballen will be the hostesses. The Ladies' Aid will meet next Sunday immediately after the morning service.

Little Eugene D'Angelo, who had his leg broken in three places, a week or so ago, is getting along nicely in the hospital at Ann Arbor. Eugene has been the recipient of many beautiful flowers, fruit, candy, etc., from his friends, which help him to pass the long hours and for which he is very thankful to all.

ner road, St. Cosme road and State street at the river.

One Name Eventually.
It is probable that all links of the route will come under one name before the whole right-of-way is obtained for this 204-foot artery, which will tie Detroit with the "Land of Little Lakes" to the north. The names Southfield avenue, Southfield road and Southfield Way (an abbreviation of super-highway) are now under consideration by the officials. The longest link in the chain—that part lying north of the Eight-Mile road is now known as Southfield.

This super-highway is designed to tie with Allen road, which will serve as a southern outlet for it. This artery becomes a major line in the new transportation network being worked out down the center of the county. The surveys are now being made along the Emerson road section of it.

The county will take another important step—the condemnation of right-of-way for the first bit of super-highway building to be done by Wayne county. Proceedings are being prepared by the Board of County Road Commissioners to procure enough land to make Grand River road 304 feet wide from Redford to the county line, and to make Michigan road 204 feet wide from Dearborn west to the village of Wayne. The surveys have been started.

27-Foot Strips.
In the spring the county expects to begin laying concrete on these two stretches. On Grand River a strip 27-foot wide will be built on the north side of the right-of-way, and the following season the old, worn-out 15-foot paving on the south side will be replaced by another new 27-foot strip, making twin strips 27 feet wide, with centered tracks between Redford and the Oakland county line.

On Michigan road the paving is now 16 feet wide. On the north side a new 27-foot strip will be built from Dearborn as far as Inkster, and on the south side a strip the same width will be laid from Inkster to Wayne. The next season it is probable a twin strip will follow.

Two of the most important paving projects of the next spring will be the extension of the Fort street concrete south to the Ohio state line, and the extension of the Division road paving from Michigan avenue southeast to West Jefferson avenue. In this project a new bridge will be built over the River Rouge and grade separation viaducts built for the Michigan Central, D. T. & I. and other lines near West Jefferson avenue.

Ford road is to be paved from Telegraph road east to Michigan avenue, providing a new paved route due west to Ann Arbor. Tireman 40 Feet.

Tireman avenue's paving 40 feet wide, will be carried west to Division road. The grading is finished. The paving of the Six Mile road (Palmer boulevard) will be completed west to Redford.

The Waltz road will be paved from New Boston south to the Willow road, near the village of Willow. The grading is finished.

The Middle Belt road will be concreted from the Oakland county line south to the Pere Marquette railway.

The Plymouth road will be paved from the village of Plymouth to the county line; and the Ann Arbor road which forms a detour for the Plymouth, also will be paved. These last two projects will be done by the county with Federal aid. The grading is done.

In all cases, except where otherwise stated, the paving will be 20 feet wide. On all these roads concrete will be laid in 1925, except the Allen road extension. Here the grading will be done in the spring; the concreting will follow the next spring.

The county will also widen the paving on the Seven Mile road east of Division. Seven Mile will be a wide thoroughfare from Woodward avenue to Southfield road. Eventually Seven Mile will be a super-highway.

The Ford road will connect with widened McGraw avenue at a point where McGraw ties in with Michigan avenue. McGraw will become an important traffic artery.—Detroit News.

PLENTY OF FUEL

Old winter is ready to sit down and pay us his usual visit. Already snows have fallen in various sections, while many parts of the country are reporting temperatures down below the freezing point. But the entire nation seems to be better prepared for the cold seige than ever, for from a fuel standpoint conditions couldn't be any brighter. This year there is plenty of coal, mined and stored and ready for delivery, and the price at this time is fair, when some previous prices are considered. Mines have been running for an entire year without any serious labor trouble, and the railroads have been able to distribute coal in such a way as to insure against a fuel famine in any section of the country.

Plymouth users of coal for fuel must remember, however, that the demand for it is going to grow heavier from now on, and heavier demand will have a tendency to increase prices. Those who have not laid in a full winter's supply, or at least all they can conveniently handle at one time, can probably save considerable money now by doing so. We have been witnessing a steady advance in the price of coffee in the United States for the past several weeks, and coffee importers say it will go as high as 75c and $1.00 a pound by January. They explain that revolutionists have been destroying coffee plantations in Brazil, and there is a great shortage ahead. But regardless of this, we'll get coffee, and if we are wise in our fuel buying, we'll save enough on coal now to make up the extra amount our coffee will cost us this winter.

IF YOU WOULD LIVE

If you want to live to see the trees grow green again and to feel the balmy breezes of spring, don't run your auto engine in a closed garage. Don't run it for even three minutes without having the door or window open, or carbon monoxide gas will get you. The gas is colorless, tasteless and almost odorless, but it quickly kills by paralyzing the respiratory organs; the victim often loses consciousness before he realizes what is happening. A 23-horsepower auto will discharge enough of the deadly gas in a closed garage on a cold day to kill the healthiest person within five minutes time. There is little danger in the summer, because garage doors are left open, but in cold weather when the driver wants to warm up his engine, or when he wants to do a little work on the car indoors, the number of deaths from this deadly gas amounts up enormously. They are already occurring in numerous parts of the country. Let's not have any around Plymouth. Leave the garage doors open every minute that the auto engine is running.

A HELPFUL STUDY

We notice where rural schools in a number of places over the country are adding a helpful course in simple farm accounting. The teachers devote a little time daily to teaching the boys how to keep a set of books—not double entry or complicated bookkeeping system, but enough of the fundamentals to enable them after a few months to be able to keep track of farm accounts, to tell what has been paid out, when, to whom, and what for, and to keep trace of all revenues derived from the farm. Whether the lad remains on the farm or enters some other trade or profession, this simple little study of bookkeeping is bound to be worth something to him in after years. It also assists in teaching lessons in fractions and in profit and loss—studies that are a bugaboo to every boy who looks into an arithmetic. We are passing the idea along to rural teachers around Plymouth, in the belief that since it is proving successful elsewhere, it might be well worth looking into more thoroughly.

BUYING BY PICTURE

There are quite a few people in Plymouth who do their buying by picture. They look over a catalogue and read the glowing descriptions. Their mind can't stand the strain, it sounds too good, the picture is too pretty, so they shoot their money for goods to come in the mail a week or two later. Not only do they pay cash, but they pay in advance, and without having laid eyes on the goods. Not only this, but these same people, when they haven't the change handy, buy at local stores and frequently let the bill run eight or ten months. If the local merchant doesn't extend credit, they get mad and begin to talk about how high his prices are. If they get something that isn't satisfactory, however, they shoot it back to the home merchant. If they bought it by picture and got "stung" they keep it to themselves—but go right ahead and get stung the second time. Verily, buying by picture is a funny and expensive proposition.

LOCAL NEWS

The Junior Bridge Club was entertained at the home of Miss Regina Polley last week Thursday evening.

Miss Harriet Myers of Denton, and F. L. Gallup, president of the First National Bank of Ypsilanti, were married at the bride's home at Denton, Wednesday evening, November 26th, at 8:00 o'clock. The bride held a position with the Plymouth United Savings Bank for several years, and has many friends in Plymouth, who extend congratulations and best wishes.

There was a good attendance at the third number on the Senior Class Entertainment Course, given by J. Smith Damron, the potter-craftsman, who presented his interesting entertainment, "The Potter and the Clay," at the high school auditorium, last Friday evening. Mr. Damron is a practical potter, and gave a demonstration of the making of vessels of clay in full view of his audience. It was a most interesting and instructive program.

FORDS DONATE AIRPLANE LANDING FIELD

A new airplane landing field, the donation of Henry and Edsel Ford, which was recently completed at Dearborn, Mich., will be known as "Ford Airport," according to announcement just made. The donation is purely in the interest of commercial aviation, for it is understood there is no intention on the part of the Ford Motor Company to go into the airplane business, other than to watch its development. All pilots will be welcome at the field, and it is large enough to take care of the largest types of ships. It also is expected that the field will be the terminal for airline companies now being formed to operate between Detroit and other large cities. Gasoline, oil, and before long a stock of parts, will be available for visiting fliers.

The field has two 300-foot runways, one 3,700 feet and the other 3,400 feet long, both in the direction of prevailing winds. More than twenty miles of draining tile was laid for quick drainage in wet weather in order that the field might be suitable for year-round operation.

In the center of the field the name "Ford" appears in letters 200 feet high, made of white crushed stone. This is visible from an altitude of 10,000 feet. When conditions warrant arrangements will be made for illuminating the field at night.

There is an ample hangar, and in the same building airplane manufacturing operations are being carried on by the Stout Metal Airplane Company and the Aircraft Development Company.

Large Marketing Costs and Waste

Peach Crop of Georgia Provided Excellent Example of Unavoidable Loss.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There is an all too prevalent impression among those who have had little opportunity to observe the full course of marketing of food products that by some magical costless process these products are whisked from the farmers' fields to the fruit stand or grocery store. Consequently when reports are published in the newspapers of great waste of food products in the fields, particularly fruits and vegetables, many consumers want to know why it is they cannot buy at much lower prices. The explanation for these apparently wasteful practices, says the United States Department of Agriculture, is to be found in the costs of transportation and other marketing costs.

The present peach crop in Georgia has provided an excellent example of a waste of fruit at the point of production because of unavoidable economic conditions. Many newspaper articles, some of them containing exaggerated statements of actual conditions, have called attention to the waste, and letters have been written to the President down, asking that something be done about it. One letter from New York city is as follows: "Please find enclosed clipping from one of our newspapers about a great waste of peaches in the state of Georgia. My wife insists on having this brought to your attention as she is paying 20 cents a pound for only 'fair' peaches. If this article is official or statements made even approximately true, I think something could and should be done to save the crops and keep down the cost of living in the cities, dependent on transportation."

Conditions in Georgia. An explanation of the conditions which existed in the Georgia peach section this summer in connection with a brief outline of the marketing processes necessary to get the peaches to the New York consumer, included in a letter from the secretary of agriculture to the New York inquirer, should clear up a good many questions regarding price relationships on many crops.

The present season, according to this statement, witnessed the production of the largest Georgia peach crop in history. In addition, east of the Rocky mountains there was in nearly all the peach-growing regions the largest crop harvested since 1915. In Georgia the setting of peaches was much larger than the trees could have been expected to develop into desirable market sizes. Early in the season growers were advised by the Department of Agriculture to thin or remove a portion of the fruit from the trees, a practice which is followed each year by some growers to insure large sizes and better quality. Some of the growers followed the advice this year, but most of them neglected it with the result that the crop contained a large proportion of undersized fruit which could not be marketed at a profit. Some orchards in which the fruit was not thinned showed as high as 50 per cent of culls or small fruit which experience has shown the consumer does not want, in a year of abundant production, at a price that will pay for handling.

It is obvious that in a season when the crop is large, these culls must be allowed to rot, for no one will handle them when only loss is in sight. The cost of packages, packing, transportation and handling a bushel of cull peaches is as much as for the same quantity of standard grade. Since culls are a losing proposition wherever found, says the department, it is better to remove them at the point of production, thus saving the cost of marketing, than to place them on the market and have the cost of handling added to the cost of the marketable fruit with which they were packed. Small sizes have formed a large part of the so-called waste to the Georgia peach orchards. The total crop in that state for the season was estimated at 18,000 cars, whereas only about 13,500 cars were finally marketed.

Big Loss of Hilly Belles. The loss of one variety, Hilly Belles, was especially large. When these peaches came on prices were so low that had the producer delivered his peaches to the packer free of cost the fruit would not have paid the marketing charges. Many cars of early peaches were put on the market without being thoroughly culled, and because they were unsatisfactory to the trade the market became demoralized. Later varieties, as a result of grading and elimination of poor fruit, sold better.

The different cost items which enter into the expense of marketing peaches show convincingly why it pays to handle only the best fruit during a season of large production. The approximate cost of a six-basket (24-quart) peach carrier, together with the cost of packing and loading into cars, is 52 cents. The freight and icing charge on a six-basket carrier from Georgia to New York is about 70 cents. This is a total of $1.22 delivered in New York. From the net sales price received for the fruit these charges are deducted and the balance is received by the producer for his labor and fruit. On August 4 the range of prices on six-basket carriers of peaches was from $1.75 to $2.50. These prices were to jobbers of carlots and represent the initial cost of peaches at the first point in the line of marketing distribution in the city.

On the date the previous quoted letter was written from New York, July 29, the highest price reported at that city on sales to jobbers of Georgia peaches was $2.75 for a six-basket carrier. The approximate weight of the fruit in such a carrier is 37½ pounds. If this were sold at 20 cents per pound, the retail price mentioned by the writer, the carrier brought a total of $7.50. This represents the total amount paid by the consumer out of which must come the following items: The producer's returns, package cost, packing and loading expense, freight and icing charges, and the wholesaler's gross profit or commission—making a total of $2.75—and the cost, profits and waste of city distribution which amounted to $4.75. Were the peaches delivered to piers in New York free of charge and distributed to the consumer through the present channels of trade and at normal charges and profits only, the consumer would have had to pay approximately 68 per cent of the price he did pay.

Distribution is Costly. The distribution of fruits and vegetables in New York city is a costly operation at best and this cost is greatly increased by the ungraded condition of much of the stock which is delivered to this market. In order that buyers may inspect the fruit, it is necessary that it be moved to a central point where work may be done as quickly as possible. In New York the piers furnish this point and there the cars are centralized and distribution begins. A car of peaches is delivered to a carlot receiver at a pier in New York. The receiver unloads the car on the pier and splits it into units of 5 to 100 carriers, each jobber buying according to his needs. The jobber has his purchase delivered to trucks which haul it to his place of business in one of the five or six secondary markets. Here the jobber splits his supply into units that will meet the needs of the retailers. Again the truck is used to deliver the retailer's purchase to his place of business. Here the last splittings of purchases are made and range in size, according to the consumer's desires which may be one peach or one or more baskets. Often there is another truck delivery which takes the product to the consumer.

Each Step Adds to Cost. Each step in this distribution is an added cost and each handler must make a profit. The cumulative result is the consumer's price. It has been estimated that the initial moving charge from pier to truck, a distance of 500 yards, is $20.00 per car. From pier to the large distributing points will range from $24.00 to $35.00 per car. Each handler must exact a profit, which may be small, but the total expense is large. Peaches are a highly perishable product and the various handlings along the route from producer to consumer entail considerable loss through physical injury while changes in temperature aggravate these and other defects. This loss is the consumer's loss as the retail price of the merchantable fruit must cover the expenses and profits in all the transactions.

These figures and facts which explain rather convincingly the reasons for the so-called waste of fruit at the production end, while the consumer must pay a considerable price, have been prepared by the department after careful investigation. Similar conditions are to be found in the handling of practically all perishable food products.

FARM FACTS

Scrub bulls make scrub farmers. Oats should generally be planted at the rate of 2 to 3 bushels per acre.

Feeding high-value feed to low-value live stock is like walking on quicksand.

"Many words won't fill a bushel," but a few dollars for legume seed will fill the soil with fertility.

Milking cows is too serious a business to be conducted at a loss. Why is a boarder cow, anyway?

Get a cover crop started in the orchard as soon as possible. Use what does best on your farm, preferably a legume such as crimson clover or vetch.

Scatter a few handfuls of millet seed in the litter occasionally. The hens will dig after the tiny grains for hours and it helps keep them from becoming overfat.

When a brood of chickens, or a feed, or a system of culling, or a house goes wrong, it is well to consider whether the chance to go right has been given, or vice versa.

To be successful in turkey raising, one must give the most careful consideration to certain fundamental factors. Growing stock must be kept under the best possible conditions.

The turkey raiser who feels it is no longer necessary to look after the diet of his stock after they are well feathered, is more than likely to suffer the loss of a number of fine birds during early fall by wild grapes, green corn, etc.

Curious Beliefs Held by Trinidad Natives

Port of Spain is the principal city of the island of Trinidad in the West Indies and is the most colorful and cosmopolitan city in the world," says an American citizen, who has returned to his native land for a visit after an absence of two years, according to the Detroit News. "The streets of Port of Spain," he says, "present the appearance of a strange pagentry, so varied are the people. Strangest of all are the native black people. Here you will see nose rings and all sorts of weird styles in hairdressing. They are so fond of bracelets that their forearms, from wrist to elbow, are completely covered with all sorts of metal circlets. Nor is it unusual to see their lower limbs adorned in the same fashion.

"All our servants are these black people. They are excellent servants, but their many taboos and superstitions are very trying, unless you have a good sense of humor. They go by the moon and stars in everything. They refuse any sort of an undertaking unless the aspect of the moon is propitious. They also have special taboos pertaining to things hot and cold. None of them will, under any circumstances, put their hands into both hot and cold water on the same day. They believe that if they do this they will die in three days. By the moon they reckon time and forecast the future. By the moon they hold their pagan ceremonies, and one might say that by the moon they live and by the moon they die."

North Pole Receives Full Share of Heat

The North pole, it is said, receives more heat than the equator. Of course, each hour of sunlight brings more heat to the equator, but the hours of sunlight each day increase in number the farther one goes north. Therefore, while the sun is shining the arctic receives more hours of sunlight a day than does the equator and altogether it gets more heat, says the Detroit News.

As one goes north the length of day increases more rapidly than the amount of heat per hour decreases. Consequently, although the heat per hour received at Winnipeg, Canada, is less than at New Orleans, the amount of heat received per day is greater. That is one reason why in July Winnipeg is frequently hotter than New Orleans. For about five weeks every summer more heat per day is received from the sun on a square mile in the arctic than at the equator. However, the winters at the North pole would be as hot as the equator. However, the winters at the pole are long and a great deal of cold is stored up in the ice mass. This neutralizes the downpour of heat from the summer sun.

Storks in Great Britain

A Welsh lad was recently attacked by a large stork which was believed to have been blown from Holland by storms. It is a somewhat strange fact that storks have refused to breed in the British Isles except in New gardens. There a pair started housekeeping in the year of King Edward's coronation, and clearly copied the design for their grotesque nest between the two elm trees from a Coronation bonfire. They met with a multitude of misfortunes. One year a storklet fell from the nest and broke its neck; in another year a nestling was slain by a barnacle gannet. A culminating disaster was the drowning of an entire family by a thunderstorm. When the "stork's mound" becomes a congested district, superstitious storklets are exported to populate other districts.

Oysters Sold on Boughs

The traveler in the West Indies has the opportunity of viewing the novel sight of gathering oysters from trees. Around the harbors and lagoons the mangrove trees grow down to the water's edge. Their branches droop until a part of them is submerged. Oysters will cling to any surface in the water to which they can fasten themselves, and as there are few shelves or stones along the shores the bivalves attach themselves to the branches. When the natives go oyster gathering they lean over the side of the boat, find a branch to which oysters are clinging, and cut it off, and the bivalves are sold on the tree.

Boy Knew His Business

Mr. Peters brought a piece of cloth home to have a suit made. The family, examining the goods spread out on the table, remarked upon the fine quality and pattern. Even little Ronald was called upon to give his opinion of father's new suit. He turned the stuff on the wrong side and began to examine it. "Ronald," said old Peters, "that is the wrong side. How stupid you are!" "Why stupid?" answered the boy. "You bet it won't come to me until it's turned on the wrong side."—Exchange.

Dates From Pagan Times

Halloween is a relic of pagan times. In England the influence of Druidical ceremonies is evidenced in the ancient Halloween fires. Certain of the customs which used to prevail in England were survivals of Pomona, the goddess of fruit. Halloween is called by this name because the festival falls on the evening of October 31, which is the eve or vigil of All Hallows, the festival of All Saints, which falls on November 1.

Martyr-Soldier's Bible Given Place of Honor

In the king's private library at Windsor castle, as well as in the king's library at the British museum, the Bibles are a special feature, and if it were possible to imagine these treasures being put up to auction at one of the famous salesrooms, all the collectors in the world would gather to bid for them.

But it is not an illuminated Bible, over which some monk spent half a lifetime, or the earliest printed Bible, or a "Breeches" Bible, or even a "Bugge" Bible—so called because it says, in a certain well-known psalm: "Thou shalt not be afraid for any bugges by night"—which is the best-guarded and most honored copy of the Scriptures. This distinction belongs to a worn, even tattered copy of the Scriptures, just the ordinary limp-backed little Bible which thousands of people take to church or keep in readiness there. This Bible lies open, upon a beautiful cushion, enclosed in an exquisite old casket, in a window of Windsor castle. The open page is much soiled and thumbed, certain passages are underlined and there are numerous pencilled notes in the margin. This is General Gordon's Bible, given by his sister to Queen Victoria.—London Tit-Bits.

Thought for Next Day Has No Place in Congo

In many parts of the Congo horses are unknown and the natives are as terrified at them as at an elephant or a hippo, says Mme. Gabrielle M. Vassal in the London Graphic. Though the food ration of the Congo natives is most frugal, consisting chiefly of manioc, it is at least regular, and in this starving country is the chief attraction to them and keeps them as a whole cheerful and healthy. The Congo population is always hungry, if not starving; it is impossible to sound the depths of their laziness and want of thrift. They never think of the next day. When they are paid they buy a white helmet, a tweed cap or a knitted tam-o'-shanter, though their thick frizzled hair really needs no covering. The reason for cannibalism in the Congo is hunger more than anything else, says Mme. Vassal.

Thought He Was Singing

From the well-known big-game hunter, F. C. Cornell, comes the story of how one evening he was returning to camp in South Africa from a prospecting expedition, unarmed and alone, when, to his horror, he found himself stalked by three leopards. "Knowing from experience that most wild beasts are frightened by the human voice," says Mr. Cornell, "I let out a yell that scared even myself, and repeated the dose every few yards of the way back, until I was as hoarse as a crow, and my yells began to lack vim.

"But pleased with yourself, ain't you?" was my welcome on reaching camp. "We heard you singing for the last hour or more. Thought you might have struck someone with whisky."—San Francisco Argonaut.

First Use of Envelopes

Envelopes were not in common use until about 1831. In 1825 Lamb mentions the envelope and in "Harry Lorrimer," published by Charles Lever in 1837, is this quotation: "The waiter entered with a small note in an envelope." It is claimed that envelopes were used in France before they were introduced in England, and there seems to be good ground for the claim. When they first came on the French market they were very dainty novelties and were made from the most expensive and delicate papers. They were used only by the wealthy and were considered a fad. They were used by the public in England in a limited way between 1830 and 1839.—Pathfinder Magazine.

How Birds Bathe

The most elaborate dressers of the animal world are the birds, all of whom take baths whenever possible. Some of them use earth, sand or dust. When these find a suitable spot they scratch up the surface and then shuffle backward, moving feet and wings and working the grit right through their feathers.

Most birds, however, are water bathers. Some, such as the kingfisher, plunge right in. This bird usually dives from a branch, entering the water with open wings and making a great splash. In addition to his morning toilet, the kingfisher has a complete bath after eating fish that he catches; so that he often takes a dozen headers during the day.

Throw Hats at Candidates

The word "hetman" is a title given to the commander in chief of the Cossacks, annually chosen from among their number. The process of selection offers a contrast to the American custom of figuratively throwing one's hat in the ring as a sign of willingness to accept the nomination to office. Among the Cossacks it was the custom while in assembly to throw their fur caps at the candidates for whom they voted, and the one receiving the greatest number was declared elected.—Baltimore Sun.

Pay Attention to Values

The man who insists on full value for his dollar generally accumulates wealth. If more attention were given to values, more men would get rich. The relation of price to value is the most important study in economics.—Grit.

BAPTIST NOTES

Sunday, the pastor's sermon was about Thanksgiving, reviewing some of the mercies of God during the past year. Several gave testimonies, and expressed their thankfulness for special blessings. One said, "I am thankful that we live in a land where the chief executive calls the people to prayer, and a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God for all his favors."

The Sunday-school voted to have Christmas exercises, and a committee was chosen to plan the same.

Each Sunday for several weeks the Sunday-school has listened to a recitation from one of the young girls and have enjoyed them very much, having had the pleasure of hearing Doris Hamill, Doris Williams, Gertrude Doudt and Catherine Compton.

Alton Sayles sang the solo in Sunday-school, last Sunday.

Ira Kingsley was sent by the Sunday-school to the older boys' conference at Muskegon.

The Ladies' Aid Society had a very prosperous day, last week Thursday, at the bazaar and supper. They wish to thank all who assisted them. They purchased two dozen new chairs and some dishes. The new chairs for the choir are very acceptable, and present a very neat appearance.

The B. Y. P. U. will hold their monthly social next week. The day will be announced next Sunday.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

Mr. Stewart is teaching the intermediate class of boys in the Sunday-school. This makes full provision for boys of every age.

Three persons received Christian baptism at the manse last Saturday afternoon.

The church extends congratulations and best wishes to two of its members, Milton Laible and Ellen Gardiner, who were married at the church last Wednesday night. May prosperity and joy attend this new family in the church.

The Pastor was called to Ann Arbor, Wednesday, to conduct the funeral services of Andrew Rogers, the father of Mrs. Wm. Hoyt of Plymouth. The church extends sympathy to the bereaved members of the family.

Two of our Presbyterian boys, Edwin Schrader and Francis Hathaway, are attending the older boys' conference held at Muskegon this week.

Why not make the Lord a Christmas present of yourself and join the church? Think it over.

BE THANKFUL!

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Serve the Lord with gladness: Come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the Lord, He is God; It is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves. We are His people, and the sheep of His pasture. Enter into His gates with Thanksgiving and into His courts with praise: Give thanks unto Him, and bless his name. For the Lord is good; his loving-kindness endureth forever, And His faithfulness unto all generations." Psalm 100.

GILDEMEISTER'S PEERLESS FLOUR

METHODIST NOTES

Rev. J. B. Oliver, a former pastor of this church, will preach in this church next Sunday, both morning and evening. Those who knew him in former years will be delighted to see and hear this splendid Christian warrior of God again.

The pastor is in attendance at the Hi-Y conference at Muskegon, over the week-end, with some of our boys.

Official board meeting in the upper room of the Community house next Tuesday night at 7:30.

We thoroughly enjoyed the men's singing last Sunday night, and hope they can be persuaded to try it again some time.

Next Wednesday is the day of the Ladies' Aid bazaar at the Community house. Articles of all kinds and descriptions nearly will be on sale. The big supper is at 5:30 in the dining hall.

Friday, December 12, is the date of the Ladies' Aid home talent play. You will want to see and hear this without fail. They always put on a good one.

Mid-week prayer service on Thursday evening at 7:30.

The committee is getting down to business working out the Recreational program for the year. They will soon have a report ready.

The Sunday-school will in a Sunday of two have everything going in proper order. The officers of the school ask your kindly indulgence till everything is worked out satisfactorily.

The Missionary Society are planning a box of clothing for one of our frontier preachers. Through the kindness of several people, we have warm clothing for three of the family, but they are very anxious to find a warm overcoat or any clothing for a boy of 7. If anyone can help, call Mrs. Tait or Mrs. Lombard.

Morning worship is at 10:30 now, and Sunday-school at 9:30.

Not Unlucky for All

The number thirteen hardly deserves its black reputation, which it has had ever since there were thirteen at the Last Supper at which Our Lord was betrayed. Hence the firm conviction that if this number sit down to table one of them will shortly afterwards die.

The fact of the matter is, as astrologists tell us, that thirteen is only unlucky to certain people. On others it has no more potent effect than any other number, while a few people declare that it always brings them good fortune.

Birthplace of Liberty

The so-called "Tennis Court Oath," derived its name from the tennis courts at Versailles, where members of the national assembly of France in 1789 met and took the solemn oath that they would continue to meet for the dispatch of business wherever circumstances might require until the constitution of the kingdom had been established upon sound and solid foundation. They met on the tennis courts because admission to the hall of the "Menus Plaisirs" had been denied them by Louis XVI.

The secret of a Healthful home

—is proper sanitation.

In building or remodeling a home, none but the best plumbing should be installed—and it must be installed right. Especially is this true of the water closets.

Only when these fixtures are properly designed and installed will they properly serve their purpose. Too many of them—antiquated, worn out and with seats split, splintered and broken—are still in service, a constant threat to health.

Proper installation of modern plumbing fixtures means long service with practical freedom from repairs and health reliably protected.

It is economical foresight to have the plumbing inspected at least yearly. Repairing a small leak costs but a few cents but it will save dollars in the course of a year. Replacement of worn out equipment is far cheaper than trying to "keep it going."

We have made a study of plumbing installations from a standpoint of service and health protection. This service is yours for the asking and with no obligation.

Frost Forecasts Aid Fruit Grower

Warning Service Saves Crop and Prevents Unnecessary Burning of Oil.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The accuracy of frost forecasts made by the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture is illustrated by results in a typical district where 95 forecasts of temperature near or below the danger point were made and distributed. In 91 per cent of the cases the forecast was correct within 2 degrees Fahrenheit or less, and in the other cases the variations were only slightly greater.

Pay for Service. Fruit growers appreciate this special frost warning service by paying approximately one-half the expense of it in order to extend the operations permitted by the funds of the weather bureau. Information furnished not only saves fruit but prevents the unnecessary burning of many gallons of oil. The practice of orchard heating is growing rapidly. There are three general methods of frost protection: conserving heat, stirring the air and adding heat by means of fires. The last has proven thus far the most practical and economical method.

Several trained meteorologists are assigned to frost work during the danger period each year in important fruit districts. This work consists of temperature surveys, the issuing of forecasts and warnings of frost, experimental work as to the most effective methods of protection, and giving advice to growers. Temperature surveys are useful not only in regard to showing the susceptibility of a locality to frost owing to its topography, but also as an aid in selecting orchard sites. In issuing warnings there is a specially arranged system of distribution. One grower may be told to prepare for frost the latter part of the following night, and another near by that his orchard will be in no danger.

Work of Testing. Experimental and advisory work comprises the testing, under actual orchard conditions, of various devices for frost protection; determining the relative effectiveness of different kinds of heaters; testing personally owned thermometers for use of the growers; and giving advice as to the proper exposure of instruments in an orchard.

HOUGH SCHOOL NOTES

Last week Thursday night, at the Zone 3 pageant, "Youth's Guest," given at Cherry Hill, the parts of "Sight" and "Human Emotions," were taken by the Hough school. "Sight" was taken by Lottie Szymanski, and "Human Emotions," by Phila Gust, and those composing her trio, were: Flora Gerst, Persis Fogarty and William Kennedy. The children took their parts very well.

During the past month, the following have visited school: Fred C. Fischer, Assistant County School Commissioner; Miss Lois Corbett, Wayne County Home Demonstration Agent; Mr. Norton of Ann Arbor, author of the Beacon Reading Manual for Teachers, and Miss Lorraine Cochrane, helping teacher in arithmetic problem-solving, and Miss Ruby Hazzard, helping teacher in picture study. When the Helping teachers came, they brought the new A-1 card. Four stars have already been placed upon it.

We take the following from the Daily Ypsilantian-Press of November 18th:

At the third meeting of Zone III, held at Hough school at Warren avenue and Artley road, the following Zone teachers were present: Miss Martin, Miss Everett, Miss Burnett, Miss Fisher, Miss Gould, Miss Snowball, Mrs. Every, Mrs. Dixon, Miss Griffith and Mrs. Walters; also helping teachers, Miss Jameson, Miss Cochrane, Miss Dibble, Miss Hazard and Mrs. Robinson.

The morning session was opened at 10 o'clock by Mr. Hoppes.

Miss Lorraine Cochrane told of her tour around Zone III, as helping teacher in arithmetic problem solving in a most interesting manner. Samples of splendid work in this subject from Hanford and Tyler schools were exhibited.

Several teachers told of ways in which they had been able to use suggestions given them by Miss Cochrane the month before.

Miss Gould, teacher at Tyler street school, taught a splendid lesson in problem solving, using practical problems concerning the materials to be used in the costumes for our play. The pupils from Tyler street who were in Miss Gould's class were: Nimfa Lumetta, Frank Riggs, Sam Lumetta and Mary Varga.

Miss Ruby Hazard, helping teacher in picture study, explained her plan for picture study for the next month. She taught an interesting demonstration lesson using the following pupils from Hough school: Phila Gust, Flora Gerst, Persis Fogarty, Luella Swegles and Crystal Swegles.

Miss Wellever, supervising teacher for the rural schools of county; Miss Roser, Miss Orr, Miss Dawson, Wayne county librarian; Mrs. Riggs from Tyler street; Mrs. Ironsides of Redford; Miss Neal, helping teacher from Zone II; Mrs. Matevia from Sheldon, and Dr. N. A. Harvey from the Normal College, were visitors at our morning meeting.

At 12 o'clock all drove to the fine farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Mettetal, where a chicken dinner was served to about forty people, including the members of Hough school board and Kiwanians Sweet, Bryce A. Ward, Harvey and Crocker.

The regular business meeting was held immediately after returning to the school house, and the afternoon's program which was in charge of the Zone president, Mrs. Dixon, was given.

Remarks were made by Miss Wellever and Miss Dawson.

Mr. Crocker, while he admitted being present at six zone dinners, insisted that he was thoroughly interested in rural education, and he told of having had clippings from several papers from eastern states, in which the work of Zone schools was explained and commended.

The features of the afternoon's program were: A talk on reading by Dr. N. A. Harvey, in his usual pleasing way; a story entitled, "Chink," by Ernest Thompson Seton, told by Mrs. Ironsides in a most fascinating manner; vocal solos by R. Mettetal; a duet by Mary and Raphael Mettetal; a violin solo by Henry Hutton, and a piano solo by Miss Juanita Coe.

Roll call found eleven Zone teachers, six helping teachers, one patron from Tyler street; one from Sheldon; eight from Canton Center; seven from Bartlett; three from Truesdell, and about 25 from Hough present.

All adjourned after thanking the Hough people for the royal way in which we had been entertained, to meet in December at Cherry Hill.

Blanche Walters, Secretary.

PERRINSVILLE

Rev. Havens preached a very impressive sermon Sunday. He gives a call for those wishing to come in as members of the church. He will have a minister from Detroit, to assist him.

Sam Bills of Wayne, spent Saturday with his sister, Mrs. Belle Baehr. Charles Priebe is remodeling his house.

There will be a dance at the Gleaner hall, at Perrinsville, November 29th. A ladies' 4-piece orchestra from Detroit, will furnish music. Everybody come and have a good time.

Miss Olive Hix and Donald Wegenschultz were married last Saturday. All join in wishing them a happy wedded life.

ELM

There will be the regular Sunday-school services at the school house, next Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Everybody is especially invited to attend.

The Elm school will give a box social on Friday, December 5th, in the school house. Everybody come and join the fun.

The girls of this community between the ages of ten and twenty met with Mrs. George Michelin, and formed a garment club. The fourteen members chose "The Farmerette Thimble Club of Elm" as the name of their club. Any girl in this community who has not joined yet and desires to, may come to their meetings on Friday at 4:00 o'clock at the school house. The officers of the club were elected as follows: President, Edna Mauk; vice president, Georgia Rowe; secretary, Florabelle Rowe; treasurer, Viola Mauk.

Plans have been started to form a Boy Scout troop at Elm. Cecil P. Bacon of Highland Park, has kindly consented to bring his Scouts out to Elm for a special demonstration of their work. Mr. White the Scoutmaster of this territory, will accompany them and explain the work.

Miss Cleo Maher, teacher at the Booth Home, spent the week-end at her home in Howell.

Harold Douglas and John Burger have returned from the north, each with a deer.

Their marriage vows. The Rev. Arthur V. Allen of the Jefferson Avenue Baptist church, read the impressive ring service. Mrs. Georgia Barrows attended the bride as matron of honor, and Leo R. Kelly acted as best man. Mrs. Kelly served the wedding dinner to the bridal party and a few close friends of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Austin spent the week-end at the Booth Home, and left Monday for Ludington, where Mr. Austin has just built and completely furnished a very attractive bungalow for his bride. Mrs. Austin has been an attendant at the Booth Home for two years, and has endeared herself to all the children and matron, who regret her leaving.

The Farmerette Club of Elm, gave a Thanksgiving party to their many friends, Tuesday evening, at the school house. The committee in charge were Dorothy Bentley, Georgia Rowe and Florence Clement. The evening was spent in games, and apples and popcorn were served. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Michelin, Jr., chaperoned the party.

Miss Margaret Beyers and Frank Keil were married Saturday evening, November 22nd, at the Livonia Center Lutheran church. Their many friends at Elm extend congratulations.

Tall vases of baby mums graced the drawing room of the home of Major Kelly, 2129 East Jefferson avenue, when Miss Nila McCormick and Stanley J. Austin of Ludington,

WAYNE COUNTY HOME ECONOMICS GROUP MET

Mrs. Edward Hauk of Canton Center road entertained the ladies of the Wayne County Home Economics group for the third of their series of meetings conducted by Miss Sorenson of the M. A. C. Extension Department, assisted by Miss Corbett, Wayne County H. D. A., Wednesday, November 19th.

They were instructed in the alteration of patterns, the construction of the one-hour dress, and the cutting of a perfect fitting dress pattern. Nineteen ladies were present, representing Cherry Hill, Canton, North-east Canton, Plymouth, Elm, Beech and Waterford. The next meeting will be held January 7th at the home of Mrs. Clifford Clumpha.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The study for the Woman's Club this year is really the most important and beneficial in its history, because it means first person both singular and plural, the U. S. and Community Problems.

Every woman prides herself on her ability to manage well her own home, and how necessary she is to it, yet the same thing is true of the community—women must help manage it and learn all about it. Only a few were after that information Friday, because of the rain; but, rain or shine, the city must run smooth, and Mr. John Noyes of the Detroit Edison Co., told much in "The Relation of Utility Service to Community Development." Mr. Noyes, who usually faces an audience which is used to technical terms, was able to adapt himself to the use of every day phrases, and gave a very interesting and valuable talk.

Mr. Noyes, who was sent out by the Information Bureau of Public Utilities of Ann Arbor, showed how a public utility is public service—to work for each family, the need of public utility and changed habits due to concentration of population, what's back of the electric switch, the need of financial co-operation, laws on contracts and taxes, and other problems of public utilities and the relation to the individual purse. Is there any more profitable way for woman to spend her time than to study her own community?

A short business meeting preceded the lecture. Members are reminded to fan the enthusiasm of each child selling Christmas seals next week.

GRANGE NOTES

Plymouth Grange held their regular meeting, November 20th. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon, and a business meeting and program followed in the afternoon. Friday, November 21st, they held their bazaar and chicken supper, which proved a success both socially and financially.

The next regular meeting will be held December 4th, in the afternoon.

John L. Crandell, Attorney, Plymouth, Mich.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE

In the matter of the estate of William H. Minehart, deceased. We, the undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet at the real estate offices of R. R. Parrott, in the Village of Plymouth, in said County, on Tuesday, the 8th day of January, A. D. 1925, and on Friday, the 6th day of March, A. D. 1925, at 10:00 o'clock a. m. of each of said days, for the purpose of examining and allowing said claims, and that four months from the 6th day of November, A. D. 1924, were allowed by said Court for creditors to present their claims to us for examination and allowance. Dated, November 6, 1924. WILLIAM R. SHAW, WILLIAM M. SUTHERLAND, Commissioners.

Stable Manure Superior as Fertilizer in Garden

Perhaps the vegetable crops did not grow as well as they might have, even with the weather conditions as they were. This may have been due to lack of fertility in the soil. It is very seldom that a well-fertilized garden soil fails to produce a uniformly satisfactory crop of vegetables.

Of all the garden fertilizers, none is superior to stable manure. Stable manure carries nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, the three chief elements of fertility. Not only does it carry these plant foods, but it contains decaying vegetable matter and the bacteria already at work which makes the decaying vegetation available as plant food for crops.

Use plenty of manure on the garden. You will not find a more profitable place on the farm for the manure. A ton of well-rotted manure to every eight square rods of the garden area is none too much; in fact, some advise still more.

For garden conditions, even better results are had by supplementing the manure with about fifty pounds of acid phosphate to each ton of manure applied.

Popularity of Soy Beans Increased in Corn Belt

It is surprising to observe the increased acreage of soy beans. Throughout the South the feeding and fertility value of soy beans and cowpeas have been recognized and appreciated, but recently this new crop has journeyed into the Corn Belt and through the Northwest, and demonstrations everywhere are serving to extend the planting of this legume. This too, is in spite of the fact that the production in bushels or the return in dollars and cents is more or less restricted unless the soy beans can be sold to concrete which will extract the oil and market the residue for feeding purposes. Straight soy-bean meal is an excellent supplement to corn and other carbohydrate feeds supplying protein of good quality, but it never can be relied upon to supply the entire amount of protein essential for balanced rations.

Impetus to Tuberculosis Eradication in Indiana

The public post-mortem demonstration on eleven cattle reacting to the tuberculin test gave an impetus to tuberculosis eradication recently in Wabash county, Indiana, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. The reactors were the tuberculous cattle found among 564 head tested, representing 46 herds. Eleven farmers witnessed the post-mortem examination of the animals which the inspectors had condemned on the basis of the tuberculin test. Every carcass showed lesions of the disease, some of a pronounced nature. The farmers who witnessed the examination expressed satisfaction with the results and are continuing their work for the eradication of the disease from the county under a systematic county-area plan.

New View Point

John Dos Passos, the youthful novelist, said at a Greenwich Village dance: "The old were to blame for the war, and they are to blame for all our post-war mess." "Respect for old age is silly unless it is the old age of a good and wise person. Old age is itself is not a thing to be respected. Why, is there a man or woman alive so foolish as to respect old age in an egg?—Exchange.

THE THEATRE

"TESS OF THE D'URBERVILLES"

Marshall Neilan's filming of Thomas Hardy's "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," the Metro-Goldwyn picture, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, November 29th, brings to the screen one of the outstanding novels of all time. Although written many years ago, it remains in constant demand at book stores and libraries. Its sales have reached hundreds of thousands and a computation of the number of library borrowers would seem almost unbelievable.

Thomas Hardy's magnificent literary style alone is hardly responsible for the enormous popularity of this, the famous author's greatest work. The universal appeal of the powerful story, the chief factor in its ability to reach the hearts of so many readers. It is a simple tale, but never so simple as to become banal.

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles" tells a story of a country maiden in Wessex who falls victim to the brutality and passion of a wealthy and unscrupulous young man. Later, Tess meets and marries the man she really loves—only to be deserted by him when she confesses the truth about her unfortunate past. Left alone in dire poverty and misfortune, Tess is again victimized by her original lover, who compels her to return to him, where she lives in lavish splendor. It is then that her husband, repentant too late, returns and precipitates the tragedy that follows. But the great love that Tess and her husband, Angel Clare, feel for each other is shown to live through eternity.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD"

"Captain Blood," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, November 30 and December 1, is a story of those adventurous and romantic days of the late seventeenth century when men were condemned as slaves by the cruel King James, and buccaners terrorized the colonists of the West Indies and merchant vessels on the high seas.

This stupendous production is an eye spectacle unsurpassed on the screen. Fort Royal, Jamaica, Bridgetown, Barbadoes and Tortuga, the earliest settlements in the West Indies are reproduced with historical accuracy. Water fronts and harbors were especially constructed according to data supplied by historians. Architecture and costumes in this picture are of singular beauty.

It is a romance of the sea in days when buccaners ruled the Spanish Main. It is in the episodes at sea that "Captain Blood" surpasses any picture ever released. The forty-gun galleons of the ocean marauders with castellated prow and stern have been reproduced in full size and in one of the greatest naval battles ever screened, these ships are shown in battle array and in full action. Thousands of extras are used in the hand to hand fights when pirate ship moors itself to enemy man-of-war and the buccaners wield no quarter giving cutlasses.

"WORLDLY GOODS"

"Worldly Goods," a Paramount picture of the novel by Sophie Kerr starring Agnes Ayers, will be the feature at the Penniman Allen theatre, next Wednesday and Thursday, December 3 and 4. Paul Bern directed the production which was adapted for the screen by A. P. Younger.

The story is a fine domestic comedy-drama of real, human people. It first appeared as a serial in the Ladies' Home Journal and has since proved unusually successful as a novel.

Miss Ayres has the role of Eleanor Lawson, young secretary to the manager of a large department store. Pat O'Malley is Fred Hopper whom she marries. He is an automobile salesman, gifted with a great line of talk and "high falutin'" ideas of the future. The fact he's all ideas and no initiative. Victor Varconi is cast as the store manager, Clifford Ramsey. It is about these three that the story revolves—and it's not the time-worn eternal triangle theme either, but something really new. Paul Bern is a new director ("Open All Night") was his first work for the screen, and he has introduced some novel ideas into "Worldly Goods."

Edythe Chapman and Bert Woodruff also have prominent parts in the strong supporting cast of the picture which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. Maude George, Cecilia Evans and Otto Lederer complete the line-up of players.

Here is a matrimonial comedy-drama that will appeal to everyone. A well 250 feet in depth was completed last week on the Benton farm on the Plymouth road and the water stands within 20 feet of the top. The drill was put down several feet through solid rock.—Northville Record.

A CARD—The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church wish to thank all those who generously patronized their recent ham and supper, and to those who contributed in any way to its success.

Proving That Hasty Criticism Is Unwise

In "My Book of Memory," Youth's Companion tells us, Mr. Silas Hocking, the English novelist, repeats an amusing story concerning Dr. W. B. Pope, once a famous Wesleyan professor of theology, and of his son Sam.

The son was preparing for the bar. Occasionally he tried his 'prentice hand at preaching the gospel in village chapels. One Sunday morning his father said to him: "Sam, I'm not feeling at all well today. You will have to preach for me this morning."

Sam demurred. The father insisted and suggested that he had two hours to make a sermon, and if he could not do it in that time he was not fit to be a barrister.

Sam went away to the study. Then he went off to chapel. Unknown to him, his father followed and found a seat hidden behind the pulpit. He heard the sermon and then hastened home again.

"Well, Sam," said he on his son's return. "I've heard you preach, and a poor thing you made of it. I thought you could have done better than that." "You think the sermon was not very good?" the son inquired. "Good?" the old man replied. "I think it was one of the worst sermons I have listened to."

"Well, father," said Sam. "I thought it was a poor thing myself, but I turned over a big pile in your study, and it was the best I could find."

National Hero Just Small Boy to Mother

A Dutch salvage firm is scouring the bottom of the Caribbean sea looking for a part of the treasure that went to the bottom in the Seventeenth century when Piet Hein, admiral of the Dutch fleet captured eight Spanish galleons loaded with silver and sank five others.

When Piet Hein captured the Spanish "silver fleet," the power of the Dutch republic had already started on its decline. Pierre Van Passen tells us in the Atlantic Constitution. The news of the admiral's victory therefore sent the country into frenzies of enthusiasm. When he arrived at Rotterdam, members of the government were on hand to greet him and the aristocracy of Amsterdam and Haarlem in lace and cloth cheered itself hoarse at the sight of the popular young admiral. All Holland was in gala. But when the admiral approached the little cottage in Delft where his mother lived and he rapped on the door there was a voice: "Is that you, Piet?" "Yes, mother." "Then wipe your feet on the mat, my boy. It's a little muddy outside today."

Beavers in Real Wilds

Few places now exist where beavers may be seen living wild. In natural surroundings in Europe. Forty years ago the last one disappeared from Scandinavia, where they lingered longest near Arendal, in southern Norway. A correspondent of the Field reports that a small, but thriving and increasing colony of these animals now exists in the same region (at Nien Eise), in a very inaccessible part of the country, no human dwellings anywhere near, and the ground covered with thick undergrowth and trees of birch, aspen and pine. No indication of their origin is given, and it seems possible that a small remainder of the old stock has been hidden here all this time.

Gull Beautiful Bird

Many feathered scavengers are uncouth, repulsive and awkward in flight, but the herring gull is a thing of beauty and exceedingly graceful under wing, a master of the air currents, gliding with perfection. He soars over the city, follows the river craft, perches upon the channel buoys, and may often be found in flocks resting upon the waters of inland ponds and reservoirs. Unlike other water birds, he is not shy; on the contrary, he is very friendly, perhaps because he has few enemies and is protected not only in the harbors but in the breeding rookeries.

Its Origin Uncertain

The phrase "lynch law" has been variously traced to a Virginia soldier and to a Virginia farmer of that name, to one Lynch, who was sent out from England about 1687 to suppress piracy, and to a mayor of Galway, in Ireland; while yet another tradition refers it to Lynch creek, in North Carolina, where the forms of a court-martial and execution were gone through over the lifeless body of a Tory, who had already been precipitately hanged to prevent a rescue.—Chamber's Encyclopedia.

Clock in Sidewalk

Thousands walk over the northeast corner of Maiden lane and Broadway in New York and never know that they are stepping on the face of a clock. This clock, measuring about two feet across, is covered with glass an inch thick. The hour and minute hands are painted jet black. Because of the dust and dirt the clock is scarcely discernible during the daylight hours, but at night it is illuminated and is a useful teller of time.

"Find" on the Farm

The city kid was roaming about in the country when he came upon a dozen or so empty condensed milk cans. He yelled to his companions: "Hey, fellows, come here, quick! I've found a cow's nest!"—Farm and Fireside.

Increasing Uses for Paper

New uses for paper are being constantly discovered, making further inroads upon the already dwindling supply in this country. Durable and flexible garments are now being manufactured from paper made from the mulberry tree, and cooking bags, horsehoes, bottles and grain sacks, all made of paper, have been procurable for some time.

Big Audience at High School Auditorium Hears Collins and Harlan in EDISON Tone-Test

In a test of direct comparison, made last Tuesday evening at High School Auditorium, before a large audience, the new Edison scored a complete and convincing triumph.

Collins and Harlan, the famous entertainers, sang in direct comparison with the RE-CREATION of their voices by the New Edison. To every ear, there was no difference between the living voices and the RE-CREATED voices.

This is the most drastic phonograph test known. No other phonograph has ever sustained it. No other phonograph has even attempted it.

The New Edison's marvelous performance of last Tuesday evening vindicates everything that has been said or claimed for its perfect realism.

Collins and Harlan stood on the stage next to a shapely Chippendale cabinet. They began to sing. Their golden notes soared over the auditorium, bringing all under its magic spell.

Halfway through their song they suddenly stopped singing. The new Edison, at their side, took up their song—and continued it alone.

Singers and phonograph thus alternated, throughout the song.

The only way the audience could be sure which was singing, was by watching the artist's lips—so exactly like the living voices was the RE-CREATED voices.

William Reed made the same test of comparison with the RE-CREATIONS of his flute selections. Again the same result—there was no difference between the RE-CREATED performance and the living performance.

Proof was piled upon proof! Evidence was massed on evidence! The end of the concert found the audience absolutely and completely convinced, through its own personal experience, that there is no difference between an artist's living performance and its RE-CREATION by the NEW EDISON—that listening to the New Edison is, in literal truth, the same as listening to the living artist.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Only one question can still bother your mind. This question we now answer.

The instrument used in last Tuesday's tests was not a special model. It was an Official Laboratory Model, taken from regular stock. Every Official Laboratory Model in our stock is guaranteed to sustain the same test of direct comparison with living artists.

You can have an Official Laboratory Model in your home. You can own an instrument which will do everything done last Tuesday in the test. Come in. Hear the wonderful Official Laboratory Model for yourself. Learn about our Budget Plan, which puts our official Laboratory Model into your home for no more than you would "pay down" for a talking machine.

SCHOOL NOTES

The grade notes were furnished by Mary Parrott, those for the High school, by Ralph Moyer and the foot ball write-up by Frank Millard.

PLYMOUTH RESERVES LOSE TO REDFORD RESERVES

In a close game at Redford, Plymouth Reserves lost its last game of the season, by the score of 7 to 6. Plymouth lead 6 to 0 till the last few minutes of play, when a long pass placed the ball on the 10-yard line; then a number of smashes made a touchdown. Cummins and Murphy each played well and when the ball was on the 10-yard line, it held them for 4 downs.

GRADE NOTES

Jack Forsgren of this place was enrolled in the kindergarten this week.

The first grade have an orchestra consisting of two saxophones played by Ronald Rhead and Donald Thrall, four drums by Margaret Barlow, John Smith, Bobbie Wingard and Harold Thorne, two horns by Helen Pelky and Wyath Dunn, and a violin by Ione Perkins, and chimes by Milly Petz. They are also making new letter books.

The second grade folks are making spelling books. The words in these are those the boys and girls have found at home and learned to spell.

The second and third grades gave a Thanksgiving play last Wednesday. They have a gingerbread man in their room. Mildred Mault, who has been ill for the last three weeks is rapidly improving.

Miss VanTassel's sixth B is making a collection of all kinds of Colonial things. They are also making Thanksgiving story booklets.

Miss Hallahan's sixth A division are making animal maps of Africa. Miss Haselschwerdt visited the sixth grade last week.

The fifth grade are writing the Thanksgiving story putting in their own pictures. They have called the story "The History of Thanksgiving."

Today's Reflections

About the time a Plymouth man decides his family would be better off without him and that he'd as well shuffle off and leave them to fight over his insurance, along comes a fashion notice that skirts are going to be shorter than ever before.

This is the land of free speech—but just look at the quality of some of the speeches.

One of the greatest things we have to be thankful for is that it will be four years until we have to elect another president.

Plymouth women will be glad to know that style decrees that suspenders are again fashionable for men. That will solve another Christmas problem.

Bobbed hair has done one good thing. It has given women a chance to see the mysteries that go on in a barber shop.

Most of our former bartenders have gone to work, but the reformers are still hanging around waiting for jobs.

We heard a well-known Plymouth woman say yesterday that it seems to take the pickle dish among wedding presents longer to pass around the corner and out of style than anything else.

Fish diet may not strengthen the brain, but a fishing trip always helps the imagination a good deal.

We've still got a few of the old-guard around Plymouth, who can remember when the height of fashion was a white vest.

"What's Closest to Your Heart?" reads an insurance ad. We can't speak for the women, but for our part it's an undershirt.

It's a wise man who knows that when the preacher says, "Now, in conclusion," he is just getting started good.

One kind of patching that the average Plymouth girl knows about is tire patching.

Many a car owner round Plymouth wonders why it is that they run so much better before the last payment is made on them than they do after they're paid for.

New York papers say the Prince of Wales wears just what he likes. But some day he'll be married, just like the rest of us.

LAPHAM'S CORNER'S SCHOOL NOTES

The third graders have finished their Merrill Readers and are reviewing them.

Thirty adult fiction books and twenty-five juvenile books have been added to the library. The pupils are very busy reading during their spare time. Miss Luella King has been elected librarian. Any person in the district are welcome to use these books.

All of the pupils are working hard to see if they can win the spelling contest which will close around Christmas time.

Report cards were given out last Friday.

Those on the new honor roll, are: Ida St. Louis, 95 1-8; Howard Truesdell, 92 5-6; Orlyn Whittaker, 92; Benny Reed, 91 1-6; Fred Rich, 90 3-4; Jimmie Shomberger, 90 1-3; Vincent St. Louis, 90; Luella King, 89 1-2; Johnnie Reed, 89.

The final examinations for the first semester were given last week. The seventh and eighth graders did very well on the examinations sent out by the county.

The third and fourth graders are learning the poem, "Jack Frost." Europe is being studied by the seventh graders.

Those neither absent nor tardy last month, were: Rosalind Heike, Luella King, Jimmie Shomberger, Howard Truesdell.

Remember the Parent-Teacher's Association meeting the first Wednesday in December, at Salem. Come!

It would be appreciated if people would remember that the school yard is not a public highway. If you had children coming to school, you would not want them in danger of cars. Respect other children. This will be appreciated by the pupils and their teacher.

Last Saturday Joerin & Diehl of the Milford Silver Fox Ranch sold five pairs of foxes to James G. Arthur of Grass Lake. The price is said to have averaged better than $1200 per pair. Mr. Arthur will leave the foxes here for the present as he has no facilities for caring for them.—Milford Times.

The New Studebaker STANDARD SIX SEDAN $1595

One of the 15 new Studebakers, ranging in price from $1125 to $2860 (All prices f. o. b. factory)

Know what's underneath the paint before you buy

YOU wouldn't think of buying a house without first knowing how it is built and the quality of materials used. In selecting a piece of furniture you are sure to find out whether it is solid wood or veneer.

Yet many people who exercise care in most purchases buy automobiles without even lifting the hood or knowing about the hidden qualities of body and chassis construction that really determine one's satisfaction with a closed car.

We want you to know about the unseen qualities of the new Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Down underneath its superb body finish is a sturdy framework of carefully selected ash, glued together and fastened in place by screws—not nailed. Ash is scarce and expensive, but Studebaker uses it because it best combines proper weight and strength.

Upholstery is genuine mohair of high quality. Various grades of mohair look much alike—the big difference is in the quality.

Beneath this mohair covering are many nests of cushion springs, padded with heavy burlap, upholstery cotton and curled hair. Almost any car seems comfortable on the showroom floor, but it's quality such as this that makes the Studebaker Standard Six remain comfortable after years of service.

The same standards of excellence are maintained throughout the body and chassis. In the engine, for example, the crankshaft is completely machined on all surfaces, a practice that results in the smooth, quiet, vibrationless performance that characterizes all Studebaker cars.

Judged solely on what your eye can see—in beauty of line and finish and exterior refinements—the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan will command your instant approval.

But go deeper than that. Compare its hidden, vital qualities—its design, materials and workmanship—with cars selling for hundreds of dollars more.

Studebaker never compromises—never uses a substitute for genuine quality. Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for 72 years.

Come in and let us tell you the "inside story" of the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Absence Was Absence to This Timekeeper

The boss on a large construction job in western Canada was going over the accounts on pay day with the new timekeeper, who had been there only a week and was anxious to make a good impression. The pay checks were regular enough except that one showed one hour less than the rest.

"Look here," said the boss suspiciously. "I thought everybody put in full time last week."

"All except Abe Martin, the night watchman," the timekeeper answered. "He was off duty one hour Wednesday night."

"Man alive!" exclaimed the astonished boss. "That was the night Abe discovered the burglar setting fire to the commissary building after he had robbed the storekeeper's till. Why, didn't you hear about it? Everybody is calling Abe a hero, and," he whispered confidentially, "the railroad company is talking about rewarding him handsomely for what he did. If he hadn't captured the fellow, thousands of dollars' worth of supplies would have gone up in smoke."

"Yes, I know," agreed the timekeeper. "I estimated the loss and figured that it would have run into as much as this job is worth."

"And Abe chased the fellow up into the hills," the boss continued. "The fellow was desperate and took two or three shots at Abe. They struggled desperately before Abe finally overpowered him and forced him back to camp. It was an hour before he got him back, too."

"Sure," responded the timekeeper triumphantly. "I docked him for the time he was gone."—Youth's Companion.

Cheetah Described as Masterpiece of Nature

We call the cheetah the hunting leopard, but leopard he certainly is not. The leopard is heavier, more truly cat-like. The cheetah is lighter in the body and mounted on abnormally long legs. The cheetah is a catlike greyhound. No other animal so oddly combines suggestions of such totally unrelated groups as the cats and dogs. With a body about four and one-half feet in length and a tail half as long, the cheetah stands about thirty inches high at the shoulder and with his long forearms and hocks reaching almost down to the feet he is built exactly as man has tried to build the greyhound during hundreds of years.

So far as we know no records exist to tell the speed of this wonderful beast, but hunters agree that for a short distance the cheetah is beyond comparison the fleetest creature that treads the earth. It is a masterpiece of nature. To the lion, the tiger and the leopard it is what the airplane is to the ocean liner, the swift destroyer to the battleship.—London My Magazine.

Odd "Restitution"

There is on record one Edward Hunt, who played a rather dirty trick on his only son. It seems that the old gentleman had one time wronged another man—had beaten him out of a large sum of money and otherwise worsted him. The fellow had died, but Hunt's conscience still troubled him. When it came to dying he decided he would make some kind of restitution, so he ordained that his twenty-one-year-old son, in order to fall heir to his fortune, must hunt out and marry the daughter of the other man—that is, if the daughter existed, and if not a daughter, then a niece.

The young man did as he was bidden in his father's will and found the daughter, but she was fifty-five years old. He was a good sport, however, and, with the woman willing, carried out his father's wishes.

Old-Time Oratory

When in the house of commons Sheridan made his famous speech on the spoliation of the Begums of Oude, he was offered, within 24 hours, £1,000 for the copyright. Burke's subsequent plea for the impeachment of Warren Hastings had even more dramatic effect, as we may read in the pages of Macaulay. "Handkerchiefs were pulled out, smelling bottles were handed round, hysterical sobs and screams were heard, and Mrs. Sheridan was carried out in a fit."

That was in 1788. Orators and their art—and some other things—have changed since then.—New York Herald-Tribune.

Remembered by His Deeds

The little fishing town of Loosmouth on the northeastern coast of Scotland has for its patron saint, St. Geradine. This little known saint, according to legendary history, is said to have sojourned on that coast in 924. His home was a cave, and it was his custom to perambulate the sands on stormy nights holding up a lantern to warn mariners away from the Skerries. Geradine's effigy, with the insignia of the legend, is engraved on the burgh seal, together with a ship and the legend, "Per Noctem Lux." "Light by Night."

Cutting the "Gordian Knot"

This expression has its origin in the tale of Gordius, a Phrygian peasant, owner of a yoke of oxen, who became king. He dedicated his car and oxen to Zeus, and the knot of the yoke was tied so skillfully that an oracle declared that whosoever should unloose it would be ruler of Asia. When Alexander the Great came to Gordium as cut the knot in two with his sword and applied the prophecy to himself.

Could Fiction Writers Find Anything Funnier?

The story of the British civil servant who, after ten years' absence from his office, returned to it to find that he had risen in salary and seniority while away, and was now a principal clerk, has its parallel in real life. A certain young man became a member of the French civil service in 1922, and from that time a hat, a coat, and a pair of gloves at his desk bore mute testimony to his existence. This evidence was confirmed by his regularity in collecting his salary. But, otherwise, he was never seen or heard of at his office.

He was transferred to another office, and his hat, coat and gloves changed their quarters. But otherwise there was no change. Eventually it was discovered that he was a professional dancer, and was too busy to attend the office.

The authorities were shocked, and resolved that the young man must be punished. But the only two possible punishments were dismissal and reduction in grade. The first seemed too severe; as for the second, the young man was already in the lowest grade. Finally, the Gordian knot was cut—the young man was promoted, and then immediately reduced to his former status.

Famous Roman Baths Have Been Overrated

We go to the movies and see scenes arranged to impress us with the luxury of the old Roman baths in use 2,000 years ago; and very few of us realize how superior the up-to-date bathroom is to those costly ancient edifices. So says a well-known maker of up-to-date bathrooms.

The Roman baths, he continues, were built, as a rule, by the emperors, their cost being too great for a private individual. Crude and clumsy was the method by which the water was heated and carried from one pool to another. Although it was changed continually, every one bathed in the same water, and soap was unknown. The baths were open only at certain hours of the day, an admission price was charged and their use was limited to nobles and freemen of the city.

In Greece marble slabs were hollowed out and filled with water, which was splashed or poured from urns over the head or body of the bather. Down through the Middle Ages plumbing fixtures, as we understand the term, were unknown.

Live in Fear of "Devils"

In practically all parts of New Guinea the natives believe that the "tamarangs" or evil spirits come out as soon as it is dark and are constantly on the watch for stray negroes, says the Detroit News. Fortunately, however, the devils are quite unable to pass fire at night, so a village is protected by a ring of small fires about it. Sometimes the fires are placed in a circle around the settlement and sometimes just four are made, one at each corner of the place. Inside this protective belt the negro has no fear whatever of the "tamarangs," but in the case of the bush natives especially all the tinned meat and jew's-harps in New Guinea would not tempt him outside it before dawn in districts known to be afflicted with devils.

His Excuse

Mother's face wore an exasperated look as she rapped her little son smartly on the knuckles.

Johnny would persist in putting the food into his mouth with his knife instead of his fork, and time and again mother had told him about it. "Sonny," she said angrily, "how many times have I told you that you must not eat with your knife. Use your fork."

"Yes; but mamma," objected the little boy, "I must use my knife, 'cos my fork leaks."

Left-Handed Compliment

Stories about clowns are in vogue. One concerning Bill Buck a famous clown of half a lifetime ago, would have delighted that artist of the four past countenance.

Two old ladies, standing in a queue for the pit of a theater, fell to discussing the merits of the various clowns they had seen.

Said one, summing up her impressions: "But I think I like Mr. Buck best of them all—such a nice clown! There's nothing vulgar about him—he never makes you laugh."

Belief Seems Justified

A Greenville (Me.) newspaper says that it is a very old Indian tradition that all the bull moose of eastern and northern Maine make journeys to the west shores of Moosehead lake at the close of the year for the purpose of casting their antlers. "Though the story has passed for fiction among the residents, there are not a few old hunters and woodmen who believe it, and relate tales about the abundance of moose antlers among the maple woods 25 miles north of this village."

Tempered Criticism

He was only twelve, but he contrived to throw the apple of discord into the boarding-house to which he had been sent for convalescence after influenza.

It came about because they all read the postcard he had left on the hall table.

He had written: "There are three extraordinary old geezers stopping here, but one of them is rather a decent old geezer as geezers go."

Just That Quickly, They Help—Do you not feel good? Very likely your liver is at fault. Won't you try Chamberlain's Tablets? Just one or two at bed time, sleep well all night, feel better in the morning. Never any unpleasant "next day" effect. Try them, only 25c.—Advertisement.

OH BOY!

Wasn't that a good dinner yesterday? We've certainly a lot to be thankful for. I mean those who own their own houses.

Here's two that I listed last week, two story, nicely painted, with bath room, furnace and electric lights for $4500.00. If you don't care for two story, I have a one story for $1000.00 down and $35.00 a month. Both of these owners are going away and for that reason I am going to sell quickly and for less money than they are worth.

LOCAL NEWS

Northville will have a community Christmas tree again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wiedman spent Thanksgiving at Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

Frank Whaley of Saginaw, visited his uncle, George Whaley, Tuesday.

Frank Dolph, a well known resident of Northville, died last week Wednesday.

Clifford McIntyre of Detroit, spent Sunday at the Jolliffe home on Mill street.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Berridge of Orion, spent over Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Reddeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Allgeyer of Ludlow, Kentucky, are being entertained this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peck.

Mrs. Harry Newkirk and two daughters, Mildred and Erva, of St. Thomas, Ontario, spent the week-end with Pearl and Winifred Jolliffe.

Mrs. Bessie Smith fell and sprained her ankle last week, and is home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holloway, for a few days.

The Mail goes to press one day earlier this week on account of Thanksgiving, therefore some items necessarily must go over until next week.

The Ready Service Class of the Presbyterian church, will hold its regular meeting Tuesday, December 2nd, at the home of Mrs. W. L. Freyman. Pot-luck dinner at noon.

Miss Marion Smith spent the latter part of last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holloway, and attended the Freydl-Nelson wedding.

Last Wednesday evening a surprise party was given Mrs. Clifford Reddeman. Eighteen relatives and friends were present, and all enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Leopold Hudson, a former resident of this place, died Monday at Clarenceville, aged about 71 years. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, with interment at Farmington.

Andrew Rogers of Ann Arbor, father of Mrs. W. H. Hoyt of this place, died last Monday, aged about eighty years. The funeral took place Wednesday, and was conducted by Rev. S. Conger Hathaway of this place.

Fred Long of this place, and Mrs. Jennie Leonard of Detroit, were married at the Methodist parsonage Tuesday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. D. D. Nagle officiating. They will make their home at the groom's residence on South Mill street.

Moving pictures and a lecture on Industrial America and Muscles Shoals, "The New Electric City," Serial No. 1, will be given at the Plymouth High school, Tuesday, December 2, at 8:00 p. m. Admission, free.

About twenty-four young couples attended the surprise birthday party on Walter A. Berg, Saturday, November 22nd, given by his sister, Lily. They danced, played games and had a nice self-serve lunch. All enjoyed the evening immensely.

The Village Board of Health, acting upon the advice of the State Board of Health, have ordered that all school children, who have not been successfully vaccinated within seven years, must either be vaccinated or remain under quarantine for a period of sixteen days.

Mrs. F. A. Campbell pleasantly entertained a company of ladies at her home on Union street, last Tuesday. Luncheon was served at one o'clock, covers being laid for eight, after which bridge was the entertainment of the afternoon. Guests were present from Detroit, Birmingham and Plymouth.

Mrs. William Braidel entertained the following guests at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Ila Roe, at her home on Union street, last Saturday evening: Misses Florence Stevens, Ruth Shattuck, Margaret Streng, Sarah Wilson, Ernestine Roe, Doris Proctor, Lula Barnes, Mrs. Homer Hubbard, Mrs. William Downing, Mrs. C. Whipple, Mrs. Marcus Litzbenburger and Mrs. Clyde Smith. Miss Madeline Cooper assisted in serving the lunch. Miss Roe received many beautiful and useful gifts.

REDMEN WILL INITIATE CANDIDATES, DECEMBER 3.

Ottawa Tribe No. 7, Improved Order of Redmen, will put on work in full form on Wednesday, December 3rd, at 8:00 p. m., in Penniman hall. The work will be put on by a Detroit team on a class of candidates, in honor of H. O. Stoner of Battle Creek, Great Chief of Records of Michigan.

Other officials from Detroit and Lansing will be with us. Among them, will be a good speaker. All members and candidates are requested to be present. This is going to be the biggest and best time ever held in Plymouth. Our entertainment committee has something up their sleeves, to surprise us. Leave it to brother Titus Ruff to prepare a hot lunch. Now brothers, let's get together and make this night a big success.

Watch the Ottawa Lodge grow.

Daisy popped the Business Men for two out of three, the Business Men being handicapped by lady spectators, and naturally wanting to play to the grand stand.

The Baby Lincolns, taking the Buick's place, sure rattled over the good roads for two.

Lee Foundry poured the hot iron to Crotonville for three, but never mind Croton, they can't do it again. You gained nearly 350 pins over last week, the largest game of any team.

BUTTERICK PATTERNS

are the three characteristics of a slab of stone like this shown in the illustration; simplicity of nature, sincerity of convictions, solidity of principles and character. Although such a monument may seem crude and unfinished, it is really a touching tribute of esteem. We make and erect all kinds, plain or elaborate.
