CHAMBER OF COMMERCE THIRD ANNUAL BANQUET

The Annual Banquet and Election of Officers of the Chamber of Commerce Will Occur on Wednesday Evening, December 10th.

Banquet Will be Served by the Ladies of the Rebekah Lodge in Odd Fellows Hall at 7:00 O'clock; Every Member is Expected to be Present.

The annual banquet and election of officers of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce will take place at the Odd Fellows hall on Wednesday evening, December 10th, instead of Tuesday evening, December 9th, as stated in last week's paper, owing to a misunderstanding in regard to the dates by the committee.

The ladies of the Rebekah Lodge will serve the banquet, and their well known ability for serving excellent feeds is a guarantee that the eats are going to be all that could be wished for in this respect.

The annual election of officers for the ensuing year will take place at this time, and the program of the Chamber of Commerce for next year will be formulated and talked over.

The committee in charge of the entertainment program for the evening are arranging for something good in this line. Tickets are now on sale among the members.

The Chamber of Commerce is accomplishing more and more with each succeeding year, and with the bright prospects for the growth of the village during the coming year, it is an organization that Plymouth must have if we are going to be ready to meet the many problems that we are going to be confronted with, as the Chamber of Commerce is an organization that helps to bring about the desired results better than any other agency.

Every citizen of Plymouth should be at the Chamber of Commerce banquet, next Wednesday evening. It is your presence and interest on occasions like this that fosters a community spirit of progress, that puts across big things that will help to build up a better and larger Plymouth, when the occasion arises.

Get your tickets now, and attend the banquet at I. O. O. F. hall, Wednesday evening, December 10th at 7:00 o'clock.

THE JUNIOR CLASS PLAY TONIGHT, FRIDAY

Laugh and the world laughs with you; snore and you sleep alone, but you need only come and listen at the Junior play, Friday, December 5th, and there will be no room for any private wood-cutting bees.

It's the truth and "nothing but the truth" that Jane-Ellen, an Irish brook with a liquid brogue; Crane, a broad-minded individual with a winning way all his own, especially with cooks; Smithfield, an aristocratic blue-blooded butting butler with a h'English accent; Brindy, an all round boy with a half way attitude; Araminta, a hot-headed, pouty, little lady; Tucker, an old antique romanticist; Mandy, a coal black rose, but white underneath; Weeks, an intelligent man in a precarious position; Lefferts, all right in his place if he hadn't been hauled out of it, and Cora, indifferent and docile but obedient to Mrs. Falkner, her mother, an old war horse of 50, are all one complete round of laughs, when they "Come Out of the Kitchen."

Chief of Police Springer informs the Mail that the police are receiving many complaints of late, regarding the large number of dogs that are again running at large in the village. Another campaign of exterminating stray canines is to be inaugurated by the police, so it behooves dog owners to see that their dogs are properly taken care of. Sixty-two dogs were shot during the past year by the local police.

"THE ROAD TO THE CITY"

A most amusing and interesting play in four acts will be given under the auspices of the Epworth League at the Newburg L. A. S. hall, Friday and Saturday evenings, December 5th and 6th, at 8:00 o'clock.

CAST OF CHARACTERS Robert Darnell, a country physician—Howard Smith. Richard James, a man from the city—Clare Lord. Jud Judkins, a young farmer—Lloyd Taylor. MISS MYERS AND F. L. GALLUP WED.

At a very simple wedding at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jennie Myers, Denton, Miss Harriet Myers and Frederick L. Gallup were united in marriage Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock, by Rev. Harvey C. Colburn.

The bridal couple were unattended, and except for the immediate families, there were no guests except the friends with whom both Mr. and Mrs. Gallup are associated at the People's National Bank. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Gallup left for a short wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends at Prospect View, their home on Prospect St., after January 1.

Mr. Gallup is well known in Ypsilanti having always been identified with banking interests. He received his early training in the First National Bank, was for a time connected with the Savings Bank and more recently has been cashier and a member of the Board of Directors of the People's National Bank. Mrs. Gallup was for a time with the Savings Bank, and when the People's Bank was organized became connected with that institution. She will continue her work at the bank for a time at least following her marriage.—Daily Ypsilantian Press, Friday, Nov. 28.

BANK OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS TO PLYMOUTH PUPILS

The second annual essay contest to be held under the $5,000 Scholarship Foundation of the Union Trust Co. was announced Saturday by Frank W. Blair, president of the company. The subject will be "Home Ownership," and the contest is open to senior pupils of the public and parochial high schools of Detroit, and Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The conditions will be almost identical with those of 1923-24, which awarded $1,000 in cash each to five senior high school students who are now attending standard colleges. Bronze medals and engraved certificates of merit were also awarded to 16 others.

The judges will be Edwin Denby; the Very Rev. Warren L. Rogers, dean of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral, and Clarence A. Lightner, of the firm of Lightner, Oxtoby, Hanley & Crawford.

All essays are to be completed by March 12 and turned over to the faculties of the respective schools who will conduct eliminations until 21 essays are ready to be submitted to the Union Trust Company on April 9. These will go to the judges with the names of the contestants and their schools deleted. The awards will be announced the last week in May or the first week in June.

"We think interested observers will be impressed with the theme 'Home Ownership,'" said Mr. Blair. "It is a subject of vital interest to each community and represents, we believe, the very heart of social welfare and individual thrift. While not essentially a banking subject, it is truly economic as well as social."

"KLEVER KIDDIES" GIVE SPLENDID PROGRAM

Large crowds at every performance last week Wednesday and Thursday evenings, saw Cliff Nichols' twelve Klever Kiddies at the Penniman Allen theatre, and everybody was delighted with their splendid songs and dance numbers. Each one of the little folks is a real artist, and the manner in which they do their acts would do credit to much older and experienced entertainers.

The costumes, electrical effects and the stage settings lent a most pleasing effect to the program. The management has made arrangements whereby the Kiddies will appear at the local theatre every Wednesday and Thursday evenings for an indefinite time. There will be a change of program for each week. The Kiddies will present a one-act playlet entitled, "A Day on Ellis Island," on Wednesday and Thursday, December 10 and 11.

R. W. Shingleton will open a dry goods store in connection with his gent's furnishings store and dry cleaning business, about January 1st, in the store adjoining his present store, now occupied by the Drake Sisters, who are closing out their stock of dry goods and groceries. Mr. Shingleton, who owns the building, which is known as the Starkweather block, will remodel the interior of the store and re-decorate the same. It will give him a forty-four foot frontage on Liberty street, and one hundred feet on Starkweather avenue. He will cut an archway connecting his present store with the new store. He will carry a complete and up-to-date stock of dry goods and ladies' furnishings.

PLYMOUTH, A VILLAGE OF BEAUTIFUL HOMES

RESIDENCE OF W. H. HOYT.

ATTEND OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

PLYMOUTH WELL REPRESENTED AT THE BIG CONFERENCE HELD AT MUSKEGON.

The Hi-Y organization stands for the same things in the high school, that the Y. M. C. A. stands for in college and in city life. Its aim is the all around development of the high school boy on his moral, mental and physical sides. The Hi-Y is non-denominational, yet essentially religious in what it stands for. It demands clean sports, high scholarship and a christian life.

The Older Boys' conference which has just closed at Muskegon, demonstrated conclusively that the time is past when, in order to be a successful athlete, a boy must be a tough. Here, there were fifteen hundred boys representing most of the schools of the state, all of them clean thinking, right living, hard hitting fellows, who stand high in the scholarship and athletic records of their schools.

Among the speakers, were: Dr. W. A. Gansfield, who will be remembered as the former president of Center College, famous for its great football teams; Dr. Whitehouse of Albion, who spoke at each session on the personality of Jesus, and who could say more in fifteen minutes than most speakers could in an hour. Dr. Winfield Scott Hall of Northwestern University, talked to the boys on their physical development. There were many equally good leaders there.

Throughout the entire meeting the music was most inspiring. There was a quartet from Chicago Y. M. C. A. college, with an especially talented song leader. If you have never heard fifteen hundred boys sing, you have something to anticipate.

One of the most helpful features of the entire conference was the group discussion meetings. These were held in the churches of the city. They were in charge of Y. M. C. A. fellows, for the most part from the U. of M. The subjects discussed were scholarship athletics, and the attitude of the high school boy regarding girls. These questions were discussed freely and frankly, and it is encouraging to know that so many boys are thinking right along these lines.

The people of Plymouth are to be thanked and congratulated that through the agency of the churches and Rotary Club it was possible to send fifteen boys and three adult leaders from this place. It is hardly possible for a representative group to attend such a meeting, and not bring back enthusiasm and inspiration which will effect the lives of the boys and that of the whole community.

NEW STOP SIGNS

Through the courtesy of the Detroit Automobile Club, standard stop signs have been placed at the corners of streets intersecting Main street, Starkweather avenue and Ann Arbor street, which were recently designated by the Commission as "through streets." Admiral Nelson's famous motto was, "England expects every man to do his duty." So, "Plymouth expects every driver of any vehicle to do his duty," and co-operate in making this plan for safe driving a success. This law will be enforced, but a reasonable time will be allowed so that every one may become accustomed to the new ways. Three new school zone signs are among those put up.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Trinkaus entertained thirty-eight relatives at a Thanksgiving dinner. Guests were present from Detroit, Pontiac, Grass Lake, Northville and Plymouth.

"SHOP EARLY" and "MAIL EARLY"

Last year, through the generous co-operation of the press, the movies and other advertising mediums, Christmas mailers were induced to dispatch their Yuletide presents earlier in the month than ever before in the history of the institution of gift exchanging in the holiday season.

As a result, the spectacle of the last minute rush of former years, with its attendant heartbreaking labor on the part of wearied and nerve torn store clerks and postal employees, was avoided.

This year Postmaster General New and First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett have determined to make an even better year by those engaged in the sale or transportation of gifts. They hope to make "Shop Early" and "Mail Early" a habit with the American people.

Mailing early does not mean December 1 or before, but if everyone could get their holiday tokens in the Mail between December 10 and December 20, the postoffice could not ask more.

Particular attention this year will be paid to greeting cards. Despite the success last year it was noted that the last-minute mail consisted largely of cards. Possibly many of them were returned greetings to friends, heard from on a previous mail, but overlooked on the original Christmas list. Unlike parcels and letters containing money orders, cards, of course, cannot well be marked, "Do Not Open Until Christmas." Therefore, it is possible that the many mailers hold them until the last to insure delivery on Christmas eve. This class of mailers this year, however, may find their cards undelivered until after Christmas Day.

Believing that the energies of postal employees should not be sapped to the last degree for any avoidable reason, and intent upon securing for them the same Christmas privileges enjoyed by others, Postmaster General New asks the hearty co-operation of the public. The last-minute, or zero hour, has been moved up so that all postal employees may eat their Christmas dinners at home. Rural carriers will deliver no mail at all on Christmas day, and clerks and carriers in the city offices will stop work promptly at noon.

RECEIVE CHRISTMAS CLUB CHECKS

PLYMOUTH UNITED SAVINGS BANK PAY OUT LARGE SUMS TO CHRISTMAS CLUB MEMBERS.

The Plymouth United Savings Bank have mailed out checks for Christmas savings club money to the Christmas Club members, to the amount of $14,682.51. This is the third year that the bank has maintained the Christmas Club department, and each year sees a steady gain in the aggregate sum paid out, and also a corresponding growth in the membership of the club.

It is only a few years ago when the Christmas Club was considered more or less as a children's affair, but it has steadily grown in popular favor, and now it is considered as one of the most important departments of the bank's activities. Last year "Wall Street," the financial barometer of the country came out with the information that after careful analysis, they had found that there was about $300,000,000 in Christmas Clubs throughout the country. Many people who have never saved money before have taken advantage of the opportunities offered by the Christmas Club to open a bank account and deposit each week the amounts which they could spare from their earnings.

While some of the money will go toward the purchase of Christmas gifts for their relatives and friends, it also comes mighty handy at this time of the year to meet the payment of taxes, insurance, or in fact anything where ready money is needed.

With the passing of each year the Christmas Club is bound to grow in popularity, and its membership will be greatly increased.

WILL SELL PAPERS AGAIN

The Old Newsboys of Detroit, will make their annual sale of papers, on Thursday, December 18th, in order to insure that every poor boy in Detroit will have a Merry Christmas. This year the goal is set for $30,000 in collections. Last year some 22,516 youngsters were made glad with clothing, toys and candy. Our fellow townsman, Harry C. Robinson, is a member of the Old Newsboys' Association, and as usual will sell papers again upon the streets of Detroit, with the same old-time pep and hustle as he did when he was a newsboy in the neighboring city. A number of Plymouth people contributed to this worthy cause last year, and Mr. Robinson would be pleased to accept contributions for the fund again this year from any who desire to give.

ANN ARBOR STREET TREE TRIMMING.

Wayne county is doing some more good work in the village. Since Ann Arbor has been made a county road, the county authorities have done and are doing at least all that could be expected in the way of maintenance. The tree men are now at work going over the trees on this street, examining them and trimming them. There are many beautiful big trees along Ann Arbor street, and it will be a fine thing to have them under expert care. It is hoped that no obstacle will be placed in the way of these men to hinder them or to make them feel that their work is unappreciated.

AUTO TAG SALE DELAYED

The State Administrative Board has ordered the department of state to defer the sale of 1925 automobile plates until February 1, pending the possible enactment of the Finance Highway Law by the legislature. It is presumed that a weight tax or a combination weight and gasoline tax will be passed and given immediate effect in the first thirty days of the next session of the legislature, which convenes on January 7th.

MISS LOUISE CASSADY PASSES AWAY.

Miss Louise Cassady, Northville road, passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Liebing, of Dearborn, Wednesday, November 26. Miss Cassady was a sister of the late William A. Cassady. The funeral was held at Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Friday at 4:00 o'clock. Rev. B. F. Farber of Pittsburg, Pa., officiating. Interment took place, Saturday at Forest Lawn cemetery, Saginaw.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING

A very pretty wedding was celebrated last week Wednesday night, at the Presbyterian church, when Miss Ellen Gardiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardiner of Plymouth, was united in marriage to Milton Laible of Plymouth. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, who used the Presbyterian ring service.

Mrs. Earl Stevens of Detroit, sang "Holy Spirit, Breath of Love," by Galbraith, with Miss Olive Merr as accompanist. Miss Merr then played the Wedding March from Lohengrin, and the bridal party assembled before the altar, which was banked with green, centered with a cross, and flanked with white candles and living palms. The bride wore a veil trimmed with rhinestones, and was gowned in plumed crepe de maine over white satin trimmed with rhinestones and pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of white baby mums and Ophelia roses. Her slippers were of silver white. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Charles Humphries, matron of honor, was gowned in green headed georgette over green satin, wore silver kid slippers, and carried a corsage bouquet of baby mums. The bridesmaids were Miss Marjorie Martin of Detroit, who wore pale blue georgette trimmed with lace, and Miss Donna Shinnick of Rochester, who wore yellow georgette crepe over yellow satin.

Coraline Rathbun and Lillian Blake were dainty flower girls, carrying baskets of rose petals which they strewed in the pathway of the bride.

Ray Smith of Plymouth, acted as best man. The ushers were Graham Shinnick and Lee Graham of Rochester, Rollin Allenbaugh and Edward Elbert of Plymouth.

The bride's mother wore brown Rochambeau crepe and panne velvet. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in black panne velvet.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the parlors of the church, during which Miss Marjorie Pollock and Mrs. Earl Stevens sang solos, "Because," and "When Song Is Sweet," by San Souci. Dainty refreshments were served to about two hundred guests.

Those present from out of town, were: Mrs. Ellen Graham, the bride's grandmother, and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Shinnick and family of Rochester; Carlisle Martin of Ridgeway Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. David Martin and family, Thomas Kerr, Miss Tena Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bailey, Wilbert Dodge, Miss Katherine Greaser, Arthur Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Beebe, Miss Helen Gayde, Mrs. Earl Stevens and Miss Marjorie Pollock of Detroit, and Sarah Mae Carpenter of Belleville.

The bride and groom are very popular among the young people of Plymouth, and both are graduates of the Plymouth High school, and received many handsome and useful gifts—enough to completely furnish the new residence on Fairground avenue, where they will be at home to their friends.

STAGGERING FIGURES

The arrival of bad weather, and in many sections terrible road conditions, does not mean that the automobile is to be locked in the garage for the next few months. There will be hundreds of them in use around Plymouth just the same as if we were still in the midst of "the good old summer time." But driving dangers will be greater and chance of accident more frequent; the demand for judgment and care comes with the winter months. Uncle Sam will send out his report for the year very shortly, and it will show more than 20,000 killed and over 675,000 injured in auto accidents in 1924. It will show that auto accidents of all kinds entailed a total loss of $600,000,000 in the United States this year. Think those figures over before you again get in your car, and consider the fact that fully 80 percent of that vast money loss could have been prevented. Think them over—they ought to be strong enough to make you even more careful than you have ever been in the past.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

When you want your neighbor and his wife to come over to your house for dinner what do you do about it? Do you get the dinner ready and spread all the good things on the table and then sit down and wait for them to come? Certainly not. You first send them an invitation to come and partake of the good things you have prepared for them. Even in business, people want to be invited, or to know that you want them, before they visit your store. People are people in one place the same as in another in this respect—they like to trade with those who invite them. They want to be sure of a welcome in advance. They want to know beforehand that the business man has planned for them, and that he has something for them that is worth their time, their attention and their money. Your advertisement in your home-town newspaper is the invitation the men and women of this section are waiting for, and if you want to be sure they will come to see you, then be sure that you invite them.

JUST A SUGGESTION

Bobbed hair may be supplanting curls and long tresses; short skirts may be replacing those which sweep the floor; jazz may be shoving aside the good old tunes of childhood, but thank goodness there is one custom that is coming back stronger than ever and that everyone around Plymouth can get some amusement out of if they want to—and that is the old fashioned spelling bee. We note reports from various parts of the country that more of them are being conducted in small towns and rural communities this season than ever before.

Nowadays with a radio set that can easily be transported to the school house or public hall, and which will furnish music for the evening, the problem of getting up a program that will delight the entire neighborhood has been solved. The tests in spelling, and even in figuring, will be enlivened by radio music that both old and young can enjoy. The fact that local talent may be scarce need no longer stand in the way of a splendid evening's entertainment, now that the radio makes possible musical programs that cost the broadcasters big money but which can be received and enjoyed right at home without a cent of expense.

All of us know the value to any community of these little get-together affairs during the winter months, and we also know that the only thing needed to make them a reality is for someone to step forward and take charge of arrangements. Once the ice is broken they become regular events to which everyone in the neighborhood will look forward with interest. Is there any need in letting other communities monopolize the fun, or in letting them have all the good things that we can be having right here?

Contractor John H. Patterson has a force of men working on the walls for the new factory building, which the company are erecting here. It will be a modern building in every way when completed.

THANKSGIVING PARTY A SUCCESS

The Thanksgiving party given by the ladies of Our Lady of Good Counsel church, and held at Gleaners' hall, Newburg, Thanksgiving eve, was a great success. The committee wish to thank all who attended for the kind patronage. The music by the Patterson orchestra was much appreciated.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The choir is practicing two nights a week until Christmas. More vestments have been ordered for the new members.

The men's class is increasing so rapidly that it is necessary to get together and know each other. So an oyster supper next Monday night served by the Ready Service class, will furnish just the occasion. Members of both classes may consider this notice their personal and urgent invitation to be present.

The Ready Service class held its annual meeting last Tuesday afternoon, at the home of its president, Mrs. W. L. Freyman. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon. After dinner the business session was held, and was sadly interrupted by the fire which destroyed the home of the hostess's brother, located a few blocks away on the same street.

Let us all take the invitation in the advertising space of today's issue seriously and prayerfully. Even if you are a member you may consecrate yourself to greater faithfulness and service. "God so loved that He gave;" let us so love as to give ourselves to Him.

Merrill Draper attended the Older Boys' Conference at Muskegon, last week. The boys report a profitable and enjoyable time.

Visit the sick as much as you can, but at any rate let your money visit them through the purchase of Christmas Tuberculosis Seals. Eighty-four were locally treated as a result of the sale last year. Jesus said, "I was sick and ye visited me—inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these."

"AS A MAN THINKETH-- SO IS HE!"

What a man is on the inside of himself tends to make him what he is on the outside. His attitude towards his home folks, his friends and neighbors, his business associates, his community and nation, is affected and largely determined by his thinking.

HOW'RE YOUR THOUGHTS?

The happy fellowship and inspiration of the hour of christian worship at church will lift a man to high and lofty planes of thinking and living. Try it.

The Phonograph that amazed Plymouth can be bought!

There is a rumor abroad that the instrument which triumphed in the drastic comparison test, made Tuesday, November 25th, at High school auditorium, was a special exhibition model. The instrument was a regular Official Laboratory Model—out of our own stock.

Every Edison Phonograph in our stock is guaranteed to sustain the same test.

If you were one of those, in Tuesday evening's audience, who wistfully exclaimed: "Wouldn't it be wonderful if I could buy a phonograph like that"—know that you can. Know that it will perform this miracle every day for you in your own home.

The NEW EDISON PHONOGRAPH

Come in and hear for yourself the marvelous realism of the New Edison. Find out about our Budget Plan, which enables you to own a New Edison for a small down payment, the balance on a gentleman's agreement to suit your convenience.

Note:—The test at High school auditorium was made by Collins and Harlan, America's favorite entertainers. They compared their singing with its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. There was no difference between the living performance and the RE-CREATED performance.

The New Edison stands absolutely alone in this achievement; no other phonograph has ever sustained this test of comparison.

Mrs. Sayles' Sunday-school class met at the home of their teacher, last Tuesday evening, and sat down to a pot-luck supper, after which they made scrap books to be sent to the Baptist Children's Home, located at Woodward avenue and Thirteen Mile road.

A special missionary offering is to be given during the month of December, and it is hoped that every member of the congregation, also Sunday-school class will take envelopes and collect all they can for the offering. The anthem on Sunday morning was enjoyed by all. We hope for more of the same kind as the weeks go by.

The Ministers' Conference for the Wayne Association is to be held at Wixom Baptist church, the afternoon and evening of December 12th. The topic is, "Revivals—How to Promote the Same."

Don't Choose a Do-Dad for Dad!

Father may have a mustache—but he doesn't need a mustache cup.

He may smoke—but think twice about the kind of cigars you buy for him.

Dad is a year older this Christmas—he has put in another 365 days of looking out for the family, and now here is a special opportunity for the family to look out for Dad.

A Michaels-Stern suit or a Michaels-Stern Overcoat would be the gift supreme—and it could be purchased just as though he were standing before this mirror without his knowing a thing about it.

THE THEATRE

"DANGEROUS MONEY"
Her millions brought fine clothes, travel, adventure, excitement, but they played a sorry trick on love.
Thus Bebe Daniels finds herself as Adele Clark in her new Paramount picture, "Dangerous Money," coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, December 6th, with everything money can buy, everything, that is, except love, for Tim Sullivan is only a hard working contracting engineer and—well, remember how you used to say to yourself, "Gee, but I wish someone would only leave me a million dollars, then I'd be the happiest person going!" But you wouldn't. Anyway, Bebe Daniels wasn't and a trip down to the Penniman Allen will show you why—when the old bankroll comes in the front door love goes out the back.
"Dangerous Money" is Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring production. Tom Moore, as Tim Sullivan, has the leading man's role opposite the star. William Powell is the scheming Prince Arnolfo da Pescia who weds the beautiful Bebe through trickery. Mary Foy is Bebe's aunt, keeper of a boarding house where Adele (Bebe), before she falls into the million that is, toils daily in the kitchen. Dolores Cassinelli, Charles Slattery, Peter Lang and Edward O'Conner complete the cast.
Frank Tuttle directed the picture which was adapted to the screen by Julie Herne from the story by John Russell, which is based on Robert Herrick's novel, "Clark's Field."
See what you think of Bebe in a story all her own!

"THE SILENT WATCHER"
Mary Roberts Rinehart's Saturday Evening Post story, "The Altar on the Hill," is the foundation of Frank Lloyd's production of "The Silent Watcher," a First National picture, with Glenn Hunter and Bessie Love, coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, December 7 and 8.
The story deals with the efforts of Joe Roberts, a young secretary to John Steele, lawyer and politician, to protect his employer from scandal,
to assume the burden of responsibility for a murder he knew nothing of, and to hold the faith of his wife.
Those who have viewed the photoplay are of the opinion that it is one of the most brilliant displays of dramatic achievement in some time, and that Hunter and Miss Love demonstrate extraordinary ability in the interpretation of the principal characters.
Hobart Bosworth, as Senator John
Steele, and Alma Bennett, as Lily
Elliott, a musical comedy soubrette, head the supporting cast, which includes such other well known players as Gertrude Astor, DeWitt Jennings, Lionel Belmore, George Nicholls, Aggie Herring and Brandon Hurst.

"MY MAN"
There is something about "My Man," the offering which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, December 10 and 11, which seems to appeal to everyone. Perhaps it is due to the life-like manner and consistency in which it is presented. Or perhaps it is the story which is an adaptation of George Randolph Chester's popular novel, "A Tale of Red Roses."
The screen presentation has all the earmarks of one of Chester's successful tales of American life with its satire, plots and counterplots, get-rich-quick schemes and novel situations.

Speaking of situations one cannot help calling attention to those sequences in which large quantities of roses are used and to these beautiful sequences presenting a gorgeous display of fireworks in natural colors.
All that was needed to make the illusion complete was the almost deafening explosion of the bursting rockets, the sizzle and sputtering of the set pieces; although at times the imagination was deluded by eyes, and it almost seemed as though one could hear these noises.
Then there is the trick dog that has one sequence which stands out in bold relief against all animal sequences, the scene in which he puts his paw to his head in despair.
These novelties are but incidents in an altogether pleasing picture, a film that has a purpose, a story to offer and offers it without wading through endless sequences to get atmosphere. There is atmosphere a plenty in the action and the honest criticism is that we could see more of each scene and enjoy it. Movement seems to be the motto of the Vitagraph, and one is convinced that pictures do move after seeing "My Man."
Patsy Ruth Miller is delighted as the daughter of the traction president, and Dustin Farnum is convincing in the modern cave man stuff.
He would make any girl long to be carried away by a political boss of his calibre, and we suspect that more than one girl in the audience will become jealous of Patsy.

FARM COURSES AT M. A. C. BE-GIN JANUARY 5.
Six different "short courses," ranging all the way from a course in general agriculture to special schools in definite branches of farming, will open at the M. A. C. on January 5.
The short courses are open to any citizen of the state over 16 years of age, no scholastic requirements for admission being held. They are said to be designed for those who cannot take the four-year agricultural course at the college, but who want to gain scientific training in the agricultural field.
Two dairy courses, a ten weeks' course in dairy production, and an eight weeks' course in dairy manufactures; an eight weeks' course in general agriculture; an eight weeks' horticultural course, a four weeks'
poultry course and an eight weeks' agricultural engineering course are those which start on January 5.

"Merry Christmas"
Of Christmas past let us remember none
Only the smiles, forgetting all the tears,
Only the hopes, forgetting all the fears;
Life's way is all too long, that we should know
Beneath the dreared burdens of that year.
Of Christmas in the future let us speak
Only with courage, looking for the best,
Only with hope, leaving to faith the rest!
Life's day is all too short that we should seek
To dim its brightness at our own behest.
And in the present Christmas, let us give
All help, from care the suffering in release,
All need, to share our happiness and peace!
For life is long enough for love to live,
And short enough for bitterness to cease.

WOMEN MOST CRUEL TO FELLOW WOMEN?

Feminine Writer's Arrangement of Gentler Sex.

That women are unjust to women is an ancient cry. But there has never been any different answer to the question. "Why?" Women are unjust to women because they don't trust them, and because they fear them, and they have always had ample reason for that mistrust and fear, is a statement made by Jane Doe, in the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Even the injustices to which women in the workaday world are subject from colleagues of their own sex, the cattiness of forewomen and managers, the refined bullying of certain hospital matrons and hotel housekeepers, the slave-driving mistresses who want the arts of the chef, the manners of a duchess, the gumption of a field marshal, and the energy of a pack mule, all told in the same domestic for a few dollars a year; the backbiting, the jealousies, the enmity and the petty rivalries and utter snobbishness to be found flourishing like ugly weeds in every layer of feminine society—all these pale into utter insignificance before the stupendous cruelty of woman to woman where hearts and men are concerned.

Let us face the naked facts and put sentimentality and all popular but lying fallacies asunder the inherent saintliness and gentleness of what is really the unfair sex on one side. Woman's greatest enemy after she gets a husband is woman.

Men have been, and are, responsible for much of the unhappiness that enters into the lives of single girls, but it is women in the main who ruin the happiness of wives. For every woman who tries to make a shining success of her married life, there are a dozen women in the offing who are convinced they could do it a lot better if they were given the chance. And some of them stop at nothing to secure that chance.

If the secret history behind most of the unhappy stories of women who have been forced to leave their husbands, or who have been deserted by them, were revealed to the public, the story would be astounding—astounding because it would tell of the appalling prevalence of the girl-thief of married love, the feminine cuckoo who is fouling another woman's love-nest, the pirate on the matrimonial seas who doesn't care what hopes she wrecks and what honor and peace she shatters forever.

I know of a score of such cases. I have heard of scores more, and I have read of hundreds like them. Nor are all these women the lurid vamps so unattractively portrayed on those cheap novelettes-in-deluxe-bindings which we call flims. They do not fit like beautiful birds of paradise across the horizon of happily married men, dazzling their good sense with mysterious perfumes, intoxicating them with rose du tendre kisses, blinding them with their charm and magic to all other bonds but worthless ones.

We wish they did. They would be so easily sorted out. Alas, the thief of love can be a commonplace girl in an office with a gift for petting and soulful sympathy; she can be the woman wearing a transformation who lives next door and who invites you both in for mah-jongg and chicken sandwiches, subsequently helping herself to your husband's chicken heart.

Near Death in Slide Down Mountain

In the early days Samuel Woodworth Cozzens was appointed to the position of territorial judge in Arizona. He served in that capacity for many years, and Companion readers revealed in tales of the frontier in Arizona from his pen. But, however much he wrote concerning his own adventures and those of his friends, he neglected to relate in the Companion the story of his long slide.

The judge was in the land of the Zuni, high on a mountain, when his foot slipped. In a moment he was moving down a long, steep pitch on his back. The slide was bare rock and fairly smooth, and his speed increased momentarily. Then his heel struck a projection, and he turned over with his face forward and proceeded on his stomach.

Involuntarily he had thrown both arms forward to save his face, and he was now scooting down with hands turned upward at the wrists just enough to keep his palms from scouring to the bone. His right hand touched a second projection, and his fingers grasped on it. The grip caused his body to slew round sideways. His left hand grabbed the little flange of rock and hung on. The abrupt stop together with the swift swing broke his right arm, but he clung with a death grip.

An old, wrinkled grandfather Zuni at the top of the slope, seeing him, yelled like a coyote and ran for the pueblo. The judge hung on and waited. Below him the slide ended in a drop of hundreds of feet to jumbled rock. Presently the old Zuni reappeared bearing several reatas, which he nimbly knotted into a long rope. Other Indians grasped it, and the old man started down the slide.

When the Zuni reached the judge he looped the rope round his body below the arms and with one arm helped him up. With the judge clinging with his good hand beside the darker hand of the Zuni and the Indian's arm round his body, the men above hauled in slowly, and the two walked up the slope, much as a Kanaka walks up the side of a ship, when given a rope to hold by.

Judge Cozzens says in his memoirs that his slide ripped and wore clothing and skin to shreds, and that a broken bone gave him acute pain; but the rescue and the tender care given him made him appreciate the vast difference between the Apache, who he had fought, and the pueblo Indians, who are essentially men of peace.—Youth's Companion.

Birds Crossing the Desert

The secretary of the Egyptian legation in Washington, Hassan Bey, writing in the National Geographic Magazine, says that when he was exploring the Libyan desert in 1923 he met with small birds migrating northward to Europe. These small birds, many of them European robins, fly 250 miles over the desolate desert without a drink of water. "Sometimes these intrepid travelers, apparently mistaking us for trees," declares Hassan Bey, "would alight upon our heads or shoulders. We would give them a drink, and off they would fly again. They never made a mistake and started south. As we wear along we saw remnants of wings which told their own story." The robins winter in equatorial Africa.

Pineapples Are Fed Iron

Iron is now being fed to pineapples in Hawaii and Porto Rico and is having the effect of enhancing the crops in those countries by millions of dollars, according to Engineering Foundation. Instead of the poor growth of yellow pineapples, it is giving them a healthy green look and big growth.

The spraying of sulphate iron began when research revealed that the yellowing of pineapples on the calcareous soils of Porto Rico was due to iron deficiency. As a result of the spraying Hawaii is producing 5,000,000 cases a year, as opposed to 2,500,000, the annual average until spraying began.

Man He Was Looking For

The young man was bragging of his many clever accomplishments, until one of the company in the boarding house lost his patience. "Now, then," he said, "we've heard enough about what you can do. Come, tell us if there is anything you can't do, and I'll undertake to do it myself." "Well," replied the other, with a yawn, "I can't pay the bill for my week's stay here. So glad to find you're the man to do it."

Old Note Valued as Curio

Calvin B. Hutchinson of Writeman, Mass., treasures a $7 bill as a curio. It was issued by the state of Massachusetts in May, 1780, under an act of the legislature, and payment was guaranteed by an act of congress of the same year. It was payable in Spanish milled dollars, with interest at 8 per cent from the time of issue.

Gale's Prank

A peculiar prank was played by a gale at the residence of George Nelson of a small New England town. One of the chimneys of the house was blown off, while a hole was blown clear through the other chimney without disturbing the top bricks.

Gas Tax Growing

More than $50,000,000 is collected annually as gasoline taxes in the 35 states that require this revenue. The average tax is 2 cents, 12 states getting 1 cent a gallon and one, Arkansas, levying 4 cents.

Elevator Cane an Arbor

After a busy life in a Kansas City (Kan.) office building, an elevator cage has been given a home on the lawn of Arthur Baker. It still shows what it is, but next summer a new gown of green leaves will obliterate all traces of its life of ups and downs, and it will be a full-fledged arbor. Vines which are expected to cover it already are started.

Development of Child Told by Wrist Bones

A horse's teeth tell his age; a child's wrist bones indicate his. By means of X-ray photographs one can tell how old a child is, or more important, whether he is properly developed for his years.

At one year of age a child has two bones in the wrist; at five he has six; at fourteen he has eight. Thus he has what scientists call an anatomical age.

Girls are usually in advance of boys in their anatomical development at any given age, says a high authority of the Iowa child welfare research station in Hygeia, health magazine published by the American Medical Association.

As far as height and weight measurements are concerned, girls are approximately as heavy as boys for their respective heights, but are shorter and lighter at each age. They are more variable in growth than boys.

The authority, a physician, has drawn his conclusions from thousands of repeated physical measurements on nude children and his tables giving the average weight of boys and girls for each inch in height from every age from five to nineteen are said to be the most accurate tables for American-born children.

Not Impossible That This Is "Noah's Ark"

The recent announcement by a group of scientists that the site of the Garden of Eden had been fixed in the sovereign state of Nevada was soon followed by the report that "what might have been" Noah's ark had been likewise discovered. Its location is about 60 miles south of Winnemucca, near Mount Tobin.

Whatever this relic originally was, descriptions have invested it with a fascination which will lead to many conjectures, the Washington Post comments. It is apparently a magnificent specimen of petrification, consisting of a raft-shaped mass of timbers, which have hardened through countless ages into stone. There is no question that it is the handiwork of man, for in certain places where the structure is more fully exposed the cross timbers and the withes, or bands, are clearly revealed.

Just why it should be Noah's ark instead of somebody else's, has not yet been stated. The curious legend, coming to us from the Indians, that the North American continent was populated by an emigration from lands "beyond the western water," has persisted to the present day. Upon it many have tried to solve the riddle of the fate of the lost tribes of Israel. While the historian should be cautious about allowing any such connection it is now admitted that such an occurrence would have been by no means impossible. The unusual custom which the diaries of early voyagers have set down for us of the worship by certain Indians of empty boxes whose cover they could not explain, beyond the fact that their ancestors had been wont to do reverence in the same way, had led some to trace a connection between this crude custom and the original Ark of the Covenant.

So of building many theories on the subject there is no end. But there can be no doubt of the reality of the Greek coins discovered in some of the Indian mounds. How they covered the distance from Athens to their final resting place no man can yet say.

Odd Forms of "Money" Employed in Africa

There are three modes of buying and selling. The first is to exchange article for article, direct. The second is by using a useful medium of exchange, which we will call currency. The third is the Western method of using a useless object in exchange; this we will call money.

In South Africa we get the natives using cattle as currency, exchanging cattle for goods and the same cattle changing hands for other goods. More usually, however, we get barter pure and simple, ivory and useful objects to buy beads, trinkets, wire and other goods.

Farther north, in the Transvaal, we get actual money, in the shape of home-made wire, with a rough knob on the end. Farther west, in the Congo, we find H-shaped copper plates used as money. On the Upper Congo we find imitation swords serving the purpose, while lower down on the Stanley Falls we find the axe blade. (In many South African tribes we get the hoe so used.) In Sierra Leone we get an amusing imitation knife blade; one end is thin and twisted, the other widening to two points. The BaSongo and BaNkutu on the Congo use throwing knives.

Today's Reflections

Next to having a tooth pulled, man's greatest test of nerve comes when his wife pulls a porous plaster off his back.

We've been lying awake nights trying to figure this out: When a Plymouth girl has a bow-legged beau, how does she sit on his lap without falling through?

A radio message goes around the world in five seconds, but a rumor can go around town in two.

According to government figures, the near-beer trade has dropped 34 per cent. Maybe the people fancied it wasn't near enough.

The Plymouth man who neglected to vote but continues to holler is just another back seat driver.

Book learning is about all a man needs in this world—if he expects to spend all of his time in jail.

The Prince of Wales was given a Ford while visiting here. We will bet Detroit is one town he never forgets.

When you see two Plymouth girls talking and giggling together, you can bet that 99 times out of 100 they're talking about a boy.

It is certainly time to stop the war in China. Some few people over there are commencing to get hurt.

"Home Sweet Home" wasn't written by the man who has to go down town when he wants to smoke.

Many a Plymouth man doesn't get along as well as he might because he imagines he is a modern Sampson and tries to accomplish too much by swinging a jawbone.

We've noticed that as a rule Plymouth people talk louder than they used to. Maybe it comes from trying to make themselves heard above the noise of the flivvers.

The difference between a "tomah-to" and a tomato, is the difference between "high culture" and agriculture.

As a rule the woman who did the most fighting to get the ballot has done the least with it since she got it.

Most of the young girls around Plymouth think life is just a two-ring circus—the engagement ring and the wedding ring.

AROUND ABOUT US

Charles Jacobs, Brighton resident for nearly 80 years, is dead. He was a Civil War veteran.

In the past two years more than fifty business places and residences have been built in Brighton.

Ypsilanti voters at a special election held last week, approved of a bond issue of $175,000 for new school buildings.

South Lyon business women have organized a club with seventeen members, and are planning on weekly luncheons.

The Wayne Rotary Club entertained the Wayne High school and the Wayne County Good Roads foot ball teams at dinner, Tuesday.

The Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce and the real estate men of Ypsilanti, are working out plans to advertise that city during the coming season.

About 300 people of both Catholic and Protestant faith took part in the inaugural building banquet of Rochester's new Catholic church one evening recently. The gross receipts of the banquet were about $1,000.

Petitions are being circulated, the ultimate object thereof being to annex a part of Redford, Greenfield and Dearborn townships to Detroit. The area lies south of the Pere Marquette right of way and extends westerly from the Detroit city limits to within a quarter mile of Telegraph road. The petitions are being circulated by the Polk Directory Co., in the interests of real estate operators who own acreage in the territory in question.—Redford Record.

Henry Ford is building what is said to be the largest and most powerful electric locomotive in the world, it was announced Saturday. The engine is being built at the Highland Park plant, and will be used on the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railway, owned by Ford. The engine will weigh 340 tons, will be 117 feet long, 15 feet high and 10 feet wide. It will have 16 250-horse power motors connected to 16 pairs of driving wheels, and will be capable of hauling a train of 150 or more loaded box cars. The engine will not be built for speed, and will be used for freight service exclusively.

Charles Sorenson, one of the department heads of the Ford Motor Co., is the purchaser of the Gay Hatton farm at the western city limits of Farmington on Grand River avenue. The farm consists of 162 acres of rolling land ideally located for a fine estate. It is immediately west of the Methodist Children Home at the intersection of Hatton road. It is reported on reliable authority that the price paid was $625 an acre. Mr. Hatton who intends to spend the winter in the south will give immediate possession. The Enterprise is informed that it is Mr. Sorenson's intention to make his residence here, and will soon commence the erection of a fine dwelling on the property.—Farmington Enterprise.

Oakland is one of the ten counties in eastern Michigan to be included in the federal farm census, which is about to be taken under the direction of the department of commerce.

No definite trace has yet been found of the six thugs who held up the Farmington State Savings Bank, last week Wednesday, getting away with nearly $10,000 in cash and a number of real estate bonds. President Howard Warner, Cashier Edgar Pierce and the bookkeeper, Miss Marguerite Moore, who were in the bank at the time of the raid, went to Toronto, Monday night, to see if they could identify a wounded man who was held there under suspicion by the police. They were unable to connect him with the Farmington holdup.—Farmington Enterprise.

The Christmas Peddler

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

ONLY a few people saw the incongruity of it. Abramowitz, in his long, greenish overcoat and the fur cap flattening his ears, had Christmas toys on his pushcart. There were few Jewish people in the Fourth district, though they were beginning to crowd the Irish hard on the outskirts. And the Irish thought it the most natural thing that old Abramowitz should sell Christmas toys.

Why not? All the youngsters wanted toys. There were red devils, firecrackers that you stamped under foot and they went off with a succession of explosions that never came to an end. There were wonderful dolls, and stockings full of sweetmeats, and Christmas cards so cheap. Everybody thought of Abramowitz. It was the first sign of Christmas when little Mike or Dan would call across the street: "Hey, the old Christmas Jew's coming with his pushcart."

Only this year the month wore on toward Christmas and there was no sign of Abramowitz. It was the 20th of December. Suddenly at the end of the street, the cry was raised: "The Christmas Jew's coming!"

Out they tumbled into the street, all the little Mikes and Dons and Norns. Then a surprise awaited them. This wasn't Abramowitz—it was another Christmas Jew, with a forked, black beard and malicious eyes. And his wares—well, they might have been all right, but they weren't the kind old Abramowitz had brought. And, somehow, nobody wanted to buy from this young man.

"Hey, where's Mr. Abramowitz?" "He's ill. He ain't coming no more." "What's the matter with him?" "Ill in hospital. Very ill. No come back I buy his beensess."

But the business that the young man who had supplanted old Abramowitz did was singularly meager. Abramowitz had been a feature of the neighborhood so long. Except at Christmas time he was simply a peddler, passing along the street with old clothes and tea and cheap jewelry, but at Christmas he took on a peculiar atmosphere among the denizens of Cherry Hill. No, this wasn't their Christmas Jew.

Next day the young man was back again, but still business was meager. And he walked up and down, pushing his cart, a scowl upon his face. Why didn't anybody want to buy? He had been told it was a splendid opportunity to cut in on his rival's trade. He couldn't understand it.

There Was Abramowitz.

The twenty-second came. Somehow nobody quite lost faith in Abramowitz turning up. It seemed impossible that the old man wouldn't have notified somebody. But the twenty-third came. Suddenly little Dan ran screaming up the street: "Hey, fellers, the Christmas Jew's come back!"

Out they poured—Mike, Dan, Nora and Kitty. There was Abramowitz, his pushcart loaded with the choicest selection of Christmas toys that had ever come into Cherry Hill. And Abramowitz himself, in his green overcoat and fur cap, looking no more than the shadow of his former self.

He had come out of the hospital a week before they wanted to dismiss him. He wasn't going to let his Christmas customers be disappointed. And now his barrow was almost empty.

"Christmas toys!" Up the street came the rival pushcart man, calling his wares and scowling. He stopped opposite Abramowitz and glared at him.

"Say, what you want to butt in on my trade for?" he demanded, advancing with truculent gestures.

That was a time in Cherry Hill. In an instant the young rival's pushcart was stripped of its contents. Dolls, stockings, Santa Clauses, Christmas cards went flying over the street. And the young rival "Christmas Jew" was howling down the street, pursued by a regular phalanx of Dons and Mikes and Pheasants.

"Christmas toys, Christmas toys," whispered Abramowitz, pushing his nearly denuded cart along the road. "You come back next Christmas!" "Sure, sure! Always come back!" whimpered Abramowitz.

They watched him over the top of Cherry Hill. They did not know that he was going back to the hospital. Nor would they know that he had been there until next Christmas found him limping. But there would be no great next Christmas in Cherry Hill.

Help Your Railroads Keep Tracks Clear

With every Railroad, passenger safety must be the first consideration always. That implies that there must be a clear track.

As motor vehicles multiply, this problem becomes increasingly difficult almost from day to day for the 24 steam Railroads of Michigan. Despite the most costly and carefully planned precautions on the part of the Railroads, crossing accidents are becoming appallingly frequent.

Such accidents are due to the growing recklessness of the motorists. Yet each accident also imperils the lives of trainmen and passengers.

Separation of grades can never solve this problem, for crossings are multiplying far faster than grades can be separated. And, with each separation costing from $70,000 to $100,000, the entire wealth of Michigan could not accomplish the task.

The public demands of us speed—quick delivery—for passengers, mails, freight. To keep our tracks clear for this efficient service, and to maintain our standards of absolute safety, we must have cooperation at crossings.

Most motorists give this cooperation by heeding our request to Stop, Look, Listen. For their own protection, as well as ours, those who do not heed this request should be made to do so by the mandate of Law.

Do you agree? Write us your verdict.

The Window Lookers

By Mary Graham Bonner

AGAINST the window of a big store was a row of small faces. The children who owned these faces were pressed close, close against it. They seemed to think that the closer they were to it the more they could see.

They were very ragged. Their boots were not all that respectable should be, their coats were not all that respectable and warm coats should be.

But more than that, their eyes were not all that the eyes of children at Christmas-time should be.

She noticed it at once. There was something hungry about their eyes. Something there, too, which looked so strange and unnatural.

She had finished her Christmas shopping. Every one on her list now had a present wrapped up and awaiting delivery. She had saved a little of her Christmas money, too, and she was going to buy herself one of those pretty many-colored silk scarfs and a gold head-band. She had always wanted these, and they were too elaborate to ask her friends to give them to her for Christmas. She was going in this store to purchase them when the children attracted her attention. She stood by them, watching them, listening to them. They weren't paying any attention to her.

"Santy won't come to us this year, mamma says," one child spoke. "Mamma says he's awful hard up this year. Just as folks get hard up."

"My papa says that, too," the second said.

"I didn't know Santy ever was hard up," said a third, "but I guess he has had times, too."

She would try out the wild scheme which had just come to her.

"Children," she said, "I am a niece of Mr. Santa Claus, and he told me you would be here—he looked into your homes this afternoon—just peeped in—I don't believe even your mothers saw him, but he heard where you had gone—and he asked me to take you in and buy you each a Christmas present from him."

"He has had a busy time and he isn't as well off this year as usual, but he has something for each of you."

Yes, it was all right. Nothing was too wonderful for children to believe! They went in—all of them.

And each had a present which they fondly clung to and which drove that strange, hungry look from their eyes.

They sent many thanks to Santa Claus, these grateful little window-lookers. Curious, she thought to herself, that she had ever thought of spending that extra money on a scarf and head-band!

Mr. Goodwill Ends War

By Christopher G. Hazard

HE fields sparkled as though covered with diamond dust, the hills looked like big frosted cakes and, as the wind chased them about, the snow particles gleamed like winter fireflies or tiny meteors. It was a brightly beautiful December morning.

But Mr. Goodwill was not looking at the pictures that Mr. Frost had painted upon his windows, or, through as much clear glass as was left, upon the white landscape; his eyes were fixed upon the paper that lay before him upon his desk, and his thoughts searched for an illustration of the idea that he strove to express. For Frank Goodwill was at work upon the article that was not only to win an offered prize but also to end war.

He was not in a peaceful state of mind, for destiny, which had run him up against several disagreeable people of late, had ruffled him again that morning by confronting him at the post office with the most disagreeable one of them all. Wondering why he had so often to meet people whom he wanted to avoid, he had almost quenched the Christmas glow that had begun to exhilarate his heart.

It was not, therefore, with pleasure that he greeted a visitor when the door opened and admitted Hiram Grudge, for Hiram and he had not been upon speaking terms for years and there was still an unspeakable objection to him as he stood there, uninvited to have a seat.

But there seemed to be something unusual the matter with Hiram as he attempted to speak, halted and was silent and downcast, and there began to be something the matter with Law-yeer Goodwill as, with broken voice and hesitating utterance, his enemy laid a burden of trouble before him. There came into the lawyer's mind one of the treasured sayings of a wise man of the past, "I know that the man does not love me, but I am resolved to wish him well until I get the better of him," and he rose and took his adversary by the hand.

Returning to his task, Mr. Goodwill discovered that he had found his illustration!

Ridding Sheep of Stomach Worms

Seriousness of Pest Depicted in Panel Exhibit Giving Its Life History.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
A panel exhibit depicting the life history, damages and treatment of stomach worms of sheep, prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture, shows impressively the seriousness of this pest.

Worms Highly Destructive.
It is shown that stomach worms, which are common parasites of sheep, are highly destructive to lambs, and often wipe out profits from sheep raising. They cause weakness, scours and death, and are most prevalent in permanent pastures. Various ailments described by such terms as "paper skin" and "poverty jaw" are caused by the worms. Fortunately, the remedy for the stomach worm is simple and inexpensive. Bluestone solution, properly used, prevents stomach-worm injury. The exhibit describes also the life history of the worms and gives directions for using the remedy.

Improvement in flesh and wool, stronger and healthier lambs, and earlier marketability are some of the benefits resulting from stomach-worm riddance, says the panel.
May Borrow Exhibit.
Responsible parties agreeing to pay transportation charges both ways may borrow the exhibit for limited periods. Applications will be filled in the order received.
The panel is 5 feet long and 2 feet 4 inches high. The shipping box in which it comes may be used as a table on which to display the panel. One hundred pounds is the shipping weight of the entire equipment. Further particulars, including literature on the subject, may be obtained from the zoological division, bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture.

More Light for Poultry Is Ohio Recommendation

In your poultry house well lighted? Poultrymen at the Ohio experiment station state that an abundance of well distributed light is essential to the comfort and welfare of the flock and to profitable winter egg production.

Most houses are lighted on the south side, but the placing of additional window on the north side under the dropping boards is a comparatively new idea of vital importance. Since the hen naturally faces the light when scratching, the litter accumulates in dark parts of the building while other parts are left bare and much of the floor space is rendered useless.

Probably no other one thing can be provided in the average poultry house which will so greatly improve it and involve so little expense as windows under the dropping boards to supply light during the winter and ventilation in the summer.—Weekly Poultry Bulletin, Ohio Experiment Station.

Comfortable Roosts Are Needed for Laying Hens

It is important that the laying hen have all the opportunity possible to rest in comfort. For this reason she should be provided with a roost that is comfortable and satisfies her instinct for a roosting place. Of course she will perch upon almost anything at all, provided it is up in the air a ways and she is able to balance herself upon it, but she will do better if some provision is made for her comfort and peace of mind. The roosts should be constructed of good material and be set up in such a way as to prevent crowding. They should be continuously treated to keep them free from lice and mites and so made that the hens can rest with absolute comfort. They should be well up off the ground but not so high as to make it difficult for the birds to get on them.

Kill Ants in Beehive

Perhaps the best way to get rid of ants in a beehive is to find their nest, punch a hole into it with a stick or rod, pour an ounce of carbon bisulphide in the hole and quickly plug it up. This will kill the ants. The ants may also be poisoned by placing some sweet poison in a box having an opening too small for the bees to enter. Ordinarily, when there is a strong colony in the hive, there will be no trouble from the ants.

Kill Walnut Caterpillar

Lead arsenate at the rate of three pounds of powder to each 100 gallons of water may be used to kill the walnut caterpillar. However, in fall the caterpillars have the habit of coming down the trunk of the tree and gathering in clusters near the base where they molt and then return to the leaves of the tree to resume their feeding operations. They may be destroyed in large numbers when found in these clusters.

Record of Arizona's Best

Starting on test when five years and six months of age, Arizona's Best, owned by C. S. Conway of Safford, Ariz., recently completed a record of 12,332 pounds of milk and 702.99 pounds of butterfat in 366 days. Her milk averaged 5.7 butterfat. On this record she becomes the Jersey butterfat champion of the state for all ages, and also champion in the mature class.

Acid Phosphate on Wheat Is Favored

Mixing With Limestone Involves Serious Danger.

Since acid phosphate on wheat is gaining wider use and with fall spreading of limestone on wheat ground being common practice, the question has often been asked, whether one might not mix the limestone and acid phosphate and apply these two soil treatments at the same time.

Though labor might be saved by mixing such a practice involves serious danger. Laboratory experiments as well as field results show that, when mixed with limestone, the soluble phosphorus reverts or changes to an insoluble form and its beneficial effects are largely lost. This change goes on more rapidly as the amount of limestone in proportion to the phosphate becomes greater. So, where one ton of stone is mixed with only one hundred pounds of phosphate—which is about the common ratio of application—the loss of soluble phosphate is rapid.

Rather than apply the two in a mixture, the limestone can be spread after plowing and worked into the soil during preparation of the seed-bed. When this is done early, as is customarily recommended, and the phosphate put on with the wheat seeding, the time between the applications is sufficient to let the lime act partly on the soil, and the chance for intimate mixture of lime and phosphate becomes so small that the danger is negligible. Even when the lime goes on just shortly before seeding there is little danger as long as it is worked into the soil ahead of the phosphate.

In applying these soil treatments it is well to remember that any method of handling them which prohibits their intimate mixing avoids the danger of reverting the phosphate and losing the usual profit from its use.

Keeping Seed Potatoes to Prevent Sprouting

Potatoes kept for seed should not be allowed to grow long white sprouts. Such sprouts can be broken off and new sprouts will come; but the potato that must feed the new plant until it gets a root system of its own will be greatly weakened by long sprouts. To prevent this undesirable sprouting keep the potatoes at a temperature of 35 or 40 degrees and treat the seed early for scab, then as planting time arrives spread them in the light where they will grow short strong sprouts. These sprouts are not disturbed by planting, nor killed by the formaldehyde treatment having been previously treated. They grow fast when planted, for the soil has not been weakened.

Reason for Damp Houses

Many poultry houses are damp because the ground on which they stand is not well drained. This is probably the most common cause of dampness and one that is most easily corrected. A small job of tiling may do the work. The tile should be laid clear around the house and a connecting line or two under it. With plenty of fall and a clear outlet such a job will effectively remove the cause of excess moisture unless the house is situated in too low a place, in which case it should be moved to higher ground.

Winter Feed for Bees

For winter food bees need a good quality of honey, which is just as free as possible of indigestible waste matter. During prolonged cold spells they may be confined to the hive for weeks at a time when they are unable to take flights and empty their intestines of accumulated waste matter. Honeydew honey and other low grade honeys are unfit as winter food for bees. If the stores are faulty or insufficient a strip of clean granulated cane sugar should be fed to the colony in the fall.

FARM FACTS

Protect the song bird from the cats.

Paint not only preserves; it also brightens.

Fumigate grain and other stored products that are weevil-infested.

A successful farm is bound to be the product of an able and industrious man.

Continue to clean up and destroy all dead material in gardens and orchards.

A one crop farmer and his money are soon parted for high price feeds and fuel.

A woven wire stretched along the corn row is enough to hold shotes in while they log off the corn crop.

A winter cover crop not only improves the soil but it keeps it from straying down the creeks and getting lost.

If co-operation were not a good thing there would not be nearly two million American farmers in twelve thousand farmers' business organizations.

Every business for permanent success must show a proper balance between income and outgo. Do you have records to tell if your farming is right?
