PLYMOUTH ROTARY CLUB ENTERTAIN THE LADIES

A Splendid Banquet and a Most Entertaining Program Made for a Most Pleasant Occasion Last Friday Evening.

The Plymouth Rotary Club entertained the ladies of the club members, last Friday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. A chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the Lutheran church in the dining room of the church, at which sixty-three covers were laid. The dinner was another of those excellent repasts for which the Lutheran ladies have a most enviable reputation. The decorations were in keeping with the yule-tide season, and the tables looked very pretty indeed. Each lady found at her plate a pretty favor, in the shape of a compact, upon the front side of which appeared the emblem of the Rotary Club. During the banquet several songs were sung, led by Rotarian Calvin Whipple. President George A. Smith of the Rotary Club, gave a short talk in which he gave an outline of what Rotary means and stands for.

Following the banquet the party adjourned to the Penniman Allen theatre, where, through the courtesy of Rotarian H. R. Lush, a comedy picture was shown on the screen, and was much appreciated by all present. During the evening, Rotarians William Wood and Calvin Whipple sang a duet in their usual pleasing manner. Donel Patterson's orchestra furnished excellent music for the occasion, which all enjoyed. The evening's entertainment concluded with the presentation of "The District School." Rotarian Karl Hillmer took the part of the schoolmaster in a very dignified manner. The pupils were Rotarians H. S. Lee, W. T. Pettingill, H. C. Robinson, William Wood, Arthur Blunk and George A. Smith. The pupils certainly took their parts well and their antics, recitations, etc., kept the audience in an uproar. The school closed with the singing of a song composed especially for the occasion, in which a verse was apply given for each Rotarian in the club.

It was a most pleasant evening for all, and the ladies are heartily in favor of having another similar occasion in the near future.

THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY, "STOP THIEF"

Tuesday, January 6th, is the date set by the Senior class, for the production of "Stop Thief," at the High school auditorium. This play, which had a very successful week at the Majestic theatre in Detroit this fall, is without doubt the funniest ever attempted by a P. H. S. group.

"Stop Thief," as its name implies, is a comedy dealing with an attempted burglary of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Carr, on the day set for the marriage of their daughter Madge, to Mr. James Cluney. The burglar, Jack Doogan, is aided in all his efforts by Nellie, the new maid at the Carr home, whose "taking ways" are in evidence from her first appearance to the end of the play.

The appearance of a detective, and his impersonation by Jack Doogan the burglar, adds to the fun which becomes uproarious upon the entrance of four policemen. Tickets are on sale at R. R. Parrott's, Mail Office, Gayde Bros. Community Pharmacy and the Broadway Market, at 25c for students and 35c for adults. Reserves will be available Saturday, December 27th, at Parrott's office.

ICE KING HOLDS PLYMOUTH

Since last Thursday morning, Plymouth and vicinity has been in the grip of the ice king. Streets and sidewalks were a glare of ice, and it was with difficulty that pedestrians were able to get about. Garages were kept busy several days pulling cars out of the ditch, where they had skidded from the icy roadway. We understand one man counted forty cars in the ditch between Plymouth and Detroit. Friday night the cold wave, predicted by the government weather bureau, struck Plymouth and vicinity, and thermometer started dropping to the near zero point. Saturday night's wind did considerable damage to telephone wires. Heavily loaded with ice, many snapped as the wind brought added strain.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEAR SPLENDID PROGRAM

A regular meeting of the Woman's Club was held Friday afternoon, December 19th, in the music room of the High school. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Charles Humphries. Following the business session, a splendid dramatic program, arranged by Mrs. R. A. Casady, was presented in the auditorium, as follows:

Two pleasing piano selections by Mrs. Fred Tighe. The Woman's Quartette, composed of Mesdames Moon, Cassidy, Bake and Olsaver, accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert Brown at the piano, appeared in costume as the Dixie Quartette, and gave a group of songs with no lack of southern melody.

Reading, "The Red Cardinal," by Gene Stratton Porter was exceptionally well rendered by Mrs. H. C. Shaffmaster of Detroit. Mrs. Schaffmaster gave the various calls of the Red Bird, filling the room with the atmosphere of spring, and also responded to an encore.

The Woman's Quartette re-appeared, becomingly attired in Japanese costumes, and presented in a most interesting manner "The Lament of Mi-Yen," Hayes, and very graciously responded to an encore.

The one-act play, "Joint Owners in Spain," given by Mrs. Daniel Murray, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Martin Stringer and Mrs. Homer Hubbard, added greatly to the success of the entertainment. The old fashioned costumes and witty conversation brought forth many a laugh. Those that braved the elements felt well re-paid for their effort.

The next regular business meeting will be held January 2nd, at 2:15, in the Presbyterian church parlors. The program at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon is open to the public. Professor T. E. Rankin from the Literary department of the University of Michigan, will be the speaker. Mr. Rankin is Professor of Rhetoric, and Secretary of the summer session. This is an extension lecture, and it is hoped everyone will avail themselves of the privilege of hearing this splendid speaker.

SCHOOL BUILDING BURNS AT NORTHVILLE.

Fire caused by over heated furnaces destroyed the temporary building adjacent to the Northville High school about 5:30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, causing a damage estimated at between seven and ten thousand dollars. Books and school paraphernalia for more than 100 students was destroyed by the blaze. The building was erected about a month ago. The Plymouth fire department were in readiness to render assistance if it should be needed, but they were not called upon.

COMMUNITY ESTAB- LISHED IN PLYMOUTH

Several Plymouth citizens imbued with the Christmas spirit have expressed their desire to contribute to some needy family this season. They naturally turned to the Chamber of Commerce as an outlet for their generosity. The Chamber of Commerce promptly responded by creating a Community Fund. Mesdames J. L. Johnson, F. J. Burrows and W. T. Pettigill, and Messrs. Harry Lush and Frank Rambo have been appointed an executive board to this fund. One new member to Plymouth has already donated $50 to the fund, and it is hoped that the citizens of Plymouth will generously respond with contributions sufficient to make this fund a success.

Plymouth is fortunate in not having very many needy families within its limits, but worthy needy could be taken care of. Each member of the Chamber of Commerce is receiving with each monthly letter, an appropriately marked envelope in which to contribute as much as he can afford, and send your check to the Chamber of Commerce, and make it payable to the Chamber of Commerce Community Fund. The records and books of this fund will be open to anyone who has donated, and statements of its operations will be published from time to time, so that the donors will be kept informed. The establishment of this fund marked one more step in progress for Plymouth. It was planned to have a fund available for the needy not only during the Christmas season, but throughout the year.

Anyone knowing of a needy family or person, is requested to report it to any one of the above, or to the Chamber of Commerce, phone 11. Each case will be investigated and assisted as far as the funds and the worthiness of the case will permit. If the fund is to be a success and fill the mission its founders hope it will, it will be necessary to have a substantial bank account to its credit, and we hope that everyone who is able, will send in his contribution at once, as there are several urgent cases that the committee would like taken care of before New Year's.

Add to your Christmas pleasure by sending in your check today.

NEW YEAR'S ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATRE.

The attraction at the Penniman Allen theatre for New Year's, is "Richard Barthelmess in 'Classmates,'" one of the best pictures that Barthelmess has ever appeared in. It was just recently shown in Detroit, and drew large crowds at every showing. The Kiever Kiddies will also give one of their 30-minute playlets. "Classmates" and the Kiddies will also be the attraction on New Year's eve, Wednesday, December 31st.

The Masonic and Eastern Star dancing party takes place at the new Masonic Temple, Wednesday evening, December 31st. This promises to be one of the largest parties of the season. The bill is $1.10 per couple. Good music will be in attendance.

New Year's Greetings

We've often wondered what this old world would degenerate into if there was no such thing as Hope; we've often tried to picture just how much misery we would be forced to go through if we were not gifted with the happy faculty of looking into the future and believing that tomorrow will be brighter than today.

And as we come to the birth of a New Year such reflections pour in upon us thick and fast. We reach the season of new Hope, the day when we can close up the book of the year, open up a new one, and Hope that every page of it will still be bright and clean when it, too, is ready to lay away with the others.

Insofar as Plymouth is concerned, we believe the most of our citizens can lay away the record of the departed year without regrets. Our people have prospered to the point where they have no reason for discontent. There have been shadows along with the sunshine, it is true, but they only served to make us richer in experience and stronger in our ability to sacrifice when it must be done. We have lived happily as a community, growing stronger in each others friendship and happier as days rolled into weeks and weeks passed into months. We have come to know each other better, and that added knowledge has served to make us more appreciative of our town and the community about it.

There have been needed improvements postponed, but that same Hope which fills our hearts at the beginning of a New Year leads us to believe they will receive attention in 1925. There have been some things left undone, but these can be disposed of along with our new tasks if we will only determine now that the year 1925 shall see more actual good for the entire community accomplished than in any previous year in our history.

The outlook was never brighter for a Happy and a Prosperous year, and we believe the feeling here is generally to that effect. We believe our people realize, as a rule, that we must co-operate in the fullest if we keep pace with other communities, and if we get all of the benefits which our town is entitled. The old spirit of being content to let well enough alone is fast dying out—today our people want a better town, with better streets and better schools and better highways into the outside world than they have ever had in the past. It is the spirit of progress, the desire for all these things, and with each and every citizen putting his shoulder to the wheel there is no reason why the year 1925 should not see us possessed of all of the things we Hope for.

We want to renew the pledge of this paper, as a community institution, to aid in every way all movements that come up for the betterment of our town and its people, as well as those things which will advance the interests of our county and our state. All that we ask in return is that which every honestly-conducted newspaper is entitled—the support and co-operation of the people of the community. We want to do all in our power to make the Hope of every citizen for a still more prosperous and a happier community come true.

Here is our New Year wish that all your Hopes will come true in 1925. Here is our wish that the year 1925 will bring you a greater measure of health and happiness, prosperity and contentment, than you have ever known before.

L. O. T. M. BANQUET

After Hive meeting Thursday evening, about sixty members of the L. O. T. M., repaired to the dining room of the Grange hall, and partook of a sumptuous chicken dinner, with the all accompaniments. This was prepared and served by the committee on Christmas entertainment. Before the banquet, all joined in singing Christmas carols. The company was also entertained by humorous songs by a chorus of members when all had feasted. Past Commander, Mabel Dicks, in a few well chosen words, introduced the Commander, Mrs. Grace Martin, as toastmistress of the evening. She in turn cleverly introduced each member who responded to toasts. The following toasts were given:

"The Old Hive and It's Bees,"—Mrs. Helen Willett.
"Our Hive and It's Future," given in the form of a reverie—Mrs. Dora Wood.

"Flowers and Their Mission,"—Mrs. Anna McKeever.
"Xmas, and What it Means, and What it Means to Us," an original poem—Mrs. Tena Bovee.

The whole evening's entertainment, which passed off so pleasantly, was under the leadership of Lieutenant Commander Carrie Hillmer, and reflects much credit on her ability to put across an enjoyable evening.

DEATH OF PITT EVERETT

Pitt Everett, a highly respected citizen of Plymouth and vicinity for many years, died of pneumonia, at his home on what is known as the Ableson farm on the Canton-Plymouth town line, Saturday night, December 20th, aged 72 years. His wife died about three years ago. He leaves no immediate family. The funeral services were held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. H. E. Sayles officiating. Interment in Grand Lawn cemetery, Redford.

CHILDREN LISTEN TO CHRISTMAS STORIES.

A happy and interested group of about forty children, ranging in age from three to twelve years, listened to Mrs. Ironsides of Detroit, last Saturday, as she entertained them for an hour at our library with Christmas stories. These are the stories that were simply and charmingly told by Mrs. Ironsides, and generously applauded by the children: "The Voyage of the Wee Red Cap," by Ruth Durand; "Why the Chimes Rang," by Alden; "Old English Christmas Carols" and "The Christmas Legend," by Smith.

WILL HOLD PUBLIC RECEPTION

The Masons and the O. E. S. extend a cordial welcome to everybody in Plymouth and vicinity to attend the open night and reception at the new temple, Thursday evening, January 1st, from 8:00 to 10:00 p. m. Remember this invitation is given to everyone in Plymouth, surrounding country and neighboring towns, to come and inspect the new temple at this time. There will be no charges. You will be welcome.

The Leap Year Bridge Club was most pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Luther Peck, last week Thursday afternoon.

W. R. Shaw had the misfortune to fall on the icy steps at his home last Monday morning, sustaining a fracture of his left hip. At this writing he is as comfortable as possible, and his many friends are hoping for his speedy recovery.

The Daisy Manufacturing Company entertained its employees and the members of their families and invited guests at the Penniman Allen theatre and auditorium, Tuesday evening. A splendid feature picture and a pleasing comedy were shown on the screen, both of which were greatly enjoyed by those present. Following the picture, C. H. Bennett, president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company, introduced Prof. E. C. Ford of the Ypsilanti State Normal. Prof. Ford is a most interesting speaker, and held the closest attention of his audience. He spoke along industrial lines and the co-operation of employer and employee, and the closer relationship between the two, which now exists in all industrial enterprises, to the mutual benefit of both. It was a splendid talk, and the speaker was given a hearty round of applause at its conclusion.

Following Mr. Ford's talk, Mr. Bennett called for Frank Wilson to come to the front of the stage, where, in a few well chosen words, he presented Mr. Wilson with a handsome gold watch and chain, as a token of esteem and appreciation, from the officers and directors of the company, for his thirty years of faithful service with the Daisy Co.

The curtain then went up on another scene that made everybody sit up and take notice, for there, stretched across the stage, were three long lines upon which hung 250 small stockings. What these stockings contained, was a mystery to everyone but the officers of the company. Mr. Bennett soon appeared upon the platform, and in his usual happy manner, explained that the Daisy Co. were going to play Santa Claus, and that the stockings contained $10,000 in gold, and that it was the employees' share of the company's profits for the past year. Well, that brought the house down, of course. Mr. Bennett explained the method of its distribution among the employees, which is based upon the amount of insurance which the company provides for each. Those employees who have not been with the company long enough to have an insurance policy, were also remembered with a gift of gold. Mr. Bennett explained that this same plan of the employees sharing in the profits of the company will be followed out every year in the future. As each employee's number was called out, they came forward and received their stocking of gold.

Following the entertainment at the theatre, the crowd repaired to the auditorium, where Finzel's orchestra of Detroit, furnished delightful music for dancing. A buffet luncheon was served in the basement, consisting of coffee, sandwiches, fried cakes and pickles.

During the evening, the officers and the heads of the various departments of the factory, mingled with the crowd, and saw to it that everybody had a good time.

Coming just at Christmas time, the occasion was made doubly significant, and it was one of the most pleasant and enjoyable ever held in Plymouth. In providing this splendid entertainment and the distribution of the substantial gifts of gold, as a part of the company's profits to its employees, is a most generous and magnificent act of appreciation on the part of the officers and directors, and shows their interest in the welfare of their employees, and the splendid feeling of co-operation and good will which exists between them cannot help but augur for the good of both as the years go by.

The whole evening was a most pleasant surprise for every employee present, and that they appreciate what the company has done for them, there is not a single doubt.

Among those who are home for vacation is Miss Ella C. Wisley of Detroit.

LAWS CAN'T DO IT

We frequently hear someone exclaim, shortly after a distressing auto accident, "there should be a law against such things." The average Plymouth man seemingly doesn't stop to think that it is not a case of not having enough laws that is handicapping this country, but a case of having too many laws that are not enforced. The law of common sense will do more to prevent auto accidents than all the laws on the statute books. If a driver is determined to be careless, the law isn't going to keep him from killing or injuring someone; and neither is the law going to stop him from speeding if he is determined to take a chance on being caught. It isn't more laws that we need to cut down the toll of death and injury from automobilism—it is the education of drivers to the point where they will use common sense and good judgment, and to where they will keep constantly in mind that they are not good citizens unless they do all in their power to protect the lives and property of others.

THE PRIZE WINNER

Maybe you've read of the kind of girls who win beauty contest prizes offered by newspapers and at summer resorts, now let us tell you about the kind of girls we have around Plymouth who never win beauty prizes—then maybe you can decide which kind you'd rather have for a wife. We have the kind around here who during the spring help out in a little garden in which is growing the best of tomatoes, beans and corn. When the harvest is completed she rolls up her sleeves and cans enough of the produce to last the family through the winter, saving the best for the county fair. Being busy helping her mother in the kitchen, she finds little time to worry about the latest in hair bobs, face rouge or evening gowns. She's only an ordinary girl, but she can give her sisters of the big city many a pointer on what it takes to be naturally beautiful, as well as what it takes to make a happy home.

PLAN BIG EGG SHOW FOR FARMERS WEEK

QUALITY HEN FRUIT WILL COMPETE FOR PRIZES DURING M. A. C. ROUND-UP IN FEBRUARY.

Aristocrats of the hen fruit world, gathered from nests in Michigan as well as other states, will enter the show ring at M. A. C. during the annual Farmers Week, February 2 to 6. The occasion will be the first annual egg show, to be held under the auspices of the poultry department at the college.

Classes for the show will include: Commercial class, producers class, Boys' and Girls' Club class, and student class. Any farmer or poultry raiser will be eligible to enter his product in the show.

Standards by which the eggs will be judged include size, quality evenness, color, and other more technical points of little interest to the layman.

Similar egg shows are held by a number of other state agricultural colleges. A year ago, entries from the M. A. C. poultry flocks took a number of high awards in eastern egg shows.

LIBRARY NOTES

A good book to know about, "The Health Book," by Dr. Royal S. Copeland (U. of M.—1889). "A family doctor book noteworthy for the medical standing of the author; for its sound instruction, advice and information; for its plain, easily understood style; for the simplicity and usefulness of its alphabetical arrangement, and for what to do in an attack" heading for each article. It covers emergencies, common ailments and general health problems." In the preface, Dr. Copeland says: "It should be a part of everybody's training to know what to do in the common accidents and medical emergencies. Many a life has been saved through promptly applied, yet simple, treatment, given by a layman. Many a life has been lost because of fright and lack of knowledge prevented effective action at the critical time."

"It is the purpose of this book to tell in simple language how to relieve pain, and what to do to prevent or to cure some of the many ailments which are liable to invade every home. I shall hope to explain how to meet the simple accidents, the sudden emergencies of factory, farm and household, which are sometimes appalling if you don't know what to do."

The Christmas story-hour was very well attended considering the icy weather. Elsewhere will appear an account of it by one of the visitors.

TOTAL SUN ECLIPSE VISIBLE JANUARY 24, 1925.

The total eclipse of the sun on Saturday, January 24, 1925, will be visible in the eastern section of the United States, if the weather is favorable, in a shadow path stretching from Minnesota, just east of Red Lake, extending over Michigan, part of Canada, New York, Pennsylvania, to New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Naval observatory scientists say it will be the first time the East has been able to witness a total solar eclipse for many years. The central path of the eclipse will run very nearly through such centers of population as Buffalo, N. Y. and New Haven, Conn. The eclipse will terminate in the Atlantic Ocean, north of the British Isles. Communities outside the shadow path will witness the eclipse as partial.

In the Hudson River area the shadow path will be about 110 miles broad, the Naval Observatory believes, while in Minnesota it will be about 85 miles.

The shadow will fall over lower Michigan from 9:02 a. m. Eastern standard time to 10:15 a. m.

Girls' Methods Changed

Girls have changed their ways and their attitude toward their parents in the course of a few centuries. If we are to accept two instances cited by C. K. Shorter in the London Sphere.

"I have the assurance of a lady on whose word I can rely absolutely that the modern girl of the following story was drawn, not from the imagination of a Punch artist, but from life," he writes. "This young lady, who I should say was on the best (modern) terms with her parents, said one morning casually to her mother, 'Mother, I am going to be married at eleven o'clock on Thursday morning in St. Andrew's church, if you and father would like to come.' The considerate invitation was, I believe, accepted by both parents gratefully and gracefully."

To Explore Noted Caverns

A party of noted Italian scientists left Milan for Vittorio in the Venetian province to explore the abysses and caverns of Cansiglio. It has been known for centuries that the plateau of Cansiglio is honeycombed with caverns and deep pits. One of the pits is 1,320 feet deep and is perhaps the deepest natural pit in the world. The pits are difficult to explore because the descent must be made in complete darkness. The explorers are equipped with telephones, explosives, compasses, gas helmets and 2,700 yards of iron ropes and ladders.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Stop Stubborn Bronchial Coughs. When changeable weather or exposure to cold and wet results in bronchitis, start at once taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Standard for over fifty years, and strongly recommended for bronchial and "flu" coughs, stubbors, whooping coughs, and whooping coughs.—Advertisement.

NEWBURG

The church was full Sunday evening, to see and hear the Christmas entertainment, "The Gifts to the King," given by the Epworth League and Sunday-school. The little folks were as cute as could be with their recitations. Little Vivian Havens sang a little song, accompanied on the piano by her mother. The story of the "Three Wise Men" was beautifully read by Mrs. M. Eva Smith. Anthems sung by the choir, and a solo, "Little Babe of Bethlehem," by Miss Gladys Horton, were fine. Malcolm Cutler, Howard Cochran and Ora Chilson took the parts of the three wise men in the pantomime in a credible manner, as well as a number of other young folks who took part. There was a good donation of canned fruit, and quite a sum of money for the Children's Home.

Church services at the usual hour next Sabbath.

The Christmas party and tree at the hall Monday evening, was a great success. Such a lot of happy young people and little tots had a merry time playing games until they were tired. Then Mr. Havens made a few remarks, wishing them all a Merry Christmas, followed by a humorous reading entitled, "Shopping at Christmas Time," by Mrs. Donald Ryder. Mrs. M. Eva Smith read a Christmas selection that was decidedly funny. Old Santa made his appearance, much to the joy of the youngsters. Each class was presented with gifts of candy and oranges and toys. Mrs. Havens was presented with a beautiful linen luncheon set from the Epworth League, and Mr. Havens, a substantial sum of money. Altogether, it was one of the merriest Christmas parties ever held in Newburg. Clyde made a pretty good Santa.

Misses Anna and Ada Youngs attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Dr. Voglar, at Windsor, last week Tuesday.

Elmer Barlow's children have been sick with chicken pox and mumps. Jessie Jewell's new house is ready to be plastered.

Monday morning, the house on what used to be known as the John Kuhn farm, burned down. The cause is not known.

Charles Thompson is sick with the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith entertained at a family dinner and Christmas tree Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stevens and children and Mr. and Mrs. Simons attended the banquet given by the Daisy Employees Association at the Methodist Community Hall, last Saturday evening.

Last Saturday, the boys were having great sport skating on the Plymouth road. It was one glare of ice.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all.

Miss Louise Geney is quite ill.

AROUND ABOUT US

The Redford Cottage Hospital was opened to the public last Friday.

The taxpayers of Redford township will vote on the question of bonding the township for $100,000 for the erection of a township building, Tuesday, January 6th.

The old Central Hotel at Milford, which has been undergoing an entire remodeling, has been re-christened the St. James Hotel. The hostelry is now up-to-date, with hot and cold water and electric wiring in every room. The entire building has been repainted and decorated, and is equipped with new furniture from cellar to garret.

The Gottfredson Body Company, owners of the Harroun property in Wayne, has started production of automobile bodies, and employs 300 men. It is expected the present force will be increased to around 600 shortly after the first of the year. In addition to making bodies for the Gottfredson trucks, the plant is turning out bodies for Paige and Jewett.

Henry Ford, head of the Ford Motor company, has purchased 14 lots in the Grand River farms subdivision in Clarenceville, to enlarge the grounds surrounding the Botsford tavern, which Ford has purchased and expects to restore to its former condition when it was a post tavern. Ford also has purchased three farms in Farmington township with frontage on Grand River avenue and has negotiations in progress for the buying of more lands in Farmington village and township.—Detroit Free Press.

Finals for the Northville Gun Club championship trophy were recently held at the club's grounds in this village, and ten members with an average of 87 per cent or better were in the competition. The program consisted of 50 16-yard targets and 50 20-yard. Regardless of the unfavorable weather conditions some good scores were made. F. E. Hills was the victor on the total hundred scoring 45x50 and the 20-yard fiers and 46x50 on the scratch line. E. C. Merritt was Hill's nearest competitor and had the best of the race on the 20-yard birds. However, Merritt could not stand the grind and failed to connect with seven of the 16-yard clays.—Northville Record.

Purchased at the International Livestock Exposition, Jay Smith & Son of Scio township, oldest Shorthorn breeders in Washtenaw county, and owners of one of the best herds in Michigan, quite recently added a valuable animal to their herd through the purchase of Sultandale 1270018, noted prize winning Shorthorn Bull. Sultandale won first prize on Junior Champion awards at Ohio, Illinois and Michigan State Fairs in 1924; first prize at American Royal and Second prize at International. Edwin Knapp of Freedom township purchased a choice Shorthorn Heifer of the Augusta family. This heifer won twelfth place in class of 59 entries at the International.—Washtenaw Post.

Whitmore Lake waters are said to have lowered four and one-half feet in the past five years. The shore line has receded anywhere from 100 to 400 feet. One cottager who built at the lake five years ago has had 100 feet added to the depth of his lot, and so it is in many instances. Several beliefs are circulated as to the cause of the drying up process of the lake. One is that it may be due to the city of Ann Arbor pumping its water supply of approximately 1,068,906,000 gallons per year from underground springs on the Steere farms. Whitmore Lake is said to be spring fed and the water being pumped from the underground springs at the Steere farms is given as a possible reason for the change of water levels of Whitmore and surrounding lakes. Another belief is that the water from the underground springs which should supply our lakes is being diverted into Lake Michigan because of the enormous pumpage of water from that lake by the water works of the city of Chicago. Others scoff at the above suggestions because of the difference in ground levels of the Steere farms and Whitmore and because Lake Michigan lies in a different water basin. The latter claim the incident to be due merely to temporary derangement of local drainage and insufficient rainfall.—South Lyon Herald.

Farm Hints

The legume and live stock trail is a smooth short cut to prosperity.

Put the binder under cover this fall. Rust is expensive.

Don't look on the compost heap as a waste space. Keep it growing larger.

The farmer who wants to be really self-supporting must have a good garden.

Home-grown seed of acclimated variety and of good quality will outyield imported varieties.

Clean out the corn crib and make it as near rat-proof as possible, as rats carry away much corn.

Inaccurate farm and shipping scales will take their cost out of your pocket several times over in a year.

The farmer must meet larger investment and operation costs in farming with better production and marketing methods or he will meet failure.

It's a long lane that has no turning, and the weary road through the valley of agricultural depression has at last turned toward better out-looks.

THE THEATRE

"BEHOLD THIS WOMAN"

"Behold This Woman," which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre on Saturday, December 27th, is a peculiar photodrama in that it has three leading women, of three distinct types and all about of equal importance. Irene Rich portrays the movie star, who ultimately wins out and marries the hero. Rosemary Thelby handles the role of dancer and "vamp" who tries her best to lead the hero astray. Marguerite de la Motte is cast as a real pal and wins most of the sympathy, although she loses out in her struggle for the hero's love.

These three women were selected from a score of possibilities because they were most admirably suited to the roles through their personalities and popular appeal. They are three of the most popular leading women available with picture audiences.

"Behold This Woman" is so arranged that none of the three roles is in any way subordinated to the others and each one might be termed a stellar role. Each calls for intense emotional acting and great histrionic ability.

Rosemary Thelby is afforded ample opportunity to display her terpsichorean ability; Irene Rich her womanly appeal and charm; Marguerite de la Motte her sincerity and open frankness. It is seldom that such a combination is found in a single production.

The three principal male roles are about equally divided. Charles B. Post, because of his herculean build, was selected as the hero; Anders Randolph portrays the cold, reserved woman-hater who is bent on saving his brother from the wiles and caprices of women at any cost. Harry Myers has the heavy role, but even this is different from the average conception of a movie "villain." He is one of the lovable type, with a good heart who is always ready to do the right thing when shown that he is in the wrong.

"CLASSMATES"

"Classmates," Ricard Barthelme's new First National picture, coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, December 31 and January 1, has a cast of typical Barthelme excellence.

Unlike many motion picture stars, Barthelme believes in surrounding himself with able players. He has had some of the best known actresses in the celluloid world as his leading women, including Dorothy Gish, Dorothy Mackaill, Louise Huff, Gladys Hulette and others of note. For "Classmates" he selected Madge Evans, who was the first child star of the movies. For five years she starred with the old World Film Company. Then she retired from pictures to go to school. Now, at fifteen, she is back on the silver sheet.

One of the important roles of "Classmates" is played by Charlotte Walker, who has starred on both the stage and the screen. Among her greatest footlight successes were "The Warrens of Virginia" and "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

Other distinguished members of the picture's cast are Reginald Sheffield, a young English actor; Beach Cooke, who has scored a number of stage hits with Leo Ditrichstein and other stars of the speaking theatre; James Bradbury, Jr., Herbert Corthell, comedian; Claude Booke, Antrim Short and Richard Harlan.

The entire student corps of West Point appears in "Classmates."

PERRINSVILLE

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to every reader of the Plymouth Mail.

Mrs. Emory Holmes of Detroit, is slowly improving at this writing.

Gerald Hix had the misfortune to slip and fall last Saturday morning, in front of the Rouge plant on his way to work. A Dodge coupe ran over him. The Springwells police rushed him to the hospital, where an x-ray was taken. Although no bones were broken, he was badly bruised. He was brought to the home of Ed. Holmes, where he is being cared for.

Don't forget the dance at the Perrinsville hall, Saturday evening. Everybody come and have a good time. Ladies' four-piece orchestra.

Quite a number attended the play in the hall last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hjerpe and Mr. and Mrs. George Baehr motored to Rochester, Sunday, and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baird.

Mr. and Mrs. Erland Bridge of Plymouth and Charlotte Baehr went to Detroit, Christmas shopping, Monday afternoon.

In spite of the ice, a good crowd attended the Cooper school entertainment.

Ed. Holmes, who was able to be out, slipped on the ice and fell, hurting his head. So he is again confined to the house.

GRANGE TO SING AT M. A. C. FARMERS WEEK

CASH PRIZES UP FOR WINNERS
IN FIRST RURAL SINGING
CONTEST—EXPECT BIG EN-TRY LIST.

Local Granges from all parts of Michigan will compete in a special rural community singing contest at the Michigan Agricultural College on Wednesday, February 4, in connection with the annual Farmers Week at the college.

The contest, which will be the first of its kind, is to become an annual event. An endowment fund given by Mr. R. E. Olds of Lansing, will provide cash prizes from year to year, the contests to be managed by M. A. C.

The various local Granges in the state were considered best organized to put on a singing contest on short notice, and so were invited by the college to stage the Farmers Week event, the first under the Olds Fund.

Each Grange entering must have not less than eight singers, and just as many above that number as possible. Each group will sing three songs, one of which is to be "America." The cash prizes for the three winners will be seventy-five, sixty and forty-five dollars, while a fifteen dollar award will be made to each group scoring sixty points or more in the contest. Recognized musical judges will preside over the awarding of prizes.

Entry blanks were mailed out this week, and a large number of local Granges are looked for when the master of ceremonies starts the songfest on February 4th.

WIN AT NATION'S LARGEST STOCK SHOW.

The Gotfredson Land Company of Superior township, and L. C. Kelly & Son of Cherry Hill, were successful cattle exhibitors at the International Livestock exposition held in Chicago the week of December 1st.

In the Shorthorn class Mr. Gotfredson's herd won first cow and calf and ninth prize bull. These prizes were won in keen competition, the classes being exceptionally large.

L. C. Kelly & Son won third prizes on four entries, cow with calf by side, two-year-old heifer, senior yearling bull and breeder's herd. They also won second prize, aged bull, and fourth prize, on junior yearling heifer.

A CARD—We desire to extend our sincerest thanks to all who took part in the program, helped toward the supper, and especially to Mr. Hough and Mr. Burrows for their donations toward our banquet. Daisy Employees' Association.

We wish to express our Thanks and Appreciation for your liberal patronage during the year just closing, and wish you one and all a Happy and Prosperous New Year. BAPTIST NOTES

The Christmas program last Wednesday evening, was satisfactory in every way. The music, pageants and the recitations were of the best. So Christmas Eve was a happy night for all, and when Santa appeared the boys and girls were very happy. So it was "A Merry Christmas," and Santa said good-by until 1925.

The ice on the walks and roads kept a good many from church last Sunday. But the Sunday-school was its usual size, and a good spirit prevailed.

We were glad to see some of the young people back from school, Sunday. Alta Hamill was home from Ann Arbor, Duane Sayles and Elbert Seger from Kalamazoo College, and Alton Sayles from Ypsilanti.

Elbert Seger led the B. Y. P. U. last Sunday evening; and it was a real good meeting. Many took part in the discussion.

The B. Y. P. U. are invited to the parsonage, to spend New Year's Eve in a social way, and to watch the old year out and welcome the new as it arrives. They will all sit down to supper about eleven p. m. Every B. Y. P. U. is expected to be there.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

We are sorry to learn of Superintendent Shaw's fall on the ice, which prevented his attendance at the annual supper. Our prayers ascend for his speedy recovery.

Chief Skiuhushu is instructed not to bring his tomahawk or scalping knife; so you need not be afraid of hearing him.

The children's program entitled: "The Night Before Christmas," which was given last Sunday night, was very interesting, and set forth the need of the heathen world for Christian teachers. Ida Taylor represented China; Irene Humphries, India;

Janette Blickenstaff, Japan; Jean Weeks, Africa; Marian Taylor, Siam; Mrs. Charles Humphries was Mary; H. J. Green, Edwin Schrader, Elton Ashton and Francis Hathaway were shepherds. These all appeared in a dream to the little girl (Roberta Chappel) after her mother (Alice Hathaway) and father (Perrin Hawk) had tucked her in bed the night before Christmas, with her little mite-box containing pennies for the missionaries tightly clasped in her hand. Several solo numbers were given during the program, which was under the charge of Mrs. Frank Burrows and Mrs. Charles Humphries.

The church was beautifully trimmed and decorated for Christmas last Sunday through, the kindness and skill of H. J. Green and his assistants. Our church is fortunate in having such able artists.

The icy walks prevented many from hearing the splendid Christmas music prepared by the choir for last Sunday morning. So they are requested to repeat it next Sunday—and may the weather permit may to attend.

METHODIST NOTES

You are invited to attend the Watch Night service next Wednesday night, from 9:00 to 12:00. A delightful program will be presented, with intermission for recreation and refreshments. Spend the closing hours of the old year and the opening moments of the new, in prayer and hope to God.

Preceding the Watch Night Service, the moving picture program which was postponed from last Friday night, will be presented at 7:00 p. m., "The Man Who Played God." You will enjoy this picture. A charge of 25c and 15c is made for this part of the program to cover the cost of the pictures.

Various departments of the Sunday-school have been having Christmas parties during the past week.

Why not have the joy of Christmas with us every day in the year. We can if we have the joy of Christmas in our lives. Regular attendance at church will help to inculcate the spirit of the living Christ in our lives. Prayer and study of His word will also help.

A Happy New Year to each and every member of our church and congregation, and to the whole community.

We are invited to join with the Presbyterian service next Sunday evening, at which time an Indian Chief, dressed in full costume, will speak on the work of his own people in this country. A tree will offering will be taken to help the work among the Indians.

Have you obtained your membership ticket in the Recreational Association yet? The committee needs your co-operation.

METHODIST CHURCH CELEBRATES CHRISTMAS.

The Christmas spirit has been in full sway for the last week or so at the Methodist church. What with Christmas sermons and class parties and Sunday-school programs and cantas, etc., it makes us believe that once more, if we hadn't been able to believe it before, "Christmas time is here, the happiest time of all the year."

On Wednesday, December 10, the Ladies' Aid Society and Missionary Society had a Christmas party at the church, with a pot-luck dinner at noon, and a delightful program following. Last Wednesday evening the Boy Scouts had a pot-luck supper together, followed by games and distribution of presents. On the same evening, Mrs. Nagle's Sunday-school class had a party at the parsonage, and enjoyed a happy evening. Friday night, Mrs. Bartlett's girls enjoyed a pot-luck supper and evening together. On Tuesday afternoon of this week, the primary department of the Sunday-school were invited to a party tendered them by the teachers and officers of that department. The mothers of the children were also invited. After an interesting program of games and fun, the children were each given a bag of candy and an ice cream cone. The mothers also received a pop corn ball each.

Sunday evening, the annual Sunday-school Christmas program was held, with a number of recitations and songs by different members of the school, which added much to the spirit of Christmas, as the little tots always do, when they take part. Christmas time is always childhood's heritage, and the season would not be complete in its joys if they did not have some part. The music by the Hi-Y quartette, and the solo by Mrs. Wm. Bake added much to the spirit of the occasion also. The second part of the evening's entertainment was in the nature of a Christmas cantata: "The World's Redeemer," given by the church choir, and very well rendered, with Miss Winifred Jolliffe at the organ. Music is likewise one of the special features of all Christmas celebrations, and this was no exception.

At the close of Sunday evening's program, a White Gift offering was taken for the work of our Children's Home at Farmington, and the Bronson Methodist hospital at Kalamazoo, amounting to nearly $200. The platform was very prettily decorated in white, with little Christmas trees arranged around, and a cradle draped in white at one side. Altogether, it was a worth-while celebration of the birthday of our King and Saviour.

Alsike on Wet and Sour Soils Thrives

Plant Is Hardy Enough to Stand Severe Winter.

Those who have grown alsike clover for a number of years pronounce it just the thing for wet and sour soils. Its growth is intermediate between medium-red clover and white clover, but it will grow where red clover will not. Being a perennial, it produces crops for hay or seed for several years and is hardy enough to stand a more severe winter than red clover.

Alsike clover is fine in hay and pasture mixtures, but those who have grown it alone do not advocate this practice since it has a fine stem which causes it to lodge, says a writer in Successful Farming. When seeded with timothy and red clover, it makes a good horse hay, free from the dust that is always present in clover hay. This is because alsike clover has a smooth plant. Many plant this mixture who formerly only used red clover as an insurance against failure.

Where the ground is too wet for red clover, alsike will usually take its place, and it is not attacked by the clover anthracnose which red clover is subject to. Since alsike will not make the growth red clover will, it should not be substituted for red clover if this can be grown. However, where red clover is uncertain, a mixture of the two with timothy has advantages.

Some make a practice of seeding alsike broadcast on winter grain when the ground is checked with frost or after a light snowfall, so that the seed is carried into the ground by the melting of the snow. Harrowing when the ground is dry is a good plan in this case. It is best put in with a drill when sown with spring-sown grain.

Since alsike clover seed is about half the size of red clover, one-half part of alsike and one part of red clover seed makes an even mixture. When seeded in this proportion, the quality of the hay is increased and the stand is thickened. It is claimed that the mixture will yield a greater weight of hay than either alone.

Poultrymen Should Keep Watch on Mash Hoppers

Poultrymen should feed a well balanced, appetizing ration; and, especially, they should be cognizant of whether the food is being eaten, and whether the food stream is moving as it should.

Any evident decrease in feed consumption foretells the coming of one of two things: A decrease in egg production or sickness, perhaps both. As hens prefer the grain feed to dry mash, any loss of appetite is reflected in a decreased consumption of mash. This is fed in hoppers, which holds three or four day's supply, making a decreased consumption more difficult to see. Therefore, watch your mash hoppers. They are as horoscopes pointing to your future fortune.

Sow More Wheat When Late

One must sow wheat late in the fall to avoid the Hessian fly, and late sowing need not detract from the yield in anyway. I have always sowed my wheat late, and can get just as good a crop that way, but it is well to sow an extra peck to each acre, says a writer in the Farm Journal. The peck will surely be more than returned at harvest time. I have raised wheat for many years, sowing red clover on it in the spring to be plowed back green in the fall. This supplies humus and nitrogen for another wheat crop.

Eradicating Wild Onion

Crow garlic is the name frequently applied to the wild onion. Probably the best method of exterminating the wild onion is putting the ground down to grass for a few years, and pasturing it closely. Simply plow the ground deeply and seed heavily to the grass, and keep a heavy sod, maintaining it by fall sowings of additional grass seed each year. Pasture just as closely as possible. It is advisable to run sheep on such pastures, rather than dairy cows, of course.

Christmas Giving

Everybody makes Christmas gifts—perhaps one or two, perhaps many. We give for friendship, for affection—above all for remembrance. We want our gift to carry with it a thought of the giver—and to keep that thought alive as long as possible.

This is where electric home-using appliances are especially desirable for Christmas gifts—beautiful, useful, ever-welcome electric devices for the table, the living room, the library, the kitchen, or my lady's toilet. They keep the giver in remembrance the year round.

Choose no Christmas gift till you have looked at the very attractive display of electrical home appliances in our salesroom. Come today and come early. The days are flying.

SCHOOL NOTES

BOYS' GAME WITH YPSI

Tuesday night, the Plymouth boys defeated Ypsi by a score of 24 to 7. This game was merely for practice, but showed the improved passing and basket shooting of the Plymouth team.

Line-up—Kenyon, f.; Millard, f.; Carnie, c.; Ambrus, g.; Mills, g. Substitutions—Reiman for Ambrus, Doudt for Millard, Holmes for Mills.

BOYS' GAME WITH ALUMNI

Plymouth boys defeated the Alumni Thursday night, by a score of 22 to 19. In the first half the score was 18 to 8 in favor of the High school, but in the last half the High school made only four points to the eleven of the Alumni. The passes and teamwork of the High school were not nearly as good as that in the Ypsi game, although the line-up was practically the same.

GIRLS' GAME

A tie was the result of the game Thursday night, between the girls of the first and second teams. The contest was slowed up a great deal by the ball being continually out of bounds. At the end of the first half, the score was 8 to 6 in favor of the second team. This shows there is good material for a winning team because of the large amount of competition. In the last half, the first team made two scores and the second team one, making the final score 10 to 10.

The line-up—Second team, W. Draper, f.; A. Hathaway, f.; B. Freeman, j. c.; I. Bennett, r. c.; L. Shryer, g.; M. Miller, g. First team: Marian Williams, f.; E. England, f.; G. Bird, j. c.; J. Whipple, r. c.; D. Caldwell, g.; G. Hake, g.

GRADE NOTES

The first grade had their Christmas party, Friday, at which all the children received pretty little gifts.

The first A and second B filled a Christmas stocking for Eugene D'Angelo, who has been in the hospital. They also gave a program, Friday, which was attended by the mothers.

Last week visitors of the B first, were: Mrs. Glenn Jewell, Mrs. Russell Kirk, Mrs. William Slatzki, Mrs. Charles Bichy, Mrs. Ernest Wilson. At their Christmas party, Friday, all the children received large sticks of candy. They were very grateful to Mrs. Bichy who gave them. A large red stocking was filled with toys and books for other children to be distributed by the Red Cross nurse.

The A class of the kindergarten, have started work in the pre-primer, and are doing well.

Writing letters to Santa Claus is all right, say the children of the second grade, for he made his appearance in their room Friday afternoon, in response to the summons. Last week they gave a Christmas party for the birds, covering a tree with crumbs and good things. They are also making presents for their fathers and mothers.

Today's Reflections

A man of few words hasn't any business trying to solve these new cross word puzzles.

A lot of people will be unhappy in heaven when they find they cannot pass any laws or institute any reforms.

A Seattle dancer fell and broke her nose. She must have been doing the "aviation glide."

There are a few people in Plymouth who can show you your faults with as much pleasure as if they were pointing out the sights of the town to a stranger.

The good auto drivers do not die young—but they make a lot of others do so.

Haven't you noticed that some fellows put in more energy shirking than they would need to put in working?

They say the stock market is running wild, but it won't be half as wild as some of the fellows who are now trying to keep up with it will be a little later on.

Our definition of a "flapper" is a girl who thinks that the most important thing in the world is getting her complexion on straight.

We sometimes feel that a good many divorces could be avoided if the cooking schools of the country had more scholars.

It doesn't do any good for Plymouth parents to worry over their children—all they do is worry their children by it.

A thrifty man thinks he is a good spender, but that isn't a modern girl's idea of a good spender.

One thing every Plymouth mother knows that it is a harder job to train a husband than it is to train his child.

Somehow or another we came very near letting this Christmas get by without wondering if the necktie your wife gave you suited us.

Speaking of income taxes most of us around Plymouth are more interested in howcome than we are in the income.

We heard a Plymouth man say yesterday that they call it a "bumper crop" when the prices bump the farmers.

PLYMOUTH MAN CHANGES NAME

Gets Court Permission to Relinquish Father's Name in Favor of the Historic Cognomen of His Maternal Line.

To the Editor:—
On September 16, 1924, and after long private deliberation, the writer completed action which legally changed his surname from Hillmer to that of Starkweather. Since that time, and in commendation of such action, a number of congratulatory letters have been received. Others have commended in various ways. On the other hand, a few people, less familiar, perhaps, with the motives back of the action, have questioned the wisdom of the same. Some have even been inclined to criticize. A majority of the writer's acquaintances, it is believed, are still unaware that the preceding has taken place at all. And in the beginning there is, quite naturally, a little confusion. One by one, as the old acquaintances chance to present themselves, and as they learn of the change in name, the one question invariably asked is "Why did you do that?" or "What was the matter with the old one?" In answer, there is really a multiplicity of reasons, and more, in fact, than the average person would care to listen to at one hearing. The entire matter, being a purely personal one, and concerning principally only the writer and the writer's family, is one to excite no special interest outside these intimate circles. Nevertheless the question continues to persist. Old friends and acquaintances, having known the writer for many years under one name, no doubt have a proper and legitimate right to inquire as to the reasons why he should have chosen a new one. To all such, and to any others who may in any way be concerned or interested, the writer herewith, and gladly, presents the full text of his recent petition to the Probate Court of Wayne County, praying that his surname be changed from Hillmer to Starkweather. A copy of the order of the Court so granting. Incidentally, it may be added that the name of the petitioner's entire family is automatically changed by the one and same order of the Court.

Whereas, in contrast to your petitioner's maternal ancestry, he it known that his paternal line, while presumably good, is entirely unknown and unaccounted for. Knowledge of his paternal forefathers ends with the first grand sire. Your petitioner's father had no knowledge of his grandparents. Your petitioner's father never heard their name. They spoke a foreign language. They lived and toiled in an environment entirely strange and unfamiliar to their American descendants. The one language, and the one mode of life, known to your petitioner is one which, in its varying stages of transition, has been practiced in his maternal line for a thousand years. These facts, and in consideration of these facts, and as heretofore stated, your petitioner desires to identify his name with that portion of his prior personality of which he feels he is most characteristically a part.

Furthermore, and in consideration of the fact that there is now a movement to organize a federation comprising several thousand Starkweathers, united by the common bond of kinship, and whereas your petitioner is deeply interested in the formation of this organization, he feels that his part in this union would be of greater convenience and advantage should he bear the name of his beloved grandfather.

To those of his relatives of Hillmer descent who might not be in entire accord with his intended action, he would stress the fact that, though the name be changed, in no way does he lose himself to those who are near and dear to him. He reminds them that he will continue the same affiliations, respect the same ideals, cherish the same traditions, possess the same human sympathies, be moved by the same impulses, entertain the same ideas, be affected by the same influences, recognize the same relatives and friends, be guided by the same conscience and every aspect and manner lead the same life and practice the same precepts as when he lived under the Hillmer cognomen. He contends that the only possible difference the change of name could make, in character or in personality, would be in the direction of improvement. For the name of Starkweather stands for all that is good in human conduct, and your petitioner maintains that to strive to uphold all that the name implies is a fit task for any man.

Furthermore and however, though your petitioner relinquish his father's name in preference to one which by traits and characteristics he feels he most particularly belongs, he has in no wise forsaken the interests that are common to all Hillmers in general. Though the name itself be changed, he holds himself as truly a Hillmer as before. He is as much interested in the Hillmer name, and in all persons who bear it, as before. Should there be any doubt, be it known that, after sixty-seven years of complete separation, it remained for your petitioner to mend the link of severed ties between the heretofore lost and abandoned kinsfolk of paternal name in Germany, and those more fortunate of the family who have lived in America. Your petitioner has not only sent these kinsfolk, otherwise destitute and without hope in their afflicted land, money, food and raiment, to say nothing of American pictures and literature, but has taken steps to bring at least one of their number to America, and to share in the rights and privileges of his own home environment.

Therefore, it should be understood that there is no disparagement of his father's name intended in the action to change his own. He gave his love to his father who during his life was known and respected as an intelligent and influential citizen, as such and as his beloved father, your petitioner respects and honors his name.

Be it known, then, that your petitioner draws this petition with full reverence for his father, Henry William Hillmer, whose hardy and Christian parents came from the Kingdom of Hanover, to Plymouth, Michigan, in 1855.

However, and despite the multiplicity of reasons herein given in support of your petitioner's intended action, there is perhaps one primal motive which is not to be overlooked, and which should be prominently aligned with those of his grandparents who, WHILE IN INTIMATE DAILY CONTACT WITH THEIR ORDINARY LIFE, never once permitted occasion for any angry gesture, who never once fell into a cross nor discouraging word, who never found occasion to ridicule, who never once failed in their keenest and sincerest sympathy, and yet who, on proper occasion, could effectively reprove without offence. Your petitioner refers, in this instance, not only to his grandfather, George Anson Starkweather, but also to his equally beloved grandmother, Lydia Amelia (Heywood) Starkweather.

Your petitioner further represents that such proposed change of name is not sought with any fraudulent or evil intent, and that he has given due notice of his intention to file this application by publication as required by law in the Detroit Legal News, a newspaper printed and published in said County of Wayne as appears

Petition for Change of Name of Karl Starkweather Hillmer, an Adult.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Wayne, ss.
PROBATE COURT FOR SAID COUNTY.

Know all Men by These Presents, that your petitioner, Karl Starkweather Hillmer, respectively represents himself to have arrived at the age of thirty-four years, and to have been a resident of said County for the same period; that he desires to have his name changed from the aforesaid Karl Starkweather Hillmer to Karl Hillmer Starkweather. Be it known that his reasons for desiring this change of name are the following:

Whereas, his maternal grandfather, the late George Anson Starkweather, of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, gave issue to three daughters, BUT NO SONS, left no male progeny to continue the direct line of his name and family traditions.

Whereas at all times he enjoyed the closest relationship with his grandfather, learning and developing under his kindly guidance, frequently living with him in his home for prolonged periods, often accompanying him on his errands of business, spending many of his happiest moments in his company, and finally nursing him during his last illness—for these reasons he came to feel that their relationship was more similar to that of father and son, rather than that which actually existed.

Therefore, and in testimony of the fact of their mutual attachment for each other, your petitioner firmly believes that his maternal grandfather would be agreeable to his desire to preserve the name and family traditions, in the manner set forth in this petition. Your petitioner asserts that his intended action is one which he has had in earnest contemplation for a period of more than twenty years.

Furthermore, whereas the name of his grandfather and his family line, is one that has been held in respect and admiration for many generations, your petitioner feels that it is incumbent upon him to preserve the identity of this noble line forever, insofar as it may be in his power to do so.

Furthermore, your petitioner believes it to be entirely fit and proper for him to wish to particularly identify his name with that portion or branch of his ancestry of which by far the greatest knowledge is extant. Be it known then that your petitioner, in his maternal line, traces his ancestry nine generations to the original and only known strain of the Starkweather line in America, and through devious routes through many more generations in Europe.

Be it known that Robert Starkweather came from the Isle of Man and settled in Roxbury, Massachusetts, not later than the year 1640, from which time the Starkweathers have been identified with the development of America. They have honorably filled many important responsibilities in life, to-day being scattered from New York to San Francisco, from Duluth to Dallas. They are favorably known wherever found, and are engaged in every walk and profession of life. Your petitioner's great-grandfather, Sergt. John Starkweather, father of William Starkweather who in 1825 settled on the site now occupied by the greater portion of the village of Plymouth, served in the American Revolutionary War. In proof of this his name may be found enrolled in the records of the War Department at Washington. Furthermore, your petitioner's grandfather, the late George Anson Starkweather, and son of William Starkweather, subsequently told him that HIS grandfather, John Starkweather, not only served in the American Army during the War for Independence, but also that he was one of those who fought in our country's defense in the memorable Battle of Bunker Hill.

And furthermore, be it known that the portion of the Starkweather maternal ancestry may be authentically traced to a period ancient in the history of civilization. It may be directly traced, one generation upon another, to the early Scandinavian Kings and Vikings; to Hengist, old King of Saxony; to Eghert, first king of all England; to Charlemagne; to Alfred the Great; to William the Conqueror, and through many more equally interesting genealogies too numerous here to mention.

In America, your petitioner's maternal forebears are nearly all known and accounted for. They were nearly all in America at the beginning of the foundation of the Republic. Their names appear conspicuously in the recognized histories of many Colonial towns. Some were numbered among the Pilgrim fathers and early Puritans. A branch of your petitioner's maternal ancestry in America may be traced to a period earlier than the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock. Reference is made to the name of the early Cape Cod fisherman, who, making permanent settlement there, were, in part, later assimilated into the Pilgrim Colony at Plymouth.

Whereas, in contrast to your petitioner's maternal ancestry, he it known that his paternal line, while presumably good, is entirely unknown and unaccounted for. Knowledge of his paternal forefathers ends with the first grand sire. Your petitioner's father had no knowledge of his grandparents. Your petitioner's father never heard their name. They spoke a foreign language. They lived and toiled in an environment entirely strange and unfamiliar to their American descendants. The one language, and the one mode of life, known to your petitioner is one which, in its varying stages of transition, has been practiced in his maternal line for a thousand years. These facts, and in consideration of these facts, and as heretofore stated, your petitioner desires to identify his name with that portion of his prior personality of which he feels he is most characteristically a part.

Furthermore, and in consideration of the fact that there is now a movement to organize a federation comprising several thousand Starkweathers, united by the common bond of kinship, and whereas your petitioner is deeply interested in the formation of this organization, he feels that his part in this union would be of greater convenience and advantage should he bear the name of his beloved grandfather.

To those of his relatives of Hillmer descent who might not be in entire accord with his intended action, he would stress the fact that, though the name be changed, in no way does he lose himself to those who are near and dear to him. He reminds them that he will continue the same affiliations, respect the same ideals, cherish the same traditions, possess the same human sympathies, be moved by the same impulses, entertain the same ideas, be affected by the same influences, recognize the same relatives and friends, be guided by the same conscience and every aspect and manner lead the same life and practice the same precepts as when he lived under the Hillmer cognomen. He contends that the only possible difference the change of name could make, in character or in personality, would be in the direction of improvement. "OLD MAN RATTLER" TELLS LIFE STORY

Feels His Family Has Been Misrepresented.

If you should ever be in a rattlesnake country it is always advisable to remember that there are two ends to a rattlesnake. The rear end speaks in tones all its own. Very much like the rattling of peas in a large dry-pod—once heard and never forgotten.

The threefold rattle is always sounded before the snake strikes, except in the molting season when the rattler is about to discard his old jacket.

Then he is always docile, miserable and almost blind. He lies coiled, all ready to strike on the slightest provocation. Therefore the rattler is not heard. The musical rattling noise is made by the threefold movement made in coiling. Until the reptile is coiled—it cannot strike, and in striking it can only spring its own length.

An English writer says: There are five handsome rattlesnakes at the zoo, each with a stump of rings at the eloquent end, rings like celluloid or bone-shavings; each ring fastened to the next by a tiny button. When a rattler is prepared to discuss business he sends a sort of electrical shiver along his frame, and the rattles start at once. It is quite loud.

I peeped in through the spyhole at the back of the rattlesnakes' den, and started the music, while the biggest told me interesting facts about his family.

"Such a lot of foolish things have been written about my rattler," he said. "Some say I lure birds with it, the birds thinking it is the hum and buzz of insects. What nonsense! Birds are not such fools."

"Then another says I terrify my prey with it. Wrong again."

"Somebody else is of opinion that it is a love song; my way of going courting. Do I look like a loveless snake at this moment?"

"As a matter of fact, I am really angry, and I'm doing this to frighten you. Not that I really wish to bite. I'm a bit frightened myself."

"You know, of course, that I have poison fangs in my mouth, and a reserve supply of sprouts waiting to become fangs if one of the two in use gets broken. They are just like hypodermic syringes, and when the fangs strike the poison comes out. That, of course, is well known. Now I will tell you a secret."

"My supply of poison is limited. I have to be careful of it. That is why I do not wish to strike unless necessary. It is better for me to frighten enemies away."

"So I would rather not bite if you will go away. I feel like the fond father who tells his son: 'My lad, it will hurt me to thrash you as much as it hurts you.' Of course, no son ever believes it. Neither will you about my bite."

I lowered a stick toward him. In a flash the rattler's head struck at it. I think he was disappointed at the result.

Life is so full of deceptions

Educating Workers

The first to advocate and put into practice the education of workmen in the application of science to the practical arts was Dr. George Birbeck, who was born in Yorkshire, England, 147 years ago. He was the son of a banker and educated for the practice of medicine. While professor of the Andersonian institution at Glasgow, Scotland, he established popular lectures for artisans, thus laying the foundation for the mechanics' institutions which later on came into existence all over Great Britain.

The first lecture at Glasgow attracted 75 artisans who went away so enthusiastic that some 200 men attended the second lecture and 500 were on hand at the next. Later on Doctor Birbeck's grateful pupils presented him with a silver cup as a token of their esteem. He extended the course to London, and a permanent mechanics' institution was founded with Birbeck as president.

Not Her Fault

At a banquet in Washington, Secretary Mellon told the following story: "Marjorie," said the secretary, "is the only girl among several children, all older than herself. Consequently, when they all go to grandpa's ranch to play, she wants to romp and ride and keep up to the boys in all their activities, but is often restrained by her mother, saying: 'Remember, dear, you're a girl.'"

"Finally, one day, Marjorie broke out in rebellion and cried:

"If I'd picked myself out, I'd never been what I am."—Los Angeles Times.

Ideas of Mount Ararat

It is reported that American capital is interested in transforming Mount Ararat into a pleasure resort. A railroad is to be built to its summit and shelter and entertainment for tourists are to be provided. Few mountains in the world are as familiar by name as Ararat, because of its Biblical associations, but most people's mental picture of it includes the ark resting at the exact peak and its immensely varied population disembarking while the waters of the flood recede below.

World's Largest Tunnel

The largest tunnel in the world is the Shandaken tunnel, in the Catskill mountains, which carries water to New York city. It is 18.1 miles long, 11 1/2 feet high, and 10 1/2 feet wide.
