"HE WHO GETS SLAPPED"

Lon Chaney, whose characterizations during the past have caused him to be regarded as the prince of all screen character actors, has scored another triumph in "He Who Gets Slapped," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, February 1 and 2.

There is more of Chaney and less of make-up in this tragic picture of the circus clown who sacrifices his life to save the girl he loves, than in any picture he has made recently, and Chaney demonstrates that he does not need an elaborate make-up to put across any character he attempts.

The plot of "He Who Gets Slapped" has to do with a scientist whose life work and his wife are stolen from him by a rich man who posed as his benefactor. Unable to make a living any other way the scientist becomes a circus clown.

His life in the circus, his unspoken love for a beautiful girl circus rider and his sacrifice to save her from the man who ruined his life form as convincing a dramatic story as the screen has ever given us.

Chaney is the outstanding figure in this gripping play, powerful in the more dramatic parts, never overdoing and displaying rare intelligence in the interpretation of this difficult role.

Others in the cast include Marc Mac Dermott and Tully Marshall, the latter in a clever bit of character work; Norma Shearer, John Gilbert, circus performers and lovers, and Ford Sterling.

"He Who Gets Slapped" should take its place among the best pictures of 1925.

DARNALL-DAVEY

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Davey, Saturday evening, when their daughter, Beatrice Ellen was united in marriage to Roy R. Darnall of Detroit. A very impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. George P. Davey of Flint. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Thelma Davey, the groom by Thos. E. Davey, Jr., brother of the bride. The Mandelstam Wedding March was played by Miss Marjorie Davey of Flint. Only the immediate relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Darnall will make their home in Detroit. Their many friends wish them a long and happy wedded life.

CANDIDATE GIVES HIS VIEWS

TAXPAYERS, VOTERS, AND CITIZENS OF THE VILLAGE OF PLYMOUTH.

I beg to thank the citizens who have placed my name on the ballot for commissioner at the coming election. I beg to state a few facts for the benefit of the voters, taxpayers and citizens that I believe will be of great benefit and help to you in solving our future problems. In setting forth these facts, I shall refer to you Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer, Mr. and Mrs. Voter and Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, as the stockholders. It is you who are furnishing the money with which we carry on, and you are stockholders in every sense of the word.

I wonder how many of you stockholders, have given any consideration to the present situation of the village of Plymouth? We unfortunately, have in our fair village, men who voice their opinions to the effect that we should further bond the town, and go right ahead and make extensive improvements, in order that we might keep abreast of the time, and be better prepared for the future expansion of the village.

I wonder how many of you stockholders have given any thought or serious study to the bond question? Have you ever given any thought to the important effect bonds have upon your home and your future? Possibly there are but a few of you stockholders who have given this important question any more than a passing thought, and yet this is the most important question in the life of man today.

Have you stockholders ever given any thought, or made any study of the effect obtained when a city or village starts to bond? I do not think you have, and I am going to explain the effects, believing of course that it will be of great benefit to you, and of especial benefit to all of the people of Plymouth and any others who might chance to read these statements.

When a city or town begins to issue bonds, these bonds are almost immediately effective in higher rents, they then force higher living costs, unreasonable bond values. The result is then unrest among the people. Bonds cause people to live among unsanitary conditions. They cause bread lines and soup kitchens in times of depression. They prevent the mating of the male and female. They take the nourishment from the infant and its mother; they soon surround a beautiful city with garbage and tar paper shacks; they cause unrest and dissatisfaction among the people which results in domestic unhappiness. That, dear stockholders, is only a small part of the serious results of bonds. That is only a small part, and I believe I am safe in saying that ninety per cent of the present unrest and dissatisfaction among our people can be traced directly back to bonds.

And now, stockholders, after you have reached down in your purse and paid the higher taxes to bring about these conditions, what is the result? You have gone ahead—yes, you positively have gone ahead. Gone ahead in just one respect—population. You sure have done a wonderful thing. You have increased our population. Yes, sir, you have surrounded our fair city with garbage and tar paper shacks.

You have gone ahead in one respect, gone ahead in population, but you have gone backward or stood still in one hundred, yes, one thousand other respects. And where do you stand then, stockholders? You are in a worse position than you were before. Why? Because we have now placed ourselves in a position where we are forced to issue further bonds with which to install new water mains, new sewage, and all the other improvements that are necessary in expansion. The result is—the good citizens lose interest in your city, and seek a more desirable location in which to live—a place where living costs are not so high. And you, the stockholders, who have sweat blood to pay the high cost of all these results, are now placed where you are going to pay a much higher tax than you ever paid before, and you are going to continue to pay for a good many years to come. And, stockholders, what market value do you get for this money you have paid out? You get less than forty cents of real value for every dollar paid out; and on long time bonds you get a much smaller benefit. That, dear stockholders, is the result of bonds, and that is the situation that faces you today. You have paid, and you are still paying and you will be paying for a considerable time to come. Bonds enrich the money lender, the land shark and a few others, and they bring misery and suffering to thousands of others. In issuing bonds, you benefit a few, and for the majority you bring a heavy burden upon yourself.

These men who cite the wonder-

Just a Few Reasons Why We Need the Chamber of Commerce

Because it stands for community betterment.

Because it promotes civic improvements.

Because it co-operates with the village authorities in every movement that stands for progress and the public comfort and convenience.

Because it fosters a community spirit of helpfulness.

Because it is unselfish in its motives and represents no particular group of citizens, but stands for the common good of all.

Because it aids and encourages industrial enterprises to locate in Plymouth.

Because it boosts for Plymouth, first, last and all the time.

ful expansion of Ypsilanti, Pontiac and other cities, have not made any thorough study of bonds. If so, they could not suggest that you and I go ahead and bond our city for the purpose of making improvements to keep abreast of the times. That's the situation you face today. Do you know that Plymouth, right today, right this minute, is at the turning point in its history?

You, the stockholders, must wake up to the situation that now confronts. We have two roads to follow, the right and the wrong, the sane and the insane. Are we going to follow the example of Ypsilanti, Pontiac, or some other city, or shall we profit by their mistake. We are going ahead with your help, and follow the right road, but not to pattern after Ypsilanti, Pontiac or any other city. To follow in the footsteps of others is to always be behind.

Let us build a city of beautiful homes, a city of satisfied and contented people, a city not patterned after others. But a city built according to our own ideals, a city to be looked up to as a model for others to follow. That's the city we are interested in, a city built according to the ideals of our forefathers, a city for the free, and a home for the brave.

You, the stockholders, can build the city we want, but you must take a much more active interest in the affairs of our city. You must take great care in selecting your candidates for office, not only now, but for the next several years. You must choose men who can decide an issue without outside influence, and without consideration of personal feelings. Question your candidates. Find out if they will use more care in handling your own business than they would in handling their own. Find out if they favor further bonding of the city. Find out if they are in favor of a more perfect system of taxation. Some of you are paying a higher tax than are others whose property is of more actual value. See if he stands for permanent and not temporary constructions. See if he is in favor of a permanent water supply before starting the installation of sewage and sewage disposal. Be sure your candidate does not stand to reap a large profit in the quick expansion of Plymouth.

Now, stockholders, you have read the above facts, but do you fully understand these facts. Read this notice over again. Study it, and then if you do not understand it, go over to Pontiac, or Ypsilanti, consult the taxpayer, the renter, the laborer. He will help you to understand that these statements are facts, facts that you have got to consider right away if we are to make of Plymouth all that we desire it to become. Then you will come home and we will put our house in order, and go ahead safely, sanely, and in the end know that we have lifted the burden of man, and at the same time, made a city second best to none. You, dear stockholders, have got to furnish the fuel to carry us on. Are you going to take the wheel and pilot us out to the end of the road of duty, and find we have reached there with the engine running smoothly, tires in excellent condition and on an average of 30 miles to the gallon of fuel?

Or will you hand the wheel over to the land speculator and the money lender, and go through on high speed, reach your destination with a burnt out bearing, four bum tires, and find you have averaged 12 miles to the gallon of fuel? That's the question that you have to decide right now. And you will have to keep it decided for several years.

I thank you.
BYRON P. WILLET

D. M. MERRYLEES PASSES AWAY

David M. Merrylees, son of William and Sarah Merrylees, was born in Medina, New York, October 10, 1850, and died January 24th, 1925, aged seventy-four years, three months and fourteen days. In 1871, his family moved to Aurelius, Ingham county, Michigan. February 1st, 1880, he was married to Viola Dixon, and ten years later established his home in Wayne county, Michigan, where he had since resided. Besides his widow, he leaves to mourn their loss, one brother, Charles Merrylees of Mason, Mich.; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Abbey of Eaton Rapids, Mich., and a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Merrylees was a man of devout faith and cheerful disposition, always the life of the company in which he was set, and found his chief interests in the things that are highest and best. Early in life he became a member of the Congregational church, and later was a faithful attendant and worshipper in the Presbyterian church of Plymouth. His final interest seemed to center in the church, and in the hymns of the church, of which he was so fond. His faith was in the Rock of Ages; and now he rests in Him.

Funeral services at Schrader Bros. Funeral Home were conducted last Tuesday afternoon, by Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and the remains were placed in the receiving vault at Riverside cemetery.

NEWBURG SCHOOL ENTERTAINS NORTHERN DIVISION—ZONE A

Realizing that there has been an urgent need for improvement in rural schools, Mr. E. W. Yost and Mr. Fred Fischer have adopted a plan to bring about that improvement similar to the zone system which has produced such splendid results in the thirty-six rural schools affiliated with the Ypsilanti Normal College. In order to carry out this work efficiently two new supervising-teachers have been employed, making a total of three supervisors in the county. The county is divided into three divisions with two zones in each division.

The first meeting of the Northern Division, Zone A, was held Saturday, January 24th, at the Newburg school, with Miss Hazel Reddeman and Miss Onalee Hall as hostesses. The morning meeting, which was the teachers' meeting, began at ten o'clock. Miss Loraine Cochraue, helping teacher in the Northern Division, presided. Each teacher introduced herself by standing, and giving her name and the name of her school. Miss Cochraue then called on each teacher to tell of some special thing which she had noticed when she visited the schools. This was very interesting and instructive. The election of officers then took place. The following are the officers:

President—Miss Hazel Reddeman
Vice-President—Miss Lenore Wright
Secretary—Miss Margaret Griffith
Following the election of officers, Miss Cochraue taught a demonstration lesson in geography on the North Central States, using Miss Hall's fourth grade pupils. A discussion of the lesson then followed. This concluded the meeting for the morning.

A splendid dinner was served by the ladies of the Parent-Teacher Association. The afternoon meeting, to which all the people of Zone A were invited, was called to order by the president, Miss Hazel Reddeman. The minutes of the morning meeting were read and approved. Miss Jackson extended an invitation to all to attend the meeting next month at the Waterford school. The appreciation for the dinner was shown by a rising vote of thanks.

The program which followed the business meeting, was very enjoyable. Several recitations were given by pupils of the Newburg school.

Supt. G. A. Smith, of the Plymouth Public Schools, was then introduced, and gave a very interesting talk on "The Qualifications of a Good Teacher." The roll was then called, all teachers of Zone A were present except one. The visitors at the afternoon meeting were: Eighteen from Newburg, one from Stark, Miss Mary Jameson, supervising teacher of the Southern Division, Mr. Gleason and Mr. Stiermer, teachers from the Southern Division were also visitors.

PLENTY OF WATER

The Ann Arbor engineers have been making tests on the new pump installed at the village water works well. This pump was expected to throw five hundred gallons of water per minute, against a head of forty feet. The tests showed that the machine was performing at a comfortable margin above requirements.

These tests and others made the last couple of weeks prove that for present needs the village has an abundance of water. Besides keeping a reserve of about a million gallons in the reservoir, and supplying the current needs of the village, which doesn't require pumping all the time, a storage can be maintained in the ground around the well capable of supplying another two hundred thousand gallons per day.

ABOUT ZONE SCHOOLS

From time to time news has appeared in this paper from the zone schools in Canton township. Since there is so little known of the zone system by many who have not come in contact with it, and since because of it, so much improvement in the rural schools around Ypsilanti has been brought about, it has seemed that it might be of interest to many to give a brief resume of what the zone organization is and of what it has done. Its work is carried on through the Rural Department of the Normal College at Ypsilanti. Dr. M. S. Pittman, the head of the Rural Department at the Normal, was the originator of the plan. The following, which explains so well the origin of the system, is taken from "The Farmer's Wife" for December, 1924.

"Dr. Marvin Sumner Pittman, Director of Rural Education, says it 'happened.' When we come to investigate we always find that behind every big 'happening' there is a big brain happening it—not by dreaming but by working, till suddenly, out of the roots of routine, blossoms the flower of an idea.

"Chapter One, of the Ypsilanti Idea, is laid in Oregon where Dr. Pittman went as the organizer of the Rural School Department just at the time that the State had passed a law requiring every county to employ one school supervisor for each fifty districts. He found the supervisors untrained for their work and using merely trial methods. Out of the evident need sprang his first inspiration toward the plan of training which he is now developing at Ypsilanti.

"Chapter Two is laid in Brown County, South Dakota, where Dr. Pittman devoted a year to an experiment to prove the value of supervision.

"Chapter Three is laid in and about Ypsilanti. When Dr. Pittman came to Ypsilanti, it was with two definite things uppermost in his consciousness: one, a sense of the Rural Need; the other, a wish to meet it.

He talked with Dr. Charles McKenny, president of the Normal College, and Dr. McKenny said, 'Many a good ship has gone to wreck on the rock of rural education. I'm back of you. Go to it.'

"When I began," Dr. Pittman said, 'we were training teachers for rural schools alone. It was a hopeless and an endless job because so long as we were working only on the teachers of a dozen schools, the situation was not going to change. It seemed like throwing sand into a rat hole. Finally the idea came to me that instead of training a few teachers for individual rural schools, we should train resourceful leaders who would direct their energies to places where their services were most needed.

"Thirty-six country schools are affiliated with the Normal College as a practice field for the Leadership students. These students work daily in the affiliated schools under the direction of the College. The advantage is readily seen. They get the real conditions that actually exist in rural schools instead of artificial conditions in a model school. They deal with the parents, the teachers and the children on their own ground and learn rural problems first hand. The result is that when they finish their course they are fitted for rural work by having done rural work.

"They are specially trained for what is commonly known as rural supervision. We never use that term, however. Nobody likes supervision. Everybody likes help. Our Leadership people go out as 'helping teachers.' That term is typical of our idea. The helping teachers carry to the teacher in the little rural school the best ideas that have been found workable in the college and in other rural schools.

"It is not by any means a laboratory test. The country is not being experimented on. The laboratory work is done by experts in the College, and the helping teachers bring only these methods that have been approved and accepted by the authorities.

"The advantage works both ways. The College profits by the practical inside knowledge gained in the rural school and many academic theories are modified when it is found that they do not fit in the country.

"President McKenny says: 'We feel that the Zone Schools are part of the Normal College and appreciate their co-operation. The only regret I have is that we haven't money enough to pay for what it is worth to us.'

The thirty-six schools are divided into three zones. The helping teachers visit the schools once a month, spending an hour and a half in each. A Saturday meeting is held once a month. (Continued on page 2.)

month in each of the zones. The morning session lasts from 10:00 to 12:00. Since it is a teachers' meeting, it is entirely professional in character. The work of the next month is outlined, and plans are discussed. The afternoon meeting is held from 1:30 to 3:00, and to this all the people of the zone are invited. The subjects being stressed this year are: Arithmetic problem-analysis, picture-study, story-telling, geography and primary reading.

Prof. W. C. Hoppes, Assistant Director of Rural Education at the Normal College, has now taken over the work in the zones. Because of his keen insight into educational methods and principles and his enduring determination to make these rural schools the best in the land, this year is bound to see a still greater improvement in the schools.

There has been still another important factor in the development of this plan—and that is the Kiwanis Club of Pleasant. Two Kiwanians were assigned to each of the thirty-six rural schools in the zones as Honorary Patrons. The Kiwanians have played their part excellently. They have proved themselves real friends to the children in the zone schools as well as to their parents. To them much of the picture and operation which typifies the spirit of zone schools is due.

This, in brief, is the story of the zone organization as brought about by the Department of Rural Education at the Normal, the helping teachers and the Kiwanians. It is a system which is causing nation-wide attention, especially as it is being watched by those interested in rural education. In Wayne county, there are twelve zone schools affiliated with the Normal College. So great an improvement has been made in these schools that E. W. Yost and F. C. Fischer, Wayne County School Commissioners, have adopted a similar plan for the whole of Wayne county.

The zone schools near Plymouth, which are affiliated with the Normal, are: Canton Center school, Miss Alta Furlong, teacher; Cherry Hill, Miss Doris Burnett; Hanford, Mrs. Sadie Dixon; Bartlett, Miss Alta Fisher; Truesdell, Miss Everett, and Hough, Miss Eva Griffith. The affiliation of these schools with the Normal is entirely voluntary. Each school pays $25.00 to belong to the zone for a year—but this sum does not begin to pay for the good which the zone does.

We have decided, for the rest of the year, to carry on a sort of publicity campaign—printing from time to time, the happenings of interest in the schools. In doing this we have a two-fold purpose—first, to acquaint people with the work of the zone schools near to them; and second, to arouse to an even greater extent the interest of the children in their schools. Since picture study is one of the subjects upon which especial stress is placed this year in the zone, we shall send to the paper once a month the best study of a picture from one of the schools. The pictures which are to be studied during this year, are the property of the zone schools. They were purchased with the proceeds raised by a pageant, "Youth's Quest," which was presented by the children of each zone. The pictures are masterpieces of the world's greatest masterpieces of art. When the helping teachers make their monthly tours, they bring a new picture to each school, taking the picture which the school has had during the month on to another school. During the month, each child writes a study of the picture and of the artist's life. Thus, in the course of a year, each child becomes acquainted with at least nine of the world's best paintings. The love of the beautiful which cannot help but result from such a study, will prove a great uplift to the personal character of every child.

Eva M. Griffith.

The following story and poem was composed by Isabell Campbell of the Bartlett school:

"AVENUE OF TREES"

Hobbema
Between some small elevated fields of grain and vegetables runs a road which is higher than the fields. Beside the road is a small canal into which the road drains. A few small cottages are by the roadside.

There is an unusual beauty in the sky, because the sun is setting and lighting up the sky with its colors. The clouds are moving swiftly across the sky, catching the sun's rays and colors, and then letting them go free only to catch some more.

The thing that is noticed first is the trees that line the road. Some are bending before the breeze, while others stand straight and tall. As they near the town, in the distance, they seem to grow closer to each other, and at last run into one another.

MEINDERT HOBBEEMA

The artist
Hobbema was born in 1683, and lived at Harlem, Holland. It was at very rare times that he did any painting, but what painting he did was very good. It was a long time before his people appreciated it. He could find beauty in almost every landscape. He could bring out every point of interest from the moving clouds to the different shading, and run of the land and other things around. He could show movement. This is something every artist tries to attain. His landscape paintings rank high among the paintings of other artists. The painting of the "Avenue of Trees" is classed as one of his very best.

He died in the year of 1709 at the age of 26.

"Avenue of Trees"
Tall and stately now they stand,
Then bending low before the breeze,
Growing in the fertile land,
Slowly swaying from side to side,
Rocked by the gentle breeze,
The "Avenue of Trees."
Spreading its beautiful foliage wide,
The "Avenue of Trees."
Standing beside the old roadway,
Shading the busy bees,
Watching the weeks and the days,
As they pass the "Avenue of Trees."
Just a cradle for the birds,
Rocking in the playful breeze,
Just a place where songs are heard,
The "Avenue of Trees."

BASKET BALL

To the tune of 44 to 19, Plymouth girls lost to Dearborn, Friday, January 23rd. During the first half of the game the ball was at Dearborn's end the most of the time. As a result, Florence Lessey, Dearborn's star basketeer, netted 16 field goals, and Wittensheim, left forward, one. Plymouth's end of the score was 7.

The second half proved more interesting. The ball found the basket in Plymouth's territory five times from field throws and twice from the foul line, while Dearborn scored only ten. Failing to make up for Dearborn's lead in the first half, Plymouth lost the first league game.

Following is the line-up: Dearborn—Forwards, Lessey, Wittensheim; center, Rudolph, Ford; guards, Lamet, Jorgensen. Plymouth—Forwards, Amrhein, England; sub, Draper; center, Bird; Whipple guards, White, Hake; subs, Draper, Hathaway, England.

Dearborn High school boys defeated the Plymouth boys in basket ball, at Dearborn, last Friday evening, by a score of 16 to 8. Dearborn led at the end of the first half with a score of 8 to 0. The Plymouth team played a tie score the last half. The line-up was as follows:

Plymouth—Millard, I. L.; Doudt, r. f.; Kenyon, c.; Ambrus, l. g.; Holmes, r. g. Dearborn—Burch, I. f.; Switzer, r. f.; Proctor, c.; McClay, l. g.; Bunker, r. g.

OBITUARY

William Samuel Hobbs was born at Chico, California, July 29, 1864, and came to Michigan with his parents at the age of eight years, and lived in this vicinity until his death, which occurred at Lincoln hospital, Detroit, Tuesday, January 20, 1925, after several months of patient suffering. He was united in marriage to Miss Agnes Griffin of Dearborn, Mich., on March 23, 1887. To this union nine children were born, two of whom preceded him in death in infancy. He leaves to mourn their loss his beloved wife, four sons, Irwin of Livonia; Elmer and Thomas of Northville; Clyde of Farmington, and three daughters, Mrs. George Groaton of Richmond; Mrs. Ralph Shackleton of Dearborn; Mrs. Earl Mack of Redford; a sister, Mrs. James Cooley of Redford; ten grandchildren and a host of friends. The funeral was held from the home of his son Irwin in Livonia, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Davies of Redford, officiating. Interment at Bell Church.

NEWBURG

A large crowd listened to an especially fine sermon Sunday, by the pastor, Rev. Havens, who took for his text the words of our Saviour: "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven. Miss Gladys Horton sang a solo. There was an attendance of 87 in Sunday school, and it was voted to purchase a banner for the school. There will be a rivalry between the classes to see who can have the banner the longest period. There was a large attendance at Epworth League service Sunday evening. The talk and slides on "Where Uncle Sam Meets Mexico," were instructive and enjoyable.

The Newburg basket ball team plays at Plymouth every Monday evening in the new E. E. Community Hall. The L. A. S. consented to let them have their hall for practice. The L. A. S. will hold their regular meeting Wednesday, February 4th, at their hall. Dinner will be served at noon, with Mesdames Stevens, Mackinder, Geney, Chilson and Miss Ada Young in charge. Everyone cordially invited to attend.

The Inch Social at the parsonage last Friday evening, was well attended. The Epworth League are putting on another social next Tuesday evening, February 3rd, at the Hall, called a "Backward" Social, with an admission of 25c at the door, also backward. Refreshments will be served. Come and see the fun, and help the young people.

Donald Ryder attended a convention of the Peoria Life Insurance Co., at Ypsilanti, last Friday. A number from here attended the funeral of D. M. Merryless Tuesday afternoon at Schaefer Bros. Funeral Home. Mr. Merryless lived in this vicinity for a number of years, being highly respected by all who knew him. Mrs. Merryless has the sympathy of all in her affliction.

Mrs. L. Gussolly called at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Heisington, Tuesday afternoon, finding her sister Hattie quite ill. There are surely some people that are too contemptible to live. On Monday evening when Mark Joy returned to his cement block factory to see about the fire for the night, he found his account books and papers had been put up on the work bench and were all a blaze. Mr. Joy found the track of the one who committed the despicable act. Better beware.

Mrs. M. Eva Smith visited her sister Mrs. Ella Wright at Wayne, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Mrs. C. E. Ryder visited Mrs. Clark Mackinder last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. R. Lewis were callers there in the afternoon. The eclipse was very plain here. There was quite a bit of disappointment manifested in its not being dark enough for the chickens to go to roost.

Newburg friends extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Darnell, who were married Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davey in Plymouth. Mrs. Darnell was Miss Beatrice Davey, formerly one of Newburg's popular young ladies. They have the best wishes of all for a long and happy wedded life.

A CARD—We wish to express our most sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness; those who sent floral tributes; furnished autos and Rev. Davies for his comforting words in our bereavement. Mrs. William Hobbs and Family Mrs. James Cooley

Make Your Kitchen Work Easier

Do you have to stand in your own light when washing dishes? Do you have to pull things you are cooking out of the oven to see when they are done?

A well-lighted kitchen will save you an immense amount of time, labor, fatigue and annoyance—and the cost is small.

Have a central lighting unit—a white glass, mushroom-shaped globe, and a 100 or 150 watt lamp. This should be close up to the ceiling.

Then have another lamp over the sink—one with a deep shade, open at the bottom, and made of white glass. Equip it with a 50-watt white lamp. This lamp should be from 6 to 12 inches from the wall and about 6 feet from the floor.

You are welcome to our advice and suggestions at all times. No charge made.

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions adopted by Plymouth Rebekah Lodge, No. 182, I. O. O. F.: Whereas, in his divine wisdom, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Mary Lyon, be it Resolved, That Plymouth Rebekah Lodge, No. 182, I. O. O. F., has lost a member, one for whom we mourn, who was in every way worthy of our respect and regard. We extend to the bereaved children, sister and grandchildren, our deepest sympathies.

And out of the darkness and sorrow may God's richest blessings shine as a comfort to those who remain to mourn her decease; Therefore, be it

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, that they may be published in the Plymouth Mail, and that they be placed upon the minutes of this lodge, and that the charter be draped for a period of sixty days. Her toils are over, her work is done. And she is fully blest; She has fought the fight, the victory won.

And entered into rest.

OBITUARY

Eli Edward Rood, son of David Porter and Helen Body Rood, was born seventy-six years ago in Whethersfield Springs, Wyoming County, New York. He was married to Catherine Mahoney, who departed this life May 21, 1917. Three children were born to this union: Mrs. Helen Purdy and James Rood of Plymouth, and Norman Rood of Detroit. There are also two sisters, Mrs. Albert Cook of Whethersfield Springs, New York, and Mrs. William Burch of Warsaw, New York.

Mr. Rood was a farmer living most of his life at Warsaw, New York, where for some years his father was a circuit judge. Later he was customs inspector at Niagara Falls, N. Y. Four years ago his health failed and he came to live with his son Norman in Detroit.

Mr. Rood was a member of the Episcopal church of Warsaw, and was highly respected by all who knew him. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The remains were placed in the receiving vault at Riverside cemetery.

Today's Reflections

The nearer a Plymouth girl gets to thirty the farther away she keeps from the calendar.

All men may be born free and equal, but it is a waste of time trying to prove it to your wife.

Modern parents seem to be the ones who bring up a child the way it should go, and then wonder why it goes that way.

More than one Plymouth man has learned that the only way to keep some people from knowing your business is not to have any business.

When some Plymouth men are unable to choose between two evils, they hunt up a third.

The Queen of Sheba is said to have introduced the honeydew melon to King Solomon. He was probably about the only one who could afford to buy one.

THE fascination of billiards and bowling has kept many people on the road to health. The bending and stooping necessary to play either game exercises the muscles directly over the digestive organs, stimulating them so that they function in a normal healthy manner. Most bodily ills are attributed to any sluggishness in these organs.

Players in their daily games in our rooms find our Brunswick billiard and bowling equipment the finest obtainable. And they appreciate the quiet air of refinement to be found in our rooms.

Strong; Older Boys' Conference at Muskegon, Ernest Henry, delegate; Church Financial Statement, Arthur J. Torre.

After discussing the reports, the following appointments were made by the general vote:

We were glad to welcome two new teachers and some new scholars to our Church-school, last Sunday morning, and we were glad to have some of the sick ones back again; also to have such good reports of little Eugene D'Angelo. We hope to see him with us again shortly.
Last Sunday was the "Conversion of St. Paul, and the rector gave a very fine address, taking as his text, "Almost thou persuadedst me to be a Christian," Acts 26:28.

The congregation is very grateful for the loyal services rendered by Mrs. Sidney Strong and Mrs. Paul Ware, who have had charge of the organ alternately for the past year.

WHAT IF IT WERE TODAY?

"Jesus is coming to earth again, what if it were today?
Coming in power and love to reign, what if it were today?
Coming to claim His chosen Bride, all the redeemed and purified,
Over this whole earth scattered wide, what if it were today?
Faithful and true would He find us here, if He should come today.
Watching in gladness and not in fear, if He should come today?
Signs of His coming multiply, morning light breaks in eastern sky,
Watch, for the time is drawing nigh, what if it were today?"

SCHOOL NOTES

Word has been received from the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, that the Plymouth High school has been placed on their accredited list until the time of the next inspection in 1928. This means that graduates of the local school may attend any of the colleges in the middle west without taking an examination for entrance. The North Central Association sets high standards in regard to teacher training, the teaching load of each teacher, and in regard to buildings and equipment.

Owing to the pressure of examinations, no school notes in regard to the banquet given by the Union Trust Company of Detroit, were turned in. This company tendered a banquet to the superintendent, principal, the president of the senior class, Mary Parrott, and the editor of the annual Elythean, Forrest Hubert, of this school, and to those holding the same positions in the schools in the three counties in which the Union Trust Company is offering scholarships for essays. The banquet was in the Crystal Room of Book-Cadillac hotel, and was the most sumptuous the local representatives had ever seen.

The present Junior class has bought a course of entertainments for next year, from the Coit bureau. Five numbers are offered, and five distinctively different types of entertainment.

If the party who parked his false teeth on the floor of the auditorium at the last lecture course entertainment, cares to call at the school house and prove his property, it will be turned over to him.

The following have accepted the invitation to join the Girl Reserves: Clara Tyler, Alice Ballen, Gladys Clemens, Dorothy Caldwell and Grace Tillotson.

The total enrollment for the year to date, in the high school, has now reached 411.

The Hi-Y and Girl Reserves clubs sponsored a 4 C's campaign in the school last week. Talks were given by students upon clean scholarship, clean athletics, clean speech and clean living. Cards were given out to be signed by such as wished to pledge themselves to these things, and on the blotters given out at examination time, the same things were stressed. Mr. Coffman, director of the Students' Christian Association at the University of Michigan, also gave a talk in assembly, in regard to the 4 C's; after school he spoke to the Hi-Y boys.

BRIGGS SCHOOL NOTES

"The Briggs Busy Bodys" met Friday, and after the usual meeting they sewed for forty-five minutes. The entertainment committee had a pleasing entertainment after which refreshments were served.

Don't forget the Parent-Teachers association meeting, Friday evening, February 13th, at 7 o'clock. There will be a short program before the meeting.

George Rixon has not been absent from school this term.

Do Your Railroads Win This Reward?

Modern Railroad progress in Michigan began March 1, 1920.

On that day, Uncle Sam quit Railroad and returned the roads to their owners, to reorganize and restore.

That date found the 24 steam Railroads of Michigan deficient in almost every essential. Service had fallen to its lowest point of efficiency. In public esteem, the Railroads were on trial.

Your Railroads are not ashamed of their progress since that eventful date.

We have re-equipped our lines with locomotives and cars.

We have restored and improved our roadbeds.

We have made large investments in terminals, and have made every dollar count.

And we are giving you today the best railroad service Michigan has ever had.

Your Railroads gladly acknowledge their appreciation of your spirit of Fair Play. We are making good for you. We will continue to make good with all the means and effort within our power.

There are many improvements still to be made. We will make them as our means permit. For it is our steadfast desire to make you as proud of Michigan's system of steam Railroads as we are of the prosperity of the state we serve.

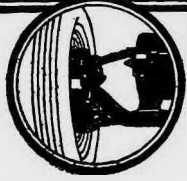

Your Railroads want to be your Friends. Do we deserve such classification? Write us, frankly and fully.

THE THEATRE

"LOVING LIES"

"If the author of a script doesn't like the way someone else visualizes his story let the author produce it himself."

Firmly believing that the man or woman who writes a photoplay is best fitted to bring that play to life on the screen, and having found two authors and a producer who not only agree with his theory, but who are by long experience capable technicians and motion picture craftsmen as well, Frank Woods, has in association with Thompson Buchanan and Elmer Harris, authors, and Clark W. Thomas, producer, organized Associated Authors, Inc., a producing organization of three units; and three finished productions now ready for distribution through Allied Producers and Distributors Corporation, are offered as evidence that Mr. Woods' theory is practical.

"Loving Lies," adapted from Peter B. Kyne's "The Harbor Bar," is the second Associated Authors production, and as such comes to the Penniman Allen next Wednesday and Thursday, February 4 and 5. Thompson Buchanan, author of "Civilian Clothes" and a dozen other stage and screen successes, after frequently going over the story with the author, prepared the script for the photoplay, supervised the filming of all scenes and then edited and titled the production.

Mr. Buchanan, in addition to being a celebrated author, has been for a number of years closely identified with production activities and has supervised the production of many Goldwyn and Lasky plays.

Monte Blue and Evelyn Brent are featured in "Loving Lies," with Joan Lowell, Chas. Gerrard, Ralph Faulkner, Ethel Wales and other well known screen players in support.

This story, dealing with adventures of a tug boat captain and unique incidents at sea and along the coast, is said to be one of the most gripping dramatic plays of recent years.

"WAGES OF VIRTUE"

Algiers, the French Foreign Legion and as colorful a love story as you've ever seen on the screen.

That's "Wages of Virtue," Gloria Swanson's newest Paramount picture, an Allan Dwan production, which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, January 31.

The story is an adaptation of Percival Wren's novel, with Ben Lyon in leading man's role opposite the star and Norman Trevor, Ivan Linow, Joe Moore and others in the cast.

To those who remember Gloria of "Manhandled" and the Gloria of "Her Own Love Story," we say here's a role that combines the finer moments of both earlier characterizations. As Carmelita, the star is both the exotic, bizarre Gloria of the Arthur Stringer story and the motherly Gloria of Mrs. Rinehart's romance.

Here is the role of a young Neapolitan girl of the slums, who becomes the pride of the Foreign Legion, a little mother to "men without a country." Ben Lyon is a recruit in the Legion, a young American with whom Carmelita falls in love. Trevor plays John Boule, veteran of the internationally famous French regiment, and Joe Moore has the role of a New York gangster, also in the ranks of the Legion. Linow has a "heavy" role as Luigi, ex-strong man for a side-show and now the regiment bully. It is about these characters that the story revolves.

Forrest Halsey wrote the screen play. Armand Cortez, Adrienne d'Ambricourt and Paul Panzer are included in important supporting roles.

"Wages of Virtue" is Gloria all through!

Washington and Its Romance—Thomas Nelson Page. An account of the origin and early history of Washington. Mr. Page tells how it came to be selected as the national capital and how the boundaries of the District of Columbia were fixed. The planning of the capital is described, especially the work of the young French engineer, Pierre Charles L'Enfant, who was chiefly responsible for the plan, the building of the city and the transfer of the government from Philadelphia to Washington.

Early social life of Washington, and the capital under Jefferson's administration are the subjects of the concluding chapters. Illustrated in color and half-tone.

This is a list of some of the books on Washington we are collecting for our High school students, who are planning an excursion this spring.

SPEEDWAY PETITIONS BEING CIRCULATED

A regular meeting of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday evening. The matter of the proposed speedway was discussed at some length, with the result that petitions will be circulated, asking for a vote of the citizens as to whether they want to see the speedway located near Plymouth. These petitions will be found in the business places about the village, and it is hoped that everybody will take the opportunity to express themselves on the question.

People should bear in mind that the building of the speedway will mean the establishment of permanent testing laboratories by automobile manufacturing concerns, and this would bring to Plymouth many people who would become permanent residents, and thereby be a great help to Plymouth in the way of increased business among our merchants and additional home building.

The membership drive of the Chamber of Commerce is still on, and a report of the two divisions will be made next Tuesday evening. If you have not renewed your membership, do so today. Many are sending in their memberships, and it looks as though the membership this year will be greater than ever.

The house committee was authorized to have the Chamber of Commerce rooms redecorated, which will be a much needed improvement.

MEN BANQUET THE LADIES

A very pleasant event took place at the Lutheran church, Tuesday evening, when the men of the church entertained the ladies at a dinner in the dining room of the church. The dining room and tables were nicely decorated for the event. Eighty ladies sat down to the tables, and Rev. Charles Strasen, pastor, introduced the chef, Jacob Streng, and his efficient corps of assistants in the kitchen and dining room in a most happy manner. The ladies were loud in their praise of the splendid dinner served by the men. The dinner was given in appreciation of the splendid work the ladies have done in the past year in behalf of the church. After the dinner the company repaired to the auditorium, where short remarks were made by Rev. Strasen, Oliver Goldsmith and W. B. Petz. A pleasing feature of the evening was two beautiful solos by Wayne Vandyne, with organ accompaniment by Miss Hanna Strasen. It was a most pleasant evening for all present.

A VERY PLEASANT EVENT

Plymouth Temple No. 84, Pythian Sisters, were hostesses at a very enjoyable evening, Tuesday, January 27th. They gave a private dancing party to over one hundred guests. The hall was beautifully decorated with branches of artificial peach blossoms, Japanese lanterns and cozy corners with tables and piano lamps. The orchestra was composed of Mrs. Willard Swann, Mr. Livingston and son Lawrence and Russell Cook, whose music was greatly appreciated, judging from the encores.

Dainty little Mildred Jackson of Pontiac, added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening with her fancy dancing and clever songs.

At 12:00 o'clock a delicious lunch was served and soon the guests departed, hoping that the Pythian Sisters would give another party in the near future.

Great credit is due Mrs. Mildred Jewell, who was chairman of the committee on arrangements and decorations; Fraser Smith for making the coffee, and Mrs. Elinor Chambers for the serving of the lunch.

ARCHE CLUB OF WAYNE VISITS PLYMOUTH

Last Friday afternoon about forty members of the Arche Club of Wayne, were guests of the Plymouth Woman's Club. The meeting was held in the High school auditorium, and the Arche Club had charge of the program. A clever one-act play, entitled, "Fingerbolls-Araminta," was presented by the dramatic committee, with Mrs. Bunting, chairman. Following is the cast of characters:

Araminta—Estelle Jamieson.
 Roxy—Eugenia Maas.
 Sophia—Sara Heywood.
 Miss Weaver—Florence Zimmerman.
 Fan—Emma Moore.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Keith of Detroit, delighted the company with several vocal selections.

At the conclusion of the program, the members and guests were invited into the kindergarten room, where dainty refreshments were served by the social committee. A return visit will be made by the Plymouth club in February.
