BOY SCOUTS AND MOTHERS HAVE FEED

On Thursday evening, the 12th, the Boy Scouts of the local troop held a pot-luck supper at the Methodist church, with their mothers as their guests. About fifty sat down to a most delightful repast. "Duke" and "Bill" were the only ones who couldn't get enough to eat. We were sorry for them, of course, but were unwilling to go to the store and get any more for them. After the feast, a short program was given. "Bud" Schradler spoke a few words of welcome to the mothers, following which Mrs. Tena Bovee, one of the mothers, responded with a gracious and inspiring toast. Mrs. William Baker, another mother, sang two fitting selections in her usual pleasing manner, and Scout Howard Dicks favored his company with a fine piano solo.

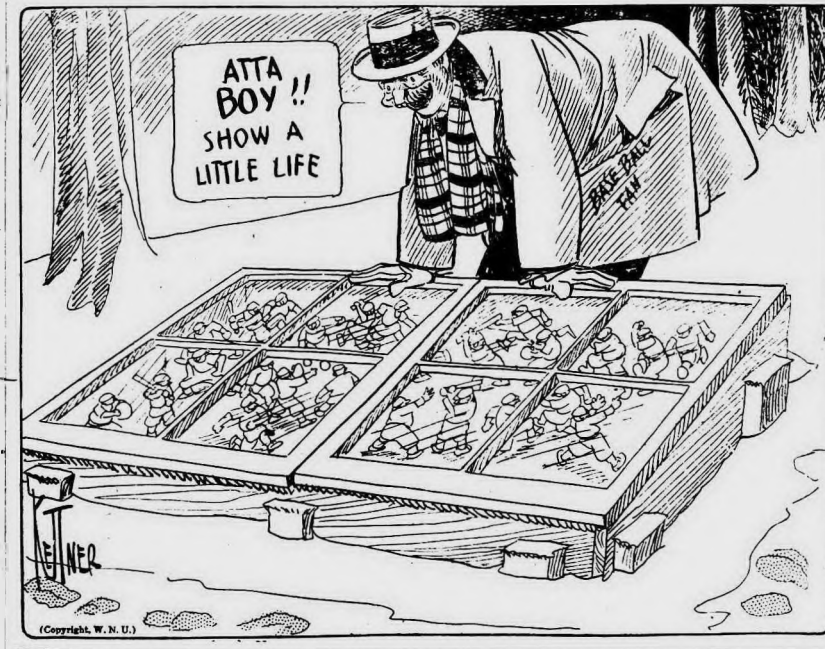

One of the interesting features of the program was the demonstration work given by the Scouts for the benefit of their mothers. Exhibitions were given, showing their skill in tying knots, applying bandages, methods of carrying the injured, treatment of fractures, signalling, compass directions, etc. The program closed by the troop repeating the Scout oath, and then swearing in their mothers by giving them the same obligation. All joined in a circle for the closing Scout benediction and the troop yell.

Did the Scouts wash the dishes? Yes, they did not, excepting for one brave and lone Scout. It is not hard to guess who did the work, when mother was on hand. However, we hope the mothers will come again, and often.

DEATH OF MRS. J. H. HANFORD

Word was received here yesterday morning that Mrs. J. H. Hanford of Highland Park, and formerly of Canton township and well known in this village, had passed away at Ford hospital, Detroit, Wednesday night. She had been ill about ten days. The funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Crosby undertaking parlors, 13908 Woodward avenue, Highland Park, and will be in charge of the Order of the Eastern Star. The interment will be made in Riverside cemetery, Plymouth, at about 12:30 p. m.

A Bit of Early Plymouth History

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP 1825-1925

We are indebted to George Durfee for the following bit of history of the early days in Plymouth township:

One of the first settlers of Plymouth township, was John Tibbits, March 11, 1825. William and Allen Tibbits, in the name of John Tibbits, purchased 800 acres of land, and settled on it the same year. This land is Section 28 and 160 acres in Section 27.

After Mr. Tibbits located his farm, and about a half acre for a cemetery, he sold the remainder of the land to other settlers. In time the land was owned by William Blackmar, Johnathan Shearer, D. Beers, John Berdan, Moses Allen, Mr. Blanchard, Captain John Kynoch, David Meach.

Fifty years ago these farms were owned by Mrs. William Blackmar and children. (Mr. Blackmar died in 1862), Johnathan Shearer, Dwight Berdan, J. B. Berdan, John S. Kellogg, David D. Allen, J. W. Taft, John M. Ward, C. E. Baker, James P. Westfall.

In 1925 the farms are owned by Dr. B. E. Champe, Supt. G. A. Smith, William Petz, Mrs. Esther Gibson, C. H. Bennett, Frank Reddeman, Frank Rambo, John Amrhein, I. W. Hummel, Samuel Hicks, Don Packard, B. W. Blunk, A. A. Horton.

A mile from Plymouth, along the North Territorial road, lies the farms once owned by John Tibbits. A frame barn, shed and log house stood on the south side of the road, soon after you cross the bridge at the foot of Blackmar's hill. Here Mr. and Mrs. Tibbits and children endured the many hardships, which were known to the pioneers.

In 1826, the settlers gathered with the Tibbits family to hear Rev. Joseph Hickox, a Methodist minister. This was the first time they had any church in the wilderness.

The meeting, which led to the organization of Plymouth township, was held at the home of John Tibbits, who was made chairman of the meeting. A. B. Markham was chosen secretary. The name Plymouth was proposed by William Bartow and accepted. Seems like a compliment to Mr. Tibbits, as he was born at Plymouth, Mass. The township was duly created by the legislative council, and included the townships known as Plymouth, Northville and Canton. Canton was made a separate township, March 7, 1834, and Northville a number of years ago.

The first township meeting was held at the home of John Tibbits, May 4, 1827. William Bartow was elected moderator, and A. B. Markham, clerk. The officers elected were: Supervisor, William Bartow; clerk, Allen Tibbits; assessors, Rowell Root, Henry Lyon, E. W. Starkweather; overseers of the poor, A. B. Markham, Cyrus Cole, Luther Lincoln; commissioners, G. W. Benton, Rufus Thayer, Benjamin Slocum; constable, A. Bradford.

In the early part of the year 1827, a meeting was held at the home of John Tibbits for the purpose of organizing a military company. Ira M. Hough was chosen captain; Stephen Root and Abram Laraway were chosen under officers.

by John Tibbits for a cemetery, was opened about 1830, and in time was given the name of Blackmar cemetery. Laura, a daughter of John Tibbits, married William Blackmar, and lived on the next farm east of her father's. The farm was owned by the Blackmar's until sold to E. O. Huston. The name Blackmar was given to the hill on which they built their home. The ancient house, which stands as a landmark, was under construction in 1837, and has been changed but little from the first plans. In the early days it was a tavern, the barroom being on the west side of the hall. The house a short distance from the site of the log house, the first home of the Tibbits family, was built more than seventy years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Tibbits and their son, John S. and family, lived here. Mrs. Tibbits passed away in 1856. In 1857, the farm was sold to R. S. Durfee of Livonia. The Tibbits family moved onto a farm near Newburg. John Tibbits passed away in 1860.

For over thirty years the greater portion of the John Tibbits farm has been owned by George S., a son of R. S. Durfee.

The first physician of the township was Dr. J. D. Davis.

The first Methodist church in the township was built at Cooper's Corners in 1835, a frame building. In time it was used for a bell foundry, also as a dwelling. At last it was taken down and made use of in other buildings.

The school house at Cooper's Corners was built by Ira Ward, in 1850, opposite the old church site. The house on Frank Reddeman's farm was built in 1840. A part of the house has been moved away. When first built it was used for a tavern.

MRS. ARTHUR BRIGGS PASSES AWAY

Word was received early Tuesday morning of the sudden death in Detroit of Mrs. Agnes McKinnon Briggs, formerly of Plymouth. Mrs. Briggs was at one time a teacher in the Plymouth school, and had a host of friends here. She was prominent in club circles in her home city, and two weeks ago had a part in the plays given by members of her club to the Woman's Club of Plymouth.

Mr. Briggs will have the sympathy of his many friends and acquaintances in his home town.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday morning from the Crosby undertaking parlors. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery, Detroit.

REV. NAGLE'S FATHER DIES AT ALBION

Rev. D. D. Nagle and wife were called to Albion, Wednesday evening, by the death of Mr. Nagle's father, which occurred that afternoon. Rev. Nagle will not be here to conduct services in the Methodist church, next Sunday, but Dr. H. A. Leason, district superintendent, will conduct the morning service, and there will be no evening service.

PLYMOUTH HIGH BASKETEERS AT DISTRICT TOURNAMENT

The Plymouth Boys Win from Rochester and Durand and Lose to Birmingham After a Spectacular Game by a Close Score at Ypsilanti Last Friday and Saturday.

The Plymouth High school boys' basketball team made a most spectacular fight for the Class B district tournament championship at Ypsilanti, Friday and Saturday of last week. The locals met the strong Rochester team on Friday morning, and defeated them by a score of 18 to 16. Friday evening the boys met the Durand team, and came out victorious with the score 23 to 19. The last game was played with Birmingham, Saturday morning, and after an over-time till, the locals lost the game by three points. The final score was Birmingham, 23; Plymouth, 20.

We take the following reports from the Daily Ypsilantian Press of Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14:

PLYMOUTH VS. ROCHESTER
Plymouth won the last game of the first round in Class B. Friday morning from Rochester by an 18 to 16 score, and as a result will go into the second round of play tonight against Durand.

Durand has not been seen in action as yet, having drawn a bye in the first round. The game is carded for 8:00 o'clock tonight on the varsity court, immediately following the Central-Birmingham game.

Rochester led practically all the way, except on several occasions when the score was tied, up to the final round, when a pair of tosses in quick succession by Kenyon and Doudt made it 18 to 15, Plymouth. One free throw was all Rochester could count in the last three minutes of play.

Kenyon with four baskets was the scoring star for Plymouth. Rochester led practically all the way, except on several occasions when the score was tied, up to the final round, when a pair of tosses in quick succession by Kenyon and Doudt made it 18 to 15, Plymouth. One free throw was all Rochester could count in the last three minutes of play.

Drawings for consolation games took place immediately following the Plymouth win, and play will start this afternoon.

PLYMOUTH VS. DURAND

With a strong finish in the last minute of play, Plymouth defeated Durand in the second round of the Class B tournament last night, 23 to 19, thereby making its way to the semi-finals today, in which Birmingham, conqueror of Ypsi Central last night, will be encountered.

Durand made its initial bow to tournament fans after drawing a bye for the first round of play, and on several occasions it appeared as if it were to be marked with success.

After the first period, at the end of which Plymouth had the edge by a single point, Durand held the lead by a single margin at the end of the next two quarters, and early in the final frame added a couple more.

Plymouth tied the count with two minutes to go and a toss by Millard from near the foul line set his team out in front by two points, 21 to 19, with only a minute of play remaining. Ambrus followed after the next tip-off with another that sewed the contest up.

Doudt was again the outstanding individual in the victory for the quietest from the neighboring town, counting three times from the field and twice from the foul line out of as many tries.

SHORTAGE OF WHEAT

Cattle breeders, feeders and packers of this country declare that the nation is facing a meat shortage which will reach its peak next fall and bring very high prices. They say this has been brought about by the high cost of grain, with feedstuffs climbing upward. Already hog prices on many markets are higher than they have been for years. But for the benefit of the Plymouth citizens who may feel like starting in to worry over high prices we would say—don't do it. There are two ways to keep meat prices within reason. One is to raise more livestock and the other is to cut down the amount of meat eaten. The livestock people may not agree to the former, but when prices commence to soar, the consumers of this country can be depended upon to do the latter. When Americans join in reducing the amount of meat eaten, you can safely bet that the packers will reduce prices accordingly.

A GOOD BAROMETER

You'd be surprised how strangers, and especially business concerns doing business with Plymouth, judge a town by its newspapers. They seem to know that the town is reflected in its columns as accurately as the looking glass reflects your likeness. The editor may work 12 hours a day seven days in the week; he may get out the best paper in the world so far as news and reading matter is concerned, but if there is no advertising in his columns the outside world is quick to say: "That must be a dead town—they don't even know the power of printer's ink." When will merchants learn this important business truth—that when business is bad is the best time to advertise. Then is when they need trade more than when business is good. When buying slows up is the time to advertise and bring it back. We want our merchants to get what is coming to them, but we also wish we could make everyone of them understand that the surest and cheapest way to get it is to ask for it through the home-town newspaper.

WILL MOVE TO PLYMOUTH

About seventy-five neighbors and friends took it upon themselves last Friday evening to go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith and give them a surprise and help them celebrate their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary. After a social hour the company were served with sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cake, and before departing presented Mr. and Mrs. Smith with a table lamp. Having rented their farm the family expect to move to Plymouth to make their home. We regret very much to see them go as Wixom has been their home for at least thirty years, and they carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends.—Wixom Correspondence, Northville Record.

LOCAL NEWS

R. R. Parrott reports that all of the lots in Virginia Park subdivision on the north side of Penniman avenue, have been sold.

In last week's paper, we stated that W. R. Shaw, who has been confined to his home for several months by an injury to his hip, was able to be down town again. We find our informant was mistaken, as Mr. Shaw informs us that he has not been able to get out of the house as yet. Well, here is hoping that our genial friend will soon be able to be down town again, as we miss his friendly visits at the Mail office.

THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE FAN

Our house is in a turmoil every day. The children home from school, go out to play. The breakfast dishes are unwashed upon the table. Our home now bears the cross word puzzle label. Our wife and helpmate one time so efficient, Believes one meal a day is now sufficient. Our clothes are seedy looking and have holes. The paper at the cross word page unfolds. The dictionary that was never used. Now worn of cover, seems to be abused; And all the house in melancholy state Awaits resigned its cross word puzzle fate. Where e'er I go, to office, school or store: The friends I had, have now become a bore: Their conversation smacks of this alone. And I in cross word puzzle sickness groan. When I at last shall leave this painful earth, And curiously shall meet that never birth; O grant me this, I humbly beg and pray, That I will find no cross word puzzle on the way. And when Saint Peter meets me at the gate, And gives me harp and crown, if such my fate; I'll ask that he will seat me next a man, Who here on earth was not a cross word puzzle fan.

Need Home-Grown Seed for Success

Italian and Chilean Varieties Prove Unsatisfactory in Most Parts.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

More general use of home-grown clover seed, in the opinion of the United States Department of Agriculture, would do more than any other one thing toward solving the problem of red clover failure in this country. If methods can be found by which small acreages of domestic red-clover seed can be conveniently harvested and hulled for home use, more dependence could be put upon the supply of home-grown seed and less would need to be imported. Clover Turned Under. It is known, says the department, that throughout the country, east of the Allegheny mountains at least, there are every year thousands of acres of good second-growth clover that is turned under instead of being harvested for seed, because in those neighborhoods no hullers are to be had and the farmer is not able to harvest and save the seed economically. If these farmers could save their own seed, the drain on the market stocks represented by their requirements would be materially decreased, and the seed produced in the states where it is grown commercially would be more nearly adequate to supply the demand. For at least fifteen years the United States has been a heavy importer of red-clover seed. Most of this seed has come from Italy and France. Evidence is accumulating to show that the Italian seed is not satisfactory for use in America. Co-operative trials which the department has been conducting with experiment stations in the Middle West have shown that the plants from Italian seed are much more likely to wither than those from American seed, that they are more susceptible to certain diseases and that they often give a smaller crop even when the stand is otherwise apparently satisfactory. Unsatisfactory Seed. As far as the investigations of the department have progressed it was found that Italian seed is practically everywhere unsatisfactory and that French and Chilean seed, while giving good yields in some parts, is unsatisfactory in Iowa, Minnesota and elsewhere where the winters are severe. Means of harvesting and saving the seed from the numerous small acreages of red clover instead of importing seed would do much to bring the clover crop back into a dependable part of the rotation. Red clover is par excellence the restorative crop for rotations in the corn belt, says the department, but continued failures of the crop have caused a steady decline in acreage. This decline in acreage over a long period of years has adversely affected the yields of all other crops involved in the rotation. The importance of home-grown seed is especially great in the southern and southeastern part of the clover belt, where the anthracnose disease is common and often very destructive. Her plants, that survive and produce seed, are quite likely to have some degree of resistance to the disease.

Truck Crops Show Large Increase in Production
That the American diet is becoming more and more diversified is indicated by the enormous increase in the production of vegetables during the past three or four years. These crops, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, had a gross value of $313,000,000 in 1924—an increase of 34 per cent over 1921. Over 2,300,000 acres are now devoted to the growing of such crops as tomatoes, early Irish potatoes, strawberries, cantaloupes, green peas, onions, lettuce, celery, cabbage, asparagus, cucumbers, snap beans, watermelons, sweet corn, spinach, peppers, cauliflower, carrots, eggplant and a number of others. The development of the canning industry and the improvement of cold storage, transportation and marketing facilities have made possible this improvement in the diet which is so important to the health of the people—especially of those who are forced to live in congested centers of population. Truck crops, grown for sale, are a product of an intensive agriculture. They require much skilled labor, careful attention during the growing season and on most soils the use of rather heavy applications of commercial fertilizer. In fact it does not usually pay to put so much labor into these crops without using plenty of fertilizer to insure profitable yields.

When Mammoth Clover Is Wanted for Seed Only
When mammoth clover is wanted for seed it is well to either pasture the field until about the first of June or clip it, leaving the clippings on the field to act as mulch. If short of pasture use this field of clover early in the season for that purpose. However, if the fertility of the soil is of most importance, let the clover grow, then in June roll or pole it down, going around the field in the same direction that the mower will go. The heads of the clover will straighten up and the seed crop can be harvested without handling so much straw. By this method a heavy growth of organic matter is left on the ground to be turned under when the ground is plowed for corn.

SCHOOL NOTES

Thirty-two of the seniors signed reservations for the Washington trip, when Mr. Johnson of the B. & O. railroad, called at the school Tuesday. He gave a talk in which he outlined some of the restrictions placed upon the party. They are always under school discipline, with three members of the high school faculty and Mr. Johnson himself in direct charge. No pupil who makes the trip should carry over $5.00 to spend; in fact, after the direct payment is made next Wednesday, not one penny is needed, for food, tips, car service, etc., are all included in the original price made. It is much more democratic if no one has extra money to spend, since none is needed and some cannot afford it. Mr. Johnson also asked that no one wear new shoes, high-heeled shoes, or new clothes. The trip is a hard one, and clothes do not look well after being worn on trains, or when tramping about city streets, perhaps in rain. He told the boys to wear their sweaters, to be comfortable. All school parties are to be in their rooms at ten o'clock, and the Plymouth group is glad to conform to that ruling. Mr. Johnson outlined the trip in detail, and every moment seems to be taken up with something.

GRADE NOTES

Miss Franks' room has been making Dutch booklets, having previously studied about Holland. Margaret Buzzard, Norval Bovee and Richard Simmons had birthdays the last week. A party was held Friday for them.

Of the second A, twenty-five pupils have been neither absent nor tardy the last week. They have just finished reading the book, "The Dutch Twins." They have also been making booklets of Holland. The second B have made Good Food Charts, and have posted them about the room.

Miss Kimball's room has made Holland posters and tulips. On St. Patrick's day, they spent a little time in telling stories of St. Patrick. Miss Stader is back to school again after a week's absence. The children of her room have been drawing pussy-willows, and have also decorated the black-board with a bunny border. The second graders have started the Edison readers.

On Thursday of last week, the Physics class, accompanied by Mr. Ross, was taken through the Daisy Air Rifle factory by Mr. Cline.

We were first taken into a room where the barrels of the guns are blued. From there we were taken into the press-room, where the smaller parts of the guns are made. Our next move was up a flight of stairs to the girls' room. Here the guns are put together, corks and strings fastened, and boxes folded for packing. From here, we were taken into the room where the stocks are shaped and sand papered.

We then went to the third floor where the stocks are stained, shellaced and varnished, and placed to dry. Much surprise was shown by all the Seniors when they went into the assembling room and saw all the parts of one gun.

LIBRARY NOTES

A very pleasing variety of books were added to the library this week. Beginning with the little folks, there is a Brownie book, two picture books, "Little Red People," by Deming, and "The Railroad Book," by Smith, as well as many others.

For the girls and boys we have: "The Boy with the U. S. Mail," by Roll-Wheeler; "The Ranch on the Oxhide," by Inman; "The New Moon" and "The Windy Hill," by Meigs; "The Spartan," by Snedeker, and "The Only Child," by White.

For adults we have: "Homespun and Gold," by Alice Brown; "In Circling Camps," by Altsheiler; "Slave ship," by Mary Johnston; "Human Nature and Conduct," by Dewey; "Foolish Lovers," by Ervine; "Coquette," by Swinerton; a very attractively illustrated book on table decorations for every occasion and a Ma-jung manual.

Last, but not least, in importance, is our set of New International Encyclopedia.

A poor husband always makes a poor husband—but a rich one doesn't always make a good one.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

REV. S. CONGER HATHAWAY, A. M., PASTOR

The Church Session

Ruling elders in each congregation, together with the pastor, constitute the session, to whom it is committed to admit and exclude members, to regulate the worship, guard the doctrine, direct the activity, and conserve the interests of the congregation. The elders are also to represent their brethren in presbyteries, synods and general assemblies, when commissioned there-to. It is their duty to set the example of a godly walk and conversation, and to assist the pastor in the visitation of the people, and in their spiritual guidance and comfort. Part of the service next Sunday morning will be the

Ordination and Installation of Ruling Elders

from church. Are YOU numbered among this indifferent one-third?

Maybe some of us are "hard-boiled," so to speak. But nevertheless, that same "some of us" expect when we take the sacred obligation, to stand by the church to do our utmost to measure up.

Why not, Mr. Member of this Indifferent One-Third, make this Lenten season a time of religious revival for yourself and your family, and renew your consecration to the service of your Lord and Christ.

"Repent ye, therefore, and turn again, that your sins may be blotted out, that so there may come seasons of refreshing from the presence of the Lord; and that He may send the Christ who hath appointed for you, ven Jesus." Acts 3:19-20.

Our Baptist friends are in the midst of revival meetings. We are invited. Let us plan to attend their service as much as possible.

A set of slides picturing the hymn: "I Gave My Life For Thee," will be shown next Sunday evening, and a quartette will sing the song. The sermon will be: "Bread of Cake." Come and bring someone with you.

The fish supper was quite well attended the other evening.

Plan to be present at the mid-week service on Wednesday at 7:30. We are still studying the Life of Christ.

Our sympathy is extended to Brother Jolliffe's family in their recent misfortune, the burning of their home, but we are most grateful that no lives were lost.

Building Fund pledges are due and payable now. They must be in the first of April. Use your special envelope, and put it in the collection, or leave it at the Peoples State Bank.

TRAGEDY OF WOODS NOT HARD TO AVOID

"Lost" Person Need Only Retain Presence of Mind.

The tragedy of incidents like that of the hunter who perished in the woods within striking distance of help is heightened by the circumstance that, barring disabling accident, they almost invariably are avoidable. Putting aside the man's possible neglect to provide himself with such simple necessities as a compass and matches, which everyone who ventures even a short way into the wilderness ought to do, there is nothing intrinsically fatal in an overnight stay out of doors in this weather. Uncomfortable it certainly would be, but not necessarily more serious than that. And in due course, long before starvation would cause death, the mathematical chances of rescue, as was provided by the instance in point, are largely in favor of the lost.

Yet fatalities occur with amazing frequency under conditions closely resembling those in which Lloyd Yocum lost his life. Investigation shows in more than 80 cases out of 100 that the primary cause of death is exhaustion. The psychology of this type of casualty is interesting. The wanderer is confronted by the sight of some familiar landmark which he remembers having passed before, although he thought he was traveling in a different direction. He then tries to relocate himself, but a few attempts end in failure. It seemed easy, at first. It proves the reverse. The initial reaction is realization of incompetency. Bewilderment ensues, and an overpowering sense of complete helplessness. Then panic. And paralysis of the logical faculties. Finally mad desire, mounting to frenzy, to make up for lost time by traveling somewhere—anywhere—in tremendous haste.

It has now become a race between the rescue party, or luck, and uttermost fatigue. No ordinary physical body can long sustain the pace that the hunter by this time has imposed on himself. He climbs over fallen trees that he might have walked around as quickly and with infinitely less labor. He thrashes through thickets that only a little reflection would lead him to avoid. He adopts too literally the principle that if one will follow water down hill far enough it is sure to take him to safety and he fears to depart ever so slightly from the bed of some creek. The hillside, and the ridge above, though ever so much more kindly and promising, provided one keeps the main purpose in mind, never know him. The tangled, nearly impenetrable conglomeration of matted underbrush and prostrate windfall familiar to every fisherman exact the last ounce of his energy, and he succumbs.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

Our Sunday-school had the largest attendance of the year last Sunday; and the weather was adverse at that. Two classes had an aggregate of over sixty present. What will happen when the new contest is begun?

The pastor and LeRoy Jewell attended a brotherhood meeting of the First Presbyterian Church in Ann Arbor, last Tuesday night. Dr. Weir of Chicago, who is at the head of the men's work of our denomination, gave an eloquent and forceful address in support of the following propositions: 1, The greatest need in the world is for more religion; 2, It is perfectly impossible to maintain and promote religion without the church; 3, For Presbyterian men loyalty to religion and the church means loyalty to the Presbyterian church; 4, Loyalty to religion and the church means loyalty and service in the local church. He then proceeded in a masterly and eloquent way to outline a program of activities for the men of each local church. Dr. Weir, before he was called to his present work, had established a men's brotherhood in the church of which he was pastor, which has been successfully operating now for twenty years.

The Ready Service class had a splendid pot-luck dinner and meeting at the home of Mrs. C. G. Draper on Tuesday of this week. Among other things, plans were made for an apron sewing party to be held at the church.

The Daisy Weaver class had a social gathering and supper at the church, last Saturday night.

The pastor wishes to express his appreciation for the liberal increase in salary, which was voted at the annual meeting. The congregation has been unusually kind to him and his family during the present pastorate, and he thanks them heartily.

The annual canvass for the budget of the church will be made on the afternoon of March 29th. The men of the church and congregation are asked to meet after Sunday-school next Sunday, March 22, to consider ways and means of conducting the canvass.

C. B. Weaver will be ordained as a ruling elder next Sunday morning, and, together with Robert Gardiner, will be installed as active members of the session. The other members of the session are: A. D. Stevens, O. H. Loomis, J. R. Rauch, W. R. Shaw, Frank Hawk and I. W. Hummel.

Prayer meeting this week, was at the home of Miss Genevieve McClumpha, on Blunk avenue. The place of meeting for next Wednesday will be announced Sunday.

A card index system of Sunday-school enrollment is being inaugurated by the new superintendent. Teachers are asked to turn in the data requested next Sunday.

Some of the Sunday-school classes are being crowded out of their present quarters and a general readjustment of class rooms will soon be necessary. Watch us grow!

The Busy Woman's Bible class will hold its monthly meeting next Tuesday, March 24th, at the home of Mrs. George Cramer, on the corner of Harvey and Farmer streets. There will be a pot-luck dinner at noon.

There are only three more Sundays in which to get our sixty men out to Sunday-school. The girls are pressing us hard—they almost overtook us last Sunday. Come on, men, let's sprint a little!

METHODIST NOTES

Passion Week services will be held in this church the week of April 5th to 12th. The week of March 29th to April 5th, will be a week of intensive personal work. Let us make these next three weeks leading up to Easter full of intensive zeal for our Lord and Master.

Plan to attend church next Sunday. Your presence is vitally needed. One cannot stay away from the public worship service without suffering thereby a dulling of their spiritual life. Just about one third of the membership of this church, excluding those few who are "shut ins" and can't get out, habitually stay away

Proof That Stone Age Man Knew Use of Iron

The use of iron was known to the Stone Age man, Dr. Albert Sauveur of the Harvard School of Engineering told the Third Pan-American Scientific congress at Lima, Peru, the other day. Hammered implements of meteoric iron have been found in the ancient mounds in Ohio.

"So simple was the operation required for extracting a small mass of malleable iron that primeval man may well have discovered it by means of a fire accidentally lighted on ground where iron ore existed near the surface," said Doctor Sauveur.

The first iron furnaces were a single excavation on the side of the hill facing the prevailing wind, with an opening at the bottom for the draft. In this appliance the ore was heated, and in contact with charcoal a small, pasty mass of iron was obtained.

These primitive furnaces were called bloomeries. Very early in the development of the iron industries an artificial blast was introduced. In the south of Europe artificial blast furnaces were used long before the Roman invasion.

It was not until the early part of the Twentieth century that steel began to take the place of wrought iron manufactured as it was in the days of Cort in the Seventeenth century. With the development of Bessemer steel, although it needed high-grade ore, wrought iron was practically obsolete.

No improvement in the Bessemer process has been recorded; however, iron ore has been reduced by electricity as a source of heat and carbon as a reducing agent. Manganese steel appeared to startle the metallurgical world some years ago by its extreme resistance. It was not until 1914, however, that stainless steel, an alloy of steel, was announced by its discoverer, Harry Brearly. Its adoption for the manufacture of cutlery was immediately appreciated and it is now widely used for that purpose.—Science Service.

Tchitcherin an Eccentric

Tchitcherin, Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, has a complex nature. He works all night and sleeps during the day. This is why the foreign office blazes with lights while Moscow gets its fitful sleep.

It follows that his favorite hour for receiving visitors is midnight. When I met Brockdorff-Rantzau, the German ambassador accredited to the Soviet government, he told me that he had discussed the diplomatic rupture with Germany with the commissar at two o'clock that morning.

Tchitcherin's oddities in attire and habits are proverbial. He takes pride in the fact that he has only one suit of clothes, and looks the part. A confirmed bachelor, his domicile is a bare room on the top floor of the foreign office.

Although he has a large staff, Tchitcherin is the type of person who likes to do everything, from sharpening pencils to filing papers, himself. Being absent-minded, this works many hardships. Frequently the business of the foreign office is held up for a whole night while he frantically hunts for a document that at the moment reposes in his coat pocket.—Isaac P. Marcrosson, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Egg Isle Basaltic Mass

The island of Egg, pronounced Egg-off the Argyllshire coast, where Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain and their family have recently been among the guests of the owner, Sir William Petersen, the shipowner, is an extraordinary mass of basaltic shafts rising from a steep rocky base, and is a conspicuous object for miles around. It has an area of about eighteen square miles and a population of some 200 persons, and its farms are noted for their sheep and highland cattle. Sport is good with winged game and there is any amount of trout fishing in the lochs. Years ago Egg was in the possession of Norsemen, and it is interesting to remember that Sir William Petersen is Danish by birth, though he is naturalized here, and had an Irish mother. A previous owner of Egg was the archeologist, ethnologist and highland historian, Laurie Thompson, who lies buried on a wild headland of an islet off Egg.—Montreal Star.

Bears All Right Now

She was visiting a certain zoo and gathering as much information about the animals as was possible in one short afternoon.

"Are these bears carnivorous?" she inquired of a keeper who happened to be standing near.

"Well," replied the keeper, slowly, "they was when they arrived, mum, but they've been all right since we cleaned 'em down with carbolic."

Cause for Dimay

Amanda Joskin, wife of the latest negro in South Carolina, was discovered by a neighbor fanning her husband as he lay on his bed.

"Am Sam sick?" ventured the caller.

"Not 'zackly," replied Mandy in a whisper. "He jes' needs exercise."

"Dat ain' no exercise fo' him."

"Sh-h, woman. De on'y exercise he gits am walkin' in his sleep, an' he ain' walked fo' two nights."

More Cross-Words Stuff

Judge—Why did you throw the dictionary at your husband?

Woman—Oh, well, I was trying to work a cross-word puzzle and asked him several times to tell me a word of five letters, meaning domestic happiness, and he wouldn't do it.—Florida Times-Union.

Mumps, mumps, who says they want the mumps. Not at Mr. Baehr's, for all are out once more.

It looks as if spring had come, and everyone is glad to see robin red-breast.

Miss Lena Bridge, sister of Thomas Bridge of this place, passed away at Eloise, Friday, March 14th, where she had been a patient for a number of years. Burial took place at Maple Grove cemetery, Tuesday, March 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Erland Bridge and family of Plymouth, visited George Baehr and family, Sunday.

The shower for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hanchett, Saturday evening, at Mr. and Mrs. Michael Steinhauer's, was well attended considering the bad roads.

Mrs. Carl Hjerpe of Detroit, spent last week at the home of her parents, caring for her mother, Mrs. Belle Baehr, who was confined to the house with the mumps. Mrs. Holmes called on Mrs. Baehr, Saturday, bringing her a beautiful plant, from the Ladies' Aid. Many thanks.

Erwin Wright has purchased a home in Plymouth, where they will move as soon as the roads are better.

Chester Waldo and Howard Baehr were in Detroit, Saturday.

His Intelligence

"I've got to admire Constable Slackputter's zeal," said Mayor Numbers of Peruña, "but I can't say much for his judgment."

"Has he been using it lately?" asked a visitor from Allegash.

"Yes. A feller who thought he was in a hurry hopped out of his automobile yesterday at the top of Turn Turtle hill, and left it with its engine running. A kid came along and gave it a push to see what would happen, and it ran away downhill going faster and faster every minute. Slack ran out in front of it, waving his hat and hollering, 'Whoa!' The doctor says he ort to be all right in about a month."—Kansas City Star.

Teddy Misplaced

The young woman had just returned to her rural home from several years in the big city. She was exhibiting the contents of her trunk, to the admiration and amazement of her mother, who had bought her clothes for 40 years at the general store.

"And those," said the daughter, holding up a delicate silken garment, "are teddies."

"Teddy's? You don't say! Young men are certainly different from what they used to be."—Akron Times.

Prune Grape Vines for Best Results

Work Usually Done While Plants Are Dormant.

Bearing grape vines must be pruned every year if a profitable yield is to be secured.

This work is usually done while the vines are still dormant, advises J. H. Clark, instructor in fruit growing at the New Jersey State College of Agriculture. "A heavy pruning is necessary to stimulate vigorous wood growth, to keep the plant within bounds, and to leave only as many buds as can produce good-sized clusters.

"The amount of old wood left at pruning time should be no more than is necessary to act as a support to the pruning canes. In the knifed system of training, which is recommended for New Jersey, a single trunk extends to the top wire of the two-wire trellis. Four vigorous, one-year-old canes, a little above the average in length and starting as near the trunk as possible, are selected to produce the crop. These should be so located that one cane can be tied in each direction along each wire. Each of these canes is cut back to eight or ten buds, depending on the vigor of the vine, making a total of 32 to 40 buds on the entire plant.

"This number of buds distributed over four canes will produce more fruit than the same number of buds on spurs, each bearing only two to four buds. Since the canes which bear fruit one year are removed the next, some provision must be made for renewal. This is provided for by selecting four other canes as close as possible to where removal canes will be wanted a year later, and cutting them back to spurs of two buds each. All remaining canes are then removed entirely.

"These recommendations can easily be applied to other systems of training. The removal of as much old wood as possible and keeping 20 to 40 buds on four or five one-year-old canes to produce the crop are the essential points."

Farming Becoming More Difficult, Says Expert

According to Director Sidney H. Haswell of the Massachusetts Experiment Station, farming is becoming more difficult, due to higher market standards, soil fertility problems, insect pests, plant and animal diseases, and competition with the factory which has brought about a shorter working day. This increasing difficulty works to the advantage of the educated farmer.

The future of farming looks bright because of the increasing population, because there are no longer great areas of untitled soil in the West, and because the Middle West and South are now passing through the same era of industrialization which the East has already had.

Each section of the country must adapt itself more and more to that type of agriculture that best fits its market and transportation facilities, its soil and its climatic conditions, and in order to compete on the market at the price set by the large producing areas, farmers must reach certain standards of efficiency per acre, per dollar and per man.

More and more attention must be given to good seed, productive live stock, economical use of labor and to the application of proper fertilizers in sufficient quantity to give the greatest profit.

Pasturing Sweet Clover During Second Season

Sweet clover, the second season, should be pastured as soon as an animal is able to get a mouthful and should be grazed heavily, according to specialists of the Kansas State Agricultural College.

If a seed crop is desired, grazing should cease the last of June or the first of July and the crop should be allowed to make seed. Harvesting should be done September 1, or before. Close grazing is not likely to hurt sweet clover. As a matter of fact, it benefits the following seed crop, where seed is desired, by forcing the plant to make a fine, bushy growth, instead of a coarse, upright growth.

Farm Hint

- Select the best eggs for hatching.
- Top-dress small grain with nitrate of soda.
- Plow every day the ground is dry enough.
- Order any repair parts needed for farm implements.
- High quality in seeds is worth more than it costs.
- Clean up around edges of fields and other places where needed.
- A germination test on seed corn makes a pretty good insurance policy.
- As bad accounts bankrupt a business, so worthless cows will break a dairyman.
- That ounce of prevention—look up the latest control measures for insect pests, and plan for them beforehand.

Today's Reflections

About the only natural history the rising generation knows anything about concerns white mules and blind tigers.

Most Plymouth citizens can remember when 9:00 p. m. found farm residents turning in. Now it finds them tuning in.

Some Plymouth married men speak of home in the same tone of voice that they use in speaking of the penitentiary.

When a man is his own worst enemy, why is it that he doesn't try to make friends with himself?

We've found that it isn't what a woman knows that worries her as much as it is what she would like to know.

Anyone you meet on the streets of Plymouth can give you a sure cure for what ails you, and yet the doctors go right on living.

It is always a good idea to remember that the fellow who asks you how you feel today doesn't want to listen to a lot of symptoms.

It looks like they have sent the president every kind of a dog but a "hot dog."

Every Plymouth man gets attached to a hat after he has worn it for awhile, but it's different with a woman.

Occasionally a married man gets so used to lying to his wife that he can't tell the truth when he's talking to his friends.

Maybe another reason why a man always gives in in an argument is because the woman never gives out.

Our idea of an optimist is the Plymouth man who can go to prayer meeting when he knows his chickens are scratching up his neighbor's garden.

When a woman first marries she thinks her husband has the biggest heart in the world. And then the honeymoon is over when she discovers how much bigger is his stomach than his heart.

We heard a Plymouth married man say the other day that next to an automobile, nothing declines in value as much as the wife who knows more about playing bridge than she does about making buscuit.

Most Valuable Feed for Swine

Skim Milk, Buttermilk and Whey Are Most Highly Prized for Hogs.

(By E. W. CRAMPTON, Lecturer in Animal Husbandry, Macdonald College, Que.)
Among all of the feeds used for pig feeding, none are more highly prized as growth stimulants than the dairy by-products—skim milk, buttermilk and whey. Of these, skim milk is in most sections the most commonly used and incidentally the most valuable as a feed. The pigman who has an abundance of fresh skim milk available is usually the one who has the best doing pigs.

Skim Milk Properly Used.
But skim milk, like any other feed, should be properly used if the most is to be made of its excellent qualities. Experiments without number have been carried out to determine the value of skim milk in terms of meal and it is now pretty generally conceded that six pounds of this product has an approximate feeding value equal to one pound of a suitable pig meal.

But this is only a part of the question. The optimum proportion of meal to milk is too often forgotten, though from a nutritional point of view it is as important as is its meal equivalent value. This feed being high in protein has a very narrow nutritive ratio—containing but one and a half parts of carbohydrate to each part of protein, whereas an ideal pig ration carries from 4 to 6 parts of carbohydrate or fat-forming products to each other of protein. In other words the unutilized use of skim milk, excellent feed though it is, does not provide a properly balanced ration for any class of pigs. It does not follow that since a little is good, more is necessarily better. A certain amount of carbohydrate feeds, as shorts, barley, or corn meals, are necessary for the best results.

In order to state definitely what amounts of meal and milk should be used to obtain a given nutritive ratio it would be necessary to know the kind of meal used. In spite of the fact, however, that a wide variety of feeds are used for hog feeding, the basis of the majority of pig meals in eastern Canada is shorts and barley meal. Furthermore most of the other meals used carry a very similar composition to the shorts-barley mixture.

For all practical purposes, then, it is possible to consider any ordinary meal or combination of meals used for pig feeding, exclusive of supplementary protein feeds as tankage, oilmeal, or pea meal, etc., as of the same general nature and composition. With this assumption, calculation shows that 1 pound of meal to 3 pounds of milk gives a nutritive ratio of about 1 to 4 1/2—a proportion of protein to carbohydrate ideal for growing pigs just after weaning and for in-pig sows during the last month of pregnancy. As the growing pigs get heavier relatively less milk to meal will be required, since the nearer to finishing the market pig gets the less protein in proportion to fattening feeds are needed in his feed.

For practical use the amount of meal mixture needed to each gallon of skim milk (or buttermilk) to supply the proper balance in the ration for market pigs is given as follows:

|----------------|--------|
| Up to 10 weeks | 4 lbs. |
| 10 to 14 weeks | 3 lbs. |
| 14 to 20 weeks | 2 lbs. |

Note—This table does not refer to the amount of feed required daily by the pig, but simply to the proportions of milk and meal to use to make the best use of skim milk as feed for market pigs.

Seven storekeepers out of ten—so surveys show—content themselves with about enough light to SEE by; the remaining three understand the advantage of having light enough to SELL by.

Experience has demonstrated beyond a doubt that sales increase with increase of lighting; and not only increase in quantity but in ease of making. An ill-lighted store—the greater number are ill-lighted—is seriously handicapped.

Excellent Supplements

Increase Flow of Milk

If cows have not been fed sufficient protein to meet the requirements for their milk production, the addition of cottonseed meal will probably increase the amount of milk which they will produce and consequently the amount of butterfat the cows produce. Cows that are not giving any more than 1 to 1 1/2 gallons of milk, or one-half pound of butterfat per day, can get what nutrients they need by eating what they want. Cows producing more than this amount of milk will need some grain to support their milk production. The following grain ration, fed in the proportion of 1 pound of the grain to each 4 pounds of milk the cows produce, will do very well: Six hundred pounds of corn chop, 300 pounds of bran and 100 pounds of cottonseed meal. If the cows test more than 4 per cent they should be fed this grain mixture in the proportion of 1 pound to each 3 pounds of milk that they produce.

Orchard Fertilization, Pruning and Spraying

In almost all sections of the country where there is any fruit grown, there are run-down orchards that can be made profitable by pruning, spraying and fertilization. As an example of what can be accomplished along the lines of orchard improvement, a recent report of the York county farm bureau, New York, is of interest. In 14 demonstrations, applications of 4.93 pounds of sodium nitrate per tree increased the yield in fruit .60 barrel per tree. The value of this increase was $2.47, and the cost of the fertilizer 21 cents, leaving an average increased net value of $2.26 per tree.

In the 14 demonstrations, 654 trees were fertilized, and the increased value of the fruit over the cost of the fertilizer was $1,478.04.

"Fru Coughs Hang On"
Some victims of the "flu" never fully recover the health of the lungs, and coughs that "hang on" are the coughs that threaten. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy puts a soothing, healing coating on the inflamed surfaces, relieves tightness and soreness, relaxes phlegm easily. The Federated church, having completed the excavating work for the basement, has installed a new Round Oak furnace, placed piers of concrete around the supporting walls, substituted iron posts for the large square piers upon which the church has rested, this last making for both room and light, and established the grade for the concrete floor that is soon to be laid. The new furnace has been so located that much more room is provided in the basement for the varied activities of the church.

Through the generosity of the ladies of the Federated Aid, a Round Oak furnace has been installed in the parsonage. This splendid improvement adds greatly to the comfort of the pastor and family.

On Thursday, March 26th, the men of the Federated church give their annual fish dinner. This event takes the place of the regular March meeting of the ladies of the Federated Aid, and is held in the town hall. While the men furnish the dinner, which will be served at the noon hour, the ladies furnish the program. In the past this annual fish dinner has been looked upon as an unofficial home-coming. To this end all the friends of Salem, both locally and at a distance are both cordially invited and urged to attend.

KING'S CORNERS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston and Mr. Jubenville spent Sunday with the latter's son in Royal Oak.

Charles Parrish is on the sick list this week.

Little Stanley Johnston, who has been sick the past week, is better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lockhart and son, Kenneth, while on their way to Royal Oak, Sunday, had the misfortune to be run into. No one was seriously hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart were somewhat bruised and pretty well shaken up, and their machine was put out of commission. They were very lucky to escape as they did.

There will be a Zone meeting at the Patchen school house, District No. 3, Nankin, Saturday, March 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston visited at the home of the former's father in Southfield, Monday evening.

BARTLETT SCHOOL NOTES

We have had several visitors, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Hawk, Mr. and Mrs. Hewer and Mrs. Parrish.

A prophylactic tooth brush chart was sent to us, and we are all trying to see who can have the most stars at the end of the month. A little later we received a milk chart. We also try to see how many stars we can get, and a new health poster. Irene Campbell brought us a bottle of milk and five dolls to go with it. One doll up in the top of the bottle is Fanny Fat. A little lower down is Sally Sugar; she is Fanny's playmate. Then comes Patrick Protein; he's way down in the bottom. On the other side going up is Lily Lime, our bone builder, and at the top is Viola Vitamin, who makes us happy. My, we like milk!

Miss Fisher and the Eighth grade pupils went to Detroit the 14th of March, and they had a very good time. They went mainly to go through the county building, but spent part of the morning in the Detroit Institute of Art. They wish everyone could see the art that is there. Some of the things dated back to the fourteenth and fifteenth century.

We are sorry to say that the following pupils have been ill: Irene Krauther, Elizabeth Parrish, Viola Chilson, Irving Utter, Claude Maynard, Robert Hewer and Jack Travis.

The sixth and seventh grades just received their study booklets on, "The Courtship of Miles Standish." Both grades received supplementary geography, which will help them in their county examination.

Our museum is growing larger every day. We have many interesting things. Come and see them and visit us for a while.

A CARD—We desire to express our thanks and appreciation to our neighbors, friends and the Plymouth fire department for their splendid work at the time of the fire at our home.

D. A. Jolliffe and R. J. Jolliffe.

If Meighan were not the big star he is today, "Coming Through" would make him a favorite over night.

In the role of a young man grappling with life in the lawless mining camps, clashing with many enemies and "Coming Through," Tom is superb.

Filmed with a big cast of favorites.

You're right! It is a great Meighan role. The best he's had in a long, long time. And you'll like it!

NEWBURG

Rev. Paul Havens took for his text Sunday, "And Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom," Gen. 13:12. A great interest is shown in Sunday-school. There were 76 in attendance, and 86 instead of 36 a week ago. Mrs. Henry Mielbeck entertained her class of little folks recently. Her class won the banner last Sunday. Plans are being made to celebrate Easter Sunday. Next week, the pastor will hold special services at Beech, with Rev. Ambler as evangelist, commencing next Monday evening, and continuing for two weeks.

James McFarlane of Flint, called on C. E. Ryder, Sunday afternoon. Fifty years ago, Mr. McFarlane lived at Rough & Ready corners, his father keeping the tavern there at the time the plank road went through to Detroit. For a number of years he has been a prominent lawyer of Flint.

John Stark has sold his farm to J. F. Rousseau of Newburg. Mr. Stark was born on this farm, living there all his life with the exception of two years. The land was taken up from the government by Mr. Stark's great grandfather in October, 1826. Mr. and Mrs. Stark will remain on the place until July 1st, after which they will be at home in Plymouth.

Miss Jean Matheson of Paisley, Ohio, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. L. Clemens, over Sunday.

Charles and Dwight Paddock have the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Greer have moved into the house that Harmon vacated, on the old Tuttle farm.

Mrs. Ella Wight of Wayne, is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. Eva Smith.

ELM

Sunday-school services will be held as usual next Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Mrs. Bentley, the superintendent, urges everyone to be present.

The senior class quartette of the Plymouth High school, will give a concert at Elm school next Tuesday evening, March 24th, at 8:00 o'clock. The quartette, consisting of four students—Pierre Kenyon, Forrest Hubert, Frank Millard and Everett Cummins—are all musicians and entertainers of exceptional ability, and assure us a splendid program. Pierre Kenyon has given several numbers over the radio through WCX of Detroit. The program is given under the auspices of the P. T. A., and the admission is 35c for adults, and 25c for children. Mrs. George Bentley is chairman of committee in charge.

The teachers of Elm and the P. T. A. of Elm are making extensive preparations for entertaining the guests at the zone meeting, which will be held at Elm, Saturday, March 28th. Everyone is especially invited to attend the program in the afternoon. There will be an outside speaker, and several musical numbers. Mrs. George Bentley, Mrs. Scott Davis and Mrs. Richard Smith are on the committee in charge.

Herman Esch and family have just recently moved to Elm.

Miss Cochrane, the helping teacher of this zone, visited Elm school Thursday. The children of the intermediate room have been making maps, and have a fine display on the walls. The primary room has two new pupils, Ina and Willie Esch.

Elm friends will regret to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. Clyde Bentley. Mrs. Bentley is suffering from a very serious nervous breakdown, and is in the University hospital at Ann Arbor. Her condition is so serious that no one is allowed to see her, nor is she allowed any flowers or gifts. However, the doctors say that with absolute quietness and rest, she will recover.

To date, Katherine Burke is reported about the same, there is no improvement so far. We are sorry to hear this, and hope that by next week she will be much better.

The school board is starting to make plans for remodeling the school building. It will be remembered that last summer the district voted to bond for $5,000, to remodel the building into a modern school house with proper lighting, heating, etc. We will be justly proud of it when it is completed next fall.

With the spring thaw, residents along the Elm road where the pavement was left undone, are unable to get out.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert McKinney entertained a large party of friends last Saturday evening, March 14th. The evening was spent playing cards, and Mrs. McKinney served a mid-night luncheon. The decorations were carried out in green for St. Patrick's day. Favors were sham-rock leaves and small white pipes. Help Boost Elm, and phone any news to Redford 7021-R4.

Scientific Bird Study

The American Ornithologists' union was formed 41 years ago, in 1883, by the amalgamation of numerous societies of bird students in various parts of the country. Its membership at first was small, but it has constantly grown, increasing from about 140 to approximately 1,600 at present. The activities of the society are manifold. It arbitrates scientific questions concerning birds, maintains a bird magazine, the Auk, and investigates the problems of the migration and nesting of birds. Two offshoots of the union have themselves attained a development practically overlapping the parent organization. The American Audubon society, which is concerned with the protection of game and song birds, originated as a committee of the Ornithologists' union. Another committee developed into the biological survey, now one of the most active bureaus in government work.

BRIGGS SCHOOL NOTES

(By Leroy Simmons)

Miss Cochrane, the Helping Teacher, visited school Tuesday, and gave a talk to the pupils. She also gave us another gold star.

Carl, Phillip, Rhoda and Phyllis Peck were absent from school on account of illness.

The Briggs Busy Bodies sewing club met last Friday afternoon after school. After the sewing period, an entertainment was given by Alma Wagenschutz and Gladys Schrader, and refreshments were served by Gladys Smith and Beulah Wagenschutz.

We have five gold stars on our Gold Star school card.

To help the eighth grade in civil government, and also to teach the children to be good citizens, they have organized the township of "Briggsville." The officers elected, are: Supervisor, Leroy Simmons; clerk, Alma Wagenschutz; treasurer, Beulah Wagenschutz; justices of peace, Mrs. Watson and Gladys Schroder; constables, Harley Wolfrom and Eleanor Delaney; street commissioner, Bert Rutenbar. Other necessary officers were appointed by the supervisor.

The school has a new drinking fountain.

Carlton Denton is also absent from school.

The P. T. A. held their annual meeting March 6th, and elected new officers. The following were elected: President—Mrs. C. Schroder; Vice President—Mrs. C. Humphries; Secretary—Mrs. E. Watson; Treasurer—Mrs. C. Simmons.

Mr. Fischer and Miss Cochrane were the speakers of the evening. After the program, which was given by the boys and girls, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held April 3rd. Please don't forget it.

The children are enjoying the turn in the weather this week.

Ernest and Helen Manzel have left school on account of their parents' moving to Salem.

Homer Lute has returned to school after a short illness.

The pupils are practicing very hard for the spelling contest, which will start Friday.

There will be ten eighth graders to take the examinations this year: Bert Rutenbar, Harley Wolfrom, Alma Wagenschutz, Gladys Smith, Gerald Simmons, Gladys Schroder, Lucille Ash, Leroy Simmons, Eleanor Delaney and Alma Rutenbar.

We have a new record for our Victrola, "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Lucille Ash is our new librarian.

Superstition Persists in Spite of Culture

The ignorant and the fanatic are not alone in their observance of superstitious practices; as many instances may be found amongst the educated classes. Elton Mayo, in Quarterly Magazine, declares: "The problem has to do with enlightened religion; we are facing a question as to why an essentially primitive attitude of mind should persist in the most advanced societies."

Recently a leading business man of Philadelphia refused to leave a factory he was visiting by the most obvious exit. He had come in by another door and must therefore leave the building by the same door; otherwise he suffered premonitions of "bad luck."

This same belief is found widely spread through the country and mining districts of Pennsylvania and Virginia. If a visitor enters a house by one door and leaves by another, the death of some resident in the house may be expected. It is somewhat astonishing to discover in the United States and among native born Americans (the educated not excepted) a superstitious belief with respect to visiting strangers which is held by the savage islanders of Java, New Guinea, Borneo, and the South Pacific generally. The elaborate ceremonies of purification after a visit from a stranger have been abandoned, but the fear itself persists.

The apparent identity of superstitious beliefs is not confined to this single instance. Over a wide field there is a most striking resemblance that calls for further investigation. A bird flying into a house or against a window means a death; this again is an omen that would be similarly interpreted in the Pacific.

Civilization has apparently developed the outward and visible signs of intellectual freedom, but not the inward reality. Many new superstitions have been added to the original and primitive list—superstitions with respect to the significance of a fallen picture, shoes left on a table, the new moon seen in a mirror, and so on indefinitely.

THE THEATRE

"INEZ FROM HOLLYWOOD"
Something to get excited about—a motion picture without a "juvenile" or a flapper!
This is "Inez From Hollywood," the First National production which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, March 21st.
The principal roles are played by Anna Q. Nilsson, as Inez, and Lewis S. Stone, as Stewart Cuyler. This is in line with the very praiseworthy tendency shown by the most intelligent producers to cast in their leading roles actors and actresses, rather than merely pretty faces and youthful inexperience. Not that Anna Q. isn't beautiful enough to satisfy the most critical in the role of Hollywood's reigning vamp.

Stone has an ideal role as a millionaire man-about-town who is wise enough to escape from the siren's coils, only to fall in love with her younger sister. The sister is played by Mary Astor, and other members of the cast include Laurance Wheat, Rose Dione, Snitz Edwards, Harry Depp, Ray Hallor and E. H. Calvert.

The picture is, primarily, an intimate view into the hearts and lives of the Hollywood film folk, and, as such, will be very popular.

Directed by Alfred E. Green, who recently performed the same office for "In Hollywood With Potash and Perlmutter," it demonstrates Green's versatility. Whereas the latter picture was roaring comedy, "Inez" is the truest and sincerest drama of a woman's heart.

"COMING THROUGH"

They said he eloped with her for her money. The girl's father even hired thugs to "get" him. Tom didn't blame him, but he "came through" in spite of them all.

Never before has Meighan had such a role as that of Tom Blackford in the Paramount picture, "Coming Through," a screen version of Jack Bethea's mining novel, "Bed Rock," coming to the Penniman Allen, next Sunday and Monday, March 22 and 23.

This picture has another big "he-man" role for "Good Luck" Tom—his best to date. Tom's a chief clerk in the offices of a big steel corporation. His father-in-law, the president of the concern, sends him down to Colton, the toughest of mining camps, hoping that he may get rid of him through some "accident." But Tom makes good and wins the love of his bride.

Lila Lee is the leading woman in "Coming Through," which was directed by Edward Sutherland, until recently Charlie Chaplin's assistant. Wallace Beery, Laurance Wheat, John Milern, Frank Campeau and others play in support.

"EXCUSE ME"

A picture whose action moves with the rapidity of an express has been found at last. It's "Excuse Me," the picturization of Rupert Hughes' famous stage farce, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 25 and 26. This joyous farce tells of a pair of nearly-weds, who find themselves aboard an express train at night searching for a minister they will never find, because he has doffed clerical garb for mufti.

The characters in this uproariously funny photoplay are brought to life by a cast of tried and true cinema favorites. Conrad Nagel and Norma Shearer are the marital aspirants, and Renee Adoree is the French friend who almost disrupts their romance. The supporting cast includes Walter Hiers, John Boles, Bert Roach and William V. Mong. Alf Goulding was the director, and John Boyle was the photographer. "Excuse Me" is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

The new building is being constructed of hollow tile with steel window sash. The building will contain a garage, storage room and tinning shop. It is the future intention of this enterprising firm to tear down the present wooden structure and build a brick building with modern front, as another unit to the addition they are now erecting. Clinton Gottschalk has the contract for the new addition, and the General Iron and Machine Works are furnishing the steel work.
