MRS. B. J. HOLCOMB FATALLY BURNED LAST SATURDAY

A Solution of Turpentine, Which She was Preparing, Exploded and She Suffered Burns From Which She Died Late in the Afternoon.

The Funeral Services Which were Largely Attended were Held at Masonic Temple Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. B. J. Holcomb of this village, died in Harper hospital late Saturday afternoon as the result of burns suffered about 10:30 o'clock that morning, when a solution of turpentine which she was heating upon the stove exploded. Mrs. Holcomb, who was alone in the house at the time, was preparing the solution in a most careful manner, to place upon the chest of her seven-months old baby who was suffering with a severe cold. To the lard and turpentine she added a few drops of camphor, when instantly there was a flash of flame which ignited her clothing, and in the fraction of a second her clothes were a mass of flames. The mother's first thoughts were for the safety of her babe, and to avoid fire to the house she rushed out into the yard and thereby saved her baby from the peril of the flames which enveloped her. A brisk wind which was prevailing at the time, fanned the flames of her burning clothing to a greater intensity.

Her screams for help soon brought neighbors to her assistance and she was carried into the house, where everything that medical skill and loving hands could do was done to alleviate her sufferings. She was taken to Harper hospital a short time later, but the terrible burns which she had sustained and the shock to her nervous system were too great, and she passed away at about 8:00 o'clock.

Seldom has a tragedy of this kind stirred the hearts of our citizens with sorrow and sympathy as did this sad occurrence of last Saturday. During the few years of her residence here, Mrs. Holcomb, by her quiet manner and pleasing personality, had endeared herself to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and her untimely and tragic death cast a pall of sadness over the entire community, and everywhere were heard expressions of sorrow and deepest sympathy for the grief stricken husband and the members of her family.

Jeanette Wright was born in Sunfield township, Eaton county, May 3, 1892. She was graduated from the Kalamazoo State Normal College, and for several years taught in the schools of Three Rivers, Charlotte and Birmingham, and for three and a half years was a teacher in the schools at Northville. On August 4, 1920, she was married to Benjamin J. Holcomb of this village, who, with the baby son, survives her. She also leaves her father, George B. Wright of Birmingham; two sisters, Miss Grace Wright of Highland Park, and Miss Lenore Wright of this place, and four brothers, Ervin Wright of Lansing; Giles of Chicago; Charles of Valparaiso, Ind., and L. E. of Plymouth.

At the time of her death, Mrs. Holcomb was worthy Matron of the Plymouth Chapter Order of the Eastern Star. She was also a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The funeral services were held from the Masonic temple Tuesday afternoon, and were largely attended. The casket reposed beneath a wealth of flowers in the beautiful chapter room. Rev. Frank M. Field of Flint, a former pastor and friend of Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb, officiated. The ladies quartet rendered two beautiful selections, and the burial services of the Order of the Eastern Star were impressively given. The interment took place in Riverside cemetery.

SPECIAL I. O. O. F. SERVICE

HARRY C. ROBINSON ELECTED PRESIDENT

At the first meeting of the new village commission, held Monday evening, Harry C. Robinson was elected president for the ensuing year. Mr. Robinson has served the village as councilman and as president for several terms in past years, and is therefore well qualified and experienced in municipal affairs. In selecting Mr. Robinson for this important office the members of the commission have made a splendid choice.

LIVONIA UNION CHURCH TO BE OPENED EASTER DAY

It will indeed be good news to many readers of the Mail to know that the Union church at Livonia Center will be opened Easter Sunday. About ten years ago this church was closed, never holding any services there since, except for funerals. For the past six years the church has not been in a condition to hold a funeral service, but past memories of the old church were too dear to many of the citizens to see it closed forever with no hope of ever re-opening it. So in the past few weeks, several citizens have been busy making plans and raising funds for the necessary repairing of the church.

As the time is so short before Easter, only the necessary repairs will be made at present, but later many extended repairs will be made. The church has secured as its pastor, Rev. Helen Phelps of Wayne. Rev. Phelps comes to us very highly recommended, and the community is to be congratulated in being able to secure her as pastor. Services will be held every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Special music is being prepared for Easter, and here it should be said let praise, honor and glory be given to each and every one who is sponsoring this great movement.

MISS CAROLINE SCHULTZ PASSES AWAY

Miss Caroline Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schultz, was born at Greenfield, Michigan, February 28, 1865, and died March 19, 1925. For 37 years, she has resided at the home of Mrs. L. H. Bennett, where she passed away. She leaves to mourn their loss, four brothers, John, Fred, Henry and August Schultz, and three sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Gleason, Mrs. Fannie Schrader and Mrs. Minnie Hudson. Funeral services were held at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lizzie Gleason, Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. H. E. Sayles officiating. Interment in Riverside cemetery.

DANCING PARTY A SUCCESS

The attendance at the annual dancing party, given by the Officers Club of the House of Correction Farm, at the Penniman Allen auditorium, last Saturday evening, broke all previous records since these parties have become an annual affair with the club. Busses brought visitors from Detroit, while Northville, Dearborn, Wayne, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor were well represented among the dancers. Finzel's orchestra of Detroit, rendered splendid music for the occasion, and everyone present enjoyed the evening immensely. The proceeds of the dance are to go toward the maintenance of the officers' base ball team at the Farm, and a goodly sum will be placed in the treasury, as a result of the party.

The card party, which was to be given at Masonic Temple, March 31, has been postponed indefinitely.

COUNTY PROPOSITION UP FOR VOTE APRIL 6

SEVERAL STATE OFFICERS WILL ALSO BE VOTED FOR AT COMING TOWNSHIP ELECTION.

One county proposition will be voted upon by the voters at the coming spring election, Monday, April 6th, besides the regular township officers, county and state officers.

In the township election for various officers, there is only one ticket in the field, the Republican, therefore there will be no opposition for the nominees on that ticket. The county proposition is one for the retirement of all county employees, who have been in the employ of the county for 25 years or who have attained the age of 70 years. The proposition is to pay such persons a pension, amounting to one-half of the annual salary, but not in excess of $900 per annum.

On the county ticket, there is only one office to be voted for, that of county auditor.

In the state election the voter will be given the opportunity to express his choice for a Justice of the Supreme Court, Regent of the University, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Member of State Board of Education, Member of State Board of Agriculture, State Highway Commissioner. It is not expected that a very large vote will be polled.

PAGEANT DEPICTS EARLY DAYS

A big historical pageant is to be staged in connection with the convention of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society, to be held at Benton Harbor, June 4th and 5th.

The pageant will be given in the new Benton Harbor High School Stadium, and will represent the first 100 years of the history of the St. Joseph River valley. Supt. S. C. Mitchell is busy gathering data from all parts of the valley for the picturesque episodes, which will be portrayed.

The Benton Harbor Chamber of Commerce is backing the event, and the civic committee has mapped out an advertising program that will bring thousands of visitors from all parts of the Mississippi valley to the twin cities and to Michigan. It is proposed to advertise the pageant liberally through the various tourist associations.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

"A popular government without popular information, or the means of acquiring it, is but the prologue to a farce or a tragedy."—James Madison, fourth president of the United States.

"In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened."—George Washington.

With this issue of the Mail, we start a new column, in which, during the year, the citizens of Plymouth will be kept informed of the work being done by village forces, and of other items in connection with the official village.

The more knowledge citizens have of the work of their official representatives, the better they will understand the problems that come up and the methods used to solve these problems. This closer acquaintance with village affairs will be of great value not only to the commission and its officers, but to all the people of Plymouth.

In the first place, the manager wishes to express his appreciation of the very fine co-operation the Plymouth Mail always gives in any matter affecting the public welfare. It is presumed that the majority of people do not realize how great an amount of free advertising of a public or semi-public nature their local paper gives them beyond what other papers give.

The village manager will be glad to answer questions concerning the village work, in this column.

The last meeting of the old commission was held last Monday evening. Three commissioners retired after long and faithful service for the village. Mr. Daggett has been a member since the start of the Commission-Manager plan in 1918. Mr. Henderson has served for six years. Mr. Murray has had two terms. The village appreciates their services.

After the 1924 commission adjourned sine die, the village clerk called the new commission to order. Two of the new men have had former experience, Mr. Robinson and Mr. Fisher. Mr. Rambo is new at his job. The commission elected Mr. Robinson as president, for the ensuing year. So he is doubly at home on the commission.

The village may rest assured that its affairs are in good hands.

The members of the police department held a meeting also, Monday evening, to talk over with Deputy Safford of Northville, the coming spring Wayne County Safety Campaign. This, as far as Plymouth is concerned, is from April 4th to 11th. There will be a mass meeting here on the 7th.

Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lee underwent a successful operation for appendicitis, at Harper hospital, Wednesday.

DEATH OF MRS. JOSEPH TRACY

Janet Elizabeth Ward, daughter of Benjamin and Henrietta Ward, was born in Windsor, Ontario Province, Canada, August 3, 1881. On her twentieth birthday, August 3, 1901, she was married to Joseph Tracy, at Windsor, Canada. All of her married life was spent in Detroit and vicinity. Three children were born to this union: Mrs. Ruth Covell of Northville, Douglas Tracy and Joseph Tracy, Jr., both of Plymouth. Mrs. Tracy was a member of the St. Thomas Episcopal church of Detroit, and of the local Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., Pocahontas Lodge and Star of Bethlehem. Although she never transferred her church membership, she was largely identified during her residence in Plymouth with the First Presbyterian church in which she was a frequent and willing worker. For some time she had been in failing health but had not been confined to her bed until last Saturday, when her condition became critical. Sunday she was taken to Sessions hospital in Northville, where a slight operation was performed in the hope of relief; but on Monday morning at 10:20, "God's finger touched her and she slept."

She leaves, besides her husband and children, two sisters, Mrs. Lillian Clark and Mrs. James Sutherland, both of Detroit; one brother, Benjamin Ward of East Tonawanda, New York; and a large circle of more distant relatives and friends.

Funeral services at the late residence on Main street, were conducted Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, by Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Carl Bryan and Ray VanValkenburg, of Northville, sang two selections. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

Plymouth will have a part in Wayne County's second annual safety campaign, which opened in Highland Park Thursday. Plymouth and vicinity will observe the week of April 4th to 11th. Deputy Wm. Safford of Northville, was in the village this week, and together with Chief of Police Springer and the members of the local police department, formulated plans for the drive in Plymouth. The purpose of the campaign is of an educational program for the safety of the men, women and children who are upon the streets of the village, and highways. Among the things that will be emphasized are correction of automobile lighting and the proper observance of crossing streets and highways.

A big mass meeting of the citizens of this village and vicinity will be held in the Penniman Allen theatre, Tuesday evening, April 7th, at which time there will be a good speaker present, also a two-reel comedy and several reels of safety pictures from the Detroit Police Department. The Friendship orchestra of Detroit, and the famous Hudson male quartette will furnish music. There will be no admission fee or collection taken, and no one will be asked to join anything, but all are urged to come out and enjoy the entertainment and help make the streets of the village and roads of Wayne county safe.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of the Woman's Club who attended the meeting Friday afternoon, at the home of the vice-president, Mrs. R. A. Cassidy, profited much. The regular business of the day was handled by the president, Mrs. C. E. Humphries, such as bills, reports, accepting a new member, Mrs. Jack Koller, choosing the nominating committee, Mesdames Beyer, Hillmer and Hillman; and a short report of Music Memory Contest by Mrs. George Robinson and Mrs. Harold Roberts; also plans on going to Wayne as guests of Arch Club, April 3rd.

The excellent program was given by Divisions V and IX. Mrs. George Robinson presiding. A most pleasant treat was to have again Mrs. Harold Roberts sing two numbers, "In My Garden," Higgins, and "E'en As the Flower," Logan, accompanied by Mrs. Pearl Porter Weikel of Royal Oak. Mrs. E. R. Daggett read a paper on "The Valley of the Potomac," always an interesting theme. Miss Virginia Giles kindly came to play two pleasing piano solos, "The Riders" and "The Song of India."

Mrs. Irving Ulrich, who lived awhile in the West, gave an interesting talk on "Making the Desert Bloom," by reclamation work in U. S. A real artist surely came to thrill in the person of Mrs. Pearl Porter Weikel, who prefaced her beautiful piano numbers, "Second Prelude in G Minor," "Rochimannoff," and "Country Gardens," Percy Grainger, with very interesting items about the music. Mrs. Weikel's ability and generosity were recognized with a rising vote of thanks. Mrs. E. L. Thrall read a paper on "The Romance and Wonders of the Southwest," paying a well deserved tribute to the early Spaniards, and proved a good geography teacher to the club.

Mrs. Harold Roberts showed her splendid example of loyalty to the club by two more delightful numbers, "Song of the Soul," Brael, and "Take Joy Home," assisted by Mrs. Weikel. Such loyalty to come so far and bring so much is very touching. Mrs. Foster, also, is very ill at her daughter's home.

The next meeting of the club will the Congregational church at Wayne, April 3rd, at 2:00 p. m.

WILL PRESENT "JUVENILITY" TONIGHT, FRIDAY.

Miss Kathryn Searcy and pupils in dancing, will present "Juvenility," at the High school auditorium, this Friday evening, March 27. Don't miss this splendid entertainment.

FRUIT BROWERS STUDY BLIGHT CONTROL WORK

Methods of controlling fire blight in Michigan orchards are being demonstrated this week in Washtenaw county, where a special "blight management" training school is being held under the auspices of the horticultural department at M. A. C.

Fifteen professional blight cutters, trained last year by the college, started work on the Huron Farms Company orchards, between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, on Monday, March 23. The work is expected to last until about April 3, and fruit growers of the state are invited to inspect the operation at first hand.

The college horticultural department is supervising the Washtenaw County work, using it as a training school for those who wish to learn the technic of blight removal.

"Fire blight is a bacterial disease of the inner bark," says H. A. Cardinell, extension specialist at M. A. C., "and has been successfully handled only by surgical methods. It takes at least three days' practice, under trained supervision, to learn the technic of the work, and so those who attend the Washtenaw County demonstration to learn blight removal should plan to stay for this period."

OLD-FASHIONED REMEDY

For just about 20 years, Plymouth parents have been trying to bring up their children by scientific methods, by influence-in-the-home methods, by hygienic methods and by the keep-busy methods. They have coaxed, preached, promised and rewarded their young offsprings, but seemingly only to find a little later on that their methods were not bearing the fruit they hoped for. So now, for their benefit, we want to offer a suggestion on raising children as given out by Dr. Rudolph Binder, a teacher in New York University and a practical man. He told a New York newspaper the other day exactly how to bring up children, and what is lacking in the present day methods. And his suggestion is simply this: "Forget all these new-fangled methods and theories, and when a child is in need of a spanking—see that it gets it and gets a good one."

THEY HIT IT

Last fall we heard old-timers around Plymouth, and even our younger, or amateur, weather prophets predicting a long, hard winter. Experts in Uncle Sam's weather bureau issued long reports to show that our winters, averaged by and large over a long period of years, are always pretty much the same. They contended that we have about the same amount of snow and cold each winter, although it may not always come in the same month.

But the old-timers and the amateurs scoffed at this and said that the husk on last fall's corn was thicker than usual, that the fur on small animals was heavier than usual, that the squirrels were gathering nuts earlier than they ordinarily did, all of which, they contended, meant that we were to have a long hard winter. And if you have been keeping any kind of track of the weather for the past four or five months, you'll have to admit that they were right. Take the United States from one end to the other, and it has passed through one of the longest and one of the most severe winters in its history. Middle-western states, especially, have to record more snow and more zero weather than for a good many winters.

Next time maybe it would be wise to give the old-timers and the amateur weather sharks a little more consideration. Maybe, after all, they are just as capable of peering into the future, so far as the weather is concerned, as the men who make a business of it and who are paid fancy salaries by Uncle Sam.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE

It is probably an old sermon—but old sermons are best. It doesn't deserve a place in the new column—and yet it is more important to the entire population of Plymouth than anything else appearing in the paper this week. We are referring to our annual reminder that "spring is just around the corner," and that it is not only the privilege but the duty of every citizen to make his own individual corner as bright and as clean as it is possible to make it.

It isn't the fact that more and more visitors are coming through town each year that should prompt us to make a more thorough job of the spring clean-up than we ever did before, though this in itself is one good reason. But the main reason is that we know from experience that keeping the town and the houses in it clean keeps down disease and reduces the death rate. It is health, the health of ourselves and our neighbors that we are interested in more than anything else—and good health depends upon surroundings more than upon anything else.

Let us hope that a second notice that it is now safe to start the spring cleaning will not be needed. Let us also hope that the job will be a thorough one and that it will not stop at the front gate and the back door. Clean up into the street. If the walks need fixing, see that it is done, or reported to proper authorities. Clean up the back yard, and give the largest part of your attention to the greatest disease-breeder of all—the back alley or vacant lot. Do it now, and you'll enjoy more time for rest when the hot months do arrive.

Going up! Of course the Sunday-school is an elevator. Try it and see for yourself.

The Busy Woman's Bible class held its monthly meeting, last Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. George Cramer on Harvey street. A bountiful pot-luck dinner was served; with plenty of pie. After dinner each one was requested to write a sentence containing all the letters of the alphabet, using each but once. This is the sentence given to all who failed: "Mr. X packed five doz. qt. jugs. H. W. Blyn. Other interesting pencil games were arranged in neat paper-covered folders and tested the mental acumen of even the cross word puzzle fans. Then a program was given, in which the following took part; Mrs. Louisa Stewart, Mrs. Rose Tillotson, Miss Belle McClumpha, Mrs. Ammon Brown and Miss Anna McGill. There was a good attendance.

The church extends sympathy to Joseph Tracy and B. J. Holcomb in their recent affliction.

The annual canvas for the church budget will take place next Sunday afternoon. The men of the congregation are asked to meet at the church, tonight (Friday), March 27, to hear arrangements.

The pastor will be out of town Wednesday of next week, so there will be no cottage prayer meeting on April 1st. Last week the meeting was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Green on Union street.

Easter Sunday comes on April 12. Communion service with reception of members will occur in the morning, and a program by the Sunday-school in the evening. The pastor will baptize any who present themselves at the morning service for that purpose with water from the Jordan river. Parents may present their children for baptism.

Retailing as a Science

Merchandising, or, as it is technically known, distribution—the business of getting commodities of all sorts from the producer into the hands of the consumer—if not an art, is being elevated to the position of a science by commercial organizations throughout the country.

The problem is to be studied by a national conference of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers to be held under the auspices of the domestic distribution department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Chambers of commerce are also conducting a number of cities retailing or merchandising institutes—with courses comprising such subjects as psychology, design, fabrics and technical questions, such as budgeting, advertising and selling. These approach the problem mainly from the point of view of the retailer, especially the small retailer.

The department of domestic distribution of the national chamber, in response to inquiries from many local chambers of commerce, is making a study of the subject of merchandising education with a view of formulating courses of study for institutes of this character.

According to Hoyle

As Hiram Jones came into town he saw a sign in a store advertising a shoe sale. Shoes were hung all around the window in pairs, and in the center, on a small table, were laid three silver dollars, with the sign: "Get your shoes now. Three of a kind takes them."

Hiram needed a pair of shoes; so he entered the store and said to the clerk: "I see you're selling shoes according to poker rules."

"Yes."

"Well, give me two pair."

"What size?"

"Number nine."

When the clerk returned with the shoes Hiram passed over three silver dollars and started to grab the shoes, but the clerk stopped him.

"Two pair of shoes at $3 is $6."

"Didn't you say you sold shoes on poker rules?"

"Yes."

"Well, don't three of a kind take two pair?"

"Sure," replied the clerk, "but it won't take four nines."—Prize Story in Judge.

Foreign Husbands

Discussing the advisability of an American girl marrying a foreigner, and the superior qualifications of men of the different European countries, Mrs. Alice M. Williamson makes this comment on the American girl in Hearst's International and Cosmopolitan:

"In some respects an American girl is better fitted for an international marriage than girls of other nations because she is so quick-witted and adaptable. But she is handicapped because she has been so spoiled and petted by the men of her own country. No men spoil their women as American men do, and very noble must be the nature of a girl who doesn't take advantage of their kindness."

Sale Recalls Heavy Bet

Addington hall, a famous beauty spot of industrial Lancashire, Eng., which recently was sold by the corporation to a local business man, was the scene of an amazing wager of 100 years ago. It is on record that a cock fight took place between two birds belonging to the lord of the manor and the then earl of Derby, the stakes being all the local coal mines under the estate that could be seen from the dining-room window at the hall.

The Addington family, which formerly owned the estate, was one of the most ancient in the country.

NEWBURG

Rev. Paul Havens took for his theme Sunday, "The Love of Jonathan and David, and their true and lifelong friendship." The average attendance for Sunday-school is 70. The men's Bible class won the banner last Sunday. There will be no Epworth League, Sunday evening, on account of the meetings at Beech.

Rev. Fred Ambler of Brooklyn, will preach at Newburg Sunday morning. Everyone urged to attend.

The Epworth League supper and entertainment was a great success last Thursday evening. A fine menu was served by the young people with the assistance of Mr. Gehey as chef. The table decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. After all were served, they adjourned to the church, where a splendid program was rendered. Rev. Marshall Reed of the Jefferson avenue M. E. church of Detroit, delivered a fine address, which was both instructive and entertaining. Others who assisted in the program, were; Pierre Kenyon and sister and Miss Newberry of Plymouth; Mrs. Evans and daughter of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Edwin Smith and Miss Gladys Horton.

Thirty-seven dollars were cleared, to apply on the parsonage fund. The Epworth League wishes to thank all those who kindly assisted them in any way, especially Mr. Gehey.

A large concourse of relatives and friends gathered at Newburg church Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, to pay their respects to the memory of Jacob Rhead, who passed away last week Thursday, at 1:00 o'clock. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Paul Havens. Misses Anna and Ada Youngs sang. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Mr. Rhead had been a great sufferer for a long time, being cared for by his brother, Benjamin. The twin brothers had lived together in the Wayne road for a number of years, moving to Newburg about four years ago. Mr. Rhead attained the ripe old age of 85. He leaves one brother and a number of nieces and nephews to mourn their loss.

The L. A. S. will hold their meeting at the home of Mrs. Mark Joy on Plymouth road, Wednesday afternoon, April 1st. Election of officers will occur at this time. Members only are requested to be present.

Raymond Ryder of LaGrange, Ill., arrived at the parental home last week Friday morning, returning home Tuesday. Considerable of his time while here was spent in the sugar bush on his father's farm, which, he stated, he had longed to visit for the past twenty years.

The many friends of Joseph Tracy sympathize with him in the loss of his companion. Mr. and Mrs. Tracy resided at Newburg for some time, and have a large circle of friends here.

Milo Thomas has been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ross and little daughter, Emily, of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Emily and Ada LaVan of Plymouth, called on Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Norris and son, Walter, of Strathmoor, visited at the parental home Sunday, and also attended church services.

Donald Ryder attended the annual meeting of the Peoria Life Insurance Co. at Ypsilanti, Monday.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Thursday, April 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Wymman Bartlett. The program will be furnished by the children, and will be in charge of Mrs. Charles Draper. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance, as Children's Day is always a very enjoyable occasion.

If those who are in arrears with their dues will kindly make an effort to be present and pay at this meeting it will greatly aid the work of the treasurer.

LIBRARY NOTES

High Altar—Rothery. The story of the minister of a fashionable New England parish, his efforts to achieve something more genuine than personal popularity and his eventual compromise.

The Slave Ship—Johnston. The spiritual struggle of a hard-headed but mystical young Scotchman, who, sold as a slave to the Virginia colony, escapes, and himself becomes a trader in "black ivory." The historical background is well done.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth comes forward with some good advice. He says, "Just start whistling and business will commence to pick up."

What makes people who should be happy but are not madder than those who shouldn't be happy but are?

"And when a man takes his wife to a show," declares Dad Plymouth, "she tells the neighbors that she knows he'll brag about it for a week."

Someone has said that a great deal in life is guess-work. That also includes the cross word puzzles.

"Another thing a man and his wife seldom agree on," says Dad Plymouth, "is which one got the worst of the bargain."

Just so long as young people continue to believe that this thing of being good is out of date parents are going to have a hard row to hoe.

"I'll be willing to believe the world is growing better," asserts Dad Plymouth, "when I succeed in raising a tomato that is as pretty as the picture of it on the seed catalogue cover."

Dad Plymouth declares that another reason why a woman has so little patience with her husband is that the old fool is always thinking more of being comfortable than he is of being in style.

AROUND ABOUT US

Rosedale Park, near Detroit, anticipates a population of 1,500 to 2,000 this year.

Dr. E. B. Pierce for 15 years superintendent of the state T. B. hospital at Howell, has resigned, to take effect April 7th.

The Detroit council has decided to widen the Plymouth road from Grand River avenue to the city limits, to a width of 80 feet.

Northville township has but one ticket in the field this year, the Republican. W. H. Yerkes is the nominee for supervisor to succeed himself.

Don Leith, our school principal, has sold his farm in Pleasant Valley to his brother, Tom, and has purchased a place in "The Heights." This will be more convenient for him.—Brighton Argus.

Under the will of the late Bernard Ferdig of Milford, whose estate is estimated at $20,000, Bishop Gallagher of Detroit, will receive money with which to build a new priest's house for St. Mary's church, Milford.

A boa constrictor, fifteen feet long and six inches in diameter, was brought to Wayne from near French Landing Wednesday forenoon. It was found there near the road where it was lying dead. No one knows how it got there but popular speculation is that it was either lost from a show or was left there by one after it had died.—Wayne Weekly.

There is a closed season on all fishing in Oakland county this year from April 1 to June 15, the state conservation commission having closed the season last year, after requests for such action had been made by county sportsmen. The spring fishing season is to be closed for three years and will be a protection for all kinds of fish during spawning season. This is the first time in the history of the county that there has been a closed season on all fishing.—South Lyon Herald.

Pontiac hunters killed a good-sized timber wolf Sunday on the Edsel Ford country estate in White Lake township, Oakland county. Wolf tracks had been noticed in the vicinity of the log cabin that Mr. Ford is building on the knoll on the large estate. With the assistance of dogs, the hunters chased a female wolf to its den and killed it without difficulty. The male wolf is believed to be in the vicinity, and another hunt is soon to be organized. Timber wolves in this locality are scarce, and it is seldom that they are seen anywhere in the county.

Today's Reflections

Just let the average Plymouth citizen get the idea that boot-legging is conducted by a heartless trust, and he'll start yelling his head off.

Women are an unfortunate lot. No matter what their station in life or how many changes of dress they have, they never have anything "fit to wear."

Our advice to all young men is to keep in mind the fact that you never get ahead of anyone so long as you follow in their footsteps.

The average Plymouth man may think his neighbor dull, but they can tell the difference between a social caller and a collector.

If they sent every autoist to jail for not knowing his license tag number, where would they find a jail big enough to hold them?

Music is getting so you can't tell if the neighbors are playing the phonograph, fighting, crying or washing the dishes.

It's pretty hard to understand some Plymouth women's taste, when you see the kind of husbands they are jealous about.

Why is it that every girl imagines she can reform some dissipated no-account man, even if she has to marry him to do it?

When a man falls in love very hard, he naturally breaks something, even if it is only himself.

Two people were badly hurt in a St. Louis taxi the other day, when the driver thought a girl on the sidewalk looked better than the road.

They used to use the mail, but now our "expert agriculturists" who can't tell a squash from a gourd, are broadcasting over the radio.

It begins to look as though some of our American girls have come to the conclusion that they either have got to go without clothes or without men.

A Plymouth man isn't old until he starts in to tell what a whirlwind he was in his younger days.

They dedicated a new church in Mexico a few weeks ago very successfully. There was only one killed and seven injured.

Hog Sanitation System Spreads

Industry Undergoing One of Most Important Improvements to Stop Disease.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In the rapid expansion in the use of the system of swine sanitation, commonly known as the McLean county system, the swine industry is now undergoing one of the most important improvements in respect to disease prevention since the general adoption of the preventive treatment for hog cholera. Reports from various states in the Central West to the United States Department of Agriculture indicate that this plan, which has for its main object the prevention of the large losses from roundworms and various filth-borne diseases of young pigs, is being adopted at an increasing rate. Extension forces have been taking up the plan with energy and in many instances swine sanitation has been made one of the major projects for the coming year.

Campaign in Iowa.

In Iowa, one of the heaviest hog-producing areas, a campaign to extend over a ten-year period has been outlined with the idea ultimately of getting the system generally adopted throughout that state and thereby increasing efficiency in pork production. Nearly one-half the counties in Illinois are said to be included in the coming year's program of work to reduce the ravages of roundworms and filth-borne diseases of swine.

Two years ago Nebraska got eight or ten county agents interested in this work and they in turn brought the new system to the attention of many of the progressive hog raisers. Considerable advertising is done through the newspapers, the use of department films, and through the efforts of the department specialist who co-operated in giving talks on sanitation as a means of combating roundworms. In that state the work has been growing steadily and is continuing to increase every day.

The growing interest in this improved system of growing hogs is indicated to the Department of Agriculture by the frequency with which county agents are now mentioning it in their reports. In the statements covering the work for the past year this subject is mentioned by 35 county agents. This year at the International Live Stock exposition many of the club boys who showed pigs in the competition had raised them according to the McLean county system or had at least adopted the general principles of sanitation. There also has been a great demand for the department film dealing with this problem. The Missouri Agricultural college has recently ordered a third print of it. The states mentioned above are only a few of those in which great interest is being taken in the subject. The new plan is being used as far east as Ohio and as far west as Nebraska and the Dakotas and interest in it has been shown in various other parts of the United States.

GET RIGHT AMOUNT OF FUN FROM LIFE

Competitive Struggle Is Only Handicap.

The young intellectuals challenge contemporary life and thought because it is regimented and standardized. Davenport is put in front of fireplaces, not because the owners want them there, but because other people have them there. Mr. Babbitt installs a cigar lighter in his car, not because he thinks it gets him out of a burlesquely glittering automobile accessory, but because he thinks it gives "class" to his machine. Doing things because other people do them, or doing them insincerely to impress other people, is one good way of leading a dull life.

Fun comes by being one's self. The exterior act should reflect the one within. The davenport is in its proper place when it is where you want it, as a being living your own life and not giving a fig for artificial mass standards. Golf is a good game if you play it because you like it. But it is a poor pastime when you find it but another way of doing what other people do. You might rather play marbles or hop scotch, if marbles or hop-scotch better releases your fun instinct.

The remedy for much of which the young intellectuals complain lies in questioning ourselves more as to why we do things. Have our opinions come to us ready-made from our parents, or from our environment, or have we thought things out for ourselves? Do we put cigar lighters on our cars for the convenience of cigar smokers or to acquire a sham "class"? Why not do more things, think more things, feel more things, that are really our own? That's one way to have fun.

Men want to make things and do things that reflect themselves. They want to create, in the spirit of play, things beautiful or odd or interesting. They get fun out of life to the extent in which the things they make or do reflect what they really are. But as long as the chief business of the lies in coming out better than our neighbors in the competitive struggle the brighter business of making life interesting and creative must wait. Atlantic City Evening Union.

Drink Habits of Cattle

Those who are acquainted with the habits of live stock in the more humid regions might be surprised at the way in which these same animals would meet conditions in the semi-arid regions of the west. The cow that stokes her thirst every few hours in the succulent, stream-furrowed pastures of the East or Middle West, in a dry country would wait much longer before traveling several miles for a drink, says the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Recently representatives of the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, made observations on the number of times cattle go to water under different conditions in the range country. The evidence showed that for most cattle it is a long time between drinks, a matter of days rather than hours. The cooler or wetter the weather the less likely they are to go to water more often than every second or third day. In dry, hot weather many of them go every day, but others go only twice every three days, or once every other day. In one region in New Mexico the conclusion was reached that for the best interests of range and stock in level country, watering places should not be more than five miles apart.

Important Naval Battle

The famous naval battle of Trafalgar was fought off Cape Trafalgar, Spain, October 21, 1805. The English fleet numbered 27 ships of the line, and were commanded by Admiral Nelson. The combined French and Spanish fleets, under the French admiral Villeneuve, numbered 33 ships. The allied fleet was signally defeated after a bloody contest; three admirals were taken, and 19 of their ships were captured, sunk or destroyed. Nelson was mortally wounded in the action, and the chief command devolved upon Collingwood. The victory of Trafalgar crushed the naval power of France, and put an end to Napoleon's projected invasion of England.—Kansas City Star.

Electric Dredges

Electrically operated dredges which reach down 80 feet below the surface of the water are now being used along the coast of the Seward peninsula of Alaska. These dredges can bring up 200,000 cubic yards of gold-bearing sand a month and it is expected that the placer gold output of Alaska will be materially increased now that such dredges are being used. Electricity for running dredges of this sort is supplied by electric generating stations located on the shore. The 600 horsepower of electrical energy necessary to operate a dredge is brought to it by a special cable that connects dredge and generator.

World's Deepest Well

The deepest well in the world was completed recently by engineers near Latrobe, Pa., when they struck natural gas at a depth of 7,429 feet, or almost one and one-half miles, says Popular Science Monthly. Work on the well was begun in 1922, and drilling continued for 30 months. The gas is now flowing at a rate of 500,000 cubic feet a day. The cost of sinking the well was about $200,000.

"Flu Coughs Hang On"

Some victims of the "flu" never fully recover the health of the lungs, and coughs that "hang on" are the coughs that threaten Chamberlain's Cough Remedy puts a soothing, healing coating on the inflamed surfaces, relieves tightness and soreness, raises phlegm easily. Good for bronchial coughs, and night coughs, too.—Advertisement.

Wild Animals Losing Fear of Human Beings?

Can familiarity with people bring contempt from wild animals? Members of the predatory animal division of the Department of Agriculture think they should answer this question in the affirmative, especially in the case of that most dreaded of the Northwest's zoology, the cougar. For the first time on record a courage of cougars is compelling the attention of the authorities. Forty-three reports of depredations by cougars from widely separated sections has aroused action on the part of hunters, trappers and especially the farmers and stock breeders who have suffered direct losses.

It is believed that auto tourists frequenting the woods more and more have caused the roving cougars to lose their fear of the human beings, and the turn-till-and-run instinct when the odor of man is wafted to their nostrils. During December at least one human life was taken by cougars. An Olvema woman, whose torn and mangled body plainly showed the cat-like attack, died while fighting his opponent with a pocket knife. That particular cougar, known by its huge paws, is being hunted diligently by trained and experienced hunters in the Cascade range.

The cougar of the Northwest gets its name from the Latin, meaning "horse pirate." Colts and crippled cayuses are its favorite victims. The big cat is the most elusive, sneaking adroit hider and the shyest thing in the woods. They are probably more numerous than bears, but 25 of the latter are seen to one cougar. A bounty of $20 per cougar is offered by the state, but there are few claims. So shy and cunning are these cats that they are safe in inaccessible crags before men and dogs can overtake them.—Olympic Dispatch to Boston Transcript.

He had a miraculous escape from death, when his car was overturned on him. Broken glass and screws were even found in his pockets.
Mrs. Arthur Union was in Ypsilanti, Sunday, calling on friends who are ill. She called on Mrs. Temperance Wood of Harriet, and also to see Alfred Anderson.

EXPEDITION TO HUNT FOR CRADLE OF MAN

Scientists Will Make Research in Mongolia.

Roy Chapman Andrews has gone to Urgan to arrange for his next expedition into Mongolia, the Montreal Family Herald states.

When he comes back he will begin the task of assembling the loads of equipment that are now on their way to China. Already about forty crates have arrived, and the cars and trucks are due in a few weeks' time. The other members of the third Asiatic expedition, fourteen foreigners in all, as compared with the eight who formed the foreign personnel last year, will follow in due course.

The caravan will be started on its way to Mongolia some time in December. By starting at this time of the year it will have the best chance of missing the blinding snowstorms that beat across the Gobi desert in the winter months. On April 15 next year members of the expedition will set off, traveling in motorcars, and the entire party will assemble in the heart of Mongolia at a point toward the eastern end of the Altai range of mountains, where the expedition finished its work last year. It is expected that the cars, which are especially designed for this difficult trip, will reach the rendezvous almost at the same time as the caravan, which has of necessity to follow a circuitous route.

The expedition will then divide into four divisions, working west and south of the Altai. Each division will be entirely self-contained, and with the addition of new scientific groups, it is hoped in this way to do more comprehensive work than was done last year.

The aspirations of Mr. Andrews are well known in outline, but in view of the importance of the expedition may be interesting in detail.

"We are going to work on human evolution," said Mr. Andrews. "In the past we have tried to test the theory that central Asia is the point of origin of a great deal of the animal and reptile life of the world. But for twenty-five years it has been said that this region is also the birthplace of man. We have found that Mongolia and the central Asia plateau constitute the paleontological Garden of Eden. Why should it not prove to be the place where man originated? The new expedition will work on rocks of a later period than those which were worked on last year. Those rocks which yielded among other things the eggs of the dinosaur are of course too old to contain any evidences of man. This time we shall concentrate on the younger rocks." Mr. Andrews agreed that the task was like looking for a needle in a haystack; but, he said: "All the evidence points north and more strongly to the central Asian plateau as the birthplace of man, and this time we are bringing together all branches of science to assist us in hearing down on this one problem. We hope only hope, mark you—that we shall secure some evidence at any rate to shed light on the problem of human evolution. In any case we are bound to return with many interesting specimens. The country where we shall work is the birthplace of so many different groups of animals that it is inevitable that we shall unearth some things of the utmost interest."

Up in the Air

One day, while driving in the suburbs with friends, a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune reports, I spied a balloon man about a block away.

"Oh, I must have a balloon for the baby," I exclaimed, and called frantically to the fast disappearing vender, as I drove toward him.

At last he came running toward us. When he stopped, breathless, I decided to buy four balloons, one for each of my friends' children. The man had quite a time disentangling them, but at last I had them safely in the car. I opened my purse to pay him, and to my disgust found not one cent! My friends, also, after a hurried search, realized their bags were merely ornamental.

"With much embarrassment, I returned the coveted balloons to the accompaniment of disgusted mutterings from the vender.

A New Angle

An ounce of observation is worth a ton of theory. Ike Mott says that back in the hills where he was brought up, hoopsnake races were a favorite sport. They'd start their snakes at the top of a hill and bet on which got to the bottom first. And the snakes would stop themselves by the simple process of letting go of their tails.

But how does this accord with the well-known fact that hoopsnakes stop themselves by striking the barb in the end of their tails into a tree? The tree always died, I believe, a hoopsnake's tail being poisonous.—Ted Robinson in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Strange Indeed

"Where have you been?" demanded her father.

"Our motoring with a strange young man," sighed his flapper daughter.

"For the love of Mike! Haven't I warned you never, never to go riding with a man you didn't know?" roared her dad.

"I didn't say I didn't know him. I have known him for years. I said he was a strange young man and he was. We went through some of the loneliest, loveliest spots, and he never once tried to kiss or hug me," she replied.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

No Ordinary Veteran

Moose—Yas, sub; mah boy Ebeneser was a veterinarian ob de big war. Josh—Go 'long. What yuh tryin' to use dat big word on me foh? You means he was a veteran—a plain, common veteran, jest like mah boy Shadrach. Moose—Nuffin ob de sort. Mah boy was a veterinarian, I tells yuh. He was in de horse-doctorin' branch. He wasn't no plain, common veteran; no sah!

Born to Great Name and Great Traditions

A son born to Dr. and Mrs. George Bolling Lee is an event of wide interest to the people of the United States, particularly to those of the South. That he will bear the name of his celebrated great-grandfather, the leader of the Confederate forces, should be a source of much gratification to all who have in them the faintest vestige of sentiment, the Richmond Times-Dispatch announces.

Doctor Lee is the only living direct male descendant of the southern chieftain. The death about two years ago of his brother, the third Robert, left him to hold a unique distinction. And the distinction carried with it a heavy responsibility, for it would have been a real pity, sentimental, if not actual, for the male line from General Lee to have been broken.

The little newcomer is the fourth A. E. Lee. The first, of course, was the great southern commander in chief; the second, the general's son, who rose to the rank of captain in the Confederate army; and the third, Colonel Lee, whom thousands of contemporary Virginians remember as the general "Bob," son of Maj. Gen. William Henry Fitzhugh (Rooney) Lee.

The fourth Robert has been born into the world as the child of fortune. If he is not wealthy in material things of life, he is fabulously rich in the high traditions that have come down to him through a long line of most distinguished ancestors. No blood to be found in any part of the globe is better than his; he is an aristocrat of aristocrats. His great-grandfather was the finest flower of Anglo-Saxon civilization, the possessor of a mind and heart that have added luster to the history of the race.

But, if his is a great inheritance, it entails no light responsibility. He is heir to a place in the hearts of his people that will be extremely difficult to fill. To bear worthily the name of R. E. Lee is no easy task. Men will expect much from young Robert. May he have the strength to live up to their expectations.

Money in Muskrat Farming

In reference to muskrat farming, I can say that there is a successfully operated farm on the eastern shore of Maryland just out of Cambridge, Md. This is conducted by a man who manufactures muskrat traps. He leased several hundred acres in the swamp lands of Maryland to use in experimenting with his traps and found the proposition so profitable that he extended the lease to cover several thousands of acres, and it is reported that he made fabulous sums from the venture during the peak-price period, a writer on natural history says in Adventure Magazine.

There have been several attempts made in that section to commercialize the muskrat possibilities, and the business appears to have a sound basis. The swamps are fenced with small net wire screen set well down in the muddy bottom land, but the rats go through it when they feel inclined. This man, it is stated, based his success on an abundance of fresh water and a systematic extermination of vermin that prey on the young "kits." No feeding is necessary, I am told.

Collar Button Foiled

"Although the elusive collar button has been made the subject of jokes for years, its reputation is well earned," declared a Burlingame avenue resident. "But I have discovered an efficient method for combating its wayward tendencies. I had my wife fix some drapes to fit on the bed and the dresser, closing up the space between these pieces of furniture and the floor. And now, when I drop a button, while it rolls straight for its usual hiding-place, it is stopped in its mad flight by the drapes. All I have to do then is to reach down, pick it up and chuckle!"—Detroit News.

Sharks' Fins in Demand

The demand for shark fins is always greater than the supply, and they fetch a high price. The principal American market is San Francisco. Considerable quantities are consumed by the Chinese of the Pacific coast, but most of them are exported to China, where shark-fin soup is regarded as one of the greatest of all delicacies. The fins should be at least six inches long; those of eight inches are preferred. The flesh should be trimmed off them, after which they should be dried thoroughly in the sun, without salt.—Family Herald.

Moaning Honeymoons

The subject of text finding was being discussed by two clergymen in regard to addresses to married couples at wedding services.

"Do you have a text as a rule?" asked one of the other.

"No, I never have had one," was the reply, "but I know what I should choose if I did have one. It comes from Psalm 72, verse 7, 'Abundance of peace, so long as the moon endureth.'—London Morning Post.

"How much money?"

Time Is Stuff of Which Crops Are Made

With the Fordson, you farm for prosperity, because your acreage is broken in less time; because your furrows are the proper depth, and because your seed beds are thoroughly well made.

The Fordson saves feeding time, watering time, grooming time and hitch-up time. It needs no "favoring" or breathing spells. It will work twenty-four hours a day.

Fordson farmers finish their Spring work—plowing, harrowing, discing and seeding—at the right time, because of their ability to do more and better work when weather and soil conditions are favorable.

Better crops and bigger bank balances follow the use of the Fordson—it is a logical and time-proven investment.

Travelers in Africa Make Slow Progress

All over central Africa the tsetse fly renders pack animals of any kind an impossible dream; except for a very few, though increasing, arteries motor roads are unknown; and so when one travels, one travels on one's feet, and one's baggage goes on the heads of porters.

Various paternal governments have laid down that these loads shall not exceed 50 pounds in weight, and one of the things to remember about central African travel—"safari," as it is called—is that one's boxes should be of such size that when filled with ordinary things they will turn the scale at about that weight.

Another thing to remember is never to be in a hurry. The African porter is sure, but he is amazingly slow. Three miles per hour is the accepted pace and 15 miles a day about the limit on a journey lasting any length of time.

To the man accustomed to be rushed the same distance in half an hour this may seem unutterably tedious; but it has its compensations—the start through the magical freshness of an African dawn; the endless succession of fascinating sights; here a herd of hartebeeste or zebra galloping away in alarm, here a native village with laughing, chattering women and solemn naked children gazing shyly at the white man; here (great excitement) the fresh tracks of elephants churning across the track; the arrival in camp and the pleasant comfort of a battered deck chair while the cook prepares that finest of meals—meat one has shot one's self; the long dreamless nights of perfect sleep.

And, above all, the African is reliable; he does not go on a strike; but, being merely a poor, ignorant savage, serves his master with loyalty and fidelity for the wages agreed upon in the first instance.—Exchange.

Veteran Looks Back

"Almost 50 years ago the writer, a freckle-faced, spindling kid, started on the downward road as printer's devil in the Palmyra Spectator office. Three years later he was a journeyman printer in the old Hannibal Courier office, and in 1872 printer, reporter and editor. For more than 50 years he has been a writer on the Missouri press, and as to service is the oldest active editor in the state. He has had the double honor of having been called 'the boy editor,' and now the dean of the active fraternity. It has been a work of love and we've never regretted that we 'learned the trade.' We have had our ups and downs, mostly down, but never out. Not one do we recall living who was in the writing game in 1870-72. If we ever get the Journal where we will not have to be editor, printer and devil—the entire works—we hope to hammer out a few chapters about the people and things of other days."—Atlanta Constitution.

Wheat of High Grade

Wheat grown under ordinary conditions on the experimental farm of Dr. Seager Wheeler in Saskatchewan, Canada, bears heads of grain containing 12 rows of kernels. Other strains of plants are said to ripen within 30 days after the shoots appear above ground, and grades with both hollow and solid stems of yellow and purple have been reared without any special efforts of cultivation. Wheat berries as large as navy beans are also reported to have been developed on the tract, and specimens have been raised on which the heads ripen while the stalks are still green. It is believed that of 65 sturdy and fruitful species under cultivation, many will be found to resist plant diseases as well as stand up against heavy storms common to that region.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Tables Turned

"But we were only 15 minutes getting here!" expostulated the passenger. "I don't give a hang about that," snarled the taxi driver. "The meter says we've come 20 miles. Now, you fork over!"

"All right," assented the passenger, paying. "Now get ready to come with me for driving 80 miles an hour. I'm a speed cop."—American Legion Weekly.

Willing to Oblige

A young man, who is popular among the coeds in an Indiana college town, was approached by a young woman from his own home town, who desired that he attempt to arrange a "date" with a young friend of hers.

"Well," he confidentially informed her, "I have two girls now, but it might be that I could use her later."

He Had Changed

"Flu Coughs Hang On"

Some victims of the "flu" never fully recover the health of the lungs, and coughs that "hang on" are the coughs that threaten. WHEN SWEET ALICE GOT HER SURPRISE

Adventure Cured Elephant of Pet Hobby.

Elephants, though the wisest and most ponderous of animals, are among the most prankish. "No one is ever able to tell what they're going to do, or when they're going to do it," says Mr. Courtney Ryley Cooper in his delightful circus "Lions 'n' Tigers 'n' Everything." They love play, and they choose unexpected playthings. There was, for example, Alice and the tin cans.

Alice was a gay young thing of, forty-five summers and seven tons avoirdupois. Her hobby was stepping on tin cans. She loved to feel them squash. If she was in need of cheer and change, her keeper simply took her to the nearest city dump; its tin-can section soon looked as if a steamroller had run over it, and Alice ambled back to the circus grounds, her own sweet self again. Sometimes, solemnly marching with her companions, trunk to tail in the parade, she would slip out of line for a moment to squash a can in the gutter, squeal with delight at the achievement and trot dutifully back to her place. But Alice smashed one can too many, and now she smashes them no more.

It was the noon hour. The parade had returned; the cookhouse was in full swing. At one side was a collection of four or five-gallon cans that once had contained pie apples. Alice spotted them; she glanced toward her keeper; he was busy and not looking. Quietly Alice sneaked from her place and set her forefoot on a can and then on another. They squashed satisfactorily and gave out a delicious odor of apple. She investigated further with another can. The stuff, as the sensitive tip of her trunk explored the depths for more and more, tasted as good as it smelt. But there wasn't much left, and that inquiring trunk was still poking when, in a fit of absent-mindedness, forgetting it was there, she allowed the old smashing urge to return upon her. Up went a heavy foot, poised over the can and then came down.

The next thing the circus knew one end of the cookhouse had departed; performers were scattering, tables were overturned, canvas fluttered in the breeze, and a screeching elephant ran wildly for the free and open country, with her trunk waving madly in a vain effort to rid itself of a five-gallon can that had clamped upon it with the tightness of a vise. A small tree got in the way, then got out, roots, branches and all! Whistles shrilled; men ran for fast horses; menagerie attendants scurried frantically forth upon a trail of broken fences, ruined back yards, uprooted saplings and what not while far in the distance Alice still plunged on, with the can still clinging to her trunk like a cream pitcher on the head of a cat.

Half an hour later she was recaptured and released, a much chastened elephant, for whom cans had lost their lure.—Youth's Companion.

The Russian Loan

The loan that Russia expects England to make her led Mayor Hilary Howe to say at a Nashville lunch room:

"Russia reminds me of the Funk family. The Funk family owned the grocery 827, and so he told them he wouldn't let them have any more groceries till they made a payment on account. So Mrs. Funk promised to give him $5 on Saturday night, and he said that then, but not till then, the usual relations would be resumed.

"Well, a couple of days passed, and on Thursday morning little Fanny Funk turned up at the grocery with an enormous market basket on her arm.

"Say, Mr. Hoskinson," she piped, "mom says will ye let her have two pounds of coffee and a slice of ham and half a pound of switzer cheese and three boxes of sardines out of the five-spot she's promised ye for Saturday night?"

Keen "Movie" Patron

Speaking of devotees of the silver screen, William K. Hall, of Bath, Maine, has missed only six performances in all the theaters since film productions were introduced in Bath back in 1907, says the Boston Globe. He has a 100 per cent record as far as the Opera house, which opened in 1913, is concerned. During the prosperous days of the shipping boom, there were three theaters in the city, and Mr. Hall usually attended three shows a day. He claims to be the champion of Bath, the probable champion of Maine and the possible champion of New England.

Her Favorite Bible Story

Mother had been reading a Bible story to Marjory every night before bedtime.

One night she asked, "Well, Marjory, what story shall I read tonight?" "Oh, mother," Marjory answered, "I want you to read me that one about the ten girls who went out to meet the bridegroom and ran out of gasoline!"—Everybody's Magazine.

It May Be So

"Do you ever electrify your audience?" was asked of a popular pulpit orator.

"I doubt it" was the reply. "My opinion is that when a man comes prepared to put a quarter in the box he does not raise his contribution."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE THEATRE

LOCKED DOORS

Betty Compson, Theodore Roberts, Kathlyn Williams, Theodor von Eltz and Robert Edeson are featured in the cast of the William de Mille production of "Locked Doors" for Paramount. It is an original screen story by Clara Beranger, due at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, March 28th.

The story is one of a beautiful young girl who marries a wealthy architect many years her senior. The marriage is a loveless affair for the girl, entered upon more for the fact of assuring her elderly and crippled father of a comfortable home than anything else.

Theodore Roberts has the role of Betty's father in the production. It is his first screen role in a year and it is said to rival even his character, "Grumpy." Edeson is Miss Compson's husband in the picture and Theodor von Eltz has the role of the young fellow Betty meets and falls in love with. Kathlyn Williams is well cast as the architect's sister, who sees that her brother is unhappy and in trying to smooth things over complicates matters the more.

Others in the strong cast of the production include Elmo Billings, freckled and extremely clever in the part of the young mountain lad who tells Betty and von Eltz of the "big one that got away," while he was fishing, and Jane Winton, "Follies" beauty.

"Locked Doors" is a picture that appeals to everyone in that it is extremely human—a story of what might be happening in the house right next door to you this very moment. It has drama, comedy, thrills and all the rest—a picture you'll never forgive yourself for missing.

"SO BIG"

Colleen Moore has smashed more screen precedents than any other actress in filmdom. Her latest smash is in her new First National picture, "So Big," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, March 29 and 30.

It has been motion picture tradition, almost, that if So-and-So made his first success while wearing a beard, he must continue to wear a beard in order to hold his following. And if What's-Her-Name gained popularity as a vampire, she is doomed to vampire roles, or else she loses public favor.

Colleen, however, has never played one role consistently, and yet her popularity continues to grow enormously. While flapper roles have been her forte recently, she is now, in "So Big," portraying a tensely emotional role of three personalities. The story is an adaptation from Edna Ferber's novel, based on life in the old Dutch settlement near Chicago, and is highly dramatic in its action.

Colleen's assumption of this new type, entirely foreign to anything she has yet done, is said by critics to establish her as one of the most versatile stars on stage or screen.

"SO THIS IS MARRIAGE"

Now and then comes along one of those films of which it seems reasonable to say to everyone, "You can't afford to miss it." And that, as this reviewer believes, is most certainly the case with the Hobart Henley production, "So This is Marriage," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, April 1 and 2.

This picture, from the original story by Carey Wilson, is an ultra-modern one, dealing with the marital difficulties of Peter Marsh (Conrad Nagel) and Beth Marsh (Eleanor Boardman), and the influence of a bachelor student of books—and women—Daniel Rankin (Lew Cody).

The young wife is gay and frivolous. When Peter mildly protests against her extravagance, she retorts:

"Why don't you earn more money; other men do?"

She finds comfort in the companionship of Rankin, and runs to his home for comfort when her husband has treated her roughly after hastily taking her from a restaurant where, after many previous experiences of the sort, he has heard her criticized for her extreme manner of dress, and her irresponsible ways.

Finding that Beth really loves her husband, Rankin shows her the error of her ways by reading to her from the Bible the story of David and Bath-Sheba. Mr. Henley tells this on the screen in natural colors by the Technicolor process, using hundreds of vividly garbed extras in the pageant and feasting scenes which form the amazingly beautiful background for the tale. No one, whether he is a regular motion picture-goer or not, should fail to see this sequence. It makes one rejoice more than ever, if that's possible, for having eyes to see with.

Old Settlements in This "Young Country"

The United States is still characterized as a "young country." Yet its oldest city, St. Augustine, has celebrated its 300th birthday, a writer in the Montreal Herald notes. Many important European centers of population had not been planned or even conceived when this little Florida city was planted among the pines by Don Pedro Adelantado in 1565. The kind of civilization which was then brought to this continent has very considerably influenced the national American institutions, especially in several of the Southern states.

The next oldest European settlement in North America still in existence is Annapolis Royal, formerly Port Royal. This was the early capital of Nova Scotia at a time when that colony included not only the present province by that name, but New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland and part of the present province of Quebec and the Labrador coast as far north as the Inuit bay. The first wheat in North America at Port Royal in 1605, and the first wheat mill was constructed in the same place in 1603. It was probably a wind mill.

Fate of Indiana River

The Mississinawa river runs through the counties of Grant and Delaware in Indiana. The river was reserved by the government as a fishing stream for the Indians on the reservation. As late as 1880 the stream was liberally stocked with fish by the government. This was probably the best stocked stream in Indiana.

Then the great natural gas boom struck that region. Factories and towns grew like mushrooms. Owing to the pollution of the stream from factory waste and refuse from gas wells, not a fish remains, says the Detroit News. The once beautiful Mississinawa river of the red man is an open sewer.

His Little Joke

Theodore took one went into a book shop and told the clerk he wanted some lamb, about two pounds.

"But this is a book shop," said the clerk.

Attracted by the hubbub, the proprietor came up and brushed aside the clerk.

"Now, sir," bawled the proprietor, "we sell books and nothing but books. What is it you want?"

"Lamb," stated the joker quietly.

"If you sell books you must have the Essays of Charles Lamb"—Louisville Courier Journal.

Fundamental Transportation

Into the vast and complicated network of Transportation in Michigan have been knit several accessory types of carriers. Yet it is noteworthy that each of these accessory carriers exists only through service by certain of Michigan's 24 Steam Railroads.

Electric railroads get their power from coal. Steam Railroads bring it to them.

Motor cars, trucks and busses use gasoline for fuel. Steam Railroads bring it from far-away refineries—bring, too, the materials for the paved highways on which motor vehicles run.

Steam Railroads are Fundamental Transportation.

On their faithful performance everything else depends.

This responsibility is ever before the Steam Railroad men of Michigan. And they feel they are meeting it today better than ever before.

Does your experience confirm this belief?

Do you appreciate the absolute need of protecting this Fundamental Transportation from further restrictions adding to the cost of service?

Write this association frankly and fully.
