SAFETY DRIVE MASS MEETING NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

Plymouth Will Observe County Public Safety Campaign April 4th to 11th.

Free Entertainment Planned for Tuesday Evening, April 7, at Penniman Allen Theatre.

Plans are going forward for the observance of the Public Safety Drive in Plymouth from April 4 to 11, as a part of the Wayne County campaign which was inaugurated March 26th. W. H. Safford of Northville, superintendent of Public Safety of the sheriff's office, and L. J. VanShoik of the Detroit Automobile Club, are in charge of the county campaign, and are rendering every assistance to Chief Springer and the members of the local police department who are in charge of the local campaign.

Elaborate plans are being made for the big mass meeting which will be held in the Penniman Allen theatre on Tuesday evening, April 7th, at which time there will be motion pictures pertaining to safety measures and several reels of good comedy. Besides the pictures, there will be music by the Friendship orchestra, a Ford organization, and one of the best musical organizations in the city, and the well known Hudson male quartette. Plymouth people have heard this quartette on several occasions, and they need no introduction. They are fine and well worth coming to hear if there was nothing else on the program. There will be a speaker also, who will tell you about the safety work in the county, and the campaign which is being made to make the streets of our cities and villages safe, as well as the highways of the county. It is an educational campaign which should be of interest to every man, woman and child.

There is no admission for the entertainment next Tuesday evening, but the people of the village and surrounding community are invited to attend this meeting. There will be no collection taken, it is absolutely free. The entertainment will commence at 8:00 o'clock.

All the towns and cities in the county are taking part in the campaign. In Detroit, the big day will be April 26, at which time there will be a monstrous parade and celebration. There will be floats and delegations, and silver cups will be given as prizes for the best floats. It is expected that all the villages in Wayne County will be represented in the parade.

Every auto owner is asked to cooperate in making Safety Week a success here, by a strict observance of traffic rules and regulations.

CLARENCE SAYLES PASSES AWAY

Clarence S. Sayles, son of Royal C. and Margaret Carpenter Sayles, was born in Lenox, Madison county, New York, March 26, 1847, and died at his home in Plymouth, March 31, 1925, aged 78 years and 5 days. In June, 1865, he came to Michigan with his parents, settling on a farm in Canton township, where he resided until 1911, when he removed to Plymouth. He was married July 1, 1874, to Mary A. Brown, with whom he lived to celebrate their golden wedding last July, and who now survives him. One daughter, Edith, now Mrs. E. W. Moyer of Canton township, and two grandsons, Ralph and Howard, are his descendants.

In 1885, he united with the M. E. church, of which he had since been a faithful member. He united with the local Masonic order in 1870, being one of the four oldest Masons of Plymouth lodge. He was also a member of Northville Commandery, Knights Templar.

The funeral services were held from the home, 200 South Harvey street, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. D. D. Nagle officiating. The Masons had charge of the burial service in Riverside cemetery.

One hundred Oddfellows and Rebekahs filled the north side of the Baptist church, last Monday evening, to listen to the cowboy. You come tonight.

ANNOUNCE OPENING OF NEW DEPARTMENT

SCHRADER BROS. WILL KEEP OPEN HOUSE, SATURDAY, APRIL 4, AND THE PUBLIC IS INVITED TO THE FORMAL OPENING OF NEW DEPARTMENT ON THE SECOND FLOOR OF THEIR STORE.

On another page of this paper will be found a full page advertisement of Schrader Bros., in which they announce the opening of a new department on the second floor of their store, which was formerly occupied by the Masonic fraternity. A wide stairway on the west side of the building, leads from the first floor to the rooms above, which have been converted into fine display rooms, all nicely redecorated. This new department has been given over to the display of bedroom suites, rockers, etc. An entrance has also been made into the rug department, which was opened a short time ago on the second floor of the bakery building adjoining the Schrader building on the east. A private office, splendidly furnished, has also been established on the second floor.

To give the public an opportunity to inspect the new department Schrader Bros. are going to keep open house, and on Saturday, April 4th, they have extended an invitation to the people of Plymouth and the surrounding community to visit the new department and see the improvements that have been made.

There are very few towns much larger than Plymouth that can boast of as fine a furniture store as have the Schrader Bros. It is not only a credit to the enterprise and progressiveness of the Schrader Bros., but the village of Plymouth as well. On the three floors of their large building they carry a stock of furniture, rugs, etc., that would be a credit to a city store.

On the opening day, tomorrow, Saturday, April 4th, afternoon and evening, each lady and gentleman visiting the store will be given a souvenir.

TO OBSERVE GOOD FRIDAY

As has been the custom here for the past several years, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce is requesting that all places of business close between the hours of 12:00 and 3:00 o'clock on Good Friday, April 10th. Suitable window cards will be provided for each place of business. Many cities and towns are observing this custom, and it is a fine thing to do.

The Vagrant

"JUVENILITY" GREAT SUCCESS

The entertainment, "Juvenility," given by Miss Kathryn Searcy and her pupils in dancing, at the High school auditorium last Friday evening, was largely attended, and was one of the best programs of this kind that has ever been given in Plymouth. From the introduction of the class by Miss Searcy, until the grand finale, there was not one dull moment. The program which consisted of various dance numbers, was well interspersed with song numbers, and was given in a manner which not only reflected great credit upon the pupils themselves, but upon their instructor as well. So well did all do their parts, that any attempt to individualize would be extremely difficult.

One of the pleasing features of the entertainment, was the many varied and pretty costumes worn by the performers, and this added not a little to the success of the evening's program.

The accompaniment was by Mrs. J. T. Chapman, piano; Mr. Parre of Wayne, violin, and Russell Holloway, drums.

At the conclusion of each number, the performer was given a beautiful bouquet or basket of flowers.

The entertainment marked the close of a very successful term of dancing lessons, which Miss Searcy has conducted here during the past winter. Miss Searcy is an instructor and artist of extraordinary ability, and she is to be congratulated on the success of the program last Friday evening.

Another important factor in the success of the entertainment, which should not be overlooked, was the splendid co-operation of the mothers of the pupils, who fashioned the many pretty costumes and lent their assistance in other ways, and they are entitled to no little praise for their interest and helpfulness.

THE SPELLING CONTEST OF THE DETROIT NEWS

The old spelling-bee can still function as the greatest modern indoor sport. The Detroit News has been carrying on a spelling contest in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades of Metropolitan Detroit. From each grade a spelling champion, together with nine who stand next in order, constitute the grade team. April 24, these grade teams compete to select the school champion. May 8, the several school champions in each district will compete to select the district champion; and these meet June 5 in Detroit to select the Metropolitan Champion. To each grade champion, the Detroit News gives as a prize, a copy of Funk & Wagnall's College Standard Dictionary, and to each school champion there is given as a prize, a copy of Rand McNally & Company's International Reference Atlas of the World, which sells for $10.00 retail.

It was an unusual sight to see a group of two or three walking to school, one of the group pronouncing words for the others to spell. They stood around in corridors and cloak-rooms, from which one would near, "No, it's i-e;" "No, it isn't, that's spelled e-i;" then they looked it up. The teachers on hall duty heard them spell words as they march from arithmetic class, as they dressed for physical training, and when they went home at noon. There was as much heart-ache over missing a word as there would have been over missing some great treat.

The Seventh grade champion is Carrie Corion. Her team-mates are: Hazel Rathburn, Vann Campbell, Lorine Schmidt, Velda Larkins, Mildred Towle, LaVerne Birch, Melvin Holtz, Allan Postiff, Kenneth Gust.

The Eighth grade champion is Edith Hann. Her team-mates are: Norma Brown, Ruth Hamilton, Helen Beyer, Howard Dicks, Vivian Honey, Beulah Coe, Avery Gates, Leonard Wauk, George Barlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murray, Mrs. Arthur Blunk, Mrs. Fred Sallow, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Frank Dicks and Mrs. Tena Bree were in Salem, Thursday, attending the fish dinner given by the Federated church society.

Mrs. J. J. McLaren entertained the Wednesday Bridge Club at her home on West Ann Arbor street.

J. L. Johnson and family have moved into their home, formerly the J. L. Gale house, on Penniman avenue.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

Our new wells—one 6-inch and one 8-inch—at the springs, are completed. We have not been able to test them out thoroughly because the air compressors available are not big enough. We do know that each has produced from 300 to 400 gallons per minute, so that either will give us more than we use in the summer time. The well drillers are now drilling a test hole on the flats near the Plymouth road, to see what water could be made of use to the village there.

Word has been received that our new fire truck will be shipped from Elmira, New York, about the tenth of April.

The building fever is striking Plymouth early this year. Up to date, the village has received orders for seven water taps. Last year at this time, only three had been requested.

The value of the motor grader purchased last year, is more than evidenced all the time. "Gus" Meyers is putting our roads in fine shape. Just compare our streets with those of other towns, and see if Plymouth isn't way ahead in this matter. There are mighty few mud holes here.

The grass fire Saturday afternoon is a good warning to be careful. With a wind such as there was then, such a fire travels amazingly fast, and is liable to do much damage unless very carefully watched.

FIFTY-ONE MEMBERS OF 1925 SENIOR CLASS

The Senior class of 1925 numbers fifty-one members, thirty-one girls and twenty boys. The members of the class are as follows:

The plan becomes effective at once and places a guarantee on used Ford cars purchased from authorized Ford dealers thereby insuring proper mechanical operation under ordinary driving conditions.

In assuming the direction and supervision of this plan to be carried out by its dealer organization, the Ford Motor Company feels that it is embracing an opportunity to be of greater service to those who purchase used Ford cars.

WILL TAKE CENSUS OF VILLAGE, TUESDAY, APRIL 14

Everybody is Urged to Give Their Assistance in This Matter of Determining the Exact Population of Plymouth.

EASTER SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

Passion Week will be fittingly observed at the local Methodist church, beginning next Sunday, which is Palm Sunday, and continuing each night of the week at 7:30. The pastor announces a series of practical sermon topics as follows: Palm Sunday morning—"A Royal Entry." Sunday evening—"The Divine Corrective."

"Five 'B's' of the Christian Life" will be represented on each of the five week-nights: Monday—"The Why" B. Tuesday—"The How" B. Wednesday—"The Who" B. Thursday—"The What" B. Friday—"The Where" B. Special music and features will be presented each night, along with the pipe organ, piano, other musical instruments, and a chorus choir.

Easter Sunday will be observed with a sun-rise service at 6:30, and services of praise and worship at the usual hours. It will be a special day of reception of members, and baptismal service for both children and adults, and special music.

The public is cordially invited to join in the observance of this sacred week.

WILL PLACE GUARANTEE ON USED FORD CARS

One of the most important steps yet undertaken to protect used car purchasers and at the same time place the handling of such cars on a more business-like basis is the announcement by Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company that operating under a company plan Ford dealers will hereafter place a guarantee upon used Ford cars disposed of by them.

The Ford Motor Company is the first large automobile concern to take direct steps in the matter of used cars. Inasmuch as there are about as many Fords in operation in the country as all other makes combined, it is apparent that the action of the Ford Motor Company will exert a wide influence on the marketing of used cars and in improving conditions generally in that phase of the automobile business.

"Every used Ford car represents so much unused transportation and is of value to someone," Mr. Ford said in his statement regarding the plan. "The Ford dealer through his position and intimate knowledge of the car certainly is the best judge as to the value of this transportation—the best to determine a price on the mileage the car may yet be expected to deliver—that's his business.

"With this advantage the Ford dealer is prepared to give his used car customers, benefits not likely to be obtained elsewhere.

"If re-conditioning is necessary he has the work done by trained Ford mechanics using improved equipment and genuine Ford parts, and with these economies and advantages he is able to offer the used car to the purchaser at low cost and with a guarantee covering its mechanical fitness."

The plan becomes effective at once and places a guarantee on used Ford cars purchased from authorized Ford dealers thereby insuring proper mechanical operation under ordinary driving conditions.

In assuming the direction and supervision of this plan to be carried out by its dealer organization, the Ford Motor Company feels that it is embracing an opportunity to be of greater service to those who purchase used Ford cars.

J. M. Larkins and family have moved from Detroit into their handsome new home on West Ann Arbor street.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce will take the census of the village, and President Robinson has set Tuesday, April 14th as the day when the count will be made. Census takers have been appointed, and the village has been laid out in districts, with streets assigned to various members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The citizens of the village are urged to co-operate with the C. of C. in making this count. If you are not going to be at home on the 14th, please leave a slip of paper on the mail box or pin one on the door, giving the number of persons—babies and all—residing in your home. Everybody should be interested in this matter, so let's make the work as easy as possible for those who are going to give their time to make the count.

FOR EVERY FAMILY

Col. Leonard Ayres, noted automobile expert, of Cleveland, predicts that the peak of auto production will not come in this country until there is a car for every family. There are about 27 million families now, and the country has produced 24 million cars up to date. One million of these went abroad, 6 million have worn out and 17 million are now in use. To buy and run these autos he says we have spent over 40 billion dollars, a sum twice as great as we spent in the World War. By the time the one-car-to-a-family stage is reached this 40 billion expense will probably have become 75 billion. After every family has a car, it will be only a matter of replacement, say four or five million cars a year to take the place of those worn out or wrecked. These are interesting figures if you will but study over them a few moments, and they will prove that if this expert is right, the high point in automobile manufacture is still a long way off.

IN A NEW FIELD

The auto is to be credited with another accomplishment, that of giving to a woman a new chance to enter business life. We see where a woman in the little town of Tippecanoe City, Ohio, recently turned her family touring car into an auto bus and began carrying passengers between her home town and a neighboring city. She builded a trade that warranted the purchase of another car and the employment of a driver. She lengthened her route to include several towns—and now she has placed an order for five palatial busses of the chair-car type, each carrying 30 passengers. She oversees the business alone, and is said to have piled up a bank account and established a credit that are the envy of many members of the male persuasion. Isn't there a hint here for the enterprising Plymouth woman who wants to enter business life in this or some other community? The field is a broad one, and open to all. And that it is a profitable one is evidenced by the experience of the Ohio woman.

SEASON OF CYCLONES

The heart of the entire country still aches for the thousands of families in those mid-western states visited by the worst tornado in modern times. Deaths of relatives or friends, physical injuries that will leave thousands crippled for life and property damage from which whole families will never recover followed in the wake of the storm. There is no need for caution against cyclones and tornadoes, for no one has any means of knowing their approach until it is too late, and neither have we scientists or weather prophets capable of predicting when and where the next one will occur. For all we know, Plymouth may be visited by one tomorrow that would wipe us off the map. We can only trust to fate, and hope that the same hand that has spared this community in days gone by will continue to do so. However, we must realize that the season of windstorms is at hand and that, while we cannot prevent fatalities through this source, we can at least protect our personal property at an outlay of a few dollars.

Tornado insurance is said to be the cheapest form of insurance. It would not bring back a loved one, nor would it restore the limbs of those caught in a storm-wrecked home. But it would afford a measure of comfort to know as we viewed the wreckage that within a few days there would be forthcoming money enough to replace the home. We cannot control the elements, but it is well to remember as we grieve over the sad plight of unfortunates in our sister states, that we can, at least, temper the blow that such a catastrophe would cause if this town were the next victim.

ELM
There will be the usual Sunday-school service at the Elm school house, next Sunday, at 11:00 o'clock. We are practicing Easter music now, and hope everyone will be present to help next Sunday.

Elm friends will be pleased to know that Mrs. Dan McKinney is able to be up and around the house.

Mrs. Clyde Bentley is improving slowly. We hope by next week to hear a much better report.

Katherine Burke, who is feeling much better, is making plans to go to Detroit for an x-ray examination as soon as she feels able to stand the trip.

The next monthly meeting of the Parent Teacher Association will be held on Tuesday, April 7th. Hope to see everybody out to hear the reports of several functions we have been giving lately. This month our dues are payable, so please come prepared to pay them to the treasurer. We will have an outside speaker and musical program, followed by a social hour. Mrs. Pearl Wilson will act as hostess and will serve lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cort entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Cort and family of Detroit, Sunday.

On Saturday, March 28, the teachers of Elm, Mrs. Scott Davis and Wm. Spencer, assisted by the P. T. A., entertained the teachers and friends from the district schools in this zone. The rooms were elaborately decorated in paper cherry blossoms, pussy willows and Japanese lanterns. The front part of the big room was converted into a Japanese arbor, from which a delicious chop suey luncheon was served by the girls club, who were dressed in Japanese kimonos, with large sashes and two large paper chrysanthemums in their hair. There was special class instruction in the morning. At noon luncheon was served. This was followed by a special program for everybody in the afternoon. The musical program featured two numbers. A P. T. A. song written and sung by Mrs. George Bentley, to the familiar tune of "The Yellow and the Blue," the Michigan University song. This song is to be entered in a contest that Mrs. Kiefer, our state P. T. A. president ordered for a special P. T. A. song for Michigan, and for which she will give a $10.00 gold piece for the best one entered and selected by the judges. The other one was a ditty written by Mrs. George Michelin, and sung to the music of "It Ain't a Goin' to Rain no More." Mrs. Michelin sang the many verses, which were hits and boosts on our local P. T. A., and on Fred Fisher, George Bentley, Miss Cochran, Mrs. R. Stringer, our speaker, and our teachers, while everyone joined in singing the chorus. Other numbers on our program were: An accordion solo by Hazel Beyers; a ukele solo by little William Wolf; the 4 L Club song by the Farmerette Thimble Club; a song by the little folks sewing club, and a solo, "Those Songs My Mother Used to Sing," by Mrs. George Michelin, Jr. The speaker, Mr. Bow, dean of the Detroit Teachers' College, gave a very interesting talk, while there were short informal talks by Fred Fisher, George Bentley, Mrs. Ralph Stringer, the three Zone teachers and the rural librarian. These zone meetings are a new idea of linking all the rural schools together, and is proving a huge success, and will continue again next year. The committee in charge, Mrs. Scott Davis, Mrs. George Bentley and Mrs. Richard Smith are to be praised on their wonderful success in arranging this meeting.

Mrs. George Michelin, your P. T. A. president, attended the Wayne County Council meeting of P. T. A., held in connection with the rural department of Teachers' College at the Northwestern High school in Detroit, Wednesday, March 25. They had a fine musical program. Fred Fisher, assistant Wayne county commissioner, introduced the speaker, Prof. John Phelan, assistant to the president of the Michigan Agricultural College at Lansing, an authority on rural problems and author of a book on same.

There was much rejoicing in Wayne county when Prof. Phelan consented to join us in the promotion of rural school problems and come to Detroit to speak before the rural assembly of Teachers' College and the Wayne County Council of P. T. A.

Prof. Phelan said they asked him if he would please talk at the top of his voice so everyone might hear, but he doubted if they knew what the top of his voice was. He said there was once a gathering of farmers to hear a speaker. One farmer in the balcony called down to the speaker, "Spoke loudar, sar, wa, don't hare ya up hare," whereupon another farmer in the front seat arose and called back, "Ya don't hare, eh! wall ya better thank the Lord" and sat down.

Prof. Phelan told the teachers that their effectiveness depended greatly upon their ability to be one of a community, entering all their activities and pleasures, and to be true to the community and remain in one school several years instead of changing every year, as was the custom throughout the rural districts.

He stated that all rural districts were abandoned into three classes: First, abandoned land, where the people settled but could not make a living, so in time abandoned it and moved on. Second, where it took all the energy and resourcefulness of the entire family to make a living, though the land be fertile. When it became necessary to put wife and children in the field to make a living the conditions become serious and such cannot long live and prosper. Third, What is termed the native farmer, many of which are college graduates and make improvements continually; where they lay great stress on the necessity of good schools and work to provide one for social activities as well as school. These localities are making real progress, while the other two failed. Only a place where life is worth living in will ever prosper. Rural as well as every other community on earth must have four principles to live up to. First, You have a life to live, live to get back to nature and provide some recreation and play. Second, You have a work to do. Find the job you are best suited for and enjoy doing and do it. And here Prof. Phelan said, with great emphasis, "Every job has an element of service and if you can't SEE IT, GET OUT and give it to a better man." Third, A home to build that not only means a house, but a home in the true sense of the word. Fourth, Adventure of life, a God to find. With these lived up to faithfully, you will be of great service to your God, to your country and to your community.

Prof. Phelan said it took us much good intelligence to run a farm successfully as any other business.

He impressed on the teachers to teach the philosophy of every day living.

He also said if you want to accomplish anything in your community, to gather a few together, not too many, and lay your plans, not too big and vague, but some little thing and do it. Then add a little more and so on until in time you will have accomplished a great deal without having noticed the burden.

"But always think in terms of the future," said Prof. Phelan, "always keep looking ahead for some distant goal and you will succeed."

Ask yourselves these questions: What have you done? What are we doing? What are you going to do? Success is awaiting you—go get it.

After this meeting the Wayne Council met in Room 204 of the Teachers' College building, for a private meeting and election of officers and yearly reports. The following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Armstrong, Pres. of P. T. A. of Ecorse.

First Vice President—Smith Rosa, High school principal of River Rouge.

Second Vice President—Mrs. Alexander, president of P. T. A. of Redford.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Dunn, president of Brightmoor P. T. A.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Murphy, grade principal of Ecorse.

Treasurer—Mrs. George D. Michelin, president of Elm P. T. A.

The officers were chosen from the various associations that had accomplished the best and most for the time they had been in service. Mrs. Michelin wishes to state that she was delighted to receive the office, not for any personal glory but because they chose Elm to be represented on their staff of officers. There are so many large, thriving associations in the towns, that we a truly rural association could hardly be expected to compete with such honors. There are sixty-three associations affiliated with the council. We are justly proud of our local association, but let us never be satisfied. Let us march on forever for our boys and girls.

When Opportunity Knocks

One of the many tests made to demonstrate the value of light in attracting customers and increasing sales was the following:

A small department store was selected for the experiment. Measurement of the light intensity used showed 5 foot-candles. Arrangements were made to permit an increase to 15 foot-candles at will. Both these intensities were used alternately and results compared. It was found that during the better lighted period the number of actual purchasers increased 12 per cent, and the average sales per customer rose 29 per cent. The extra cost was comparatively trifling.

Here is where Opportunity knocks at the door of the modern-spirited storekeeper—competitors are mostly running under the handicap of poor lighting.

You can have the advise of our lighting engineers without charge.

NEWBURG SCHOOL NOTES

(Written by Elizabeth Adams)

On Tuesday, March 24, was held the election of officers of P. T. A. Before business, there was a Health program by some of the pupils, after which Miss Barington presented the gold star for Health and Hygiene. At the business meeting, the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. J. R. Rousseau
Vice-Pres.—Miss Onalee Hall
Sec'y.—Miss Hazel Reddeman
Treas.—Alfred Bakewell

The play, "Safety First," is being prepared, and will be given the latter part of April.

Several new pupils have entered the Newburg school in the past week, making a total enrollment of 107. The following names are: Alice and Mildred Gilbert, Earl and Ida Murg, Dorothy and Edna Greer, Esta and Augusta Cole, Jack Goodella and George Kern.

School closed Wednesday, as Miss Hall and Miss Reddeman went to Detroit, Wednesday, to attend Institute.

NEWBURG

There was quite a crowd out Sunday morning to welcome Rev. Fred Ambler, who held evangelistic services here a year ago. He preached a soul searching sermon, as usual, and said he was more than pleased to see so many young people taking an active interest in the work of the church and Sunday-school. There were seventy-five in Sunday-school, with a collection of five dollars. Mrs. M. Eva Smith, church treasurer, gave her financial report, which was very gratifying. There will be no service at Newburg, next Sabbath. A union service will be held at Beech, both morning and evening. Fifty-six from here attended the services at Beech, Sunday night, which was a splendid service by Rev. Ambler and special music by Rev. and Mrs. Paul Havens.

All are cordially invited to attend the meetings, which are held every night this week with the exception of Saturday night. An amerrilis with four beautiful lilies on it brightened the church last Sabbath, being loaned by Mrs. Horton.

Mrs. Blackwood spent last Saturday in Ann Arbor.

Ye correspondent wishes to correct an error in regard to the death notice of Mr. Rheud in last week's Plymouth Mail, which should have read two brothers, instead of twin brothers.

The Epworth League is rehearsing for an entertainment, consisting of two plays, 40 minutes each, to be given in the near future.

Week-end visitors at the Rousseau home on Ann Arbor road, were:

The many friends of Mrs. Charles Armstrong of Alhambra, California, will be glad to hear she is nicely convalescing from an operation for appendicitis, which occurred March 16.

Donald Ryder has purchased three lots of Charles Trombley, near the oburch. Mr. Trombley is putting up a store in the Robinson subdivision on Ann Arbor road, giving up the store at Newburg.

Mark Joy surely has an up-to-date cement block factory on Plymouth road, two machines working making three blocks a minute.

Mrs. J. F. Rousseau and daughter, Angeline, attended the harpist concert at Orchestra Hall, Detroit, Monday evening. Mrs. Rousseau's friend, Miss Bassette of Cleveland, was one of the artists, and was there with her harp. Mrs. Rousseau reports it was a beautiful exhibition.

Mrs. Greer entertained her Sunday-school class at her home, last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Gillett is under the doctor's care.

Otto Thorsted left Tuesday for Dallas, Texas, making the trip with the Maxwell car. He will go in business with his brother. His many friends wish him success in his new venture.

Little Angeline Rousseau took part in the entertainment given by Miss Searcy and pupils in dancing, in the Plymouth High school auditorium, Friday evening last. It certainly was well worth seeing. Angeline was beautiful as the winter girl, as she was dressed in white satin, trimmed with marabou, and danced with easy grace, and the throwing of snow balls in the audience was a pleasant surprise. We are justly proud of Angeline.

RESOLUTIONS
Resolutions adopted by Plymouth Rebekah Lodge No. 182, I. O. O. F.
WHEREAS, In His divine wisdom it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Janet Tracy, be it
RESOLVED, that Plymouth Rebekah Lodge No. 182, I. O. O. F., has lost a member, one for whom we mourn, who was in every way worthy of our respect and regard. We extend to the bereaved husband, daughter and two sons our deepest sympathies, and out of the darkness and sorrow, may God's richest blessings shine as a comfort to those who remain to mourn her decease. Therefore, be it
RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased; that they be published in the Plymouth Mail, and that they be placed upon the minutes of this lodge; and that the charter be draped for a period of sixty days. Her toils are over, her work is done. And she is fully blest; And she has fought the fight, the victory won. And entered into rest.

LETTER FROM PANAMA

We have received the following letter from Alphonse Minthorn of this village, a member of the U. S. Marines:
Panama Canal Zone, Mar. 19, 1925
Dear Mr. Samsen:
Just thought I would write a few lines to let the folks at Plymouth know that I am a regular fellow. Well, here I am down in Panama, the place where everyone wants to go in the winter time. But if they knew how hot it is down here, they would be going it back home. It is the most beautiful place I have ever seen.
On the 18th of March, we went through the canal, and it takes nearly a whole day. First to go through are the Guantur locks; next, Pedro Miguel; third and last are the Pacific locks. It sure is a beautiful sight; mountains on both sides of canal. The canal will take two ships at a time, one going east and the other going west.
Now about the length of time we will be down here is about eight months. We are due at Honduras about April 21st; then come back here for about a month, coal up, and go to San Salvador.
Well, it sure is very hot, and I don't mean maybe, either. It's almost time to pipe down chow, so I will close, hoping this reaches you and also hope it goes to press.
Excuse the pencil, I just broke my pen before I started.
Your Friend,
ALPHONSE MINTHORN.

The Sun's Eclipse
If you lived in the path of the eclipse on January 24 you surely got out your smoked glasses and watched the event, for, unless you travel far, you will not see another in your lifetime. In early days, when only the Indians lived in this country to watch the strange sight, it is probable that they were too frightened to do more than wonder at the strange disappearance of the sun and perhaps to offer sacrifices to the strange gods whom they worshipped and feared. The Utilways, Sir James George Frazer tells us in "The Golden Bough," shot fire-tipped arrows at the sky, hoping to rekindle the sun's light. Others walked about in circles, leaning on staves, in an effort to encourage the sun as he made his round.

Pests Have Been Made Sources of Revenue

From Holland comes news that an oil is being extracted from locusts which is invaluable for airplane engines in that it remains liquid at very low temperatures.
This is by no means the first attempt to utilize the most terrible of plagues, for about two years ago a factory was established in Joliet, Ill., where dead bodies of these insects are turned into fertilizer. The value of the fertilizer is so well assured that the factory recently had an order from Europe for a hundred tons.
If it seems absurd to talk of insects in terms of tons, it may be mentioned that one flight of locusts which passed over the Red Sea covered an area of 2,000 square miles, and certainly weighed hundreds of thousands of tons, while in Cyprus the weight of locust eggs collected and destroyed in one season exceeded 1,300 tons. In 1915 the locusts destroyed in Egypt weighed 13,500 tons, representing 7,500 millions of individual insects.
Rabbits threatened ruin to Australia and New Zealand until it was discovered that other countries were willing to buy them for their flesh and fur. Today the trade is a gigantic one, and in one recent year New Zealand exported more than 300,000 frozen rabbits and 7,750,000 skins. In all nearly 300,000,000 rabbits have been sold by New Zealand.
Another animal that was at one time a pest in New Zealand, became eventually a source of considerable profit. This was the pig, which was originally turned down by Captain Cook about the year 1770. A century later pigs were so plentiful in the flat thickets of the northern island that a hunter could kill 50 in a day and tanning in the district was impossible. Then it was found that the bristles of these wild pigs were valuable, and for a good many years they were a source of steady revenue.—Washington Post.

Raising Teasels

The town of Skaneateles, N. Y., has a thriving industry, perhaps not duplicated elsewhere in the United States. It raises teasels and finds a steady demand for all it can produce.
Now not every one knows what teasels are. The teasel is a plant that produces a ball of porcupine-like quills, the largest from three to four inches long and two inches wide. These are an indispensable element in the manufacture of broad-bos, felts and woolen goods of the finer grades.
The teasels grow from three to five feet high, on prickly green stems with spiky leaves, for two years. Then they are harvested, usually in August, and dried with great care. They are sold to a firm of teasel dealers in the town, where, in turn, they are parceled out to woolen manufacturers all over the country.
The cloth manufacturer bores a hole through the teasels and ranges them on a shaft, against which he runs his finer qualities of fabric. The points are very brittle, and as the fabric is the finest needle. These points scrape the cloth and give it its nap, or woolly surface. Machinery can be used to do this only in the cheaper grades of material.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will hold its regular monthly business meeting in the lecture room of the church, at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday, April 8th. Schrader Brothers received from Lima, Ohio, the first of the week a handsome new ambulance, equipped with all the newest and most approved devices. It is a very attractive outfit, and this enterprising firm is to be commended for the manner in which they are equipping their equipment. We hope to be able to present a picture of the new vehicle soon.—Northville Record.

The state highway department are considering a change in route of the proposed Grand River super highway through Farmington. Estimates based on conversations with property owners are that it would cost $280,000 for right-of-way to widen the road through that district. A solution of the plan in contemplation is to open and to pave a new highway which would turn off Grand River at a point opposite the Wayne County Children's Hospital and swing around Farmington to the south, connecting with Grand River west of the village. This new road would be shorter than the main road because it would extend through a long bend.

EAT UNCOOKED FOOD, SAYS THE SCIENTIST

Or the End of the Human Race Is Assured.

If the prophecies of scientists are fulfilled, then in a thousand and eighty years the human race will have changed into a type of animal much inferior to the highest order of ape, and just a trifle superior to the lowest type of savage.

The process of degeneration has been steadily proceeding for the last thousand years. Each generation has had less hair than the generation preceding it, and today, as is evident, baldness among men is the rule. Once it was a phenomenal exception. Within the next 300 years the human race may be hairless!

Teeth are going rapidly. The exact proportion of those with artificial molars is unknown, but it must be very high. Wisdom teeth now fail to come at all in many cases, and when they do appear they are very late.

Our jaws are much smaller, and even if, as is the case, our skulls are larger, that holds no comfort. Large heads do not indicate better brains.

Our eyes are going, going, and in time will be gone. Seventy per cent of the population, so it has been estimated, wear glasses.

Our ears, however, are all right, and hearing is one of the senses which has not deteriorated. But that is not a good sign. All animals have a very highly developed hearing power!

Stature has noticeably decreased. If there should be another war, there would have to be another revision, downward, of the minimum height for recruits.

So the end of the human race, as humans, is assured unless—well, the only salvation for the race, so scientists say, is to cease eating cooked foods!

So, even if the matter is not personally urgent, all who wish to provide their quota to the saving of humanity know now what to do!—Detroit Free Press.

Concerning Lithography

Printing from prepared stones has been known since 1796, when the art was invented by Senefelder. The stone employed is called a lithograph stone, and is a fine-grained stone of a very porous nature.

Before the war practically all lithographic stone came from Bavaria, as the variety quarried there is of the best quality and of the most practical color—a light gray.

These limestones absorb grease and water rapidly; therefore, if a line is drawn on a prepared stone with an ink containing grease, this line can be taken away only by removing the surface to the depth to which the grease has penetrated. If water is now placed on the stone, it will remain only on those parts not covered by the grease.

When a roller carrying a greasy ink is passed over the stone the ink will cover only the greased portions, and the parts that are wet will not take up the ink. Therefore, a piece of paper pressed upon the stone will receive an impression in ink from the lines drawn only. On these principles depend lithography, the process being extremely visible in the printer's art.

Havoc by Sea Disaster

The explosion and conflagration at Halifax, Nova Scotia, December 6, 1917, was caused by the collision of two ships, one carrying a cargo of war munitions. The total destruction covered 2½ square miles. This catastrophe was followed by a blizzard, greatly hampering the work of rescue. One thousand one hundred and fifty-eight dead bodies were recovered, 4,000 were seriously injured, 20,000 rendered homeless, and the property loss was estimated at $50,000,000. The French steamship Mt. Blanc, carrying munitions, collided with the Belgian relief ship Ino. The French captain was Captain Lemodic, the Belgian captain W. J. Harrison. The French steamer was accused of not having used proper signals.

Quebec Has Chimes Back

Citizens of Quebec are rejoicing in the fact that from now on the chimes in the towers of their beloved Basilica will peal forth as they have not pealed since fire destroyed the historic temple in December, 1922. The last of the four huge bells that make up the carillon, which recently arrived from France, was put in position January 27 and tested satisfactorily. The other three were placed in the tower last spring. The weight of the four bells making up the chimes is 12,850 pounds, and special hydraulic engines were called into play to raise the huge masses of metal from the ground.

Grounds for Delay

The tired Saturday night patron at the Elite lunchroom in Hickburg had made up his mind to get some action. "Where's that coffee I ordered?" he thundered to the waiter.

"It'll be here in just a minute now," replied the waiter. "You see, it takes a little longer to make it on Saturday nights."

"Why is that?"
"Well, we put in fresh grounds on Sundays, and 'long toward Saturday they get kind of weak."—Judge.

Sweets Blamed for Colds

People living in cities make themselves more susceptible to colds by eating too little greenstuffs and too many sweets and rich cakes, says Professor Hill of the National Institute of Medical Research, England.

CAVES OUTLINED IN MILLIONS OF YEARS

Took Ages to Form Wondrous Cavities.

Much has been said since the imprisonment of Floyd Collins in Sand cave in Kentucky about stalactites and stalagmites, those icicles of limestone that hang from the roof and extend up from the floor of such caves. How these deposits came to exist, as well as how the caves themselves were excavated by nature, form an interesting page in the study of geology.

At one time, perhaps a million or more years ago, an ancient sea covered this district. Sedimentary strata of limestone were deposited on the floor of this sea. Often a layer of sandstone was formed. Later, through some upheaval the bottom of the sea arose and became dry land. Then the formation of these caves began.

Limestone is but very little soluble in pure water, but water containing carbon dioxide will easily dissolve the mineral. Rain water, seeping down through the ground, absorbed carbon dioxide from decaying organic matter. Then it would percolate through the less soluble layers of sandstone without affecting them, but when it came to a layer of limestone it would dissolve some particles and carry them off. Thus, through many centuries, an entire stratum of limestone would be dissolved, leaving a cavern, often many feet in height. The ceilings and floors of these caves, as a rule, were strata of sandstone or other rock less soluble than limestone.

After the cavity in the earth was formed, and even before the excavating job was completed, a new process was begun. Perhaps nature regretted having formed such a cavity, or maybe she liked her work so well that she thought she should build columns to support the ceilings of these places. In either case, she started constructing stalactites, hanging down from above and stalagmites reaching up from the floors of the caves. These formations grew in size and length until they often met, forming columns. In some cases the cave would be nearly filled again with the limestone of these stalactites and stalagmites.

Water seeping in from above caused the formation of these limestone icicles. Rainwater, charged with carbon dioxide, would dissolve limestone from rocks above the cave and come to the roof, where it would hang awhile. Here it would lose some of its carbon dioxide by evaporation, and with its carbon dioxide gone, it would have to give up some of its limestone, since pure water will not hold much of the rock in solution. This limestone would be deposited on the roof of the cave. More and more of the mineral was deposited until the stalactite was formed.

Millions of these drops of water fell to the floor of the cave before they gave up all their carbon dioxide, carrying their little burden of limestone with them. In this case the limestone was deposited on the floor, causing a stalagmite.—Kansas City Star.

Useful Peppermint

Growth and development of the growing gum habit is having the effect of causing a continual rise in the price of peppermint. The acreage in the production of the plant in two Michigan counties exceeds 4,000 acres. Peppermint as a flavor is today in great demand everywhere. Oil of peppermint is now also employed to test steam boilers. If the odor escapes it indicates that the boiler is unsafe. A boiler that will hold the smell of the oil is said to be capable of holding any pressure to which it is ordinarily subjected. Peppermint is raised on marsh land formerly given over entirely to the production of hay. The land is used over and over again for the same kind of a crop without rotation, though muriated potash is employed to maintain the soil in the desired state of fertility. In September the crop is cut with a mowing machine.

Snow Modeling

Snow sculpture is encouraged on school playgrounds in Chicago. All playgrounds competed recently in modeling snow figures, and the results were judged by the city's distinguished sculptor, Lorado Taft.

Water was mixed with the snow to form a heavy slush. The work of modeling was done with wooden paddles, the snow first being packed on a framework of sticks tied together. Pocket knives and bits of tin were used to carve away excess and secure the lines desired. The children worked out a variety of figures. Included in the sculptural productions was an elephant holding his own against an attack by three wolves.

Sardine Industry Big

American sardines are making their way in the world. The quantity and value of sardines exported from this country last year showed an increase of 50 per cent as compared with the amount exported the year before. No fewer than 75 countries are now demanding our sardines in steadily increasing quantities. In 1921 the factories in the United States produced $6,649,000 worth of canned sardines, of which $3,933,000 worth came from Maine and $2,698,000 worth from California.—Youth's Companion.

Sea Earth Filled Up

"Standing room on the earth will be full up by the year 3000," says Professor Gregory at a meeting of the British association. The world population will be 700,000,000,000.

THE THEATRE

"THE AIR MAIL"

"The Air Mail," with Warner Baxter, Billie Dove and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, April 4th. An excellent melodrama. Human interest and thrills abound in it, and the spectator is held in suspense. The human interest is awakened by the sight of the hero, a crook, going straight; he entered the U. S. Air Mail Service with the hope of finding an opportunity to make a big haul, but the spirit of the service enters his veins and he becomes a changed man. Additional sympathy is awakened by him when he carries medicine to the heroine's sick father, living in the desert with the hope of regaining his health. The suspense is caused by the fact that the hero's life is placed in jeopardy when his former confederates attack him with the intention of robbing him of the valuable mail he was carrying in his plane. The thrills are caused by the stiff fight he, helped by his chum, a young boy, put up to save the mail from falling into the hands of either his former confederates or three escaped convicts. A love affair is interwoven in the plot between the hero (Warner Baxter) and the heroine (Billie Dove).

"THE LADY"

Norma Talmadge has a dual role in "The Lady," her new First National picture, coming to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, April 5 and 6. She appears as a pretty soubrette of the year 1900. Surrounded by a double sextette of beautiful Gibson girls, Norma sings the "Floradora" songs of other days and takes part in the scenes of wild gaiety which followed the Spanish-American war. Twenty years pass and Norma is seen as a woman who has passed through the maelstrom of the Great War. For four years she runs a little cafe just behind the battlefront, where the troops of many nations take their "petit verre" as they go up into the Valley of Death.

From the heights of London theatrical life, a feted beauty and the toast of all the young bloods of London, Norma descends to the depths with the American and British troops who fought the long fight in the Great War.

She is seen on the edge of the night life of Monte Carlo, with its gaming tables, its beautiful women, its half world, its tragedies, amours and romances.

She is thrown into the sordid life of Marseilles, where the human drags of all nations mingle in the cafes of the waterfront. And she finally finds peace in a little seaport town of France.

"The Lady" takes rank with "Secrets" and "Smiling Through" in the list of Norma's greatest photographs.

The supporting cast includes Wallace MacDonald, Norma's leading man; Alf Goulding, Brandon Hurst, Emily Fitzroy, George Hackathorne, Walter Long, Marc MacDermott, Dorris Lloyd, John Fox, Jr., Paulette Goddard, Edwin Hubble, Lora Bara, John Herman, Margaret Seddon, Miles McCarthy and Charles O'Malley.

"SALOME OF THE TENEMENTS"

"Salome of the Tenements," produced by Sidney Olcott for Paramount from the novel by Anzia Yezierska, who wrote "Hungry Hearts" and other just as successful stories, comes to the Penniman Allen theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, April 8 and 9.

Jetta Goddard, French beauty seen in "Open All Night," "Godfrey Tearle," Conway's brother, and Jose Ruben are featured in the cast.

The story is one of Sonya Mendel, nicknamed Salome of New York's tenement district. She meets and falls in love with a young millionaire, who has established in a settlement house in her neighborhood and has sacrificed a comfortable home and social position to live there and help brighten the lives of the inhabitants of Manhattan's Ghetto district.

Sonya borrows money from an unscrupulous usurer to make an impression on her philanthropic friend, and by so doing almost ruins her chances for happiness—and love.

"Salome of the Tenements" is a picture with an appeal not unlike that of "Humoresque." It's real!

How Profit Is Found in Bullying a Bully

Fighting is a brutal business. There is no denying it. A man in a fight is very busy. He must meditate concerning methods. He must inflict considerable punishment and do it promptly. Because fighting is brutal and tends to disarrange the face and disturb emergency wards already taxed to their capacity, it should be avoided when convenient, argues a writer in the Kansas City Star.

One way to avoid it is not to seem too eager to avoid it. Men who are afraid to fight have trouble thrust upon them. Of those who are afraid very few are craven by reason of wounds; excessive caution is caused by want of experience. Ignorance is the father of fear.

A boy of tender years, being a primitive, has frequent occasion to do battle. If parental authority denies him the privilege of gaining experience in this way he will bear no scars; but he will develop into a man afraid of a fight. If he is privileged to fight when the need is urgent he may not be so fortunate as to triumph; but even if he is whipped he will profit. He will learn that a whipping is the lesser of two evils and that to receive bruises is less painful than to be a coward. If he is whipped he can regain his self-respect, but he never will be able wholly to forgive himself if he runs.

If he is denied experience of battle manhood will find him handicapped. Before a blustering bully he will talk small and surrender his privileges and rights.

But if he has fought often and therefore feels no dread of combat he will get to his feet in preparation for battle and before the cold light in his eyes the bully will become calm and placid.

The bully may have an uncontrollable temper, but tempers of this kind usually function best when the odds are on their side. They peter out quickly in the face of an adversary who has a knockout in both hands and means business.

Ask The Man Who Wears One

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says that to most people America is a place where the first duty of a man is to keep a woman dressed up.

You've possibly noticed as you traveled through this world that a smooth tongue is more to be feared than a rough neck.

"It may be hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven," says Dad Plymouth "but it's my opinion that a lazy man has no chance at all!"

Can't is a longer word than can, and yet it seems that people find it easier to use the longer one.

Dad Plymouth declares that when a lot of people cast bread upon the waters they expect it to come back covered with blackberry jam.

A good life insurance solicitor makes you believe that it would be a pleasure to die if you were insured in his company.

"I know a fellow who is such a good salesman," says Dad Plymouth, "that when he dies he'll try to sell St. Peter a card-index system."

Dad Plymouth asserts that "It doesn't matter how homely a man may be, if he's good to a woman he'll look handsome to her."

Harley Shock has been helping Theda Lyke buzz wood.

Harry Priebe came home from Beyer Memorial hospital, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Raymond and children of Ypsilanti, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Kuhl. The children will remain for several days, while their parents move to Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nollar and children spent Thursday night in Ann Arbor at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. John Dyer.

Mrs. Fred Nollar was in Dearborn three days last week at the J. H. Nollar home. Mrs. Nollar, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia and a complication of diseases was thought to be a little improved at this writing. Grief over the death of her son is retarding her recovery.

Miss Parks of Detroit schools, was a Saturday visitor at the home of her brother, Ed. Parks.

Henry Priebe buzzed wood, Saturday afternoon. He was assisted by his brothers, Ed., Art and George, who came out from Detroit. Evidently it was quite a lark for them, as they are all factory men and unused to such labor. They have a nice pile of wood, and incidentally some sore hands, to show for their exertions.

Fred Nollar is getting material on the ground for a large barn, which he will erect this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mosher and children spent Sunday in Ypsilanti.

Fred Nollar and family motored to Salem, Sunday morning, and called on Mrs. Nollar's father, George Whipple, leaving the three children there, while they went on to Dearborn to see his mother.

Miss Beryl Kuhl spent the week end in Ypsilanti, with her sister, Mrs. T. A. Walters and family, of Oliver street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crippen, who have sold their farm, were given a farewell surprise, last Monday, when a large crowd of neighbors and friends gathered at their home to spend the evening with them. They were presented with a large picture to show the esteem in which they are held. Refreshments were served, and all had a very pleasant time. They are undecided as yet to where they will locate, but their friends hope it may not be very far away.

LeRoy Mosher has purchased a clarinet, and will join the new High school band, which is being organized at Central High in Ypsilanti.

Russell Trowbridge and family and Mrs. Pankovic were guests Friday of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Trowbridge of Cherry Hill.

Andrew Gardner is still seriously ill.

Little Myrtle Bergore of Ypsilanti, is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lidke, Sr.

Joselyn Preston and family have moved from Ypsilanti, back to their little farm west of the corner at Bachelor's Paradise.

Musolf Bros of South Lyon, were Sunday afternoon callers at L. J. Kuhl's.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Trowbridge of Cherry Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Trowbridge and daughter, Hazel, of Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harrison of Inkster; Messrs. George and Oliver Kregg of Detroit, and Clark and Elvira Losey of Cherry Hill, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Trowbridge and children.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. VanBuren of Ypsilanti, will spend the first of the week with their daughter, Mrs. L. J. Kuhl and family.

Miss May Miller of Ypsilanti, is spending the week with her aunt, Mrs. Frank King.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman and Dorothy were guests of Mrs. Zimmerman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sutherland, in Pittsfield.

School opened again Friday in the Bennett district, after being closed the forepart of the week, because of the illness of the teacher, Mrs. Ackley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank King were in Plymouth, Sunday, to see their brother-in-law, Clarence Sayles, who recently suffered another stroke. Mr. Sayles passed away Tuesday morning.

KROGER STORES TO CLOSE EVERY WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON DURING THE SUMMER MONTHS.

Officials of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Company have just announced that all of their stores will close on Wednesday afternoon during the months of June, July and August.

The decision to do this makes the Kroger Company the first large grocery chain to adopt such a measure.

Regarding this new policy a high executive of the company said:

"The most progressive mercantile enterprises are realizing more and more every day that the most important link in the proper functioning of any organization is the employee who meets the public. It is our belief that the most efficient ones are those who are satisfied and know that the firm employing them is interested in their personal welfare.

The very nature of our business is one of service to the public and therefore necessitates long hours—especially on Saturday. We believe that the public will in no way be inconvenienced by this Wednesday afternoon closing of our stores. We believe, rather, that they will benefit on other days, and on Wednesday morn thru increased service and efficiency that cannot help but be rendered by men and women who have enjoyed a mid-week half holiday."

This announcement of Wednesday afternoon closing comes close upon the heels of the establishment by the Kroger Company of a Protective and Benefit Plan comprising Death Benefit, Sick Benefit and old age Pension, basing the amount to be paid upon the length of service. This plan has been put into effect at no cost to the employee.

The Wednesday half holiday as well as Protective Plan effects every one of the 2400 Kroger Stores located in Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit, Columbus, Dayton, Marion, Cleveland, Toledo, Indianapolis and 450 smaller towns.

When They Contain No Calomel

Today's Reflections

And just to think only a few weeks and we'll be slamming screen doors again.

The one difficulty about cutting off the expense of government is that most all of the expense can vote.

A Kansas editor admits he is a regular reader of the Congressional Record. Now we know what's the matter with Kansas.

We overheard a Plymouth man say yesterday that the only difference between home-cooking at a restaurant and at home is that you don't see the can opened in the restaurant.

It looks like the only Indians who are going to be left in peace, are those who haven't got anything the white man wants.

A man ought to show a lot of courage all the time, even when it comes to facing a cloud of dust at house-cleaning time.

The average woman will do a lot of sacrificing during Lent, but she won't sacrifice her hope of a new Easter hat.

It seems to be a lot of consolation to some Plymouth husbands to read that sometime the meek shall inherit the earth.

As we understand it, France is perfectly willing to have a guardian appointed, so long as he is not of German descent.

We don't know who wrote the words, "poverty is no disgrace," but we're willing to bet it was a newspaper editor.

Citizens around Plymouth who have radio sets say the best night to hear anything is the very nights that the battery is down.

Another thing, the world was a lot better off when people looked on divorce as a disgrace instead of a chance to get their name in the papers.

A scientist says the weather hasn't changed in a billion years. That makes some old-timers around Plymouth look like liars.

Every time the state finds a way to save the taxpayer a little money, someone comes along and has it declared unconstitutional.

Uncle Sam can't enforce all his laws, but nobody has yet been able to break old Dame Nature's laws and not pay the penalty.

If you want to try something hard, try to find the Plymouth woman who doesn't think her husband got a lot better wife than he deserved.

THE fascination of billiards and bowling has kept many people on the road to health. Poet Made Thorough Job of Forgiveness

The poet Browning, Prof. William Lyon Phelps tells us in Scribner's Magazine, was as impulsive as Roosevelt. He could never speak of his wife with calmness. To illustrate his feeling about her, says Professor Phelps, Lady Ritchie, the daughter of Thackeray, told me this story.

There was a rumor that Browning was going to marry again, and in his absence she mentioned it. The next day Browning heard of it in a way that made him suppose she had originated the fable. That night they met at a large dinner, and he was assigned to take her out to the dining-room. She greeted him in their customary friendly manner, took his arm and then to her amazement found that he would not speak to her, but almost spoked her with his elbow every time she turned toward him.

At dinner he devoted himself exclusively to the lady on his left, and if Anne Thackeray spoke to him he made no reply. When the ladies withdrew she asked one of them whether Robert Browning had gone mad.

"Why, don't you know?" was the reply. "He heard that you started a story of a second marriage, and he will never forgive you."

That state of affairs continued for months. They constantly met at dinner parties, but he ignored her. In the following summer she, Browning and his most intimate friend, the Frenchman Milsand, were staying in the same town in Normandy. One day Milsand turned on Browning and told him that he was behaving outrageously, that Anne Thackeray had never meant any harm, had merely repeated what she had heard and was now heartbroken. Browning was smitten with contrition; he immediately started running at full speed to the opposite end of the town where Miss Thackeray lodged. He must have been a curious spectacle, for he was short and heavy and not used to running.

"I was sitting in the window of the second story in a despondent mood," Lady Ritchie told me, "when I saw Browning running violently toward my lodging. I rushed downstairs and leaped into his arms; we both cried together and had a lovely time."

Some Famous Tunnels

The following information about tunnels is from a paper by Lester S. Grant, dean of the Colorado School of Mines, read before the Technik club of Denver: "In 1530 Agricola, a German mineralogist, recorded that the gold and silver mines of Schenitz, Hungary, had then been worked for 800 years; the lead mines of Goslar, Germany, for 900 years, and the silver mines of Freiberg, Saxony, for 1000 years. Subsequent working of these mines necessitated the driving of drainage tunnels of lengths as yet unrecorded in the history of mining. The Tiefc Georg tunnel, in Saxony, driven between 1777 and 1799, is 34,529 feet long, with branches amounting to 25,310 feet more. This was driven entirely by hand to obtain a drainage depth of only 400 feet. The Joseph H. tunnel at Schenitz was started in 1782 but not completed until 1878. It is ten and one-half miles long. The Rothschonberger tunnel at Freiberg, driven between 1844 and 1877, totals over 95,140 feet, the main tunnel being 42,662 feet. These tunnels were all driven by hand, using black powder."

Mr. Pester Observes

"Many a man," began old Festus Pester, "has gained a reputation for vast sagacity simply by keeping his mouth shut and putting on the pomposity of a white elephant, when, if we only knew it, there is nothing of any particular consequence underneath his imposing exterior. A peacock is a most pusillanimous-looking fowl when deprived of his feathers, and many a man who looks like a crown prince would appear even more paltry than a striped peacock if his dignity was peeled off from him." An owl looks like the concentration and quietness of sagaciousness, but that is all there is to him—he just looks it. And many a man's pomposity has caused him to be suspected of being somebody in particular, when in reality he is only a common congressman.—Kansas City Star.

Vast Electrical Industry

To few men as it has been to Edison, who celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday recently, has it been granted to see the industry in which they began as pioneers, develop into one of the greatest of all times. Today the investment in electric public utilities alone is second only to that of the steam railroads of the country. Even a Dante would find it difficult to picture the internal cost that would ensue were all the electric light and power companies, electric railways and the telephone and telegraph companies suddenly to be withdrawn from their places in the economic structure of the nation.

Yellow Enrages Generals

Exasperated at the frequent appearance of lemon-colored collars, large "bobby" caps and canary-yellow strapings on riding breeches, generals of the "old school" at Aldershot, England, recently compiled a set of rules for dress, even including the color of the tie.

OLD NEW ORLEANS
GEM AMONG CITIES

Gayety and Animation Its Chief Characteristics

The little house was on a small side street that bore the line name of Kerlerec, away but not isolated, from the fashionable quarter. It was one of the one-story cottages built directly on the sidewalk in a long row that filled the block, all shut in by heavy green painted doors and French windows fastened with long iron bolts; whose little wooden steps to the "banquette" in front were kept polished by daily scrubbing with red brick. The fragrance of the rich golden-hued wild geranium flowers pervaded these humble streets as the scent of roses and jasmine the streets of the rich. It was built in the stereotyped Creole fashion with two rooms front and two rooms back, a gallery along the rear, wide enough to give the space for a small dining-room—which looked out on a little square garden with red brick walls and a center parterre always filled with flowers. Across the garden were the servants' quarters, the rooms of Charlotte and Rosalie, so well known by all of Mme. Girard's scholars, and beyond these another yard that stretched to the next street—Lafayette street.

New Orleans at that period could not but please refined and elegant exiles from Sainte Lucie. The city Grace King writes in the Yule Review, was filled with gay, animated, French-speaking throngs. Slaves were as numerous as they had been in the old home. The shop windows on Royal and Chartres streets had nothing to fear in comparison with the glittering streets of Saint Pierre. Fashions, luxuries, bombas, books, pictures and jewelry were displayed with the same sure confidence of purchasers here as there. Laughter and pleasantries were apparently the commonplace of conversation. Piano music flowed through every window, the passer-by humming an accompaniment.

What is called today the "Vieux Carre" was then the city. It was compactly built with solid brick houses, whose iron-rattled balconies with their garlands of filigree work extended over the banquette, whose courtyards with great gates, then as now wide open, showed the luxuriant tropical foliage of their secluded gardens—the lounging place of the gayly turbaned women and the well-dressed servant men of the establishment. Fresh meats, fresh vegetables and fruits were cried every morning in the musical patois to which the islanders were accustomed. At night the theaters, the opera and public halls kept the city awake and alive with their gayety, while children fell asleep behind the batten windows to the pretty tinkle of the ice-cream cart that busily threaded its way in and out of every thoroughfare.

Little Heart Breaker

The beautiful Peggy Joyce, whose marital troubles have caused her to suffer a nervous breakdown, is the subject of an anecdote.

Peggy, even as a little girl, was a great breaker of hearts—or so, at least, the anecdote would have it. One afternoon the minister called at the Joyces' and took her on his knee.

"I'll give you a dime, my child," he said, "if you'll tell me who your sweetheart is."

Peggy blushed, hid her face on the minister's shoulder, and presently said in a low, bashful voice:

"Arthur."

The minister forked out the promised dime. Little Peggy studied it gravely for a moment. Then she said: "If you'll give me another dime I'll tell you who my other sweetheart is."

Famous Early Poets

The troubadours were poets, often of high rank, who flourished chiefly in Provence, in the south of France, during the Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries. In the Langue d'Oc, which was their medium of expression, they produced romances, but excelled especially in lyric verse. They were usually accompanied by professional musicians, known as joglars, who sang their masters' verses. The compositions may be classified under the heads of terzones, or contests between minstrels; chansons, or lyrical songs; sirventes, or songs of war and chivalry; serenades; and pastourelles. The most famous troubadours were Raoul de Coucy, King Thibaut IV of Navarre, Adam de la Halle and Guillaume Machault.—Kansas City Star.

A Bad Lot

Dr. Woods Hutchinson, disembarking from a liner in New York, said that Europe was in a deplorable state.

"Let us hope the Dawes plan will better things," he went on, "but Europe as I saw her was such a Hades that she reminded me of Spurgeon's stricture on mankind."

"Spurgeon, you know, said that mankind was the limit, that the history of man was a history of sin, that in the beginning there was only one communion—only one—and yet it was one too many for our first parents."

Folding Baby Carriage

Owners of apartment houses, particularly in sections of the city where baby carriages are numerous, will be interested in the success of an invention of an English family man. He has devised, according to a news item from London, a baby carriage that may be folded up around a walking stick.

OBITUARY

John Gottlieb Gerst was born July 17, 1841, in Hohenklingen, Wuertenberg, Germany. In his youth he was baptized in the Lutheran church, and later confirmed in this faith. On June 2, 1868, he was united in holy wedlock with Katherine Barbara Schaszburger. God blessed this union with seven children, of which two died in infancy.

In 1886, Father Gerst brought his family to this country, and settled near Plymouth, where he continually resided on a farm. In 1914, Mrs. Gerst died, and the children all being married, he made his home with his son, John Gerst, who lives on the old homestead.

Mr. Gerst, considering his age, had always been pretty well, and six months ago was yet able to walk to town. In the last few months a complication of ailments kept him in the house and for the last two weeks made him bed-fast. On March 25th, he was called home by his God, having attained the age of 83 years, 8 months and 8 days. He leaves to mourn his departure, his five children, the sons, John and Louis Gerst of Plymouth, and Albert Gerst of Cleveland, Ohio, as also the daughters, Mrs. William Reddeman and Mrs. Louise Hutton of Plymouth. Besides these, he is survived by twelve grandchildren and other relatives.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2:00 o'clock, at the home of John Gerst, Rev. Charles Straesen preaching the sermon. Burial in Riverside cemetery.

Finding New Power

Although their progress is slow and unspectacular, scientists are making dogged attempts to discover a way to make artificial fuels which will replace the diminishing supplies of coal and oil. The process they seek to perform in the laboratories, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine, is the marvelous one that nature uses every day in storing up energy in leaves and plants by converting waste material into wood, etc., under the action of sunlight. Solution of the riddle is being sought in California by Dr. Herman A. Spoeber and a staff of research workers. A year's consumption of coal at the present time represents the accumulation of 400 years, he says.
