SMITH-LAST

Miss Ola Last, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Last of North Harvey street, was married to Clifford Smith of Wayne, at the bride's home on Monday afternoon at three o'clock, by Rev. Peters, pastor of the Lutheran church at Wayne, in the presence of members of the two families and a few friends. Miss Anna Davis of Northville, was bridesmaid, while Howard Last, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Following the ceremony the guests were served a splendid wedding supper. The bride and groom left after the supper, for a wedding trip to Ohio points. The young couple will make their home on Warren avenue, where the groom is just completing a new home. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a happy and prosperous married life.

The out of town guests present at the wedding, were: Charles Lem and daughter, Vera, and little grandson of Lansing, and Mrs. Florence Adams of Detroit.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK

Sunday, June 14—Baccalaureate sermon by Rev. S. Conger Hathaway.
Tuesday, June 16th—Class Day exercises.
Thursday, June 18—Commencement.
Friday, June 19th—Alumni Banquet.

WOMAN'S CLUB ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Woman's Club will take place, Friday, June 12. Permission was given by the Presbyterian board to use the church parlors, and the village commission the park adjoining, and the club is grateful for the convenience.

VETERANS HONORED ON MEMORIAL DAY

A LARGE CROWD ATTENDED THE EXERCISES WHICH WERE HELD IN KELLOGG PARK, LAST SATURDAY MORNING.

The fine weather of last Saturday, brought out a large crowd, who assembled in Kellogg Park at ten o'clock in the morning, to hear the Memorial Day program, and to honor the Civil War veterans, the Veterans of the Spanish American War and the World War. The program of the day was in charge of the Plymouth Rotary Club.

Seven surviving veterans of the Civil War were guests of honor, and occupied seats upon the platform. The veterans who were able to be present were: John Stuart, Charles Pitcher, Oliver Westfall, John Harden, James King, James Manzer and Arthur Stevens.

E. C. Hough, president of the Plymouth Rotary Club, called the assembly to order and presided over the exercises. The program was opened by the singing of America, led by the Rotary Club quartette, after which Rev. D. D. Nagle gave the invocation. This was followed by a chorus from the Fourth and Fifth grades of the public school, the little folks doing splendidly. Miss Alice Hathaway then gave a reading, entitled, "The American Soldier," in a very impressive manner. The Rotary Club quartette, composed of Messrs. Calvin Whipple, William Wood, Dr. R. E. Chaspe and Paul Wiedman, sang an appropriate number.

The chairman then introduced the speaker of the day, George A. Smith, superintendent of the local schools. Mr. Smith's address was timely, intensely patriotic and well delivered. Mr. Smith said in part: "Not forgetting for one moment the great sacrifices and heroic services rendered by the men in the Civil War and in fact in each of our wars, who fought for liberty, freedom and justice, I believe Memorial Day has a special and significant meaning, which we oftentimes overlook and lose. Memorial Day originated not after the Civil War, but during the Civil War when the women of the South inspired by mother love, from time to time decorated the graves of those who had fallen, without distinction as to whether those resting therein wore the blue or the gray. And as we observe Memorial Day we are commiserating that nobler and higher human attribute which can rise above the enmity and hatred of war and show kindness and love to all."

Patriotism consists not alone in the waving of flags and the reciting of allegiance to the flag, but a mode of living which will insure the perpetuation of a strong nation having all the attributes which we use in describing our beloved country. America is undoubtedly strong today because of the wonderful heroes of yesterday in which the great lessons of industry, thrift, morality and religion were so nobly taught. Today the industrial conditions are causing the American homes to disintegrate and lose much of its influence which it had a century ago. At the present time I believe that the pledging of allegiance to our flag is meaningless and un-patriotic unless we, at the same time, pledge our support to the two great institutions, the church and the school, which must now and in the future take over many of the responsibilities formerly assumed by the home in developing the physical, mental, moral and religious quality in our citizenry of which we at the present time have a right to be proud. Will you then, as you decorate, today, the graves of your loved ones, as an evidence of your patriotism, pledge your heart and hand to the protection and support of our American homes, our churches and public schools, in order to provide a proper environment and thereby insure the future of the right type of American citizenry?"

The Boy Scouts, under command of Scoutmaster D. D. Nagle, then gave the flag salute, and repeated their Scout oath. The quartette then led

Another Handsome Building for Plymouth

New Branch Bank Building to Be Erected by the Plymouth United Savings Bank

We take pleasure in presenting to our readers today, a picture of the handsome new branch bank building, which will be erected by the Plymouth United Savings Bank, at the corner of Starkweather avenue and Liberty street, on the site of the old building, which has been moved about thirty feet east of its former location.

The new building will be 28½x55 feet in size and will be constructed of pressed brick and stone, and will be absolutely fire-proof. The entrance will be on Liberty street and will be designed of stone. The window sections on the sides and end will be all stone with fluted columns. The entrance from the street will be made into a vestibule. The floor of the vestibule and lobby will be of marble, while the interior finish and furniture will be of American walnut. The building will be provided with ladies' and gents' lavatories. There will be five tellers' windows. The building will have a full basement, and will be heated by steam. A large modern vault will be constructed.

The new building will be a strictly modern bank building in every respect, and will be a splendid addition to the many fine buildings which Plymouth is fortunate enough to possess. It is expected that work will be commenced upon the new building in a week or so. The business of the branch bank has outgrown the present building, and the bank officials have felt the need for larger quarters for some time.

ANOTHER CIVIL WAR VETERAN PASSES AWAY

JAMES PURDY, LIFELONG RESIDENT OF PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP, DIED TUESDAY MORNING.

James Britten Purdy, son of James and Matilda Purdy, was born in Plymouth township, June 24, 1843, and died Tuesday morning, June 2, 1925, aged eighty-one years, eleven months and nine days.

In 1867, he was married to Hannah Phelps, who died in 1916. Two children were born to this union, Harry E. Purdy now deceased, and Mrs. Nettie L. Moore of Plymouth. He leaves also to mourn their loss one sister, Mrs. Laura McRoberts of Northville, two half sisters, Mrs. James Sessions of Northville; Mrs. Hannah Phelps of Detroit, and a number of more distant relatives and friends.

During the Civil War Mr. Purdy served in the Twenty-fourth Michigan Volunteer Infantry, and for a number of years was flag bearer for the local G. A. R. Post, holding that office at the time of their disbanding a couple of years ago. He was much interested in nature study and was a recognized writer of authority on subjects therewith. He was an honorary member of the National Audubon Society, and at one time served as president of the Michigan Orthopedic Club.

Mr. Purdy was born on the farm where he died, the land having been taken up from the government by his father nearly one hundred years ago. Funeral services were held from the at the singing of The Star Spangled Banner, which concluded the exercises at the park.

Following the close of the exercises, a parade was formed, consisting of the police department, fire department, G. A. R. veterans in autos and citizens, which proceeded to Riverside cemetery, where the graves of the soldiers were decorated by the Boy Scouts. The members of the fire department and several of the fraternal organizations decorated the graves of their deceased members at this time also.

"THE MONSTER" COMING TO PLYMOUTH

Lon Chaney in "The Monster," will be the attraction at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, June 10 and 11. "The Monster" is a new mystery thriller, a story that is crammed full of hair-raising incidents and exciting moments. The management of the local theatre advise their patrons not to see this picture if they are inclined to be nervous, so those who see the great picture, and don't sleep after the show, can not blame the management, because they were given ample warning.

"CASS BENTON PARK"

The Wayne County Highway Commission, who have charge of the county parks, have named the Benton woods on the Plymouth-Northville road, "Cass Benton Park." The woods have been cleared of all rubbish, tables have been distributed about the grounds and this beautiful piece of woodland presents an attractive and inviting appearance, and will provide a delightful place for picnics and other gatherings.

TO STOP VANDALISM

At a recent session of the Pennsylvania legislature, a law was passed to protect rural beauty, a law that will stop what almost every community in the United States has had to contend with since the auto became popular. The new law makes it criminal for anyone to destroy trees or shrubbery on the land of another, fixing a penalty of $25 for each tree or shrub broken.

That seems to be a pretty stiff penalty, but citizens around Plymouth who have suffered from the depredations of motorists will hardly think so. Many cases of vandalism are reported in the course of a year, and unless laws like this are passed in all states but a few years will have elapsed until such a thing as outdoor beauty will be only a memory. Nature never gave us trees and shrubs and flowers to ruthlessly destroy. Not only that, but it never intended when the auto was invented that it should be used for carrying us into remote districts where we could destroy some other person's property. We wouldn't countenance country residents coming to town and breaking our shade trees and uprooting our flowers—why should town-dwellers go to the country and do the same thing?

We are glad that Pennsylvania has set a good example, and taken a radical step to stop such unnecessary destruction of natural beauty. If congress would pass a national law—and we predict the time is not far distant when it will be necessary—then it would only be a move in the right direction.

WELL PULL THROUGH

Reports from many sections of the country, north, east and west, indicate that the cold snap of the closing week in May cost the growers of vegetables, fruit and grain, millions of dollars. Frost, however light, at this season of the year, is bound to prove more or less disastrous, and while in this instance it was far more severe in some sections than in others, and could not be called general in scope, it still was sufficient to almost ruin many people. But later reports are carrying a lot of optimism. In other words, sections that reported total losses are taking a second look and discovering that the outlook is not as bad as at first reported. All of which means that we are living in a mighty big country, and that while sections may be hard hit, others will make up for the shortage. Nothing has been so bad in the past but what it might have been worse. And we don't believe this latest misfortune is going to prove an exception to that rule.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY FOR FORMER CANTON TOWNSHIP RESIDENT.

Funeral services were held at the home in Carleton, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, for Mrs. Elizabeth Artley, a former resident of Canton township. Interment was made in the Sheldon cemetery.

Mrs. Artley passed away Monday morning at the home, following a long illness. She was born and lived for a long time in Canton township. She was about 70 years old. Two sons, Fred, of Belleville, and Frank, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; one brother, Miles Craig, and one sister, Mrs. Martha Chambers of Canton, survive Mrs. Artley.

LIBRARY NOTES

These warm days remind us that vacation time is almost here. For some it may mean just a little more out-of-doors at home; to others a camping, fishing or boat trip, or a change at some lake or quiet place. But wherever you are, if you wish, you may take with you book friends. From June 15th to September 15th, the library offers "vacation privileges" to those who request; that is, you may select the books you have long desired to read and keep them for the summer (subject to recall if wanted elsewhere) to enjoy whether you are a stay-at-home or traveller.

Perhaps, if you are not interested in any particular book, you will wish to look over "A Readers' Guide Book," by Becker, which offers many suggestions. Besides novels, which are most popular, there are suggestions for funny books to read aloud; plays for group reading and that children can give; lists of books that will give background for a college education; books on music, architecture, philosophy, politics, travel, history, religion and child training. If there is any other subject you are interested in we will be pleased to serve you.

TOWNSHIP BOARD OF REVIEW

The Board of Review for the township of Plymouth, will be in session at the Village Hall, on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 2 and 3, and on Monday and Tuesday, June 8 and 9, 1925, from 9:00 a. m., until 5:00 p. m., on each of said days, when and where the assessment roll will be reviewed, and that any person deeming himself aggrieved may be heard.

P. B. WHITBECK, Supervisor.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

The Thomas D. Nolan Company has started work on their sewer contract. The South Main street lateral will be the first piece of work. Carl Ketcham is the resident engineer for Hoard, Decker, Shoecraft & Drury.

The Commission, last Monday evening, passed on its first and second readings an amendment to the traffic ordinance, intended to cope with the nuisance of automobiles following the fire trucks and parking near the scene of fires.

It is hoped that the citizens of Plymouth will join in welcoming the Redmen, tomorrow.

Don't forget the public hearing on the budget, Monday evening.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 15

Question: Why is a Buick so safe and so easy to steer?

Answer: Because of Buick's wonderful steering mechanism. It is the most expensive type now installed on any motor car—and worth the difference because it adds to Buick performance still another point of superiority.

Picked Up About Town

"Some people," says Dad Plymouth, "worry themselves sick about the hereafter, but they let the 'here' take care of itself."

One of the best ways in the world to keep out of trouble is to go fishing.

According to Dad Plymouth, nine-tenths of the divorces in this country can be traced to a man's belief in the old bunk that two can live as cheaply as one.

Another trouble with this country is there are too many girls parked along the country roads enjoying petting parties when they ought to be parked in front of a dishpan.

Dad Plymouth declares that some men pick girls for wives who will be about as useful around the house as an expensive clock with the main-spring broken.

"To some of us old-timers," comments Dad Plymouth, "the strangest thing about the modern dance is that they call it dancing."

SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By C. Tyler

The Sixth grade manual training classes are making trellises and robin shelters. The Seventh grade class has completed their wren houses. The studying of different kinds of joints used in woodwork is being done by the Eighth grade classes, and the High school classes are studying different kinds of wood and collecting samples.

The Aggie Club is having a candy box social at Harry Miller's this Friday night. Each Aggie member may bring one extra person.

The sophomore H-Y boys held a carnival at the M. E. church Friday night.

The following people won final certificates in Palmer Method Penmanship: F. Davey, M. Davis, Byron Becker, Dorothy Dunn, C. Tyler, L. Rowland, M. Melow, W. Draper, G. Lee, L. Garchow, M. Williams, B. Bakewell, H. Rayner, I. Bennett, D. Finnegan, D. Hillman, D. Lombard, M. Rogers. Many earned improvement certificates.

BASE BALL NOTES

By Ralph Meyer

Plymouth finished the season by winning from Farmington with a score of 5 to 2. It was one of the best games of the season, although Quinn struck out fourteen. Plymouth's battery, Taylor, did one better in his last high school game. Due to injuries, our team has been put out of the championship race, which would have been ours had these unavoidable accidents not happened; however we will finish in tie for second place. Those who played their last high school game, are: Captain Doyle Rowland, Albert Sump, Russell Reiman, Levi Wiseley and Robert Taylor. The next and last athletic event is the Suburban League track meet to be held here Friday, June 12th.

THE FASHION SHOW

By Thelma Peck

The advanced sewing class and the Sixth and Seventh grade girls held a fashion show Wednesday afternoon, to exhibit the garments which have been made during the last semester. Each girl, as she entered the room, pivoted around, and as she did so, the announcer, Dorothy Finlan, gave a detailed account of the cost of the garment, including material, trimming and the amount of time spent in the making. The display was well attended by pupils and parents. Punch and wafers were served.

GRADE NOTES

First A and Second B grades had a spelling contest Wednesday, and the best speller received a prize. They have started a new book, the Riverside readers, which they expect to finish before the end of the year. Edna Woodcock has been promoted from the First A to the Second B. The First A had a short program, Friday, in honor of Memorial Day.

The Third grade had a spelling test of one hundred words. The three best spellers each received a prize. Victrolas has been the chief attraction of the week.

GRANGE NOTES

Mrs. Louise Hutton entertained the degree team at her home last week in honor of Mrs. Violet Campbell, who will locate at 12161 North Lawn, Detroit.

The team will meet Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Oscar Matts, to do some work for the hall.

The Memorial service May 29th, was well attended, and Rev. Blake left some good thoughts for us to consider.

Children's Day, June 5th, promises to be good, as our lecturer will have a good program. Ladies bring cake, as that is what goes with ice cream; also dishes.

STARK

School closed last Friday, with a lunch and giving of certificates of promotion. Mrs. Nellie Beyer will teach another year.

The P. T. A. of the school held a meeting last week Wednesday evening. All listened to a long program of singing and recitations by the school after the business part of the meeting was over. A quilt has been made and quilted, to be sold for the benefit of the school. All enjoyed ice cream and cake after the meeting closed. Six cakes were auctioned.

Mr. and Mrs. Price and family, Mrs. Eva McKinney and C. Barstow of Detroit, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Schuik for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eckert and family, were guests of Mr. and Mrs.

John Sailer of Nankin Mills, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Love, with Mr. and Mrs. L. Warren Goodell of Detroit, called on Dr. Morris of Imlay City Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Goodell formerly lived in Imlay City, and enjoyed the visit with old neighbors and friends. Dr. Morris informed them that Memorial Day was one of their big days this year; that the Klan from all parts of the state gathered at the fair grounds.

All around Nankin Mills are glad to congratulate Mrs. Karrick and Thomas, grandmother and uncle of Dorothy Karrick, the champion speller of Detroit.

Stark school has a very fine exhibit for June 6th, at Elizabeth Park, fully as good if not better than the one at the Northville fair, for which they received second prize. All have worked hard, and hope to make it first prize this time.

A CARD—We desire to thank the neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement. Especially do we wish to thank those who furnished automobiles and those who sent the beautiful flowers.

Today's Reflections

The woman who says all men are alike ought to marry the man who says he understands women.

Our advice to the Plymouth girl who wants to improve her complexion is to put it to bed before 2 a. m.

The more dish water a wedding ring sees the longer it seems to last.

When you read that a man "lost control of his car," it doesn't mean that he was back in his payments on it.

When a Plymouth man has a new hat he's glad if it is like the one all the other men are wearing, but you never saw a Plymouth woman who looked at hers that way.

A woman writer says that mischief causes dimples. Yes, and dimples very often cause mischief.

We've noticed that the man who wants to commit suicide and means business never shoots himself in the foot.

We may live to see the time when a Plymouth man and his wife are both chosen to sit on the same jury—but we never expect to be old enough to see them agree.

Now is the time to practice up on mowing your little weeds—and getting in shape to tackle the big ones later on.

This is a free country, but the trouble is most of the good seats are already occupied.

The average Plymouth girl honors her parents to some extent, but she seldom gives them mighty little credit for their tastes in selecting names.

Our idea of the foresighted girl is the one who has already mended the hammock for the summer season.

We heard of one fellow near Plymouth who got a bride and an auto about a year ago, and now he's trying to decide which one to keep.

THE THEATRE

"THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH"

James Cruze, noted Paramount producer, who jumped into the directorial limelight with "The Covered Wagon" and other cinema successes, recently completed a new Paramount picture, which is being hailed as another screen masterpiece.

"The Goose Hangs High" is his latest of photoplay epics, and local film fans will soon have the opportunity of judging its worth, because it is due next Saturday, June 6th, at the Penniman Allen theatre.

The story was adapted by Walter Woods and Anthony Goldsway from the Lewis Beach stage play of the same name, which reigned in New York and Chicago for several seasons.

It deals with a small-town American family—the Ingals parents and children. All their married life Ingals and his wife, Eunice, have sacrificed themselves for their children, with the result that Hugh, Lois and Bradley have grown up pleasure-loving, extravagant and self-centered.

The plot takes an unexpected turn when disaster threatens the family. How the children rise to the occasion and prove their real worth is developed in a series of vivid, absorbing situations which lead to a surprising climax.

The hand-picked cast includes such popular players as Constance Bennett, Myrtle Stedman, Esther Halston, George Irving and Edward Peil, Jr.

"SALLY"

All the charm that marked Ziegfeld's stage production of "Sally" is caught and enhanced in First National's screen version of the same play, with Colleen Moore in the title role.

"Sally" comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, June 7 and 8. It is a colorful story, beautifully photographed and "staged" and the direction of Alfred E. Green is worthy of the highest praise.

Colleen Moore established herself beyond question with such successes as "Flaming Youth" and "So Big" but in "Sally" she rises to even greater heights. Her role of the forlorn little drudge in the orphanage, who through sheer force of her own character rises to the fame of a great dancer, affords the star wide opportunities for the exercise of her talents. Miss Moore has long shown a decided penchant for boyishness comedy, and this she indulges in to the fullest. She also takes advantage of those moments of poignant pathos which are provided her, and likewise reveals an ability to "get her teeth into" a bit of real drama when the plot tosses it her way.

First National has not stinted in the least on either cast or production. The sets are truly lavish, notably those showing the Elm Tree Inn and the lawn fête of a multimillionaire. The photography also strikes one to high praise.

In the cast Miss Moore has Lloyd Hughes as her leading man, while the chief comedy role is in the hands of Leon Errol, who created the same part in Ziegfeld's stage version. Errol is at his funniest on the screen.

Others who lend their able efforts are Myrtle Stedman, John T. Murray, Don Mason, Eva Novak, Ray Hallor, Carlo Schipa, E. H. Calvert and others.

"THE MONSTER"

Every element of suspense, every thrilling incident, and every stunt that sends delicious chills of terror along an audience's spine, is said to be embodied in the Roland West production of "The Monster," the Metro-Goldwyn picture which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, June 10 and 11.

There are ghostly hands that stretch forth menacingly, there are sliding panels in which queer faces appear, there are skeletons in closets, and a demented surgeon who fascinates his victims with hypnotic power. There is an exciting story of a mysterious disappearance, there are two young men in love with the same beautiful girl, and their desire to win her by their boldness and courage, there are breath-taking moments that are said to make spectators hold on to their chairs in suspense.

Lon Chaney and Johnny Arthur are the featured players. Others in the cast are Hallam Cooley, Charles A. Selton, Walter James, Knute Erickson, George Anstih, Edward McWade and Ethel Wales. Gertrude Olmsted plays Betty Watson, the heroine.

Roland West adapted Crane Wilbur's stage success to the screen, and directed the production, which was photographed by Hal Mohr. The scenario is by Willard Mack and Albert G. Kenyon and the titles by C. Gardner Sullivan. "The Monster" is a Metro-Goldwyn picture, produced by Roland West Productions, Inc.

NEWBURG

There was a very good attendance out Sunday morning, to listen to the Memorial Day exercises. Flossie Fisher, Harriet Selby, Lorita Wilson and Elizabeth Leonard acted as color bearers, ushering in to the strains of a march played by Miss Leonia Joy. Comrades James Blair of Custer's Brigade; Thomas Stonehouse of the Spanish-American war, followed by the choir, and a number of happy children carrying flags. The program was as follows: Singing of America, led by the choir; recitation, "Our Flag," Howard Holmes; Gettysburg Address, by Mrs. Donald Ryder; prayer, Rev. Havens; song by choir, "Peace be Still," an interesting war letter, written by Alfred G. Ryder of the First Michigan Cavalry, from Charlestown, Md. in 1862, was read by Mrs. C. E. Ryder; recitation, "Out in the Field," Edna Leonard; "Our Flag," six girls; recitation, "My New Apron," by Elizabeth Stevens; choir, "Dear Old Flag," recitation, "Old Glory Still Flying," Alice Gilbert; "The Little Patriot," Thelma Holmes; "Red, White and Blue," three girls; quartette, "Soldiers Sweetly Sleep," which was composed of the following, Messrs Alfred Bakewell and John Carbury and the Misses Gladys Horton and Marian Bennett. Mrs. Havens accompanying on the piano; recitation, "Baby," by Howard Hallam; recitation, "Mother," Avis Perkins. Rev. Paul Havens then gave a fine patriotic address, leaving the thought that money grabbing or graft would never bring peace to the world. Only through the blood of Jesus Christ can it be brought about. Closing number by the quartette. The Patriotic Society wish to thank all those taking part, especially Robert Holmes and Donald Ryder for so beautifully decorating the church; also Mrs. Havens and Mrs. Thomas for music and program; William Farley for placing flags on soldiers' graves.

Next Tuesday evening, the Epworth League will hold a social, or sale of ice cream and home made candy on the church lawn, the receipts applying on fund to send a delegate to Albion. Everyone come and help the young people.

All those who visited the Newburg cemetery recently, speak in highest terms of the manner in which it is taken care of. The society have erected a comfort station and tool house, and stand ready to make any other improvements that are needed.

Mrs. Ella Wight and daughters, Mrs. Harry Bassett, and Miss Marjorie of Wayne, and Mrs. Elizabeth Grow attended the services in the church Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett and daughter, Marian, of Detroit, were also present.

Mrs. Ann Eliza Farwell entertained her daughter, Mrs. Nettie Bovee and children Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mackinder and

Mrs. Elizabeth Grow and Mrs. James Norris of Strathmore, motored to Stockbridge last Saturday, to visit the cemetery there, and view the old scenes. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Jesse, who lived here some forty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryder and son, Curt, were callers at the Ryder homestead, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Duryee is quite ill at this writing.

Mesdames John Herrick, Frank Buers and G. Foreman were Plymouth visitors Thursday of last week.

Mrs. George Roberts entertained her Sunday-school class last Friday evening, also a few of their friends. About thirty were in attendance. A very appetizing dinner was served and all were pleasantly entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Stanbro visited their mother, Mrs. Sarah Stanbro last Sunday evening.

Rev. Halliday and family and Mr. and Mrs. G. Roberts and daughter Iva, were Saturday supper guests at the Frank Ryder home.

Richard McKenna, who is employed at Fowlerville, as section foreman of the railroad there, spent the week-end at home, returning Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. McKenna expect to reside there in the near future.

Mrs. Emma Stark of Royal Oak, was a guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Atchison last Saturday afternoon at the Mrs. Lida Tennant home and Mr. and Mrs. Hallet of Ferndale, were Saturday callers of Mrs. Atchison.

Mrs. James Boyle and son J. M., visited friends at Millford, Saturday, and J. M. remained there over Sunday.

Mrs. R. Kerhl and son Roy and Mrs. Stroth and Mrs. Wittick were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vici of Redford, Monday.

Mrs. Louise Niles, teacher of the primary department in the school here, left Saturday morning for Lansing, Miss Russell of Ann Arbor, visited at the Lida Tennant home Friday evening and left for Lansing with her. Mrs. Niles will spend the vacation with her children and expects to return and resume her school duties here again in September.

Mrs. G. Foreman visited her mother, Mrs. Mary Duke, Monday forenoon. Mesdames H. Whipple, J. Dickie and G. Foreman were in Plymouth in the afternoon.

Mrs. John Tait of Ann Arbor, was a dinner guest of Mrs. Laura Smith Memorial Day, and they attended the services at the church at the Walker cemetery in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kerhl and son Roy and Mrs. Ralph Wilson were Ann Arbor visitors Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Kerhl and daughter Erma, Miss Eva Shoebridge and Mr. and Mrs. G. Kerhl of Plymouth, were in Royal Oak last Sunday.

ELM

The Elm Sunday school are now having their service with the Community church at Livonia, and a most cordial welcome is extended to all in this community to join. In the fall when the new school is completed, we expect to again meet at Elm, as in the past.

On Tuesday evening of this week, the Parent-Teachers Association had their last meeting for this school year. On account of the severe heat and so much sickness, many of our members were unable to be present. We had an especially interesting meeting, with full reports of the convention. Mrs. Pedditt, Mrs. Bolton and Mrs. Foster, all prominent P. T. A. workers in Redford were with us, and gave splendid reports on the conferences and special speakers. Harold Parkins of Brightmoor, and an ardent P. T. A. supporter, led the community singing and gave two beautiful solos. Miss Grace Wright was hostess for the evening, and served refreshments. Mrs. Hever, president of the Bartlett school P. T. A. and Miss Fisher, teacher, were special guests.

The teachers of Elm and the P. T. A. are making plans to take the children of this community to Elizabeth Park Saturday, for the county Eighth grade graduations.

On May 27th, the P. T. A. gave an old time dance and farewell party, that the old timers who spent their school days at Elm, might once more meet and play in the old school house before remodeling it into a modern school building. The old school house is about sixty years old, and an old landmark in Livonia township. Fred Wilson, Ben Brew, Dan McKinney and Chet Wright were on hand with their fiddles and all danced once more to the old tunes so popular many years ago. At the close of the evening, a collection was taken to provide school ground play equipment for the children. The girls club sold ice cream and pop during the evening, to make money for a camping trip this summer.

The Girls' Friendly Sewing Club is completing plans for a camping trip over the Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cort and family motored to Corunna, Mich., to attend a family reunion at the home of Mrs. Cort's mother, Mrs. Katherine Parsons. About forty relatives gathered for Memorial Day, to be together once more, and everyone had a glorious time. With the exception of just two, the entire family was present.

Help Boost Elm, and phone any news to Redford 7021-K4.

Mrs. Michelin would like the Farmerville Sewing Club to meet next Tuesday at the school house, at 4:00 o'clock.

PERRINSVILLE

Grandma Baehr spent Sunday with Mrs. Belle Baehr and family. She has been visiting all of her old neighbors the past week.

Charlotte Baehr is home nursing a sprained foot.

A farewell party was given Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Holmes, Friday evening. There were about one hundred present and all report an enjoyable time. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes will soon move to their new home in Detroit.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Ella Klatt for lunch, Wednesday, June 9th. Everybody welcome.

Allen Kack and Irving Eisenhart of Detroit, spent Saturday and Sunday with Clinton Baehr.

Grandma Tait is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harry Clark of Northville. Last Thursday a few of the Ladies' Aid met at the church to clean it.

KING'S CORNERS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish visited at the home of Mrs. Sackett, Sr. in Plymouth, Saturday, and attended the Memorial Day exercises. Mr. and Mrs. Perry of Detroit, were also guests there.

Mrs. John Mott of Canton, and sister of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chambers and daughter, Alice, of Plymouth, called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parrish, Sunday.

The Helping Hand Society met at the home of Mrs. Donald Wagenschutz, of Perrinsville, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grachum of Detroit, were Sunday callers at the Parrish home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Parrish and family, accompanied by the former's father and mother, spent Sunday evening at the home of C. Parrish at Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Lockhart, Mrs. Johnston and Mr. Jubenville attended the spelling bee in Detroit, last week Friday.

Mrs. Lockhart has been on the sick list the past week, but is better at this writing.

Richard, the little grandson of Mr. Jubenville, has been very sick from the effects of an abscess on his neck.

Mrs. Albert Roediger and family of Southfield, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson called on the latter's brother at Royal Oak, and also on the former's sister, Mrs. Kriger and family of Franklin, recently.

Mr. Johnston is better and able to be out.

The Yeater family entertained Detroit friends recently.

Coventry Gardens

A New Idea in Suburban Development

Heretofore only those who could afford $25,000 to $50,000 homes have been able to enjoy the satisfaction of living in a residence section laid out in generous size building lots, rendered attractive by winding drives, full-grown shade trees and a beautiful vista of rolling hills.

Now in Coventry Gardens, all these advantages are offered to prospective builders of moderately priced homes.

50 Foot Lots $750

Lots in Coventry Gardens are of ample size (50 feet to 125 feet in width and 135 to 200 feet in depth) to accommodate homes of the wide, rangy type, placed well back from the street, and still leave plenty of space for lawns and gardens.

At prices as low as $750 for lots 50 feet wide and 135 feet deep, with a down payment of less than 10% in case the purchaser plans on building in the near future, Coventry Garden lots are a "buy" that you will find it difficult to equal in any other home community.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS

Water—Sewers—Sidewalks—
Electricity—Improved Streets

Do not overlook the fact that prices of Coventry Garden lots include city improvements—sewers—water, sidewalks, electricity and improved streets! And take into consideration also the strategic location of the property—on two paved highways, Five Mile and Farmington Roads, with a third projected Fordson highway leading direct to the River Rouge Ford plant.

Compare Coventry Gardens in point of location, improvements and general desirability with any other suburban development and you will realize that here at last is the ideal location for the home of your dreams.

Handicapping The Customer

If a storekeeper should keep a supply of smoked glasses at hand and politely insist upon every one of his customers wearing a pair while in his store, he might be thought to offer a little discouragement to buying.

Yet this, in effect, is just what a good many storekeepers are doing, without realizing it. Their lighting is inadequate; it is unskillfully arranged; it is imperfectly utilized; it is depressing to the spirit of the customer.

If your sales are not what you believe they ought to be, the trouble may easily lie in your lighting equipment. You should find out, call for one of our engineers to make an inspection. This service costs you nothing.

BUILDING STARTED IN COVENTRY GARDENS.

Coventry Gardens, a new residence section located at Five Mile and Farmington roads, is setting a pace in development and improvement, which forecasts an unusually rapid growth for this district.

Although it was only two weeks ago that the subdivision was placed upon the market, building operations have already commenced and in another two months, on the basis of the building already planned, there will be a goodly number of homes either nearing completion or in various stages of erection.

City improvements are now being provided. Electricity is already available to residents, while winding drives and sidewalks are being put in. As soon as this work is completed, sewer and water will be installed, so that connections may be made by the time the first houses are ready for occupancy.

The promptness with which improvements are being provided is in accord with the dominating idea behind this development project, namely, that of creating a residence community where those of moderate means might enjoy all of the advantages of those living in Detroit's most exclusive residence sections. The streets and sidewalks follow the natural contour of the hills, while the giant shade trees, some over fifty years old, lend a touch of picturesqueness not surpassed by any other section of the city.

Picked Out Bad Place to Write Dispatches

Mr. Frank Scudamore, who recounts this delightful story in his book, "A Sheaf of Memories," is one of the most celebrated of war correspondents, and, naturally, has had many interesting experiences.

During the Greco-Turkish war he was watching the opening artillery duel from inside an important Greek fortress, and when the firing ceased at dark, he and a fellow correspondent sought a quiet spot where they might write their dispatches undisturbed.

This was not easy to find, as everyone was so pleased with the results of this first day's work that merry parties were being held all over the place.

At last, however, they came upon a storeroom of sorts, in which was a profusion of great and small cases, and long boxes, together with innumerable bulging sacks.

"This," writes Mr. Scudamore, "was obviously the place for us. We settled ourselves on a couple of sacks, and placed two candles on another such bag that lay between us.

"We had been working for, I suppose, a couple of hours, when suddenly a curious noise came from the doorway. I looked round. At the entrance stood a Greek officer, his face ghastly white, his eyes dilated, and his lips parted. For a moment I stared at him, perplexed. Then he pulled himself together.

"Mr. Scudamore," he said in Greek and very quietly, "will you bring me that candle?" I hastened to pick what was left—it wasn't much—off the sack.

"And the other," went on the dull voice, I picked that up also and stroled toward him. He seized them both, flung himself back against the wall of the corridor, and laughed long and hysterically. Then, after a moment, he took me by the hand.

"This is the powder magazine," he said, "and your candles were planted on a sack of explosives. Had they burnt another inch, not only would the fort have been blown up, but with it the whole Greek cause."

"Fertilizes" Fish Ponds

Treating fish ponds as pastures, by fertilizing them, increases the yield of the finny "cattle," according to experiments recently concluded by Dr. H. Fischer, lecturer at the University of Munich. Doctor Fischer obtained his best results with basic phosphate slag and other phosphate fertilizers; potash salts and other types of fertilizer had effects less pronounced or only temporary.

May Cheapen Metals

Experiments have been made at a well known iron works in the Gothenburg (Sweden) consular district for the production of malleable iron and steel direct from iron ore concentrated without passing through the form of pig iron. The experiments are said to have been promising, provided that cheap electric energy necessary for this method can be produced in sufficient quantities.

CHANCERY NOTICE

STATE OF MICHIGAN in the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne in Chancery.
Walter Minchert, Plaintiff, vs. Asabel Crawford, or any of his unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, successors and assigns, Defendants.

At a session of said Court held at the Court House in the City of Detroit, aforesaid County and State on the 13th day of May A. D. 1925.

PRESENT: The Hon. Adolph F. Marschner, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the Bill of Complaint in this cause from which it satisfactorily appears to the Court that the interests or claims to the premises described in said Bill, and hereinafter described, which rights, title, interests, and claims of said defendants, and each of them, if they ever had any validity, said Plaintiff avers to be barred by the continuous, open, notorious, undisputed, adverse and exclusive possession of said plaintiff and his grantors for more than fifteen years last past, and for more than fifteen years since the several rights to the possession thereof accrued in said respective defendants, which possession has been, during all of said time, and still is, adverse and hostile to the rights, title, interests and claims of said respective defendants, and upon reading the petition of said Plaintiff that it is not known and could not be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry, whether the defendants named are living or dead, or whether their rights, title, interests and claims have been disposed of by will, and that it cannot be ascertained in what State or County said defendants reside.

ON MOTION OF JOHN L. CRANDELL, attorney for Plaintiff.

IT IS ORDERED, that Asabel Crawford, or any of his unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, successors and assigns, and the unknown persons who are, or may be, entitled to claim under them, cause their several appearances to be entered herein in the manner provided by Law on or before three months from the date hereof, and that this order be published or served as required by law.

ADOLPH F. MARSCHNER, Circuit Judge.
Henry Norris, Deputy Clerk.

Said suit involves the title to, and is brought to quiet title to the lands and premises described in said Bill of Complaint as follows, situated in the township of Plymouth, County of Wayne, and State of Michigan, to wit:

Land in the Township, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, described as: That part of the northeast 1/4 of section 25, Town 1 south, Range 8 east, described as: Beginning at a point in the south line of the Pere Marquette Railroad Right of Way at its intersection with the north and south 1/4 section line of section 25, Town 1 south, Range 8 east, described as: Beginning at a point in the south line of the Pere Marquette Railroad Right of Way at its intersection with the north and south 1/4 section line of section 25, Town 1 south, Range 8 east, 49.5 feet from the north 1/4 post of section 25; running thence south 88 degrees 06 minutes east 880 feet along the south line of the Pere Marquette Railroad Right of Way to a point; thence on a curve to the right 720 feet to a point; thence south 73 degrees 59 minutes east 293 feet to a point; thence south 0 degrees 41 minutes west 53 feet to a point; thence south 89 degrees 53 minutes west 838.90 feet to a point; thence south 1 degree 30 minutes west 2699.70 feet to a point in the center line of the Plymouth Road; thence north 72 degrees 46 minutes west 695 feet along the center line of said road to a point; thence north 0 degrees 38 minutes east 2187.10 feet to a point; thence north 89 degrees 57 minutes west 306 feet to a point in the north and south 1/4 section line of section 25; thence north 1 degree 27 minutes east 593.80 feet along said line to the point of beginning, containing 61.466 acres of land, all in section 25 Town 1 south, Range 8 east.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

REV. S. CONGER HATHAWAY, A. M., PASTOR

REASON OR FAITH

Two children were playing on a hillside when they noticed that the hour was nearing sunset, and one said wonderingly, "See how far the sun has gone! A little while ago it was right over that tree; and now it is low down in the sky."

"Only it isn't the sun that moves; it's the earth. You know father told us," answered the other.

The first child shook his head. The sun did move, for he had seen it; and the earth did not move, for he had been standing on it all the time. "I believe what I see," he said triumphantly. "And I believe father," said his brother.

So mankind divides still; some accepting only what their senses reveal to them; and others believing the word of God.

WE PREACH THE WORD OF GOD

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

Santa Claus attended the men's class at the Presbyterian church, last Sunday morning. A basket was found on the table containing a beautiful sheepskin bound copy of the Illustrated Twenty-Third Psalm, containing photographs of shepherd life in Palestine for the teacher, and an illustrated India paper copy of the New Testament bound in Palestinian olive-wood for each member of the class who had been in attendance for at least four Sundays. There were fifty-two copies given out. A rising vote of appreciation for these beautiful gifts was given Charles H. Bennett, when he was identified as the donor.

The Women's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church will hold its regular monthly business meeting in the lecture room of the church at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday, June 10th. May we not have a large attendance, as this is the last meeting before vacation? Hence a most cordial invitation is extended to all our ladies to be present.

The pastor will take his annual vacation during the month of July. He will give the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Plymouth High school on the evening of June 14th. The service will be held in the High school auditorium, and the Presbyterian choir will furnish the music.

Children's Day exercises will be given on the morning of June 14th, beginning at ten o'clock. Each class in the Sunday-school will have a part.

Communion service will be conducted on the morning of June 21st. A number of those who were not able to unite with the church on Easter Sunday will be received at that time. Baptism with Jordan water will be administered.

Rev. B. F. Farber, former pastor of this church is planning to preach for us on the last Sunday of June. He will find a hearty welcome awaiting him.

George A. Smith's class joined with the men's class last Monday night, in the picnic and ball game at Phoenix Park. Such a good time was enjoyed that another is set for next Monday night at the same time and place.

Do not fail to attend the pipe-organ recital to be given next Tuesday night, June 9th, at our church. Miss Olive Merz will be assisted by a contralto soloist from St. Paul's Cathedral of Detroit. We hope Dr. McKay will also favor us with a number or two. A silver offering for the benefit of the Choir Chapter will be taken.

"Jimmy" Stephens was married at the Emmanuel Presbyterian church of Detroit, last Tuesday night, to Miss Gertrude May Schaeffer of Detroit. Both are well known and popular in our church, and we unite in wishing them much joy. A number of Plymouthites attended the wedding.

METHODIST NOTES

Sunday-school board meeting next Tuesday night at 7:30. Mid-week service on Wednesday night at 7:30, studying "Gates into the Usual Country." Plan to meet with us.

On next Wednesday occurs the annual picnic and business meeting of the Missionary society. It will be held this year on the lawn at Mrs. Nast's on West Ann Arbor street. All members of the organization will be sure to be there of course.

The memorial services of the Ladies of the Maccabees will be held in our Community Hall, on next Sunday night at 7:30. The pastor of this church will preach.

A week from Sunday will be our Children's Day program at the morning service. A program will be given.

The preacher made quite a mistake in his figures, which he presented last Sunday morning. He made them out just before he went to bed on Saturday night, and we will have to confess he was just a bit sleepy, and neglected to check up their correctness the next morning. He appreciates having his attention called to his mistake. The figures should have read thus, and they make a splendid showing for the church. For conference year ending September, 1924, the average amount paid by the 483 members of the church for the local church expenses was $8.84; the average for buildings and improvements was $7.40, and the average for all outside benevolences was $8.14, making a total average contribution for the year of $24.46, or 47¢ per week per member.

There will be a reception of members next Sunday morning. Those who have been in the Membership Training class, please remember to be on hand. Any others who may desire to unite with Christ's church, we will be glad to receive them next Sunday.

"Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy." One of the surest ways to do this is to attend public worship at the church.

BAPTIST NOTES

The date of Children's Day has been changed from June 7th to June 21st, on account of the memorial service of the Lady Maccabees, next Sunday evening, which will be held in the community house at the M. E. church, to which all the churches have been invited, so no services at this church next Sunday evening.

The prayer meeting topic for last Wednesday evening was, "John the Baptist," next week it will be, "Peter," and the following week, "Paul."

LIVONIA CENTER LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be special services at the Livonia Center Lutheran church on Sunday, June 7th. The ladies will serve dinner in the basement of the church. At 2:30, there will be a special service in English and German in commemoration of the organization of the Ladies Aid society. Everyone welcome.

CHANCERY NOTICE

No. 122600
STATE OF MICHIGAN, in the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne, in Chancery.

Mary K. Hillmer, Plaintiff, vs. Mary Harrington, Mary Harrington, Kate E. Allen, Elizabeth Van Benschoten, Harriett Barker, Sarah Barker, William G. Barker, and Alfred S. Barker, or any of their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, successors and assigns, Defendants.

AT A SESSION OF said Court, held in the Court Room thereof, in the City of Detroit, said County and State, on the 29th day of May, A. D. 1925.

PRESENT: The Hon. Adolph F. Marschner, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the Bill of Complaint in this cause from which it satisfactorily appears to the Court that title, interests or claims to the premises described in said Bill, and hereinafter described, which rights, title, interests and claims of said Defendants, and each of them, if they ever had any validity, said Plaintiff averred to be barred by the conditions, open, notorious, undisputed, adverse and exclusive possession of Plaintiff and her grantors for more than fifteen (15) years last past, and for more than fifteen (15) years since the several rights to the possession thereof accrued in said respective defendants, which possession has been, during all of said time, and still is, adverse and hostile to the rights, title, interests and claims of said respective defendants; and upon reading the affidavit of said Plaintiff that it is not known and could not be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry, whether their rights, title, interests and claims have been disposed of by will, and that it cannot be ascertained in what state, or country said Defendants, except Defendant Kate E. Allen, reside:

ON MOTION OF CRANDELL, TINKHAM & BAXTER, Attorneys for Plaintiff,

IT IS ORDERED, That Mary Harrington, Mary Harrington, Elizabeth Van Benschoten, Harriett Barker, Sarah Barker, William G. Barker, and Alfred S. Barker, or any of their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, successors and assigns, and the unknown persons who are, or may be entitled to claim under them, cause their several appearances to be entered herein in the manner provided by law on or before THREE (3) months from the date hereof, and that this order be published or served as required by law.

ADOLPH F. MARSCHNER, Circuit Judge.

A True Copy.

Re-roof for the last time

RE-ROOF for the last time and save money from the very start, because now you don't have to tear off the old shingles. You can lay Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles right on top of them. You eliminate the chance of damage to plaster or furniture upstairs in case of sudden rain while the work is in progress. No fuss, no muss, no litter, no damage to flower beds near the house, no inconvenience at all. And the double roof will make your upper rooms warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles

Last as long as the building they protect. Because they're made of asbestos fibre and Portland Cement, they simply cannot rot or burn, will not warp, curl or split; never rot or dry out and never need paint.

Re-roof for the last time and increase the value of your building. Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles transform an old unsightly roof into one that is attractive, fire-proof and permanent.

Ask us for the interesting booklet "Re-roofing for the Last Time" which tells the whole story. It contains a lot of valuable information for home owners. Write, call or telephone today.

No. 121511 STATE OF MICHIGAN, The Circuit Court for the County of Wayne, in Chancery. Alma A. Plonckney and Zaida A. Johnson, plaintiffs, vs. Iroquois Furnace Company, Closson V. Chambers and Mary K. Chambers, defendants. AT A SESSION OF SAID COURT, held in the Court Room thereof in the City of Detroit, said County and State, on the 28th day of April, A. D. 1925.

PRESENT: The Hon. Harry J. Dingeman, Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the bill of complaint in this cause, from which it satisfactorily appears to the court that title, interests or claims to the premises described in said bill, and hereinafter described, which rights, title, interests and claims of said defendants, and each of them, if they ever had any validity, except as to defendants Closson V. Chambers and Mary K. Chambers, plaintiffs aver to be barred by the continuous, open, notorious, undisputed, adverse and exclusive possession of said plaintiffs and their grantors for more than fifteen (15) years last past, and for more than fifteen (15) years since the several rights to the possession thereof accrued in said respective defendants, except Closson V. Chambers and Mary K. Chambers, which possession has been, during all of said time, and still is, adverse and hostile to the rights, title, interests and claims of said respective defendants, and upon reading the affidavit of Zaida A. Johnson, one of the plaintiffs, that it is not known and could not be ascertained after diligent search and inquiry, whether said defendant Iroquois Furnace Company is still in existence or dissolved, or whether its rights, title, interests and claims have been assigned or conveyed, and that it cannot be ascertained in what state or country said defendant, Iroquois Furnace Company or any of its unknown representatives, successors or assigns reside: ON MOTION OF CRANDELL, TINKHAM & BAXTER, attorneys for plaintiffs.

IT IS ORDERED, That Iroquois Furnace Company or any of its unknown representatives, successors and assigns, and the unknown persons who are, or may be, entitled to claim under them, cause their several appearances to be entered herein in the manner provided by law on or before three (3) months from the date hereof, and that this order be published or served as required by law.

HARRY J. DINGEMAN, Circuit Judge. Henry Norris, Deputy Clerk.

SAID SUIT involves the title to, and is brought to quiet title to, the lands and premises described in said bill of complaint, as follows: Situated in the Village of Plymouth, Township of Plymouth, County of Wayne and State of Michigan, to wit: Lot number twenty-one (21) of S. W. Kellogg's Addition to Village of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, according to the Plat thereof recorded in Liber 1 of Plats, on Page 88 thereof, Wayne County Registry.

South American Impressions

BY CASS S. HOUGH

CHAPTER TWELVE

Leaving Santos in the late afternoon, it is but an overnight's run to Rio de Janeiro, the tropical Eden of the southern hemisphere, whose bay has no peer in the world and is approached only by that of Melbourne, Australia.

Two cities face each other at the entrance of Rio bay. Niteroy and Rio de Janeiro. The one still bears the old Indian name of the basin, while the other, the Portuguese name, records the fact that when first discovered, the later was taken for the mouth of the great "rio" or river. Niteroy is the capital of the state of Rio de Janeiro, while the city of Rio is the capital city of the Republic of Brazil.

The entrance to Rio bay is divided into two channels, the one on the west, about 400 yards wide, little used, and the eastern one about 1000 yards wide, through which nearly all the shipping passes. As the traveler rounds the point of Cape Frio, he commands a full view of the island-studded harbor, with the huge, tree-park on the west side of the entrance. In the distance, directly back of the city proper, a world of pinnacles and domes comes into view—the hazy outlines of Gavia, Tijuca, and Corcovada, the whole merging into a great mountainous mass stretching to the Serra da Estrella and the "Organ Range." The "Statue of Liberty" of Brazil, Pao d'Assucar, 1270 feet high, towers above the western entrance to the harbor, creating untold happiness in the hearts of Brazilians returning home. Dotting these numerous bluffs are great forts, equipped with powerful coast defense guns, ready at an instant's notice to place an almost impenetrable barrage at the mouth of the harbor.

The first settlement here was planted by the Huguenot adventurers, who established Fort Coligny in 1555, and was assured permanency when the Portuguese captain Estacio de Sa established himself on the mainland near "Sugar Loaf." After his death the colony was moved to the foot of "Morro do Castello" promontory, and since then the city has developed about this as a center, until today it stretches more than a mile toward the westward. It is here that today we find the fashionable shopping street, Rua de Ouvidor, situated in a section where buildings are so crowded together that artificial lights are necessary at all times.

If there is an earthly Paradise, to my mind, Rio de Janeiro is the place. No traveler who has been on the bay at night when the moon was shining over the city, making the huge masses of palms stand out in bold relief against the lighted sky, can help but sigh and pinch himself to make sure he is awake. No artist could ever paint a picture that would do the scene even a small amount of justice. Only nature can, and she has certainly produced a masterpiece here. But the spell of Rio is not limited to the night time. The city seemed to cast a spell over me. I felt in a strange new land. The remarkable part of it is that even in its astounding growth Rio has not lost any of that charm which it had years ago. Although automobiles and street cars move noisily under the great palms lining the drives, they still keep the quiet dignity which they possessed before the era of automatic machinery.

The inhabitants of Rio are distinctly a race of their own. During the process of its growth Rio has laid aside racial barriers—blood of all nations has been intermingled, until the product is—Brazilians—of which fact the people are very proud. It is no disgrace here to have Negro, Spanish, Portuguese, French and other blood running in one's veins. They are not called "hunkies," "greasers," and the like here, they are all one—Brazilians. As a whole, they are rather an indolent lot. They would rather work an hour to get out of a ten minute's job than perform the task and they are proud of this, proud of the fact that nothing annoys them. I truly believe that if the city were to fall in ruins, they would sit calmly by, and then leisurely set about to build it up. This characteristic was well shown when I asked a prominent merchant of Rio if the inhabitants of the city did not feel disgraced by the results from the revolutions in Sao Paulo and Para. He replied, "Senor, Sao Paulo and Para are very distant. Why should we worry ourselves with the troubles of those peoples? The federal troops will probably stop it in a little while." Imagine if you can an inhabitant of Chicago talking this way if civil war started in the southern part of Illinois of some neighboring state!

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

To the eager sightseer, Rio and its environs present a myriad of places noted for their picturesqueness and beauty. Within easy access lie the mountains of Tijuca and Corcovada, from which an excellent view of Rio and the harbor are obtainable. As one rides through the virgin timber crowning the slopes of Tijuca and Corcovada, he forgets that within a stone's throw is a metropolis—he feels away off in the wilderness, broken only by the passing of an occasional cart of fire wood or the steps of some pedestrian. Within ten minute's ride of the center of town is the cable car to carry the sightseer to the top of "Sugar Loaf," so named from the silhouette it presents to the sky. From here one can look away down the coast, past Copacabana beach and the many other great bathing places, to the smooth sands of the coast. Farther inland lies the watering place for Rio—Petropolis—a haven of flowers and birds, where the wealthy Brazilians spend their summer months. Across the bay is quaint Niteroy; farther along, Theropolis. So one can see that the beauty and spell of Rio is not all in the city itself, but stretches far out in all directions.

Then, too, Brazil has its hot springs, its health resorts. The southern part of the state of Minas Gerais wedged in between the states of Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo abounds more than any other part of Brazil in thermal waters. Here are to be found, within easy reach of the capital, in a very healthy climate, all the restorative conditions which so many citizens of Rio travel yearly all the way to Europe in search of. The hills rise south of the Campanha bear the name of "Serra das Agnas Virtuozas," "Range of the Salutory Waters," and a church erected on the spot, dedicated to "Our Lady of Health." Reclus says in part, "... and travelers have already been attracted to the springs of Casambi, a watering place over two miles southward. Reclus says, at the foot of a dome-shaped mountain. The six chief springs of this place, gaseous and alkaline, resemble those of Contrexville. So we can see how very ideally located Rio de Janeiro is, with all the natural equipment necessary to make it one of the world's finest capitals.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

The state of Minas Gerais, lying north and west of the state of Rio de Janeiro, is a magnificent country, with natural resources which make it independent of the whole world. Although not the largest, it is by far the most populous state in Brazil, and always has been. After enriching Portugal far more than did any other of her colonies, Minas was the first to strike a blow for national independence and such is its commanding position that proposals have been made several times, to break it up into two or more separate states," writes Calderon.

Relative to the inhabitants of the state, Reclus says, "The Minerros of Gerais, as the inhabitants of Minas Gerais are called, partly from pure or mixed Paulistas, partly from Portuguese immigrants."

The capital of the state of Minas, Ouro Preto, "Black Gold" is situated three days inland from Rio de Janeiro, north and west of the city. Never before have I put in such a strenuous time as I did on the trip up and back. The travelling for a country like Brazil is very crude in fact quite comparable, if not worse than the trains running from Arequipa to Puno and Cuzco, but the trip's reward lies in the great mines at Ouro Preto, Passagem, Mariana and Diamantina, the first three within a radius of five miles of one another, the latter an overnight's trip from Ouro Preto.

Ouro Preto occupies a central position in the mining district of Minas Gerais. Westward rises the Serra do Morro, towards the east, Serra do Morro, which directly behind the city, dominating it on the southeast is the picturesque, twin-peaked Itacolomi. Owing its existence to the great gold fields discovered in 1698, it stands on ground everywhere undermined by old galleries, in which is collected the very water used for drinking purposes by the inhabitants. The streets themselves are mere trenches constructed in connection with the mining operations.

Through the courtesy of the English firm owning and operating the Ouro Preto and Passagem mines, we were allowed to spend a whole day in the mines and works, under a very competent guide, the superintendent himself. The most outstanding feature of the mine is that it is the deepest in the world, with a main shaft extending more than a mile into the very bowels of the earth. As the lifts go deeper and deeper the air gets warmer, and when we finally reach number three level, the heat is so oppressive that we must remove our coats and shirts, so that we will not catch cold when we return to the surface.

The mine itself has been in continuous operation for more than two hundred years, and in its day has given an example and to ransom a whole herd of kings and nobles. Today its output is about $200,000 annually. As we walk through the dark, almost suffocating tunnels, flashing our candle lights here and there, the walls fairly glisten, but not with gold. The ore is mined in great "stopes" or large excavations and is transported to the surface by these cable "lifts," thence to the crushers and punners. The workmen, burly Bahians for the most part, with an occasional Mineiro, do not seem to mind the heat of the stopes. They work ten hours a day, with only a half hour's visit to the surface during this period, and while they are above ground, usually from two to two-thirty in the afternoon, the blasts are set off. After giving the fumes a chance to get out, they return to their air drills or picks, and stay there until five-thirty—all this work for six or seven months a day, about sixty-five or seventy cents in American money. Their lunch is carried to them in the mines, from the company kitchen, so that they lose no time eating. A very curious fact about these miners is that the labor improves about 100 per cent yearly, I was informed, but this is due to the nature of the people—they are the Arabs of South America, and must always be on the go.

Interesting indeed, was the home in which we stayed during our stay in Ouro Preto. It was a one-story affair, built on the side of a hill. The main, or only door was a piece of country resembling our garden gates. This would be hooked on the outside, thereby affording protection, according to our hostess. The "sala" or parlor contained all the relics of the family for at least ten generations, and I was almost afraid to move, for fear that I would disturb something which had probably stood in the same spot for fifty years.

The bedrooms were mere alcoves, with the hardest beds I have ever slept on. Four pine boards were found joined together and supported at the four corners. Over this was a thin straw mattress, covered with a pair of sheets, and finally a blanket. I very foolishly "flopped" myself on the bed the first time I entered the room, but never again. The boards would just not give.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

So much then for Minas. We returned to Rio over the same route, after visiting Passagem, Mariana and Diamantina, arriving there just a day before we were to leave Rio and South America behind.

As I stood on the burricane deck watching the skyline of Rio fade into the distance, just as the sun sank low over the range of mountains in back of the city, I could not help feeling a real pang of regret on leaving this country. So many things had to be sacrificed for want of time. I felt, truly, that I had not seen South America—as though I was only paying a way for a future visit, during which I might go back to Lima, Cuzco, La Paz, Santiago, Buenos Aires, Rio—all the places of which my memory is only a succession of pleasant recollections—each one of them cranny visited carrying with it its characteristic impression, a pleasant and lasting one. It is truly a wonderful country, and one which we should be more than glad to call our next door neighbor, for in South America lies the future of North America.

The End.

Start the day right!

Some folks seem to think that bathing once a week is often enough for grown-ups. But everybody agrees that a baby should be bathed at least once every day.

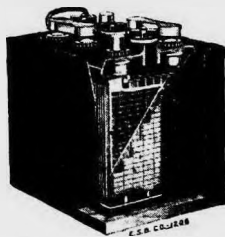

Why the distinction? If a bath-a-day is the thing for babes, why not for the rest of us?

There are just two reasons why everyone doesn't bathe every day. One is, some have never known the renewed energy, the sharpened appetite—the result of the daily bath. The other is, the rest lack adequate bathing facilities.

Let us show you how easily and economically a modern bathroom will help you get the most out of life.

South American Impressions

BY CASS S. HOUGH

CHAPTER TWELVE

Leaving Santos in the late afternoon, it is but an overnight's run to Rio de Janeiro, the tropical Eden of the southern hemisphere, whose bay has no peer in the world, and is approached only by that of Melbourne, Australia.

Two cities face each other at the entrance of Rio bay. Niteroy and Rio de Janeiro. The one still bears the old Indian name of the basin, while the other, the Portuguese name, recording the fact that, when first discovered, the inlet was taken for the mouth of the great "rio" or river. Niteroy is the capital of the state of Rio de Janeiro, while the city of Rio is the capital city of the Republic of Brazil.

The entrance to Rio bay is divided into two channels, the one on the west, about 600 yards wide, little used, and the eastern one about 3000 yards wide, through which nearly all the shipping passes. As the traveler rounds the point of Cape Frio, he commands a full view of the island-studded harbor, with the huge Itaipu peak on the east side of the entrance. In the distance, directly back of the city proper, a world of pinnacles and domes comes into view—the hazy outlines of Gaviã, Tijuca, and Corcovado, the whole forming a great mountainous mass stretching to the rugged Serra da Estrella and the "Organ Range." The "Statue of Liberty" of Brazil, Pao d'Assucar, 1270 feet high, towers above the western entrance to the harbor, creating untold happiness in the hearts of Brazilians returning home. Dating these numerous bluffs are great forts, equipped with powerful coast defense guns, ready at an instant's notice to place an almost impenetrable barrage at the mouth of the harbor.

The first settlement here was planted by the Huguenot adventurers, who established Fort Coligny in 1555 and was assured permanence when the Portuguese captain Estacio de Sa established himself on the mainland near "Sugar Loaf." After his death the colony was moved to the foot of "Morro do Castello" promontory, and since then the city has developed about this as a center, until today it stretches more than a mile eastward and westward. It is here that today we find the fashionable shopping street, Rua de Ovidio, situated in a section where buildings are so crowded together, that artificial lights are necessary at all times.

If there is an earthly Paradise, to my mind, Rio de Janeiro is the place. No traveler who has been on the bay at night when the moon was shining over the city, making the huge masses of palms stand out in bold relief against the lighted sky, can help but sigh and pinch himself to make sure he is awake. No artist could ever paint a picture that could do the scene even a small amount of justice. Only nature can, and she has certainly produced a masterpiece here. But the spell of Rio is not limited to the night time. The city seemed to cast a spell over me. I felt in a strange new land. The remarkable part of it is that even in its astounding growth Rio has not lost any of the charm which it had years ago. Although automobiles and street cars move noisily under the great palms lining the drives, they still keep the quiet dignity which they possessed before the era of automatic machinery.

The inhabitants of Rio are distinctly a race of their own. During the process of its growth Rio has laid aside racial barriers—blood of all nations has been intermingled, until the product is—Brazilians—of which fact the people are very proud. It is no disgrace here to have Negro, Spanish, Portuguese, French and other bloods running in one's veins. They are not called "hunks," "moochers," and the like here, they are all one—Brazilians. As a whole, they are rather an indolent lot. They would rather work an hour to get out of a ten minute's job than perform the task, and they are proud of this, proud of the fact that nothing annoys them. I truly believe that if the city were to fall in ruins, they would sit calmly by, and then leisurely set about to build it up. This characteristic was well shown when I asked a prominent merchant of Rio if the inhabitants of the city did not fear disastrous results from the revolutions in Sao Paulo and Para. He replied, "Senor, Sao Paulo and Para are very distant. Why should we worry ourselves with the troubles of those peoples? The federal troops will probably stop it in a little while." Imagine if you can an inhabitant of Chicago talking this way if civil war started in the southern part of Illinois of some neighboring state.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

To the eager sightseer, Rio and its environs present a myriad of places noted for their attractiveness and beauty. Within easy access lie the mountains of Tijuca and Corcovado, from which an excellent view of Rio and the harbor are obtainable. As one rides through the virgin timber crowning the slopes of Tijuca and Corcovado, he forgets that within a stone's throw a metropolis—he feels as though he were in the wilderness, broken away off in the distance, broken only by the passing of an occasional cart of fire wood, or the steps of some pedestrian. Within ten minute's ride of the center of town is the cable car to carry the sightseer to the top of "Sugar Loaf," so named from the silhouette it presents to the sky. From here one can look away down the coast, past Copacabana beach and the many other great bathing spots which dot the smooth sands of the coast. Farther inland lies the watering place for Rio—Petropolis—a haven of flowers and birds, where the wealthy Brazilians spend their summer months. Across the bay is quaint Niteroy; farther along, Theresopolis. So one can see that the beauty and spell of Rio is not all in the city itself, but stretches far out in all directions.

Then, too, Brazil has its hot springs, its health resorts. The southern part of the state of Minas Geraes, wedged in between the states of Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo abounds more than any other part of Brazil in thermal waters. Here are to be found, within easy reach of the capital, in a very healthy climate, all the restorative conditions which so many citizens of Rio travel yearly to the mountains of Europe in search of. The hills which rise south of the Campanha bear the name of "Serra das Agnas Virtuosas," "Range of the Salutary Waters," and a church erected on the spot, dedicated to "Our Lady of Health." Recus says in part, "... and travellers have already been attracted to the springs of Casambu, a watering place over two miles southwest of Bapendy, at the foot of a dome-shaped mountain. The six chief springs of this place, gaseous and alkaline, resemble those of Contrexville. So we can see how very ideally located Rio de Janeiro is, with all the natural equipment necessary to make it one of the world's finest capitals.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

The state of Minas Geraes, lying north and west of the state of Rio de Janeiro, is a magnificent country, with natural resources which make it independent of the whole world. Although not the largest, it is by far the most populous state in Brazil, and always has been. After enriching Portugal far more than did any other of her colonies, Minas was the first to strike a blow for national independence, and such is its commanding position that proposals have been made several times, to break it up into two or more separate states," writes Calderon.

According to the inhabitants of the state, Recus says, "The Minereros of Geraes, as the inhabitants of Minas Geraes are called, descend partly from pure or mixed Paulistas, partly from Portuguese immigrants. . . . The capital of the state of Minas, Ouro Preto, "Black Gold" is situated three days inland from Rio de Janeiro, north and west of the city. Never before have I put in such a strenuous time as I did on the trip up and back. The travelling for a country like Brazil is very crude in fact quite comparable, if not worse than the trains running from Arequipa to Puno and Cuzco, but the trip's reward lies in the great mines at Ouro Preto, Passagem, Mariana and Diamantina, the first three within a radius of five miles of one another, the latter an overnight's trip from Ouro Preto.

Ouro Preto occupies a central position in the mining district of Minas Geraes. Westward rises the Serra de our towards the east, Serra do Moeda, while directly behind the city, dominating it on the southeast is the picturesque, twin-peaked Itacolomi. Owing its existence to the great gold fields discovered in 1698, it stands on ground everywhere undermined by old galleries, in which is collected the very water used for drinking purposes by its inhabitants. The streets, themselves are mere trenches constructed in connection with the mining operations.

Through the courtesy of the English firm owning and operating the Ouro Preto and Passagem mines, we were allowed to spend a whole day in the mines and works, under a very competent guide, the superintendent himself. The most outstanding feature of the mine is that it is the deepest in the world, with a main shaft extending more than a mile into the very bowels of the earth. As the lifts go deeper and deeper the air gets warmer, and when we finally reach number three level, the heat is so oppressive that we must remove our coats and shirts, so that we will not catch cold when we return to the surface.

The mine itself has been in continuous operation for more than two hundred years, and in its day has given up enough gold to ransom a whole herd of kings and what-nots. Today its output is about £200,000 annually. As we walk through the dark, almost suffocating tunnels, flashing our carbide lights here and there, the walls fairly glisten, but not with gold. The ore is mined in great "stopes" or cave-like excavations, and is transported to the surface by these cable "lifts," thence to the crushers and punners. The workmen, burly Bahians for the most part, with an occasional Mineiro, do not seem to mind the heat of the stopes. They work ten hours a day, with only a half hour's visit to the surface during this period; and while they are above ground, usually from two to two-thirty in the afternoon, the blasts are set off. After giving the fumes a chance to get out, they return to their air drills or picks, and stay there until five-thirty—all this work for six or seven milreis a day, about sixty-five or seventy cents in American money. Their lunch is carried to them in the mines, from the company kitchen, so that they lose no time eating. A very curious fact about these miners is that the labor turnover is about 100 per cent yearly. I was informed that this is due to the nature of the people—they are the Anals of South America, and must always be on the go.

Interesting indeed, was the home in which we stayed during our stay in Ouro Preto. It was a one-story affair, built on the side of a hill. The main, or only door was a piece of carpentry resembling our garden gates. This would be looked on the outside, thereby affording no indication, according to our hostess, the "sala" or parlor contained all the relics of the family for at least ten generations, and I was almost afraid to move, for fear that I would disturb something which had probably stood in the same spot for fifty years.

The bedrooms were mere alcoves, with the hardest beds I have ever slept on. Four pine boards were found joined together and supported at the four corners. Over this was a thin straw mattress, covered with a pair of sheets, and finally a blanket. I very foolishly "flopped" myself on the bed the first time I entered the room, but never again. The boards would just not give.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

So much then for Minas. We returned to Rio over the same route, after visiting Passagem, Mariana and Diamantina, arriving there just a day before we were to leave Rio and South America behind.

As I stood on the hurricane deck watching the skyline of Rio fade into the distance, just as the sun sank low over the range of mountains in back of the city, I could not help feeling a real pang of regret on leaving this country. So many things had to be sacrificed for want of time. I felt, truly, that I had not seen South America—as though I was only paying a way for a future visit, during which I might go back to Lima, Cuzco, La Paz, Santiago, Buenos Aires, Rio—all the places of which my memory is only a succession of pleasant recollections—each nook and cranny visited carrying with it its characteristic impression, a pleasant and lasting one. It is truly a wonderful country, and one which we should be more than glad to call our next door neighbor, for in South America lies the future of North America.

The End.

An interesting report just completed by the department of agriculture, reveals the fact that in 1860 it was possible to purchase four eggs for a penny. At the same time corn was sold in the state of Minnesota for 30 cents a bushel, and wheat for 75 cents; while in 1846, in Illinois, beef sold for 2½ cents a pound and stove wood brought $1.00 a cord; while in 1834, in Morgan county, Illinois, cows sold for from $10 to $20 apiece, and live hogs could be purchased at 2 cents a pound.

DETROIT GIRL WON SPELLING CONTEST.

The citizens of Plymouth and the surrounding rural districts were greatly interested in the Metropolitan Area spelling contest of the Detroit News, which has been in progress for some time and terminated with the great spelling bee at the State Fair Coliseum last Friday afternoon. The big coliseum was crowded to the doors and in the neighborhood of 25,000 people heard the seventy-four boys and girls who were in the final contest. Many were present from Plymouth and surrounding country.

Plymouth was represented in the contest by William Kirkpatrick of the Fifth grade. The young lad made a good showing for one of his years, and he is deserving of much praise for his efforts. The representatives from the rural schools in this vicinity also acquitted themselves with credit.

The contest was won by Miss Dorothy Karrick, thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Karrick of Detroit, and former residents of Naukin township. The champion is a granddaughter of Fred Harer of this village, and a granddaughter of Mrs. Anna Karrick of Naukin Mills. Both grandparents are very proud of their granddaughter, and well they may be, for it means something to be champion speller of the Metropolitan area. The champion, her parents and sister were guests of Mr. Harer and daughter, Miss Anna Harer, last Sunday. Miss Karrick will represent the Metropolitan Area in the national meet at Washington, D. C. next week. She will be accompanied by her mother on the trip to Washington. Here's hoping that Miss Karrick will win the contest and honor for Detroit.

MOTHER AND SON GRADUATE TOGETHER AT COLLEGE IN MISSOURI.

Plymouth people will be interested to know that Mrs. Mary A. Church of Liberty, Mo., and a graduate of the Plymouth High school in 1882, has just completed a four-year college course and graduated from William Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., May 28th, in the same class with her son, James M. Church.

Mrs. Church is the first grandmother to be graduated from William Jewell College. Mother and son have been classmates during the four-year course. Both received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Mrs. Church majored in political science, and it is her ambition to become dean of women in college or high school work.

Both mother and son are honor students at the college. The son has won the Austin fellowship in chemistry at Harvard University. The Church home was formerly at Marengo, Ill., but the family moved to Liberty when the mother and son entered college. Mrs. Church's husband, Dr. Frank Church, is a Chautauqua lecturer.

SMITH-ERNEST

Miss Reubah Ernest of Waltz, Mich., and Bernard Smith of Northville, were married Tuesday morning, June 2, at nine o'clock, at the New Boston church, in the presence of a large number of guests.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white georgette crepe with silver beads, and a long veil with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses. She was attended by three bridesmaids: Miss Theresa Medon, who wore a pale green dress and hat, and carried pink Kilburn roses; Miss Elsie Ernest, who wore an orchid crepe de chene dress and hat, and carried pink carnations; and Miss Irene Smith, who wore a blue crepe de chene dress and tan hat, and carried white roses and carnations.

The groom was attended by Alvin Ernest, best man, and Stanley Smith and Mr. Raymond, groomsmen.

Betty Jane Housley of Plymouth, wearing a peach colored dress, and carrying a basket of sweet peas, acted as flower girl.

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the party entered the church and took their places.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, and in the afternoon and evening a reception was held.

Early in the evening, the young couple left for a two weeks' wedding trip to eastern points. On their return, they will make their home in Plymouth.

The bride has been an employee at the Phoenix Ford plant for the past several months.

New Idea for Motors

A Polish inventor, an engineer, has succeeded in building a car of his own design for which very important advantages of construction are claimed. The inventor's name is M. Kerpowski and his machine has been called "Polonia" (Poland). The most important feature claimed for the Polonia car is the facility with which various parts can be removed and the whole motor taken apart. In the official tests given the machine by the ministry of war, two automobile mechanics, helped by a boy, took apart the motor, gear set, universal, and rear axle in fourteen minutes and assembled the same parts in thirty-six minutes. The Polonia car has a six-cylinder motor of forty-five block horse power and cylinder displacement of 90 x 125 millimeters. The maximum speed claimed for this car is 100 kilometers an hour.

Airman Kills Antelope

George Pomeroy, an airplane mail pilot, who runs between Omaha and Cheyenne, having made good time on the early part of his trip, spotted an antelope from his high point of vantage while flying over Nebraska and descending, shot it. He crammed the antelope into his plane and continued his journey, only later to be apprehended and fined $155 for his sport in the game warden at Lincoln.
