53 GRADUATE FROM PLYMOUTH HIGH

CLASS DAY EXERCISES WERE HELD TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 16TH.

COMMENCEMENT AND ALUMNI WERE HELD ON FOLLOWING THURSDAY AND FRIDAY EVENINGS.

CLASS NIGHT EXERCISES

At eight o'clock Tuesday evening, as the strains of the "Triests' March" from "Athalie" sounded through the high school auditorium, the largest class in the history of Plymouth High school entered and took their places upon the platform.

In harmony with the sailor effect carried throughout the program, the boys wore white duck sailor suits with blue ties, and the girls, white middie and blue skirts.

Following the Class Day song by the entire class, the "Sailor Orders" were delivered by the captain of this event, Mary Parrott, who chose "The World Court" as the theme of her president's address. "Discard on the High Seas" turned out to be far removed from a discord when Juanita Coe rendered Reinholdt's "Prelude in C sharp Minor."

Dorothy Melow next proclaimed the "Log of the Crew," detailing the adventures of the ninety-six freshmen sailors who set sail four years ago on the Sea of Knowledge, who passed through the channels of Latin and English, through the Sophomore Sea, faced the Monster Chemistry, and finally, to the number of fifty-three, arrived at the port of Commencement to start out on the larger voyage over the Sea of Life.

"Buried Treasures" were next unearched by Janette Whipple, with an appropriate gift (some almost too appropriate) for each member of the class.

"Laying the Course" was the responsibility of Everett Cummins, who safely led the course of each student through twenty years of the future, to a safe arrival in a fitting but in most cases quite unexpected vocation.

"The Jolly Rogers" in the persons of Pierre Kenyon, Everett Cummins, Frank Millard and Forrest Hubert, next sang "Sailing Over The Sea" and responded to the chorus with the well-known "Mosquito Song."

"The Spoils of the Voyage" were next divided by Forrest Hubert, who, as administrator of the Class Will, disclosed the many bequests.

The program was closed with the "Crew Chanty," sung by the entire class, and the good ship 1925 was brought safely into port.

COMMENCEMENT

Fifty-three seniors of the Plymouth High school were graduated at the exercises held at the High school auditorium last week Thursday evening. The big auditorium was crowded to the doors with relatives and friends of the graduates of the class of 1925.

The graduates marched onto the stage to the music of the High school orchestra, and took the seats arranged for them upon the platform.

Rev. D. D. Nagle of the Methodist Episcopal church, gave the invocation. Miss Doris Coleman then gave the salutatory.

Salutatory
"Parents, Teachers, Board of Education, Friends: The class of 1925 cordially welcomes you to these Commencement Exercises.
"Every age and epoch in the history of our country has had its particular problems. With your permission, I will consider with you the problem of what the Survey calls the 'Fourth Migration.'

"At the close of the Revolutionary War, the settlers on the Atlantic seaboard felt the urge to move west, to explore this vast continent and claim it for their own. This movement westward was the first great migration in the history of the United States. Great forests were destroyed in order to clear the land for farms; no conservation movement could ever repair this damage to the forests. Small communities developed, with the centers of churches and schools. Then, mines were discovered and the rural communities gave place to industrial villages. Steam power was introduced and many immigrants came to work in the mines and factories. Larger cities grew up in the places where labor and power were most plentiful. As the first migration sought land, so the second sought production. Learning and culture were ignored by these industrial leaders. No thought was given to proper homes for the laborers; the result was the tenement district, factories and railroads and homes crowded together with no consideration for ventilation or light, to say nothing of parks or playgrounds for the children.

"The third migration was the movement toward the financial center. As the industrial system developed, productive effort gave place to financial speculation and culture universities, libraries, museums and research institutions became numerous, first in the older cities, and finally in the financial centers. The greatest development, of course, took place in New York, which now practically controls the journalism, banking and insurance, and monopolizes the theatres of the entire country. This third migration took both people and money from the small towns and concentrated them in the cities. The one big thought was Business Efficiency—and still the problem of adequate homes was ignored.

"The movement of the Fourth Migration, which is set in its infancy, is away from the city. Modern inventions all tend to distribute, rather than centralize population. No longer is it necessary for buyer and seller to bargain in the old face-to-face manner; the telephone has made possible almost instant communication with any city in the United States.

"The radio has gone a step farther; anyone who owns a receiving set may sit in his own home and enjoy an entertainment that is taking place a hundred or more miles away.

"The automobile, too, has played its part; no longer is the railroad the sole means of transportation. The automobile has access to a large portion of the country which the railroad never touched. Perhaps the best example of this is the chain store, with its tracks which make more regular visits to the small towns and gather the current surplus of butter and eggs for distribution to the city.

"Finally, electric transmission, which sends energy over a wide area without loss of efficiency has made it possible for industry to be independent of the railroads and their coal shipments.

"There seems to be a common impulse among rich and poor alike, to get away from the city, out to the suburbs, regardless of the discomforts of a primitive bungalow; for our cities are becoming too large. Since 1885, New York has had a housing shortage. That city's latest difficulty is one of water supply. Chicago's problem of sewage disposal is well known. Detroit is every day becoming more difficult to police. Traffic rules seem inadequate to take care of the congestion in the shopping district.

"Someone has said that our cities were built for adults alone, and it certainly seems that very little thought has been given to the children. They are barred from the best apartment houses, and when there is no place for them to play but in the streets, they interfere with traffic. The city needs them as her future citizens, but she has no use for them as children.

"Brighton, which might be called the slums of Detroit, is really a wonderful institution, because it gives the children of the poor a chance to grow up in a yard, instead of an alley.

"The fourth migration is just beginning, but it is a movement which tends to give the children of the rich and poor alike, an equal chance.

"Plymouth has felt the influence of this fourth migration. We are proud to live in a town where the rich and poor do have an equal chance. We, as a class wish to thank the citizens of this village and the Board which represents them; for the school that they have provided. We wish to show our appreciation to our parents and teachers for their assistance and cooperation and we shall endeavor to repay them by living up to their hopes and expectations."

Frank Millard of the class of '25, gave a piano solo in a most finished and artistic manner.

The valedictory was then given by Miss Juanita Coe.

Valedictory
Hobbies and Their Value
"Classmates, Friends: Everyone should have a hobby. If he has not, he is dangerously idle during his leisure time. The varieties of hobbies range from a splinter's devoted care of her garden to the most eager boyish enthusiasm for golf. They are in danger from the same collecting of foreign stamps to the racing of automobiles. The extremes of enthusiasm bestow on them range from the mild interest of a child in collecting sea shells to the harmful extreme of the woman who plays bridge every day in the week.

"The assumption generally made is that leisure brings happiness. As a result of this belief, working men strove for years for the eight hour day. The steel worker achieved a four hour reduction in his twelve hour day in two generations. Science is even predicting the seeming impossibility of four hour days being sufficient to carry on production by increased knowledge of electricity and mechanics. Now that such increased leisure provides us with such a tremendous force for good or for evil, what are we going to do with it?"

"Along with the advance of mechanical inventions has come a new means of self-expression. We would much rather sit and listen to a record than to pump a mechanical piano than to learn to extemporize our souls through playing the piano ourselves. Even the foreigner who comes to our country has a power of self-expression and a sense of the beautiful that puts us to shame.

"There are numerous amusements for one to spend leisure time and money on, but they are not a means of developing one in the things that are best. All that the majority of these amusements ask of one is his money. The movies illustrate this. So many boys and girls want work very young because of this increase in mechanical devices which require less skill in operation than did the old trades, and they earn as large wages as their fathers did in their prime. This money is spent on cheap amusements such as poor literature, shows, dances and pool rooms. The dullness of their vocational work produces a desire for excitement which is sought in the sensational. They purchase cars in which they ride miles behind the car ahead, driving so fast to pass it that the flying landscape looks like a picture and as a background for a picture studio. They stop only long enough for the doubtful nourishment of a hot dog and a bottle of pop. If they do stay at home, it is to read what has been called 'limburger literature,' which is an insult to one's intelligence and a danger to people of high school age, who are the majority of its readers. Fathers and mothers who want their children to become clean men and women should look at some of the magazines and newspapers that are displayed on our news-stands and they will realize the source of some things of which young people are reckless.

"It is during our leisure that our lives are really lived, and it is the time when we learn the real richness of life. We must educate ourselves in use that leisure profitably. Even work becomes a hobby if a man is suited for it and loves it. The artisan, painter, sculptor and musician make hobbies of their work because they have found what really fits their personalities. Because of its beauty that nature gives us, the study of birds, ferns, flowers and trees has increased apace with our leisure—and the increased number of nature books indicates.

"Classmates: We should remember that it is much easier to get a position in the class Pierre Kenyon Everett Cummins, Frank Millard and Forrest Hubert rendered, "Here's a Health to You, Old High," in a most pleasing manner and responded to an encore.

Then followed the address of the evening by Robert M. Wendley, professor of psychology and philosophy of the University of Michigan. The subject of his address was "Sixty Speaking to Sixteen." Prof. Wendley said that it was forty-nine years ago that he graduated from the High School in Glasgow, Scotland, and compared the advantages that people now enjoy with those at the time of his graduation from High school. He spoke of the great advancement in educational work, and the splendid opportunities that were open to every boy and girl to get an education. He closed his address by saying that if a person would give three hours of serious study every week to any one subject, he would have beautiful that puts us to shame.

"There will be a meeting of the O. E. S., at Masons' Hall, on Wednesday, June 24th, 8:30.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS CONVENTION WELL ATTENDED
MEMBERS FROM ALL OVER THE STATE WERE IN PLYMOUTH TO ATTEND CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the Michigan Funeral Directors and Embalmers Association, held here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, was one of the most successful and best attended ever held by the association. The village was dressed in gala attire for the occasion. The merchants of the village had their windows decorated with the colors of the association, purple and white, and the effect was very pretty and pleasing. A large display of flowers, mostly white, decorated the residences of the town, and there was a liberal display of the flag everywhere.

At the first meeting of the convention, Tuesday, Village President C. E. Robinson, in his usual happy and cordial manner, welcomed the guests to Plymouth, and presented the key to the village to F. D. Schrader, president of the association, who responded in behalf of that organization.

The High School building was headquarters for the convention, and it was here that the guests were entertained and assigned to rooms. The dining room of the High School was thrown open to the guests for the evening.

The lower floor of the building was filled with exhibits, including various lines of furniture, and used in the undertaking business. A large tent in Central Park was a large display of home furnishings.

The Mail goes to press this week.

DEATH OF MRS. LILLIAN FISHER
Lillian E. Horn was born June 31, 1870, at Pennville, Pa. She died June 20, 1925, aged 54 years, 20 days. She was married to C. C. Briggs on December 1, 1891. To this union were born four daughters: Mrs. E. M. Moles, Mrs. Ralph West, Mrs. Roy Strenig and Wilma Briggs, all of Plymouth. Besides her daughters, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Artie Horn of Plymouth; one brother, Charles W. Horn of Miami, Florida; five sisters, Mrs. George E. Hiestor of Auburn, Pa.; Mrs. S. E. Cotterman of Chicago, Illinois; Miss Jessie of Beltsville, Ohio, and the late Mrs. Fay Horn of Los Angeles, Calif. She also had granddaughters, Robert and James W. Hiestor.

Funeral services will be held at her late home on Mill street, on Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

CRUMBIE-STRENGTH
Under a white canopy, crowded with invited guests, two of Plymouth's popular young people, Lillian Strenig and Goodwin Crumie, spoke their marriage vows. The bride, Lillian Strenig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strenig, Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

When the guests numbering over one hundred had assembled, Miss Ruth Fisher, pianist, played "O Promise Me" and "The Wedding Song." In conclusion, the wedding ceremony was officiated by Miss Mildred Strong, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who had taught the bride in High school.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, was beautifully dressed in a gown of white tulle and antique lace, embroidered with pearls, with a white tulle train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and valley flowers. The groom, wearing a suit of blue and white, was dressed in a white shirt and a white tie. The ceremony was a simple and beautiful one.

The bride's mother was actively gowned in gray chiffon, with cut work embroidery. A reception and buffet luncheon followed the ceremony. The bridal party was seated at a table decorated with crystal candlesticks, with lighted tapers, surrounding the bride and groom. On the buffet was a centerpiece of white roses, lilies and baby's breath.

Nine girls from the tenth grade, Katherine Wilcox, Alice Hathaway, Harold Hindorp, Ruth Waterman, Winifred Truiper, Ruth Allison, Barbara Buke and Grace Lee, who were in the first classes Mrs. Crumie taught in Plymouth, together with Marion and Elizabeth Beyer, served the lunch.

The regularity of the bride and groom is attested by the many beautiful gifts they received. They left for a motor trip to include New York and Atlantic City, after which they will reside in Plymouth.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. Christine Strenig, Miss Mary Strenig, Miss Katherine Strenig, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fisher, Miss Lillian Fisher, Raymond Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sage, all of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Lammers, Toledo, Ohio; Miss Helen Edwards, Ypsilanti; Miss Ruth Forsythe, Milan; Mrs. Mildred Stoddard, Orion, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts, Royal Oak.

The vaudiville entertainment and the feature picture provided by the Penniman Allen theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings with a matinee on Wednesday afternoon, were of special merit. Every one of the vaudiville acts was high class and all were attractions that appear only in the best and largest theatres in the country. The management of the local theatre is to be congratulated on bringing to Plymouth attractions of the highest merit. Their efforts are appreciated by the patrons of this popular playhouse.

BOY SCOUTS GO CAMPING
The annual camping expedition of the local troop of the Boy Scouts of America will take place this week and next. The local troop has recently been affiliated with the Washtenaw county council of the Boy Scouts. This is an organization under the supervision of the national headquarters, comprising all the Boy Scout troops in the county mentioned and other troops in nearby towns which desire to affiliate. Our association, with the county organization, will give to the local Scout activities the trained supervision of a paid Scout executive, who is putting his whole time into the work, visiting each troop and keeping them up to the highest notch, also training leadership for enlarging the work in the various communities. It also provides the advantage of a larger and better camping trip for the boys. The county camp is divided this year in three sections of ten days each. Our boys to the number of about ten will be in the second section until the fourth of July. Members of the Rotary Club are arranging for the transportation of the boys to and from the camp, which this year is at West Lake, about 45 or 70 Scouts in camp during this section.

The camp site is composed of 53 acres of woods and open meadows on the shore of this fine little lake, whose beach and lake bottom is hard sand and gravel. The bed slopes gradually from the shore line, making it a safe place for swimming and water sports. There are other nearby lakes to which hiking and overnight camping parties may make expeditions.

The following will be something of the daily program:

6:45—Reveille.
6:50—Setting up exercises and dip.
7:15—Flag raising.
7:45—Fatigue Duties.
8:30—Classes in Scout advancement.
11:30—Swimming and life-saving tests.
12:30—Dinner.
1:00—Rest and study.
2:00—Hiking, tracking, nature study, athletics, etc.
4:30—Swimming.
5:30—Retreat.
5:45—Supper.
6:30—Games.
8:00—Camp-fire program, stunts, etc.
9:15—Lights out and quiet.
Parents and friends who desire to visit camp, are asked to confine their visiting days to Saturday or possibly Sunday. The meals are well-balanced and sufficient for each boy, and a candy store is provided for them which will be open certain hours each day. Please do not bring or send any cakes or sweets to the boys, as sickness often results.
The boys are looking forward to one of the best occasions of the summer for them.

UNCLE SAM WORRIED

If all reports now reaching Plymouth in daily newspapers are to be believed, your Uncle Sam is worried. For the first month of his increased postal rates shows a greater deficit than ever before, and, if it continues over an entire year, will find this branch of our government so deep in debt that it can never get out.

It gives a lot of consolation to the "I-Told-You-Sos" of the country. They argued that when the government refused to leave postal rates as they were and take the money needed to increase postal salaries from some other source, nothing but a loss would follow. The parcels post business has slumped, but it still costs as much to handle it. The mailing of post cards has fallen off under the 1 1/2c rate, and nothing is being mailed to take its place. Firms that once sent out millions of circulars at one cent each have, since the rate was raised to 1 1/2c, cut down on the number mailed. The big magazines are shipping by express to central points and securing reduced mailing charges by mailing from several postoffices instead of from New York.

It appears that Uncle Sam's last congress has been picked at its own game. But there will soon be another session, of course, and then more money can be spent in devising and putting into execution something that will bring back the lost revenue. It's a funny old land we are living in, but we don't know of anyone who'd be willing to swap it for any other one on the globe.

WHEAT CROP SHORT

Don't get startled and don't start worrying, but the United States government report for June shows that the wheat crop in this country is going to be something like 212,000,000 bushels less than last year's production. In other words, the Department of Agriculture forecasts a total production of 661,000,000 bushels of winter and spring wheat as compared with 873,000,000 last year. But the farm price is ahead at $1.48 a bushel at the harvest, as compared with 98c last year, so that helps to make up for the loss of production. Citizens of Plymouth who keep an eye on wheat market prices have noticed that the report did not cause a sudden jump. That was due to the fact that Canada has an enormous crop and will make up for the shortage in the United States. There will be all the wheat for home consumption that we will need, and there will be fully enough to supply the foreign market. So prices have no excuse for rising, and bread consumers have no reason to fear a famine for at least another year.

LET'S SAY IT OUT

In a Washington dispatch to the daily papers he writes for Robert T. Small, a noted political reporter, says the coming session of congress will see a race between the Republicans and Democrats, as to which can cut taxes widest and deepest. Insofar as the people of Plymouth are concerned, we sincerely hope that Mr. Small is right; and we also hope that if his prediction comes true the coming year will see a wonderful prosperity that will be felt by all in America. High taxes tend to make people scrimp. They have to learn to get by. But when taxes begin to show genuine reductions, they actually put them in a spending mood, and they buy the things they need to do without when their shoulders are burdened. We believe it would be a good idea for congress to make some reductions for once. Anything. And then if they can't get along with that, put them back on again. Let a congressman know what you think until he tries.

JUNE WEDDINGS

SCHRODER-THARRETT

Miss Marion Tharrett and Albert Schroder were united in marriage at the Cass Avenue Methodist church, Detroit, Saturday, June 20th. They will make their home at 385 Starkweather avenue, Plymouth, for the summer.

BROWN-LOVELL

On Friday evening last, at 8 o'clock in the Methodist parsonage, Mr. Carl Brown of Jackson, and Miss Mabel Lovell of Plymouth, were united in marriage by the Rev. Wm. Richards, the ring ceremony being used. The ceremony was performed in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Covell of Plymouth. Mr. Brown has many friends in Northville, being at one time employed in the telephone office.—Northville Record.

WAGNER-WRIGHT

A wedding in which Plymouth folks will be interested, took place last week Thursday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Frank M. Field in Flint, when Miss Leona Wright of Plymouth became the bride of Robert M. Wagner of Birmingham. About fifteen guests were present, including the parents and three brothers of the groom and Rev. J. Holcomb of Plymouth. After the customary duty refreshments were served by Mrs. Field, and the young couple started on a wedding journey to Charlevoix, Chicago and Valparaiso, Ind., after which they will make their home for the summer at Woodhall Lake near Pontiac. Mr. Wagner is employed in the office of the Oakland Motor Co. in Pontiac.

SHERMAN-SWEGLES

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Swegles announce the marriage of their daughter, Thelma Irene, to Myron Duane Sherman of Plymouth. The ceremony was solemnized Thursday evening, June 18th, at the Congregational parsonage in Ypsilanti. Rev. Harcey Culburn performing the ceremony. Mr. Sherman is in the vegetable and fruit business in Ypsilanti, and the young couple will make their home in that city.

JUDSON-McCONNELL

At six o'clock Saturday afternoon, the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Duerr on West Ann Arbor street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Rev. D. D. Nagle united in marriage Miss Veran E. Judson of Marshfield, Wisconsin, and David F. McConnell of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. The living room where the ceremony was performed was very attractive in feathery asparagus, green branches and garden flowers. The color scheme in the dining room, where a four-course dinner was served, was pink; a beautiful bouquet of roses centering the table.

Mr. and Mrs. McConnell left for Pittsburg, where they will make their home. Both are graduates of the University of Wisconsin, the former of the engineering department, and the latter of the literary department.

HAMBLY-HARLOW

A very pretty but simple home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Glympe, 523 Maple avenue, Saturday afternoon, June 20th, at 6:30, when their niece, Madge Janet Harlow of Detroit, formerly of Plymouth, was united in marriage to Orrin Hambly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hambly of 774 21st street, Detroit. Rev. Wm. C. S. Pellowe, pastor of the Preston M. E. church of Detroit, officiated, the impressive ring ceremony being used. The ceremony was performed before a background of white roses and myrtle, the bride being attired in a white hand-embroidered satin crepe gown and carrying white rosebuds and lilies of the valley. After the ceremony, a delicious wedding supper was served, the color scheme of pink and white being carried out wherever possible.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hambly, daughter, Florence, and son, Albert, Mrs. Mary Harlow and daughter, Charlotte, and Miss Marjorie Forshee all of Detroit; and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wood and Charles Hubbard of Plymouth. After a wedding trip through the east, Mr. and Mrs. Hambly will be at home to their friends in their new home at 924 Larchwood Ave., Detroit, after July 15th.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

We have set out a bed of iris in Central Park, at the corner of Church and Main streets. The bulbs for this bed were given to the village by Frank Learned of Sheridan avenue and J. B. Pettingill of Williams street. We appreciate very much the generosity of these men in helping to beautify the parks.

Spoking of parks, when the Mayor bought the two little spruces that are in the window box at the hall, Clarence Aldrich of the Farmington nurseries, presented the village with a live Christmas tree. This is a fine spruce about fifteen feet high, which will be transplanted about the first of September to Kellogg Park. As this tree grows from year to year, it will typify the real Christmas spirit better than any tree cut away from its place of growth. It will also be in line with the idea of conservation which is growing so strongly.

Through the courtesy of Fred Rehman, the village has among its exhibits at the hall, two more old ox yokes, one especially still with one of the old bows is heavy enough to be a load for any but a large span of oxen. It is a commentary on the march of civilization that many of the school children coming into the hall do not even know what these are.

Riverside cemetery lots owners doubtless have wondered what was the matter of our water supply up there lately. The gas engine which drives the pump has been misbehaving and will have to be replaced with an electric motor. The larger of the two water tanks has also been repaired, and will be in service again shortly.

GRANGE PICNIC

The Grange will hold a basket picnic July 4th, in E. Knapp's woods on Lilly road. This will take the place of our regular July meeting, and hope to see all Grangers present to help enjoy the day. Ice cream and soft drinks will be on the grounds. So come one, come all.

Brighton charitably inclined folks are arranging to take into their homes for a two weeks' outing, forty children from Detroit who have never been in the country and know not its delights.

Thousands of fish are dying in Orchard Lake. Dead fish, which have been washed ashore have been hauled away by the truckload. Aid of the Michigan State Conservation Commission has been asked.

Pontiac is to have a new hospital. St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, costing $400,000, will be built in that city, it is expected. One-half the amount will be raised by citizens of Oakland county and the balance will be donated by the Sisters of Mercy, Dubuque, Iowa.

Work on the new Glangarry Golf Club course is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for play early in July. This new course is ideally located and easily reached, being about 27 miles from the city hall, Detroit, located at the base of Lake Wolverine about two miles from Walled Lake.

Again the edict goes forth that bathers at the various lakes in the county will not be permitted in automobiles and on the streets near lakes clad only in their bathing suits. The sheriff of Oakland county says he is about to enforce the county ordinance which demands that persons clad in bathing suits shall wear a robe until they reach the water's edge, where they are permitted to emerge from their wrappings. "The practice of driving about the county in automobiles in bathing suits and walking about the streets in that condition must stop," says the sheriff.

L. W. Lovewell shipped a carload of 17 extra fine Hereford cattle to Detroit last week. The animals were home-fed and averaged 14 months old. Their Detroit weight was 220 pounds each and they dressed out 62 per cent cold meat. Men on Detroit market claimed it the best load of cattle received there in a long time. The stock had been fed by Ashton Emery on the Lovewell farm.—South Lyon Herald.

The Waterford Farm Bureau will place on the Dixie Highway at Silver Lake a bronze tablet to mark the site of the first farm on the Saginaw trail. The inscription is to read: "Major Oliver Williams located here September 1818, the first farm on the Saginaw trail. In the loft of his sheep shed was held in 1821 the first Sunday-school in Oakland county. The first school in Waterford township was built here at the Williams settlement in 1822. Chief Sas-shubaw, a valued friend of the pioneers, was buried due north on the shore of Silver Lake about 1821, as was also his half-brother, Wa-Me-Gan in 1824."—Milford Times.

NEW SUBURBAN DISTRICT BORDERS ON RIVER ROUGE

MARQUETTE SITE COVERS AREA OF MORE THAN 20 SQUARE MILES; HAS IDEAL RECREATIONAL FEATURES.

We take the following article from the Detroit News, which will be of interest to the citizens of Plymouth and vicinity:

Marquette Park district has been selected as the name for an area covering more than 20 square miles, lying between Detroit's municipal Rouge Park and the village of Plymouth, and an organization of real estate dealers known as the Marquette Park Development Association has been formed to promote the interests of the area, as a home community development.

Just where the north and south boundaries of this new development will be set has not been decided. A committee has been appointed to outline the limits.

Marquette Park lies along three direct routes between Detroit and Plymouth. The center of the tract is twelve miles west of the Ford West Side Industries. Many important highways traverse the area.

Dearborn, Redford, Plymouth and Northville are linked with the district by some of the finest county roads in the state, offering accessibility to the shopping districts of these cities and villages, as well as their amusements.

The fact that Rouge Park, Detroit's largest municipal playground, forms the eastern boundary of Marquette Park is advertised as one of the features of this development. Two roads, both important thoroughfares under the highway plans of Wayne county, traverse the length of the new area and extend either through or to the city's 1200-acre recreational park. Of these two arteries of travel, Schoolcraft road is proposed as a super-highway under the plans for a Metropolitan area for Detroit. Plymouth road, now a paved thoroughfare, forms a connecting link between Detroit and Plymouth. It is desired to make its right-of-way 120 feet wide. Through Rouge Park wanders the Rouge river. It is filled with wooded hills, broad valleys, trees and shrubs, wildflowers and vines of every kind.

Will Have Amphitheatre.

A natural amphitheatre, a crescent-shaped slope 30 feet high, will be one of its main features. Here can be held out-of-door dramas. An 18-hole golf course will be built at the park's northern end. Three small artificial lakes will be constructed. Tennis, base ball and other recreational devices eventually will find excellent facilities for enjoying their sports in Rouge Park.

The Hawthorne Valley and Golf Club, said to be a model of recreational organizations, and other golf and country clubs are regarded by the district promoters as near enough to "belong" to the district.

The Pere Marquette Railroad traverses the entire length of the Marquette Park area from the village of Plymouth, connecting the district with downtown Detroit, as well as the West Side industrial area. Along its route are commuter stations serving the residents of the established communities within its border, with scheduled service.

Due to the presence of the Pere Marquette and the fact that it already is serving hundreds of West Side industries, the district promoters think that some manufacturing enterprises will spring up along its sides.

Bus service has been put into operation on regular schedule along Plymouth road. One line operated by the Detroit Motor Bus Co. serves this area and many private lines supplement it. Sees Bus Development.

It is expected by the officers of the association that motor buses will do much to aid the development there.

Automobiles and buses will probably supply the bulk of the population with means of rapid transit, not only in the industrial section, but with Detroit and surrounding cities and towns.

Building restrictions in an area will vary. A committee has been appointed by the association to draft restrictions.

The development has been under way for some time. Real estate men have subdivided a portion of the property. The number of subdivisions will increase.

Officers of the association, all realty dealers, have been announced as follows: President, Edward A. Lovely of the Stormfeltz-Loveley Co.; first vice president, John H. Castle of Castle & Ford; second vice president, Geo. W. Alberts; third vice president, A. J. Youmans of the A. J. Youmans Co.; fourth vice president, J. H. Walsh, of Walsh, James & Wasey Co.; secretary, William H. Barrett of the William H. Barrett Co., and treasurer, Frank D. Fry.

A committee on rules and regulations has Mr. Albert as chairman, and the committee on advertising, Frank D. Fry, as chairman.

HOUGH SCHOOL REUNION

The Hough school reunion will be held Saturday, June 27th, at the farm home of E. C. Hough in Canton township. There will be a basket lunch at noon. There will also be a refreshment stand where ice cream, candy, cold drinks, etc., will be sold.

Everyone who has attended the Hough school, or has been a resident of the district, and also former teachers of the Hough school are very cordially invited to attend. The program will consist of impromptu talks. It would be appreciated very much if those who cannot come would send letters.

Come and have a good time.

THE THEATRE

"THUNDERING HOOPS"

Aldy directed by Al Rogell in a new type of western story that has originality as well as thrills and comedy, Fred Thomson comes to the Pennington Allen theatre, Saturday, June 27th, in "Thundering Hoops," the first photodrama of his new series for F. B. O. Replete with action, the picture reaches its climax in a thrilling struggle between Thomson and a bull in a Mexican bull-fight arena, where Fred saves Silver King, his wonderful horse, from the rushes of the enraged animal. Ann May has the leading feminine role opposite Mr. Thomson, playing a Spanish senorita. Hill Lowery, Charles Malles, Carrie C. Ward and Fred Huntley also appear in support. The picture is from an original story written especially for Mr. Thomson by Marion Jackson.

"THE DEVIL'S CARGO"

Pauline Starke, recently seen in support of Pola Negri in the Ernst Lubitsch production of "Forbidden Paradise," for Paramount, has, perhaps the finest role of her lengthy picture career in the cast of "The Devil's Cargo," another Paramount—a Victor Fleming production, coming to the Pennington Allen theatre, on Sunday and Monday, June 28 and 29. Miss Starke is featured with Wallace Deery, William Collier, Jr., and Claire Adams. Her role is that of a daughter of the proprietor of a saloon and gambling hall in Sacramento, the scene of the story, which is one of California seventy-five years ago.

Since Miss Starke appeared with Thomas Meighan in her first Paramount picture, "If You Believe It, It's So," she has forged steadily ahead. During the past year she appeared in several outstanding successes.

"The Devil's Cargo" is said to be one of the fastest moving stories you've seen in some time.

"OLD HOME WEEK"

Thomas Meighan steps back into a very familiar role, when he comes to the screen of the Pennington Allen theatre, Wednesday, July 1st. In another of George Ade's stories, "Old Home Week." It is strongly reminiscent of "Back Home and Broke," also written by Ade, and which provided for the stalwart Tom one of his best roles. While it is a very familiar Tom who is welcomed at the village depot by a cheering mob, his reception is nothing compared to the ovation which greets him after he outwits the two crooks who are endeavoring to cheat the village on a fake oil well proposition.

Tom is one of the village lads who went out into the world, but who did not take enough matches with him to set anything on fire.

Back in this familiar role Meighan is seen in a characterization that will please his admirers. The plot may not provide enough action to please all fans, and some may sneer over its simplicity, but it is clean and wholesome, cleverly directed and capably acted.

As the sweetheart is seen Lila Lee, who has been the heroine of a score of Meighan pictures, and his old standby, Wheat, is Johnny on the spot when trouble comes.

If you want to take a little trip back to the old town just go and see Tom, Wednesday.

The Four Major Reasons

To those familiar with the chief reasons for Graham Brothers remarkable growth, these four points loom most conspicuously in explanation of their leadership and lower prices:

1. Price advantage.
2. Exceptional quality.
3. Power and dependability of Dodge Brothers Engine.
4. Character of Dodge Brothers Dealer organization.

Better than a written guarantee of continuous satisfaction, these reasons are too fundamentally important to escape the attention of judicious truck buyers.

FARMERS' DAY BOOKED AT M. S. C. JULY 31ST

Summer Farmers' Day at the Michigan State College will be held on Friday, July 31st, this year, according to announcement made this week at the college. It will be the eighth annual gathering of its kind held on the East Lansing campus during the summer months.

Starting in 1918 as a special wartime wheat day conference, the Farmers' Day has grown until a crowd estimated at above seven thousand gathered for the occasion in 1924. Authorities in charge of arrangements are preparing another record breaking attendance on July 31st.

Special features not included in the program for former Farmers' Day will be staged this year. It is understood. A big church choir singing contest with entries coming from churches in the open country or in towns of 2,000 people or less, is attracting a great deal of attention. The contest will be held in the morning of Farmers' Day, with the winning choir putting on an exhibition at the afternoon general program.

Another feature new at this year's gathering will be the pulling contest for farmers' teams. A special machine to record the pulling power of a team, known as the "dynamometer," will be installed on the campus for the contest. With preliminaries out of the way in advance, the finals will be staged before the Farmers' Day crowd in the afternoon.

Entertainment speakers, band concerts, and entertainment will mark the general afternoon program, while special exhibits, inspection of the college experimental plots and grounds, a picnic lunch at noon, and the rest of the features which have proved successful at Farmers' Days are retained on the program for July 31st.

ALUMNI BANQUET A HUGE SUCCESS; 265 OLD GRADS ATTEND.

Last Friday night, the twenty-sixth annual banquet and reunion of the Plymouth High School Alumni Association was held at the High School auditorium. The reunion was attended by 265 alumni, which was the largest attendance in the history of the association. The 1925 class of 53 members were guests of honor, and as it was the largest class ever admitted to membership in the Alumni Association, the reunion was in all respects a stellar event.

The banquet was served by the ladies of the M. E. church, assisted by the sophomore class garbed in quaint Dutch costumes. The uniforming of the serving girls was a new innovation, and upon their first appearance received a generous round of applause.

After the dessert was disposed of, Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd, 1925 president of the association, called the assembly to order for the business meeting. After the minutes of the previous meeting and the reports of the secretary and treasurer were accepted, the following officers were elected for the following year:

President—Zaida McClunphy Chapin
Vice President—Ruth E. Huston
Secretary—Marry Parrott

The chair appointed H. A. Gohardt and Louva Rowland as additional members of the executive committee. The precedent established by the outgoing officers of putting on a mid-year event to raise money for the banquet, was endorsed by the members present, and a committee was named to do likewise the coming year, consisting of Ellen Gardner-Lalibe, Fernie Kessler-Block and Jack E. Taylor. As this trio is dramatically inclined, an interesting event is promised for next spring.

Lyman Judson was next introduced, and the remainder of the evening turned over to him as toastmaster. Judson has made his mark in the oratorical world, and it is needless to say that his end of the program was well handled. He introduced A. J. Richwine, who briefly welcomed the class of 1925 into membership in the Alumni Association, after which Everett Cummins responded for his class. Carroll Adams, an old time Plymouthite, who was remembered by most of the older alumni, rendered two beautiful vocal selections, "The Willing Worker" and "The Cheerful Companion." Mrs. Block proved herself an out-of-the-ordinary character portrayer to the great amusement of her audience.

Music for the affair was furnished by the Alumni Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Czarina Penney. Their many selections were exceptionally well rendered, and added no little enjoyment to the evening.

an expert knowledge of that subject at the end of ten years. It was a most scholarly address, and it made a lasting impression upon all who heard him.

Herre Keyson of the class of '25, followed with a vocal solo, that was most beautifully rendered, and he responded to an encore.

Superintendent George A. Smith gave a short address to the graduates before presenting the diplomas. He congratulated the class as being the largest in the history of the Plymouth schools and for the splendid record they had made as students during their school life. He also took opportunity to congratulate the people of Plymouth and vicinity for their interest and splendid co-operation in every matter pertaining to the welfare and progress of our public schools. In his closing words, he imparted some kindly advice to the graduates who were upon the threshold of a new life, that was timely and well spoken.

The class song was the closing number upon the program, and at its close the happy graduates were the recipients of the congratulations and best wishes of the many friends present.

PERRINSVILLE

The social held at the church Friday night was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hjerpe of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. George Buehr and family spent Sunday at Cedar Island lake. The fishing was very poor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kubik were in Detroit Monday and Tuesday on business.

Peter Kubik is remodeling his house on Ann Arbor road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kubik and son, Frank, attended the Bohemian picnic at Farmington, Sunday.

Miss Sadie Vlach underwent an operation for the removal of tonsils and adenoids, Tuesday, Dr. Tupper of Redford performing the operation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Buehr called on Mrs. Lydia Bills of Wayne, Monday, finding her in better health than usual.

The Pot and the Kettle

Senator Borah, always averse to European alliances on the part of the United States, said at a Washington dinner party:

"When two European nations begin taunting each other for imperialism, exploitation of aboriginal races, land grabbing and that sort of thing, it always reminds me of the fishermen."

"With a bitter, mocking laugh a chap said to a fisherman who sat fishing on a sun-baked rock:

"By gosh, friend, your time can't be very valuable to you. I've stood here watching you for two hours, and you haven't had a bite."

"My time's worth too much to me, the fisherman answered, 'to waste two hours of it watchin' a man fish who ain't ketchin' nothin'!"

National Playground

Three tracts of public land, two in southern California and the other on the eastern coast of Florida, were temporarily set aside for outdoor recreational purposes through executive orders issued recently on the recommendation of the secretary of the Interior.

The California tracts consist of 1,822 acres in San Bernardino county. One contains springs and an excellent camping site accessible to public highways. The other includes Indian pictographs and beautiful scenery at the junction of two canyons. The tract in Florida contains 52 acres. It is in St. Lucie county on the Atlantic ocean and has an excellent bathing beach.—New York Times.

WORDS OF WISDOM IN MOTHER'S WILL

Short Document Worthy of Place in Literature.

Worth more than all her personal belongings was the compact of love, piety, faith and common sense which a New York woman left her family. Like all the great things of life, the message is simple and valuable enough as an item of interest to the public at large to find space in the newspapers.

The letter was written by Mrs. Lydia Harding Hammond, widow of the Rev. John Dennis Hammond, a Methodist minister, to be read by the children after her death. It runs as follows:

"Dear Children—I've just made my will, and this is to tell you what I want done with my personal belongings. Don't keep anything just because it is mine; they are just things, and worn and shabby at that; love doesn't need such things for remembrance.

"Most of my books are old and many of them I haven't looked into for years. I have loved and kept them because they have enlarged my life. Henry is to have them and my Bible, typewriter and Verdun vase.

"I won't be separated from any of you, dear children. I'll just be closer to God and will understand better the ways in which prayers and faith can open ways through which God can help you and I'll be able at least to love you with all my heart and without anything in that love that will make you feel as if I wanted to control you or bother you.

"Bury my body as cheaply as you can and forget it. Don't wear mourning, unless, of course, Lynx' wants to. And think of me as alive, alive beyond your farthest thought, and near, and loving you, and well at last, far as the winds of heaven and learning more and more the things I want to know and growing more toward what God wants me to become.

"I think, maybe, John will have our home ready when I come and we'll have a real home at last.

"Love one another. Hold fast to that which you understand one another or not, and remember nothing really matters except being kind to one another and all the world as far as you can reach.

"Your Lovingest Mother."

Such faith as this Methodist minister's wife displays, says the Boston Globe, "is the best evidence of those things this woman believed. She lived them and her faith revealed through her will shines like a star. Here in very truth is the victory that overcometh the world, the life eternal, lived now in the midst of time." Says the New York Sun:

"We prefer to accept this letter as more nearly revealing the spirit which today generally animates and inspires American family life than to join those who see in occasional records of domestic discord, parental inattention and filial neglect true indexes of the national character. The beauty of faith, and of hope, and of unselfish devotion its simple phrases record are found in countless households from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Lakes to the Gulf. The power to set forth the sentiments of loyalty and virtues as Mrs. Hammond set them forth is possessed by few, and this gives to her letter a unique and universal value."—Literary Digest.

Drastic Action

"Tut-tut! day Bud Rubb came to the post office which I was running up to last week, and axed if there was any mail for him," related the ex-official at Sandy Mush. "I took a look and told him there wasn't none then, but if I rickyleeted correctly there had been a post card or suthin' that-away a few days before, but 'twasn't there now. He wanted to know what had become of it, and I told him I hadn't no more idea than a rabbit."

"That's a helluv a way to do with a feller's mail," says he.

"Don't you like my way of running this yer postoffice?" I axed him.

"No, I don't," says he.

"Well then, by gosh, you just take it and run it yoreself, and I'durn to you," says I. And I got right on and left the devilish office on his hands. That's presozely what I doze!"—Kansas City Star.

Military Etiquette

In the Yugoslav army there is to be observed an interesting difference in military manners. The army is composed of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. The traditions of the Serbs favor the spirit of comradeship between officers and men. Of duty the two regard each other as equals. The Croats and Slovenes have been accustomed to Austrian etiquette, which is modeled on the Prussian, under which the men are regarded as inferior creatures.

A major in a Slovene cavalry regiment has just resigned his commission. He could not tolerate the civility of his Serb colonel sitting in a restaurant engaged in friendly conversation with one of his soldiers.

Fruit Stand on One Tree

In the Transvaal a remarkable tree has been grown as an experiment.

A lemon tree was trimmed until only three branches remained. Upon one was grafted an orange, upon another a grapefruit, while the third was allowed to remain a lemon, with the result that the tree is now bearing all three fruits at once.

The tree has the dark and paler green leaves belonging to the various fruits. About six specimens of each of the fruits grew on the tree this year.

Few Children Escape It.

Stomach aches, so inseparable from the years of childhood, can become serious bowel disorders if not promptly quieted. Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy is safe and dependable both for children and grown persons. Immediately relieves sudden and severe intestinal pain, stops weakening diarrhoea.—Advertisement.

ELM

The Elm Sunday-school is now having services with the Community church school at Livonia Center. Last Sunday evening, the Sunday-school had its annual Children's Day program. The children from Elm to take part were Dorothy Bentley, Nelson and Margaret Ellen Bentley, Lorna and Mary Gale Schaffer, William Wolfrom, William and Vernon St. Clair, Edna, Viola and Mary Mauk and Ruth and Beatrice Micholin. The church was full and the program splendid.

Mrs. Fred Wilson is still confined to her bed, and not at all well at this date. We all hope to hear a better report next week.

The Sheldon Sons of Detroit, have bought the entire section of the Plymouth road between the McKinney and Farmington roads, and expect to make a fine subdivision. This property includes the George and Fred Smith farms, the old Rattenuy place, the Barnes farm, the Love, Schneider and Houghton farms on the town line and Dan McKinney's and George Micholin's places on the McKinney road. They expect to start plating soon.

George Trinka has his new home on the Schoolcraft road about completed.

The St. John's Guild of Plymouth, had a pot-luck dinner, Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. George D. Micholin on the McKinney road.

Work has been started on the school house at Elm, and they hope to rush it through in time for school in September.

The Booth Home has been closed for the summer months. Mrs. G. Barrows, with one attendant, will remain for a few weeks.

Miss Cloe Maher is spending the first of her vacation with Miss Beatrice Douglas at her home on the McKinney road.

WORKERS PAID FOR DANGER THEY FACE

High Wages Earned in Hazardous Occupations.

According to announcement recently made in London, men who do not work in that city will, in future, receive an extra payment of from one penny to three pence (from two to six cents) an hour, according to the height from the street at which they work.

This payment, which has long been usual in the north of England, applies to work done where no scaffolding is provided, and to men working upon any outside roof with guttering less than a foot wide.

The equivalent of height money is paid in the United States to the men who work at bridge-building. The risks which the bridge builder takes can be gathered from the fact that the Quebec bridge cost 97 lives and the Blackwell's Island bridge 60.

You see the bridge builder walking quietly along a six-inch girder, hundreds of feet in the air, or balanced on a steel beam, catching in a pail a white-hot rivet flung from a flaming forge 50 feet above him.

Divers are paid according to the depth at which they work—usually by special bonuses.

Lambert, one of the most famous men in the profession, once received a bonus of $22,500 for recovering $35,000 from a vessel deeply sunk and in a difficult position.

The average professional diver greatly prefers sea to land work. By land work is meant such a task as entering a flooded mine or tunnel, or going to the bottom of a deep well, or doing such work as the underpinning of Winchester cathedral. The cathedral foundations are in peat, and when the peat was dug out water flooded in.

Divers were engaged to put in new cement foundations. They were six years at their work, and earned a very high rate of pay.

A mountain guide's fees are proportioned not so much to the height of the mountain to be climbed as to its difficulty. Some years ago a Philadelphia lady—Miss Maria Stoll—made a night ascent of the Winkelturm, in the southern Tyrol. The mountain is only just over nine thousand feet in height, yet the climb is considered one of the most difficult in Europe. It is said that the guide received a fee of $5,000 for the ascent.

English Fear Dirty Fruit

Dirty and even diseased Asiatics, working in filthy sheds in squalid lanes, are handling today the fruit we shall be eating next month, says the London Daily Mail in an editorial on "The Right to Clean Food." Continuing the paper says:

"That is the disgraceful fact revealed by Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, M. P., who has just investigated the conditions under which fruit and other food are prepared in the Near East. Doctor Guest found that in Smyrna figs, sultanas, and currants are packed on dirty floors, trodden by bare feet coming unwashed from the streets and gutters, and tainted by all the indescribable filth of the East. In theory the consumer is protected by certain safeguards. In practice, the rules are completely disregarded and the medical examination is the merest formality."

Five Years

Mrs. T. G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, said in Minneapolis the other day:

"Women are now more careful, even more reluctant, about marrying, because they can now go out in the world and earn splendid salaries. Marriage is, in a financial way, a great sacrifice to sane women."

"Two women met the other day in a department store. One, a spinster, wore a sensible suit. The other, a matron, wore a three-quarter blue serge. 'Why, Mabel,' said the spinster, 'how glad I am to see you. And they tell me you're married. How long have you been married, dear?'"

"Let me see," said Mabel, "I bought this blue serge five years ago."

Altogether Too Late

A misanthropic young man was railing about the emptiness of life.

"The sooner the world ends the better," he said. "We all ought to be annihilated."

"My dear fellow," his friend replied, "the world's packed with interesting things. They've just discovered that human life began on this earth about a million years ago—and you talk of wiping us all out."

"A million years ago?"

"The papers are full of it."

"Oh, well," said the morbid man, ingenuously, "it's too late to do anything about it, then."

Prove Safety in Flight

Persons who still are fearful of traveling in airplanes might well examine recently issued statistics of the army air service, says Popular Science Monthly. Between the fall of 1922 and the spring of this year army flyers have covered almost 700,000 miles over the model always system without a single death. About 700 passengers have been carried and 60,000 pounds of express matter. There have been fifteen crashes in this period, but only one man has been injured.

British Birds in Japan

Prince Takatsukasa has arranged to take a large shipment of British birds back to Japan. He will endeavor to raise large numbers of them in his native land.

Frightening at Night

Marvelous Tales Told of Reptiles' Strength

The boa constrictor is the largest of African serpents. The average length of a full-grown boa is usually not much over 20 feet. The record boa is without doubt the one which caught a famous explorer in his coils.

Spoke had shot a young buffalo cow which, without knowing it, the snake had been in the act of attacking, and his left arm was caught between the hind legs and was a single fold of the coil. The explorer was forced to stand perfectly still until the serpent had crushed the buffalo and relaxed its coils.

Then he sprang away, and almost at the same instant his friend shot the boa through the head. In its death struggles the monster leveled the grass, bushes and saplings for yards round. It was over fifty feet in length and its greatest girth was nearly three feet.

There is only one other authentic instance of a larger snake being killed by man. That was the anaconda shot in Brazil by Lieutenant Colonel Fawcett, another well-known explorer, and it was mentioned by him in a lecture given before the Royal Geographical society in London.

This immense reptile exceeded sixty feet in length, but could not be accurately measured because a part of its tail remained under water, and the colonel, who had only two terrified Indians with him, was utterly unable to move the giant bulk.

The muscular strength of a constrictor is almost appalling. Some years ago a professional snake tamer named Karolyi was giving an exhibition in Madrid with an 18-foot python. In some way he managed to vex it, whereupon the creature tightened its coils, and with a gasp he fell flat on the stage. When his body was examined it was found that there were no fewer than 87 fractures of various bones.

Old Medical Treatise

The search for the fountain of eternal youth did not begin with the old Spaniard Ponce de Leon. A chapter on "How to change an old man into a young man of twenty" has been found in a treatise of medical science and surgery written 1,500 years B. C. The papyrus on which it is written, says Prof. James Bressani, is "incomparably the most important body of medical knowledge which has survived to us from ancient Egypt, or for that matter from the orient anywhere." In this treatise is a passage which shows that the writer knew that paralysis of one side of the body is caused by a brain affection of the other side. This fact was lost for more than 3,000 years and rediscovered in modern times.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Handicapped

"Dad-burn it!—there art to be a law ag'in preachers riding mules!" ejaculated Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "Last night the presiding elder was coming along the Gogswaller road riding a mule, and the infernal varmint wanted to take the right hand fork of the road and the elder wanted to take the left hand track. According, they started down the right hand fork. Just then there came the sound of a motor horn in the left hand track. The mule jumped out of the road and cut across and got into the left hand track in time to get hit by the car, and turn around and kick h—l out of it. The elder had to pay the owner $25 damages. No, sir; no preacher art to ride a mule. If it had a-been me I could a-handled the anecdote all right; but nacherly the elder couldn't cuss a note!"—Kansas City Star.

Girl's Wonderful Hair

The longest tresses in the world are believed to pertain to the head of a twenty-two-year-old Detroit girl. Her locks measure 78½ inches from root to tip. This unusual growth of hair offers some unusual statistics. It takes her less than two minutes to "do it up," she says, except when it is freshly washed, when the task becomes more difficult. It is considerably longer in front than on the rear of her head. In the sunlight it is multicolored, part of it blonde, part reddish and part brown. In 1920 her hair thinned after an illness. What was left reached her knees, but not much was left. And then it started to get thick and just grew.

Advocates Raw Food

Professor Charles Richet, the famous French anatomist, reported to the Academy of Science (Paris) that carnivorous animals such as the dog, cannot live long when their diet is restricted to cooked meat. His experiments show that the same animals thrive and develop great strength when fed with raw meat.

His latest experiments were made on fish fed with meat. The results were the same as with animals. He says he has demonstrated that cooking destroys vitamins and modifies the muscular albumenoids so as to make them difficult to assimilate.

Telephones in China

The four largest cities in China—Shanghai, Peking, Canton and Tientsin—with an aggregate population of approximately 4,500,000, have fewer telephones than the single American city of Portland, Oregon, although there are fifteen times as many people in the four Chinese cities as there are in Portland.

State Has Many Blind

New Hampshire has more blind people in proportion to population than any other of the states.

Old Town Advances

The oldest town on the North American mainland is Truxillo in Central America. It was discovered by Columbus in 1502 and now its historic streets are illuminated at night by modern electric street lighting units. Electricity is brought to Truxillo by a special 13,200-volt transmission line 15 miles long.

TREASURES IN INDIAN GRAVES

Plunder Taken From Panama's Old Cemeteries.

Perhaps the most interesting cemeteries in the world, those of an ancient Indian race of which little is known, are situated near Bugaba, Chiriqui, Panama. Formerly the graves covered a vast territory, but many have been opened and plundered.

In 1857 a Spaniard who was digging on his plantation in Panama unearthed a grave that contained some gold ornaments. He continued to dig and gathered a fortune before his secret became known. Then everyone began to hunt for gold and thousands upon thousands of graves were destroyed and countless priceless relics were broken and lost to archaeologists.

An idea of the number of graves may be had from the account of Gen. Thomas F. Meagher, who crossed the Isthmus from David to Bocas del Toro, 50 years ago. He writes: "A mile outside of Doleza the party stopped at the house of Robert Soles, the discoverer of the golden relics in the Indian graves of Chiriqui. All the way from David we had ridden through thousands of these ransacked graves, and in every direction for leagues and leagues we might have seen tens of thousands more."

Between 1858 and 1868 thousands of pounds' worth of gold ornaments were shipped to the Bank of England and melted for bullion, and thousands of beautiful pottery vases were broken and covered the ground on the site of the graves. They were of many sizes, shapes and designs, some plain, and some fancifully decorated with quaint and grotesque human figures, some painted in patterns, and some molded in relief. A number had three legs that were hollow and contained little balls that rattled when the vessel was handled. In these vases gold ornaments were frequently found, and it is supposed that the loose balls in the legs were to scare away evil spirits.

Few implements of stone are found in the graves, except a few celts, or grooved axes of stone, a few long knives, and once in a long while an arrow head. Flint knives, or mortars of stone, are sometimes found, carved in the shape of a jaguar or a frog or an armadillo. Stone models in which some of the gold ornaments were made, and also goldsmith's tools of stone, found in the graves, show the people to have been far advanced in civilization.—Youth's Companion.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

REV. S. CONGER HATHAWAY, A. M., PASTOR

Rev. B. F. Farber, D. D., pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian Church of Pittsburg, and a former pastor of this church, will preach next Sunday morning. He will also have a special word for the members of the Men's Class.

NEWBURG

There was a goodly attendance at church last Sunday. Rev. Havens preaching a splendid sermon from the thirteenth psalm. A fine interest is being shown in the Sunday-school. Clyde Smith, Robert Holmes and Edward Smith were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for a Sunday-school picnic to be held in July.

The L. A. S. social which was to have been held Friday evening, has been postponed indefinitely.

Last Saturday evening, a large crowd gathered on the pleasant lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Greer, the occasion being a reception in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Havens and Mr. Havens' parents from Greenfield, Indiana. After a social time, they were invited to the house by the hostess, who presided at a short program consisting of instrumental music by Howard Smith and a solo by Miss Gladys Horton. Mrs. Edward Smith, in a neat little speech, presented the pastor with what appeared to be a shoe box. On opening the box, and removing numerous wrappings, he discovered a jewel case containing a beautiful gold watch with his monogram neatly engraved thereon, and a ten dollar bill. Mr. Havens was so overcome that it was with difficulty he thanked the people for so kindly remembering him at this time of graduation from the state normal. He said the remembrance would be an incentive to be on time at all times. Mr. Havens' mother spoke a few words of appreciation shown her son and wife during the two years they have been at Newburg. Ice cream and cake were then served, after which the company dispersed wishing Rev. and Mrs. Havens God speed in all their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder attended the wedding of Miss Anna Cady and Nelson Butler of Wayne, Wednesday afternoon.

Quite an excitement was caused Sunday afternoon, by a fire that had started on the flats back of Mrs. Ann Farwell's barn. If it had not been for the prompt work of the neighbors no doubt it would have burned the house as well as the barn. The Plymouth fire department responded to the call, but the fire was extinguished before their arrival. Mrs. Farwell wishes to thank all those who hastened to her assistance.

The Epworth League social held at the hall Monday evening, was quite a success. The fish pond, lake side and sale of ice cream netted them a nice little sum with which to defray the expenses of delegates to the Institute at Albion. The company were entertained with solos by Mrs. Paul Havens and piano selection by Miss Angeline Rousseau. Miss Gladys Horton gave two character sketches that were decidedly amusing. Miss Gladys is to be congratulated on the unique manner in which the affair was conducted.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Gatherie of Detroit, have purchased the Rose Ryan farm south of Newburg, and are remodeling the octagon house that was built by Emmet Smith several years ago, into a thoroughly modern and beautiful home. We extend a welcome hand to these young people, they will be a valuable addition to our community life.

Miss Clara Grimm is spending the week with nine of her Normal school-mates at a lake near Jackson.

Mrs. Emily LeVan of Plymouth, and Mrs. Gay Casterline of Flint, spent the weekend at the Ryder home-stand. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clark also called there Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Smittington who have been staying with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thomas, have moved into their garage on the Wayne road, until their new house is finished.

Miss Marie Huff of Detroit, was the guest of her friend, Mrs. Donald Ryder, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ruehle attended the funeral of Mrs. Ruehle's mother in Detroit, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Blair and Mrs. Aldrich spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson and family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in the dreadful calamity that has befallen them. Their oldest son, Woodrow, was instantly killed Tuesday afternoon. An account of the funeral will be given next week.

Miss Carina Penney of Plymouth, gave a basket picnic on Rousseau flats last week, for about twenty of her piano pupils. All had a very enjoyable time.

A most enjoyable time is promised all who attend the old fashioned picnic given by Our Lady of Good Council church people, at Shoreham Park, Livonia Center, on July 4th. There will be games and sports; also a chicken dinner from 12:00 noon till 2:00 p. m. All are cordially invited.

Crankcase Oil Reclaimed

Research workers of the General Electric company recently have developed a method of reclaiming motor oil which, it is said, permits the original filling of oil to be used for the life of the car, says Popular Science Monthly. This system is said to remove the road dust, carbon and other impurities that the oil collects in use. Also the process is said to remove, along with the dust and carbon, certain components of the oil that are useless for lubrication.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

We are pleased to have Rev. B. F. Farber, D. D., of Pittsburg, with us next Sunday, June 29th. He will preach at the morning service and address the men's class. Let us greet him with a large attendance and a cordial hearing.

Members of the Busy Woman's Bible Class and of the Ready Service class were entertained at the C. G. Draper cottage at Silver Lake, last Thursday. A pot-luck dinner was enjoyed, and the afternoon was devoted to swimming and boating. Four auto-loads were in attendance. This week Wednesday the members of the choir were entertained at the same place.

Special effort is being made to have sixty men present in the class next Sunday. This will be the last meeting before August. Fifty-three is the attendance record so far.

Tomorrow, June 27th, the pastor and the mistress of the manse celebrate the nineteenth anniversary of their wedding day.

Lilac bushes from the Joel Bradner estate and from the John Patterson home have been planted on the manse grounds, and in time they will add greatly to the beauty of the manse.

A splendid line of hearses was displayed at the convention this week, but do not wait for them to bring you to church.

Cross Again in Colosseum

Restoration of the cross to the center of the Roman Colosseum has caused much satisfaction to Catholics. More than fifty years ago, in the burst of anti-clerical excitement which followed the entry of the Italian government into Rome, this cross was removed. Recently Minister of Public Instruction Fedele ordered that it be replaced. He publicly regretted that it had ever been removed. For centuries the church has regarded the Colosseum as holy ground because of the many hundreds of Christian martyrs who perished there for their faith. The popes have been zealous in preventing its collapse and in restoring portions of it to their original condition. Now the Colosseum is a favorite resort of Romans on moonlight nights, when the ancient theater of blood echoes with gracious songs and choruses.

Remarkable Orchid

A solitary orchid, described by an expert as the most perfect he had ever seen, was exhibited at the Royal Horticultural society's flower show, Horticultural hall, Westminster, recently, says the Westminster Gazette. It was grown by an amateur, R. Garrish, of the Manor, Milford, Salisbury, whose group of orchids won the society's gold medal.

Viscountess Folkestone is the name given the flower, and it was thought it was very unlikely that it could be repeated in its perfect form.

It forms a perfect circle, and has an outer border of deep-rose pink fading to nearly white. Then there is another ring of brown, and an inner circle of pinkish white. It is the only flower on the stem.

An Archie Bomb

Experiments are now being made, according to a reference in the Canadian Military Gazette of April 14, to an article in the Westminster Gazette, on an anti-aircraft bomb which, within a certain radius of an airplane, "responds to the magnetic influence set up by the metal parts of the airplane." This influence, it is stated, gives the bomb increased velocity toward the plane. No amount of maneuvering by the pilot, according to the description, will enable him to escape, and the plane is doomed. The bomb is launched from the ground and, if found practicable, will eliminate the need of aircraft guns.—U. S. Army Recruiting News.

Hearing With the Hands?

To teach the totally deaf to hear through the palms of their hands is the purpose of an instrument invented by Dr. Robert Gault.

The instrument resembles a telephone receiver and operates on a similar principle to the telephone, except that, instead of carrying sound vibrations to the ear, it causes them to reach the hand or some other sensitive part of the body.

It is necessary for the person using the apparatus to recognize what speech sounds caused the particular vibration he detects through his sense of touch.

METHODIST NOTES

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

Mid-week service next Wednesday night at 7:30.

The pastor will be absent a part of this week and next with the Boy Scouts in camp. But he will be present for the service next Sunday morning and will be pleased to see his folks at church.

Our folks are invited to attend the service in the evening at the Presbyterian church. The two congregations will unite for this service. You will enjoy hearing Brother Hathaway preach.

Another one of our members was taken this week, Mrs. James Briggs. Our sympathy goes to the bereaved family.

BAPTIST NOTES

The program for Children's Day was a great success. "The Soul of a Flower" was well played by the girls of the Sunday-school, as many as twenty-five were on the platform at the same time, taking the part of some flower. The costumes were in keeping with the flowers they represented. The primary school program was great, and all enjoyed the little bits in their recitations and songs and drills. The decorations were fine, representing the fields, woods and evening sky. The committees are to be congratulated that after six weeks' drill, they put on such a program.

The prayer meeting, last Wednesday evening, was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Bennett.

Today's Reflections

How many of you around Plymouth can remember when it was possible for a fellow to do something that wasn't against the law?

To loosen a fruit jar, soak it. And to make a husband loosen up, soak him.

The season of the year is here when college graduates worry over the wages paid to bricklayers.

Science can explain a lot of things, but it can't explain why some Plymouth men always see all of the faults of the other fellow and none of their own.

There are approximately two million laws of all kinds in force in the U. S. In force, not enforced.

Any honest Plymouth citizen will tell you that the difference between a motorist and a gossip, is that the motorist never run down another person intentionally.

Nothing will surprise the June groom more than the speed a bride can show in learning to say mine instead of ours.

Some Plymouth people think that the only thing as bad as too many relatives visiting them is not to have relatives to visit.

You never hear the wife of a poor man doing any bragging about the blessings of poverty.

One thing it won't take the June grooms long to learn and that is that it's a heap easier to love a girl when her father is paying the bills.

What a fine community it would be if everybody around Plymouth spent as much time practicing religion as they spend in arguing about it.

There are a good many useless things you can give a bride, but none so useless nowadays as a cook book.

If printing crime news makes criminals, then why don't printing of cook books make good cooks?

You can't always tell. More than one Plymouth man has the reputation of being "conservative" when the fact is he is merely a slow-thinker.

Mosquitoes are a good deal like children. When they stop making a noise you know they are getting into something.

An imported and registered Belgian stallion and also a Friesian stallion for service. Also heavy draft horses for sale. The old Farm man farm, 2 1/4 miles west of Plymouth on Ann Arbor road. Phone 259-F11. 1566mo

A MOTHER'S VIEWPOINT OF THE YOUTH OF TODAY.

The following interesting paper was written and read by Mrs. F. W. Hillman at a recent meeting of the W. C. T. U.

"About all I have to base my opinion on is what I read and what I see. If I were to agree with much that I read, I would have a very pessimistic message to bring to you. But from my own observation, I am obliged to pass on to you my great faith in our young folks. Young folks are no worse than they ever were. It is the publicity that makes the difference. It isn't the usual we hear so much about—it is the unusual. Using the old illustration—if a dog were to bite a man, there would probably be a little space given to it in the paper, but if a man were to bite a dog, it would get a whole front page.

"Perhaps the young folks do appear all wrong on the outside, but they are all right on the inside.

"They are reacting very differently from the way we reacted in our youth. Of course, they have the home, the church and the school to keep them balanced, the same as we had. The home is the first external influence with which they come in contact—and that has changed in its influence. The Spunkies don't blame the Spunker folks to tell the Spunker.

"The church and the school are handicapped in the proportion that the home neglects its duty.

"We have produced the environment in which our young folks are growing up; we are guiding the destinies of today and we cannot explain their taking attitudes so contrary to our expectations. The truth is, that though we have helped to make the world as it is, it is a new world to them and to us alike, and a very different world from that of our own youth.

"The alterations in the physical environment alone are nothing short of revolutionary. Our generation went longy riding, which was a mild and harmless sport. If the horse ran away or refused to advance, we were not far from home and could walk back. There were no particularly interesting places for us to go within the modest radius possible to us, so we took a ride around a square or walked through the park. Our children have their own cars or borrow fathers'. If the gasoline gives out, or one of many possible things happen, they are probably 70 miles from home, with possibly a dubious road house as their only refuge.

"If a young man wished to take us to the theatre, he came to the house a week before to see if we could go. He sat down with the family to talk it over. A week's warning seemed none too long to assure the excellence of the seats and to add to the joy of anticipation.

"Today, in preparation for going to a show, our young people are called up on the phone ten minutes before the time of starting. An instant reply is necessary, and mother may be some distance from the phone, so the decision must be made without her.

"The situation is not different in kind, but degree. Every activity is accelerated. New conventions will have to be established, planned to meet the new emergencies. Doubtless when the new order has been accepted this old world will have run into new complications and the work will have to be done over for our grandchildren.

"When we were in the world, it was a small manageable place. It was composed of the U. S. with a few unimportant outlying areas. Europe we knew about in some detail; Asia and Africa, dimly; South America and Australia were nearly non-existent, and so far as we could judge, the Philippines were crowded out of the void by the Spanish-American War.

"How is it today?

"A childhood that deeded itself bread and sugar to save the Belgians, that adopted French brothers and sisters, that saved its pennies for the sufferers in the Near East, that bought canned milk for Russian babies, will develop an adult life conscious of world responsibilities.

"Roosevelt said a few years ago that he was always astonished in traveling around the United States, to find how few Americans thought nationally—and he could count on his fingers the people whom he had met that thought internationally.

"No so today. Starting an American journal wholly concerned with foreign affairs, shows how far we have travelled along that line. New inventions are making the world smaller.

"Our young folks are discarding the time-consuming products of a steeper life. They recognize the seriousness of their problem. The restlessness and uncertainty, the drifting and delance of the young people are part of the process of finding themselves, individually and collectively.

"Flappers? It is just emotionalism. So is bobbed hair and bootlegging—just indications of passing unrest that point to higher and saner things. Let them bob their hair and bank their ears. It is no worse than their grandmother with her basement bangs and rats in her hair.

"Dr. W. E. J. Gratz, editor of the Epworth Herald, swept the last conference off its feet as did no other speaker. His ponderous subject was 'Marshalling the Youth for the New Day,' or as he paraphrases it, 'What are we going to do with our young people?' With force, sarcasm and wit and many other things he kept his hearers convulsed with laughter, while he championed the cause of the young people. Defending the girls of today from the indictment that they are worse than their grandmothers, he declared that our young people are doing a splendid job of building character in their day and generation. Young people of today are more open-minded than we were. They have far greater power and more opportunities for going wrong than any other generation of young persons. Power without control is dangerous. So we have the three checks I previously spoke of—the home, the church and the school. The greatest of these is the home.

"How can we expect staidness in their minds and conduct? The marvel is that they are as steady as they are. They dream of bringing order out of chaos, and they resist the pessimism and feel that if we will give them a free hand, all will be well.

"I would like to tell you of a little incident that happened on the train lately. A young girl of the approved Flapper type was sitting at the extreme end of the car. She was busily engaged with a piece of fancy work I know she was not conscious of herself or her apparel—except with the slight virtuous consciousness of being well dressed according to her standard of dressing. She certainly gave no sign of being aware that she was observed by every man who passed entered the car. Yes, her endearing young charms, fully set off by her manner of dress, were evidently noted, if for but an instant only, and then dismissed for the superior charms of the morning paper! It was for me a lot of comely and absorption of the girl in her fancy work and the momentary start and confusion of the masculine newcomer. Suddenly, at my side, from an elderly gentleman who had irritably dropped his Times: "Madam, what would you do if a daughter of yours dressed like that?"

"Why," I replied, "I wouldn't do anything. There is no harm at all in that young girl. She only wants to be in fashion." I said much more in defense of the subject. I experienced a great wave of tenderness for her and a determination to put her case so she might not be misjudged. Apparently it was all in vain. He said, "Well, I have three married daughters with daughters of their own, and I can tell you they would not stand for any such indecency as that."

"However, such extreme cases of dress could be avoided, I believe, if we mothers could teach the principles stated by Dr. Winfield Scott Hall. We could carry our ten-year-old daughters, sympathetically, across the threshold into a radiant, confident young womanhood. The daughter could thus understand the Creator's laws for the life of a woman. First, the person of the woman is sacred to the most intimate experiences of the life in the family circle. Second, the woman makes her social appeal through her personality, never through her person. Whenever she ignores or transgresses this law, she invites disaster.

"As soon as she understands these two laws, the solution of the problems of relationship is clear and direct. She may dress artistically and in the prevailing mode, but she will instinctively choose a modest design in order that there will be no appeal to the person, and that her personality will have a clear field to hold the attention.

"In her social relationship she will permit no familiarities because to do so would be to make the physical appeal instead of the appeal on the plane of personality. Our girls must be taught these laws in early youth, and then the type of dress seen on the girl on the train would not be so common.

"When parents lead their children to be wise and wholesome in their mating, our nation will be in a fair way to produce a generation of citizens who will be ready and effective in world leadership. One certainty, we can hold in our secret hearts, that no matter what revolutionary measures take place, life would beat them into shape as it did us. Love and grief, success and tragic disappointment will teach them as we have been taught. Economic pressures will steady them as they leave every generation since Adam.

"Our young people have a great and exacting task before them. Are we helping them as we should with sympathy and understanding? Are we protecting them from the blight of our misgivings? Are we giving them confidence—not distrust? Are we giving them practical aid and advice—not criticism. Shall we praise when praise is merited and be patient and understanding when they make mistakes?

"We should be thankful to them for the blessing of their strength and courage at our side.

"Hold, ye faint-hearted! Ye are not alone!

Into your worn-out ranks of weary men
Come mighty reinforcements, even now,
Look where the dawn is budding in the east,
Brave with the glory of the better day,
A countless host, an endless host, all fresh,
With unsullied banners and unsullied shields,
With shining swords that point to victory,
And great young hearts that know not how to fear,—
The CHILDREN come to save the weary world!"

A year of watch service...what is it worth to you?

Imagine planning a day's work without a watch to check you up on the time! You'd simply have to get the time from someone else—or guess at it.

Yet the cost of this invaluable service is amazingly slight.

For example, you pay $40 or so for a suit of clothes which lasts you perhaps a year.

The price of your suit invested in a watch gives you many years of faithful timekeeping service, at a cost of only two or three dollars a year!

Just consider what this service is worth to you, and you will readily see the advantage of owning a really good watch dressed in the most modern and beautiful case designed by Wadsworth.

We have an exceptionally fine assortment of high grade watches from which you may choose the one that best suits your taste and purse.

A FATAL AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

A fatal automobile accident occurred on the Plymouth road shortly after noon on Tuesday, when Woodrow, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, was hit by an automobile driven by Roy Streng of this village. The little boy, together with the young son of Levi Clemens, had just alighted from a sedan driven by Mr. Clemens, and going around to the rear of the car, the Wilson boy stepped directly in the path of the car approaching from the west. The Clemens boy saw the car and called out a warning to his companion, who started to run, but it was too late, although he had almost cleared the roadway, when the car driven by Mr. Streng hit him, killing him instantly. Mr. Streng was so close to the unfortunate lad when he darted out from behind the sedan, in front of his car, that it was impossible to avoid hitting him. Justice Phoebe Patterson was called and empaneled a coroner's jury, and the inquest was held at the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. After hearing several of the eye witnesses, the jury returned a verdict of death by accident that was unavoidable. The funeral services for the Wilson boy will be held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, this Friday afternoon, at two o'clock.

OBITUARY

Eveline Rathburn, daughter of John and Elizabeth Mills Proctor, was born at Royal Oak, Michigan, July 13, 1862. At an early age, she moved with her parents to a farm in Nankin township, where her girlhood days were spent. When she was eighteen years of age, she was married to Benjamin Rathburn, who preceded her in death November 10, 1922. To this union two children were born, Marie B., wife of Harvey E. Meldrum of Detroit, and Charles H. Rathburn of Plymouth. Her early married life was spent in and around Wayne and Detroit until 1907, when she moved to Plymouth, where they resided until 1910, going thence to Detroit. She passed away June 17th, 1925, at the home of her daughter, Marie B. Meldrum, aged 65 years, eleven months and four days. She was a member of the Olivet Presbyterian church of Detroit, Rebeccah lodge No. 182, I. O. O. F., of Plymouth, and Nankin Chapter, Order of Eastern Stars No. 238, of Wayne.

Besides her son and daughter, she is survived by six sisters, Mrs. Emma Cartwright, Mrs. Mary Strong, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, Mrs. Abbie Felt, Mrs. Edna Murray, Mrs. Flora McDermott, and two brothers, Frank and George Proctor, one granddaughter and several nephews and nieces who mourn their loss. Always a retiring, home loving disposition, devoted to kindred and friends, she will be greatly missed by all with whom she came in contact.

PIANO RECITAL

The recital in the Methodist Community house last Monday evening, was given by pupils of Miss Anna Youngs, and was a very pleasing exhibition of the musical talent of the children and young people of Plymouth and vicinity. Admiring friends and parents furnished a profusion of flowers, which the little ones received very gracefully and prettily. The older girls were also remembered with flowers, which helped them to realize that the time and effort they had put on their work was appreciated. The good work done by the group of eight boys showed ability and interest. The teacher is to be congratulated on the excellent scholarship shown by the pupils in general. Henry Hutton's rendering of the Flower Song followed by the encore, To a Wild Rose, by McDowell, were enjoyed by all.

FORMER PLYMOUTH GIRL HONORED

Frances Cape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cape of Laurel Blvd., Detroit, won the honor scholarship pin for the junior class of Cass Technical high. Miss Cape is the youngest member of her class and had sixteen A's on her card last semester. Mr. Keal in charge of the scholarship presented the pins at a mass meeting of the students.

Miss Cape is generally known for her brilliant work all through the grades and is continuing through her high school course. The Strathmoor Voice, Strathmoor Section, Detroit, Mich., Thursday, June 18. The Cape family were former residents of Plymouth, and Miss Frances attended the Plymouth schools.

Chief of Police Springer informs the Mail that there is a new law regarding the possession of firearms, namely revolvers, pistols, etc. The new law requires the owner to file with the chief of police in villages and cities, and in townships with deputy sheriffs, information as to make, number, size and calibre of the weapons in their possession. The information can be sent in by mail or given personally to the officers. There is a severe penalty for failure to do so.
