THE WANDERER AT LOCAL THEATRE

MANAGEMENT ANNOUNCES FIVE ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE TOGETHER WITH FEATURE PICTURE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHTS, WITH NO THURSDAY NIGHT SHOW.

The management of the Penniman Allen theatre announce the coming of another of the really big productions, to the local theatre, "The Wanderer," on Sunday and Monday, March 21 and 22.

The largest motion picture set ever constructed and the greatest number of persons ever used for one scene in an American made motion picture are two of the outstanding features of "The Wanderer," the Biblical spectacle, which Raoul Walsh directed for Paramount, and which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, March 21 and 22.

The scene, which is that of an unnamed Biblical city, was built in the foot-hills of Santa Monica, California, and covers many hundred acres of ground. More than two hundred carpenters and scores of technical assistants were at work for more than three weeks constructing the hundred massive buildings and walls for the set.

For the scene depicting the destruction of the city by earthquake and fire, thousands of actors were used as well as hundreds of lions, tigers, elephants and camels. "The Wanderer," according to critics, is the most titanic film effort of the season. More than two years were spent preparing for the production, and four months were required for the actual filming. Many thousands of costumes were prepared, occupying the time of one hundred seamstresses for almost a month. Two crews of men, laboring day and night, worked for weeks constructing the huge interior sets within the studio. A score of jewelry craftsmen were engaged to construct three thousand rings, bracelets and arm bands as were used in the days before Christ.

The cast of "The Wanderer" includes the most distinguished acting talent in the motion picture industry. Among the featured players are listed such names as Ernest Torrence, William Collier, Jr., Wallace Beery, Tyrone Power, Greta Nissen and Kathryn Williams. Other players in the spectacle include Kathryn Hill, George Rigas, Holmes Herbert, Snitz Edwards, Lionel Brahm, Sojin and Duke Kahanamoku.

Beginning Wednesday, March 24th, a change in policy will go into effect at the Penniman Allen theatre. Beginning on that date, five high-class vaudeville acts will be staged, together with the feature picture. These vaudeville acts will be the very best that can be secured, and will surely please the patrons of the local play-house. The feature picture which will be shown on the opening night of the vaudeville acts is Pola Negri, in "A Woman of the World." On Wednesday nights the shows will start at 7:00 and 9:00 o'clock. The admission price will be 50c for adults and 25c for children under 12 years. There will be no Thursday night show. See page ad in today's Mail.

Mr. Joseph Dutton of Sault Ste. Marie, is visiting the Misses Mary Conner and Almada Wheeler.

PROMOTING ROMEO DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PLAY A REAL SUCCESS.

"Promoting Romeo" was the title of a snappy three-act comedy, presented by the P. H. S. Alumni Association to a large audience in the High school auditorium, last Friday evening.

From the rise of the first curtain until the final act, the audience was kept in a continuous uproar, as they followed the crafty schemes of Jack Taylor in his excellent portrayal of Robert Fenwick, who was determined to show his mettle and win the girl he loved by proving to his irate and unsympathetic father that he was made of real stuff in spite of his college education.

The family's colored chauffeur, Romeo Badger, played exceedingly well by Everett Cummins, was the unsuspecting though willing object of his young master's schemes. Romeo's love for his dusky sweetheart, in the person of Rosalie Jones, as played by Boris Coleman, was the prime factor in his determination to rise above the sordid existence of a servant and attain the heights of a delicatessen store proprietor. It was Romeo's ambition in the world of business and delicatessen that gave young Robert the chance to do his first real job of promoting, which his father had never believed he had brains enough to put across.

Of course the promoting was successful, and our hero won his dad over to giving him a chance, to say nothing of the ready consent to marry the girl of his dreams, the dashing young widow, Dorothy Stevens, who was played charmingly at the hands of Miss Alice Hallen.

Harvey Springer as the stern father, Fernie Block as the temperamental piece, Ellen Laible as the shady complexioned mother of the still darker chauffeur, Regina Polley as the sympathetic and indulgent mother of young Robert, together with Russell Reiman, Lila Tegge and Florence Furman complete the cast, which was responsible for the presentation of one of the most enjoyable and best acted local talent comedies Plymouth has been favored with in a long time.

Lisle Alexander directed the production, and is to be heartily congratulated on its accomplishment.

C. OF C. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Senior Class of the Plymouth High school has started the campaign for memberships in the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. The members will make a thorough canvass of the village and vicinity, and if you are not already a member, they will be pleased to receive your membership in this most worthy organization, which means much to the future growth and development of Plymouth. A list of new members will be published next week.

Some very fine pictures for the C. of C. booklet have been turned into the secretary's office. We could use quite a few more and will appreciate it if you will send them in to us.

CITY TO BUILD A NEW PRISON

WOMEN WILL BE QUARTERED IN SPECIAL COTTAGES ON FARM NEAR PLYMOUTH.

Plans for a women's prison, consisting of eight spacious cottages, an administration building and several supplementary structures, to be erected before next winter at a cost of $700,000 on a 220-acre tract near Plymouth, Mich., were announced Friday by the Board of Commissioners of the Detroit House of Correction.

Ground for the new prison, which the commissioners state, will be the most up-to-date institution of its kind in the world, will be broken before the end of April.

One of the outstanding features of the prison will be the opportunities it will afford for the segregation of inmates, considered by prison authorities to be one of the most important phases of correctional work. Each of the cottages will house 36 prisoners, giving the prison a capacity of 288. There are now 240 women prisoners in the House of Correction.

As the prison population increases, additional cottages may be built on the tract.

Under the plans drawn by Albert Kahn, architect, the administration building will contain offices for the superintendent and assistant superintendent, a large visiting room and commissary, receiving and dressing rooms, finger print and Bertillon room, a welfare office and medical examination room. It will be possible to place newly-arrived inmates in quarantine or under observation for two weeks. At the end of that time they will be classified and housed in one of the cottages.

The cottages will be far enough apart to permit of complete segregation of the various groups. In each cottage two matrons will be in attendance. Each cottage will have its own dining room and kitchen and reception room. A plot of ground, large enough for recreational purposes will surround each cottage, which will be made home-like in appearance by flower gardens and lawns.

In the rear of each cottage will be built workshops, consisting of laundries, canning factories and basketmaking rooms. Heat for all the buildings will be supplied from a central power plant. Adjacent to the administration building will be a large chapel and auditorium, as well as school rooms.

The commission members say that the site, because of its distance from Detroit, will be an ideal retreat for women prisoners. It will permit of a varied program of outdoor activities. The women will be permitted to grow small fruits and vegetables.

The new prison, the commission points out, will be unusually beneficial to dope addicts, segregation making special treatments possible.

While the buildings will not have the conventional jail appearance, they will be so constructed as to be secure. They will be built of cement tile, manufactured by the men prisoners at the House of Correction Farm. They will be finished in stucco.

O. E. S. ENJOYS SPECIAL MEETING

PONTIAC O. E. S. PAST MATRONS EXEMPLIFY WORK AS GIVEN IN 1867.

At a special meeting of Plymouth Chapter, No. 115, O. E. S., held at the Masonic temple, on Tuesday evening, March 16th, the Past Matrons of Pontiac Chapter, No. 228, gave an excellent exemplification of the ritualistic work as given in 1867, when first used in Michigan by Robert Morris, founder of the order, being assisted by F. Homer Newton, Junior Grand Warden of the Masonic Grand Lodge, and Charles E. Tower, Worthy Patron of Pontiac chapter. The officers were:

- Worthy President—Ernestine Thompson. Vice President—F. Homer Newton Secretary—Mabel Ruby Treasurer—Eva M. Austin Cond.—Ethel M. Gray Jephtha's Daughter—Elizabeth V. Hutton Ruth—Grace Joslin Esther—Ida G. Grayson Martha—Maude E. Hymers Electa—Rie Sanderson Organist—Grace Wade Warder—Bessie Howell Sentinel—Charles E. Tower Candidate—Gertrude Stockwell Quartette—Martha Covert, Elizabeth Austin, Margaret Hiltz, Linda Kimball.

The costumes were the dresses, as worn in 1867, neat, tasty, becoming. The sedate appearance, dignified, earnest manner, excellent delivery, smiling faces, bewitching, curling ringlets, brought halcyon memories of the long ago to those of mature years, and it is hoped to the modern flapper, a thoughtful comparison.

The ancient ritual, accidentally found, required many months burning of midnight oil, ere finally deciphered, and entitled Pontiac chapter to unbounded praise, being so far superior to the present work, that many regretted it had ever been modified.

Brief remarks were made by several visitors, including Sister James, Past Grand Lecturer of the Grand Chapter of Illinois.

The banquet committee was especially praised for their untiring labors, St. Patrick being remembered, with decorations of green.

The occasion will long be remembered by the 200 members present, as a luminous mile post along life's highway.

Mr. Williams extends a cordial invitation to the public to call and see the new store on opening day, Saturday, March 20th.

Plymouth public schools are experiencing a decided growth this year. Two teachers have been added to the grade force since last September, making a total of thirty-eight teachers in the High school and grades. The total enrollment in grades and High school to date is 1148, with an average number belonging of approximately 1075. There is seldom a week in which the enrollment is not increased by families moving into some house which has been completed. All rooms in the building, which was completed two years ago, are now in regular use. The High school is filled practically to its capacity, and will need, with the opening of school in the fall at least two of the four rooms in the High school building, which are now used for grade work. There is room for approximately fifty, which could be absorbed throughout the several grades before a period of congestion would have arrived.

Unless this spring is materially different from the last two springs, the grade rooms will be practically filled to their limit by June. It is therefore necessary at this time that the Board of Education consider a building program upon which they have been acquiring data in the last two months. It is the unanimous decision of the Board of Education that for the present additional grade room should be built at our central location, because of the economies which would arise for the taxpayers in the saving of additional teachers in physical training, music and art, manual training and additional cost for supervision.

The Board of Education has called a meeting for the 29th of March, at which time the question of purchasing additional school sites will be decided. It is very much to be desired that all who are interested in seeing the full day session for each pupil in school will be present at the meeting on the 29th of March, in order that the building program may be carried to completion and avoid unnecessary half day school sessions, such as were necessary two years ago. A town in the midst of growth and prosperity should not be handicapped by inadequate school facilities, and for that reason the Board of Education is attempting to keep the schools parallel in growth with that of the community.

IT WORKS BOTH WAYS

According to Wesley Thurstin, president of the Ohio State Automobile Association, the smaller towns of this country lose many million dollars annually because of poor roads in the early spring. He says: "If the distance from a person's home to the town where he usually shops is six miles and the roads are in poor condition in early spring, I have found he will drive three miles to get on a good road and drive from six to fifteen miles farther on a good highway rather than take the additional three miles on rough or muddy roads. The auto has eliminated distance. Five or six or twenty miles means very little when a man is on a buying tour and wants to make the trip on good roads."

There is sound logic in that statement, and the business man who does not realize its truthfulness it is time he was doing so. We want roads as nearly perfect as we can get them, but we've got a long way to go. The prosperity of every one of our citizens depends on good roads, for we are only going to prosper in proportion to the amount of trade coming in from the outside. If there is even one day in the year when that trade can't get to town, but is diverted to some other trading point, all of us lose. It is no longer a question of the rural resident alone needing good roads—the town depends upon them, too. And the quicker we join forces and work for the interest of both town and country, the better off the whole community will be.

THE MORTGAGE LIFTER

Some of these days pork may supplant wheat and corn in the kingdom of agricultural products. Residents of Plymouth and community who keep in touch with the country's markets know that the farmer who has hogs to sell at 13c and 14c, a price they have been selling at in recent weeks, doesn't need to worry over agricultural depression. In 1925 packers paid two billion dollars to farmers for meat animals, or fifty per cent more than they paid out in 1924. Sheep and cattle prices were low, but hog prices made up for that, and the hog raiser make money even when he had to fatten with high-priced corn. So the hog is king today. The markets sag with corn and wheat offerings, but pork products hold their price under keen demand. We're always jokingly referred to the hog as "the little mortgage lifter," but it now appears to be more of a reality than a joke.

DON'T THROW THEM AWAY

It may be a little early to start active house cleaning, because most any kind of weather is apt to descend upon us during the next few weeks. But it isn't too early to get rid of the things about the house that you've been promising yourself you would toss out when spring comes. Right now is a good time to dispose of them in a far better way than consigning them to the wood or kindling pile, or the "dump." Someone would be glad to have, at a fair price, that odd chair, bed, table or rug that you are going to replace with a new one. Someone needs the coal, oil or gasoline stove you have made up your mind to get rid of. And it's the same way with farm implements or used autos—someone would be willing to give you a reasonable price for these if they knew you wanted to get rid of them. So make a list of what you have to dispose of, bring it to this office and let us tell you how, for a few cents, you can actually get good money for the very things you have about decided to throw away.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

BY THE MANAGER

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company is preparing to reconstruct many of their overhead lines in Plymouth, replacing load poles and increasing cable capacity to take care of our increasing needs. So, when you see their crews working this spring in the village, you will know what they are doing.

The Wayne County Road Commission also has a little work to do in Plymouth, especially along Ann Arbor street. It seems that some variety of bug whose presence isn't desired needs attention, and the spraying crew will be at work soon getting rid of these pests.

The fire department has had several calls since last report. On the 11th, they visited Wm. Cook's house on Kellogg street, to put out a small roof fire. On the evening of the 12th, the roof of Joe Tessman's house on Harvey street, caught fire, and it was necessary to apply seventy-five gallons of chemicals to subdue the flames. About five hundred dollars damage was done. Later in the same evening, we received a call from Northville. It seems that two calls came in almost together, and from some source our aid was asked. Our boys found that they were not needed.

In this connection, we started to discipline some drivers who violated traffic regulations during fire call. Three men paid five dollars each to Justice Patterson for following the truck too closely or for passing traffic signals set against them. We hope others will take warning from these examples.

Our supply of road oil for 1926 has been ordered. The Standard Oil Company will again furnish the oil, the price being 6.65 cents per gallon at Plymouth. Two cars will come in May and one in August.

Bids for the construction of about 24,300 lineal feet of sanitary sewers this year are being asked for, to be opened the evening of March 20th.

The water and sewer bonds authorized at the recent election will also be sold on the 20th.

The new commission will take over the management of municipal affairs on the 22nd, according to the charter. The new board consists of H. C. Robinson, H. J. Fisher, J. W. Henderson, Henry Hondorp, and one yet to be appointed to complete Mr. Rambo's unexpired term.

We have had considerable complaint about autos and horse drawn wagons driving over parking and sidewalks on Maple avenue. The place for these vehicles is in the street, and it is hoped that no action will have to be taken against individuals other than this notice.

SALEM

Salem was pleasantly surprised by the marriage of Henry Whittaker, a highly esteemed resident of our community, and Mrs. Clara Crockett, a lady who has been a resident of Salem since last fall, and who has won a firm place in the regard of the community. Mrs. Whittaker is the mother of Clifford Crockett, who is a dental student at the U. of M., and is the husband of the teacher of the upper grades of the Salem school. Mr. and Mrs. Whittaker were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crockett on Monday evening at 6:30, and from 7:30 to 10:00, their friends in the Salem Federated church and from the community at large, gave them an informal reception in the Federated church parlors. A very pleasant time was had, during which light refreshments were served, and the happy couple were the recipients of the blessings and best wishes of all assembled. After a sojourn at Edmore, the former home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Whittaker will be at home in the village of Salem.

Mrs. Lottie Hammond is ill at 1 1/2 writing.
D. Toll is driving a new Hudson coach.
Mr. and Mrs. G. Roberts were in Ann Arbor, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Youngs were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hurd, on the Town-line.

Grover Place
PROPRIETOR
DAN. MCKINNEY, Clerk.

Luther Bussey, who has been ill for some time, is not much improved.

Any member of the P. T. A. who can attend the Annual County Meeting and election on March 26th, at the Jones school auditorium, Ann Arbor, will find it a great inspiration. We hope that several from Salem will attend. The meeting is from 10:00 a. m. until 4:00 p. m., with luncheon at 50c per plate at the Chamber of Commerce Inn.

F. C. Wheeler was in town last week Thursday, on business.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Estell Rowland, Sunday, March 14th, a daughter, Gladys Irene.

C. Stanbury, who has been ill for some time, is some better at this writing.

The Ladies' Aid of the Federated church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Fallott, for dinner, March 25th. Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Foreman, were the Misses Emma Ryder, Hazel Kitchener, Dorothy Foreman and Tommy Tucker of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Renwick of South Lyon. Evening callers were Mr. and Mrs. James Dickie of South Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Atchison are announcing the birth of a baby girl, Mary Louise, born March 8th.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whittaker were Sunday dinner guests at the Frank Whittaker home.

The March Church Night of the Federated church was well attended and all enjoyed one of the splendid suppers of the Ladies' Aid, which on this occasion was a ham and egg repast, plus the substantial and trimmings that are always associated with their famous meals.

In addition to the food for the physical man, there was an excellent program rendered. Mr. VanCampen of South Lyon, gave a group of songs. Mrs. VanCampen played piano solos, and Mrs. Hugh Means gave readings. All of these folks did splendidly, and were much appreciated by the audience that heard them. E. Quackenbush, a former resident of Salem and now the principal of two of the intermediate schools of Highland Park, gave a finely prepared address that held his audience, and was a source of instruction and inspiration.

These monthly "Church Nights" are given with a two-fold object in view. The first motive is to keep vital and active the church that gives them, and the second even in a larger sense than the first, is an endeavor to foster and develop a kindly, vigorous and tolerant community spirit. All the people of the vicinity are cordially invited to attend them and thereby aid the Federated church in this worthwhile endeavor. A "Church Night" will be held during the month of April, and the announcement of the menu and program will be given at a later date. A brief summary of Mr. Quackenbush's address follows, terminated with the poem that he wrote for the occasion.

E. J. Quackenbush gave the talk at the Wednesday evening "Church Night," March 10, on the theme of "Our Heritage and Our Duty." He gave some interesting facts concerning the early history and pioneers of Salem, and how through their work and sacrifices, we received as an heritage, good health, fine homes, splendid education, and better than all, an excellent religious training.

As recipients of these legacies, we individually and as a community, are in duty bound to use and improve upon them. He pointed out to us that we should go our utmost to secure and maintain the best of health in this community. He spoke at length for the maintenance of the best of educational advantages; the rural high schools so that the work the child needs may be secured near home. He warned us against some of the mistakes that are apt to creep in and especially urged that moral and religious teaching be an important part of school training.

He said that our future as a community, and also nation did not depend upon financial growth, but on the growth and development of the moral and religious life of the young people; that the personal liberty craze is especially dangerous if the moral and character training is side-tracked.

He did not believe that the present carnival of crime was due to passage of the 18th amendment or the Volstead Act, but to the lack of character training in the home, school and churches. Religion, he thinks, is not a matter of creed, but the personal relation between the individual and the Creator, and as such, can be taught as well in a community church as in a creedless one, especially in our rural districts.

Our religious inheritance is national as well as individual, and because of this the foreigner from non-protestant christian countries never feel at home regardless of what we do to Americanize them, and they, therefore, tend to colonize and segregate and for that reason he favors restricted immigration and the conferring of citizenship to a much greater degree than at present.

Mr. Quackenbush has very decided views on immigration and citizenship, having had charge of schools in foreign districts, often enrolling as many as 25 to 30 nationalities largely from southeastern Europe. After giving some very pleasing and interesting incidents of his work in these schools, he closed by reading the following poem as a word of appreciation to the old and new friends of Salem and vicinity:

As I roam here and there, ere my journey's end,
May I always find friends just and true:
May Dame Fortune in kindness, my daily path bend
To a bunch of good people like you.
In this life, I have found that we get what we give;
We are done to, for sooth, as we do;
So my wish is that I might live while I live
With a bunch of good people like you.
There's a glint in your eye, there's a clasp in your hand,
There's a tone in your voice always new;
I think Heaven must be some sort of a land
With a bunch of good people like you.
Here's a pledge to your health, to your joys, your success,
For the folk of your kind are too few;
There is something to hearten to gladden and bless
In a bunch of good people like you.
So I pledge you again, and can only say this,
And it springs from a sentiment true,
I shall always regret every hour I must miss
From a bunch of good people like you.

ANOTHER VERY INTERESTING LETTER

Senlac, Sask., Can.
March 6, 1926.

L. B. Samsen, Plymouth, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

As a former resident of Plymouth, I accept the kind invitation for letters.

Last August I left Detroit, my present home, for a visit with my son, Frank Newman, in the far west. We live five miles from the town of Senlac, Sask., on a large farm. Senlac is a small town in the northern part of Saskatchewan.

I notice many changes on the farm and in the surrounding country since my visit here eleven years ago. The old log buildings have been replaced by new houses and barns. The town of Senlac has also increased in population and in buildings. There are now three large stores, a town hall, a high and public school, a garage and blacksmith shop, a municipal hall, three grain elevators, a bank, drug store, two butcher shops and two hotels. There are also two new churches—Union Church of Canada and Church of England—besides many residences. There are now telephones and radios throughout the country. Horses and buggies have been replaced by automobiles for pleasure driving.

My son's farm is fairly large, consisting of four hundred and eighty acres. The buildings are situated in a pretty little valley; there are hills on one side and a large bluff on the other side, which serve as a shelter from cold winds in winter and is sheltered from the hot sun in summer. This is one of the mildest winters the west has ever seen.

My son was one of the first settlers in this part of the country. He and a friend came from Montana in a covered wagon, and took up land here. He thrashed his first wheat on the ice by having horses trample on it. During his first year's farming here he had many troubles with the Indians of the neighborhood. The early settlers suffered many hardships as there were no railroads through here.

Now, I will explain our living in the west. The average horse outfit for land working consists of eight horses. The tractors have proved a failure, so horses and large implements are used instead. Wheat and oats are the chief crops grown, as there is little mixed farming in the west. There are large herds of cattle and horses raised on the farms, also. All stock is branded and put in a stock reserve in the summer. The horses that aren't used in the winter are turned out on the ranges and find their own living on prairie wool. All varieties of vegetables are grown in the garden here. We have many wild fruits, such as saskatoons, red raspberries, red currants, strawberries, plum cherries and gooseberries, and all have a rich flavor when preserved. Also small quantities of tame fruits grow in the gardens.

Every fall we have a couple of months or so for the game season. Hunters shoot wild ducks, wild turkeys, prairie chickens, Hungarian partridges, wild partridges, wild geese and rabbits. Not many miles north of here there are herds of deer. Last fall my son shot five geese, fifty ducks, and as many rabbits, prairie chickens, etc., as we could eat. So the west has game in abundance.

I will now close for this time, sending my best regards to my many friends of Plymouth. I remain,
Yours truly,
MRS. O. NEWMAN.

DEATH OF LITTLE GIRL

The community was saddened last week to learn of the death of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Geney's little one-year-old daughter, Virginia, who had been ill with scarlet fever, then diphtheria set in. Wednesday, they took the little one to Ann Arbor, thinking something might be done to relieve it, but their efforts were of no avail, as she passed away a short time after arriving at Ann Arbor. A short service was held in Wayne cemetery, Thursday afternoon, by their pastor, Rev. Paul Havens, who spoke comforting words to the bereaved parents and others who loved this little one so dearly. They have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement. Fold her, O Father, in Thine arms, And let her henceforth be A messenger of love between Our human hearts and thee. —Whittier.

There was a good attendance Sunday last, to listen to Rev. Ralph Harper of Dixboro, who preached, taking for his text, "Behold I Make All Things New," Rev. 21:5. There were 96 in Sunday-school; pretty good considering so many are sick. Rev. Havens preached in the evening, taking for his theme Peter's denial of Christ. The chorus choir rendered fine music as usual. Next Sunday evening, the colored sextette of Detroit, will give a sacred concert. A silver collection will be taken. This will be a splendid musical treat that seldom comes to as small a place as Newburg. Mrs. Gunnell of Detroit, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Melvin Gutherie, this week. Last week Tuesday evening, Mrs. James McNabb entertained those who took part in the recent play, also their husbands and wives. A most enjoyable evening was spent with various games for which some nice prizes were given by the hostess. Delicious refreshments were served, and all felt they had been amply repaid for their taking part in the play. Howard Holmes and little sister, Thelma, are having an attack of whooping cough. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith returned home last week Wednesday, after spending six weeks in Plymouth, keeping house for their son, Glenn, and wife, who just returned from their trip to the Pacific coast. They report a wonderful time and some swift driving, making 700 miles the last two days of their trip. Callers at the Ryder homestead Sunday afternoon, were: Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Russell Shields and baby of Detroit. Thomas Wilson is working for Mr. Hearn this week, doing carpenter work. Lewis Brown and daughter, Neva, and Glenn and Clyde Pierson of St. John, spent the week-end with William and Clyde Smith. They returned to their home Sunday afternoon, talking with them Miss Glenn Brown, who had been visiting her several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder motored to the cemetery 14 miles beyond Adrian, Tuesday, to visit the grave of Mr. Ryder's grandmother, who was buried there in 1851. Mr. and Mrs. Levandowski and Mrs. Zielasko attended the funeral of Peter Matthew at Wayne, Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Dolatowski and family of Detroit, spent last Saturday evening at the Levandowski home. Miss Clara Yester spent Sunday at the home of her parents on Wayne road. Mr. and Mrs. Moranty of Vernon, Mich., spent Sunday at the home of the latter's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levandowski. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zielasko and family spent Sunday with the latter's mother in Detroit. Mrs. Levandowski entertained fifteen friends at her home Saturday evening, the occasion being the birthday of her son, Raymond.

The Mowby Twins

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright)

EVERETT and Ernest Mowby were twins, and most people could not tell them apart; but Ida Claridge said there was very little resemblance between them: it was surprising people could not see how superior Everett was to Ernest. Ida was eighteen. The Mowby twins had just come to twenty-one—an age at which any normally constituted boy knows more than he ever will again. And both Everett and Ernest knew that they were in love with Ida.

As frequently happens in the case of twins their mental processes were connected by some mysterious link which resulted in a similarity as striking as their physical resemblance.

"By the Sacred Fire of Onondaga," said Everett one day: "I am going down to New York and make a fortune and come back and marry Ida Claridge. There is no chance for a fellow in this burgh."

"And I'll go with you," said Ernest. So Everett had a very tender parting with Ida and Ernest had a very formal one—for had she not chosen Everett instead of himself and could one twin be disloyal to another?

Everett and Ernest went to the big city—and they succeeded in their schemes for its spoliation. Also they grew to look more and more alike. Ida and Everett had promised to write each other often.

But at the end of the second year the exchange of missives had become fitful and intermittent—the pulse of love was skipping beats in an alarming manner.

The fact was that Everett had looked upon Agnes Carr and had seen that she was fair. Also he had looked up her father's rating in Bradstreet's and had found it more than fair. And here came the first divergence in the mental processes of the twins. Or, maybe, the divergence had nothing to do with mental processes. As far as Ida Claridge was concerned their egos were twins no longer. Finally Ernest probed Everett as to the true situation. Everett frankly acknowledged that his love for the fair Ida had evaporated, or flown away, or something—anyway he could not find it lying around anywhere.

"And do you still correspond?" asked Ernest.

"Oh, once in a while," replied Everett. "But I guess Ida is as tired of the business as I am and is only prevented from telling me so by a fear of hurting my feelings. I'd tell her myself that we had better drop it—only a man can't do that very well, you know. A proposition of that kind has got to come from the lady."

"Let's see—how have you been here four years now," said Ernest. "I think I will take a trip up home next week. There's none of our folks living there now, to be sure—but I would rather like to see the old place again." And pursuant to this declaration up state went Ernest. The first thing he did upon his arrival in the old home town was to seek out Ida Claridge. He found her sitting in a hammock, swung in the apple orchard, at one side of the house—and the apple trees were all in bloom. With the toe of one dainty little shoe just touching the ground she swung herself to and fro meditatively. The sunbeams came dancing down through the trees and tangled themselves in her hair; her pink and white complexion vied with the blossoms swaying above her; her dreamy blue eyes—in short four years had transformed a rather gawdy girl into a beautiful young woman. But to Ernest she had not changed a bit—she had always been beautiful to him.

"Oh, Everett," she cried, "how you startled me. I should have known you anywhere. I was just thinking of you two boys. Sit right down here and tell me all about Ernest—and about yourself, of course."

"I am Ernest," said he. For some reason Ida seemed rather relieved and laughed pleasantly. "Well," said she, "tell me about yourself then—and about Everett, of course. You know Everett and I used to fancy we were in love with each other—when we were children. My, but I am glad to see you."

Ernest stayed in the old town three weeks; at the end of which time Ida told him: "It was only after you and Everett had been away a while, and I began to realize that it was you that I was thinking about, Ernest, that I woke up to the fact it was the Ernest twin and not the Everett one that I was really in love with." When he wrote to Everett announcing their engagement he said that a magnificent wedding present and his blessing—and promised to Agnes Carr the same night.

During the evening fancy dances were given by the Misses Angeline Rousseau, Doris Whipple and Dora Gallimore. A chorus of about a dozen girls from the church rendered several selections as did also Wayne VanDyne. Each one of these numbers was well given and much appreciated.

The Juniors took in $250 with their play, "Seventeen." They expected to clear about $200.

The Senior class has decided on giving "Kempy" for their play. Watch for further notice.

Orvid Burden, Adam Mandl, Leroy Segnitz, Charles Root, Elizabeth Strong and Vaun Campbell attended the music memory concert Tuesday in Orchestra Hall. The school finals come Friday, March 19.

The mechanical drawing class has made much progress in lettering.

The spelling teams in grades seven and eight will be selected by spell-downs to be held Thursday afternoon and Friday morning.

GRADE NOTES

Miss Holt's room the 3B has a bird chart, upon which everyone who sees a bird, put its name, where and when he saw it, since the class has been studying them.

Miss Hall's 3A grade had green and white banners and arched bands in the exhibition. Levi Sockov, Beth Northrop, Reulth Starkweather and Eugene D'Angelo have perfect records for this semester. They have been neither absent nor tardy.

In the 2A, Miss Harford's room, they made a health poster on, "When to Use Our Handkerchiefs." Section 1 has just finished a book called, "In Animal Land."

In Miss Harris' 3A and 4B grades the colors for the exhibition were green and gold. They have on their blackboards a border with elves of yellow and green shamrocks. In their spelling contest, Gilbert Adams and Mildred Wiggins are ahead.

4A and 5B, Mrs. Mole's room, had pink and green for their colors, and played dodge ball for the exhibition.

In Miss Dixon's room, 3A grade, Miriam Miller is so far the best speller in the room. Their colors for the exhibition were red and white. They made pictures of hats, shamrock and pipes for St. Patrick's Day. They are learning to tell time.

In the 5A and B, Mrs. Bird's room, they are busy preparing for the big spelling contest, Friday. Irene Humphries, Ardyth Baker, Grace McGorey and Howard Schultz have not missed a word as yet. They are working upon China and Japan, and are making booklets and writing stories about them. Miss Forsythe is helping with the covers.

Miss Jaffke's 5A room is holding a contest this month between the boys and girls to see which will have the least tardiness and absence. Their colors were purple and gold.

Miss Logan's 2A and 2B room has made Spring books, in which they put everything they see that pertains to Spring, pictures, birds and flowers.

Miss Orr's 4A. This room's colors were blue and white. It has a new pupil, Dolite Taylor of Essex, Ont. Cora Ruthburn, Esta Cole, Ariene Tjo and Jeannette Lath have returned to school after having the measles.

Miss Hallahan's 6B and A room has lost Mary Albright, who has gone to Milwaukee. The B division spelling average this last week was 99 per cent, the A division was 97 per cent.

The spelling contest waged between the B and A classes of Miss Doneen's third graders, has B for the winners. Curmon Ellis has the whopping cough. The room colors are lavender and white.

Plymouth High school defeated Roosevelt High school, Tuesday, at Ypsilanti, in the last league game of the season. Score 32 to 8. Doubt if Plymouth scored 22 points.

PLYMOUTH-YPSILANTI CENTRAL

The Plymouth-Ypsilanti Central basketball game, played last Saturday night in the Ann Arbor High school gymnasium, was one of the most exciting of the tournament. Both teams were well represented by rosters, who cheerfully gave away their voices in an effort to arouse the boys to action.

The first quarter ended 2 to 1 in favor of Plymouth. Almost always the ball was in our territory. Many times the boys shot for the basket, only to barely miss it. A number of fouls were called on Ypsi, but Doubt was unable to make the baskets.

The last three quarters ended in a close score as did the first. Plymouth was in the lead until the last quarter. A basket on the Ypsi side tied the score. This seemed to dishearten the Plymouth quintet, but it spurred the Ypsi fellows on to action. Plymouth played a good game, nevertheless, both on defensive and offensive. The boys displayed good team-work, but were not as lucky in making baskets as in former games.

The final score was 12 to 17 in favor of Ypsi. Even though our boys were on the short end of the score, we must not say that we lost. Instead, Ypsi won. Our boys must be commended on their good team work and hard vigorous playing.

The line-up was as follows: Doubt, f.; Carney, r. g.; Lockwood, c. g.; Hubert, c.; Hickey, f.

The substitutions were: Kurze for Hubert, Rambo for Hickey, Mills for Kurze.

BRIGGS SCHOOL NOTES

By Marie Humphries, Fifth Grade Reynolds, Alvin and Edward Baumann left school last week Wednesday. We gave a party for them, and also gave them presents as remembrances of the children and teacher.

Mrs. Charles Wolff and Viola visited school last Friday afternoon.

The third graders are making Pussy Willow booklets for language. The older children made blue birds for window decorations.

Lena and Myrtle Booker are sick with the grippe. We are selling pencils to get a first aid cabinet for our school.

MEETING OF ZONE A AT NEWBURG.

The March meeting of Zone A was held at Newburg, Saturday, March 5, with Miss Hazel Reddenan, Mrs. Louva Waterman and Miss Margaret Griffith as hostesses.

The morning meeting opened at ten o'clock. Mrs. Sharpe gave a short talk on safety, and gave us each a sample of currants sent by the Greek Red Cross to the pupils of Junior Red Cross in Wayne County.

Miss Gwinn talked of our attendance problems.

Miss Cochrane explained our March envelopes.

Mrs. Louva Waterman taught a demonstration lesson in nature study. Her pupils told interesting stories of Luther Burbank's life.

President McKenney of Ypsilanti Normal College, gave an interesting talk to the teachers.

Miss Cochrane, our helping teacher, taught a second grade demonstration lesson in nature study, using Miss Griffith's pupils. This ended the forenoon meeting.

A splendid luncheon was served by the Newburg P. T. A. ladies. The afternoon meeting was called to order by our president, Miss Olive Elden.

Mrs. Paul Havens of Newburg, gave a beautiful piano solo. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Donald Ryder gave a humorous reading. Mr. Wagner and Henry Hutton gave a violin and flute number, accompanied by Mrs. Wagner at the piano. Miss Ione Bird, in behalf of Zone A, thanked the Newburg ladies for the splendid luncheon.

Miss Ada Ely invited Zone A to Deckay school for the April 3rd meeting. This will be a joint meeting of Base Line and Deckay schools.

Miss Lois Corbett delightfully entertained us with her records and music stories. Mr. Brown of Ypsilanti State Normal College, was the speaker of the afternoon. The meeting was adjourned by all singing "Michigan, My Michigan."

ZONE MEETS AT COOPER SCHOOL

Automobilists, speeding by on the Middle Belt road, Saturday, March 13, wondered at the number of cars parked near the door of the Cooper school in Naukin township. Had the former been acquainted with the rural school system of Wayne county they would have known that the teachers and patrons of Zone B were holding their monthly meeting.

The minutes of the monthly envelopes were discussed by Miss Cochrane and the teachers. The new subject, which will be emphasized during the month of April will be nature study. Demonstration lessons in nature study and history were taught respectively by Miss Lorraine Cochrane, helping teacher, and Miss Lillian Rubel, teacher of the Perrinsville school.

The mid-day meal served to the guests was very delicious. Much credit is due the patrons of the Cooper school, as that was their first attempt at entertaining Zone B. Their efforts, which were very successful, were appreciated by the teachers.

The meeting of the afternoon was very ably conducted by Mrs. Nellie Beyer of the Stark school, in the absence of the president of Zone B.

The following program was pleasantly enjoyed by an attentive audience:

Playing Visit—Three Little Girls of the Cooper School Health Song—Pupils of Cooper School Playlet—"Aunt Susan"

An address of "Friendly Service" by Miss Olive Gwinn, Red Cross Social Service Worker

Violin Solo—Miss Muriel Fischer accompanied by her mother.

Mrs. Lois Barrington Sharpe gave a health talk, and introduced the visiting nurses from other states.

Mr. Frostie, superintendent of Wyandotte schools, gave a very interesting address, "What We Read."

Miss Lorraine Cochrane, helping teacher of Zone B, expressed her appreciation of the efforts of all those who helped make the Zone meeting a success.

Miss Jennie Grimm of the Coonville school on Warren avenue, extended an invitation to the Zone to hold the next meeting at that school, April 10. Everyone is invited to attend. A special effort will be made to have every school in Zone B represented by patrons and friends, as the coming meeting will be the last one of the year. Come out and see how well you will be entertained.

Buick is More Expensively Built

But it Costs Less

to Buy one

Buick is built more expensively than any other cars in or near the Buick price class.

"Expensively built" means that the different parts and units of the Buick motor car are the best that engineers can design. But, thanks to the large volume which public demand has given to Buick, and thanks also to production methods that are models of efficiency in an efficient industry, the Buick motor car can be sold to you at a very moderate price.

Many Buick features are duplicated only in America's highest priced motor cars.

Buick, for instance, uses the Torque Tube Drive to transmit the drive of the rear wheels to the chassis, instead of burdening the rear springs with this added duty. The highest priced car in America uses the torque tube. And so does Buick! The American public wants finer transportation and Buick provides it at lower cost. Consequently Buick is a very popular car. Come in and examine the Better Buicks.

Both in appearance and in service, concrete is the aristocrat of pavements

What Concrete Pavement Did for Cass City

Until about three years ago the main thoroughfare in Cass City, Michigan, had nothing but a gravelled surface. Heavy traffic made upkeep costly. No wonder local authorities and taxpayers became disgusted.

In 1923 they decided to put an end to this sorry state of affairs. Profiting from the experience of other Michigan cities, they decided to pave with portland cement concrete.

Cass City has taken on a new air of prosperity. Store fronts have been repaired and painted. Farmers come to town more frequently to trade. Tourists stop to spend their money. Business is a lot brisker—since the coming of concrete.

Anyone in and around Cass City will tell you what a wise investment this has been.

Concrete streets will bring new prosperity to any city, and at the same time put an end to costly street maintenance.

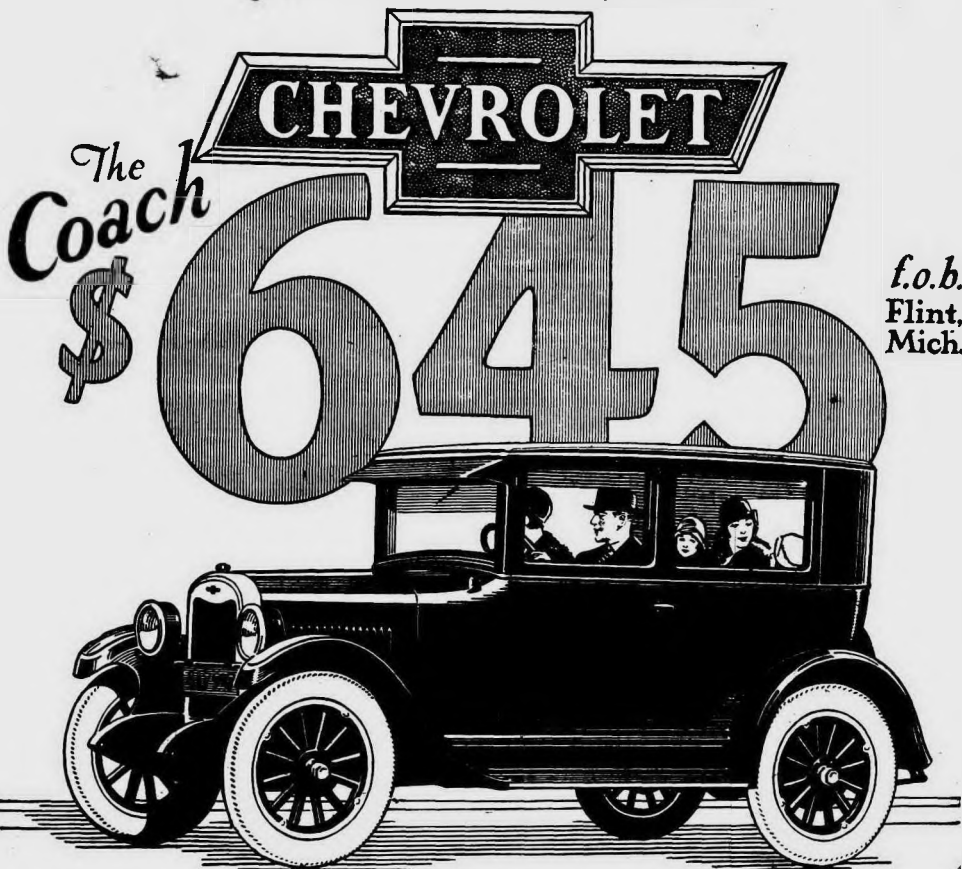

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

PERE MARQUETTE R. R. EXPANDING FACILITIES

MEETS INCREASING TRANSPORTATION DEMANDS OF WEST SIDE INDUSTRIES.

To meet the ever increasing demands of industries in west Detroit and to facilitate traffic generally, the Pere Marquette railway within the past year has completed certain work and carried over other projects that are now nearing completion, according to a statement by railway officials.

These, inclusive of the grade separation work at Plymouth road, in which the Pere Marquette participates to the extent of 50 per cent, aggregate nearly $600,000 in cost. In addition to this work, there have been several industrial switches constructed by various firms, which are not included in the amount given.

The greater part of this work is in the western and northwestern part of Detroit, the principal item being the construction of the new yards at Oak, which involves the building of seven and a half miles of new track, five pile trestles, a cinder pit and a yard office, at an estimated cost of $185,000.

This work was undertaken last year and is being carried on with the regular staff of employees. When completed, it will afford considerable more storage room for cars, and also will provide tracks for making up and breaking up trains thereby relieving the yards located closer to the city.

New track facilities at Twelfth street were completed in 1925. This represented the construction of 3,500 lineal feet of additional driveways at a cost, including the necessary drainage, of approximately $50,000. The track changes in themselves involved the expenditure of $7,500.

The improvements on the west Detroit branch involved, among other items, a track extension of 1,270 feet, costing $4,200; two new standpipes, $7,500, and rebuilding of the tracks on the east end of the West Jefferson avenue spur, where 2,300 feet of track was rehabilitated at a cost of approximately $15,000. This spur is a joint one with the Wabash railroad and the cost of repairs will be borne equally by the two lines.

Grade separation work is nearing completion at the Plymouth road crossing. This project involves total expenditures of $256,000, of which the company bears one-half.

Arrangements have also been completed for extension of the Pere Marquette-Wabash joint tracks, which soon will be under way. This includes the extension of the Solway switch lead, 3436 feet, at an estimated cost of $13,000, and the rebuilding of the West Jefferson avenue spur at the west end and extending it 130 feet, at an estimated cost of $18,000.—Detroit Free Press.

INSURED TITLES

What is a guarantee policy and how does it compare with a Torrens certificate? A guarantee policy insures the owner or mortgage holder against loss on account of defects in the title. The title company proposes to do what a fire insurance or a life insurance company will do in case of loss of property by fire or loss of life by death.

A title insurance policy, however, differs in important respects from either a fire insurance or a life insurance policy. In case of loss by fire, proof of destruction of the property is a very simple matter, and usually the loss can be quickly and easily settled. Much the same conditions apply to proof of death and of settlement of claims in case of life insurance. However, if defects of title are discovered and unexpected claims appear, the matter is not so simple. Under conditions in the guarantee policy, the title company agrees to make good when an actual loss is incurred.

Before settling such claims the case is likely to be fought out in the courts of last resort, and in the meantime, the owner cannot dispose of his property. It has frequently happened that the buyer would not be satisfied with the guarantee policy furnished by the title company and would have his own attorney examine the abstract. In this way a defect has sometimes been discovered which was considered a real cloud on the title.

Refuse to Cure Defect

In such cases it has often happened that the title company would refuse to cure the defect, standing on its rights under the policy, that the company would only make good when the owner had suffered an actual loss. Title companies have been known at times to guarantee over a known defect in the title and have taken chances on a possible loss. It has often happened that careful attorneys examining the abstract on their own account have refused to accept a guarantee policy, because defects were found that had never been cured.

In such cases the seller has no recourse, because the company will do nothing until sued by a claimant or until the owner has suffered a loss. In the meantime the owner does not have a merchantable title, and he loses a chance of selling his property.

The reason the Title Company is likely to be stubborn in its stand is, it has no inherent power to cure the defect. This power belongs to the state, and under the state law the Torrens System provides the means of curing defects and permanently clearing clouds from title to land.—C.

METHODIST NOTES

There will be special Lenten services during Holy Week.
The Boosters have their regular pot-luck supper and social program, Friday evening.
Miss Elizabeth Grennan, Ann Arbor district missionary, stationed at Manila, P. I., will be the speaker, next Sunday morning.
The ladies' chorus last Sunday evening was a great success, and the quartet was much enjoyed by all. Next Sunday evening, there is to be a full mixed chorus.
Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Chrysler of Detroit were week-end visitors at the parsonage.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

We are glad to learn that I. W. Hummel, an elder in the Presbyterian church, who met with a serious accident some weeks ago, and who is in St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor, is making progress toward recovery.
The Sunshine Circle girls are planning a "shadow" social for Tuesday, March 23rd. Each lady is asked to provide refreshments for two, and the men are going to help in the consumption of the good things.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

At the Lenten service, last Tuesday evening, the special preacher was the Rev. H. E. Ridley, rector of the Church of the Ascension, who preached a very impressive sermon.
St. John's, Plymouth has certainly been very fortunate, especially at this season, in securing a different preacher from Detroit each week during Lent, and we very much appreciate the efforts of these clergymen in leaving their own parishes in Detroit and coming out to us in Plymouth.
Next Tuesday evening, the Rev. Harry Midworth will be with us, and will bring out some of his choir, and our musician, the Rev. Charles Wesley, urges all those who can to be with us on that evening.

Our Sunday-school, we are happy to say is on the increase, and we greet new members practically every Sunday, and when our new courses of lessons arrive, we believe that further interest will be shown, both by pupils and teachers alike. As we mentioned before, the men's club, The Men of St. John's are taking some active part in the Sunday-school, inasmuch as they are defraying the expense of the new courses of lessons for one year at least.

Talking about the club, The Men of St. John's, they certainly had a splendid time, last Monday evening, when they all went into Detroit and had supper with Bishop Page at the Diocesan parish house. It was "Bishop's Night" and there were some two hundred men present. Supper was served at 6:15, and after supper we listened to a splendid address by Rabbi Franklin of the Jewish synagogue, who was the special speaker for the evening, and who spoke very powerfully on relationship of the Jew and Christian. At the end of the evening, the Men of St. John's, Plymouth, by special arrangement with Bishop Page, placing certain propositions as to the future of Plymouth before the Bishop and the Diocesan executive committee. The interview, in which the Bishop showed much interest, was very satisfactory and lasted for one hour and a half. The men arrived back in Plymouth close on the hour of 12 o'clock.

Attention is again called to the Lenten service, next Tuesday evening, at 7:30, when the Rev. Harry Midworth and a special choir will be present. All are welcome.

A CARD—We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their sympathy and beautiful floral offerings during our sad bereavement.

Following the supper the meeting was called to order by our president, Mrs. A. O. Huston. This being followed by the election of a secretary, Mrs. Albert Griffin was the efficient person elected. Various business matters were disposed of at this time.

Fischer of Belleville, who is assistant deputy school commissioner of Wayne county, spoke on the value of a person's time; how some people use it to good advantage, while others waste most of their time. His speech was much enjoyed by everyone present. Mr. Fischer also spoke of the splendid co-operation which the P. T. A. had shown, and also the social side of the association.

The visitors were: Miss Alice Hutchins, Miss Reid, William Dayton, Lee Rogers.

The next meeting will be held the second Wednesday evening in April.

HOME of our first President here, indeed, is a truly great monument to his memory. Overlooking the Potomac—it still stands for all that is really American.

Perhaps nothing else in our national life holds such a place in the hearts of Americans as Mount Vernon.

Built of wood, it has stood for years in all its quiet and imposing dignity. Quiet—beautiful—it radiates a feeling of hominess and hospitality, a striking example of the desirability of wood as a building material.

 The Commission then adjourned.

THE THEATRE

"THE MASKED BRIDE"
 Mae Murray, dancing beauty, is a study in evolution.

On the stage, a beautiful butterfly, then, on the screen, the same, gradually becoming known as a dramatic actress of wonderful emotional possibilities.
 Now comes "The Masked Bride," her sensational story of the Paris underworld, playing at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, March 20. It presents a new Mae Murray—perhaps the ultimate Mae Murray, although such a thing is hard to fathom, in view of such surprises as "The Merry Widow."

The story, a gorgeous Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Christy Cabanne, is a dramatic episode in which a great love and an Apache plot are set amid gorgeous cafes, glittering palaces, and sinister underworld haunts. Miss Murray flits through a creature of wonderful beauty, in glittering gowns, daring, sometimes, but always beautiful. Then—in a trice—she drops this role and does some acting so remarkable that she holds her audience breathless. This is the strange versatility of Mae Murray.

A great cast appears. Francis X. Bushman makes an imposing hero, and Roy D'Arcy, the Crown Prince of "The Merry Widow," has a great role as the suave Perfect of Police. Karl Dane, Basil Rathbone as a smooth crook, and Chester Conklin who furnishes inimitable comedy relief are also in the cast.

"A WOMAN OF THE WORLD"

Ever since Pola Negri flashed across the film horizon, picturegoers have been clamoring to see her in an up-to-date story with an American setting. Here it is—"A Woman of the World"—a vital, modern love-drama, packed with dazzle and comedy as well as romance and emotional strength, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, March 24.
 As for the background, most of the action takes place in Maple Valley, Iowa, which has all the rural atmosphere and homespun flavor of the typical American small town.

Pola has the assistance of a tip-top supporting cast, headed by a quartet of outstanding players: Charles Emmet Mack, a D. W. Griffith discovery; Holmes, Herbert, famous stage and screen star; Chester Conklin, one of the foremost film comedians of the day; and Blanche McHaffey, ex-Follies favorite, who makes a delightful ingenue.

Miss Negri's role is an extremely sympathetic one. She is a European Countess, whose romance in Paris comes to an abrupt ending when she discovers that her lover has been unfaithful. She comes to America to forget and eventually arrives in Maple Valley to visit some distant relatives. Her experiences in this rural community, and the complications that develop as a result of a romance involving two of the leading citizens of the town are intensely absorbing and vividly entertaining.

Today's Reflections

Ever notice that a woman always stays home longer after she gets up to go than she does before she starts?

We've known some Plymouth men who didn't seem to think they had to put their best foot forward so long as they carried a rabbit foot.

Talk about "fuss and feathers," just wait until the government flies into the poultry trust.

Every now and then we meet a man who would rather keep on getting drunk than go to the trouble of swearing off every month or two.

The average Plymouth man's idea of a "clinging gown" is one that will cling to his wife for about three years.

The man who invented chop suey killed himself in China recently. Maybe it was just a plain case of chop-sueyclide.

The bail of a New York bootlegger was placed at $100,000. It must have taken about all of his small change.

Nothing makes a Plymouth woman madder than to go to the city to match a piece of goods and find it in the first store she goes into.

The Florida version of the good old song seems to be "In the Sweet Buy and Buy."

We heard the other day of a Plymouth woman who is so courteous that she says, "Pardon me," when she steps on the cat's tail.

The New Man

It is true that man is gradually being forced to take up the domestic arts, affirms the Wilmington Evening. It blames it all on women's efforts to enter the masculine realm. "He is forced to attend to the babies," says the paper, "wash dishes and dust the living room"—and, if needs be, wear a gingham apron—while madam is playing bridge or attending a lecture on the subject of 'Wives and Mothers.' The natural consequence is that the poor man, saturated by an atmosphere of domesticity, takes on an effeminate air before he realizes it. He finds himself walking in a womanish manner and answering the doorbell with a toss of the head and a gesture of the hands that reminds one of Maad Muller."

Helping South America's Poor

An American corporation—Cerro de Pasco—one of the largest copper producing concerns in the world, in an effort to help Peru better the living conditions of her poor, is importing fifteen pedigree Hereford and Angus bulls from Colorado. They are to be crossed with the range cattle here in the hope of stimulating milk production. The low production of wholesome milk in Peru and Chile is believed one reason for the high mortality among children. The Cerro de Pasco, along with other American corporations, is showing much humanitarian interest in the poor and ignorant native workers, who have been exploited from time immemorial and still are by most native companies.

Old Army General Orders

Copies of two general orders, one promoting U. S. Grant from brevet second lieutenant to second lieutenant, and assigning him to the Seventh Infantry, and the other announcing the death of John Quincy Adams, have been received by Col. Frank Morrow, commander of the Seventh Infantry, U. S. A., at Vancouver barracks. The copies were sent by G. M. Kufsey, an army veteran, who saved the orders from destruction years ago at Fort Leavenworth. The order announcing the death of Adams was signed by President James K. Polk, and was received by the Seventh Infantry while on duty in Mexico in 1848. That promoting Grant was issued September 30, 1845.

His "Pickup" Claimed

Somebody stole E. R. Kerfoot's car at Hutchinson, Kan., and when it was returned to him from Missouri, Kerfoot found 100 $30 bills in the spare tire. Kerfoot wasn't caring if the car was stolen again at that rate, but an Oklahoma bank has since claimed the $5,000. Bandits had used Kerfoot's car in robbing the bank, overlooking the tireful of loot afterward.

Picture Diagram of Receiver Which Will Be of Assistance to Novices Who Desire to Construct Voluminous DX Set.

By HERMAN BERNARD

Associate, Institute of Radio Engineers.

Once upon a time one saw variable condensers that had about 48 plates and were rated at .001 mfd. capacity. Do you remember the days? That value of capacity was extremely popular. But as receiver design improved and a higher ratio of inductance to capacity was thought advisable, such values as .00025 and particularly .00035 mfd. came into favor. Now the .00035 and the .0005 mfd. condensers are the most popular, and as they fall in nicely with schemes of space conservation they well deserve their hour.

But the .001 mfd. tuning condenser still has its use. It is in the antenna circuit. There are several ways of including it, but the one shown in the diagram is as good as any.

The Aerial is Tuned.

The condenser is used to tune the aerial circuit. The reason for the abnormal capacity is that it is perfectly normal in the position where it is incorporated. It is in the aerial circuit and the antenna system capacity is across it. To be sure the coil L would seem to be short-circuiting that antenna capacity, but that is not quite the case. The inductances L and L1 are in the antenna-ground system, and the aerial-ground capacity plays its important part in that lead. This joint contribution constituting the reactance of the circuit. A .0005 mfd. condenser might be used instead of .001 mfd., if one were sure of what one's aerial capacity was, but the .001 gives a wider margin of safety.

The object of the large capacity tuning condenser is to insure a sufficient ratio between maximum and minimum capacity, so that the entire broadcast band will be tuned in. The circuit is inherently simple. Any one familiar with radio can construct it (modifying the grid return if necessary.)

A comfortable panel for this set would be 7 by 14 inches and it would be so laid out that the aerial tuning condenser is at left, the secondary tuning condenser at right, and the three-circuit tuning coil, L1L2L3, in center. Between the three-circuit coil and C1 would be the rheostat, R1. The jack is placed at the opposite point. The tickler would not require a dial. A small knob would suffice, or a two-inch dial, while four-inch vernier dials should be used on the two condensers.

A baseboard, if used, would be 8 by 13 inches, secured to the panel bottom by wood-screws. The coil L would be placed horizontally 3 inches behind the end plate of C1, while the 3-circuit coil would be mounted perpendicularly on the panel. A socket shelf 2 1/2 by 13 inches would be just as suitable.

Coil Data.

L1L2L3 may be a commercial 3-circuit tuning coil, the capacity of C2 depending on the coil used. Most often this would be .0005 mfd. For those desiring to wind their own 3-circuit coil, a 3-inch diameter stator form, 4 inches high, may be employed, the primary L1 consisting of 10 turns. Leave 1/4-inch space, then wind 45 turns for the secondary L2. The tickler is wound on a 2-inch diameter, 2 inches high and consists of 22 turns. The wire is No. 24 double cotton covered. It is often more convenient to use smaller wire on the tickler, say No. 28, for it doesn't matter there, on the resistance score. As a shaft must penetrate the stator and be secured to the rotor, part of the rotor winding will be separated, at least the width of this shaft, and finer wire makes it easier to put on enough turns to get regeneration on the highest receivable wave.

The secondary is to be tuned with .0005 mfd. For .00035 use 55 turns, for .001 use 35.

As for the coil L, that will require some experimenting. My own aerial has a capacity of .00027 and the proper coil, in conjunction with a .001 condenser for C1, happened to be one comprising 31 turns on a 3-inch diameter tuning. No. 24 DCC wire being used. But some antenna systems will require a greater number of turns, some a lesser number. It is a good plan to put on 40 turns, then peel 'em off, as necessity dictates.

The set operates efficiently on any of the popular types of tubes, including dry-cell tubes.

Mount the condenser C1 on the panel, also the condenser C2. Then mount the coil in the center and next put on the rheostat and jack. Put the baseboard temporarily against the panel bottom and provisionally place the coil L, and the socket. The coil is at left, behind the first condenser, the socket at right. The aerial post will be at left rear, the ground post at rear center. A battery cable avoids the necessity of binding posts.

Wiring Directions.

Connect the "A" battery wiring on the baseboard parts first. Join "A" battery plus to the F plus post of the socket and to the rotary plates of C2. Connect A minus to one side of the rheostat, R1, the other side of R1 to the F minus post of the socket. The —99 type tubes have their filament, grid and plate posts differently positioned from the standard base tubes, so see that you correctly read the post designation on the socket.

After mounting L, connect aerial to one of L's terminals and to the stator of C1, while the rotor of C1 and the remaining terminal of L go to the beginning of the primary L1, the end of which goes to ground.

The end of the secondary goes to the lead that was connected to the rotary plates of C2 (the A plus lead), while the other terminal of L2 goes to one side of the grid condenser, C3. The other terminal of C3 is connected to the grid post of the socket, marked G on the socket. Across the grid condenser, which has mounting or clips for the purpose, is placed the grid leak, normally 2 meg., although the —99 type tube will stand a higher value of resistance, say 5 meg. The plate post of the socket, marked P, goes to one terminal of L3, the other terminal of which is connected to the hooked spring of the jack.

It will be noted that in the picture diagram and in the text the grid return is designated as A plus, and this is correct for nearly all tubes, although in some few instances the grid return to A minus, will work better.

The correct return is important.

The Parts Needed.

- 1 Impedance coil, L.
- 1 3-circuit tuning coil, L1L2L3.
- 1 .001 mfd. variable condenser, C1.
- 1 .0005 mfd. variable condenser, C2.

- 1 .00025 mfd. fixed condenser, C4.
- 1 Single-circuit jack.
- 1 20-ohm rheostat, R1.
- 1 5-meg. grid leak, R2.
- 1 —99 socket.
- 1 7 by 4-inch panel.
- 2 4-inch vernier dials.
- 1 2-inch dial or knob.
- 1 5-lead battery cable.

Accessories: One 4 1/2-volt "A" battery, usual "C" battery serving the purpose; 1 —99 type tube; 1 cabinet to match panel and baseboard sizes; 100 feet aerial wire; 50 feet No. 14 insulated lead-in wire; 2 aerial insulators; 1 ground clamp. Note: The use of a —99 tube is presupposed. If other type of tube is used make necessary substitution of equipment.

We Want To Hear From Former Plymouth Residents

The Mail is desirous of publishing an edition dedicated to those non-residents who have formerly lived in Plymouth. We mean by that that we want every person who has ever lived in Plymouth to send us a "personal communication," telling where they are living, what they are doing, about their family, the place in which they live, reminiscences of early days in Plymouth, etc.

In other places where this feature has been successfully carried out by the home paper, it has made a most interesting edition. Not only would a large number of letters from these non-residents be interesting to the home folks, but they would be of especial interest to those old home town friends, who like the writers themselves, are living elsewhere and would be glad to hear from their old friends, who were once upon a time residents of Plymouth. Send in your letters, the longer the better.

Gives What All
Buyers Long Demanded in Vain!

With a swiftness that borders on the sensational, the new Pontiac Six is achieving a position of commanding leadership.

Everywhere, and instantly, motorists saw in this new General Motors Six these definite tangible qualities that they have always wanted, and wanted in vain:

—a big, powerful engine, with the largest piston displacement of any six below $1000.

—a superior Fisher body expressing a new order of beauty, smartness, and color contrast.

LOCAL CLUB HAD PART IN TAX VICTORY.

Signing of the new revenue bill by President Coolidge marks the end of the most successful campaign ever conducted by the organized motorists of the country, according to Raymond Bachelord, secretary of the Plymouth Branch of the Detroit Automobile Club. Local motorists had big share in final victory.

On the eve of the signing of the new tax bill by President Coolidge, Raymond Bachelord received a letter from the national headquarters of the American Automobile Association, complimenting the Plymouth Branch on the aggressive and helpful part it took in the successful battle for the reduction of the federal automotive excise taxes.

The fact that in the last analysis the motorists were able to secure reduction of $80,400,000, or 21 per cent of a total of tax reduction of $387,000,000 speaks volumes, not only for the aggressive fight waged on their behalf, but also in convincing testimony to the value of organization in the national as well as the local field. Mr. Bachelord emphatically declared. He said in part:

"In a congratulatory letter we have just received from Ernest N. Smith, General Manager of the A. A. A., who supervised the fight in Washington, we are assured that without the help of our local club and other A. A. A. Clubs contributed through direct and indirect representations to Congress, the share of the automobile owners in this year's tax cut would have been much smaller than it actually is."

"When the administration leaders first figured the tax possibilities the maximum relief assigned to motor vehicle owners was $34,000,000. By sheer persistence and refusal to compromise when other interests showed signs of weakening, we were able to make it $80,400,000, an increase of $46,400,000. It may fairly be said that this difference represents the sum that will remain in the pockets of the motorists as a result of the organized campaign of the A. A. A. and its clubs."

"Of course, all motorists benefit in equal measure from Federal tax relief, but it was only made possible by the dues of club members and by the ability of the clubs to call the attention of their representatives in congress in an effective way to the interests of their constituents."

The motor vehicle excise tax cut applies as follows:

Repeat of 2 1/2 per cent tax on tires, parts and accessories $25,000,000

Repeat of 3 per cent tax on trucks 9,000,000

Reduction of 5 per cent tax on passenger cars to 3 per cent 46,400,000

In his letter on the outcome of the tax fight, General Manager Smith of the A. A. A. predicted that the organized motorists will be able to secure the repeal of the remaining 3 per cent tax on passenger cars when the next tax revision is undertaken by congress. He said:

"Above all other things this campaign has demonstrated one fact of paramount importance to motor clubs, namely, that when organized motor-dom speaks as a unit, its voice carries great weight in national legislative matters. All A. A. A. clubs are to be congratulated on the big part they played in making this campaign a complete success, and we hope the constituent members will appreciate the result."

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says he thinks it would be a good idea for the United States to annex Ireland, so our cities could raise their own policemen.

Now approacheth the season when the poor man tries to persuade himself that he likes chicken as well as he likes turkey.

According to Dad Plymouth too much of the world is run on the theory that you don't need road manners if you're driving a five-ton truck.

"Why is it," asks Dad Plymouth, "that even when some women have nothing to say after supper, it takes them about three hours to say it."

"Another thing that puzzles me," asserts Dad Plymouth, "is how the solicitor for some kind of charitable fund always knows so much better than you do how much you are able to give."

Maybe they call them "stills" because they have to be operated on the "quiet."

And another thing, the recording angel isn't wasting any ink and paper setting down the good things you are going to do.
