"LOOK AND LET ALONE"

We are going to take one last chance on losing our reputation as a weather forecaster, so we will do it in these words: "Spring is here." The tender green of wild flowers has begun to peep from the ground. Buds are bursting on the early flowering trees and soon nature will be a riot of blooms—that is, in places where it has not been ravished by people who strayed into the rural districts in other seasons.

Many states have laws against breaking flowering trees and uprooting ornamental bushes without the consent of the owner, but few sections of the country enforce such laws, and it is impossible for the owners to see everything that is going on behind their backs as they are two busy about their tasks. So the preservation of the natural beauties of this country must be left to the thoughtfulness and honesty of the individual.

The true lover of nature saves so that others may enjoy. And now that the season is here when auto rides are in order, would it not be a good plan for every citizen of Plymouth to make a solemn resolve at the outset not to break or destroy trees, flowers or evergreens belonging to others? Nature may never be able to put back what your hands destroy or carry away, and future generations cannot enjoy the many delightful natural beauties we have in this section if we do not practice conservation. Let's be a little more thoughtful of the boys and girls of tomorrow by not robbing them of the beauties their eyes are entitled to in year's to come.

WHY NOT HERE TOO

President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover have endorsed a movement to observe May 1st as "Child Health Day" all over the United States. The plan calls for public meetings, with talks by doctors and teachers on the best methods of promoting the health of our children, and for programs by school children, under the direction of their teachers, to which parents will be invited. These will consist, as a rule, in musical numbers, recitations by the children, and the reading of essays on "Good Health."

Statistics show that 40,000 children of school age die each year from diseases that are preventable. Typhoid fever takes thousands of young lives yearly, and diphtheria, which is considered preventable and for which there has been a cure for thirty years, takes the largest toll of death of any disease of childhood. Of all crippled persons, at least one-third of them received their injuries in childhood.

So it is that there is abundant reason for setting aside in this country one day, in which to consider better means of safeguarding the health of the children. The occasion is going to be observed in thousands of schools, and with hundreds of public meetings all over the land. There is plenty of time to prepare for it, and no reason why Plymouth should not be represented among the places that are sure to profit by such an observance.

DEFENDING THE CROW

There has been a general belief throughout the country that the crow is the enemy of the farmer, and in many sections they have been warred upon and exterminated by the thousands. Now comes the government with a report to the effect that this bird is, on the other hand, a good friend in that he devours a vast amount of insect life during the growing season. We don't pretend to know much about crows, though it has always been our opinion, formed through talking with Plymouth people who do know, that his room is more desirable than his company.

OUR GREATEST ASSET

We see it is estimated that common colds cost the United States one billion dollars annually. This is based on a government report that of the 42,000,000 workers there is an average individual loss of eight days each year through illness caused by common colds. It seems an awful price to pay, even if we leave out the fact that many of these common colds develop into something more serious, and death results. We are now passing through a dangerous season for colds, and will be for the next few weeks. So we hope that insofar as this particular community is concerned more than the usual care will be taken by our citizens to ward off the common colds. Not that we care so much from a financial standpoint, but we do not want to lose a single resident from causes that could have been prevented.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

BY THE MANAGER

Mr. Reddeman's crew has been cleaning up the pavement, getting rid of the winter's accumulation of dirt. They have also made some sewer taps. Eight water taps have been made already, indicating a good season of building again.

From now on, except for emergencies, our men will be busy on South Main street, replacing old water services with lead pipe, resetting fire hydrants and generally preparing for the work of repairing which Wayne county is about to start.

The Commission inspected this South Main street work, Monday evening, observing the new lines and grades as proposed for pavement and curbs, and the necessary replacement of some of the walks. They expressed their approval of the street as laid out by the county engineers.

Monday night the Commission also sold the $58,000 bond issue authorized at our spring election. There were eleven bidders, quoting on three rates of interest, 4 1/2%, 4% and 5%. After deciding to consider only the bids at the 4 1/2% rate, the bonds were sold to the high bidder, the Detroit Trust Company. A schedule of the bids considered follows:

Bumpus & Company (4 1/2%)	$318.00
Lewis & Company	140.00
Security Trust Company	320.00
Benjamin Densard & Company	411.80
Hanchett Bond Company (4 1/2%)	613.00
Stranahan, Harris & Oatis, Inc.	151.50
Whitlsey, McLean & Company	7.00
Plymouth United Savings Bank	371.50
Joel Stockard & Company	278.40
Detroit Trust Company	427.00
Bank of Detroit	53.50

Our motor grader will spend most of its waking hours on the roads from now on. The cold nights have slowed up our grading operations, but probably won't bother us so much now.

24 YEARS AGO

FROM THE FILES OF THE MAIL

The farm home of George Eldred, west of Plymouth, was burned to the ground on Tuesday.

Village President Harry C. Robinson made the appointment of village officers for the ensuing year on Monday evening. The only persons now living here who received appointments are B. D. Brown, street commissioner and marshal, and E. N. Pasage, member board of review.

The village council instructed the street committee to grade the new street between Sutton and Church streets at once.

Harry C. Robinson sold a carload of eastern horses on the fair grounds at auction.

The proposition to bond the school district in the sum of $9,000 to build an addition to the school building was defeated by a vote of 92 to 52.

A meeting of the Pastime Tennis Club was held at the Plymouth Savings Bank and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President, F. A. Dibble; vice president, E. K. Bennett; secretary, Paul Voorhies; treasurer, C. A. Fisher.

Plymouth Rock Lodge received an invitation from Central Lodge, Essex, Ontario, to visit them on May 9th.

George Wilske had broken ground for a new house on Mill street.

Re-roof for the last time

Dilapidation

with Johns-Manville
Asbestos Shingles

Lay them right over the

NO dust, dirt, danger of damage by rain while the work is in progress; no delay or inconvenience at all. And you'll have a double roof that will make your upper rooms warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

The finished roofing of Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles will be everlasting and positively fireproof. It will make your home safe from roof-communicated fire. It will be attractive. It will never have to be renewed or painted because Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles are all mineral. They will not rot, burn, curl or split, but last as long as the building they protect. They're approved by the Underwriters and take base rates of insurance.

If your present wooden or asphalt shingle roof needs repairs or replacement, it will certainly pay you to investigate this improved method of re-roofing. Its simplicity, economy and freedom from dirt and confusion will be a revelation to you.

NEWBURG

Rev. Havens took for his text Sunday last, the words of Christ to Peter, "Lovest Thou Me?" St. John, 21:15.

The interest in the Sunday-school is keeping up fine. Mrs. Cutler's class still has the banner.

The slides shown Sunday evening, entitled, "God's Service With Man," were exceptionally fine. The story told by the pastor was a splendid missionary lesson. Rev. and Mrs. Havens have worked hard this past winter and spring, to make the Sunday night meetings a success. Everyone is urged to attend church and Sunday-school next Sabbath.

The L. A. S. meeting last week Wednesday afternoon at their hall, was well attended by the members. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Mae Stevens; vice-president, Miss Ada Youngs; secretary, Mrs. Lydia McNabb; treasurer, Mrs. Beulah Smith. Mrs. Bertha Joy has held the office of president for the past three years. During this time, the parsonage was built, and the church repaired. Mrs. W. R. Greer acted as vice-president for the past year. There has only been one death in the L. A. S. circle during the year, that of Mrs. Janette Geer. The ladies are looking forward for a prosperous year.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who have been spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jewell, have gone to Mt. Elgin, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Watson are the proud parents of a little daughter, Helen Louise, born Thursday, April 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes and family spent Sunday with the latter's sister in Flint.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carney spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Turnbull in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett and daughter, Marion of Pontiac, spent over Sunday at the parsonage.

Mrs. Clare Chilson entertained Burt Pauldock and sons, Charles and Dwight, last Wednesday night, at a birthday party in honor of her daughter, Evelyn.

Mrs. C. E. Ryder and cousin, Miss Martha Britten, called on Mrs. Sarah Holsington and daughter, Hattie, last Friday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Paul R. Havens attended the Ann Arbor Epworth League District meeting and banquet at Wayne, Tuesday evening.

Don't forget the P. T. A. play, "One On Bill," at the Gleaner hall, next week Friday evening, April 23.

Mrs. C. E. Ryder called on Mrs. Emily LeVan last Saturday evening.

NEWBURG SCHOOL NOTES

The Parent-Teacher Association held its April meeting, Tuesday, April 13. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Rousseau; vice-president, Mrs. Gates; secretary, Miss Redden; treasurer, Mr. Bakewell. The following were appointed on the stage committee for the play: Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Hallam, Mrs. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Hearn, Mr. and Mrs. Osten.

Marvin Schmidt of the fifth grade, and Dorothy Schmidt of the second grade, entered school Tuesday.

Visitors of the past week were Miss Weliver, Miss Howe, Miss Cochrane, Miss Gwin, Miss Corbett, Mr. Carr. The Hot Lunch, Sewing and Handicraft Clubs will hold an exhibit at the school, Monday afternoon, April 19.

Don't forget the P. T. A. play, "That's One On Bill," at the Gleaner hall, next week Friday evening, April 23rd.

To Those Who Judge Quality by Price

The quality of Ford cars cannot be judged by the prices at which they are sold—because Ford prices are made possible by conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry.

From mine to market the Ford car is the work of a single organization. The Company owns and operates the mines and forests that furnish the raw materials for its products. This material is carried over Ford transportation routes, fabricated in Ford mills, manufactured in Ford plants—and the finished product is sold to the public through Ford dealers.

The following statement, previously made in an advertising message, is repeated because of its significance to the public:

"If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford, according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design, it would be impossible to offer it at anything like Ford prices. And it is well to note that even with less costly design they have not met Ford prices."

ROSEDALE GARDENS

Sunday's fair skies brought many prospective home buyers to the Gardens, who seemed more than pleased with the activity here. We hope to see a larger crowd next Sunday.

Mrs. William Gray of Saginaw, visited her niece, Mrs. Helen Barnes, Berwick avenue, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Preston of Port Huron, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sharon and Mr. and Mrs. Leung of Detroit, were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. Perrault, Arden avenue.

Mrs. Raymer, who has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Johnston, is convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Randall and Mr. and Mrs. B. March of Detroit, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Merrill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Messenger and daughter, Mary, of Toledo, also Mrs. C. Malbridge of Detroit, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Goodling, Jr., Melrose avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson W. Johnston, York avenue, entertained about sixteen Detroit friends, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hodson, Melrose avenue, entertained Mrs. Frank O'Neil over the week-end.

The initial Community Club meeting was held at the sales office Tuesday evening. Election of officers was put over until next meeting, which will be held Thursday, April 22. We hope to see everyone there on that night, as we wish to make this a big success.

A spelling contest was held at Schaffer's Recreation Building last week. The schools participating were Elm, Beech and Stark. The winners were: Jennie Eskra, third grade, Elm; Oscar Luttermoser, fifth grade, Stark; Tyrus Peace, sixth grade, Elm; Viola Luttermoser, seventh grade, Stark; Helen Schmidt, eighth grade, Stark; Helen Schmidt was also grand champion.

Rough & Ready base ball club are planning a new park in Rosedale Gardens, and will probably adopt that name. For games, address Rex E. Martin, Plymouth, Mich., Route 5.

PERRINSVILLE

There has been no church for two Sundays. What can be the matter? Rev. Havens was there on time.

Monday morning about eight o'clock, Jacob Kubie's house was discovered on fire. Help was soon summoned by the ringing of the church bell, but the fire had gained such headway, that the house could not be saved. However, a goodly share of the household goods was saved. The family has the sympathy of the entire community.

Mrs. Priebe is on the gain, although she is still at Ford hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Theuer spent Sunday with Ed. Holmes, in Detroit.

The Democratic candidates who were defeated in the election, proved true to their word. On account of bad roads and a severe snow storm on Saturday, their music did not come, so they came last Saturday night, and a very enjoyable time was had by old and young, in dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Mart Smith entertained company from Belleville, Wayne, Perrinsville and Warrensville, last Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Hanchett is improving as well as her friends can expect.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tait, visited the latter's mother, Mrs. Richards, in Detroit, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethel Bridge and family of Plymouth, spent Sunday at George Buehr's.

Mrs. Peter Kubie and daughter, Margaret, spent Saturday in Detroit. It is reported that we are soon to have a store in our little burg again.

STARK SCHOOL NOTES

Reporter—Lone Johnson

Miss Corbett visited our school last Tuesday afternoon, and played a few records on her "gypsy." We all enjoyed her visit very much.

Miss Lorraine Cochran visited our school last Thursday afternoon, and asked us a few questions in Nature Study. She also gave us three stars which were placed on by the president of the citizenship club.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Elm, Beech and our school met at Mr. Schaffer's building on Plymouth road in Rosedale Gardens, to spell. The third grade spellers were the first ones on the floor, the championship being won by an Elm pupil. Fourth and fifth grades spelled together as there was no one in the fourth grade from Beech. The championship was won by Oscar Luttermoser, a fourth grader of Stark school. Sixth grade was won by a pupil from Elm school; the seventh grade, by Viola Luttermoser of our school, and the eighth grade was won by Helen Schmidt of our school. All the champions stood up, and Helen Schmidt was the champion.

We are glad to have Juanita and Max Preston back to school again.

Last Friday was the great spell-down for the school champion who was to win the beautiful atlas. The championship was won by Helen Schmidt. Miss Florence Krumm and Mrs. Wm. Adams visited our school to hear the spell-down.

Lead the World in Motor Car Value

March! 16,265 Cars Greatest Nash Month— Greatest Ajax Month

February—with Nash-Ajax sales totaling 14,148 cars—set a new high mark for both Nash and Ajax—but March, with 16,265 cars, swept beyond even that great record.

And still factory production was not sufficient to fill additional bona fide March orders for 1,518 cars.

For Nash it was the 19th consecutive month that sales have exceeded the figure achieved by the corresponding month of the previous year—except for November, 1925, when production was slowed up to bring into manufacture the new "Enclosed Car" motor.

This great and growing national trend among buyers toward Nash and Ajax cars is assuming the proportions of a veritable landslide.

All because Nash-Ajax means greater Quality, greater Value, and far finer Performance—and people can't be told otherwise. It is only too apparent when you look at the cars.

RURAL MEETING AT COONVILLE

Spring appropriately burst forth with all its sunshine on Saturday, April 10, to make the last meeting of Zone B for the year 1925-1926 a pleasant one. And with this influence the day proved profitable and enjoyable to all who attended.

After a brief interval of social interview with one another, the teachers began their business under the direction of Miss Lorraine Cochran, helping teacher.

Among the leaflets given to the teachers as guides for their work, the one on Nature Study received special attention. Many interesting devices and ideas on the subject of nature were contributed during the discussion. Miss Cochran told of the varied classes she had seen during her visits at the schools. Each suggestion will be very helpful to the teacher.

Miss Cochran taught a demonstration lesson to the fourth graders of the Coonville school. Her subject was a poem called "The Coming of Spring," by Bella Geise. She made it a very interesting class both for the pupils and the teachers who observed.

In a very proficient manner, the members of the Courtesy Club of the Coonville school and several of the patrons served a delicious dinner. The pupils were much admired for their initiative in so responsible a project and the generosity of the patrons was heartily appreciated.

The afternoon program was very novel and entertaining. It was with great pleasure that the audience listened to the speaker of the occasion, Anne Campbell, the beloved Detroit News poet.

In the most appealing way she read a number of her poems. At the close of her program, the little president of the Courtesy Club presented her with a beautiful bouquet with the love and esteem of the pupils of the Coonville school.

Miss Jennie Grimm, hostess, presented from an outline, the evolution of American music. She supplemented her speech by playing selections on the phonograph, and with songs and well executed folk dances by her pupils. This was an outline of the music appreciation course that Miss Grimm has given her pupils this year.

Miss Mary Howe of Detroit Teachers College gave the children an interesting account of her visit to the London Tower.

The climax of the program came when Miss Grimm announced a debate between the members of her sixth and seventh grade classes. This was certainly a novel event as no other school had before attempted so difficult a thing to present at a Zone meeting. The question debated was: "Resolved: That Washington was a greater influence than Franklin in the Revolution."

Those debating the question were: Affirmative—Joseph Juptner, Eugene Michalik, Evelyn Ochs, Margaret Wilfang; negative—Harold Standor, Dorothy Wojack, Eva Schultz, Clarence Dumke. Joseph Juptner gave the affirmative rebuttal and Harold Standor gave the negative. The judges, Dr. and Mrs. Sharpe and Fred Fischer, decided that the victory belonged to the negative side.

In this project, the children committed themselves in a fashion that would have justified praise in high school students. Their excellent work showed a great amount of skillful preparation and much patience. In order to prepare a group of pupils so youthful, requires much ability on the part of the teacher. Miss Grimm received praise from those who were present.

At the close of the program, the audience departed with a feeling of satisfaction for the knowledge gained. Although this was to be the last zone meeting, the teachers are looking forward to their next meeting, which will be in the form of a theatre party, May 1st.

GRANGE NOTES

The next regular Grange meeting will be held this Friday evening, when the first and second degrees will be conferred.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gates and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith will entertain the Lilly Club at the Grange hall, Friday evening, April 16th.

Walter Postiff is improving after his recent long illness, and will soon be out, again.

TEMPLE THEATRE Detroit, Michigan

Dr. George Rockwell, the funniest man in vaudeville, headlines the bill at B. F. Keith's Temple theatre starting Sunday afternoon. Dr. Rockwell prescribes laughter as a panacea for most human ailments and will explain his wonderful theory on how to live 150 years.

He touches upon various subjects such as balanced meals, vitamins, eat and grow thin and coffee drinking, treating same in a delicious comedy vein. Others billed are: Patti Moore and her song revue, with Arthur Bard, Bud and Buddy and the Domino Entertainers; Miss Venita Gould, distinguished American artiste in "Impressions"; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barry in their laughing hit, "Scandals of Hens-foot Corners"; Deagon and Mack in a comedy offering; the Versatile Three, London's favorite society entertainers; the Merediths, aristocrats of dance-land; Tuck and Cinnia, eccentric comedians, and the weekly screen subjects.

A TEXTILE TRIP

By Muriel Cord
 On Wednesday, April 7, the Domestic Art class of Plymouth High school, visited Blunk Bros. department store. The purpose of our visit was to examine rugs.

Mr. Blunk very kindly showed and explained to us the various kinds of rugs. The difference in the nap and in the weave was well explained.

The best grade of rugs is the Wilton. It has a very short nap, and it has usually fourteen or fifteen wires to the inch. There are five grades of Wilton rugs; but there is so little difference in the prices and quality of the second and third grades and between the fourth and fifth grades that the smaller stores do not handle them. They usually carry first, third and fifth grades. The Wilton rug is seamless. The Bagdad Wilton is one of the best known. The next grade in rugs is the Colonial Velvet. This is very soft and has a somewhat longer nap.

The Axminster rugs are next in quality. They are made both seamed and seamless. The seamed rugs are of a finer weave, running from five to eight wires per inch. The seamed rugs are woven in strips twenty-seven inches wide, while the seamless rug is usually from nine to twelve feet wide. There are several grades of Axminster rugs. The best known are the Youkers and Carleton Axminsters.

The less important rugs are Brussels, Wool Fibre rugs and Tapestry rugs. Brussels vary much in price. One may get a cheap one or an expensive one. They are made the same as Axminsters. The Wool Fibre rugs are so woven that every other weave is wool, the other thread being a sea-weed fibre. Sometimes paper is treated and pressed into fibres for use in these rugs. The Tapestry rugs are made on the same plan as the Axminsters, only they are of a finer weave.

The standard sizes are 6x9 feet, 7 feet 6 inches by 9 feet, 8 feet three inches by 10 feet 6 inches, 9x12 feet, 9x15 feet, 11 feet 3 inches by 12 feet, 11 feet 3 inches by 15 feet, and 12x15 feet.

Mr. Blunk buys his rugs through a wholesale house. This wholesale house deals with larger corporations. One of the largest is the Alexander & Smith Co.
 We also examined curtain and drapery materials of which Mr. Blunk has a great variety of various prices.

THE THEATRE

"THE DEVIL'S CIRCUS"

"The Devil's Circus," the first American production of the Danish director, Benjamin Christensen, comes to the Pennington Allen theatre, Saturday, April 17th.

Noruna Shearer, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, has the leading feminine role, and the cast includes Charles Emmett Mack, in the leading male role; Carmel Myers, Claire McDowell, John Miljan, Joyce Coad, the latest child find of the screen, and the popular trick dog, Biddy.

It is a simple story simply told, and therein lies its greatness. The director has taken characters that are thoroughly plausible, that really might exist and be acquainted with you and me, and then put them to working out a drama in which colorful and entertaining bits of detail and convincing characterizations successfully sustain interest.

The play has drama and melodrama, comedy and pathos, and their blending and smooth development represent the work of a dramatic artist. Christensen's record of success in pictures abroad seems to be founded on a firm basis.

The story concerns the life and romance of Mary, an orphan girl, played by Miss Shearer, who loves and is loved by the crook, Carlstop, played by Mack. Their romance is blighted when Carlstop is sent to prison for a crime and Mary joins a circus.

She becomes a conquest of Lieberkind, the villainous lion-trainer, played by John Miljan, and incurs the jealous rage of his innamorata, Yonna, played by Carmel Myers, who deliberately cripples her by tampering with the trapeze on which she performs.

The representation of the European circus is colorful and interesting, particularly the beauty ballet of 100 girls, said to be the pick of Hollywood's beauties, who portrayed a harem scene.

Released from prison, after a long stretch, Jensen finds Mary, and, at the height of their happiness, learns of her affair with Lieberkind.

A spiritual theme is developed for the ending, in which the importance of sincerity is recognized in a way to satisfy the most blasé.

"The Devil's Circus" is a picture that should not be overlooked.

"BEHIND THE FRONT"

How the folks at home who read the newspapers during the thrilling days of the Great War longed to get a look at No Man's Land—to see what the war really was like!

Well, No Man's Land is now available to all movie goers. In "Behind the Front," Edward Sutherland, Paramount director, shows exactly what it is like.

It is far from a comfortable place—at least Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, who played featured roles in "Behind the Front," found it that way.

It was all a mistake. Beery and Hatton, two doughboys, belong way back in the S. O. S. They get a little too convivial in a French buvette, and reach the front through accident—instead of a hot meal which is intended for the boys in the front-line trenches.

Then they get all mixed up, wander into No Man's Land, and into the German trenches. By a lucky chance, they get some German uniforms, and start back.

And that's where the observer gets his best view of No Man's Land—with the shells of both sides bursting around the shellhole where Beery and Hatton are concealed, trying to get rid of their purloined German accoutrements.

But they didn't succeed. A German tank comes toward them. The German soldiers running it make the mistake of trying to rescue them. Then—well, you'd better see this comedy to really appreciate it.

"Behind the Front" features beautiful Mary Brian, in addition to Beery and Hatton. It was adapted by Monty Brice from a Hugh Wiley story. It's coming to the Pennington Allen on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 18, 19 and 20.

"INFATUATION"

Mysterious, subtle Egypt forms the background of "Infatuation," Corinne Griffith's latest First National release, which comes to the Pennington Allen theatre, Wednesday, April 21.

The film is an adaptation of W. Somerset Maugham's stage hit, "Caesar's wife." This reviewer was fortunate enough to have seen the play. His opinion therefore that the transference to the screen has been most competently effected should have some weight.

The story concerns the flirtation of the young wife of a middle-aged British diplomatist stationed at the Cairo embassy. Feeling that her husband is neglecting her because of the press of his official duties, she engages in an "affaire du coeur" with his secretary.

Although the husband is aware of his wife's infatuation, he declines to put duty aside in order to reclaim her. But just as they seem to be reaching the parting of the ways, an incident occurs which brings them together again—this time permanently.

Just what the incident is, movie goers will discover to their intense satisfaction. It would be cruel to forewarn them.

As Lady Little, Corinne Griffith gives a beautiful performance—one of the best she has ever given. Percy Marriot supports her as Sir Arthur Little. Malcolm MacGregor is the "other man." The rest of the cast includes Marnie Oland, Leota Lorraine, Martha Mattox, Claire DuBrey and Charissa Selwynne.

Irving Cummings exercised intelligent directorial skill. His attention to detail is often astonishing. Albert LeVino made the adaptation.

"Infatuation" is no tawdry picture. It is a masterpiece set in a fruitful land where all good things have had their birth.

WINDSTORMS Are With Us Again

Arkansas and Mississippi have inaugurated the 1926 Windstorm season. A tornado and heavy windstorm are responsible for the loss of many lives and considerable destruction of property. The entire town of Tisdale, Mississippi, was virtually demolished.

It recalls to mind the terrific destruction caused in five mid-western states just about a year ago. Then there was the visitation to New England last fall when wind ripped its destructive way through Woburn, Massachusetts, and adjoining towns.

LET'S KNOW PLYMOUTH

There are very few within our midst who have a vision of the possibilities of Plymouth. We live here, apparently keeping in touch with daily happenings, activities within the boundaries of home, but how many of us have looked into the future of what would happen if we applied ourselves to the task before us, and make this the best community in Michigan. In order to do that we must educate ourselves to accept the big and progressive movements. New industries, new facilities and new activities.

For some reason people are seemingly apt to discredit coming projects until they are actual facts. Then they find fault with themselves for not having taken advantage of the opportunity of time. The trouble never is so much with the concealed opportunity as with the blindness of the individual. Many have often been near-sighted or had dust on their spectacles. A great many have let the parade of progress, which has awakened the world go by. They wake up to say they wished they had seen it.

You are not visionary when you vision the day when Plymouth will be a city on the outskirts of Detroit, with a population of 50,000. It merely shows far-sightedness.

New growth means greater population. Greater population demands room to live. That leads to greater development and the improved limits of the village. Values will rise and the far-sighted investor should waste no time in purchasing real estate in Plymouth.

MARQUETTE PARK TO GET GAS MAINS IN 30 DAYS

Installation of gas mains throughout the entire area controlled by the Marquette Park Association is expected to start within 30 to 60 days. It was announced Saturday.

Contract between the association and the Michigan Federated Utilities of Plymouth probably will be executed during the coming week, and the company plans to get the improvement plans drawn up and started immediately, so that service will be given the district in the shortest possible time. According to officials of the association, the mains will be laid in accordance with city specifications, so that in the event of annexation by the city of Detroit, the expense of laying new mains will be eliminated. At the same time new mains will be installed to provide adequate facilities for future development of the district.—Detroit Times.

SELECTION OF SITE EXPLAINED

Numerous factors enter into the real estate business to make it one of the most interesting in the world, and perhaps the most interesting factor of them all is the one involving the reasons why various operators choose the sections of the greater city and the types of property in which they specialize. It was pointed out Saturday.

Everything from price considerations to country club and lodge affiliations enter into the choice of the average operator; but once in a while one takes a long look ahead and bases his choice upon fundamentals of land economics that assure his success. The best described operators are the ones about whom tales of large profits for himself, his salesmen and his clients, are told. It is said.

An example of a series of real estate operations, based upon fundamental facts, is offered by A. J. Youmans, head of the company that bears his name, with offices in the Detroit Savings Bank Building. Youmans is developing at least half of the property frontage on the River Rouge Park that is now available for development. His reasons for specializing in Marquette Park properties fronting on the 1,200 acre Rouge Park are described by himself as follows:

"After looking over the field," declared Youmans, Saturday, "I came to appreciate the fact that Rouge Park properties compare favorably with any others about the city in regard to their relative location with respect to the city's industrial centers.

"And I saw that the big public park, which in itself is one of the greatest factors known in the enhancement of land values, was bound to become a great playground for all of the city's West Side population.—Detroit Times.

VALUE OF REAL ESTATE By Robert E. Landis

All of us have habits, sometimes in the form of dreams—day dreams, if you please to call them such. I have my dreams, and they are profitable to me. In my dreams I am always accompanied by an old man. I never see him, yet I know he is there. I intend to give this old man all the comforts possible in his old age. That old man is I, 40 years hence.

How am I going to accomplish the realization of my dreams? By buying the one thing that is safe and permanent, real estate, the earth on which we stand.

Forty years from now you will be one of two things—either an old man or an old woman, or you'll be dead. Why not make up your mind now to take the path that leads to independence and prosperity. Which shall it be—an arm chair or a tin cup?

Buy real estate, pay for it and keep it, and in turn it will keep you. Real estate is the one real thing. It cannot be destroyed. It is the basis of all wealth. Even misfortune is kind to those who are prepared, and real estate is the magic rug if calamity comes.

With all our power to change and concrete, we can never add another foot to this earth. There is no chance to get any more. The supply is limited. There is an ever-increasing demand and a constantly increasing value. The more we use, the higher the price. The earth cannot multiply or increase, but population does grow and the increase will continue indefinitely.

Stock up now for the present great home-building era and for future demands. Own a piece of EARTH. Don't be in too big a hurry, but don't wait too long. Little by little, the land in the best places will get away and go up in value.

Practically all of the great fortunes of America can be traced to real estate. It's PAY-DIRT, that's the one point on which all great men agree.

John Jacob Astor said: "Buy on the fringe and wait." This rule of real estate investment made his children the richest real estate holders in America.

Roosevelt said: "Every person who invests in well selected real estate in a prosperous community adopts the surest method of becoming independent."

Bryan said: "Real estate is the investment for small savings. More money is made from the rise in real estate values than from all other sources combined."

Andrew Carnegie said: "The wise young man or wage earner of today invests his money in real estate."

The key to wealth is real estate.

Buy a lot and build a home on it. A home is unquestionably the best savings bank in the world. When a couple is living in a rented house the incentive to save is lacking and the money goes with nothing to show for it at the end of the year, or years, excepting the rent receipts.

Money invested in a home is seldom sacrificed even to a small extent. There are many, many more instances where money is made in the sale of homes, than of losses. Don't buy another house for your landlord—buy real estate.

Those who are not in position to acquire a home can make a good start by obtaining a good lot. Ownership of a lot is a distinct step toward the ownership of a home and one of the best ways to induce saving systematically is to start paying for at least a lot.

Get your lot NOW. Remember! It's PAY-DIRT.
Your future means a LOT to you.

"VIEWS" OF AMERICA ON ENGLISH DISHES

Staffordshire Plates Portray Authentic History.

Writing about American history as depicted on old Staffordshire dishes, so popular and cheap 100 years ago in the United States but now costly as antiques, M. L. Fenton, in the Dearborn Independent, says most of the plates which we term "Staffordshire" were made during the years between 1812 and 1828, although the making of them had begun earlier, in 1790, by Stevenson and Dale at Cobridge. They are distinguished by their remarkably satisfying blue color, by a decorative border, which varies with each manufacturer, and, chiefly, by the "view" of an American scene in the center of the plate. They were made of common clay, in a fairly rough-and-ready manner, and were sold in America at prices as low as fourpence and no higher than a shilling. That price included the cost of transporting them from the center of England across the ocean and thence inland to the dealers in tableware in the various cities.

The potters having determined to make the decoration a matter of views of America, set about securing good and representative ones, which they did from three sources: from such volumes of "The Beauties of America" which were popular in England at the time, from the sketchbooks of English gentlemen who had crossed the seas to look upon those beauties for themselves, and from the sketches of their own artists, whom they sent over to supplement the subjects that had been procurable in England. We know the name of one of those men, W. C. Wall, from Dublin, who came to New York in 1818 to make sketches for the Stevenson pottery at Cobridge. When a housewife bought a Staffordshire plate she had an accurate picture, and she had, moreover, scenes from every part of the country. Dan to Beer-sheba, from which to make her selection. The sketches were engraved upon copper and then transferred to the clay by means of wet impressions made on tissue paper with prepared colors mixed with oil. So that, in effect, the plates are copper engravings upon clay, the work, by hand, of artist-artisans.

The ware was sold in America in huge quantities. Every house required dishes, there were no potteries in America, this ware was cheap, was reasonably strong and unbreakable, it looked well on shelves and upon white tablecloths.

The principal makers of Staffordshire were Enoch Wood of Burslem, a friend of John Wesley, whose bust he made in 1781; Joseph Stubbs of Burslem; Andrew Stevenson of Cobridge; R. Stevenson and Williams of Cobridge, whose plates are of artistic excellence; Joseph Clews, a very successful potter, of Cobridge, who tried to start a pottery in America at Troy, Perry county, Indiana, in 1836; the Ridgways, father and sons, at Hanley, and Joseph Heath at Tunstall. The latter is best known as the maker of tableware which depicts the "Residence of Richard Jordan."

Moscow's Many Cats

Moscow is about twelfth among world cities as population is usually computed, but based upon the number of pussy cats it is first in the world. Living conditions that limit each person to 88 square feet of space or less, are largely responsible, for under those conditions the cat has replaced the dog as a household pet. In many apartments where each family has room and the use of a corner in the community kitchen the cat population is larger and noisier than the human. Statisticians—in this case, dog catchers—show that Moscow has 750,000 cats. Nevertheless, rats cause damage aggregating $2,500,000 in Moscow every year and about $250,000,000 in the entire country. This figure compares with $40,000,000 in France, $75,000,000 in England and $100,000,000 in the United States.

The Eternal Search

"Oh, deary me," sighed Mrs. Hight-Flightie, "these evolutionists are simply too annoying! Just after I had researched, and located an ancestor who would admit me to membership with the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of the American Revolution, and was resting secure in the belief that the status of my pedigree was settled once and for all, up comes those evolutionists with their far-flung notions of forbears. I hear that a very exclusive 'Pre-Adamite Ancestral society' is being organized, and before one can break into it one must trace one's pedigree right back to the protoplasmic primordial atomic globule. More research, more research. If only those evolutionists had kept quiet!"—B. E. P. in Kansas City Star.

His Excuse

Kenneth, a six-year-old son of a Speedway city family, reported a real estate deal recently that was novel in Speedway history. The youngster, who is a regular attendant at Speedway school, was unfortunate enough to push a fellow pupil into a mud puddle. His companion told Kenneth of the sure punishment awaiting him on arrival at the schoolhouse, with the result that the youngster remained away from school that afternoon.

His absence being reported to his mother, she questioned him about it. "Why, mother," he replied, "didn't you know that the school has been sold?"—Indianapolis News.

Amusing Errors Noted in Shakespeare's Plays

In the matchless works of Shakespeare we look instinctively for exactness in time, place and circumstance, but, great poet that he was, he certainly did in several instances misplace the chronological order of events.

In "Julius Caesar" occur the following lines: "Brutus—Please count the clock; Cassius—The clock has stricken three." Brutus and Cassius must, however, have been endowed with prophetic vision, for the striking clock was not introduced into Europe until more than 800 years after they died.

In "King Lear," while commanding his son to show him a certain letter Gloucester says: "Come, let's see; if it be nothing I shall not want spectacles." Now, Lear was king of Britain in the early Anglo-Saxon period of English history, and spectacles were not known in Europe until the end of the thirteenth or beginning of the fourteenth century.

Marbeth speaks of "cannon over-charged with double cracks, and King John says: "The thunder of my cannon shall be heard." As a matter of fact cannon were first used in 1346, whereas Marbeth was killed in 1054, and John did not begin to reign until 1199.

In the play of "Coriolanus," Titus Lartius, addressing Marcius, is made to say "thou wert a soldier even to Cato's wish." It is a little curious how Marcius could have been a soldier to "Cato's wish," for Marcius, surnamed Coriolanus, was banished from Rome and died more than 206 years before Cato's eyes first saw the light.

Primitive Foods

Return to food conditions much more primitive than those in vogue will be necessary if ravages of dental diseases are to be checked. This is the lesson derived by Dr. T. D. Campbell of Adelphi university from an exhaustive examination of teeth and jaws of Australian aborigines, which he finds are strikingly large, well formed and healthy, says Science Magazine. "There is in every respect," Doctor Campbell says, "a very marked difference between the well-formed Australian dentition and the ill-formed, disease-stricken masticatory outfit with which modern civilized peoples are burdened."

The marked immunity from dental disease among the aboriginal children and grownups he attributed to the coarse, tough food which formed their diet and the crude methods of preparation and cooking. Even children's teeth he found were well worn from chewing tough substances at an early age.

New Golf Game

Handicapped in his golf game by rheumatic pains that troubled him every time he swung at the ball, N. E. Warwick of Cleveland, Ohio, refused to give up his favorite sport. Instead, he invented a remarkable new form of golf, says Popular Science Monthly, in which the ball is hurled with a whipping motion above the head instead of being driven from the ground.

With light, whiplike sticks he now claims he can make a better score than ever before. The heads of the sticks are cups that hold the ball. Warwick has developed three kinds of clubs—the hurler, for the long shots ordinarily made with driver or brassie; the midfurler, corresponding to the midiron, and the sinker, corresponding to the putter. With the hurler Warwick claims to get more distance than the ordinary golfer gets in the average drive off a tee.

Riviera Monkey Farm

Doctor Voronoff, of monkey gland fame, has arrived at Nice to found a monkey-breeding establishment on the Riviera. He says that the monkey is the only animal possessing the same anatomical constitution as a man and subject to the same illnesses and diseases.

The famous surgeon hopes to continue his experiments, and will devote much time to cancer and consumption research. He has tried dogs for his experiments, and has obtained good results, but with other animals has been less successful.

Doctor Voronoff is founding a monkey-breeding establishment on the Riviera because he considers the Pasteur station at Guinea too far away.

The Lullaby

Emma Goldman, who is spending the winter on the French Riviera above Nice, refused to be interviewed the other day.

"I'd only scold," she said, "and we radicals and reformers scold too much. The thing gets monotonous in the end. It has no effect except a soothing one."

"There was once a man who was married to a chronic scold. Snuggling comfortably down under the blankets one bitter night this fellow purred:

"Now, then, wife, start your curtain lecture, or I won't be able to get to sleep."

Healthy Appetite

Seventy-two buckwheat cakes, buttered and flavored with sirup, followed by a cup of coffee, constituted a breakfast for Louis Martan, of Williamantic, Conn. Martan, who has a local reputation for wholesome eating, walked into a restaurant with a friend who had wagered that Martan could not eat 80 buckwheat cakes at one time. The friend had to pay the check, which amounted to $4.90.—Boston Herald.

Why have OAKLAND Sales Doubled

All America has bestowed upon the Oakland Six the one sure mark of preference—ever-growing demand. State after state has favored the car so strongly that sales have doubled in the past six months.

The reasons for this unprecedented favor will be readily apparent to anyone who tests Oakland Six abilities.

The car has power for any hill you will encounter—more speed than you will care to use—acceleration that excites envy—smoothness of performance unmatched in its field—and, better still, a rugged endurance that assures years of service.

Moreover, Oakland's amazing prices—$70 to $350 lower—single out the Oakland Six as an unequalled investment.

The Presbytery of Detroit, will meet at Royal Oak Presbyterian church, Monday and Tuesday of next week. The Busy Women's and Ready Service classes of the First Presbyterian Sunday-school, are planning a trip to Ypsilanti, Tuesday next. They will meet at the home of Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Hathaway, where a happy social time will be spent in a visit with the former pastor and his wife. The well known pot-luck dinner will be the order of the day.

METHODIST NOTES

Mrs. Lee's circle will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Minna Blank, corner of Williams and Irving streets. Mrs. Towle's circle will meet with Mrs. Gilbert Howe, 256 Harvey street, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Gill's circle will meet, place to be announced. Mrs. Doerr and Mrs. Lendrum attended the group meeting at Wayne on Tuesday.

Mr. MacKnight, educational director of the Detroit "Y," will be the speaker, Sunday evening, and the male quartet will sing.

"Immortality" will be the theme for Dr. Lendrum's sermon, Sunday morning, and there will be a duet by Mrs. Bake and Mr. VanDyne.

BAPTIST NOTES

The pastor spoke Sunday morning on "The Ascension," Christ going back to heaven, Heb. 9:24.

Miss Scott read to us in Sunday-school about the Chinese home and source of some of their strange beliefs.

The B. Y. P. T. was led Sunday evening by Miss Doris Shackleton, and was a splendid service. Mr. Allenbaugh will lead next Sunday evening. The topic will be "The Baptists, Their Belief and Church."

The young people sang well, last Sunday evening. The duet by Mr. Hinnill and Alta was very much enjoyed by all.

A large audience was in attendance last Sunday evening. Baptismal service is planned for next Sunday night.

The Ladies' Aid Society met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. N. Humphries, 707 Hollowood avenue.

The annual meeting of the Baptist church for election of officers occurs Thursday, April 29th, in the basement of the church. A pot-luck supper will be served. Let every member of the church and congregation come.

The spring rally of the Baptist church will be held at the Holly Baptist church, Friday evening, April 30. All young people go.

SCHOOL NOTES

(By Winifred Draper)

The High school glee clubs are starting to work on the operetta "College Days," which they are going to give some time in the near future. It is considered a very amusing and snappy operetta.

The Junior-Senior banquet will be given May 14th.

The Seniors have picked out their characters for the Senior play, "Henry."

HIGH SCHOOL

(By Winifred Draper)

The High school sewing classes are studying "Housewifery." Last week they went for a walk and looked at the homes of Plymouth from the standpoint of architecture.

The bookkeeping classes are going on a trip to the bank, where they will be shown how the books and other things are kept and worked out.

Some time this week Arthur Wendenhaus, of the Underwood Typing Company, will be here to give a demonstration of a speed test.

The Eighth Grade cooking class took a trip to Pettinelli's store last week and were given a demonstration on Stuffed Whont. The girls then wrote a composition on it and the one that wrote the best was to get one dollar. When the compositions were compared, they found Elizabeth Strong had the best, and therefore she received the dollar.

A spelling contest was held in room eleven, April 9th. It was between the Senior team, made up of members of the Eighth Grade and the Junior team, which was made up of the Seventh Grade. Mr. Smith pronounced the words. After a period of breath holding and spelling, Rosalie Bakhaus was given the honor of being champion. She, as champion, will receive the Rand McNally's Atlas of the World, from the Detroit News.

GRADE NOTES

(By Claude Gebhardt)

In Miss Hartford's room, section 1 of 2A, are beginning the review of their Elson readers, keeping a record of all words misused. The pupils have finished reading their elementary readers. They are making a language notebook, in which is the first story, "To Our Mother." In hygiene the pupils are drawing pictures of vegetables that they eat each day.

While the 5A and 5B pupils of Mrs. Bird's room are studying Japan, China and South America, they have been looking at the beautiful scenes on cards, which are looked at through stereoscopes. Wednesday, Mr. Smith brought in some slides of scenes in these countries.

Ardath Baker is absent from school with measles.

The pupils in Miss Jaffke's room are making a collection of Japanese articles for geography class. The spelling class is divided into two teams. At the head of each is a leader who takes a number of perfect papers for a week, then the team having the most perfect papers gets a banner.

The 4A class in Mrs. Moles' room are reading from some interesting new readers. The 5B class is still enthusiastic in spelling.

The spelling class in Miss Halaban's room is divided into two divisions, each trying to raise its weekly average. Now B division has an average of 99 per cent, while A division has an average of 96.

David Diehrich, who has just returned from Florida, has enrolled in Miss Dorem's class. Ruth Haberman and Harry Miller have moved away. Harmon Ellis, who has been absent, has returned.

Isidore Sandler entered kindergarten this week.

Miss Stader's first grade pupils are reading their third book, Work-A-Day Doings on the Farm. They have a pretty border along the top of the blackboard, with a row of ducks holding umbrellas over them.

BRIGGS SCHOOL NOTES

(By Evelyn Wolff, 3rd-6th Grade)
Evelyn Rittenbar won the atlas for spelling the school down and winning the school championship.

We have two new records on our phonograph, which are, "Calls of the Native Birds," and "The March of the Little Lead Soldiers."

We have two new pupils, Lois and Amy Diene, who moved from Northville, and both are in the second grade.

Those who have visited school this week are: Miss Nellie Riddle, Mrs. Claude Simmons and Mrs. Frank Rosow.

Alma, Lily and Donald Hayball have come back to school, after having the grippe last week.

Exploded! The Old Theory of Low-Cost Design

In developing and introducing the new Pontiac Six General Motors has completely shattered the theory that high quality could not be achieved in a low-cost Six.

From the day of its public presentation, the Pontiac Six has been making giant strides toward leadership in its field—because it is the living expression of quality in every aspect of motor car value.

With the Pontiac Six priced at $825, it is no longer necessary to accept the limitations of high-priced fours nor those that have hitherto characterized low-priced sixes.

In breath-taking performance, in striking beauty, in luxurious comfort, in staunch construction, the Pontiac Six is the vital embodiment of quality—yet it sells for a price so low that only General Motors could possibly achieve it.

Picked Up About Town

"Parents haven't changed much," says Dad Plymouth. "They always have thought children should not do the things they did at their age."

Sir Oliver Lodge says the human body is a nuisance. He must have gotten his in the way of a passing flyver.

Dad Plymouth says it's a fine thing to know how to act in company, but it's a lot more important to know how to act in an emergency.

Dad Plymouth is authority for the statement that some husbands look like their wives had married them on a bet—and lost the bet.

"Sometimes when you look at what the father is," says Dad Plymouth, "you can't hardly blame some women for preferring an auto to a baby."

MINERS FORGOT OLD STORIES OF GHOSTS

Anthracite Workers Joyous Over End of Strike.

Conspicuously absent from the conversations of the anthracite miners who recently returned to work was the old superstitious talk of ghosts and skeletons seen in the mines upon return after suspension of work.

In former years not a strike ended, but that trouble was not experienced at some of the collieries by miners' refusing to go into certain pits in the mines because they alleged they had seen a ghost or had heard some unearthly ranklings. At one of the operations near Ashland, Pa., three miners came rushing up a gangway one hour after they had returned to work at the end of the 1922 strike, and absolutely refused to return to their pit because they had seen the ghost of a mine mule which had been beaten to death at the mouth of the pit by a cruel driver on the day before the suspension went into effect. The three men were given work in another portion of the workings and others sent to the pit where the ghost of the donkey had been seen.

In years gone by such superstitious tales were especially prevalent among the newly arrived foreigners in the mines and they spread rapidly among all the men. In the Locust Gap district the story of how a youthful miner one afternoon went back to his pit to get a watch which he had forgotten and never returned, was revived with the first day of work. The young man never returned to the surface of the earth and a systematic search failed to reveal the body. The compensation department of the state refused to pay compensation in the case.

The men went cautiously into the pits which had marked the grave of other miners before the suspension started. In the underground caverns, dug out of solid coal, where there is no light except the flickering flame of a carbide lamp, superstition is certain to breed and develop. There are still miners who will swear that they have seen the returned ghosts of men who died at their work.

Especially are brutal accidents breeders of superstition. In the sections of the mines where a fall of top crushes the life from a man's body or where a sudden rush of water carries a man down an almost perpendicular slope to his death on the floor of the next lift hundreds of feet below whole gangs must often be transferred to other sections in order to prevent the dangers of a growing superstition.

Such superstitious talk, however, was absent on this occasion, for the men were joyous over the end of the long strike.

Nothing Stops Mail Boat
No stress of weather ever prevents mail boat service from taking off foreign mail from incoming ships in New York harbor. Day and night, every day in the year, the staunch little fleet is ready to take off from 1,000 to 14,000 bags of mail. The idea is that the mail can be transferred while the public health inspection of passengers and crew is taking place at quarantine.

The saving in time in expediting the mail is from 24 to 40 hours over the old method of handling on the pier and, in the case of mail for the Far East, the saving is often from eight to ten days. Chutes and nets are in readiness when the incoming vessels drop anchor. When the mail is transferred, word is flashed to the post office and trucks are entrained to handle the mail.—Scientific American.

Law Hits Barnyard King
Friends of Leon Barthou, a well-known artist of Paris, who is recovering from a severe illness and who has been unable to sleep at nights recently because of the barking of a neighbor's dogs, wanted to take legal proceedings to stop the annoyance. But M. Barthou informed them that the characteristic noises of all animals are tolerated in Paris except the crowing of the cock. Other birds and animals may make the night hideous with their noises, but chanticleer, proud symbol of the nation's awakening, must not crow. The rigors of the law are reserved for him alone and if he heralds the dawn he does so under pain of death.

Styles in Russia
Owing to Russia's isolation from foreign countries, styles in women's gowns, footwear and hairdress are taking a long time to reach the Moscow stores. So the Russian women and girls, who heretofore depended for the latest fashions upon Paris and London, now are creating their own styles. These styles usually follow the simplest lines. Silks and satins are rarely seen, and picture hats, silk stockings, afternoon frocks and evening dresses are luxuries. Dresses are so plain and devoid of trimmings that there is almost a note of masculinity in them.

Fever Serum Success
"Dochez," the name of the new scarlet fever serum, has been used with outstanding success it is stated at the New Haven hospital, where 72 patients were treated with it and all recovered but one. Dr. Francis G. Blake of Yale university school of medicine was in charge of the cases and the success of it was so marked that the bureau of standards at Washington has authorized its use and a supply will soon be available.

Church to Have Clinic
Dr. Thomas W. Jeffrey, pastor of the Central Methodist church of Spokane, Wash., plans to install a clinic for the physically illing in his church, and if possible arrange for the issuance of a weekly newspaper to tell his members what is going on. The idea is to make of a church a practical social agency. Doctors who have membership in the church will be asked to operate the clinic as their special contribution to the work of the church.

What Concrete Pavement Did for Cass City

Until about three years ago the main thoroughfare in Cass City, Michigan, had nothing but a gravelled surface. Heavy traffic made upkeep costly. No wonder local authorities and taxpayers became disgusted.

In 1923 they decided to put an end to this sorry state of affairs. Profiting from the experience of other Michigan cities, they decided to pave with portland cement concrete.

Cass City has taken on a new air of prosperity. Store fronts have been repaired and painted. Farmers come to town more frequently to trade. Tourists stop to spend their money. Business is a lot brisker—since the coming of concrete.

Anyone in and around Cass City will tell you what a wise investment this has been.

Concrete streets will bring new prosperity to any city, and at the same time put an end to costly street maintenance.

Chest Not a Factor in Length of Life

The man with the narrow chest is in a quandary. Physical culture experts of one school say his chances for long life do not compare with those of a broad-chested man. Those of another declare his chances are equal, and now the insurance company statisticians announce he should live longer than his brethren.

Should he look proud or erige when his tailor shouts "Chest, thirty inches," across the room to his assistant? Nobody seems to know.

Dr. Louis I. Dublin, insurance statistician, in an address on "Body Build and Longevity," delivered the other day at Johns Hopkins, declared "as a result of recent investigations the view almost universally entertained, even among members of the medical profession, that the broad-chested man is the healthier and is likely to enjoy longer life has been found to be fallacious."

"The man with the narrow chest," he asserted, "whether he be tall or short, fat or thin, stands a better chance than his broad-chested friend of attaining old age."

Frank Lynch, athletic director in New York, agreed with Doctor Dublin. "The man with the big, broad, swelling chest does not necessarily have a large lung capacity," he said. "Often I have noticed while giving lung tests that men who seem to have narrow chests and small lungs have greater capacity than the man with the broad chest."

"The reason for this is that the lungs of the broad-chested man are short and do not reach well down into his body. Those of the narrow-chested man do."

Zoo Has Odd Family Group

Perhaps the queerest family group resides in the Atchison (Kan.) zoo. In a pen live Dixie, buck deer; six chickens and a big yellow alley cat. At night the deer curls up in its shelter, and the cat and the chickens huddle in close proximity, absorbing the warmth from the deer's body. At feeding time the deer pushes its muzzle into the feed trough and then lets the chickens peck the bits of bran and grain from its face. And the cat has forgotten how to wash its face and paws. Dixie gives the cat a thorough tongue bath regularly. The cat will lie down in front of the deer and as soon as its face is washed will turn its back to the deer for washing, and so on until its whole body is cleansed. There formerly was a goose in the family, but the deer in its anxiety to give the goose enough exercise ran the poor thing to death.

Wind Sways Buildings

The movement of tall buildings, caused by the wind, is very slight. Strictly speaking, they bend rather than sway. Tall office buildings are flexible, being of steel that has a high elasticity and in a heavy wind where the total side pressure may amount up to hundreds of tons, the steel framework will bend over before it. Occasionally the swaying is perceptible to the senses, but as a rule in most modern buildings the movement is so slight as to be perceptible only by instrumental measurement. Formerly, it was customary to allow for a uniform pressure per square foot over the whole surface from street level to cornice. Today it is recognized that the unit pressure increases with the height, and calculations are made accordingly.

To "Inspect" Air Routes

Tamotsu Athane, head of the Japanese civil aviation school, contemplates a unique air tour of the world. Being anxious to inspect the latest developments of commercial air traffic abroad, with a view to stimulating developments in Japan, it is his idea to visit most of the European capitals and air centers, traveling from one to another by the regular air services. He hopes to visit Berlin, Paris, Rome, Moscow, Stockholm, Constantinople and other important centers, and when he has flown over all the commercial air routes in Europe he will cross the Atlantic and try to cover the North American continent from New York to San Francisco in similar fashion.

Sea Otter's Scent

The hunter crossed the sea otter skin with his hand. "Dear? Yes," he said. "But the sea otter is very scarce. Worse than his scarcity, though, is his keenness of scent, for he has the keenest scent of any living creature, and that makes him very difficult to catch."

"If the hunter builds a fire on one of the small islands in the Pacific that the sea otter frequents, the otter will smell the smoke five miles out at sea."

"The most remarkable fact about the sea otter is that he can follow a fish by scent under the sea. How this fact was ascertained I don't know. It's most remarkable, anyhow."

Rats, 10,000 or More

As government officials at San Francisco started to unload 10,000 cases of seized Scotch liquor from the schooner Coal Harbor they saw one or more rats for each case of Scotch swarming the deck of the craft. The hold of the dingy schooner was literally alive with the starving rodents. Their food supply was shut off when the craft was seized several months ago and anchored off Yerba Buena Island in San Francisco bay. The rodents had managed to keep alive by eating the corks from a number of bottles of scotch, rye and champagne.

Today's Reflections

A drink was once considered good for a cold. Now a cold is considered good for a drink.

Spring brings to the auto drivers around Plymouth a desire to bit the "open road." And when they get out they find it is "closed for repairs."

A new broom sweeps clean, unless a new bride uses all the straws seeing if her cake is done.

Maybe if there were about ten days in the week we could rest up between Sundays.

Our advice to all Plymouth men is to take care of the teeth. Brush them occasionally, and never call a man a liar if he is bigger than you are.

One great evil of the radio is that burglars can't start to work before two or three o'clock in the morning.

Just wishing things would change is about like striking a match to the thermometer to make the room warmer.

The Plymouth man who longs for the old days forgets that they used to put a fellow in jail for being in debt.

Now is the time to start talking about how poor you are. The family may want a new car this spring.

Congress has voted $3,900,000 to catch run runners, which seems to be about $1 per runner.

From recent observations around Plymouth, learning to drive slowly seems to be harder than learning to drive fast.

News that the Brits have renewed their war is a sure sign that winter is about over.

A puzzling thing about some divorcees is that they didn't happen sooner.

We often wonder why some Plymouth citizens don't have a "grouch week" and get it out of their systems.

Funny thing about some public officials is that they are "sworn in" and "cussed out."

The robin is praised for coming back, but no one seems to think of cheering the sparrow that never goes away.

Glancing at present-day styles, we wonder what the old-fashioned Plymouth girl would do when she had a mosquito bite on her knee.

Here's our own weather forecast for the balance of the year—Loud wet and dry squalls every month.

In most instances when you see a Plymouth man acting like a lion down town, it is safe to bet that his wife does most of the roaring at home.

It's a rare candidate who doesn't possess a few remedies for the ills of the farmer.

STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Representative Assembly of the Michigan State Teachers' Association, at its Detroit meeting, March 30th, voted to divide districts Nos. 1 and 4, each into two districts.

Hereafter, Wayne County alone will be District No. 1, and the six other counties formerly in this district will be known as District No. 9.

At this meeting President John Munson of the Northern Normal school, was chosen president of the M. S. T. A.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear mother, Emily L. Bullen, who passed away one year ago today, April 15, 1925.

Farewell, dear mother, sweet thy rest, weary with years and worn with pain;

Farewell, till in some happy place we shall behold thy face again.

Thine ours to miss thee, all our years, and tender memories of thee keep;

Thine in the Lord to rest, for so He giveth his beloved sleep.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord, when love has bound the heart;

'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the words, "We must forever part,"

Dearest loved one! we have laid thee in the peaceful grave's embrace, but thy memory will be cherished, 'Till we see thy heavenly face.

Her daughter,
Mrs. William Powell.

"Welcome Home Jimmy"

A PLAY OF

"THE WAY DOWN EAST" type

GIVEN BY THE

Plymouth Dramatic Club

Thursday Evening, April 22nd

Eight O'clock

At M. E. Community Hall

The scene of this play is laid on Coolbrook farm. Mrs. Brooks rents the farm of the Henderson sisters, paying her rent to a small town lawyer, George Pierce. She and her winsome daughter, Lucille, are expecting the return of their son and brother, Jimmy, who has been away from home for fifteen years.

Two young men, Valentine Gardner and Chesterfield McSwope from New York, arrive at the farm, and Mr. Gardner is taken for the prodigal son by Lucille and her nearby blind mother. Many amusing and interesting scenes take place before Gardner's real identity is established.

Allie Thomas, the village school teacher, with a livable disposition, boards at Coolbrook farm.

Peggy Sommers and Danny Banks are neighbors and friends of the Brooks.

Melinda Preston, an old maid, also has an important part to play. Plenty of comedy is furnished by Mr. McSwope.

CAMEL WILL WAIT LONG FOR REVENGE

Vindictiveness Trait of "Ship of the Desert."

The qualities of the camel are seldom, if ever, appreciated on a slight acquaintance, writes Hassenein Bey, the African explorer.

He is as clever as a horse. If not more so, and in some ways more human. "Patient as a camel," is an Arab saying, and a very true one.

If you ill-treat a camel he will never forget it, but he will not attack you on the spot. He will wait, and if you repeat the offense again and again, he finally makes up his mind to get his revenge. Not, however, when there are many people about. He watches his chance until you and he are alone, and then he goes for you, either by snatching at you with his mouth and throwing you to the ground, or by kicking you and then trampling upon you.

There is a case known where a camel trampled a man and then sat on him, refusing even to move after punishment from the men who ran up to the rescue. He wanted to make sure that he had finished his man, as, indeed, he had.

People imagine that in the desert a camel has to be roped and led. As a matter of fact, it is very hard to keep a camel away from the rest of the caravan, for he knows instinctively that to be left behind means death, and he keeps as near the bulk of the caravan as he can. It is a sad sight to see a sick camel struggling along behind a caravan.

The camel also displays his intelligence when he is taken from the oasis and pushed into the waterless trek. Instinctively he tries at night, even three or four days after the start, to go back to the oasis. There have been desert tragedies when all the camels have deserted the men at night, either on the outward or the homeward journey, when the caravan was still a few days from its destination.

In the event of some accident befalling a caravan camels which have traveled a certain road for years will often complete the journey alone.

Fighting Prairie Dogs

Prairie dogs, when they are allowed to lead their normal lives, always bury their dead by filling up the holes in which death has occurred. The majority of these little denizens of the plains die in their holes and their habit of sealing the openings with dirt is nature's way of preventing the spread of disease from the dead bodies.

Prairie dogs are looked upon as pests by ranchers and homesteaders, for they insist on a clear view of the surrounding plain for their scouts or outlookers and so cut down with their sharp teeth grass, weeds, sagebrush, corn stalks and grain within a radius of several hundred yards of their towns. This precaution is taken so that a sneaking coyote or other quiet-footed enemy may be detected in time for the little animals to scuttle down into their homes. Government rangers are now endeavoring to exterminate them by the use of gas and poison.

Hydrophobia Kills Wolves

Hydrophobia is spreading among the wolf packs of Russia, according to an announcement of the Pasteur Institute of Moscow. It may hasten the extermination of the gray rangers whose number heretofore has been increasing rapidly. Twelve peasants from the Ivanovo Vonesnenski district, northeast of Moscow, are in hospitals being treated for hydrophobia. They were in a party which believed that its numbers would provide safety from attack by the wolves and attempted to walk to a neighboring village. One peasant was killed by the wolves and five died from hydrophobia and wounds before they could be transported to Moscow.

Only on Three Stamps

Only three stamps bore the image of the late queen dowager, notwithstanding her long connection with England. In the Newfoundland issue of 1917 the portraits of which included the four generations of the royal family, Queen Alexandria appeared on the three-cent orange, a finely executed stamp. In the coronation issue of the same colony she was portrayed on the green ten-cent stamp. In the Quebec tercentenary issue of 1908 she shares the two-cent carmine stamp with King Edward, but it is the finest of her three philatelic portrayals.

Firemen Handicapped

Because the fire department of Colorado, W. Va., was misplaced, the business district of that town was threatened with destruction when a blaze originating in a poolroom spread to adjoining buildings. The village fire apparatus had been destroyed by fire previously. A truck and 500 feet of hose were bought and stored in a private garage, but the firemen did not know where. After an hour's search the apparatus was found. Meanwhile the Kenova department had extinguished the blaze.

Took Time to Fight Fire

At a fire in Brunswick, Maine, one of the hardest working men was Bill Armour, a marathon walker from Los Angeles. He was on his fourth trip from Los Angeles to Nova Scotia and had just reached Lewiston when the alarm came in. He went to Brunswick and acted as nozzle man for several hours. It was no novel experience for him, for at one time he was a member of the Los Angeles fire department.

We firmly believe that we are standing on the threshold of one of the most prosperous years that the lumber business has seen of late.

The outlook for the building trade has never been as bright as it is this spring.

Northville and Plymouth are going to witness such a building program in the near future as they have never before believed possible.

The advent of more paved highways and most adequate transportation facilities is going to make the outlying regions of these two towns a most desirable place to live.

We are practically in the center of this district and are finely equipped to serve you.

Whether you are planning on building just one or one hundred homes let us help you.

Our plan service is unique—it puts you under no obligation whatsoever—our fleet of fast trucks can give you absolute service. Our bill material runs above grade and our well equipped mill can give you the service you have dreamed of on your stock and detail interior trim.

Elmer Whipple is excavating the basement for a fine brick veneer Colonial on his place on the Ridge road.

A Plymouth man carried a sack of flour home on his shoulder the other night and his wife has not spoke to him since. The man it seems, has a stenographer in his office.

Great weather isn't it?

A prominent Plymouth contractor stated the other day that he had figured that there would be over a hundred homes built in Plymouth the coming year.

We'll have a quiet village won't we.

The Sheldon Son's announced that they have contracted for over one hundred and fifty new homes in Rosedale Gardens this summer.
