The collapsible rowboat from which the three were fishing folded up and sank on being struck by a floating log. Frank Barta and Miss Rizer were caught within the boat. The father's body was found a few feet away.

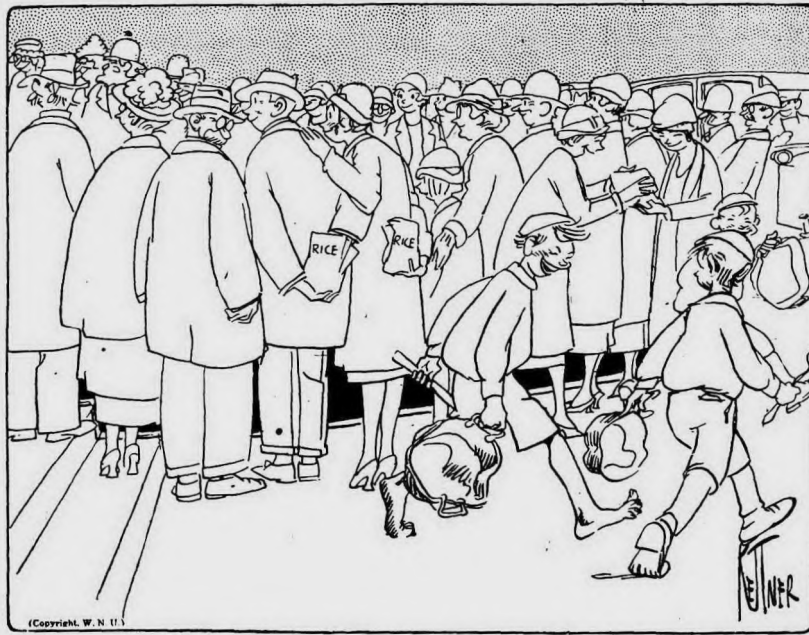

A small fox terrier which was in the boat swam to shore without difficulty. The accident occurred a short distance from a large island, and the water was only six feet deep.

Here Comes the Bride

FRIES EGGS ON ICE, DRIVES CHRYSLER CAR

Anyone can fry an egg on a stove, but Maurice Francill, the famous radio expert, likes his eggs best when fried on a cake of ice.

The car, a standard stock model Chrysler "60," is equipped with a small radio receiving cabinet that accomplishes every operation of a driver at the wheel.

Wizard Francill enhances the wonderment and mystery of radio by passing radio waves through brick walls, and operates the Chrysler car just as easily as if there were no barrier.

After witnessing his amazing demonstrations one can picture the far reaching possibilities of radio in time of war as well as in peace.

During the late World War he merited the personal assistance of late President Woodrow Wilson. The demonstrations are free to all and is certain to appeal to all classes on account of the uncanny and timely nature of the demonstration.

Because of educational value, a special afternoon demonstration will be given through the courtesy of J. L. Taylor of Walled Lake, the Chrysler dealer for the Plymouth territory.

VETERANS HONORED ON MEMORIAL DAY

A LARGE CROWD HEARD SPLENDID PROGRAM IN KELLOGG PARK LAST MONDAY MORNING.

The fine weather of last Monday brought out a large crowd, who assembled in Kellogg Park, to pay honor to the Civil War, Spanish American War and World War veterans of the army and navy.

The program was opened with a selection by the Kiwanis orchestra, after which Calvin Whipple led the audience in the singing of "America." This was followed by the invocation by Rev. Walter Nichol of the First Presbyterian church.

The chairman then introduced the speaker of the day, Prof. Clyde Ford of Ypsilanti. Mr. Ford's address was timely, intensely patriotic and well delivered.

The speaker paid a glowing tribute to veterans of all our wars, and the heroic services and sacrifices which they had made for their country.

The orchestra rendered another selection and the exercises closed with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Following the close of the exercises, a parade was formed, consisting of veterans of the World War, army and navy, with the color guard carrying the flag of Eddy Post, G. A. R.; Civil War veterans in autos, fire department and citizens who proceeded to Riverside cemetery, where the graves of the soldier dead were decorated.

The members of the Ex-Service Men's Club assembled at the flag staff and held a short service consisting of a prayer by Dr. F. A. Lendrum; the firing of three volleys by a firing squad, and the sounding of taps by a bugler.

The members of the fire department and several fraternal organizations decorated the graves of their deceased members at this time, also.

Flags were placed upon the graves of 76 Civil War soldiers, 7 World War soldiers, and one Revolutionary War soldier in Riverside cemetery.

A BACKWARD YEAR

It is a backward season for crops, according to reports gathered from all sections of the country, but it is said that if June turns out to be a hot, moist month it will bring a bountiful harvest on millions of farms. So we want to warn the Plymouth citizen who has an annual habit of complaining about hot weather to begin now to take in his sails: to resolve now to keep his complaints to himself if he wants to remain in the good graces of his neighbors. We have had a backward spring and too much cold weather already. If June will bring warm days and July will bring them still warmer, then let's join in welcoming them and undergoing whatever physical discomforts they bring without a murmur. Hot nights mean millions of bushels of wheat and corn and oats and vegetables and fruits, and that means a prosperous country. Between prosperity and a little suffering from hot weather—give us prosperity every time, and we'll manage to put up with the heat.

TIME TO USE CARE

The vast army of "hikers" that this country turns out every year is now taking to the road, and right at the start is, it seems to us, a very good time to warn Plymouth auto drivers to be on their guard in the matter of tendering rides to strangers. Last year the papers of this country were full of stories of crimes perpetrated by the apparently innocent "hikers," but who in reality were cold-blooded robbers at heart. It seems cruel to refuse to pick up a stranger along the road, and yet so common has highway robbery become as a result of the practice that it is really only a form of self-protection to ignore their appeals. It is too bad that criminals have to mingle with honest-minded "hikers" and that it is impossible to tell whether the stranger who halts you for a ride is a gentleman or a crook. But there is no way of telling in advance, and the man who does grant their request, and who gives them a ride, now does so at a very great risk. Remember this, and be on your guard as the army of "hikers" multiplies and more and more of them pass through this community.

ALWAYS OF VALUE

Mother finds old newspapers mighty handy when it comes to housecleaning and dressing up the pantry shelves, and she knows of a hundred uses to which they can be put. So for father's benefit we want to point out a new value in them. Carry a few under the seat of the auto. If you are stuck in the mud, and the rear wheels spin around, make small rolls of the old papers, slip a roll of them under each rear wheel, turn on the juice and watch the car climb out of the mire. And it's the same way when your business gets in a rut and doesn't seem to move. Just call on the newspaper and its advertising columns will pull you out in a hurry. There's no question about it—newspapers are great uplifters.

LIVING LIKE A KING

We've reached the time of year when it is possible for everyone in Plymouth to live like a king, as the old saying goes. By this we don't mean banquets and feasts of roast turkey, venison steaks of huge cuts of beef or pork topped off with puddings and cakes and wines.

Living like a king, so far as the stomach is concerned, consists in getting plenty of the good things that nature intended us to have and that she makes it possible for us to produce in our own gardens. Vegetables of almost every variety are here, or coming along at a fine pace. The old standby, dandelion greens, cooked with a "ham hock" can still be had; and where is the man who can turn up his nose at a real, old-fashioned "boiled dinner" in which cabbage and potatoes and onions all boiled to perfection in a single vessel, come forth to pacify the pains that hunger causes? What greater delicacy could a king ask for than a big helping of string-beans, sliced fresh tomatoes, creamed new potatoes, early June peas, crisp radishes, a steaming ear of "Golden Bantam" corn and a dish of red-ripe berries to top it off? And those things are ours now, or they will be a little later on.

We're around to the season when royalty isn't any better off than common clay, so far as the dining table is concerned. And, eaten in sensible proportions, the things we are now getting from mother earth in the shape of food products are certain to bring forth both health and happiness. If they did not nature never would have provided them for us.

THE DANGER OF CREDIT

There appears to be a growing fear among the business men of this country that the public is "going credit mad," and that we are fast getting into a habit that is sooner or later going to cause a serious state of affairs throughout the entire country.

More and more the public is growing away from the pay-as-you-go policy, and more of them are refusing to realize that as a general rule buying on credit grows into a habit that can easily become dangerous.

We understand that so serious has credit abuse become that a number of organizations in our larger cities are beginning to discuss a remedy. We hardly know what they will eventually suggest, but for the people of our own community we believe a little more care in asking credit will prevent disaster. If you can pay cash, do so by all means. But if you must seek credit, then do so only after you are absolutely sure you will be able to meet all obligations. And then keep your credit good by paying those obligations promptly.

FARMINGTON MILLS

No Place in Society

for Fijian Bachelor

The Fiji Islands are now civilized, and civilization has brought many changes. Especially is this so in the way the native women are now treated. Some fifty years ago the women there were mere slaves of the men. Now they are their equals and companions.

Modern Fijian women dress well, beautify their homes and bring up their children in a healthy way. Yet they are not losing their Fijian individuality. They still retain many of their charming manners and customs, says the Pathfinder Magazine.

One of the most amusing customs still retained is that bachelors are not tolerated. None of the excuses offered for being bachelors in other countries, such as small incomes, dislike for women, etc., are accepted there. Every man must get married. In every native town there is a woman's vigilance committee.

According to one authority this committee might be appropriately called a "Make 'Em Get Married" society. For when a young lady reaches the marriageable age and has no lover seven or more curls are arranged at the back of her head. She is then dressed in her very best to saunter about town making eyes at all the eligible bachelors.

If no offer of marriage comes within a few days the mother of the young "debutante" puts some white pigment over the curls to make them look gray. This is supposed to indicate that the "sweet young thing" is growing gray with worry and regret. It is also a sort of indication that the bachelors are not so gallant as they might be. However, this camouflage usually produces the desired effect, and the young lady is besieged with matrimonial offers. The successful suitor then calls at her house and leaves his "card," a small white tooth.

Great Eastern Ruler

Saladin (1137-1193) was a powerful sultan of Egypt and Syria, who rose from a soldier of the shepherd tribe of the Kurds to be viceroy to the caliph. On the caliph's death he usurped the throne and greatly extended his territory by wars. His capture of Jerusalem, in 1187, caused consternation throughout the Christian world, giving rise to the Third crusade. Saladin was compelled to surrender the stronghold of Acre to the crusading armies in 1191. For two years they contended with him for the tomb of Jesus, but without further success than the securing of a trace of three years, during which time pilgrims should be allowed to enter Jerusalem. The armies then withdrew. The next year Saladin died, and his empire rapidly dwindled under the rule of his followers.—Kansas City Star.

Bacteria Survive Cold

Continued freezing apparently cannot kill the bacteria that cause typhoid. Prof. M. J. Prucha and J. M. Braanen of the department of bacteriology of the University of Illinois, kept a colony of typhoid germs in a sample of ice cream at a temperature averaging four degrees below zero for two years. From time to time samples were taken out, from all of which positive cultures were obtained. The number of bacteria decreased gradually, it is true, but as many as 11,000 living typhoid bacteria survived in the final sample at the end of two years.

China Wants "Loud" Garters

A sudden demand for gayly colored garters from the Chinese market recently caused considerable wonder among American garter manufacturers. The louder the color, the greater was the demand, and violent checks and plaids were particularly in favor.

The phenomenon is explained by Isaac F. Marcossin in the Saturday Evening Post. Inquiry developed that male students at Canton and elsewhere had adopted the style of wearing garters on the outside of their trousers.

War on Destructive Moth

One of the ways in which the Department of Agriculture co-operates with other government departments is illustrated in a recent request from the ordnance department of the army for help in dealing with clothes moths, which were destroying the fets of thousands of crated steel army helmets. The bureau of entomology sent a specialist to the reserve supply depot at New Cumberland, Pa., to supervise the fumigating of 450,000 feet of space in the storage houses.

Beauty of Evergreens Spoiled by Crowding

Throughout the year there is nothing more pleasing or ornamental around the base of the house than a foundation planting of evergreens, but in a good many instances it is overdone by crowding. In a year or two the shrubs grow together and only their tops and faces can be seen. If better judgment were used and the plants set more widely apart, so that each plant could be seen separately, a much finer effect would be obtained. Put the taller varieties at the back, but not too close to the base of the house, with dwarf varieties at the front interspersed with some upright Junipers to take away any stiffness in appearance. The knife or shears should be employed freely, for evergreens can stand considerable cutting. Many people do not like colors immediately about the house, but the varied greens of evergreens are restful and at the same time they add a touch of brightness to the home surroundings. There are especially beautiful shades to be found in the fall and winter, from dark green to light green, yellow, golden and bronze, purple blue, silver and white. One who intends to have a foundation planting about his home should visit the nurseries to observe the various tones and shades before he makes his selection of evergreen plants. It is really wonderful to watch the changes. For, like human beings, evergreens become tanned in summer, and in winter return to their natural color.

Insulation of Walls an All-Year Benefit

Home owners often overlook two things about insulation. They may insulate their houses to reduce their winter fuel bills without realizing that they also get another benefit, greater comfort in summer. For insulating materials prevent the passage of heat through walls, roofs, ceilings and other parts of the home. They prevent it from passing out of warm rooms in winter and from entering cool rooms in the torrid days of summer. So insulation is a hot-weather proposition, too.

Many owners think that a home can be insulated only when it is first built. They do not realize that a simple remodeling job will by a cooling blanket over rooms that tend to get too warm in summer.

This applies especially to the bungalow or small two-story house with unfinished attic. The whole roof is exposed to the sun so the attic becomes hot and this heats the living quarters below.

Careless of Repairs

It is indeed curious that, while we avoid, in so far as we can, any depreciation of our other investments, many of us do not adequately protect our home investment. We are constantly paying "neglected taxes" on our properties, which may be greater some years than the government taxes.

Some idea of the extent of our carelessness may be gained from the knowledge that repairs to property, due entirely to neglect, cost American property owners about $1,800,000,000 a year. This truly appalling figure indicates a very deplorable condition. It is a sum nearly four times as great as the annual fire loss.

This condition is due to utter carelessness on the part of home owners. The man who raises an awful "howl" if he thinks he is being "done" out of a little money, often does not realize that necessary repairs on his property may soon cause him really big losses.

Playground Competition

One hundred and seventy-eight cities have entered 311 playgrounds and athletic fields in the national playground beautification contest announced by the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

Forty-one states and Canada are represented by the cities competing for the $5,650 in cash prizes and nursery stock to be awarded by the Harmon foundation.

New York is the most populous competitor, and Anteville and Coward, E. C., are the smallest, each boasting 100 persons. However, the metropolis will not compete directly against the villages, as all entering cities are divided into three population groups.

THE TRUE MEASURE OF ITS VALUE IS OWNER SATISFACTION

The most obvious proof of Oldsmobile value is increased sales in every section of the land. That is the natural response to inviting prices, winning beauty, quality construction and superior performance.

But the true measure of Oldsmobile value is the enthusiasm of its owners, and to their repeated expressions of whole-hearted praise we frankly attribute a considerable proportion of Oldsmobile's increasing sales.

GIVES GOLDEN RULES FOR POTATO CULTURE

M. S. C. EXTENSION MAN LISTS IMPORTANT POINTS IN PROFITABLE TUBER PRODUCTION.

A set of "golden rules" for the potato producer has been issued by H. C. Moore, extension specialist in crops at the Michigan State College. In discussing the high price of seed potatoes this spring, Mr. Moore recently warned state farmers to follow the very best cultural methods, and not to expend their acreage in a gamble that the high 1925 potato prices would be repeated this year.

The factors essential in profitable potato production, according to Moore, are as follows:

1. Plant the best seed available. Poor seed will prove a liability. Plant Michigan certified seed.
 2. Treat the seed with corrosive sublimate for the control of scab and black scurf.
 3. Cut the seed so that the pieces average one and one-half to two ounces. Space the hills close in the row to overcome the production of oversize, rough, hollow potatoes. Members of the Michigan 300 Bushel Potato Club plant an average of approximately 19 bushels of seed per acre. They space the rows 34 to 36 inches apart; the distance between hills is from 12 to 18 inches.
 4. Plant potatoes on fertile, light loamy soils that are well drained and well supplied with humus. If possible, plant on an alfalfa, sweet clover or clover sod. Avoid planting on heavy, poorly drained soils and old grass lands that may be infested with wire worms and grubs.
 5. Plow early and keep the soil cultivated until planting time to conserve moisture and control weeds.
 6. Give thorough, shallow cultivation after plants are up.
 7. Spray the vines with Bordeaux mixture and arsenicals to control foliage diseases and insects. Use a high pressure sprayer.
 8. Harvest and store the potatoes carefully to prevent bruising and other injuries.
 9. Use extra care in grading the potatoes for market.
- Write the Farm Crops Department of the Michigan State College, East Lansing, for detailed information on better production methods.

Shelley Really Not So Badly "Henpecked"

Miss Selma Furnalvill, daughter of Shelley's physician, is one hundred years old, according to a dispatch from London, and she remembers hearing her father talk about Shelley: Doctor Furnalvill, it appears, had a "high regard" for the poet, "although Shelley paid him only one guinea of seven which he owed." This was magnanimous of the doctor; but it reveals Shelley as in a class with Leigh Hunt, who never paid his debts, and who frequently called on Shelley for aid.

Shelley's weakness about paying bills, however, is not the most interesting thing Miss Furnalvill remembers hearing her father say about him. The doctor, she says, believed Shelley was a badly henpecked husband—henpecked by his second wife, and certainly not by his poor first wife. The doctor, according to Miss Furnalvill, remembered well how the second Mrs. Shelley continuously was saying to her husband, "Shelley, fetch this, or that."

This little glimpse into the poet's domestic life is worthy of biographic note, for it reveals that in Shelley's time a man was believed to be henpecked when his wife merely requested him to fetch something. But what would Shelley think—and what would good Doctor Furnalvill think—were they to return to earth and witness the home life of the modern American husband whose domestic activities embrace everything from stoking the furnace to washing the baby? Today the wife does not mildly suggest that the husband "Fetch this, or that." She would make Mrs. Shelley look like an oppressed hired girl who was afraid to lift her voice above a whisper. The wife nowadays simply doesn't suggest domestic duties to her husband, she issues commands—and maybe this is one reason why there are not more American husbands who can write poetry like the incomparable Shelley's.

Motor Trips Over Sahara

Touring the Sahara is becoming as popular as any ordinary Algerian trip. The journey from Paris to Timbuctu can be accomplished in a few days. The Algerian branch of the powerful Paris-Lyon Mediterranean Railway company is planning tourist trips by motor cars from Algiers to the Hoggar, the country of the newly exhausted quest, Ti-An-Han. The first trip will be made next winter. During the present season several tourists have or are to cross the sandy plains of the desert, making their way to the Hoggar or Timbuctu or the Tchad region. Some time ago Lieutenant Estienne in a six-wheeled automobile completed a double crossing—from Colomb-Béchar in the south of the province of Oran-Bourem and back. The whole journey lasted 113 hours. The cars were fitted with all the modern comforts.

Chairs Tore Stockings

The wheels of justice were stalled at Atlantic City. It all happened when one of the women jurors discovered a hole in her stocking. The jury box is not inclosed and she had no way of hiding the rip. Then she noticed another "Jures" in like trouble. There was whispering, and a third started to blush when she found a long gash in the back of one of her stockings. The court noticed the three women did not have their minds on the case and made inquiries. The difficulty was explained, and when it was found that raw-edged bolts on their chairs were responsible for the stockings rents court was adjourned until new chairs could be substituted.

Flying Safety Device

By means of new inventions air pilots are able to steer safely to a given point in the thickest fog. Flight Lieut. H. Cooch has informed the Royal Aeronautical society of England. By means of delicate instruments in the cockpit a pilot is kept automatically informed when he is within 1,500 feet of the ground, and the loss of every foot of height as he descends is also indicated. Other instruments show the aviator just what part of the airframe he is over, after he has arrived in the vicinity of his destination, so that he may land in safety, though he may not be able to see the ground until he has actually alighted.

To See by Radio This Year

Within a few weeks vision by radio will be an accomplished fact. So Edmond Belin, who invented the method of sending drawing by telegraph, tells us. Before the end of 1926, says Belin, an orator speaking into a microphone will have both his voice and his image transmitted simultaneously all over the globe. . . . The time is coming when you can see the person you are talking to over the telephone, or the one who calls you up, and it won't be necessary to say "Whozzit?"—Capper's Weekly.

Tasteless Cod Liver Oil

Have you any disagreeable recollection of cod liver oil? If so, you will agree in calling Drs. Harry E. Rubin and Casimir Funk, biochemists of New York, real benefactors. According to Popular Science Monthly they claim to have developed a new extract from which the nauseous taste is removed and which contains, in a given quantity, several thousand times as many vitamins as the original oil.

WILL INCREASE PRODUCTION

The Oakland Motor Car Company will increase its production schedule on both the Oakland Six and the Pontiac Six for the next three months. It was announced at the meeting of District Managers held at the factory the last week in May.

This increase in production is planned to meet the increasing call from dealers for more cars to supply their orders on hand. At no time this year has Oakland been able to supply dealers with sufficient cars to meet their requirements.

Pontiac Six sales for the first five consecutive months have broken all previous records for a new make of car. The sale of more than 10,000 Pontiac Sixes, the first three months established a new record, which has been maintained by production and sales of more than 25,000 Pontiac Sixes during the first five months.

During the first month that the Pontiac Six was introduced, January of this year, the average daily production was approximately 60 cars. During February, 145 cars a day were produced and this was increased to 280 a day during March. During April a daily schedule of more than 300 Pontiacs was maintained, and throughout May 340 of these cars were produced daily.

The sweeping increase of Oakland Six sales for the same period over the year 1925 is equally as spectacular. The combined production of Oakland and Pontiac Sixes has placed the Oakland Motor Car Company in volume as one of the ten leading automobile manufacturers.

"The King of The Turf"

—STARRING—

Kenneth Harlan; Patsy Ruth Miller and a Brilliant Cast

All the hip hip hurrah of derby day—straining eyes—courageous thoroughbreds—stout-hearted jockies—proud horsemen—beautiful women—frantic plungers—moving irresistibly through the vivid pageant of the American turf—to the ideals and traditions of which this monumental photoplay pays an enduring tribute.

The Roman Emperor and his pals never saw such thrills as you'll see in this production.

Two great horse races in one thundering big show—roaring with arenic thrills—beginning with a "flat" race with mighty thoroughbreds straining every ounce of strength and endurance, while sport-mad mobs go wild in the frenzy of the struggle—and culminating gloriously in the greatest steeplechase race ever flung upon the screen.

ODD FELLOW NEWS

Again the Brothers have the chance to find out just what is going on in their wide awake organization, through these times.

Our first degree team under the direction of our Master of Degrees, A. Meddaugh, conferred this degree in all its pomp and splendor on a large class of candidates. It is a great pleasure to see all the real workers of the lodge turning out to the meetings and taking part in this work.

Our second degree captain, Harry Hunter, has his team in shape for the conferring of the second degree next Tuesday evening, June 8th. A large crowd is expected, as this degree is one of great interest to the Brothers as well as the candidates.

Our sick list is growing again, perhaps due to the weather.

Brother Counterman is again back on the job, doing light work; also brothers Ward and Muehart. Brother Proctor, who by the way is in Grace hospital, is suffering from the effects of a stroke. At this writing, he has not improved to any great extent.

Our election of officers for the coming term was held last Tuesday evening. The result was as follows:

N. G.—Albert Williams
V. G.—Earl Gray
Recording Sec'y—William Boehret
Financial Sec'y—B. E. Giles
Treas.—F. S. Wilson
D. D. G. M.—C. Zander
First Representative to Grand Lodge—R. Tanger

Second Representative to Grand Lodge—S. Cooper

The installation of these officers will be held the first Tuesday evening in July, which is considered a great event and is usually followed with a banquet and a general good time. All Brothers remember the date.

Our flag decorating committee, after a lot of hard work, finished the decorating of the graves of our departed Brothers in good shape, and deserve a lot of credit for their work. The flags made a fine appearance among the graves of the departed soldiers.

The memorial committee is asking all Oddfellows and Rebekahs to remember next Sunday evening as the time for our memorial services. Everyone is requested to be present.

The Memorial services held in Plymouth last Monday, were well attended by Oddfellows. It was a fitting memorial service to our departed veterans.

REBEKAH NOTES

The Rebekah degree will be conferred on a large class of candidates, on June 11th, and the degree captain has a good surprise for all who attend that night. Mrs. Meddaugh has called a degree practice for Friday evening, and asks that every member be present so this degree can be put on in full form. They are figuring on putting on this degree in a Detroit lodge sometime in June, so every member turn out.

BOOSTER NOTES

SITE OF THE FIRST PHONE MESSAGE

ELM

The one act play, "Examination Day at Wood Hill School," followed by an old-fashioned dancing party, will be given at Livonia Town Hall, this Friday evening, at 8:00 o'clock.

The final meeting of the Elm school P. T. A. was held Tuesday evening, June 1st. After the business meeting, a report was given of the convention held at Holland. The members were then entertained with a piano solo by Miss Edna Burger, and several old-fashioned selections on the violin by Mr. Hicks, who is visiting his daughter, Mrs. St. Clair of Elm. After refreshments, the members adjourned to meet again next September.

Landscape Gardener

Engineers can lay out roads and do grading; nurserymen can advise in regard to plant material and growing conditions; but the landscape architect combines the work of the engineer, the nurseryman and the artist. He has the practical knowledge of the nurseryman, the scientific knowledge of the engineer, and his own technical skill and power of design.

With the combination he saves time and money to those who make use of his services in the development of their estates.

Need New Road Signs

There is a general need for the replacement of signs on our rural highways. There is also a need for clear signs along the roads leading to important cities. Weather conditions during the winter have erased or destroyed signs.

MUNICIPAL NOTES
BY THE MANAGER

The iron culverts we are now putting in the creek on Moreland avenue with the township, will be completed by the time these notes are read. Concrete end walls have been built and the road drainage cared for. The old bed of the creek is filled in so the water has a straight course across the road instead of several bends.

The sixteen thousand gallons of road oil have been put on the streets. The oil this year penetrated the surface and spread much better than last year. Some streets where the sewers are to go soon, we left out of the schedule, and some that have extra traffic this summer have a little extra oil on.

Both of our sewer contractors are in bad going. The water makes rapid work impossible. The disposal plant contractor is putting on the finishing touches around the Imhoff tank and filter bed.

Mrs. Nellie Cash has taken the position of deputy clerk in the manager's office. Miss Ballen is staying on to help Mrs. Cash get acquainted with the office.

So far this year we have had twenty-eight water tap applications. Last year up to end of May we had thirty-two.

The effect of the warm weather is seen in our water consumption records. During April, we used an average of 388,000 gallons per twenty-four hours. During May, this daily average use increased to 438,000 gallons. The water level in the reservoir during May averaged around the 7-ft. 6-in. mark.

The hours of the Wayne County Library at the hall have been changed. The librarian comes on duty at 11:15 a. m. instead of at noon, and the room will be open every evening except, of course, Sunday.

The Ex-Service men have only until July 2nd to convert or re-instate their War Risk Insurance. This insurance is carried by the U. S. government at cost, and offers first class protection at a minimum of cost. A. J. Richwine has all necessary papers and information at his office in the Woodworth building, and has offered to assist all ex-soldiers, sailors and marines in re-instating and converting their insurance with cost.

Five armed hi-jackers in a raid on Harry Sowers' place at Farmington and Plymouth roads early Wednesday morning, shot two men and stole nearly $1,000 in money and jewelry. The wounds of neither of the men shot were serious. The hi-jackers entered while Sowers was outside, and when he came back he found eight persons lined along the wall with their hands aloft. The hi-jackers were going through their pockets. Sowers himself was robbed of $500 and a gold watch. The hi-jackers made their escape in an automobile. Officers are investigating the case.

Russia's Rich Crop of Furs

Russian traders, government and private, purchased 103,000 tons of furs in the three months ended December 31, 1925, in the Urals and Siberia. In the Archangel district ermine, fox, marten and white rabbit were plentiful, while squirrels were scarce. Government prices to traders were: Squirrel, 45 cents a pelt; fox, $8.50; white rabbit, 25 cents; gray rabbit, 28 cents; marten, $9; ermine, $8 cents; badger, 75 cents; wolf, $5; bear, $6; stone marten, $12.50. Private traders paid 50 to 55 cents for a squirrel skin, $10 to $11 for marten and $9 to $10 for fox, none of which is any indication of the price of a coat in the United States.

Seed Corn Harmed

The Department of Agriculture says it is not likely that there will be any widespread shortage of seed corn in 1926, but it is extremely likely that many individual farmers and even some entire communities will find that the seed corn on which they had counted will not grow. Tests already made of many lots of seed in the corn belt indicate that the germinating power of much of the corn was injured by the low temperatures which occurred in October, before corn had dried out thoroughly.

New Anti-Freeze Compound

A member of the research staff of a large chemical laboratory in Long Island City, N. Y., Dr. G. O. Curme, Jr., claims he has discovered an anti-freeze compound for motor cars that combines the advantages of alcohol and glycerin, according to Popular Science Monthly. The new compound is called ethylene glycol.

The Home Town

Man loved not Athens in her golden days. More tenderly than these the tree-lined town. Which, lacking music for a wilder praise. Lives in their hearts in still and sweet renown. The market square, the wagons in the dawn. The streets like music when their names are said. The Sunday spire, the green, untrammeled lawn. These be the things on which their hearts are fed. —David Morton, in "The Town."

Roof of High Importance

From both architectural and decorative standpoints, the roof treatment is the keynote of the house. No matter whether the roof is flat or sloping, the handling of its color will be one of the greatest factors in adding to or taking from the attractiveness of the dwelling.

Not What It Used to Be

"When it comes to the game of marbles we older have a right to talk about the 'good old days,' with regret," said the man who used to dream of cornering the marble output. "We used to have a dozen different varieties of the game, and all of them took more skill than the games kids play now. 'Shooting' games between the thumb and finger is a lost art; today the players toss them. Another thing, there are only two kinds of marbles for modern youngsters to buy, but we used to have 'agates,' 'stones,' 'crookies,' 'milk agates,' 'alloys,' 'chinas,' and a half dozen other kinds. Now a boy can only hope to amass numbers; then he could use discrimination in keeping the ones he admired and using the others for play." —Detroit News.

Needle Long in Body

Mrs. John H. Johnson of Beaver Dam, Pa., was only a child when she left a needle in the side of her dress and later, when leaning against a banister, pushed the piece of steel into her side. Doctors were unable to get it and it gave her pain a long while, but then she forgot all about it. Recently, thirty-one years later, she felt an itching on the side of her torso and with tweezers pulled out the long-lost needle.

SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By Doris Rittenhouse

This year's awards in penmanship show hard conscientious work on the part of the students, teachers and supervisors of penmanship. More awards have been won this year than ever before. The pins will be awarded to the students at an assembly, sometime the middle or latter part of this month. The students winning these pins can consider their efforts well worth while, for good writing is always a help in any line of work. Those students who tried but did not quite attain a perfection necessary for an award, need not feel discouraged because they have bettered themselves by practice, and will win something next year.

This is the report of the awards in the grades from one through six—

Twenty-one Progress Pins given for 112 drills in manual.

Ninety Palmer Method Buttons given for 25 drills in manual.

Twenty-five Merit Buttons given for 60 drills in manual.

Eighty-seven Gold Star Buttons for primary drills.

Forty-two Silver Star Buttons for primary drills. The awards for the High school pupils will be given next week.

DEARBORN-PLYMOUTH GAME

The score for the Dearborn-Plymouth game was 7 to 1 in favor of Dearborn. There were a great many errors on both sides. Our pitcher did not have much support because of the wet grass which caused him to slide all over. This game was the least interesting of any this season.

GRADE NOTES

By Evelyn Schrader

The first grade pupils are taking great interest in the making of the flag. Thursday they had a full attendance, which is 43 girls and boys. Monday they began a new reader. This makes the third reader this term. Mrs. Carleton Blake, Miss Lillian Blake and Miss Bley were visitors in the B-1 grade room Friday afternoon, and brought with them a large bunch of English violets. The children in this grade are reviewing the consonant sounds, blends and phonograms used in phonetics. In nature study they are making pictures of free drawings and cuttings of the things in nature that are most beautiful to them.

In Miss Stader's room which is the 2-B, the children have learned a list of 272 words this term, and they are now going to review them.

The following people of Miss Harford's room have been neither absent nor tardy last month: Paul Albrecht, Ruth Bley, Harry Elsher, Vernell Hitt, Durward Jewell, Lavorn Kincaid, Tessa Kincaid, Mildred Postiff, William Smith, Harold Thorne, Robert Wingard. Phillip Donovan entered school a week ago.

Elthor Mertens of the third grade, who has been absent from school on account of illness, returned this week.

The 4-A and 5-B classes in Mrs. Mole's room are delighted with their new picture. It is "The Landing of Columbus" in water colors. The bright colors are due for the Indian picture. There were nine in the room who had A-plus in spelling for all the week.

In the grades 5-A and 5-B, the children have finished their geography books, and they will now start the study of the cities of the United States. They have a new picture, "Boyhood of Lincoln."

Ida Taylor of the sixth grade, has moved to Detroit. The fifth and sixth grades sang on Memorial Day. The pupils of Mr. Snavely's class are taking great interest in the weaving of baskets.

THE TYPEWRITING DEMONSTRATION.

FARMINGTON-PLYMOUTH GAME

By Claude Gebhardt

The Plymouth High school base ball team lost its final game of the season when it was defeated by the Farmington High school team, last Friday afternoon, by a score of 10 to 5. Having lost this game to Farmington, Plymouth dropped to third place, and Farmington is in second place in the Suburban League. Doudt pitched good ball, but his team-mates did not give him the necessary support. In this game, Quinn, pitcher for the Farmington team, and Doudt, pitcher for the Plymouth team, each hit home runs.

GIRL RESERVE AND GIRL SCOUT ENTERTAINMENT.

By Verne Holsington

Tuesday, May 25th, the Woman's Club entertained the Girl Reserves and the Girl Scouts in the kindergarten room. Mrs. Cooper acted as chairman. The first number on the program was a solo by Miss Forsythe. She was accompanied on the piano by Ruth Allison. Miss Athalie Hough gave a very interesting description of her European trip. She brought with her a number of interesting articles that she had purchased while abroad. Ice cream and cake were served.

THE DEBATE

By Gertrude Grainger

"Resolved, That Plymouth High school should have a student council." This was the question which four members of Mrs. Whipple's public speaking class debated last Friday afternoon.

The teams were as follows: Josephine Schmidt and Barbara Horton, the affirmative; Mae Donnelly and Franklin Arkhsout, the negative.

The affirmative proved that the student council would be a benefit in five ways—1. There would be more school unity; 2. the students would assume more responsibility; 3. it would centralize activities in making them stronger; 4. it would put control in the hands of people who would be more probable to be present at the time of the deed, and 5. it would promote school spirit.

The negative proved that we should not have one for the following reasons: 1. We are too immature; 2. the students are too sentimental; 3. that it would over-burden the students; 4. that in making the school laws easier, as would have to be done, it would be detrimental; 5. the students are too personal; and 6. it really wouldn't be a student council, because they would have to go to the teachers, anyway, for advice.

After the debate everyone voted. While the ballots were being counted, there was a discussion on the question. Julia Leared, the chairman, gave the decision, which was seventy to twenty-eight in favor of the affirmative.

SENIORS' NIAGARA TRIP

By Val Dee Caughey

Happy are those who can stay home and find happiness, but twice happy are those who travel to find happiness, and so it was with the seniors. They were very much upset when they found that they could not go by boat as they had planned, because the harbor in Buffalo was ice bound. They left Detroit at 11:30, and arrived at the Falls the next morning at 6:00. They went immediately to their hotel, "Temperance House," where they were served a bountiful breakfast, and at 8:00, set out on the gorge route around the Falls. At the first stop they donned rubber coats, caps and boots, and went under the Falls. Taking the next car, they went to the whirlpool, and all took a ride in the cable car. After that they climbed Brock's monument, 235 steps. Then from there, they went on around the gorge. In the afternoon they visited the "Cave of the Winds."

Saturday night they viewed the falls with the colored lights on. On Sunday morning they took a site seeing bus to Buffalo and around the city. After lunch they went through the power plant at the Falls.

At 9:50 Sunday night, they left the Falls, and arrived in Detroit at 8:00 a. m., tired but happy.

There were twenty-two in all in the party. The patronesses were Misses Johnston, Wells, Wiggins, and the patron, Mr. Holcomb. The guide was Lloyd Welch, swimming instructor at Highland Park High school.

For Best Results in Color Combinations

No general rules for the selection of colors and color schemes for homes can be laid down without including a vast list of exceptions. It is possible to make certain exceptions and comments, however, which, when applied with common sense and discretion, will be a guide and a warning. They must be taken liberally.

It is almost always the case that a house looks best when it blends into its background and surroundings; the roof, therefore, when against the sky should be of subdued tone and color, but can be brighter when against foliage or other buildings. While a large house can be dark, a small one cannot afford to be, for dark walls or light walls with dark trim will make it seem still smaller. In selecting color combinations, the best results are usually found in varying shades of the same color, as the walls of a stucco house might be buff, the trim ivory and the roof brown.

While patchiness should be avoided, there should be always a contrasting relief to large surfaces of one color, as trim and shutters in a contrasting color of tone will relieve the monotony of evenly-toned walls.

When corseles, moldings and trim are painted white, on a white or light house, it is a shadow that brings them out; such trim should therefore be wide and with deep projections. To paint this trim in contrast with walls would make it entirely too heavy; contrasting trim should be narrower and shallower.

Double Pergola Not Necessity of Today

The top work of the single pergola can be made as wide as six or seven feet, with benches between the posts. This will give the same seating possibilities as double pergolas. Also little garden entrances are generally considered as being necessarily double, but instead these can be very small, artistic arrangements of the two posts with a light top over them.

Habit is the most fixed thing in life, and we are much inclined to follow some of the methods of the past in landscape gardening, some of which are absurd in meeting the present-day conditions.

By the use of skill now, instead of lumber and paint, just as effective and attractive garden embellishments can be had without any greater care than years ago. The present era demands more skill and less habit.

Back-Yard Gardens

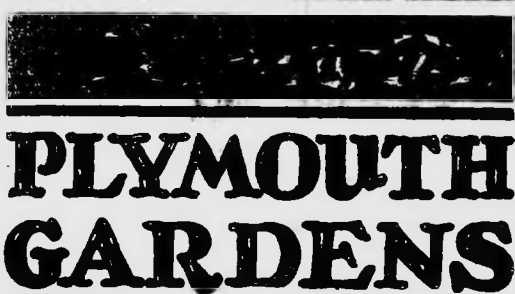

Whether the back yard shall be an outdoor living room or a mere adjunct to the garage or car and clothes poles is a matter of choice with the owner of the property. One back yard laid out into a pretty garden in a block is usually an effective piece of missionary work which excites emulation among the neighbors whose disorderly and unattractive rear areas are shown up. The laying out of a back yard into a little formal garden is a very simple matter which can be accomplished by any one.

For small areas the formal garden is often best, as the naturalistic style does not lend itself well to small areas, and back yards are so frightfully informal, as a rule, that they almost clamor for order. The chief reason for formality in a garden is to secure proportion and a balanced and orderly distribution of the space. Few of us possess a sense of proportion, but it can be attained by geometrical designs without difficulty.—New York Times.

Beauty Worth While

The dwellings of any people are the surest indication of their strength. Our highest civic ideals spring from sources which have their origins in happy, thriving communities. Since the enlightened community offers the best field for the merchandizing of lumber the interest of the lumber industry in improving small-house architecture in America might result from no motive other than the seeking for commercial gain. The motive, however, lies deeper than that. They realize that beautiful homes are an indication to better living.

THE FIRST and CHOICEST UNIT of a BEAUTIFUL DEVELOPMENT

The park and lake section of Plymouth Gardens is rapidly being absorbed by Plymouth, Northville and Detroit investors, many of whom are planning the construction of dwellings during the summer.

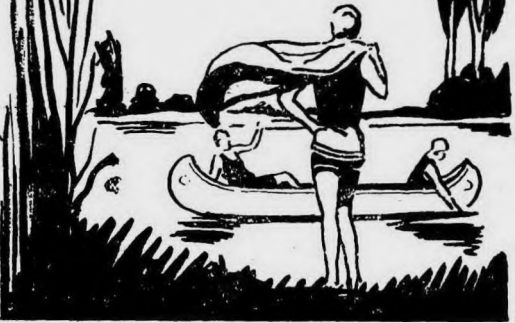

This first section, which is conceded to be the choicest in the Phoenix district, will be followed by the opening of other units bordering Five Mile road and the park, all of which will be beautified by one of the finest improvement plans in the entire west Detroit area.

Hundreds of visitors to the park on Sunday and Monday viewed the property, many selections of homesites were made, and all were enthused by the scenic grandeur which completely surrounds the tract.

Plymouth investors who have indicated their desire for plots in this first unit are seriously urged to make their selections without delay. The number is limited and they are selling daily.

House Design Should Guard Against Fire

When one reads the reports which indicate the tremendous losses sustained by people in the United States on account of conflagrations, it is readily agreed that fire-stopping cannot safely or wisely be ignored by the home builder. The safety of the family and the preservation of the structural integrity of the home in large measure depend upon it.

The remedies for those fire hazards which are created by carelessness have been discussed in many books and newspaper and magazine articles. Yet in spite of these warnings fires continue to occur.

Though personal carelessness is the most common cause of fire, hazards of construction are an important factor in determining the extent of resulting property damage. One of the chief considerations in connection with these hazards is involved in fire stopping.

The usual methods employed in building small houses give but slight consideration to construction which will retard the progress of fire. Most such houses contain many concealed spaces which will allow fire to gain headway without discovery, to eat its way from floor to floor, and then suddenly to leap into open flame. There now exists a very real need for easily understood drawings of fire-stopping details which when employed in actual construction will confine fire to its place of origin, and thus reduce to a minimum the excessive preventable annual fire loss in this country.

The Michigan Real Estate Association initiated the movement for the change.

NEW MORTGAGE LAW

Provision of the Michigan act in regard to foreclosure of mortgages, which required the service of process or notice upon the occupants of land included in the action has been repealed by action of the legislature at a special session recently closed. A substitute act has been passed which provides for notification through publication in a newspaper published in the county where the premises are situated, and the serving of a copy personally upon the individual in charge, or the posting of a copy conspicuously upon the premises themselves.

The Michigan Real Estate Association initiated the movement for the change.

Well-Marked Streets of Prime Importance

Progressive citizens of Boston have decided that "a signless city is an abomination to its citizens and particularly to its visitors." After a campaign their signs are to be placed on every corner. These signs are to be visible, conspicuous, uniform and durable.

Champaign is fast becoming a signless city. Many street signs are missing and others are too old and obscure to be of value. Many important intersections are not marked.

Another touring season approaches. Strangers will be as bewildered as ever unless some arrangement is made to guide them about the city by means of well-marked streets. Important entries to the city, the business section, main routes and streets should at least be marked and provision made to place signs on minor streets later.

Champaign is too progressive a community to remain a signless city much longer.—Champaign News Gazette.

Boy Scouts as Firemen
Boy scout firemen are real assets to a city. Their duty is to stop the fire before it happens—safely first. These organized units receive their instruction from some veterans in the municipal fire department. They make regular inspections for fire hazards in their districts. Are fire escapes clear, dark hallways unobscured by rubbish and gasoline, kerosene and other inflammables stored in safe places? They learn different types of fire fighting apparatus and how to administer first aid. In the event of fire they help the police preserve the fire lines, act as messengers and otherwise render efficient service. Nearly 10,000 scouts won a special merit badge in firemanship last year.—Harry B. Brainerd in the American City.

Preserving Shingles
Red cedar shingles will not require frequent repainting or restaining, as is the case with walls built of many other materials. This is especially so when good stain is used.

Red cedar shingle roofs should be properly treated with a reliable creosote stain. Avoid stain mixed with kerosene or benzine. Shingle side-walls may be stained in a wide range of shades. Certain silver grays are popular to produce quickly a "weathered" effect. Soft non-glare white, light gold, moss green, golden brown, deep brown, reddish brown, walnut tones—all these and more are to be had in finest quality. The red cedar shingle responds to any of them and retains them faithfully. It does not rot, rust or corrode.

Consider Before Planting
In regard to the placing of trees and, with respect to larger property, the design and construction of their grounds (road building, grading, disposition of lawn areas, gardens, whether formal or informal, and all other features of beauty and service) able counsel should be obtained. It is desirable that trees and shrubs, when transplanted to beauty grounds, should be well placed, both scientifically and artistically, in order that they may form a permanent and beautiful planting.

Advertisement Pays
Modesty is an admirable human quality, too little cultivated to drug the market. As a municipal characteristic, however, it is as much out of place as a prairie schooner on a speedway. It fails to register in a go-get-'em age. Unless a community advertises its merits the world thinks it has none.

DOLLAR VALUE OF "REALTOR"

Cash value of the name Realtor can't be computed, but here's evidence that it does earn money.

This is an excerpt from a letter written to the Atlantic City board headquarters by one of the members.

"One evening last week a gentleman walked into the office, who was a stranger to us, and wanted to know if we were members of the Real Estate Board. He presumed that we were, seeing the word Realtors on the windows, and he would only deal with members of the Board, as he is an out of town man, coming from Washington, D. C., and had seen the publicity furnished by our board.

"He subsequently rented a home for the summer at $4,000, with an option to buy in two months at $65,000, and is making the city his home."

What is more, this instance of the value of the term, Realtor, was sent in to the secretary voluntarily.

Elizabeth ("Betty") Clark, 13, of Cedars, Delaware, is one of that state's girl candidates for the American Youth Award, established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, to be held at Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in observance of 150 years of American Independence. If "Betty" is finally chosen to represent Delaware she will be given a week's trip to the Exposition and to Washington and the White House, where she will receive a medal from the hands of President Coolidge.

AMERICAN YOUTH

Scientific Advance
Determination of the species of destructive termite or "white ant" that may be proving itself a menace in any given locality is expected to be made possible by a study of the peculiar protozoa that live in their digestive tracts and help the insects to assimilate their diet of wood, according to preliminary studies made by Dr. Alfred Emerson of the University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Harold Kirby, Jr., of Yale University, and Dr. T. E. Snyder of the United States bureau of entomology. Sometimes the insects captured are too young to tell apart, Doctor Snyder explains, and sometimes only mangled or fragmentary specimens are obtainable. But the minute animals that live inside them are just as different from each other as their hosts, and thus may afford a clue to the identity of the latter.

The Younger Generation

Discussing in his entertaining column in the London Sphere the change in the attitude of husbands to wives since the heyday of the Victorian era, Mr. Clement K. Shorter remarks:

"Today a man is taught his true position, if not by his wife, certainly by his daughters. Some time ago a friend of mine, who had all his faculties, and fine philosophical faculties at that, was conducted by his young daughter to his tailor, who took exclusively and deferentially from her all his instructions. My friend bore all this with his usual philosophy, but even his philosophy nearly gave way when the tailor said to his eighteen-year-old daughter:

"You may bring him again, madam, on Tuesday."—Youth's Companion.

Roof's Need of Paint Must Be Kept in Mind

The importance of keeping the roof in perfect repair cannot be overestimated, since without a good roof it is impossible that the rest of the house can give satisfactory service. One leak can cause more damage to ceilings, walls, furnishings and dispositions than the cost of a new roof twice over. The tragedy of it is that the owner pays both ways; the interior damage must be repaired and the roof itself must be renewed. On the other hand a coat of paint or stain seals the cracks in a roof, prevents leaks, increases the security of all things within the house, makes the roofing materials last almost indefinitely, and vastly improves the appearance of the building.

Roofs of dwellings are commonly of two materials, shingles and tin. The destructive forces of rot and rust, lying in wait for those materials, can only be routed by proper paint protection. Tin should be painted on both sides before being put in place. There are several types of paint specially adapted for tin roofs. Future trouble will be avoided by painting the upper surface at least every two years, for a paint film is hardly more than one-fiftieth part of an inch in thickness and will wear out, like everything else.

The butt ends of shingles should be dipped for six or eight inches of their length in paint or stain of the preferred color, then placed in a trough to drain and dry for a day before they are put on. When the roof is complete, another coat of paint or stain is applied. Shingles will give adequate protection if they are repainted every fourth or fifth year.

Proper Pride in Home Badge of Citizenship

Pride in home is a precious characteristic, common among all mortals who are worth their earthly salt. And how the springtime brings it out!

The floss and jetsam beached in the backyard by the receding snows are raked and carted away, to make room for sprouting grass and spaded vegetable gardens. Out in front, last summer's flower beds are being made ready to furnish a new crop of June attractiveness.

Storm windows give way to screens. The paint brush anoints the scars suffered in the annual defense against the siege by Boreas. The household's steaming mop is piled with redoubled vigor. The vacuum cleaner hums. The falling thwack of the carpet-beater is heard in the land.

Pride in home! You find it reflected in the workman's cottage just as on the broad lawns of the rich man's estate. It cuts across the whole social fabric. The cottager is as proud of the wren in his bird house as the magnate is proud of the deer in his park.

Pride in home! The universal badge of good citizenship.—Minneapolis Journal.

Small City Wins Honor

For the first time, a community of less than 20,000 population—Albany, Ga.—has been chosen by the board of awards of the national fire waste contest as the 1925 grand prize winner for "having shown the greatest progress during the year in the prevention of fire and reduction of fire losses." The contest is conducted jointly by the National Fire Waste Council and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Out of 221 cities entered, the group prize winners were Portland, Ore., among cities above 100,000; Long Beach, Cal., among cities between 50,000 and 100,000; Battle Creek, Mich., among cities between 20,000 and 50,000; and Albany, Ga., in the smaller population group. Forty "honor cities" also were named.

Paint a Preservative

There is only one way to eliminate these expensive repairs, and that is to keep your property protected through painting before repairs are necessary. Property should be regularly inspected. Paint should be applied to all places that appear worn and not delayed until the appearance of rust or decay when repairs become unavoidable.

Keep your property well painted and you will have mighty few repair bills. Paint is far cheaper than new wood or metal replacements. Watch the less obvious vulnerable points, such as roof, eaves and down spouts, porch columns, etc. The trim is usually the first to suffer.

Build to Resist Fire

There is no excuse for reckless disregard of precaution in modern places, where wealth and up-to-date systems of construction should combine to produce, if not houses that will not burn, at least houses that will not burn each other.

Ideal City

The richest or the largest city in the world might be about the least attractive place to live. The ideal city is reasonably rich, reasonably large and immeasurably blessed with the qualities that make it ideal as a community of homes.

THE THEATRE

"KING OF THE TURF"

The fascination, glamour and intense rivalry of the race track furnishes the splendid background against which is projected a striking story in "King of the Turf." Louis Joseph Vance and John Brownell collaborated in writing this F. B. O. Gold Bond Special, and these famous authors have injected into their rattling melodrama a note of humanness and sympathy that keeps it real as well as thrilling from start to finish. Nor have they forgotten comedy. In fact, no picture of recent memory has been so riotously amusing as the production that comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, June 5th.

Most of the fun-making arises from the delightful transformation which three yeggs undergo when they accept an unusual invitation to visit Colonel Fairfax in his southern manor. This is developed with a sure touch that shows a knowledge of human nature and a whimsical philosophy which occasionally breaks into outright burlesque. The race of "Soup" Conley and "Red" Kelly for the track is motivated by drama, but it finds its greatest asset in the slapstick comedy which has been injected.

A corking cast, which includes George Irving, Patsy Ruth Miller, Kenneth Harlan, Al Roscoe, Kathleen Kirkham, Mary Carr, David Torrence, Dave Kirby, William Franey and Ed Phillips has been handled with fine skill by Director James Hogan. Particularly brilliant is the direction of the comedy scenes and the two big races are features of the picture.

"PARTNERS AGAIN"

Samuel Goldwyn's annual contribution to the gaiety of all nations has arrived. "Partners Again—With Potash & Perlmutter" is booked for the attraction at the Penniman Allen, Sunday and Monday, June 6th and 7th.

Years ago, Samuel Goldwyn decided to brighten this drab old world a bit annually, so he entered into arrangements whereby he secured the motion picture rights to the stage plays by Montague Bliss built around the famous central characters of the 50-50 partners.

From the start, these motion picture adventures of the argumentative business associates have enjoyed a success seldom accorded any motion picture effort. The public seemed hungry for laughs, and Mr. Goldwyn has released one each year.

In the first, the partners engaged in "cloaks and suits," finding enough trials and tribulations in that business to please the most hardened theatre-goer. That was followed by an equally hectic experience as motion picture producers.

In the new and latest one, "Partners Again," the firm deals in automobiles. Just a little imagination will tell you the fun-making possibilities there. Not only do they risk life and limb in the demonstration of the terrible "Schenckmann Six," but the heartless author and scenarist decided that to cap the climax they introduce the w.k. business men to airplanes and their idiosyncracies. Needless to say, the merriment increases. As an aviator, George Sidney is a howl. He undoubtedly accomplishes more difficult feats per minute than any aviator alive.

"DANCE MADNESS"

"Dance Madness" tells the rather hectic life of a newly married couple honeymooning in Paris. Comedy holds the upper hand in public favor this year, and Leonard has played the plot for every possible laugh. This picture comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday, June 9th.

Claire Windsor appears as May, a young wife being neglected by Roger, her husband, for the sake of other women, among them one Valentina, a popular dancer on the Parisian stage. May visits the siren and, in this unusual story, obtains her co-operation in teaching the phandering husband a lesson. Valentina loans the young wife her mask and costume, and thereafter the husband courts his wife in the belief that he is obtaining favor with the dancer. The dancer's husband, who is also in the plot against Roger, professes anger and jealousy and arrives at Roger's home one evening to search for his wife. May, masked as the dancer, hides from both men, but allows her husband to discover her when the dancer's husband has gone. Conscience stricken, Roger attempts to persuade the pseudo-dancer to return to her husband, and at this point May accidentally drops her mask. Reconciliation follows.

The story was written by S. J. Kaufman and adapted to the screen by

EXAGGERATION HAS ITS PROPER PLACE

Simple Truth Not Always Convincing.

No man has sufficient ability to comprehend or even to envision the whole body of truth. And if the world contained a man of such ability, it isn't at all probable that he would be able to reveal the whole truth to those about him.

Each man sees just so much of the truth as he is able to comprehend. Let us suppose this to be one-tenth of the truth. Having seen this small part of the truth, he is eager to share his vision with his fellows.

At once two great difficulties appear in the way. The man hasn't the knack of reducing his vision to words that are sufficiently eloquent to tell the whole of his story. And his listeners haven't the ability to absorb all of the little he offers them.

The result is that the first man's one-tenth truth is reduced to something less than one-half of 1 per cent of the whole by the time it is established in the minds of those who hear him.

The limitations of speaker and listener are so obvious and so universally acknowledged that men have found it necessary to deal in untruth in order to reveal what is true.

You will hear it said that a simple statement of fact is more impressive than any exaggeration. This is not true, except among scientists and persons of unusual intelligence. The average mind is impressed only by superlatives.

One ordinary person will say to another: "It was the funniest thing I ever saw. I nearly died laughing." This isn't the truth, but it serves. The hearer understands that the show was funny. But the ordinary person could not have revealed the truth in his humor by saying: "It was an amusing show."

Those who get a living by proselytizing or by denouncing seldom confine themselves to the simple truth. If they did they never would win a convert or persuade anybody to doubt. They multiply the truth by six simply because they know that the mind of the reader or listener, having little capacity, will divide it by six.—Baltimore Sun.

Ship Famed in History

The Bon Homme Richard was a famous warship, originally a merchantman called the Duras and rechristened by Paul Jones in honor of Benjamin Franklin. She mounted forty-two guns, and while cruising in the English channel (September, 1779) encountered the British frigate Serapis, carrying fifty guns. A battle ensued, lasting nearly three hours, and terminating in the surrender of the English vessel. During the entire engagement, the ships were in close proximity, and toward the end of the conflict, in actual contact. Jones was afterward received in France with great honor, the king presenting him with a sword and the cross of the Order of Military Merit. The American congress gave him a vote of thanks, and caused a gold medal to be struck and presented to him.

Romans' Love of Racing

"One of the lessons of history," writes Oliver Scribe in T. P.'s and Cassell's Weekly, "is that the spirit of man never changes. The passion for racing is as old as the Roman circus. The rivalry of the four factions, distinguished by their racing colors, used to lead to early racing scenes. 'All Rome today,' writes Juvenal, 'is in the circus. A roar strikes upon my ear which tells me that Green has won; for had it lost, Rome would be as sad and dismayed as when the consuls were vanquished in the dust of Cannae.' The notorious Emperor Caligula, who was himself a shamelessly unscrupulous enthusiast for the Greens, was kept awake at night by people taking their seats in the circus for the following day's performance."

Some Definitions

Asked by a correspondent to define "plot," "climax," "drama," "inciting force," "protagonist" and "antagonist," the Washington Star says:

The word "plot" has been defined as "a struggle and its result." It is the framework around which the story is built. The word "drama" means "the deed." "Climax" is derived from a word which means "a ladder." The climax of a drama—that is, the major climax—is the point of highest interest. An "inciting force" is, for example, some trait of character, or some event which moves the action of the drama toward a crisis or the climax. The terms "protagonist" and "antagonist" are applied, respectively, to the actor who played the chief part of the drama, and his opponent.

Totem Idea Common

The word totem is derived from the Chippewa Oboteman. Among primitive people everywhere each family had its supposed primitive guardian spirit, and it was thought of as being a bird, animal or inanimate object and sometimes was depicted as the spirit of an animal that looks like one of prehistoric times.

The symbols on the totem pole are read downward. Generally at the top is imposed the family crest. This totem idea was common among nearly all American Indians, and, strange to say, the same idea is found among the early Egyptians. Each Egyptian canton had its totem.—Masonic News.

NEWBURG PLAYS TWO GAMES

Rain broke up the Newburg Tigers and Wayne-Ford game, last Sunday, after Newburg got away with a flying start, scoring three runs in the first on a walk, two hits and error. Shultz started pitching the second, and set Newburg down in order. In the third, Newburg hit Schultz hard, scoring three more with two singles and a two base hit. Then it started to rain.

Gertz set Wayne-Ford down with an easy grounder and two strike-outs in the first, and coming back in the second with a strike-out and two grounders. Score with two and one-third innings played. Newburg, 0; Wayne-Ford, 0.

Newburg fans were treated with one of the best pitchers' battles ever played at Newburg, when Newburg defeated Clarenceville, Decoration Day. Both teams were held scoreless until the fifth inning, when Gertz, the Newburg pitcher, drove one in right for a home, that settled the scoring until the eighth, when Pete singled to right. Holmes tripped to center; R. Levandoski singled to right, and was out trying to stretch it. Holmes scoring; Bennett singled over second; Thomas singled off the pitcher's leg, and advanced on a wild pitch, and Bennett and Thomas scoring, when Gertz singled; then Zielasko struck-out ending this rally.

Gertz eased up in the ninth, Clarenceville scoring one run after the first two filed out, with a double and a single by Speck and Waack.

Gertz allowed only four hits, two coming in the ninth and striking out 17 men.

Floyd held Newburg to five scattered hits until the eighth, when Newburg bunched six more.

May Throw Light on "African Golf" Game

Scientists who have been excavating ancient ruins in Algeria have made a curious discovery. Among the relics unearthed is a bit of stone, spotted and striped with red ochre. The archeologists are undecided whether the painted pebble is a primitive form of writing used in the transitional period between the old and the new Stone Age or whether it is one of a pair of dice.

Should an examination of the relic prove that the stone is one-half of a pair of "Mississippi dominoes" it will prove that the dice game so dear to the heart of the African race had an ancient origin.

The scientists who were sent out by Beloit college are somewhat puzzled by this particular relic. They are unable to decipher the writing or the characters on the stone, and, having little or no experience with dice games, they are at a loss what to do.

It would be presumptuous, perhaps, to suggest a mode of procedure for such learned men, but the thought occurs naturally that they should submit the find to persons who have handled dice. If it should be found that "African golf" was played in the Stone Age, the fondness of the African race for that particular game could be explained. It cannot be doubted that the American negro takes to the game played with two dice easily and naturally. Perhaps, after all, he is merely displaying a primeval impulse. Let somebody decide the question who has rolled dice. Clearly it is a situation which calls for technical knowledge and not for book learning.—Seattle Times.

Powerful Indian Chief

Pontiac was an Indian chief born in Ohio about 1720. He was head of the Ottawa tribe, and led his own and the tribes of the Ojibway and Potawatomi Indians against Braddock in 1755. He determined to exterminate the white settlers encroaching in his domain, and organized the greatest confederacy of savage peoples ever known. Practically every Indian tribe in the Mississippi valley was drawn into it. He attacked in 1763, took eight fortifications and massacred several hundred soldiers and settlers. His siege of Detroit failed, and he signed a treaty of peace there in 1765. He was murdered at Cahokia, Ill., by a Kaskaskia Indian in 1769, and in revenge the Ottawa tribe all but exterminated the tribes of Illinois.—Kansas City Star.

Firm in His Convictions

The late Frederic Harrison, the eminent Victorian philosopher and man of letters, remained steadfast in his rationalism until his death, as is evidenced by the following story told by his son, Mr. Austin Harrison: "When my brother was wounded in the early part of the war and lay dying in a hospital in France, my father, though he was then eighty-four, insisted upon going to his bedside, and sat with him to the last. I met him at the station on his return. His cabin was astonishing; 'I would not let the chaplain come in and pray,' he said. 'I told him that if he thought his prayers could help the dead, he could pray outside,' and the steel in his eyes shone."

College Degrees

The degree, an academic rank or title, originated in the medieval universities. Scholastic distinctions of an analogous nature seem to have existed in ancient times. In the latter part of the classical Greek period education was well organized into inferior and superior courses and there evidently existed some recognized proof that such courses had been completed. The degree as a university distinction originated at Bologna and Paris during the Twelfth century and the titles "master" and "doctor" signified at first nothing more than a license to teach.

Many Color Standards

In making certain colored fabrics like rugs, tapestries and similar materials, it is necessary to have a large number of color standards and in the rug industry some mills have as high as 5,000 standards from which they work. The men in charge of the colors and dyes are artists as well as craftsmen, and they have to have almost infinite patience in working with the aniline dyes used in getting the color values for each job. A few grains of dyes in a thousand gallons of water materially changes the color of a thousand pounds of yarn.

Concerning Speech Energy

The speech energy of the human voice amounts to very little in the way of power. It is only 125 ergs a second, an almost infinitesimally small amount of power, says the Washington Star. Consonant letters require the least amount of energy. The pitch or frequency of vibrations is much higher for consonant sounds than for vowels, however. An erg is the work done when a body moves one centimeter in the direction in which it is urged by a force of one dyne, and a dyne is a force which when acting on a mass of one gram for one second will change its velocity by one centimeter per second.

Wonder Railway

One of the world's most wonderful railways runs between Buenos Aires and Valparaiso. The line, owing to the immense elevation it attains in crossing the Andes, runs for hundreds of miles through a region of eternal snow and is frequently blocked by avalanches. Among its wonders is a spiral tunnel, a natural bridge of rock and a string of 118 steel bridges linked together by short stretches of solid permanent way.

Picked Up About Town

"Everything's pretty well evened up in this world," says Dad Plymouth. "There's always as much pity for the groom as there is for the bride."

A modern girl will take advice from a dude who wears cuffs on his pants, and yet insist her father never knows what he's talking about.

"Nobody can feel meaner or more cruel," declares Dad Plymouth, "than the father who has taken the stand that they can't afford something the family insists they must have."

A good many men would find it easier to make ends meet if their wives were not so afraid of what the neighbors will say.

Dad Plymouth says that by this time everyone is ready to admit that Jonah was among the first to tell about "the big one that got away."

With a desire to be perfectly correct in his grammar, Dad Plymouth wants to know if it is proper to refer to sausage as "it" or "them."

"It's the easiest thing in the world to raise Cain," asserts Dad Plymouth, but he says nobody ever gets very much for the crop.

Money talks, but some of us have a hard time getting within earshot of the echo of it.

Two things the average Plymouth woman hates—knowing she is fatter than some other woman, and having some other man make more money than her husband.

What has become of the old-fashioned widow who thought she ought to dress in mourning several months after she collected the insurance?

Before marriage the average woman would trust him with her soul. After marriage she won't trust him with his own pay envelope.

BRONZE MEDALLION OF JAMES SMITHSON

Believed to Be Work of Famous Artist.

From a Washington dealer in antiques the Smithsonian institution of Washington has unexpectedly obtained an excellent bronze medallion, probably executed by the famous Italian sculptor, Antonio Canova, of its founder, the English scientist, James Smithson. On the back is the rough inscription, "James Smithson, 1817." The medallion bears an initial letter, evidently of the artist who made it, which seems to be an old-fashioned "C."

A plan is under consideration to have bronze replicas of this medallion made for presentation of all persons who respond to the Smithsonian institution's appeal for funds in its effort to add $10,000,000 to its endowment—the first appeal it has made for financial aid since it was founded with money left in trust to the United States by Smithson just 100 years ago.

Ruel P. Tolman, assistant curator of graphic arts of the Smithsonian institution, who has charge of the personal relics of Smithson, has written to a man in Italy, author of a life of Canova, in an effort to discover whether the famous Italian sculptor ever made a medallion of Smithson. It is considered to be quite likely that he did, for Canova and Smithson were contemporaries and the English scientist spent much of his time in Italy, where he died.

Mr. Tolman is taking nothing for granted, however, especially in view of the fact that the single letter on the medallion may possibly be a "T." He wrote to a museum at Copenhagen and inquired about the possibility of the medallion having been executed by Albert Thorwaldsen, a Danish sculptor of the same period, who did much of his work in Italy. A reply came that it is not the work of Thorwaldsen.

A curious circumstance in connection with the discovery of the medallion is that among the relics of Smithson in the possession of the Smithsonian institution is a die of the same medallion, with no inscription on it. The late Prof. S. P. Langley, third secretary of the Smithsonian institution, in his life of Smithson, wrote:

"We have a likeness of him taken from a medallion executed probably in the years when he was most active in these scientific labors. The precise date of the medallion is unknown."

The dealer in antiques says he obtained the medallion from a collector of old coins. How it came into his possession is a mystery. There is a record of such a medallion once having been in the possession of the Smithsonian institution, but it was long ago.

The medallion is an artistic piece of work and resembles the work of Canova. Replicas of it would have artistic value and historical interest.

Ink Blots for Mind Tests

Ink blots will tell more about your personality in ten minutes than hours of analysis, according to a professor of Northwestern university.

You can test yourself with a sheet of paper and splashes of red, green or black ink. Ask yourself what you see in them. If they appear merely as blots you are of the conventional type. If however, you see in them fantastic and original pictures, then you belong to a creative type above the average.

For some time, says the Popular Science Monthly, psychologists have been using ink blots in this way to study personality, with some excellent results.

Enthusiastic Over Gas

"What use of wealth so luxurious and delightful as to light your house with gas," wrote Sydney Smith in 1821. "What folly to have a diamond necklace of a Correggio, and not to light your house with gas! The splendor and glory of Lambton hall makes all other houses mean. How pitiful to submit to a farthing candle existence, when science puts such intense gratification within your reach! Dear lady, spend all your fortune in a gas apparatus. Better to eat dry bread by the splendor of gas, than to dine on wild beef with wax candles."

University Seals

The Hebrew words on Columbia's seal are "Ori-El"—"God is my light," an allusion to Psalms 27:1. The words on the seal of Yale are the names, Urim and Thummim, of certain objects mentioned in the Old Testament as being used as mediums for the revelation of the will of God, or as being placed in the breastplate of the high priest on certain occasions. They appear to have been originally forms of lots used for obtaining oracular answers. In the university's seal, therefore, they symbolize wisdom and divine guidance.

Canary Bird's Ears

Although quite sensitive, the canary bird's ears, located just back of and a little below the eyes, appear to be only a small opening into the head. The ear is not hard to find, when it is known where to look for it. It has always been a scientific mystery that birds have such acute hearing when they have such small assistance from nature in the way of ears to "scoop" up sounds.

English Governor Who Served Colonies Well

King George's war, the bloody period of 1744-48, is an important historical link, says Hugh Pendexter, in Adventure Magazine.

In New England the war was commonly called "Shirley's War" because of the leading role played by Massachusetts' governor. He was one of the very few popular English governors in America. His father was a London merchant. Instead of going into trade he became a lawyer, located in London, and was familiar with the intrigues of the court of George II. He came to America in 1731 and became governor of Massachusetts in 1741. Previous to his appointment he served as surveyor of the king's woods, and was quick to understand the value of our forests and especially the importance of reserving the choice pines for "masting" the royal navy. This work also gave him an extensive knowledge of the geography and resources of New England.

For fifteen years he was a royal governor and military commander in America, and almost constantly engaged in fighting the French and their Indian allies. He was one of the first, if not the first, royal governors to discern the supreme importance of the crown's contributing to the Colonial welfare if Colonial loyalty was to continue. Aside from the military rule he played during the old wars, he carried through many civic reforms. Chief among the latter was establishing Massachusetts on a specie basis, that colony being bankrupt when he took office as governor. He succeeded in securing compensation for the colony's expenses in King George's war, and was successful in insisting the coin received should be used to redeem Colonial paper. When assuming office the relative values of silver and paper were four to one. He received no aid from the crown that his efforts deserved. There was no Pitt to speak for him and the Colonies at court. He endeavored to end the jealousies of the Colonies and unite them for mutual defense and self-improvement. In this he was largely balked by the quarreling of Newcastle and Bedford, neither of whom gave any evidence of being well acquainted with, or interested in the needs of the Colonies.

Starting Young

The Woman has a small niece who thinks her aunt is just about perfect. The little lady wants to be a writer when she grows up, and having just mastered the art of writing she feels much more intelligent than she did when she had to print her words. The other day she came to the Woman and brought the following contribution and told the Woman she wanted her to sell it and wouldn't take on cent less than 25 cents for it. The masterpiece ran like this:

O Dolly, dear, you'll never rust, But accidentally you may bust.

The Woman sent the young lady 25 cents, but she is very much afraid she has started something that may not be so easy to finish.—New York Sun.

The Lunatic at Large

There are on record even worse examples of bad manners in the traveler than those represented by the craze for souvenirs, which has led to action against four American women for injuring the famous temple at Borobudur. Some years ago a tourist sought to achieve distinction by stopping a religious procession in an Italian city in order to light his cigar at one of the holy candles. Even more audacious was the feat of another traveler, who, being shown a lamp in an eastern church which he was told had never been allowed to go out for many centuries, exclaimed, "I guess it will now, then," and promptly extinguished it.—Manchester Guardian.

Women in Forefront

Women probably have more to say about municipal affairs in Bologny, a city near Novgorod, than in any other city in the world. In the recent election of 80 members of the Soviet city 49 women won seats. This year 43.5 per cent of the population voted, compared with 7.7 per cent last year. By occupations the Soviet consists of 22 workmen, 24 clerical employees, 6 intelligentsia and 37 housewives and professional persons. Of these 19 are Communists and 4 members of the "Komsomol," or young Communists.

The Moon's Craters

There is no reason to believe that any new craters have formed upon the moon for ages. Those it has come into being, doubtless, as those upon the earth were formed—by volcanic action. The moon everywhere shows traces of volcanic activity, although there are no active moon volcanoes known to us, nor are there indications of recent volcanic action. Great volcanic fires raged upon it once, and there are craters more than 100 miles across, but the moon apparently has been a dead world for a vast period of time.

"City of London"

In London "the city" proper is a small place, covering only 675 acres and containing a population of 13,700. Its boundaries are those of London of the Middle Ages. It is in the heart of Greater London and is a business section with few homes. What is meant by London usually is the area within the Metropolitan and City police districts, an area of 448,424 acres with a population of 7,460,201.

The Torque Tube is a sturdy backbone for BUICK quality

It holds the rear axle firmly and staunchly in true alignment, regardless of road inequalities. Twist and wear on the drive shaft and axle are eradicated. Two universal joints are unnecessary. It would be possible, because Buick has the Torque Tube Drive, to drive a Buick from New York to San Francisco with all four springs broken.

The Torque Tube also seals the drive shaft from the dirt and wear of the road. Look at the strength of the Buick chassis and make a comparison with competitive motor cars, before you buy your next transportation. You can see Buick's superiority with the naked eye.

THE PLYMOUTH MAIL

Today's Reflections

Joseph may have been proud of his coat of many colors, but he had sense enough not to wear bell-bottomed pants.

If any Plymouth man has a family with a porthouse appetite when he is working on a soupbone salary, our advice to him is to sing the doxology and turn out the lights.

The sloppiest thing in the world is not a man who has just been dragged out of a river but a girl trying to cry and chew gum at the same time.

They say the horse will soon become extinct. But we are more interested in knowing if horse sense ever will.

Some Plymouth men remind us of dogs in one respect—it doesn't take much to start them howling.

Cutting out the foolishness will do more to prolong life than cutting out the tonsils or adenoids.

The first time a couple realizes that marriage doesn't make two people one is when they go to buy their railroad tickets.

It's hard to keep a good man down, and a glance at any Plymouth garden will show that the same thing is true of weeds.

Some of these days a native of the Fiji Islands will come to the U. S., see the Charleston danced, and then go home and take up a collection to send missionaries over here.

We heard a Plymouth man say yesterday that he used to be head of the family but since his daughter has grown up the two women have agreed on a commission form of government.

Maybe one reason why some men never marry is they are too tender-hearted to see a woman starve to death.

France plans to sell bonds by radio. That ought to be a hot tip for the book agent who can't get past the front door.

The play given under the auspices of the Epworth League, last Wednesday evening, was "Safely worth going to see and hear." They all did so well. It would be hard to say which was the star. The entertainment between acts was enjoyed by all. The two young lads, Morris Garchow, who played the accordion, and Kenneth Jewell, who played the drum and cymbals, were fine. Our golden-haired harmonica player and his accompanist on the piano, are always well received. The young people with Aunt Billa, are talking of repeating the play. Ten Months Ago, Unknown— Today, a synonym for silent smoothness

Ten months ago, when Oakland first printed these distinctive circles to illustrate the effect of the Harmonic Balancer upon motor car performance, motorists everywhere were curiously asking, "What is this feature, and what does it accomplish?"

Today there is no need to ask, for the Harmonic Balancer has told its own remarkable story.

Motorists everywhere know that this ingenious device—built into the Oakland crankshaft—renders the Oakland Six engine unmatched in freedom from vibration at all speeds.

The Harmonic Balancer—an integral part of more than 50,000 new Oakland Sixes—has become a synonym for incomparably smooth, quiet motor car performance to Oakland owners and to the motoring public generally.
