WEATHER WARNINGS

Here's what we call worse and more of it—now it is predicted that this will be the last worth-while summer we will ever have, and that it will continue to grow cooler each year until the world is again the "ice age." He also asserts that the glaciers of the arctic circle are shifting and that eventually they will again be as far down in North America as the Canadian line.

Citizens of Plymouth who dread the task of firing a furnace or a base-burner, will not be pleased with this prediction. For the fact is the average man in this section is about ready to believe that there may be more truth than poetry in what he says. This summer has been made up of so many peculiar kinds of weather that nothing seems impossible, and the statement that icebergs are closer to us than for hundreds of years sounds very plausible.

From every part of the country come reports of unusual weather conditions. People are sleeping under blankets in places where cool weather was never before known at this season. Summer resorts and bathing beach operators are said to be facing bankruptcy, and merchants generally are complaining that their stocks of warm weather wearing apparel are not moving as they usually do. We don't know how close the prophet is going to come to hitting it. In fact, we hope we'll not be around if his prediction comes true. But we do hope that something has slipped a cog somewhere, and that about the only way the weather man can win back our friendship will be to send us a winter just as warm as this summer has been cool.

MOVING AROUND

Variety is the spice of life and some people may never be satisfied unless they are "on the go," but a desire for variety, for moving around, is declared by the government to be costing the American people a lot of money. It is said that approximately 4,000,000 Americans moved during the past spring, and that the cost totalled about $68,000,000.

Just think how far it would go if that amount had been put into new homes. As it is, all the movers got out of it was a few more neighbors, who may or may not be congenial, a new location, which may or may not please them, and a lot of discomfort and inconvenience. But spring is not the only time this shifting about takes place. Fall brings the restlessness, too, and if you will notice a little later on you will see numerous families around Plymouth pulling out for new locations. It seems to be human nature to want to be "on the go," or to imagine that the best fishing is a monument to the skill that created it.

If you are comfortably situated and doing as well financially as the average man of your age and ability—stay where you are. Moving costs money, and in a majority of cases, when everything is taken into consideration, you will not be any better off, and you may be far worse off, than where you are. Learning to let well enough alone is one of life's most valuable lessons, and if you've ever done any moving you probably know by this time that in the long run it doesn't pay.

STRANGE CROSSINGS

We wonder how many motorists around Plymouth know that a train going forty miles an hour covers fifty-nine feet in a second, and that it cannot be stopped in less than a quarter of a mile? If everyone who drives a car would take his lead pencil and figure a moment he would find that a train can cover 300 feet in five seconds, and not be running faster than forty miles an hour. That 300 feet is a good, safe distance to be from a railroad track, and five seconds is very little time to lose when negotiating a crossing. We believe a realization of this one little fact should be sufficient to make drivers more careful, to even cause some of them to come to a deep stop before proceeding over a railroad crossing that is now and strange to them. It certainly impresses us with the danger of taking chances on getting across before the train thunders along, and we sincerely hope it strike some of our readers as forcibly as it does us.

PRaise AND FACTS

The Wisconsin Journal, an ably edited daily paper prefer facts to fiction. This is easily understood when one reads words like these from one of its recent issues:

"The local newspaper in the United States is each year getting a firmer foundation and becoming more and more useful to its home town and community. It is the home newspaper which boosts the town, year in and year out; which takes the lead in every enterprise; which has for its purpose the upbuilding of the community. The local newspaper is the principal booster for its community, and it does its boosting often and without hope of material reward. Unfortunate is the community which neither appreciates nor supports its local newspaper."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Ethel Eileen Priestly Minehart was born at New Hudson, Michigan, June 5, 1902. At the age of two years she moved with her parents to Akron, Michigan. When she was seventeen years old, she came to Northville, where she was employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company for five years, making her home with her cousin, Mrs. Charles LeFever. During that time she met Albert Minehart, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Minehart of Plymouth. They were united in marriage November 8th, 1924. To this happy union was born a little baby girl, Jean Elizabeth, July 17, 1926, but joy soon turned to sorrow for the mother did not respond to the loving care given her, and was rushed to the Session hospital, July 18th. There every care possible was given her, but to no avail, and she passed to the Great Beyond a few hours later.

Mrs. Minehart departed this life at the age of 24 years and one month. Besides her husband and infant daughter, she leaves to mourn their great loss, her father and mother, three brothers, three sisters and a host of relatives and friends. She was an obedient daughter, kind sister and loving wife.

Funeral services were held at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, July 21, from her late home at Plymouth. Rev. S. Conger Hathaway officiating. Interment took place at Riverside Cemetery.

"Not now, but in the coming years, it may be in the better land. We'll read the meaning of our tears, And there, sometime, we'll understand."

We'll know why clouds instead of sun, all fell over many a cherished plan; Why songs have ceased where scarce begun.

Up there, Sometime, we'll understand.

God knows the way, he holds the key, He guides us with unerring hand, Sometime, with tearless eyes we'll see, Yes, there, up there, we'll understand."

A CARD—We wish to acknowledge with deep appreciation your very kind expression of sympathy during our great sorrow for the loss of our loved one; the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., the Wednesday Afternoon Club, all neighbors and friends who sent flowers, and who so kindly assisted us, and to all those who drove cars. Especially do we thank Rev. S. Conger Hathaway for his kind and comforting words and the singer for the beautiful selections.

Albert Minehart and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Priestly and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Minehart and Family.

Women Become Active in World of Finance

Finance has traditionally been considered a man's game, but the rise of the new woman cannot be stopped even in Wall Street. In the financial district women are no longer content to play only the subordinate roles of stenographers, secretaries and clerks. One by one they have entered the sacred precincts of executive offices in banks and bond houses—quietly and unobtrusively. Women of capacity are demonstrating that the elusive facts of the money markets are not beyond the grasp of the feminine mind.

Wall Street clings to its traditions, yielding only slowly to significant social changes, but gradually the most obstinate veterans are coming to recognize that women are people even in the financial district.

The Association of Bank Women, a national organization, has doubled its membership in the last two years. One hundred and forty women executives are now in the fold, including six bank presidents, two vice presidents, two directors, five cashiers and fifteen assistant cashiers.

Mrs. William Lalmeber, president of the association and head of the women's department of the National City Bank of New York, the largest bank in the country, said, in explaining the new vocation for women, "certain aspects of banking need the personal touch, and women are more personal than men. Intuition and sympathy have their value in banking, especially as far as women depositors are concerned."

Most women bankers find it easier to deal with business men than with women. Some women customers insist on dealing with male officers, lacking confidence in the pioneers of their own sex. A woman sales manager of a large bond house recently explained that her customers are almost exclusively men.

Just a Little Early

French Consul Hellmann said at a dinner in San Francisco:

"The French people are bearing the burden of their war debts without complaint. The most they permit themselves is a little rillery, an ironical jest or two.

"They're rather like the tramp who knocked at a farm house door and asked the farmer's wife if she would permit him to sleep in the barn.

"No, I won't," she snapped.

"Then, madam," said the tramp, "may I pass the night in that com-mo-dious hog pen there?"

"Yes," she answered in a gentler voice. "Yes, I don't object to your sleeping just this once with the hogs."

"She was about to close the kitchen door when the tramp said politely:

"An additional favor, madam, before we say good-night. Will you kindly have me called at 3:30 sharp? I wish to catch the 4 a. m. hog express for the slaughter house."

Returning Day

People pitted me when I advocated, seriously, the establishment of a national holiday to be known as Returning day, the observance of the day to be the restoration to proper owners of everything that had been borrowed during the preceding year, with special reference to books, umbrellas and garden implements. Since I demanded this holiday several people, just as deluded as I am, have joined in the appeal, but there are only five or six of us altogether who favor such a holiday, and of course we will never get it. We are pulling for something useful and sensible instead of trying to forbid something, and we are doomed to failure.—George Ade, in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

Mauna Loa's Wasted Heat

A hint, on which no one realized, was the recent Mauna Loa lava flow, according to figures computed by Dr. Paul Kirkpatrick, physicist at the University of Hawaii.

"At the rate I pay for my electricity one million dollars' worth of radiant heat horse power per hour was thrown off by the erupting volcano," he said, "assuming a flow twenty miles long and twenty feet wide, hot enough to be luminous, or at a dull red heat."

Enough heat would be liberated by such a flow to heat two and a half tons of water a second to the boiling point. Doctor Kirkpatrick stated, if it were ten feet deep and flowing at the rate of a mile an hour.

Measuring Hat Heat

During a heat wave in Paris recently a group of scientists held an investigation to find out how hot hats were. The experiments were made at a temperature of 97 degrees Fahrenheit. The sporting cap was found to be hottest of all, with a heat beneath it of 98.6 degrees. The derby was next at 92 degrees. Felt hats showed only 88 degrees and the stiff straw 79 degrees. The Panama won over all with only 77 degrees—20 degrees cooler under the hat than outside.

Newspapers "in the Open"

Two Wyoming weekly newspapers are proud of being a part of the "great open spaces." The Pinedale Roundup boasts in a banner line that it is "published farthest from a railroad of any newspaper in the United States." Pinedale is 104 miles from a railroad. The Wyoming State Journal of Lander, near the entrance of the Yellowstone National park, proclaims that it is "where rails end and trails begin."—Exchange.

Schedule of Odd Jobs Will Help Home Owner

It is a good thing to have a month-by-month schedule of repairs for the home, so that the various odd jobs can be anticipated and done in the proper season. A midwinter blizzard is no time to patch a leaking roof, nor is the fly period suitable for repainting screens. There is also the point of service and economy in buying equipment, as a heating plant in the off-season, and likewise in hiring certain work to be done.

The following schedule of odd jobs and repairs for the summer and fall, which may be modified to suit local conditions, is recommended by John R. McMahon, a national authority on home ownership, in Popular Science Monthly.

July: Make thorough repairs on the roof. Replace all missing or rotted shingles and stop leaks. Inspect gutters and leaders for patching, painting or replacement.

August: A good time for excavations of any kind. If foundations or cellar walls need tarring or cement plaster, do it now. All kinds of general building can be done without much need for weather protection.

September: If a new heating plant is needed install it now. Apply weather stripping. Renew floors. Fix up the coal bin and put in a supply of winter fuel.

October: Get the heating plant ready to fire up. Clean chimney from the roof down. Point up loose bricks with cement. Connect furnace smoke pipe—new if required.

November: Take down screens and screen doors. Rake up leaves around the house. Start furnace.

Auto. Phones in Paris

The French government has appropriated 210,000,000 francs for an automatic telephone system in Paris. The first contract will be for 40,000 lines, and ultimately there are to be 130,000. Eleven new exchange buildings, to supplement the present fourteen, are now under construction. The administration estimates that in 1940 there will be a total of 300,000 or more subscribers in that city alone.—Indianapolis News.

BASE BALL NEWS

POLICE DEPT VS. DEHOCO CLUB

The 9th precinct, Police Dept base ball team of Detroit, was handed a beating by the Dehoco Club of the Plymouth farm, Saturday. They were defeated by the score of 6 to 3, in a well played game. Constau and Folgean were both well supported, only three errors being made by both teams. Constau, however, had perfect control at all times, allowing but five hits, and not passing a batsman; while Folgean allowed nine hits, passed five and hit two. The cops scored one in the first inning, one in the fourth, and Storck hit over the left field bank for a home run. The Farmers scored one in the third on Constau's triple and Hunter's single. In the fourth, Perry started it off by getting in front of one of Folgean's curves; Smith was walked; Budnick and Rea singled in succession, and Constau connected with one for three bases. Bathey struck out. Again in the seventh, on one base on balls, a stolen base and a single, the Farmers scored one run.

STANDARD OIL VS. DEHOCO CLUB

The Dehoco base ball team defeated the Standard Oil team of Detroit, Sunday, for the third consecutive time on the home grounds, by the score of 8 to 2. Mullin's unsteadiness coupled with two errors at critical times cost him the game. Each team got eight hits and each pitcher struck out six batsmen, and but one pass was given, that by Mullin in the first inning. However, he plugged fire of the Farmers and each figured in his defeat.

WOMEN HAVE NEW

STATE FAIR HOME

HISTORICAL OLD ADMINISTRATION BUILDING CONVERTED INTO MODEL STRUCTURE.

Women visitors at the Michigan State Fair, September 5 to 11 this year, are to be "at home" in a new headquarters building of their own. The old administration building, historically famous as the "Michigan" building at the St. Louis world's fair in 1904, is being completely renovated and remodelled for its new use as the center of all women's activities during the fair. The broad porches of the building are once more to serve the hospitable purpose for which they won fame at St. Louis more than 20 years ago.

Located near the main entrance to the fair grounds, the new Woman's Building is ideally situated to serve as a headquarters building. The entire first floor will be used for lounging and reception rooms, while competitive exhibits in all the many household classes will be housed on the second floor.

Tempting baked goods, from the ovens of the state's best home cooks, will be entered here for prizes. In fact, the list of domestic products will run all the way from cakes and preserves to fancy needlework and china.

Lavish Chinese Weddings

Chinese weddings take 11 days, and in the case of the very wealthy, cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. It is not uncommon for as many as 5,000 invitations to be issued, writes a correspondent of the Duluth (Minn.) News-Tribune. The bridegroom pays for this lavish entertainment. The couple to be married never meet until the ceremonies begin, the match having been arranged by the parents. On each day there is a different ceremony performed and not until the eleventh day is the knot said to have been securely tied.

CREDIT MOSES WITH SCOOP ON CALENDAR

Nothing New About Change Proposed Today.

Moses of Biblical fame, away back some 3,497 years ago stole the thunder of the calendar reform commission of the League of Nations, who intitled by a desire to do something to justify their existence, aspired to remake the table by which days, and weeks, and months are calculated, A. E. Johnson comments, in the Detroit Free Press.

The elaborate scheme worked out by the league's experts, it transpires, was originated by Moses in the year of 1491 B. C., and recent translations of Egyptologists disclose the fact that at the Exodus, Moses had designed the fiftieth day after the Passover as the seventh Sabbath day, which he gave the name of Pentecost.

The discovery was made through investigations which confirm the text of Leviticus 23:15-16, which reads: "Ye shall count unto you from the morrow after the Sabbath, from the day that ye brought the sheaf of the wave-offering, seven Sabbaths shall there be complete . . . even unto the morrow after the seventh Sabbath shall ye number fifty days, and ye shall offer a new meal offering to Jehovah."

According to Doctor Marvin, chief of the United States weather bureau, and Moses B. Cotsworth, director of the International Fixed Calendar league, the investigations show that Moses inserted the day of Pentecost as the eighth day of the week to absorb the odd day beyond fifty-two weeks which now changes the day names for dates throughout every following month of the year. The calendar reformers propose that the last day in every year be made an international holiday, so that every year will repeat exactly the same day names for dates, as Moses did when he placed the day of Pentecost in his perpetual calendar.

Other results of the investigations prove beyond doubt that the first and true scriptural calendar was derived from the Egyptians and was entirely based upon solar equinoctial observations which Moses learned from the ancient Egyptians.

The Mosaic calendar, like all ancient calendars, was kept a secret by the priesthood for about 1,000 years, until the priests were killed during the capture and sacking of Jerusalem by the Babylonians about 600 B. C. When the temple and archives were destroyed, the Jews, without priestly guidance, were led captive to Babylon, and there they learned the origin of their present calendar, which is not nearly so useful as the Mosaic calendar.

The league committee will recommend that time be turned back centuries and the handicraft of Moses given due, if belated recognition.

Ancient Flappers

A mass of evidence testifying to the fastidiousness of Germanic tribeswomen 3,000 years ago has been unearthed in the graveyard of a village of the Bronze age, in southern Bavaria. The finds have enabled scientists to assemble entire wardrobes of women of the period. The up-to-date girls among them wore a tight-lacing corset of reindeer skin, a woolen skirt reaching to the ground, and a hair net, which evidently covered only the braided knot at the back of the head. The crowning glory of her coiffure seems to have been a double-toothed horn comb studded with copper nuggets.—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

English Dogs in Demand

In Great Britain about 150,000 persons are engaged in the dog industry, directly or indirectly, and the value of the pets is estimated at nearly $10,000,000. Every day dogs are shipped to foreign ports; Bagdad, Kashmir, Berlin, Australia and Patagonia being among the most remote. The animals frequently bring huge prices, $5,000 having recently been paid for a British-bred terrier and nearly double that amount for a Chow. So that the dogs will suffer no ill during the transportation special kennels are provided for taking them to cold regions and to the tropics.

Women Auto Mechanics

Turkish feminism has taken another leap forward with the decision of the automobile mechanics school at Constantinople to open a branch for women. This decision was the result of multitudinous requests of women to become chauffeurs and automobile mechanics. The minister of hygiene and education approved.

Travelers to Turkey within the next year will receive a new shock to their preconception of the veiled moslem lady, when it dawns upon them that their knickered and very much undervalued taxi driver is none other than she.

Unusual Laboratory

An island midway between the Atlantic and Pacific in the center of the Panama canal is the unusual location of a laboratory of tropical research. The scientists in charge, while living in the heart of a primeval tropical forest, enjoy the comfort of shower baths and ice delivered three times a week by passing steamers. Dr. Frank Chapman, ornithologist of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, has reported to the National Academy of Sciences.—Washington Post.

Old Religious Magazine

The Wesleyan Magazine, formerly known as the Arminian Magazine, was the product of John Wesley's fertile brain in 1778, since when it has appeared every month. Wesley had the matter pressed upon him for over 40 years before he found time to launch the venture. Arminius, whose name suggested the title of the magazine, opposed the stringency of Calvinism, and Wesley adopted his policy of "speaking the truth in love."—Mount-real Family Herald.

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions adopted by Tonquish Lodge No. 32, I. O. O. F. WHEREAS, in His divine wisdom, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our beloved Brothers Frank S. Gray, Daniel Bentley and Josiah Cochran.

RESOLVED, that Tonquish Lodge No. 32, I. O. O. F., has lost three members for whom we mourn, who were in every way worthy of our respect and regard. We extend to the bereaved families our deepest sympathies. And out of the darkness and sorrow, may God's richest blessings shine as a comfort for those who remain to mourn their decease. Therefore, be it RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the families of the deceased Brothers, that they be published in the Plymouth Mail, and that they be placed upon the records of this lodge, and the charter be draped for a period of sixty days.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

BY THE MANAGER

The excavation for the widened South Main pavement was started this week by the contractors for the county. This will mean that travel on this street will be a problem for a couple of months. We hope people will be considerate in view of the fact that the Wayne County Road Commission is doing so much for the village in this matter. Main street will be wonderfully improved in appearance when their crews are done with this work.

We wonder if Plymouth people remember that there has been a water department ruling for years, that all sprinkling must be stopped when the fire siren blows. Monday evening if we could have had the added pressure which people were using in sprinkling we would not have needed to hook up the pumper to put out the fire at the Detroit Ring Casting foundry. The damage there was confined to a pile of oil flasks and wood in the yard. The fire was started by sparks from the railroad.

The Wayne County Road people loaned us their big caterpillar and "rip snorter" to re-grade Pennington avenue, after their trucks finished hauling pavement material to the Plymouth-Northville pavement by this route.

The Bluhm & Dickinson Company have finished the sanitary sewer on North Harvey street, and will take that on Williams street next.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held a very interesting meeting, Thursday, July 22nd, at the home of the Misses Corn and Nettie Pelham. The program, which had been arranged by Mrs. Eunice Spicer Doerr, was greatly enjoyed by all. Rev. Havens of Newburg, gave a very pleasing address, showing how imperative it is for everyone who wishes success in this world to push forward with a singleness of purpose and with ever but one aim in life.

Miss Dorothy Hillman gave an amusing reading, entitled, "Counting the Eggs," after which she gave as an encore one of Edgar Guest's poems.

In conclusion, Mrs. Doerr gave one of the Demorest medal contest recitations, which she had given in a contest held in Plymouth when she was a young girl. The recitation was entitled, "Prohibition," and to the members who used to be interested in the Demorest contests, it seemed like an echo from the past.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. L. Clemens, August 26th.

LIBRARY NOTES

The last quarterly report of the work of the six branches and fifteen centers of the Wayne County Library has been received at the Plymouth Library, and may be seen on the bulletin board. Its figures tell an interesting story. Plymouth now has 2222 volumes, 1647 patrons, and had a circulation of 3965 volumes this last quarter.

Some more suggestions for summer reading:

"Hangman's House," by Byrne. Romance of a quiet, fine Irish gentleman and the daughter of a former lord chief justice, known among the peasants as the hangman.

"Afternoon," by Ertz. Tale of a refined Englishman of forty and his twin daughters, and their love affairs and his own.

"Sorrell and Son," by Deeping. Beautiful picture of faithfulness of father and son through many difficulties.

AROUND ABOUT US

A. J. Helfrich, who has been superintendent of schools at Northville for the past few years, has resigned his position to accept a position with a large real estate firm in Detroit.

The county auditors paid $1,500 for sheep killed by dogs in Washtenaw county during June. The auditors are offering a $10 reward for each dog killed that is found chasing sheep, and $25 for each sheep killing dogs.

The annual picnic of the Detroit Market Growers' Association will be held at Put-in-Bay on August 17th. There are many members of the organization in this part of the country who are planning to be in attendance. A full program of sports and other amusements is being arranged by those in charge of the event.

The Ford Motor Company is making some very noticeable improvements about the grounds surrounding the Waterford plant and the banks along which the water course runs. In all their improvements Messrs. Ford are very careful of trees and natural shrubbery, and in all cases where it is possible to preserve them no expense or trouble is too great to do so.—Northville Record.

NEWBURG

Rev. Havens took for his text Sunday last, the 110th Psalm, verse seven, "He shall drink by the brook in the way; therefore shall he lift up his head." Miss Gladys Horton sang a solo. Mrs. Jesse Jewell furnishes the beautiful flowers every Sunday, all helping to make a fine service. The pastor announced that there would be a financial statement given by the church treasurer, Mrs. M. Eva Smith, next Sunday.

Election of officers for the Sunday-school will be held next Sunday. Mesdames Cutler, Stevens and C. E. Ryder are the nominating committee.

The Sunday-school picnic will be held Saturday, August 7, at the River Rouge park. All are requested to meet at the church at 10:30.

The L. A. S. will hold their regular meeting at the hall next week Wednesday afternoon, August 4th. Mesdames M. Eva Smith, Watson, Bassett, Ruff and Guthrie are on committee. Picnic supper will be served. Everyone invited.

Miss Mildred Johns of Detroit, spent the week-end as the guest of Miss Sarah Cutler.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and mother, Mrs. M. Eva Smith, motored to the Irish Hills, last Sunday afternoon.

Wm. Smith is spending the week with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, at St. John's.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zanders and son of Detroit, spent last week Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy.

The lawn social held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, was very well attended, considering the cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. John Havens and Mr. and Mrs. H. Oliver of Miami, Florida, are visiting the former's brother and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Havens.

Rev. and Mrs. Havens called on Mrs. Jess Thomas at Ford hospital, Tuesday afternoon, finding her quite weak but gradually improving.

ANNIVERSARY

ANOTHER RIPPLE

In The Business Pool

A stone cast into a pool starts a ripple that expands in ever widening circles. Our store can be likened to the stone and this community to the pool in which its fortunes are cast.

In announcing our Anniversary Sale, we are reminded of the little ripple we made here four years ago when we started business, yet the ripple has widened and widened and as it increases, so our store grows and expands to accommodate the broadening trade of the community.

Each year finds our store growing broader, bigger and better—thanks to our generous patronage—to the people of this section who have made our success possible. On the threshold of another business year, we reaffirm and pledge the same fair dealing, good service and best possible values that have been a feature of this store since the first ripple started.

BASKART

The Baskart was invented by a woman whose arms and back and feet ached from "lugging" her own market basket day after day. There is no drudgery about carrying home parcels in a Baskart. A child can wheel a sack of flour and a quantity of groceries at the same time. You won't feel ashamed to take a Baskart on a street car or to pull it behind you as you walk along. It is good looking and noiseless. Shop where prices are the best and wheel your parcels home. Save your money and your strength. Marketing with a Baskart is only taking a walk. The Baskart will begin paying for itself the first day you own it. Your daily marketing will be just fun when you don't have to carry the heavy parcels home. You can wheel a full load with one finger. The Baskart means freedom in marketing. It will bring the cost of living down.

ALL FARM GROUPS TO PLAY HOST AT FAIR

LEADING ORGANIZATIONS PLAN HEADQUARTERS IN NEW AGRICULTURAL BUILDING.

Michigan's leading farm organizations are all to play host during the State Fair this year, with headquarters in the new hundred thousand dollar agricultural building which is being rushed to completion on the fair grounds.

Exhibit and headquarters space already assigned in this building shows that practically every agricultural interest in the state will be represented in one or more of the booths. The Michigan Farm Bureau, the State Grange, the Cleaners Order, the State Department of Agriculture, the Michigan State College, and various special farm organizations and development bureaus have all taken space.

The new agricultural building, which is already under roof and will be completed by August 15th, will rank as the largest and best equipped agricultural building in the United States. It will give Michigan agriculture its justly deserved and important place at the State Fair, September 5-11.

The atmosphere of the building during the Fair will be that of a great indoor garden. Displays by the Michigan Florists Association will be banked around a fountain in the center of the hall. Then extensive exhibits of fruit and field crops will fill the rest of the central space.

In the more than 600 feet of special exhibit booths around the walls, a dozen agricultural organizations and groups serving agriculture directly will have their headquarters. No concession space at all is to be sold in the building.

Today's Reflections

A lot of young fellows attract far more attention when they turn up their trousers than they do when they turn up their toes.

The greatest ambition some Plymouth men have in summer is to be able to do all the things their wives find for them to do when they get a vacation.

They arrested a Detroit man for chaining his son to a bed. If he loves sleep as well as some of us that wasn't any punishment.

A Chicago burglar escaped several times by saying he was in the wrong house. They caught him with the goods, and we're wondering if he is now arguing that he is in the wrong jail.

The Plymouth man who yearns for a real thrill ought to try a couple of biscuits made by the girl who won in a beauty contest.

This is the open season for family romances, but it is rather hard on the chickens.

Engineers say that the roof of the White House is weak, making it unsafe for residence. It never was a sure thing.

We find that it would be easier to love some Plymouth auto drivers if they didn't always honk to get by and then slow down.

There are 8,000,000 dogs in the United States. Just think what it would be if all of them tried to have their day at the same time.

If you really want to be different from a lot of other people, try paying cash for everything as you go along.

Why is it that every woman in Plymouth still keeps a big warm spot in her heart for the first man who told her she was pretty?

We see where a Pennsylvania man has inherited $5,000,000. That ought to be enough to warrant his running for office.

Ignorance of the law excuses no one, so get busy and learn the 996 new ones passed at the last session of congress.

What ever became of the old-fashioned Plymouth grocer who used to give you a cigar when you settled up on Saturday night?

Another trouble with this country is that juries are hung oftener than murderers.

After a boy has spent years learning to write a hand anybody can read, he becomes a big business man and writes a hand nobody can read.

THE THEATRE

"COBRA"

Rudolph Valentino has made of "Cobra" a photoplay of strong and adult emotions. The theme has been created sincerely and intelligently. The picture comes to the Pennington Allen Theatre, Saturday, July 31st.

The picture, directed by Joseph Henbury, was adapted from Martin Brown's successful Broadway play by Anthony Coldeway. The title itself signifies the appeal of a fascinating woman—the lure of the cobra for its victims.

Valentino is seen as a young Italian count, who has an inherited weakness for the cobra type of woman. He makes a successful and sincere effort to reform, only to be lured back into the old ways by the wife of his best friend. This affair leads to a tragic conclusion. To atone for his misdeeds, the count makes a great sacrifice. The star's emotional acting is superb, and he never looked in such excellent physical condition.

Nita Naldi, shimmer and more alluring than ever, is the cobra woman, while Gertrude Olmstead plays a role of great sympathy and charm. Casson Ferguson returns to the screen with a fine performance as the loyal friend. Other parts are capably played by Elton Percy, Claire de Lorez, Hector Sarno and Rose Rosanova. Joseph Henbury directed the picture with a fine understanding of the dramatic and psychological values.

"Cobra" was produced by Ritz Carlton and distributed by Paramount. It is lavishly mounted. The early scenes in Italy and in the New York antique shop are fine examples of the screen's pictorial beauty.

"SEA HORSES"

Film directors, like other folks, have their specialties. Some prefer to produce comedies, others melodramas, and still others massive spectacles. A director with a flair for gripping dramas is more apt to produce a successful picture if the story has a lot of stirring action and heart appeal than if it is of the slapstick comedy type, and vice versa.

All of which is merely an introduction to the statement that Paramount's dynamic version of Francis Brett Young's vivid novel, "Sea Horses," is a distinct directorial triumph for Allan Dwan, who proves once again that his forte is spectacular melodrama.

The picture, which comes to the Pennington Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, August 1st and 2nd, is crammed full of hair-trigger action, drama and suspense, which, skillfully balanced with romance, pathos and heart interest, insures a solid hour of worthwhile entertainment.

Dwan is a shrewd, intelligent and resourceful director, who knows how to create and maintain interest and suspense, and who manages to extract the maximum amount of thrills out of the gripping plot. The entire production shows every evidence of having been staged with scrupulous attention to detail. The wild African background around which a good part of the action is centered, has been faithfully reproduced and is extremely colorful.

Jack Holt, Florence Vidor, George Bancroft and William Powell are among the prominent players featured.

"THE WILDERNESS WOMAN"

"The Wilderness Woman" which comes to the Pennington Allen Theatre, Wednesday, August 4th, is an adaptation of the celebrated Saturday Evening Post serial story by Arthur Stringer. Robert T. Kane made the picture for First National release.

Allen Pringle, Lowell Sherman and Chester Conklin have the featured roles. Miss Pringle appears in her first character comedy role, bringing a new and refreshing personality to the screen.

Lowell Sherman, instead of appearing in his customary role of the heavy, walks off with the laurels of the hero in "The Wilderness Woman," while Chester Conklin, the walrus-mustached comedian, is afforded plenty of opportunity to get in his laughable work.

Not the least important character in the picture is a year-old bear. Miss Pringle, in her role of the Alaskan miner's daughter, brings the animal with her to New York, and the complications that follow must be seen to be appreciated.

Robert Cain and Henry Vibert also have important parts in the picture. The story was adapted from the original by Paul Bern and Paul Schofield and directed by Howard Higgin.

A communication was then received from the County Clerk of Wayne County, notifying the Village that September 14 was the date set for the special election to vote upon an annexation proposal and including copies of the resolutions pertaining thereto. On motion this communication was ordered filed, and the Village Clerk to make the necessary arrangements for this election.

The Police and Treasurer's reports for the month of June were then received and ordered filed.

Plymouth, Mich., July 10, 1926. A regular meeting of the Commission held in the Commission room of the Village hall, on Monday evening, July 10, 1926, at 7:00 p. m.

Present—Commissioners Fisher, Henderson, Hordorp and Pierce. Absent—President Robinson.

The minutes of the following meeting were approved as read: Regular meeting of June 21, special meeting of June 22, adjourned regular meeting of June 23, special meeting of July 6, and regular meeting of July 8.

The following ordinance was then on motion, given its third reading, and unanimously adopted to go into effect August 10, 1926.

An ordinance regulating the dumping of rubbish and junk of any kind upon any property of the Village of Plymouth, County of Wayne, and State of Michigan, and of regulating the use of vehicles on any such property.

THE VILLAGE OF PLYMOUTH ORDINANCE:

Section 1. No person, firm or corporation shall discharge or dump any dirt, sand, brick, refuse, junk, foreign matter or material of any character, including garbage, ashes, metals, old automobiles or parts thereof, tin cans, or any other material or substance of like character, upon any property of the Village of Plymouth within the limits of the Village of Plymouth, including streets and alleys, or upon any real estate belonging to said Village beyond the corporate limits, without first being duly authorized so to do by the Village Manager or by the Village Commission.

Section 2. No person, firm or corporation shall drive any motor or other vehicle off from the regular drive-ways, streets, alleys and roadways onto and upon any of the property of the Village of Plymouth within the limits of the Village of Plymouth and real estate belonging to said Village beyond the corporate limits, except for regular parking purposes unless authorized to do so by the Village Manager or by the Village Commission.

Section 3. Any person, firm or corporation violating this ordinance and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS or by imprisonment in the Wayne County Jail, or in the Detroit House of Correction, not to exceed ninety days, or to both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances, herein enacted by the Village of Plymouth in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

This ordinance shall take effect on the 10th day of August, A. D. 1926, and shall be in force from that date until the Village of Plymouth at a session thereof held on the 19th day of July, A. D. 1926.

Harry C. Robinson, Village President, Sidney D. Strong, Village Clerk.

Mr. Hill then appeared in behalf of Miss Mary Penney, asking that her village taxes amounting to eighteen dollars ($18) be rebated to her. On motion the rebate was ordered.

Mr. Harold Hamill then presented to the Commission a tentative plat of Parkside Garden Subdivision, asking their approval before he made the final drawings. On the recommendation of the Manager, this plat was approved as presented.

President Robinson came in at this time. A petition was then received from property holders on Virginia avenue asking that sidewalks be built in some direction to connect them with existing walks in order that they might be able to walk to town safely and to obtain mail delivery. On motion the Manager was directed to investigate this and report at the next meeting.

The Commission by motion directed that the walk on the south side of the Plymouth road, included in this year's budget, be the first of the new walks built.

The matter of the alley between the Huston building and the Mail office leading south from Penniman avenue, was then brought up. Under the authority of the traffic ordinance the Commission directed that this alley be closed to truck traffic and that signs be placed at either end, reading: "Fire Route, No Trucks Allowed in This Alley."

The Commission then on motion ordered Mr. Perry Woodworth to make satisfactory arrangements with property owners adjacent to his building and with the Village for the disposal of the creek which he moved when his building was built, and to relay the walk in front of his building to a grade satisfactory to the Village Manager, stipulating that if he wished this walk to be at the level of the lower step of his building, that he must at his expense relay enough of the walk and driveway in front of the Funeral Home to make a satisfactory grade at this point.

The Commission then ordered that all holes in the pavements of the Village left by various contractors and companies be refilled with pavement before the 10th of August.

Under the provisions of the traffic ordinance, Main street between Amelia street and the P. M. R. R. tracks on both sides was ordered to be no parking area.

The report of the auditing committee recommended the payment of the following bills:

Table with 2 columns: Item Name and Amount. Includes Administration pay roll ($42.60), Cemetery pay roll ($47.75), Fire pay roll ($6.50), Labor pay roll ($1294.44), Police pay roll ($245.97), Community Pharmacy ($10.70), Wm. TO RAISE KARAKUL SHEEP IN AMERICA

Big Profits Assured From Fur-Bearing Animals.

Since the World war the demand for furs has brought a good many people easy money and has somewhat changed our standards, says Guy E. Mitchell in the Scientific American.

This has resulted in the virtual extinction of fur-bearing animals throughout large regions where they formerly were comparatively plentiful and where they were hunted and trapped so persistently as to prevent reproduction. With this decrease in local production the corners of the world are being searched for furs.

The recognition of this fact has stimulated a few far-sighted ones to breed an American flock of Karakul sheep, from the lambs of which the famous Astrakhan or Persian lamb is produced.

This fur is now a great favorite and garments made of it are successful competitors with the finest of fur coats made from the skins of wild animals. In fact, these skins are classed by the trade and by the wearers as "real fur."

The production of this fur in the United States seems to be entirely feasible and should prove commercially attractive. It now is imported mostly from Bokhara, in Central Asia, where there are reported to be some 3,000,000 or more Karakul sheep, from the three-day old lambs of which the fur is obtained.

Curly, with a beautiful gloss, it is in strong demand for women's fur garments. Its increasing popularity has caused a steady advance in the price of these skins. Those of highest quality sell in New York for from $8 to $12.50 each and even inferior skins bring $3 apiece.

Karakul sheep thrive in the United States. This has been well demonstrated. The greatest difficulty in quickly establishing an American industry has been in securing importations of a sufficient number of pure-bred animals.

There now are about 500 pedigreed sheep listed in the American fur sheep registry. It is from these that an American Astrakhan and Persian fur industry must be built up.

Honor for Cheese Maker

Dr. John Knirrim, formerly a medical specialist at a famous New York sanitarium, appeared recently in the French village of Vimoutier, not far from Creil, and announced that he had come to pay homage to the memory of Louise Harel, a farmer's wife, who, at the end of the Eighteenth century, gave to the world the noble Camembert cheese. The village rose to the occasion, and a large procession, including the mayor and other dignitaries, marched behind a band to the cemetery where sleeps the discoverer of the cheese. There Doctor Knirrim pronounced an eulogy and laid a laurel wreath. The procession then went to the ancient farmhouse where the woman had lived, and the doctor affixed upon the walls a bronze plaque, upon which was written a hymn in praise of the cheese.

APRIL FOOL JOKE IS CENTURIES OLD

Impossible, However, to Trace Its Origin.

Swift, in his Journal, to Stella, entered, according to the Mentor Magazine, under date of March 31, 1713, that he, Doctor Arbuthnot, and Lady Masham had been amusing themselves that evening by contriving "a lie for tomorrow." A man named Noble had been hanged a few days before. The "lie" concocted by these three was that Noble had come to life again in the hands of friends, but was held once more by the sheriff, and now lay at the Black Swan in Holborn, in the custody of a messenger. "We are all," says Swift, "to send to our friends, to know whether they have heard anything of it, and so we hope it will spread." On the following day, April 1, the learned dean sent his servant to several homes to inquire among the footmen, not letting his own name into the secret. But nothing could be heard of the resuscitation of Noble; when he concluded that "his colleagues did not contribute" as they ought to have done. One April fool joke that failed!

The first day of April, All Fools' day, has long been in America and most European countries a day that enjoys a character all its own. In that it is consecrated to impositions upon unsuspecting persons. While the date is well remembered, yet the origin of the custom cannot be traced with any degree of certainty. In the literature of the past century there are many references to it, and yet beyond that it is scarcely possible to go.

April fooling is an immemorial custom in India. The Hindus practiced precisely similar pranks on March 31, when they held what is known as the Huli festival. There is an old tradition among the Jews that the custom of making fools on the first day of April rose from the fact that Noah sent on the dove on the first day of the month corresponding with our April, before the water had abated. To perpetuate the memory of the great deliverance of Noah and his family, it was customary on that anniversary to punish persons who had forgotten the remarkable circumstances connected with the date by sending them on some fruitless errand similar to that on which the patriarch sent the luckless bird from the ark.

Work Will Save Her

French Consul Maurice Hellmann said at a dinner in San Francisco: "France is in a bad way, but I'll tell you a story that will show you how she's going to pull through.

"Father," said the son of a French peasant, as he leaned on his hoe, they say the balance of trade is turning against us.

"Yes," said the peasant, "so they do." "They say the franc will fall below 30 to the dollar, father."

"I fear it will, boy. I fear it will." "They say a return to the gold standard would ruin industry."

"Humph." "And that government securities are substantially without a market."

"Well, well! And do they say anything about a lad stopping to lean on his hoe to talk when he's just as well hoe and talk at the same time?"

Odd Use for Dental Wax

The big guns of our men-of-war, although huge and unwieldy, sometimes develop ailments that require a most painstaking and minute diagnosis to determine the remedy. The findings of these monsters are machined and rifled with great accuracy, and upon the perfection of this rifling depends the correctness of flight of a projectile. Recently, to learn the nature and extent of the damage to the interior of one of the big guns on a battleship, the dentist was pressed into service. He crawled inside the barrel and made an impression of the defect in dental wax. In much the same manner as a tooth, the result of his examination showed what was needed for the gun.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Keeping Guns in Storage

Ellis Searles, editor of the Mine Workers' Journal, was discussing Mussolini and Fascism.

"Mussolini," he said, "will get Italy into trouble. He's too much like the ex-kaiser."

"Once, in pre-war days, Krupp came to the ex-kaiser and said that Denmark had ordered a magnificent equipment of field artillery from his firm. Did he think it would be wise to fill this order?"

"Fill it, by all means," the kaiser said. "Give them the best equipment of field artillery you can turn out."

"Then he laughed and slapped his chest and added: "If I want those guns at any time it will be easy enough to go and get them." — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

No Rest for the Weary

A doctor who is in charge of a well-known hospital in Ohio has been registering vigorous complaints against those who insist upon presenting his institution with wireless sets. He declares the use of a loud speaker deprives the patients who are really ill of their chance to rest quietly. He further declares that even healthy persons will soon be seeking sanctuary in hospitals to evade the torture of civilization's clamor and therefore the institutions of health must bar the scientific toys.

Dogs Able to Impart Ideas to Each Other

Every dog owner must have wondered at some time just how far dogs can go in communicating ideas with one another. Evidently one dog can entice another to follow him and perhaps vaguely assure him of a worthy project, but it is doubtful if he can explain the exact purpose of their expedition. As Lloyd Morgan puts it: "A dog may be able to suggest to his companion the fact that he has found a worrable cat, but can any dog tell his neighbor the delightful time he had worrying a cat the day before yesterday? I imagine that a dog can tell his neighbor what we symbolize by the simple expression, 'Come!'"

More than one story has been told of a little dog going to seek the aid of a big dog friend to come and help fight a third dog, too large for the little dog to whip unaided.

Old Badger frequently comes to me and, by nudging me with his nose and walking rapidly away, makes it plain that there is some place he wants me to go with him—usually, some place where there is food. If he can thus communicate with me there is no reason why he shouldn't communicate with dogs as well.

Even aside from sign language, dogs seem to be able to impart ideas in unmistakable terms. When driving with Badger in an automobile, and we pass other dogs, most of whom bark at him, he ordinarily pays little heed to them. But an occasional dog—and I have one dog back dog especially in mind—barks something at him, evidently of an obscene nature, that irritates him beyond endurance and he tries his best to jump out of the car to defend his honor. I have wondered many times what it could be that a strange dog says to him which so infuriates him.—"You and Your Dog," by Fred C. Kelly.

Germ "Boom"

In London you can get a bargain in germs, a quarter of a dollar will buy millions, and you can have your choice of more than 2,000 kinds.

There has been a great demand for germs lately from laboratories and hospitals, according to Popular Science Monthly, and workers in the Lister Institute are kept busy feeding, raising, and bottling them to ship to the far corners of the earth.

Many of the germs are cranky benders, and the chef has to make special dishes for them. A favorite food is beef tea, but others will touch only dishes in which eggs are used. Toppers in the assembly demand alcohol in their foods.

Some of the germs demand a lot of coddling. The "du" germ, for instance, has to be kept at a certain even temperature in an incubator night and day lest it catch cold and die.

A Bum Shot

With the opening of the golf season old stories of the links are revived. Here is one which Harry Schopp, professional at the South Grove municipal course, tells of a man who was attempting his first game.

"I started him in on a short, easy hole," Schopp explained. "And by some lucky chance he sent the ball straight off the tee, on to the green and it finally dropped gently into the hole.

"The man made no comment as we proceeded to tee up for the next hole. Again he struck the ball fairly and it sailed straight away for the next green, rolling well on to it.

"But the player seemed irritated instead of properly astonished. He scratched his head and muttered: "Humph, by cracker, I missed that one."—Indianapolis News.

Fascisti Bars Swearing

Fascism is out to suppress swearing. This news is contained in a letter which the new secretary of the party, Turati, has written to the central committee, against blasphemy of Verona.

"Your aim," writes Turati, "is contained in the program which the fascist party has traced for the moral improvement of the nation." It is interesting to recall, however, that a large part of popular Italian oaths are not strictly blasphemous in the Christian sense, since they refer to pagan gods and are direct descendants of the oaths of Julius Caesar and Caligula.

A race war is raging in California and state authorities, far from trying to pacify the combatants, are adding to the slaughter by endeavoring to poison them all—namely, dark-brown Argentinians and their redskin opponents, the fire ants. Fifteen years

TRAVELERS SHY AT HARD WELSH NAMES

Why Tourists Forego Trip Well Worth While.

Pursers, passport officers and printers were disconcerted the other day by the arrival of a steamship passenger in New York who gave her home address as:

"Llanfairpwllgwyllgogerychwyrndrobwllllandsylllogogoch."

There is such a place, though practical map makers irreverently label it briefly "Llanfairpwllgwyllg," or even merely "Llanfair P. G.," says a communication to the National Geographic society by Ralph A. Graves.

However, the 58-letter title is its unabridged, honest-to-God name, which means "Church of St. Mary in a hollow of white hazel, near to a rapid whirlpool and to St. Tysilio's church, near to a red cave."

Orthography may be one reason why so few of the thousands of American tourists include Wales in their itinerary, though it is one of the most alluring regions of the British Isles.

The average American traveler takes one glance at his guidebook or at the tourist-agency folder and decides to go to the English lakes district, to Scotland, to the "Lorna Doone" country, or—Paris.

He lacks the courage to wrestle with such place names as Bettws-y-Coed, Rodelwyddan, Dwyrffylch, Gwyd, Llandudno, Pwllheli, and Pen-y-Gwryd.

If the traveler goes to a railway station to get his transportation, he cannot tell where he wishes to go. If a ticket agent in a tourist office asks whether he would prefer to go by this route or by that, with stopover privileges here or there, the sounds convey to him no impression of any of the places he may have read about.

He may have equipped himself in advance by studying some "easy rule for pronouncing Welsh names," such as "To pronounce 'Ll' place the tip of the tongue back of the upper front teeth and blow through the side of the mouth; 'Ch' is a strong guttural having no equivalent in English, but is a prolonged 'k' (ach); 'W' is oo, as in good." But if ever he imagined he could remember such rules, he forgets their practical application the moment he hears glindiv-doo-l, meaning Glyndyfrdwy. It's so much simpler to go elsewhere!

Consequently, at tourist agencies the Welsh window never has a waiting line, and few clerks are able to give one advice as to where to go, how long to stay, and how to come back.

It is a pity, for within this little principality, having an area considerably smaller than New Jersey, one will find the loftiest peak and the finest mountain scenery of England and Wales; the loveliest waterfalls of the British Isles; beaches which rival those of Atlantic City, Deauville, or Brighton; streams that teem with trout and other fish dear to the heart of the angler; footpaths through vale and forest ruins of tessellated towers and frowning bastions, each of which has its own tale to tell of romantic adventure and of daring in the Dark or Middle Ages, when English kings battled ceaselessly to curb turbulent Welsh princes whose chief end and aim in life was warfare.

Whale With Two Tusks

One of the most remarkable and little known marine animals of the world is the narwhal, a species of Arctic whale that makes its home in the Polar seas, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The male is distinguished by the abnormal development of its left front tooth, which sometimes attains a length of eight feet or more. It tapers slightly to a pointed hollow tusk, the surface of which is marked by spiral grooves and ridges. Occasionally both teeth develop in this manner. The narwhals congregate in schools, feed on small fish and crustaceans and form a picturesque sight when plowing through the water, their long, glistening horns rising in unison as they come to the surface to "blow." The exact purpose of the tusk is not known, but is believed to be for defense or for breaking through ice.

The Rebuff

Sinclair Lewis tells of a pretty girl who came up to him with a morocco and gold album and asked him for his autograph.

"Gladly, but I'll have to write in pencil," the novelist said.

"Oh, that's all right," said the girl. So Mr. Lewis scrawled his signature to the album and handed it back with a pleased and flattered smile, but the girl looked blank.

"Why, aren't you Theodore Dreiser?" she asked.

"No," Mr. Lewis confessed. "I'm Sinclair Lewis," and then, as the pretty girl turned away, he heard her say to another girl:

"Got a rubber?"

Cry of Baby Carries Far

Science has just verified what the neighbors have known a long time: "The noise a baby makes has the greatest carrying power of any articulated sound."

The announcement was made by Sir Richard Paget, London throat specialist, in an address. He presented illustrations with mechanically produced vowels and consonants, causing an instrument similar to a flute to say loudly: "Hullo London! Are you there?" and "Oh, Lila, I love you!" The instrument is called a cetrophone and is operated by pedal bellows.

African Drum Message

Crude but Effective

The native African of the equatorial forest may not know much about wireless telephony, but he has a sort of "radio" system of his own that serves his purpose admirably, George Marie Haardt asserts, in the National Geographic Magazine. It is effected through an instrument known as the goudougoudou, made of a block of wood about six and one-half feet long and three feet thick. It is excavated through a large slot drilled in its upper part and a smaller one cut in one side.

A player strikes the instrument with two wooden hammers, the ends of which are covered with natural rubber, and various sounds are obtained, according to the place and strength of the strokes.

The instrument is placed in the middle of the village, just in front of the chief's hut. When a message is to be sent, the goudougoudou player strikes it off. The sounds can easily be heard six miles away, and when produced on the bank of the river will carry for nearly ten miles. News is forwarded in this way over incredible distances.

We rather doubted the efficiency of this strange telegraph until we were forced to believe by a personal experience. When passing through a certain village we asked the chief for four chickens to be brought to us a short distance ahead on the road we were to follow.

As the goudougoudou player struck the message off on his instrument, we drove rapidly away, so that the chief could not cheat by sending runners ahead of us. Three miles beyond the village a native stood waiting by the roadside with the four chickens we had asked for. We were convinced.

Make War on Evil Spirits

Six thousand Chinese employees of one of the largest tobacco factories at Pootung, across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai, took a day off and, joined by other thousands, paraded the streets with banners, joss sticks and shooting firecrackers as an appeal to the gods not to let the Yangtze river run dry. An ancient legend has it that years ago an old priest of diabolical intent came to Shanghai from north of the Yangtze and raised havoc. Finally in despair the natives of Shanghai and Pootung rose and drove him back to his native haunts. Ever since then the natives have been afraid that he might come back. But the only condition permitting his return would be the drying of the world's third largest river. Next year the function will be repeated.

Breaking the News Gently

Some time ago two young boys chums one afternoon decided on a hunting expedition to the outskirts of their city, the armament consisting of a small-caliber revolver that one of the boys had bought without the knowledge of his parents.

In some way the revolver was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the top front part of the foot of one of the boys and coming out at the bottom.

The boy with the revolver, greatly frightened and excited, ran to the nearest house, asked permission to use the phone, and broke the news of the accident to the wounded boy's mother as follows:

"Will bring Oliver back in about half an hour; don't worry."—Indianapolis News.

Not for Grown-Ups

An indulgent uncle living in Commonwealth avenue purchased the newest model novelty French top for his niece and demonstrated on Memorial day with excellent results. A plunger, with a ratchet, revolves this particular brand of top, and when released, the top becomes aerial and rises rapidly upward to the ceiling. The uncle, demonstrating, and accompanying his efforts with highly technical observations on the toy, lifted the plunger and the top soared. But—he failed to draw back his head and the toy caught him on the tip of his nose, the organ being so badly abraded that he spent the rest of the day anointing it with iodine.

"Toys, I am convinced," he observed today, "are exclusively for children. Grown-ups don't know enough to operate them."—Detroit News.

Bid for Fame

The late Luther Burbank said one day to a Los Angeles reporter:

"Almost any man can succeed if his aim is a good one. Too many men adopt bad aims."

"A long-haired musician rushed into the kitchen and said to his wife:

"At last, love, I have found within my grip."

"How so?" the poor woman asked, and she looked up at him from the wash-tub rather skeptically.

"You know Mendelssohn's 'Wedding March'?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'm going to write a 'Divorce March.'"

ODDFELLOW NOTES

Our news for this week is going to be a little stronger, due to the fact that the warm weather has passed, and the brothers are taking advantage of the cool weather of last Tuesday evening and sure turned out to the meeting.

Our second degree team, due to a misunderstanding, didn't get a chance to confer this degree on the candidates, and they sure were disappointed. Cheer up, brothers, a long winter ahead.

Bro. Fred Wagenschutz, our hard working third degree captain, has notified his team to be on their toes for next Tuesday evening, for the candidates are sure ready to finish up their work.

Our sick and visiting committee, by all reports, are on the job these days, and are turning in some encouraging reports in regard to our long list of sick brothers.

The entertainment committee gave a lengthy report in regard to their activities for the next two months, and by the looks of these reports there is going to be something doing every week, so come out, brother, and give your wide-awake committee the real help that they need.

It was very encouraging for our new officers to look along the side lines last meeting, and see so many new faces there. Come on, brothers, remember our slogan—"Every brother bring a brother"—and it looks as if our honor roll is going to require the side of the building to put all the brothers' names on.

The Booster Club went down to a glorious defeat, last Monday evening, when about forty of its members, after a lengthy discussion, voted to disband the club, for the reason of turning all their efforts to direct lodge work, and to stop the critics from discussing the work of the club. After the club had disbanded, the entire membership marched down to the dining room of the Plymouth Cafe, where a real banquet awaited them. After a few short speeches everyone present voted an evening long to be remembered, and one well spent.

Next Tuesday evening, August 3rd, is third degree night, with cuts and all that go with it. So come out if you can, and bring the attendance up to the hundred mark.

LITTLE JOURNEYS IN PRINT

After the hot weather passed, the Brothers ventured out again.

Bro. D. A. Jolliffe and wife have returned home after spending two weeks with friends in Canada.

Bro. Roy Wheeler and family spent Sunday at Highland, visiting the lakes in that section.

Bro. A. Williams has purchased a new home in Phoenix Park.

Bro. Albert Trinkaus and wife entertained Bro. Robert Dunham and family of Pontiac, last Sunday.

Bros. Wm. Boehret, A. Meddaugh, A. Wemp and G. Meddaugh journeyed to Oakwood lodge last Friday evening, and saw Oakwood lodge confer the first degree on a large class of candidates, and it sure was worth the trip.

Bro. Calburn Dennis, our Canton Center store keeper, is busy these days keeping his new pop corn machine filled.

Picked Up About Town

"I've often noticed," says Dad Plymouth, "that about the time a man is fixed for life he has worried himself to death."

Too much clothing is said to be fatal to residents of the Dutch Colonies in Africa. But our modern American flappers are safe.

"My idea of a brute of a man," asserts Dad Plymouth, "is the fellow who won't shave when his wife tells him for the third time that company is coming."

As the usual thing the honeymoon ends about the time he can't think of any new pet names to call her.

Dad Plymouth says that just because a congressman declares he is going to do something is no sign that he isn't going to do it.

"If there were more hands rocking the cradle," declares Dad Plymouth, "there would be less rocking of the matrimonial boat."

"Thank the Lord for home," says Dad Plymouth. "You can hang up your hat there without paying a check girl a dime to get it back."

BAPTIST NOTES

A good congregation attended the morning services.

The Sunday-school seems to get larger each Sunday.

The children were very much pleased last Sunday, to have a visit from a robin, which flew until tired, then lit on a chair back on the platform.

The B. Y. P. U. was led last Sunday, by Roland Allenbaugh, the topic being "The Church in its Making." They also had a melon feed at the tourist camp Tuesday evening.

A week from next Sunday morning, the pastor expects to change pulpits with Rev. McKee of the Northville Baptist church. Be sure and hear him. The pastor will return for the evening.

Duane Sayles and Stillman Warner expect to attend the State B. Y. P. U. Convention at Kalamazoo College next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Others hope to go also if they can make arrangements.

POWER OF DECISION TEST OF NORMALITY

Unbalanced Brain Incapable of Reasoning.

"Everybody has a kink," said a noted alienist, giving evidence in a mental case recently, and a celebrated French authority has done us the compliment to say we are all more or less insane.

Probably they really mean that few
of us are perfectly normal. A clever,
even brilliant person may yet be mad
and many great people have their kinks; and the border line between genius and madness is sometimes per-tremely thin. The highly wrought brain is often overstrung and liable to yield or sag a little in some direction.
The "kink" may show itself in a fad,
such as kleptomaniacs, avarice, or
peculiarities of diet, or clothing.

One is apt to think that a person
deranged mentally is incapable of dealing effectively with anything.

It may be so with the idiot, but
many a lunatic has shown astonishing
abilities in some directions, music, mathematics, or invention. For it is curious that in a brain where there is a gap in the reasoning faculties there
is sometimes a compensating coherence and capacity elsewhere, even a stratum of genius. The writer knew an asylum patient who played the
cello as few of the concert virtuosi
can.

The fact is that the possession of culture or talent is not always a proof
of high intellectual development.
Some lunatics have strange powers of learning and wonderful memories.
They had a maniac in Paris who could
answer any question put from an encyclopedia and correctly give the dates
of practically every event in history.
There have been many mathematical
and other prodigies outside the asylums, and most of them have had their "kinks." They were not normal,
and sometimes a long way from it—
as in the case of the boy who could
do staggering feats in mental calculation, yet could never wash or dress
himself.

And yet there is a difference between eccentricity and insanity,
though they run each other pretty close sometimes, as in the case of the learned American university professor
who (it is said) rarely washed, lived
on boiled onions, could never wake up his mind unaided on any matter, and had a distressing habit of discarding
all his garments on hot days. William Blake, brilliant though his achievement was in poetry, was never quite sane.

Why is it that so often the brilliant academic scholar fails in life? The psychologist will tell you that the mere accretion of book learning and the development of the faculty of memory counts for little in the mental scale, for memory is one of the lowest
of the cerebral functions.

The test comes when the brain has
to make its own decision, without the support of rule or experience. When judgment has to be weighed and a decision made, then comes the crucial test. When the unbalanced brain is faced with the problems of cold reason
and calculation, then is shown the gap
between perfect sanity and defect.

But, after all, it would be a dull
world if we were all turned out of one mold.

Finds Life a Mystery

Sir Oliver Lodge, at a recent lecture
at Christ church, London, gave his latest views of life. He said it is quite as mysterious as the life beyond the grave. It is not a form of energy, "it is, rather, a guiding and directing principle. It uses energy and it uses matter, but it does not seem, of itself, to belong to the physical frame of things at all." Sir Oliver
cited as proof of his theory that life
is not energy the fact that a seed
can give rise to countless generations.
He declared: "It is like the influx of something from outside, as if we were tapping an infinite reservoir
which can, by proper arrangement, be brought to interact with matter for a time, and then depart whence it came."

Students in Double Role

A combination choral and athletic invasion of Europe this summer is planned by Northwestern university.
Three hundred students and professors have been mobilized for the tour,
leaving New York July 8, returning 78
days later. Dick Howell, Olympic swimming star, will double in bass.
Charles Hoff, Norwegian pole vaulter,
will take his bride on the trip and
probably enter some American university on his return. The university's world-record swimming relay
will enter the 14-mile River Seine swim. The group is being organized into a chorus under the direction of the glee club. A violin and piano soloist will go along.

Another Laugh Going

The old lady's story is coming true.
She refused to believe a telegram because it was not in her son's writing; and most of us have laughed at
the tale.

But there will be no room to laugh
at it much longer; another bit of humor is going out of the world.

It is all due to the great progress
which has been made in the sending
of photographs by telegraph.

Many French post offices are now
accepting written letters, which are copied by photography, and with the instruments invented by M. Balin the letters are telegraphed as they were written, and are delivered as an exact
facsimile of the sender's handwriting.

Botanists Are Unable to Classify Shamrock

The shamrock, popularly accepted
as the national emblem of Ireland,
and worn the world over on St. Patrick's day, will probably always remain a mystery and a puzzle to botanists. It cannot properly be called Ireland's national flower, because only
the leaf is used as the symbol, and it is not certain which of several flowers
the leaf belongs to.

The commonest statement is that
the shamrock is identical with ordinary white clover, but that it grows
more luxuriantly in Ireland because of the moist and equable climate of the island and its generally favorable
soil. Another claim is made in favor of a yellow-flowered clover known
outside of Ireland as the "onesuch."
A third plant that bears the old Irish
name of "seamrog" is the wood sorrel
or oxalis. This species is more nearly related to the violets than it is to the clover, but its leaves, like those of the clover, are three-parted. At least one of the medieval Irish herbalists, or books of medicinal plants, ascribes
great curative virtues to the plant,
which, unfortunately, are quite imaginary.

The shamrock is not the only plant
famous in antiquity whose modern classification is in doubt. Ancient and medieval botanists identified their
plants and reckoned their relationships
largely by means of their leaves, so that to the learned men of old times
in Ireland any tri-lobate plant was a "seamrog" or shamrock. Modern botany broke up this ancient classification by arranging plants according to their leaves, so that now we have several clover "shamrocks" and at least one oxalis "shamrock." Just which of these it was whose leaf St. Patrick
plucked in his famous theological dispute will probably never be known.

Moonshine and Dishonesty

Vodka and samogon, the peasants'
moonshine, are the chief cause of en-feebledness, according to extensive
data which a Novosibirsk correspondent says cover all Siberia. Gambling,
chiefly lotto, comes next, and women
who like presents are third. The report covers 1,500 cases. State undertakings were the losers in 40 per cent of the cases, co-operatives in 40 per cent, trade unions in 7 per cent and other organizations in 18 per cent.
The death penalty, which is provided for embezzlement, is frequently enforced, especially if a government employee is convicted. A new interpretation of the code provides that the seriousness of the crime be in proportion to the organization's capital, a small peculation from a small concern
evoking the extreme penalty. Communists are held more rigidly to account than are non-party members.

Preferred to Die

"A successful politician," said Senator Guff, "has the persistency of Joe Blackburn."

"When Joe was a rising young man
he declined to attend an execution."

"The sheriff asked the condemned man if he had anything to say."

"No," said the fellow, "No, I don't believe there's any remarks that—"

"But here Joe Blackburn shouted:

"Say, Jake, if you ain't got nothing
special to say, I wish you'd give me
about fifteen minutes of your time,
old man, so as to let me tell these good friends gathered here that I'm a candidate for their suffrage and to lay before them some reasons why—"

"Wait," said the condemned man,
"is that Blackburn's voice?"

"Yes, sure," shouted the crowd.

"I thought so. Well, he can have my time. But go ahead and hang me first and let Joe talk afterward."

Famous Letters Sold

Letters written by Robert Burns, Charles Dickens and Lord Byron were among the outgrown collection of the late Col. James H. Manning of Albany, N. Y., recently sold at auction. However, none of the letters brought over $500. Byron's letter was to Lady Blessington thanking her for praise. The one from Coleridge complained of his poverty. Dickens' letter was to a theater manager about a Christmas story he believed had dramatic possibilities. The Burns letter was to a friend introducing the bearer. It concluded: "I am in a hurry, a d'm'd hurry; so take this scrawl. Why don't you return me
my collection of songs?"

Game Farms

There are 222 game farms in operation in New York state under license
from the conservation commission.
Deer, pheasants, geese, ducks, quail
and Hungarian partridge are among the species produced.

All game raised on these farms,
when killed, is tagged for identification under rules and regulations prescribed by the commission. A charge of 5 cents is made for each tag used.
The price of a license to operate a farm is $5 a year, and $1,110 was realized from sale of these licenses
last year.

No Doubt of It

Secretary George Washington Kerr
of the War Prevention league said in an address in Indianapolis:

"Once a pacifist, always a pacifist.
A general's daughter tried to convert
a dashing pacifist youth at a military hop.

"Suppose," she said to him in a thrilling voice, 'suppose the cry should go forth, 'To arms! To arms!' Tell me, what would you do then?"

"If the cry," said the young man,
'came from your rosy lips, I would undoubtedly respond.'"

Make Home Beautiful

It doesn't cost any more to make your home beautiful than to have it
ugly—beauty is not gained by dressing the house up with scroll-saw ornaments; cut-up rods, dormers and fancy-shaped windows. A well proportioned home looks beautiful without all these. Your local architect is experienced in these problems and can help you here. It will pay you to consult him.

ING PICNIC DINNER.

Special entertainment features, addresses by prominent speakers, inspection of college experimental plots, farms, livestock and buildings with a big picnic dinner at noon, will be combined in the program for Farmers

Day at M. S. C., Friday, July 30th, for the entertainment of the huge crowd
that are expected to gather for the annual event.
John A. Doelle, former commissioner of the state department of agriculture
and present executive secretary of the Michigan Real Estate Association, will deliver the main address on the subject, "Why Michigan Measures Up to Its Motto." Among other speakers on the program will be Hon. L. Whitney Watkins, state commissioner of agriculture.
One of the feature attractions of the day, which is being looked forward to
with a great deal of interest by rival
supporters, will be the state champion-

ship horse pulling contest between two of Michigan's finest farm teams. The teams, owned by A. G. Vanderbeck of Alma, and Allen Haskins of Ionia,
were both county fair champions last
year, but have never been pitted against each other. The contest is expected to be a close one, as the teams
are evenly matched as to weight and pulling records. It will not be an open contest as it was last year, but
will be confined to these two teams.
A fifty dollar purse has been posted
by the management of the Ionia Free Fair, where Haskins' team made its record last year.
Other features of the program will be an exhibition of fancy riding and

jumping by officers of the college military department, and the singing contest in which Michigan's best rural church choirs will compete for prizes.
The band and choir concert will be held at the noon hour, so that the crowds may listen to the music while
assembled for the picnic dinner.

NEWBURG TIGERS
TAKE THE SERIES

Sunday, July 25th, the Newburg
Tigers increased their winning streak,
and also won the series of the season,
two games won and one lost.
Ostrander's relief pitching and the heavy hitting behind him pulled the ball game out of the fire in the late innings of the game.

Next Sunday, August 1st, the Detroit King Casting team will play the Tigers at Newburg at 3:00 p. m.

WHAT THE NATIONAL DAIRY EX-POSITION MEANS TO MICHIGAN.

(By O. E. Reed, Professor of Dairy Husbandry, M. S. C., East Lansing.)
The dairy interests of Michigan have
for many years cherished the hope that some time the National Dairy Exposition would be staged in the state of Michigan. This hope is now to be realized for the national is to be held in Detroit, October 6th to 13th, 1926.

The reason for this keen desire to have this exposition in our state is that we believe the show performs a function in the educational field, which is not to be obtained in any other way.

Breeders and dairymen will have an opportunity this fall to see the best individual animals of the five leading dairy breeds. This show is commonly called the "court of last resort," because it is the one show at which the prize winners of the state fairs and
sectional shows all over the country
and Canada are brought together to battle for the prize of prizes.

Those who attend the exposition and make a thorough study of the exhibits
will come away with a greater vision
of their industry and will be able truly
to realize the greatness of dairying.
There will be something at this show
that will hold interest for everyone
connected with the industry.

The Health Food Show, showing the place and importance of the products
of the dairy cow in relation to other foods in the national diet, make a lasting and more appreciative impression upon those who attend. The forage crops exhibit, showing the possibilities of the home grown rations and their relation to income from the farm will carry a lesson that few have ever had.

This is a great national exposition,
set up at tremendous expense to the industry, and offers an opportunity for Michigan dairymen to get an excellent lesson about their great industry.
Time, a little expense, and a receptive
attitude are all that will be required
on the part of the individual dairyman
to get a message in show and story of his own business that will go a long way toward helping him work out his
every day problems.

You will get quick results and satisfaction from a liner ad in the Mail.

WASHTENAW COUNTY FAIR
NOTES

Good Races Assured

Under the direction of William L.
Henderson, superintendent of speed, at Washtenaw County Fair, several uneven places in the track on the fair grounds have been filled and the whole
track is in excellent condition for record time heats at the 1926 fair. A number of horses both locally owned
and from a distance are working out daily. Among the horses locally owned
are those of Dr. F. Arner, W. L.
Henderson, L. Fruehauf and George Slaughter, Deep Run Farm, Ypsilanti.
The race program of the 1926
Fair includes six good harness race
heats daily, September 1, 2, 3, and in addition two running races, screamingly
funny mule derby and spectacular

Roman standing races at both afternoon and evening performances
throughout the week.

Sunday-School Exhibits

Washtenaw County Sunday-School
Council has appointed A. N. Squires,
Jr., of Milan, chairman of the fair committee. Mr. Squires is requesting the Sunday-schools throughout Washtenaw
to exhibit pictures, etc., of the work carried on by their individual groups. These will be displayed on second story of boys' and girls' building. Ribbons for Sunday-school entries are provided by Washtenaw County Fair.

File Entries Now

Every resident of Washtenaw county
who intends exhibiting at the 1926
Washtenaw County Fair, is requested
by the fair management to make entries immediately. Entry sheets may be found on page 255 of premium book or secured from fair office. The filing of entry sheets well in advance

of fair dates greatly aids fair officials
in preparing their judges' sheets and superintendents' books, and in many departments assures exhibitors of more desirable locations for their exhibits.

Entertainment

The entertainment features at the 1926 Washtenaw County Fair will, it is believed, surpass in showmanship
and real thrills any acts or entertainment previously given at the local fair. Full particulars regarding these will be announced at an early date.
