GREATER PLYMOUTH MOVEMENT GETS AWAY WITH BIG START

Over Two Hundred Attend the Big Mass Meeting and Banquet at Masonic Temple Last Week Thursday Evening.

Masonic temple auditorium was filled to capacity Thursday evening, March 24th, when the recently organized Greater Plymouth association, together with guests from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Northville, Wayne and Detroit, met in mass assembly for the double purpose of hearing addresses by city planning authorities and election of a board of directors.

The dinner preceding the meeting was served by the ladies of the Plymouth Rebekah order, under the direction of Mrs. Fred Reiman, and many comments were heard regarding the splendid service that was demonstrated by the ladies. It is estimated that the entire assemblage was served within fifteen minutes after the guests were seated.

The meeting was called to order by Frank Rambo, president of the association, who welcomed the guests from neighboring communities and outlined the purpose of the meeting. C. R. Livengood, secretary of the association, presided as toastmaster.

The first speaker introduced to the assemblage was P. P. Woodbridge, affiliated with the Chamber of Commerce staff, Ann Arbor. Mr. Woodbridge drew attention to the fact that Plymouth, by virtue of her remarkable location between the best educational facilities in the state, at Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, and the most spectacular industrial city in the world, Detroit, was certain to feel a momentum that fully justified the present undertaking. Mr. Woodbridge mentioned the wonderful success of a comparatively small community in Ohio, Middletown. In the development of community solidarity, and made specific application of the same principles to Plymouth.

A splendid touch of humor was added to the meeting when the toastmaster called on W. M. Murphy, of Northville, for a few remarks. Mr. Murphy left no doubt as to his nationality when he had concluded a five-minute impromptu address. Among other observations, he stated that Plymouth might be in the same position as the meat in the sandwich in her relation to education and industry, but that Northville was abiding her time until Detroit had acquired a real reputation and Plymouth had reached metropolitan proportions, then his community would be willing and ready to annex both. And for good measure he threw in Ann Arbor.

The first scheduled speaker of the evening was T. Glenn Phillips, Detroit city planner and civic consultant. Mr. Phillips has appeared before Plymouth audiences before and always presents a message interesting and vital to the welfare of this or any community.

Among the more forceful utterances by Mr. Phillips was the statement that "all communities within a reasonable radius of Detroit must plan. There is no alternative. Millions upon millions of dollars have been expended within this one county to undo that which sensible planning would have rendered unnecessary. Have faith in your community. Project your vision beyond this year and the next and prepare for those phases of development that are definite, well marked, and cannot be stopped.

"You are directly in the path of progress," said Mr. Phillips, "and the necessity for your intelligent planning was never more marked than it is today. After having been in contact with the civic ambitions of Michigan communities for many years, familiarizing myself with the curtailed programs that have been rendered obsolete within a comparatively short time, I can do no less than urge you to plan far into the future and above all have faith—faith in your community."

The second speaker, Walter J. Davis, of Detroit, demonstrated by his address that he was a Plymouth enthusiast. He followed a line of industrial reasoning that led from the recent establishment of major industries along the lines of the Pere Marquette, on west and to the very portals of Plymouth. He prophesied that within ten years Plymouth would be the western terminus of an industrial development extending solidly from Detroit, and brought many pertinent illustrations to bear on the subject. Mr. Davis was enthusiastically received by his hearers.

"The Spirit Behind Community Achievement" was the topic of the final speaker of the evening, Guy W. Ellis, member of the Port Commission of Detroit. He paid particular commendation to Plymouth in the matter of civic spirit when he referred to the fact that he had long since heard of the splendid manner in which the community hotel had been financed in a campaign that broke all national records. Interspersing his remarks with many humorous quips, Mr. Ellis held his hearers in close attention during the entire course of his address. The keynote of his address was contained in the following excerpt: "A community is just as strong, just as virile, just as progressive as the individual spirit that motivates its citizens. You may be all that you wish as a community. It rests entirely with you. Just be sure that the community does not move on ahead of you. Keep pace with it—in spirit and in truth."

Following the addresses an opportunity was extended to all present to contribute whatever amounts they desired to enable the association to function, pledge cards being distributed to all the tables. Approximately one hundred subscriptions were pledged at the meeting and a campaign is to be prosecuted among all property owners in the district for the further expansion of the fund.

Additional directors elected at the meeting were: Carl Shear, John Hulmer, Allan Horton, George Robinson and Paul Wiedman. These, together with the officers, composed of Frank Rambo, Charles Finlan, C. O. Ball and C. R. Livengood, constitute the board of directors. Committee appointments announced by President Rambo include: Chairman city planning, Carl Shear; chairman finance, John Hubert; chairman advertising and publicity, Paul Wiedman; chairman membership, George Robinson; chairman industry, Allan Horton.

Among the committee appointments already announced is the following by Carl Shear, chairman of city planning, W. Lavers, T. Glenn Phillips, Harry Lush and Edward Hough. Other appointments will be announced in succeeding issues of the Mail.

Music for the meeting was provided by Harry Gebhardt's orchestra of Plymouth.

Of interest to the association as representing the spirit of one of the speakers of the evening is the following letter to the president received since the meeting:

Mr. Frank Rambo,
Pres. Greater Plymouth Assn.,
Plymouth, Mich.

Dear Mr. Rambo—As I mentioned to you last evening, I am enclosing herewith a copy of the story which I presented at the joint annual meeting of the American Society of Landscape Architects, of which I am a Fellow, and the American City Planning Institute, of which I am a member, on "The Scope of Regional Planning." This explains to a certain degree the working of our entire regional planning in this vicinity.

Whenever your Board is ready to talk further about the matter of a regional master plan for Plymouth and environs, I would be very glad to meet with you.
Very sincerely,
T. Glenn Phillips.

THE FIRST CITY DIRECTORY OF PLYMOUTH

The first City Directory of Plymouth and Northville will be issued today. It is expected by R. L. Polk & Co., compilers and publishers, in which the population of Plymouth is estimated at 4,500.

The Directory is made up along similar lines as those of larger cities, containing a miscellaneous section of city and Wayne county governments, postoffice, schools, societies, fraternal and benevolent institutions, churches, courts, and other information; a buyers' guide, the alphabetical list of citizens, business firms and corporations of both Plymouth and Northville, the street and avenue guide and directory of householders, a classified business directory and a rural route directory with names arranged in order of routes.

Many interesting facts are set forth in a historical sketch and statistical review in the introduction of the directory. "Plymouth has two of the largest air gun factories in the world, and is rapidly becoming known as a toy manufacturing center." It is set out.

Other facts regarding Plymouth as set forth in the directory are that the town has six parks with a total area of 80 acres; 25 miles of streets, three of which are paved; nine miles of public sewers; 25 miles of gas mains laid; a completely motorized fire department with one station house and 12 men; 12 men on the police force; two public schools; two banks with combined capital of $150,000; eight churches; two public libraries; two hotels, and an active Chamber of Commerce.

Plymouth was first settled in 1825 and was incorporated as a village in 1867. The Commission-Manager Charter began operation April 1, 1918.

RECEIVES APPOINTMENT.

George A. Smith, superintendent of Plymouth schools, has been appointed by Governor Green as a member of the board of trustees for the State Orphans' Home at Coldwater. PLYMOUTH DEBATERS WIN FROM CARO

There was a fairly good attendance at the debate between teams representing the local High school and Caro High school at the High school auditorium last Friday evening. The High school orchestra furnished music for the occasion, and the numbers rendered were much enjoyed by the audience present.

Rev. Walter Nichol was chairman and the judges were Prof. F. W. McKay, of the speech department, Michigan State Normal College, Ypsilanti; Prof. Orlando Stevenson, history department, University of Michigan; Prof. Carl Brandt, speech department, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The timekeepers were Sara Fritz, Caro, and Julla Learned, Plymouth. Plymouth had the negative side of the question, "Shall the United States Government Own the Coal Mines?" Wilbur Murphy was splendid in his delivery in rebuttal, as was Franklin Atkinson, while Josephine Schmidt was excellent in the summary for the Plymouth team. The Caro team was composed of Margaret Miller, Nora Pattison and Norman Shadley, and they made a most creditable showing.

The judges rendered a decision of two to one in favor of Plymouth.

Plymouth is now one of the eight schools eligible to debate in the State League. The next debate for the local team will take place on April 15th.

The splendid record that has been made by the Plymouth team is highly gratifying to the citizens of Plymouth, and they are entitled to much credit for their splendid efforts.

FREE ROBIN HOOD MOVIE FOR CHILDREN

Arrangements have been made by the Walk-Over Boat Shop to present Douglas Fairbanks' great film spectacle, "Robin Hood," to the children of Plymouth free of charge on April 9th. The Central Shoe Company of St. Louis supplies the film, which is one of Fairbanks' greatest screen successes and of immense value from an educational and historical standpoint to dealers who carry their Robin Hood shoes.

Plenty of protection for the little tots is promised at the theatre and parents are assured that everything is being done to insure their safety. Bob Willoughby has rented the Penniman Allen theatre for the performance which will be given at 10 a. m. April 9.

Harvey Segnitz will take the part of Robin Hood in an interesting prologue and epilogue to the film. Community recitations will feature the program and souvenirs will be given to every child that attends the show.

Tickets for this excellent performance will be given out at Willoughby Bros. Walk-Over Boat Shop on Monday, April 4. Children who wish to attend this show have only to come to the store at that time and receive tickets free of charge. As the capacity of the theatre is limited, the children are urged to come for tickets promptly at the appointed time as "first come, first served" will be the policy.

It is expected that this Canton will be instituted May 7th, Patriarch's Militant degree to be conferred by Canton Enterprise No. 5 at this time. It is planned to hold weekly meetings each Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Major Oscar C. Mattis, 794 York street (department commander's organizer) for the purpose of taking measurements for uniforms and equipment and making such other preliminary arrangements as are necessary.

VILLAGE COMMISSION HELD INTERESTING MEETING

HENRY J. FISHER CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF NEW COMMISSION.

The regular meeting of the village commission Monday evening marked the close of the year for the old commission. After disposing of some routine business, President Harry C. Robinson took the opportunity to thank the members of the commission for their heavy co-operation during his term of office and also to the citizens of Plymouth for the honors bestowed upon him in the past. The commission then adjourned sine die.

The new commission then organized with the following members: J. W. Henderson, Henry J. Fisher, Henry Hordorp, Frank J. Pierce and Carl Shear. Mr. Fisher and Mr. Pierce were re-elected this spring together with Mr. Shear, the new member.

Commissioner Fisher was unanimously elected president of the commission for the ensuing year. Mr. Fisher thanked the members of the commission for the honor bestowed upon him and pledged his efforts in serving the best interests of the village at all times.

The first item of business brought before the commission was confirming the hiring of a village manager to take the place of Sidney D. Strong, who resigned several months ago.

Commissioner Hordorp made a motion, seconded by Commissioner Pierce, that William Weltner be hired as village manager to take the place of Mr. Strong.

This opened up a discussion in which a number of citizens spoke in favor of the commission reconsidering the resignation of Mr. Strong. They spoke in the most commendable terms of his services in behalf of the village and called attention to the businesslike manner in which he had conducted the office. They especially urged that he be retained in view of the important work which had been commenced and of which he was fully informed and familiar with.

During the progress of the discussion Commissioner Shear informed the commission that he thought it was up to the old commission to have confirmed the hiring of the new manager, inasmuch as they had hired him, and not put it up to the new commission, and he would therefore tender his resignation as a member of the commission.

The motion as made and seconded was then put to a vote and may vote, all members voting in favor of the exception of Commissioner Shear, who voted nay.

Following this action of the commission, the discussion was renewed and waxed warm at times.

One of the questions asked the members of the commission was why they did not give consideration to a petition signed by a great many business and professional men and others, asking that efforts be made to induce Mr. Strong to reconsider his resignation instead of laying it upon the table.

Members of the old commission explained they could not do so because they had accepted Mr. Strong's resignation in good faith and had engaged a man to take his place.

The members of the old commission expressed themselves as having acted in accordance with the resignation of Manager Strong and they had no apologies to offer.

Just before the meeting closed Mr. Strong made a splendid talk, in which he stated some of the difficulties with which a village manager is confronted and feelingly expressed his appreciation for the strong sentiment that had been expressed in his favor and for the large representation of his friends present.

During the seven years that Mr. Strong has served the village many big improvements have been successfully carried out and he has had a large part in the planning and working out of these various projects. He has a host of friends who are reluctant to have him leave the service of the village at this time.

The new manager has held a position in the engineering department of the City of Detroit. He takes up his duties as manager today.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strebbing entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Taylor at a six o'clock dinner Tuesday evening. Later in the evening thirty relatives came to remind Mr. Strebbing that it was his birthday, and also of his niece, Miss Iva May Strebbing, of Redford. A very pleasant evening was passed with cards, after which a delicious luncheon was served. At a late hour the guests departed, wishing them many more happy birthdays.

BUSY DAYS AHEAD.

There are busy days ahead, and not very far ahead either for citizens of Plymouth. Old Mother Nature has shaken off her long winter sleep, and this year she is a little earlier than usual in setting a good example for her children. She has already started in to brighten up her trees and grass plots and is already sending enough warm sunshine and light rains to make a perfect job of it.

There is really no necessity for telling our readers their duty at this season of the year. They know without being told that every hour lost now in cleaning up and brightening their premises means a loss that cannot be made up later in the season. There is plowing and planting to do, of course, and gardens have to be made. But even with these tasks to look after there is still time, if you start at once, to give the house and surroundings the attention needed to protect them from the elements and to make them comfortable and attractive. Not only that, but there is no time to be lost in ridding the community of the rubbish and ashes and junk that has accumulated during the winter months and that is sure to breed disease, and possibly start a serious epidemic in the neighborhood, if not disposed of.

A clean house helps to make a clean town, and a clean town is a joy to behold. So clean up if for no other reason than to brighten and beautify your home town, though your greatest reward will come in the protection that such work affords from spring and summer epidemics, with a possible loss of life. Don't wait for your neighbor to start—you set the example this year.

GOOD-BYE, POORHOUSE!

A good many states are now watching Indiana's experiment in getting rid of her county poorhouses, or "poor farms," as they are known in a good many localities. We've read several articles about the progress she is making, and we cannot help but feel it is a step in the right direction, and one that other states will eventually take.

Every resident of Plymouth deplores the fact that circumstances and conditions make it necessary for some people to spend their declining days in a poorhouse. Nothing is more pathetic than to see some aged man or woman, once able to work and once a valuable asset to the community, being carried off to the poorhouse, alone and helpless and dependent. Nothing causes greater personal fear than that some day fate may frown upon us and that we, too, may be forced to travel the same road. Everything has been modernized and changed and improved on in recent years—why can't the poorhouse be robbed of its sting?

Indiana believes it can, and she is going to erect one or two large central institutions, using the money she will get through the sale of the "poor farms" in each county. In addition, she has plans for an old age pension for those who may not care to spend their later days in the institution, or old folks' home. We pay pensions to our soldiers of all wars; many states have pensions for the blind and for widows—why not pension those who also helped to make this country worth living in—our dependent and helpless aged? Are they not entitled to some consideration in return for their labors in our behalf? It will be interesting to watch Indiana's experiment. It isn't too early now to wish it success, and to hope the day is not far distant when there will not be a poorhouse or a "poor farm" in the United States.

WHERE DO THEY GO?

We were in a Plymouth home not long ago when the old piano was being removed, being replaced by a new one, and we couldn't help wondering what becomes of the thousands of used pianos traded in for new ones every year. Who buys the second-hand pianos? Now our curiosity has been satisfied by an article we came across in a daily paper, and it is also doubtless of interest to our readers. It states that piano dealers have found a ready market for pianos of the used variety in South America and Asia, and that the demand is greater than the supply. The natives are delighted to buy them, on the installment plan the same as new ones are sold here, and several enterprising Americans are declared to be waiting rich down there handling the used instruments. There is certainly a lot of truth in the old statement that nothing is wasted in this world.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN.

Winter is over and travel by auto is now under more favorable conditions, so the army of "flivver salesmen" is emerging from the larger cities to prey on the rural districts and smaller towns. The usual influx of house-to-house peddlers, selling everything from a new-fangled can opener to a tractor, will soon be annoying Plymouth residents, just as they annoy the residents of all other parts of America. Experience is still a good teacher and it has been the experience of thousands who buy at the front door that they pay pretty dearly for what they get in the long run. Ordinarily something just as good, or that will answer the same purpose, can be had from local concerns, or they will get it for you. Then if the purchase is not satisfactory the man you bought it from is right here to make good, while the "flivver salesman" is gone and you are forgotten soon after you have signed up or parted with your money. Think this over—and keep it in mind the next time you go to the front door and the polite and persuasive "flivver salesman" is there to separate you from your coin.

DEATH OF AN INFANT.

Little Clayton Ernest, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee, was born May 18, 1925, at Payne, Ohio, and departed this life Thursday morning at 2:30 o'clock March 24, 1927, at the age of ten months and six days.

The child was taken seriously ill on February 23rd of spinal meningitis and was removed to the Children's hospital at Detroit February 25th, where all medical skill was of no avail. Clayton was a bright and cheerful baby, with a smile for everyone. He bore his suffering patiently until the Lord called him home. Little Clayton will be greatly missed in his home and among his friends. He leaves to mourn, his father and mother, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tracy of Payne, Ohio, great-grandparents, several uncles and aunts and many other relatives and friends. Funeral services were held at the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home Saturday morning, March 26th, Dr. F. A. Lendrum officiating, and interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Fisher Funeral Chapel, Detroit, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Evergreen cemetery, that city.

Bacon's Genius Hailed

by Scientific World

Five years ago Dr. Wilfred M. Voynich, a collector of old books and manuscripts, brought to this country a set of volumes written on vellum and constituting a sort of encyclopedia of scientific knowledge. At the monastery from which he bought them there was a tradition that they were the work of Roger Bacon, a Franciscan friar who lived in the Thirteenth century and has long been regarded as one of the great scientific minds of the Middle Ages.

The books were written in a strange tongue and a complicated cipher, which no one had been able to solve until Doctor Voynich submitted the volumes to Dr. W. Romaine Newbold of the University of Pennsylvania. He found the key and translated at least a part of the manuscript.

It was announced at the time that they show Bacon to have had knowledge both of the telescope and of the microscope. Doctor Newbold is even reported to have said that when the time came he would prove to the world "that the 'black magic' of the Middle Ages consisted in discoveries far in advance of Twentieth-century science," and that the books contain "information on the origin of life and other mysteries that will stagger the scientific world."

Last September Doctor Newbold died, whether with his task of translation completed or not we do not know, but at a recent memorial meeting in his honor a most interesting announcement was made. Among the formulas in the books was a rule for making salts of copper. Doctor Newbold submitted it to a chemist, who said he had never heard of it; but he tried it and found that it works, though it is too complicated to be of commercial value today.

The incident is interesting for two reasons: It shows that Doctor Newbold's solution of the cipher is correct, and it shows that the friar of more than six hundred years ago had knowledge not common to the men of his day, and that he knew how to set this knowledge down. It whets the appetite of the scientific mind for other secrets that the books may contain.

There is a sort of archeology of learning, of knowledge, as there is of archeology of the more material aspects of civilization, such as architecture, household utensils and armor; and out of its dust heaps long-buried jewels flash from time to time a ray that broadens the horizon and grips the fancy.—Youth's Companion.

"Time"

Observance of the advent of 1927 excites this comment by the modern world:

The idea of "absolute" time has, of course, passed. We see now that what we called "time" is really a name for our own human reaction to varying aspects of the environment in which we find ourselves. Nevertheless, the thought of time enormously influences essentially modern thought. When our minds reach back with exultant imaginative concentration through the millions of years of organic evolution which have led up to us, we realize how relatively unimportant are the human stupidities against which Lytton said, how infinitely important is the indubitable fact of our increasing capacity to shape our lives and our world according to our will and desire.

There was a vast desert of time behind us. There is a great stretch of time ahead of us.

Humanity could consciously shape the happenings of 1927 if it sufficiently desired. Humanity can shape its near and remote future when it so desires.

Working Through College

Hundreds of college girls are earning their way through school by doing housework in the private homes of local residents. The duties vary, from kitchen work to care of the children, and the usual requirement is four hours of work a day in return for board and room. Overtime is generally paid at a rate of about 35 cents an hour. If a girl is experienced in domestic work and is physically strong, housework of this sort will pay the largest item of her college expense, and at the same time lend a feeling of security for her college career. Some college men do the same kind of work, including cleaning. They usually receive about 40 cents an hour.

GIRL BABIES NOT WANTED IN AFRICA

Joy in Moslem Household Is Reserved for Boys.

When a son is born to a North African Moslem, joy reigns. Every one says to the father: "God has increased thy good." If it is a daughter, the father cries: "A misfortune is born to me." But, in spite of that, the birth is celebrated on the seventh day in the presence of God, the parents and their friends, and the baby is named Zein, the flower; Sadya, the happy; Zina, the beautiful, or Aziza, the beloved.

Yet over it all hangs the prophet's dictum: "Man are superior to woman," and it is this phrase that stops all celebrations, and checks all progress. While his daughter is a child her father troubles himself not a whit about her, and she is lucky if her mother, his instrument for pleasure and for work, finds any time to watch over her.

As the girl grows up she is trained, taught silence, discretion—and coquetry. Poetic phrases about beauty are sung to her. Later on, in spite of the Koran, which describes tattooing as "the devil's writing," she is tattooed. When the girl is of marriageable age she is also ready for her prison. Her father begins to think about the dot—which he will get back—and the gift he will receive from the husband, which practically amounts to a price for selling his daughter. At ten or twelve, then, the girl is handed over to her husband, whether she likes it or not. For a father can impose marriage on an unmarried girl. It is what is called the right of Djeh, which is recognized by law and custom.

The father may consult his daughter, but she must not reply except by a smile or by tears. If she smiles it is because she is glad to be married; if she weeps it simply means that she agrees to the marriage, though regretting to leave her father's house—a convenient bit of duplicity. If she should categorically refuse the man who bought her, the father would apply the law of Djeh by blows of the mstraque, or Arab club.

The consent of a widow or a divorced woman is necessary, though that does not prevent her being sold by her father or her brothers, or even by her children; for in all these relations of her civil life she is represented by a proxy or oual, who is practically her master.

The same law also permits polygamy, which is often necessary, especially among the poor; though they usually have only two wives, who are used for all kinds of work, relieving one another, since one wife would hardly be enough for the day's tasks.

Meanwhile the husband does his bit by putting on a more or less torn burqa, and going—very much like an ancient Roman senator—to drink his kouas at the Moorish cafe or to discourse at the Djemas or else to look for news in the market. It is not unusual to see old men of sixty marrying girls of twelve.—Colonel Godchot in La Revue Mondiale.

Gold of the Ancients

The supply of gold in ancient times was derived mostly from surface sands and gravels which yielded their values by simple processes of washing. Gold was thus mined at a very early period in India, Central Asia, the southern Ural and in the region bordering the eastern Mediterranean. Apparently the discovery of gold is not attributed to any one person. The ancient workings for locating gold have been ascribed to the Egyptians and have been found in the mountains of Nubia, and Dr. Karl Peters has described extensive mines in the interior of South Africa, not far from the gold fields of Rhodesia—a locality believed by Doctor Peters to be the Ophir of the Israelites. The Romans operated mines in Hungary, Spain and Great Britain at various periods. During the Middle Ages the mining industry seems to have made little progress.

Waited Long for Notice

Not until 14 years after the completion of her masterpieces, "Pride and Prejudice" and "Sense and Sensibility," were the novels of Jane Austen read outside her own admiring circle. Originally called "First Impressions," the novel "Pride and Prejudice" was refused by the publishers, who in the latter part of the Eighteenth century were making money by the distribution of books depicting "romantic horrors and extravagance." When it was finally accepted and published 14 years later, it was immediately acclaimed by the reading public. During her creative period it was the fashion among wealthy persons to cultivate not refinement but the refinement of cruelty, and Jane Austen attacked this fad with all the power at the command of her genius.—Hartford Courant.

Poetic Justice

Ralph Jones, a lawyer, tells this story at his own expense:

He was employed to defend a man charged with issuing worthless checks. Jones and his client succeeded in convincing the judge and jury that the man was not guilty. He was discharged.

"How much is your fee?" the man asked Jones. The attorney named the figure. The client wrote a check for the sum named, and Jones accepted it. The next day he learned from the bank the check was worthless. The signer had never had an account at that bank, Jones was told.

We recently heard one Plymouth citizen declare that the only trouble with marriage is a fellow doesn't get any time off for good behavior.

Another thing we've never been able to understand is why the man who lets his own business run down at the head always insists on telling the other fellow what's the matter with his.

LIVONIA WILL VOTE ON LIGHTING ROADS.

The voters of Livonia township will be called upon to vote upon the proposition of entering into a contract with the Detroit Edison Co. for a term of eight years to light the following named paved county roads and to raise annually by tax an amount sufficient to pay for the same. Roads to be lighted are as follows: Seven Mile road, Five Mile road, Plymouth road, including branch of Ann Arbor road; Farmington-Wayne road and Middle Belt road. The total cost per foot for the above roads would be approximately $25,200.00. At the present assessed valuation of the township this would require a tax rate of about $1.25 per $1,000.00 valuation.

BANKERS ADOPT VIGILANTE PLAN

The Michigan Bankers' Association has engaged the services of Joseph Rylands of Chicago, to put into operation in Michigan what is known as the Vigilante plan for combatting bank bandits. This action was taken at the mid-winter meeting of the bankers' association in recommendation of an investigating committee. This plan, operating in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, had during its first year reduced the number of bank robberies and the amount of plunder. As the bandits were driven from these states they have moved to others less organized to resist them. A meeting at which Mr. Rylands will speak will be held in every county in the state and get the plan before the county officers and the bankers. The date on which he will be in Wayne county will be announced later.

MENTAL RATING OF GENIUS IN YOUTH

Intelligence Tests Made by Psychologists.

Giving 301 of the geniuses of history an intelligence test is the latest feat of psychologists at Stanford university. The test was given to John Milton, Michelangelo, Napoleon, Samuel Johnson and 297 other famous men and women born between the years 1450 and 1850. Results of the investigations have just been published by Dr. Catharine M. Cox, who was assisted by Dr. Lewis M. Terman and Lela Gillan and Ruth Livesey.

Historical records showing childhood traits and mental talents of the geniuses were used as a basis for giving out the intelligence ratings. John Stuart Mill, celebrated English philosopher and economist, was awarded the highest rank of all the 301 famous children. His intelligence quotient was placed at 190, which is 90 points higher than average mentality. At six years of age Mill wrote a history of Rome, and at eight he gave Latin lessons and was held responsible for the errors of his pupil.

Three children were given intelligence ratings of 185, Doctor Cox reports. These were Goethe, famous German poet; Grotius, who became a Dutch theologian, and Leibnitz, who won fame as a mathematician. Napoleon and Beethoven got ratings of 135 on their childhood mentality. Byron was given 150, Michelangelo got 145; Lincoln, 125; Mue de Snel, 155; John Q. Adams, 165; Coleridge, 175; Washington, 125; Raphael, 110.

Doctor Cox explains that there was a tendency for characters whose childhood has been reported more fully by historians to get higher ratings, because full accounts brought out more evidences of precocity. The ratings are in many cases far too low, she says.

The investigation was conducted to shed light on the early mental traits of geniuses. Doctor Cox finds that generally eminent men and women show signs of superior mentality in early childhood.

"We are probably warranted in expecting superior adult achievement wherever in childhood the intelligence quotient is above 150," she states. "But we may not be warranted in expecting a world genius if the 200 IQ is reached."

Patience of Job

This expression appears in the New Testament in James 5:11: "Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy." This, of course, is in allusion to the patriarch whose history is given in the book of Job. He has become the personification of poverty and patience. Job was a pious and prosperous patriarch. Satan incited that he was pious only because God had hedged him in with prosperity. Remove these worldly blessings, declared Satan, and Job would curse God to his face. To prove the falsity of this charge Satan was permitted to strip the patriarch of all his earthly possessions and children and to afflict him with a loathsome disease. Job bowed uncomplainingly to his fate and because of his faith in spite of adversity was restored again to all his wealth and happiness. — Pathfinder Magazine.

Agricultural Research

The foreign agricultural experiment stations are quite different from those in America. They select certain well-defined lines of work and continue it for years. These experiment stations do not possess the equipment for distributing their information among the people. Their reports are issued in limited editions and are not always easy to secure. Bulletins of information are not issued to any extent, as they are in the United States. The work of the stations appears to be largely investigation, control of fertilizers, feeds and seeds, but not distribution and dissemination of agricultural information. While the European stations are doing careful scientific work, authorities believe that our experiment stations are doing better work for the advancement of practical agriculture.

Valuable Radio Beacon

A mobile radio beacon has been invented to prevent collisions at sea in foggy weather. It is described as a low-power automatic radio transmitter which sends out a characteristic signal over a short distance. It is installed in the pilot house and operates independently of the ship's wireless apparatus. In foggy weather the device is turned on. The radio signal it transmits is heard by any ship within ten miles, which, by the use of the radio compass, or direction finder, can determine the position of the approaching vessel.

"Living Wage" Dispute

Australia is seeking to learn exactly how to determine just what is a living wage. The country has a law providing for a living wage based on the cost of living index, but whether that cost of living should be an average of the entire country or for each section is the problem. Farmers do not want it on a city-price basis, and city employers do. And the argument may scrap the law.

DEATH OF MRS. FRANK J. BOYLE

Mary C. Boyle, a much-loved resident of Salem township, passed away Thursday, March 24, 1927, at a hospital in Ann Arbor after a short illness.

The deceased was born in Superior township, Washtenaw county, February 12th, 1873, and was united in marriage to Frank J. Boyle June 25th, 1912.

She leaves to mourn their loss a husband, Frank J. Boyle; four sisters, two brothers and several nephews and nieces.

She was a loyal wife and the high esteem of her many friends was shown by the many floral offerings. The funeral services were conducted by Fr. Peck, assisted by Fr. LeFever, of Plymouth, and Fr. Schuler, of Northville, at St. Patrick's church, Northfield, Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

The retiring manager also wishes to express his deep appreciation to all those citizens of Plymouth who have so loyally backed him and his work here in Plymouth. The support and approval of these people is worth more than he can tell.

The bond election Monday did not result in a very big vote, but what there was proved to be very much in favor of the sewers. Of the 82 votes, 74 were in favor of the $22,000 bond issue and 7 were against. One voter was both in favor of and against the issue, according to the marking of his ballot. The engineers, Houd, Decker, Shoecraft & Drury, are now authorized to go ahead with the plans and advertise for bids for the 1927 construction program for sewers.

This is the last column of municipal notes under the present authorship. The manager hopes that the people of Plymouth appreciate as much he does the wonderfully fine co-operation shown the village and its officers by the editor of the Plymouth Mail in affording so many different opportunities for timely and proper publicity concerning village activities and in working so sincerely for the best interests of the village. The manager feels that very few editors would give so freely and willingly of their space and their time for these purposes. The manager's thanks are also due Mr. F. W. Samsen for his great assistance in preparing and printing the many sorts of forms used in the village work.

PERRINSVILLE

The date for the electioneers' dinner will be on Friday, April 1st, instead of the 8th.

The Newburg P. T. A. will present their play, "Yimmie Yonson's Yob," at the Gleaner hall, Perrinsville, Wednesday, April 6th.

Helen Eichler, of Detroit, was a guest of Margaret Kubic Saturday and Sunday.

HANFORD SCHOOL

The parent-teachers' meeting of the Hanford school was held Monday night. Miss Glyn, from the county commissioner's office, was the speaker of the evening, which was enjoyed by all, after which lunch was served.

The Hanford Parent-Teachers' association will have a shadow social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Hawk Friday night, April 1. A pot-luck supper will be served. Everybody come and have a good time. Bring dishes.

NEWBURG SCHOOL ENTERTAINS ZONE A

The morning session of the April Zone A meeting was held in Miss Reddeman's room.

Mrs. Mains made two announcements, one in regard to the teachers' annual dinner party and theatre party and the other about tests.

Citizenship was discussed. How is the current event class conducted? Do the children bring in the proper current events or do teachers present them to the children? How do teachers check on current events to know whether the children retain what they study? These were the questions discussed.

Mr. Fisher led a discussion of what were worthwhile current events.

The value, plan, improvements and activities of the Citizenship club were criticized pro and con.

Miss Reddeman taught a current event lesson with the help of her eighth grade pupils, Donald Dunn, Charles Thompson, Thomas Levandowski, John Adams and Elda Forrester.

Mrs. Mains taught a demonstration lesson in spelling. Her class consisted of the following fifth graders: Charles Paddock, Harold Stevens, Warren Bassett, Clarence Levandowski, Eldor Ballen, Alice Bakewell and Amalia Zielasko.

Mr. Fisher explained that owing to what the gold stars symbolized they were not a mere kindergarten affair but should receive due respect and effort. After asking the group of teachers several questions he congratulated them on their faithful work.

Mrs. Sharpe talked about the teachers' health. She believes that teachers owe it to themselves and their school district to have a complete physical examination during vacation.

The Newburg P. T. A. has made outstanding effort to equip the school kitchen completely enough to serve as a dinner quarters to a large number of people. The ladies who have been faithful workers in the organization brought their efforts to the front in the showing which they made in serving somewhat of a banquet for the zone. The otherwise crude kitchen was converted into a presentable dining hall by the use of pink and white crepe paper decorations and plants with pink bloom. The menu was: Roast pork, baked apple, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, rolls, butter, coffee, butterfly salad, olives, celery, pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

Mrs. Harmon Gates acted as chairman. To her much credit is due. Other ladies responsible for the splendid cuts and fine way in which they were served are: Mrs. Hearn, Mrs. Rousseau, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Osten, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Dou Ryder.

During the dinner hour many of the visitors inspected Miss Grim's room, noticing the new reading and sand tables.

The afternoon program was held in Mrs. Waterman's room. Mrs. Phillips led in singing "Smiles and Love's Old Sweet Song."

Miss Fisher told of plans for a fraternal organization for zone teachers.

Mrs. Sharpe, Miss Corbett and Miss Gwin made announcements relative to their work.

An orchestra from Detroit composed of Mrs. Thompson, piano and violin teacher, holding degrees from Cincinnati, St. Louis and Detroit; Miss Colburne, who has been in vaudeville and chautauqua for fifteen years, and is a member of several orchestras, and H. Hall, director of Congregational and Trinity church orchestras and a member of Ford's motor band, gave refreshing music.

"Little Boy Blue" was presented by David Allen, Elizabeth Stevens, Dorothy Hearn, Marion Wilson, Elton Bakewell, Berdus, Ballen and Margaret Osten.

Unsportsmanlike conduct was dramatized by Hazel Loomas, John Adams, Harold Stevens, Warren Bassett, Lionel Coffin, Kenneth Gates, Clarence Levandowski, Thomas Levandowski, Russel Stevens and Charles Thompson.

Glady and Sara Jane Allen sang a duet.

A Bird's Dialogue was given by Dorothy Hearn, Margaret Osten, Marvin Wilson, Berdina Ballen, Eldon Bakewell.

Mr. Olds, of Ypsilanti, gave the address. He expressed his appreciation to the unknown teacher. He has been a teacher for many years and can say from experience that it is wonderful work. He says that the only worthwhile raw material in a community is the boys and girls of that community. We must prepare them to be capable men and women. The school and the home will do that if it is done.

Higher Quality at Lower Prices

because of increasing Volume Production!

January, 1925—There was introduced a new Chevrolet which scored a tremendous success. Among its many new features were: a new and rugged rear axle, an improved unit power plant, a new single-plate disc-clutch, a much stronger frame, semi-elliptic chrome vanadium steel springs, coil and dash lamps, and new Fisher bodies finished in Duco. . . . the price of the Coach was reduced to $735.

August, 1925—Chevrolet announced a new measure of value based on many new quality features—such as motor-driven Klaxon horn, improved sheet metal construction in the bodies, corrugated steering wheel with walnut finish, new headlamp rim construction and a more convenient gear-shift lever. Yet, despite all the additions . . . the Coach was reduced to $695.

January, 1926—A not her spectacular increase in Chevrolet value—a model offering many mechanical improvements, such as a smoother, quieter motor with three-point suspension, a silent V-belt generator drive, new air pump, more efficient cooling, an air cleaner, larger brakes, etc. Notwithstanding these improvements . . . the Coach was reduced to $645.

and now—

- Our Touring $525
- Our Roadster $625
- Our Coupe $695
- Our 4-Door Sedan $715
- Our Sport Cabriolet $745
- Our Landau $795
- Our Truck $1495

All these Fish Fleet Models. Balloon tires stand and equipment on all models. In addition to these low prices Chevrolet's delivered prices include the lowest handling and financing charges available.

The Most Beautiful Coach in Chevrolet History!

Climaxed all of Chevrolet's previous value triumphs, the Chevrolet Coach of today is acclaimed as the outstanding closed car value of all time. Beautiful new Fisher bodies—paneled and beaded, rakishly low and finished in new colors of genuine Duco . . . full-crown, one-piece fenders . . . bullet-type headlamps . . . AC oil filter and AC air cleaner . . . finer performance, greater riding comfort and remarkable steering ease! A car so marvelously beautiful that you must see it to appreciate it—Yet the price has been reduced to $595.

MANY TOURISTS WILL TRAVEL BY AUTO

The nation's greatest migration is to be made this summer.

According to figures furnished R. H. Grant, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, by officials of the American Automobile association, before the close of 1927, 40,000,000 people—a third of the country's population—will travel by motor car. Their wheeled flight over highways and byways, mountain and plain constitute the most colossal peace-time movement in the history of mankind.

These vast caravan series will use between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 automobiles in their wanderings—almost half the passenger cars in use in the nation. These figures are based on the situation which prevailed in 1926.

All indications point to an increase of about 10 per cent in the number of tourists and the number of automobiles. The summer of 1926 found 36,000,000 people taking to the highways in approximately 9,000,000 automobiles.

A vast amount of money will be spent by the traveling hosts to enrich the innumerable cities and towns and the millions of stay-at-home servitors that cater to roadside wants. The traveler will spend at least three and a third billion dollars—a tremendous factor in the increased prosperity of thousands of communities throughout the nation.

Of the total of ten million cars which will be on the road, three and a third millions will carry camping equipment and tour for an average of 33 days each. The other two-thirds will patronize hotels and will spend an average of 10 days on tour. For the canvas brigade the daily expenditure is estimated at $10 per car or $33,333,000 daily for them all, which in 33 days will total nearly $1,100,000,000. The hotel tourist will find their expenses running about even with the camping cohorts, although touring about only one-third as long, and will spend approximately $2,200,000,000. At the most conservative estimate it is safe to assume that the resorts, hotels, garages, filling stations and other agencies catering to motor travel will benefit to the extent of at least $3,300,000,000 from this year's mighty host of motor vacationists.

The vanguard of the great migration already is upon the highways, the first hardy thousands setting out at the first signs of spring. Every touring area in the country is reporting substantial increases and these reports have been borne out by the demands for touring information made at automobile clubs. The cult of the open road is in session.

Camping facilities have been greatly improved and extended and their development seems certain to make this phase of touring much more popular—setting a new record in 1927 for the migratory travelers. There will be more people, young and old, on the road than ever before. There will be more cars, more money, more pleasure.

A few years ago vacation travel was considered an expensive luxury. Today it can be made almost as inexpensive as living at home for the family which wishes to spend their time in camps—and "Seeing America First" will have deep meaning for millions of former stay-at-homes.

Picked Up About Town

"Mighty few people are ever satisfied," says Dad Plymouth. "Even the red-headed man hates to think he is getting paid."

They had a fire in Battle Creek a few days ago, so now we can look for something new in breakfast foods.

"The reason a wife doesn't do much rejoicing when her husband hands her two dollars on Saturday night," declares Dad Plymouth, "is because she knows he will be around to borrow it along about Tuesday."

Revolution seems to be making as much trouble in Nicaragua as evolution does in this country.

Barbers may not believe in giving discounts, but they're always willing to take something off for cash.

Dad Plymouth says it would be much happier for a lot of people in heaven if they could enjoy a trip to earth every now and then just to see how much trouble other people are in.

"Some fellows seem to think," asserts Dad Plymouth, "that Americanism consists in cussing the alien because he has so little and then cussing a little later on because he has so much."

Maybe the reason they no longer use liquor in this country to christen ships is because it would burn a hole in the hull.

Satisfied. Visitor—"Your son is rather small for his age, isn't he?"

Fond Mother—"Oh, no. Most of the boys of his age are over-grown, I think!"

"GOING TO GET DRUNK."
$10,000,000,000 CONCERN.
RAW WHEAT FOR VITAMIN B.
ANDY WAS WRONG.

This nation is drifting toward a costly, hate-breeding coal strike, set for April in the central coal fields. The Yankee farmer "going to town to get drunk, and Lord, how I dread it," was no more foolish than a country that foresees industrial civil war, surely coming, and does nothing to prevent it.

The people own the coal fields—and everything else in the nation—under the right of eminent domain, they can do as they choose.

They suffer the loss and inconvenience of all strikes, pay the bills in the end, and still they "go to town to get drunk."

Standard Oil in the last three months has paid dividends of more than $55,000,000. That's at the rate of more than five per cent on four billion dollars; so there is a four billion dollar concern right there.

If you wait a few years it will be a ten billion dollar concern. But, as you know, Mr. Rockefeller doesn't own all of it, or even half of it.

A great deal of Standard Oil prosperity, by the way, has been achieved in the market of hard competition by intelligent newspaper advertising. It is to be hoped the able managers know that, and realize that it pays to talk directly to the people through newspaper advertising. This writer, by the way, hasn't one dollar's interest in any newspaper advertising anywhere.

Paris, advised by Andre Laphin, eats raw wheat and feels better. Monsieur Laphin says a tablespoonful of germinating wheat, eaten before luncheon, supplies vitamins lacking in other food, especially the vitamin B that stimulates nervous energy.

Roman soldiers, as they marched toward Paris under Caesar, ate raw wheat slung in a bag at the belt, not bothering to soften it by germinating in water. Their skulls, dug up now, show marvelously strong teeth, ground down, but not one missing or decayed.

Good bread, if you chew it well, is better for you, however.

Governor Martin of Florida has forbidden race track gambling in his state, and is to be congratulated. Less gambling money will go to Miami and other gambling points, but in the long run the state will be better off. It will attract fewer blacklegs, thieves and other undesirables.

Hubert T. Parson, president of the Woolworth company, who deals, through his stores, with millions of Americans, predicts that this spring's business generally will be the biggest in the history of the United States. That should comfort the pessimists.

This world will be better off, a safer place for human beings and the animals will be happier when all life except human life shall have vanished, from the elephant in the jungle to the typhoid germs in drinking water.

If there were no crocodiles there would be no sleeping sickness. If there were no mosquitoes there would be no yellow fever, no malaria. If there were no cats or dogs many diseases would disappear. Children get them from the fur of "pets." If there were no rats or ground squirrels to feed fleas, no fleas to bite humans, there would be no bubonic plague, and if there were no vermin spread by lack of human cleanliness there would be no deadly typhus.

The common stock of the big steel company is declared by experts to have a book value now of $219 a share and to be earning above 12 per cent net. That's the stock that the hasty Mr. Carnegie called "pure air, not even water, and one that will never be worth anything," when he refused to take a lot of it for nothing. You never can tell about values in the United States.

A CARD—I wish to thank all who sent flowers, fruit and other gifts. The Eastern Star Ladies, teachers and neighbors, especially Mrs. George Howell and Mrs. Paul Baur for the many acts of kindness while I was so ill.

Mrs. Frank L. Schaufele.

Silverware Gifts
to last a Generation or more

AFTER all, is there any better gift to others—or YOURSELF—than silverware. It lasts—for years and years. And the modern patterns are so wonderfully attractive. We have now, on exhibit, silverware of the very latest patterns—the ones you have seen nationally advertised. Nothing could be better as a gift. We also call your attention to certain new lines from the old established house of W. W. W.—as, for example, exquisite pearls, fully covered by Guarantee. And W. W. W. white gold wedding and engagement rings are something entirely new this season.

THE THEATRE

"THE FIRE BRIGADE."

The screen has found a new medium of expression in focusing public attention on our national and everyday heroes. "The Big Parade" did more for the American soldier and for pacifism than all the lectures in the world. Similarly "The Fire Brigade," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday and Sunday, April 3rd and 4th, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Wm. Nigh, immortalizes the hero of peace time, the fireman, and is a marvelous human document in the cause of fire prevention.

The story tells of the everyday life of a fireman, played in this case by Charles Ray. It has been directed by Nigh with a straightforwardness and sincerity seldom matched, which makes for a realism that might have been turned into hokum by a less competent director. In fact, sincerity and sympathy strike the keynote of the whole picture, and the most spectacular scenes are never allowed to overbalance the story itself, for the principal characters are always kept to the fore.

The production contains almost every element of entertainment. There is spectacle, beauty, especially in a charming sequence done in natural colors, charming love story, thrills, humanity and a splendid spirit of sacrifice that permeates the whole story in the person of "Mrs. O'Neill," the mother.

"The Fire Brigade" is the result of the co-operation of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and the International Order of Fire Engineers, and was produced at the suggestion of the latter. The M-G-M organization will give a large portion of the net profits to the Order for the carrying on of its fire prevention work, and will turn over another portion to various fire and sick benefits maintained by fire department locals. The picture was produced by Hunt Stromberg.

"PARADISE FOR TWO."

Beauty Becomes Bachelor's Bride Because of Bizarre Bequest.

This string of "B's" gives a short outline of the plot of Richard Dix's new Paramount starring picture, "Paradise for Two," coming to the Penniman Allen theatre on Thursday and Friday, April 7th and 8th. In which all of the three supporting players have names beginning with "B"—Beranger, Bronson and Breese.

Betty Bronson is the stage struck girl whom Dix hires to pose as his wife so he can get control of a legacy.

Edmund Breeze is Dix's uncle, who is trustee of the legacy and whom Dix tries to outwit by securing the "hired wife."

Andre Beranger is the theatrical producer who gets the girl for Dix and then falls in love with her when Dix does.

"There are lots of 'B's' in the cast of 'Paradise for Two,'" Dix says, "but that doesn't mean that it isn't a comedy drama."

"TIN HATS."

Having ended the war with "The Big Parade," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer organization has done its duty toward its country by filming the activities of the American Army of Occupation, with "Tin Hats."

The dominant note of this production, which is coming to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, April 9th, is comedy, however, and it includes no actual war scenes. The story, written by Edward Sedgwick, concerns the strange activities of three doughboys, one the son of a rich man, the second a former gangster, and the third the son of a St. Louis German brewer.

These three roles are portrayed respectively by Conrad Nagel, George Cooper and Bert Rouch, and Tom O'Brien has the role of a tough top sergeant. Claire Windsor plays opposite Nagel as the beautiful Elsa Von Bergen, a titled German girl. All those that have seen the production declare it to be one of the finest comedies of the season.

NOT A KNOCK
means power

UP and over the steepest hills. On high! Not even 1/2 of 1% of a knock—when you're tanked up with Indian.

Indian is a true anti-knock gasoline. No "ping," no generation of carbon and that means POWER. That's why—especially in winter weather—we like to sell Indian Gasoline.

H. A. SAGE & SON
Phone 440 Plymouth, Mich.

If you own a car you should know this

THE phrase "high test gasoline" is becoming out-of-date. Until 1923 the best gasoline was high-gravity (or high test) gasoline. But improved refining processes, known as "cracking," produce low-gravity gas of far better all-round qualities.

Indian Gas, a "cracked" gasoline blend, is not high-gravity—yet it has the same power producing and anti-knock qualities as a 32% benzol mixture.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

At last Sunday morning's service the handsome pulpit which was presented to the mission by E. C. Hough was dedicated. The vestry and congregation of St. John's very much appreciate this presentation from Mr. Hough. The Rev. Charles Wesley dedicated the pulpit during the service and preached a very inspiring sermon.

Joseph Tracy sang the offertory solo and the service and singing of the hymns was very bright and inspiring.

We are glad to note that since the opening of the new church our congregations have increased every Sunday considerably, more than doubling the number that we had in the old Mission church, and we are still welcoming among us friends from Rose-dale Gardens and Northville.

The Sunday school is gaining new members every Sunday under the superintendency of Sidney D. Strong, and we hope soon to have a Sunday school choir, with an orchestra made up of some of our young people.

There are other organizations under consideration besides those we already have, such as the Young people's society and the Girls' Friendly society.

Our friends are reminded that special Lenten services are being held every Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock. These services have been well attended, more than doubling those of last year's attendances. The Rev. Wesley extends a welcome to all who can attend these services.

The Ladies' Guild will meet for their fortnightly meeting in the parish house next Wednesday, April 6, at 2 o'clock.

We are pleased to note that Mrs. Alfred Innes, who has recently undergone an operation, will return home in a day or two and that she will be able to see friends at her home about Friday or Saturday of this week.

METHODIST NOTES

There will be a meeting of the official board Tuesday evening, April 5th.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet in the parlors on Wednesday afternoon, the 6th. Hostesses, Mrs. Wm. Smith, Mrs. Fred Bovee, Mrs. Charles Larkins, Entertainment, Mrs. Lloyd Wilson, Mrs. O. B. Borck, Mrs. Evered Jolliffe.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

There was a goodly attendance at the evening church service last Sunday when the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were present. The singing of Mr. Joseph Tracy was much appreciated.

Mrs. Shaw's class met at the church on Tuesday evening. After a fine dinner business was disposed of and this was followed by an enjoyable social hour.

The communion service will be observed in the church at the Easter morning worship.

The Detroit Presbyterian Social Union meets Monday, April 4th, at 6:30 p. m. at Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian church, Detroit.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian Society for Missions of the Presbytery of Detroit will meet at Northville Tuesday and Wednesday, April 5th and 6th.

Mr. John Pettengill will be ordained to the eldership in this church on Sunday, April 10th.

Their Philosophy

"In these days of short skirts we look back with amusement to the time of the crinoline and hoopskirt," philosophically said Professor Pate. "When bangs were in vogue we smiled at the remembrance of the chignon and waterfall, just as today we find the recollection of the Grecian head highly diverting. At any date, from the present back to the time of God's Ladies' Book, we can pick up a fashion publication of a few years before and enjoy a hearty laugh. And thus it will ever be; the correct thing of yesterday is the laughing stock of today, just as the modes of the present will be either humorous or pathetic, a few years hence."

"Yes," returned J. Fuller Gloom, the human hyena, "except in politics—the Hon. has always been a nuisance, and always will be."—Kansas City Star.

Removing Ink From Prints

Books of 25 years ago asserted that milk would take ink out of prints, but the directions would not apply today, for the reason that milk is not what it was, nor is ink. Milk consumed in cities is freed from lactic bacteria, which were once depended on to perform the necessary chemical action, and ink today has multiplied into 150 varieties, so that no general household directions can be considered safe to remove ink from fabrics. A spotter is required to determine the formula to apply to the removal of each type of ink, since a remedy for one might make another indelible.

Superb Altar Cloth

The cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York, is soon to have an altar cloth of priceless value, comprising more than 100 pieces of rare old lace, formerly netrooms in the homes of as many women of social prominence, communicants in the Episcopal diocese of New York, who, under the leadership of Mrs. William H. Sage, Mrs. Henry W. Monroe, Mrs. Halsey Fluke and Mrs. Lewis B. Cawtry, gave the lace pieces, the intricate value of which alone is placed at more than $100,000.

Remarks Rather Got

Under Old Doc's Skin

Doc Henneberry found precisely the quotation he needed the other day at precisely the time he needed it. He was arguing with the young doctor he has taken into his office, and who has set Old Doc's teeth on edge by refusing to obey the conventions that seem so necessary to the older man.

"Yours," said Doc heavily, "is a perverse and forward generation." "Who made us that way?" asked the younger man. "What we are, you elders made us. It is absurd to suppose that the babies born into this world between certain early Twentieth-century dates should have been pre-natally disposed toward evil. If we do not believe what you believed when you were young it is because you elders have destroyed the foundations of belief. If we misbelieve it is because we see you misbelieving. If we are ashamed about our misbehavior it is because we see you doing the same things and lying about them.

"Do not blame us. It may be that we are misapplying our knowledge. But at least we got the knowledge from you."

Old Doc Henneberry was silent. It seemed to me that I could see into his mind, and watch with him the review of the years. Of his swaggering self when he first came to town, as a young doctor, a professed atheist, a humorist fresh from the dissecting room, who made the Bible his target, a loud, noisy, voluble, well-informed follower of all the ways of the flesh. As he grew older he mellowed. He had stood by too many deathbeds to dare deny the existence of a God. He found he must obey the conventions which today's Young Doc is defying, if for no other reason than that the old rules work. "I wonder," said Old Doc, heavily, "how much harm I've done?"—J. P. in Kansas City Times.

A Night Alarm

Gen. Sir James Willcocks, in his book, "Romance of Soldiering and Sport," records a startling experience while he was the guest of a native ruler in India, who invited him to a shoot. He was given a room to sleep in prior to starting at dawn the next day. "I went to bed, fortunately, under mosquito curtains; I say fortunately because an hour later I felt the curtains heaving about, and put my hand up against a horrid lump of cold stuff. Jumping out of bed, I ran outside with bare feet and shouted. One of my host's servants came and lit a light, when to my horror I saw two large pythons hanging from a beam above me, and actually touching the mosquito net. I forgot what I said, but the old man quietly remarked: 'Oh, these are quite friendly snakes; you can sleep without any fear.' I did not sleep any more that night; nor did he."

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH NOT HARD TO FIND

Seeker Can Locate It in Any Spot Desired.

Ponce de Leon crossed the high seas and traveled thousands of miles in a fruitless search for the fountain of youth when he might have found it in his own back yard—so to speak. Like wealth and happiness, health is something that depends quite largely upon the little daily habits of mind and body, and these the individual carries with him even to the ends of the earth.

The doctor, be he never so skillful, has no health to give to another any more than a priest can dole out happiness or a lawyer blot out a crime. The most that a doctor can do is to prescribe and advise and then it is up to the individual to find out health for himself.

The fellow who inherits wealth has to hustle to keep it and he has to guide his transactions by economic laws in order to protect his bank account. Physical health is tied up in the same sort of a bundle. Most everybody inherits a reasonably healthy body, but there are a lot of prodigal sons among these heirs.

Some young fellows find it pretty hard to work when their bank books show a balance of a few thousand dollars. Likewise the youth with an abundance of health fairly bursting from his body sometimes feels that his physical resources are inexhaustible. Three or four nights out per week, a trifling cold, a mild attack of "flu," a few "manly" drinks of mead whisky, and the old man with a wicked scythe sends his messenger, Pneumonia, to announce that this man's health account is closed, maybe a bit overdrawn.

Lots of people who send an S. O. S. to the doctor are like the victims of wildcat investment schemes who hold post mortem conferences with bankers. A prescription on how to keep well may seem quite commonplace and require one to avoid some of the thrills of night life, but then a real banker never advised any depositor to look for long-chance bargains on the theory that big stakes await the winner, while the loser enjoys the experience of the venture.

Fifteen minutes of physical exercise and a one-mile walk per day coupled with a moderate diet made up of meats, sweets, dairy products, fruits, vegetables, especially the green leafy ones, six or eight glasses of water per day, a bit of sunshine, eight hours' sleep, eight hours' work and eight hours' play, constitute a pretty fair idea of what the ingredients of the fountain of youth are. Ponce de Leon didn't know that, so he looked the world over for what the modern man may find within the threshold of his own doorway.

Long Telephone Lines

The second longest trunk telephone line in the world has recently been opened by the Australian postal department for public traffic between Townsville, in the north of Queensland, and Melbourne, capital of Victoria, a southern state. The line runs almost the entire length of the continent. It is 2,017 miles long, and the New York-San Francisco line is the only line of greater length known to postal officials of Australia. Highly sensitized instruments magnify voice sounds at ten stations along the route. The fee for three minutes' conversation between the two terminals of the line is slightly less than $4 of about half the fee for a similar call over the same length of line in the United States.

Kept Prisoner by Wife

As his wife's prisoner a man has been living in a hayloft on his own farm at Baumholder, near Coblenz, Germany, for over three years. The couple were constantly quarreling over the man's incurable dislike of work. The husband vanished suddenly in 1923, and the wife subsequently obtained a divorce on the grounds of desertion. It is now revealed that the ruthless woman lost all patience with her husband's listlessness. She bundled him into the hayloft, where she kept him a close prisoner. When the man was at last discovered, he resembled a savage of the Stone Age. His unkempt hair hung matted down his back, and his finger nails were two inches long.

Money in Rabbit Farm

Lady Rachel Byng four years ago gave up her millinery shop in London's west end to establish the first rabbit farm in the British Isles, and has found her business so profitable that she has been obliged to transfer it bodily clear across England to larger quarters. Accordingly a special train was chartered and her 400 Angora rabbits, which she breeds for their fur, shearing them as sheep are sheared, were loaded on board and sent to Winkfield, near Windsor.

Dignity Not Accorded Its Meed of Respect

When the Romans wanted to compliment a man they spoke of his dignity. At one and the same time they implied worth, value, excellence. The esteem in which dignity was held passed from the Romans to the barbarians who conquered them and so through the ages. There are living today persons who can recall a time when dignity was still included among the higher virtues.

Of late something has happened to dignity. It has come under suspicion as being a cloak for rascality on the one hand and stupidity on the other, a writer in the Baltimore Sun asserts. It is regarded not as inherent in a man's nature, but as something assumed. Hence an affectation. The contempt in which it is commonly held is evidenced by the application of the slang expression "stuffed shirt" to almost any man who endeavors to maintain an air of dignity.

No doubt dignity, as commonly practiced, deserves much of its condemnation. An instance is recalled some fifteen years ago when a certain man was proposed for senator on the mere ground that he looked like a senator. Almost anyone with a frock coat and a loud voice could in those days utter an hour of platitudes and get the credit for wisdom. To heckle him was to offend against his dignity.

Now we have gone to the other extreme. Not only do persons without dignity guard against assuming it but those in whom dignity is inherent make every effort to conceal the fact. They have themselves photographed in unconventional poses, they make a desperate effort, and usually an unsuccessful one, to be the life of the party. Their idea is to impress the public as being what Will Rogers terms "a regular guy."

For the man who has a natural dignity to pretend that he hasn't is as much of an affectation as for the man without natural dignity to pretend that he has.

The "regular guy" has his place. So has the man of dignity. When each attempts to assume the clothes of the other it is time for the public to turn thumbs down on both.

Medical Research Work

Thirty-seven research students are devoting themselves to the pursuit of the medical sciences on the material sustenance supplied by national research fellowships, according to an announcement recently made by the national research council. These fellowships were established to help graduate students of proved ability to complete their training in specialized lines of medical research from funds provided by joint contributions from the general education board and the Rockefeller foundation. Seventy fellows have already completed their training and most of them have gone to academic positions, where they are engaged in medical research and teaching.

Thoroughbred Horses

The bureau of animal industry says that as far back as it knows there are no race-track regulations requiring that only thoroughbreds enter a race. However, a horse that is not a thoroughbred, unless he is exceptional, would stand little chance against a horse who has been bred from racing ancestors. Thoroughbred horses in this country are registered solely on the thoroughbredness of their ancestors. Registration in a thoroughbred society necessitates that both the sire and the dam be registered or eligible for registration in the society, which means that their sire and dam were registered.

Roosevelt's Little Joke

An incident illustrative of the human side of the late Theodore Roosevelt, and showing his fondness for practical joking, is related by Billie Burke in an interview in Liberty. "Theodore Roosevelt once played quite a joke on Flo Ziegfeld, my husband," she says. "Knowing Flo's fondness for ease, he invited him and Charles Dillingham to take a little walk with him after a banquet late one night. They were happy to join him. Do you know where he took them? He made them walk in evening clothes all the way out to Oyster Bay with him. Flo came back on a train about daybreak, and hardly moved for a week."

Weather to Order

Weather is made to order in Pittsburgh, where researchers of the bureau of mines have fitted up special rooms to study the influence of weather on respiratory diseases. Electrical ice machines, capable of making five tons of ice per day, are hooked up with steam heat to produce temperatures ranging from zero to 180 degrees above. Other apparatus produces fog, rain and the entire scale of humidity from 15 to 100, the saturation point. Miniature storms can be created by a battery of 20 small, airplane propeller type of electric fans.

FORM ORGANIZATION AGAINST CORN BORER

Definite plans to acquaint farmers with the educational phases of the campaign against the European corn borer were formulated at a conference held at the Michigan State College last week which was attended by county agents, township corn borer committees and business men from every county in the Michigan area and neighboring territory.

The area under state and federal quarantine was divided into five districts where demonstrations of effective control measures will be staged at centrally located points. The purpose of these demonstrations will be to show that the clean-up can be accomplished with implements which are necessary to the usual farm operations.

The demonstration for Lapeer, St. Clair, Macomb and Oakland counties will be held on April 5, while the meeting for Huron, Bay, Tuscola and Sanilac is scheduled for April 7. The exact places where these demonstrations will be held and further details may be obtained from the county agents.

Demonstrations were scheduled this week at Milan, Coldwater and Flushing for the remainder of the area.

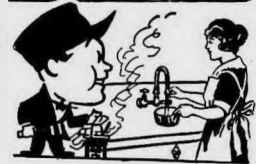

It was the consensus of opinion at the conference that, after all farmers are the ones who will benefit directly from the clean-up campaign, and that whatever is accomplished will be due to their own efforts. Many farmers in the corn borer area are already at work on clean-up measures, and indications are that practically all of this work will be carried out voluntarily by the farmers themselves.

OLD DOWER HOUSE HAS REAL CHARM

Handsome Colonial Home of the Lords Baltimore.

Relic of the early days of American colonization and reflecting the architectural types of the pre-Revolutionary period, "Dower house," the colonial home of the Lords Baltimore, one-time great land owners and lords of what is now Maryland, is one of the few remaining historical old manor houses of that intensely interesting period. It stands beside the road to Rosaryville, some 25 miles from the national capital, and is owned by Percy Duval.

The hunting lodge, the first unit of the rambling old homestead, was built by the second Lord Baltimore in 1643 from plans made by Sir Christopher Wren of London, when he was but a fledgling architect dreaming of the fame which ultimately he won. In its construction was used a peculiarly tinted blue brick imported from Holland, of which these seem to be the only remaining examples in use. In general effect the type was Dutch colonial, as it is known today, but unique in that it was composed of three sections.

Virtually all of the lower floor of the center section was taken up by the dining and lounging rooms, the latter being a sort of combined lounge and library. A feature of the dining room was the huge fireplace, six by eight feet, in which it was customary not infrequently to barbecue an entire deer. The section at the right, with the porch, comprised a kitchen below with sleeping rooms on the upper floor. At the other end was the parlor on the lower floor with Lord and Lady Baltimore's sleeping rooms above. Sleeping rooms also occupied the upper floor of the main center section.

Through the period of settlement in the Maryland and Virginia territories the second and third Lords Baltimore lived in the original hunting lodge without adding to it in any substantial way. Mostly they were engaged with the affairs of their extensive landed interests, the troublesome periods of the several Indian outbreaks and their early colonial responsibilities of government. The later additions were made by the fourth Lord Baltimore in 1689 and completed by Lord Baltimore V in 1720. The great wing which in the later years became the manor house proper and the scene of many brilliant social events was built of native brick in the type that later became the accepted standard of the South.

This portion of the building was later covered with a coating of cement, after the Spanish fashion, in that day a decided innovation for that region and very striking in effect. With its sturdy brick columns supporting the second story porch it was one of the early examples in that local type of architecture which was later to come into such popular favor. Thereafter the old hunting lodge underwent some considerable revision. The dining and lounging rooms were converted into one large dining room, more efficiently to meet the increasing demands of the times. The little living room at the end became a library. But sentiment still retained the master's quarters on the second floor.

Elaborate landscaping eventually added greatly to the attractiveness of the old homestead. Two rows of tall, stately trees flanked the approach across the terraced lawn from the roadway to the main entrance of the mansion. Guests left their carriages at the gateway, which was in the midst of a widely spreading bed of lilies of the valley. Evergreen hedges, the boxwood for some of which had come from Mount Vernon, skirted the grounds. In season flowers added flashes of brilliant coloring everywhere. It was perhaps the outstanding manor house of its day.

Washington supplied from Mount Vernon the cuttings for the ivy growth which still clammers over the walls of the old house. Major L'Enfant, who laid out the national capital, directed the later landscaping changes. The "Dower house" was in high favor.

Something of its ancient charm still clings about those rooms in which the furnishings, draperies, antique furniture and old paintings still remain, virtually undisturbed in more than a century. In these rooms little, if anything, has been changed. The walls are streaked with the stains of time; the plastering is discolored and cracked and disintegrating; in some places it has fallen away completely from the ceiling. But one sees none of this. Only the picture of what it was a century ago.

Wrong Ideas About Death

Lecturing on death and the hereafter, the scientist, Sir Oliver Lodge, advises the English people to forget the grave. Death, he tells them, is only a sort of emigration with the natural feelings of sorrow at parting, but such sorrows tempered by the future hopes of the emigrant. "I have never been able to see the grave of my boy Raymond in France," he told the audience. "He asked me not to. He says 'I take no interest in that grave. If people would get over that terrible idea of interment and of lying there for centuries awaiting for the general resurrection,'" he added, "they would begin to see death more as it is—an adventure, an episode that is bound to be welcome when it comes and as something not to be afraid of." We are taken care of when we are born. Then why fear death?—Capper's Weekly.

Let's Go.

Husband Selected Poor

Thémé for Kind Words

We walked into a little East side grocery store, my companion and I, and heard the sound of raucous quarreling. The proprietor and his wife were glaring at each other across the counter, but they abandoned their sharp words momentarily, upon our entrance.

And then the wife's emotions got the better of her.

"I'll just leave it to these people here," she told her husband, flourishing an arm in our direction. "We've been married seven years and in all that time he's never said a kind word to me until tonight. And now—yes, this is his idea of kind words; listen—he comes in and tells me I done well in ordering his shipment of clean potatoes."

"Well," the husband asserted, sullenly, "you did."

"Sure I did!" his wife returned. "And for seven years I been dressing the way you liked and doing everything you wanted me to do, and keeping house the way you wanted it kept, and now the first time you show any appreciation you thank me for ordering clean potatoes—!"

But, my goodness, we thought, as we got outside the store and the hysterical voice of the ill-treated wife was left far behind, how like life that is! And how many times we get thanked for just such dumb things as "ordering clean potatoes," when our really worthy achievements are overlooked.

I don't doubt that seven years of marital strife do a lot toward stifling the desire to bestow mutual compliments, but it seems a pity that such a state of affairs has to exist. I suppose, for instance, that this store-keeper's wife would have swooned with joy had her stern-visaged husband remarked in an offhand manner, "Seems to me you look awfully pretty tonight in that dress." But no—he would pick on the potatoes.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Diplomatic Magnate

A theater magnate of the west coast has won the reputation of being a great diplomat and a smart politician on account of the friendly meeting and entertainment provided for all visitors of importance. Anyone of any consequence in the film industry who enters his office will find a picture of himself or herself in a neat gold frame on the theater magnate's desk. The magnate has worked out the following system for putting himself in the good graces of important callers: He has in his private office a complete file of photographs of all the leading movie people. When any one of several hundred stars calls and is announced from the outer office, a quick transition of pictures is made. As the star walks into the inner sanctum his own picture is prominently placed on the desk of the magnate, who boasts of never having any friction with the temperamental film artists.—The Outlook.

Strength of Rings

Some elaborate calculations backed by experiments have been made to determine the "breaking strength" of rings. It appears that a ring of ductile material like malleable iron will be pulled out into the form of a long link before it breaks, and that the ultimate strength of the ring is virtually independent of its diameter.

Fracture finally occurs as the result of almost pure tension, and the resistance to breaking is a little less than twice that of a rod of the same cross-section subjected to a straight pull. As the ring increases in diameter there appears to be a slight approach toward equality, with double the strength of a bar. Thus a 3-inch ring made of three-quarter inch iron broke at 19½ tons, a 4-inch ring at 19.9 tons and a 6-inch ring at 20 tons, the strength of a bar of the same metal being 10½ tons.

Few Actresses Rich

Although many actresses make huge salaries during their careers, most of them do not have the necessary foresight to lay any of it away for the inevitable "rainy day," points out Billie Burke, the well-known former actress. In an interview with Miss Burke in Liberty Sidney Sutherland reports her as saying:

"Many actresses have made enormous sums and died penniless. They play the stock market," she explains, "usually on a tip whispered by some friend in Wall street; they invest foolishly in real estate; they purchase wildcat stocks in mines and oil fields; they spend huge sums on jewels and clothing and travel. And some have a boy friend. This last investment is a costly one—and you can't go to a bank and borrow very much on great memories, which are about all this investment brings."

House of Sinister History

The little villa at Gambala, France, where Bluebeard Landru murdered and burned at least five of the eleven wives for whose deaths he went to the guillotine in Versailles, is falling into ruin. Nobody wishes to live in the place of gruesome memories and the proprietor refuses to go to the expense of demolishing it. Tourists traveling in the neighborhood sometimes desire to look over the place, but they are not permitted to enter. Automobileists turn their eyes for a few seconds from the road ahead to look at the grim dwelling. The villagers who knew Landru slightly do not believe that the mild-looking bearded occupant of the villa can possibly have been guilty of the frightful series of crimes for which he suffered the death penalty.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

GIVE THEM CREDIT—THESE FLAPPERS.

Mr. Bruce Findlay, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles schools, in an address the other day asked:

"Why should we assume that the flapper of 1927 will make a poorer mother than the 'flapper' of yesterday, who has been her mother?"

There is just as much to the modern girl as there ever was to her ancestor. The fact that she wears short skirts and bobs her hair is not against her. She wears less clothing than her ancestors and is consequently healthier.

She is more addicted to outdoor sports with beneficial results.

Altogether the modern flapper of today is just as well prepared for motherhood as was her mother, and better than she.

There is no more danger to a girl from taking an automobile ride than there was from taking a buggy ride.

Of course, dissipation and late hours are bad for anyone and in proportion as a woman indulges in this she is endangering her health and endangering posterity.

But take it all in all, the girl of today is quite as sensible as her mother was yesterday and we may look forward with confidence to the future of the race.

It never was in better hands. Those of today are just as serious-minded as their mothers were the day before.

Virtue is not to be founded upon ignorance but upon knowledge, and if the girl of today knows more than her mother did it helps her and does not hinder her.

She is prepared to be a man's partner and equal and not his slave and plaything and in this respect she has the advantage over former years.

As far as I am concerned, the girls of today are healthier, better looking and more desirable as companions than were the girls of yesterday.

This old world is bumping merrily along and some things about it some people don't like, but on the whole it is improving.

Today's Reflections

If a rich man can't get a seat in the senate and a poor man can't be elected why not go ahead and abolish it?

We can always tell when spring hits Plymouth by the number of daylight saving arguments we hear on the street.

More than 40 state legislatures have been in session during the winter and yet we don't suppose they passed that many sensible laws.

When it costs $10 a word to telephone from New York to London it must be terrible to have the telephone girl give you the wrong number.

Sometimes we feel like putting out a register for Plymouth people who are always claiming to have seen the first robin.

The Mexican president doesn't have a "summer White House" because he is afraid to leave the old one for that long at a time.

Lightning is unlike labor unions, because lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

You've heard a lot about faith, hope and charity, but if you want to see a real example of faith and hope just watch a Plymouth man reading a seed catalogue.

We don't know who orders the increase in the price of gasoline, but we do know who pays it.

Some drive while intoxicated and some drive that way because they were born that way.

There wouldn't be as many bad spellers around Plymouth if people were not ashamed to be caught looking up a word in the dictionary.

We know a man who is such a good salesman he will be trying to sell St. Peter a card index system the minute he lands in heaven.

It doesn't matter how homely a man may be, if he is good to a woman he will look handsome to her.

There are still a few women around Plymouth who think economy consists in buying a lot of things they don't have to pay cash for.

America ought to be a rich nation 100 years from now. It looks like it will be that long before Europe starts paying us what she owes us.

A COMMUNICATION

Notice to Taxpayers.

At the next regular township election, April 4, the proposition of lighting the Plymouth and Northville road from the village limits to Phoenix road, also Moreland avenue to Phoenix road, is to be voted upon.

Some time ago the township board received a petition to have these lights installed. Now, do we want these lights? What will it mean to the taxpayers of Plymouth?

In the first place they will cost a little more than $1,700 annually. This tax is paid by the general fund by all the taxpayers of the township.

Now, if the taxpayers are going to pay for lights on Plymouth and Northville road, the taxpayers on Ann Arbor road are going to say: "If we are going to pay for lights on Plymouth and Northville road why not on Ann Arbor road?" If on Ann Arbor road why not on Plymouth road, and if on these roads why not light the whole township. If one's money pays for lighting the other fellow, why should not the other fellow help me?

Then again, as stated above, this tax is paid from a general tax on the whole township and village included.

Now, the village is already lighted and is paid for by taxpayers of the village. Why should they pay for their own street lights and then help pay for lighting surrounding country?

But also the people of Robinson subdivision are paying taxes toward the township fund, and, of course, if we light other roads why not light the roads in Robinson and Palmer subdivisions? These subdivisions pay their share of taxes; why should they not be lighted as well as the rest of the roads. If all these are lighted the annual lighting tax would be $17,000 or $18,000 instead of $1,700 or $1,800. Now think this over and vote on this proposition April 4th.

T. F. CHILSON,

One member of the township board and a taxpayer.

OBITUARY.

Charles O. Holloway was born in Howell, Michigan, April 25, 1856. He came to Plymouth with his parents in the winter of that same year, and had lived in this village since that time with the exception of three years, when he resided in Elkhart, Ind., from 1895 to 1898. He was united in marriage to Harriet R. Mosher at Plymouth on October 7th, 1879. To this union three children were born, two of whom are living, Mrs. Bessie Smith and Fred Holloway, of Detroit, and Russell, who died only a few weeks ago. The deceased is survived by his wife and the two children above mentioned. Funeral services were held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home last week Thursday afternoon.

AROUND ABOUT US

Northville's new hotel and cafe was opened to the public last Saturday. Fenton will stage a three-day homecoming celebration July 2, 3, 4. Arrangements are being made to make it a great event.

An order for one of the first of five airplanes to be used by the United States Department of Commerce has been received by the Stinson Aircraft Corporation of Northville.

Fifty acres of land has been purchased at Blain lake, three miles north of Brighton, by the United Jewish Charities of Detroit, who will establish a fresh air camp. $15,000 worth of buildings will be erected.

A stone blacksmith shop in South Lyon is being razed to make room for a new service garage. The old building dates back to 1830 or 1837, and with it is much that is interesting in the early history of Lyon township.

Plans have been announced by the Detroit City Plan Commission of the Department of Parks and Boulevards which assures Redford and vicinity a modern municipal playground and park second in size only to Belle Isle and River Rouge parks. This proposed community center is located roughly one mile northwest of Redford, with the Seven Mile road as its southern boundary, the Eight Mile road as its northern extreme, and with the Rouge river on the east and Farmington road on the west at its lateral limits.

Nearly one hundred years ago the old tavern standing at the corner of Grand River and Novi roads in Novi was erected. During that long period of time it has been the scene of many interesting events. In fact it was the recruiting station for soldiers during the war with Mexico. Workmen this week began tearing it down. When the timbers are finally taken away it will mark the passing of what is believed to be the oldest structure in this part of Michigan. Used for years as a tavern, it was the stopping point in days gone by for people traveling to the east and west and north and south. The owner, William Gaffney, will, as soon as the building is down, start the erection of a modern gas station. Besides the gas station there will be a modern lunch room and auto accessory store. At a later date a store building will also be erected on the site, as there is sufficient room for the additional structure. — Northville Record.

OBITUARY.

James King was born on the 12th day of April, 1843, in Seneca county, New York. He came to Michigan when a small boy about eight years old. His family settled on a farm in Nankin township, a short distance from the farm where he spent the greater part of his married life. He was a volunteer in the Civil war, enlisting with the Twentieth Michigan Infantry, under Captain Byron M. Cutcheon, on the 23rd day of July, 1862, and was discharged the 12th day of June, 1865. He was married to Matilda Paul, of Nankin, the 13th of January, 1868. Two children were born of that union, Lizzie Walker, of South Lyon, Mich., and Nancy Spiegelberg, of Whitmore Lake, Mich. His wife passed from this life the 14th of February, 1883. He was married again to Mary E. Place, also of Nankin, the 27th of March, 1888. May 16th, 1919, he was again left alone, and since then has resided with his daughter, Mrs. Walker. To mourn their loss he leaves besides the two daughters, four grandchildren, one great-granddaughter, three step-daughters, two step-sons, several nephews and nieces and many friends. The family of nine children, six boys and three girls, have all long before.

Funeral services were held from Schrader Brothers' Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Dr. F. A. Lendrum officiating. Interment was in Newburg cemetery.
