HEALTH WORK IN PLYMOUTH SCHOOLS

WITH SERVICES OF FULL TIME NURSE FOR COMING YEAR HEALTH WORK WILL BE CONTINUED.

The decision of the people of Plymouth to continue the health work in its school with the services of a full time nurse for the coming year, makes certain that the present preventive health work will be continued. Each September, the school nurse makes a survey of the several grades, sending to his family physician every child whose health appears to be questionable. The several physicians have always rendered the diagnostic service to the children free of charge and thus, in cooperation with the nurse, save the community a considerable money and many unpleasant outbreaks of contagious diseases.

In October, our three local dentists, in cooperation with our school nurse, put on a free dental clinic at which each child from the kindergarten to the sixth grade has his teeth examined, and a report of the same is mailed to each parent, together with suggestions from the examining dentist.

Toxin anti-toxin was made available for the first time last year, and nearly three hundred were made immune from the dangers of diphtheria. This treatment was given only upon the request of parents.

All grade children are weighed and their heights recorded once each month, and parents are consulted by the nurse in all cases in which a child is found materially under or over his correct weight.

Hygiene and health chores for the formation of health habits are carried on in all grade rooms during the school year, and many splendid and suggestive health posters made through the cooperation of the art department.

Once the preliminary examinations are over, the nurse daily watches for signs of contagious diseases, visits homes of children absent from school to consult and cooperate with parents.

Our complete health program, splendid cooperation of our doctors and dentists, consistent competent work of our community nurse, and wonderful cooperation of the parents in their homes are the factors which make Plymouth a healthful and happy home for all of its boys and girls.

COUNTY NEEDS

T. B. HOSPITALS

A study just completed by George F. Granger, Executive Secretary of the Tuberculosis Society of Detroit and Wayne County, shows that 161 persons died of Tuberculosis in Wayne County outside of Detroit last year. According to estimates of the State Health Department, there are about 1,800 cases of T. B. in the county exclusive of Detroit.

As a result of this study the trustees of the Society have appointed a Committee headed by Eber W. Yost, Wayne County School Commissioner, to present a petition to the Board of Supervisors at their meeting in September, asking them to appropriate funds for a county tuberculosis sanatorium.

"Detroit has its tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoriums, capable of accommodating 625 people, and is adding 230 more beds," said Mr. Granger, "but for Wayne county, outside the city limits, there is not a single bed for the care of tuberculosis patients, inasmuch as the Detroit institutions are always filled, with a long waiting list, there is no opportunity for those living outside its limits to secure care."

According to Senate Bill No. 175, which was signed by the Governor on June 2nd and takes effect September 4th, "it is the duty of the health officer of every city, village, township or county to provide such care, treatment or hospitalization as each tuberculous person requires, and the health officer shall present to the Board of Supervisors of such county an itemized statement of the expenses incurred in the care, treatment, or hospitalization of such person."

"It is imperative that Wayne County assume these new obligations," said Chairman Yost, "and it will be difficult to furnish care for tuberculous people under present conditions. It seems to our committee that a county tuberculosis sanatorium is the only possible solution of the problem."

Other members of the Committee are: Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, Plymouth; Mrs. G. C. Yost, Northville; Mrs. Wood Williams, Cross Pointe; and Dr. R. B. Spaulding, Detroit.

FLYING AERIALISTS BOOKED FOR NORTHVILLE FAIR

Grandstand attractions at the Fair are never complete without an exhibition of aerialists, and this year Secretary Floyd Northrop of the Northville Wayne County Fair has announced that there will be the largest line-up of sensation performers appear there to amuse the visitors. These acts have been secured through the agency of the Western Vaudeville Managers Association. One of the featured acts to appear will be "The Flying Melzers," billed as America's Foremost Aerialists. This company of seven acrobats hurl themselves through the air on the flying trapeze, and perform daredevil feats bordering on the impossible. Oodles of trampoline fun and original novelties will be seen. Their work excites favorable comment of the spectators for its daring and unusualness. Despite the hazards they take, the Melzers introduce much nonchalant fun and often have the audience in gales of laughter.

The dates fixed for the fair are September 27th to October 1st.

DEATH OF FRANCIS

J. PROCTOR

Francis John Proctor, eldest son of John and Elizabeth Proctor, was born at Dearborn, Michigan, June 4th, 1884. At the age of 26, he was united in marriage to Jessie Ferguson, of Dearborn, who presented him to the higher life in the year 1910. To this union one son, Maurice J. Proctor, was born. He spent the greater part of his life in this vicinity, moving to Detroit in the year 1903.

He was in apparently good health until about a year ago, when he suffered a slight stroke of paralysis. He was cared for by his two oldest sisters for about ten months, and was then moved to the home of another sister, Mrs. W. W. Murray of this village, where he passed away July 16th, 1927.

He was a member of the Campbell Ave. Methodist Episcopal church in Detroit; Tongish Lodge No. 32, and Plymouth Rebekah Lodge No. 182 of this village; also Ingersoll Camp of Detroit. He was a kind and loving husband, father and brother, and sympathetic friend, and leaves to mourn their loss one son, Maurice A., and a granddaughter of Detroit; six sisters, Mrs. Emma Cartwright, Mrs. Mary Strong, and Mrs. Elizabeth Wright of Detroit; Mrs. Abbie Felt and Mrs. Edna Murray of Plymouth; and Mrs. Flora McDermott of Los Angeles, California; also one brother, George W. Proctor of Plymouth, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Monday morning at 11:00 o'clock, Dr. F. A. Lendrum officiating. The interment took place in Newburg cemetery.

MICHIGAN BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS HAVE BIG INCREASE.

An estimated increase of $15,940,937 in building and loan assets is forecast for the fiscal year (ended June 30th) in unofficial figures today announced by officers of the Michigan Building and Loan league.

This increase brings the total resources of the 83 different associations of the state up to a total of $128,827,463.87, indicating a growth of approximately 14 per cent for the year.

Assets of $128,827,463.87 today compare with about $35,000,000 ten years ago and $14,000,000 twenty years ago.

MEETING AT NEWBURG

On next Tuesday evening, July 26th, at 8:00 o'clock, at the Newburg school house, a special joint meeting of the committees of the Parent-Teacher Association, the Newburg Civic Association, and all others who are interested in the Newburg home-coming to be held the last Saturday in August, will be held. This meeting is to make all final arrangements. People are planning to come from long distances to attend this home-coming, and it is up to all who live conveniently near Newburg, to come to this meeting and help arrange to make this a red letter day for this part of Wayne County. Newburg has been a great factor in the early building of Wayne County, and let us keep a reputation as builders in the future. We'll look for you next Tuesday evening; don't disappoint us.

DE-HO-CO WINS TWO MORE

De-Ho-Co baseball team hooked up with Oakman Boulevards, considered Detroit's finest semi-pros, Saturday, at De-Ho-Co Park, and defeated them decisively 6 to 3.

Shields, submarine twirler for the Detroiters, opposed Constaneau. This game was mainly a pitching duel from the take-off, Constaneau donating but five hits, and Shields only six.

De-Ho-Co, feeling their way, tested the opposition in the first, and in the second took Shields off guard and bunched enough hits together making them count for enough runs to win the game. In the sixth they took two more runs to make sure the three cross-overs Oakman secured wouldn't endanger the final count.

The Oakmanites, following their victory over Muskegon Thursday, felt a trifle overconfident regarding this end of the state, and De-Ho-Co disillusioned them.

It is expected that Oakman will try for a revenge game on their next trip to Plymouth.

Sunday, July 17th, Belleville turned out in force to lend moral support to their team in the Belleville-De-Ho-Co inter-county league battle at Belleville, but they also went slowly home, sadder, wiser and lighter. Rowland for De-Ho-Co, and Gertz for Belleville, started the game, but Gertz left for right field in the fifth after the De-Ho-Cites had eaten up his offerings to the total of nine hits and as many runs.

Belleville scored one in the second, and then stood at parade rest until the ninth, when Rowland passed Jacox, who pinch hit for Gertz and who scored on W. Hoppe's double to deep center. McQuaid was safe on Trombley's error, and scored on Hammer-schmidt's double. Koester then grounded to Martin, ending the game and Belleville's hopes.

Johnson of De-Ho-Co doubled in the third, scoring Rowland and Hammond, who had hit safely ahead of him. Again in the fifth Johnson peppered out another double, pushing ahead of him Trombley and Denniston. To add insult to Belleville's injury, Hammond, after Trombley and Denniston had hit safely, sent them across with a long triple, and scored on Johnson's single.

Next Sunday, July 24th, De-Ho-Co plays Redford at Redford, while at the De-Ho-Co Park, Grose Pointe meets Municipal Club in an inter-county contest.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN ANSWERS LAST ROLL CALL

PIZZARRO PERKINS PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME HERE LAST SATURDAY MORNING.

Pizzarro Perkins, of 387 East Ann Arbor street, was born in Perryburg, New York, December 15, 1840, where he grew to young manhood. He served his country all through the Civil War, and was enlisted with Company E, 72nd New York Infantry. On July 5th, 1864, he was united in marriage to Charissa Smith, and to them were born six children, five of whom survive. In 1878 they moved to northern Michigan, where they lived many years, coming from there to Plymouth thirteen years ago.

He was highly respected and loved by all who knew him, for to know him was to love him. He loved and served his God in a quiet unobtrusive way—his only precept was the golden rule. He was never known to say or do an unkind thing, and his legacy to those who remain is a beautiful example of faith, hope and charity.

His last illness of ten weeks was filled with intense suffering, and God in His infinite mercy and love called to him in the beautiful early dawn of Saturday morning at half past five, and he was so ready and willing to answer the last roll call. He was formerly a member of the Friends Church, but later joined the Methodist Episcopal church.

He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife, Charissa Perkins; two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Lytle of Plymouth, Mrs. John Smith of Adrian; three sons, David, Glenn and Floyd Perkins; twenty-three grandchildren and thirty-one great grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Monday afternoon at three o'clock, Dr. F. A. Lendrum officiating. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

NORTHVILLE BUSINESS MEN HONOR EDDIE STINSON

Several from Plymouth had the pleasure of attending the Victory Banquet, given at the Maple Ridge Country Club, last week Thursday evening, in honor of Eddie Stinson and his associates in the winning of the national air reliability race. Over 100 business men of our neighboring town were in attendance.

Among the speakers on the program which followed the banquet, were: Eddie Stinson, William Maru and Harry Graham of the Stinson corporation; Col. John Bursey, adjutant general of Michigan, and Major Thomas Lamphier, commandant at Selfridge Field. It was a splendid occasion, and showed the high appreciation of Northville citizens toward Mr. Stinson and his associates.

JUDGE RUTHERFORD WILL BE HEARD OVER RADIO.

Next Sunday, July 24th, beginning promptly at three o'clock, those who have radio sets will have an opportunity to hear Judge J. F. Rutherford give an address at the International Convention of Bible Students being held at Toronto, Canada. The speaker's voice will be conveyed direct from the platform of the coliseum, Toronto, by telephone wire to New York City. Entering at that point upon the network of inter-connected radio stations, it will be broadcasted simultaneously by many stations throughout the country, among them Detroit WJR and Cleveland WTAM, through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting Co.

NORTHVILLE RECORD HAS BIRTHDAY

The Northville Record was fifty-seven years of age last week, and has the distinction of being one of the oldest newspapers in the state. During the time the paper has been published, it has been under only four different ownerships. The present owner, Elton R. Eaton, is publishing a splendid paper and one that Northville can well feel proud of. Mr. Eaton is not only a good newspaper man, but he is a real booster for Northville, and a gentleman whom it is a pleasure to meet.

DEATH OF MISS MARGARET MIELBECK.

FORMER WELL KNOWN BUSINESS MAN DIES

HARRY WILLS PASSES AWAY AT SUMMER HOME OF HIS SON LAST SUNDAY, AT THE AGE OF 82 YEARS.

Harry Wills, aged 82 years, a much respected resident of Plymouth for sixty years, passed away at the summer home of his son, Julius, at Gan Lake, Sunday, July 17th, after a few days' illness. Mr. Wills had been in failing health for more than two years, and on account of that, he and Mrs. Wills went to Grand Ledge last fall, where they have since been staying with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wills.

The deceased was born March 16th, 1845, in Chudleigh, Devonshire, England, and in 1860 he went to London, Ontario. At the age of sixteen, he started to learn the blacksmith's trade, and served for four years as an apprentice. In 1867, he came to Plymouth, and worked for the firm of Polly & Wherry for about two years. He also worked for Peter Kensler, but in 1869 he started in business for himself, and for more than thirty-five years was owner of the blacksmith shop at the point of the park on Ann Arbor street, the property now owned by Jewell & Blach, plumbers.

In 1870 Mr. Wills was united in marriage to Eliza A. Seaman, who survives him. Two sons were born to this union, Julius H. and Newell C., the latter having passed away in 1902. Mr. Wills also leaves two brothers, Samuel Ware Wills and Jack Wills of London, Ontario.

The remains were brought to the old home on Maple avenue, Tuesday, and the funeral took place from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Walter

COAL STRIKE RUMORS.

If whispers of a coal strike haven't reached your ears yet they will in a very short time, for they are being heard in various sections of the country. Our advice to Plymouth citizens, however, is not to do any great amount of worrying. There seems to be no occasion for general alarm over a probable coal shortage next winter. The only thing is a strike might serve to boost the price. You can forestall that, however, by laying in your winter supply now, a sensible thing to do even if a strike doesn't come. One thing we can be sure of and that is that, strike or no strike, the price is not going to be any lower. So putting in the winter supply now would only be displaying good judgment. However, that is for every consumer to settle for himself. But don't do any great amount of worrying over a coal famine. It would be pretty hard for that to happen even if a coal strike is called.

DID YOU GET YOURS?

It is estimated that on the first day of July the sum of $550,000,000 was paid in the state of New York alone to those who have their money in savings banks and dividend-paying stocks. The total in the entire country runs into the billions, and it covers savings accounts from a single dollar up. It is "thrift money," this vast sum paid to those who have learned the secret of saving, and it ought to serve the good purpose of persuading every Plymouth citizen who reads this that the savings habit is the very best habit anyone can acquire. The dollars in interest paid out twice each year are going for better homes and more comforts of life and toward making a better nation and a more contented people. Four or five or six per cent interest may not be very big, yet it runs into billions of dollars yearly. So if you are not sharing in this semi-annual division you are overlooking a part of this world's benefits to which you are just as much entitled as anybody else.

A GREAT SUGGESTION.

In a speech delivered recently at Harvard university our ambassador to England, Mr. Houghton, declared he favored a plan whereby the people of each nation would be given the right to vote for or against war. Think it over a moment, and you'll probably agree that it is just about the finest suggestion you've heard for outlawing war. There is no nation on earth that would rush into war with another nation if it was left to the people themselves. They'd quickly vote against war, and the argument would be settled some way or another without bloodshed. None of us expect to live to see such a suggestion carried out. The youngest child in Plymouth today will probably never live to see it. And yet, when you think it over, isn't it one of the greatest suggestions you ever heard of?

KEEP AGITATING.

There is an old saying to the effect that it's pretty hard to get too much of a good thing. Right now it can be applied to good roads, for within the past few years thousands of miles of new ones have been built and old ones improved, and yet we haven't enough of them. Last year alone the government, through its federal aid system, spent the enormous sum of $1,500,000,000. Add to that the millions spent by states and counties, and the total is staggering.

The time has arrived when good roads are the nation's greatest asset. Fair weather roads, that are serviceable only at certain seasons of the year, are no longer profitable. Today the prosperity of the entire country, as well as its comfort, happiness and advancement depends more on good roads than on anything else. We can raise the biggest crops in the history of the world, and yet be on the losing side of the ledger if our roads are in poor shape.

Most of those living around Plymouth who do not yet own an auto have come to realize that good roads means about as much to them as to those who do own cars. It means their prosperity, whether they own a car or not. Good roads do more to increase property value than ever before, and the poorest property in the land today is that which has to be reached over bad roads. Every section is waking up to this and fighting tooth and nail for more and better roads. No matter how good we may think ours are at this time, there is room for improvement, and still more of them would add to our prosperity. Let's get a violent case of the good roads fever right now and talk roads and better roads until we are blue in the face but what we get everything we need along this line.

NOW DO YOUR PART.

We're swinging around to the hay fever season again. But before we get into it we've got to pass through the dangerous typhoid and malaria zone. July and August are favorite months for these dread diseases, and despite constant warnings of physicians and newspapers thousands are dying from them every year.

The saddest feature of typhoid fever's terrible toll is the fact that it can be prevented, but is not. Ask any physician around Plymouth as to the truthfulness of this and he will bear us out. He will tell you that the one sure way to stamp out an epidemic of typhoid, or to prevent one, is to keep all weeds cut and cess-pools drained and fumigated. Typhoid germs breed in rank weeds and stagnant water. Flies and mosquitoes carry these germs directly to their human victims. If weeds are kept down and lime scattered freely about cess-pools and outbuildings, insects seek other fields. Danger from well water, too, is reduced, because proper sanitation will prevent seepage of impurities through the ground and into the water supply.

You would get rid of a lot of dynamite in your back yard if you knew it was there, wouldn't you? Then why permit something far more dangerous to remain there, threatening not only your own life but the lives of the entire community? Cut the weeds and make typhoid and hay fever strangers in this community.

WARREN L. HULL SUCCUMBS IN PARENTS' HOME AT LANSING, AFTER SHORT ILLNESS.

We take the following article from the Lansing Capital News of Wednesday, July 6th:

"Warren Louis Hull, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Hull, died late Tuesday in the home of his parents at 836 Baker street, after a short illness.

"The young man was born in Albion, March 31, 1894, when his father was superintendent of schools there. He attended school in Albion, Flint and Lansing.

"When a boy young Hull carried a paper route and became intimately acquainted with large numbers of Lansing persons whose friendship he retained until death. His cheerful disposition and friendly manner endeared him to all with whom he came in contact.

"Hull was one of the first Lansing men to enlist in the service of the United States after the outbreak of war with Germany. In April, 1917, he enlisted in Company C, Fifth Engineers, and trained in Texas, going overseas early in 1918. After serving throughout the war he was appointed as car dispatcher on French railroads after the armistice.

"Surviving are the parents, two brothers, Frederick M., Dayton, Ohio, and George Gray Hull, Lansing, and one sister, Helen R. Hull, New York City.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is general communion Sunday for the children.

Saturday, July 16th, Thomas H. Russell of Wayne, and Irene Mahey of Caro, were united in marriage by Fr. LePore. In the presence of Matthew Yuchasz of Plymouth, and Genevieve Russell of Wayne. The young couple will reside in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. William Rudick gave birth to a baby girl, July 15th, at Gates hospital in Ann Arbor, but before the day was closed, the angel of death summoned the infant to eternity. The remains were quietly placed in the cemetery at Wyandotte Monday morning.

Little Miss Helen Donovan is slowly recovering from her serious operation, at Providence hospital. We trust she will soon be with us in the pink of condition.

Mrs. Laura McGorey is on the gain, and we trust will soon enjoy good health.

The Rev. W. A. Graeber of Sturgis, Mich., spent a few days with the pastor.

Father LePore was called to the city of Detroit, Friday, to bury a cousin, Harold Goddeves, a student of the University of Detroit.

An improvement has been made upon the church, whereby the same can be ventilated.

The Nethem baseball team defeated the strong Maus Cartage team from Detroit, 4 to 0. Next Sunday they play the strong College Park team from Detroit, at Newburg.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The people of Plymouth are looking forward to the visit of Rev. B. F. Farber, D. D., of New York, next Sunday. Dr. Farber is a former minister of this church, who has many friends in the congregation and community. He will preach Sunday morning at the regular service.

The Ready Service class met Tuesday at the home of Miss Bertha Warner. There was a good attendance, and after dinner and a business meeting sewing became the order of the day.

The Methodists and Presbyterians will unite this year in a picnic to be held on Wednesday, August 24th.

A building permit has been taken out by the Ford Motor Company with the village of Dearborn, for a passenger air depot to be built in that place. There are only a few of these depots in the United States.

George Harrison, Jr., of Canton, has sold his farm and has purchased a new home in Wayne which is situated just west of Washington street. He expects to move to the village in the near future.—Wayne Weekly.

One of the last remaining log cabins of pioneer days in this section has recently been demolished by Roy Parks of Walled Lake. The house was over 75 years old, 24 feet long and 22 wide. The white oak logs were two feet in diameter, and seemingly as solid as when they were cut.—Milford Times.

It is estimated that the largest crowd in the history of the Island Lake State park gathered there this just Sunday. Every boat was rented and every bathing suit taken long before noon, and the parking fields were a sight to behold. One who is in position to say stated that over 20,000 people took advantage of this beautiful pleasure ground and camp site on this occasion.—Brighton Argus.

Seventy football men, scattered for the summer in a dozen different states are awaiting the call of "Hurry Up" Yost to return to Ann Arbor and make another year of gridiron history for Michigan. And in the meantime, Yost is spending his waking hours at the site of Michigan's gigantic new stadium, checking progress to insure the huge bowl ready for the opening game with Ohio Wesleyan October 1st.

The Washtenaw County Jersey calf club boys have charge of the county Jersey breeder's picnic, which will be held July 29. Mac Olds, of the Correct Care calf club, is chairman of the committee preparing the program, and John Krummel and Fred Rathfon are the other two members. All Jersey club members, and Jersey breeders, with their families, are invited to the picnic. The program will include some demonstrations on the effect of breeding, a judging contest and sports.

The new camp building at Dodge Park, east of Highland, is now completed and adds very materially to the camp facilities. The building contains a combined mess hall and recreation room about 30 feet by 50 in size. It contains about 15 long tables and twice that number of benches, and these may be folded up when not in use. Two complete kitchens and service rooms and cook houses are in the rear. The building is designed especially for the use of boys' organizations who may secure it by application to the caretaker.—Milford Times.

About midnight last Thursday night, an automobile in a garage at the home of George Palmer, just outside of the village limits, was discovered to be on fire. The car was pulled out of the garage, but it was a total wreck. How the fire originated is not known. The building was not seriously damaged. An alarm was turned in, but as the fire was outside the village, and the requirements of the village in regard to the apparatus going outside of the corporation had not been complied with, the department did not respond to the alarm.

ATTENTION: WHEAT FARMERS

$15.55 EXTRA PROFIT per ACRE

Marlette, Mich., Aug. 8, 1926.

The American Agricultural Chemical Company, Detroit, Mich.

Sirs: I sowed 200 pounds of "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer (Homestead Brand, 2-12-2) per acre and threshed this year 40 bushels of wheat per acre—the best crop I ever raised. I never had more than 25 bushels per acre with other fertilizers, and I can truthfully say the "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers did the job.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) HUGH CARGILL

Here are facts, not claims. Not an exceptional case, either. One of 1739 reported. This $15.55 extra profit per acre is about five times the cost of the fertilizer.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers produce these outstanding results because only the best sources of materials are used. They are scientifically compounded and blended to provide properly balanced, readily available plant foods continuously from seeding to maturity. Perfect mechanical condition insures easy and even distribution.

CITIES HIT BACK AT SUBDIVIDERS

MANY REFUSE WATER AND FIRE SERVICE TO OUTLYING DISTRICTS.

We take the following article from the Detroit News of Sunday, July 17, which may be of interest to the readers of the Mail:

"Muskegon, Mich., July 16th—Western Michigan cities are placing a ban on the furnishing of water, sewage, fire and other services to districts outside of the corporate limits.

"The action is being taken to hit back at the subdividers who coax people from the cities with the statement that they can obtain the conveniences of the municipalities and at the same time avoid high taxes.

"During the last two or three years the cities have started to feel the effects in their assessment rolls of the movement of people to districts outside the limits.

"The Muskegon city commission recently adopted a policy of refusing water and sewage service to all subdivisions outside the limits. Holland, Grand Rapids and other cities have refused to furnish fire protection outside of the limits unless a contract is signed providing for payment. For years it was customary for the fire departments to respond to alarms outside of the cities and to make no charge. The average cost of a fire alarm is more than $100, according to the cities.

"It is the contention of the cities that persons residing outside should share the expense of the general taxes if they want the service."

MUNICIPAL NOTES
BY THE MANAGER

At a meeting of the Commission on May 18, 1927, the following resolution was passed:

The cost of outside fire calls hereafter is to be changed from fifty dollars to seventy-five dollars covering a radius of six miles from the village hall. If property owners within this radius want fire protection, they will be required to leave a certificate of deposit or certified check of seventy-five dollars with the Village Manager.

This notice was published in the Plymouth Mail two successive times after it was passed by the commission. The village was not paid for all of the outside fire calls before this, and that is the reason this resolution was passed. We have heard of some criticism since this ruling because we do not answer all outside fire calls.

The fire department has orders from the Commission, not to answer any outside calls unless a $75.00 certified check or certificate of deposit is on file with the Village Manager.

Will the people who are not directly concerned with a fire please refrain from calling Central to find out about the fire. At the last fire, Central had so many inquiries about it that village officials could not even find out from Central where the fire was.

The ties on Ann Arbor street are now being removed by the Detroit United Railway.

The tenth day of August is the last day for paying village taxes without a penalty. After the 10th of August, 2% will be added.

Not Worth The Risk

The risk is greater than the saving and not worth while when the home, eyesight or maybe life itself is endangered by "home cleaning" of apparel or fabrics to save a few cents.

Let us do your dry cleaning—first because ours are the most modern methods—therefore best; second, because we can do it so much better because we are equipped to do such work; and third, because we can give you prompt service at very lowest prices—and really much more cheaply than you can do it at home. AUTHORIZED DISTRIBUTORS FORD BENZOL for All Motor Cars

"Better than any gasoline for all makes of cars."

MORE POWER

Because it has more available heat or power units per gallon than gasoline.

MORE MILES PER GALLON

Because it burns more completely. Benzol has a tendency to vaporize more completely and therefore operates on a leaner mixture to the best advantage.

GREATER EASE IN STARTING

Because it vaporizes more rapidly and therefore mixes more readily with the carburetor air, thus forming an explosive mixture more quickly.

For PERFECT driving pleasure—ECONOMICAL operation use Ford Benzol for any make of car.

SMOOTHER RUNNING MOTOR

Because the expanding properties of Benzol within the piston chamber produce a constant pressure stroke rather than a sharp explosion stroke which dies before it is completed.

LESS CARBON—NO KNOCK

On account of the toluol content which tends to dissolve the carbon in each charge as it is burned. The absence of knocks is evidence of this.

LESS CRANKCASE DILUTION

Since quicker vaporization and complete burning allow no flooding of the cylinders and consequent thinning of the crankcase oil.

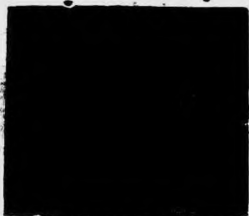

LESS MOTOR TROUBLE

Because better lubrication, less carbon and smoother action inspires a longer lived motor.

NEW HUDSON SUPER-SIX IS ANNOUNCED

STURGIS MOTOR SALES, LOCAL HUDSON-ESSEX DEALERS, ARE NOW DISPLAYING THE NEW CARS.

The story of the new Hudson Super-Six, which is now announced and displayed by Sturgis Motor Sales, Hudson-Essex dealers, is essentially a story of a striking innovation in motor engine design.

General appearance is improved with important advances both in the interior and exterior. But while the new bodies are more attractive, the most striking step ahead is the new motor, for which the Hudson organization puts forth sweeping and positive claims. The most interesting are:

- 1. The motor employs unusually high compression with its accompanying power and efficiency, yet avoids spark knock, roughness and other qualities heretofore thought unavoidable with such a motor.
2. No special or doped fuels are necessary or even desirable; the design of the motor cares for this problem.
3. Fuel-energy formerly wasted is turned into power.
4. A degree of smoothness and flexibility is gained which may be compared with that of a steam engine.

than any previous Hudson. The local Hudson-Essex organization is naturally highly enthusiastic. W. J. Sturgis sums up the whole case as follows:

"Hudson engineers are noted for working along simple and practical lines. Instead of trying to develop a motor which would perform unusually on special fuel, they have created one that gets the results with fuel you can buy anywhere at a low price. With the new motor which they have created, you have all high compression advantages and no disadvantages. This new motor design ends all spark knock; it obtains with ordinary gasoline the results which have been sought with special fuels; it prevents dilution of motor oil; it uses fuel which previously has been wasted to produce power; it saves gasoline.

"The Hudson Super-Six motor has been known for more than a decade as one of exceptional power and smoothness. This has been due to the super-six principle of motor balance. We have no hesitation in saying that this new invention is as important an engineering advance as was the super-six principle in its day. It does with the problems of fuel and heat what the super-six principle did with the forces of vibration—namely, divert them to useful purposes.

"This invention makes a cold motor start with mid-summer snap in any weather. The owner need not nurse his motor while it warms up. Any kind of gasoline can be used, and the motorist should remember that there are actually more power units in standard gasoline than there are in any doped fuels. The problem, now solved, has been to utilize them. This utilizing and saving of fuel makes Hudson the most economical car per pound of weight yet produced.

"The power of the motor has been applied to exceptional performance throughout its range, rather than to an extreme top speed. The Hudson will go as fast as any reasonable man will want to drive. Its acceleration is something surprising. It climbs even the most difficult hills with no sign of laboring or effort. The torque of the motor is of a smoother and altogether different character, due to the fact that the cylinders are pushed rather than struck by the firing of the fuel. In all phases of performance this Hudson is a leader.

"The complete line of cars is as follows: Standard coach, $1,265, and standard four-door sedan, $1,385; custom brougham, $1,575; custom seven-passenger sedan, $1,850; custom seven-passenger phaeton, $1,600; all f. o. b. Detroit."

Today's Reflections

The trouble is most men prefer to take things as they come instead of going out to hunt them.

What a Plymouth girl wears these days doesn't count as much as the way she wears it.

A New York sheriff says defective eyes cause crime. And so do loose fingers.

Under the new laws of the Dominion of Canada "Tom and Jerry" are in partnership again.

Our idea of an optimist is the Plymouth man who is satisfied to lose a $10 bill just to win a ten-cent argument.

Real family trees are made by the men who branch out for themselves.

Experience is still the best teacher, but her tuition fees seem to be getting higher.

In Plymouth it is not what the neighbors think that counts—it's what they know.

It has also been our observation that some women would rather be hungry than be out of style.

Drivers of these new presidential booms should remember not to try any speeding until they are thoroughly loosened up.

Nothing makes a Plymouth woman as mad as having a husband who isn't as wonderful as she boasts he is when she's talking to other women.

The difference between a man and a woman is that a man can pass a pair of scales without always being tempted to get on them to see if he has gained or lost a pound.

A woman gets just as weary listening to a man boasting as he gets listening to her complaining.

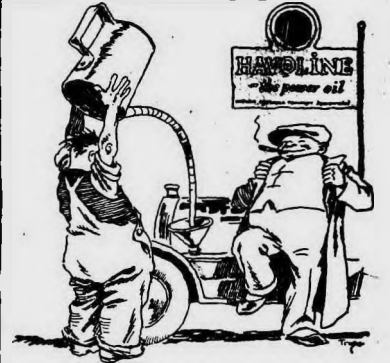

Another thing some of our Plymouth friends would like to have explained is why the fish always take a vacation at the same time they do.

Wonder if there is a man in Plymouth who ever gets sorry for his wife because her husband is such a big lugger?

Two ways to stay in front.

By main strength and cussedness

-or fill up with Havoline -the power oil

If you would guard the health of your engine, be particular what oil you use. You can always tell the quality of oil by the way it affects your power. More power proves better lubrication with less waste and wear. And this power test is easy to make—

Re-fill your crank-case with Havoline. Then watch your snappier get-away—your smoother pulling on the hills. Notice how the newly found power stays! That's your proof of true engine health—and proof that Havoline brought it about.

Why Your Agent Sells Sound Protection

At the time of selling an insurance policy, all protection looks nearly alike.

Months later—should a loss occur—the reputation of your agent depends on the performance of his companies.

An agent building a sound business—and not looking for a one premium sale—urges you to insure where you can have no regrets now—or later.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

DON'T GIVE UP.

Whatever has happened to you, don't give up.

Do not admit that circumstances are more powerful than you.

Though your head be bloody it should not be bowed. You may have had financial losses and the accumulations of years may have been swept away, possibly by the treachery of some friend. What of it? Tighten your belt and go at it again.

Your health may be impaired. What of it? Other people have had discouragements and have lived bravely through them. The world is full of unsung heroes who have met with reverses and yet kept up a brave front.

Keep your flag flying. The bankrupt merchant or the disillusioned youth may see no escape but suicide, but those who are wiser tackle the problem again.

There is no great teaching that does not instruct us that we can rise upon our faulty past and climb the stairs to a finer future.

No more damnable gospel was ever preached than that for you or any man or woman there is no hope.

If you have sinned, if you have made mistakes, rise up! Sink up the past and face the future. There is no man living but what has committed some errors. We can allow the burden of life to plunge us into despair or we can shake it off and seek other fields.

The world is wide and if there is any one thing that both religion and philosophy teach it is that we can rise upon the wreck of our dead selves and enjoy that which remains.

You don't know what is around the corner and no man can tell what the future has in store for him.

Be a thoroughbred and keep up your courage, even though the battle may be against you.

Many a person has given up when success lay just ahead of him. If you can't do anything else, hold on. Believe in yourself, believe in life, believe in your star. If none of these beliefs can be proved to be sound their effect upon your character at least is sound, and one who is dominated by a persistent belief in his success is much more liable to have a sure hand and a good eye than the one who doubts himself.

Some one has said that you are never going to succeed in life in anything, mental, moral or physical, until you have stricken from your hands and heart and brain the shackles of fear.

What we want in this world is something to tone us up, to put us at our best, and fear is just the opposite of this.

DODGE INTRODUCES

AMERICA'S FASTEST FOUR

Several pages have turned recently in the history of Dodge Brothers, but what appears to be by all odds the most important is being revealed today.

The company is bringing out what it claims is the fastest line of four-cylinder cars in America, entirely new in every way. Prices range between $825 and $975 levels, so far below those at which Dodge Brothers cars have always been sold that the success of the new line seems assured from the start.

Dodge Brothers have been a major factor in the industry since their first car was built in 1914. The car became so popular that within an unthinkable short time the company's sales mounted to third in the industry. Less than six weeks ago Dodge Brothers brought out their remarkable new line of sixes and within a month had it established on a productive basis equal to that of many large companies which have been making sixes for years; but today's is probably the most remarkable announcement Dodge Brothers ever made—the fastest fours in America—priced to sell in tremendous volume.

Coming from Dodge Brothers, this announcement is particularly significant. Dodge Brothers' reputation has been built around the dependability and rugged construction of its cars. Speed has never been a factor in their sale. Nor will it be made the paramount issue in marketing the new cars, it is said, although it is obviously a feature upon which the public will focus much attention.

Built with the distinctive beauty and completeness of appointment that characterizes custom-built cars, the new line is of the type that should sell readily on appearance as well as performance. The fact that the cars are capable of going 25 miles on a gallon of gasoline, at average touring speed, should also add greatly to their popularity.

Initial production will embrace three body types, a four-door sedan, a cabriolet roadster and a coupe. Only the sedan is available for delivery now, but within a very short time the roadster and coupe will be in dealers' hands.

The new car appears to be as large as the former four-cylinder Dodge. Interior body dimensions are particularly impressive and the seating accommodations are more than ample for comfort. Due to the smaller diameter of the wheels the cars fairly hug the ground, giving a greater safety factor at the high speeds which they are capable of making.

The top of the sedan stands 70 3/8 inches above the ground, whereas the former sedan measured 73 25/32 inches. Even with this reduction in height there is more head room in the new sedan. The distance from the back of the front seat to the pedals and to the steering wheel, the two dimensions which are probably most important to drivers, are the same as in the former very roomy Dodge Brothers sedan. The seats are wide, soft and comfortable.

The bodies are of unusually rugged construction, built of steel, staunchly reinforced to give great structural strength.

The famous new and powerful "124" motor furnishes power for the new cars. This motor was developed by Dodge Brothers engineers after years of experimentation and is considered the best and most advanced four-cylinder motor the company ever built. On the brake block test it develops 40 horsepower, which is one horsepower for every 68 pounds weight of the new sedan. When it is considered that most cars have from 37 to 135 pounds of weight for each horsepower the explanation of the great speed of the new cars is apparent. The light weight per horsepower shows up in flashy acceleration in traffic, in tremendous pulling power on the steepest hills and in a straightaway speed on the open highways that permits quick pulling away from all fours and many sixes.

Combined with these important advantages is still another feature. The gear ratio has been changed so that the engine speed is slower than before, permitting sustained higher speeds without vibration.

Even when the new motor was put into the larger line of cars May 1st, it gave 20 per cent quicker acceleration, 15 per cent more power and a 20 per cent saving in gasoline consumption. In the new and lighter cars these advantages are even more pronounced.

The steering gear ratio of the new line is 13 to 1, making the cars exceptionally easy to handle in heavy traffic. They can be turned in a circle with a radius of only a trifle over 19 feet and their compact design permits parking in the smallest spaces. The steering knuckles are fitted with ball bearings and the wheel responds to the touch of a finger.

The clutch is of the single plate type, 10 inches in diameter and built to engage the power positively and very smoothly. The pedal action is soft and gentle, permitting easier, quicker and smoother gear shifting. The sliding gear transmission with standard shift, recently adopted by Dodge Brothers, is used on the new cars. The main shaft is supported by two ball bearings and the gears on the countershaft operate on two large roller bearings.

The de luxe sedan is upholstered in thick pile mohair, beautiful in appearance and possessing wearing qualities that will make it last as long as the car. The rear seat is unusually spacious and a foot rest is provided to add to riding comfort. Silk curtains are provided for the rear quarter windows, giving the car an artistic and distinguished appearance. Other equipment includes a nicked robe rail, assist cords, vanity and smoking set, moto-meter, nicked bumpers, front and rear, speedometer, ammeter, oil gauge and automatic windshield wiper.

M. S. C. HAS NEW WHEAT VARIETY FOR FARMERS

A new variety of soft white wheat is ready for distribution from the Michigan State College to certified seed growers of the state, according to an announcement made by the farm crops department.

This wheat might be known as a tallor-made variety, as it was produced at the request of the Michigan Millers Association for a wheat from which high grade pastry flour could be milled. The variety will be distributed under the name of Spartan.

President Pugsley will deliver the main address at the afternoon meeting of the annual summer Farmers Day. Other speakers on the program will include President Butterfield, of M. S. C., and one of the members of the foreign delegation on the International Country Life Commission who will be

The Red Band will entertain with a concert following the picnic lunch at noon and will also appear on the program during the afternoon.

Picked Up About Town

"It looks like one of Europe's future problems," says Dad Plymouth, "will be to find parking space for American airplanes."

Dad Plymouth says nothing seems sillier to a woman than to hear a man kicking just because his watch doesn't keep perfect time.

"Father may not enjoy listening to mother ban him out," declare Dad Plymouth, "but there's nothing the neighbors enjoy any more."

Nothing disappears more quickly than a 25-pound chunk of ice on a hot day unless it's one hero's glory when another hero's sun rises.

Dad Plymouth says the fellows who spent their evenings at home studying seed catalogues last winter are now spending their time studying road maps.

A woman pushing a lawn mower may be a sign there is no man around the house, or again it may be a sign that her husband has gone fishing.

"Dancing hasn't changed so very much," asserts Dad Plymouth. "The old-fashioned dances were called graceful and the ones we have now are called disgraceful."

The seat of most of Uncle Sam's troubles these days is somewhere between the 17th and 19th amendments.

THE THEATRE

"THE LAND BEYOND THE LAW"

Ken Maynard rides to new honors as a Western star in his latest picture, "The Land Beyond the Law," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday and Monday, July 24 and 25. One is always assured of plenty of action and thrills in a Maynard film, but this one brings with it a stirring story of Western history screened in such a manner that it cannot fail to command interest.

Prior to the admission of New Mexico to the Union, gun-play ruled the land. For several years after it became officially one of the United States, there was great difficulty in bringing law and order to a territory ruled by wealthy and arrogant cattle barons who ruled with absolute power. Maynard appears here as a deputy marshal, assigned to bring to justice one particularly baron and his band of cattle rustlers and gunmen who had been terrorizing New Mexico and making it unsafe for pioneer settlers.

Then there is Turzan, the white steed who is a veritable marvel among horses. He is a vital part of "The Land Beyond the Law."

Don't miss this marvelous production.

"FASHIONS FOR WOMEN"

From a bobbed-haired French cafe cigarette girl to the most famous woman in Paris and then back again to the restaurant—all in the brief space of seven days goes to make a "large" night's entertainment.

Esther Ralston's first starring comedy, "Fashions For Women," the Paramount photoplay which will be the attraction at the Penniman Allen theatre Wednesday, July 27th, contains much rare humor and an orgy of beautiful gowns.

Embellished by beautiful blonde Esther Ralston, the picture itself has the four-fold attraction of humorous situations, fairy tale romance, the fascination of a dual role and styles enough to touch any woman's heart.

Just because she resembles a famous mannequin, the most talked of woman in Paris, Esther Ralston, an impish devil-may-care cigarette girl is selected to impersonate the noted model at a huge fashion show. The double role is particularly well filmed and the different personalities of the two women, the cigarette girl and model, is exceedingly convincing for, being the same person, only a careful differentiation of mannerism—a stride or tilt of the head—can serve to distinguish between them.

Elmer Hanson, as the aviator lover, looks to be the best European leading man importation thus far. Raymond Hatton, the modiste shop's press agent, lends much comedy through his ban-tam-like gestures.

The story was made for Paramount by Dorothy Arzner, one of the few women directors in picturedom. Her knowledge of women's clothing and deftness of direction during the huge fashion show assisted much in the film's success.

"JOHNNY GET YOUR HAIR CUT"

In each picture thus far revealing the genius of Jackie Coogan, a different facet of his singular appeal has been disclosed. Since the first day Jackie was seen on the silver sheet with Charlie Chaplin in "Old Clothes," his most recent film release, every characterization depicted by Jackie has been different from every other. Different depths of pathos, different degrees of merriment, different heights of tragedy and different qualities of humor have been explored in the kaleidoscopic art of this wonder child.

Now comes "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," different from all the others, which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, July 30th. It may not be as elaborate as others he has made its plot is simpler and less involved; it is not so adventurous as "The Rag Man" nor as harrowing as "Oliver Twist," but it possesses more human appeal with its delightfully wistful spiritual quality. The verdict of audiences seems to be that of all the pictures thus far made "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut" is the most human.

The story is that of an orphaned youth whose dream of life is an overwhelming ambition to become a successful jockey. How he beats his way in a horse car from one race track to another in his persistent endeavor to become an apprentice jockey is reminiscent of some of his very first films. His meeting with Mother Slapp, who kept a jockey's boarding house in Tanforan and whose duties were not unlike those of the old lady who lived in a shoe, is deftly told by the director. "Pop" Slaccum, the aged trainer whose only claim to fortune after years spent on race tracks, is a broken-down horse named "Daybreak," meets Jackie. Ultimately and between the two they work out their salvation.

In this excellent film Jackie has his hair cut, and those who bewail the loss of the little star's "Lord Fauntleroy" locks can cease their grieving, because Jackie looks wonderful sans the Dutch bob. He is a new Jackie Coogan in appearance, but the same Jackie as of yore in historic achievement.

Lost Penobscot City
Founded in Tradition

A phantom city plays a part in the legendary history of the Penobscot river.

Fogs at that point on the Maine coast are very thick and cold. The captain of a Penobscot whaler, outward bound for a Pacific cruise, is said to have stuck his jack-knife into the fog off Desert rock and found it there still on his return three years later.

When the fog does part, however, the golden walls of the phantom city of legend may be seen among the dark pine trees of the wooded shore.

Its streets are paved with ivory and pearl, gardens of glowing fruits and flowers surround its palaces, and bright banners fly from its tall towers. Drum-beats and bugle-calls are heard, and its lofty spires glitter against the clouds. Then, as suddenly as it has appeared, it vanishes in the enfolding fog.

When farmers and shipbuilders along the Penobscot were more credulous than they are today, more than one expedition set out to find the lost city, only to behold somber evergreens and a tangle of wild briars, or the heights of Mount Desert. The suggestion has been made that it was a mirage of Montreal or Quebec, or some other large city many miles away; but this does not account for drums and bugles or strange flags bearing an unknown device.

Still less does it explain the Indian tradition that the rich and beautiful metropolis of a highly civilized white race once stood on the spot. Nor does it explain the name, Norembega, by which it was known among the Indians.

A Good Idy

"Whilst I was sauntering along the street in Tumlerville this afternoon," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge upon his return from the county seat, "I heered a hooraw in the Right Place store, and directly out of the front door tumbled a couple of gents fighting like wildcats. Peered like one of 'em was the boss of the store and tuther a customer. They went over and under for a spell, and then sorta drifted apart. After a while I clumb into the waggin, started for home and—"

"Great grief!" ejaculated Mrs. Johnson. "What was they fighting about?" "Well, they went into the store and priced a lot of stuff, and then I had a tollable idy what they was fighting about."—Kansas City Star.

False Standards

Dr. Alexander Melickjohn, who, forced out of the presidency of Amherst for his radical ideas, has now established an "experimental college" at the University of Wisconsin, said in an informal address to his students:

"Too many of us judge a man by the money standard. The more he makes, we think, the better man he is. Let me prove it to you."

"An elderly woman at a horse race said to her elderly husband in a scornful voice: "Look at that horse, George. In three minutes and a half it has made more money than you have done in a business career extending over 20 years."—Detroit Free Press.

Get His Goat

One of the most absurd slang phrases in the English language is "get his goat," which is understood to mean "to annoy, irritate, or make one wild." The origin of this phrase is essentially the same as that of the verb "to kid" and the other form "kidding." A goat frolicking about is an absurd sight. "Don't play the giddy goat" is an old expression for "Don't make a silly fool of yourself." "To kid" is "to make a fool of," since kids are really more foolish acting creatures than their parents, the goats. When one is eminently successful in kidding another he is said to "get his goat."

Lacquers Put to Good Use

A small but important new use for the new cellulose lacquers, such as used for automobile finish, to preserve from evaporation the tiny and delicate specimens mounted on glass slides for use with the microscope, is described by Prof. A. V. Michener, of Manitoba Agricultural college. He seals the edges of the cover glass to the slide with a ring of the lacquer, which quickly dries and makes a permanent mount. Shellac and other substances hitherto used for this purpose have not been very satisfactory.

WAYNE COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS AT CLUB WEEK

PLYMOUTH WELL REPRESENTED AMONG THOSE IN ATTENDANCE AT LANSING.

Thirteen girls and five boys from Wayne county attended the annual club week at East Lansing July 11th to 15th, inclusive. Two of the county champions eligible to attend were unable to go. The young people were taken to East Lansing in three cars, where they were then assigned their quarters for the week. The girls were housed in one of the college dormitories and the boys made up their bunks in the college gymnasium.

A camp fire program and a candle lighting service had been planned for the first night, but had to be called off on account of unfavorable weather conditions.

Among the events which the boys and girls liked especially were the settling up exercises at 6:30 a. m., food classes conducted by Miss Ruth Featherly when the girls made and ate lemon milk sherbet on hot days, the Barnum & Bailey & Ringling Brothers circus, group games, tribe baseball and the track meet, stunt night and the visit to the state capitol building, when each boy and girl was privileged to shake hands with Governor Green.

There were classes for the boys and girls each morning in addition to a general assembly. Morris Huberman and Burton Sellek, from Wayne county, entertained the assembly one morning by telling some of the habits of the common birds and imitating their calls. They did such splendid credit to the subject that two invitations were extended to them to repeat the entertainment in Washtenaw and Oakland county club camps, soon to be held.

On Wednesday night everyone dressed up to go to the 4-H club banquet given by the Michigan State Board of Agriculture. The toastmaster of the evening was Morris Huberman, of Wayne county. President Butterfield gave the boys and girls a hearty welcome to the college and invited them to make it their business to find out all they could that was going on there. A Kent county boy told of the value of club work. Leona Gale, of Washtenaw county, gave a very appropriate recipe for making a well-balanced 4-H club member. J. Adams Puffer, from Boston, Mass., talked to the group, giving many helpful hints and interesting bits of human experience.

Miss Fannie Buchanan, from the Victor Talking Machine company, acquainted the young folks with many beautiful melodies and helped them to interpret them. Miss Buchanan was an unfailing teacher, helping train the several groups which took part in the music contest on Thursday.

Wayne county people can be very proud of some of its young people who carried off honors at Lansing. Elizabeth Kermos was declared state champion of first year clothing. August Gelbel stood fourth place in first year handicraft. Luettia West and Lenora Hank, who represented the clothing demonstration team, stood second in the state and will be given a chance to demonstrate at the State fair, competing once more for high honors against teams from Camp Shaw at Chatham and the Gaylord camp. Luettia West won first place in the instrumental music contest, while the whole group of boys and girls stood first in the choral contest. As a reward for their attainments Luettia received $5.00 for the instrumental contest and $20.00 was divided among the entire group for their singing. Elizabeth Kermos receives a scholarship to the Michigan State college if she chooses to go there to school later on.

Those attending club week are as follows:

- Canning—First year, Luella Swegies, Plymouth; second year, Alice Burrell, Plymouth.
- Clothing—First year, Elizabeth Kermos, Flat Rock; second year, Luettia West, Ypsilanti; third year, Evelyn Wright, Wayne.
- Clothing judging team—Nada King, Romulus, and Lillian Begegan, Flat Rock.
- Clothing demonstration — Luettia West, Ypsilanti, and Lenora Hank, Ypsilanti.
- Household management — Melita Kaiser, Romulus.
- Hot lunch—Thelma Cannis, Denton.
- Music—Marjorie Van Amburg, Plymouth.
- Handicraft—August Gelbel, Flat Rock.
- Garden club—Third year, Ruth Schindewolf, Detroit; fourth year, Morris Huberman, Detroit; fifth year, Lottie Drashner, Detroit; sixth year, Constance Petosky, Detroit; seventh year, Burton Sellek, Detroit.
- Dairy club—Robert Simmons, Denton.

DAIRYMEN WILL SEE FAMOUS LOCAL HERD

ALL DAY PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR VISITORS AT DAIRY-DAY MEETING JULY 26.

Dairy-day visitors at the Pontiac State Hospital July 26, will see one unit of the largest herd of purebred dairy cattle of one breed belonging to a single owner, according to the statement of dairy specialists at Michigan State College.

The state of Michigan holds premier rank as an owner of purebred cattle, and the state herd of dairy cows is none too large to supply milk for the 20,000 people at the 13 institutions where state owned herds are maintained.

The Pontiac herd of Holstein cattle is known wherever farmers own that breed of cattle. The herd is one of the oldest in the country and has produced some of the outstanding individuals of the breed.

The entire cost of the foundation herd at Pontiac was returned to the state by the sale of one animal six years after the herd was established. Other individuals from the herd have brought large prices and have helped make breed history.

In addition to inspecting the famous herd, visitors at Dairy-Day will see the animals placed according to their show ring value, and will hear authorities on dairying give brief talks on dairy problems.

Members of the arrangements committee for the day state that there will be plenty of entertainment features to occupy any spare moments in the program. The basket dinner will be supplemented by ice cream, lemonade, and coffee furnished by the institution.

First American Flags Displayed in Warfare

It is perhaps little known that the first American flag displayed "at sea" was raised by Colonel Wynkoop, commander of the Royal Savage, one of Benedict Arnold's little fleet in Lake Champlain, in 1776. This flag was a replica of the first striped flag, hoisted over Washington's headquarters at Cambridge. It consisted of thirteen alternate red and white stripes in the field and retained the colors of England, the united crosses of St. George and St. Andrew on a blue ground, in the canton. This flag was known in England as "The Rebellious Stripes."

"A picturesque incident is told of the first Stars and Stripes used in a military engagement," said Mr. Ames, foremost flag manufacturer in the country. "The Revolutionary flag of thirteen stripes with a circle of thirteen stars was adopted by the Continental congress on June 14, 1777, but the statute was not officially promulgated until the third of the following September. Meanwhile a copy of an Albany newspaper describing the flag had fallen under the eye of a Continental officer from Massachusetts on his way with reinforcements to Fort Schuyler, formerly Fort Stanwix, where the city of Rome, N. Y., now stands.

"He arrived at 5 p. m. on August 2, and very opportunely, too, as it turned out. For the British attacked the fort the following morning, which was Sunday. Before the end of the day the garrison had run up the first American battle flag. White stripes from shirts and hospital bandages alternated with red stripes made from the scarlet petticoat of a soldier's wife. A blue canton was improvised from the military coat of one Capt. Abraham Swartout, who, a year later, wrote to the commander of the fort requesting 'an order on the commissary to supply me, as promised, with eight yards of broadcloth in lieu of my blue coat which was used for colors at Fort Schuyler.'—Everybody's Magazine.

Clothes in the Discard

The people of Europe have just discovered that they have been wearing too much clothing and they have jumped to the other extreme and 3,000,000 of them are now in a nudity cult. They are swimming without bathing suits, running naked over the hills and doing calisthenics without a thread of clothing. It began in Germany with a health movie called "The Way to Strength and Beauty." This told of recent discoveries made by scientists concerning the wonderful effects of sunshine on the human body. For the first time many heard about ultra-violet light, those invisible rays in sunshine that increase the percentage of lime and phosphorus in the body fluids and increase resistance to disease. Now thousands of them are members of swimming clubs, athletic organizations, walking clubs and many others, all with the avowed object of discarding their clothing as far as possible.

Writing by Wireless

It will soon be possible for messages transmitted by wireless telephone and telegraph to be reproduced in facsimile. For over a year experiments have been conducted by Mr. G. M. Wright, an Englishman, who now announces that his system is nearly complete. Wireless messages will soon be transmitted and received in the sender's handwriting.

This method will result in a great saving in time and lessen costs, for instead of preparing and developing the sensitive plates by which the present photograph and facsimile writing is transmitted, it will be possible to place the original writing directly into the transmitting apparatus. This will be reproduced at the other end almost simultaneously.

Mrs. Lucella Chappel moved that the financial report of the district be accepted. Oliver Goldsmith seconded the motion. Carried.

Mrs. Maude Bennett moved that the school board be authorized to appropriate $800 for the health nurse.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT. FATHER PLAYS BEAR. AND REASON TO BE THANKFUL. IF I HAD SOME MUSH.

Justice Taft says he likes the law better than the White House and bearing his seventieth year, announces he will not retire. He certainly should not retire, for he owes to the public many future years of good effort. His mind and his smile are as young as ever, and every well informed man in the United States, big or little, would gladly submit any issue to the judgment of Chief Justice Taft.

In six hours New York's National Guard laid out an airplane base, ready for use, with radio, telephone and all other requirements. A fine achievement.

The United States government should take as much time as necessary to provide an airplane base for every great city.

Governors Island in New York Harbor should be given up entirely to flying, with a big dock for submarines.

The richest city, New York, containing the United States treasury and all its gold, is unprotected from the air.

There ought to be an air field there from which swift United States pursuit planes would rise like mosquitoes from a stagnant pond, to meet any invader.

Human beings are like children. A father plays "bear" with his little child, and the child is relieved when the bear stands up and becomes, once more, "father."

In England the eclipse put out the sun, changing day to night, and everybody knew that it was only make-believe night. Nobody feared that "the devil was eating the sun." Nevertheless, when the eclipse passed and the sun came shining out once more, the crowds cheered. They were glad to have mother nature stop playing bear.

When Uncle Sam's fiscal year ended last week he found a surplus of $635,000,000. Secretary Mellon had "guessed" $625,000,000, a good prophecy.

Uncle Sam really is a rich person and can afford anything he needs. He ought to dig canals, harness water power, build the greatest air and submarine fleets in the world. He should stop trying to persuade Europe to do what it doesn't want to do, attend to his own business and be in a position to make other nations mind theirs. Until this nation is prepared to defend itself against any ten other nations the government will not have done its duty.

"Well done, but what did you do the next day?"

Fokker, airplane builder, would have an answer ready for Napoleon's favorite question. On Wednesday a Fokker plane flew to Honolulu. Next day a Fokker plane reached France. Now Fokker announces a plane to fly, non-stop, for seventy-two hours, and go from Seattle to Tokyo, 5,000 miles. This government should contract with Fokker to keep him here for life building airplanes. Ancient monarchs and popes offered any inducement that would bring great artists to their courts. The great artist of today is the airplane artist.

On the Hudson, not ten yards from shore, off Sing Sing prison, three boys were struggling. Prison guards could not leave their duty to save them. Convicts begged permission to save the boys, but the guards rifles leveled, forbade them to follow their impulse, jump into the river and pull the drowning boys ashore.

The three boys drowned while guards and convicts looked on, some of the latter weeping.

Once more those convicts feel that they never had a chance, not even a chance to help others, at risk to themselves.

They had a bad start in life, most of them, and things have gone wrong with them ever since. When they missed the opportunity to save life they again felt cheated.

If the prisoners had no chance in the beginning is not the fault of society, whose fault is it?

PONTIAC PRICES ARE REDUCED

ALL PASSENGER MODELS INCLUDED—LOWER MANUFACTURING COSTS RESPONSIBLE. SAY EXECUTIVES.

Price reductions of $30 to $50 on all passenger models in the Pontiac line, effective July 15th, due to the economies effected through the completion and operation of its enormous new factories at Pontiac, Michigan, together with the increased volume of business, is announced by the Oakland Motor Car company.

"These price reductions are possible because of the greater facilities afforded through a $15,000,000 expansion program," says W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales. "The new plant for building of Pontiac cars exclusively was completed in April and is now in the full swing of operation. While it was anticipated that the improved manufacturing facilities would bring about more efficient operation and permit reductions in production costs, it was not expected that such a substantial price reduction would be made possible in so short a time."

The fact that the huge Pontiac plant reached maximum production within 60 days after its completion is one of the rare achievements in automotive history and is responsible in a large way for the price reduction so soon after its completion. It was the largest single industrial construction contract awarded in the United States last year and the largest single automotive project ever completed at one time. It afforded large savings by virtue of almost immediate full productivity from so great an investment.

Numerous and large economies also were expected of this new factory which ranks as the "last word" in modern precision motor car manufacture. Through the use of miles of modern progressive conveyors, innumerable electric hoists, hundreds of improved automatic machines, single handling of all parts and assemblies and virtual transfer of manual labor to machinery, new economies in production costs were developed that quickly made a price reduction possible.

Oakland enjoys the advantage of few expensive transportation costs of materials and parts. The Fisher Body company plant, which builds bodies for Pontiac Sixes, adjoins the Pontiac factory and a conveyor brings the bodies from the Fisher plant to the new Pontiac assembly line, effecting a tremendous saving. These and many other economies are contributing to the production of automobiles at less cost, and this saving, according to Oakland Motor Car company officials, is being passed on to the buying public through this price reduction.

Two difficult places to find a straight flush: On the face of ye modern flapper—or in a poker game.

YOUTH INSPIRED BY GIANTS OF ORATORY

Forties Saw Golden Age of College Debate.

Dr. H. de W. Fuller writes in N. Y. U. Alumni:

The prominence of college debating in the second quarter of the last century and the honor which attached to it have since been somewhat overshadowed in this country. In the United States the era of 1830, as Professor Sthier points out, "may in some respects be called the golden age of American oratory, when Webster, Clay and Calhoun, Benton and Everett, shone as stars of the first magnitude in the firmament of national life." It was natural that the young men at New York university should have turned their thought to ways and means of exercising their own tongues.

The Euclean society, which still perpetuates at University Heights, was in full existence in June, 1833. It was the successor of the Adelphe society, which had blossomed forth in February of that year, but which had "gone broke" because of an ambitious attempt to publish a monthly magazine. Both societies had been preceded by the Philomathean society. Philomathean and Euclean got together once in a while, but the rivalry was intense, and led to gibes back and forth.

Some of the questions debated during the first year were the following: "Ought honor or wealth to be most sought after by man?" "Is Andrew Jackson or Henry Clay most fit for the office of President of the United States?" "Is the fear of punishment or the expectation of reward the greater incentive to industry?" They wisely interspersed serious with humorous discussions. A debate on "Were the English justified in sending Napoleon Bonaparte to the island of St. Helena?" was followed by one on "When a pig is led to market, with a rope tied about his neck, the other end of which is held by a man, is the pig led by the rope or by the man?"

Of course the old standby was found among their discussions, "Are all minds originally equal?" Considering an idea of some of the most prominent founders of New York university—to wit, that the study of Latin and Greek should not receive undue emphasis—it is interesting to note that the students decided the following question in the affirmative: "Whether the study of the dead languages is of use or not to those who do not intend to be professional persons."

Even at this time (January, 1834), the subject of slavery was receiving the attention of the students. They asked the question, "Would the immediate emancipation of slaves in the United States be justifiable?" and decided in the negative. Even then, too, politics was politics to many a mind, for the students debated the question "Is political ambition consistent with moral integrity?"

Surgical Triumph

A marvel of surgery has been performed in South Africa. Nine years ago a Rand man developed a pain in the leg, which was diagnosed as due to gangrene. Since then he suffered agony, being unable to walk, as he refused to have the limb amputated, which, doctors declared, was the only cure. Recently he was informed that gangrene had been cured twice in history without amputation. As local surgeons were unaware of the method involved, the patient cabled to a Russian doctor in Leningrad. Information received from the doctor by cable enabled a Johannesburg surgeon to perform the necessary operation. The patient now has the use of all his limbs.

Modern History

Shortly after the visit of Queen Marie and her hasty departure on account of the illness of her husband, King Ferdinand, a teacher in one of the Indianapolis city schools had for her history lesson the story of Columbus and his discovery of the New world.

In the course of the class discussion the teacher mentioned the appeals made by Columbus to Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand of Spain for financial assistance. One member of the class, appearing much concerned, asked: "Is that the same King Ferdinand that is Queen Marie's husband?"

Boxers Train in Treadmill

Road work is considered important in the pugilist's training, as it develops the lungs and leg muscles and cultivates endurance. Outdoor practice is not always possible, because of the weather, so a substitute has been found in a form of stationary running on a canvas belt on rollers, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The apparatus is like a treadmill, the user partly supporting himself by handles at the side. Trainers declare that practically the same results can be obtained from the apparatus as from regular road exercise.

Desire

"Do you know," writes an exponent of a thought cure, "how to make your dreams come true? How to overcome every limitation? . . . Have you realized there is a way to the attainment of your every desire? There is a way and it is a proved way. There is no mystery about it whatever. . . . Send $1, etc."

We knew there was a catch in it somewhere. That $1 is exactly the required desire.

Washington Mourns for Old Lafayette Square

That part of the city of Washington having pride in its traditions is troubled about what is happening to historic Lafayette square. These green acres to the north of the White House are dominated by five more or less imposing structures, Lafayette and Rochambeau, the Frenchmen; Kosciuszko, the Pole; and Von Steuben, the Prussian, stand there in the heart of Washington. In the center rides Andrew Jackson on his rearing, tearing charger.

It is a haunted square, where old ghosts walk. Dolly Madison lived there. Henry Clay sauntered there. The Bialos, the Lees, the Rodgers and the Decatur and many another name familiar to Americans are identified in one way or another with the place. Every old house still standing has or deserves a commemorative tablet.

The square is about to be surrounded by tall buildings, steel-skeletoned and fleshed with stone or concrete, except upon the south, where it faces on the White House. The east side is being transformed, and likewise the north. A theater stands on the ground that Henry Clay traded to Commander Rodgers. The new chamber of commerce and the veterans' bureau have wiped away some of the older houses. On the southeast corner rises the treasury annex. So far the west side of the green quadrangle has changed only little, but the shadow of change is over it.

There was a time when the square might have been preserved as a memorial to yesterday. This is no longer possible. Washington is growing, moving and marching out that way. In a few years historic Lafayette square will be dominated either by great commercial or official buildings. Washington is about to lose something that cannot be replaced, but there is no help for it.—Washington Post.

May Vote by Electricity

Certain California legislators who are tired of endless, droning roll-call votes on various questions in the state legislature have proposed that the old droning system be replaced by an electrical voting apparatus. If this is done each seat in the state senate and the house will be equipped with a set of voting buttons connected by wire to a flasher board. When a roll-call is ordered, it can be recorded on the board in about one second without the usual half-day of monotonous vocalistics conducted by the clerk and the members. It is estimated that at least two weeks can be trimmed from the length of each legislative session with consequent great saving to the state and its legislators.

He Ate the Side Dish

Not many weeks ago a Franklin boy who was taken on a holiday trip to Texas was asked to make a speech before his room at school, which is 8B. The boy was recounting all the features of the trip, and as he had never been outside the United States before he told in detail of his experiences in Matamoros, just across the border in old Mexico.

Being a stickler for facts, perhaps due to his ambitions to be a newspaper editor, he told the pupils that his father and mother drank a glass of 'tequila,' but that he didn't drink any. "I ate those little crooked crackers," he explained.—Indianapolis News.

Egyptian Relics Attract

Many travelers to Egypt proceed directly to Cairo on disembarking at Alexandria, but those who desire a more extended view of this ancient city should visit the Catacombs of Kom esh-Soukafa, probably dating from the Second century A. D., and containing interesting sarcophagi and statues; Pompey's pillar, 88 feet in height and composed of red granite, the most interesting relic of antiquity in the city; the Mahmoudieh canal, which connects Alexandria with the Nile; and the Nuzha garden, which is a popular public resort on the canal. In the afternoon drive to Ramleh, and visit the new quays and the important museum of Graeco-Roman antiquities.

Herculean Treasures

Herculeanum may well be the greatest "gold mine" thus far found beneath Italian soil. The objects of classical antiquity which are embedded in Italian soil have panned out thus far to be better than any vein of ore ever struck elsewhere, because those objects of ancient art not only command fabulous prices from museums or wealthy collectors, but they are our artistic heritage from those bygone days when for some centuries there seems to have been in Greek and Roman possession a monopoly on the creation of marvelous and beautiful works of glyptic and ceramic art, of architecture, painting and sculpture.

Swallowing Vaccine

How would you feel about swallowing a bunch of deadly disease germs? It sounds bad, but in reality it is very beneficial—in certain cases. Protection against typhoid by swallowing vaccine instead of having it injected under the skin is being tried out experimentally at the bacteriological laboratories at the State college of Washington. This method has the advantage of making the victim less sick than the customary shot in the arm, but the degree of immunity it confers compared to the older way is not yet absolutely determined, according to Prof. Victor Burke and La Verne Barnes of the department of bacteriology.
