KIWANIANS HEAR INTERESTING REPORTS

SEVERAL MEMBERS TELL ABOUT DISTRICT MEETING.

Plymouth Kiwanians heard reports from delegates to the state Kiwanis convention at Battle Creek at their regular meeting last Tuesday noon, the convention having been held early this month.

The various delegates were loud in their praise of the Battle Creek club, acting as host, and those who were able to retain impressions brought back vivid reports as to the hospitality displayed.

President Freeman Hoyer reported on various phases of the convention and Larry Johnson, local trustee, gave a resume of the trustees' meeting held during the week. Among the recommendations of the trustees was one urging closer touch with farmers and their problems, establishing potato, pig and calf clubs, and sponsoring moves that would have a tendency to demonstrate to the farmer the interest felt by the various clubs in his welfare. The matter of finance was also touched upon in Larry's report.

Bob Jolliffe, in a rather comprehensive report, paid high tribute to the hospitality of Battle Creek the high character of Kiwanis executives, and the principles of the club. Bob covered the various meetings in a complete manner and retired in favor of Percy Deal, who had promised to report on the final details of the convention.

Reviewing Percy's talk, it was discovered that he had uncovered two very important points, namely, his Dodge had been assisted by every service garage and fire department between Plymouth and Battle Creek in his efforts to reach the convention city; and secondly, the convention was not held in the Grape Nur auditorium, but was assembled in room 311 of the Postam hotel. After convulsing his hearers with laughter for fifteen minutes by his humorous "report," Percy revealed that after he had awakened he returned to Plymouth with some vivid impressions of the breakfast food city.

Following reports the president conducted a quiz regarding Kiwanis and its principles that evoked considerable merriment and some fines.

Alton Richwine was expected to be program chairman for the day, but he "fanned" on called strikes.

Now that the convention and world series are over all Kiwanians are urged to go back to work.

A PLEASANT GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pettengill entertained a small company at dinner, Sunday, in honor of the nineteenth birthday of the latter's father, T. B. Davis, who resides with them. Covers were laid for ten, and a delicious dinner was served. A large birthday cake with candles was one of the pleasant surprises of the day. He was also the recipient of several nice gifts and many cards. Mr. Davis came here three years ago from White Plains, Ky., and has since made his home with his daughter and husband. He enjoys the best of health and is indeed ninety years young, as he is very active, and two or three times each week walks to Phoenix pond to fish. During his residence here he has made many warm friends who wish him many happy returns of the day.

WOLFROM-BAYES

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bayes, Wednesday, October 5th, at 4:00 o'clock, when their daughter, Viola L., became the bride of Clarence Wolfrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Wolfrom, Rev. Peters of Wayne, performing the ceremony. The rooms were decorated with pink and white asters and roses.

The bride's gown was of white satin and lace, period style. She wore a veil and a headress of pearls and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley. Miss June Wagenschitz, her only attendant, wore blue crepe, and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses. Harley Wolfrom, brother of the groom was best man.

The young couple left for a trip through the east. After October 15th, they will be at home to their many friends in Jackson, where the groom is employed as greenkeeper at the scenic Country Club.

C. R. Livengood addressed the Exchange Club at Northville, Wednesday.

MANY SEE ALUMNI PLAY

"FLAPPER GRANDMOTHER" DRAWS TWO CAPACITY HOUSES; ALUMNI ASSOCIATION MUSICAL COMEDY HUGE SUCCESS.

Playing to large audiences on both nights, the Plymouth high school alumni association's annual dramatic event reached new heights with its 3-act musical comedy, "The Flapper Grandmother," Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week.

The comedy was staged under the direction of Miss Ruth Newman of the Wayne P. Sewell Producing Co. of Atlanta, to whom goes the major portion of the credit for the most enjoyable home talent event that has ever been presented to Plymouth people.

Playing the title role of the old grandmother who, after becoming rich, has her youth restored abroad, Miss Ruth Forsythe displayed rare charm and real dramatic ability in her portrayal of the dual character of an old woman and an up-to-date flapper. Miss Forsythe must, however, share stellar honors with Miss Marie Rheinert, whose characterization of the vivacious granddaughter was equal to the best; Harold Hulbert, whose acting as the bashful country Romeo could not have been improved upon; Mena Bolton who ably impersonated the not-so-popular granddaughter and later the "broadened" traveler from France; Forest Hulbert as "Doc" Joy, the Flapper Grandmother's lover who remained true to the end, and Jack Taylor as Andrew Spriggins, the head of the family whose affairs caused all the merriment, Regina Polley as Mr. Spriggins, Lawrence Holmes as Dick Tate, Lisle Alexander as Jimmy Swift, Frazier Carmichael as Count Seekum Rich, and Clifford Cline and Laverne Sly as the love sick darlings, completed the cast of principals, and all are deserving of much credit for the splendid manner in which they took their parts.

Probably the most enjoyable feature of the production was the happy mixture of music and comedy in exactly the right proportions. Most of the principals rendered solo numbers as the plot progressed, and the choruses and specialty numbers added the necessary splash of color and action to round out a complete whole.

The Flapper Debutantes chorus was undoubtedly the outstanding combination in the musical part of the play. The Misses Rhea Peck, Velma Pez, Margaret Wood, Dora Galliano, Elizabeth Burrows, Hazel Raynor, Hazel Rathburn and Virginia Gilles composed this lively dancing aggregation of beauty and charm. Regaled in their colorful costumes, they presented a picture that will not soon be forgotten.

This review would be far from complete if it failed to mention the dainty performance of the little rag dolls. This number was beautified by the presence of eight real young ladies, under the leadership of Miss Velma Pez, whose dancing and singing contributed a large part of the entertainment.

Miss Gladys Schrader whose versatility at the piano set feet and voices in action, and whose ability developed a student orchestra which delighted their auditors with music between the acts, deserves much credit for her part in the production.

Miss Newman, who directed the comedy, left for Mt. Pleasant, late Wednesday night, leaving behind her a large group of friends and hundreds of Plymouthites who are still wondering how she was able to produce so perfect a dramatic machine in less than two weeks time. The cast is looking forward to the time when she will come back to Plymouth.

PLYMOUTH WOMAN'S CLUB HOLD MEETING

CLUB MEMBERS HEARD A MOST INTERESTING TALK AND MUSICAL PROGRAM LAST FRIDAY.

A large and enthusiastic group of members and friends filled the club room to capacity at their first meeting of the year. A very beautiful display of Chinese rugs in many colors, sizes and patterns arrayed the room.

At one o'clock, led by Mrs. R. E. Cooper, president; Miss Anna Smith, guest of honor, and Mrs. H. B. Merrick, speaker of the afternoon, the ladies followed to the dining room where a dainty and appetizing luncheon was served by the Rebekah degree staff club. After all were served, they returned to the club room where the program continued.

Mrs. R. E. Cooper, president, presided over a short business session, after which, in the absence of Mrs. Wm. Blake, chairman of the program, she most graciously filled that capacity.

The first number, a piano duet, "The Musicians' Serenade" by Joseph Low, was pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Howard Richard and Mrs. Gilbert Brown.

In words that most aptly expressed the regard and high esteem with which Miss Anna Smith, a teacher in the Plymouth high school for fifty years, is held by all who know her, the president presented to her in behalf of the members and friends, a beautiful basket of pink roses, adding that "It brings much joy to give our love and our flowers to the living." Miss Smith, in her fine way, responded with a short reminiscence of her life since coming to Plymouth, commending most highly those with whom she has worked and lived, and next to her friends, she dearly loves flowers. She is a lady of whom a community can be well proud.

Miss Forsythe, accompanied by Miss Gladys Schrader, sang two very lovely numbers, "To the Sun" by Pearl G. Curran, and "Smiling."

The ladies were invited to take a trip on the "Magic Carpet," with Mrs. H. B. Merrick of Ann Arbor, importer of Chinese rugs, and it indeed proved to be a magic trip from the first beautifully colored slide showing the wool in the rough, the dyeing process, drying and separating the colors for the patterns, and finally the weaving which requires intelligence, patience and fine workmanship. The last pictures showing the school rooms where workers are educated and trained, hospitals and sanitary lunch rooms and factories with many modern equipments gave one a new feeling of respect for this progressive Chinese race, and "weavers of beautiful rugs."

The closing part of the program was spent most informally, examining the rugs and asking numerous questions which Mrs. Merrick was most pleased to answer.

Miss Katherine Wilcox and Miss Evelyn Schrader are two of the two hundred freshmen girls at the University of Michigan who accepted sorority bids last week-end. Both girls chose Chi Omega as their sorority.

NEW SHOE STORE FOR PLYMOUTH

The vote was 112 yes; 50 no; 3 spoiled.

The other proposition was for borrowing $25,000 and issuing bonds therefor for the purpose of enlarging and extending the present water works system and making up a deficit in the water fund was also carried. The vote was 117 yes; 43 no; 5 spoiled.

ROSEDALE GARDENS SCHOOL DEDICATED

HANDSOME NEW SCHOOL BUILDING FORMALLY DEDICATED MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 10, WITH APPROPRIATE PROGRAM.

The formal dedication of the new Rosedale school building was held on Monday evening, October 10th. The beautiful kindergarten room had been decorated for the occasion by the teachers. Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Lee and Miss Holden, Ann Arbor, leaves in all of their high coloring, together with flowers gave a cheerful welcome to a large number of patrons and friends as they came together on this most happy occasion.

While the assembly was gathering, the Schaffer orchestra entertained with a number of selections which created great enthusiasm for the splendid program which had been arranged by the chairman, E. L. Sullivan of Rosedale Gardens.

The first speaker introduced by the chairman was Byron E. Mills, architect, who explained the type of building and how it could be added to as the need should arise. John L. Beecher, general contractor, followed Mr. Mills, and in his talk, paid a high tribute to him when he said, "The builder can build only as the architect designs."

George N. Bentley, treasurer of the school board, was then introduced and in behalf of the board and patrons accepted the building as submitted. Mr. Bentley then gave the figures on the cost of the building, as to each line of expenditure. Mr. Schaffer, moderator, and Joseph Schroder, director of the school board, were then introduced. Mr. Beecher in his remarks spoke of the splendid spirit of interest and cooperation shown by the members of the school board all during the process of building.

The ladies' quartette of Strathtmoor, gave a most pleasing rendition of the Rosary, which was highly enjoyed, and the quartette responded graciously. Another enjoyable musical number was given by Mrs. Wallbridge, pianist of Rosedale Gardens.

Fred C. Fisher, assistant commissioner of Wayne county schools, was the next speaker, and his subject was upon the functions of the school with the view of worthy citizenship for our boys and girls. Mrs. Jewett sang beautifully "Just Aweirin' for You," and "Smile Through Your Tears," accompanied by Mrs. Wallbridge on the piano.

The ladies' quartette of Strathtmoor, then generously gave two more numbers which were greatly appreciated.

George A. Smith, superintendent of the Plymouth schools, gave a splendid address on Education and Loyalty. E. L. Sullivan sang "On the Road to Mandalay," followed by an encore, "My Wild Irish Rose."

Mrs. G. N. Bentley spoke of the organization of a Parent Teacher association, and it was decided to hold a meeting for that purpose on next Monday evening, October 17th.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served, and a social hour and dancing enjoyed.

EX-SERVICE MEN'S CLUB MET

A LADIES' AUXILIARY TO THE CLUB ORGANIZED—OFFICERS ELECTED.

On October 10th at the Grange hall a pot-luck supper was served by the members of the Ex-Service Men's club of Plymouth to their wives and invited friends.

At an early stage of the repast the sandwiches were at a very low ebb, but the boys, with the old K. P. pep taught by hard-boiled mess sergeants of former days, soon had the sandwich trays well stacked and shortly the most ravenous of appetites seemed appeased.

After supper a ladies' auxiliary to the club was organized, electing the following officers for a period of one year: President, Myrtle Brown; vice-president, Clara Mumby; secretary-treasurer, Martha Wilson.

Plans for the dancing party to be given on Armistice day and other social events of the season were then discussed.

All had a very pleasant evening. A formal announcement of the Armistice day party will appear in an early issue of the Mail.

LOCAL SCHOOL IN DEBATING LEAGUE

PLYMOUTH DEBATERS WILL COMPETE FOR INTER-SCHOLASTIC DEBATE CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE STATE.

Plymouth high school has become a member of the Michigan High School Debating League this year and will compete for the Interscholastic Debate Championship of the state according to an announcement by Professor G. E. Denmore, the manager of the League.

The first step in the forensic race for state honors will be taken on November 18th when the local high school debating team coached by Mrs. Ruth E. Huston-Whipple, debate coach, of the high school faculty will meet one of the neighboring schools in a debate on the subject: "Resolved, That the Direct Primary System of Nominating Candidates for Public Office in the United States Should Be Abolished."

This debate followed by three others on December 9th, January 13th and January 27th, will constitute the four debates of the preliminary series in which every high school must participate in order to qualify for the elimination series of debates which will culminate in the eleventh annual state championship debate to be held at Ann Arbor in Hill auditorium on Friday, April 27th.

The two schools participating in this final debate will each receive a trophy cup presented by the University of Michigan Extension Division, and each of the six debaters will receive a gold watch as a testimonial of individual merit.

Every high school that qualifies for the elimination series of debates will be presented with the University of Michigan wall plaque trophy, which is a mahogany shield eighteen inches high by fifteen inches wide, upon which is superimposed a nine inch solid bronze medallion with embossed lettering.

A large number of high schools from all parts of the state have already joined the league, and it is expected that by October 22nd, the date when the League enrollment closes, the membership for the year will surpass last year's record membership of 235 high schools.

Any four-year high school in the state may become a member of the Michigan High School Debating League by applying for membership to Professor G. E. Denmore, Manager, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

The Michigan High School Debating League was organized by the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan in 1917, and has for the past ten years conducted debates among the high schools of the state.

LESSONS AT HOME.

Too many Plymouth parents seem to take it for granted that from the time the school child steps out the front door in the morning until it enters the same door again in the afternoon its safety is in the hands of the teacher. If there are any warnings to be given, or safety instructions passed out, they depend upon the teacher to do it in the regular course of the school day.

But this is all wrong. As a general rule teachers are instilling lessons of safety into the minds of their pupils to a greater extent now than ever before, yet these same lessons taught at home are apt to prove far more beneficial to the child. Riding on the running board of automobiles, hanging onto the back of a wagon, chasing a ball that bounds into the street or highway are dangers far too serious for mothers or fathers to let pass unnoticed. Constant warning at home against such practices will serve to make the safety suggestions of the school room all the more pertinent. The teacher is doing his or her share to protect the little ones in their keeping, but they can hardly be held responsible for what the pupils do on their way to and from school.

We have been rather fortunate in this section in the matter of fatal accidents to school children, and that very fact is apt to make us negligent, to cause us to lose sight of the fact that death still lurks in the streets or highways whether an accident has recently happened or not. Get the habit of pointing out, often and forcibly, the traffic dangers you know your children should avoid. You can't warn them too often. Each day sees these dangers growing greater. Common sense should teach us, that each day sees the need for respecting these warnings.

REACHING THE FARMER.

There was a convention of manufacturers in New York a few days ago and during its sessions much time was devoted to a discussion of how to "reach" the farmer. In other words, it was pointed out that last year American manufacturers and stores spent $50,000,000 to reach the city buyers and only $40,000,000 to reach the farmers. It was argued at the convention, is all out of proportion. The farmer is not being "reached." The buying field is only being covered around the edges.

The farmer is not different from anyone else in his desires, nor in his needs. He is human, and he is susceptible to the same sales argument that sells goods to the city man. The trouble seems to be that those who would sell to him have a poor idea of how to reach him. They find it easier to advertise to the city dweller, so they spend their money in that direction and let their richest market—the rural districts—go uncultivated.

The farmer does his buying largely through local channels. Practically all of those with whom we are in touch around Plymouth prefer to trade at home; and yet if they are not solicited by advertising it is only natural that they are going to turn to the man who does want their trade badly enough to advertise for it. The manufacturers are commencing to realize that if they reach the farmer they must do it through local newspapers—not magazines. So the convention went off record as favoring a greater expenditure in the future in weekly papers; and there seems to be a pretty good hint to our local merchants in the adoption of such a resolution.

MORE GOOD NEWS.

Our friends around Plymouth who have never seen much in the artichoke as a food product of the soil, and who have contended that this vegetable was fit only for pigs, now have an opportunity to change their minds. An article in Farm and Fireside says experiments by the U. S. Bureau of Standards reveals the artichoke as rich in everything that goes to make a fine grade of sugar. Experiments have developed a sugar from the artichoke far sweeter than that obtained from cane or sugar beets—73 per cent sweeter, to be exact. That means that far less of it would have to be used than sugar made from cane or beets; but a pound of it would cost $100, and that is the problem the experimenters must contend with now. It will be a long time, of course, before artichoke sugar at this price could compete with cane or beet sugar. So the cane grower and the beet grower need not worry. But it is worth something to know that there is still another product grown in America capable of furnishing us with our sugar, and some day this new discovery may be worth a lot to the country.

THE FASTEST EVER.

Racing for the Schneider cup a few weeks ago, Lieut. Webster maintained an average speed of 4.7 miles a minute. This is far from being as swift as light, but it is the fastest that man ever traveled before, and Plymouth people who once marveled at express trains capable of making 60 miles in 60 minutes must now be prepared for most anything in the way of speed. Walking fast, a man can cover a city block in one minute, Webster could make it in one second. It took Lindbergh 33½ hours to fly from New York to Paris. Webster, if his plane could stand it and his own endurance held out, could make the same run in 12 3/4 hours. He could eat breakfast in Boston and supper in San Francisco. But no such trips are likely in our day. No plane could stand such a terrific strain for so long a time, and no man living has the required strength and stamina to make such a trip. Webster's new speed record only shows what may be accomplished some of these days. Outside of that his record of 4.7 miles a minute doesn't mean anything.

PICK IT UP.

As he pilots his car over streets and along rural highways almost every motorist occasionally encounters broken glass in his path; but seldom is he thoughtful enough to park his car long enough to scrape up the broken glass and toss it where it cannot cause damage. Yet this is the very thing he should do. Broken glass is not only destructive to tires, but it can easily cause a bad accident. When a motorist, going at a good clip, sees glass on the road he swerves his car to one side or the other to avoid it. And that may mean swerving into the path of a machine coming from the opposite direction. More than one serious accident has occurred in this way, and more are going to occur in the future. It takes but a few seconds at best to stop, to get out of the car and dispense of the fragments of glass. And it may be the means of saving a deplorable accident. Think it over the next time you encounter broken glass when out driving.

France wants to talk about that war debt again. Just like Mark Twain's weather, "everybody talks and talks but nobody does anything."

STINSON AIRPORT MADE INTO ONE OF BEST IN THE COUNTRY

FIELD NOW HAS RUNWAYS IN ALL DIRECTIONS—FILLING STATION ERECTED.

Work in rolling the new runways of the Stinson-Northville Airport has about been completed and by the end of another week, Northville will have one of the best landing fields in Michigan.

There is now a landing place for planes in all four directions. Formerly the runway was only north and south; but now there is another runway east and west. This has been made possible by the purchase of the Ponsford property by the Northville Airport Syndicate.

When Eddie Stinson returns from his flight through the west he will find one of the finest landing ports in the country awaiting him. The runways have been plowed, levelled off and rolled until they are almost as hard as a paved road. Each runway is 150 feet wide and nearly 1500 feet long.

A gasoline filling station has been erected on the field and other conveniences provided.

Duston Bunn and Floyd Launing, who have been acting for the syndicate have supervised the work in cooperation with officials from the Stinson corporation.

There is a possibility that sometime this fall or early next spring the words "Stinson-Northville Airport" will be formed by stones painted white so that aviators in flying over this place will have no difficulty in locating the landing field.

It is surprising the number of transient planes that land each week at the field at the present time. Almost any day one or more visiting planes can be found out at the airport.—Northville Record.

The squirrels of this section of Wayne County will have difficulty in laying away stores of nuts for winter use and will probably depend upon corn for their food until spring, farmers of the county report. The crop of nuts on hickory and walnut trees is unusually light this fall and is in marked contrast to the plentiful supply of a year ago. This fall's scarcity and the good crop of a year ago apparently supports the theory held by numbers of persons that nut-bearing trees have good crops only in alternate years.

DE-HO-COS LOSE GAME TO UTICA

The first game between the De-Ho-Co baseball club and the Utica baseball club, both champions of their respective leagues, resulted in a victory for Utica.

Elliott of Utica, pitched winning ball from the start, allowing the hard hitting De-Ho-Co team but four hits, while they touched Constineau for ten hits. Utica scored one in their half of the second inning, and again scored three in the third. The De-Ho-Cos came back in the third with two which ended their scoring for the afternoon.

Knowing the reputation of the De-Ho-Cos for coming in strong in the last half of the game, they never stopped, but rather took more chances and scored four more for good measure in the fifth, sixth and seventh.

Weather permitting, the second game of the series will be played at De-Ho-Co Park, Sunday afternoon, October 15. The Utica team is made up of a fine aggregation of semi-pros and represent the Tri-County League. The De-Ho-Cos are confident that on their own grounds they will even up the series and a battle royal is expected.

ELM SCHOOL NOTES

On Thursday of last week, we were favored by the initial visit of Miss Jameson, our visiting teacher. All of our pupils have been enrolled in a zone meeting contest.

The one receiving the highest grades during the month of school was George Steiner. He was followed by Florine Atkins a close second.

The pupils made invitations for the dedication of the Rosebale Gardens school on Monday night.

The following pupils in the upper room were neither absent nor tardy during the first month of school: Florine Atkins, Ada Hayes, Ruby Schraggs, George Steiner, Marlon Thomas, Rhea Itathornr William St. Clair, Edna Smith, Magdalene Stewart, Margaret Westover.

The pupils in the intermediate room have concluded a spelling contest.

On Friday afternoon, the losers gave a party for the winners. It began with a spell-down in which Florine Atkins won over all. She received a picture of the pupils in her room as a reward. Games were played and refreshments were served. All had a fine time, and are ready for another contest. Everyone plans on being on the winning side next time.

Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Stewart visited our school Friday afternoon.

The teachers and a number of the Elm school Parent-Teacher association attended the formal dedication of the new Rosebale School, which was held on Monday evening, October 10th. This handsome building, also of Livonia District No. 6, is worthy of the highest appreciation as one of the outstanding rural school buildings of Wayne county.

WATERFORD

Mrs. Corinne Dunbar and daughter, Dortha, motored to Westfield, Ind., last week, to visit her son, Duane, who is attending school there.

Miss Dortha Dunbar motored to Adrian, last week, for a visit with her brother, Guy Dunbar, and sister, Mrs. Myrtle McComb. She will also visit relatives and friends in Morenci.

Charles Waterman, who has been on the sick list for some time, is able to resume his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy H. Gray of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson and children of Ypsilanti, were Sunday dinner guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McKerrigan.

Clayton Cook of Plymouth, is harvesting an unusual crop of potatoes on the vacant lots of W. H. McKerrigan at Waterford.

Mrs. Ida Hughes spent the week end with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGraw, in Plymouth.

The Community Club will meet with Mrs. Howard Hunt, October 20th.

Our teacher, Miss Naomi Colburn, will entertain the mothers with interesting classes and luncheon, Wednesday, "Columbus Day" at the school.

The Friends Church, Mr. Wilcoxson of Ypsilanti, presiding, still holds services and Sunday-school at the home of Mrs. Corinne Dunbar, with an attendance of fifteen to thirty, each Sunday at 3:00 p. m. Everybody welcome.

Talk about Mrs. Wiggs and her cabbage patch! Clayton Cook of Plymouth, has one on the Sessions farm that will "take the bakery."

AUTO CLUB INVESTIGATE ALLEGED SPEED TRAP.

Legal representatives of the Detroit Automobile Club who recently investigated alleged speed trap operations of 1 S. Highway No. 112 in Hillsdale county reported that village speed limits of 20 miles an hour and reckless driving offenders would be strictly enforced in that county by Sheriff E. H. Korr of Hillsdale.

More than a score of complaints have recently been reported to the automobile club, according to Howard D. Brown, legal head, concerning wholesale arrests made in the villages of Jonesville, Allen, Moscow and Somerset Center, all in Hillsdale county.

All of these arrests were made during a period of two weeks following the effectiveness, on September 5, of the new state speed law, according to Mr. Brown. Complaints coming largely from Detroit and Ohio motorists to the effect that as many as a half dozen deputy sheriffs were stationed at a single point on the highway at Jonesville, and that arrests were being made by pedestrian officers standing in the middle of the street, led to the club's investigation.

CHEVROLET SALESMEN IN TURKEY-Bean CONTEST.

The sales force at the Chevrolet garage have entered the second annual turkey-bean contest being staged by the Chevrolet Motor Co. Plymouth is a part of the Flint zone, which is pitted against the Cleveland zone. Mr. Allison's men are pitted against Dearborn again this year, having won out last year over the salesmen of that place.

The contest is put on to stimulate the sale of cars during the month of October, and the winners will eat turkey and the losers will partake of beans, at a banquet to be held at the Statler hotel in Detroit, at the conclusion of the contest. Individual prizes have also been offered to the salesman who fill their quotas.

The local Chevrolet boys are doing a lot of hustling, and they say they are surely going to eat turkey again this year. Here's hoping you do, boys.

Saturday, October 15th, last day to pay gas bill and save discount.

NEWBURG P. T. A. NOTES.

We are proud of the many improvements that the school board has added to our school since our meeting last May. The newly painted walls and floors were only one of the many noticeable features.

Everyone was given the privilege to inspect all the rooms. The prizes which were won by the school in the past year were displayed. The following were won: For hot lunch poster, $7; for citizenship, a flag and two records; for health, a thermometer.

During the meetings some plans for the coming year were discussed. We will try to have at each meeting some entertainment that will be enjoyed by all. Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Wilson have decided to make the next meeting "Poppy."

Mr. Bakewell explained the work that the school had done and their plans for the future, as landscaping, sodding, grading and courts. We certainly are proud of their attempts at improvements.

A carnival is to be held some time in November. The members to head this event are: Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Henri and Mrs. Osten. They will appoint sub-committees.

Mrs. Thompson donated a couch, which the P. T. A. will equip for the room.

NEWBURG SCHOOL NOTES.

The safety patrols for this year are: Russell Stevens, captain; Mildred Gilbert, Clarence Levandowski and Kenneth Gates.

MUNICIPAL NOTES BY THE MANAGER

The brick house of Elmer Grey which was rapidly nearing completion, on the north side of Ann Arbor street between Lincoln and Garfield, started to burn several times last Saturday afternoon. The first time the fire was put out without calling the fire department. A nail had been driven through the metal conduit which held the electric wiring, and caused a short circuit. A little while after that the fire broke out in a new place, and the village fire department had to be called to put it out.

The vote on the bond issues for the Penniman avenue paving from Harvey to Moreland, and for water extensions in the new subdivisions, came out as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Issue, Yes, No, Spoiled. Total Votes 165. For Water Extension and deficit in Water Fund: Yes 117, No 43, Spoiled 5.

As only a three-fifths vote is required to borrow money, both of these bond issues carried. The most necessary water mains will be installed as soon as the pipe arrives. The storm sewers on Penniman avenue will also be put in this fall.

Parking on the north side of Church street from Main street to Adams, is not allowed.

Cars must stop at stop streets, before crossing cross walks.

LOCAL LEADERS MEET.

The first meeting of the local leaders of this year's extension classes was held October 8th at the First Congregational church in Wayne.

Meeting 4. Floor Coverings; The Braided Rug. Meeting 5. Window Treatment. Meeting 6. Pictures in the Home; Flowers in the Home.

The meeting of October 8th was devoted to an explanation of the course and an introduction to the subject of "Color and Design in the Home." A chairman and secretary for the leader group were chosen. The nominations for chairman were: Mrs. Charles Lawson Eloise, and Mrs. Bert Shmitt, Cherry Hill. Mrs. Lawson was elected. The nominations for secretary were: Mrs. Avis Waldecker, Plymouth, and Mrs. C. Pinkham, Wayne. Mrs. Waldecker was elected.

Privacy?
—only a few pennies!

With guests or members of the family near, it is often impossible to carry on a telephone conversation in privacy or quiet.

An EXTENSION TELEPHONE in another part of the house—in a bedroom or the kitchen, for example—would insure both privacy and quiet.

In addition, it would save the long trips to and from your main telephone, to make and answer calls.

Omaha, Neb.—Sixty minutes from the Stone Age to the Jazz Age. That is the gap that separates the primitive world of Henry F. Morris, Nebraska cave man, from the complex world of modern living, teeming Omaha. It is the gap between the Twentieth century and 10,000 years ago. A short one as minutes go, but infinitely great when measured on the social scale.

On the one hand the intellectual development of centuries; on the other an atavistic reversion to the early, confused and muddled gropings of man as we find him at the dawn of history. Like a visitor from a strange planet, Morris, blinking as much as an owl when out of his element, recently came to Omaha after more than forty years away from civilization. His coming boldly proclaimed how easily can be lost the veneer of social amenities and graces that separate the gentleman of 1927 from his rude, uncultured forebear of the Neolithic age.

Morris, who is now about seventy, was induced to quit his wooded retreat at the solicitation of a newspaper man anxious to parade him from the headlines of his paper. He was first "discovered" several months ago after he had lived away from all contact with the world for more than four decades. He had never heard of the radio, electricity, the automobile, airplanes or any of the other modern devices.

His Cave Is His World.
His cave, also his world and empire, is on the banks of the Platte river, in the solitude of a wild, overgrown and desolate stretch of marshes and wasteland. The hermit of the Platte rarely encounters human beings. When he does they do not see him. His eyes are sharp; his step too light for that.

The hermit's visit to Omaha was his first trip to a city, for even before he quitted civilization he had spent his life in the hardwood clearings. The visit was not without thrills, however, and he saw for the first time many of the wonders of the Twentieth century. When he heard the human voice over the radio, "the spirits!" he shrieked. When the hitting music commenced, Morris stood by in awe and wonderment. The only music he had heard in forty years was that of the birds and the wind-blown trees.

But while the hermit enjoyed Omaha, Omaha enjoyed still more the hermit. It is doubtful who was most struck by the peculiar mannerisms of the other—Morris or his hosts. Everywhere the queer, strange individual went large crowds followed him. For the children he was a super-attraction, a colossal side show, and many a tired mother walked block upon block so Willie or Johnny might see the "funny man."

Morris doesn't walk; he shuffles, and it has been years since he has straightened himself to the full length of his six feet two. He walks with a stoop, giving his massive, knotted shoulders a monstrous appearance, which is heightened by long and sinewy arms that dangle to his knees.

Occasionally, to show his prowess, Morris, with the simplicity and naivete of a child, would climb himself on awning bars, do a spread eagle or perform acrobatic antics that a man of thirty or forty cannot begin to attempt. Pop-eyed crowds watched him start to climb a light pole at Sixteenth and Farina street, Omaha's busiest intersection.

The cave dweller's face is covered with a heavy beard that had been disturbed only occasionally in forty years by a crude, hand-made razor wielded by the hermit himself. Ragged and grimey, it added to his generally unkempt appearance. Small, piercing eyes that perpetually blinked in the strong sunlight were deep set beneath high orbital ridges and peered through heavy, overhanging eyebrows. His crowning glory was his hair. A matted, snarled mass. It was, closely grown and heavy. Like his eyebrows, it was steel gray of hue and resembled a mullah's headdress more than human hair.

Out of Place Among Guests.

A latter-day caveman outfit was hung loosely about his gaunt figure. Resembling a scarecrow, Morris easily might have been mistaken for an automaton; but never for the human being that he is. His complete outfit consisted solely of a pair of khaki trousers, of ancient vintage, and a shirt, patched beyond recognition. His trousers were supported by a rope tied about his waist; his shirt was bared at the breast.

Bareheaded, barefooted and barelegged to the knees, Morris was strangely out of place as he mingled with the smartly dressed guests of the fashionable hotel where he was housed during the Omaha visit.

Once upon a time, he contended, he was affluent, as affluence went in the backwoods country; but an unrequited love affair, the ever-haunting vision of a faithless girl who had left him waiting at the altar drove him to renounce forever the superficialities of a world filled with heartaches. Morris will not discuss the "wifemurder," and nervously shies away from them.

Arriving in Omaha, Morris was taken to the Fontenelle hotel, where

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mae Thayer Butler, wife of John Butler of Salem, Michigan, died suddenly Sunday, October 2nd, after a short illness, at Harper hospital. She had not been well for some time, but no one had any thought of her sudden death. She was devoted to her family and a friend to everyone. The remains were taken to her late home at Salem, and interment was made at Plymouth.

She was the youngest of three children of John and Ann Brumbach, the eldest John, having departed in 1903, and Joseph Brumbach of Williamston, who mourns his loss. She was born at New Boston, March 29, 1877. She was married March 1, 1897, to John A. Butler, and to this union seven children were born, one of whom, George, departed this life June 8, 1910.

Line-up for Plymouth: Left end, L. Straub; left tackle, C. Foster; left guard, R. Sockow; center, C. Lyke; right guard, K. Miller; right tackle, C. Tillotson; right end, E. Carney; quarter, C. Beagle; left half, E. Foster; right half, E. Starkweather; full back, Cumpin.

Referee—H. Ockerman.

Head Lineup—Fletcher.

Plymouth's fourth football game of the 1927 season was played Friday, October 7, at Plymouth tourist camp. There is not much to be said about this game. The River Rouge high school has a great many men to pick from when it comes to athletics. The River Rouge team averaged about fifteen pounds heavier per man than did Plymouth's team.

Not once did Plymouth come near making a score, but was constantly trying to defend rather than offend.

This was not a league game, but just a practice game. Throughout the entire game River Rouge was the superior team, but Plymouth did well and played as good a game as could be expected when they were playing against River Rouge. The final score was River Rouge 66, and Plymouth 0.

FIND MOISTURE HIGH IN STATE SEED CORN

FREEZES WOULD SERIOUSLY DAMAGE CROP—M. S. C. URGES CAREFUL STORAGE TO PREVENT LOSS.

Seed corn, which this year contains a high percentage of moisture, will be seriously damaged by early frozes if the corn is not properly stored, according to an announcement by the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

The percentage of moisture in a great deal of Michigan corn runs as high as 45 to 55 per cent. Temperatures of 28 to 30 degrees will ruin such corn for seed purposes if the ears are out of doors, it is said.

High priced equipment is not necessary to care for seed corn properly. An unused room in the house may be utilized; broader houses make excellent places for drying seed corn, and in some counties, commercial concerns will dry the corn for a small charge per bushel.

Michigan farmers who have a good type of well matured corn this year will make a good profit on the time spent in preparing the corn for seed purposes, according to the crops specialists. Good seed corn is scarce throughout the corn growing states.

It is said to be more economical to dry the corn now than later, when the air temperatures become so low that a great deal of heat is wasted in warming the air in the storage room. The corn should be above the source of heat while being dried.

A liner ad in the Mail has helped many people to dispose of used articles.

Those Appealing Eyes

By AD SCHUSTER

FEELING that it was more than he could afford, Nat Winan slipped a quarter under the edge of his plate.

"If ever a girl needed money," he thought as he looked at the dark-haired waitress who had served him, "she does."

As he arose to leave she thanked him and as he looked into her eyes he had his reward. The eyes said more than her words. They seemed to speak of a gratitude out of proportion to the small tip.

"Thank you," said the girl again and Nat thought she was near to tears.

After that he took to going without dessert that he might leave its cost for the girl. While he ate he watched her. She was as neat, perhaps neater than the others, he decided, and yet in her very neatness there was a story of a struggle to make ends meet. He could see that she had dyed her waist herself and in her belt and tie there were firmly pressed evidences of needlework that had all but concealed the ravages of time and many washings. She never told him she was poor. Her slim figure, appealing eyes, indeed, her very presence did that. She was the sort, he told himself, who could hide holes with ink spots, cover spots with a flower or apron, and never know when she was beaten.

"She is a brave little kid," said Nat Winan, feeling suddenly his strength and independence as a man, "and I wish I could do something to help her." He wondered how large her pay check was, whether she had some one to support and tried to read the story in the face that daily seemed more tragic and wistful.

After a while Nat discovered others were leaving tips for Irene. To some he confided his theory that she was using every cent for the care of an aged mother and was surprised to learn they had long held the same belief. Meals at the Red Front restaurant became more than a formality. Nat felt that in leaving his daily tip and calling the attention of others to the wordless appeal of the waitress he was taking part in a philanthropic enterprise. He even felt as a father or big brother to the girl and discovered that her face, particularly her eyes, persisted in his thoughts. At such times he would smile and say, that, according to tradition, it should be a rich man and not he who should fall in love with the waitress and rescue her from her poverty and hard work.

One evening as the young man walked the streets in the neighborhood of his home he tried to analyze his feelings for Irene, sought to discover if the pity he felt for the young woman was love. With the problem on his mind he stepped from the curb. There came an agonized squeal of brakes, an angry, frightened shout, an automobile struck him and he went down.

Nat knew his shoulder was hurting, that he had been shoved along in the dirt. He could hear people running up. He was the center of such a crowd as he has seen around other injured men and he wanted to tell them to go away. Then he saw a woman, a beautiful woman in an evening dress. Her face was white and frightened and she leaned over.

"You stepped right in front," she said. "I couldn't help hitting you." The crowd seemed to disappear. Nat could see nothing but the face of the girl whose automobile had howled him over. They were lifting him to his feet now. Perhaps he wasn't so badly hurt.

"Take this," said the girl; "it's for a new suit and maybe for a doctor." Mechanically he closed his hand on the roll of bills. It was all too bewildering. This girl of the fine dress, the automobile and the money, was Irene of the restaurant, Irene who looked appealing and made it pay.

Morley Didn't Care to Hear Gladstone's Voice

John Morley's "Life of Gladstone" is, of course, one of the greatest biographies ever written. Dr. Charles F. Thwing, president emeritus of Western Reserve university, was once discussing it with Morley, and the latter told him that Mr. Gladstone left no fewer than 200,000 distinct pieces of paper, some of large, some of small, amounting to some of great significance, some of no meaning.

"But I had to examine each one, and I almost killed me," added Morley. Morley was once staying with Andrew Carnegie, and a photograph was being taken of him. He was in the company by grinding out his songs and "howlers."

"Would it not be good if we had had the photograph in the days of Mr. Gladstone, and could have preserved his voice for our present hearing?" remarked Mr. Carnegie.

John Morley replied with a weary smile: "I heard Mr. Gladstone's voice all wanted to."—Kansas City Times.

Praise

If then I were a nightingale, I would be the nightingale's parts; if I were a swan, I would do as a swan. But now I am a rational creature, and I ought to praise God; this is my work; I do it, nor will I desert my post, so long as I am allowed to keep it; and I exhort you to join in this same song.—Epictetus. (Discourses)

Marathon Guy

She—"Your kisses are wonderful. But don't you ever get tired?"
He—"Don't they say that wonders never cease?"

This Way Out

Tramp—"Have you a good square meal for a hungry man, missus?"
Lady—"Yes, I have. And he'll be home any minute, so you'd better beat it."

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says he has noticed that many men who used to go a fast clip in the days gone by, are mighty cheery now in the matter of morals.

Jazz may come and jazz may go, but the katydid still seems to stick to the same old song.

"Why is it," asks Dad Plymouth, "that when a small boy gets a haircut he has to wait a month for the hair to grow again before he looks human?"

There may be a scarcity of other things, but an apple crop never gets too big for the worms to attend to it.

"If there is anything left over after the rest of the family and friends have been attended to," says Dad Plymouth, "then father may get a present this coming Christmas."

Dad Plymouth argues that there isn't much wrong with the fellow who thinks that the cute things his baby says are of more interest than what the diplomats say at a meeting of the League of Nations.

Distance may lend enchantment, but not to the fellow whose car breaks down when he is four miles from a garage.

"What this country needs," declares Dad Plymouth, "is a good reliable four-months guaranteed straw hat."

One reason there's so little interest in the presidential race is because people hardly have time any more to keep posted on the prize fights, tennis, golf, baseball and airplane hops.

The average Plymouth boy thinks that the worst thing about his sister's bobbed hair is she has to wash her neck.

Short Name Sought for Reindeer Meat

Nome, Alaska.—Up here in the reindeer country a cash prize contest is being started to find a suitable name for the meat of these animals. It is believed if some bright mind coined a word to supplant the term "reindeer meat" it would help the industry.

Such familiar labels as beef, mutton, veal, pork, describe the flesh of domestic animals in the States and do not suggest the sort of beast producing the food. It is planned to search the haunts of native herders in hopes of noting such nicknames or abbreviations they use to describe the meat.

The present name seems unwieldy, according to packers and retailers in the States, and is not enough removed from the suggestion of venison yet from which it differs so much.

Power

When we tell you to judge Havoline oil by the power it gives your engine, we are describing its superiority in the most direct and practical way.

Power is a sure test of value—in men, materials or machines. It separates winner and loser, champion and pretender—the quick and the dead. It's only human to desire it.

Any car can test oil-power. Try your own car with Havoline. Once you feel it "come through" for you, you'll never deny your engine the extra pep and vim that result from the use of quality oil.

Pine Dresser Finally Got Back to America

There is no telling how much an antique piece may travel before it comes to rest in the hands of an appreciative collector or a museum. Recently a pine dresser was imported from England with some English furniture. The dresser stuck out like a sore thumb among the English pieces, and the dealer quickly spotted it. The wood, the hardware, the workmanship, the style, all proclaimed it American. A wealthy collector purchased it and then set out to find how the dresser had ever strayed from the shores of America. He discovered, after lengthy correspondence, that an American family had gone to England about 1875, taking considerable furniture with them, among which were several pieces which had been handed down from generation to generation, and the pine dresser was one of those pieces. Now it has an honored place in the collection, and may finally be returned to the descendants of the original owners, who are residing in a Middle Western city.—From the Antiquarian.

Dogs Lived Eight Days Without Food or Water

The tenacity of animal life is an interesting subject if it is tested by accident and not by design; and it has had a test by accident in Wales. Two dogs, a sheep-dog and a spaniel, which had succumbed to the temptation of rabbit hunting, were missed for nearly nine days. Then a little girl, hearing curious sounds underground in a lonely place, brought a party of rescuers to the spot, and the dogs were dug out of a rabbit hole from which they had been unable to extricate themselves. They must have been without food and water for eight and a half days, yet they seemed little the worse. Evidently the dog has lost, if it ever had, the instinct of burrowing toward the open air, which the underground animal possesses.

Many Tomato Varieties

The ground cherry, musk tomato, strawberry tomato or winter cherry grows wild in the Mississippi valley and in other parts of the world and is a member of the tomato family. It is known as the blue tomato by truck gardeners. It grows in a small husk which if left on will preserve the tomato through the winter. Although this tiny vegetable, which is only a little larger than a small cherry, may be eaten raw, it is at its best when preserved. This is only one of the fifty-odd varieties of tomatoes. There are red tomatoes, white tomatoes, blue tomatoes and yellow tomatoes of every imaginable size and shape. Because of their shapes, there are tomatoes that are known as the pear tomato, the peach tomato, the cherry tomato, the plum tomato, the grape tomato and the currant tomato.

Water Power Long in Use

The oldest water power site in America, more than 100 years old, is on the Piscataqua river at South Berwick, Maine. It was established on the site of the present Burleigh blanker mills in 1820 by Ferdinand Gorges, who obtained a grant from the English crown giving him the right to settle and develop the territory from sea to sea lying between fortieth and forty-eighth parallels north latitude. The grant, however, required him to develop water power, and accordingly he constructed a log dam, erected a grist mill and sent the meal to England as proof that the terms of the charter were being lived up to. The water power site has been in continuous use ever since.

Today's Reflections

If you are looking for something dangerous, make your will and then try joking your wife about her surplus weight.

Our idea of hard luck is for a newly married couple to discover that the honeymoon trail is longer than the honeymoon.

The Plymouth man who is occasionally called on by his wife to beat an egg for her should be thankful that eggs are not as big as carpets.

It is beginning to look as if the European nations will have to revise their traffic laws to care for American airplane visitors.

With moonshine under his belt it's hard for a motorist to follow a straight line, and still harder to follow the curves.

About the only time some Plymouth men are really contented with their lots is when they're buried on them.

An easter financial writer says a dollar will buy as much now as it did in 1914. Sure—if you get the dollar.

You can't get away from it; matrimony is still the most popular and the most unpopular institution in the world.

The man who never speaks ill of a woman and religion may not wear a dress suit but he's a gentleman just the same.

The only time during the day a Plymouth boy isn't wearing out his shoes is when he is cutting.

England now has a job controller. The United States needs one to control the two-legged variety.

What has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth boy who was teacher's pet and who used to go out and cut switches for her?

We've also noticed that in this age of sheiks and jazz no mother has the nerve to name her daughter "Prudence."

As a general thing the man who saves up for a rainy day winds up by investing in a sedan.

We consider any man in Plymouth fairly well-to-do if he has an extra pair of shoes to wear while he's getting another pair half-soled.

If a woman is really a good cook her relatives and friends will see to it that she spends plenty of time in the kitchen.

Real Anxiety
Mulle—"I'm to be married tomorrow and I'm terrible nervous."
Chollie—"Do you think there's a chance of the man getting away before then?"

Missing the Mark
Angry Customer—I see you have a sign in your window: "We Aim to Please."
Storekeeper—Why yes. That is our motto.
"Well, you ought to take a little time off for some target practice."

STATE OF MICHIGAN EXECUTIVE OFFICE

Governor's Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF MICHIGAN:

More than Seventeen Million Dollars worth of property was destroyed by fire in this state last year. The removal of much of that vast sum from the assessment rolls shifted the taxing of millions of values to the purses of others, many of whom themselves were energetic in preventing the spread of fire on their premises. In that year flames claimed the lives of three hundred thirty-nine Michigan people. Lives of many were imperiled. Competent investigators counsel us that seventy-six per cent of these disasters would have been prevented had diligence and care been exercised. The effect of fire waste is State-wide, though the task of overwhelming the evil lies almost wholly with the individual, with the farmer, the villager and the city dweller.

Fire prevention is vital to public welfare. To stimulate consciousness of the continual presence of danger from that source, and with the object of helping to prevent in some measure needless waste of life and property, I do especially designate the days including

OCTOBER NINTH TO OCTOBER FIFTEENTH 1927

MICHIGAN FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Citizens, individually and collectively, are urged to make special effort during that week to reduce the hazard from fire, to dispose of accumulated waste material, inspect heating equipment, chimneys, wiring and ventilation; and make repairs necessary to safety. Public and private places where people congregate should be examined. Safeguards necessary to protect life and property should be provided. Fire drills and educational exercises in schools will be fitting. Press and pulpit, always our support in furtherance of mercy, wisdom and safety, now again are relied upon to render their quota of inspiration for the common security. Through reasonable endeavor, citizens may make the coming twelve months the year of their greatest conservation.

Given under my hand and the seal of the State, at the Capitol in Lansing, this Eighth Day of September, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-seven, and of the State of Michigan the Nineteenth.

JOHN S. HAGGERTY, Secretary of State. FRED W. GREEN, Governor.

The L. A. S. Circle No. 1. Mrs. John Miller, leader, will meet with Mrs. Arlo Suth, 297 North Harvey street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Circle No. 2. Mrs. Arthur White, leader, will meet with Mrs. Jessie Nash, 1107 W. Ann Arbor street, at the same hour.

Circle No. 3. Mrs. Floyd Hillman, leader, will meet with Mrs. O. B. Borck, 405 Starkweather avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Members bring thimble and needle to help the comfort.

Come, join the happy ones who receive inspiration and enjoy the fellowship of the mid-week service. Everyone needs it in order to be the best christian possible. Only forty-five minutes, but very profitable ones, 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock on Wednesday evening. You will feel refreshed and better able to "carry on" the rest of the week.

Dr. H. A. Leeson of Dearborn, former superintendent of Ann Arbor district, will preach Sunday morning. Let us all be there to welcome him.

We had a fine program last Sunday morning in the Sunday-school, and a good number were present. Why not all be in our places every Sunday morning, and make it a "Bible Year," as the superintendent suggested? We have a splendid corps of teachers, and there are classes for everyone from the beginners up to, say, ninety.

Miss Minnie Curtis entertained her class of boys at her home, Friday night. They report a fine time, two kinds of ice cream and everything.

LIVONIA UNION CHURCH NOTES

The annual business meeting of the Livonia Union Church was held last week Thursday evening. A hot-luck lunch was served at 6:30 p. m. After dinner, to which all did ample justice, everybody retired to the church for the mid-week prayer service.

At 8:30, the business meeting was called to order by the chairman, Charles B. Weaver. Four new trustees were elected to succeed the four whose time expired. The present official board is as follows: Charles B. Weaver, chairman; E. C. Smith, secretary; Roger Sherwood, Bruce Burth Richard Smith, Gus Goebel and Harmon Kingsley. Roger Sherwood was elected chorister of the choir.

Although it was known by several of the members, yet it came as a surprise to many of them when Rev. Lucas resigned as pastor of the church. Some little time ago, Mr. Lucas was appointed visiting hospital minister for all hospitals in Detroit. Rev. Lucas was in hopes to be able to still serve as pastor of this church, but finds it to be impossible to do justice to both. Rev. and Mrs. Lucas and son have made many friends during their stay among us, who regret very much to have them leave.

Rev. I. Paul Taylor of Detroit, will fill the pulpit next Sunday morning and evening. As Rev. Taylor comes to us as a candidate for regular pastor, it is hoped that all interested in the church will be present to hear him.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

The young people held their first meeting of the season on Sunday evening last. Next Sunday they will elect the officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Hantley Gordon of Detroit, will sing at the morning service on Sunday.

The bazaar to be held Thursday, November 17th, is progressing. Mr. Partridge's class expects to have charge of the candy booth again.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

THE ECHO OF APPLAUSE SHORT LIVED

Riches may be fickle, people say they are, but most of us would like to have them awhile and watch them flick.

But whatever may be true of riches, fame is surely fickle.

We all struggle for the spotlight and front page publicity but when we get it it doesn't last very long.

Those who are along in years can recall the many instances. We remember that "Doc" Cook was honored by the Danes and welcomed by the Americans and afterwards that Peary took his place for a few brief minutes.

Then there was Dewey. Nothing was too good for him for awhile but when he gave his wife his Washington home that the people had presented to him sentiment turned right away and Dewey was cast into the discard.

Then there was Jack Binns, the famous wireless operator on the steamer Republic which was rammed off Nantucket Island, who stuck to his post until the Baltic responded and the passengers were all rescued.

How many people of today know who Jack Binns was?

A man by the name of Kissinger probably did more for his country than most any man. In 1900 he was a private in the army but allowed himself to be inoculated with yellow fever to prove that that disease came from mosquito bites. He is now living in poverty and gets a pension of a meager $100 a year from the government.

Once we sat up and took notice of Louis Blériot who flew across the English channel, the first man to perform that exploit. Where is Blériot now? Where are the snobs of yesterday?

Then there was Captain Richmond P. Hobson, the hero of the Santiago Harbor. Once we were all applauding him and the girls anxious to kiss him. He now lives in Pasadena and few know that he is alive.

Gen. William Mitchell probably did as much toward winning the war in France as any American. He consecrated his efforts towards making the United States foremost in aviation. For his reward he has been ousted from the army because he disagreed with his superiors.

One time there was an ace by the name of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker who shot down more German flyers than any American pilot. For awhile he was a hero then he too flickered out.

And so we say of Amundsen, the first man to reach the South pole and to fly a dirigible over the North pole, and of Commander John Rodgers who was wrecked on his flying trip to Honolulu. George Young, who swam the Catalina channel and Gertrude Ederle who swam the English channel, that they might give a few pointers to Commander Byrd and Col. Lindbergh as to the fickleness of fame.

Had Odd Accomplishment

Earl Russell has this anecdote in his book, "My Life and Reminiscences":

"My grandmother, Lady John Russell, was a great favorite with Queen Victoria throughout her life. Not alone, of course, because she had the peculiar and unusual capacity of wagging her ears like a dog. But this accomplishment intrigued the queen and she suddenly called on Lady John to show it off to an ambassador. My grandmother was so taken back that she lost for a long time the power to move either ear, and only ultimately regained her power to move one, which she occasionally did for my edification."

Presumptuous

A newly rich man once invited Beau Brummell, the famous fop, to dinner, and asked him to name his own party. He accepted, and chose to the number of eleven, including himself.

"That," said his host, "will make just an even number."

"An even number?" queried the beau. "How is that?"

"Your friends, ten; yourself and myself—twelve in all."

"Good god!" said Brummell, affecting surprise. "You surely don't mean you are going to be one of the party!"

Hottest Spot on Earth

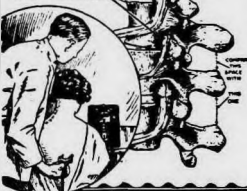

The latest official records show that the hottest spot on earth is at Azizia in northern Africa. It is on a plain almost equivalent to a desert. The thermometer at Azizia has gone to 136.4 degrees in the shade. The average temperature during the whole year is more than 70. Previously the hottest known spot was at Greenland ranch on the edge of Death valley, Calif. The highest temperature recorded there was 134 degrees.

Not only is he able to locate the vertebra which is subluxated (slightly displaced) but he is also trained to determine the direction in which this subluxation exists. Furthermore, he possesses the ability to restore the vertebra to its normal position through adjustments. In accomplishing this end, he uses no mechanical instruments, but employs the hands only.

MORE SPEED NEEDED IN LIMING PROGRAM

CORRECTING SOIL ACIDITY WILL INCREASE PROFITS ON MICHIGAN FARMS.

At the present rate of applying lime, 115 years will be needed to correct the acidity of Michigan soils, according to an announcement of the soils department at Michigan State College.

The soils specialists estimate that there are 8,500,000 acres of crops grown in this state and that 6,500,000 acres of these crops are grown on acid soils. One application of lime increased the yield of wheat on a Cass county field 6.4 bushels per acre each year for a ten year period, illustrating the value of correcting soil acidity.

Experience throughout the state has shown that it is a better practice to apply lime at least six months before seeding a legume on a field. Each farmer is advised to get prices on all forms of lime and use the one that he can obtain at the least expense.

More organic matter as well as lime is required by Michigan soils. The organic matter can be supplied by plowing down green manure crops such as sweet clover, ordinary clovers, or rye.

THE THEATRE

"THE UNKNOWN"

One of the most elaborate spectacles of a circus ever staged for a picture is seen in "The Unknown." Lon Chaney's new starring vehicle, directed by Tod Browning, for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, coming to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, October 14th.

Nearly a thousand people, enacting the roles of spectators and performers in a Spanish circus and a complete circus cast, including professional acrobats, animal tamers, riders and others recruited from a circus in winter quarters appear in the film.

A circus tent was pitched at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for the opening scenes in the new mystery story, with professional circus performers giving a complete performance for the picture. These include the Steck-Davenport Troupe, famous bareback riders, Jack Phillips' riding clowns, "Smitty" the famous clown rider, the Zanzi Troupe, Mexican tight-wire walkers, "Bozo" the famous trained bear, and others.

Lon Chaney plays Alonzo, a snister under world ruler masquerading as an "armless wonder" in the circus, with Joan Crawford as the "human target" for his knife-throwing and other feats of skill. Norman Kerry plays the romantic lead as the circus strong man, and John George the chief clown.

Although the picture is one of the largest and most elaborate productions Browning has ever directed, there are only four principals in the story. Hundreds of people will appear in the circus scenes, and there will be many minor characters or "bits" in a constantly moving background of the sawdust ring, against which the four principal characters will enact the strange mystery drama.

It is an original story by Browning, dramatized by Waldemar Young.

"HARD-BOILED HAGGERTY"

"Hard-Boiled Haggerty," Milton Sills' latest starring picture, coming Sunday and Monday, October 16 and 17, to the Penniman Allen theatre, is particularly notable for the fact that it contains not only a powerful characterization for the star, but unusually strong and effective ones for many other story characters.

Molly O'Day plays opposite the star in the role of a French girl of mystery, with whom Haggerty falls in love. Much comedy, and a burden of tense drama as well as the romantic side of the picture falls upon this new, very capable and attractive little actress.

Arthur Stone, army "buddy" of the fighting floor hero, is both clown and dramatic figure, and Mitchell Lewis as an air service major has a big dramatic part as human and powerful as his "Poleon Doret" of "The Barrier," or his famous stage role of "Captain Flagg" in "What Price Glory."

George Fawcett appears in one of the strongest and most warmly human characterizations of his screen career, and Yola d'Arvil, French dancing girl "find" of First National Pictures, producers of "Hard-Boiled Haggerty," has a splendid part as the cafe dancer.

The picture is filled with color, romance and thrilling action, with a liberal spicing of the best of comedy. Wild Gunning produced it for First National. Charles Brabin directed it, and Carey Wilson adapted the story from a magazine mystery tale by Elliott White Springs.

"THE PRINCE OF HEADWAITERS"

"The Prince of Headwaiters," a powerful comedy-drama of father-love and made by the director of "Flaming Youth," which starred Colleen Moore, is the feature photoplay at the Penniman Allen theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 18th and 19th.

Featuring Lewis Stone, Priscilla Bonner, Lilyan Tashman, Ann Bork, Robert Agnew, E. J. Ratcliffe and others, the picture was adapted from Garret Fort's Liberty Magazine story, called also "The Prince of Headwaiters."

John Francis Dillon was the director and Sam E. Bork, who produced "Ponjola," "Old Loves and New," "The Blonde Saint," "The Notorious Lady" and other notable films, made the photoplay for First National Pictures.

Mr. Stone has the part of "the prince of headwaiters," and most of the scenes are laid in the Ritz Hotel in New York.

The story involves the love of a father for his son, the love of a stern father for his daughter and finally the unselfish love of a childhood sweetheart for the youth.

Lilyan Tashman has an outstanding part as the adventuress and gold-digger, and Ann Bork, remembered for her picture debut in "The Blonde Saint" and "The Notorious Lady," has a big part as Beth, the childhood sweetheart.

While no attempt has been made to have the usual fashion show, there are two sequences in "The Prince of Headwaiters" in which fashions of the day in milady's fineries are emphasized.

It Can Be Done

Mary—"Yes, he strongly disapproved of my frock. Said I ought to be locked up for wearing so little."

Jerry—"And what did you do?"

"Oh, I just laughed it off."

This Week

GOOD NEWS FOR MOTHERS.

A FRIENDLY FIGHT.

BE READY FOR WAR.

COLLEGES AND MEN.

Dr. Aycock, chief of Harvard's Infantile Paralysis Commission, reports that the paralysis germ has been classified, and a suitable animal is sought to produce an antitoxin. Dr. Aycock agrees with Doctors Flexner and Nougchi, of the Rockefeller Institute, that the germ is so small that it would pass through any filter that can be made.

Some horse or other animal will supply the right serum for antitoxin, and then anti-vivisectionists will roar and another heavy load of fear will have been lifted from the hearts of mothers.

The big automobile fight, expected when Ford starts rolling out his new cars, will be a friendly enemies' fight, according to Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors.

Ford will make a good car, of good value per dollar of price, and will sell a great many of his new cars. General Motors will continue to sell great numbers of its cars in the various price fields.

The real fight will be, as it should, to increase quality, while cutting cost of production and giving the public the benefit of lower costs.

Another permanent fight is to make the public understand that a motor is as much a necessity as feet and hands.

A busy man should have his car always at hand, to save his time. A family needs two cars, at least. And that means no extravagance, for time is worth saving, and, unlike horses, cars do not eat when idle.

This country needs 30,000,000 cars now, and, allowing five years' life for each car, that means 6,000,000 new cars a year indefinitely. There will be plenty of business for the man able to make the right car for that car's right price.

General Sumnerall tells the country to be ready for war and warns "three months' delay may be fatal." In Europe, it is said quite calmly that "Germany will probably not go to war with Poland before 1932."

If the world goes to war again, it will prove its insanity. But it has done that often. This country doesn't want war, but sometimes it can't be avoided.

The United States should be ready, in the air and below the water especially. And there should be a separate cabinet officer, with complete control under the President, of the national air forces, interested in nothing but that air force.

International Harvester Company has a machine for picking, stripping and cleaning cotton that will do away with old-fashioned hand picking.

That will cut the production cost of cotton down, for the "stripper" will strip five bales of cotton a day with only two men on the machine.

If accurate, that news is more important even than any other news this week. It might temporarily demoralize the Southern labor market, but will enable American cotton growers to compete with cheap labor in Egypt, the Sudan, India and elsewhere.

President Lowell, of Harvard, gives this good advice: "Don't take advice too seriously."

He tells young men they must educate themselves. "A college cannot educate the student." Teachers can hand you knowledge, but can't make your brain digest it.

The worst of college is this: A half-baked boy lives surrounded by other half-baked boys, when he ought to be living among men, learning to be a man. He takes himself, the other boys and their opinions seriously. An able educator says: "A boy needs ten years to get over the harmful influences of college life."

Not So Clever

Fond Mother—"Do you detect any signs of genius in my son?"

Art Instructor—"Madam, I am not a detective."

Mary Had a Little Lamb

By JANE OSBORN

IT WAS the summer after Mary Lester's sophomore year in the state university that she met Bob Lamb at a country house-party. Bob Lamb had just finished his junior year at a smaller college. It was perfectly clear from the end of the first day at the hospitable old farmhouse that Mary liked Bob and that Bob was smitten with Mary. Bob did not hesitate to tell Mary of his feelings for her. For the time all he begged of her was that she would permit him to be somewhere near her. It was Mary's idea, then, that Bob should transfer himself from the smaller college and enter the senior class of the university that she attended.

So when Mary went back to college it was noised abroad that she had brought a "heavy suitor" with her. The girls in her fraternity house laughed at her and with her. Then one of them sitting at the piano began softly playing the strains of "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

The girls took up the words and Mary sat there blushing.

"But Bob Lamb's fleece isn't as white as snow," protested Mary weakly. "He has black hair."

"But he did follow you to school one day—you'll have to admit it," laughed one of the girls, and they went on singing their song.

Bob Lamb had been transferred from the fraternity in his own college to the chapter in the university where it was soon passed around that they had a girl to thank for the transfer.

"Nice girl—Mary Lester—a junior Gamma Sigma," informed one of the men. "Someone ought to drop a word of thanks to Mary—she did us a good turn."

One of the men who had listened to the remark began softly whistling the notes of "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Someone with a bass voice began croaking the words. A tenor took it up. Two others joined in and the impromptu quartette stood up with mock solemnity and chanted the song.

No one meant to give offense but everywhere that Bob Lamb appeared with Mary—at college dances, at concerts or football games or just strolling down some country lane—there was always someone by to warble or whistle the annoying tune.

So after the end of Mary's junior year and Bob Lamb's senior year they felt that they had seen a great deal less of each other than they had hoped. Bob was going to New York to start in business with his uncle and Mary would have to stay at home—a thousand miles from New York. They decided that before that long and last separation they must spend a few weeks undisturbed in each other's company.

Bob heard of a college camp somewhere in the next state. There was a tent colony for the men and another for the girls—a study camp where serious-minded students went to study astronomy under the direction of a number of renowned astronomers. Neither Bob nor Mary had ever felt more than passing interest in the study of the heavens, but there would be opportunity to see each other at lectures and on the observation excursions. They could sit together in the evening on mountain tops gazing at the stars. True, there would be the other students and the learned professors, but there would be no one to tease them. They needn't let anyone know that they had ever met before. It was Mary's idea that their names must not go with them. Someone might think of the stupid song about Mary and her little lamb. It would be simple enough in Mary's case. She could easily use her middle name, Ella. It took some maneuvering on Bob's part. Finally he took a friend, Bill Ball, into his confidence and arranged to use his college certificate for enrollment.

For the first two weeks of the sessions at the summer camp everything went beautifully. Then it became apparent that Bob—now Bill Ball—and Mary—now Ella—contrived to sit next to each other on all occasions. One evening when the class of campers were starting off up the mountain-side someone in the party began to hum the tune of the nursery song that had become so odious to Mary. It seemed as if everyone took up the air-whistling or warbling as they went. Then someone began the words:

Ella had a little Ball, his fleece was black as coal—
And everywhere that Ella went the Ball was sure to roll.

"Let's pretend we don't know they mean us," whispered Mary Ella.
"That won't work," said Bob Lamb—rather Bill Ball. "Let's pretend we like it."

So they stuck it out—wherever they were seen together someone was pretty sure to take up the notes of the old song. And at the end Bob got a letter from his uncle—offering him a little more than he had expected by way of a beginner's salary. On the strength of this Bob asked Mary to marry him as soon as they left summer camp. Mary said she was willing.

"Don't let's have a church wedding," she suggested. "The organist would be sure to play that hateful tune instead of the wedding march."

Dear Friends:

I notice that lots of men prefer wrist watches. Got used to 'em during the war.

Mr. Draper says when a man once gets used to the convenience of a wrist watch he isn't satisfied with any other kind. A simple twist of the wrist and you've got the time of day.

I asked the boss a few minutes ago what a wrist watch costs. He says "What does a house cost?" I says "Different prices, I suppose." And he says "Same with wrist watches."

They have them here at the store from $10.00 to $85.00.
