

PLYMOUTH DEBATES YPSI HERE TONIGHT

LOCAL DEBATERS WILL MEET
YPSILANTI CENTRAL TEAM FOR FOURTH DEBATE IN LEAGUE CONTEST.

Plymouth's fourth debate in the Michigan High School Debating league series will take place tonight in Plymouth High school auditorium at 7:30. Plymouth's opponent is Ypsilanti Central High school, who will uphold the negative side of the proposition, "Resolved, That the Direct Primary Should Be Abolished."

Plymouth High's debaters won their first three debates by defeating Fordson High 3 to 0 in November; by defeating River Rouge High 2 to 1 in December, and by defeating Northville High 3 to 0 January 13th. The Plymouth debaters for tonight, January 27th, are Ruth Root, Harold Hubert and Franklin Atkinson. Come and hear them debate for Plymouth tonight at 7:30.

On this same date, January 27th, the high schools of the state, represented by 720 high school debaters, will meet in 120 debates upon the same subject, "The Abolition of the Direct Primary." Upon the completion of this fourth and final round of debates the records established by all schools in the four debates will be computed and the 64 schools with the highest records will be declared eligible to enter the elimination series of debates which will begin on February 17th.

When these 64 schools are notified of their eligibility to enter this final race for state forensic honors each school will be presented with a University of Michigan wall plaque trophy, which is a mahogany shield 18 inches high and 14 inches wide, upon which is superimposed a beautifully engraved bronze medallion nine inches in diameter.

These 64 schools will then debate among themselves until only two undefeated schools remain, which will be brought to Ann Arbor by the University of Michigan for the final state championship debate to be held on April 27th.

The date of April 27th has been selected at the request of the Michigan Schoolmasters' club, which will be meeting at Ann Arbor on that date, in order that this large body of Michigan educators may attend the debate. The debate will be held in Hill auditorium and it is expected that the audience assembled will surpass last year's record attendance of 3,000 people.

BOY SCOUTS GIVE FINE EXHIBITION OF SCOUT WORK

Last Thursday evening a large number of parents and interested friends from Rosedale Gardens and Plymouth gathered at the Methodist Community Hall to watch the ceremonies and competitions of the Boy Scout troops from these two places. The work put on was new to many of the audience, and excited much interest.

The meet opened with the sounding of assembly by the Plymouth bugler, Maynard Larkins. The troops then marched in and were led in the Scout oath by Senior Patrol Leader Frederick Shear, and in the Scout laws by Winkler, senior of the Rosedale troop.

The competition included "fuzz stick" whittling, signaling, first aid, knot tying, fire by friction, and other work included in the Scout requirements. Field Scout Executive C. E. Loomis of Detroit, was in charge, and the events were judged by Executive Beagan of Detroit, and two first class Scouts from Royal Oak, assisted by Allan Strong and Fraser Carmichael of the Plymouth older patrol. Detroit Council and Deputy Executive C. G. Taylor from the Regional Headquarters at Chicago, were also present.

The Rosedale boys won the meet, but the work was close enough to furnish the boys with lots of thrills, and good fellowship and sportsmanship ruled throughout the evening. At the end of the competition, several merit badge awards were made to first class Scouts of both troops. Then the colors of the two troops were paraded, and Mr. Loomis led the boys in the oath of allegiance, and the bugler sounded "To the colors."

To close the session, Senior Patrol Leader Shear led the Scouts and officials in the "Great Scoutmaster" benediction and bugler Larkins sounded "Taps" from a hidden position, while the lights were dimmed. Another meet will be held in the spring, at Rosedale Gardens.

KIWANIANS HEAR TALK ON FINGERPRINT IDENTIFICATION

HEAD OF DETROIT POLICE DEPARTMENT IDENTIFICATION BUREAU ADDRESSES LOCAL CLUB.

Lieut. Charles Carmody, head of the Detroit Police Department's Bureau of Identification, gave a most interesting talk to the local Kiwanis Club at last Tuesday's meeting. Lieut. Carmody explained that no two persons were created with finger prints alike, and that this provision of Mother Nature had given police officials an infallible weapon in tracing identities and apprehending criminals. He gave a demonstration by taking fifteen finger prints from his audience and taking a second print from one of them which he was able to identify in less than two minutes.

Lieut. Carmody brought an assistant, Russell McCarthy, with him, and some enlargements of finger prints and bullet photographs, with which he demonstrated his science to the delight of his listeners.

Lieut. Carmody came to Plymouth under the chairmanship of George W. Springer, Plymouth's efficient police chief, who secured the lieutenant's services through the courtesy of the Detroit Police Department. The village officials were guests of the club.

BOY SCOUT EXECUTIVE ADDRESSES ROTARIANS

The members of the Plymouth Rotary Club had the pleasure of hearing an interesting talk by C. G. Spear, Deputy Executive, Regional Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America, at the noon-day luncheon last Friday. Mr. Spear emphasized the need for more Scout work in the Plymouth field, and also explained the make-up of the Scout organization as to county councils. He especially urged that a committee be appointed to take up the work of promoting a larger Scout program in Plymouth and vicinity.

Waldo R. Hunt, Scout Executive of Detroit Council of Boy Scouts of America, was also present at the luncheon.

One of the pleasing features of the program was the singing of the Girls' Glee Club of the Plymouth High School, under the direction of Miss Gladys Schradler, teacher of music in the local schools.

ATTENDED CREDIT BUREAU MANAGERS CONFERENCE

Miss Marie Johnson, manager of the Merchants Service Bureau, attended the Big Four Conference in Toledo, Ohio, January 23, 24 and 25. Nearly one hundred bureau secretaries and managers from Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Western Pennsylvania were in attendance.

The sessions were very interesting as well as educational, for in addition to the general discussion and "question box," talks were given by Stephen H. Talbot, of Washington, D. C., chairman of the Service Division, National Retail Credit Association, and Guy H. Hulse, secretary and educational director of the Service Division, National Retail Credit Association.

MRS. HENRY J. FISHER PASSES AWAY

Plymouth citizens were grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Henry J. Fisher, wife of the president of this village, which occurred at her home at an early hour last Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Auguste W. Fisher was born March 22, 1873, in Macomb County, Michigan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bredow. In the parochial school of the Lutheran church at Fraser, Mich., she received her education, and was confirmed in the Lutheran faith April 3, 1887.

On April 18, 1894, she was united in marriage with Henry J. Fisher, and a few years later moved to Plymouth. Their union was blessed by God with two children, Mrs. Edna Campbell and Roy Fisher, assistant cashier of the Plymouth United Savings Bank.

Mrs. Fisher was of a quiet, yet friendly disposition, and made many friends in Plymouth. It was a pleasure for her, not only to regularly attend the services at her church, but also to work for the Lord's kingdom in general.

Because the deceased never complained no one knew that she was so seriously ill until just before Christmas she collapsed, and had to be taken to Harper hospital for an operation. The operation brought no relief, but everything possible was done to save or prolong her life.

Tuesday morning, according to God's wisdom, her course was finished. At 4:30 a. m. she went to sleep, the Lord had quietly taken her home.

In Mrs. Fisher, the family is losing a kind, loving wife and mother, the Lutheran congregation a faithful member, and the community a good friend and exemplary citizen.

The deceased attained the age of 54 years, ten months and two days, and leaves to mourn, the husband, daughter and son, her aged mother, Mrs. Bredow; one sister, Mrs. Vina Hill of Wayne; one brother, Mr. Brodow, of Utica, Mich.; two grandchildren, Carl and Phyllis Campbell, and many distant relatives.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, at the Lutheran church, Rev. Charles Strasen officiating. Interment in Riverside cemetery.

As a mark of respect, the business places were closed during the hour of the funeral.

ROWE-LEONARD

Newburg church was the scene of a lovely wedding on Friday evening, January 20th, when Miss Ruth Elizabeth Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Leonard, became the bride of Milton Sterling Rowe, of Ford road. Rev. William Johnson read the marriage service at 7:00 o'clock. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was lovely in her bridal gown of white satin and rose point lace, with a veil of tulle and rose point caught with orange blossoms, which was carried by little Mary Ellen Leonard, lovely in yellow crepe, and Charles Ryder, Jr., dressed in blue. She carried a shower bouquet of roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath.

Miss Cecile Hathaway of Lake Orion, who acted as maid of honor, wore a gown of orchid, and carried a bouquet of Coolidge roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Rowe, in green taffeta, Miss Lydia Joy in peach, and Miss Charlotte Leonard in blue, all carried bouquets of roses. Little Lois Rowe, wearing a frock of white crepe, strewed flowers in the path of the bride, while Sybil Bassett, in green, carried the ring in the heart of a rose.

William Leonard was best man, and the ushers were Charles Leonard and Henry Rowe.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Anthony Kreeger sang, "O Perfect Love," and Miss Angeline Rousseau played two piano selections. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. William Johnson.

After the ceremony, the bridal party left the church as Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played, and proceeded to the Newburg hall, where the reception was held. Many beautiful gifts showed the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Rowe are held by their many friends.

The bride is a graduate of the Wayne High School class of 1924, while the groom is a graduate of the Ypsilanti High School class of 1923, and the Michigan State Normal College of Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowe will be at home to their many friends after February 10th, at 12126 Cherrylaw avenue, Detroit, where Mr. Rowe has a position with the Board of Education.

THE VILLAGE WATER QUESTION

PUBLIC MEETING HELD LAST
WEDNESDAY EVENING TO DIS-CUSS WAYS AND MEANS TO PUT WATER SYSTEM ON SELF-
SUSTAINING BASIS.

Only a small number of citizens met with the village commission Wednesday night to discuss with them the proposition of a revision of the village water rates. A statement of the cost of operating the water works system, based upon the audit of this department made by Miller, Bailey & Co., the public accountants employed by the village last spring, had been prepared and copies were distributed among those present, and each item thereof fully explained by Commissioner Learned and Village Manager Weltner. The statement is as follows:

Water Works Expenses.
Pumping Expenses.
Operating supplies	$ 43.37
Repairs	176.29
Power	2,000.00
Operating labor	480.00
Transmission and Distribution Expenses.
Labor and supplies	$ 310.87
Maintenance—
Mains	564.81
Reservoir and tank	200.00
Services	1,755.68
Meters	800.00
Hydrants	150.37
General and Administrative Expenses.
Office salaries	$ 1,500.00
Office supplies	10.00
Postage and printing	100.00
Interest on bonds	$ 9,000.00
Uncollectable accounts	90.00
Sundry	50.00
Depreciation	5,000.00
3 1/2% retirement of bonds	6,000.00
	$28,201.12
Average cost, $ 1.685 per 1,000 gallons.

There was some discussion following its reading, but the statement seemed to meet with the general approval of those present. The total income from the water department last year was $15,744.01. It is the difference between this sum and $28,201.12, or $12,457.11, which must be provided for to put the water system on a self-sustaining basis. The only way that this can be done is to raise the water rates to the consumer.

J. W. Henderson, acting as president pro tem, appointed the following committee to meet next Monday afternoon and work out a table of equitable rates and submit the same to the commission for their approval or rejection, the same evening: Paul Nutting, E. C. Hough, George H. Robinson, Frank Leonard and William Weltner, village manager.

VILLAGE MAY GET HIGHWAY

Nankin Mills, formerly known as Pike's Peak, one of the few communities in Wayne County not yet tapped by a good road, will be situated on a 120-foot concrete road in the near future. It plans now before the Board of County Road Commissioners are carried out.

An excerpt from an article in last Sunday's Detroit News, said:

"An immediate survey of Bonaparte road between the Rouge Park and the Canton Center road, has been ordered by the commissioners, Leroy C. Smith, engineer-manager of the road commission announced yesterday. The survey is to be preliminary to public hearings to be held next March, as a result of which the paving of the road under the Covert Act may be ordered. Its completion is to be expected in the late fall of 1928, Mr. Smith says."

Bonaparte road from Rouge Park east to Greenfield road, has been paved on a 120-foot right of way since early last spring. The stretch to be paved is 10.5 miles long, and will strike the Canton Center road at the end of the pavement less than a half mile outside the village limits of Plymouth, on the Canton-Plymouth town line road.

IN FEBRUARY.

Historians, lovers and those Plymouth citizens who like to tinker at weather forecasting are soon to have their fling. February, a day longer this year by reason of leap year, will bring them their favorite days—Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays for the historian; St. Valentine's day for the lovers, and groundhog day for the weather sharks.

But the trouble with the latter element is they don't confine their tinkering to February 2—they just keep on making predictions through the year; and that's unfair to the groundhog, for he is on the job but one day in the year. Already we've jumped into one or two amateur forecasters who assure us that since we have escaped an old-fashioned winter we can look for a backward spring and unusually cool weather when we ought to be having summer. That seems to be a popular prediction, since for three years past weather sharks have been predicting "a year without a summer." Just how near they came to it we'll leave it to you.

Where the weather is concerned one man's guess is as good as another's. And Uncle Sam says that anyone who predicts farther than 48 hours ahead is guessing at it. We take no stock ourselves in either the groundhog or the amateur weather forecaster. We prefer to believe that old Mother Nature is still going to look after this thing herself, and we still feel sure that so long as she is on the job, and not leaving it to anybody or anything else, we're going to come out all right.

A GOOD BAROMETER.

It has about gotten so in this country that prosperity depends very largely on the automobile. More than 20 big industries are dependent on the success of this activity. If auto production is down so are these other 20 industries. That means idleness and a scarcity of money. This being true, we believe everyone around Plymouth will rejoice to learn that at the recent New York auto show the crowds were greater and more cars were sold than at any similar exhibition. The same rule is holding good in every city where auto shows have been held. This means that with the slash in prices by nearly all makers, 1928 is going to be one of the best industrial years in history, with a production of autos running above 4,000,000; and when that many are made and sold you can safely wager it is going to be a good year in almost every line of business.

CATCHING COLDS.

Enjoy the cold and keep healthy, advises Dr. Leonard Hill, noted English physician. Most people believe colds come from drafts, wet shoes or from cutting the hair in winter; but the doctor noted that patients in an open-air sanitarium, exposed to cold all the time, didn't catch cold. Other patients get their feet wet and do not change all day, yet suffer no ill effects. Soldiers exposed in the trenches in the World War and sailors exposed in the North Sea to the most severe weather conditions were remarkably free from catarrhal complaints and pneumonia. Hot, dry houses, lack of exercise and overeating are what give people colds, says the doctor. Plymouth residents are now approaching the most dangerous part of the year, as far as colds are concerned. Why not ask your family physician if the English doctor is right. If he says that he is, METHODIST WIN FROM FORDSON then try warding off colds by getting more ventilation in the house.

Prehistoric Cities Revealed by Floods

Calcutta.—The recent floods have brought a fortune to the maharajah of Mayurbhunj. In Bengal, by washing away on the banks of the River Vaitarani immense quantities of earth, exposing prehistoric cities full of archaeological treasures. Implements and ornaments of the Neolithic age were found and palaces were laid bare which were buried for centuries in the deep jungle. Arrangements are being made for a systematic excavation and examination of the finds, which are expected to throw light on the civilization of India before the coming of the Aryan conquerors.

METHODISTS WIN FROM FORDSON

The Plymouth Methodist church won a fast game from the Fordson Union State Bank last Monday night by a one point margin. Played on the small church gym floor, the game was marked at times by roughness, personal contact being unavoidable. Due to the confining nature of the floor, the Fordson outfit, although rangy, seemed unable to get started, and had to garner most of their points from the center of the floor, Stevens and Taylor covering the under basket territory in fine shape. Carney also played a good defensive as well as offensive game, holding his man to three hoops, one each in the first and second and one in the last, while ringing up five points himself.

The summary:
PLYMOUTH FORDSON
Tait P Wilcox
Owen F Sarkozy
Carney C Stroebel
Stevens G Dunlop
Taylor G Sarkozy
Final score: Plymouth M. E., 23; Fordson U. S. B., 22. Score at half: Plymouth 14, Fordson 14. Goals: Carney 2, Stevens 2, Owen 4, Doudt 2, Stroebel 3, Wilcox 2, Sarkozy 4, Sarkozy 2. Points after fouls: Owen 1. Referee: Doudt. Timer: Stevens. Scorer: Edwards (Ypsilanti). Substitutions: Doudt for Tait, Tait for Stevens, Stevens for Tait. Time of quarters: Eight minutes.

The next church night will be held on Friday, February 17th. Fish supper will be served and in place of the usual musical program the young people will present a special musical play. Book the date.

The monthly church night at Salem Federated church was held on Friday, January 20th. Supper was served in the basement, after which A. G. Leonard, superintendent of Farmington public schools, addressed the meeting on "The Triangle of Education." In an able and very entertaining way the speaker called attention to the serious problems confronting home, church and school life. D. Phillips conducted community singing and the following artists contributed an enjoyable musical program:

Songs—Miss Ida R. Cavell.
Instrumental selections—Captain B. G. Youngman and party.
Recitations—Miss Hawkins.
Song—Miss Reed.

A service remarkable for its beauty and power was held in Salem Federated church on Sunday evening when the choir ably rendered a service of song, consisting of solos, duets and choruses. The connective reading was effectively given by Mrs. John Melow, while the Rev. A. J. Parker illustrated the story upon the screen. The memory of the service will long remain with those who were permitted to see and hear it.

Great care was taken in the presentation of these services, and Sunday evenings will be well and profitably spent by regular attendance at the meeting. The subject for next Sunday evening's service will be a pictorial lecture on "The Holy Land Before and After the War," to be given by the minister.

A large audience gathered in Danville Baptist church on Tuesday evening last, when the Rev. A. J. Parker, of Salem Federated church, gave a pictorial lecture on "The Passion Play of Oberammergau." Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. Proctor and Mrs. Parker, the journey was pleasantly made in the afternoon, and friends of the church received the visitors with much kindness and generous hospitality. The churches of the town were well represented in the meeting, and the Rev. E. Hutchins, of the Methodist Episcopal church, and H. Proctor took part in the service. The church has made a special request to Mr. Parker to return and give a second lecture in the town.

Joe Lewis, a lifelong resident of Salem, celebrated his 83rd birthday Tuesday at his home. A large number of relatives and friends gathered and partook of a bountiful dinner. A large birthday cake with the figures "83" decorated the top and added much bounty to the other lovely table decorations. All left with the remembrance of a very pleasant day and wishing that Mr. Lewis might live to spend many more birthdays.

Enjoyed Their Tea for Two

By JANE OSBORN

"USUAL thing," Marjorie told the genial mulatto waitress who came to take her order at the Plantation tea room that cheerless December afternoon, but the waitress didn't even stop to take the order of the tall young man who had just come in and was taking his place on the opposite side of the room. He had been coming there for several months and there was never any change in his order—China tea, buttered toast and strawberry jam. Usually that was Marjorie's order, too, but once in awhile she ordered English mullus and marmalade instead.

Marjorie could see the fog settling low outside in the dingy little side street and even the yellow glow of the candles inside failed to make the air seem anything but murky. She glanced absently at the menu in front of her.

Single tea.....30
Tea for two.....50

She had read that bit of the bill of fare at least a hundred times but this afternoon it set her absently thinking and impressed her more than ever with the depression of her solitude.

The man at the opposite side of the room had also glanced at the menu. When the waitress brought his things he said jokingly: "What's the idea of charging people more just because they come alone?"

"I don't know presaxly," said the girl in the bandanna. "Lessen it's a sort of injuncment to get a young gentleman like yourself, sir, to bring a young lady with him. It wouldn't cost you but twenty cents more, sir."

Frank Lane sighed. "That's the idea," he said absently, and then as he poured out his tea he wondered why it was that drinking afternoon tea alone was such mournful business anyway. He glanced over to the table where Marjorie sat.

The girl left her table just as he swallowed the last of his tea. He noticed that an umbrella rested against a chair at her table. Perhaps it wasn't hers but he would assume that it was. He met her at the door and offered it to her.

"Oh, thank you," she said turning friendly gray eyes upon him.

Then they were out and the low-hanging fog had turned to a fine misty rain. Frank had no umbrella, but in rain like that he never carried one. Still when the girl suggested that he take the umbrella and hold it over them both he forgot his prejudices against umbrellas in general. This deep red umbrella seemed different.

"I'm just going to the subway at the corner," he told her. "But don't go out of your way." And Marjorie told him that she had to pass the subway to get back to her office.

At least, thought Frank, as he rode northward to the university, the girl worked in an office. He was rather glad of that.

The next day the mulatto waitress approached him rather shyly when he came in.

"Excuse me, sir," she said. "But it 'pears to me like you have made the acquaintance of my young lady who comes in every afternoon for tea, and that being the case, sir, it seemed only just natural that you should have ten for two—and save a nickel apiece. Here she comes—should I speak to her about it or will you—"

"Why, I will thank you—" said Frank with some embarrassment.

Marjorie with unfeigned pleasure accepted his companionship at her little table, on condition, of course, that she pay her own bill as usual. "Girls, nowadays, always do," she told him.

The genial waitress attended them with her face wreathed in smiles and brought out a double order—but a triple supply of butter and jam. At the end James added the ten cents they had saved to her already more than ample tip.

Marjorie and James explained to each other why they drank afternoon tea. It was not, as each had supposed, because the other was English. Marjorie was private secretary to an unreasonable old man who never got ready to give dictation until five o'clock and continued to do so uninterrupted until seven. "I simply couldn't go until that time without something. This way it is nearly eight when I get home and then I get a little supper for myself in my apartment before I go to bed. You see I live alone—"

"So do I," James told her. "I am pretty busy all day until four and at half-past five I go up to the university where I'm giving an extension course in contract law for office workers. That keeps me until seven. Then I take a walk and after that I dine—alone—before I shuffle back to my hotel."

So they took their "tea for two" all winter and in summer the little tea room closed because the proprietress went to the seashore where summer trade was brisker.

When the tea room reopened in the autumn Frank and Marjorie appeared at their accustomed table. The genial mulatto woman came to take their order.

"It's tea for two (the same as usual)," Frank told her. He handed her an envelope which contained ten crisp ten-dollar bills. "We couldn't invite you to the wedding because you had gone away. That's just a little fee to the matchmaker."

"I have not the pleasure of knowing your wife."

"Then how do you know it's a pleasure?"

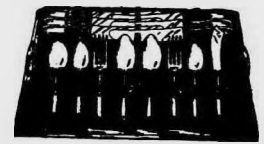

Dennis: "What was old Judson worth when he died?"

Dan: "No man is worth much when he is dead."

Dennis: "I know, but what did he leave?"

Dan: "Everything he had!"

C. KING WOODBRIDGE
President of Electric Refrigeration Corporation, manufacturer of Kelvinator, and third term president International Advertising Association, says that, "next year, and in the future, America will offer greater business opportunities than human ingenuity and energy can cope with." "Business will expand because it will utilize the assured value of sound budgetary-economic administration, use the facilities and machinery of mass production, and employ the great power of advertising with intelligent application to sales."

NORTH VILLAGE HOME FURNISHING CLASS.

The North Village Home Furnishing class met at the home of Mrs. D. W. Riley, Mill street, on January 24th, with an attendance of fifteen. After the roll call we reviewed thoroughly the last lesson on color theory and color in the home, under the leadership of Mrs. Murray. After studying the color scheme of some wearing apparel which one member was in doubt about, we decided that she can now wear these necessities and feel perfectly at ease, for the color scheme proved to be split complimentary harmony, so if you are on the verge of politely informing her that her colors do not harmonize or if you even think they do not, you had first better look into the study of color.

The solving of this lady's problem, which was of interest to all the class, was followed by a report and discussion of the household articles dyed since our lesson on dyeing. Leaders, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. West then took up the new subject, "Color and Design in the Background of a Room."

This lesson correlated with the previous one and is very important, as the treatment of the rest of the room, including design, furniture and the main color of the furnishings, must be considered before choosing a background if perfect harmony is desired. Beautiful furniture of lovely lines and proportions and beautiful pictures will be lost if unattractive and inappropriate wall covering is chosen. The background of the room include ceiling, walls, woodwork and floors. After discussing these topics we find we can easily create a greater feeling of restfulness in our own homes by making a few changes.

We now have a much better idea of how to select wall coverings. If choosing paper, no more will we cover our walls with the style which reminds one of a picture book. The more realistic the figures are, the poorer the design. We will also avoid the spotted paper, for it gives a feeling of restlessness. The safest choice is a plain or nearly plain paper. An all-over design is best if a figured pattern is used. We have learned, too, to consider the exposure, use and size of a room before choosing the wall color. Knowing how to blend the woodwork into the color scheme of the wall will also be of value to us and of special interest to know how to make irregularities in a room less conspicuous.

After this very interesting and profitable lesson tasty refreshments were served by our hostesses, Mesdames Riley and Hamill.

The next lesson will take place at the home of Mrs. Otto Beyer on Tuesday, February 28th.

"Close your eyes so that the alcohol won't get in them."

"Have no fear. I'll open only my mouth."

Lawyer: "Courage, my friend. You're going on a long journey. What are your last wishes?"

Condemned: "Get me a return ticket."

"Water, this steak is tough."

"Of course, sir. It's the piece de resistance."

"So you have a daughter, Olsen?"

"Yes, a little prodigy."

"In what way?"

"She is ten years old and doesn't play the piano."

PLYMOUTH HIGH CAGERS WIN FROM ST. THOMAS

The basketball teams of Plymouth High School are beginning to perform by winning the last three games. The team that is in the field this year is an entirely new aggregation with the exception of one man, Capt. Charles Foster.

The championship team at last year graduated, and has gone on to other goals in life. We wish them success as they had success here. Plymouth High is coming forth with another as good. It not just a little bit better. Plymouth is tied for first place in the league.

Tonight, Friday, they go to Farmington to play the hardest game in the league. If they win this game it will put them in the lead; and that same they are out for. Plymouth Cagers want your support. Your support will help them to come through, so let's see you there Friday night, with a big rah for Plymouth High.

Next week, there will be two games here, Tuesday night, Howell, and Friday night, Ypsilanti. Come watch our boys perform.

Tuesday night, Plymouth High teams beat St. Thomas of Ann Arbor, a team that beat us in a pre-season game. No time during the game was Plymouth in danger.

evening, another car, a Hudson coach, going west, crashed into his car, a Ford sedan. Mr. Price was severely cut about the head. Two children who were riding with him, were not hurt. The Hudson coach was found to contain 135 quarts of whiskey. After the crash, the driver disappeared, and it is presumed by the officers, that he was picked up by a car following. Chief of Police Springer was notified and took charge of the car and liquor, which was later turned over to the state authorities.

FORMER PLYMOUTH BOY PRESENTED WITH PRIZE.
In a recent issue of the Mail mention was made of a $250 prize won by Elbert Seger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Seger, of Brighton and formerly of Plymouth.

Elbert is a graduate of the Plymouth schools and is now a senior at Kalamazoo college. He was presented the prize last week, Charles E. Hill, general safety agent of the New York Central railroad, visiting Kalamazoo for the purpose.

Following is an account of the presentation as it appeared in the Kalamazoo College Index:

"Kalamazoo college was greatly honored this morning by receiving a visit from Charles E. Hill, general safety agent of the New York Central railroad, who presented Elbert Seger, local senior student, with the $250 prize for winning the National Safety Council's essay contest." In view of the large number of contestants, great praise is due Mr. Seger for his splendid essay.

"The college wishes to express its appreciation to the American Railway association for the recognition they have given this event. In addition to having many prominent railway men here, the Pathe News has taken pictures which will be shown all over the country. It is very fortunate that the college has been able to form an active relationship with the transportation interests and the college is pleased with these contacts which have been established with the American Railway association."

"Cross Crossings Cautiously" is the title of the prize-winning essay. In the brief space of two hundred and fifty words Seger effectively put across his plea for safety education in the public schools, and for railroad crossing literature to be distributed with automobile licenses."

AD FOR BABY BRINGS CANTON TOWNSHIP LADY ONE TOO MANY.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Frazier, who lives near the intersection of the Ford and Canton Center roads, in Canton township, answered a newspaper advertisement asking someone to give a home to a baby girl. She corresponded with a Mrs. Wilson, whose address was given as East Grand boulevard. Mrs. Frazier decided to adopt the child and arrangements were made for the baby to be brought out Sunday.

Three days ago, however, Mrs. Frazier decided she would prefer to adopt a baby boy and made arrangements with a Detroit orphanage. She wrote to Mrs. Wilson, she said, and told her she had changed her mind. Yesterday afternoon a woman appeared, carrying a three-months-old baby girl. She said she was Mrs. Wilson and maintained she failed to get the letter notifying her not to bring the baby.

Sympathizing with the woman's story, Mrs. Frazier took the child and the woman left. Then Mrs. Frazier stopped to consider that the month-old boy she already adopted would demand most of her attention. She called the office of the Wayne county sheriff and asked what she was to do about it. After deputy sheriffs failed to locate Mrs. Wilson, orphanages in Detroit were called. They said they could not shelter the baby until Monday, because of routine requirements.

The baby was brought to Plymouth by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Richwine and was taken care of in their home until Monday, when it was taken to the juvenile court in Detroit and later to the Woman's hospital.

Governor's Wife Finds Mansion Not Like Home

Jackson, Miss.—Living in a governor's mansion "is mighty nice and all that," but to Mrs. Dennis Murphree, Mississippi's first lady, it is like a long visit.

"Nothing belongs to you," she explains, "and the mansion does not have home atmosphere." So Mrs. Murphree is happy that she will "return to my own home and chickens" in January when Governor Murphree's term expires. "I'll have my own chickens, small truck garden and, best of all, my own home to arrange and run as I please," she says. "Then, too, the governor will be able to hunt and fish as much as he likes."

The Murphree home is on the outskirts of Jackson, only a few miles from the capitol. The four principal reasons Mrs. Murphree is so interested in her own home are Mary Frances, Lois, Emma Jane and Thomas Martin, her four children.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

THE MORAL ASPECT OF THE WAGE SYSTEM

Usually the money-making individual gets a very black eye from most high-brow writers. They think if a man does a thing in order to get money he should be somewhat ashamed of it.

I wish to say a good word for the desire to make money. It seems to me it is about the most wholesome desire in the human bosom.

What would we do unless people could make money? The gas we burn in the house would remain in the coal if there were no profits in taking it out and piping it to the residence.

You could not have electricity unless it paid somebody to bring it to your house.

You would have to do without most of the food you eat and the clothes you wear if nobody could make a profit by supplying you with them.

We should be very glad to give these middlemen something for their brains. Without their services life would be barren indeed.

Giving people wages or pay is the way we induce people to do something for us which we cannot do or do not want to do ourselves.

Formerly we had a system of slavery by which men did what we didn't want to do.

The conscience of the world rebelled against that, and now to get a man to do for us what we do not want to do ourselves, or cannot do, we simply pay him. Without this system of paying people for their labor there would be none of it done for us.

The wage system beautifies our lives, fills it with comfort and luxuries and the whole fabric of society rest upon it.

Every man or woman should not only be busy but should be busy about something that the world is willing to pay for.

When somebody pays for what you do, you may be sure your work is needed. If you are just working for nothing you may be more of a nuisance than a benefit.

The wage system is a test by which you know that your work is appreciated.

No man should be ashamed of getting wages. Everybody of any account works for a wage in one form or another.

Of course, he should do nothing dishonorable or disgraceful, but he should not do that, anyhow. So, eliminating all wicked or criminal or selfish acts, the best way to test the usefulness of your activities is to see whether anybody wants to pay for them or not.

MILLIONS GO BY AIR TO WALL ST. DAILY

Banks Find Plane Mail Service Profitable.

New York.—The old adage that "money has wings" is borne out by the fact that capital to the amount of $25,000,000 wings its way daily into Wall street by air mail. Out-of-town banks have found a way to "beat the gun" and this amount represents the face value of checks sent from banks all over the country to correspondent banks here for deposit, loans on call, or other purposes.

For example, an expenditure of $34.00 for air mail postage in one month saved the Illinois Merchants Trust company of Chicago $1,700 in its money transactions with New York city banks.

Twenty-three air mail letters, transmitting a total of $32,000,000, were forwarded by the trust company and 12 of these letters were delivered in New York before nine o'clock the morning following their posting. The interest saved by clearing the transactions one day sooner than if the letters had been sent by ordinary mail represents the $1,700.

Kansas City Saving.

The Kansas City Clearing House association reports saving of interest on money transactions with New York city averaging approximately $7,500 monthly, or $90,000 annually.

Out-of-town banks have found they can get their checks in the New York clearing house from one to three days ahead of the time possible by trains. Thus they save interest of from 3 to 4 1/2 per cent and the amounts run into millions.

That there are delays in the air mail service is admitted, but the bankers point out that even when delayed this service always equals train time.

The transcontinental mail leaves San Francisco around seven o'clock in the morning and arrives here about 30 hours later. Thus checks sent out by a San Francisco bank on Tuesday should arrive in time for clearing here on Thursday morning. Five days is the average time for transcontinental trains.

After picking up additional mail and checks at scheduled stops, the airman drops down on Chicago, where the New York Federal Reserve bank has a special mail pouch which is tossed into the plane. This brings checks from the Federal Reserve bank at St. Louis, the only reserve bank to use the mail, and from other points.

Millions Carried Daily.

With the other air mail pouch arrives at the general post office by train from the landing field at New Brunswick, N. J., and travels by armored car to the branch post office of the Federal Reserve bank in the financial district. Air mail to other banks is distributed through the bank window at the City Hall post office.

One of the largest banks in New York city, which has a great number of correspondent banks in other cities, estimates that checks for $12,000,000 to $20,000,000 reach its offices daily by air mail. Allowing the same minimum for the aggregate of all other banks in the city—which probably is far below the real amount—gives a total of $24,000,000 arriving here daily by air mail.

Counting 300 business days in the year, this means that capital arrives here by air at the rate of $7,200,000,000 a year.

Financial air mail rarely flies from New York. This is because there is no reason for New York banks to use outgoing air mail.

There is one bank, however, that has found a use for the outgoing air mail. This bank uses it in an interesting way to protect itself in opening accounts for persons out of town.

When an unidentified person presents himself at this bank and offers a check drawn on a Chicago bank to open an account his check and specimen signature are accepted. The two are then forwarded to the Chicago bank by the night's air mail with a request for telegraphic verification. This verification arrives the next day.

The rates quoted above are Station-to-Station night rates, effective from 8:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m.

A Station-to-Station call is one that is made to a certain telephone, rather than to some person in particular, which would be a Person-to-Person call.

If you do not know the number of the distant telephone, give the operator the name and address and specify that you will talk with "anyone" who answers at the called telephone. Day rates, 4:30 a. m. to 7 p. m., and evening rates, 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., are higher than night rates. A Person-to-Person call, because more work is involved, costs more than a Station-to-Station call. The rate on a Person-to-Person call is the same at all hours.

So ORIGINAL AND DIFFERENT that Comparisons are Impossible

Frankly, The Victory has left current practice so far behind that comparisons are impossible.

Conservative drivers will never really discover the car's astonishing resources.

They will delight in its pick-up and low gas needs—its comfort and streamline beauty.

But the magnificent, all-day speed of the car—its faultless smoothness over clods and cobbles—are thrills that await the adventurer!

Six powerful cylinders are six powerful reasons for this. A seventh vital reason is the basic Victory ideal!

For the first time in motor car history, chassis and body are a unit. Floor and seats are built in the chassis. The wide Victory chassis frame replaces the customary body sill—and eliminates the customary body overhang. The body itself has only 8 major parts!

The result is 175 less pounds, 330 less parts; standard road and head clearance, yet a car that is extremely low, steady and safe—with a power plant stripped for instant and brilliant action!

And the smartest car at the price ever created!

HARRY GERMAN

GOVERNOR GREEN PAYS TRIBUTE TO BASE BALL PLAYER AT COMMUNITY DINNER LAST FRIDAY EVENING.

At a community dinner at which four hundred Northville citizens were in attendance, at the high school gymnasium last Friday evening, Governor Fred W. Green paid tribute to Harry S. German, Northville's famous athlete and base ball pitcher. To everyone in this neck of the woods, who follows base ball, he is a most vital force in its promotion, having been a "star player" for three generations, and is still young despite his 54 years.

At the conclusion of Governor Green's talk, he presented a medal to the former leaguer, who played last year with the Detroit House of Correction Farm team, and achieved the unique record of having pitched three full games one Sunday last fall, covering the entire twenty-seven innings without a hitch.

German holds a world record made in 1903 at Louisville, where he pitched a game in one hour and 3 minutes for the Toledo team of the American Association. He is now organizing a club for next year, and expects to act as its pitcher, despite his approach to his fifty-fifth birthday.

Others who spoke at the dinner were Mayor Elmer E. Smith of Northville; Edward Denniston, superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction; William H. Maybury, Capt. W. S. Gilbreath, of the Detroit Automobile Club; Elton R. Eaton, Northville editor, and William A. Mara, of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation. W. J. Murphy was toastmaster.

Several of the speakers touched upon the proposed paving of the Moreland avenue road from Plymouth through Northville on Center street to Grand River avenue. This would do away with several railroad grade crossings. A committee from Northville and Plymouth has been working upon this improvement for some little time, and it looks as if it would be a reality in the near future.

Quite a number of Plymouth citizens were present at the banquet, and all report a most wonderful time.

The personnel of the squads includes: Viola Rhee of Muskegon Heights; Jeanette Johnson, Kalamazoo; Helen Lambert, Kalamazoo; Beatrice Termeer, Grand Rapids; Jean McClave, Benton Harbor; Mildred Siltner, Kalamazoo; Virginia Carroll, Traverse City; Dorothy Daniels, Jackson; Laura Merritt, Constantine; Lucile Lindsley, Lawrence; Iole Thompson, Freepport; Harriet Rode, Ludington; Florence Flach, Scotts; Evangeline Greenman, Kalamazoo; Julia Sales, Kalamazoo; Beatrice Edson, Hudsonville; Sarajane Linsinger, Flint; Norma Bliss, Harbor Springs; Helen Fuller, Kalamazoo; Mrs. Grace Sanford, Jackson; Deldae Myrick, Watervliet; Grace Benwick, Kalamazoo; Margaret Hagerson, Kalamazoo; Maude Lamphere, Grand Ledge, and Doris Boone, Hillsdale.

CANTON HOME FURNISHING.

Tuesday, January 24th, the Canton Home Furnishing class met with Mrs. Honeywell, on Burroughs avenue. The use, size and exposure of the room was taken into consideration, the different kinds of wall coverings, the woodwork and floors. The discussions on individual problems are particularly interesting, and all are anticipating the next meeting to be held February 28th at the home of Mrs. Sam Spicer.

MEXICANS INSPECT SUPER-HIGHWAY OF DETROIT AREA

The Superhighway system of the Detroit area including Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, was declared to be the most interesting, the most complete and the most ambitious program of any similar highway development in the United States, by four important members of the Mexican National Highway Commission, who made a two-day survey of the roads in this section. The visiting delegation, headed by Senor Antonio Dadraco, former governor of Guanajuato, and member of President Calles' official family and president of the Mexican National Highways Commission, included Julio Garcia, Ignacio Morales Zaragossa, and Jose Rivera, engineers, was a unit of the Pan American group representing all countries of Central and South America at the Annual Road show and convention of the American Road Builders' Association, held recently in Cleveland. The men from Mexico are spending some time in this country studying American road projects and naturally were much interested in studying the Master Plan of Superhighways here.

Mexico is proceeding with an elaborate program of National Highways of transcontinental character, which will connect the highways of the United States at important border cities with the great roads of Mexico. The countries of Central America will build roads that will link the Mexican roads to a network of highways that will open the charm of Latin America to all motorists.

The Mexicans were taken on two 150-mile trips over the roads in the Detroit area, and then had opportunity to view the panorama from the air. They were much impressed, especially with the idea of wide rights of way which will permit of further pavement widenings as the needs of the future require. While in Detroit they were guests of the Detroit Automobile Club.

AROUND ABOUT US

Daniel Boon of Plymouth, has opened a barber shop at Wayne.

The Ann Arbor branch of the Detroit Automobile Club has 1,600 members.

Work is to start April 1st, on a paved highway between Pontiac and Oxford.

Mrs. Jane Sessions of Northville, has had the same postoffice box number in the Northville post office for over 75 years.

The Graham-Paige plant at Wayne, will soon begin production, and plans are being made to build 200 automobile bodies daily.

Hotly electors will vote February 27, on a project to give a thirty-year franchise to the Consumers Power Co. for supplying gas for heating and cooking purposes.

A petition is being circulated in Wayne and vicinity which will be presented to John S. Haggerty, secretary of state, asking him to establish a branch office there for the distribution of automobile plates.

Plans for the widening of Michigan avenue call for the construction of a 204-ft. right-of-way from the village of Wayne west to the county line, a distance of approximately eight miles. Work will begin as soon as roads can be built in the spring.

The proposed Presbyterian church and student building which is to be erected on the site of the old Damon homestead on Washtenaw avenue and Hill street, Ann Arbor, will cost approximately $500,000. Building operations are expected to start in the spring.

You can lick your postage stamps in perfect safety. The matter is something that Postmaster Neal has been worrying about for months. So the other day he wrote to the postal officials in Washington to find out what constitutes the glue on the stamps. He received a letter back from Washington stating that the dextrine was derived from the roots of the cassava plant, and that the glue was good for indigestion as well as measles.—Northville Record.

A Milford man must take the pasteur treatment as a result of being bitten by a rabid horse. Several animals on the farm were bitten by a stray dog in October, which later proved to have rabies. Some of the stock died. Two of the horses, known to have been bitten, were treated, and when a third not known to have been a victim of the dog, was taken sick the other day the man attempted to give it medicine and was bitten. Later the horse died of an unmistakable case of rabies.

Anyway, those New Year's resolutions didn't do any harm.

STATE CHIROPRACTORS' MID-WINTER CONVENTION

The Michigan State Chiropractors held their mid-winter convention in Detroit, at the Hotel Tuller, January 21 and 22. The convention was well attended, their being about five hundred chiropractors present. There were several very interesting and educational talks given.

The main speakers at the convention were Dr. Paul J. Philipp, D. C., president of the Michigan State Chiropractors Association; Dr. Steinhilber, Mrs. Laura Little, A. M. LL., and Dr. B. J. Palmer, D. C. Ph. C., of Davenport, Iowa. On Sunday afternoon, Dr. Palmer gave a lecture on the science and progress of chiropractic, and on Sunday evening the title of his lecture was "Fog." It was considered by the majority present to be one of the best lectures that Dr. B. J. Palmer has ever given.

This lecture on "Fog" is one of Dr. Palmer's own origin, and it was the first time that it has been given in Michigan. Dr. Palmer is a very noted lecturer, and is in constant demand since starting his tours of lectures May 1, 1909. He has traveled 520,000 miles. Just in the past year he has covered forty of the forty-eight states, and has crossed the American continent four times. Dr. Palmer is the man who developed chiropractic, and has made it what it is today. His father, D. D. Palmer, was the founder of chiropractic. Dr. Palmer owns and operates the Palmer School of Chiropractic at Davenport, Iowa, and radio station WOC.

On Monday and Friday evenings, you can hear Dr. Palmer on the air from station WOC. His subjects on Monday nights are "China," and on Friday nights, "Mrs. Abraham Lincoln."

MUST STRETCH TIME FOR FARMERS WEEK

MEETINGS OF 39 ASSOCIATIONS CROWD SCHEDULE FOR BIG GATHERING AT M. S. C. JAN. 30—FEB. 3.

With meetings of 39 different state farm groups and organizations scheduled in addition to the general conferences, the program for Farmers Week at M. S. C., January 30 through February 3, has taxed the elastic properties of time to the limit.

Eighteen different livestock associations, representing dairy and beef cattle, sheep, and swine, form one of the largest groups. Crops, soils, poultry, forestry and many other phases of agriculture will be represented in the various special meetings.

The big general meetings, which will be held in the new demonstration hall, are all scheduled for afternoons and evenings, leaving mornings open for sectional meetings.

Eight shows, or groups of exhibits, are listed among the display features.

UNIQUE THURSDAY PROGRAM

A program decidedly different from the usual lineup for Farmers Week has been listed for Thursday evening, February 2. Everything from a condensed livestock showing to athletic stunts will be brought on this "circus day" program.

Last year's national championship pulling team, owned by the Owosso Sugar Co., will stage a demonstration pull in front of the speakers stand, while a "greased pig" contest, burdling by hunters from the M. S. C. cavalry detachment, and a band concert, will be worked around the only speech of the evening, to be given by James Schermerhorn, of Detroit, known as one of America's leading humorous speakers.

100,000,000 Records of War Being Filed

Washington.—Progress in the classifying and filing of approximately 100,000,000 documents which the World War added to the records of the office of the adjutant general of the army has been reported by the War Department.

The mass of documents includes not only the individual records of men in the army, but the correspondence and other papers of all the war-time camps, the forces in France and Siberia and the Army of Occupation in Germany. With the exception of the records of general headquarters in France and the Army of Occupation, all were received after the war in various conditions of disarrangement.

4-Door Sedan, f. o. b. Detroit Full Factory Equipment

Six months on the highways of the world have established this car's right, beyond dispute, to the title "America's Fastest and Finest Four".

If mile-a-minute performance, lightning acceleration, custom beauty, and limousine comfort, were all it possessed, the story would not be half so impressive.

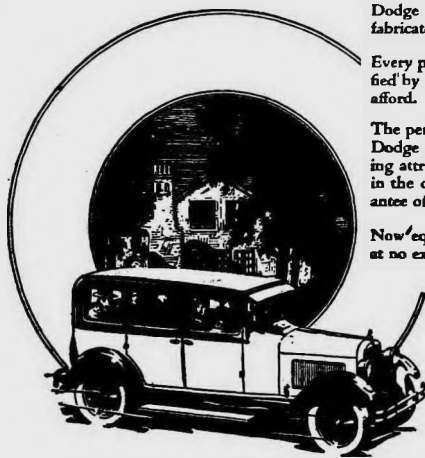

In Dodge Brothers Four these are simply the outward expression of exceptional inward fineness. No Dodge Brothers Four in thirteen years of quality building has been built so well.

Materials are selected with every advantage of Dodge Brothers vast purchasing resources, and fabricated with minute precision.

Every point that sustains excessive stress is fortified by the finest metals that the world's markets afford.

The performance, comfort and style you get in Dodge Brothers Four are not therefore the fleeting attributes of newness. They are deep-rooted in the car's structural quality—the surest guarantee of long and dependable service at low cost.

Now equipped with Steeldraulic 4-wheel brakes at no extra cost.

SCHOOL NOTES

MISS HODGE

Most of the 1-A children will have finished their work for the semester in fine shape. Groups one and two are doing splendid work in reading, both orally and silently. The work in numbers is progressing nicely. They started the study of the combinations two weeks ago. Most of them have twenty-six addition facts thoroughly learned. In writing they have learned three capital letters, and are able to write many words. We have stressed good form and muscular movement in writing.

—Elaine Hamilton.

B-1 GRADE—MRS. ROOT

In their individual reading work in print, Keith Jolliffe, Neil Donovan, Bobby Hull, Arthur Huston and Jean Woodworth have finished the Elson primer and are reading in the Child Library book. 4-C PROGRAM

Tuesday during fifth hour, a very clever act based on the 4-C campaign was given in Room 14. Those taking part were:

Doctors—Mac Donnelly and David Nichol

Mrs. Schoolhouse—Beulah Coe

Her children—Lynford Fritz, Melvin Blunk, Stephen Horvath

Mrs. Schoolhouse brought her children to the doctor's because they were doing poor school work. They were suffering from unfairness in classes, using "ponies," unclear speech, and lack of application. The cure for these ailments was found in applying the 4-C's.

—Janet Blickenstaff

An interesting report on the four classes of freight was given recently by John Welch in the 7-A arithmetic class.

BASKETBALL

Another victory was won for Plymouth last Friday night, when Plymouth played Dearborn, in two basketball games. The first game, played between the two second teams, was close from the beginning to the end.

Three first free substitutes played on the second team, making it about the size of Dearborn's second team. Both teams were evenly matched, and they both played evenly, fighting all the while.

Plymouth was about three points ahead until the very last, when with only about two minutes to play, with the score 14 to 12, Dearborn made a basket, tying the score, and at the same time they had a free shot that could put Dearborn ahead, but they missed it. With only seconds to play and, both sides yelling, a jump was called. Dearborn tipped the ball to one of her men. He passed it to another who easily made a basket, which surprised Plymouth, and won the game for Dearborn with a score of 14 to 76.

The first teams also played a close game. Both teams knew that it would be a close game, and they soon started it that way. Team work and good passing throughout the game brought the score up for Plymouth, and very good guarding made it hard for Dearborn to make any close baskets. The game ended with the score 34 for Plymouth, and 13 for Dearborn.

When the first game was half over the bleachers were full, and the standing room was crowded. The stage was taken up by the Plymouth High School band which played many fine numbers. At this game also, the Girl Reserves had charge of the new system of ushering which worked very well.

4 C'S CAMPAIGN

The annual 4 C's campaign, sponsored by the Girl Reserves and H-Y clubs, was begun on last Friday and concluded on Tuesday. The meaning of the 4 C's is: (1) Clean Athletics, (2) Clean Speech, (3) Clean Scholarship, (4) Clean Living. These campaigns are observed by all the H-Y clubs in Michigan. Every Girl Reserve and Camp Fire organization have also taken active parts. Blotter for the campaign were given out by the Camp Fire girls, the Girl Reserves and the H-Y club.

The following students gave talks opening the campaign: Joy McNabb, Margaret Dunning, Mae Donnelly, Angeline Rousseau, David Nichol and Lynn Partridge. These speeches were given Friday afternoon in the junior and senior assembly halls. The campaign was summarized Tuesday afternoon by Boyd Walker of the Detroit "Y," who climaxed the 4 C's campaign perfectly.

Miss MacIntosh, Girl Reserve secretary of Detroit, met with the ring committee and talked over recommendations for Girl Reserve rings.

The majority of the Girl Reserves attended the Honor Court held in Detroit, at the Women's City Club, Saturday afternoon.

The home economics class composed of the ninth, tenth and eleventh grade girls, entertained their mothers, fifteen in number, at a dinner held in the cooking room, Wednesday, January 18. Thelma Smith was the hostess.

The following new subjects will be offered next semester: Economics, agricultural economics, commercial geography, botany and horticulture. The cards and reports of the first semester will be issued Wednesday, February 1st.

The public speaking class has finished humorous readings, and is now working on declamations.

Mrs. Wulpple's English 11 class has been studying major American poets: Lowell, Longfellow, Whittier, Whitman and Holmes.

Due to some error in the basketball schedule, we will now publish the correct one: Jan. 27, Farmington, there; Jan. 31, Howell, here; Feb. 3, Ypsilanti, here; Feb. 7, Howell, there; Feb. 10, Northville, here; Feb. 14, Farmington, here; Feb. 17, Wayne, there; Feb. 21, Ypsilanti, there; Feb. 24, Dearborn, there.

The Girls Glee Club sang at the Rotary luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower. The two selections were "Sing On" by L. Denza, and "Along the Gypsy Trail," by J. Brahms.

The first of the class assembly programs was given by the senior class last Wednesday. Angeline Rousseau opened the program with a piano solo. Joy McNabb gave a humorous reading. The final rehearsal of the play "No, No," was given by five members of the class. It was very humorous at the conclusion, but the over-exaggerated "horse play" at the beginning climaxed its merits.

The new officers of the H-Y club for the second semester, are as follows: President, Erwin Foster; vice-president, Charles Beagle; secretary, Cecil Packard; treasurer, Beryl Smith.

A new organization has pushed its head up into that now occupied by the H-Y club. A Torch Club has been organized. A committee of the H-Y together with Mr. Cobb, the new leader, were chosen, and others able to lead, met and have chosen the following boys to represent their fellow members in the first steps of organization: Louis Straub, Vaghn Ford and Gerald Hondorp. The purpose and objects of this chapter will be almost the same as the H-Y which is, "To create, maintain and extend throughout the high school and community high standards of Christian character."

Gerald Hondorp was chosen the temporary chairman until the second semester, when the constitution will be made and officers elected.

THE THEATRE

"HER WILD OAT"

Colleen Moore, vivacious First National star, comes to the Penningman Allen theatre here next Sunday and Monday, January 29 and 30, in her latest John McCormick comedy-drama, "Her Wild Oat."

An all-star cast supports Miss Moore in this picture. Marshall Neilan, famous director, who made some of the star's outstanding hits, directed "Her Wild Oat," adding innumerable comedy touches for which he is so renowned.

"Her Wild Oat" shows Miss Moore as a little lunch wagon owner who takes her life's savings and spends every cent on one week of luxury and thrills at an exclusive seacoast resort. Her hoped-for splash in society is only a ripple, however, and she is persuaded by a newspaper reporter friend to obtain recognition by impersonating a duchess. After a day of worried glory, the pseudo duchess is exposed, and Colleen's troubles begin all over again.

Coronado Beach, one of the world's playgrounds for the wealthy, was used as the location for the making of the exterior scenes, while an unusually large building program was instituted at the First National Studios to provide the settings representing portions of New York.

Larry Kent, who left the medical college of the University of California to enter motion pictures, plays the chief supporting role with Gwyn Lee.

Hallam Cooley, Fritz Ridaway and others in important parts.

Gerald Duffy wrote the script.

According to advance reports, "Her Wild Oat" is up to the usual exceptionally high Colleen Moore standard. Her role as a lunch-wagon proprietress and a titled member of ultra-society afford her many unique opportunities to provide arch merriment.

Miss Moore is regarded as the screen's sprightliest comedienne.

"7TH HEAVEN"

"7th Heaven" has been brought to the screen and will be shown for the first time in Plymouth at the Penningman Allen theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 31 and February 1.

This picture, based on the play by Austin Strong, is said by all critics to be one of the finest productions of any type ever screened. Taken from every angle it is perfection, and more than that it has lost none of the appeal or beauty of the original play.

The atmosphere of the Paris Montmartre, where the plot of the story is laid, is accurately carried out in the settings and the photographic effects. The story follows the play itself, but bringing into actual view those things that could only be talked about in the play, thereby heightening the interest and adding greatly to the entertaining value of the picture.

The characterizations of the players are said to be inspired, particularly that of Janet Gaynor, who appears as the winsome, frightened and finally glorified "Diane," and Charles Farrell, who is the handsome, egotistical, generous and thoroughly lovable "Chico."

"7th Heaven" is the story of two of the lowest types of Parisians, a worker in the sewers of Paris and a waltz of the Paris streets. But because of the glorious doctrine of courage which it preaches and the marvelous things it does to both of their characters it has been called one of the greatest and one of the most beautiful love stories ever written. The play created a sensation when produced for a record run on Broadway, and the picture is surpassing the reputation established by the play.

Besides the two principals the cast includes Ben Bard, David Butler, Albert Gran, Gladys Brockwell, George Stone, Emile Chautard, Marie Mosquini and Brandon Hurst.

Frank Borzage directed the production.

"FIGURES DON'T LIE"

If you like good wholesome entertainment that keeps you laughing throughout the evening and then sends you home with a satisfied glow don't fail to see Edward Sutherland's Paramount picture starring Esther Ralston, "Figures Don't Lie," at the Penningman Allen theatre, Thursday and Friday, February 2 and 3.

It is a type of picture there should be more of. It doesn't claim to be an epic or to portray history making events. It is just a charming human story that makes you feel good all over.

Esther Ralston as a private secretary is altogether lovely and it isn't at all hard to see why Richard Arlen, who works in the same office, falls in love with her. Miss Ralston wears beautiful but simple costumes that are apt to set new styles for business girls. She is strikingly beautiful in her bathing costume in the beach scene that features one of the exciting parts of the picture.

Richard Arlen portrays a lovable type of irrespressible youth who won't take "no" for an answer.

Ford Sterling never had a better laugh producing role than that of "Howdy" Jones, absent minded business man and he realizes its full possibilities. Blanche Payson is a scream as the jealous wife. Doris Hill, whose ability in leading roles has often been demonstrated, is charming and convincing as Mamie, the girl friend of Miss Ralston.

The story is fast moving, convincing and altogether charming. To miss "Figures Don't Lie" is to pass up a delightful evening's entertainment. The screen play was written by Louise Long and Ethel Doherty from B. F. Zeldman original.

Today's Reflections

Two of the worst pests in cold weather—a nose that runs all the time and a ear that runs only part of the time.

The reason they didn't have rear-view mirrors in the good old horse-and-buggy days around Plymouth is because there were no speed cops.

It's going to be good weather for an automobile war and the average buyer will enjoy the show.

"Whatever goes up has to come down" doesn't seem to hold good in the matter of the length of skirts.

When we see immature Plymouth boys and girls driving a car without accident our faith in the wonders of providence are strengthened.

The old overcoat didn't choose to run for a fourth term, either, but it later was forced to reconsider.

Billy Sunday has threatened to run for president if two wets are nominated. If he does he'll find it a longer run than from third base to the home plate.

We heard a Plymouth bachelor say yesterday that a man doesn't have to be a bigamist to have one wife too many.

The Baltimore city council has passed an ordinance changing the names of 500 streets. The popular songs there now will be "Show Me the Way to Go Home."

Another reason more young people don't stay home at night is because they're afraid to remain alone after dark.

Wisdom is just as desirable as happiness, but for some reason or other there are not so many people in pursuit of it.

Plymouth boys have already counted the days until school is out and their daddies have figured how long it will be until he can dig a few fishing worms.

There's still a lot of luck left around Plymouth. We know some fellows who got both socks and neckties for Christmas.

Mrs. Munger and Philosophy

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD
(Copyright.)

MRS. MUNGER sat in her sunny kitchen shelling peas. She wasn't thinking about the peas, however. She was thinking about her daughter.

Mrs. Munger was forty-three years old and her daughter was just half as old as she was. She had no son, although she had always wanted one of her own, had looked forward to the time when Mary would bring home a son-in-law. But, somehow or other, she had never thought of her as bringing home anybody just like Lewis Winter.

It was hard, at the beginning of middle age, to have to consider changing one's philosophy of life, yet that was exactly what Josephine Munger was doing. Hitherto, through storm and stress, she had always clung to a firm belief that, sooner or later, things generally turned out for the best. But, if Mary married Lewis, and probably at this very minute they were already married, she could no longer subscribe to that tenet. It could not be for the best for her lovely daughter to throw herself away on a handsome young good-for-nothing with only his looks and his father's money to recommend him.

She drew her thumb along the last pod, and rose to set the peas on the range. As she did so she glanced at the clock. Mary and Lew would be home any minute now and she had yet to decide just what her attitude was going to be. Should she, or should she not, accept and forgive Mary's act? That of running away with Lew, for that was what it amounted to.

Tucked in her mirror, Mrs. Munger had found her daughter's pathetic little note:

"Mother dear:
"Because you are hating so much the thought of my marrying Lew, I want to get it over with, so I am driving to Manxville this afternoon to marry him. Please apply a little bit of your own philosophy that things do turn out for the best and forgive your always loving daughter."

As she busied herself with supper preparations, Mrs. Munger tried to view the situation fairly. Perhaps Lew would settle down after marriage. Perhaps her fondness for Tom Osgood and her old hope that Mary might care for him had helped prejudice her against Lewis. All that seemed to be left for her to do was to make the best of the situation. She would reconcile herself to that.

Yet her heart fluttered nervously as she heard a car draw up outside and stop. She gained control of herself, however, as she heard some one run up the path and then Mary herself calling out "good-by." It would be just like Lewis to let his new wife face the music alone, and yet it would be a tremendous relief not to have him present during those first few exciting minutes.

Mary went straight over to her mother and put her arms around her. She was flushed and her eyes shone, yet there was a sad little look about her mouth that somehow went to her mother's heart. She gathered her to her even before she heard what Mary had to say.

"It's all off, mother, just as I know you hoped it would be, between Lew and me. Just don't make me tell you about it until I've had my supper."

Afterwards, out in the couch hammock on the porch, she told her mother the whole story.

"I guess," she began slowly, "you're responsible. Do you remember telling me once that a good test for a man was whether you'd want to be in a tight place with him or in trouble of some sort with him in control? Those words came back to me when, driving through Kenton, Lew mistook a traffic signal and nearly had a smash-up."

"The traffic man called Lew down and he flew into a terrible rage."

"And even after we finally got out of the crowd and away, Lew seemed to forget we were actually on our way to be married and all he could think of was what a fool the policeman was—according to him—and he was cross with me because I wouldn't agree with him."

"I got to thinking about it, and, all of a sudden, it came to me that there must be tight places in life worse than being mixed up with a traffic cop."

Mrs. Munger smiled in the darkness. "Yes," she said, "there are."

"When we reached Manxville, I told Lew I had absolutely changed my mind and that I wouldn't even ride back with him. And what do you think? He was so provoked with me, he drove right away without even asking me how I was going to get home!"

"Well," said her mother, "how did you?"

"Tom Osgood brought me back," said Mary simply. "I was standing beside a trolley pole, wondering if their old trolleys ever did run, when he drove by, stopped and backed up to me. I think maybe he suspected something was wrong from the way I looked. He didn't seem surprised to see me or anything. Just asked if he could take me home. I think, mother," she wound up, "that things do turn out all right, don't you?"

And Mrs. Munger, pressing her daughter to her, forgot that she had considered changing the philosophy that had stood by her for forty-odd years. "I certainly do. Hark—did that car stop?"

"Probably," said Mary. "It's only Tom."

"Did you see that conductor look at you as if you had not paid your fare?"

"Yes, and did you see me look at him as if I had?"

VIRGINIA HAS BIG FOREST ACREAGE

Old Dominion Still Ranks 21st Among States.

Richmond, Va.—Virginia's forest area comprises 12,000,000 acres, according to a statistical survey compiled by Dr. Wilson Gee and J. J. Curson of the University of Virginia. Twenty states have a greater acreage in forest. Of these Oregon is first with 23,275,000 acres of her land area known as forest land.

Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia and Minnesota have more than 20,000,000 acres covered with timber. Sixteenth place in the amount of lumber cut, with a total of 708,180 feet, board measure, Washington cut the most, 7,027,325 feet, while Oregon was second with 4,216,383. Eleven other states cut more than 1,000,000 feet of lumber that year. They were Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, California, Nevada, Arkansas, Texas, Georgia, Idaho, Wisconsin and North Carolina. Rhode Island cut the smallest amount of lumber, only 3,686 feet. Utah, Kansas, Delaware and New Jersey were the only other states to cut less than 10,000 feet.

Rhode Island also has the smallest area of her land in timber, 280,000 acres being listed as forest land. Delaware is next with 380,000 acres in forest.

Total land in timber in the United States is 400,475,000 acres, while 38,338,641 feet of timber were cut in all the states during 1925.

Don't Expect to Be Sick

Too many people seem to look forward to the season of the year when their favorite disease will make itself felt.

It is surprising how few of these people are disappointed.

If you want sickness hunt for it, think about it and expect it. If you want health, want to live happily with those about you, want to enjoy life, want to be alive, alert and keen for the big things in life, take adjustments regularly.

No honest Chiropractor guarantees results but he will make an examination of your spine and tell you, with a remarkable degree of accuracy, what chances you have of getting fit and well.

If he says "I believe I can help you" you will make no mistake in accepting this hopeful bit of encouragement. Take adjustments.

FARMERS WILL TEST SKILL WITH RIFLES

M. S. C. REVIVES OLD TIME TURKEY SHOOT AS FEATURE OF FARM WEEK, JAN. 30—FEB. 3.

Old timers who attended turkey shoots and tried to line their sights on the bobbing head of a gobbler years ago will have a chance to determine whether the passage of time has affected their skill, when they compete in rifle matches being arranged by the military department at Michigan State College for Farmers Week, January 30 to February 3.

The matches will be shot on the indoor range in the new demonstration hall. Shooting conditions will be more comfortable than they were at the old time shoots, but it is doubtful whether the interest in the score will be any more intense. Rifles and ammunition will be furnished for all entrants in the contest.

Other entertainment features will be mixed with the more serious side of the program all through Farmers Week. Band concerts, group singing, and special stunts and exhibits of various kinds are listed for each day.

Women who attend the big conference will find a special program of their own under the "homemakers' section." Matching meeting for meeting, speaker for speaker, and exhibit for exhibit, the ladies will be busy all through the week, while the "men folk" are attending the more strictly agricultural sessions.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says he could enjoy classical music over the radio more if so many of the singers didn't sound as though they were only hitting on one tounil.

Modern motorists are not the only people who have troubles. Look how long old Noah had to float around in the ark until he found a parking place.

"A question in etiquette I haven't had answered yet," says Dad Plymouth, "is whether the man or the woman should go through the windshield first when they're in a head-on collision."

An eastern doctor says every human being should live to be at least 140 years old. Just think of feeling young at 100.

"I know a lot of women who suffer from car sickness," asserts Dad Plymouth. "That is, it makes 'em sick to think a neighbor has a better car than they've got."

Dad Plymouth says his neighbors can believe in groundhog forecasts if they want to, but that it takes more than a groundhog to make him change his B. V. D's in the middle of winter.

If congress starts to try to improve radio broadcasting it'll be time to tune out and go to bed.

According to Dad Plymouth, the difference between the present and past generation is the past believed in hiding both its slus and its shins.

Jewelry and furriers have probably done more to heal domestic troubles than all the judges of this republic.

"Where did the car hit him?" asked the coroner.

"At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," replied the medical witness.

The foreman of the jury rose from his seat.

"Man and boy I've lived in these parts for fifty years, he protested, ponderously, "an I never heered of the place."

THINKING FOR YOURSELF.
AGE BEING PUSHED BACK.
EXTRA WEIGHT TIRES HEART.
RAT-PROOF BUILDING.

An expedition of the California Academy of Sciences returns from the mysterious Galapagos Islands bringing giant lizards, only survivors of the Mesozoic age, and, more interesting to the youth of America, "flightless" cormorants, huge birds that have lost their power to fly because they have not flown for so long.

What applies to flying for yourself applies to thinking for yourself. It's easy to lose that faculty. Darwin visited those islands more than seventy-five years ago, and would have liked to explore the inaccessible mountain tops that no one thus far has visited.

B. C. Forbes says that great banking houses, notably Morgan & Co., biggest of the aggressively enterprising firms, admit to partnership men about forty years old. Davison, Lamont, Morrow and other important Morgan partners were taken in at about forty, the age supposed to combine sound judgment with power to carry a heavy load.

In other days forty began the "gray-haired" age. Great careers, Alexander and Napoleon, the two most spectacular, were over at that age. Age is pushed farther and further back, and the J. P. Morgan of 200 years hence may be selecting seventy-five-year-old partners for their "combination of mental and physical strength."

Senator Capper, of Kansas, seeks reduction in railroad freights on grain. Not all farmers realize that Uncle Sam's money has been spent to make it impossible for farmers in some parts of the United States to compete with Canadian farmers. Northwest Canadian wheat reaches our East Coast and Europe, through the Panama Canal, at low freight rates. This country built the canal, taxing its citizens, and lets the whole world use the Canal at the same rate as American's pay.

If you are too fat, you treat your heart unjustly. So says Dr. James McLester. The heart works harder to carry extra weight, but that is only part of it. Fifty to one hundred useuseless pounds of weight represent endless billions of living cells that demand nourishment, heat, water, and their added share of the energy that causes metabolism, or change of tissue.

Extra weight tires the body, brain and heart, constituting a "loafer class" or idle rich class in the system that shortens life, diminishes comfort and usefulness. In that, a human body is like a government. Idle rich that consume and contribute nothing, except silly opinions, are harmful to the entire body politic and a way should be found to make them work.

Los Angeles sets a good example to other cities, ordering rat-proof features in all new buildings. It would be an excellent idea, and economical in the long run, to make old buildings also rat-proof, the city paying the cost. Modern destructive insects might be used for rat, mouse and insect extermination, including the destruction of the dangerous flea-carrying ground squirrels and gophers.

Professor Ross, of Wisconsin University, is worried about over-population of the earth. Let married people have four children to a family, let the children marry and do likewise, and population doubles every twenty years. At that rate, this country, in forty years, could have 460,000,000 people, more than China, and in one hundred years, our population would be 3,840,000,000, more than twice the earth's present population.

A doctor of Manhattan Kan., believes he has found a cure for pyorrhea. Mr. Gundlach of Chicago thinks he also knows a cure.

A real cure of that course would be worth fifty millions to its discoverer, and would be cheap at twice that.

will all be glad to welcome him back next Sunday, and we hope that he and Mrs. Lendrum have enjoyed their trip.

Mrs. Marie Whitney delightfully entertained her Junior Sunday-school girls at a party at her home, last Saturday afternoon. Games were played, and a delicious supper was served at five o'clock.

We are sorry to lose Wayne Van Dyne, as he leaves to sing in the Holy Redeemer church, Detroit.

CATHOLIC NOTES

The new church, as well as the auditorium, is just about completed, and it was the privilege of the parishioners to inspect the plant last Sunday, and each felt highly satisfied with the results accomplished, and each is now ready to carry on the social activities of the parish in their spacious quarters, so well planned out, and so conveniently arranged. A parish meeting was held Thursday evening, so as to make arrangements for the grand opening of the auditorium. Announcements will be made in next week's issue.

Seats in the church will be rented next Sunday, select your place and report the same to the pastor, so that you may be registered among the parishioners.

The meetings of all the societies will be resumed next week. The young people, Nothem Club, will meet Monday night at 8:00 o'clock.

The sick of the parish are still with us, and the list has been augmented with Mrs. A. Yuchasz, who has undergone an operation at Harper hospital, Detroit. She is slowly recovering, and we trust will be with us very soon. John VanBuren is able to be around again, as well as John Mertens. Mrs. Henry Lehman is still a convalescent, and we hope will soon be a complete cure. Little baby Dougan was taken to the hospital for an operation.

Peter Miller was with us last Sunday, returning from Florida with Frank Boyle. Peter intends to return to the land of warmth and sunshine this week, as these wintry blasts do not agree with him. He states that Mrs. Miller is well, and enjoying herself immensely at Lake Worth, Florida.

Next Thursday is Candlemas day; the candles will be blessed and distributed after mass, while Friday is St. Blasé day. Throats will be blessed after mass and in the evening.

Have you made a subscription to the new church? Why not now? Cooperation is the slogan for 1928.

The house at 276 Union street, is for rent.

BAPTIST NOTES

The Baptist church welcomed to their services last Sunday, Miss Zella Towne. Miss Towne rendered several beautiful solos, which were greatly appreciated.

Sunday evening, January 29th, we will have with us a string quartet. The quartet comes to us from Detroit and Windsor. The church extends a cordial invitation to the public to meet with them.

SUNSHINE PARTY

The Livonia Lutheran L. A. S. held its annual "Sunshine Party" at the home of Mrs. Charles Wagenschutz on South Main street, Wednesday afternoon, January 18th. The party was a complete success both socially and financially. A pot-luck supper was served to eighty guests, netting the society over $150. Mrs. William Wolfe, Sr., received the first honor, a large delicious sunshine cake, and smaller cakes of the same kind were awarded to Mrs. John Bayes and Mrs. Fred Melow who won second prizes. The society wishes to thank Mrs. Peters for the cakes, and everyone who helped to make the party a success.
