

WILL CONDUCT BETTER HOMES CAMPAIGN IN PLYMOUTH

Mrs. Thelma Dykehouse Has Been Appointed by Secretary Herbert Hoover as Chairman of Local Committee.

Mrs. Thelma Dykehouse has been appointed by Secretary Hoover as chairman of a committee to conduct a "better homes" campaign in Plymouth.

Mr. Hoover is president of Better Homes in America, an organization which each year sponsors a nationwide educational campaign for better homes. The organization maintains headquarters in Washington, D. C., with James Ford in charge as executive director.

Better Homes in America was established to provide local committees with information as to the ways of improving housing conditions and home life, the work being carried on in communities through volunteer committees of local citizens. The campaign is sponsored locally by such organizations as parent-teachers associations, women's clubs, civic associations and others having an interest in home improvement.

A man or woman who is active in civic affairs is appointed in each community to serve as chairman of the better homes committee for that place. This chairman then selects a committee of representative men and women to conduct the campaign. These campaigns vary according to the size and conditions of the community and include programs of lectures, demonstrations and contests. Wherever possible a house is planned and built according to best recognized standards of building and architecture, to show how a well designed, well constructed house can be brought within the reach of families of modest means. The house is furnished attractively and comfortably, but at a cost in keeping with the cost of the house, and the income and needs of a family that might occupy it. The house is opened to the public during "better homes week" and hostesses are on hand to explain the features of the house and its furnishing and give other information. Sometimes the furnishing of the house is taken as a project by home economics classes, the furniture being loaned by local merchants.

A feature of the 1927 better homes campaign was the showing in several communities of houses designed and built by boys in carpentry classes of local schools. School home economics cottages have been planned and built by better homes committees, and permanent home information centers, where the homemakers of the community can be given practical instruction in household management and the use of labor saving devices and methods, are being established in many communities through the work of better homes committees.

The demonstration of reconditioning an old, dilapidated house, to make it comfortable and convenient, is another phase of "better homes" work. Such houses are usually furnished with done-over furniture and both house and furnishings then become worthwhile object lessons.

The house demonstration is supplemented by contests, such as small house and garden competitions, lot improvement contests and kitchen improvement contests. Schools participate usually through essay and poster contests, taking home building or home making as their subject. Students of home economics give public demonstrations of the use of labor saving devices and methods of performing household operations, such as table setting, serving and bed making.

The central office of Better Homes in America at Washington acts also as a clearing house for information on all phases of home building and home life.

MANY ATTEND ANNIVERSARY PROGRAMS AT LOCAL THEATRE

Large crowds attended the entertainments given at the Penniman Allen theatre last Sunday and Monday evenings on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the theatre. The singing of the Wolverine quartet was especially fine, and won highest praise from all who heard them. The feature picture, "The Gay Retreat," pleased the large audience immensely.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEAR INTERESTING TALK

MISS GLADYS L. PECKHAM GIVES TALK ON "THE BUSINESS OF HOME MAKING" AT LAST FRIDAY'S MEETING.

Commencing with a luncheon at 1:15, there followed an interesting business session. The chair was filled by the president, Mrs. R. E. Cooper. Four topics of study were presented by Mrs. J. T. Chapman, chairman of the program committee, for a vote of the club. "Americanization, with the Immigrant and His Background" was selected for 1928-29 study.

Mrs. Paul Lee, leader of Division B, because of poor health, was unable to act as chairman of the program; therefore, Mrs. Charles Rathbun very graciously filled that capacity.

The first number was two very lovely piano solos by Miss Melissa Roe, "Minnet," by Paderewski, and "To the Rising Sun," by Tarpissen.

The next pleasure was to hear Miss Peckham, a young woman of charming, gracious manner and a pleasing voice. Those of you who have attended her classes conducted in the Federated Utilities gas office realize that her talks are backed by actual knowledge. She is a graduate of Rhode Island State college and also having taken a special course at Columbia university, she comes well recommended to pass on to the women of the community and others the advice and wisdom contained in her talk to the club, entitled, "The Business of Home Making."

Home making today must be organized and conducted in as business-like a way as any other profession. Good housekeeping is essential in making a home, but not every well kept house is a home.

Women are just beginning to find their places in the economic world, and to realize that modern methods and up-to-date appliances are just as important for best results in their homes as they are in other organizations.

"Home makers of the United States add $18,000,000,000 to the total annual income," is an actual estimate of value by the National Bureau of Economic Research put on the occupations of the twenty million women keeping house today.

Classifying the tasks of the average housewife as meal preparation, house-keeping, laundry, sewing and mending, child care and business managing, we find $1751.34 added to the average family income in one year. These surveys show the intrinsic value of the time spent in home making and the importance of using only the necessary time in the kitchen, leaving free hours each day for children, music, books, club work and other interests of the modern woman.

Miss Peckham spoke of the educational work being done by trained home economics women in home service departments in this country, which reached over eight million women in 1925.

Home service offers an opportunity to find out how tremendously interesting home making is, and what a joy to serve wholesome attractive meals to your family and friends in a charming home of your very own, and gladly help with all home problems.

The 1928 home maker must realize that the old "hit or miss" methods are decidedly out of style in housekeeping, and that the "guess work" must be replaced by accurate planning and efficient management if she wishes to succeed in this "Business of Home Making."

Miss Ruth Shattuck, Miss Forsythe and Mrs. Maxwell Moon, accompanied at the piano by Miss Gladys Schrader, delighted the ladies with two beautiful songs, "Land of the Sky Blue Waters," by Cadman, and "Maid of the West."

Special attention is called to the next meeting for February 24, in the Crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower. A study of the Japanese theatre and also a play, "Bushido," by Idemitsu, will be presented. Please mark this date on your calendar.

DEATH OF JOHN OLDENBURG

John Oldenburg was born in Teuchendorf, Mecklenburg, Strelitz, Germany, September 3, 1844, the son of John and Caroline Oldenburg. He was baptised in the Lutheran church of his country, received his education in the parochial school and was confirmed a member of the Lutheran church.

In the year 1870, he came to this country and to Buffalo, N. Y., and there a year later, on October 8, 1871, was united in marriage with Miss Johanna Beyer. This union was blessed by God with seven children, of whom two preceded the father in death, one dying in infancy and the other at the age of sixteen years.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldenburg lived in Buffalo about twelve years, and then moved to Nankin township, Michigan, onto a farm, but for about ten years they have lived here in Plymouth.

Father Oldenburg, with his quiet yet friendly disposition, made many friends. He has been a faithful Christian, a good member of the Lutheran church, a loving husband and father, and a model friend and citizen.

For about a year he complained of stomach and heart trouble, and failed visibly. Since Christmas he had many hours of agony and distress, and longed for the coming of the Lord. He wished to go home.

Monday forenoon at 10:15 his prayer was heard. God gave him a peaceful end. He attained the age of 83 years, five months and ten days, and leaves to mourn their loss, his aged and feeble widow, his children, Carl Oldenburg of Dearborn; Mrs. Minnie Tallman of Detroit; Mrs. Rose Carr of Lansing, and George and Frank Oldenburg of Plymouth; nineteen grandchildren and twenty-two great grandchildren, besides two brothers in Buffalo, N. Y., and many distant relatives.

The funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from St. Peter's Ev. Lutheran church, Rev. Charles Strasen officiating. Interment in the Livonia Center cemetery.

A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Arthur Stevens was very pleasantly surprised by his friends and relatives on Wednesday evening, which was the anniversary of his eighty-seventh birthday. They came with baskets full of good things to eat, and all sat down to a bountiful supper. The table was decorated with a large birthday cake and beautiful flowers. All had a delightful time and went home wishing Mr. Stevens many happy returns of the day.

WILL HOLD MASONIC LODGE OF INSTRUCTION

GRAND LECTURER F. O. GILBERT OF THE GRAND LODGE WILL VISIT PLYMOUTH MASONIC ORDER.

Next Tuesday evening, February 21, the R. W. Grand Lecturer, Frank O. Gilbert, 33rd degree, is to visit the Masonic order of Plymouth for the purpose of holding a "Lodge of Instruction," at the Masonic temple.

It is some years since Grand Lecturer Gilbert last visited Plymouth, and we know that a full number of Plymouth masons will be present to welcome him among us again.

Two other Masonic lodges will unite with Plymouth on this occasion, for the purpose of receiving instruction, Northville and Farmington, and these lodges, the secretary is informed, intend to send a large number of their members on Tuesday evening, and members of surrounding lodges will also be in attendance.

The Plymouth Rock Lodge, No. 47, will exemplify the work of the Master Mason degree.

Supper will be served at 6:00 p. m. sharp, and Plymouth Freemasons are asked to keep that evening in mind.

PLYMOUTH HOCKEY TEAM LOSES TO ANN ARBOR

The newly organized Plymouth hockey team journeyed over to Ann Arbor Sunday morning to play the fast-going Ann Arbor city team, a good game, resulting 3 to 0 in favor of Ann Arbor. The Plymouth team was weakened in the last period by the loss of Rutherford, their star defenseman, who had the misfortune to fracture his collar bone, being accidentally tripped into the boards by an Ann Arbor player. Up to the time of the accident the Ann Arbor team was leading 1 to 0, but the loss of Rutherford put the Plymouth boys at a big disadvantage.

The officers and members of the team want to thank the local business men for their support and co-operation. The lineup for Plymouth was: Goal, Dobbs; defense, Rutherford and Farwell; forwards, Block, Douglas and Gallett; spares, Arnold and Williams.

HARRY NORGROVE PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

Harry Norgrove passed away February 12th, at University hospital, Ann Arbor. After undergoing a serious operation, he regained strength rapidly and was expected home in a few days, his sudden death being caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Norgrove was born in England. He came to this country forty-eight years ago, and settled in Oscoda, Mich. He moved to Plymouth sixteen years ago, where he and his family have since lived. Mr. Norgrove was employed by the Pere Marquette R. R. up until the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. F. J. Pierce, Jr., and four sons, Ivor, of Mio, Mich.; and Arthur, William and Harvard of Plymouth.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Schrader Bros. Funeral Home. Burial took place at Oscoda, on Thursday, February 16th.

FRANK WHITTAKER PASSES AWAY

Frank J. Whittaker was born August 22, 1866, and died February 12, 1928. He was the son of James and Mary Whittaker.

On April 22, 1893 he was united in marriage to Cora Bronson, and to this union was born one son, Clyde. He had always resided near the place of his birth, and was loved and respected by all. He was a kind and loving husband, a devoted father, and was ever ready to lend a helping hand to those in need.

He is survived by his family which includes his wife, his son and wife, and one grandchild, his niece, Maude Graeen, and one brother, Henry Whittaker, besides a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held at Schrader Bros. Funeral Home in Plymouth, Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. J. J. Hallday, assisted by Rev. Parker, conducted the services, and Miss Ruth Hallday sang. A short private service was held at the home Tuesday forenoon.

The profusion of flowers which were sent, and the large number of friends who gathered for the last services, expressed the love and esteem which all felt for him.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD AT ROADSIDE

YOUNG WOMAN FOUND ON FIVE MILE ROAD AT BRADNER ROAD; BULLET HOLES IN HEAD AND BODY.

A young woman between thirty and thirty-five years of age was found dead beside the road on the Five Mile road at Bradner road, Thursday morning about 7:30 o'clock, by Paul Lee and Scott Davis, who were driving on the road. They notified Chief of Police Springer, and the body was brought to the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home.

The woman was shot through the head and abdomen. She wore a black plush coat, and was well dressed. At the time of our going to press, she had not been identified. Mrs. H. C. Robinson, who lives nearby where the body was found, heard what she thought were shots or an automobile back-firing about four o'clock that morning. She got up and went to the window, but could see nothing. After returning to bed, she again heard the same sounds and again went to the window, but could not see a light of any kind or anything moving.

NEW MANAGER AT HOTEL MAYFLOWER

A change in management at the Hotel Mayflower took place Thursday, when John Schlinkert took the place of Sidney Stearns, who has been the resident manager of the hotel since it opened in November. The new manager was formerly day clerk at the Mayflower, but has recently been at Urichville, Ohio, where the Grenoble organization has recently opened a new hotel. Mr. Schlinkert was also formerly connected with the St. Clair Inn.

During the short time he was at the Hotel Mayflower, Johnny made many friends, who will be pleased to learn of his return to Plymouth, and that he is to have charge of the Mayflower.

Mr. Stearns left Wednesday for a visit at his home in Pittsburgh, Pa.

NEW ART STORE WILL OPEN HERE

The Mayflower Art Shoppe is the name of a new store that will open Saturday, February 18th, in the store room adjoining the Mayflower Drug Co., on South Main street. The new store will carry a complete stock of novelties, cards, pictures, pottery, glass, brass, and embroidery goods. A circulating library containing all the very latest books will be maintained. Mrs. B. E. Giles, of this place, will have charge of the store.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the formal opening of the new store Saturday.

EX-SERVICE MEN AND LADIES AUXILIARY MET.

The Ex-Service men and the Ladies Auxiliary held their regular monthly meeting at the Grange hall, Monday February 13th. Although the meeting was well attended, there was room for more. A very appetizing pot-luck supper was served, followed by a business session. Dancing furnished the entertainment for the evening from 9:30 to 11:30. The only members who failed to enjoy themselves were those who were absent.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce membership drive is under way this week, and many have already enrolled in the local organization. Every well recruited and up and doing town has a Chamber of Commerce, and Plymouth needs such an organization. There are many ways in which a Chamber of Commerce can be of service in a community, and the amount of good such an organization can do depends entirely upon the support it is given by the citizens of that community.

During the several years that Plymouth has had an organization of this kind, some splendid things have been accomplished, the most outstanding one of which is the new Hotel Mayflower. Other things just as great and as much needed can be realized if we will unite our efforts upon its accomplishment.

Every citizen is invited to become a member of the Chamber of Commerce. The membership fee is $10.00 per year. Join today.

The following have enrolled, and another list will be published next week: H. S. Ayres, Standish Backus, C. H. Bennett, Burrongha Addiss, Machine Co., Roy E. Crowe, John S. Dayton, Perley H. Deal, Detroit Creamery Co., A. J. Eckles, Claude L. Eckles, Ed. Gayde, General Machine & Iron Works, James B. Hickey, Allan A. Horton, Cass S. Hough, E. O. Huston, Harry S. Lee, Paul J. Nutting, Perry Richwine, L. B. Samsen, Chris Schiesewitz, Fred Schrader, Wm. Streng, Carl Shear, Paul J. Wiedman, Wm. Wood, Harry K. Wrench, F. W. Samsen, Frank Barrows, O. F. Beyer, Carl Helde, Albert Gayde, Frank Rambo, R. F. Valentine.

A CRIME CURE.

There is no disputing the fact that crime is steadily increasing in this country. Reading the daily papers will bear this out, and the cause has come to be a chief topic of conversation in every community. "What's the world coming to?" is a common question asked by Plymouth citizens as they read or hear of this or that new murder, assassination, kidnapping or highway robbery.

All of us have opinions, of course, as to what is causing it; all of us have our pet suggestions for reducing it. But so far as we know personally no one has suggested a more general application of the principles of thrift as a cure. If greater thrift were practiced it would mean that the money now spent in gambling, drinking and general debauchery would flow into the channels of business; that thousands who are trying to get rich over night by all sorts of clap-trap schemes would settle down to sensible methods of saving and living. It would mean the elimination of a thousand and one forms of immorality, waste and extravagance that now lead directly to the commission of crime.

Those determined to get ahead in the world know they cannot do so and spend their money riotously. They know, too, that they must put their time to good account if they want to succeed. There is no way under the sun to compel anyone to practice thrift; no law could be passed that would make people thrifty. But great changes could be brought about through teaching it to the growing boy and girl, and we believe that through such teaching some of them can be diverted from the path of crime to the path of right living.

OUR TOURING ARMY

The American Automobile association is sending newspapers a statement that more than 44,000,000 people will take vacations this year and they will spend $3,500,000,000. The biggest part of them will use autos and there will not be a point in the United States left untouched by some of them. All of which means a lot for the business of the nation. We may not get a very great number through Plymouth, and yet there will be enough of them drifting through to remind us that we are still on the map. We should not, however, lose sight of the fact that the tourist goes where roads are best the better the roads into a community the more of them will visit that community. That means more money spent in those communities. This in itself ought to keep us from losing sight of the fact that we must never let up in a fight that every town in the nation is now engaged in—a fight for still better roads.

THE BIGGEST PROGRAM.

Speaking before a large gathering of farmers in Ohio a few days ago David Friday, one of Uncle Sam's economical experts, made several statements that not only aroused deep interest among his hearers but that will, we feel sure, interest everyone around Plymouth.

He declared that every farm family feeds three city families, and that this being the case, the farmer's biggest problem is marketing. It means that we must give more attention to the work of building more and better highways. By reducing the cost of marketing through a perfect highway system the cost of production is lowered, and the dweller in city and town gets his food at a reduced price without lowering the grower's profit. Land values, he asserts, have reached their lowest point and any changes in prices that may come now should be toward a higher level. He likewise believes that congress will soon extend our tariff laws so as to afford the American farmer greater protection from cheap American products than he has ever had.

"The only farmer who isn't going to prosper," declared Mr. Friday, "is the one who still has war-time prices in mind and who refuses to be content with anything else but war prices. The sooner they realize that a new basis has been established the better off they will be." In other words, he sees a bright season ahead for those who are willing to accept a reasonable profit for their labor, but not for those who insist on getting the unreasonable prices that prevailed during the war, prices that none of us at this time are in position to pay.

THIS EXPENSIVE LIVING.

How times have changed! Here is the story of an Indian who drove down to Pawnee, Okla., in his expensive auto and paid $250 cash for a buffalo so as to have for himself and family the kind of meat Indians have long been used to. This Indian, too, has a right to complain of the high cost of living. Possibly he doesn't since he is an oil millionaire, but only a comparatively few years ago Poor Jo would have stepped out after lunch with his gun and would have brought in his buffalo steak for dinner. And the whole cost would have been one bullet and enough powder to propel it. He could then spend his money, if he had any, for fire-water. Times certainly have changed. Only rich Indians can afford buffalo steaks these days, and at this writing we don't know of any of our well-to-do friends around Plymouth foundering on it.

WE NEED THIS.

There are clubs for most everything under the sun. But there seems to be a field for still one more, so we want to suggest a "Don't-Get-Excited Club," the object of which would be to keep people from coming to the boiling point when it isn't necessary. The trouble with a good many of us in Plymouth is we get too excited over little things and not excited enough over the big ones. Agitation, loss of temper and nervousness over trifling annoyances only serve to waste our energies. In most cases more can be accomplished through coolness and deliberation than through haste, worry and excitement. If a "Don't-Get-Excited Club" could be organized so as to conserve the energy we now waste foolishly it would mean that we had reached a new era of happiness, and one far brighter than anything we've ever dreamed of.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The commission at a regular meeting on January 16, 1928, unanimously passed a resolution that all houses, stores, factories, etc., in the village of Plymouth, adjacent to a sanitary sewer, be connected properly to them by May 1, 1928. All houses, stores, factories, etc., which are not properly connected now to these sewers must also connect properly by May 1, 1928. A permit must be obtained from the village treasurer before any connections are made.

Where the house connection has been put in to the sidewalk line by the contractor, the charge for the permit is $1.00, and where the connection is not in a charge of $25.00 for a permit is made. The village puts them in to the sidewalk line for this $25.00 charge.

These connections must be made with 6-inch standard vitrified sewer pipe, with cement joints. The inside basement drainage and house sewage can go into the sanitary sewers. All roof water, overflows from cisterns and outside basement drainage must go into the storm sewers. Where no storm sewer exists, the roof water must run on the ground. If these connections are not made by May 1, the village will start putting them in and charge the property for it.

BORER CONTROL IS PROFITABLE

Shredding, ensiling, or grinding cornstalks is good farming and means death to the corn borer. Such practices utilize all parts of the corn plant for feed. Although the borer is said to have more than the nine lives of a cat, it can not stand this racket. The shredder and ensilage cutter were both effective weapons in controlling the pest in the infested area of the State last fall.

TOMB OF EMPRESS MADE AGRA FAMOUS

Listed Among World's Most Beautiful Communities.

Washington.—"Agra, central Indian city included in a recent list of the world's twenty most beautiful communities, and famous as site of the Taj Mahal, is a monument in stone to the Mogul empire of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries," says a bulletin from the Washington Geographic society. "While Tudors and Stuarts were governing England, and adventurers of many nations were seeking wealth or freedom in America, descendants of Tamara were building an empire in India which for display and magnificence has never been equaled. Agra, capital of the Great Mogul, was adorned with palaces and mosques which rank today among the wonders of the earth.

Where Chessmen Were Women.

"The Oriental world then bowed before an emperor whose throne, supported by peacocks studded with jewels, cost $100,000. His chess board was a courtyard paved in black and white marble squares, and for chessmen he had slave girls in colored costumes, their movements directed by his voice. Ninety-nine wives were in his harem, a hundred being considered unlucky, and princes from beyond the seas crowded his audience chamber under a ceiling of solid gold. Such was Shah Jehan, during whose reign the Mogul empire reached its golden age, and who built the Taj Mahal as a tomb for his favorite wife, Arjmand Bano, 'the exalted of the palace.'

"Shah Jehan mounted the throne of India by wading through the blood of his male relatives, having killed them all to nip revolution in the bud. He ruled with incredible cruelty and splendor, and died at seventy-four, the prisoner of his usurping son whose mother was the same Arjmand Bano, in whose honor he had built the Taj Mahal. At her death Shah Jehan's hair had turned white, and it was her son who imprisoned his aging father in the fort at Agra and ruled instead.

"The interior of this old red sandstone fort, which is still standing, is filled with the palaces of Mogul emperors, buildings of supreme beauty. In one of them is shown the Jasmine tower which sheltered Shah Jehan's 'exalted of the palace' during her lifetime. Here the emperor had spent many hours with his favorite wife and its platform commands a superb view of her tomb, the Taj Mahal.

"At his own request the aged emperor was brought to die in this favorite haunt of his youth, in sight of the building which has since become his own resting place as well as that of his wife.

"This world-renowned white marble building is set in a beautifully kept garden between two symmetrically placed red sandstone mosques, the whole being kept in perfect repair by the government. Hither, during India's more pleasant fall and winter months, flock thousands of tourists from Europe and America as well as from neighboring countries.

"Palaces of the Mogul emperors, the white marble Pearl mosque, and the nearby tomb of Akbar share with the Taj Mahal the glories of Mohammedan architecture of the past. In a sense Delhi and Agra are to Mohammedan India what Benares is to the Hindu, sacred cities of ancient times. Certainly Agra embodies what is most beautiful in Moslem taste, though several Italian draftsmen are said to have been employed in its plans.

Golf Beside the Taj Mahal.

"The modern city of Agra is a railway and distributing center of importance in north-central India and is capital of the British governed United Provinces, which include the districts of Agra and Oudh. It lies on the banks of the River Jumna, one of the major tributaries of the Ganges. Chief among its industries is export of red sandstone, in which the district abounds, and of which the city itself is constructed. Palaces of modern India, however, though built of the same material, in their elaborate magnificence compare but poorly with the classic design of the ancient Agra. Harmonious lines and delicate balance distinguish the buildings of the Great Mogul, beside whose historic walls officials and tourists now play golf and drink tea."

Free parking will be provided behind the theatre and stores on a vacant lot.

A letter written by Clarence E. Wilcox, the corporation counsel of the city of Detroit, which invited the officials in the cities and villages in the Metropolitan district to a meeting in the council chambers at the city hall, was also received by this village. A committee consisting of President Henry Fisher, Commissioner Frank Learned and the village manager attended this meeting last Monday at 2:30 p. m. The purpose of this meeting was threefold:

First, a general discussion of establishing a metropolitan district as a whole.

Second, the most expedient method of drafting the enabling legislation.

Third, the type of metropolitan district to be set up.

After considerable discussion as to why and how a metropolitan district should be established, a motion was made to appoint a committee of ten, at least three of these to be engineers, with Clarence E. Wilcox as chairman of this committee. This motion was supported and carried. This committee is to prepare a plan and the necessary legislation as soon as possible, and to call another meeting of all city, village and township officials in this metropolitan district, to present this plan.

Idle French Barges Menace Canal Traffic

Paris.—Twenty barges that are neither for sale nor for rent and which are never used are upsetting canal navigation in northern France.

Ancient laws and waterway rules prevent the authorities from interfering with the vagaries of a rich lawyer who for six years has allowed the fleet to deteriorate and block navigation, refusing chances to get half a million francs for boats that are only a source of trouble.

Ten of the boats were in port in Rouen and ten at Conflans Saint-Honore. So long as there is a legally named watchman—even if he doesn't spend much time watching—the barges can remain in the canals.

Removal of the barges has been tried by the authorities on all sorts of technicalities but the lawyer knows his rights and it looks as if the barges would continue to menace navigation until the lawyer changes his mind or the boats actually sink in the channel and have to be destroyed or removed at public expense.

KIWANIANS HEAR IDAHO PREACHER

REV. W. T. LOCKWOOD, OF BOISE, LAUDS VIRTUES OF LINCOLN.

The Ann Arbor Kiwanis club sent a delegation to Plymouth last Tuesday to present the weekly program for the local club. This program was part of the schedule provided for every club in the district whereby an exchange in programs is made with every other club. Arthur E. Crippen, president; Professor D. D. Glover, vice-president, and Walter W. Springer, trustee, represented their club in the ceremonies. They brought with them the Rev. Doctor William T. Lockwood, of Boise, Idaho, who is supplying the Congregational pulpit in Ann Arbor, as the speaker. Dr. Lockwood, who is an enthusiastic Kiwanian, chose as his subject "Lincoln, a Potential Kiwanian," which he developed in a manner that showed many hours spent in the study of the life of the great emancipator.

The local club returns the compliment next Monday noon, when it takes a preacher, in the person of Rev. Frederick A. Lendrum, to the university town to speak to the Ann Arbor Kiwanis club. About fifteen of Dr. Lendrum's fellow Kiwanians will accompany him to lend their moral support.

CORN PEST SHOW IS COMING HERE

BORER SCHOOL ON WHEELS TO VISIT EIGHT TOWNS TO AID CONTROL OF EUROPEAN INSECT.

A European corn borer exhibit, depicting all phases of the borer problem, will be made available to Wayne county farmers and townspeople from February 20th to 24th, announces County Agent Ralph Carr. The exhibit, which is housed and mounted on a truck, is being operated by the Michigan State college in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Entomology.

The exhibit is sponsored for the purpose of acquainting folks with the European corn borer. By means of charts and models, the life history and habits of the borer and means for its control are shown. M. S. C. specialists accompany the truck to explain details and to answer questions.

A large map shows the area of the state under quarantine which is required to be cleaned up prior to May 1st, according to state regulations. Control work in Wayne county, according to County Agent Carr, presents a real problem due to the large subdivision areas on which corn is grown. The clean-up regulations, however, apply to backyard gardeners as well as farmers. For this reason the exhibit aims to reach everybody.

The complete schedule is as follows: Monday, February 20, Denton in the afternoon, Plymouth in the evening; Tuesday, February 21st, Dearborn in the afternoon, Wayne in the evening; Thursday, February 23rd, Belleville in the afternoon, Romulus in the evening; Friday, February 24th, New Boston in the afternoon, Flat Rock in the evening.

MRS. DAVID BARROWS PASSES AWAY

The deceased, Rosa Barrows, was born in Detroit, Mich., April 9, 1857, the daughter of Frederick and Elizabeth Helman. In Detroit she received her education and spent the youth of her life, until after her marriage she moved to Canton, where they lived on a farm.

The deceased was married four times, and the two first marriages were blessed with nine children, all yet living. Her last marriage was to David Barrows of Plymouth, about six years ago.

For the past 38 years the deceased lived here in Plymouth, where she was well known and had many friends.

Mrs. Barrows, although she had been ailing for some time, had become seriously sick and bedfast only Monday a week ago. On last Friday there was yet hope for her recovery, but on Sunday morning at 9:45 the Lord sent the end.

She died at the age of 70 years, ten months and three days, and leaves to mourn their loss, her husband, David Barrows, the children: Mrs. Gussie Harbison, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, Fred Williams, John Williams, Mrs. Louise Allis, Mrs. Susanna Van-Aker, James Williams, Mrs. Minnie Felsner and Albert Williams, and fifteen grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home. Interment in Riverside cemetery.

BOY SCOUTS

The celebration of the 18th Boy Scout anniversary is past. The local troop had a part in several special affairs during the week. A week ago Wednesday, in the evening, about thirty-six Scouts from Plymouth and Rosedale Gardens listened to the radio rally broadcast from WGHP, Detroit, and to the speech of National Scout President Head of Omaha, sent through WWJ. Thousands of Scouts joined with these radio speakers in the scout oath and laws. Some chorus!

Thursday night the local troop attended their second class in cooking, with Miss Peckham at the gas office.

Sunday morning the troop attended the morning service at the Methodist church, in a body, and took part in the program. Saturday twelve of the boys went on a hike with the special purpose of locating a marker on an old Indian Trail near the P. M. R. R. on land now a part of the House of Correction farm. The boys considered that they recognized the old stone situated just as had been described to them, and photographs were taken of it. The boys then cooked their dinner in the woods, and hiked home.

Last night the Scouts joined with the H-Y and Torch Clubs in sponsoring the third annual Father and Son banquet in the school. A color guard and bugler in uniform were furnished for a part of the program.

A committee of men from the two local service clubs and the Chamber of Commerce is conferring with the Detroit Scout authorities, with the purpose of getting more Scout supervision for Plymouth, and of enlisting more local support and enthusiasm. The local troop is full, and there is a list of over a dozen boys waiting for a new troop.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Plymouth League of Women Voters celebrated Lincoln's birthday by holding their regular February meeting Monday afternoon, in the very pleasant sun room of Schrader Bros. furniture store. The speaker was P. N. Sawyer of Redford, who spoke most ably for an hour on the subject of "Our Youth and Law Enforcement."

Mr. Sawyer has been associated with young people as a teacher for some thirty-three years, so he has standards for his judgments. He gave examples of the signs of improvement in modern youth. Then he gave the four causes of youth's present deficiencies, namely lack of obedience in the home and school, disrespect for law, too much license, and having life made too easy. Mr. Sawyer then emphasized the importance of the slogan, "One Constitution for all," and pointed out that the future life of this nation depends upon every citizen's doing four things:

1. He should vote
2. He should influence others to vote
3. He should vote for good candidates
4. He should study, read and think along political lines, until he can vote intelligently.

The next meeting of the Plymouth League of Women Voters will take place Monday, March 12th. It will be a luncheon meeting at the Hotel Mayflower. Since this is the annual meeting, and since a very able speaker has been secured, the women of Plymouth are especially urged to save Monday, March 12th, for the League of Women Voters.

A CARD—We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness extended during our recent bereavement.

Where Washington Worshipped

An interior view of historic Christ church in Alexandria, Va., just across the Potomac river from Washington, and the mecca of numerous tourists who visit the national capital. On the left the pew occupied by George Washington when he attended services in this church is shown with open door. The church was completed in 1773 and Washington's funeral services were conducted from it in 1799.

The church where George Washington served as vestryman has been restored for preservation as another shrine to the first President. The ancient building, six miles out of Washington on the Lee highway, was first planned when Washington and seven other vestrymen met in the old frame church that had been built on the site in 1734 to decide whether to repair this building or to erect another.

They decided to build a brick church on the same site and James Wren, a descendant of Christopher Wren, noted church architect, was commissioned to prepare the plans. The contract was awarded to him at a price the equivalent of $3,000. The church remained in religious service until the Civil war, when it was used first as a hospital, then as a stable for Union cavalry.

memory with funeral ceremonies, having lost a citizen whose public actions and unassuming grandeur in private life were a living example of courage, wisdom and unselfishness; and France, when from the dawn of the American Revolution hailed with hope a nation, hitherto unknown, that was discarding the vices of Europe, which foresaw all the glory that this nation would bestow on humanity, and the enlightenment of governments that would issue from the novel character of the social institutions, and the new type of heroism of which Washington and America were models for the world at large—France, I repeat, should depart from established usages and do honor to one whose fame is beyond comparison with that of others."

In America long ago this Washington became incomparable. We have had other great men, but we think of none of them as of Washington. Jefferson's place in history is assured. He was a patriot, a scholar, a true friend of democracy, but he is chiefly honored as the founder of a party. Alexander Hamilton was the great Federalist. But Washington, who lived at the same time with them and benefited by their counsels, was above party. Nobody now thinks of Washington as a party man. No man would think of saying, "Washington was the founder of the leader of my party," but every citizen has the right to thrill at the thought, "Washington was the father of my country."

Homage of World Paid to Washington

History Affords No Other Example of Tributes Paid to Worth.

George Washington has achieved immortality. From time to time appear writings tending to add to the general body of knowledge concerning him. Most of these are hypercritical, some would appear destructive, all fall flat. The "True George Washington" has been exalted to a plane upon which he defies injury. He not only is "first" in the hearts of his countrymen, he is enshrined there.

Historians affect solicitude because myth and tradition have overlaid and concealed the real Washington. The people know their Washington as they want to know him. They attribute to him those qualities which they idealize as those of a great and good man.

Given World's Homage. Perhaps to no other character in history is like homage given. A few other people who have struggled for freedom have their liberators, but Washington in the minds of the American people is more than a liberator. The Revolutionary war might have been won without the leadership of Washington, but it is not at all certain that, without the steady influence of Washington, the ship of state could have been launched safely.

In the lengthy annals of England there is no name held in reverence by the English as the name of Washington is revered by Americans. The French people and the Germans have no such hero. But all these, holding in common a high regard for freedom and the rights of man, have claimed a share in Washington.

Unequaled Tributes. England has been glad to proclaim Washington an Englishman. When the news of the death of Washington was taken across the Atlantic, Europe mourned, and in an official report, Talleyrand, French minister of foreign affairs, said: "His own country now honors his

Romantic History of Mount Vernon's Roses

It used to be the custom at Washington's estate, Mount Vernon, for a distinguished guest to plant a shrub, bush or vine before his departure—just as later, in the '30s, visitors at a house wrote "sentiments" in the family autograph album. When Nellie Custis became engaged to Justice Lewis a rosebush was planted at Mount Vernon to commemorate the event.

Martha Washington was very proud of her rose garden, to which she devoted much time and thought. It was on the north side of the house, between the lawn and the negro quarters. The mistress of Mount Vernon was locally famed for her rose water, and for a perfumed unguent made from rose leaves which she was fond of presenting to her friends.

Justice Lewis proposed to Nellie Custis and was accepted by her in a corner of the rose garden one moonlit evening, and the momentous scene was witnessed by a negro gardener whose presence was, of course, unsuspected by the sweethearts. Next morning the gardener planted a rosebush on the spot where the troths had been plighted.

Not long after the wedding Sambo received permission to marry one of the house servants. He led her to the rosebush, seated her on the grass where Nellie Custis had sat, plumped down beside her and popped the question. After that all the negro swains on the plantation did their courting beside the magic rosebush, which was believed by them to exercise a happy influence over sweethearts.—New York Times.

Washington and His Home

Our Best Recommendation—is Results

When you are ailing and wish to get well—to get back to normal health, the thing that is important to you is results—not the method.

Of course, you prefer the easiest way, the quickest way and the least costly way, but regardless of these factors, you want your health back.

The Chiropractic profession has always suffered to some extent through an unfounded impression that spinal adjustments will benefit only certain classes of cases.

The fact is that spinal adjustments releasing the vital energy within the nerves so that it may reach every organ in the body will benefit almost every type of case. That vital energy is the motive power of the body; it is a fundamental need and when spinal pressure on a nerve prevents it from reaching its destination, disease is a natural product. The pressure must be removed before health can be restored.

A couple of years ago a nation-wide inquiry was made of the Chiropractic profession to ascertain results in a number of different types of cases. Almost five hundred chiropractors had sufficiently comprehensive office records to be able to furnish data, which required that the type of disease be properly established, and that the results be a matter of definite observation. All patients who failed to complete their course of adjustments before the chiropractor had observed a clearing up of the condition affecting them were classed as failures.

Even with this condition strictly applied, the results of the inquiry revealed figures which are very impressive as establishing the legitimate claim of Chiropractic to benefit nearly all classes of cases.

Results in the most common types of cases were:

Disease	Cases Considered	Percentage of Recoveries	Disease	Cases Considered	Percentage of Recoveries
Acne	1,213	85.4%	Headaches (Chronic)	1,516	91.0%
Adenoids	1,204	75.8%	Heart Troubles	171	79.0%
Appendicitis	1,908	90.2%	Influenza	4,193	97.9%
Arterial Hardening	659	66.6%	Kidney Stones	179	81.5%
Arthritis	791	56.4%	Kidney Troubles	4,526	86.8%
Bronchitis	1,848	91.6%	Laryngitis	1,179	93.9%
Bronchial Pneumonia	498	93.8%	Lumbago	7,298	93.4%
Catarrh	1,957	84.4%	Measles	673	98.8%
Coryza (Severe Cold)	637	95.3%	Migraine	1,130	87.3%
Chicken-Pox	390	99.2%	Neuralgia	2,053	92.1%
Colic	826	96.5%	Neurasthenia	1,902	80.7%
Constipation	8,218	85.1%	Neuritis	3,783	87.4%
Cramps	587	92.1%	Paralysis	1,367	68.2%
Diarrhoea	659	93.9%	Pleurisy	966	95.6%
Dysentery	353	90.0%	Quinsy	610	90.3%
Dyspepsia	1,684	87.1%	Rheumatism	3,040	79.9%
Eneuresis (Bed-wetting)	734	72.6%	Scarlet Fever	149	98.7%
Epilepsy	777	52.9%	Sciatica	2,495	88.4%
Eye Troubles	1,544	89.8%	Stomach Trouble	5,341	87.8%
Gall Stones	762	80.0%	Tonsillitis	585	91.4%
Gastritis	1,626	89.9%	Torticollis (Stiff-neck)	2,534	96.2%
Goitre	1,199	68.1%	Typhoid Fever	169	96.4%
Hay-Fever	1,392	81.9%	Whooping Cough	572	95.4%

Perhaps the most noteworthy revelation of the inquiry was the fact that in nearly 100,000 cases reported the death rate was but 8.5 per 1,000.

The significance of this, considering that it applies to sick people ONLY, to those in highly acute conditions and to some in long-established chronic conditions which had failed of relief by all other methods before, a chiropractor was consulted, is seen when compared with the death rate for the entire country, sick and well, from disease, which was 11.15 per 1,000 for the year 1923, the last for which we have the government report.

STATE MEN PRODUCE FINE CROP OF CORN

ALFALFA, SWEET CLOVER AND FERTILIZERS USED TO SECURE HIGH YIELDS.

A production of 107 bushels of shelled corn to the acre sounds like a story from the tall corn states, but Paul C. Clement, Britton, grew that amount in 1927 on his Lenawee county farm.

Mr. Clement won the 1927 Michigan five-acre corn growing contest sweepstakes prize and first prize for region 1. Roscoe Waldron placed second in region 1, with a yield of 99 bushels per acre; Otto Wegner, Iiga, with 93 bushels per acre, was third, and George Bruce, Britton, with 86 bushels, was fourth.

In region 2, the placings were: Fritz Mantey, Fairgrove, first; P. P. Ferden and Son, Chesaning, second; Max Desbuck, St. Louis, third; and George Kohn, Fenwick, fourth.

George Rae, Bay City, was first in region 3; and Burdette Crandall, Bellaire, was second.

Commercial fertilizers played an important part in the production of the high yields. Twenty-three of 29 men on the prize winning list used commercial fertilizers in producing their crop of corn.

Seven men on the list planted their corn following sweet clover; alfalfa preceded the corn planted by five of the winners, and either June or Mammoth clover sod was used as corn ground by four of the men.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS PLAN MEETING.

J. G. Hays, secretary of the Michigan Holstein Breeders Association, will explain the "Herd Improvement Registry," at a meeting at the Dearborn Public Library on Monday, February 20, at 1:30 p. m.

The Herd Improvement Registry which supplements the Advanced Registry test is the latest move on the part of the Holstein Friesian Association of America to make practical records available to all breeders of pure bred Holsteins. The meeting is being sponsored by the Holstein Breeders and members of the Cow Testing Association and anyone interested is welcome.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says he notices there isn't any more of a girl in the new-fangled low-cut shoes than there is of her in the rest of her clothes.

Since President Coolidge got through Florida without anyone selling him a lot the state may be said to have gotten back to normal.

According to Dad Plymouth, a henpecked husband is one who doesn't care if he has got holes in his pockets because his wife won't let him carry money anyway.

Now that a pneumatic auto bumper has been placed on the market the only thing left to make life perfect, according to Dad Plymouth, is for someone to invent a rubber telephone pole.

Time changes many things, but you still get juice in your eyes when eating grapefruit.

"There was a time," asserts Dad Plymouth, "when people watched for the groundhog, but nowadays they're too busy watching for the road-hog."

A Kentucky man has returned for trial after an absence of 20 years. Maybe he was only standing by somewhere waiting to get the right telephone number.

Dad Plymouth says if you think women better qualified than men to pick the best candidates, look what the marry.

Along the North Trail

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright.)

THOSE last few miles, when Elsie Lawlor and her father, who was worn with a past illness, sought for the old camp where Mr. Lawlor had spent many a season with an old friend, were a great strain upon them both. They had come from the East in a motor car, but after they reached the state of Washington, and were nearing the great forest that was their destination, Mr. Lawlor had stored the machine in a garage and they had gone on afoot.

"Look, Elsie, here is my old blaze—see the 'T'?" asked the girl's father, excitedly, and a moment later he pointed at another—and still another. Five minutes later they dragged wearily to a large log cabin and found the door unlocked.

"Hey, Ben Fisher!" shouted Mr. Lawlor in his weak voice, but there came back no answering sound. "Well, we better make ourselves at home," said Mr. Lawlor, opening the door and entering.

"And I will make you a cup of coffee right away," said Elsie who had found a small, clean bedroom. "I will put my things in here, dad—and you say the larger bedroom is yours? And there is a middle-sized room," she ended laughing, and then the laugh was suddenly quenched. She closed the door and came back to her father, who was resting comfortably in a large rocking chair. "Father, I believe this cabin must be occupied—in the middle bedroom there are men's clothes!"

Mr. Lawlor smiled unconcernedly. "Some friend of old Ben Fisher's, I suppose. I guess there's plenty of room for all of us, my dear."

Elsie unfastened her provision baskets and found the coffee, tinned soup, bacon and eggs, all of which she proceeded to cook.

"My dear," said her father, solicitously, "as soon as you clear up the dishes, you must go and lie down."

Elsie hastily washed up the dishes, made the place tidy, bathed herself, and five minutes later she was sound asleep. It was several hours afterward when she awoke, refreshed, and, after dressing, went out into the large room, where her father was napping peacefully before the fire. She found the empty water pail and went out to the little cascade that they had discovered across from the cabin door. Once outside, Elsie sniffed the air—surely there was a hint of smoke!

She could see signs of smoke creeping through the underbrush.

It was the work of a moment to rush forward with her pail of water and dash it into the underbrush. She ran back for more water, and by the time the fire was out she had used several pails of water. When Elsie went inside, she found her father awake and feeling very cheerful. He had picked up a week-old newspaper and seemed to be enjoying it, so Elsie did not tell him about her experience in the forest. It was perhaps an hour later, while the girl prepared supper, that they heard a curious sound.

"Sounds like a dog trying to get in," said Mr. Lawlor, and he went to the door and opened it. As he did so, a man staggered forward and fell upon the floor before either of them could reach him.

"Oh, father, he has been in the fire," cried Elsie as she knelt beside the fallen man. He seemed to be a young man, but his clothing and fair hair were blackened with soot and ashes. "My dear, we must get this man into bed—he is probably the stranger who belongs here."

Between them, somehow, they managed to roll the unconscious man upon a strip of carpet and then drag him into the middle room, where, by superhuman effort, they lifted him to the bed, on which Elsie had spread a clean sheet. With a basin of warm water, clean clothes and restoratives from the first-aid set they carried, the father and daughter finally brought the injured man to consciousness.

Then he opened strange sea-blue eyes and smiled at Elsie. And they listened while the stranger told them the brief story of his accident.

His name was David Foster—he had rented the cabin from Ben Fisher—he was a forester employed by the government. His station was not twenty feet from the cabin—a platform built in four of the tallest trees that formed a group just here. He said that in the fire yesterday he had managed to burn his arm—it had been a small fire but a stubborn one.

As Mr. Lawlor dressed the burned arm, he told the forester of what Elsie had done to put out the small fire that had crept out to the trail's edge.

"It was just about that time that I burned myself so badly, so Miss Lawlor probably helped to save the forest this time," David Foster murmured, and then Elsie came in with some hot supper and they fell to talking as if they had always known each other.

The Lawlors remained with David Foster for three months. When Mr. Lawlor's health was fully recovered, they bade good-by to young David and went East. The last words that David Foster said to Elsie Lawlor were significant.

"I shall think of you always, and at night I shall dream about you, Elsie, darling—your letters will be the brightest spot in my lonely life. When I come for you—when we are married—then—"

"Then I shall be ready, David," she told him happily.

SOMETHING NEW IN TAXES. MARRIAGE A SCHOOL. SAVE A LITTLE. PROTECT NATURAL RESOURCES.

A learned legislator says married women ought not to work, and if their husbands earn as much as $2,000 a year, the woman's earnings should be taxed 20 per cent.

Under old laws a husband could take what his wife earned; even now in England he controls the children that she produces.

For the state to rebuke her industry by taxing her earnings 20 per cent would be something new.

Bolshevism decides that little girls must not play with dolls, because that encourages the bourgeois or capitalist idea of family life, developing a taste for motherhood and household duties.

Bolshevism interprets the little girl with a doll correctly, but will no more overcome the love of dolls than it could overcome the instinct of self preservation. Maternity is planted in the hearts of little girls by a Power far above Bolshevism, just as ambition of another kind is planted in the hearts of little boys. And that ambition is what makes Communism an impossibility.

Dr. M. S. Taylor wires from Chicago. "Contribute your opinion on legalizing companionate marriage."

That question was settled when Eve appeared from Adam's rib.

Woman is naturally monogamous, is determined to make man so, will do it eventually, and marriage is the school of monogamy.

A companionate marriage expresses doubt, proves lack of the confidence on which marriage should be based, and, while it is perfectly legal now, divorce being legal, it is a poor, cold blooded sort of marriage.

Fortunately, the average young couple have no doubts whatever, and only regret the marriage cannot last a million years, just to prove it.

Sometimes they are disappointed, nearly always through the husband's fault. But meanwhile the children have been born, blessed with the influence of trust and affection.

The value of a man depends on the respect of his father and his mother for each other.

If husband and wife start marriage in doubt, each leaving the door open for escape, the children's inferiority will reflect their parents' "I may decide to quit" marriage.

The important thing in marriage is the quality of the children, and the next generation.

William Fox has bought 307 more theatres, seating 350,000 for $100,000,000.

Twenty-five years ago Fox got into the theatre business because his employer refused to raise his $17 a week salary. Fox had just married. The employer said, "Not only I can't raise your $17 a week, but you are getting $2 too much. I am going to pay what you are worth, $15."

Fox had saved $580 on $17 a week, got control of a tiny moving picture theatre, that could take in $1.30 when packed. Now he has 356 theatres.

Always save something. If you have brains it will increase. If not, saving will keep you out of the poor house, anyhow.

The prince of Wales, hopefully discussing trade revival, wonders whether human beings invented earrings or trousers first. Man's passion for adornment, he thought, probably produced earrings before clothes.

He is right about that. Darwin tells of Patagonian ladies, living in a climate often bitter, that would not think of coming from their huts to let a stranger see them until they had painted their faces and arranged their hair. But they did come out without one stitch of clothing.

A British nobleman, by the way, owns a pearl earring taken from the ear of King Charles the First after his head had been cut off.

The United States pays more toward the expenses of the League of Nations than any other country except Britain—although we are not in the League. That's usual. We paid more than any other nation for that big war—about fifty-nine million dollars a day while we were in it, and we lent the allied fighters ten thousand millions of dollars—yet it wasn't our war.

Our troubles will come in America when our natural resources are exhausted—coal, oil, iron, forests, etc.

At present we are busy using, wasting. Some day we may be busy regretting. Emil Kekich, sent to Sweden by Herbert Hoover's Department of Commerce, reports that Sweden has solved her forest problem.

The annual growth of timber in Sweden exceeds the annual cutting by 100,000,000 cubic feet, or 1,200,000,000 lineal feet.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION MAKES NEW RULING

Twenty-six inland lakes in which northern and wall-eyed pike predominate have been exempted from the closing order of the Conservation Commission in November, closing lakes of the state to all fishing from April 1 to June 15, according to George R. Howarth, Acting Director, Department of Conservation.

Wall-eyes may be caught with hook and line after April 30, in the following lakes, the opening date approximately the time when this variety of fish have finished spawning: Gogebic Lake, Sunday Lake and Cisco Chain in Ontonagon and Gogebic counties; Schlatter Lake, Keweenaw county; the two Pickerel Lakes and Lake Michigamme in Marquette county; Antrim Lake, Alger county; North Manistique and Muscalonge Lakes, Luce county; McDonald, Gulliver and Indian Lakes in Schoolcraft county; Lake George, Little Lake George, Hay and Mud Lakes in Chippewa county; Manistique, Whitefish and Pike lakes in Mackinac county; Lake Charlevoix, Charlevoix county; East Twin Lake in Montmorency county; Otsego Lake, Otsego county; Houghton and Lake St. Helen in Roscommon county.

Trout and pike fishermen and resort business men alike will approve of the new ruling of the Department which allows pike fishing May 1st, as it will relieve congestion in streams and save many trout that would otherwise be caught, while pike enthusiasts will be allowed to follow their favored sport, and the resortier who depends on a fair amount of his annual business from the latter group will not be deprived of his usual profit.

The original closing order prohibiting all fishing from inland lakes from April 1 to June 16 was made with a view to protecting bass and other fish than pike during their spawning season.

Lakes that are known to be fairly well stocked with bass and other fish that do not spawn until late were not included in the exempting order, but the department is investigating others in the state to determine which are and which are not "pike lakes."

Today's Reflections

What has become of the old-fashioned minister who used to rejoice when his congregation gave him a "tinware shower"?

Noah had better judgment than some of our friends around Plymouth. He didn't feel he had to have a new model ark every year.

These are the days when no pedestrian is safe. If the auto doesn't get him the auto salesman will.

Another thing that seems to improve the longer you keep it is your temper.

So far as we've heard no one has yet answered the little Plymouth boy who wants to know where the musicians in heaven go when they want to tune up.

The horse-fly is something else that just about went out of business when the automobile came in.

"We stand back of every auto we sell," says an ad. That's sensible. The front end is the dangerous end.

The Plymouth man who claims to know more than his wife loses out when it comes to removing one of those card-board stoppers from a milk bottle.

Scientists believe America was once a part of Europe and just floated away. Maybe that's why Europe thinks we should still support her.

Another sign of prosperity in the country is found in the fact that we can stand an annual crime bill of seven billion dollars.

What has become of the old-fashioned Plymouth woman who used to resort to tears to get what she wanted her husband to buy her?

They are finding it as hard in Japan to get the people to substitute potatoes for rice as it is in this country to get people to eat rice instead of potatoes.

It has gotten so that income tax time is about the only time when the little fellows get a chance to titter.

We've also reached the point in Plymouth where if one uses the word "limb" instead of "leg" we think he's talking about a tree.

The road to wealth has more detours than all the rest of the roads in the world combined.

Now that leap year is here the cynical bachelors should be careful of the company they keep.

Hello, Friends:
Well, I'm back on the job. No, I did not get married—just a little trip. Well, I had a birthday this week. Which goes to prove that men can have birthdays the same as the ladies, only more frequently.

If there's a man at your house who has a birthday soon, I think you ought to know that your gift problem can be solved in a jiffy at this store. Shirt studs, for instance, and collar buttons, tie pins, cuff links, rings, fobs, watches, pendants, chains and other things too numerous to mention.

A man appreciates gifts like that. I know because I've heard 'em say so.

MUSIC

The seventh eighth and ninth grades are working on music memory for the last concert of the season, which will be given at Orchestra Hall, Detroit, February 28th.

The junior chorus has seventy-three members enrolled this semester.

The high school orchestra has several new members for the second semester. They are: Russell Sockow and Harold Stevens, playing banjos; Lester Daly, trombone; Joseph Ribar, trumpet; Russell Egloff, clarinet, and Stephen Horvath, saxophone.

A junior or second orchestra is being organized. At present there are twenty-five members.

The Girls' Glee Club sang Sunday, February 12th, at the Presbyterian church.

MISS WEATHERHEAD

Alfida Lavers is absent from the 3-B because of the whooping cough.

We drew names Friday afternoon, for our Valentine party on Tuesday.

There were eleven perfect papers in the 2-B spelling class Thursday. We think that was very good for children who are just learning to spell.

The 3-B made original Valentines for language on Friday. Some of the results were very interesting.

Marion Gorton and Billy Sturgis of the 3-A are winners in the spelling contest this week.

MISS FARRAND—4-A

Ferdinana Freund is still out with scarlet fever.

In hygiene we are studying about vegetables, and each one is trying to like vegetables they do not now like.

We have a border made of carrots, lettuce, beets, onions, peas, beans, tomatoes, cabbage and potatoes.

We have slides for reading, and Roland's is in the lead.

Mrs. Bird came into our room Friday and taught us position for penmanship.

MISS FENNER, 6-A

In Miss Fenner's 6-A room, the boys and girls are making Valentines. They are to have a Valentine box Tuesday afternoon. In language booklets on Lincoln are being made. In reading everyone is to broadcast a clipping about "Honest Abe."

—J. D. McLaren

MISS HALLAHAN

The 5-A and 6-B are having book reports for language.

We have a new spelling chart on the board. Jack Wilson and Jean Jet-liffe are the team captains. Jack's team received the first 100%.

We have a new health poster, which Miss Lynch left for us Wednesday.

Jean Jolliffe, Pearl Smith and Carroll Hammond are the first to have their names on the Dental Honor Roll.

—Betty Simpson

MRS. ROOT, 1-A, 2-B

We had a short Valentine party the last period on Tuesday, with a Valentine box, and all had a happy time.

We have formed a "Bunny Club," in this room, and all children who eat other vegetables besides potatoes belong to this club. The rabbits eat carrots, lettuce and all vegetables, so we have named this club after them.

We marched with flags on Monday, in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

MISS WILLMORE, KINDERGARTEN

The children had a Valentine party Tuesday.

They have been busy making Valentines.

MRS. DYKEHOUSE

The 7-A girls have had as their project for the year, a school girl's wardrobe.

The girls have completed for themselves, a nightgown and slip, and are now making bloomers. The girls find the bloomers to be the most difficult of the problems attacked.

In connection with the bloomers problem, the various kinds of materials for bloomers were discussed, and the making of a flat fell seam.

The 7-B girls are most concerned with their own bedrooms, and the care of their clothing.

The girls have planned to make shoe bags for their rooms. In connection with the shoe bag, the following stitches were learned: Even and uneven basting, running stitch, overcasting, and overhand stitches, and the plain seam.

The 8-A girls have been faithful workers in the lunch room.

Valentine day a special dinner was served, under the management of Alice Chambers, Dorothy Hubert, Marie Beagle and Ella Tibble.

Washington's birthday a special dinner consisting of Virginia baked ham, southern sweet potatoes, warm rolls, milk and cherry pudding will be served. Special favors will be given free to each person who eats in the lunch room that day. Janet Blickenstaff, Elaine Hamilton, Helen Gobel and Bernice Kilnski are the capable managers.

—Helen Wolfgram

CAMP VALENTINE PARTY

Camp Wetomachick had a Valentine party Tuesday night after school. It was a surprise on Zephra Blunk who was soon to leave for the south. Each girl brought scissors and magazines. Words were cut out and pasted on letter paper. These letters were cleverly done, some of them being illustrated.

Later Valentine ice cream and wafers were served. Elaine Hamilton took charge of the Valentine box. Zephra Blunk received a "Valentine" compact as a gift from the camp fire.

—Janet M. Blickenstaff

THE CITIZEN'S CLUB

The meeting was called to order by President Merle Welber. The roll call was read by the secretary, Mary Jane Hamilton, after which Frank Learned, the program chairman, took charge.

Each person gave a talk on international fellowship with other countries. The program was as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

There must be something wrong with the public speaking class this year. At the end of the first semester they lost Mrs. Whipple. Miss Roe succeeded to her place, but within two weeks developed appendicitis, and was forced to leave. Now they have Miss Cadaret, whom we hope they will not frighten away; at least, until Miss Roe is better. Despite these changes of teachers, the class is working hard on orations. Many of them expect to take part in the oratorical contest to be held in the forepart of March.

We expect that the French classes will soon be heard talking of the French friends, as most of the students have taken names of French young people with whom they are going to correspond. We hope that the plan succeeds as it will if the French people can read the letters sent to them.

During the past week the different classes have been busy trying to sell each of its members their semester ticket to all school activities. These tickets cost fifty cents, but will admit the student to all basketball games, baseball games, debates and oratorical contests held during the semester. In the four upper grades it is compulsory to buy one, while the lower grades may do as they choose. Some such charge must be made to the school as a whole, or the expense of supporting school activities is left to a few individuals who are regular in their attendance. As may be seen, this is very unfair.

Most great people leave journals. The English 11 classes are certainly The English 11 classes are certainly comes their way they'll be prepared, wonder about whom we're going to say, "Why, I knew him in high school."

Lincoln was the topic of discussion in several classes, Monday. The main idea was to bring out something new about his personal life. The main facts of his life have been studied so many times that they are new to no one.

Commercial geography seems to be one of the most attractive subjects of the high school course, by the number of people who wished to take it. At the beginning of the second semester so many applied that the number had to be limited, even though an extra class was formed. There are sixty-six studying it now.

—Alice Gilbert

This time of year seems to be very busy for the high school students, especially the juniors. The whole class is hustling around, whispering secrets back and forth, making things mysterious for the rest of the classes. If you should happen to listen very attentively, you might hear something about that magnificent affair, the J-Hop. No plans are made known as yet, but things are well under way.

What are the juniors going to put on for their program Wednesday? This is the question that everyone is asking. This also is a secret affair of the Junior class. In the Student Council, it was decided that each class would give a program for the assembly, of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. This Wednesday afternoon is the juniors' turn to entertain.

Friday night promises to be very interesting to all the girls in the high school. A middy and skirt party, sponsored by the Junior and Senior Girl Reserves will take place this coming Friday, February 17th. The entertainment begins at 7:30 p. m., and lasts until 10:00 p. m. We take it for granted that every class will be represented 100%.

We all miss Margaret Dunning and Miss Roe, who are in Harper hospital. They have both had operations for appendicitis. Those who have been to visit them are thoroughly satisfied that they will soon be back in school.

The Girl Reserves held a very interesting meeting Tuesday, February 14. It was carried out in the spirit of Valentine day. The chairs were arranged in the shape of a heart, and on each desk was a small heart cut out of white paper. These hearts were written on with invisible ink, and when heated the program was brought out. Angeline Rousseau rendered a piano solo, which was greatly appreciated. Lestie Rowland next, announced that there was an Italian present, who would give a reading entitled, "Carlotta." Ruth Hamilton impersonated the Italian, and gave the reading. It was given in Italian brogue, and very well done. The group next sang "Love's Old Sweet Song." Each one was given a small box and then each girl drew one. After these were read aloud, they were collected and sent to Margaret Dunning.

PLYMOUTH FALLS BEFORE FARMINGTON

Last Tuesday evening, Plymouth High School played its seventh league game with Farmington. Up until this time Plymouth had a good chance for the championship, but with this defeat marked against them, their chances faded. This was the last league game to be played on the home floor. There are three league games yet to play, one with each of the towns, Ypsilanti, Wayne and Dearborn.

The second team for Plymouth easily beat Farmington's second team. Plymouth held their opponents scoreless for the first half, while they piled up a score of eight points. During the second half Farmington obtained seven points to Plymouth's five, and the final score was Plymouth, 13; Farmington, 7.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Dykehouse, played some very pleasing numbers. The gym was not very full, due to the miserable weather. Cheering was led by our yell leader, David Nichol. The H-Y boys sold the refreshments to the hungry fans.

By this time both first and second teams were on the floor warming up, and they both looked in very good condition. Plymouth's team did not let that old fighting spirit they had last Friday night when they defeated Northville. However, the school has a basketball team to be proud of, especially when one considers that there is only one man back from the league champions of last year.

—Here's the score by quarters: Farmington scored six points while our boys made three. This quarter was played very fast, with only one feature incident, when Middlewood, Farmington's center, shot a basket with one hand from the center of the floor. And that is not all, he had his back to the basket. The second quarter ended with the score 9 to 8 in favor of our home team. The boys certainly did work to gain the lead on the opponents.

The fatal news came in the second half. Farmington was chalked up with ten points to their credit, and Plymouth's star forward, Archie Crumm, made the one lonely point for Plymouth. The last quarter was not very much better. Plymouth made two points to Farmington's six and at last the whistle blew ending all the trouble. The final score was Farmington 26, Plymouth 12.

The line-ups for the teams:

PLYMOUTH—
Knapp, 0 points
Crumm, 8 points
C. Foster, 2 points
Beagle, 0 points
Partridge, 0 points
Slockow, 2 points
FARMINGTON—
Otis, 2 points
Catherman, 12 points
Middlewood, 10 points
E. Rozenboom, 0 points
G. Rozenboom, 2 points
Referee—Pearl
Timer—Stevenson.

BASKETBALL

From comparative scores, no one could have foreseen that Northville would lose a game to the Plymouth High quintet, last Friday night, to put Plymouth Cagers in second place. Northville has always won, or lost to Plymouth, in any sport, with a close game and score. When Plymouth went to Northville and lost, many wondered how this game would come out since Plymouth won from Dearborn, while they won from Northville.

Many Northville people came to watch the Cagers fight, and so when the first teams came onto the floor, yells immediately echoed from both sides for both teams.

The ten men were more squarely matched than ever before, and the ball looped both iron rings evenly, making a score of 8 and 10, Plymouth, at the end of the first quarter. In the second quarter, Archie Crumm, with unbreakable zeal, added nine points to the Plymouth score.

Elton Knapp had an accident in which he was knocked out for an interval which called Coach Page to fix him so that he played the rest of the game. This was the only interruption and the score at the half was Northville 14, and Plymouth 21. In the third quarter Northville made a big pick-up of seven points, while Plymouth made only six.

Such things as the band, that played many fine selections, was almost forgotten by the crowd as each yelled for his home team.

Northville's team showed another pick-up on Plymouth in the fatal quarter, by caging seven points and Plymouth six, when Lynn Partridge, playing a good game, was taken out on account of a bad, painful leg that Coach Page had not known about. This left fifty-nine seconds to play, in which Northville made another basket, but Plymouth took the victory with a score of 33, and Northville 30.

—Chase Willett.

Seventy-five girls of the high school had the pleasure of hearing Miss Gladys L. Peckham, home economics instructor for the Michigan Federated Utilities, who spoke at the high school Friday morning. Miss Peckham's subject was "Meats."

The girls were given five cards on which were printed the recipes which Miss Peckham followed. Although the major portion of the demonstration stressed the roasting of a chicken, Miss Peckham briefly mentioned the method used to broil a steak, roast a leg of lamb, cuts of beef and pork, and the accompanying dishes for these meats.

In the preparation of the chicken for roasting, the speaker explained the drawing, singeing, washing and searing of the fowl. The neck and tip of the wings were removed for the giblet gravy. The bird was stuffed, trussed and tied. A long time cooking at a low temperature was recommended.

Upon removing the chicken from the oven, a demonstration in carving the fowl was given the girls. Miss Peckham explained how easy the bird was carved when the legs were placed to the left and the breast to the right. Place the carving fork between the legs to steady the bird, remove the right leg first, separate the leg and thigh at the joint; remove the wing, leaving the breast exposed to carve.

A number of the girls asked Miss Peckham questions during the demonstration indicating their desire to duplicate her work at home.

THE THEATRE

"EAST SIDE, WEST SIDE"

The New York Times has called "East Side, West Side," by Captain Felix Riesenberg, an "epic of Manhattan." The Evening Post has said that he came nearer to writing the story of the city than any one else who ever tried it.

In the same way, the Fox Film version, coming to the Penniman Allen theatre Sunday and Monday, February 19 and 20, is a true epic of the film world. Allan Dwan has lost none of the rugged sincerity which was the distinguishing characteristic of the book.

It is the kind of picture which has long been needed to give the world an authentic conception of New York, for the people in small towns have grown to think of it almost entirely in terms of night clubs, Broadway theatres and the tinsel gaiety of Coney Island.

Its Ghetto, with the chaotic jumble of brass shops, push carts and colorful Hebrew types, has remained practically unknown. So also, has the shifting procession of barges, great liners and small craft that plies back and forth on its rivers.

Now and then a picture is released which shows fairly accurately some one phase of the city, but never before has the vast panorama which extends from the Battery to the Bronx been unrolled on any screen.

"East Side, West Side," as a book, and "East Side, West Side," as a picture, has sought honestly to do this very thing. It has what so many books and pictures lack completely—the background of a really big idea, and the additional merit of a strong plot to build against it.

An exceptional cast presents the dramatic Riesenberg story with feeling and rare truth to detail. George O'Brien and Virginia Valli are the principals.

Others well known on stage and screen are J. Farrell Macdonald, Dore Davidson, Sonia Nodulsky, Jane Collyer, John Milner, Holmes Herbert, Frank Dodge, Dan Wolheim, John Dooley, John Kearney, Edwin Garvey, Frank Allsworth, Gordon MacRea and Harold Levett.

"DRESS PARADE"

William Boyd's new star picture of U. S. Cadet life, "Dress Parade," which was filmed at the West Point Military Academy, under the direction of Donald Crisp, and which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, February 21 and 22, brings to the screen a true interpretation of the spirit of West Point.

All of the scenes were filmed on the exact locations outlined in the story. Many of the historical points on the reservation were used in the filming of this splendid Pathe-DeMille Special.

The room in the barracks that William Boyd used in the picture was the same room used by General Pershing when he was a Cadet at the Academy. The regular "Saturday Night Cadet Hop" was photographed in Cullum Hall.

The fight sequences between William Boyd, star and Hugh Allan, were filmed on Fort Putnam, the highest point on the reservation and where all differences among the Cadets are settled.

One of the most important and interesting scenes of the film was taken within the walls of the Cadet Chapel. This was the first time that a movie camera had ever invaded the sacred walls and perhaps will be the last. Other scenes were taken on the parade grounds; in Mess Hall; in the various Cadet Barracks and Administration buildings at the Academy.

Donald Crisp, the director, was well fitted for the position as director because of his many years of military training.

Mr. Crisp, upon his arrival at West Point, called the members of his company together and impressed upon them the necessity of each player to get into the real spirit of West Point, and each did. The story was written by Major Alexander Chilton, Major Robert Glassburn and Herbert David Walter and was adapted to the screen by Douglas S. Doty and stars William Boyd.

Bessie Love, Hugh Allan, Louis Natheaux, also play important parts in this production.

"HIGH SCHOOL HERO"

The glamour of youth has been successfully caught in Fox Films comedy drama, "High School Hero," which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Thursday and Friday, February 23 and 24.

Director David Butler deserves unstinted credit for so deftly depicting the spirit of our younger generation of high school age. He has accomplished this by utilizing, probably the youngest cast of players ever seen in a feature picture. And though the principals are new comers to the screen they have caught, perhaps for that very reason, all the spontaneity and freshness typical of the youngster of today.

Sally Phipps, 1927 Wampa star, is in the leading feminine role and is a decided success as a comedienne. Nick Stuart and John Darrow give splendid performances as the rival "boy friends," while David Rollins supplies a sympathetic note of a new kind in screen characterization.

The story deals with the activities of a typical American high school and treats in humorous vein the problems of the students. There is fine romance, a great deal of humor and one of the most hotly contested basketball games interwoven logically and interestingly into the plot of the story.

It is in every way a delightful and wholesome picture of the kind that a whole family can enjoy together.

"DAREDEVIL'S REWARD"

"Daredevil's Reward," a Fox Films production starring Tom Mix, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, February 25, is a fast moving story of the Texas Rangers and their never failing slogan, "Get your man."

Tom Mix, as Tom Hardy, does his very finest riding and driving and, as the ranger, proves his courage time and time again. Mix is ordered to capture a villainous gang of highway-men, and his methods in obtaining their capture is unique.

Disguised as a wandering medicine man, Tom searches the surrounding country for traces of the gang. With his comical assistant, Slim, Tom attempts to doctor an ailing cowboy and the results are disastrous for both.

Forced to flee for their lives, Tom and Slim are driven into the stronghold of the outlaws. Compelled to don the raiments of the ranch cook, Tom hoodwinks the entire gang, and after a series of smashing encounters effects their capture in typical Ranger fashion.

Natalie Joyce has the leading feminine role. Others in the cast include Lawford Davidson, Billy Bletcher and Harry Cording. John Stone, the author of the story, also adapted it for the screen.

Gene Forde directed the production.

WASHINGTON—THE FINANCIER

Washington's ability as a statesman, a diplomat, a general, and an executive is well known. But his success as a financier is worthy of great admiration, too.

On his twenty-first birthday he owned over 1,500 acres of Virginia soil that he had paid for himself from his savings as a surveyor. Upon his marriage he became the custodian of approximately $100,000.

Then came the Revolution. As general of the Continental troops and as our first President, he refused all compensation. Furthermore, he expended a large part of his private fortune to feed and clothe his needy troops.

In spite of his generosity he returned to private life at Mount Vernon in 1796 with sufficient funds to live on comfortably. His secret was in being thrifty as a young man, and wise expenditure in later years. And think how much greater the facilities are for both now-a-days.

In respect to the memory of Washington this bank will not be open on his birthday, Wednesday, February twenty-second

ENDURANCE

Importance depends on endurance. If they become out of tune, or, in other words, he becomes unfit, nature eliminates him.

Emerson says that the best test of a book and the finest critic was time, and advised us, as a whole, to read no book that had not been printed twenty years.

Time has dealt harshly with some popular favorites, while others have survived.

Some of the popular songs our ancestors sang are still popular. No one could tell at the time which they were, but the passing of the years has tested them.

It is perhaps a wise thing not to build a monument to a man before he is dead. Time must have its opportunity to pass upon him.

There is something in mere endurance, and the man who is able to stick a thing out to the bitter end has the advantage over one who is constantly changing.

Do not stick to a thing simply because you have chosen it, but after choosing it wisely keep your feet firm and do not vacillate.

MECHANICAL STORY ON NEW GRAHAM-PAIGE

Among the entirely new cars attracting attention at the automobile shows this year is the Graham-Paige line of sixes and eights, produced by the three Graham brothers. With the introduction of these new motor cars announcement is also made of a change in company name to Graham-Paige Motors Corporation.

The Graham-Paige models include a variety of body types and chassis, all characterized by advanced and sound engineering and substantial construction. The new Graham-Paige models range in size from a 110 1/2-inch wheel base six to an eight-cylinder chassis with a wheel base of 135 inches.

Prices on the new line begin at $600 for the two-passenger coupe on the model 610 chassis. The five-passenger sedan on the same chassis lists at $875. There is a four-passenger coupe on the model 610 chassis at $1,575 and a five-passenger at $1,595. The model 629 chassis includes a five-passenger sedan at $1,985, a seven-passenger sedan at $2,110, and a five-passenger town sedan at $2,085. All prices f. o. b. Detroit. Prices have not yet been announced on the six-cylinder 614 and eight-cylinder 835 models.

The motor sizes begin at 175 cubic inches, the piston displacement of the small six, and reach 299 cubic inches displacement in the eight. Two of the models, the 119-inch and the 129-inch wheel base chassis, have the same motor, a 288 cubic inch displacement engine, developing 97 brake horsepower at 3,200 revolutions per minute.

The motors of all the six-cylinder models have seven bearing crankshafts carried on interchangeable type, bronze backed bearings. They are built by Graham-Paige workmen in Graham-Paige plants. The same type of bearings which are separately machined to the split thousandth of an inch and mounted without shims or scraping to a precise fit in the motor, also cradle the crankshaft of the eight.

Hollow crankpins and aluminum alloy pistons with invar struts reduce the loads on the bearings by hundreds of pounds at high speed. The crankshafts are balanced statically and dynamically. The smooth operation of the big six and the eight engines is augmented by Lancheater balancers. The front end drive is by silent chain; the chain mechanism of the motors of the two large sizes and the eight being fitted with automatic tension regulation.

An intake and exhaust manifold system developed and perfected by Graham-Paige engineers increases the carburetion efficiency of the engines by evenly distributing the gasoline mixture to all cylinders. A mechanically operated fuel pump insures a constant supply of fuel regardless of the length or steepness of the grade or the opening of the throttle. Air cleaners protect the engines.

All main bearings and crankpins, camshafts, water pump shafts, valve lifters and chain tension adjusters are lubricated under pressure by a positively driven pump, submerged in oil. All oil lines are enclosed within the crankcase to protect them from freezing. There are oil filters on the motors of the four larger chassis.

The cylinders of all the engines are water-jacketed throughout the full stroke of the piston, insuring adequate and even cooling. All motors have four-point suspension, the motors of the larger models being mounted on live rubber.

The clutches are of the light driven member type that result in exceptionally easy gear shifting. The two-plate type clutches of the three larger models have spring cushion drives and vibration dampeners built into the driven members. The clutch and brake pedals are adjustable.

With these new models, the four-speed transmission, with which the Graham-Paige organization has had extensive experience and excellent results, is made available in cars of smaller size. All models of the Graham-Paige line with the exception of the 110 1/2-inch six are equipped with this transmission.

The speed changes are so arranged that shifting is done as in the conventional three-speed transmission, the low gear being latched out for use only in emergency.

Because in fourth speed the crankshaft of the motor revolves less often for each wheel revolution, higher road speeds may be maintained in comfort, higher fuel and oil mileage result, and cooling is made easier with the aid of this transmission.

The propeller shaft is balanced and checked for smooth running up to 3,000 revolutions per minute. The universal joints are all of metal construction.

Ball bearings in the steering spindles of the two smaller models, and roller bearings in the spindles of the larger models make steering easier. The tilt of the steering wheels of the four larger models is adjustable to the most comfortable driving position, and the posts may be locked against turning by means of coincidental locks which are highly endorsed by the Underwriters Laboratory.

The hydraulic brakes of the two smaller models contract over twelve-inch drums on all four wheels. The brakes of the larger models are of the four-wheel internal hydraulic type.

The braking systems of the four larger cars are equipped with automatic, compensating master cylinders which automatically replace in the braking system, liquid lost through leakage, and compensate for variations in the volume of the liquid due to variations in temperature.

Frames are deep, gusseted and reinforced with sturdy cross members. They form the worthy foundations for the five new models which bear the engineering imprint of the three Graham brothers.

F. W. Hillman, local representative for the Graham-Paige cars, will be pleased to show these cars at his salesroom on South Main street.

CATHOLIC NOTES

The grand opening of our auditorium was very successful and a very large crowd was present. All enjoyed themselves and all marveled at the beauty and size of the auditorium. Another opportunity will be given all next Tuesday night to dance in the auditorium, as the Nethem club is sponsoring a dance for the eve of Washington's birthday, Tuesday night, February 21st. General admission, $1.00 a couple; extra lady, 25 cents. Music will be furnished by the Lockmoor Country Club orchestra of Ann Arbor. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

We are very sorry to learn of the death of Rev. M. J. Bourke, of St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor, and of the Rev. James B. Farrell, likewise of Ann Arbor.

February 17th about fifteen young people will motor to Highland Park to hear an educational speaker.

About nineteen interested women attended the Ladies' Aid society, which was held at the parsonage last Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was opened with a short song service and prayer, and was followed by a brief devotional period. Several items of business were discussed.

During the meeting a number of active women sewed quilt patches. The society is already making plans for the Easter bazaar, and from a wide selection of art goods and apron materials the women chose their individual work.

The Sunday-school executive meeting was attended one hundred per cent by the teachers. A very helpful hour was spent discussing how we might better our Sunday-school.
