

AIRPLANE CRASHES NEAR HERE SUNDAY

TWO OCCUPANTS OF SHIP HAVE LEFT LEGS BROKEN IN FALL.

An airplane crash occurred near the Triangle flying field last Sunday morning about 9:30 o'clock that might have resulted more seriously for the two occupants of the ship.

George Taberham, chief pilot at the field, was giving flying instructions to a student by the name of Elch, of Detroit, when the ship went into a tall spin at about an altitude of 500 feet and made a nose dive for the ground, where it luckily came in contact with a wire fence and a pile of brush, which broke the fall and undoubtedly saved the lives of its occupants. Both Taberham and Elch were taken to the hospital in Ann Arbor in the Schrader Bros. ambulance. Both sustained a broken left leg and Taberham was cut about the face and had a shoulder and jaw fracture.

Plymouth Girl's Work Appreciated

The Monthly Review, published by the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, Pa., has the following appreciation of the work of Miss Nellie Beatrice Huger, a Plymouth girl, the article being accompanied by a large half-tone picture of Miss Huger.

"For two years Bethlehem has been very fortunate in having a student of music who was well qualified to be in charge of the young people's work in this church.

"When Miss Nellie Beatrice Huger came to us young people's activities were at an exceedingly low ebb. An appreciable task lay before her. Much adjustment was necessary that all the activities could be brought together and function under one head.

"Miss Huger's pleasing personality had much to do with the successes that soon followed, and a young people's choir, a children's choir, a dramatic club, a library, a social hour and other organizations were formed. These activities are still successfully functioning, but their leader is about to retire from this field of endeavor to undertake other tasks.

"We are sorry to see Miss Huger go. We enjoyed her fellowship. We appreciate what she has done. We wish her the best in her other endeavors."

The same publication also contained words of appreciation of Miss Huger's work from the superintendent of the Sunday school, chairman of the young people's committee, music committee and the leader of the junior church department.

A NEW GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB

DETROIT SYNDICATE HAS PURCHASED 640 ACRES OF LAND WEST OF PLYMOUTH FOR COURSES AND HOME SITES.

We are told that in Wayne county there are 100,000 golfers and only about 12,000 of them belong to clubs. This certainly leads one to believe that there is a lot of room for more golf clubs in this district.

With this in mind, a syndicate headed by Arthur W. Smith, Detroit realtor, has purchased 640 acres of land west of Plymouth, lying between Pennington avenue and Ann Arbor road, and bounded on the east and west by the Beck and Powell roads. It is proposed to construct in this area two 18-hole golf courses, and to this end the firm of Pinner & Wilcox, landscape architects and engineers, have drawn two proposals for the construction of the same. Bordered on these two courses, it is proposed to have large home sites, and to one who will look over the terrain surrounding this territory it is very obvious that these home sites are certainly advantageously located; wooded, high, rolling—all those things which go to make up an ideal location for a home.

While the details of the organization have not been worked out completely, the general scheme of things outlines a corporation, stockholders of which will be the original members of the proposed club. When an individual buys a class A membership in the proposed club, this makes him a stockholder in the corporation, and when, in turn, the home sites are sold of this revenue benefits all shareholders alike. To those who are familiar with the Detroit Golf club's plan of organization will readily recognize the similarity existing between that organization and this proposed one.

More and more people are turning to Plymouth and its environs for the location of their summer homes, and it is inevitable that in a short time Plymouth will grow and flourish as has Birmingham, Royal Oak and other suburbs of Detroit. We must prepare for future growth, so that when it comes it will not find us totally unprepared to receive it; and certainly a development of this kind will be a major reason why people should come our way when they leave Detroit seeking the ideal in home sites.

Brake Test Today and Tomorrow

An automobile brake test is being held today, Friday, and tomorrow, Saturday, July 6 and 7, on South Main street under the auspices of the Detroit Automobile club. This is an opportunity for every auto owner to have the brakes of their vehicles tested free of charge.

The evening dinners are also attracting a goodly number every day, and with the excellent quality of the food being served and the splendid service, food sales at the Hotel Mayflower are steadily increasing. HUSTON & CO. WILL OBSERVE 34TH ANNIVERSARY EVENT

This Occasion Will Also Mark the Opening of the New Addition Recently Completed.

A Cordial Invitation is Extended the Public to Visit the Store Saturday, July 7th.

Next Saturday, July 7th, Huston & Co., one of Plymouth's leading and oldest mercantile establishments will observe the 34th anniversary of its business existence, and also the formal opening of the new addition to the store which has just been completed.

In 1894 the firm of Huston & Co. opened a hardware store in the Coleman block, which stood where the Plymouth United Savings Bank building now stands. The store entrance was on Pennington Avenue and was located where is now the Strohammer 5 and the store.

The store opened with a very small stock of general hardware. The first customer of the store was E. C. Leach, who still resides in Plymouth and one of its oldest and honored residents. Under the guidance of E. C. Huston the store grew and prospered and five years later Mr. Huston was obliged to seek larger quarters, and the present building, then known as the Domstrich block, was leased and the stock removed to that location. Later Mr. Huston purchased the building.

About eight years ago the front of the building was remodeled and a modern store front was constructed, with large display windows on either side of the entrance in the center.

After the removal of the store to its present location the stock was gradually increased, until today three floors and the basement are used to hold as complete a stock of hardware and house furnishing goods as can be found in southern Michigan outside the larger cities.

Just recently a new addition has been completed on the south end of the building, which provides much more needed room. This new addition is given over to the unpacking department in the basement; the work shop and paint department on the first floor, and the linoleum department on the second floor.

Other improvements in the way of the installation of Warren display cabinets, new display cases and tables, which now gives a splendid opportunity to display merchandise in a most attractive way, and also greatly enhances the appearance of the store. An elevator is provided to make the second and third floors easily accessible for patrons.

The thirty-four years of business growth which Huston & Co. have enjoyed is largely due to the constant efforts of E. C. Huston, the proprietor, to water serve patrons of the store and a desire to progress with a growing community, and he is to be congratulated at this anniversary event upon the success which he has achieved.

To properly observe the 34th anniversary, Mr. Huston will keep open house on Saturday, July 7th, at which time he extends a most cordial invitation to his patrons and friends in Plymouth and vicinity to visit the store and see the improvements that have been made. This is in no way a selling event, but just a little celebration commemorating 34 years of business in Plymouth.

Souvenirs will be given to both the ladies and gentlemen who visit the store Saturday. Mr. Huston has also arranged for a demonstration of the Duford ironers and the Easy washing machines, which will be of especial interest to the ladies.

AN ANCIENT DOCUMENT.

M. B. Longdon, of 1332 Sheridan avenue, brought to the Mail office a copy of the Joint Documents of the State of Michigan for the year 1851, which contains some very interesting information. In the list of townships in Wayne county we find the following regarding Plymouth township: Population in 1840, 2,163; population in 1851, 2,431; valuation as per census 1850, $883,472; acres assessed in 1851, 22,438; equalized valuation of 1851, $192,854. Robert McClelland was governor of Michigan at that time.

MANY ATTENDED DEDICATION SERVICE

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES CONDUCTED AT OUR LADY OF GOOD COUNSEL CHURCH LAST SUNDAY MORNING.

Sunday, July 1st, was a real historic day for our Lady of Good Counsel church, as about eight hundred people gathered from in and around Plymouth, to witness the Rt. Rev. M. J. Gallagher, D. D., Bishop of Detroit, dedicate and bless the church.

This service was performed with the assistance of the following clergy: Those making a prominent part were the Rev. W. A. Graeber, of Sturgis; Rev. J. McMillan, of Bad Axe; Rev. T. Hally, of Highland Park; Rev. E. Pokrofski, of Detroit; Rev. Joe Scheller, of Northville; Rev. E. Glomet, of River Rouge; Rev. L. Chapman, of Detroit; Rev. J. Cook of Detroit; Rev. P. Cullinane, of Detroit; the Rev. D. Ryan and the Rev. E. Hamrick, of Detroit. Others present were Rev. W. Peck, of St. Johns, Mich.; Rev. L. Goffney, E. McQuillan, E. De Puyot, of Detroit.

The services started promptly at 10 o'clock. The men of the parish formed a guard of honor to the bishop and clergy from the rectory to the church. Immediately after the blessing and dedication a solemn high mass was celebrated by the Rev. Lefevre, being assisted by the Rev. W. Graeb as deacon and the Rev. J. McMillan as sub-deacon, and the Rev. E. Pokrofski as master of ceremonies.

The bishop preached the sermon, complimenting the people of Plymouth for the great work and their noble sacrifices made for God and state. He also explained the meaning of a dedication and blessing; the church is the house of God, the house of prayer, the house of sacrifice, and the house of sanctification. Here it is that man secures himself from the world and communes with his God, the church is not a place of public transaction of business, nor is it a place where the politics of the day are talked; it is man's most sacred investment on earth, and hence it is a privilege to be called upon to assist in building a church.

A large class of children and adults received the sacrament of confirmation, 71 from the Wayne County Training school and 46 children of the parish, together with ten adults. The services concluded with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The male choir sang the Mass, with Miss E. Lehman at the organ.

Guests were present from Detroit, Northville, Wayne, South Lyon, Northfield, Ann Arbor and Adrian. Sister M. Conella, a Dominican nun, was privileged to be present at this occasion and extend to her brother, the Rev. F. C. Lefevre, congratulations and best wishes. She was accompanied by Sister Mary Grace, of Adrian.

The value of any community is judged by its schools, churches and libraries; these three stand out as cardinal virtues, and we are glad to place this church to the list of Plymouth's houses of worship.

The Rev. F. C. Lefevre wishes on this occasion to publicly thank all for their untiring efforts in making this day a real day of joy and satisfaction to him and for the kindly co-operation given by the citizens of Plymouth.

GAS COMPANY EMPLOYEE WAS ASPHYXIATED

ROBERT DELL WAS OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES WHILE CUTTING IN SERVICE LINE.

FUNERAL SERVICES WERE HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON FROM FUNERAL HOME.

Robert Dell, aged 25 years, an employe of the Michigan Federation Utilities, was asphyxiated here last Thursday when he was overcome with gas while cutting in a service main on Harvey street.

The unfortunate young man was working with the sewer construction men cutting in the service gas lines as the sewer work progressed, when the main whistle blew Thursday, and wishing to complete the task, did not quit with the rest of the men for the lunch hour, but continued on with his work. When his fellow employes returned to their work they saw Dell still in the trench and spoke to him, but receiving no answer they investigated and found him in an unconscious condition and rushed him to the gas office in an automobile and Dr. O. B. Brishols was called, who started artificial respiration and administered stimulants, but without success.

In the meantime a call was made to Detroit for a pulmonologist, and the rescue crew of the Detroit City Gas company responded at once, making a record trip to Plymouth. Upon the arrival of the rescue crew they started the work of resuscitation at once, and although they worked for an hour and a half, the unfortunate man showed no signs of life.

The Detroit Edison company and the Michigan Bell Telephone company, through their representatives, offered every assistance at their command.

Mr. Dell had been in the employ of the gas company for several years and was well liked by all little time and was well liked by all who knew him, and his untimely death cast a shadow of sadness over the entire community. He was a brother-in-law of Frank Zimmerman, also employed by the gas company, and with whom he resided.

Funeral services were held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Walter Nichol officiating. The bearers, employes of the gas company, were George Oliver, Al Parzke, Glenn Masoulet, Frank Besegman, Glen Northrop and P. H. Deal. As a mark of respect the gas company office was closed Saturday afternoon. The interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

THE FIGHT IN ON.

We recently called the attention of Plymouth citizens to a government report to the effect that this is "locust year," and that scientific men are predicting dire results from this pest. The prediction has come true sooner than expected, for already great damage is being done by swarms of these insects in New Jersey and some of the New England states; but the locust seems to be the least of agricultural worries, according to a new report from Washington. It states that an army of experts are taking to the corn fields of the middle west to battle the corn borer in the belief that this season will witness greater destruction by this pest than of any former year. Congress failed to appropriate sufficient money to carry the fight into every section of the country, but the experts believe if they can wipe out the borer in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas they can prevent it from reaching other sections.

It is a battle that all of us have a direct interest in since it affects the greatest agricultural crop of our nation. The borer has already gained a foothold, and it is going to take a hard fight, and an expenditure of millions of dollars to exterminate it. Nothing could create a more deplorable state of affairs than would come through the destruction of our corn crop. That's why every citizen, of every state, should watch this campaign with the deepest interest.

WE'RE "GOING SOME."

Radio fans around Plymouth had a good opportunity during the recent political conventions to see just what a wonderful gift has been placed in the hands of man. And "listening in" to the complete convention reports, the same as having a front seat at the proceedings, didn't cost him anything in railroad fare, hotel bills or admission fees. Now they know what is meant by "getting something for nothing." It may interest them, however, to know that it was a costly proposition for someone, because the Radio Corporation of America, that did the broadcasting, says it used 15,000 miles of telephone wires and that putting the Kansas City convention on the air alone cost $77,000. The one at Houston was about as expensive. Planned close, it amounts to $1 a second for every second the broadcasting was going on. Owners of radio sets received the benefit of the programs free, and the world got an example of how fast we're speeding in these days of modern miracles.

BE PREPARED.

Once a fire gets started in a rural home or barn there is usually very little hope of saving anything more than the contents. This is plainly apparent at this season of the year, when almost every section has occasion to report a disastrous blaze in which some family loses heavily. Lightning plays no favorites, and it strikes as swiftly now as it ever did. Through the summer season it is exceedingly destructive. Exchanges reaching our table tell of an unusual number of fires being caused just now from this source. We mention it not to frighten those living in the territory we serve around Plymouth, but to bring them to a realization of the danger of being unprotected. There is no sure way of preventing lightning strikes and firing a house. There is little chance of saving it, once the fire gains headway, but it is not impossible to have it insured so that it can be replaced if it should be destroyed and without loss to its owner. These days insurance offers the wise man just another chance to provide for his own.

SAVE THE RELICS.

All over the country we have art museums containing specimens of animals, birds and insects. Now, why doesn't someone start a new and different kind of museum, one that will attract wide interest during the years to come. Why not a museum filled with farm tools and equipment, with every section contributing to it? We wouldn't be surprised but someone around here could dig up a husking peg, a pioneer ash-hopper, a well-sweep, candle moulds, candle snuffers and other articles like that. Someone might find an old flie, once used in making pallings, or a flail, used in beating the wheat from the chaff; there's no end to the interesting things that could be dug up for such a museum. And think how interesting it would be to the generation now of school age, to say nothing of the generations yet to come. Each year finds us getting farther and farther away from these things; each year finds them harder to get. Wonder if our congressman can't "start something" by bringing up the subject next time he gets into a conversation with his colleagues in Washington city?

WE EAT TOO MUCH.

With garden truck here in abundance and the dining table groaning under its weight a little more than at any other season of the year, we are in position to understand what a prominent doctor meant when he once told us that about 80 per cent of the people "dig their graves with their teeth." He simply meant that we eat too much; but with so much good stuff before us, and since it is so much easier to get than during the winter, how's a fellow going to keep from it? Seriously, though, the good doctor is right in a way. Nature gave us her choicest foods right at the time of year when it is dangerous to eat too much of them. Warm weather finds our blood in such condition we do not need as much nourishment as we require in the cold months. Heavy meals, no matter how good that sort of food may taste or how much we enjoy it. Fruits and vegetables are the ideal diet for this time of year and if we would feel better and be in position to work better, with less fatigue and discomfort, we should stick to these and avoid eating much meat.

Statistics show our death rate is higher in summer than in winter, and this could be used by the doctor to bear out his argument. Whether or not it is due to ailments brought on by overeating we do not know; but we do know that to keep fit and comfortable and healthy in warm weather we must watch our appetites. Now that the season for doing so is here we want to pass the word on to you so you can profit by it.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING.

The tea meeting held June 28th at the pretty home of Miss Hattie Holsington was a very pleasant affair. The large dining room was brightened with bouquets of beautiful roses that delighted all the guests. After the business meeting a short program of readings showing the magnitude of the work of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was given by the members, and the guests were favored with three instrumental selections by the Misses Madeline Shingleton, Dora Gallimore and Velda Larkins, which were much appreciated.

After the program was completed the guests were seated at tables and a dainty tea was served by a committee in charge of Mesdames Ruff and Jenks.

Altogether the meeting was most pleasant and was greatly enjoyed by all.

The next meeting will be Flower Mission day and will occur July 26th at the home of Mrs. H. A. Spicer.

De-Ho-Co Loses to Municipal Club

Last Sunday, July 1st, De-Ho-Co in spite of the fact that they outbid the Detroit Municipal Club, took the short end of a 19 to 8 score.

The Muni's started out in the first inning with a savage attack on German, De-Ho-Co's hurler, and drove him to the showers.

Constance, who relieved him, was also chased off the lot. Four runs in the first and five runs in the second chalked to the Muni's side of the column proved too many for Smyski and his De-Ho-Co teammates to overcome.

De-Ho-Co batted vainly to touch plus Muni's hurler, but null the sixth Pitts had Capt. Denniston's boys cutting out of his hand. In the sixth and seventh one and one was secured, but in the eighth the De-Ho-Co's encouraged, took advantage of Pitts' temporary weakness and smashed out six. Eight against ten points with two to go to the Muni's stiffened and walked off with a victory.

Sunday, July 8th, De-Ho-Co will play West Point in a regular Inter-Country League game at West Point, Seven Mile and Farmington roads.

Below is the De-Ho-Co Municipal box score:

A very interesting ball game was played at Newburg last Sunday. The undefeated M. C. Red Caps of Detroit journeyed out to the fresh air country, so as to add another victory to their list, and their efforts were almost true, as the eighth inning found the game 7-6 in favor of the opponents, but then a rally followed—a real rally—hits, loaded bases, runs and what not, bringing the score up to 18 for Nethem—a sure victory. A feature hit was placed in the outfield garden by Butterford, scoring three runs—the start of the work. Runs and hits were too numerous for a box score.

A return game will be played at Mack park, Detroit.

Batteries—Nethem: Remus and Schomberger; M. C. Red Caps: Killum and Maddock.

19-Year-Old Oklahoman Is Champion Farmer

Jones, Okla.—Although he is only nineteen years old, Ed Loop is a champion farmer.

He has won $1,150 in cash prizes in the last seven years at agricultural exhibitions, and has received 460 ribbons. His exhibits included 37 farm crops, three breeds of chickens, pigs and sheep.

Competing against adults, Ed won third place for two successive years in a corn growing contest sponsored by the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, and last year he crowned his efforts by taking the grand prize.

The youth enjoys an income of $700 a year from only two of his ventures—egg and honey production.

He now is attempting to graft paper-shell pecans on native pecans and English walnuts on black walnuts.

OLD SWORD RECALLS DE SOTO EXPEDITON

Part of Ancient Blade Dug Up in Georgia.

Washington, D. C.—Part of a rusty sword recently dug up in northern Georgia is believed to have been lost by the expedition of Hernando De Soto nearly 400 years ago.

"If this was the origin of the weapon," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society, "it is a relic of an expedition that was a tragic mistake from first to last, and the only important accomplishment of which was the discovery of the lower reaches of the Mississippi river."

Had Helped Conquer Peru.

"De Soto had amassed a fortune by his association with Pizarro in the conquest of Peru," continues the bulletin. "He prevailed upon King Charles V of Spain to grant him the right to conquer Florida," and threw his fortune into the enterprise. The whole matter was approached on the basis of the conquest of South America and Mexico. De Soto thought the present southern states of the United States constituted a land of superbly rich mines and planned to loot their temples and palaces of gold and precious stones.

"When he had wandered over what is now Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana, killing thousands of Indian agriculturalists and hunters, finding only towns of huts and wigwams and losing hundreds of his men and scores of his horses, he came to the realization that there was nothing in the region worth 'conquering'."

"De Soto's expedition was not the first to reach Florida, but it was the first to go in on a large scale, and the first to penetrate westward through the Gulf states. His best-known predecessor in the peninsula was Ponce de Leon, who searched for gold, but for the fountain of youth." It was he who gave Florida its name.

"De Soto's party, including foot soldiers, cavalry, and servants, left Havana, Cuba, in May, 1539, and is believed to have landed on what is now Tampa bay. They pushed north through swamps and forests, always harassed by the Indians and spent their first winter near the present town of Pensacola.

"In 1540 they went into the northern part of the present state of Georgia, still fighting and oppressing the Indians and still believing that gold lay just ahead. The wanderings turned westward, and southward to the vicinity of Mobile. The following winter they were spent in the Yazoo valley in what is now Mississippi.

"Soon after camp was broken in 1541, the westward-pushing wanderers came upon the 'Great River' as they named it. Paintings have represented this as something of a gala occasion, with De Soto taking possession of the stream in shining armor. In reality it was a rugged, unkempt, rusty crew of discouraged men which found its way blocked by the muddy, drift-strewn waters of the lower Mississippi, somewhere south of the present Tennessee line.

"Barges were built, and the adventurers ferried themselves and their horses into what is now Arkansas. They scouted as far north as the present situation of New Madrid, Missouri, and still finding no gold, turned westward. The next winter was spent in the neighborhood of what is now Joplin, Mo.

"No gold was found in this region, and the party turned south and followed the Red river back toward the Mississippi. They became involved in the swamps and bayous of the Red river valley, but finally won their way through to the Mississippi near the mouth of the Red. There they encamped in an Indian town, with the natives rather unwilling hosts, and prepared to build boats.

"But this was to be the end of De Soto's wanderings. He sickened, and within a few days died. His body was buried temporarily, and was then sunk, in the early summer of 1542, in the great river which he had discovered.

"After wandering westward for several months the survivors of De Soto's expedition returned to the Mississippi, built seven brigantines, and floated down the river. They first killed all their horses and dried the meat for provisions. In the frail boats, the last of the party of adventurers entered the Gulf of Mexico, and skirting the present Texas coast, finally arrived at a Spanish settlement in Mexico, near the present port of Tampico."

Watch Still Ticking Found Inside Fish

Cape May, N. J.—A chronometrical croaker was hauled in recently by Capt. Francis Holmes, of the Beach Beach fishing fleet, along the Delaware bay shore here. The captain was dangling his line over the side of his boat when the croaker, a fish which noses among the clam beds for dainty morsels, bit and as he was brought up his captor could hear a distinct tick, tick, tick.

The four-pound fish was opened and inside of him was a watch, which one of the party with Captain Holmes had dropped over the side a little while before. Despite a plunge of several fathoms and its incarceration inside the croaker, the timepiece had not missed a tick.

Now that the strong prohibition plank has been adopted, the thirst is yet to come!

Residents of Pittsburgh are objecting to the use of the word "Brandywine" as the name of a telephone exchange. We guess they don't care about awakening painful memories.

Telephone Company Pays a Big Tax

A check for $2,453,360 was handed to O. B. Fuller, auditor general of the state of Michigan, Saturday morning in payment of the state taxes for 1927 of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

George P. Holland, especially deputized to act for Walter I. Mizner, treasurer of the Michigan Bell, delivered the check to Mr. Fuller.

Federal taxes paid by the Company this year amounted to $770,108, making a total of $3,223,468 paid to both state and federal governments.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company this year paid the state an increase of $415,976.05 taxes over the amount paid a year ago. Federal taxes paid this year represented an increase of $63,250, or a total increase of $479,226.05 over the taxes paid by the Company last year.

Taxes of the Michigan Bell, both state and federal, total $5.68 per average telephone in service in 1927, the state portion amounting to $4.32 and the federal portion $1.36 per telephone. The Company's state taxes for 1927, which is the amount now paid, took the net earnings of one and one-fifths telephone in every five in service, or the full net earnings of 137,500 telephones. Total taxes, including those paid the federal government took the net earnings of one and three-fifths telephone of every five in service, or the full net earnings of 181,000 telephones for 1927, amounting to 31.85 per cent of the net telephone earnings of the Company. State taxes alone required 24.24 per cent of the company's total net telephone earnings.

Only one public utility company in the state, the Michigan Central railroad, pays a greater tax into the State's treasury than does the Michigan Bell Company, the records show. The utilities companies' tax rate for 1927 is $30.067 per $1,000 assessed valuation, an increase from $29.10 in 1926 and from $27.54 in 1925. The tax commission this year increased the assessed valuation of the Michigan Bell Company $10,000,000.

The state tax paid by all telephone telegraph, and railroad companies goes into the primary school fund, which fund will exceed $16,000,000 this year, the largest in the history of the state. The properties of these utilities companies are valued by the state tax commission at $409,465,250, an increase of $13,180,000 over that of a year ago. These utilities will pay approximately $12,500,000 of the entire primary school fund. Distribution of the primary school fund is slated to begin not before July 15.

One Dog for Two

By ROBERT GLASS

UNDER the big maple tree in Mrs. Addy's front yard sat Mrs. Addy's boarder, Evelyn Byron, who was a clerk down at the lumber mill near the bridge. Evelyn was an orphan and had lived for a long time with Mrs. Addy, who had been an old friend of the girl's parents. Every Sunday afternoon after dinner, when the dishes were all washed and put away, Evelyn came out and sat on the rustic bench under the maple, with a book in her hands. Sometimes Mrs. Addy sat there, too, but today some one had taken her for a ride in a crowded motor car and there was not even room for one more.

"Sorry, Evelyn," called Mr. Peters, as the widow squeezed into the trolley. "You turn next time."

"Don't bother about me, Mr. Peters," protested Evelyn, as she waved a gay farewell and returned to her bench. But when the car had vanished around a turn of the country road she did feel rather lonely. "It is lonely—just us two, isn't it, Bob?" she asked the airless beside her.

The dog cocked his head on one side and barked sharply. Then he jumped down and ran frantically up and down the yard, close to the fence. "Funny how he does that every time I mention his name!" murmured Evelyn thoughtfully. "But he is the dearest thing, and he's all my own—no less some one comes along and chains him."

Some one came whistling down the path—a tall young man, bareheaded, sun-burned, athletic looking, with clear-gray eyes and well-brushed brown hair. Evelyn had seen him before—somewhere—it was an effort to recall. He was a stranger in the village.

The airless saw him at the same moment, his ears lifted, and one cocked forward expectantly.

"Bob!" warned Evelyn, putting out a hand to stay his quivering body. But she was too late; in that fraction of a second he had gained the fence in two bounds and then sailed over the barrier to fall in a scrambling heap at the man's feet. Then he found his balance and leaped and barked frantically, scattering dust over the clothes of the well-dressed stranger.

"Down you rascal!" laughed the stranger, stooping to caress the dusty gray harridan. Then he lifted his eyes to Evelyn's and smiled at her.

"Your dog?" asked the fatless one. Evelyn hesitated. Bob was her dog, by all the laws of finding—and need she.

"She nodded."

"Oh!" he exclaimed sharply and looked away.

"Why did you ask—and why are you surprised?"

"I beg your pardon—but I thought you were going to say, 'No.' He bent down, whispered something in the dog's ear. Then he lifted Bob and dropped him over the fence.

He went on his way, while the girl stared resentfully after him and the dog crept close to the ground, following the fence, whining softly.

Suddenly, Evelyn gave a little sobbing cry and ran across the yard.

"Stop!" she cried.

As if he had been listening for that call he turned swiftly and leaped the fence.

"You called me?" he asked eagerly. The girl's charming face dropped into her hands. "It is not my dog—I wanted him so—I found him in the bushes beside the bridge a month ago—one of his paws was hurt; I think an automobile must have struck him. I brought him home—here—and because I have no one who really belongs to me, I adopted him. I tried to find out his name—he wore no collar—and I tried ever so many, but when I said 'Bob' he went wild. I believed it was his name. That's all!"

The man's eyes fell to the dog, who was curled contentedly beside him. "His name's 'Sandy'—he recognized my name when you called 'Bob.'"

"About a month ago, I chained him up. I was going to the city and couldn't take him that day. When I got home I learned he had slipped his collar and followed the car."

Sandy was leaping now between the man and the girl, torn between two loves. "Do you mind keeping him a while longer?" asked Bob Mason. "I will come after him later—it's too bad to tear him away so suddenly."

Bob Mason, who turned out to be a stockholder in the lumber mill living in the adjoining town, came many times to visit Sandy, though Mrs. Addy declared the poor beastly played ever and fiddle to Evelyn. But late in the fall, when it was too cold to sit under the maple, Bob told Evelyn that they must reach a decision about the ownership of Sandy.

She looked wistfully into the glowing fire, while Bob admiringly regarded her dainty profile. "Let Sandy choose," she evaded, and when they asked Sandy, that most intelligent airless stood erect and placed one paw on Evelyn's hand and the other on Bob's knee.

"Just what I was going to suggest," whispered Bob softly, and as Evelyn said nothing for a while, it is to be inferred that Sandy had his own way about it!

North Sea Island Milk Contains Iodine Property

WYK-ON-FOEHR.—The leading property of the North sea air are due to strong emanations of salt, radium and especially iodine, and now a scientist of the Island of Foehr has established the fact that the milk of cows, goats and sheep on the North Sea Islands and the coastlands also contains a surprisingly large amount of iodine. As much as 210 millionths of a gram per liter has been found in cow's milk.

Iodine is the sovereign remedy for hardening of the arteries, and milk with an iodine content is also indicated for various children's diseases. It has long been known that the inhabitants of this part of Germany are almost never afflicted by hardening of the arteries.

Modify Farm Methods to Halt Corn Borer

Washington.—In a survey of methods to keep the European corn borer in check, Jesse W. Tapp of the federal division of farm management has found that farmers in the invaded portions of Ohio and Michigan already are modifying their methods of handling corn.

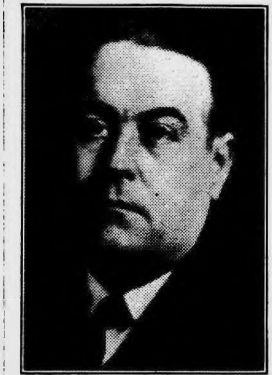

Tapp says some are going so far as to consider the reduction of their corn acreage, at least for the present. The extent to which cropping systems will be changed, Tapp believes will depend on the advantage of corn over other crops, either for feed or sale, and the ease or difficulty with which methods of corn production may be modified, so as to prevent borer infestation reaching proportions that will cause serious commercial damage.

Announces Candidacy For Prosecutor

STATEMENT AND HISTORY OF JAMES E. CHENOT, CHIEF ASSISTANT PROSECUTING ATTORNEY.

In aspiring to the office of Prosecuting Attorney of Wayne County, I am sensitive to the fact that if elected I will be the servant of all the people of this county; that the office is not a personal perquisite; it is a public trust. The stewardship of that high office requires firm resolve to keep all citizens of the county secure in their homes, persons and rights against violators of the law and to prosecute without fear or favor, every contemptible crook who traffics in liberty or speculates in justice.

Spinelessness in official life, any where gives comfort and courage to those who are "laws unto themselves"; spinelessness in performing the duties of Prosecuting Attorney will do more to rot the entire fabric of the administration of criminal justice than anything that can be imagined. I appreciate that it is the duty of the Prosecuting Attorney to fairly and faithfully present the State's case in a criminal trial and that a criminal trial should not be considered a game wherein the defendant on one side, by his own ingenuity, endeavors to save his scalp, or the Prosecutor on the other seeks to take it. Prosecution may be at once fair and aggressive, and I pledge myself if elected to carry warfare without truce or quarter on the parasitic group who fatten on crime.

The law must be enforced as it is written and it is not for the Prosecutor to say whether a law is good or bad. Laws should be enforced or failure confessed. The Prosecutor's staff should be composed of men who are mentally alert and morally erect, as well as properly equipped and trained. Next in importance is the sincere determination to assist in the speedy trial of all offenders. Arrest and vigorous prosecution, swift on the heels of criminal conduct, is the most salutary influence in law enforcement. The Prosecutor is the moving party in law enforcement inasmuch as he, on behalf of the People, makes complaint. I earnestly pledge myself to the selection of an upright and courageous staff; and to speedily pursue all complaints made to the end that no guilty person will go unwhipped of justice.

HISTORY

Appointed to Prosecutor's staff January 1, 1922, by Paul W. Voorhes; re-appointed by Robert M. CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is Holy Communion Sunday for the men of the parish. Cards will be mailed this weekend.

The dedication services held last Sunday were very impressive and the bishop was well pleased with our efforts and promised the pastor that he would return again at some future date for another visit.

The pastor will be on retreat next week at the Sacred Heart seminary.

We are very sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Barbara Levandowski, the mother of Thomas Levandowski. Our sympathy is extended to him and his family.

The Nethem boys defeated the strong M. C. Red Caps. The score stood 7-6 until the eighth inning, and then a rally followed, leaving the M. C. boys on the short end. Final score, 18-9, in favor of Nethem.

The summer schedule will now be followed out on Sundays. Both 8 and 10 o'clock mass will be low, with a five minute instruction. Slugging at each, and benediction after the last mass.

Wow! High Trousers With Plaits for Men

New York.—There has been comment from time to time on the popularity of high trousers, profusely plaited and short double-breasted waistcoats.

With the coming of spring the odd waistcoat is prominently mentioned, chiefly in tattersail flannel. For the extreme dresser the fancy waistcoat of the variety mentioned might be recommended as timely.

A prominent clothier, in commenting on the rather bizarre trousers the men are wearing, remarked that he would not be surprised at anything the men might do.

"A great many of us hesitated to accept the theory that the men would ever take trick trousers seriously, but they seem to have done so. They have also gone back to suspenders, a rather startling revelation in itself.

"As a finishing touch the double-breasted waistcoat offers a daring background and is being liberally boosted by the makers of such novelties."

PEAKS "SHRINK" AS FABLES FADE

Mounts Once Called Tallest, Far From It.

Jasper Park, Alberta.—Today it is a matter of common knowledge to every school child that the highest peak in America, excluding Alaska and the Yukon, is Mount Whitney, 14,501 feet in California.
Twenty years ago when their elders were going to school, it was equally certain that the highest altitude on the continent was attained by either Mount Brown or Mount Hooker, high above Athabasca pass, in what today is Jasper National park, Alberta, but in what at that time was but a dimly known north country.

So much can fade do even for the height of a mountain. These twin peaks, which stood guard over the pass that was the gateway between the valleys of the Columbia river and the prairies to the east of the mountains, became endowed with marvelous proportions by the early travelers, unaccustomed to the spectacle of height, who passed beneath their shadows.

David Thompson, noted explorer and geographer of the West, estimated their altitude to be about 18,000 feet. In 1836 James Reewick, professor of chemistry and physics at Columbia college, communicated his belief to Washington Irving, the writer, that these mountains compared in height with the Himalayas.

David Douglas, distinguished botanist from whom the Douglas fir of the western coast receives its name, when making the overland journey about 1825, placed the height of these peaks at close to 17,000 feet. He named them Hooker and Brown after two botanists he had admired.

And so the legend persisted until close on 20 years ago. It was dispelled by expeditions taken by Prof. Coleman of Toronto, which settled the altitude at something close to that given by the interprovincial boundary survey in 1920, namely Mount Brown, 9,156 feet; Mount Hooker, 10,872 feet. Man's zeal for precision had toppled another fond illusion persisting through the years.

Find Brains of Great Like Those of Small

Philadelphia.—The brains of the great do not vary so greatly from those of the small.

Post-mortem examination of the brains of G. Stanley Hall, eminent psychologist; Sir William Osler, for many years an outstanding figure in the field of medicine, and Edward S. Morse, widely known naturalist and zoologist, did not show striking variations from the normal. Dr. Henry H. Donaldson of the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology, told members of the National Academy of Sciences here. They were, however, slightly heavier than the brains of more nearly average individuals studied for comparison.

"The variations in the form of the convolutions," said Doctor Donaldson, "may mean something but they do not explain that for which explanation is sought, for in their fundamental structure human brains are remarkably alike, and the variations in the convolutions are incidental, as the several measurements show."

HOMES SERVICEABLE HOMES

To build houses that look better, that are better, that are more serviceable and represent a competitive value is the one sure way of building houses that satisfy. This is our aim! The final test of a house plan is the reaction of the owner or tenant who lives in the finished dwelling. If one of the main rooms of a home, the kitchen, is not up to date, the home manager and the cook blame the architect and builder for every extra step, every added detail of kitchen work. In our plans of the A-A HOME the kitchen has received special study, the compact arrangement of sink, cupboards, space for stove and refrigerator is very noticeable.

Merchants Win Again

The Merchants kept up their string of victories by defeating the Ypsi-lanti Foundry by a margin of 9 to 2. The game was fast until the eighth inning when the Merchants found Oliver for four hits and garnered five runs. The visitors scored their lone two runs in the ninth on an error, a base on balls and a clean single to center.

High lights of the game were Ritchie's 7 and Rowland's running catches deep into left and right field. Carruthers came through with a nice catch of a line drive about seven feet high, just nabbing it and nearly com-pleting a double play. Heine Clement and Ritchie featured at bat, both hitting an even 500 for the day. Quinn set the visitors down with two hits, while his teammate collected 13.

Boka, playing first for the visitors, batted 500, while Boka stopped a same hit in the sixth off Rowland's stick.

Rival Nurses Strive to Please Till It Hurts!

Mexico City.—Fights between ambulance crews of the Red Cross of Mexico City and the "Green Cross," rival charitable organization, each striving to outdo the other in the number of accident cases handled, have resulted in further injuries to patients already hurt and being taken to hospitals.

The Red Cross chapter complained to police that Green Cross ambulance men have attacked Red Cross ambulances bound for a hospital with accident victims. It was alleged that in some cases the injured had been forcibly removed from a Red Cross ambulance by the staff of a Green Cross car.

Police plan to assign zones to each ambulance service to prevent further trouble.

Choose New Site for Farmers Day

LOCATION PICKED FOR GENERAL MEETING WILL BE IDEAL AND MORE CONVENIENTLY LOCATED.

A new site has been chosen for the annual summer Farmers Day meeting at the Michigan State College, July 27. It will be an ideal location for the big general meeting in the afternoon, and more conveniently located to the experimental plots, the livestock barns and the demonstrations and contests which will attract the interest of the visitors during the morning.

A platform for the speakers and entertainment features will be erected on one bank of the Red Cedar River near the farm lane bridge, while the audience will be seated on the opposite bank which forms a natural amphitheatre and affords ample shade. The front campus of nearly 100 acres and the shaded banks of the river which form ideal picnic grounds will, of course, be available to the visitors as usual.

New and unusual forms of entertainment and contests are being planned for both the morning and afternoon programs. Among the demonstrations, the use of the combine harvester is expected to be one of the most important due to its recent use in the state and the general interest in more economical methods of harvesting in Michigan.

Valuable and interesting information, the result of experimental work conducted during the past year with livestock and crops, will be revealed by members of the college staff who will be stationed at strategic points to explain the work and the practical application of the findings.

Has Great Time Getting Bird Picture

Walter Hastings, tall, genial official photographer of the Conservation Department, has encountered the fiercest fighting specimen of Michigan wild life. Recently Hastings sought pictures of the black tern and before he had finished getting some excellent views of this beauty he had learned something about the bird's fighting ability.

The fact that he was intruding on the private life of a pair of these birds

What Is Really Needed

By Albert T. Reid

STRONGER LAWS TO PROTECT THE FARMERS AGAINST TRESPASSING AND PETTY THEIVING

undoubtedly was the cause of the opposition he met. Never in his 15 years of experience in this fascinating business has Hastings encountered such bundles of fury.

The word "bluff" evidently does not exist in the vocabulary of the black tern. As soon as Hastings and Mrs. Hastings, who, by the way, is also an expert of long experience on photographic wild life, put in their appearances at the tern's domicile, the battle opened. There was nothing offered in the way of ultimatum, the birds swooping to the attack with a willingness that left the Hastings astounded. Not until they had left the neighborhood did the relentless fighting cease.

Mrs. Hastings crouched low in the boat in which they were approaching the nest. It was necessary to let the craft drift to the birds' home, for a single move offends suffices to spoil plans that have taken hours to work out. She had pulled rushes from the lake margin and covered her person completely. But the sharp eyes of the mother bird soon pierced the blind and she made her dive at the invaders. The bird flew swiftly at Mrs. Hastings and pecked her head several times, screaming out her protests. Persistence, a word that is the foundation for much of the Hastings' success in their chosen work, finally won out and the record of the birds' home life is now included in the pictorial history.

This feat is typical of "Walt" Hastings. He has never set out to secure a set of pictures but what he has completed. For as many as 90 hours he has remained in cramped positions, pestered by insects and other pests while waiting to "shoot" his prey. He has never given ground to a single bird or animal encountered in his years of study.

He has had some thrilling experiences while gathering material. Once while sitting in a blind of very narrow limits, he was astonished to see a rattlesnake crawl unceremoniously near his feet. With his feet entangled only in lightweight hose and tennis shoes, Hastings did not feel comfortable while the snake was assuming a business-like post. But if he were to make his escape, Hastings knew that he must either tread upon the unwelcome guest or else drop one of his many platters upon him. Such an accident, he knew, would result disastrously for the snake was already to do business. So he adopted the snake's game that of waiting for something to happen. For more than an hour, man and snake occupied the blind, neither consciously moving a muscle. Minutes seemed like hours to Hastings as his body tired and began to ache. Then, apparently wearying of this rather lonesome game, the snake mandered out of the blind much the same as he came. Hastings' first move was to wipe the perspiration from his brow.

These, of course, are unusual experiences. But to Hastings, his work amounts to almost a religion. It is doubtful if there is a man living in our state who gets as much first-hand information of its wild life and the habits of its animal natives as does this interesting man. He has come to know the guarded treasures of Michigan's most rare species of game and songsters. He has over 10,000 still pictures of which 7,000 are of birds, in his collection. These are in addition to the thousands of feet of motion picture film that he has taken. He has entertained clubs of sportsmen, wild life lovers' groups and kindred organizations with his pictures taken in all parts of Michigan. Last year he made 246 showings. He is open for engagements again this season.

All agree that Hastings is one of the Department's most valuable and interesting figures. He carries the wild life of Michigan to its people in concrete form, takes them into their parlors, theatres and clubrooms. His vast storehouse of information gleaned from the wilds under natural conditions is always available to the Department's experts.

Walter Hastings, who is the official photographer for the State Conservation Department, has some strange pets. At present he has three small skunks about a month old, a baby beaver, and two small cub bears. The beaver and the skunks are quite sociable, but the two cub bears are real savages. Hastings is making a motion picture of wild animal life which will be used for educational purposes. Last year Mr. Hastings made a picture study of birds. He is intending to keep his pets until they are able to care for themselves and then liberates them at the Emmett County Game Refuge—Livingston Republican.

WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH ALIEN RUNNING

Girl and Father Are Accused at Detroit.

Detroit.—Accused of being responsible for the smuggling of at least 400 aliens from Canada to Detroit during the last 18 months, Casper Hollecker, fifty-two years old, and his daughter, Mrs. Rose Phillippi, thirty-one years old, were arraigned here recently on charges of conspiracy to violate the immigration laws and being accessories in aiding the smuggling of aliens.

John L. Zurbrick, district director of immigration, estimated the two were responsible for bringing in 400 aliens here as members of an international ring whose ramifications are believed to extend to Europe.

Both admit Mr. Zurbrick said, that they have smuggled in a number of aliens but gave no exact number. Hollecker, Mr. Zurbrick said, told him that between 50 and 100 aliens whom he aided to enter the country illegally now are residing in New York.

Many From His Home. Suspicious of the authorities here were aroused when it was found that in the few months aliens caught illegally entering the country here all seemed to come from Englesbrum, a section of Rumania which formerly was part of Austria. Hollecker was born in the district.

A month ago the authorities were informed that 78 aliens from Englesbrum were aboard a steamer bound for Canada. On April 3, 12 and 19, the immigration border patrol apprehended a number of the aliens here, and all showed they were interested in a man named Hollecker.

The women said they paid $75 to be smuggled over the river, while the men said they paid $55 each. One woman said she paid $250. Mrs. Phillippi, Mr. Zurbrick said, claims $75 of that fee was paid the man who brought the woman over the river.

On April 19, Nicholas Titch and his wife, Anna, of Englesbrum, were arrested in a taxicab at the foot of 42 Riverfront with Arthur Damon, a smuggler released recently after serving a sentence in the Leavenworth penitentiary for smuggling aliens, and Edward Quinn and his wife Ruth, who live at the Riverfront address.

Gave Password. Titch told the authorities that when he came to Windsor he went to a certain hotel and gave a certain password, whereupon he was told to await an agent of the smuggling ring. The hotel, the authorities say they are informed, got $5 a head for this service.

Hollecker was notified of the aliens' arrival and his daughter came to Windsor and collected $150 from the Titches and told them they would be delivered to her home. Mr. Zurbrick said, The Titches got in a cab at the hotel with Damon.

Hollecker, Mr. Zurbrick said, claims he got $10 to $20 a head for his part in the smuggling. He said, according to the officials, that he shipped the aliens to the East after receiving them at his home.

Moscow's Two Millions Overflow Red Capital

Moscow.—Moscow appears to be suffering serious scarcity of dwelling houses, according to an elaborate review of the situation made by the newspaper Isvestia. This is due to the fact that during the World war and the revolution the city lost about 20 per cent of such buildings, while the population considerably increased, and is still increasing. In 1920 the city was estimated to have 1,500,000 inhabitants while now it is said to have 2,142,000—a phenomenal increase.

The existing houses provide an area of only 5.7 square meters for each person, or only about half as much as is required by the commissar of hygiene. To correct these congested conditions it would be necessary at once to provide at least 3,000,000 square meters of lodging space.

Meanwhile the newspapers are printing many communications upon the subject, giving all sorts of suggestions for relief. Some urge that sleeping rooms be fitted with upper and lower beds, like sleeping cars. Others demand that every room shall have at least one window, a rule which does not now prevail; and yet others would limit the number of occupants to four in a room.

Earthen Jars in Arizona Said to Be 2,000 Years Old

Nogales, Ariz.—Ancient earthen jars, containing the bones of a prehistoric race, recently excavated by men working on the city streets, were declared to be more than 2,000 years old by Byron Cummings, dean of the University of Arizona, who made an inspection of the relics.

Many of the jars are inscribed with curious designs and crude drawings of snakes, centipedes and birds. Dean Cummings attributed the articles found to the Pibhouse people, a long-headed race, predecessors of the later race known as the Pueblo people, who built Casa Grande.

Excepting the cliff dwellers relics which were discovered near Flagstaff, these jars were said to be the oldest relics yet unearthed in Arizona.

City Links Pay. Spokane, Wash.—With a modest fee the city made a net profit of $3,000 from its municipal golf course last year.

Some politicians evidently fear that a wet plank would prove too slippery! The only mystery about some mystery novels is how they ever came to be published.

Now that talking movies have been perfected, what is to become of all the people who went to the movies just for the pleasure of reading the titles aloud

PHOTOGRAPH SHOT ON HARDEST STEEL

Image Reproduced by the "Munroe Effect."

Washington.—Shooting a photograph into the hardest of chrome steel with the aid of high explosive nitrogelatin and so making a photographic record as permanent as the steel itself, is the feat that has been accomplished as a result of the "Munroe effect." This effect was the discovery of Dr. Charles E. Munroe, veteran explosive expert of the United States bureau of mines here. An incidental result of the work is proof that the blacks in a photograph print are due to varying thicknesses of finely divided silver, the thicker the deposit the darker the shadow in the photograph.

How Photograph Was Made. The steel photograph was made recently by G. St. J. Perrot, superintendent of the bureau of mines experiment station at Pittsburgh and sent by him to Doctor Munroe. To make it a photograph of Doctor Munroe was laid on a piece of steel about two inches in diameter and an inch thick.

On top of this was placed a disk-shaped piece of the nitrogelatin explosive, which was then fired. Though the paper photograph was completely destroyed, when the steel cooled sufficiently to be handled the profile of Doctor Munroe was found impressed on the surface. Where the photograph had been black, that is, in the shadows, the surface of the steel was raised, and where there had been lights the steel was incised.

Another example of the effect that is in Doctor Munroe's possession now was made by W. O. Stelling, director of research of the Trojan Powder company. In this case the words "Munroe Effect" were impressed into the surface of a block of the explosive, so that the letters were in intaglio. When this was exploded on a disk of the steel the letters appeared on it. However, they were also in intaglio on the steel. This is the opposite from what would be obtained with a die, for then the intaglio letters on the die would come out in relief on the finished product.

Doctor Munroe explains the effect by saying that when the detonation of the explosive occurs, the entire amount of the solid is converted to gas. This volume of gas, however, momentarily has the same size and shape as the original block of the explosive and is therefore extremely compressed. Where there was a cavity in the original explosive is the line of least resistance for the escape of the rapidly moving gas molecules. In seeking to escape they collide with each other, producing a vast number of tiny molecular drills, which bore into the hardest steel.

Blew Safe by Method.

Using the same principle, Doctor Munroe once blew a hole in a safe with a hollow cylinder of dynamite. He took a bundle of sticks of dynamite, then, by pushing a tin can through the center, he pushed out the center sticks and bound together the other ones so as to form a ring. This he exploded in a vertical position upon a safe. The result was a hole in the top of the safe corresponding to the hollow center in the ring of dynamite sticks. This hollow cylinder had acted as a gun to fire the gas molecules through the steel.

Any thin object, such as a leaf or photograph, can be reproduced on steel in this way, said Doctor Munroe, and so a permanent record can be obtained. The explosion has the effect of greatly magnifying slight differences in thickness, such as between the layers of silver in the shadows and highlights of the photograph.

$30,000,000 Estate Awaits Greek Claimants

Dallas, Texas.—Somewhere in Dallas is a will disposing of an estate valued at $30,000,000, awaiting claimants who live in the Near East, according to a letter received by D. C. Whiteley, county clerk of Dallas county, from Oswald Keun, a lawyer of Alexandria, Egypt.

The letter sets forth that Apostolis Caucaulos, a Greek, emigrated from Athens to the United States and settled in Dallas in 1882. He entered the mercantile business and prospered amazingly, investing his money in various enterprises at home and abroad, which brought enormous returns. In 1900 Caucaulos died and left a will, the letter says, bequeathing his estate to relatives who reside in Alexandria and other towns of Egypt, as well as of Greece.

It is surmised that Caucaulos lived here under an assumed name and it also is the theory of Keun that the will was placed in the hands of some Greek friend of Caucaulos in Dallas. It is hoped that the will may be traced by an examination of the probate records of this county.

SOLVE MYSTERY OF FLYING FISH

Both Flapping and Soaring Methods Used.

New York.—That troublesome question, "How do flying fishes fly?" is still vexing scientists, although many attempts to solve the mystery have been made.

J. T. Nichols, curator of recent fishes at the American Museum of Natural History, and C. M. Breder, Jr., research associate of the New York aquarium, find some truth in both sides of the argument as to whether these fishes sustain their flight by flapping of the wings, or pectoral fins, or whether they merely soar as gliders.

Writing in Natural History, the museum's journal, the ichthyologists say:

"The flight is largely a planing one, but at certain times and under certain conditions a definite wing motion may enter into and contribute to it. The enlarged pectoral fins or wings are on anatomical grounds and structurally—from an engineering point of view—ideal gliding planes, so arranged as to be easily held rigid at the proper angle.

"The wings of large flying fishes are sometimes seen to vibrate or flutter, a motion more reasonably referable to tension in setting them, or to the wind, than to a definite function in flight. In very small and young fishes, on the other hand, the wings vibrate to such an extent that they blur, like those of a flying insect.

"It seems that with an increase in age and size, a buzzing, beetle-like flight is replaced by a true soaring flight and that the former is very likely a function of absolute size as are so many larval specializations.

"Flying fishes fly more freely in a strong breeze and attain greater elevation, speed and distance than in calm weather. The conclusion is almost inevitable that they utilize the wind to some extent to lift and propel them, even though it is difficult to understand how this would be accomplished."

The observations were based on the collection of flying fishes gathered by William Beebe's Albatross expedition.

Bottle Drifts 7,300 Miles; Faster Than Sail Boat

Washington.—Six miles a day, or faster than old sailing vessels, is the record established by a bottle reported to the navy hydrographic office.

The bottle traveled 7,300 miles from the Gulf of Tehuantepec on the western coast of Mexico to New Guinea. It was thrown overboard by Second Officer J. M. Johnson of the Norwegian steamer Hellen July 12, 1924, and was picked up December 13, 1927, on the north coast of New Guinea.

Caught by the northeast trades, the bottle drifted into the north equatorial current setting westward, its drift passing Clipperton Island, between the Hawaiian Islands and Palmyra Island, through the Islands of the Marshall group, thence southward of the Caroline Islands across the equator to the Hermit Islands, off the north coast of New Guinea.

Find Greased Shoe Stays Dry and Wears

Washington.—Farmers who grease their shoes to make them last longer are following a sound scientific principle and not a "fallacy of the hinterland," the Department of Agriculture insists.

Greasing shoes, experts say, not only prolongs their life, but helps to keep the feet dry. They recommend neat's-foot, cod and castor oils, tallow and wool grease or mixtures of these.

Shoes worn on the farm get particularly hard wear, since they are subjected to mud and water and at times to extreme dryness. All these, it is observed, ruin leather, whereas oil and grease preserve it.

1 Out of 5 Weddings Gets Airing in Court

New York.—A least one out of every five new marriages in the United States results so deplorably that the case comes to court according to reports handed to the meeting of the joint committee on Domestic Relations Courts of the National Probation Association. The matter is so serious, the report of the United States children's bureau in Washington on the Domestic Relations court of the United States affirms, that the bureau has made exhaustive study of the problems underlying family disruption and divorce and is formulating methods of correction.

Back Seat Driving Is Not Divorce Ground

Des Moines, Iowa.—Back seat driving by a husband is insufficient evidence for the granting of a divorce, Judge J. E. Meyer in Polk County District court ruled in dismissing a divorce petition filed by Mrs. Blanche Lowenberg, wife of Judson Lowenberg, Iowa grand master of the Ancient Order of United Workers. Mrs. Lowenberg testified that her husband found continual fault with her driving.

AT THE THEATRE

"PAINTED POST."

The two extremes in feminine characterization has been successfully put over by the charming Natalie Kingston, who jumped from the important role of feminine menace in Fox Films "Street Angel" to the still more important position as leading lady to Tom Mix in his latest Fox production, "Painted Post."

This stirring picture of the great west will be seen at the Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, July 14th. It is said to be among the very best turned out by Mix during his entire career before the camera.

Miss Kingston enacts the role of Barbara Lane, a young magazine illustrator seeking western types. She meets Tom and is attracted by his masculinity but soon finds the love making of a man from the plains entirely different from the lounge lizards to which she had been accustomed. It is this young lady's first appearance in a western picture since her debut on the screen and she enjoyed the experience very much.

"Many people have asked me how I could enter into the spirit of a wholesome western romance right after completing my 'vamp' role in 'Street Angel.' I suppose it's the result of very valuable training which I received as a Mack Bennett battling girl a few years ago. There we were called upon to be anything from a society matron to a bathing girl on five minutes' notice. I wouldn't have missed the experience for anything."

"Painted Post" is considered to be one of the best productions Tom Mix has ever turned out. It has a large supporting cast, including Philo McCullough and Al. St. John. Gene Gande directed.

"DOOMSDAY."

"Doomsday," the Paramount picture which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre Thursday, July 12th, comes with an already assured reputation for entertainment. The picture is adapted from the novel of the same name by Warwick Deeping, author of "Sword and Son," and one of the best known of present day English novelists.

"Doomsday" was a best seller in book form and created a sensation when it ran serially in McClure's magazine. It is a powerful love story containing every element to create suspense and maintain breathless interest. In adapting the novel for the screen Doris Anderson and Donald W. Lee retained all of the features that made the book so overwhelmingly popular.

Flora A. Vidor has the starring role in the picture as Mary Viner, the girl who has known all of the drudgery of endless work and who seeks a way out of the treadmill of toil.

Cary Cooper takes the part of Captain Amold Furze, the World war veteran who finds work a salvation instead of a soul destroying grind.

The scene of the story and picture is rural England, the country which Warwick Deeping knows so well. Mary Viner is confronted by a problem which many have faced—to marry rich and escape the drudgery, or gain love by toil. She tries to solve the problem of her life by marrying a phlegmatic old gentleman who is far past the age of love. When Mary realizes the folly of her choice she tries to remedy it by running away to join the man who loves her. He refuses to accept her after having been thrown down and the building up of the plot from there is most interesting. Go to the Penniman Allen theatre next Thursday and see "Doomsday."

URGE STANDARD FIRE EQUIPMENT

Hydrant Couplings Blamed for Huge Losses.

New York.—Halt the fire departments in the United States are unable to aid neighboring cities in case of need due to the lack of uniformity of fire-hydrant couplings. Millions of dollars are in jeopardy because of the failure of all cities to adopt standard hose and fire-hydrant connections.

The great need of conformity in the interchangeable parts of the fire hydrant was demonstrated as early as the Boston fire of 1872 and again during the conflagrations in Baltimore in 1904 and in Augusta in 1916. At these fires and numerous others the destruction might have been materially reduced had there been standard equipment. As it was, efficient fire-fighting apparatus sent from neighboring towns and cities was practically worthless because dissimilar hose couplings made it impossible to connect up with the hydrants or hose lines of the burning city.

The practicality of uniform apparatus, on the other hand, was well demonstrated at a recent fire in Fall River, Mass. Standardized equipment was in use. Eighty cities responded to the call for aid by sending 29 pieces of apparatus. All of these pieces except one were able to connect readily to the hydrants or the hose lines without the use of adapters. At first the fire threatened to destroy the entire city, but with this effective co-operation it was brought under control after the destruction of parts of six blocks.

The work of making the standardization of the hydrant couplings nationwide is being carried on by the national board of underwriters. This board estimates that the entire country, with the exception of some of the larger cities, will be fairly well standardized within the next five years.

Chinese Leader Orders Women's Feet Liberated

Peking.—Women of Honan are to totter no longer on tiny bound feet. Marshal Feng Yushang, the revolutionary ruler of the province, has not only prohibited binding the feet of young girls, but also has ordered that the feet of their mothers and grandmothers must be loosed from their bonds.

This abolition of "lily feet," which Chinese for generations have considered among women's greatest charms but which appear as cruel deformities to most Occidentals, is to be accomplished by persuasion if possible, but by direct official action if necessary.

A propaganda against foot binding is being carried out in women's meetings, in newspapers and wall posters.

To enforce his order Marshal Feng has established a "bureau for the liberation of the feet of the women," whose agents make house-to-house visits. Heads of households in which bound feet are found are to be punished. Agents are promised a bounty of $2.50 for every hundred sets of discarded foot wrappings they turn in, and one month of the campaign brought in more than 25,000 sets.

United States Leads as World's Great Lender

American investors in the last seven years have effectively displaced Great Britain from its standing as the world's greatest lending nation. The Commerce department, taking British complications of that country's foreign investments from 1920 to 1927, inclusive, has set the total at $4,121,000,000. Foreign capital issues financed in the United States during the same period had a total value of $4,836,000,000.

The foreign capital flotation in both the United States and Great Britain reached new high levels in 1927. Though the United States is now furnishing more funds for Latin America, Canada and Europe than is Great Britain, the current totals of British investments in Africa and the Far East are still considerably in excess of those of the United States in that area.

Paris.—Edison heads the list of the world's greatest inventors, in a voting contest conducted by a Paris newspaper.

The American was the favorite because of the benefit of his works to humanity. The phonograph and the electric lamp are given as his principal achievements.

The next four inventors, in order, are Jacquart, inventor of the textile loom; Ampere, father of the electro-magnet, because that led to the perfection of the telegraph and telephone; Ader, given credit for getting off the ground in the first heavier-than-air flying machine, and Branly, whose work contributed much to practical wireless.

MACHINERY AND BRAINS
MANY MYSTERIES
SCHUBERT'S UNFINISHED WORK
STICK TO YOUR JOB

W. F. Knudsen, Chevrolet president, offers cheerful news on General Motors. In May his company turned out 110,700 Chevrolet cars. On one day, May 28, the product was 7,075 finished cars and trucks. May, 1928, is 25,000 cars ahead of May, 1927.

That's good production, but high General Motors officials should bear in mind that the machinery in their brain is more valuable than any other asset of the General Motors. Men like President Sloan of General Motors and Raskala, head of General Motors finance, work themselves as they wouldn't work any piece of machinery.

They take the night train from New York to Detroit, begin work there at 8 in the morning, work through the whole day, eating sandwiches at noon, still working, and take the night train back to New York.

No machine can stand that, and no duty to stockholders justifies it.

Dr. Wash. of Fordham University, tells young men "The world is confronted with more mysteries than ever before. Science solves only a few problems."

Yes, indeed. Why does the hydrogen atom have a single proton in the centre, and single electron revolving around it, why does the helium atom, first discovered on the sun, through the spectroscope have four nuclei with two electrons revolving around them, and how does the formation of four grammes helium, from hydrogen, produce energy as great as though eighty tons of coal were burned. There are some mysteries for you.

Everything is a mystery if you go far enough into it. And the greatest of all mysteries is thought, which has no proton or electron so far as we know and is driven by an energy that has no more practical name than "soul" or "mind."

A $20,000 prize is offered for the best ending to Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." It won't be worth $20,000.

To finish Schubert's symphony you would have to be Schubert. To restore her arms to the Venus of Milo, or to show how the winged Victory looked before she got into that fight, you would require the brain and the feeling of the artist that made the statue. Every mind ever born is absolutely different from every other.

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, will visit the plant of the New Haven Wire Company today. When he was sixteen years old he worked there twelve hours out of every twenty-four for $1.65 a week. If you stick to your job, even that kind of job, you can get somewhere.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company insured a man past fifty for $1,500,000. A few generations ago, when the second biggest city in France had no inhabitant over fifty years of age, such insuring would have been financially suicidal. Men live longer, intelligence counts. A wise man at fifty is a safer risk than a fool at twenty-five. And the Metropolitan, has promoted longer living by intelligent health advertising.

HINDU MYSTERIES REMAIN UNSOLVED

Stone Image Splits Offerings
Fifty-Fifty.

London.—Investigations by English youths into the traditional mysteries of Hindu temples in India are being carried on under the guidance of Dr. Arthur R. S. Roy, Ph. D., D. Litt., M. D. Of temples visited the following reports have been made:

At Vakam, in South India, noted for the temple of Vakyabappan, an annual dinner is held, at which 1,000 people are fed. It has been said that every year after the dinner is over an odd plantain leaf is found which cannot be accounted for (on ceremonial occasions the Indian eats from a plantain leaf). This year volunteers went to Vakam and stood guard at the dining hall.

Aided by Police.

They had two policemen, and they counted the leaves before they were taken into the temple yard, examined every attendant and guest to see that extra leaves were not smuggled in and counted the leaves when spread for dinner. After dinner the leaves were counted and it was found that they numbered 1,001. Only 1,000 people were admitted, and the odd leaf could not be accounted for.

At Mangaluri, near Vizagapatam, in Madras residency, there is a figure of the god Narasinga, of the man-lion incarnation of Vishnu, huge and open mouthed. This stone image takes offerings thrown into the gaping mouth, but as soon as the ceremony is finished exactly half the offerings are thrown out. An Oxonian, recently from England, scoffed at this and threw in a pound tin of strawberries. The tin came out split in two, and the portion thrown out was exactly half a pound in weight. Fifty-fifty seems to be the motto of this deity, and it adheres to it exactly.

A railroad guard once wanted to test the truth of the statement, and put his hand into the gaping mouth. He could not find anything there, but could not release his hand. It was held by some inviolable force, and only after hours of prayer was it freed.

Then there is the temple of Kali, the terrible goddess, seven feet high, with ten heads and eighteen hands. The door of the temple is opened but once a year. Then several goats, buffaloes, fowls and other animals are brought to the temple and tied in front of the door. Ropes are fastened to the rings in the door, and the people stand holding the ropes to pull the door open.

Hair That Waves.

When the door is opened the animals die instantaneously. No person has experienced to learn the effect if men stood there.

When a prayer is made to the presiding deity of Tirupati, near Madras, or in the Paldi hills, to save the life of a sick child, the child generally recovers, but its hair becomes waved and plaited. Try what one may, the hair will not lose its wave or its plait, but as soon as the hair has been offered to the god, the new hair that grows has no waves or plaits at all.

Furniture Beetle Is a Busy Pest This Season

Washington.—A little bug that was first noticed in Washington in a chair that came from the White House has started its annual program of destruction of mohair tapestried furniture.

Dr. A. E. Back of the bureau of entomology in the Department of Agriculture reports that his recent correspondence is chiefly from housewives who look with dismay upon the wilted davenport and the chair cushions.

"This insect, commonly called the furniture carpet beetle," Doctor Back says, "was first noticed in America in 1911 by the American Museum of Natural History in some specimens of curled hair from furniture that came to this country from Russia."

"It made its appearance in the Nation's Capital in a chair that had been given to the executive mansion by the Turkish government in 1915. Since that time it has become a serious pest and is particularly bad this season, judging from the number of requests our office has had for remedies."

Thorough fumigation of the entire house or the particular piece of furniture affected is suggested by the bureau as the best means of combating the destructive pest.

14,000,000 Turks in Search for Surnames

Constantinople.—Fourteen million Turks are nervously scratching their heads or thumbing through the few telephone directories available in search of a name with which to endow themselves.

Reports from Angora state that an act requiring the adoption of family names is nearing passage. The lack of these names has caused infinite confusion, as thousands call themselves the same one name, generally Mustapha or Fatima.

Angora's new edict will be another slap at the Koran. Its precept, "Don't be proud of family, make your own name," is responsible for the Moslems' lack of family tags.

Questions and Answers

Question. I have a little girl 22 mo. old who is very bowlegged. Do you think Chiropractic Adjustments can help her?

Ans. It is very doubtful if Adjustments will help in a case of this kind.

Question. Saw your ad in a letter that was left in my mail box. Is your Chiropractic good for bronchitis? I cough all the time and when I lie down it is worse than ever. I have taken all kinds of coughdrops with no relief. Can't sleep nights so I thought I would write you and I have the same thing the matter with my ears. They just run all the time and I get deaf nearly every time I take cold so you let me know what you think about both cases as soon as possible.

Ans. Chiropractic Adjustments have proved very beneficial in cases of Bronchitis. If you will put yourself in the hands of a competent Chiropractor and take adjustments just as often as he deems necessary there is every reason that you will be benefited materially. Chiropractic locates the cause of the trouble and removes it.

Question. What will Chiropractic do for Leukemia?

Ans. Leukemia is an abnormal condition of the blood where there is a great increase in the number of white corpuscles. There are different forms of leukemia, one form in which the spleen and bone marrow are involved, the other form in which the spleen and lymphatics are involved but which ever form you are suffering from, the object of the chiropractor will be to bring back to normal the spleen, bone marrow or lymphatics, and in this way the differences between the number of red and white corpuscles will be stabilized. A goodly percentage of these cases have been improved, as shown by the building up of the bodily tissues and the regaining of considerable physical strength. We suggest that you call upon your local chiropractor that he may be able to make an analysis of your condition, after which it will be easier to render an intelligent opinion upon your particular case.

Question. I would like to have you answer this question. Large lump growing in the neck near the throat and under the arm pits which I think is known as enlarged glands. Will Chiropractic Adjustments reduce these?

Ans. You are suffering from an enlargement of the lymphatic glands and the answer to your question depends largely upon the duration of this trouble. Chiropractic Adjustments should help you by removing the cause, always providing it is not of too long duration.

Question. What will Chiropractic do for my case? I cannot control my mind or brain. They seem to work all the time concerning the past and I cannot think for the future. The medical doctors say I have melon cholera but have been doctoring with him all winter without any help. Four days ago I started taking Chiropractic Adjustments and I hope they will help me. I am so weak, so nervous, cannot walk or talk straight. If I could only control my brain I would be alright but I cannot. I have lost over forty pounds in three months. Please let me hear from you.

Ans. From your question and letter we would say that this is emphatically a case for the Chiropractors. By all means keep on taking Adjustments. Do not be in too great a hurry to get results. Chiropractic has obtained some wonderful results in similar cases. Let us know how you are progressing.

Question. I have a friend who has Huntington's Chorea and I will be pleased to have you advise me whether this disease responds to Chiropractic treatment.

Ans. The Chiropractor adjusts the cause instead of treating the effect. Chorea is essentially a nervous trouble and if the Nerve Pressure, which will be found to be present in your case, is removed, you will undoubtedly get relief. By all means see a Chiropractor at once.

Question. What will Chiropractic do for a weak heart? I have been troubled for two years and am losing strength and also my hearing and eyesight are very poor. Doctors say it is a leakage of one valve. Am not able to do any work which requires exertion. Have been farming for the past 12 years.

Ans. The sooner you see a Chiropractor and ask him to examine your spine so that he can ascertain the location of the nerve pressure which is the cause of your trouble, the sooner you will find out that Chiropractic Adjustments will help you materially.

SURVEY TRAFFIC LANES IN PACIFIC

Lines for Use by All Steamers Suggested.

Washington.—An American plan to lay off definite east and west traffic lanes in the vast Pacific will be presented at the international conference for the safety of life at sea in London next year.

Traffic regulation in the crowded Atlantic was organized at the last London conference in October, 1924. Since then, winter and summer ships of all nations have followed across the north Atlantic the charted routes that were suggested then by the hydrographic office of the United States navy and adopted by 18 British, Dutch, French, German and American steamship lines.

There are seven transatlantic routes or "tracks," the three more southern, lettered A to C, being from American ports and the other four, D to G, from Canadian. Definite seasons are allotted for the use of each. A, for example, the extra southern track, is used from March to July; B, the southern track, from March to September, and C, the northern track, from September to February.

The familiar rule, "Keep to the right," is followed on all but one of the twenty-mile-wide Atlantic lanes, east-bound traffic using the southern ten miles of each and west-bound using the northern ten miles. On one Canadian route, from Halifax, the order is reversed.

Danger of collisions between east-bound and west-bound vessels has never been so great in the Pacific as in the Atlantic because of the smaller volume of traffic and the greater size of the ocean. Several years ago, however, the navy hydrographic office charted east and west routes from Seattle and Portland to Yokohama by way of Honolulu, and it is thought that the time has come to present them for international acceptance.

The routes from Portland and Seattle would follow approximately the line of the great circle to Yokohama, and vessels passing each other would keep to the right, as in the Atlantic. But in the Honolulu to Yokohama lanes this order would be reversed and vessels would keep to the left, as in the automobile traffic of London and Ontario. This is due to the fact that the west-bound route has been charted far to the south of the east-bound in order to take advantage of the Japan current. By heading toward the north after leaving Yokohama, east-bound vessels are helped by the north-flowing current, and by approaching from the south, west-bound ones are not hindered by it.

Great "Smelt Stallion" Immortalized in Stone

Nikolaiken, East Prussia.—By erecting at the Nikolaiken bridge a pillar crowned with the so-called "smelt stallion" or "king of the smelts," the city council has commemorated an ancient myth connected with the city's history. Nikolaiken is situated near the great Spirding lake, which is noted for its smelt fishery. According to the ancient saga, a fisherman of the city once succeeded in catching the "Sinhthengst" (literally "smelt stallion") the king of the smelts. The wise city fathers refused to let it be killed, and instead fastened it to the city bridge by a chain. Thereupon all the smelts came to their king and became easy prey for the fishermen. It is this "king" who has now been immortalized in stone.

Beggar Tots Present Problem to Schools

Tokyo, Japan.—In Japan the law requires that beggars' children, as well as the more prosperous, must receive a certain amount of education. The Tokyo municipality has discovered that there are more than 100 mendicant youths in the capital who are "playing hooky" from school, and has done everything possible to induce these children to attend the primary grades, but with little success. Most of the parents of these youngsters use their children for begging on the streets and are not anxious to have them in school. The beggar youths average about 10 cents a day, in addition to the food they are able to beg. Erection of a special school for these children is now under consideration.

Crops Grow in Day in Tropical Alaska

Seattle, Wash.—Folks, here's the place to put in your spring garden. Up in the "tropical" belt in the Laird district of Alaska, where British Columbia touches Yukon territory, Fred Perry declares crops grow in 24 hours.

A number of florists and truck gardeners are planning an excursion into the region to investigate reports. It is said certain kinds of vegetables, such as lettuce and radishes, reach prodigious size in 24 to 30 hours owing to the earth being warm and filled with fertilizing qualities.

The extensive valley is surrounded by high hills in which hot springs continually emit steam, water and mist.

The courts of this country wouldn't have much to do if all law suits were brought to collect debts instead of to get even with someone.

WILL DIG UP OLD FORT OF MEXICO

Scientist Plans to Excavate Monte Alban.

Mexico City.—A party of investigators, headed by Alfonso Caso, archaeologist, and Miguel D. de Méndez, ethnologist, representing the Mexican Historical Review, will begin a study, before the end of the current year, of the ancient fortified mountain city known as Monte Alban near the city of Oaxaca.

Monte Alban is part of the relics of strange prehistoric builders who modified entire mountain skylines by carrying terraces and covering pyramids until they looked like scallops on a petticoat.

Practically nothing is known of the race that conceived the unique notion of leaving its mark hatched on the upward horizon, and the archaeological city was old and deserted, when the Spanish came to subdue Oaxaca along with the rest of Mexico.

Looks Like Work of Moles. Today, swathed in its age-old padding of earth and vegetation, the site of Monte Alban, seen from its highest point, suggests the work of giant moles which burrowed and upheaved on a geometrical plan. The city whose angles are now curves, whose square pyramids are grassy mounds, and whose sunken terrace gardens are dimples in the earth, looks down upon modern green and white and pink Oaxaca, nesting in the sunny valley 1,000 feet below and five kilometers away.

The ridges are leveled off at different heights, and a series of mounds and terraces result that are as confusing in their number and extent as the layout of a large city. The mounds were flat-topped pyramids on which superstructures once stood, as stumps of walls sticking out of the covering of grass still show, and there are many remains of fortifying walls, forming battlements for terraces that overlooked the approaches to the mountain city.

There are series of sunk-in rectangular terraces surrounded by ancient structures raised on sloping sides that give the quadrangles the appearance of modern football fields with the grandstands all around. Piles of stone and weed-smothered earth left in the centers of these inclosures suggest that they were altars.

No systematic excavations have been made in Monte Alban, but the evidence of occasional haphazard ones is significant. A pyramid structure that has been probed by a series of tunnels in a search for hidden treasure reveals that it is built up of seven artificial levels of broken stone filled with earth and capped by pavements of lime concrete.

The recent earthquake which shook all Mexico brought down some of the rock, filling parts of these tunnels. In the sides of several terraces or mounds there are ancient superstructures that have been sacked, but the corbelled stone-lined vaults remain, showing their great similarity to Maya architecture farther south. Narrow entrances leading to the tombs are picture galleries lined with stone slabs carved with human figures that perhaps represented persons who were buried there in ancient times.

Dispute Over Ownership. Some people in the region claim that Monte Alban was the fortified borderland between the land of the Zapotecs, who built the ancient city of Mitla, some seventy kilometers away, and the Mixtecs, to whom Monte Alban is ascribed, especially by modern Mixtecs living in the valleys below. On the other hand, modern Zapotecs claim Monte Alban as theirs.

Mitla and Monte Alban, although very close together, are generally apart in style and perhaps in the time of their building. Mitla is one of the few archaeological cities known in middle America that is not built on a series of pyramids or substructures, and there is only one true pyramid on the site. Mitla's most striking feature is the geometrical mosaics of stone that make up its wall panels and friezes, which show a Mexican or northern influence.

Monte Alban, on the other hand, is built entirely on pyramids and terraces, and shows in its corbelled friezes and carved stones a strong Maya influence. Dr. Manuel Gamio, leading Mexican scientist, believes it possible that Monte Alban may even have been a young Maya city during one of the early steps in the evolution of that race, or may at least be an important link in its history. There seems no doubt that the enormous amount of information there is ready to tip in the many well-known but unexplored archeological sites of Mexico will some day clear up many points in American prehistory.

Greeks Fight Locusts With Cannibal Kin

Washington.—Big predatory locusts, that prey on their fellow insects instead of on growing grain crops, are being tried out in Greece as one means of combating the pest of ordinary locusts now threatening the fields, according to word received here from Athens.

These modern descendants of one of the plagues of Egypt have been causing serious losses to Greek agriculture during the last few years and the ministry of agriculture is preparing to spend 10,000,000 drachmas (approximately $3,200,000) in a campaign against them.

A Long Island lady was divorced and remarried the same day. Some people are born optimists.

A New York Judge decided that a young man had a perfect right to kiss a girl during a movie performance. This is one verdict of the law which is sure to be upheld by the younger generation.

Today's Reflections

Plymouth young folks used to sing "We Won't Go Home Until Morning" and now they actually don't.

Handy is said to be on the decline in China. Funny how far that country is falling behind the United States.

The rolling stone gathers no moss, but who wants to go around all covered with moss anyhow?

As a usual rule, the Plymouth man who knows it all, isn't much more popular than the one who wants it all.

The colleges of this country confer sleepskins, but it's the school of experience that tears off human hide.

Alas, the women are pretty efficient. They took the word "obey" out of the marriage ceremony before the church got around to it.

Why is it that if a Plymouth man's son asks a question it is curiosity, but if his wife asks the same question it is "losing it"?

It is always the best to begin at the bottom of the ladder, unless you are escaping from a fire.

The decline of 75,000 in the number of farms may be explained by the fact that some of them are too poor to take care of the upkeep of a fiver.

The trouble with some Plymouth citizens who ride hobbies is that they want to take up the whole road with them.

Most men call a spade a spade, until they happen to let it drop on their toes.

A good deal happens in the big cities, but most of it consists of the kind of happenings that make us glad we live in Plymouth.

It may not be of much interest to our readers, but it must be terrible to marry for money and then not get it.

Hints for the Home
by Nancy Hart

When you go a-visiting on your vacation, keep in mind these simple suggestions for the parting gift to your hostess: (They will save you much time and speculation when it comes to shopping.)

A set of pretty bonnet boxes for her dresser drawers; a pair of spun glass swans in colored glass for salt and pepper holders; a quaint old print or mezzotint to brighten some dull spot on the wall; one of the new standing mirrors in photograph size for the occasional table; a luncheon set in colored damask; a pair of quilted pillow tops in shades in harmony with the guest room or the hostess' room.

Packed attractively, with a well-chosen greeting card enclosed, any one of these gifts will express your appreciation of the visit in a most acceptable way. And none is expensive.

A DELICIOUS ICE-BOX CAKE

Soak a tablespoon of gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water and dissolve in 1/2 cup boiling water. Let stand until it thickens. Beat with rotary beater until frothy. Stir together 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1-1/3 cups sweetened condensed milk and add 1 1/2 cups crushed strawberries. Fold this mixture into beaten gelatin; return to ice box until it begins to set. Line mold with split lady-fingers; fill with strawberry mixture; set on ice for several hours. Turn out on plate and serve with or without whipped cream.

BEFORE STRAWBERRIES LEAVE

For a luscious pineapple and strawberry jam, use two level cups of each fruit, chopped fine; add seven level cups sugar and mix well. Stir over hot fire, boiling very hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in a half cup liquid pectin. Skim, pour and seal.

VARYING SUMMER DRINKS

Instead of serving iced tea, coffee or lemonade all during the season, try Apricot Punch, Orange Mint Cup, Raspberry Sherbet or Peach Punch for a change. A very tempting molok beverage can be made with rich milk and eight teaspoons of strong cereal beverage to the glass. Iced cocoa made with rich milk is also wholesome, and beloved by children.

FOR MEATLESS SUMMER MEALS

With the vegetable menu it is nice to serve one starchily dish such as baked dressed rice, hominy fritters, or macaroni croquettes made with chopped cold macaroni, cheese and white sauce, molded into croquettes and fried crisp in butter or margarine. These "substantials" give body to the meatless meal and make it quite satisfying.

KEEPS CUT FLOWERS

Drooping flowers revive quickly and last several days longer if an aspirin tablet is added to the water in which they stand.

Wild Creatures Able to Foretell Danger

In addition to the five senses human beings enjoy, it seems that animals and birds have one that enables them to divine a little of the future and what it holds for them.

The saying, "Rats will leave a sinking ship," indicates a strange foreknowledge on the part of these creatures.

Fish, birds, and animals are invariably true weather prophets. Seneca knew in some curious way when a storm is approaching. Though the weather is fine and the sky gives no warning of a coming storm, they are moved by some common impulse to make their way inland. Wild geese will also fly from the approach of a thunderstorm.

Ants will desert their nests, taking their babies with them, 24 hours before the outbreak of a forest fire.

Rabbits will leave burrows made in low-lying ground before a flood occurs. They have some weird premonition which forces them to seek higher ground before the danger is upon them.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says that about all he ever won in a game of chance was the thanks of the fellows who took his money.

All we've got to say for the rumble seat is that it's a good thing it wasn't invented during the days of hoop-skirts.

"No matter how many times styles change," says Dad Plymouth, "a married man has as hard a time now telling his wife what another woman had on as he used to have."

Mussolini has banned handshaking; his hogs to market and his wife to town, but no one runs for office over there, so it doesn't matter.

"Few of us," asserts Dad Plymouth, "are as hard as other people think we are, but all of us are subject to improvement."

It remains for Dad Plymouth to declare that if all the kisses lasted like the first one the courts could close and stay closed.

Hearing Dad Plymouth tell about an acquaintance of his buying a "combination auto," we asked what kind that is and was informed that it is one a fellow can use in taking

Stowaway Has Own Cabin Aboard Big Ocean Liner

New York—Building his own private stateroom behind a panel in an alcove in the first-class dining room of the new Italian liner Conte Grande, Vincenzo Basti of Trieste, Italy, stowed away aboard the ship and made the journey to New York city without the trip costing him a cent.

Just as Basti was preparing to desert the ship he was detected by seamen. He is now at Ellis Island awaiting deportation to Italy. Basti was employed as an interior decorator while the boat was being built.

U. S. CLEANS UP FARMERS' HOMES

Fight Red Paint as Blot on Landscape.

Washington.—Through the ministrations of the home demonstration agents of the Department of Agriculture, farm women have put the ban on unsightly homes.

The lavish use of red paint, associated in the past with farms, is frowned upon by her field agents, says Miss Grace Frysinger, head of the home demonstration work in the Central states.

Federal employees are trying to point out to the farmers' wives that even the slightly lower price of red paint cannot make up for the landscape-blotting qualities it has when dashed informally upon all buildings on the property.

Classes are being conducted in all the states, with the co-operation of county agents, state universities, and their departments of agriculture, in methods of beautifying the farm home, both internally and externally.

"This present campaign, we hope," Miss Frysinger says, "will result in a unity of color in the buildings, and also the clearing up of the front yards."

"Women are being shown demonstration homes, where the yard is free from the plowshare; the clothesline and the garbage pail. The model homes have neat, clean front yards, shrubbery covering unsightly outbuildings, and plenty of trees for shade. The buildings are all painted one color or at least in colors that have some relation to one another. The fences are mended and upstanding, and chickens and live stock are kept behind pens or wire fences, and are not allowed to roam generally through all parts of the yard and house."

Crippled Boy Gains Eagle Scout Honors

Los Angeles, Calif.—Despite the fact that he has an artificial leg and walks with a crutch and that both his hands are crippled, with middle finger missing, Lester Plunkett of Los Angeles has won the Eagle badge of the Boy Scouts of America. The record of his accomplishments is one of the most unusual and heroic in the history of the boy scout movement.

The scouts have provided achievement badges for handicapped boys who cannot meet the exacting requirements of the first-class scout. Young Plunkett, however, undertook to pass the tests set for robust boys. A first-class scout must earn 21 merit badges to become an Eagle scout, which means he must also have a working knowledge of 21 different vocational or scientific subjects. Eleven of the merit badges which he earns are required, while the other ten may be chosen from a list of 88 subjects for which standards have been prepared by experts.

Several of the requirements seemed impossible for him to meet, but he took them over and over again until he passed with a perfect score.

Lester hiked 21 miles at a stretch, although his test required but 14. He tried and failed 29 times in what is known as the scout's pace test, but he won on the thirtieth attempt. He has taken honors as a life saver and swimmer, although he can use but one hand in such an endeavor.

Curators Battle for Heart of Queen

Nantes, France.—Disputed possession of a queen's heart has started a feud between the scholarly curators of the museums of the city of Nantes and the Loire Inferieur.

It is a heart of gold, containing supposedly the vital organs of Anne of Brittany, queen of France, born in Nantes in 1477. She died in the city of her birth in medieval fashion.

The quarrel arises over which museum most truly represents Nantes, the capital city of the department of Loire Inferieur.

There are many examples of great and near great French men and women who are separated from their hearts in their last rest. Often, as in Anne's case, the heart was returned to the city of childhood. Sometimes, as in the case of St. Louis, king of France, the heart is buried in holy ground. The heart of Richard the Lion Hearted is buried at Rouen.

There is a growing tendency today, on the part of new born insurance companies, to sell car owners on the idea that certain signs, emblems and insignia, tacked, tied, or otherwise displayed in some conspicuous place about the car will ward off approaching danger when, as, and if encountered.

In the meantime the thoroughly established Automobile Insurance Companies that have built up their business on a sound study of losses over a decade or more of years, at the same time setting up adequate reserves and a surplus, will go steadily forward.

RARE GLASS GLOBE IN CAPITAL MUSEUM

World's Largest Crystal Attracts Lawmakers

Washington.—Resting on its circular base, the world's most perfect crystal stands ready to reveal whatever secrets of the future may be desired. Appropriately enough, this rare globe of glass, nearly 14 inches in diameter and weighing 110 pounds, is in Washington's National museum.

To this perfect orb come thousands to gaze, and, if possible, obtain a message from the mystic future or a warning based on events of the past. Here, too, might be found the answer to political hopes and legislative ambitions.

It is known that the capital has several senators and representatives who regularly visit, on certain days of each week, the oracle of the crystal gazers.

The largest crystal ball in the world, guarded closely, came originally from China, where it was said to possess mystic powers and unusual accuracy in foretelling the future.

Two hundred years ago Emperor Ching Lung received a massive block of crystal, mined in ancient Burma. It must have weighed a thousand pounds, and been at least four feet square.

Orders Big Crystal.

The emperor gave orders that the mass be used to make a crystal ball of the largest possible size. To do this the most skillful craftsman of the old empire was chosen. This took more than a year of effort. It was then taken to Japan for repolishing. This work consumed about six months under Japanese artisans, the most skillful known in this work. The crystal, then in all its luster and scintillating brilliance, was given to the emperor, and it was one of his most valued possessions.

It is said that, for special service, a mandarin was told that he might have any wish fulfilled and the reward chosen was the great crystal. For almost two centuries it remained in the possession of the mandarin's descendants, until financial troubles compelled its sale.

It is not hard to imagine the hands, both wrinkled and smooth, that have caressed this polished surface. What hands have drawn back, as eyes have seen mirrored the events of the future? Ah, the mysticism and hypnotic power ascribed to crystals in all ages and all countries leaps to the imagination as one gazes on this perfect specimen.

Abode of Arcestors.

Long, long ago, in China, it is said, the crystal ball was found in a dragon's lair. The emperor of that early period, gazing into the ball, saw reflected the spirits of his bygone ancestors, praising and glorifying him for releasing them from control of the dreaded dragon.

Thus, it is believed in the Orient that the crystal ball is the abiding place of one's ancestors. It is believed to possess the power of foretelling evil, since any evil spirit entering the house will first attempt to hide in the ball. When trouble impends, the ball is placed at night outside the home. The cold morning dew clouds and dulls the luster. Carefully, then, and gently the surface is rubbed, and, if the dew vanishes and the ball is restored to perfect purity, the evil has been vanquished; if not—woe betide.

Crystal gazing has long appealed to Luminary Congressmen are not the only illustrious persons who find solace and comfort in its visions. Roger Bacon has told in his writings of the crystals possessed by the friars in which events happening at far distant places were mirrored.
