

OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS IN GAS ENGINEERING

Michigan Federated Utilities, Wayne County Division, Offers Scholarships at Johns Hopkins Gas Engineering School.

The Michigan Federated Utilities, Wayne County Division, Plymouth, Michigan, is given an opportunity by the Central Public Service Corporation, its parent company, to name candidates from the Plymouth High School for four scholarships offered by it in the Gas Engineering School of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, Maryland.

Johns Hopkins University is the only university in America giving a full and complete gas engineering course on the same scale and plane as its courses in Electrical, Mechanical, and Civil Engineering.

The scholarships offered are worth $450.00 per year and cover tuition, laboratory fees, and other incidental university charges.

The Central Public Service Corporation feels that there is great need for men scientifically trained in gas engineering, and it has joined with other members of the Southern Gas Association to establish such a school at Johns Hopkins University. The first courses opened in September, 1924 and the school of Gas Engineering is now well-developed and fully organized. It covers a four year course, including the fundamentals of all Engineering courses and specializing in such subjects as Chemistry, Gas and Fuel Analysis, Elements of Electrical Engineering, and Gas Company Engineering.

The Gas By-Products Laboratory of Johns Hopkins University is probably the only complete plant of its kind in America, and is available for research work for students desiring to follow gas engineering. It includes a four hundred pound retort and complete experimental equipment.

Although these scholarships are offered for the term of one year only any holder who completes his work in a satisfactory manner will have the scholarship renewed year by year by the Central Public Service Corporation until the student graduates. The University itself is very anxious to have such students continue in research work after graduation, and offers four Graduate Scholarships available to those who will complete the various engineering courses and desire such scholarships.

The Michigan Federated Utilities would be glad to have any graduates of the local High School make immediate application for scholarships if interested in Gas Engineering Courses. The Central Public Service Corporation operates approximately an equal number of gas and electric properties and believes that there is opportunity in both the gas and electric industries for ambitious young men. In the gas industry, particularly, there is urgent need for additional well-trained engineers, and it is to help meet this need that the Johns Hopkins Scholarships are being offered.

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY GAS ENGINEERING SCHOLARSHIPS.

Recognizing the need of scientific instruction in Gas Engineering, the Central Public Service Corporation has united with other members of the Southern Gas Association in establishing such training at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland. The first course was opened in September, 1924—the University making it of equal rank with its Electrical, Mechanical, and Civil Engineering Courses. Through this course, it will be possible to procure ultimately from the University, men technically trained in Gas Engineering, including such branches as the manufacture, distribution, and utilization and service of gas. However, the instruction is designed to equip a student for service not only in these units, but also in the many other industries which require fundamental training in both mechanical engineering and chemistry. THE SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED.

To establish this course in Gas Engineering on a permanent basis, and give to young men of ambition and ability an opportunity to prepare for desirable positions in an important and expanding business, the Corporation is now offering four scholarships in this course for the Scholastic year, beginning in October, 1928.

OPEN TO

This Scholarship is open to residents of any community in which the Central Public Service Corporation offers any kind of public utility services; such residents, of course, to be able to meet the University requirements for entrance.

EXAMINATION OR APPROVED SCHOOLS.

Applicants may qualify for admission by certificates of graduation from an approved high school or by examination (entrance examinations September, 1928).

$450.00

The Scholarship is worth $450.00 per year for four years, which will cover the payments of tuition, laboratory fees, and other incidental University expenses up to the total amount specified.

REAPPOINTMENT

The appointment to this scholarship will be for one scholastic year. The holder may be eligible for reappointment from year to year if he conforms in character, industry and ability with the standards and requirements of the University.

The Central Public Service Corporation reserves the right to decline any application.

A Pleasant Event in Honor of Arizona Lady

The Cobb-Huston reunion was held July 5th, 1928, at the Cass, Benton park. Dwight Huston and wife, their daughter, Erna, and son, Lloyd, of Mesa, Arizona, were the guests of honor. This is Dwight's first visit home in 30 years. His childhood was spent on a farm near Cherry Hill.

A beautiful dinner was served to 40 guests and to which all did justice. The meeting was called to order by the president. It was decided to hold the next reunion the second Saturday of August, 1929, at Cherry Hill, where many of the older members attended school.

The president, in her remarks, told how intimately the families were joined. Their parents, Daniel I. Cobb and Mary Huston, Robert S. Huston and Jane Ann Comer had a double wedding July 17th, 1866. Afterwards the families lived near together, and the children mingled together like one large family.

There were eight children in the Cobb family, of which two have gone to the homeland. In the Huston family there were nine, all of whom are living. Five were present at the reunion.

There were remarks by various members. One guest said: "How good it seems to be together again." The singing was fine, but some of the members are to practice the songs, so as to do better another year.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in recalling pleasant memories, games and stunts.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Huston were admirable host and hostess to the following guests: Dwight Huston and family, of Mesa, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Huston, of Monroe; Miss Nettie Huston Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and daughter, Lenore; Mrs. Clara Cobb Wilkins, Margaret and Shirley Ballard, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith (Mrs. Smith nee Ida Huston); Mrs. William Smith and children, of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cobb, of Northville; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Miller, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cole (Mrs. Cole nee Anna M. Cobb); Alice Cobb Peterson, Mrs. Ray Wiles and sons, Donald and John D.; Alice, Betty and Douglas Burrell, of Cherry Hill, and Mrs. Cora Cobb Rogers, of New Hudson.

All too soon the day passed and the guests reluctantly parted and the day became another happy memory. "Isn't it good to be again."

With friends of long ago? And isn't it fine to see again? These smiles that you used to know? To talk about the days of old? And the things you used to do? To laugh and chat and be again? With friends of long ago? Mrs. A. P. Rogers.

AROUND ABOUT US

The dedication of Ann Arbor's new airport will take place Tuesday, July 17th.

The Odd Fellows of Wayne will stage a home-coming celebration in that village August 9-10.

The old Bart school at Redford will be remodeled into a branch of the Receiving hospital of Detroit.

Dr. E. B. Cavell, of Northville, has been elected second vice-president of the Michigan State Veterinarian association.

W. R. Whitacre, of Howell, claims the distinction of being the only man now living who was aboard the first passenger train that came into Howell.

William White, who built the tracks of the old street car line into Northville back in 1880, is the same contractor who is now removing the tracks.

Northville township officials have just signed a contract with the Detroit Edison company for lighting the Seven Mile road from the village limits to the Livonia town line, a distance of two miles. This will give Northville a lighted highway all the way to Detroit.

The Wayne County Good Roads Commission checked the traffic at the intersection of Ford and Middle Belt roads on Sunday and the man on duty stated that there were between 17,000 and 18,000 cars passed the corner on these roads between the hours of 7 a. m. and 8 p. m.—Wayne Dispatch.

By unanimous vote of the village commission, it was Monday night decided to pave the following streets during the present year: Wing street, from Cady to Randolph street; High street from Main to Randolph; West street, from Main to Dunlap; Linden street, from Main to north side of Dunbar street. Rogers street will be widened from Main street to Langfield corners; Fairbrook from Rogers street east to Rural Hill cemetery; North street from Main street to Base Line road.—Northville Record.

Arrangements are being made for sod-turning ceremonies and a home-coming celebration at Stoepel Park, on Outer Drive, the latter part of this month. It is planned to bring city officials to the park on that day for special speaking. A midway of booths and attractions, band music and a parade are among other features. A committee is to be appointed to prepare for the occasion. The site for the new park was given to the city by the will of William C. Stoepel specifying that the property purchased with the funds must be in the general direction of Plymouth. The property is to be utilized primarily for recreational purposes. Redford Record.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new home for the newly being built for the Little Sisters of the Poor on Six Mile and Southfield roads, where a $750,000 building is being erected. The new structure, located on the northeast corner of the intersection of the two roads, is of limestone construction, rising impressively among the surroundings of the district. Separate wings for men and women and a private section for the sisters are being built. Stone work on the main building is reaching the second story this week. Accommodations are being provided for 250 poor people. The new structure will be known as the Bertha M. Fisher Home. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fisher are the donors of the new building. Weston and Ellington are the architects for the structure. The present home of the Little Sisters is located at Scott and Orleans streets, where it was built 50 years ago.—Redford Record.

Mr. Walker of that city, performed the ceremony and they were unattended. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Roof went to his country home near Plymouth, where they will remain for a time before taking a trip to the lake regions of this state and Wisconsin. Mr. Roof is a retired farmer.—Adrian Telegram, Tuesday, July 3rd.

FISHER-DONALD.

A very happy affair took place when Christobel Eleanor Donald, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Donald, of Leavenworth, Kansas, became the bride of Lee Clarence Fisher. The ceremony took place in the Methodist church at Chillicothe, Ohio.

The bride was beautifully gowned in peacock blue and carried an arm bouquet of lilies of the valley and butterfly roses. They were accompanied by the bride's two sisters, the Misses Fadis and Mullrhen Donald. The bridesmaids were gowned in Mother Goose tan and carried corsages of roses.

Mrs. Fisher is a graduate of St. Mary's academy, St. Marys, Kansas, and Gullinga Memorial hospital of Washington, D. C. Until recently she has been afflicted with the Chills-cold City hospital.

Mr. Fisher has worked in this community for some time, representing the Simpson Clothing Co. of Detroit. Their many friends join in extending them hearty congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Thelma Vivian Peck was hostess to a Tuesday afternoon bridge luncheon at her home, honoring her house guest, Miss Dorothy C. Duncan, of Jacksonville, Illinois. A number of the out-of-town guests were classed by Miss Duncan and Miss Peck during their college days.

For some time past the work of remodeling the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home has been under way. First the exterior was completed and then the work of remodeling the interior was got under way and this work has gone forward without any interruption in the use of the building. It is now completely finished and equipped with every modern convenience for a place of this kind. It is in reality a beautiful home, elegantly furnished and a great credit to the progressive spirit of Schrader Bros. and the village of Plymouth as well.

In order that the general public may have an opportunity to see the improvements that have been made, the Schrader Bros. will hold an informal opening on Saturday afternoon and evening, July 21, at which time the public is most cordially invited to call and inspect this model funeral home. Attendants will be present to show visitors through the building. Remember to call Saturday afternoon and evening, July 21.

ROTARIANS HEAR INTERESTING TALK.

The members of the Plymouth Rotary club had the pleasure of hearing a splendid talk by E. C. Hough, last Friday at their luncheon hour, who gave some impressions he gained while attending the recent Rotary International convention held at Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Hough expressed the wish that every member of the club could attend a Rotary International convention and get the great inspiration that is to be gained at a meeting of this kind. He pointed out that big business men from all over the world traveled great distances to attend these conventions and gave liberally of their time and effort to make Rotary the great institution that it is today.

FARM THEIEVRY

We honestly believe the auto has been one of the greatest blessings ever to fall on the lot of rural residents of this country. But in the past few years it has become evident that it is also an enemy in disguise. There was a time when the theft of products from farms or orchards was almost wholly unknown. But now that the auto has made it possible for a thief to gather up vegetables, fruits or poultry, and be miles away before the theft is discovered, complaints of this nature are common. It is no unusual thing to hear someone on the streets of Plymouth telling of a loss suffered at the hands of auto thieves. And so common are such thefts in some states that new laws are being passed to put an end to it. The auto makes it possible for the thief to carry their loot a long way to a market. It also makes arrest or apprehension almost impossible. As a result this season alone will see thousands of dollars worth of fruit, melons, corn, poultry and other farm products stolen from owners and marketed at a good profit to the thieves.

We know of no positive means of stopping it, though we believe a little watchfulness might result in the capture of a few motorists of this type. Then a good deal will depend upon how stiff a sentence is meted out as an example. In the meantime about all our friends in the rural districts can do is to grin and bear it, and hope for the early passage of laws that will stamp out such despicable work altogether.

QUIT TALKING "SECTIONS."

Every now and then we hear some Plymouth citizen referring to the "agricultural west" or the "industrial east" as if there might be some sort of Chinese wall dividing the two sections. As a matter of fact, the Central West is the industrial hub of the world. Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri and Iowa manufacture and distribute more commodities than all of New England, including New York. The South, too, as well as all that great region west of the Mississippi, is dotted with important industries. On the other hand, the agriculture of the east is rich and productive. It is a good thing that our great nation is covered with farms and factories, stores and banks from one end to the other. Producer and consumer live side by side and dwell peacefully together. Let us consider our country as a harmonious whole and not divide it into so-called "sections" in our thinking.

TACKLE THIS JOB NOW

We've been as emphatic as we know how to be in pointing out to Plymouth citizens the necessity for guarding against disease-carrying houseflies. Now a bulletin from the U. S. Health Department, quotes Dr. E. L. Bishop, of Tennessee, as saying that 21 different diseases have been traced directly to the fly, the worst among which are typhoid, dysentery, infantile diarrhea and tuberculosis. That ought to be reason enough for keeping the milk bottle covered, the fresh bread wrapped up and the sugar bowl top always on tight. Flies, it should be remembered, make the baby's milk bottle, or the dining table the next stop after visiting the decayed matter they find about garbage cans or stables. Weeds, too, are commencing to grow high. Don't wait until your neighbor complains or you become ashamed to let them go any longer. Cut them and stamp out the breeding place of the housefly. Start the good work today by declaring a three months war on them. It will be the best job you ever tackled.

Merchants Play

Howell Sunday

The Steffe Tire Co. baseball team, who were scheduled to play the Merchants at Burroughs field last Sunday, failed to materialize and the game had to be called off.

Next Sunday the Merchants will play the strong Howell team at Burroughs field. This promises to be a good game and a large crowd is looked for. Game called at 3:00 o'clock.

De-Ho-Co Loses One and Wins One

DE-HO-CO WINS FROM BARTONS ON THE FOURTH AND LOSES TO WEST POINT SUNDAY.

Wednesday, July 4th, De-Ho-Co celebrated by taking Barton Plumbers, Detroit's best in the triple A class, into camp to the tune of 3 to 2. The fans were treated to an exceptionally well played game, which wasn't decided until the ninth and in which errors were noticeable by their scarcity.

Destifano with two and Jaska with one error, accounted for De-Ho-Co's while Barton had a clean slate.

Martin and Jaska for the locals and Schwartz and Stark for Bartons, pooled two base hits and Martin distinguished himself with a homer.

Rowland and Henrion for De-Ho-Co and Shields for Barton, were the hurlers during the game.

Sunday, July 8th, De-Ho-Co went down to defeat before West Point Park, at West Point, in a scheduled Inter-County League game. The score, six to five represented for De-Ho-Co an uphill battle to overcome a four run lead obtained by the Westpointers in the first inning.

Rowland, De-Ho-Co's hurler, was driven to the bench in the third with five hits and five runs chalked against him. Henrion, who relieved him, went the route through to the tenth holding the opposition to one hit and one run.

Goers, West Point moundsman, was hit freely by the De-Ho-Coites, a total of twelve hits, but the Farmers couldn't make 'em count.

Martin's second home run in three days was garnered off Goers, a clean bingle through left center. Next Sunday De-Ho-Co will play Orion at Lake Orion.

Following is the Inter-County League standing and the De-Ho-Co-West Point box score.

Well-located cities, fine roads, convenient railways, virgin forests and many rivers and lakes make Cloverland's ten and a half million acres a truly delightful haven for the tourist.

Twenty-eight telephone exchanges and a plant of nearly $5,000,000 serve Cloverland. Nearly a million dollars is being added to that plant this year.

Long Distance telephone service offers the visitor to Cloverland the opportunity to keep in touch with home and office. And, Long Distance Rates Are Surprisingly Low!

For instance, note the long distance rates for a three-minute conversation, between 4:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m., to the following Upper Peninsula points:

State Fair Offer
Some Big Prizes

A total of $26,582 will be offered in the Cattle Department of the Michigan State Fair, September 2 to 8, the largest premium list in the history of the fair, according to the management.

Of this amount, the Michigan State Fair is contributing $23,574 in cash and $300 in trophies, while the various breed associations are giving $3,008.

There will be 13 separate classes in this department, with the following awards in each class: Beef breeds, Class 1, Shorthorns, $3,177.50; Class 2, Polled Shorthorns, $1,418; Class 3, Herefords, $3,383; Class 4, Aberdeen Angus, $2,710; Class 5, Commercial Cattle, $870; Dual Purpose Breeds, Class 6, Milking Shorthorns, $1,753.75; Class 7, Red Polled, cash, $123 and Trophy, $90; Dairy Breeds, Class 8, Holstein-Friesian, $3,857; Class 9, Guernseys, $2,358 and trophies, $90; Class 10, Jerseys, $2,358; Class 11, Ayrshire, $1,864; Class 12, Brown Swiss, $1,908; Class 13, State Institution Herds, banner to be awarded herd scoring highest number of points in the open classes.

Exhibits in the Cattle Department will be released Saturday, September 8th at 4 p. m. Entries close August 18th and all cattle must be in place and ready for judging Monday, September 3rd, at 9 a. m.

Officials of the Cattle Department will be as follows: W. W. Crape, Swartz Creek, member in charge; Beef Breeds: H. W. Wigman, Lansing, Member in Charge; Dairy Breeds: Prof. G. A. Brumman, Lansing, Superintendent of Beef Breeds and Prof. J. G. Hays, Lansing, Superintendent of Dairy Breeds.

An entry fee of $2.00 will be charged each exhibitor. Applications for entry blanks should be made to the Director of Live Stock and Exhibits, and should be mailed, or handed to him in person. None but official blanks should be used.

In addition to entering to the interests of the farmer and his needs, the Fair this year will provide an entertainment and educational program unequalled in its history.

Of outstanding interest from the educational standpoint will be a collection of 21 paintings, valued at more than $250,000, loaned to the department of Fine Arts of the Fair by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, of New York City.

This exhibition will contain examples of the various schools—the French, Dutch, German and American, according to Mrs. Harry V. Woodhouse, Director of the State Fair Art Department. The majority date from the 18th and 19th centuries and the paintings are sufficiently representative to enable the national tendencies to be readily recognized.

World famous masters are included in the groups. Josef Israels of the Dutch school has one of the most appealing subjects in the collection, while the skill of Carlin, of the French school and Leinbach, the German, will be shown in striking examples. The American school, both in landscape and portraiture, is well represented by 12 noteworthy subjects.

Due to the high valuation placed on the collection, a special detail of the Michigan State Police will be on guard day and night.

The fair opens on Sunday afternoon, September 2, with a sacred concert in the Coliseum by Lieutenant-Commander John Philip Sousa and his band of 100 musicians and soloists. He will give a special patriotic program in the evening and twice daily during the duration of the Fair will give programs which have made his band famous throughout the world.

Elaborate preparations have been made for out-of-town visitors who will drive to the fair, with the provision of adequate parking space within the grounds.

Auto Races at State Fair Grounds

Speed and thrills a plenty are promised for the thousands of auto race fans who are coming to the big 100 mile speed battle known as the Knights Templar sweepstakes which will be held on the banked mile track at the Michigan State Fair grounds in Detroit, Sunday afternoon. The race is the first big entertainment feature in the official program for the K. T. triennial convolve which is bringing 200,000 visitors to Detroit.

Led by George Souders, Billy Arnold, Buddy Marr, Chester Gardner, Jimmy Hill and other drivers who took part in the recent Indianapolis race in its different stages, several of whom finished among the first 10 across the 500 mile line, the race looks like the best that has ever been offered for the track here, so evenly are the drivers matched and all of them are pilots who know the dirt track and are going to do their best to show their wares before the Governor of Michigan who will be present with his official staff and Grand Commander Valley of the K. T.'s and his official family. Johnny Squires, famous South African fighter and Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, will be present and introduced to the race fans.

There were 24 drivers entered the first of the week with the probability that when the list closes there will be fully 35 cars and drivers named to start in the qualifying trials.

HAD YOUR BRAKES TESTED?

Many Plymouth auto owners had their brakes tested last Friday and Saturday during the brake test held here. Chief of Police Springer says there are quite a number of autos which do not bear the official test on the windshield. You can procure these by having your brakes tested at any of the several garages in the village where they have these cars.

The train had finally emerged from the blackness of a long tunnel. The conductor noticed a young couple both of whom were apparently quite flustered, and the young woman was nervously rearranging her disheveled hair. Thinking to put them at ease, the conductor remarked pleasantly: "Did you know that the tunnel we just came through cost $12,000,000?" "Did it?" inquired the girl. Then she added after a pause, "well it was worth it."

Jimmy: "Why does an Indian wear feathers on his head?" Betty: "Why, I suppose to keep his wig warm."

MUNICIPAL NOTES BY THE MANAGER

It is expected that a considerable portion of Pennington avenue will be opened to traffic before the close of the week.

Excavating upon Ann Arbor street and East Pennington avenue, from Main street to Hamilton avenue, is nearing completion, and placing of curb and gutter upon these streets is now under way. William Street will probably be next in order for improvement.

Tax notices have been mailed out and collections are now being made at the office of the village treasurer.

Persons who have any accumulations of rubbish or ashes deposited in any public alley in the village are asked to have the same removed as soon as possible. Alleys free from rubbish cannot harbor flies, mosquitoes and other pests.

Concrete is being poured at the culvert on S. Harvey street and it is expected that this job will be completed within another week.

Dr. Frank Crane Says YOU CAN'T HIT THE HIGH SPOTS ALL THE TIME

A young lady complained to me the other day that she had periods of depression. There were times when life seemed drab and uninteresting. And she couldn't see the vision nor envisage the ideal. Life was just plodding. Well, why not? That is the human lot and we had as well accept it.

We are fortunate if we get the vision once in a while, if occasionally we stand on the mountain top, bathed in the sunlight, and look over the future. Most of the time we have to travel through the valley of the shadow.

In most North temperate climates life is intermingled with sunshine and, as the poet expressed it, "Into each life some rain must fall."

Most of our course is to be made by dead reckoning. We cannot have the vision of the stars always, and life is mostly composed of future steps taken by faith in the dark. We are fortunate if once in a while the clouds sweep away and we can glimpse the goal.

Life is rhythmic. It has its ups and downs and the best thing we can do is to say in the language of the old negro hymn, "I'm sometimes up and sometimes down, but still my soul is heavenly bound."

These moments of darkness, these uninteresting stretches of our life are our real test. Then is shown our staying quality and our ability to pursue a goal by faith and not by sight. We cannot have the glory and the ecstasy every moment. We could not stand it. No man can live in a state of perpetual intoxication. He must get his feet down to the ground once in a while and just plug along. We have the comfort of knowing that nothing lasts forever and if our mood is depressed after a while it will pass away. You cannot hit the high spots all the time. Converts begin their religious life usually in a blaze of enthusiasm. They are keyed up to a high pitch and undergo an emotional ecstasy. It is afterward that the test comes. They are required to take up the affairs of daily life which are perhaps mundane and uninteresting. They crave emotion, but emotion is an occasional experience and not permanent. In their daily life there must be steady application of the truths they have learned in these rare moments of ecstasy, so many of them backslide. In quitting a bad habit very often we make a vow or sign a pledge in a moment of enthusiasm which is very hard to keep in the succeeding moments of drabness. The best moral quality is the quality of stick-to-it-iveness, and quality of hanging on and doing right when there are no drums beating nor horns blowing. So in the marriage relation, we begin in a burst of love and violent affection what must be kept up through days of perhaps uninteresting detail. So the Bible tells us that it is the overcomers who shall be given the reward.

CLASS HOLDS REUNION AT BENTON PARK

A happy gathering took place Tuesday in Benton park of ladies who composed the ninth girls of Plymouth High school 30 years ago, a snapshot of whom was taken with positions the same as one Mr. Baker took of them. Those present were Misses Carrie Ahleson and Charlotte Williams and Mesdames Maude Robinson Bennett, Zada McClumpka-Gier, Vera Root-Holcomb, Mary Powell Forshoe, Gertrude Khyon-Haigh, Ada Smith-Murray, Rose Rohring-Reeves, and Lucille Rosenberg-Chappel, the only one absent being Grace Oliver-Alkins, of Columbus, Ohio. Others who met with them for the day were Mrs. Harry McClumpka, of Tribes Hill, N. Y., Misses Chloe Powell, Avis Forshoe, Olive Haigh, Roberta Chappel and Mrs. Olive Packard. Two very delicious meals were eaten in the ideal park with ideal weather. The ladies came in autos, as the horses that used to bring the girls together have long since been buried, and the street car tracks, which were being laid then, are now being laid on the shelf. The days of sweet sixteen were joyfully recalled, and all now are filling their stations in life to the best of their ability and with pride for the class.

Canton, China.—An American biologist sent a native to get specimens of the "tiger-crabs" of whose ravages villagers complained. The collector returned to report "tiger-crabs" were lawless soldiers.

Big Oil Company Uses Goats to Cut Its Grass

Okla. City, Okla.—The mowing machine and lawn mower business took a blow at Ponca City, Okla., recently when a big oil company decided to use goats to keep the grass cut on its 100-acre tank farm. There are on the farm more than 100 tanks, holding about 140,000,000 gallons of crude oil and gasoline, and strict precautions against fire are necessary. As goats do not play with fire, they won the contract on the grounds of safety and economy.

The little fights that sprang up here and there at the big Democratic conclave made one think that those who didn't get on the band wagon would be put in the patrol wagon!

DEATH FROM HEART DISEASE ON GAIN

Emotional Strain of Modern Life Blamed.

London.—The mental and emotional strain of modern life is mainly responsible for the 400 per cent increase in deaths from heart disease in Great Britain and other countries, in the opinion of Dr. J. Strickland Goodall, London cardiologist and physician.

"While the death rate from cancer has increased rather less than 25 per cent, that from heart disease has increased nearly 400 per cent," Doctor Goodall informed members of the Institute of Hygiene.

"The form in which we take our pleasure," he asserted, "is a direct inversion of nature's demands for adequate rest."

The habits of visiting night clubs, drinking cocktails and smoking excessively were listed by Doctor Goodall among the destructive pleasures. He further maintained that "the emotional character of modern plays, novels and films, with their appeals to the baser passions, inevitably tends to overstrain, with results which are reflected in the enormously increased number of deaths from heart disease."

These deaths are occurring at an earlier age than formerly. Doctor Goodall reported. Whereas a few years ago the common age of sudden death was between fifty and sixty years, an analysis of recent deaths had disclosed that "the age is becoming much less."

The physician recalled that 12 persons died suddenly in the United States while listening to the running account of the Tunney-Empsey fight in Chicago, and that seven of these succumbed when Tunney was floored in the seventh round. He attributed all to emotional strain.

A critical investigation of thousands of cases of sudden death shows, said Doctor Goodall, that most of them are due to arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, a disease often caused by hard physical work, mental strain and emotion.

Makes 14th South Sea Trip to Study Snails

New York.—Snails offer "a sure proof of evolution," says Henry E. Crampton, professor of zoology in Barnard college, who has sailed from Vancouver, B. C., on his fourteenth expedition to the South Sea islands to study land snails living on bushes in the high mountain valleys of the oriental and American tropics.

Professor Crampton goes as research associate of the Carnegie institute of Washington.

"I care nothing and know nothing about snails," the professor said. "My interest is in the history which they have written down, for those who can read it, of the processes by which evolution comes about in wild nature."

"How the snails differ from valley to valley, from island to island, and from group to group, is part of the story. Principles of their distribution are to be derived from their history. When the distribution is analyzed, we obtain sure proof of evolution."

The Bridge of San Lois Rey

A Review By CASS S. HOUGH

Illustrated by Amy Prentiss— Alfred and Charles Born, New York City, 1928. Price $2.50.

Back in the sixteenth century, when Peru was at the height of its glory, before the coming of Pizarro the Conqueror, and Almagro, his gold greedy lieutenant, there existed a beautiful highway connecting Lima, the present capital city, and Cuzco, the ancient capital, stamping grounds of the "Children of the Sun," worshippers of the "Sun god." On this highway, just outside of Lima, was a hanging bridge, built of grape vines and the like by the peerless craftsmen, the Incas. No one knows how long this bridge had stood—it was in service when Peruvian history begins. Thousands of people passed over it, and after years it still seemed as strong as the day it was built. However, one day it fell—and brought to their end five people, who happened to be passing over it when it fell. An old monk, after diligent application to his work, finally finds out who the people were that were killed. Then he asks himself the age-old question, "Why should these five people be the ones to be plunged to death when the bridge fell? Might not it have been I, or others in the city?" Like a true philosopher he meticulously attacks the problem of compiling all the data available about their lives, in an attempt to find an answer to his problem. After years of work his data is complete, or as nearly so as he can make it, and the bulk of the book is the record of what he found about these five people—told in a most fascinating manner, so characteristic of Wilder. The question is not answered in black and white, but the story is so told that it leaves in the mind of the reader a line of reasoning that, partially, at least, will answer the question.

This book should appeal to everyone, because it has a multiplicity of thoughts and ideas, one of which is bound to take lodgement in the mind of the reader. For those who enjoy reading solely for pure literary style, the book will satisfy the most fastidious; for story lovers, the theme is as absorbing and entertaining as any novel ever written; but more than these two, for the reader who likes to think and ponder over a book after its completion, here is, indeed, food for thought, enjoyable because Thornton Wilder has succeeded admirably in compounding a panacea for those suffering from a dearth of ideas, a condition brought about mainly by the contents of the magazine books presented to the American public today.

Last Street Car Leaves Town and Track is Torn Up

MANY OF THE OLD EMPLOYEES RECALL DAYS OF SERVICE.

Clang! Clang! Clang! Remember that sound? Remember when the street cars rattled and rumbled down the streets of Northville—the motorman changing the old gong from the time he reached the Seven Mile road until he had passed the Verkes corner? Thursday marked the ending of that clang—for the last street car passed over that line on that day and the tracks were taken up as the car rolled along.

It was way back in 1889 when the street car line from Detroit was built into Northville and Plymouth. For years the business of the operating company prospered. When the cars arrived and left Northville it was sort of a gala event. Most everybody in town turned out to see who was going away and who was coming, if they didn't go themselves.

And to be a motorman or conductor on that line was the ambition of every youngster in town. To wear a uniform like the one Nelson Schrader had on. To stand on the front platform of the car and kick that old gong and blow that air whistle? Wouldn't that be a great job! That's what every young fellow in Northville thought.

Little wonder that there is sadness in the heart of Ernest Miller, who used to go down through the aisles of the cars collecting the nickles and dimes. That is where he first secured his experience for the good banker that he now is.

But Nelson Schrader and Ernest Miller are not the only two sad ones in Northville and Plymouth, as they witness the removal of the tracks and the passing of the old street car line.

Charles Blackburn, he of county office fame, for a long time collected the nickles and dimes from the boys and girls who used to think it an event of their lives to ride on the street cars Sunday afternoon.

A job on the street car line in the early days was as popular as the presidency of the United States is today. And the fellow who got a job running a street car or collecting fares was regarded as the most fortunate individual in town.

There was William Pettingill of Plymouth. He rang up the nickles as expertly as did Ernest Miller. Some of the other early employees of the line are Milo Corwin of Cherry Hill, George Delker of Plymouth, Charles Thammie of Plymouth and George Groth of Ypsilanti, who is still operating a car on the interurban running from Detroit to Jackson.

Among the last to serve as a "nickie snatcher" was Wm. Elkington, of the famous Elkington & Casterline gas station. Patrons of this place have often wondered why it was that "Bill" could count out the nickles and dimes so accurately and speedily. Now they know. He got his experience back in the old street car days.

The street car line is gone. Now it's the skidding, rattling old bus that serves its place, no wonder there is so much sorrow and grief among a few of these old employees.—Northville Record.

New Senator To Be Farm Day Speaker

ARTHUR VANDENBURG WILL HEAD PROGRAM AT M. S. C. GATHERING FRIDAY, JULY 27.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Grand Rapids, publisher of the Grand Rapids Herald, will be the featured speaker at the Michigan State College Farmers' day on July 27.

Interest in farm problems shown during the few weeks in which he represented Michigan in the recent sessions of the United States Senate marked Senator Vandenberg as an agricultural leader, and his East Lansing talk is expected to attract wide attention among farmers of the state.

Other speakers for the afternoon program include President Robert S. Shaw and L. Whitney Watkins, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture, who will discuss the program of the college for the future in regard to agriculture. Joseph F. Cox, the new dean of agriculture, will preside.

A band concert will follow the picnic lunch at noon and the winners of the town and country church choir singing contest will also appear on the program in the afternoon.

The Bass Viol Players

By AD SCHUSTER

"THEY'RE always queer, the bass viol players, but old Bascomb is a bit the queerest I've ever seen." The cornet was talking to the flute and it was the bass viol who was the subject.

"He's the sort who tells nobody his business and all the time you could see he is having one fearful time. Why, the man never buys new clothes and is wasting away. I don't believe he has enough to eat, and nobody ever saw him spend a cent. What do you suppose he can be doing with the money?"

"I don't know," said the flute, "but I'm going to offer him a loan. Bascomb is not exactly a chummy sort, never saying a word, but he's a brave one."

When the offer was made Bascomb smiled.

"Thank you. I appreciate your motive, but I don't need money." The way he smiled, the flute confided later, showed he was not telling the truth.

The credence of the bass viol threatened his position. The orchestra tried to give Bascomb a hint in time and it was said the drums helped him brush up his suit to look more presentable. Bascomb grew thinner and whiter and it looked as if the end was near.

"The boss will spot him out as a has-been, and it will be finale for Bascomb. Wonder what he will do?"

"It's time we did something," the drums spoke earnestly. "Did you notice last night he slipped for the first time in his playing. The man's weak, too weak to stand up under the strain. Boys, we must go to him, make him help us, or see him tossed out when he seems to need money so badly."

So they went, an informal committee of embarrassed musician bent on helping the bass viol out of his troubles. Bascomb was touched. They saw him tremble and the tears start to his eyes and, for a moment, it appeared he would break down. The old man drew himself erect and smiled.

"The offer, your friendship, it is priceless. I have seemed unappreciative and distant, but—well, it is my way. Believe me, I thank you, but, well, the ordeal is over. I am resigning tomorrow." Another bass viol appeared in the orchestra pit, and old Bascomb was all but forgotten. One night in the restaurant where they met after the show, the drums took the floor.

"Do you know who I met today? Well, Bascomb! I didn't know him at first because he was dressed like a swell and walking with a beautiful young girl. I stared and stared, so hard, I guess, the girl noticed me and called his attention. Then Bascomb smiled, took my hand and introduced me to his daughter.

"Here is a former friend of mine, Lily," he said, "one of a company of very good friends." Then they were gone. What do you suppose it means?"

"I know," it was the flute who spoke. "I know, and have been keeping it to myself because, well, I thought he might not like it talked about. You see I saw them and I know the man, the man who married his daughter, the Lily you met. Listen, boys, if you know what sort of a bass viol we had."

"Bascomb was sending that girl to college. He had a job, a good one in an uptown office and was putting the girl through school in style. Then they showed him out because he was getting old. Did he take the girl out of school? He came here, played in the orchestra, starved himself, and kept the money going to her, and all the time she never knew he had lost his job. The man lived on crackers and milk to put the girl through college."

The orchestra was silent.

"And now?" some one spoke up, "now he seems prosperous."

"Yes, the girl married, and married a man who knows how to appreciate a man like our Bascomb. Happened to be a rich man and one who could give his father-in-law a position. I'm saying, now, bass viols are apt to be queer but you can never tell what's going on inside them."

Turks Must Sit in Pews, Wear Shoes in Mosques

Constantinople. — Turks hereafter must wear shoes in their mosques and sit in pews. A government commission on religious reform has decided that squatting on rugs by bare-footed worshippers is not compatible with modern civilization.

Altars as well as pews will be installed in the mosques which now are unfurnished except with rugs. Organs and choirs will replace the droning of the koran by the priest, the only sound which has disturbed the spacious quietness hitherto.

This change is considered to be the boldest westernizing stroke of Mustafa Kemal's government since the fez was abolished as a head covering. The commission alters a ritual which has been followed for centuries.

Locate Caracas Houses by Blocks, Not Streets

Washington. — Street corners, not streets, are used for addresses in Caracas, capital of Venezuela, according to Frederic D. Grab, assistant trade commissioner, in a report to the Department of Commerce.

Houses in Caracas are always located by the corners of the block in which they are situated. If an address is given as a certain number followed by two names it means the place is located between those two corners.

For example, "12 San Francisco A. Pajaritos" means the house is No. 12, between the corners of "San Francisco" and "Little Birds" (translated).

It is interesting to know that modern preserving methods have eliminated the chance for failure in making jellies and jams.

Under the old long-boiling process even experienced cooks would get tired, turn jelly one time and a syrupy failure the next. The ripper fruit the less jelly-making substance is contained, so no accurate rule could be made to govern the exact amount of sugar or cooking time.

The new short-process rules remove this uncertainty by the use of liquid pectin, which is the natural jelly-making substance extracted from fruits and concentrated for cooking purposes.

NEW RECIPE FOR BLUEBERRY JAM

Crush well about two pounds of berries. Add juice of two lemons and grated rind of half lemon. Measure four level cups of mixture into large kettle. Add eight level cups sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to full rolling boil and boil hard for one minute. Remove and stir in one bottle liquid pectin. Skim, pour quickly and cover at once with hot melted paraffin.

WHEN FRYING CORN FRITTERS

Many cooks know only one way to fry corn fritters, and that is to drop the batter from a spoon into deep hot fat. If fried as a flat fritter-cake in butter or margarine, the corn fritters will have a decidedly different flavor — one you may like much better than that produced by the other method.

SOUR CREAM CAKE

Half cup butter, two cups sugar, one cup sour cream, three cups prepared cake flour, three eggs, well beaten, half teaspoon soda, scant teaspoon lemon flavoring. Cream butter and sugar, add eggs. Add soda to sour cream, beat cream and flour alternately into sugar mixture. Add flavoring and bake in loaf pan.

CAN YOU MAKE UNCOOKED CUSTARD?

Into beaten egg yolk of one egg stir a cup of sweetened condensed milk; add two teaspoons lemon juice and mixture will thicken. Then add three teaspoons water and fold in stiffly beaten white of egg. Serve as uncooked custard or pour over fresh fruit.

SHIELD FURNITURE FROM SUMMER SUN

If you would retain the soft glossy finish of your furniture do not allow the hot summer sun to beat upon it. Mahogany is especially in need of protection, as strong sun fades it.

WHEN HANGING CURTAINS

Cap the curtain rod with a thimble and it will push through the curtain heading without catching or endangering the fabric.

DO YOUR WAFFLES STICK?

A little olive oil added to the waffle will prevent the waffles from sticking to the iron and also adds richness to the finished cake.

He Had a Motor for Sale

By JOHN HALL

JOHN CONNOR was worried. As the train bore him nearer and nearer to New York he went over again in his mind the prospects that awaited him, and he was bound to admit that they were slender as far as his success was concerned. His firm had sent him to introduce their latest product, a motor that would use less current and deliver more power than that of any of their competitors, to one of the biggest manufacturing firms in the city. On the face of things he should have been confident, for the Grimes & Hannaford motor was all that was claimed for it; but the firm he was going to see was conservative.

John Connor was not a salesman; he was one of the vice presidents of Grimes & Hannaford, and the entire responsibility of the sale had been placed on his shoulders. He knew that if Lane Incorporated could be sold on the new motor the entire New York territory would fall into him. The train halted at Poughkeepsie. Two or three passengers alighted and more entered the car. Connors watched them with the idle interest of a man on a journey till suddenly his interest focused on the figure of a girl who was being guided by the porter to the seat directly across the aisle from him.

She was good to look upon—a trim little figure, brown hair showing under the modish hat, and a pair of distracting eyes. She glanced impersonally at John Connors, leaned from her seat and said calmly: "My name is Isabel Guernsey. Won't you tell me yours?"

"W-why," said Connors, completely taken aback. "I'm John Connors. I'm sure you know me."

"I'm so glad to meet you, Mr. Connors. I thought I would introduce myself at once, as I wanted to talk to you."

"Do you live in Poughkeepsie?" he inquired.

"No; I was visiting an aunt here over the weekend." In ten minutes they were fast friends.

It grew dark. Connors suggested dinner, and they sought the dining car. He ordered for her, and the pleasant meal their intimacy grew. Before he knew what he was doing he found himself telling her all about his coming effort to sell Lane Incorporated his motor. He grew enthusiastic; he dilated on the good points of the motor, and explained it to her in detail. She seemed blessed with understanding, and asked several questions that showed an intelligent interest. It was not till the meal was ended that remorse seized him.

"Great Scott!" he said penitently. "I've been doing nothing but talk about myself and my troubles. I must have bored you to death."

"Indeed you didn't," she replied. "Did you say the motor ran on alternating current or direct?"

"It's designed for either," replied Connors. "But don't let's talk about the silly motor any more. Tell me about yourself."

"There's not much to tell," she began when the porter called "One hundred 'n' Twenty-six" street; "Next stop Grand Central."

"Oh! I must get my baggage ready," she cried.

Connors meditated on the wonder of her having spoken to him, and then a sudden thought smote him. He had not taken her address!

Vainly he watched for her in the crowd that left the train at Grand Central, but there was no sign of her. And as he sought his hotel bed that night his thoughts were more concerned with the charming person he had met and lost than with the problem of how to sell Lane Incorporated.

But next morning his thoughts were back on business. He had an appointment with the directors of the company at ten. At nine-fifty-nine he hurried in his card, and as the clock struck the hour he was shown into the directors' room. And he had hardly said "Good morning, gentlemen," when he stood in stunned surprise. At the head of the table sat the girl of the train!

One of the men was speaking. He heard him as in a daze.

"Mr. Connors, we have decided to accept your motor. Our secretary and treasurer, Miss Guernsey, tells us that she talked with you on the way down and that you have convinced her that this company needs the product of Grimes & Hannaford in its business. If you will give us the specifications for a complete installation—"

As in a dream John Connors found himself giving facts and figures. As in a dream he signed a contract. As in a dream he shook hands with the directors of Lane Incorporated and very much as in a dream he found himself face to face with the secretary and treasurer, Miss Isabel Guernsey.

"I'm afraid I deceived you a little last night," she laughed. "I saw your initials and your firm name on your sample case and I knew that you must be the man who was to see us this morning. So I introduced myself to get you to tell me about your motor as though you weren't selling it to anyone. And you sold it to me then and there."

"Well, there's nothing for me to say except thank you, and—will you let me take you to lunch?"

"There was a pause. Finally she said in a low voice, "Any time you wish, John Connors."

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says the reason modern kitchens are smaller than those in old-time houses is because it doesn't require so much room to open a can.

Spring rains were not only general all over the United States but they gave the home gardener a chance to stage a hot race with the weeds.

"One of the saddest things of life," asserts Dad Plymouth "is that a woman can lose her youth and beauty only once but her temper a million times."

Dad Plymouth says you can convince a poor man the world is round, but you can't convince him that the rich have as many worries as the poor.

Another thing worth remembering is that forty years ago nobody worried about the installation of an automobile coming due.

"The flood situation wouldn't be so bad," declares Dad Plymouth "if the politicians would all dry up."

Reading that $17,000,000 was paid out in alimony and divorce cases last year, Dad Plymouth says he always has argued that slapping your wife in the face doesn't pay.

With some people it isn't a question of how they can get on their vacations but how far they can go with the groover when they get back.

FAMOUS BELL BACK IN SAN FRANCISCO

Used in Early Days to Call Out Citizens.

San Francisco.—Priceless relic of early days in San Francisco, the Vigilante bell that used to summon the people to council and war at Fort Gunnybags, here in the '30s, has been hung in the marine department of the chamber of commerce, a gift to the chamber from the First Baptist church of Portland.

Stirring memories of those times which tried the hearts of San Francisco's best men and the necks of her worst were recalled when Robert Newton Lynch, vice president and general manager of the chamber, announced the presentation. It was through his efforts that the bell was brought back here.

The bell was purchased in 1856 by the Vigilante committee, of which W. T. Coleman was then president. It was bought from a Boston firm of metal workers, Conroy & Connors, weighed 1,700 pounds, and cost $1,500. It is bronze.

Hung in the steeple of old Fort Gunnybags, it sounded the death knell of many a reckless villain, proclaimed peace and victory to the upright and struck terror to the hearts of the vicious when the Vigilantes found it necessary to take the law into their own hands.

In 1878, when the bell no longer was required, the residents of Portland bought it from the Vigilantes for $550 and hung it in their first Baptist church. There it was used both for religious services and as a time bell, sounding the hour at 6 a. m., noon, and 6 p. m.

When the Civil war started, Union sympathizers rang it to announce Northern victories and those friendly to the Southern cause became angry. To prevent discord among members of the community, the bell was taken down and hauled away one dark night to a warehouse. A few hours later Northern sympathizers returned it to the steeple, hoisting the Stars and Stripes above it.

The next night a Southerner made his way unobserved into the belfry, and with a hammer sought to silence the bell forever. He made a big crack in it, not unlike that in the famous Liberty bell, but this had no silencing effect. The bell remained in use until 1907, and its chimes could be heard through the countryside within a ten-mile radius.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO. ADVERTISING MICHIGAN'S ADVANTAGES AS A VACATION LAND.

First of a series of advertisements in which the Michigan Bell Telephone Company calls attention to the advantages of Michigan as a vacation land, appears in this issue of the Plymouth Mail. The second is scheduled for publication a week from today and others will appear during the remainder of July and the first part of August.

The series is being published in more than 250 newspapers throughout Michigan. According to Mr. Crowe, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Company, it is felt that no part of the continent offers so many advantages to the tourist and vacationist as does Michigan, with its excellent highways, myriad lakes and rivers, vast stretches of forests, hundreds of miles of coast line, unequalled opportunity for summer sports, its well equipped camp sites and its hotels, and its wonderful climate.

The first announcement is illustrated with an outline map of the Upper Peninsula, popularly known as Closterland, showing the principal cities. Following announcements will carry similar maps advertising sections of the Lower Peninsula. The announcements also show long distance telephone rates to the principal cities in the section advertised, from each city in which the advertisement is published.

This advertising, Mr. Crowe says, is in line with their activity conducted by the Michigan Bell Company designed to create a better knowledge of the state and its cities. During the past year, the telephone company has been showing a series of window displays in downtown Detroit, advertising the principal cities of the state and calling attention to their manufacturing and other advantages. These displays, which have been viewed by thousands of persons daily, have been assembled in cooperation with the local telephone managers and the chambers of commerce of the cities benefited from the publicity.

Nethem Defeated By Close Score

The Dexter Independents defeated Nethem in a ball game played at Dexter Sunday, 2-1. The game was a pitcher's battle between Haupt for Dexter, and Cunningham and Lemus for Nethem. Nethem outbit Dexter 7 to 5 but were unable to group its safeties to produce runs.

Gus Eck scored the first run of the game for Dexter in the sixth inning when he got on base as a result of being hit by a pitch ball. He scored on Likley's single.

Nethem tied the score in the ninth with a single run after two batters had been retired but Dexter came back in their half of the ninth when Likley again singled and scored from third on an infield error.

Dexter is composed of all college players.

Sunday, July 15, Nethem plays Highland Park at Newburg. Everybody welcome.

Cotter Pin or Fate?

By H. OXLEY STENGEL

"PLEASANT prospect!" Nan exclaimed bitterly to herself as she stood ankle deep in mud and surveyed the very flat tire on the left rear wheel of her little coupe.

"Ten miles from nowhere and raining cats and dogs! Oh, it's a great life if your tire doesn't weaken! Well, this one did—so I might just as well make up my mind to take the punishment."

Whereupon she proceeded to take off her new coat, fold it carefully and lay it on the seat, roll up her sleeves and don a brown smock.

"Quick work needed here," she went on to herself as she realized how fast the night was approaching. "Nothing so bad but it might be worse."

The wheel had been jacked up with difficulty when another car came into view around the curve. Nan was both hopeful and a bit worried. It might be a friend and one in need—if only for company. There wasn't a house visible. Only fields and the hills before and behind.

"It might be," she muttered. The sliver was partly due to her thoughts and partly to a fresh bath of muddy water which she received as a big car sped by without so much as slowing up.

"That's that!" Nan grinned ruefully as she wiped mud from her eye with a shaking wet handkerchief. Anyway it wasn't hold-up men!

Everything went wrong. The spare rolled down into the ditch just as she was about to adjust it. That rescued and at last fitted into place, the cotter pin slipped from her wet fingers and rolled off also. Desperately Nan hunted in the deepening gloom, stepping into the mud up to her ankles. All to no avail.

"I can't go without it," she almost wailed. "The wheel would be sure to come off and land me into a ditch this time."

She sat down on the wet mud guard. It was quite dark now except for the lights on her car. She knew the road well. Hilly as it was and full of curves it would be foolhardy to attempt to drive, however slowly, the ten miles into town. At least she could get inside the car, out of the rain while she decided what she would do.

What was that? Not a car this time but footsteps coming down the road. Nan's instinct was to cut off her head lights. But it was too late for that and not so dark that the car wouldn't be visible to passersby. She sat tense and still. Closer and closer the footsteps came. Queer loud ones. Then—

Into the line of her head lights. Nan uttered a shriek of mingled surprise and relief as she saw the forms of two cows followed by a young boy take shape out of the shadows. She opened the door and told the boy her troubles.

"Maybe I can fix it for you if Queen Mab and Lu don't go too far," he offered. "It's sure one wet night."

"It is indeed!" Nan agreed heartily. "No, I don't think you could find it, either. I haven't my search light. How far are you going?"

"Just up the road a piece—to Longview farm."

"Longview?"

Nan had forgotten Longview was on this road and she had been certain there wasn't a house within miles!

"I'll tell you what you can do, Sonny. Will you telephone Mason's garage for me and tell them just where I am and just what is wrong? Tell them to send out at once, please, that it's Miss Henderson's car."

"Yes'm."

A big man was lounging before a great log fire smoking a pipe while waiting for dinner. He heard Pete in the hall asking Sarah if he might telephone. "A lady's broke down up the road," Pete explained.

The big man called out: "Go ahead, Pete! It's a shame for a lady to be caught on a night like this. Is she all alone?"

"Yes, sir."

"Would you help—but she might not understand a stranger's offering aid," he thought. Then he caught the name Henderson. He was in the hall in an instant.

"Pete! What is she like? Is she small with brown hair?"

Pete stared. "Small, sure. Don't know about her hair. She's a pretty lady."

"That's Nan?" the big man exclaimed. "Never mind, Pete. I'll go myself."

"But I phoned the garage, sir."

"All right." He had his coat on and was gone.

A big car drew up beside the coupe and the big man peered anxiously into the window. A pretty girl was fast asleep.

"Nan!" he called softly. She started. "Don't be frightened. It's only Tom."

"Have you a spare cotter pin?" she asked solemnly as he opened her door.

FARMERS AND ORGANIZATION. REAL MONEY. THROW OUT AMBITION? SOUND IN MOVIES.

Flour manufacturers, including Washburn-Crosby and Red Star, organized a $50,000,000 combination, largest flour milling concern in the world.

This news will interest farmers and make them wish somebody could show them how to organize. The first thing, and absolutely necessary, is to organize and intensify methods of production. An old-fashioned blacksmith could not compete with a modern automobile factory.

Childish talk of "necessary competition" and prattle about keeping business from getting "too big" are out of date.

Where nations combine to monopolize world business, great American units must combine for self defense.

Possibly some one will find a way to help our farmers form such a combination. They need it.

The French settle down courageously to the drastic new money rate. Four-fifths of its value is cut from their money as a result of a war WHICH THEY WON. They face that situation bravely.

In place of paper money, meaning little to peasants and working people, the French again will see gold and silver coins in circulation.

The grosse piece, size and weight of our silver dollar, will not come back. Worth five francs before the war, it would be worth twenty-five francs now. But ten-franc silver pieces worth forty cents will be coined, and the French will feel that they are working for REAL MONEY.

Stabilizing the franc is a boon to all Europe, ending financial disorder that has lasted ten years.

It is a great achievement by Poincaré, worthy successor of Thiers, Turgot, Necker, Sully, and a long list of brilliant French statesmen.

Sir James Barrie tells Rhodes' scholars not to try for "greatness." The advice is humorous, probably. Trying for greatness produces desirable mediocrity. Men "aim high to shoot low" as the illiterate colored man said when he asked Grover Cleveland to make him Librarian of Congress. He really wanted a job as porter.

A lady cries for the moon and is satisfied with a cookie. Youth reaches for greatness and is content with modest achievement and a place on the golf course.

Winfield R. Sheehan, who knows about moving pictures, says screens will be much bigger for large sized theatres now building everywhere. That will make it necessary to revise production methods.

Most important for budding genius, he says the "talking movie" will create a new army of scenario writers, knowing how to make sound effective in pictures.

In a detective story, noise of a creaking board, or a shot, might be more effective than the hero's smile.

Mr. Sheehan believes that the pictures with sound will double moving picture attendance.

In New York's brutal dancing contest—the dance to go on until all but one couple drop—the female dancers, nervously exhausted, slap their partners' faces. Then the men slap the women's faces vigorously. The yahoos, called "fans," looking on, shriek with delight, as the half crazed dancers strike each other.

Such is our poor imitation of the Roman arena.

Phosphate Taken From Caves to Enrich Farms
Vienna. — Phosphate deposits in mountain caves, the product of long centuries of habitation by swallows, bats and other animals, have been opened to exploitation for use in Europe's grain fields. Three notable caves have lately been explored, according to Franz Kirnbauer, an engineer resident in Rumania. These are the Dragon's cave and the Croklorina cave in Austria and Minerva cave in France.

The first two have already yielded 25,000 tons of phosphate earth. The latter, estimated to contain 120,000 tons, has not yet been exploited.

Today's Reflections

A good many Plymouth people can remember when the patent medicine business was as good as the face lotion business is today.

American home life is still safe. Nobody has thought to invent a power can-opener for the family kitchen.

The young man who puts too much faith in his family tree quite often finds himself without a limb to stand on.

No matter how careful some Plymouth men are they always seem to be running into some new kind of mistake.

Any married man can have a good time if he doesn't mind having a bad time with his wife afterward.

The old-fashioned wife who hated an untidy kitchen now has a daughter who hates a kitchen of any kind.

You can make the average Plymouth man believe a lot of things, but you can't make him believe a rich man has as many worries as a poor man.

The happy go-lucky life of the rising generation indicates it doesn't consider going to the devil such an undesirable trip.

You can usually tell by the honeyed words one woman uses in talking to another just how catty she is behind her back.

Every Plymouth boy would do well to remember that you don't have to be worth a million to be worth while.

There's no corner loafer so insignificant these days but he has the "inside dope" on who is going to be elected president.

We see where a 40-year-old circus elephant has gone crazy. You'd go crazy, too, if you had to live on stale circus peanuts 40 years.

There was a time when the barber got all of a Plymouth boy's money when he was in love. Now the gas station gets it.

This country is beginning to take its politics seriously at last. It now requires nearly as many newspaper reporters to cover a convention as it does to cover a heavy-weight prize fight.

It takes a lot of people to make an auto, but earning the money to make the payments on it is left to just one man.

It has about gotten so that the average Plymouth girl thinks a washboard is some sort of antique furniture.

The trouble caused by too much money is not as bad as that caused by too little.

Wants Typist Job, But Has Only One Hand

Detroit, Mich.—Mrs. Flora Parker is looking for a job as typist or stenographer and she has only one arm.

When she was two and one-half years old in London she was the victim of an accident. After she grew up she taught school in London and then there was a young chap who had "gone out," as they say over there, to Canada. He sent for her. They were married. Two years later there was a baby and then, suddenly, Mrs. Parker was the Widow Parker. Little Flora is three.

"I intend to make my own living," she said. "It is going to be difficult to make any prospective employer believe that I can be efficient. I can be. I am fast on the typewriter and my missing arm has never been a missing one to me. You see, I lost it so young that I never knew its use, and what we never have we do not miss."

Kittens for the Cat

By CORONA REMINGTON

"NOW, there's a new tot we got only yesterday. Isn't she sweet? Excellent heredity, lovely disposition. Grace, come here, darling, and shake hands with the gentleman."

"Isn't she too sweet?" said Nurse Simpson, taking the child in her arms. "Now, why don't you adopt her, Mr. Kellington? I know if I were out baby shopping I'd choose her out of a million."

"Could we take her somewhere together? I would like to get better acquainted with her. Suppose I call again this afternoon. Then you could go along, couldn't you, and watch over her."

"Just a minute. I'll ask Miss Doughty."

Nurse Simpson went in search of the matron and put the strange question to her.

"If he weren't on the board and such a liberal contributor I'd say no. What does he want with a baby anyway? The whole idea is ridiculous—'hatched with a baby!'" scoffed the matron.

"Of course, the whole thing was absurd, but what could they do? John Kellington practically maintained Tiny Tot Terrace, and since he was willing to spend his money on it, he was surely entitled to some consideration."

When at lunch the other attendants heard that Miss Simpson was taking out another baby with Mr. Kellington, they all discussed the matter vigorously.

"Why on earth he doesn't get a job in the nursery I don't see," declared Miss Wilson.

"I believe he'd ask for it if he weren't afraid of being ridiculed," answered Miss Simpson. "I never saw a man as crazy about children in all my life."

"How old is he?" asked another. "Surely he can't be very old but he has a little gray in his temples."

"He's not old and he isn't young," answered Mary Simpson, the Kellington authority by right of experience because he had always called on her to accompany him on his visits through the nursery. "Miss Doughty was furious when I took her the message," the nurse went on as she straightened the perky little white cap on her curly head.

"Don't you pay any attention to her," advised another of the girls. "She's got a crush on Kellington and he doesn't even look at her."

"He's awfully nice when you're out with him," confessed Miss Simpson. "Just sort of comfortable to be with him. Oh dear, afraid I'm falling in love again," she ended with a sigh. "Why can't I learn better sense and stop it!"

Immediately after lunch she got little Grace ready, then dressed herself and had hardly finished when Mr. Kellington appeared, carrying two toy balloons in one hand and under the other arm a little stuffed woolly dog with a black spot over one eye. A shiver of sheer delight ran over Miss Simpson at the sight of him, he was so splendid looking and so calm, and she felt sorry for a little sad look she often saw down deep in his eyes.

The car was soon speeding along and the draft coming in at the window tossed Grace's curls over her face in a riot of playfulness. Even Miss Simpson relaxed and threw her little felt hat on the back seat and gave herself up to the pleasure of the moment.

"What does Miss Doughty say about me?" Mr. Kellington asked suddenly as he turned the car into shade cross road and slowed down a bit.

"Oh, why—nothing. She thinks you'd make a wonderful father for a baby."

"Does she really believe I mean to adopt one?" he asked.

"Why—why—yes. Don't you? I thought you did," answered the girl aghast.

"Mary, there are some things I've been wanting to tell you for a long time," he said, parking the car at the side of the road and fidgeting with his gold cigarette case. "I've been married once. I was very young and a darn fool I suppose, but anyhow I've always been crazy about children, and Louise wasn't. Well, things went from bad to worse and finally we got a divorce on the grounds of incompatibility. After that I decided I'd know how a girl stood on the subject of motherhood not by words only, but by actions as well, and it seemed to me that anyone who would devote her life to the care of homeless tots must be a mother at heart. Then when I met you—and fell in love, Mary, it seemed to me as if there might be a little happiness in life for me yet. How would you feel about marrying a divorcee who's crazy about children?" he asked, slipping a hand over hers and looking at her with the old sadness in the back of his eyes.

"If the man were—you, I'd feel pretty happy about it," smiled Miss Simpson without a hint of coquetry in her voice.

Fortunately Baby Grace was too young to think it unconventional for a good-looking man to kiss a pretty little nurse so she did not report to the authorities, but when it did get out Miss Doughty merely remarked as she turned back to her desk:

"Well, I've heard of courting the cat for the kittens, but I've never heard of courting the kittens for the cat before."
