

FORMAL OPENING HANDSOME NEW BUSINESS BLOCK

Jewell & Blaich Will Have Formal Opening in Their New Home Tuesday Afternoon and Evening, July 24.

J. R. McLeod, Electric Shop, Will Have Opening in the New Block at the Same Time.

Jewell & Blaich, plumbing and heating, have their new building completed and announce their formal opening in the handsome new business block on Tuesday afternoon and evening, July 24th. They will occupy the room on the west side of the building. The growing business of Jewell & Blaich necessitated the demand for more room and the new building provides them with a splendid opportunity for the displaying of plumbing and heating equipment.

They extend a most cordial invitation to the people of Plymouth and vicinity to attend the opening event and inspect the new building. During the evening Livingston's orchestra will furnish music for free dancing. A free lunch will also be served during both the afternoon and evening.

J. R. McLeod, who will occupy the east side of the new building with his line of electric light fixtures and electrical appliances, announces his formal opening at the same time as Jewell & Blaich and extends a cordial invitation to the public to visit his new store.

Building and Loan Associations Gain

Building and loan associations of Michigan increased their resources $13,922,000 during the year closing June 30, bringing the total assets of the 78 associations in the state to $140,721,000, according to figures which have just been received from officers of the Michigan Building and Loan League.

The increase is the largest that the Michigan associations have ever enjoyed in a single year, and though the figures are unofficial, indications are that the official total to be released in the fall from the office of the secretary of state will be even larger. The growth also serves to place Michigan higher among the states in which building and loan is well organized.

The rapid growth of building and loan in Michigan is brought out best in the contrast of this year's report with that of 1923, when the total of resources was $68,765,435.37, less than one-half the present amount. The growth, therefore, has been greater in the last five years than it was in the first 40 years, the first associations having been organized in 1887.

Detroit associations led in total at the close of June, having $30,140,000 of assets. Grand Rapids was second with $24,100,000, Lansing third with $23,150,000, Jackson fourth with $21,300,000, Saginaw fifth with $8,100,000, and Kalamazoo sixth with $6,700,000. Adrian, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Bay City, Hancock, Monroe, Muskegon and Niles all boasted footings of more than one million dollars, Monroe and Muskegon having broken into this circle in the last year.

The Plymouth Home Building Association was organized by local capital and began business in the early part of 1920. Since that date they have never failed to pay dividends of 5% annually.

The association has financed the construction of 79 new homes in Plymouth: the purchase of eight which were already built, and the remodeling or rebuilding of 15 more.

The actual condition of this association as of June 30, 1928, is indicated by their financial statement, which will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Last Tuesday evening about twenty-five prospective Plymouth members of the National Business and Professional Women's club attended a picnic supper at Recreation Park, Ypsilanti, as guests of the Ypsilanti club. The state president and the president of the Ypsilanti club had just returned from the national convention at New Orleans and gave very interesting reports. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

Plymouth Girl to Direct Music in Great City Church

Miss Nellie Beatrice Huger, of Plymouth, is the new director of music of Broadway Temple in New York City. Broadway Temple, when completed will be the most gigantic of all of the sky-scraper churches in America. The building will be thirty-seven stories high and is costing $1,500,000. On top of the structure there will be a lighted cross thirty-four feet high. This will be a beacon to guide the travelers of the air and can be seen thirty-six miles at sea.

A perfectly equipped community center will occupy the four floors under ground. The social hall, seating a thousand people, is now used for musicales, pageants and community entertainments.

Dr. Christian F. Riesner, the pastor, is nationally known as a promoter of great church projects and also as a writer. Services at present are held in Chelsea Methodist church.

Miss Huger will have entire charge of the music of the temple. Her work will consist of building and directing three choirs and an orchestra. It is hoped that one of the finest choirs in America can be developed at the temple. A large part of her time will be the arranging of special programs for the radio service on Sunday evenings and also the giving of private voice lessons.

This is one of the finest opportunities ever given to a young woman. Because few opportunities are given women to direct the music of the larger churches. For the past three years Miss Huger has been the minister of music at Bethlehem Freshyester church in Philadelphia. During that time her work has received recognition in several of the church and music magazines, and also from national church leaders. It was because of the work at Bethlehem church that led Dr. Riesner to seek Miss Huger's services for Broadway Temple.

Miss Huger graduated from the Plymouth High school in the class of 1917. The following year she attended the Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti in the music department. She graduated from the Chicago Training school in 1922 and from the Detroit Institute of Musical Art in 1925. Homer Rodchever and Dr. Daniel Protheroe are numbered among her teachers of conducting.

The morning service of the Methodist church will be in charge of two of the young people, Misses Harry H. and Nellie Huger, who have come out into life service. All of the former friends of these two young women are urged to attend.

SCHRADER BROS. MODEL FUNERAL HOME

WILL OPEN FUNERAL HOME FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION

Schrader Bros. Announce Informal Opening Saturday Afternoon and Evening, July 21.

We take pleasure in presenting here with a half-tone picture of Schrader Brothers' newly remodeled funeral home, which has just been completed. In order that the public may see the improvements that have been made an informal opening will be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, July 21st, to which the public is cordially invited. To the average person who has never had occasion to visit a building of this kind it will be a decided revelation. It is without a attractive appearance. It is of brick construction of the Colonial type of architecture, with a portico supported by large white wood pillars; a wide walk leads from the street flanked on either side by well kept lawns and shrubbery. The main entrance is in the center of the building, opening directly into the business office, which is equipped with a mahogany desk and comfortable chairs. A fireplace in one end of the room lends a most pleasing effect. At the left of the business office is a private office or waiting room splendidly furnished.

The chapel is entered from a door at the right from the business office. This room has a seating capacity for nearly 200 people and is provided with white wicker chairs. The walls and woodwork are done in old ivory. The floor is covered with a mulberry carpet and pongee silk window draperies are used in the chapel as well as in the other rooms of the building. A ventilating system which changes the air every two minutes provides excellent ventilation in the chapel.

At the left of the chapel are the family rooms, which have a seating capacity for one hundred people. These rooms are exquisitely furnished with white wicker chairs, wicker floor lamps, a mulberry carpet, with Oriental rugs, are the floor covering.

Between the family rooms and the slumber chambers is a consultation room for the retirement of the bereaved.

The slumber chambers are fitted up with complete bedroom suites and are the same as would be found in any well-furnished home.

At the rear of the building is the show room and the operating room, the latter being connected with an arway to the large garage at the rear, so that all loading and unloading may be done from within.

On the second floor is located the music room, equipped with a pipe organ. This room has a taupe carpet and other suitable furnishings. The children's show room is located upon this floor as well as the wardrobe room and a rest room.

Through the columns of the Mail Schrader Brothers extend a most cordial invitation to the public to visit this model funeral home on Saturday afternoon and evening, July 21st.

Mrs. T. E. Griffin and son, Lynn, of Alhambra, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brown spent Wednesday at Clear Lake with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Palmer.

Plymouth Canton Wins Regimental Flag

LOCAL DRILL TEAM SCORES HIGHEST IN COMPETITIVE DRILL HELD HERE LAST SUNDAY.

Canton Plymouth No. 17 was host to members of the Cantons of Jackson, Ann Arbor, Albion, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and St. Joseph last Sunday, and a goodly number of representatives from each Canton were present. A splendid dinner was served the visitors in the L. O. O. F. dining room by the proprietors of the Plymouth Cafe in the L. O. O. F. building.

After the dinner hour the Cantons formed ranks and marched to the tourist camp grounds, where a competitive drill was held, in which drill teams of Jackson and Plymouth Cantons competed for the regimental flag. Plymouth was awarded the flag with a total of 90 points, while Jackson was close with a total of 84 points.

The judges were Major Zahn, of Ann Arbor; Captain Rickards, of Detroit; and Major Oscar Mattis, of Plymouth.

The Plymouth drill team was commanded by the following officers: Captain, Ardie Meddough; Lieutenant, Russell Lee; ensign, Floyd Ryder.

The members of the drill team of the local Canton have reason to feel proud of their achievement in winning the regimental flag. It is an honor much coveted by the Cantons of the regiment. They are to be congratulated upon their splendid work.

Auto Accident on Golden Road

LADY MOTORIST IS INJURED SEVERELY LAST FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

A big Buick sedan, owned and driven by Mrs. Jack Russell, of Okla. City, Okla., was completely demolished and Mrs. Russell, the driver, was seriously cut and bruised last Friday late in the afternoon, when the auto skidded and rolled into the ditch just east of the Pere Marquette railroad tracks on the Federal Highway road No. 112, but better known as Golden road. Mrs. Russell, who was alone in the car at the time of the accident, was hurrying to Detroit from Jackson to keep an appointment. A severe rain storm had made the pavement slippery and as the car, traveling at a high rate of speed, struck the railroad crossing it immediately skidded and all control of the machine was lost. Passing motorists picked up the unconscious driver and she was brought to the office of Dr. Peck, where fourteen stitches were required to close the wounds. The auto, which was a total wreck, was towed to the Dodge Sales and Service station on Golden road.

A number of the Plymouth members of Northville Commandery Knights Templar took part in the big parade in Detroit Tuesday. The Northville Commandery assisted others of this district as escorts for visiting commanderies.

PLYMOUTH KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS WILL DEDICATE NEW CASTLE

Local Lodge Has Moved Into Rooms in New Jewell & Blaich Building.

The Public is Invited to Inspect New Lodge Rooms Thursday Evening.

Sudden Death of Mrs. LeRoy Naylor

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD MONDAY AFTERNOON FROM SCHRADER BROS. FUNERAL HOME.

This community was greatly shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. LeRoy Naylor, which occurred last week Thursday evening. Mrs. Naylor has been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time, but on the day of her death has been as well as usual. Early in the evening she went to visit a friend who is ill, and from there went to the office of Dr. R. E. Cooper. While she was sitting in the waiting room she suddenly fell forward from her chair and another patient, who was in the room, quickly summoned the doctor in the next room, but she had passed away almost instantly.

Mrs. Naylor was a lady much beloved by all who knew her and she will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Rosa Goddard Naylor was born in Salem township, October 28, 1864, and died July 12, 1928. She was married to LeRoy Naylor, of Northville township in 1886, moving to Redford township shortly afterwards, where she resided until nine years ago, when she moved to Plymouth.

She leaves to mourn their loss, her husband, LeRoy Naylor; one daughter, Mrs. Edward Stoddard, of Redford; one son, Harvey Naylor, of Plymouth; and three grandchildren. She was a charter member and Past Matron of Victoria Chapter, No. 290, of Redford and a member of the Methodist church of Plymouth.

Funeral services were held from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Monday afternoon, July 16th, Dr. F. A. Lemmrun officiating. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The interment took place in Grand Lawn cemetery, Redford.

RICHWINE-PARROTT

"Wedding Bells" rang last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy K. Parrott, 1158 S. Main street, Plymouth, when their daughter, Mary Irene, was united in marriage to Perry W. Richwine, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Richwine, of this place. The Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Lendrum, pastor of the Plymouth M. E. Church, read the service in the presence of the immediate families of the contracting parties. The bride was attended by her life-long chum, Miss Gladys Hake, of Plymouth, while Richard Lancaster, of Detroit, school-day pal of the bridegroom acted as best man. The bride was gowning in a lovely creation of apple green crepe and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bride's mother wore a gown of blue chiffon, the bridesmaid a pale green crepe frock while the groom's mother wore a dress of orchid georgette. The day chosen for the nuptials was unique in that it was the bride's birthday anniversary and also the anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding guests assembled at the Hotel Mayflower where a delightful dinner was served after which the bridal pair left for an extended motor trip in the groom's new "Plymouth" car, which was the first one delivered in the town whose name it bears.

Mr. and Mrs. Richwine have been life-long residents of Plymouth and both are graduates of the local high school. Mrs. Richwine has been a student at Michigan State College during the past two years while Mr. Richwine was graduated from the Detroit College of Law in 1927. Both are well known to a host of Plymouth friends who join in wishing them the best of the world holds.

They will be at home to their friends after August 1st at their newly built home at 525 Blunk Avenue.

Thursday evening, July 20th, will mark an important epoch in the history of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias, when they will formally dedicate their new lodge rooms in the newly completed Jewell & Blaich block on West Ann Arbor street.

The new lodge rooms occupy the entire upper floor of the building and is one of the largest and most complete Pythian castles in this part of the state. Every convenience that the lodge could wish for has been provided.

L. J. Ball, who has been an active member of the local lodge for a number of years, had a large part in making the suggestions for the ideal plan of arrangement of the lodge rooms, which the owners of the building carried out to meet the requirements of the lodge.

Entrance to the lodge rooms is made through double doors in the center of the building into a hallway, with stairs leading to the rooms on the second floor and the dining room and kitchen in the basement.

At the top of the stairs leading to the second floor is a hallway, at the right of which is a small ticket office. Passing the ticket office one enters a general lobby, which leads into the lodge room proper and the men's lounge room in the northwest corner of the building. This room is large and well ventilated and is provided with a lavatory.

In the southwest corner of the building is the ladies' parlor, with every convenience for comfort that could be desired.

The main lodge room takes up the greater part of the second floor and has a floor space of 38x52 feet. It is provided with an excellent floor and can be used for dancing when desired. The room is provided with a number of windows, which admit plenty of light and ventilation. The walls are done in antique plaster and the large beams between the ceiling gives a very massive effect, which greatly enhances the general appearance of the room. The woodwork is done in ivory and walnut. It is one of the finest lodge rooms in the village.

The dining room, in the basement, is sufficiently large to seat several hundred people at the tables. The kitchen is provided with every convenience to facilitate the serving of meals.

The local Pythians are very proud of their new castle and they have a right to be. To give the public an opportunity to see the new lodge rooms, they are extending a most cordial invitation to the citizens of Plymouth and vicinity to be their guests on the opening night, and there is no doubt but what a very large number will take this occasion to inspect the splendid new Pythian hall. A special invitation has been extended to the Northville lodge to attend.

There will be special music for the occasion and refreshments will be served.

The local lodge of Knights of Pythias has been organized here for many years and has a membership of about 60. The officers of the lodge are: Charles McConnell, chancellor; commander, Russell Bingley, vice-chancellor; Glenn D. Davis, prelate; Charles Thorne, keeper of records and seal; Ed. Bolton, master of works; Jay Winans, M. of A.; George Gebhardt, M. of E.; Harry Gebhardt, inner guard, and O. H. Williams, outer guard.

Jewell & Blaich have received the following plumbing and heating contracts: Residence of W. J. Pasnaki, Howell; First National Bank building, Howell; residence of E. P. Hallock, Detroit, and residence of Allan Horton, Plymouth.

A number of the members of Plymouth Rebekah Lodge No. 182 attended the installation of officers of Washenaw Lodge No. 702, at Ypsilanti last Wednesday. Several of the Past Grand of Plymouth Lodge put on the work. There was a large attendance. A fine luncheon was served and all had a very pleasant time.

Lonely After Release,

Convict Kills Self

New York.—To James Brackett the stone walls of Sing Sing meant home. "I can't stand the loneliness of freedom," he said after he had been released on parole recently. Seventeen years ago Brackett was convicted of murder and sentenced to the death chair. One hour before the time of his execution a reprieve was granted. After fifteen years he was released on parole, but the loneliness preyed on his mind.
"All my pals are up there," he said. "I want to go back."
Brackett was found dead in his bed, the gas jets open. He was buried by Capt. Stanley Shepard, the Salvation army parole officer, who saw to it that his remains did not lie in the Potter's field.

U. S. BREAKS UP GANG OF ALIEN SMUGGLERS

Immigration Inspectors Nab Two Leaders.

Brownsville, Texas.—With the trial conviction and sentencing to jail of Isaac Anram and Juan Samano on charges of smuggling aliens into the United States, it is believed by United States immigration authorities here that the two leaders of a far-reaching band of border lawbreakers have been disposed of temporarily at least. An investigation is now being made to determine whether or not the smuggling organization had ramifications in New York, Europe and the different parts of Mexico. Hundreds of aliens, most of them Greeks and Italians, were clandestinely brought across the Rio Grande by Anram and Samano.
Anram, who is only twenty-six years old, speaks English, Spanish, French, Greek, Italian, German and Turkish fluently and has a smattering of various other tongues and dialects. He has traveled extensively through Europe, Asia, Spanish America and the United States, acquiring his education in this country.

Charge is $100 a head.
According to his story, his grandfather, a Spaniard, settled in Turkey and he was born in that country coming to Mexico several years ago. Some of the languages he acquired as a youth along the Mediterranean, others he studied in universities.
Juan Samano was until recently a magistrate at Reynosa, Mexico. According to Anram's version of the gang's activities, Italians and Greeks were brought across the river, the smugglers charging $100 a head for this service.

Belief that the organized gang of alien smugglers operating from Reynosa had been broken up by the arrest of Samano and Anram was expressed by Brownsville immigration officers, who assert that through the activities of the organization many Greeks and Italians were brought to this side of the Rio Grande. This confession of Anram and the details brought out in stories told by the captured aliens included.

Leader Smuggled In.

American immigration officials had ascertained from several Greeks and Italians, apprehended after they had crossed the river, that Samano was a member of the organization which had its headquarters at Reynosa and had been endeavoring for several weeks to effect his capture. He was finally apprehended at the American customs office at Hidalgo when he crossed to get a moment on an automobile he had purchased.

Anram stated he was smuggled across the river at Reynosa two years ago, Samano aiding him; that he went to New York, where he was employed as a musician, and later came back to the border and became a member of the Reynosa band.

HAPHAZARD DRIVING

THIS is not the story of a man who got drunk and drove his car thru a safety zone filled with people. It concerns a certain other man, of whom folks who know him best speak in highest terms of his conservative judgment and moral uprightness.

Not reckless, but haphazard, this man. So sure is he of his ability to drive safely at all times that he dispenses entirely with car insurance.

Recklessness of other drivers, mental lapses, heedlessness of pedestrians, snow, sleet, rain, fog, icy and oily pavements, dust, poor or glaring headlights, mechanical defects,—really, it's too much to ask this man, or any other person, to combat all these things single handed.

Ask the Auto-Owners Insurance Company to carry the load. They'll do it cheerfully, and at reasonable rates.

Boy Scout Rescues Drowning Man

Joseph Clarke, 28 years old, 12094 Stoupep avenue, Detroit, owes his life to the bravery of Arnold Nordholm, 15-year old Boy Scout of 15475 Weland avenue, and an Eagle Scout whose name could not be ascertained. Clarke was swimming in Phoenix Lake, near Plymouth, Tuesday morning, when he went beyond his depth after a rubber ball with which he and a companion were playing catch. Clarke could not swim. His companion who could swim very little went to Clarke's rescue but was forced to call for help, which was answered by Arnold Nordholm. He first held Clarke's head above the water by the hair of his head, then used an arm hold and swam with Clarke to shore. Resuscitation was given Clarke by the unidentified Eagle Scout.

Nordholm is a member of Boy Scout Troop 220. He has his first class badge. He is a strong swimmer, having learned to swim when 7 years old. He attends the Redford High School.

Will Hold Summer School of Citizenship

Some of the Plymouth League of Women Voters are planning to attend the summer school of citizenship. A citizenship school in which city and rural women meet to discuss together their common interest in pre-election questions will be held again this year at East Lansing by the Michigan League of Women Voters in cooperation with Michigan State college and Farm Women's week. The farm women spend all of the week of July 22nd at the college, the school itself will run from Tuesday to Thursday, July 24th to 26th, and joint sessions will occupy Tuesday evening and all of Wednesday.

The joint conference plan was launched last July with such success that its repetition this year is the result of spontaneous demand from all quarters.

One of the several attractive features of the week will be the informal and inexpensive living arrangements in the college dormitories and women's commons. Limited lodgings are available in the Women's building and Eldon hall, with meals in the commons for a dollar and twenty-five cents a day for board. Inexpensive rooms in East Lansing also are available to take care of larger numbers. The registration fee for the school itself for those not registered in Farm Women's week is one dollar and a half. Advance reservations may be made at state league headquarters, 108 Fulton street, Grand Rapids, from which last-minute program details also may be secured. The program follows:

Tuesday, July 24th.

Afternoon—"Political Parties, Their History and Organization," Professor Jay J. Sherman, of Michigan State college summer faculty; The 1928 Platforms, Republican and Democratic women.

Evening—"Who Makes the Issues?" President Harry M. Crooks, of Alma college; "Farm Legislation," Hon. John C. Ketchum on the Capper-Ketchum Debenture plan; speaker for McNary-Haugen plan to be announced; "Tariff," Hon. Joseph W. Fordney on the Republican theory; Democratic speaker to be announced.

Wednesday, July 25th.

Morning—"Selecting our public servants; short talks by women taking part in the caucuses, county, state and national conventions of both parties; "The Direct Primary," Mrs. Harry Adams.

Afternoon—"Foreign Affairs in an Election Year," speaker to be announced; ten Ingham County league hostesses.

Evening—"Candidates' meeting, for which invitations have been extended to the several candidates for governor, U. S. senator and lieutenant-governor.

Thursday, July 26th.

Morning—"Getting Out the School Vote"—Informal conference on methods.

A CARD—We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to the neighbors and friends and to the M. E. Ladies' Aid for their beautiful flowers; also Rev. Lendrum for his consoling words during our recent bereavement.

LeRoy Naylor, Harvey Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strehling.

Dr. Frank Crane Says. Conversation. Greenville Kleiser, well-known author and writer, gives some good advice about talking. An immense amount of time and energy is constantly wasted, he says, by useless talking. Some of the essentials that he mentions for a good conversationalist are as follows: The first condition of good talking is clear, well-ordered thinking. If your thoughts are in confusion your speech is liable to be non-effective. Talking should not be a verbal or vocal contest, but a mutual exchange of ideas. Monologues are tiresome. Don't give advice. Advice costs nothing and is usually worth what it costs. Don't exaggerate. It is easy to let your desires and feelings overrule your views. Give the impression of understatement rather than overstatement and what you say will have more effect. Keep your voice low. A low voice is not only an excellent thing in a woman, as Shakespeare says, but it is good for anybody. Many people are trying to talk to, because they constantly hawl so loud. They drown out their opponent with sound. Don't tell unduly long stories. Don't make a reputation for being a "strong" man. This will put you in the class of light-weights. Stories are like seasoning or salt. They should be very judiciously intermingled and it is easy to get too many of them. Do not interrupt another. Wait quietly for your turn to speak. Don't relate lengthy personal experiences. A thing may be interesting to you because it is about yourself, but it is usually more-so to other people. Don't be impatient. When you observe that your listener does not wish to be convinced change the subject. Speak clearly. Do not mumble. Conversation is more than idle exercise or ornamental superficiality. Its purpose is to keep the other party amused and interested. It is the wire upon which runs the current of your electric personality. If you don't know how to talk, learn. Devote a certain part of your time to intelligent and diligent practice in the art of small talk. It pays.

The Cook's Lost Letter

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

DONALD SINCLAIR picked up the magazine that had been left in the subway, idly. He had no special interest in it; it had merely been occupying the space where he wished to sit.

Back in his mind, but not in so exaggerated a proportion as to mar his outlook, was the wish that he was going home to a well-regulated household, to a dinner nicely served in their own small dining room instead of one that his sister Jean had had to prepare after her own hard day's work.

Their experience with housekeepers had been unsuccessful. The first had walked out one evening with all of Jean's silk stockings and lingerie.

It was with a very grave delight then that Donald found that the magazine he had picked up so idly contained something that pointed the way to happiness. A letter of recommendation, apparently lost by its owner, was sticking between the pages of the magazine. It read:

"To whom it may concern: This is to state that Gladys Turner has been in my employ as general housekeeper for three years. She is an excellent cook, is strictly honest, neat, clean, and a splendid manager. She is leaving my employ only because my son has fallen in love with her, and made it trying for her with his attentions. She has my highest recommendation."

The letter was signed and the telephone and address of the girl were given.

Donald did not confide in Jean until his plans should be perfected. The outcome was that Gladys Turner called at the office of Sinclair & Co. and was ushered in for an interview with Donald.

"My sister and I are out all day—my sister being the editor of a woman's magazine. I want very much to have you take entire charge of the home, planning meals and everything so that my sister will be entirely free from worry. I will pay you $100 a month, and there is a very dainty room in our apartment for you. We are not in any way difficult people," he added with a rare smile.

Gladys Turner bobbed in her chair and tried to speak easily, but her task was hard. Finally she found her voice.

"I—I have never worked in this way," she confessed. "That letter is part of a story I am writing, but—I am not too well fixed financially, and really am honest and a splendid cook and could manage your household very easily. I have to get my own meals anyway, and pay rent, so if you will give me a chance I will do my best. It will give me much of the day to continue my short-story writing." She looked up at Donald, awaiting his verdict.

"All I ask," she added a trifle wistfully, "is to be left alone to write when I am finished with your work."

"That seems little enough to ask," Donald said out of the maze of his thoughts.

So it happened that an evening later Jean arrived home after a weary day to find a daintily set table, a beautifully cooked meal and a neat girl in spotless apron ready to serve her and her brother in their own dining room.

Donald had sprung many happy surprises on his sister, but this crowned them all.

"Are you quite, quite sure I will not awaken to have to run out and get a few chops, a baker's cake and some vegetables for our dinner?" she questioned Donald.

Gladys reached a splendid contentment in the home of the Sinclairs. She had hours of uninterrupted concentration, Jean helped her with advice and criticism, and her material was finding ready markets.

Donald began to feel aggrieved that he was excluded from the long confabs held between Jean and Gladys. For once in his life he wished he knew a good story from the plume that crowded the magazines.

He frowned darkly, then beamed as suddenly. Since he was responsible for getting Gladys into their home he certainly had a right to share this paldom. He would storm that feminine citadel and demand his rights.

He strode into the hall and pounded on that closed door.

"Well—what's the idea?" asked Jean.

"Nothing, except that I am just darned lonesome. I want to go to the movies and no one will go with me."

Donald was a very much abused man. Jean laughed. "We didn't hear ourselves being invited or even expressing a dislike for movies."

"Well," blurted Donald, "I didn't want Gladys to leave her position for the same reason she left the other." He looked boyishly but very pleadingly at the two women he loved most on earth.

Gladys blushed hotly and Jean shot a swift glance at her brother.

She had known this was coming and hoped for its early settlement, but Donald's way was a bit unusual. She smiled up at him. Her eyes then lingered on the blushing girl.

There was a lovely glow in the girl's eyes as she looked up.

"I have not as yet been annoyed by your attentions," she said softly.

"But look out from now on," laughed Donald as his sister slipped from the room.

IRATE FATHER HALTS ROMANCE OF GYPSIES

Chief Is Nabbed on Charge of Kidnaping.

Albany, N. Y.—A modern day gypsy trail, followed more the less skillfully or relentlessly because it led over paved roads through cities and towns instead of over woodland paths, ended near here in East Greenbush recently when John Demitro, gypsy chief, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Horton, charged with kidnaping thirteen-year-old Rose Thompson, vivacious dark-eyed daughter of Wanda Thompson, gypsy tribal leader of Bridgeport, Conn.

Demitro was arrested at his camp by four state troopers from G troop barracks in Troy and taken to the Rensselaer county jail while a hundred tribesmen, their eyes blazing with wrath, looked on, hesitating to make any openly hostile gesture toward the four troopers.

Rose, who was found in Demitro's roadside camp, was turned over to her father, who had been following the trail of Demitro's band ever since March 1 in the search for his daughter. He took her back with him to the house in which he is temporarily staying here and a few moments later two truckloads of gypsies from Demitro's camp disembarked menacingly in front of the house.

Detectives Avert Violence. Before anything could happen, however, four Albany detectives appeared and ordered the Demitro faction to move on. Their order was reluctantly obeyed and the Thompson followers breathed an evident sigh of relief. Two private detectives guarded them the rest of the night.

The story of the events that preceded the arrest, being concerned entirely with gypsy jealousies and customs, is characteristically confused. From statements made here by Thompson and advices received from Bridgeport, however, it appears that Thompson is the leader of a gypsy band that was quartered in a house in South Main street in Bridgeport last winter while Demitro's band lived in a house on State street.

According to the story received from Bridgeport, Demitro's wife became ill in February and Thompson consented to let his daughter go to Demitro's house to nurse her. Thompson then went to New York to arrange for opening some concessions he owns in Starlight Amusement park, the Bronx. When he returned March 1 Demitro's band was gone and so was Rose. Thompson traced them to North Adams, Mass., over the Lebanon mountains into New York and finally came to Albany and enlisted the aid of Assistant District Attorney David A. Wanger.

Asserts He Bought Girl. Demitro asserted here, however, that in accordance with gypsy custom he had paid Thompson $1,500 for Rose to make her the bride of his fourteen-year-old son, John, Jr., and it was noticed that as she left the Demitro camp Rose cast a lingering look back at a young boy who remained behind in the camp.

"What would you do?" Thompson exclaimed, when asked about the transaction. "I good American citizen. No want gypsy marriage for my girl. Want good American marriage. Take out third papers for citizen. I fight John Demitro but it was not because $1,500 was too little for my Rose. I want the Rose to have good American law marriage."

Demitro is held without bail pending extradition proceedings which are being started in Bridgeport.

RAPPING PRICE-FIXERS.

Nation-wide crop reports indicate that we are not going to hear much this year about "over-production" and that if prices are not up to where producers think they should be, it will not be due to the fact that we have raised too much of something.

Uncle Sam is busy just now in trying to explain that there really is no such thing as "over-production." His agricultural experts contend that "over-production" has too long been used as an alibi by speculators and commission houses for boosting or lowering prices, and always to their own advantage. When every family in the United States has as much to eat and wear as it needs, a modern house to live in, fitted with all conveniences and luxuries, then, and not until then, say the experts, it will be time to think of "over-production." Even then there will be the outside world and new markets to take up the surplus, if it can get the means with which to buy it. As things are, too many are doing without compared with the few who have everything they want. And they're not doing without through choice but through necessity. Helping everybody to supply themselves with the things they would like to have now, and are entitled to, will solve all the problems of so-called "over-production," the experts declare.

We feel that every man in Plymouth who studies the subject will see it in the same light. At least he will see where Uncle Sam's argument is cutting the ground from under the fellows who have been using "over-production" as an alibi for lowering prices in their own favor.

REDUCING DRUDGERY.

No one can overlook the fact that we now have at our command more comforts and conveniences, more labor-saving devices, than former generations enjoyed; but a lot of us haven't been giving the women of this country the credit that is due them for bringing those things to us. A recent government survey shows that one out of every five homes in Nebraska has electricity. That can only mean that these homes enjoy the convenience of electrically operated sweepers, washing machines, water pumps, and that greatest of all modern blessings—the electric light. Since Nebraska isn't much better off in the matter of water power than the average state, it stands to reason that a good many sections are being neglected in the matter of electrical distribution. Water power is, after all, the greatest and most convenient power of all, and from it the rural communities of the nation should be, if they are not now, getting electrical energy for use on the farms and in farm homes. Nebraska has been quick to realize this, and other states should be quick to follow her example.

Go among the housewives of Plymouth and they will tell you of the advantage of having labor-saving devices at hand. In fact, the women of the entire country are a unit in demanding more and more of these conveniences. They see in them the end of back-breaking toil. And it will be a brighter and a happier day for this and every other state when water power—nature's own gift to man—is utilized as it should be to lessen the drudgery of housework.

TOO MANY SIGNS.

Judging from complaints we've heard several Plymouth motorists register, what this country needs now is a uniform system of highway marking. So many and varied means are used in marking the roads of various states that today the motorist is confused, instead of aided. No two states or communities seem to have a uniform system of marking crossings or dangerous curves, grades or narrow bridges. As a result, the motorist is kept so busy trying to figure out the meaning of these different signs that he very often endangers his own life and the lives of any who may be accompanying or approaching him. It should not be a difficult matter for the highway departments of our various states to get together and adopt one system of road marking, and then put it into operation and stick to it. The saving in both time and human life would more than compensate for the cost that would arise from such a move.

THE "MAD DOG" SEASON.

The annual visitation of mad-dog scares is now said to be sweeping various parts of the state, and since Plymouth has its quota of canines, and the surrounding community has as many as it needs or can take care of, it is a good idea for everyone to be on their guard. We have long heard it contended that the best way to prevent rabies in dogs during hot weather is to keep plenty of drinking water conveniently placed where the dog can get a drink any time it wants it. Lack of drinking water, it is said by those in position to know, brings about rabies, a disease from which dogs are suffering when we refer to them as "mad dogs." And their bite, when they have rabies, is quite often fatal. It is an easy matter to keep a pan of water where the dog can get a drink at will, and it may be the means of saving not only the life of someone in the community but the life of the dog as well.

GOOD IN EVERYTHING.

We're commencing to believe there's some good in everything. We see in an exchange a statement from Thomas A. Edison that the much-despised golden-roed, for long years blamed as the source of hay fever, is soon to take its place among our common blessings. Edison says the golden-roed plant has in it the very elements needed for making a perfect substitute for rubber, and he predicts that before many years have passed we'll be depending on the golden-roed plant for our automobile tires. Since the plant is easy to grow, and will flourish in almost any state in the union, it looks as though England's grip on our throat is due to be relaxed. We use about four-fifths of the world's rubber production, but we produce none ourselves. It is easy, therefore, to be an optimist when we read what Mr. Edison has to say. And all of us are sincerely hoping that his idea is put into practical execution at a very early day.

Confirmation Services at St. Peter's Church

The confirmation services at St. Peter's Lutheran church last Sunday were very impressive. The sanctuary was decorated with roses and cut flowers. The class of four young ladies, dressed in white, was seated at the foot of the sanctuary.

After a hymn was sung the services were opened by the pastor in the regular order. Then followed the examination of the class in the doctrines of Holy Scriptures as confessed by the Lutheran church. After another hymn the pastor spoke very kindly to the class, to always remain with God, showing what this means and what blessing it brings.

After the class song, followed the vow of the class and the confirmation. In the evening service the sermon was preached by the Rev. Emil Schultz, brother of our druggist, Walter Schultz.

There were many guests in both services. Rev. Schultz and mother and niece having come from Clinton, La., as also many had come from Lapeer, Pontiac, Mt. Clemens and Detroit. Kenneth Dale, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rohde, was christened last Wednesday evening at the Lutheran parsonage.

George W. Gill Dies at Ypsilanti

FUNERAL WAS HELD TUESDAY AFTERNOON—BURIAL IN CHERRY HILL.

George W. Gill, aged 90, a pioneer resident of Washtenaw county, passed away Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, following several weeks of failing health due to old age. He died at his home, 416 E. Cross street, where he has resided since 1901.

Mr. Gill, son of George and Susannah Tomkinson Gill, was born in Manchester, England, Dec. 16, 1837, and with his parents and a brother and sister, born in England, came to Michigan in 1842. After residing for a short time in Canton township, Wayne county, they located on a farm in Superior township, near Cherry Hill.

January 1, 1862, Mr. Gill was married to Phoebe A. Huston, who passed away December 22, 1885, on the farm where they began housekeeping. To this union were born six children, four of whom survive the father, Mrs. Christine Gill Galpin, this city; C. W. Gill, Ann Arbor; Myra E. Gill, at home; and Joseph E. Gill, Kalamazoo. There are also eight grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Martha Warner, this city, and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Gill conducted a lumber business, having a saw mill, grist mill and roller mill while residing on his farm. He continued the lumber business after coming to Ypsilanti to reside in 1883.

Mr. Gill was for many years an active member of the Grange. He had been a member of Ypsilanti Methodist church for many years.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, with interment in the family lot at Cherry Hill cemetery by the side of his wife. The Ypsilanti Daily Press.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

BY THE MANAGER

The Penniman Avenue pavement was opened to traffic for its entire length Tuesday morning of this week. The improvement of the parking strip back of the curb is being carried on by various property owners with very marked advantage to the appearance of the street.

Plans and specifications were approved by the Commission Monday evening for the paving of North Mill Street from North Main to Starkweather Avenue to a width of 40 feet. Bids are being advertised for to be opened July 30th. Actual construction will probably follow early in August.

Plans have been approved by the Commission for the construction of sanitary sewers in Virginia Park and Marlake Subdivisions. Construction will probably commence sometime during August.

A contract has been awarded to the Corbett Electric Company to install equipment to automatically start the so-called Village booster pump, on North Mill street, when water pressure in the mains is low and shut the pump off when the proper pressure has been restored. This equipment will insure us of more steady water pressure after it is in operation.

Work upon our paving program is progressing very satisfactorily. Ann Arbor, Penniman Avenue East and William street have been excavated, and curb and gutter work on Ann Arbor and Penniman Avenues is nearing completion. With the co-operation of the weather man, the paving program will move forward at a very rapid rate.

Water and sanitary sewer connections are being installed before all vacant property upon streets undergoing paving, cost of same to be assessed against the property in two equal annual installments.

Petitions are being circulated for Dr. E. F. Fisher, of Dearborn, as candidate from the Fifth District of Michigan to the state legislature. The district includes Dearborn, Wayne, Belleville, Plymouth, Taylor and Livonia townships and a portion of Redford.

Nethem Defeated By the Cougars

The above score tells the story of a defeat charged against Nethem. A ball hit in left field lost itself from the player, bringing in three runs, whilst another easy pop was missed, bringing in again three runs, so with such reverses the ball game was bound to tally against the home talent. A donation of six runs is enough for any ball team to win.

Wallace was chosen to open the game at the mound and was replaced in the third by Schultz. The latter pitched a good game, and if properly supported would have turned defeat into victory, but a ball game is a ball game. Pete featured the day with a home run and a two-base hit, whilst Hank Robeski played the field in glib-edge form. The Cougars were not slow in taking advantage of Nethem's lethargy and listless playing.

Next Sunday Nethem plays Kegoa Harbor Merchants at Kegoa Harbor, out Orchard Lake road.

Howell Easy for Merchants Sunday

The Plymouth Merchants defeated the Howell Athletic club Sunday, July 15th, by a score of 14-3. The game was noted for errors on Howell's part and heavy hitting on Plymouth's part. Giles starred both in the field and at bat. He handled nine chances in the field without a slip and also garnered three singles in five times at bat. Millross also starred in the field, and with the assistance of Giles, made several nice double plays.

Strasen caught a nice game behind the plate and also got two nice hits. Cooper, Howell's pitcher, with better support would have held the score considerably lower. Walker pitched a nice game, setting Howell down with three hits.

Rural Housewives Form Honor Club

NEW ORDER OF "MASTER HOME-MAKERS" TO BE LAUNCHED AT M. S. C. DURING FARM WOMEN'S WEEK.

Recognition of the indispensability of the homemakers on the farm will be given by the award of the title "Master Farm Homemaker" to a group of five women during Farm Women's week at Michigan State college, beginning July 23rd.

Michigan "Master Homemakers" will be affiliated with similar groups chosen in 20 other states through the efforts of "The Farmer's Wife," a national publication for farm women.

Any rural homemaker in Michigan was eligible for nomination to the group. The nomination had to be made by five neighbors, and the nominees were rated by a committee chosen by the home economics extension division at Michigan State college.

When mother comes to college for the Farm Women's week she will have opportunity to enjoy splendid instruction in home problems and at the same time an ideal vacation, in the opinion of those who have attended in former years.

A varied program has been arranged for each day. Inspirational hours will be spent on such topics as literature, music, art and science, and the drama. Many delightful social events, including teas, receptions and musical tours, have also been arranged.

Farm Women's week will serve as an adjunct to the annual M. S. C. Farmers' day, which will be held on Friday, July 27th. An opportunity will thus be provided for mother to enjoy a week of pleasure and then for dad and the children to come down on Farmers' day.

W. C. T. U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet, Thursday, July 26, at 2:30 P. M. at the home of Mrs. H. A. Spieer, Ann Arbor Street. Roll call will be answered by giving "The Best Thing I Have Heard About Prohibition."

As this will be Flower Mission Day, members are requested to bring flowers to send to the sick and shut-ins.

The Michigan Union says: "Let us remind you once more that no person can vote who is not registered." Those who must register include:

All voters residing in cities of 5,000 population or over.

All voters in cities or townships of less than 5,000 when so ordered by the local authorities.

All persons who have moved from one voting precinct to another.

All persons who have become of age since the last election.

Here is a new point: Registration closes August 18, but any person whose twenty-first birthday falls between that date and the primary election is counted as a voter and is eligible to registration.

Big Vaudeville Acts at the State Fair

"BIG TIME" VAUDEVILLE WILL BE ONE OF THE FEATURES OF THE ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAM.

Twenty-one well-known acts from "big-time" vaudeville will be featured on the entertainment program at the Michigan State Fair September 2-8, a program never before equaled in the Fair's previous offerings, according to the management.

In the evening, the spectacular fireworks display and Oriental pageant, "A Night in Bagdad" will furnish additional thrills.

At Sweet's band, known to thousands for its snappy and original playing of popular tunes, will furnish the musical accompaniment for the vaudeville program, in addition to special numbers of its own.

The maximum of thrills and amusement for both adults and children will be provided in the program which contains practically three times the number of acts ordinarily presented in the largest vaudeville houses.

Oldsters to Cradle at M. S. C. Farm Day

PIONEER GRAIN HARVESTERS STAGE CONTEST—OTHER FEATURES INCLUDE "HOG CALLING" TEST.

Old-timers in Michigan agriculture, veterans of the days before modern machinery speeded up farm operations, will stage an old-fashioned cradling contest as one of the features of the annual Farmers' day the Michigan State college on Friday, July 27th.

The swish of the cradles will keep time to the less picturesque but much more efficient action of the "combine," newest thing in labor saving farm machinery, which will be demonstrated on the M. S. C. farm at the same time.

Other contests on a long program of special features announced for the day include: A poultry judging contest, a church choir singing event, a dinner calling competition for the ladies, and a rousing "hog calling" number for the leather lungs among the visitors. The last two events will be staged at the afternoon general meeting, when the crowd is gathered to hear Senator Arthur Vandenberg and other speakers on the program.

To See College at Work.

Hundreds of acres of experimental projects of vital interest to Michigan farmers will be inspected during the morning by the Farmers' day visitors. The college livestock and poultry, the forestry tracts, the orchards and even the campus and buildings will all appeal to certain groups of the crowd. The annual Farmers' day is said to be the best time of the year to see M. S. C. at work in agriculture.

Around About Us

Brighton's new Presbyterian church will be dedicated July 22nd.

The taxpayers of the village of Wayne will vote July 25th on a bond issue of $50,000 for a new school building.

Two hundred employees are on the payroll of the Stinson airplane factory at Northville. This is an increase of 100 in the past year.

Harry Mcracken has been appointed supervisor of Farmington township to succeed Isaac Bond, who resigned to fill the vacancy on the county road commission caused by the death of Thomas Lytle.

Pontiac will be host to all of Oakland County the nights of August 1 and 2 when the formal opening of Saginaw street, the Dixie highway through Pontiac, will be celebrated with a mammoth countryside jubilee.

Renewal of street car service between Farmington and Detroit is assured with the ratification of an agreement between the Detroit Department of Street Railways and the Detroit United Railway for the operation of cars.

Open-air church services now take the place of the usual services on Sunday evenings at Farmington, during the months of July and August. They have proved very popular for the past two years, large congregations attending.

It is announced that the Detroit Zoological Park near Royal Oak will be opened some time this month. Heinrich Hagenbock, of the noted German family of animal dealers, is quoted as saying that this will be the finest zoo in the United States when it is fully developed.

According to an official report received from the Graham-Paige Motor Car Company, of which the Wayne Body Plant is a part, all previous records have been broken in the past six months. As seen by the figures from the production department, shipments at the end of June totalled 38,825 which is nearly twice as many as the whole year of 1927.

Future Seaplanes to Be Less Cumbersome

Langley Field, Va.—Seaplanes of the future need not be so cumbersome as those of the past.

This has been established by experts of the national advisory committee for aeronautics in a minute examination of the work actually done by a seaplane's pontoons, which enable it to alight on water, but cut down its speed in the air.

Present specifications for navy seaplanes call for pontoons having a structure sufficiently strong to withstand a shock on landing of 15 pounds to the square inch. Measurements made here with delicate instruments, attached to various points on the floating surface of pontoons in operation, however, show that only seven pounds of pressure is exerted to the square inch, suggesting that their strength can easily be reduced with a material saving in weight and a corresponding improvement in performance and endurance in the air.

AT THE THEATRE

"HAPPINESS AHEAD"

Every so often, the motion picture industry decides that Colleen Moore is definitely established as a specialist in this or that sort of characterization, and just as often she makes an unqualified success in an entirely different field of dramatic work.

For Miss Moore, whose new picture, "Happiness Ahead" is the Pennington Allen Theatre's attraction, Sunday and Monday, July 22 and 23, has always insisted on variety in her portrayals. In the early days of her career she was put in straight leading roles as a sweet unsophisticated country girl. Then she made a sensational success as a flapper in "Flaming Youth" and the industry agreed that she was the ideal flapper type. Next she played a powerfully dramatic characterization in "So Big" amazing everyone with her versatility, and then turned deliberately into comedy-drama, in which she attained new heights of popularity.

Just when most producers and directors decided that she was the ideal Cinderella type, Miss Moore selected "Lilac Time" for her next picture, in which she will be seen as a French peasant girl in a story that is a romantic drama.

Miss Moore appears in still another type of portrayal in "Happiness Ahead," which demands both sprightly comedy and emotional drama. Edmund Lowe plays opposite the star in "Happiness Ahead," others prominent in the cast being Lillian Tashman, Edythe Chapman, Charles Sellon, Arthur Housman and Virginia Sale.

"THE SECRET HOUR"

No doubt about it—Pola Negri has come into her own and fulfilled the expectation of the public in the matter of splendid, interesting pictures.

"The Secret Hour" which has its first showing Thursday, July 26 at the Pennington Allen Theatre, measures up to the extraordinary success of her three preceding vehicles "Hotel Imperial," "Barbed Wire" and "The Woman on Trial."

The new opus is different in theme than the others, being a well sustained love drama with a setting in the orange groves among Americanized Latins of simple tastes and strong, natural emotions.

Pola is sought in marriage by proxy. Jeann Hersholt, an affluent rancher of middle age, is fearful she will not marry him and employs the ruse of having Kenneth Thomson, his handsome young foreman, unwittingly do the courting for him. Thomson does so well that he wins and weds the star. Both of them earn Hersholt's rage but are forgiven in the end.

The star is more fascinating than ever and displays great charm and ability. She has exceptionally strong support in Jean Hersholt, who is a star in his own right, and from Kenneth Thomson who is gaining fame as a leading man.

Rowland V. Lee, who directed Miss Negri in "Barbed Wire" was the man behind the megaphone in "The Secret Hour" having also written the story for the screen.

The picture is excellent entertainment, skillfully handled and alive with romance.

"THE UPLAND RIDER"

A western writer mentioned in a recent magazine "that the present migration of cowboys to Hollywood and pictures, would leave a lot of lonely cows on the range this year." This probably is a trifle exaggerated, but many of the ranges' best riders are coming to the film city to work in pictures. Not only these, but practically all of the rodeo winners find their way to Hollywood so that it is possible to secure the best riders of all fields for picture purposes.

Many of these men are found in Ken Maynard's latest western feature, "The Upland Rider" which comes to the Pennington Allen Theatre on Saturday, July 28. Maynard is a rodeo prize winner—in fact, he won the title as champion trick and stunt rider at a Chicago round up and this in turn won him a position in one of the larger circuses and from then on came the films.

However, the many competent riders now working in pictures, are a decided advantage to the producer and of course the public, who often see dare-devil and splendid horsemanship that is not even eclipsed by the rodeos and roundups.

In "The Upland Rider" especially, the scene of the cross-country race where both riders and mounts are called up to exert every bit of their skill and daring in maintaining the proper pace.

The story is an original by Marion Jackson and deals with two rival horse ranches in the southwest who decide the question as to which has the superior stock by this cross-country race.

Albert Rogell is the director, with Harry J. Brown supervising this Charles R. Rogers production for First National Pictures.

ENJOY AN AUTO NOW DISCOURAGE CRIMINALS MAN IS SELFISH

In big cities hundreds of thousands go for their holiday in automobiles. A philosopher said, "Most of the cars are not paid for. In thousands of cases they represent money that might have meant independence in old age."

The automobiles represent money spent for health, pleasure and time saving NOW. Not one in ten is really independent in old age, nor was he before automobiles came.

Better buy a car, enjoy it, and use the added health and time saved to work for independence. No car, wisely used, ever made a man poor.

Rear-Admiral Bradley A. Fiske offers a suggestion to discourage criminals.

The automobile is the criminal's "getaway." He drives up, robs a store, shoots down objectors, jumps into his automobile and is gone.

Rear-Admiral Fiske suggests that following an automobile hold-up all auto traffic be stopped in city streets.

"I suggest that the police sound three or four whistles, all policemen bearing it to pass it along. Traffic would stop, cars would be searched. Any man ignoring the signal would be identified as a criminal."

On warships, says Admiral Fiske when men get out of control the bugler sounds "Attention." Every man then stands where he is, or proves himself mutinous.

Bolshevism gave peasants the land, taking it from worthless nobles. That suited the peasants.

Then Bolshevism told the peasants how much they might charge for their crops, how much they must bring to the cities, etc. That did NOT suit the peasants. They cut down wheat acreage, causing dangerous shortage, and Russia is looking everywhere for cash wheat, with immediate delivery, and ships to carry it.

You cannot safely interfere with man's most important mainspring, which is SELFISHNESS.

In this country we have one automobile for every five people. Every body could ride at the same time. Abyssinia, with the fewest automobiles, has one car for every 91,743 people.

The 1,900,000,000 human beings on earth have 29,700,000 automobiles, 24,000,000 of them in the United States. We certainly are prosperous.

Today's Reflections

A lot of Plymouth women folks look funny in the outfits they wear to be in style; but, thank goodness, few of them look as freakish as the pictures in the color plates of the fashion magazines.

The wife who serves her husband cold meals has to expect hot words from him.

If a man succeeds his wife knows it is because of her help, but if he fails she knows her skirts are clear and he has only himself to blame.

Why is it that when a Plymouth man wins a $10 bet he tells everybody but his wife that he was betting a hundred?

Many new inventions are needed, and one of them is a pipe that won't make a man's breath smell like a fertilizer factory when he is through smoking.

Another thing about driving in the old days, you didn't have to worry if the other fellow decided to cross a narrow bridge at the same time you started across.

Whenever we hear of any couple around Plymouth bring together 20 years without quarrelling we wonder how the husband kept his mouth shut that long.

Contestants in New York's big dance marathon are glad it's all over, as they've got the time to go to dances now!

No careful reader of the big city newspapers can help concluding that Cupid has swapped his arrow for a revolver.

The born optimist is the man with a cigar lighter who turns down the offer of a big box of matches.

A shoemaker's success may depend upon his stick to his last, but sticking to the first is a sign of successful marriage.

This is the season when a good many bridal couples start on their honeymoon in love and come back in debt.

Don't you hate to start giving a Plymouth man a lot of good information and have to praise a dozen times to hear him say "Don't I know it?"

A fool and his money wouldn't be parted so often if there was a law against trying to get something for nothing.

The only complaint the average Plymouth man has with his salary is there's only one way to earn it but a hundred ways to spend it.

Boys continue to be boys. A Californian 101 years old has just been fined for speeding.

Any time you want to try something difficult, try to locate two men who both interpret a political platform the same way.

This is a good year for weeds and even the Plymouth man who "knows his onions" has a hard time locating them.

Some women have a knack of making a fool out of a man and then are smart enough to work him off onto some other woman for keeps.

These Illinois prisoners who made a dash for liberty on the Fourth of July seem to have carried patriotism a bit too far.

In Panama moving pictures that are regarded unsuitable for children are so advertised. Human nature being what it is, Panama theatres probably have their biggest crowds on the nights when these are shown.

Miss Polly Turns Matchmaker

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

FEW residents of South Haven got a more genuine insight into the goings-on of the young generation than Miss Polly, the librarian. For example, who but Miss Polly knew that Candace Stone and Arthur Morton were spending priceless moments conversing in the stock room while Candace's unreasonable father was forbidding Arthur the house because the elder Morton had beaten him in a business deal.

And, but for Miss Polly, how would the affairs of Candace's Cousin Rosemary have turned out? Rosemary Winters was a girl so pretty that you wanted to turn for another look at her and she was in great danger of being spoiled by too much masculine attention too early in life.

Miss Polly had led Rosemary from nursery classics for little tots to Adam Bede and had come to feel for her a certain vicarious motherliness. Therefore it was with a distinct shock that she met Rosemary one afternoon with a book under her arm from the circulating library in the drug store. A book with a particularly lurid reputation.

Two days later from her desk beside the window, Miss Polly saw Rosemary sauntering by with a young stranger older by a dozen years than the girl at his side.

And because of that vicarious motherhood which Miss Polly had been secretly nudging to herself where Rosemary was concerned, she began to search for some means by which the girl's interest might be turned from this unimpressing newcomer to some line of less evil age. Like—well, why not? Like clean, healthy, free-living Jimmie Armstrong with whom Rosemary had played marbles. But Miss Polly was subtle about it. For a time it was merely, "Why, no, Rosemary, I don't believe you can have that particular book, I'm saving it for Jimmie."

Or, "Sorry, Jim, but if I let you take that magazine Rosemary Winters is sure to come in for it this very afternoon."

But after a month of dreading in each other's names, Miss Polly decided that more drastic action was necessary. Rosemary was still frequently to be seen in the company of the objectionable stranger.

On one such occasion, fortune favored Miss Polly by sending Jim into the library just after the pair had passed.

"Who is that young man with my lovely Rosemary, Jim? Don't like his looks, somehow."

Jim's eyes widened. "Why, I just passed them. But is that fellow really chasing Rosemary? He's no good, Miss Polly."

Miss Polly saw that he continued to frown as he ran through several books abstractedly and so pleased was she with the effect on Jim of Rosemary's attraction for somebody else that she decided to draw on her imagination and try something similar on Rosemary.

"Who," she inquired casually on her next encounter with the girl, "is that filthy thing trying to make up to nice Jimmie Armstrong?"

Rosemary looked blank. "I can't imagine," she said truthfully. "Jim is a regular old stick-in-the-mud and girls are concerned. Why, he wouldn't know there was a girl around if she fell in his lap!"

Miss Polly shrugged her thin shoulders. "I guess maybe that was in the past, Rosemary," she said.

Then she noticed that in the book that Rosemary was returning was a letter and that Rosemary, her mind intent on something else, had evidently overlooked it.

Miss Polly checked off the book on her slip and then glanced at the superscription of the letter:

"Mr. Harold Potter
96 Webster Street
Brownsville."

A thick, bulky letter. Was Rosemary playing with fire?

She did not return the letter but thought about it all the afternoon. And that evening she telephoned to Jimmie Armstrong.

"I found a letter of Rosemary's in a book she was returning. It was stamped, but as there is a chance she may have changed her mind about sending it, I wonder if you would be willing to drop around and take it over to her? If she has changed her mind, you will see why I don't want to drop it in the box when I tell you that I took it to the person we were speaking of the other day!"

Encouraged by Jimmie's eager response, Miss Polly returned to her chair. "Well," she sighed, "I've sent a mortal car. do. I've sent a nice young man to a pretty girl's house. I've given them each the idea that the other needs saving from somebody."

But not until some weeks later, when Rosemary and Jim came into the library together on a telltale quest, did Miss Polly learn just how successful she had been.

"I'd like something on raising chickens," said Jim boldly.

Rosemary was more bashful. "And I want a book, Miss Polly," she said hesitatingly, her cheeks mantled with a lovely flush, "on—well, on the etiquette of small weddings in the home."

YOUR CHILDREN

Did they pass their examinations in school, and did they advance with the rest of the class? Or were they one of the unfortunate ones, that must go back into the same class again this year, because they were unable to make a passing mark? Don't blame the teacher because your children did not learn like your neighbors'. Remember, the teacher is going to pass your children whenever it is advisable to do so, providing they are capable of doing the work. The rating of the teacher is partly determined by the number of students that pass. Just stop and check up on your children: were they physically and mentally able to do the work? Your children are not at fault because of this condition; don't blame them for this or that which may have happened. But look for the cause of the trouble. I will tell you where it is located—it is in the spine. If you would have your children examined by your local CHIROPRACTOR with the aid of the NEUROCALOMETER, he would be able to locate the cause of their trouble, and Chiropractic Adjustments remove the cause. This trouble is caused from a pressure upon the nerves, which shuts off the supply to the effected parts. By removing the pressure upon the effected nerves they are able to function 100%, which means Health. Get the advice of your CHIROPRACTOR on your condition—he will tell you if CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS will help your case. Take Chiropractic Adjustments FIRST, not last, as it will save you time, suffering and money.

De-Ho-Co Triumphs Over Orion Sunday

Last Sunday, July 15th, De-Ho-Co defeated Orion, at Orion, 6 to 5. Harry German, De-Ho-Co hurler, had the Orion boys well in hand until the ninth, when he was forced to give way to Constitution to save the game.

Six errors on Orion's side, a three base chout by Pankratz and a home run by Jaska contributed to the Lake Dwellers' downfall. Orion fallers in the Inter-County circuit, came within an ace of taking the game away from the De-Ho-Coites.

Next Sunday, July 22, Pontiac will be the attraction at De-Ho-Co Park and it is expected they will put up a stiff game in retaliation for their defeat at Pontiac, by the De-Ho-Co team, a month ago.

Patsy's Last Assignment

By JANE OSBORN

IT WAS at one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon that the managing editor of the Star-Post told Patsy Pope to "go after" Walton Hunt. At eleven o'clock Thursday evening Patsy Pope was peering up and down under the shadows of the linden trees that lined the driveway into the old Hunt mansion—still "going after" the heroic Walton.

During the time that had intervened Patsy had caught exactly five glimpses of Walton, once all surrounded by a group of friends and relatives at the station, later as he entered the elevator of the Bristol hotel, once the sight of his hat rising above the heads of the mayor and his reception committee, once through the window of the limousine when the taxi she had hired to trail him drew alongside at a traffic halt, and once as he was hurried along by sisters and a brother up the avenue of linden trees into his old home.

And all the time Patsy had eaten exactly two ham sandwiches, one soda cracker, four cups of coffee, and had sucked a lollipop offered to her by the young man who was trying to get a "story" for the Record. They had shared the same divan in the Bristol hotel on Wednesday night until the hotel clerk had none too politely asked them to get out. And unless Patsy had dozed a little as she sat with the young reporter on the divan she had had no sleep. For a time there had been quite a number of reporters, though she was the only girl among them, but one by one they had fallen off. But Patsy had remained on her job, and here she was dragging one small foot after another out under the linden trees that led to the house where Walton was supposedly slumbering.

The facts of the case had, of course, all been duly splurged on the first pages of the Star-Post and the other papers, but no one had been able to get a single line of personal comment from the much-lauded young man. There had been a coal mine cave-in in the northern part of the state. Twelve miners had been buried alive. Patsy was so drowsy that she could not recall the details—only somehow this young Walton whose family fortune had been made from the mines had hit upon a scheme of rescuing the men—a bold, hazardous, crazy scheme that offered one chance out of a thousand of failure. And to give the scheme a test some one had to make a descent and do something that might bring liberation to the entombed miners—and that almost certainly would bring destruction to the one that did it. And he did it.

Patsy Pope was rehearsing to herself the leading remarks she would make in case by any miracle she should encounter the young hero. She would have to trick him into some sort of personal comment. But Patsy reflected that a girl who had been without sleep as long as she had couldn't expect to get very far. No telling when he might appear—at least she could powder her nose a little. She leaned up against one of the linden trees and opened her bag—tried to get the little vanity case. But the bag seemed incredibly heavy and she couldn't make her fingers lay hold of the vanity case.

Then Patsy was just dully conscious of the fact that the gravel on the driveway was very rough. If she only had a pillow it wouldn't be so bad—and then it didn't even seem to matter about the pillow.

When it occurred to Patsy that she might try to open her eyes and see where she was she decided not to make the effort.

"I'm sorry to disturb you" said the young man who appeared to be lifting her. "I thought perhaps you had fainted. I came out for a bit of a stroll—and found you in the driveway."

"Are you Mr. Walton Hunt?" asked Patsy, trying to get her bearings.

"Why yes," he said. "And perhaps you had better tell me who you are. We might go up to the house while I telephone to your people."

Inside the house Walton had a hurried conversation with one of his sisters. "I could drive her back to her home tonight," he suggested.

"You could," said his sister, "but the poor girl seems terribly exhausted. I am sure she is a thoroughly nice sort of girl. I think we had better give her something to eat and then let her stay here for the night. In the morning she'll probably be able to explain how she happened to be lying there in the driveway."

Two weeks later Patsy had a "call-down" from the city editor.

"What's come over you, anyway, young lady?" he asked. "Ever since that time you went after that Walton Hunt you've been loafing. You were gone two days then and came in without a line. I'd fire you right now if I didn't think you'd snap out of this—and get your old kick back again. And what's this I hear about you being seen having tea at the Bristol the other afternoon with this Walton bird?"

Patsy shrugged her shoulders and pursed her lips.

"If that's the way you feel about it," threatened the city editor, "perhaps I'd better let you go."

"Thank you," said Patsy, "that saves me the trouble of resigning. You see—Mr. Walton Hunt and I are planning to be married next week."

Friend: "And what is that?"

Author: "About 200 editors."

Achilles: "What year?"

SELLERS OF BLOOD SEEK TO UNIONIZE

"Bleeders" Want to Raise Scale of Rates.

BERLIN.—Continuation in the sale of human blood has become so large in Vienna that the price has dropped to 50 Austrian shillings a liter.

This blood is used in blood transfusions. These have become so common in medical practice in that city that a regular trade has developed and quite a number of people live solely from the sale of their blood.

Many of them have been bled 12 to 14 times; the record is 16 times.

The leading clinic is the distribution center of the "bleeders"; from there they are sent to the various hospitals as needed.

The "bleeding" trade is, of course, the last refuge of the impoverished. After about 14 bleedings, however, they find themselves "without blood and without money," and the constant bleeding has made them incapable of heavy manual labor for life.

The names of the patients whose lives are often saved by the blood transfusions are kept secret from the "bleeders" in order to prevent later money requests. Personal gratitude is therefore unable to help them.

Recently the "bleeders" tried to organize a union in order to raise the price of their blood, but the effort failed and the "bleeders" trade is therefore still run on the open shop principle.

Sunlight Bath's Aid English Mine Workers

LONDON.—By taking a holiday in Switzerland and sitting in the sun five pit-boys from the mines of Mansfield have demonstrated the value of light baths for men and boys who work underground. A report of the committee which has been testing the usefulness of light in industrial hygiene has just been published.

Following the Swiss experiment with sunlight baths, a clinic was opened and 50 volunteers from the mines, fourteen to seventeen years old, have been given ultraviolet light baths several times a week for three months. At the end of the time the boys had gained in weight an average of more than four pounds. Boys of the same ages who did not get the light baths gained a little over two and a half pounds during the same three months. The boys who had the light baths gained in height more than the boys who did not.

The clinic will be continued, and the committee report recommends that wherever pithead baths are installed light baths should be established with them. The report warns, however, that artificial light baths should be given only under medical supervision.

How to Measure Fish! Who'll Say; Who'll Say?

OLYMPIA, Wash.—How to find the length of fish is now one of the world's puzzles, so after University of Washington sages failed to agree over the method Judge Chester A. Bachelor was left to decide.

Prof. E. Victor Smith declared that since the state game law does not specify, the proper way is to measure them from tip of head to tip of tail. Now comes Dean John Cobb of the college of fisheries: "The proper measurement of a fish is from the point of 'V' in the tail to the end of lower lip." Judge Bachelor in his decision will decide if Roy Jensen was justly accused of selling fish under the legal length.

Oldest House in Paris Is Occupied by Laundry

PARIS.—Seven centuries have passed and kings, emperors, wars and revolutions have come and gone, but the oldest house in Paris is doing business at the old stand.

It is a laundry, now in the center of the city, close to the Cathedral of Notre Dame. The laundry isn't that old, but the owner says the pedigree of the building goes back to Louis IX. The date of the house, 1240, is proudly displayed on a stone set in the street wall, and the laundry's sign is "At the oldest house in Paris."

Tunnel Tolls in Seven Months, $2,401,980

NEW YORK.—Exceeding even the most optimistic expectations, the Holland tunnel in the first seven months of its operation has produced toll receipts of $2,401,980.70. Total expenses, including amortization of $48,000,000 in bonds, has been estimated at $10,500 a day. The average daily return so far has been $11,305.50.

The New York-New Jersey Tunnel commission believes the tunnel will have paid for itself in ten years. At the time it was projected, engineers estimated not more than 5,372,000 vehicles would use the tube the first year. In the first seven months, ending June 11, 4,334,295 vehicles passed through the tunnel.

Snake Expert Gets Some Odd Specimens

Makes Study of Some of Deadliest Reptiles.

New York.—Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of reptiles at the Bronx zoo, returned to New York recently after some weeks at Tela, Honduras, where he studied the bites, fangs, and poisons of some of the deadliest snakes in the Americas. He brought back stories of extracting poison from living barba amarillas, or yellow-bellies, and tropical rattlers; of expeditions made through territories infested with howling monkeys, manatees, crocodiles, and reptiles of all sorts; and of taking moving pictures of the noxious jungle life.

He also heralded the approach of the steamer Tivives, which is due in New York in a few days. In the hold of this ship are two large yellow-bellies, two tropical rattlesnakes, two coral snakes, several harmless "imitators" of coral snakes, vine snakes, five green whip snakes, eight or ten giant toads, and some tree toads that sound like riveting machines.

Whipsnake is Curious.
All the reptiles were alive when Doctor Ditmars supervised their removal to the ship at Tela. He himself went from Tela to Florida and traveled north from Miami by automobile, studying wild life of the seaboard while en route.

The strange specimens he is bringing to New York in the Tivives will go to make the reptile house at the Bronx zoo bigger and better. Of all these reptiles the whipsnake is, perhaps, the most curious. Doctor Ditmars said. It is seven feet long, and less than a finger's breadth in diameter. The vine snake, he said, is mildly poisonous, while the giant toad—ten inches from stem to stern—exudes a noxious saliva that acts like a local anesthetic on whosoever is bitten. Doctor Ditmars said he got some of this poison on his finger. He put his finger in his mouth, and his tongue was benumbed for some time.

The reptile that is an imitation of the coral snake, according to Doctor Ditmars, plays upon its appearance to make a living. It is nonpoisonous and slightly larger than the coral snake, but otherwise it is a "dead ringer" for its smaller cousin. It will wriggle up to a coral snake, make friends with it, and then proceed to strangle and devour it. Such an action may be unscrupulous, according to Doctor Ditmars, but it keeps the imitation content from the standpoint of sustenance.

What interested Doctor Ditmars above all was the yellow-headed. "We had some unusual and exciting experience," he said, "and we also learned some truly astonishing things. We saw snakes so deadly that a man goes blind a few minutes after being bitten. Even the bite of an infant of one of these reptiles—say, one a few days old—will cause death.

It is rare for the yellow-headed to give birth to a litter as low as five. Usually a litter consists of seventy-five. The barba amarilla is so called because of its bright yellow chin and throat. It grows to a length of eight feet. Doctor Ditmars captured eight yellow-headed on a banana plantation.

Of the tropical rattler, Doctor Ditmars said it was more deadly than its United States relative. It ejects an almost colorless poison that will paralyze the neck muscles of its victim in a few minutes. Doctor Ditmars saw many of these rattlers in pits.

Doctor Ditmars told of the diabanadore, a snake that is larger than the yellow-headed, which leaps at its victim and strikes him about the knee. He said he hadn't seen a diabanadore himself, but that Dr. William H. Walker had.

While in Honduras Doctor Ditmars took 5,000 feet of film, thus completing his moving picture study of poisonous snakes and serpens. He told of motoring through eighteen miles of jungle in ten hours to a lagoon filled with manatees and crocodiles. Monkeys howled at the automobiles. The roads were so bad that the occupants of the cars were afraid to move forward in the dark without first exploring the way on foot with coats, shirts, or trousers soaked in gasoline for fares. One automobile hit a stump, and had to be abandoned and the other repaired.

Laziness Called Reason for Mechanical Progress

Oxford, England.—Lecturing to the Universities congress, Professor Bur-stall, of Birmingham university, told his hearers that "science is going to put into our hands the possibility of a heaven on earth.

"The only limits to what we can do lie within ourselves," he said, "but I venture to think that unless the human being makes up his mind which way he wants to go this science, in stead of being a blessing will be a curse.

"Science is cutting down the hours of labor. The work of the future will be done in the most comfortable conditions for about five hours each day. Laziness is the reason for all the mechanical developments. The human frame as we see it today is incapable of any serious labor."

Multiplication

Wolcott, N. Y.—Here's a way to multiply 11 so it becomes 34. Frank Green has 11 ewes. One had triplets. The others had twins. The flock's increase was in two months.

Publisher: "I guess it's poor circulation."

At a luncheon for Senator Curtis held at East Providence, R. I., the oratory took up exactly 95 seconds. And yet there was probably as much said as is usually said at political luncheons.

TELEPHONE CONNECTION WITH SWITZERLAND.

The Alps and the Rockies may be on speaking terms after Wednesday morning, July 18, when transatlantic telephone connections for subscribers on this continent will be extended to all of Switzerland, Swiss cities, including Geneva, mother city of the Red Cross, and of the League of Nations, will be connected via Paris to London and the transatlantic radio link, by means of an 800 mile, 4-wire telephone circuit newly established.

The rate for a call from Michigan to any point in Switzerland will be $52.50 for the first three minutes and $17.50 for each additional minute. The hours of service will include the period from 5:30 A. M. to 9:00 P. M., Eastern time, which corresponds to 11:30 A. M. to 3:00 A. M. in Switzerland.

Switzerland, with a population of nearly four million people and a telephone development of 225,000 instruments, is the ninth European nation to be connected by telephone with this side of the Atlantic. This latest extension includes many popular vacation resorts, such as St. Moritz, Zermatt, Montreux, Lugano, Lucerne and Interlaken, as well as the Swiss Capital, Bern, and prominent commercial centers, such as Zurich.

Picked Up About Town

"Next to a pretty face and form," says Dad Plymouth, "the most attractive thing a girl can have is a rich father."

Christmas comes but once a year, but it sometimes looks as though a few of us have to play Santa Claus the other 364.

Dad Plymouth says he can get a lot of amusement listening to a crowd of the younger generation singing "Yield Not to Temptation."

We have always suspected that the fellow who invented the straight-jacket also invented the derby hat.

Dad Plymouth declares that getting elected president couldn't make some men as important as getting into a place where they can wear a badge with the words "Reception Committee" on it.

It looks like growing old is sorrow enough, without having Dame Nature rub it in by providing double-chins and baldness.

"The happiest women in the world," asserts Dad Plymouth, "are those to whom the question of alimony and the custody of the children never has to be answered."

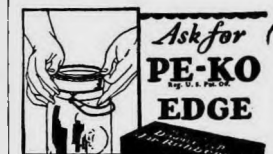

Johnny Kitzane, former world's featherweight boxing champion, has gone into politics. He's evidently tired of the gentle arts.

Young men in Rome have been forbidden from serenading girls at windows or balconies. This edict will probably be best appreciated by Italian music lovers.
