SEVERAL GATHERINGS OF FAMILIES HAVE TAKEN PLACE IN THIS VICINITY DURING PAST WEEK.

MAYNARD REUNION.

The fourth annual reunion of the Joseph and Sarah E. Maynard family was held at Davisburg park, Oakland county, on Sunday, August 19th.

A pot-luck dinner was served at noon to about 150 guests, who were present from Davisburg, Flint, Detroit, Fowlerville, Cleveland, Stark, Wayne and Plymouth.

The meeting was held early in the afternoon. Mrs. Nellie McDonald was appointed president to succeed Mrs. Rose Sieting; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson, secretary, to succeed Mrs. Louise Johnson and Mrs. Nettie Egloff; after which there were dialogues by the Hutchinson children. Music was furnished by the I. O. O. F. Triple Link lodge of Detroit, which was enjoyed by all.

All departed at a late hour, hoping to be present at the next reunion, which will be held in August, 1929, at the same place.

FREEMAN REUNION

The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the late Augustus Freeman gathered last Sunday at the home of Charles Freeman, Frain's Lake, for a reunion. After a bounteous picnic dinner a business meeting was held, and it was decided to make the reunion an annual affair, to meet the second Sunday in August each year. The following officers were elected:

MAYER FAMILY REUNION.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lehr, of Pittsfield township, were host and hostess Sunday at their home to 106 members of the Mayer family who gathered for their fourth annual reunion.

A pot-luck dinner was served and the afternoon was devoted to sports. Games, contests, races, quilts and a baseball game were played, with suitable prizes awarded to the winner of each contest. The small children received much enjoyment from a fishing pond. Members of the family were entertained with a musical program by L. W. Parks' orchestra from Detroit, which plays over radio station WJW. Mr. Parks was assisted by Milton Seyler, also of Detroit.

At a business session officers were chosen for the coming year. Clyde Rorabacher, of Plymouth, will replace Mrs. George Schiller, of Packard street, as president, and Mrs. Clyde Rorabacher will take the place of Bert Giddings, of Plymouth, as secretary. Whitmore Lake was chosen as the site of the 1929 reunion.

Plymouth Schools Open Tuesday, September 4th

The time for the opening of school is rapidly approaching and parents and pupils are beginning to number the days before another year's routine begins. The opportunity for an all-around development is abundant in every modern school.

Along with the purely academic work is training in Music, Drawing, Home Economics, Manual Training, Business Training and Physical Training. In the later elementary and high school are many clubs such as Band, Orchestra, Glee Club, Vocational Clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Girl Reserves, Torch and H. Y., all designed to develop teamwork along with specific training of each organization.

The community of Plymouth has always been most liberal in supplying educational opportunity and each succeeding year garners a large return in having a remarkably law-abiding, beauty-loving, industrially efficient, happy and devout citizenry.

No community can long enjoy success unless each succeeding generation uses completely the opportunity provided for them by each immediately preceding generation; and for that reason we urge each boy and girl to find their place in some school this fall. If you are to be ready to meet the challenges of life you must be prepared.

The teachers will all be happy to see you when you return Tuesday, September 4th. Will you be present?

Washtenaw County Fair Opens August 28

NEIGHBORING COUNTY FAIR PROMISES TO BE BEST EVER HELD IN ANN ARBOR.

Preparations for the Washtenaw County Fair which will open August 28th and will continue August 29, 30, 31 and September 1, are about completed, and the exhibition promises to be the best one ever held in our neighboring county.

In addition to the regular premiums offered in every department of the Washtenaw County Fair there are many special premiums being offered this year, making the contest for honors very interesting. The banks of the county have contributed a total of $300.00 for livestock sweepstakes, the sum being divided as follows: Horses, $45.00; cattle, $110.00; sheep, $70.00; and hogs, $75.00. There are also special premiums being offered by the American Jersey Cattle Club, the American Guernsey Cattle Club, the American Poland China Record Association, Chester White Record Association, American Shorthorn Breeder's Association and many others. In addition to these special premiums every township in the county offers special cash prizes for products of the farm grown by any resident of the township.

The new horticultural building will have a wonderful exhibit this year, it is believed, and all who have fruit and flowers are urged to make an exhibit so the new structure can be filled to overflowing. It is a handsome and commodious building and the exhibit there will be one of the most interesting and attractive on the grounds.

Tuesday will be children's day when children under 15 years of age and boy and girl club members will be admitted to the grounds free. Wednesday will be judging day and fair visitors interested in this feature of the fair are invited to witness the same. Ringside seats will be provided on the west side of the midway, where a new judging ring has been constructed. Thursday will be known as homecoming day and it is expected the crowds will be great from early morning until late at night.

Friday has been designated as merchants and clubs day and one of the special attractions will be a musical contest. Saturday will be the last and closing day. Each afternoon and evening there will be special free attractions in front of the grand stand and each night there will be a gorgeous display of fireworks.

The midway gives promise of being specially attractive this year with its numerous amusement features. Those who desire to dance may do so, a fine dancing pavilion having been provided. On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday there will be horse racing, two events being provided for each afternoon. The Upton-Whiteside Troupe will present feature acts aided by two funny clowns and the comical crazy car will make you laugh whether you want to or not. You have never seen a real car until you have witnessed the leaping straight four perform. Then there are the Ten Klutas in feats of juggling, contortion and acrobatics.

The fireworks each night give promise of eclipsing anything ever attempted in the county, the two special features being the eruption of Mount Vesuvius and The Storm.

A BUSINESS CHANGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Snyder, who have conducted the Bluebird Sandwich Shoppe here for some little time, have held the business to Louis Gardner, of Pontiac, who took possession Monday. Mr. Gardner has had 16 years' experience in the hotel business.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder have moved to Pontiac, where they will make their future home. During their residence here they have made many friends, who will regret their removal from the village.

TRAVIS-ROWLAND.

The marriage of Russell J. Travis, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Travis, of Canton Center road, and Miss Letha M. Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland, of Waterford, was solemnized at the First Presbyterian church, Plymouth, on Saturday, August 18, at 6 p. m. o'clock. The beautiful service of the church was read by Rev. Walter Nichol and the contracting parties took their vows, attended by Miss Zetta A. Travis, sister of the groom, and Joseph F. Rowland, brother of the bride. When the ceremony was over the happy young couple set forth, amid the felicitations of numerous friends, on a brief honeymoon, after which they will make their home in Plymouth.

PATCHIN SCHOOL HELD REUNION

MANY FORMER PUPILS GATHER AT SCHOOL BUILDING LAST SATURDAY FOR ANNUAL REUNION.

About sixty were in attendance at the Patchin school reunion Saturday afternoon, August 18. Twenty-four of the earlier arrivals sat down to a pot-luck dinner under the maple trees. Visiting filled the time till Fred Geney, president of the association, called to order in the upper school room. A patriotic program was given, varied by other selections. Much credit is due to William Smith and James Norris for their fine readings. Officers were re-elected and plans made to hold the reunion again next year on the Saturday nearest the 15th of August.

A movement which was started last year to honor the soldiers of the Civil War and of the later wars who went from this school district is still in the hands of the committee, because the list of names is incomplete. A collection was taken, making over $25 in the treasury.

ARBOR DAYS NEAR

Arbor Day is observed in many states early in the fall. It is growing in popularity and special days for its observance are now officially appointed in nearly every state by the governor or some other state official. There should be exercises in every school—exercises accompanied by the planting of one or more trees by every class, and we would profit much if every school pupil in Plymouth and surrounding community would plant a tree this year. The American Tree Association, of Washington City, will send you a tree program for a stamp. Where there is opportunity to do so whole schools should participate in planting quantities of trees on suitable areas. In fact, such tree planting exercises should not be confined to schools alone. Local and state organizations have no better activities than the planting of memorial trees along the highways, city streets, or a special plot of ground picked out for that special purpose. We can't have too many trees.

ISN'T IT FUNNY?

Isn't it funny that a man who thinks he is a business man will get up in the morning—from an advertised mattress, shave with an advertised safety razor, with advertised soap, and put on advertised underwear, advertised hose, shirt, collar, tie and shoes, seat himself at the table and eat advertised breakfast food, drink advertised coffee, put on an advertised hat, light an advertised cigar, and then go to his place of business and turn down advertising on the ground that it doesn't pay? Isn't it funny that if he goes to buy a cake of soap, or his wife tells him to bring home a can of baking powder there are but about two names of these articles he can think of, and he learned these only through reading advertisements? It is funny, and yet it is pathetic. It's pathetic to think a man can do all these things and then be stubborn enough to argue that advertising doesn't pay.

SCHOOL DAYS

The long vacation, a hot but happy one, is about over for school children, and Plymouth mothers are engaged in getting their little charges ready for another battle with their books. Dresses and suits and shoes are being looked after so that there can be no possible all-but tardiness when the school bell again peals forth. Teachers throughout the community, too, are running over their text-books and polishing up a little here and there—the reopening of school is a big time in their lives the same as it is in the lives of their pupils.

We are proud of the schools in this community, and we hope every taxpayer feels the same way about them. There are two things in the community we cannot afford to neglect—churches and schools. The better they are, the more progressive and widespread their interest and influence the better will be everything else in our community life. We can rise no higher than our churches and schools; the community of the future can be no better than the educational advantages of today.

Make it a point to speak a good word for our schools at every opportunity. Encourage and cheer the teachers wherever you meet them. It's the kind of co-operation that pays big dividends because it serves to strengthen the institutions on which the community's future depends. No man ever lost anything yet by taking pride in his schools, or in seeking constantly to make them still better and still more progressive.

"ROASTIN' EAR" TIME

We're now in the days of the "roastin' ear," which is not a roasting ear at all, but a balled ear. Corn was once roasted, hence the name. But that was back in the day when the hunter could not be burdened with a pot, but plunged the husked ears in the ashes. And if you've never tasted an ear of corn roasted in the ashes and embers of a camp-fire, ask the Plymouth man who has.

Here's to corn on the cob. Golden scroll of the gods, plentiful enough for the poor man's pocket and tasty enough to have a place all its own on the tables of the rich. It matters not how you hold it, how you bite it or how thickly you butter it, it's still among the most soul-satisfying vegetables that ever popped out of the ground. And there are no holds barred in eating roasted ears. The dainty picker who pecks away for fear of getting a little butter on his ears hasn't learned the real joy of eating roasted ears. The minute he forgets his boyhood long enough to cut the corn off the cob the minute a big chunk of happiness is passing out of his life.

Boil 'em and butter 'em, salt 'em and popper 'em, and then, holding an end in each hand bite into them and work across the little rows of golden, milk-filled grains as smoothly as a new six-cylinder motor. Don't mind appearances; the effects will wash off. Just forget everything else and be thankful that its roasting ear time, the happiest time in the entire vegetable season.

THE GLORY OF VENICE

BANK FOLDER TELLS STORY OF ANCIENT CITY'S COMMERCIAL SUPREMACY.

The fourth of the series of folders on "Money and Civilization," which is being distributed by the Plymouth United Savings Bank is perhaps the most attractive of the series thus far. The outside cover presents a beautiful picture in colors representing the port of Venice in the height of its glory, made especially for this series, and the black and white drawings in the inside pages are of unusual excellence.

The text deals with the reawakening of Europe after the long sleep of the Middle Ages. We in America think of modern history as beginning with the discovery of America. We forget the long series of events that led up to it and made it inevitable. It was the revival of trade that followed the reopening of the long-closed trade route to the East that produced the prosperity that made possible the Renaissance in learning and the Reformation in religion. It was the need of a water route to India that made it worth while to risk money and life itself in ocean exploration. One of the forgotten heroes who gave an impetus to these ventures and who inspired Columbus and other navigators was our old friend Marco Polo. His long-forgotten book fired many an imagination and loosened the purse strings of ship owners and kings.

Marco Polo's story and those of his contemporaries are retold in concise but comprehensive form in the latest folder in this notable series which is revealing the part that money has played in the development of civilization. These folders are being received with interest in many homes, and to the school children who are struggling with the history of other times than ours they must be doubly welcome.

REFRIGERATION

ICE OR ELECTRICALLY
HEALTH NECESSITY

When food is kept from day to day, some means of refrigeration is absolutely necessary. Above a temperature of 50° food decays rapidly and health is endangered. Refrigeration means economy, too, because less food is wasted through spoilage.

The Detroit Edison Company serves twenty-five manufacturers of ice in Detroit and southeastern Michigan. These ice supply companies render prompt and courteous service. Ice is an especially low priced means of refrigeration—an inexpensive health protection. You will use less ice and keep your refrigerator cooler if you keep the ice compartment well-filled at all times.

The unquestioned convenience of Electric Refrigeration makes it ideal for the modern comfortable home. Once the Electric Refrigerator is connected it rarely requires attention. An Electric Refrigerator is more than a means for preserving food.—It is an Electric Appliance for preparing tasty frozen recipes of all kinds the year 'round.

Electric Refrigerators may be purchased by small monthly payments at any office of

15 3/4 Bushels More to the Acre—Champion Wheat Grower Tells Why

LAST season Mr. Jacob Fields, of L. Gaines, Genesee Co., Mich., was designated "Champion Wheat Grower" of his county by the Flint Daily Journal. Titles are all right. But what about the money? Did the crop pay? It certainly did.

Mr. Fields planted 22 acres in wheat. His total yield was 1008 bushels—45 3/4 bushels per acre—and sold for $1.25 per bushel, a premium of 8 cents. Other wheat in this section yielded only 30 bushels. Mr. Fields says, "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers increased my yield 15 3/4 bushels per acre."

Wheat growers, you cannot afford to ignore this evidence. Calculate the extra profit for yourself. You will see that Mr. Fields actually got an added profit of $22.08 per acre by using "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers.

Hundreds of other farmers have written similar letters. They all tell of bigger yields, better quality—increased profits with "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers. These splendid crops are not due to luck or accident. They are the result of sound farming methods and the use of the best fertilizer obtainable—that is, "AA QUALITY."

Your crops, your profits, these are the only real standards by which to measure fertilizer quality. Chemical analysis may fool the farmer but it cannot fool your crops.

Don't be deluded into thinking that all goods of the same chemical analysis are the same in crop-producing value.

Facts for Wheat Growers:

During the last 12 to 14 years I have used many different makes of fertilizer in growing my farm crops but none have been as effective as "AA QUALITY" goods, of which several different analyses have been used, with excellent results. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are always 100% in mechanical condition and work excellently in all machinery designed to sow fertilizer.

My wheat was grown with your AGRICO for Grain, which I consider by far the best wheat fertilizer I have ever used. I attribute a gain in yield of 15 3/4 bushels per acre to the use of this fertilizer.

To farmers who use fertilizer I recommend that they get acquainted with "AA QUALITY" goods; use them and their merit will convince any farmer of their value.

(Signed) JACOB FIELDS
L. Gaines, Genesee Co., Mich.

Buy fertilizer with your eyes open. Compare crop records obtained with "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers with those of any other make. Then make your decision. Larger yields, better quality—and increased profits make "AA QUALITY" goods by all odds the cheapest you can buy.

If you have never used "AA QUALITY" plant foods, you owe it to yourself to use these fertilizers on at least part of your next wheat crop. You, too, can increase your profits. See the nearest "AA QUALITY" Dealer today.

They Called Her "Yellow Bush"

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright.)

WHEN Nancy Branch was a little girl people laughingly called her "Yellow Bush" because her mop of golden hair was so thick and flyaway. As she grew older it was confined for awhile, and then bobbed into another and more sedate, yellow bush of fine soft hair.

When Yellow Bush came home from college, her first inquiry was for her old playmate, Bert Franklin.

"Bert Franklin went away after his father died—you know, his mother died four or five years ago?"

"Of course, I knew that," said Nancy. "It happened the summer I went abroad with Aunt Susan—of course, I wrote to Bert and his father. He wrote to me in reply, but I have not heard from him since."

"You have been away from home so much, my dear," said her mother, "even your vacations have been far away from us."

"I know it, mother, but I am really home to stay awhile now. I shall advise you about the domestic arrangements and tell father how to manage his farm!"

"In between times," chuckled Mr. Branch, "you may use my old telescope to search the skies for your old friend, Bertie Franklin—it, I say that he is now an accomplished flyer."

The long summer drifted away, and Nancy "Yellow Bush" never saw or heard anything of the boy she had known so well.

Then came one warm August night when she had walked down to the pasture to see the sunset.

"Bow Bert and I used to love the sunset," Nancy was thinking a little sadly, when out of the west something shone blackly against the crimson and gold of the evening. In the far distance it looked like a bird, but it grew larger so rapidly that very soon Nancy saw that it was a monoplane and that if it did not swerve from its course it would probably pass directly overhead.

So she ran into the pasture where the sunset turned her yellow head into a golden nimbus about her fair face, and watched the airplane.

When the plane reached the old pasture, it seemed to pause, and then, wonder of wonders, it circled lower and lower. When the plane made a landing, it rolled easily across the grass to a standstill, not twenty feet away from the slender girl in the pale blue dress.

There was one passenger in the plane and, when he stepped upon the ground, Nancy's heart sank. Bertie Franklin had been rather a big young man, but this man in the leather garments from head to heel was a veritable giant. When he stood before Nancy Branch, he removed his disguising spectacles and Nancy encountered a pair of amazingly magnetic blue eyes.

"Dear little Yellow Bush," he murmured, and one strong brown hand came toward her.

"Bert? Not Bert Franklin?" she stammered dazedly. "It is really you—really you," she sighed, when they sat side by side on an old bench. "I have looked for you so often, Bert, and wondered if you were never coming back to see your friends again. Your old house is tumbling down for lack of attention from its owner."

"I know it," he said soberly. "There is rather a reason, Nancy. Did your people tell you that, when father died, I could not find any private papers at all? Not one thing! He was delirious at the last before he sank into coma, and all he said was, 'Yellow Bush—Yellow Bush—I forgot, Yellow Bush—and I believed that, he meant you. He always called you that. And I think, Nancy darling, that poor dad was really trying to impress it upon me to make sure of you—Yellow Bush, see?'"

"I know he was very fond of me," mused Nancy. "But, Bert, I don't believe it was anything like that. He was too keen a business man not to have provided for you."

"That does seem so, and yet I never found a cent. Old Judge Peebles has produced a mortgage on our old place that will about swallow the whole thing. Once in awhile, I fly over my ancestral acres, and try to puzzle the thing out."

"I thought Judge Peebles was your father's lawyer."

"He was for years—then he and dad had a fuss about something. And dad withdrew all his affairs from the judge's hands."

"If your father said 'yellow bush' before he died," said Nancy firmly, "he did not mean a foolish girl like me. He really meant that if you would dig down under one of the yellow bushes on your front lawn, you would find something!"

Bert Franklin stared at her, wide eyed. "One of those yellow bushes was a special favorite with my mother," he said softly. "Nancy, tomorrow morning will you meet me at the old place and witness my digging under the yellow bush that had long been a favorite of my mother's?"

Sure enough, three feet down they found a large iron box where Bertie found a substantial fortune awaiting him, and papers showing that the mortgage had been paid in full.

"Now, will you marry me?" asked Bert of the glowing girl beside him.

"Why—I thought we were almost engaged before you found your fortune!" cried Nancy happily.

FORMER RESIDENT OF NANKIN TOWNSHIP DIES IN EAST.

We take the following from the Cortland, N. Y., Standard, relative to the death of M. L. Decker, who at one time resided in Nankin township and attended the Patchin school in that township and will be remembered by some of the older residents who attended that school:

"Melvin Leroy Decker, a lifelong resident of Cortland and vicinity, died last night at his home, 7 North Main street, following a long illness.

"Mr. Decker was born in McGrawville Nov. 6, 1850, and was the son of James Leroy and Marie Dodge Decker. He was married to Miss Anna Marie Dodge at McLean on Dec. 25, 1876. Mrs. Decker died just one year ago today.

"Mr. Decker was the veteran sewing machine dealer in Cortland, having been in business here for more than 50 years. He was first located in Central avenue, then known as Railroad street, and the building in which he conducted his business and also made his home had to be moved when the street was cut through to Church street. He was in Central avenue for around 35 years, then moving to 23 North Main street. He later purchased the building at 7 North Main street and moved his business and residence to that location. He was the first dealer in Edison phonographs in the city, and for many years had been a Victor agent here. He was a member of the First Methodist church.

"Mr. Decker is survived by one brother, Lillian E. Decker, of Flint, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Sears, of Ferrisville, Mich., and Mrs. George Morse, of Flint, Mich., and two nieces, Nettie Silverthorne and Nellie Atkins, also of Michigan.

"The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the late home, and will be private. Burial will be made in the Cortland Rural cemetery. Friends may call Sunday afternoon."

VOSE-LELAND

We take the following from an Ann Arbor paper of Saturday, August 18:

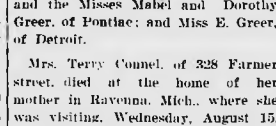

The local calendar has been full to overflowing and Ann Arbor hostesses have been actively engaged with the many events that have been scheduled to take place in honor of local early fall brides. This year June is being eclipsed by August as a popular month for the speaking of nuptial vows.

One of the prettiest of these affairs is the marriage of Miss Madelyn Leland and Gardner Vose of Detroit, which is to take place at eight o'clock this evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Leland of Pennington Ave. Mr. Vose is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vose of Park Ridge, Ill. Dr. Dwight Ramsdell, of Ann Arbor, will perform the ceremony before about seventy-five guests from Detroit, Birmingham, Toledo and Chicago.

Summer garden flowers, principally gladioli, interspersed with palms and ferns will make an improvised altar and a beautiful background for the wedding party.

Mrs. Harold Holmes, of Detroit, a sorority sister of the bride has been chosen to act as matron of honor and James Vose, of Chicago, brother of the groom, will be best man. Miss Geraldine Wilson, of Detroit, will play Lohengrin's wedding march.

Miss Leland has chosen to wear a beautiful gown of white satin made period style and trimmed with a lace yoke. She will carry white roses, lilies-of-the-valley and orchids. Mrs. Holmes will appear in a dress of light blue lace. Her bouquet will be of pink Columbia roses.

The new asphalt pavement on Ann Arbor street is completed and is open to travel over its entire length. It is expected that the East Pennington avenue pavement will be finished before the week-end. Everyone traveling over this asphalt pavement will agree that a first-class job has been done.

The pavement upon Blunk avenue, though still without the curb and gutter, will be opened to travel some time Saturday. Motorists using the pavement in the uncompleted condition will do so at their own risk.

A contract to construct sanitary sewers in Virginia Park and Mardale subdivisions was awarded by the commission Monday evening to James Black, of Northville, upon the basis of his bid of $8,319 for the work. This bid was considerably lower than that of Frank Eady, the only other bidder for the job.

Our police department is continuing its drive against speeders upon our pavements. Violators who persist in speeding may expect no consideration if found traveling beyond the legal limit of 25 miles per hour upon the village streets.

The Detroit and Security Trust Company of Detroit was the lowest of four bidders for the purchase of $27,000 of Pennington avenue storm sewer and paving bonds offered by the village Monday evening. The successful bidder secured the award on the basis of their proposal to pay a premium of $52, plus interest to date of delivery of bonds at a rate of 4%.

The commission is considering the passage of an ordinance supplementing state laws covering the harboring of vicious dogs, due to a number of complaints of this character in recent weeks.

SEEK ELDORADO LONG FORGOTTEN

Old-Timer to Use Plane in Search for Riches.

Edmonton, Alta.—A trail of blood and gold that stretches back through the last 24 years is the lure which will take a 400-horse-power Fokker plane on a quest into the Far North, 1,400 miles past Edmonton. Its goal, according to an interview appearing in the Edmonton Journal, will be a forgotten Eldorado.

The pilot is Capt. H. A. Oaks of the Northern Aerials Mineral Exploration company, and with him in the plane, which will carry close to seven tons of equipment, will be Charlie McLeod, forty-one, old-time prospector and northerner, the only man living to whom is known the location of the "flood."

In the mind of McLeod that site of promised wealth lingers as a place of awful tragedy. It was just past the turn of the present century that he and his two brothers, Bill and Frank, following the clues of Indians, found in a hidden canyon signs of untold richness of gold. Three years later Charlie McLeod returned to find the bones of his brothers on the site of their old camp.

Today, however, the old-timer is confident of the success of his new venture. His trip, he mentions, is backed by Jack Hamuelli, president of the Northern Aerials Mineral Exploration company, the same Hamuelli who was concerned in the transfer of the Flin Flon mining territory in northern Manitoba to the Harry Payne Whitney interests of New York.

McLeod tells of how he had left his brothers on the site of their claim while he had to go into the Klucken river country, many hundred miles to the east. News of their find was carried to the Yukon, whence a stampede started into the mountains.

Bill and Frank were unable to fight off the newcomers and were overcome beside their fires, riddled with bullets. Their murderer, known to McLeod, is since dead. Lack of funds and the inaccessibility of the claim has prevented previous exploration of the property. The assistance of the exploration company has now removed both these obstacles.

Spend $5,000 Yearly to Check Own Honesty

Austin, Texas.—Building and loan associations of Texas are donating $5,000 a year to a state fund used for checking up on their professional honesty.

The state's appropriation of $5,000 annually was found inadequate to pay for the examination and supervision of the associations, which voluntarily supplanted the appropriation with a donation to R. B. Cousins Jr., chairman of the state insurance commission. Cousins is empowered to administer the fund without "strings" and to use it as if it were a state appropriation.

Texas' 30 per cent increase of gross assets in the building and loan business last year was the largest in the nation, according to a report of the National League of Building and Loan Associations. These assets rose from $1,500,000 in 1916 to more than $2,000,000 in 1928.

The average interest rate paid to shareholders is 8 per cent and the range is from 7 to 10 per cent.

The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, chicken salad, buttered rolls, olives, celery, ice-cream, birthday cake, and coffee.

After luncheon, dancing was indulged in, until 1:30 in the morning. After all singing "Farewell," the young people joined in wishing Miss Angeline many happy returns of the day and acknowledged a most enjoyable evening spent.

COMMON COUNCIL

GEORGE A. WALTERS

July 19th, 1928.

Mr. George L. McBath,
15355 Wisconsin Avenue,
Detroit, Michigan.

Friend McBath:

Answering your inquiry relative to your candidacy for the office of State Senator, of the 18th District, I want to say that I am pleased to give you my hearty endorsement, and I hope you will be elected, as men of your training and ideals are needed in the State Senate.

The co-operation you gave me while I was Sheriff of Wayne County, as a volunteer deputy, showed me that you are level headed, and also that you have the welfare of the public at heart.

I am impressed also with the fact that, although a young man, you have a family of two children, and that you are acquiring your own home.

With best wishes for your success,

I remain

Yours very truly,

The mission conducted by the Rev. E. Flynn, of Notre Dame university, will begin a week from next Sunday, Sept. 9. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. Julia Wolf, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Yuchasz, is seriously ill at Harper hospital, having undergone a mastoid operation.

Albert Condo returned home from St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor, last Saturday.

Nethem baseball team was defeated last Sunday by the Liberty A. C. from Detroit. Score 13-0. Next Sunday Nethem crosses bats with the strong Red Dots of Detroit at Newburg.

Do not forget your M. C. envelope next Sunday.

Do not forget the mission, Sept. 24.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

The Ready Service class held a picnic meeting at Cass Benton park on Tuesday of this week. The weather, though threatening in the morning, proved fine, and a goodly number of ladies attended. The food as usual was excellent and when the meal was over a business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Gordon, was held. Then different interests claimed the attention of the picnicers, the most exciting being a keenly contested game of horseshoes between Mrs. M. Partridge and Mrs. I. Innis on one side and Mrs. Roy Jewell and Mrs. Counterman on the other. It was a real game. Some of the men who are proud of their ability in this fine old game had better look to their laurels.

And now for the annual church and Sunday school picnic. The Methodist and Presbyterian churches are uniting this year again and the time is Wednesday, August 29. Conveyances will be provided for all who report at the church Wednesday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock. The picnic will be held at Island Lake, and it is hoped the parents will plan to attend and will see that the children of the Sunday school are allowed to enjoy this day. A program of games is being arranged and then there is the picnic dinner. Come and make this a wholesome, happy gathering.

LIVONIA UNION CHURCH NOTES.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Aid society will be held at the church Thursday, August 30, at 2:30 p. m. A pot-luck lunch will be served. Everybody invited to attend this meeting.

The pastor was most agreeably surprised last Sunday when told that his congregation had voluntarily voted to give him a two weeks' vacation, so that he might be able to enjoy the time with his family, who are spending some time at the lake. In accordance with this, there will be no services at the church the next two Sundays, but will open again Sunday, September 9, with a rally day service. A special program will be prepared.

LIGHTNING SHOCKS BIG TREE TO DEATH

Makes Small Gash, but Kills Oak Instantly.

New York.—How a freak stroke of lightning hit a large white oak in the New York botanical garden, Bronx park, ripped only a small gash on one side of the trunk and yet was strong enough to bring almost instantaneous death to every twig and leaf, is told by Dr. Arthur Hollick, paleobotanist at the garden, in its current journal.

"Those who recall the natural features of the woodland at the north-eastern border of the economic gardens of the New York botanical garden," Doctor Hollick states, "and the appearance that these features presented a year ago, may now notice that something once familiar is missing from the scene."

"A large white oak, formerly a conspicuous element in the forest growth, has disappeared, and all that remains as evidence of its former presence is a stunted stump in a partly cleared area in the woodland border. The recent removal of this tree represented the climax of an interesting and tragic event in its life history."

Tree in Prime of Life.

"It is well known that lightning often acts in what appears to be a freakish manner, and also that it occasionally produces effects that are more or less difficult to explain. The tree under consideration was apparently vigorous and in the prime of life last summer, as far as might have been inferred from its external features, when it was struck during a thunder storm."

"It did not appear to be badly injured. No limbs were torn off. The only obvious effect of the stroke was a longitudinal gash in the bark and sap wood, of relatively insignificant extent, on one side of the trunk. There are several trees within the garden area that suffered in past years, much greater external injury from lightning and they are alive to day, although the scars are glaringly conspicuous."

"This particular tree, however, appeared to have been shocked to death instantaneously. The foliage throughout began to wither at once. Every leaf became wrinkled and within a month the tree had begun to assume the brown and yellow appearance of autumn, while the surrounding vegetation was yet fresh and green. The contrast in coloration was conspicuous and attracted considerable attention."

"The tree was also a conspicuous object during the following winter, by reason of the withered foliage, almost intact, still clinging to the twigs and branchlets while all the other deciduous trees in the vicinity were completely denuded."

"The explanation of this latter phenomenon is, apparently, that the tree having been suddenly killed during its season of growth and highest vitality, its leaves were, in consequence, securely attached to their support and were not subject to the physiological changes that normally result in the weakening of attachment and the ultimate severance of the leaves from the branches in the autumn."

"In this connection it is interesting to note, incidentally, that a large number of twigs and branchlets that were broken off during winter storms had leaves securely attached to them. The wood had yielded to the stress, but the leaves had held fast."

Put Under Observation.

"The tree was kept under observation during the last spring in order to determine definitely if it showed any evidence of vitality; but not a bud showed any inclination of expanding when all other trees had developed their seasonal leafage. It was dead and its removal was deemed advisable."

"The trunk of the tree at a distance of 2.5 feet from the ground measured 10.4 feet in circumference; and several countings of the rings on the surface of the stump gave an average result of 187 that were more or less distinctly discernible."

"An area in the center of about four or five inches in radius was more or less decayed, so that the rings were not well defined. This area probably represented about the first fifteen years of growth. The tree, therefore, may be inferred to have been approximately 190 to 200 years old at the time when it met its death."

White Rhino Only Beast Never Caught

Washington.—In the eternal game of "tag" between man and the animals he has hunted, there is only one beast known to man that has never been caught. Every zoo in the world would like very much to get the white rhinoceros to be found in large numbers near the rivers of the Sudan, but none has thus far been successful.

It is the only animal which, threatened with captivity, will deliberately commit suicide. Young white rhinos which were captured by natives died within a very short time, so sensitive are they to captivity.

It was the great slaughter of the beasts in an effort to capture one alive which resulted in a law against hunting the white rhino.

ROBBERY AT LEE FOUNDRY CLEARED UP IN RECORD TIME.

Thursday night, August 16, the plant of the H. S. Lee Foundry & Machine company was entered and aluminum core boxes valued at approximately $1,000 were stolen.

Despite the fact that the night shift was working in the other parts of the plant and a watchman made his regular rounds, the core department was daringly entered and the parties made a complete getaway, the loss not being discovered until the core makers came to work on Friday morning.

The loss was reported to Chief Springer, and within one hour he had the stolen articles back to the foundry. The theft was committed by three boys, all minors, and the case has been turned over to the Wayne county juvenile court.

The management of the Lee foundry is high in their praise of the efficiency of Chief Springer, and his work is surely commendable.

CITIZENS' BODY BACKS CHENOT

VOLUNTEER COMMITTEE IS IN CHARGE OF HIS CAMPAIGN FOR PROSECUTOR.

While James E. Chenot is continuing to discharge his duties as chief assistant prosecuting attorney, a volunteer executive committee composed of public-spirited citizens of Detroit and Wayne county has taken active charge of his campaign for the office of prosecuting attorney. Public officials, business men, attorneys, clergymen and others of influence in their communities have aligned themselves with the Chenot candidacy, basing their efforts on his belief on their conviction that in his seven years as assistant prosecutor, Mr. Chenot has proven to the people that he is well qualified to serve them as the chief law-enforcing officer of the county.

In addition to the executive committee a host of citizens have publicly endorsed the Chenot candidacy. Included among these are Homer Warren, Judson Bradley, Edwin Denby, Oscar Webber, Charles V. Van Dusen, John A. Brown and Fred Austin.

Among the members of the Chenot-for-Prosecutor executive committee are Henry M. Butzel, president of the Detroit Bar association; Frank T. Lodge, John J. Barlum, Charles E. Sorenson, Fred M. Butzel, John R. Watkins, Bart H. Manning, Adolph Finsterwald, Thomas J. Doyle, James H. Garlick, Rev. Frank A. Gustafson, John H. Mulloy, Harry H. Bennett, James Carter, John J. Gorman, Alvin D. Hirsch, Casper J. Lingeman, John L. Lovett, Jerry McCarthy, Otto Misch, J. M. O'Dea, Lester S. Moll, Frank Couzens, James O. Murfin, Major John E. Reehl, James L. Mahon, A. A. Schantz, Louis Colombo, C. Hayward Murphy, Col. Heinrich Pickert, John P. Scallen, Zelle B. Clago, David W. Simmons, Roy H. Burgess, George W. Trendle, Leonard S. Szymanski, John Wedda, Henry Van Lerberghe, Frank E. Fisher, Rev. T. H. Wiseman, Dr. James W. Ames, Dr. Clarence L. Candler, Dr. Wm. E. Keane, Alex. Y. Malmanson, John H. Thompson, Capt. W. S. Gilbrath, Wm. Henry Gallagher, Wm. Cstick, Vincent Giuliano, John T. Woodhouse, Wm. Carroll, Otto Honer, James R.

Elliot, Major Victor M. Dumas, Wm. F. Butler, Wayne county road commissioner, Clyde Ford, mayor of Dearborn; John R. Valois, mayor of River Rouge; Floyd E. Yinger, mayor of Fordson; Dr. Rudolph Tenenowicz, mayor of Hamtramck.

Friends of Mr. Chenot are emphasizing the fact that he has represented the people in no less than 1,200 criminal cases before juries. It is their belief that this experience, backed by sound legal training, sets him forth as the logical candidate. In this day when the subject of crime prevention remains uppermost in the minds of the great majority of law-abiding citizens, they point to Chenot's record as a prosecutor of notorious criminals. He sent Norris Gresson to prison, after the "cockney bandit" had successfully escaped conviction over a period of eight years. He brought about the conviction and imprisonment of Jesse Banker, who had openly boasted that he would never land behind prison walls, despite a crimson career of law-breaking.

"It is no boast of mine that I have sent these and other gangsters to prison," Mr. Chenot has told audiences recently. "Depriving a fellowman of his liberty is not a pleasant duty; but so long as we have among us the type of brute who sets himself up as a law unto himself, and takes human life as an incidental part of his daily work, then the speedy conviction and imprisonment of these creatures becomes a duty of prime importance. It was my lot as an assistant prosecutor to represent the people in the trials of several hundred of these underworld terrorists. My record in these cases, and in all other proceedings, is submitted to the electorate for their careful examination, in the belief that it forms a better basis for judgment and comparison than the usual batch of pre-election promises and campaign hokum."

The Milford fair broke all attendance records this year, when more than 30,000 people visited the grounds during the four days.

Fire which destroyed the Harry Sowers home on the Plymouth road, just west of Beech, last week Tuesday, removed one of the old landmarks of that vicinity. The house was built 80 years ago by John Hodge, one of the district's early settlers.

Brighton's new school building will be ready for occupancy when school opens September 3. J. H. Patterson & Son, of Plymouth, were the general contractors.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tatzka, who recently moved over near Plymouth, have decided to return to their own home at 117 Yerkes avenue. They moved back during the present week.—Northville Record.

The village of Inkster voted down the proposal to issue $180,000 bonds for the construction of water mains in that village. The special election held last week Tuesday resulted in 818 votes being cast, 441 favoring the proposition and 377 opposing it. There were 50 spoiled ballots.

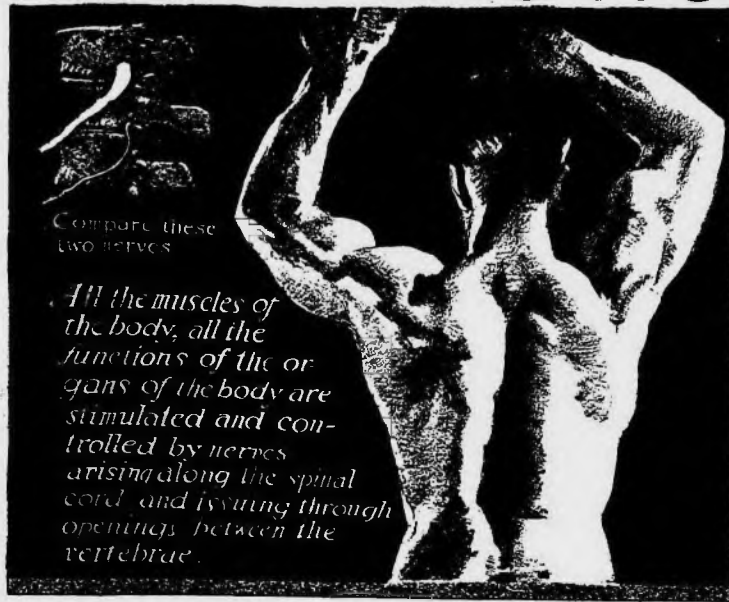

The new McPherson Memorial hospital at Howell was formally opened recently with dedicatory ceremonies. The gift of the large three-story brick residence of the late Edward G. McPherson formed the nucleus for the hospital, which contains 25 beds and is equipped with modern appliances.

Father Joseph Schuler, who recently started a chapel at Walled Lake, has been advised that the new church has been presented with a site on the Pontiac road, about three blocks from the business center of Walled Lake. The location has a 100-foot frontage on the main street and runs back 140 feet. The lot is a big one and will take care of the needs of the new parish in Walled Lake for many years to come.—Northville Record.

When John Patterson, of Plymouth, was awarded the contract the other day for the erection of the Edison company's new office building he did not realize that the site of the structure he is to erect was in the early days of Northville owned by a relative of Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. Eunice Shepard, one of the earliest settlers of this vicinity, was for many years the owner of the land on the northeast corner of Dunlap and Center streets. Mrs. Shepard was also a great-aunt of Mrs. Edna Snyder, of this place. The family, because of this interesting historical fact, is watching with more than usual concern the building of the new Edison block.—Northville Record.

It is reported that a new alcoholic drink is being made of oak shavings. What Plymouth men ever expected to see the day when he could take a hand plane and get a jar of an old fence-post?

Timely Sown Wheat Swats Hessian Fly

PLANTING ON CORRECT DATES PREVENTS DAMAGE FROM SERIOUS CEREAL PEST.

Serious damage from the Hessian fly can be avoided this fall if Michigan wheat growers will plant wheat at the "fly-free dates."

The entomology department at Michigan State College explains that the Hessian fly produces two principle generations each year in Michigan. The fall generation lays its eggs on wheat recently sown and spends the winter in the pupal state. In the spring, the adult flies emerge and lay their eggs on the wheat as it begins to lengthen out in May. The larvae or maggots from these eggs change to puparia just before harvest time. It is during this period of growth that the Hessian fly injures the wheat and causes much of it to fall poorly and to lodge.

Wheat may be sown so that it will come up too late for the Hessian fly to lay its eggs on the wheat, and yet be planted early enough to avoid winter-killing. This date is known as the "fly-free date." It is based on weather observations covering a 25-year period and is calculated for each county of the state for areas of both high and low elevation.

Information concerning the "fly-free date" may be obtained by writing the Michigan State College for Special Bulletin No. 132. The Hessian fly is increasing in numbers in the state and if wheat is sown carelessly this fall, there is apt to be a larger increase next year, according to Prof. R. H. Pettit, entomologist.

CHEERFUL JOHN MOODY

AN INTER-LANGUAGE WANTED

WHY MEN FARM

A MAN OF 104

John Moody studies and thinks, and predicts five more years at least, of rising values and prosperity. "The old breeders of financial panic that brought on the crises of 1893, 1903 and 1907 have disappeared."

We are living in a new kind of America, with a new kind of prosperity. "America's world of today is not the world of twenty years ago," says Moody.

If you were feeling gloomy, cheer up.

Many are prosperous. NOT all. Barney Dehoka, having vainly hunted a job, stood at a restaurant window, watching a woman turning butter cakes. He fell in a faint and doctors are treating him for starvation.

Great is the power of civilization, training a man so well that he stands watching food until he drops of hunger rather than steal. Man is a teachable animal.

Delegations of college men from different parts of the United States will record their voices on talking machines that scientists may study "American dialects."

The main thing is that all of them are understood from New York to San Francisco.

In Europe, traveling 3,000 miles from Oslo to the southeast, you would hear Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, German, Czech-Slovakian, Hungarian, Rumanian, Bulgarian, Turkish, Greek, and, in Egypt, Arabic, twelve different languages in a 3,000-mile trip, and not hear one-half the languages that Europe speaks.

Europe feels the need of an "inter-language." The sensible thing would be to make that language English, that all waiters and clerks need, and nearly all educated Europeans know.

National pride prevents that. So why not use Latin, once the universal learned language, making it possible for Erasmus to speak to Henry the Eighth; for all learned men in Europe to talk to each other through their books? Nothing could be more hideous than a made-to-order language.

Russia names a dictator, with absolute power over crops, their production and distribution.

Our farmers will watch that experiment for the benefit of producer and consumer, but will not want any crop dictator here.

The thing that reconciles a farmer to his lot is the fact that he is his own boss.

Tell him that others must decide what he shall plant, what price he shall ask, and he will join the crowd to the cities.

Men do not farm merely for profit. They farm because land ownership and management, plus independence, give them intense pleasure. If profit were the only inducement, there would be no farmers.

An old gentleman, aged 104, arrived from Lithuania to see this country. He said he didn't believe in "spending all your life in one place," so he only lived 104 years in Lithuania. He danced a jig for reporters, said he had given up tobacco eight years ago, but "never found that liquor ever hurt anybody."

He will change his mind if he tries certain brands on sale in this country.

"The man who says he wants but little here below," asserts Dad Plymouth, "is usually the fellow who is too lazy to go after more."

Bears 200-Word Will Tattooed on His Back

London.—A 200-word will bequeathing large sums of money to several persons has been tattooed on the back of a man who walked into a tattooing establishment in Waterloo road.

He had the will written out on a piece of paper, and asked that it should be transferred to his back. He sat for five hours while the work was done and the will was duly witnessed.

"He was a Colonial, and about thirty years of age," George Hurbett, the tattooist, said afterward.

"This is the first will I have ever tattooed during a long experience, and it was difficult, tricky work."

Did you know that, no matter what its make, your car can have a wind shield of glass that will not shatter? Good news to thousands of mothers who hesitate to take children on motor trips along crowded highways!

The safety windshield has no wires in its construction, but is a triplex product made of three layers of glass welded together by heat, pressure and a chemical treatment that makes it indistinguishable from ordinary glass. Under severe impact triplex glass will yield, but will not fly in fragments or present jagged edges that cut and tear; which is to say, it is good accident insurance against more than half the injuries that occur to motorists. For insurance statistics tell us 65 per cent of all motor accidents are due to broken glass.

Eyeglass and one's good looks are precious possessions. It pays to protect them in every reasonable way.

AT THE THEATRE

"THE SUNSET LEGION"

William Courtright, the character actor who has appeared in Fred Thompson's Paramount productions "Jesse James" and "The Pioneer Scout" is also cast in the western star's latest Paramount picture entitled: "The Sunset Legion." The outstanding point of interest in "Old Bill" is the fact that this sterling character is seventy years old!

"They call me 'Old Bill' everybody does, and in Mr. Thompson's pictures I am always known as 'Old Bill,' but really, they're all wrong. Shucks, I'm just as young as any of 'em," declared Bill, while the company was on location for "The Sunset Legion," which will be seen at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, August 26th and 27th.

Bill can ride a horse, climb mountains, fight in a barroom mixup, and otherwise give a good account of himself, with as much alacrity as the youngest actor.

The fine old character actor is proud of the distinction of being the oldest screen actor in the business. When home, resting in between pictures at Hollywood, he amuses himself by driving his own sport roadster, and little does anyone think the driver is three score and ten.

In the latest Thompson picture, Bill portrays the role of a mine owner, who has lost several shipments of gold because of the activity of a band of outlaws. He also plays the father of Edna Murphy, with whom Fred Thompson falls in love. There is the plentiful supply of action and thrills in "The Sunset Legion" as is always manifested in Fred Thompson's Paramount productions, and the present work of the western star is said to have exceeded all of his previous efforts.

"THREE SINNERS"

Pola Negri has portrayed the heartless vamp, who has appeared in roles of practically every degree and color, but, in "Three Sinners," she is a real woman, suffering tragically over the loss of husband, child, and home. The picture will show at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Thursday, August 30th.

The story is based on one of the most successful stage plays recently seen in Europe, "Her Second Life." It tells the story of a woman who leaves home to visit her sister. Yielding to the importunities of a friend, she goes for a motor ride while the train stands in a station. The train goes on without her, is wrecked and everyone is killed. Believing her dead, her husband mourns for his wife. The wife, afraid to reveal herself because of the gossip which will inevitably arise, relinquishes her home and loved ones.

The denouement of "Three Sinners" is said to be one of the most smashing dramatic climaxes seen on the screen in years. Featured in support of Pola Negri are Paul Lukas, Tullio Carminati and Olga Baclanova. Rowland V. Lee, who has directed Pola Negri in a number of her greatest successes, also directed "Three Sinners."

The star of "Three Sinners" never uses make-up when in public.

Blessed with a complexion which is absolutely flawless, Pola Negri never uses any kind of cosmetic when appearing in the street or at a daytime function.

Her skin is of that clear, transparent white which is the pride of so many women of Central Europe.

Although in her work for motion pictures, for purposes of good photography, Pola uses various kinds of face creams and powders, when she appears on the street her complexion requires nothing more than a little powder such as is used by practically every woman.

Her eyebrows are naturally very black with a slight bluish tinge. The natural color of her lips is red which shows very brilliantly against the dead white of her complexion.

In "Three Sinners," as in all her other pictures, Miss Negri uses make-up which simply accentuates her natural complexion.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

IMPULSES

Miss Jackson, after eleven years' experience at San Quentin State Prison, declares that women criminals are the victims of uncontrolled impulse rather than of a physiological leaning toward crime.

"There is no criminal type among women prisoners," she says. "Crime among women generally follows an uncontrolled impulse in which women leave the usual path of life and make a detour into crime without thought of the results that follow."

It appears from this that self-control in all emergencies is the virtue most needed.

The writer was once a prison official and frequently visited the State Prisons of Illinois. He was surprised to find that the class of convicts that gave the least trouble was the murderers. The reason is that murderers are usually committed on a sudden impulse and a man need not be a hardened criminal to be guilty of this crime.

Of course there are some people who are lacking in moral sense. Their whole tone of morals is low and all they need to commit a crime is the opportunity.

But all of us are potential criminals when it comes to impulse, a sudden surging of passion or some overwhelming desire.

Parents should learn from this that the most necessary lesson to teach children is self-control. Children do not need so much to be taught about crime as to be taught how to obey their own better selves.

Any one who finds his passion too strong for him and who loses his sense of restraint when under the influence of them is in danger of committing any crime.

Self-discipline may be very hard to people of strong emotions. It is sure to be hard.

But it is none the less essential.

Most lawsuits would be avoided if people would control themselves and could learn to be good sports and take their losses without yielding to a desire for vengeance.

MANSION HAS SOLID GOLD BATH FIXTURES

Sir Dhunjibhoy's Palace More Elaborate Than King's.

Windsor, England.—The most costly residence in England is known here as "The Willows," but neighbors prefer to call it "The House of the Arabian Nights."

It is the residence of Sir Dhunjibhoy Bomanji, wealthy Bombay merchant. It stands within sight of the towers of Windsor castle, one of the homes of the king and queen of England, but it is said to be furnished more elaborately than even the royal home.

Every bedroom in Sir Dhunjibhoy's home is fitted with a marble wash basin, and every hydrant, bracket and latrine is made of solid gold. In Sir Dhunjibhoy's own room the legs of the washstand are also in gold.

All the furniture is on a corresponding style of magnificence. The rooms are furnished according to various periods, and the furniture consists entirely of rare antiques. Sir Dhunjibhoy's bedroom is finished in French style in the fashion of Louis XIV.

The house of the Indian millionaire is built in Tudor style. It is surrounded by beautiful gardens, dotted with marble statuary and fountains. One of the marble pieces, known as "Truth," attracts particular attention. It represents a nude woman holding aloft a mirror.

Sir Dhunjibhoy, in addition to being a connoisseur of solid gold and marble, is also a sportsman. He has a large stable of horses on his grounds, and to the rear of his garden a miniature race track has been laid out.

With so magnificent a home, entertaining is second nature to the Bombay potentate and Lady Bomanji. Their guestrooms are almost always occupied, and Sir Dhunjibhoy has given several large functions which many British titled people attended.

Sir Dhunjibhoy Bomanji was knighted in 1922 for services rendered the British and Indian governments during the World war. He has now come to England to make his permanent residence here.

Doll Hospital Keeps

Five of Family Busy

Louisville, Ky.—John Reclus' doll hospital here is a monument to the sympathy its founder has with the tragedies of childhood.

Skill and special "surgical" instruments bring life back into broken sawdust bodies at the Louisville Doll hospital, founded many years ago by Reclus and his brother, German toy dealers. From repairing the broken and imperfect dolls in the top shop the doll surgeons evolved their own technique and designed instruments without which many of their most critical operations would be impossible.

Three sons and a daughter-in-law are engaged with Reclus, the head surgeon, in treating the sawdust patients. Tiny teeth are replaced, broken ears and noses restored and new eyes exchanged for old in the doll sanitarium. Dolls come from as far away as California for treatment.

In spring and summer most of the cases are nursery casualties, but from October until Christmas old favorites are sent in to be rejuvenated for the holidays. Several extra hands are added to the hospital staff during the Christmas rush.

Installs Bath tub in

Alaska Schoolhouse

Cordova, Alaska.—Chitina, a small town halfway up the "Iron Trail," claims the distinction of having the only schoolroom bathtub. It is a half way point between savagery and civilization where the white man and the Indian rub shoulders.

Miss Catherine Kirklin, teacher in the government school at Chitina, is responsible for the tub. She installed the bath in the classroom and she says that it is used although her ideas are not popular. The old Indian chiefs never a ring appears on the Chitina tub.

"I do not really believe that the Indians object to baths," Miss Kirklin said. "but conditions have been such for centuries that it was not practicable for them to wash and so they just forgot how."

Continues to Work

With Artificial Skull

Toronto, Ont.—To be living and working without a skull for an electric current equivalent to 5,000 horse power passed through his body, is the experience of Norman Douglas Ross, a young hydroelectric power employee of Toronto.

In May, 1926, while doing repair work at the Eugenia Fair-weather station, Ellis touched a live wire. He was suspended in mid-air and thought to be dead, but artificial respiration revived him. For six days he lay semiconscious and after eleven months necrosis forced surgeons to remove virtually his entire skull, which was replaced by skin grafts from the thigh. Mechanical ingenuity provided an artificial cap for Ellis' head, over which he wears a wig.

As the politician sees it, the biggest farm problem is how to win the farm vote.

Some of the fastest driving around Plymouth is done by boys who were slow in school.

It may not be of much interest to anybody, but our private opinion is that neither the development of the airplane nor the submarine will enable us to dodge the American chigger.

Will Attempt to Break Record

FAMOUS CANADIAN PACER WILL ATTEMPT TO BREAK STATE FAIR RACING RECORD.

An attempt by Gratian Bars, the famous Canadian pacer, to break the State Fair Track mile racing record of 1:39.4, will be made on Wednesday, September 5, Governor's Day, during the five-days racing program at the Fair, according to Fair officials. Five afternoons of racing, from Monday to Friday inclusive, will bring some of the most famous horses and drivers from all over the country during State Fair week, September 2-8.

Gratian Bars, whose owner, Fred Throver, of Kerwood, Ont., is said to have refused $100,000 for the horse, has already won three Derbies in succession, and is so fast he will not be entered in competition with the other horses on the program, but will be driven by Vic Fleming, veteran race horse driver in a special effort to break the Fair track record.

Of special interest to the thousands of women visitors at this year's fair will be the exhibits in the Department of Domestic Economics, under the direction of T. H. Broughton, of Lansing. Here every opportunity will be afforded the housewife and others interested in the home preparation of foods, to display the finest examples of their skill in the preparation and preservation of foods. A total of $670 will be offered in this competition, which will be offered to Michigan women only.

Entries for this department will close on Monday, August 27. All articles for exhibition in the various departments of home economics must be strictly home-made, and the work of the person entering the exhibit. The entries must be in place by 6 p. m. on Saturday, September 1, and must not be moved before the close of the fair on September 8 without the permission of the superintendent.

Among the classes open for entries will be home-baked goods of all kinds; candy; canned goods; dried fruits and vegetables; preserved meats; jams and jellies of all kinds; pickles and miscellaneous home products such as maple sugar, home-made soups, vinegars and salad dressings. There will also be a special sweepstakes class, featuring the best general display of home products made by one woman.

In an effort to make this year's Better Baby Contest the most comprehensive in the Fair's history, Michigan will be conducted its length and breadth for the most perfect baby, between the ages of one and three years. The contest will be under the direction of Dr. Guy L. Kiefer, State Health Commissioner, with Dr. Lillian R. Smith in charge. Through the contest the Fair officials aim to increase the health and strength of the babies in the state, through the scientific examinations and health advice given during the contest. Entries will close on Saturday, September 1, and entries can be made either by mail or in person on blanks which will be furnished on application to the Fair office here. Examination of babies will start on Monday, September 3 at 10 a. m. and awards will be announced Saturday, September 8 at 11 a. m. First, second and third ribbons will be awarded winners.

During the fair two more contests will be held, for the State Champion Horseshoe thrower, under the rules of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' Association, and a contest for the State Champion Old Fiddler. The entrants for the Fiddler's contest must be over 40 years of age and the contest will be held at the band stand in the grove on Wednesday, September 5 at 3 p. m. Walter Palmer will receive entries in the Fiddler's Contest at the State Fair up to 6 p. m. on Saturday, September 8. No entry fee will be charged.

Weather House at General Motors Proving Ground

General Motors proving ground, the 1,245-acre outdoor laboratory near Milford, Mich., where cars are accurately measured to find out their performance ability, has in response to a demand for greater accuracy, added a weather house to its many ingenious scientific checking devices.

term employed by proving ground engineers. It is unique, again, in that it includes in its complete equipment probably the only wind velocity indicator in operation outside of the U. S. navy. It has been in use for several weeks, and is now operating day and night under the direction of skilled meteorologists. Its reports are available to all General Motors divisional engineers and daily reports are filed at Lansing with the Michigan state weather department.

following days. It might be found, too, that a little more water was required for the radiator and that fluctuations were noted in the speed, none of which effects would be discerned by the average driver. The Chevrolet engineers will set out to find the cause of these variations; and one of the first aids they will call upon is the weather recorder.

knowledge is a vital help in developing new models and in adjusting old ones. The wind velocity, incidentally, is one of the most important meteorological factors in motor performance. So marked is its effect, in fact, that precise tests are impossible when it exceeds 10 miles an hour. The complex and always reliable wind velocity indicator, which came into being in the United States navy, where it was evolved from a device originally used for transmitting messages from the bridge of a ship to the engine room, is therefore one of the most highly considered pieces of equipment in the weather house.

SEEK HISTORY DATA IN SOUTH

House-to-house Canvass to Be Made in Search of Old Documents.

Washington.—Plans for collecting millions of old letters, diaries, statistical and other original documents contained to shed light on southern history were outlined here by Dr. Joseph Greigore de Rouville Hamilton, professor of history at the University of North Carolina, speaking under the auspices of the local chapter of the alumnae of that state's college for women.

The collection has been started on a small scale, but it is to be broadened, now that preparations have been made to provide a fireproof structure for the State university at Chapel Hill, N. C., in which to preserve the data.

Dr. Hamilton said that the material would be available to historians or other research workers interested in learning actual social, economic and other basic conditions connected with the settlement and development of the South.

The plans contemplate a collection throwing light upon the past and present of the states of Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Texas.

To Ransack Through Garrets. Material will be sought not only in old garrets, closets, trunks and cellars in those states but from Southerners who have moved elsewhere and who have such letters and documents. Where material is given by or concerning those now living it will be sealed and not thrown open to inspection until such time as may be designated by the donors.

Dr. Hamilton emphasized the urgent need of rescuing such papers now from the danger of fire, rats and other causes of destruction. In recent months Dr. Hamilton has rummaged in several attics in North Carolina for letters which the owners thought useless. Some of the communications found are considerably more than 100 years old. In many instances he discovered that letters had been burned to get them out of the way.

At one farmhouse he ran across a batch of love letters written in the early '80s, which the owner said would be of no interest to anyone. Picking up one letter at random, Dr. Hamilton discovered that it was from a young man who had gone to Tennessee and later to Mississippi. It gave a minute description of the country and social conditions when he arrived.

Southern Diaries Found. At Fayetteville, N. C., Doctor Hamilton saw a box of yellowed documents, some of them relating to business matters of a century and a half ago. Again he was told that there was nothing of importance in the collection. He picked up another letter at random. It was from a pioneer seeking information about a water wheel desired for his plantation.

That communication was a valuable sidelight, Doctor Hamilton said, on an economic condition respecting farm machinery prevailing at the time, and would prove of great value in constructing the true story of early efforts to improve production.

He said that he had discovered that many Southerners, from the earliest days, kept diaries after the fashion of New Englanders and that these contained pictures of living conditions not yet clearly depicted in history. One diary he found ran from 1880 to 1918.

He added that Southerners generally had been more careless than New Englanders or Westerners in keeping their old records and that not until recent years had attempts been made to gather and preserve them for their value in studying both southern and national history.

Call Situation Unfortunate. "The whole situation," he said, "is unfortunate. The time is ripe to remedy it so far as possible by the establishment of a great library of southern historical material, or to express it, perhaps, more accurately, of southern human records.

"With the completion of plans for its new and permanent library building, authorized by the last legislature, the University of North Carolina, in pursuance of a plan it has contemplated for many years, is now undertaking the establishment of such a collection and beginning active prosecution of that work."

The North Carolina material already includes 40,000 bound volumes and pamphlets. These relate also to early affairs in Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia. In addition, there are many newspaper clippings that have been classified. As new material is received it will be filed and catalogued and made readily accessible to the historical student.

The southern collection, as planned," said Doctor Hamilton, "will include, so far as possible today, every book or pamphlet of any kind on any subject written in the South or by a Southerner, every one which deals in any way with the southern situation, people or their problems.

These kinds of material. The state publications general historical bibliographies.

town, county and other local histories, genealogical works, essays, poetry, fiction, sermons, files of periodicals, statistics, maps, broadsides, the catalogues, minutes, proceedings and reports of educational bodies and institutions, fraternal orders, commercial, professional, philanthropic, religious, social, patriotic and scientific organizations, as complete files of southern newspapers as can be secured and files of papers from other sections which carry southern material.

"Nor will it be confined to printed material. It will include great masses of manuscript material, such as diaries, unpublished reminiscences or other autobiographical writings, letters of every description, plantation records, and the ledgers and other records of industrial and business undertakings.

"It will contain not only papers and letters of prominent individuals and families, but all kinds of records which reveal the life and thought of the masses of the people."

Dr. Hamilton said that this material would show hitherto unknown facts in economic, social, religious, scientific and political fields. He predicted that the South within fifty years would be the scene of a "tremendous economic and social development" and that the matter to be gathered would enable it in the immediate future to "wisely chart its course."

The plans contemplate sending investigators through several states on a house-to-house canvass to collect all available documents up to at least as late a period as 1880 or 1885.

Indians Won't Sing Night Song During Day

Paris.—The Indians of India and the India's of the United States have much in common in their music, says Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra. Mr. Stokowski recently returned to the Western world after six months in the Orient and the Near East.

"Last year," Mr. Stokowski said, "I made my first trip into the American Far West, studied the Indians and their music and dances and talked to as many of them as possible. In India last winter I did the same, avoiding white men in order to be with the natives and try to understand them and learn from them.

"The music of the American redskin and the Hindu are both affected greatly by the position of the sun. They have songs for the sunrise, for the afternoon, for twilight and for night-time, and it is impossible to get them to sing a sunrise song in the afternoon. I remember having heard a beautiful song near Taos, N. M., one night, and the next day I asked the Indian singer to repeat it for me.

"Not now," he said, "that was moon music." "And in India a Hindu whom I asked to repeat a melody I had heard at dawn told me he wouldn't sing it at the time I asked, explaining that it was 'sunrise music.'"

Bogota Plans Better Homes for Workers

Bogota, Colombia.—Adobe hut dwellers on the fringes of Bogota are anticipating better and more sanitary homes equally as cheap as those they now occupy.

A workmen's ward, centrally located, is the objective of the municipal cheap habitations commission, which is now negotiating a $500,000 loan to finance the project, the first of its kind in Bogota.

At a beginning 500 or 600 small model houses to cost not more than $1,000 each would be constructed. The commission believes the establishment of such a ward would not only meet the housing requirements of the poor but centralize the work of the health authorities in their fight against disease and infant mortality.

Grave Diggers Kick

Toledo, Ohio.—Grave digging is an important operation, and should entail important money for the men who do it, seven grave diggers of Forest cemetery here believe. Their wages recently were cut from 70 cents an hour to 55; and they are objecting strenuously.

Up-to-Date Shopping

New York.—Drop a coin in the slot for what you wish to buy and receive your change and a "thank you" from a mechanical man. A robot is to be used by a merger of automatic merchandising companies.

Bolt Tears Up Girl's Shoes and Stockings

Petersburg, Va.—Susie Burrow, twelve years old, daughter of Joseph Burrow of Prince Georges county, had a narrow escape from death by lightning recently at Burrowsville, when a bolt tore her shoes and stockings to shreds.

Struck the child, who was visiting her aunt and was in a room with another child lying upon a bed, ran downstairs and discovered blood issuing from a gash in her foot. After apparently passing through the girl's foot, the lightning flashed under the bed and continued through the house, doing considerable damage to ceilings and walls.

HUDSON Patents F-Head Motor

The U.S. Patent Office has granted patents to the Hudson Motor Car Company on the "F-Head" high-compression motor. The patent—No. 1,656,051, relating to internal combustion engines—covers the entire arrangement of valves, spark plugs and combustion chamber.

With the new patented design Hudson motors now are built with a compression ratio of nearly 6 to 1—or 20 per cent above the average—with correspondingly high standards of acceleration, fuel economy and power. It is practically impossible to make the motor knock under even the most adverse operating conditions. The motor is the liveliest, most powerful and economical Hudson has ever built.

Picked Up About Town

"Nature is a good deal like Santa Claus," declares Dad Plymouth. "He fills some stockings to overflowing and is stingy when it comes to filling others."

If you are able to forget facial injuries you have learned one of the roads to real happiness.

You can get a lot of kick from holding a political office if you can first learn not to take yourself too seriously.

According to Dad Plymouth, the only thing that is rarer than a day in June is a husband who hasn't found out his wife's opinion of him.

Being told that a government report declares there are fewer insect pests this year, Dad Plymouth wants to know how about the fellow who spends Sunday afternoon honking his auto horn.

Certainly there is such thing as "instinct." If there wasn't how could a fellow pick his own flivver out of a bunch of several hundred?

A record grain crop is in sight, and we feel sure both political parties will claim the credit.

LITTLE CAT TURNS OUT TO BE JAGUAR
Queer Pet Set at Liberty in Auto Accident.

Washington.—The wildcat which was set at liberty by an automobile accident here recently and was thought to be roaming the streets of Washington was not a wildcat at all, but worse still, was a jaguar cub and was captured a few minutes after the collision by Fred Redmond when it ran into his home, throwing the household into a high state of excitement and confusion.

The cub is three and a half months old and was captured in the jungles of Nicaragua. William J. Slattery, the owner, returned from Nicaragua a short time ago following the expiration of his enlistment in the navy and brought the animal with him for a pet. He says that it is very tame despite the fact that four men were required to corner it and get it safely inclosed in a chicken coop.

Redmond said that he heard the automobile crash and went out to see if he could be of any assistance. As he opened the front door of his home in popped the young jaguar. As the animal is about the size of an ordinary cat, although slightly longer, he thought it was the house cat. When he returned his wife met him at the door, greatly excited and with the information that "that was a funny kind of cat you just let in."

The "kitty" was found hiding under the bathtub, snarling and striking out with its claws. Redmond finally got hold of the chain attached to the beast's collar by reaching into the room with a broom. He tied it on the doorknob and went for help and a chicken crate at the corner store. He brought back three men with him and it took the efforts of all four to get the little "kitty" inside the crate.

The next morning "Kitty" was more docile and submitted to fondling and a meal of raw beef.

Slattery was taking the jaguar for an airing at the time of the accident. Slattery sustained a sprained ankle, cuts and bruises and when he regained consciousness at the hospital, the first thing he asked for was his "wildcat." For a time it was thought that the full extent of his injuries had not been determined. After a few minutes he convinced the doctors that he was sane, however, but it was not until the next day that his pet was found.

Famed German Castle Is Slowly Decaying
Hamburg.—Schloss Friedrichsborf, the beautiful castle built by and for Empress Victoria, wife of Emperor Frederick and mother of the deposed former kaiser, is slowly decaying. Her daughter, the grand duchess of Hesse, who inherited this work of art, is unable to meet the cost of upkeep.

The castle was built in accordance with the personal wishes of the empress, a daughter of Queen Victoria of England. She insisted upon taking stone from the quarries of the Tannus mountains, though warned that this stone contained saltpeter. The interior was furnished with costly art treasures.

In the course of time it developed that the walls could be prevented from "sweating out" saltpeter only if the rooms were kept quite warm. The grand duchess of Hesse and her husband find that this takes more coal than they can afford and have consequently taken up their residence in the adjacent smaller palace, which formerly served as the home of the empress' master of ceremonies.

Pair to Be Tried Under Anti-Duel Law
Atlantic City, N. J.—A century old law against duelling was raked up from Atlantic county's past recently, and when William Rushton, twenty-four years old, of Cologne came out of the city hospital he was arrested under it. His opponent not only is named as a duellist, but is charged with assault and battery as well.

Some time ago the young man called at a girl's home and shortly after Charles Siewert, sixty-five, came in. A quarrel followed, according to the police, and the men agreed to "shoot it out" with shotguns. Standing several feet from one another, they fired. Siewert was not hit, but Rushton received a charge in the arms and abdomen.

According to the county prosecutor's detectives, the pair will be the first ever to be brought to trial for violation of the anti-duelling act.

Crowd Gathers to See Girl Take Sun Bath
London.—Sun bathing has its comedy side. A girl living in Bayswater crawled out on the edge beneath her fourth-story window, 50 feet above the hot ground, and reclined in the hot rays, clad only in lingerie.

A crowd gathered and someone cried, "She is going to fall." The police and the fire department were called but with their arrival the girl looked down, saw the commotion and climbed back into her room.

She told the police that she was attempting to take full advantage of the sunshine.

GREAT ROUND-UP ON HISTORIC KING RANCH
14,000 Steers and 500 Cowboys Take Part.

Kingsville, Texas.—During the last two or three weeks the great King ranch of 1,200,000 acres has been the scene of one of the greatest cattle round-ups that has taken place in Texas for many years. It consisted of cutting out of the vast herds more than 14,000 head of two and three-year-old steers and driving them to the railroad loading pens for shipment to pastures in Oklahoma. There they will be fattened, and later in the season they will be sent to the St. Louis market.

The shipping of these cattle from stations on the railroad which borders the King ranch for more than sixty miles will require nearly two weeks of constant loading. The cattle will fill 300 stockcars, and the shipments are moving by solid trainloads.

But for the fact that practically all of the cattle upon the great ranch which belongs to the estate of the late Mrs. Henrietta M. King are now of blooded stock and are comparatively tame, the round-up operations would equal in interest those of the old ranch days in this section. The cattle were scattered over a vast area of the ranch. More than 500 cowboys were employed in rounding them up. Then came the work of cutting out the two and three-year-olds. Day after day the expert cowboys, most of whom are Mexicans, rode through the masses of following animals and dexterously singled out those that were intended for shipment. These were concentrated and finally brought together in one great bellowing herd.

Not Like Old Days.

In the old days there would have been much more excitement and possibly some casualties in the round-up of the wild longhorns with which the ranch was stocked. In the far reaches of the domain were still to be found a few of these relics. Two old-time longhorns were gathered in the round-up of one of the more isolated parts of the ranch a few days ago. They were cut out and placed in a corral, where they will be held pending shipment to a zoo or museum.

Many spectators sat upon the fences of the loading pens and watched the milling cattle as they were driven into the loading chutes. Among these fillers were a number of veterans of the range. Some of these men had lived in this part of south Texas since the early ranching days when Capt. Richard King, who purchased the land that now comprises this vast estate, was a veritable feudal lord, not only of his own domain but of practically all that territory lying between Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande. He and Mrs. King were the first white settlers of the lower Gulf coast country. They went through a long period of hardships during which they were forced to make a constant fight against poverty and marauding bands of Indians and outlaws.

The present ranch home is magnificent in size and appointments. It was erected at a cost of $150,000. It contains many guest rooms and there is seldom a time when most of them are not occupied.

The old King ranch house was burned more than fifteen years ago, and with it Texas lost a landmark known from one end of the country to the other. Built like a fort, with cannons protecting the approach, it represented a period in Texas history that has passed but still is remembered by many now living.

It was in the '50s when Captain King built the fortress, which stood for many years defying Indians and cattle thieves and bands of Mexican outlaws. Because life was so uncertain in those times he mounted two cannons in front of the house, more for the moral effect than for use. Yet there came times when the cannons were the only representatives of law and order left in the country to help the captain and his wife maintain their home against organized bands of desperadoes.

Once Steamboat Captain.

King was a steamboat captain before he came to Texas. For years he commanded a boat on the Mississippi river, and just before he acquired the nucleus of his famous ranch he was running his own boat on the Rio Grande. At old Fort Brown Captain King met Henrietta Chamberlain, the daughter of a Presbyterian minister who was chaplain of the fort. Captain King and the chaplain's daughter were married and went to make their home in the wilderness in 1852. He had bought a large tract of grazing land from the state at 5 cents an acre. He stocked it with cattle from the surrounding ranches. It was not difficult to stock a ranch in those days, for cattle were so cheap that they were killed as a regular business for their hides and tallow.

Such were the events of the early days in Texas, when the King ranch was established. In spite of the unsettled condition of the times, however, or perhaps because of them, Captain King slowly began to add to his ranch.

All of the land was stocked with Texas longhorn cattle. There was no thoroughbred stock in the whole ranching country. Captain King died in 1888. At that time he was the largest cattle owner in Texas.

After the death of Captain King, Mrs. King made Robert J. Kieberg, her son-in-law, the manager of the property. He has remained in that position ever since.

BASE BALL NEWS

PLYMOUTH MERCHANTS LOSE THIRD GAME OF YEAR: GRAHAM-PAIGE OF WAYNE TAKE GAME 6-1.

Last Sunday, August 19, Plymouth Merchants went over to Wayne to play the strong Graham-Paige team and the tables of two weeks ago were turned because the locals were on the small end of the score.

The Waynites are no doubt the strongest team our boys have played this year and they played errorless ball throughout the whole game. Thom, who pitched for Wayne, kept our hits well scattered and was in a box only once or when it really looked like our chance to make some scores, this was in the fifth after Rowland doubled. Giles drew a base on balls. Millross struck out. M. Clement reached first on a scratch single, filling the bases with only one out. Strasen was next up and after all the advice that could be given any player to make a hit was given "Tim," he did make a hit and right in a double play and our hopes were all gone. Giles had the highest batting average of the day, batting .666, while Millman and Wood each batted .500. Ritchie and Millman each made a fine shoestring catch after making a long run which helped to keep the score down.

Next Sunday, August 26th, the locals play the Ann Arbor Colored Stars from Ann Arbor. The Merchants played this team earlier in the season and won, 4-3, eleven innings, and the colored bats are coming back for revenge, so a good game is expected. Don't forget the date.

LIBERTY A. C. 13, NETHEM 0.

Liberty A. C. journeyed to Newburg last Sunday to face Nethem on its own field and proved to be the fastest class A team that ever traveled outside the outskirts of the metropolis, and victory was given to them with ease. Liberty A. C. reorganized since their last two trips to the suburbs and can now bravely boast of one of the fastest class A teams in Detroit. The score was enormous—13-0—but Nethem, realizing that defeat was theirs, on account of a crippled infield, just changed their players around at random, and each added to the grand amount of errors, whilst Liberty was playing scoreless baseball. Rutherford starred on the error list, with the whole team giving him a close run for his position, but he was determined to keep the honors; so ranneth a baseball game at times, and thus ranneth the story, according to the box. Errors are left out on account of numbers, you will find zeros on the E list. The score tells the story. Liberty A. C. has many aspirants for the Tiger club, and many of their players are trained at Navin field; so take notice, the surprise of the season. Next Sunday Nethem faces another aspirant team in the Tigers outfit—the Red Dots. The pitcher has already signed up for the southern training, so come out and see a real class A team cross bats with Nethem—the brave, though conquered by the mighty.

DE-HO-CO GAINS TOP BERTH BY DEFEATING HOLLY.

Sunday, August 19th, De-Ho-Co journeyed to Holly and defeated the Inter-County League leaders by the score of 5 to 2.

With the league leadership at stake, De-Ho-Co started right out to win when they scored one in the first. They added two in the third, one in the sixth and one in the eighth for a total of five runs. The best Holly could do was to collect one in the second and one in the fourth.

Hartner, Holly's veteran hurler, pitched one of his customarily good games, allowing nine hits and striking out six, but Henrion, De-Ho-Co's choice, was at his best and had Holly helpless. He was master of the situation at all times and allowed but three hits and not a base on balls.

Martin, with a single and home run, and Smith, with two singles, done the heavy clotting for the Farmers. Incidentally, Smith was robbed of a homer when Adams, Holly centerfielder, raced to the flag pole and pulled down his long fly. McGinnis, Holly shortstop, picked out one of Henrion's fast ones and clouted it for the circuit and the only earned run they secured. The other run was the result of a single by Irwin and an error by Destefano.

Saturday, August 18th, De-Ho-Co met Belleville at Belleville and defeated them 6 to 0. The boys from Belleville were completely baffled by the pitching of Moore, a new addition to De-Ho-Co's hurling staff. Moore showed them some new slants so effectively that not a man reached second. Seven of the Belleville boys went out swinging at the third strike.

Next Sunday, August 26th, will be the big day at De-Ho-Co Park, West Point, who have designs on first place in the league standing, will come out to meet the Farmers on their own playground. West Point is so confident of downing De-Ho-Co in this critical game that they placed an order for seven hundred tickets so their rooters can be on hand to cheer their team to victory. Several hundred more choice seats are still available but the local fans are advised to be on hand early to insure a good seat for this game.

M. S. C. Plans State Fair Stock Exhibit

EXPERIMENTAL RESULTS AND GOOD GENERAL PRACTICES TO BE SHOWN AT ANNUAL DETROIT SHOW.

Good breeding, proper feeding, and judicious selection of livestock will be the theme of the Michigan State College exhibit in the Coliseum at the state fair at Detroit in September. In addition, a potato commodity exhibit will be housed in the agricultural building.

The livestock departments at M. S. C. are cooperating in staging the exhibit, which will portray recent experimental findings. Besides poultry, about 40 head of livestock will be used for models, including dairy and beef cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep.

Beef-feeding experiments will be illustrated by two steers, one of which has been finished on ground barley, corn silage, and alfalfa hay; the other on shelled corn, linseed meal, corn silage, and alfalfa hay. Three miniature farms will represent the exact acreage of crops required to finish 50 fattening calves.

Two lots of hogs will show that hogs can be fattened as economically in a small movable hog cot as in a more expensive central house. Yearling stallions will also be shown to represent the type of horse which should be used for a herd size and the kind which should be made into a gelding.

Weeding and feeding will be portrayed in the dairy cattle exhibit, while the control of parasites will be stressed in the sheep portion of the exhibit. Careful versus careless management of the farm flock will be depicted by poultry representing both types.

One reason why they have to enlarge the lunatic asylums is because the breadwinners of today also have to earn the price of gas.
