A NEW ALARM.

Reports that a successful cotton-picking machine, one that actually picks it cleanly and quickly and as fast as a small army of hand-pickers could do the same job, are now appearing in the daily press. Hundreds of attempts to perfect an invention of this kind have failed, and this may be just another instance. There are millions of people who hope it is a failure, for millions believe that anything that would replace the cotton-pickers of the south would be a disaster instead of a blessing.

But maybe there isn't any good reason for fright after all. Older Plymouth residents can remember that when the self-binder first came out farm laborers were alarmed. They thought it was going to drive the farmers to starvation, and many binders were actually burned in the wheat fields by those who claimed to see in them a device for reducing the number of farm jobs. The printers thought the same thing when the typesetting machine came out, a machine that sets type as fast mechanically as five compositors can set it by hand. And yet there are more printers today than ever before—and all earning two, three and four times as much as they were getting before.

The cotton-picking machine may be a blessing in that it will drive a certain number of jobs that pay more. It will not be a success if it deprives anyone of a living, however, because the people themselves will not endorse a machine that does that. It may, after all, like the self-binder and the typesetting machine, prove a blessing in disguise. We can only wait and see.

OUR WINTER WEATHER.

Weather prophets, who many months ago predicted this would be "another year without a summer," seem to have sneaked into a hole and pulled the hole in after them. At least we're not hearing any predictions as to what kind of a winter we're going to have. One brave soul, however, hobs up in Chicago with the statement that "a long, hot summer is always followed by a severe, cold winter." That's about the only chirp we've seen in the papers, and if Plymouth citizens generally are as sensible as we believe they are, they will refuse to place very much faith in it. The corn-busk and the goose-home prophets haven't yet come forward with their usual announcements of what the winter is going to be like. And yet we will manage to struggle along without such forecasts, and take what comes. We're entitled to a guess. So it is our guess that old Mother Nature is going to send us the kind of weather she wants us to have, regardless of prophets and prognosticators.

HERE'S THE LATEST.

Plymouth motorists, who have learned not to be surprised at anything, will be interested in knowing that a line of "sleeper buses" has just been inaugurated between Los Angeles and San Francisco. "Nite-coaches" they are called, and while they are just a big auto bus in daytime, capable of carrying 40 people, at night they are converted into sleepers, the seats being so arranged that beds to sleep 28 passengers can be made. All space is utilized, even the hood of the bus being dispensed with. By drawing curtains each compartment becomes a private berth at night. The bus as a whole measures 35 feet in length, is eight feet wide and 10 feet four inches high, the chassis being dispensed with since the frame and body are built as a unit. It is drawn by a 110-horsepower motor, and costs $30,000. Now who will say there isn't anything new under the sun?

SALEM

Judging by the congregations of the people's Sunday evening pictorial services to be held in Salem town hall this fall to become a popular institution. At the service last Sunday Bruce Barton's well-known book, "The Man Nobody Knows," was recently presented upon the screen. Incidents in the life of Christ, and the actual places where He lived and worked and ministered were beautifully portrayed before an appreciative audience. Solos were rendered by Mrs. C. Lewis, Mrs. A. Parker and Lloyd Staebler. Mrs. Spiers kindly presided at the piano and accompanied the picture with well-chosen selections. These services are being held under the direction of the Rev. A. J. Parker. The next pictorial service is to be held on Sunday evening, September 30, when the feature picture, "Not One to Spare," which is based on Ethel Lynn Beer's famous poem, "Which Shall It Be?" will be presented on the screen. A special musical program is being arranged, and this service will commence at 7:30.

Harvest Thanksgiving services are being held at Salem Federated church on Sunday next, September 23. Harvest sermons will be preached by the Rev. A. J. Parker. Morning at 10:30; evening at 8 o'clock, and harvest anthems rendered by the choir. The church will be specially decorated for the occasion and many gifts representing the harvest of the year will be on exhibition. On Monday evening the harvest surprise supper is being held in the church basement at 8 o'clock, when all friends are kindly asked to bring, packed up in a neat parcel, supper sufficient for one person; then after grace everyone will be asked to exchange their parcel with the friend sitting opposite. Coffee will be provided by the church. Price for supper is 25 cents, and immediately after supper the sale of harvest gifts will be held. An invitation is extended to everybody to join in the Harvest Thanksgiving festival. The church will be open all day on Saturday to receive harvest gifts and offers of help in decorating the church. Gifts especially desired will be all kinds of fruits and vegetables, flowers, plants, ferns, evergreens, eggs, dressed poultry, corn, grain—anything and everything that will constitute a thank-offering and represent something of your thanksgiving to God for the harvest of another year.

Topics of widening Grand River avenue into and through the city of Farmington have been considerably increased recently by the acquisition of various parcels of frontage along the highway, both in the city and township. According to Road Commissioner Isaac Bond, who has been active on the project, every required piece of property in the city, with one exception, has been tentatively acquired. That is, agreement has been reached as to the compensation allowed, and the property owners are ready to sign. In the township, it is reported, an additional 2,400 feet, or one-half mile of right-of-way, has been obtained.—Farmington Enterprise.

Financial Silver Sunbeam 887465, a pure-bred Jersey cow owned by P. H. Greenan, of Northville, has completed an official production test. Sunbeam was started on this test when she was just four years of age, and in the following 365 days she produced 518.92 pounds of butterfat and 825 pounds of milk. Her milk averaged 6.01% butterfat for the test, and she carried calf for 177 days of the ten months. In her best month she produced above 64 pounds of butterfat. With the above record Sunbeam qualified for the Register of Merit of the American Jersey Cattle club. Her sire is Braumton Silver Flyer and her dam is Ridgeley's Finance.—Northville Record.
