

CHILDREN RECEIVE DENTAL EXAMINATION AT SCHOOLS

GREAT IMPROVEMENT HAS BEEN MADE IN DENTAL CONDITIONS OF BOYS AND GIRLS.

For several years the local dentists, Drs. Olsaver, Champe and Hoyer, have been rendering a wonderful free service to the boys and girls of our public school in the way of a dental examination given in the fall of each school year.

The improvement in dental conditions among the boys and girls during the past year has been particularly outstanding. This improvement, which is the result of the earnest effort on the part of their parents to have remedial defects removed and of the health work in the school under the direction of Mrs. Strasen, our Community Nurse, along with the splendid cooperation of our teachers, is most gratifying. In the fall of 1927 there were 631 boys and girls in grades Kindergarten and Sixth grade were examined and of them 190 found whose teeth were in perfect condition. This is an improvement of 15 per cent over the number of children whose teeth were in perfect condition one year before. Another evidence of the effect of annual examinations and the splendid cooperation of parents is the fact that this year 297 pupils were examined in the 7-8-9 grades (Junior High School) and it was found that 92 of the 297 or 31 per cent had perfect teeth. This is a gain of 7 per cent over the splendid results which were found this year in the grades from the Kindergarten to the Sixth, inclusive.

Any community in which the parents are alert to the needs of their boys and girls when the same is brought to their attention is certainly to be congratulated. Freedom from dental defects insures happier boys and girls and makes possible a better grade of work in our Public School. It is one of the ways in which individual parents are able to make the school tax dollar a greater amount of good. The splendid results noted above in the condition of the teeth of our boys and girls can not be attributed to any one person but it is a tribute to the splendid cooperation of the dentists, nurses, teachers and parents.

Detroit Pastor Will Speak Here

Dr. Albert S. Johnson, pastor of Temple Baptist church, will speak at the Plymouth Baptist church Thursday evening, Dec. 13. His subject will be "What Are We Here For?"

Dr. Johnson received his college education in England. He is also a graduate of the Moody Bible Institute and the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary of Chicago, from which he received his doctor's degree.

The Temple church is the second largest Baptist church in Detroit. Dr. Johnson has been with them four years and in that time it has almost doubled in size. We are to have with us Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Falck, of Detroit, to conduct the song service.

Dr. Johnson is a very forceful speaker and will bring a message worth hearing. We are looking forward to another capacity crowd. Come early.

TO HAVE NEW DIRECTORY.

R. E. Andrews, sales manager of the R. L. Polk & Company, makers of directories, called at the Chamber of Commerce office during the week relative to the compiling of a new directory for Plymouth, Northville and perhaps Farmington. The men in charge of the compilation of the directory will begin taking the census about the 15th of the month.

KIWANIS CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

DR. LUTHER PECK WILL PILOT CLUB IN 1929.

The annual election of officers for the Kiwanis club of Plymouth was held last Tuesday noon at the regular luncheon meeting. The Kiwanians who will guide the destinies of the club for 1929 are the following:

Dr. Luther Peck, president; Paul J. Nutting, vice-president; Robert J. Julliffe, district trustee; John B. Hubert, treasurer; Mark J. Chaffee, Stewart M. Dodge, Albert Gayde, James L. Johnson, John M. Larkins, Rev. F. A. Lendrum and Irwin T. Pierce, directors. The new secretary will be chosen by the incoming board at its January meeting.

Henry Ray, the biggest little man in the club, sponsored the day's program, and after a few words of his own showing his appreciation of the club and what it had meant to him, introduced Dr. T. S. Muffitt, of the faculty of the Detroit Teachers' college, who gave the club one of the finest and most highly educational talks they have heard this year.

The Appeal of The Double-Barred Cross

Mrs. Charles O. Ball, local chairman of the Christmas seal sale campaign, which is now in progress in Plymouth, reports that the sale of seals is now most satisfactorily started. Mrs. Ball is being assisted by Mrs. Wilson Swartzmiller and Miss Athalie Hough. Superintendent George A. Smith and his corps of teachers are organizing a campaign among the pupils of the school, who will sell Christmas seals one day next week and will make a house to house canvass of the village. Christmas is just around the corner and people are having another opportunity to help the Detroit Tuberculosis sanatorium. They can do this by the purchase of Christmas seals.

The annual sale of Christmas seals has become both a country-wide institution and a national habit. It is an excellent habit. The double-barred cross pictured on the seals is a symbol of the quiet, determined and fruitful struggle which is being waged today in all civilized countries against the "white plague." The cross is also an appeal to human beings who are not afflicted and who can help with no great cost or effort. Plymouthites in the past have been generous in their appreciation of the energy and devotion of those who carry on the fight in our midst. Every cent given for Christmas seals this year will be a contribution of cheer and encouragement to the staff and the patients at the sanatorium. Buy and use as many as you can.

RECOVER STOLEN AUTOMOBILE.

The automobile of Arthur Tillotson was stolen from the street in Plymouth on the evening of Nov. 2. Two men, Zuzlo Russell and Peter Marlon, are now confined in jail in Detroit, and to them is charged the theft of the car, which was recovered a few days ago in Detroit by the police. Mr. Tillotson has sworn out a warrant for their prosecution and they will be arraigned before Justice Phoebe Patterson as soon as the Detroit police are through with them, they being held there upon suspicion of another crime.

WILL SHOW NEW WHIPPET CARS

McLaren & Atkinson, local dealers for the Whippet and Willys Knight cars, announce that the new Whippet fours and sixes will be shown at their salesroom at 637 South Main street Sunday, Dec. 9, all day and evening. The public is cordially invited to call and see the new car.

Hockey Team Wins First Game Sunday

LOCAL TEAM DEFEATS PARKE-DAVIS TEAM 9-2 IN FAST SCRIMMAGE.

The Plymouth hockey team played the Parke-Davis team last Sunday night at the Olympia and won by a large margin, the score being 9 to 2. Immediately following the Cougars vs. New York American professional game the Plymouth and Parke-Davis teams took the ice, with thousands of fans still remaining to see some fast amateur hockey.

In less than two minutes after the referee blew his whistle starting them off the Plymouth team had scored a goal.

A few minutes later the puck was slipped past the Parke-Davis goalie for another counter.

The Plymouth team skated all around their opponents in the first period, scoring three goals.

In the second period, however, Parke-Davis rallied to a certain extent and managed to chalk up two goals. Plymouth let loose again and before the period ended had three more scores to their credit, the second period ending 6-2.

Garlett, of the Plymouth team, while in a scrimmage, was met by one of his opponents, head-on, resulting in a cut over his left eye. He was taken to the first aid room and the wound dressed by Dr. Cooper, who happened to be among the Plymouth fans.

In the third period Plymouth scored three more goals.

Signers—Lowrey, Block, Pidgeon, Douglas.

This is the second of the municipal hockey league games played. The first game was played Saturday night between Barton Plumbers and Bendix Brakes, Barton winning the game 1-0. The third game was played on Tuesday night between Union Trust and Woodrow Wilson Recreation, resulting 4-2 in favor of Union Trust.

James A. Shafer Passes Away

James A. Shafer, for many years a resident of Plymouth, passed away, Thursday, November 27th, 1928. Mr. Shafer had been in failing health for several years. The deceased was the son of Axford and Ann Shafer, early residents of Plymouth. For a number of years, together with his brother, George B. Shafer, he conducted a foundry business here and later were engaged in the implement business. His wife passed away in 1907. He leaves two brothers, George B. Shafer and E. A. Shafer, of Northville, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, of this place.

Funeral services were held from the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Walter Nichol officiating. The interment took place at Riverside cemetery.

WILL SEE PAPERS AGAIN.

Harry C. Robinson will again be among the old newboys who will sell papers on the streets of Detroit Dec. 19, to provide 24,000 worthy children with useful and necessary wearing apparel and other things that will make for these poor kiddies a Merry Christmas. Mr. Robinson takes a great interest in this great work of the old newboys and he gets a great deal of pleasure in giving his time and energy in doing something that will bring comfort and happiness to the poor children. Harry wishes to thank his many Plymouth friends for their help in the past and to wish them all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William Felt, of 632 Fairground avenue, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday, Nov. 28. Those who were present from out of town were: Mrs. Emma Courtwright, Mrs. Mary Strong, Mrs. Frances Stone, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, Mrs. Thomas Roney, Mrs. Harvey Meldrum, Mrs. Edna Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. Marie Murray, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Maple, Miss Florence Maple and friend, of Detroit; Mrs. T. R. Bacet, of Flint. There were also many Plymouth friends who called to extend congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Felt were the recipients of many lovely gifts in gold. A luncheon was served.

Plymouth Girl Receives First 1929 Auto License Plates at Local Office

Miss Elizabeth Beyer, of Plymouth, has the distinction of receiving the first license plates, No. 842-051, issued at the Plymouth branch office of the department of state. Miss Beyer's smile seems to indicate that her worries are over as far as 1929 plates are concerned and that she will not be among those waiting in line for two hours or more during the rush period.

STINSON TO BUILD FACTORY AT WAYNE

COMPANY TO HAVE 10-PLANE CAPACITY FACTORY AND LARGE INDUSTRIAL AIRPORT.

Construction of the new factory of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation, near Wayne will begin within ten days, it was announced today. At the same time plans were announced for a new industrial airport to be located on a square mile of land at the edge of Wayne.

The new factory will provide 85,000 square feet in a single-story building and will be so constructed the plant can easily be enlarged. The company will move from its present one in Northville as soon as the Wayne factory is completed.

The new airport, which will probably be known as the Detroit-Wayne Industrial Airport, is to consist of 640 acres, of which 360 acres will be available for manufacturing plants and the remaining 280 acres is to be converted into a landing field, which will provide runways of about 4,000 feet each in every direction and, if necessity arises, special runways a mile in length can be provided.

The airport is bounded by the Pere Marquette railroad and Ecorse. Van Born and Cogswell roads while the Michigan Central railroad is located a short distance north of the field. The field is on the Detroit-Chicago air route. While the airport is incorporated for $500,000, it is expected that at least $1,500,000 will be spent on the new project and that a landing field will be ready for use by the Stinson Company shortly after January 1.—Detroit Times.

PYTHIAN SISTERS INITIATED CLASS OF EIGHT.

Pythian Sister Temple No. 84 held a very interesting session at their hall Tuesday evening when a class of eight was initiated into the mysteries of the order. Ann Arbor Temple came over with their staff and exemplified the work in a very creditable manner. Grand Chief Eva Vrooman, of Wyandotte, and Past Grand Chief Laura Gillette, of Ann Arbor, were present, and both gave short addresses full of interest and inspiration.

After initiation, election of officers was held and the prospects are that the ensuing year will be one of many pleasures and benefits. At the close of the meeting members and guests retired to the dining room, where a dainty lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION.

The stage attraction at the Penniman Allen theatre for next Sunday and Monday, Dec. 9 and 10, is the Williams Merry Makers Revue. There are seven people in the company and they present 45 minutes of clean entertainment. They carry special scenery and lighting effects. The feature picture is Tom Moore and Seena Owens in "His Last Haul."

HIT BY FALLING PIPE.

One of the heating pipes in the Mattetal greenhouses fell down last Monday and knocked down Claude Waterman, dislocating his left hip. He was taken to Dr. Gues's hospital at Ann Arbor, and it is expected he will be able to return home in a few days.

High School Juniors Gave Excellent Plays

HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM WAS SCENE OF JUNIOR PLAYS NOVEMBER 22 AND 23.

A new standard of excellence was set by the junior class of the High School when they presented three one-act plays Thursday and Friday evenings, Nov. 22 and 23. The setting and costumes were unusual and beautiful; those for "The Joy Lady" were particularly an artistic triumph. These were all under the direction of Miss Mary Lou Cooper, teacher of art; the juniors are grateful for her interest and help, and the audience saw more clearly what dramatic art in a school should be.

"Two Crooks and a Lady" presented a difficult role in that of the invalid, portrayed so capably by Thelma Smith, Lucille Ebert as the maid and Carl Denton as her accomplice were effective and convincing in roles calling for tragic high-lights. Elizabeth Strong was the typical quiet and dignified maid-companion and did her work exceedingly well, as did Kenneth Gust, the police inspector.

"The Joy Lady" was in a Chinese setting, something different than has heretofore been attempted. Marguerite Wood, as Jo-simie, who loves a young man but comes near to tragedy when the youth's father buys her from her own parent, played the leading role with unusual sympathy for the changing moods in it. Vivian Smith, as Blossom, was lovable and pitiful; Charles Root and Russell Wallace took the heavy dignities of the parents with just the right solemnity we associate with the Oriental. The porter, Richard Smith, the king of thieves by Frank Clemens, and the servant by Fred Shear, were the laughter-provoking roles and all excellently rendered. Ted Baughan as the youth beloved by Jo-simie won the sympathy of the audience by his treatment of his role.

Perhaps the best that has ever been presented to the public who attend high school plays was given them in "The Monkey's Paw." This was sheer tragedy, a different thing for young people to portray, and the acting of Marguerite Wood and Russell Wallace deserves unstinted praise. They were really feeling their parts and their emotion gripped the audience. Frank Clemens as the son was natural and struck the only humorous notes in the play. Carl Denton's quiet, clear voice when he broke the news to the parents and his restraint were evidence of understanding his role. Richard Smith as the sergeant-major struck the note of mystery that keyed the audience to the unusual theme in a very dramatic way.

Miss Madge Johnson, as director of these plays, deserves unusual credit; she has developed a standard of acting and a critical sense of what is good drama among pupils and adults. That she has coached a play always means one is to see first-class work.

The solo dances by Lucille Ebert, given between plays, and the music of the orchestra, under Miss Schneider, were also thoroughly appreciated. The chief usher, Katherine Truck, and her assistants in berets and sashes were good to look at. The Lion's club, consisting of Kenneth Holcomb, Robert Brodin, Walter Miller and Lawrence Hunk, took care of all changes of scenery.

WILL HAVE FORMAL STORE OPENING SATURDAY.

The formal opening of the Plymouth Furniture Company's newly remodeled store at 200-208 Main street will take place Saturday, Dec. 8. Mr. Truck, the proprietor, had the double store rooms all newly redecorated and other improvements made and they present a very fine appearance. The north side of the building is given over to the display of dining room furniture and small pieces of furniture. The south side is devoted to the display of leather room and over-stuffed suites, tables, etc.

Since the establishment of this store several years ago the business has steadily grown, which made necessary the acquiring of more room for the display of a larger and more varied stock of merchandise.

To properly mark the formal opening, the store is making some exceptional bargains, as will be noted in the full page ad in the Mail, today.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to call at the store Saturday and inspect the stock and see the improvements that have been made.

LUNCHEON MEETING IS POSTPONED.

Because of the fact that George E. Smith, secretary of the League of Nations Non-Partisan association, who was to speak in Plymouth Dec. 13 at the League of Women Voters' luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower, finds it necessary to be in Lansing on that date, the league has decided to postpone this important meeting on the Multi-Lateral treaty until January.

Another fact that influenced the league in this decision was the fashion show tea sponsored by the voters' league, that will be held at the Book Cadillac hotel Wednesday, Dec. 12. Plymouth has been allotted 25 tickets for members and friends. The Plymouth league hopes to interest that many women in attending this tea, which promises to be most entertaining and enjoyable.

BLUE BIRD RESTAURANT WILL REOPEN.

The Blue Bird restaurant will reopen Saturday morning, Dec. 8, under new management and will be known hereafter as Perry's Lunch.

PLYMOUTH BUSINESS MAN HELD UP

DAVID GALEN WAS HELD UP BY TWO BANDITS EARLY LAST FRIDAY MORNING.

While driving out from Detroit early last Friday morning, David Galen, proprietor of the Purity Meat Market, was held up by two bandits at the intersection of Plymouth and Telegraph roads. Mr. Galen had slowed down for the traffic signal at this point, which was set against him, and as he came to a stop one of the bandits jumped upon the running board of his car and shoved a gun into his side and commanded him to drive on. He was preceded by the other bandit in another car. They drove west on Plymouth road to the Beech road, where they turned north and after crossing the Pere Marquette railroad track, the bandit commanded Galen to stop and asked him to produce his money. Mr. Galen gave him about eight dollars in small change, whereupon he told him to come across with the big wad, emphasizing his request with the gun which he still held in his hand. Reaching into his pocket, Mr. Galen handed over about six hundred dollars in money and checks. He was then ordered out of his car and the bandits then drove both cars away and Galen was brought back to Plymouth by a passing motorist. Mr. Galen's car was found a short time later a short distance from where the hold-up took place.

Young Man Dies Suddenly

Harold Willard Holcomb was born June 9th, 1907, in White Lake township. He lived in White Lake township until ten years old, then with his parents moved to Plymouth, where his father died seven years ago on April 9th. At the age of fourteen he was in the hospital at Ann Arbor for five weeks. Being a frail boy his mother and step-father moved to West Bloomfield township and remained there until six months ago. He returned to Plymouth to stay with his brother and wife so as to work in the Forestry Department of Wayne county.

Harold returned home to spend his Thanksgiving with his mother, when he was taken ill. He was then taken to Goodrich hospital where he passed away at 10 P. M. Friday evening, November 30, 1928.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. A. J. Miel; two brothers, Henry H. Holcomb and Lloyd Holcomb; two sisters, Elythe L. Holcomb and Winifred M. Holcomb; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Holcomb, a step-father, A. J. Miel; two grandmothers, Mrs. Ursula Holcomb and Mrs. Hattie Bump; and relatives and friends.

He was a very devoted son and brother and loved by all who knew him. He was a member of the Plymouth Baptist church.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from his mother's home, with interment at Clarkson.

LOCAL MERCHANTS READY FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS.

Local stores are taking on a Christmas look with their gay decorations, and everywhere preparations are going on in anticipation of a record-breaking Christmas trade. Local merchants have never had larger or more varied stocks of Christmas merchandise than they have assembled this season. A look at the many attractive show windows will be a great help to the shopper in aiding him or her in what to buy for gifts.

Shop early is again the slogan of local merchants, when the stocks are at their best and the selection greater. Don't fail to look over the wonderful stocks of Christmas merchandise in Plymouth. A glance through the advertising columns of the Mail will help you to solve the problem of what to buy.

USING SCHOOL HOUSES

We are glad to note in exchanges reaching this office a growing tendency in various rural communities to use the school houses for other purposes than that for which they are primarily intended. In many sections of the church and the school house are the only places in which public meetings, lectures and various forms of entertainments can be held. It is not possible for our rural residents to maintain public halls designed especially for this purpose. So where this is the case the school house affords a convenient substitute, and proves a still greater asset to the community in which it is located.

While almost, if not all, of the rural school houses around Plymouth are more or less used as public meeting places, we believe there is still a tendency in some communities to overlook the advantages that arise from doing so. It is possible now for a community to secure an entire course of lectures and entertainments, running throughout the entire winter, and to make of their school house a real social center. Such entertainments tend to foster a spirit of cooperation and neighborliness which is of untold value to the entire community. Today, too, it is possible to get a radio for an evening's use in any rural schoolhouse, and thus provide residents of the community with a delightful program. Great speeches and lectures, of nationwide interest, can now be secured in the same way, and more and more our exchanges are noting events of this nature. It is a sure sign of advancement, this thing of using the rural school house for other than school purposes. And there is no reason why every section of our own county should not fall in line.

ROAD FIGURES

It may startle the average Plymouth citizen to learn that since 1918 the United States government has spent $613,903,977 on federal-aid roads. But he will be still more startled to realize that even that vast sum represents an expenditure of but fifty cents a year for each man, woman and child in the country. Those of us who know how thoroughly the nation is now cobwebbed with fine highways can hardly believe that they have come at such a small cost to the federal taxpayer. Of course, we have paid a state and county tax. But none of us have been hurt, when we consider that we have received for our money and how great has been the benefits arising from our present wonderful highway system. There was a time when arguing road improvements was common in every community. Today the argument is all one-sided—today we argue if we don't get more of them. Federal aid in road building has proven one of the wisest steps Uncle Sam has ever taken. Let us hope he doesn't slow up on the job.

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK

There is more than a mere item of news in a dispatch recently sent out from Birmingham, Ala., to the effect that 100,000 cotton spindles have been located in that state during the present year. Back of it is positive proof that the smaller towns of the country are coming back into their own industrially. These 100,000 spindles are operated by one big manufacturing concern, but instead of placing them all in one big factory, located in one big city, they have been put into ten smaller plants, each located in a separate town. Thus labor is scattered over ten communities instead of one—ten small towns are profiting through ten weekly payrolls.

This is only one of many similar movements of the kind, and the Plymouth citizen who is capable of looking ahead can easily see in it a step that may, sooner or later, benefit our own community. Operators of our larger industries have learned that they must get closer to the raw materials they use. The old idea that a factory, to be successful, had to be in a big city, no longer prevails. Today the small town, offering better living conditions and more pleasant surroundings for the factory worker and his family, is not only making a bid for its share of industrial activity, but it is getting it. We will do well here to keep our eyes open, to work together, and to be ready to seize upon any industrial opportunity that may come up.

ONE WAY TO HELP

With Thanksgiving a thing of the past for this year, about all we have to look forward to now, as 1928 nears an end, is the greatest holiday of all—Christmas. We are not going to deliver a sermon now on the wisdom of buying early, though it would be timely, at that. But we are going to ask our readers in and around Plymouth if they won't help make this Christmas a little brighter for our vast army of White Plague sufferers by investing at least a dollar in Red Cross Christmas seals. If you can't get them any other way, send a dollar bill to the National Red Cross, Washington, D. C., and tell them you want 100 of the Christmas Seals. Then use them on every letter and every gift you make. Even if you don't use all of them, you may be sure your money is being used, and for a noble purpose. The Red Cross is and will continue to be the greatest mother suffering humanity has ever known. There is no greater charity than it provides, but it can only provide that charity as you and your neighbors will. Here is your chance to aid suffering humanity in a substantial way. Don't let it pass unnoticed.

A SHORTER CAMPAIGN

Quite a few newspapers throughout the country are now suggesting that the time has come for shorter presidential campaigns. The radio, they argue, makes it possible for both candidates to quickly put their arguments before all the people and that there is, therefore, no longer any use for keeping the country stirred up from June to November. Make the nominations late in September, they suggest and have a short campaign, with less loss of time—which means loss of money—to the voters of the country. They contend that no one changes mind during the latter part of a campaign anyhow, and that weeks and weeks of speechmaking is no longer of value to either party. It sounds good. But of course it is open to argument. We pass on the suggestion, believing it is sure to become of nationwide discussion later on, and leave it to our readers to form their own opinion on the subject.

LOCAL NEWS

The L. A. S. of Livonia will meet at the home of Mrs. Louis Sallow Wednesday, Dec. 12. Everyone welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Westfall spent Sunday afternoon with the latter's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Place, near Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. James Housely, of the Housely beauty shop, attended the hairdressers' exposition at the Statler hotel Monday evening. Many new ideas were obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Place and daughters, of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Irving Carpenter and little grandson, of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Proctor and Mrs. Charles Barnsdale and children, of Trenton, called on Mrs. Frank Westfall last Tuesday afternoon and also called on relatives at Commerce. Mrs. Frank Westfall accompanied them.

The annual Christmas party of the Methodist Missionary society was held at the home of Mrs. L. N. Dickerson on Wednesday. At 1 o'clock a delicious chicken dinner was served to 34 members and special guests. The guest of honor was our beloved Miss Anna Smith, whose birthday anniversary it was. There was a birthday cake with well 19 candles, and she was presented with a basket of beautiful flowers. During the afternoon 15 nice indestructible dolls were dressed and later will be sent in a box to one of our children's homes.—C.

Today's Reflections

What's the use of arguing early Christmas shopping unless we know where to get the money to do it with?

Plymouth boys don't get slapped for kissing the girls these days—and neither do they get scratched by pins when they hug 'em.

We see where a "Peeping Tom" was sent to the penitentiary from Chicago. That ought to open his eyes.

Sometimes we get up feeling as full of pep as a campaign speech and then go to bed feeling like the picture of a defeated candidate.

Now we know the world is getting better. Not a single soul wrote in this fall to ask us to reprint "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin."

A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, and at this season of the year so is a rabbit.

Now that sauer kraut is said to have originated in Asia we would not be surprised to be told that "Hot Dogs" were first discovered in South Africa.

If you feel you're not getting anything out of your community, try putting something in.

To the average Plymouth boy cleanliness is not only next to godliness but it's next to impossible.

Sure Way To Stop Coughing

THIS PRESCRIPTION RELIEVES ALMOST INSTANTLY.

Coughing is usually due to causes which patent medicines and cough syrups do not reach. However, Thoxine, a famous doctor's prescription relieves coughing with the very first swallow. It works on an entirely different theory, has a double action, relieves the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause.

Unlike most cough medicines, Thoxine contains no chloroform, dope, or other harmful drugs. Safe for the whole family. Also excellent for sore throat. Quick relief guaranteed or your money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00. Sold by drug stores and all other good drug stores.

Former Plymouth Boy Weds Sunday

One of the charming events of the season was the beautifully simple but dignified and impressive marriage ceremony performed Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the First Methodist church, when Miss Maxine Snidecor, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Snidecor, became the bride of Wilber Hathaway, oldest son of Rev. and Mrs. S. Conger Hathaway, who was celebrating also his 21st birthday anniversary. All are of this city. Rex Keller presided at the organ preceding the ceremony while the guests were being seated, and changed to the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party entered.

Miss Snidecor, on the arm of her father, who gave her away, made a lovely bride in a beautiful bouffant formed gown of white satin with front of Brussels lace. Her long tulle veil edged with the lace fell from a coronet head-dress of lace and orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of beautiful white roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor, Miss Alice Hathaway, sister of the groom, was beautiful in pale green georgette and wore a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas. Miss Margaret Stephens, charming in light blue georgette trimmed with rhinestones and crystal beads, and Miss Hazel Voorhees, stately in flowered pink with lace flounce, acted as bridesmaids, each wearing corsages of pink roses and sweet peas. At the altar where baskets of shaggy yellow and bronze helix chrysanthemums were used effectively in the decorations, they were met by the groom and his best man, Merrill Warner, Battle Creek, where the sacred ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Hathaway, of the Presbyterian church, father of the groom, assisted by Rev. Marshall Reed, of the Methodist church, Merrill Draper, Plymouth, and Carl Sheffer, this city, served as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents to about 60 relatives and intimate friends, and a dainty two-course wedding supper, featured with a beautifully decorated three-tier bride's cake, was served. The parlors of the home were tastefully beautified by an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway will be at home in Ypsilanti, where they have taken one of the Bachelor apartments on Washington street.

Many beautiful gifts have been received by the young couple, who left for a short wedding trip. Among the guests were relatives and friends from Grand Rapids, Howell, Ann Arbor, Pontiac, Owosso, Milan, Monroe, Plymouth, Bedford and Battle Creek.—Ypsilanti Daily Press.

MUNICIPAL NOTES BY THE MANAGER

The village commission at its regular semi-monthly meeting Monday evening, authorized the purchase of an auxiliary centrifugal fire pump to be mounted upon the village chemical truck. This pump, in a recent demonstration in the village, developed a pressure of 200 pounds in a hose line when taking water from a hydrant at 30 pounds pressure, and a pressure of about 170 pounds when two lines were attached. This equipment will make of our chemical truck a pumper of high efficiency and will make it possible for our equipment to throw four high pressure streams from two hydrants, instead of only two streams from one hydrant as at present. This means a practical doubling of our effective fire fighting equipment at a relatively low cost.

An inspection of railroad crossings in the Village of Plymouth by a railroad inspector of the state public utilities commission was made Thursday of this week as a result of an application for railroad crossing protection by the village commission. The public utilities commission will specify the type of crossing protection that best suits the needs of each individual crossing, after receiving the report of the inspector, and will order same installed at the expense of the railroad company or of the company and village jointly.

With the advent of cold weather comes the need for protecting water services and water meters from freezing and consequent damage. Citizens are requested to see that water lines are properly drained before leaving their premises for any considerable time without heat, while on trips, etc.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE
In the Matter of the Estate of IDA L. BENNETT, Deceased.

I, the undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, Commissioner to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet at the Plymouth United Savings Bank, Plymouth, Michigan in said County, on Saturday the 19th day of January, A. D. 1929, and on Tuesday the 19th day of March, A. D. 1929, at 10 o'clock A. M. of each of said days, for the purpose of receiving and adjusting said claims, and that four months from the 19th day of November, A. D. 1928, were allowed by said Court for creditors to present their claims to us for examination and allowance. Dated November 13, 1928.

CHARLES FISHER, Commissioner.

CENTRAL SCHOOL P. T. A.

The members of Central School Parent-Teachers' association were pleasantly entertained Monday afternoon, Dec. 3, by Mrs. Mabel Boxson's first A grade. The children dramatized a Christmas story, developing their own interpretation arrangements and costumes. A unique introduction gave their presentation an interesting beginning and the enthusiasm and sincerity of the little players held the attention of the audience to its successful conclusion. Christmas carols, played on the victrola, supplied an appropriate atmosphere.

At the conclusion of the program regular business was taken up, and inasmuch as Central P. T. A. has been invited to join Starkweather association at their school for the evening of December 19th, it was decided to cancel our meeting for Dec. 17. Members please note this change and by your attendance show the members of Starkweather you appreciate this spirit of co-operation. Remember, 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday evening, Dec. 19, at the Starkweather school.

HOME SERVICE CLASSES START.

Miss Helen Taylor, home service director for the Michigan Federated Utilities, is conducting a series of cooking classes during the month of December. Classes opened on Tuesday afternoon with an interesting lesson on meat dishes, which included a mixed grill luncheon, pressed veal loaf and ham timbals.

Miss Taylor discussed the using up of left-over foods in several new and appetizing dishes, which could leave no reminiscence of yesterday's meal. Also demonstrated using the boiling oven and top oven at the same time, thereby conserving an amount of gas used.

Next Tuesday the lesson will be on cakes, including pineapple, upside-down cake, chocolate fudge cake and ice box cake, also a discussion of cake baking in general.

Anyone who is having trouble with their gas appliances and would like to talk with Miss Taylor, please call gas office and she will be only too glad to come to the homes. If you cannot come to class, stop in and get the tested recipes.

KING COLOR comes to decorate your home

Color for home decoration, inside and out, is the fashion. This is the age of color. Not to understand color is to be behind the times. You must know your colors if you would be truly in style.

You cannot afford to choose colors inadvisedly. Only quality paint can be authentic in color—beautiful, enduring, imperishable—the height of good taste and economy. We are "THE HOUSE OF COLOR" for Acme Quality, the "Home of Color" for over forty years. Every exact, durable shade for inside and outside use is found in the Acme Quality line of paints, enamels, stains and lacquers. Let us help you select colors of enduring quality.

As a further aid see the first edition of the Acme book, "King Color Rules the Home," the last word in color selection and home decoration. Worth dollars. Yours for the mere cost of printing. Ask us to show it to you.

Today's Reflections

A woman often wonders why she married the man she did—and that is often a bigger mystery to him than it is to her.

There is never any danger of girls dressing like boys. Most girls will never feel stylish wearing as many clothes as a boy wears.

Since spanking has gone out of style a lot of Plymouth parents have to take it out on each other instead of the children.

It's a good idea to have things right where you want them when you need them, but that doesn't work out when it comes to parking space.

For the Street

FASHION'S decree for the winter months specifies calf shoes for street wear. Furthermore, it says you shall wear brown calf shoes. You can meet the dictates of style with pardonable vanity by selecting Down Town Brown with its richness and depth of color. A variety of patterns from which to select—all with Walk-Over ankle-fitting perfection.

Detroit Buys Yearly Electrical

Current Valued At $25,000,000

RESIDENTIAL DEMAND GROWS RAPIDLY WITH INTRODUCTION OF LABOR SAVING HOME DEVICES.

Detroit, today, is one of the nation's largest users of manufactured electricity. The growth in consumption of electricity by Detroiters has been found by the Detroit Convention and Tourist bureau to be the result of the development of present day electrical generating plants and equipment. The improved efficiency in the production of electrical current for industrial, commercial and domestic use has caused the sales volume of this industry to increase from a few hundred thousand dollars at the beginning of this century to more than $22,000,000 in 1928. Of this total 80 per cent was spent by citizens of Detroit proper, and the remainder by those living in the metropolitan area.

The introduction of thousands of electrical devices, which have been invented and placed on the market within the last 28 years have also, in a large degree, been responsible for the increased demand for electric power. Today, practically every business and home in the city uses electricity for numerous and varied purposes. The total number of consumers, consisting of small and large stores, theatres, business men, who employ the electric sign for advertising purposes, industrial plants and resident homes, have expanded from less than $5,000 in 1900 to more than 500,000 during the past years.

The drudgery of house-keeping has been considerably lessened through the production of electrical equipment designed as an aid to the household manager. The housewife of the present generation depends on her electric washer and other electrical helpers. The advent of the vacuum cleaner, of which Detroit is the largest producer; the electric stove, iceless refrigerator, toaster, dishwasher and other household electrical equipment including the flat iron, electric irons and heaters, have now replaced the old-fashioned methods by which housework was accomplished by women of past generations.

Electricity has made possible every convenience of modern Detroit. Musical programs over the radio are now brought into the home by the use of electricity. It is no longer novel to talk to friends across the continent by means of the telephone because electricity has opened a field whereby conversation with even European nations is now a matter of ease. Announcement has been made that even the baby's cradle may be electrically equipped.

Of the total number of consumers of electricity in Detroit in 1928, more than 85 per cent are resident consumers, according to a check up made by the Detroit Edison company. These Detroiters, during the past year, used 22,321,950 kilowatt hours of electrical current as compared with the 24,000,000 used by 10,000 customers in 1905.

When electrical power for lighting purposes was first introduced to the public, the old carbon filament lamp was in vogue. Today, with the improvement of the new tungsten current, three distinct purposes are served; more light for a given amount of electricity, better illumination and a decreased cost per kilowatt hour.

Although the tonnage of coal used in the manufacture of electricity, has increased from 201,993 tons in 1910 to the present usage of more than 1,300,000 tons, the cost per customer for the production of electrical power is less. Whereas at that time it took 3,222 pounds of coal to produce one kilowatt of electricity, it now takes only 1,333 pounds for the same amount.

Even with the higher cost of materials, principally coal, which then cost

$2.21 and now $4.06 per ton, the rate per kilowatt hour for residence service has decreased from 6.04 cents in 1915 to the present price of 4.72 cents.

Detroit's factories consume more than fifty per cent of all electricity used in this city. The constant improvement of methods for greater production capacities of Detroit's large industrial plants is an important factor in the consumption of electricity. Detroit's large manufacturers now depend on the use of electrically driven motors, dynamos, drills, chain conveyors, and other electrical devices which are used by automotive and other industries for the conveyance of materials to the workers, for a larger daily output.

Detroiters, last year, were the consumers of 1,811,109 kilowatt hours of electricity, according to Harry Snow, statistician for the Detroit Edison company. Of this amount 12.7 per cent was for residence lighting; 13.5 for store lighting; 9.7 small manufacturers and shops; 47.6 large industrial users; 3.9 per cent railways; 3.8, for street lighting, water pumping, etc., and 4.2 per cent for other public utilities.—Detroit Free Press.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Thursday, December 20, at 2:30 P. M. with Mrs. George A. Smith, 1430 Sherman Avenue. The leader, Mrs. E. R. Duggett, has arranged a Christmas program for the day and members are asked to respond to the roll call by giving a Christmas rhyme.

A pot-luck supper will be served and the committee requests that members will kindly lighten the work by bringing plate, cup, fork and spoon.

The usual silver collection will be taken and every one will be made welcome.

Michigan Corn Best In Tests of Yields

INDIANA TRIALS SHOW THAT WOLVERINE STRAINS LEAD OTHER VARIETIES.

Michigan corn varieties outyielded other strains of corn in yield tests conducted in Indiana by the extension division of Purdue University.

Clements White Cap and M. A. C. Yellow Dent, two corn varieties developed in Michigan, stood first and second in production of shelled corn when tested in Huntington county with eight other varieties commonly grown in Indiana. Clements White Cap yielded 59.4 bushels and M. A. C. Yellow Dent, 54.03 bushels.

The same two varieties stood second and fourth in a similar test conducted on another farm in the same county, and the variety which stood first produced only four-tenths of a bushel more per acre than Clements White Cap. The yields in the second test were higher; the leading variety produced 63.8 bushels per acre.

The Michigan corn is listed as early, ninety-day varieties in Indiana but both sorts fail to ripen in ninety days in Michigan. These varieties are recommended for use in central and southern Michigan counties by the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

Clements White Cap was developed by Paul Clement, Britton, and M. A. C. Yellow Dent is a variety originated by plant breeders at Michigan State College.

State Boys Winners in Chicago Contest

Michigan 4-H club boys won third place in the livestock judging contest at the International Livestock Show at Chicago, according to reports of State club leaders.

The members of the Michigan team were L. Smith and Wallace Fox, Marshall; and Marvin Hitchcock, Athens. The boys were coached by E. C. Sackrider, club agent of Calhoun county.

Eighteen states were represented in the contest. Oklahoma placed first, and Kansas boys were second. The Michigan team took second place in judging cattle and fourth on sheep. Wallace Fox, who placed fourth among 54 boys competing at the International had the high individual rank among the Michigan boys.

TUNNEL SAFETY TESTS EXPLAINED

Experiments With Humans Forecast Dangers.

New York.—How modern tunnels for vehicles under rivers, such as the Holland tunnel under the Hudson, have been made possible by means of experiments on animals and experiments in which full-sized autos were driven through a small experimental tunnel, is revealed in a report to the Engineering Foundation here by A. C. Fieldner, chief engineer of the experiment station division of the United States bureau of mines.

When the Holland tunnel was first proposed, says Mr. Fieldner, many engineers thought that it would be impossible to ventilate. The amount of poisonous carbon monoxide given off in the exhaust was thought to be so great that it could not be carried away.

Experiments made by Prof. Fandell Henderson at Yale university showed that as much carbon monoxide in the air as four parts in 10,000 would not be harmful if the exposure did not exceed an hour.

The first experiments were made on animals, then Professor Henderson and his students tried it on themselves.

Then an experimental tunnel was built at the experimental mine of the bureau of mines near Pittsburgh. This was 9 feet wide, 8 feet high and 400 feet long. Above the ceiling was an air duct three feet high and below the floor was one two and one-half feet high. Either could be used for introducing fresh air or for exhausting contaminated air.

Small automobiles were driven back and forth through the tunnel at a speed of ten miles an hour and at 40-foot intervals. Tests were made with various methods of removing and admitting the air, and examinations of the drivers by blood tests were made before and after.

Ideal Beau Must Have Job, Say Atlanta Debs

Atlanta, Ga.—A serious-minded man who sends flowers, who does not dance with his eyes closed, a man who has a job, a sense of humor and an automobile, makes the most desirable beau, say members of this year's debutante club here.

"Of course," said one of the society misses by way of amendment, "a car isn't absolutely necessary, but it helps a lot."

But all insisted the man must have a job, and a good job at that. None of this "two can live as cheaply as one" palaver for them. Didn't they know girls who had tried it?

Ideals of the men were not discussed by the debs. "You have to fit the ideals to the man," said one. As for the type of men the debutantes were noncommittal. There is a tradition that each debutante should have two beaus at the Piedmont Driving club's Halloween dance, one to sit on each side of her at the flower-banked table when members of the debutante club make their first formal appearance in a body. This, one Atlanta woman wryly observes, is "keep the public guessing." So the debutantes refrain from discussion as to whether ladies prefer tall, dark-skinned men or blonds.

Locating Fire in Ship Real Task for Experts

New Orleans, La.—One of the hardest jobs for a water-going fire department is finding the fire, says John J. C. Pasley, fire captain of the fire tug Deluge, guardian of New Orleans harbor.

"When a building is burning you can see where and how it is burning. When a ship is afire, however, it's not so easy. It may be afire in any one of 100 places. Generally, though, you can find the fire by searching for the hottest place on the deck. But even after you have done this, your work has just started, because then you have to learn the construction of the ship, the arrangements of bulkheads and hatches, and learn the nature of the cargo."

The Deluge, the captain says, answers about four calls a month in addition to emergency tasks of various kinds.

Fever Is Produced by Radio Alternation

Albany, N. Y.—Artificial fever, caused by radio, without any accompanying illness, is under study here.

The phenomenon was discovered when a bystander near a short wave radio antenna noted a 22 degree rise in his mouth temperature in 15 minutes. The radio was discharging from a six-foot rod to ground with 60,000,000 alternations per second of 15,000 volts.

GOEBEL SECOND TO LINDY AS AIR IDOL

Less Modest Than Colonel, but Great Flyer.

New York.—Two years ago a broad-shouldered young man with crinkly lines of humor beneath his eyes swayed into the New York office of a prominent moving-picture concern.

"I'm a stunt aviator," he announced brusquely. "Out of a job. Almost broke. Living in a Brooklyn Heights furnished room at present. What would you think of a loop-the-loop under the Brooklyn bridge?"

"Why, it's suicide, man," he was told. "You must be crazy."

The young man, who was nearly six feet tall and who looked about thirty years old, threw back his head and laughed.

"Suicide, nothing," he said. "How much am I offered?"

The officials consulted. A loop-the-loop between the East river and the struts of Brooklyn bridge seemed impossible. However, it would be a wonderful picture. Finally it was decided to offer the daring aviator $25,000.

The offer was duly made and the young man left in disgust. His hopes were in shreds. He had dreamed of earning enough by perilous stunting here to purchase a plane of his own, then to fly to Paris and do similar stunts about the staid old Eiffel tower there.

This seemed the end. He went back to Brooklyn and then down to Curlew field. A month later he was back on the Pacific coast, the home of his boyhood. He had got there by "bumming rides" with west-bound pilots whom he could persuade to carry him free for short distances.

Of course this all happened six months before Charles A. Lindbergh shook the country from its aviation coma by his picturesque flight to Paris.

Today Art Goebel is the aviator most talked of next to Lindbergh. Self-assertive as he was when he wanted to loop-the-loop under the Brooklyn bridge, he is a different type of hero from Lindbergh.

Even yet the public is slow to appreciate the value of the cross-country records made recently by Goebel. When it does it may enshrine him along with Lindbergh, though of course it will never allow him to displace Lindbergh.

It was Goebel who spanned the continent in the first west to east non-stop flight recently. His plane made the 2,710 miles in 18 hours and 28 minutes.

Had Adventurous Youth.

Goebel's career shows only superficial similarities to that of Lindbergh. He had an adventurous youth, rebelling against milking cows on his father's farm in Rocky Ford, Colo., in favor of tinkering with gasoline motors in the garages of Main street. He enlisted in the army in 1918 and had a varied stunting experience before fame came to his door.

When the pineapple magnate, J. D. Dole, back in August, 1927, offered $35,000 in prizes for a 2,400-mile flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, Goebel pawned or sold nearly everything he possessed in order to get ready the Travel Air monoplane, the Wookaroo, which interestingly enough was Indian for "good luck." Previously Goebel had been stunting before Hollywood's cameras.

Goebel's victory made him internationally known. Almost overnight he became a colonel, though previously he had had no military title.

Then came a "good will" trip to the Orient for Goebel. Immediately there comes to mind the 1,300-mile tour of South America and Central America which Lindbergh made in the Spirit of St. Louis. Goebel's flight was less productive of international good will. He toured Japan in the interest of an airplane company.

There are many differences between Goebel and Lindbergh. For instance, the former was more of an instrument flyer than the latter. When Lindbergh made his Paris trip he did not know much about the science of navigation. It is a recognized fact that he was taught this science by army flyers after his return. Goebel, on the other hand, was always an instrument flyer and an excellent navigator.

Vatican Workers Try to Bolster Up Tower

Rome.—Workmen of the Vatican are busy saving from collapse one of Rome's historic Christian battlements, the eleven-century-old tower built by Pope Leo IV for the protection of the Vatican Basilica against the Saracen invasions of the Ninth century.

Inspectors for the architectural offices found in a vital buttress supporting the tower a dangerous crack that imperiled the entire structure, threatening its collapse. Workmen were summoned immediately.

The tower is one of three which still stand along the line of defending walls constructed by Leo IV so as to enclose the hill and the Basilica against the Saracens, who had taken the city of Ostia nearby.

All three towers are of remarkable strength, and now are used for astronomical observatories by Vatican scientists.

In recent years there has been a growing movement to restore ancient ruins or at least preserve what remains of many of the relics of early Roman civilization.

GIFT WEEK!

GIFT TIME FOR EVERYBODY

Open Evenings Until Christmas

Grandmothers
Grandmothers are especially fond of comfortable gifts such as Slippers, Books, Laces and many others. Now that it's Gift Time you must come to Blunk Bros.—for gifts that Grandmother will love are here.

Dad
Dad says little, seems easy to please, but sometimes he wishes for such gifts as the Ties, Hose, Robes, Traveling Cases and other popular choices that we are showing for a man's Christmas.

Mother
Mother's thoughts run in many channels—things for the home—sensible wearables—something youthful, perhaps even frivolous—and we have taken care of all of that so that you can choose what she'll like.

As Christmas Eve draws near the store is crowded with eager buyers, and the jostling and rush is enough to try the well-known patience of Job. But now shopping is easier—you can roam around the store at your leisure, choosing gifts you KNOW they'll like, from an assortment that is remarkable for completeness and variety.

Miss Early Twenties
Miss "Early Twenties" longs most for delicate lingerie, sheer hose and other luxurious necessities to make college days, gay parties or business hours happier. We can help pick out just what she hopes to receive.

For College Men and Young Business Men
For College Men or Young Business men you may be sure to hit the right spot with smart wearables, such as Ties, Scarfs, Shirts, Hose, Pajamas, Robes, Jewelry, Gloves, Underwear—all of which, and more, are here.

Gift of High School Age
Girls of High School Age are dreaming about the same things as their older sisters, only they need them in the more youthful and vivacious styles that we are showing for the young moderns.

Now, too, we are staging Gift Week, and special prices are being made on popular gift items. It's done so that you can save the wear and tear of shopping, as well as save materially on the things you buy. Make it a point to do the bulk of your Christmas shopping during Gift Week at Blunk Bros.

Brother Bill
Brother Bill can be pleased with clothes and furnishings, or is equally satisfied with outdoor sports equipment. Whatever your "Brother Bill" likes best has been provided for in our Gift Store.

Little Sister
Little Sister—still in the doll age, but joyous, too, over new dress, shoes, hat or other dress-up things for all occasions. If you have a "Little Sister" on your list you'll find her gift here.

Grammar School Gus
"Grammar School Gus" is the active all-boy who will go wild over mechanical toys, building sets, miniature pool tables or a store full of other things that are now in stock—ready for him—here.

Here's Baby
Here's Baby—doesn't say much, but if sparkling eyes tell a true story she's delighted with colorful little "doodads," or new dresses, socks, shoes—all of which she knows you can get in our Infants' Department.

Santa
Well, how did Santa get in here? He should give instead of get. All right—all he wants, he tells us, is for all of you to SHOP EARLY—and incidentally, at his favorite store—Blunk Bros.

Granddad
Granddad—enjoying life's Indian Summer—feels the cockles of his heart warming up to gifts like Slippers, Dignified Clothes, Conservative Jewelry and things that pay tribute to his pride.

Said He Understood Women

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

DEN UNDERWOOD realized that all the neighborhood was interested in his courtship of pretty Alice Menefee. He knew that the folks near Alice's home and, in fact, all the folks in the Lakeside section of Brampton, where Alice resided, were wondering whether he would win Alice's hand or whether she would bestow it on his rival, Howard Brahm.

And Ben, realizing all this, tilted his chair still further back and smiled at his good friend, old Mrs. Ferguson, through the smoke from his cigar.

"Mrs. Ferguson had been Ben's nurse when he was a baby. Now that her husband had become wealthy she, too, resided in the Lakeside section of Brampton, but she had not outgrown her affection for Ben, and still mothered him.

"You ought to be up and doing," declared Mrs. Ferguson, with asperity, evidently irritated by Ben's composure. "Brahm will be running away with the girl you ought to marry, before you know it, if you don't look out."

"She'll never marry him!" declared Ben positively.

"But look at what he's doing for her," Ben's old nurse cried. "He's always taking her out in that big automobile of his. And then look at that big house he's putting up. You ought to be putting up an even better one. You can afford it."

"I know I can afford it," said Ben. "but I'm not going to do it. I tell you I understand women and I know what they want."

That night Ben went to see Alice. He knew that the neighbors were watching closely as he drove up before her home in his last year's car and sauntered casually up the steps to the front door. Ben didn't care what the neighbors thought or said or did. If it afforded them entertainment to know he was calling on Alice, and if they enjoyed speculating about the outcome of the contest between Brahm and himself, let them keep on speculating.

She herself came to the door and greeted Ben with a cheery smile that brought home to him more forcefully than ever the fact that he wanted her very much indeed.

"I'm going to a big party tomorrow night," said Alice, "with Howard. I suppose it will be quite late."

"Yes?" said Ben, without much interest. "There's a friend of mine going to get married soon," went on Ben, "who has got one of the most complete little bungalows you ever saw. Everything all arranged so that the work of taking care of the house won't amount to anything at all. He's bought one of these new hand vacuum cleaners. He's bought a lot of other labor-saving devices from our store, too. Would you like to look at his bungalow?"

Again Ben looked carefully and thoughtfully at Alice. And again he smiled as she clapped her hands and looked pleased.

"I'd love to go!" Alice exclaimed. "I'll come and get you Saturday afternoon," said Ben. "Maybe you can make some suggestions as to changes that ought to be made in the little bungalow."

Ben wore a smile on the following Monday when he was once more in Mrs. Ferguson's house.

"Ben," said Mrs. Ferguson, "I don't want to discourage you, but I'm afraid it's all off. Brahm's house will be finished soon and he's telling around he'll soon be taking his bride there. You know what that means?"

"Yes," said Ben, unperturbed. "It means nothing at all."

"Why?" demanded Mrs. Ferguson. "Because," said Ben, "he doesn't understand women. Last Saturday I took Alice to see a little bungalow I told her a friend of mine was putting up. It's a neat little place—just the right size for a young couple. Plenty of labor-saving devices—just the sort of house that a girl like Alice would love to be in. Don't you think any girl would prefer to marry a man who thought so much of her that he wanted to give her a tiny, easy-to-take-care-of place, instead of a great big house where she'd be burdened to death?"

"And the bungalow isn't your friend's at all!" cried Mrs. Ferguson delightedly. "It's yours."

"It really does belong to a friend of mine! Don't you see," he explained, "I showed the house to her so I could tell her it was my idea of the sort of a house she'd like to live in. But I didn't make the mistake of springing the whole completed job on her. Not at all! Why, one of the biggest things in any woman's life is planning the sort of a home she wants to live in, and actually seeing it go up! Remember that Brahm has put up his house to suit himself—to please himself and no one else in the world! Do you think Alice will ever marry him now?"

"No, I don't," exclaimed Mrs. Ferguson, emphatically and joyfully.

And Alice didn't marry Brahm. She's Mrs. Ben Underwood now, and very happy indeed in a little bungalow of her own designing, which is the envy of all her friends and relatives for its comfort and coziness.

Which goes to prove that Ben really knew what he was talking about when he said he understood women—the one woman, at least, in whom he was particularly interested.

An excellent Christmas gift—The Plymouth Mail, for a year, $1.50.

One of the outstanding events of Northville church history took place last Sunday with the formal opening and dedication of the new Methodist church house. Bishop Thomas Nicholson and District Superintendent, Dr. John E. Martin and a number of the Methodist pastors in the Detroit area took part in the services.

Picked Up About Town

Reading that they are now making sugar out of sawdust, Dad Plymouth says the day may come when they'll be making candy out of old safety razor blades.

They've invented a typewriter that composes music. The next step is to invent some way of getting people to listen to it.

Dad Plymouth calls attention to the fact that for the first time in ages California and Florida have agreed on something. They both went for Hoover.

Maybe we could have prevented a long, cold winter if we could have stored up some of the political hot air wasted during the campaign.

"Not every young man can leave footprints on the sand of time now-a-days," declares Dad Plymouth. "but most of them can leave tire tracks."

Dad Plymouth declares that not everything is as bad as it sounds. He says many a young married couple find happiness in a mortgage-covered cottage.

Automobiles and husbands are alike. Take good care of them and you won't have to be running around hunting for a new one.

Dad Plymouth predicts that some of these days a pedestrian will wrap himself up in a roll of barbed wire and give some motorist the surprise of his life.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The winners of the Yell contest conducted by the H-Y club were announced by Royon Miller at the general assembly last Wednesday. The first prize was divided between Helen Holden and Nettie Hawkins, and the second between Nettie Hawkins and Alma Wagonschutz. The prize-winning songs and yells will be given at the next assembly.

An announcement of our second debate was made by Ruth Hotsler. The debate will be with Dearborn on December eighth at eight o'clock. The members of the team are Rhea Peck, Alice Gilbert and Harold Hubert. Transportation for all pupils who have no way to reach Dearborn will be provided for by members of the National Forensic League.

The first league basketball game will be played with Northville on December thirteenth, this should be a lucky day for us as we defeated Northville at football on the thirteenth.

We had two surprises for this week. Rev. Nichol gave a short but very interesting talk on the meaning of Thanksgiving. Lawrence Livingston played three selections on his saxophone: "The Waltz Melody," "Sally of My Dreams" and "Sonny Boy." Mr. Emms announced at the close of the assembly that we would be excused fifteen minutes early as this was Thanksgiving week.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Practicing every night after school, the members of the local High School basketball squad are putting forth all their effort to get in condition for the opening game.

The first game of the season is with Northville High School, December 13, at the local High School gym. The Plymouth and Northville contests are always the most exciting games played in the league, for each school does its very best to put a victorious team on the floor.

The squad has been cut from fifty-two to twenty-eight candidates and at the beginning of next week, Coach Matherson will reduce the number to twenty. The second team will follow the first team and play a series of games.

Lineup for the Plymouth and Northville game on December 13, will be published as soon as they can be obtained.

A LA FRENCH

One member of the French Club, Frances Ingall, must have been quite happy last week. She was ill and each one in the group sent her a French letter.

The Journal Intime was again edited and some once-popular songs, "Peggy O'Neil" and "Yes, We Have No Bananas," were translated into the adopted tongue and learned.

HOME ECONOMICS AT SCHOOL

Everything has seemed quiet around the Home Economics room late but there has been a lot going on. Miss Ruth Frigard, state supervisor of home economics, visited us a short time ago making several worth while suggestions for the department. She also gave a short talk on the value and possibilities of this subject to the eleventh and twelfth grade girls.

Did you ever know that large collars and lace collars and cotton jackets are very good for spring wear? They are. The older classes of Mrs. Dykehouse saw a style show at the Hotel Mayflower where spring gowns were being exhibited. Another interesting fact was that metallic butts are quite the vogue this season.

Any of you parents who have daughters in the 7 B sewing class can expect hemstitched towels for your Christmas gift—single, double and Italian stitched. They have already completed two problems as they all them. The first was a nightgown and the second was a slip. Mothers were helped out Thanksgiving when the eighth grade cooking class made cranberry sauce and molded it to take home. Besides learning to prepare meals they are also learning to serve them. The girls enjoy this. Miss Birkenhauser's 8 B and 8 A grades are alternating in the lunch-room.

SCIENCE AND MUSKRATS

Charles Thompson has adopted a queer, although interesting hobby—that of capturing live muskrats. He catches them with the ordinary steel traps and the other day he brought one to a science class of Mr. Dykehouse. It was even more fun than a dog in school, which always causes a riot. Charles gave a five-minute talk on the habits and life of the little animals, answering all questions that he was asked by the other students.

STARKWEATHER NOTES

Mary McIntosh is a new student in Miss Johnson's room and they are very glad to have her with them. Doris Fishlock and Claude Bauman, respectively, stood highest in the 5 A Reading test while Margaret Brande and Heulah Starkweather carried off the honors in the 6 A Reading test.

The children in Mrs. Moles' room enjoyed the picture study of the "Tosa Indian." They have learned about the eastern Indians in connection with the Pilgrims.

Miss Balfour's third and fourth grade pupils have made Thanksgiving baskets and written stories of the first Thanksgiving.

Norman Fagin is a new student in Miss Spoledeberg's first grade room who enrolled on November 27th.

CENTRAL SCHOOL NOTES

Vacation is over and everyone enjoyed it immensely though it is little hard to get back to work.

In Miss Wilmore's room there are no "furlows" or "absences" so far, for Virginia Brocklehurst, Mary Jane Osaver and Elbarna Shrader.

By Mrs. Root's room the Thanksgiving borders have been taken down and they are planning a border of Christmas trees in red pots for one blackboard and one of Santa Clauses for the other. In art classes Miss Sawyer is having them make red and green paper chains and lanterns. They are filling a huge red stocking with toys to help Santa out and are also making scrap books for the children at the Sanatorium. Ray Groomer is the sixth on her list for perfect teeth.

Everyone in Miss Hallahan's room had perfect spelling papers last week. Vivian Towle's name has been added to the perfect teeth chart in this room.

The children found the spelling contest in Miss Fenner's room such a success that they have begun another one. Her 6 B class is making posters for the story "The Race for the Silver Skates." Prizes will be awarded.

DEBATING.

Plymouth's league debating team, Rhea Peck, Alice Gilbert and Harold Hubert, is pointed out slaps for the next debate, improvement having been shown in practically every practice.

The second league debate is against Dearborn High school, at Dearborn, Thursday, Dec. 6, at 8 o'clock.

Plymouth emerged from her first league debate with four points, as did Dearborn, so plenty of action and some real debating seem to be assured. While we cannot absolutely prophecy a Plymouth victory, it is certain that Dearborn will have to extend themselves to cope with the blue and white.

A strong Birmingham debating team visited Plymouth Monday, Nov. 21, at 6 o'clock and met an equally strong Plymouth team. The Birminghamites, Patricia Chandler, Norma Martin and Richard Fleming, were strong as individuals, and together with their coach, Mr. Corveant, had cooked up a novel case. However, the Plymouth "Rocks" lived up to their name and made an interesting debate of it. The regular league team was used in this debate.

The same team journeyed to River Rouge Wednesday, Nov. 28, at 8 o'clock, to meet another strong team, thus getting additional practice in preparation for Dearborn.

The River Rouge debaters, Mabel Thornton, Allison Adkin and Ruth Eder, with the rebuttle order, Allison Adkin, Ruth Eder and Mabel Thornton, gave Plymouth their most interesting debate of the season, not excluding our league debate. Besides the coaches there were eight people present, all from Plymouth, to hear a snappy, interesting debate.

Meanwhile team B has not been idle. Monday, Nov. 26, at 4 o'clock, they met the Northville league team at Northville. Katherine Stalter, Allen Beard and Madeline Cole compose Northville team. Mrs. Shawley, Northville coach, formerly of Plymouth, said that there had been a great improvement in team B since the first practice dual debate with Northville. Lawrence Rudlek, Doris Williams and Lester Daly debated for Plymouth. In the former debate only Doris Williams and Lester Daly had met Northville.

Team B also journeyed to Fordson High school Monday, Dec. 3, to meet Fordson's first team. Plymouth was again represented by Lawrence Rudlek, Doris Williams and Lester Daly, meeting Bayard Poole, Arthur Podlewski and George Gerber, of Fordson. The debate was rather close fought, team B putting forth its best effort and showing up well against Fordson. Mr. Westlake, Fordson's coach, showed a lot of interest in our B team, which he states has great possibilities. In both the debates against Northville and against Fordson team B has shown marked improvement, helping to prove that old adage, "Practice makes perfect." Mr. Perdue believes in it and uses it constantly, as the best way to build up a strong debating team.

SOMETHING NEW.

Last Tuesday night saw the beginning of a new plan which the Torch club has successfully started to work out. The candle lighting service was used for the first time along with the induction to admit Harvey Segnitz and Milton Partridge. A torch was lit in the regular ceremony as symbolical of carrying on the purpose of the chapter.

"To create and maintain a high standard of Christian living in the community." Then followed the candle service, conducted to the strains of "Follow the Gleam," played by Claude Becker on the violin. This service is to be made an annual affair held near Thanksgiving time for the present and alumni members of the Torch chapter for the purpose of keeping the alumni in closer touch with the organization.

There is yet another part to the plan. At Christmas and Easter the secretary of the Torch club will write letters to both present and alumni members and designate a time in each of the holidays when each boy will renew his pledge in his own room or home by lighting a candle.

To insure success of this undertaking the alumni have organized, with Gerald Hondorp as president and Richard Smith as secretary.

Mr. Walker, high school secretary of the Detroit area, who spoke at this last meeting, is very much pleased with the idea. The Plymouth Torch chapter is only in its second semester of existence and it has been given honorable mention at Detroit for being one of the most successful and lively of Torch clubs.

THE CAMP FIRE.

Everything is beginning to be more or less "Christmasy" now just before the holidays, but some of the first signs manifested themselves in the beautiful Christmas ceremonial which the Camp Fire Girls had on Monday night at Christine and Elizabeth Nichol's home. Their program was as follows:

- Processional.
- Hymn Sign.
- "Wishes for Aye."
- Candle Lighting Ceremony:
- Work—Margaret Haskell.
- Health—Mary Jane Hamilton.
- Love—Madelyn Blunk.
- Law in Union:
- Sock Beauty—Matthew 6:28-29.
- Christine Nichol.
- Give—Services—Matthew 10:24-28.
- Irene Humphries.
- Purpose Knowledge—Proverbs 3:13-17.
- Ruth McConnell.
- Be Trustworthy—Matthew 25:21.
- Esther Egge.
- Hold on to Health—I Corinthians 3:16-17.
- Elaine Hamilton.
- Glorify Work—Proverbs 31:30-29.
- Curtie Gorton.
- Be Happy—John 15:9-13.
- Vera Woods.
- "Lay Me to Sleep."
- Initiation of Woodgatherers and Initiation of Firemakers—Miss Cary.
- Awarding Honors—Mrs. Stevens.
- Report on Scrap Books—Janet Blackstaff.
- Report on Christmas Plans—Mrs. Stevens.
- Extinguishing Candle Ceremony:
- Work—Jenna Strong.
- Health—Gladys Zeltch.
- Love—Zerepha Blunk.
- Credo—Led by Elizabeth Nichol.
- Recessional.

After this took place Mrs. Nichol served some very delicious refreshments.

Yum! Yum! Everybody enjoys a Christmas dinner, and complete plans have been made for the one these girls are going to have together. There will be a tree, too, along with it.

The three best scrap books which the girls sent to Detroit were made by Irene Humphries, Elaine Hamilton and Christine Nichol; the second best by Jean Strong, Mary Jane Hamilton and Madeline Blunk.

With an average of 95.2 per cent in her studies, Christine Nichol received the scholarship honor for last month.

STATE OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE.

Written by Cecil Packard. The twenty-sixth annual State Older Boys' conference was held in Flint Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and 2. It was under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Michigan, in co-operation with the State Council of Religious Education, Christian Endeavor societies and co-operating committees of the churches.

The purpose of this convention was to discuss frankly the problems of boyhood and to work out plans that would help the junior and senior high school boy.

from the Presbyterian church: Charles Ball and Edward De Porter, from the Torch club: Charles Beeble, from the senior class: and Charles Foster, Erwin Foster, Gale Kenyon and Cecil Packard, from the H-Y club.

About six hundred Flint homes threw open their doors to receive these boys and the good time that these people showed them will never be forgotten.

The conference was divided into four general meetings, and a great many forum meetings, which were discussions among the boys.

Some of the special speakers were Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the chapel, University of Chicago; W. G. Spencer, president of Hillsdale college, who was no stranger to the boys, having spoken at several previous H-Y meetings attended by the Plymouth boys, and Roy Sorenson, National Council secretary for boys' work in the Central Region and W. W. Norton, well known for his work in the field of music, directed all music during the convention.

Each boy returned to Plymouth with new ideas, new visions and new inspirations, eager to work together for the promotion of their great problem, boy relations.

The conference opened Friday afternoon with an address by Charles W. Gilkey. He told us of his own first conference; how it was here that he first caught the vision of what he wanted to be and his whole life was changed. He spoke about the kinds of life and he wondered if the boys got theirs out of a bottle and a cigarette. He gave pointers as to the kind of a girl a boy should pick. He closed by telling the boys that God was always ready to help them in time of trouble if they would only ask Him.

Dr. Gilkey spoke again in the evening, his topic being "Welsh Coal." We all know that this particular kind has more energy in it than any other. He compared this to people. He said that when a person gives all he has and then goes ahead and does a little more, he is like Welsh coal. One illustration he gave the boys was that of two football players. Their coach had appointed one as the star. These two boys stood up and said that they would not. This was Welsh coal in them—backbone.

Dr. Spencer again spoke Saturday evening, with his topic taken from Matthew, 25th chapter and 20th verse: "For unto everyone that hath not, shall be taken even that which he hath." He handled this in a way which we boys had never heard before and he held the attention of all from beginning to end.

A triumphal concluding program was effectively carried out by Dr. W. G. Spencer. His final lecture was "Friendship." His discussion of the various types of friendship, its many values, both in sentimental, in utilitarian pursuits, and a general criteria for picking friends held the full attention of the 1,200 boys. As a fitting conclusion, both to his talk and to the conference in general, he asked those boys who felt that they had profited by the conference, were more ready to live a life of friendship (similar to that of Jesus) to stand in their feet. The entire assembly stood and sang "Follow the Gleam."

The final announcement of the conference was that Frank Scott, of Eaton Rapids, had been elected president of the 1929 conference.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is Holy Communion Sunday for the men of the parish.
December 12th the ladies will give a supper in the auditorium, commencing at 5:30 and continuing till all are served. After the supper the young people will hold a keeno party. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.
The sympathy of the parish is extended to Delbert King in the sad loss of his wife, Margaret. Mrs. Margaret King died early Monday morning at the home of her parents in Ypsilanti. She was buried from St. John's church, Ypsilanti, Wednesday morning. The services were held by the Rev. Charles Linskey, and the Rev. F. C. Lefevre presided at the service.
Saturday, Dec. 8 (tomorrow) is a holy day of obligation, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception. Masses will be said at 6 and 7:30 a. m.
Christmas is close at hand and the year 1928 is drawing to a close. Let all settle their accounts before the new year. A sacred Christmas concert will be given this year before the midnight services Christmas.
Peter Lomanico and Rose Petrillo were united in marriage by Rev. Lefevre last Saturday morning.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

The Christmas tree entertainment of the Sunday school will be held Thursday evening, Dec. 20. Keep this evening free to spend with the children.
The Busy Women's class met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. George Cramer. There was a large attendance and the meeting was most enjoyable. Mrs. Hummel, whose birthday anniversary coincided with the class meeting, was made the recipient of a beautiful vase, along with congratulations and good wishes from the members of the class.
The Woman's Auxiliary will hold the December meeting on Wednesday afternoon next at 2:30 p. m. Reports from the bazaar will be presented and the business of the month transacted. A social hour will be enjoyed and refreshments served.
Mr. Partridge's class had a fine evening at the home of their teacher, Melburn Partridge, Penniman avenue, on Tuesday evening. At the same time Mr. Dykehouse, with his class of boys, were joined in a basket ball game and social gathering with the boys of Mr. Emmens' class at the Methodist Episcopal community house. All report a fine time.

NEWBURG CIRCUIT NOTES.

Our creed:
We would just do for our Father
What He would have us do.
Then do for others and ourselves
That which would please Him, too.
Beech church, so conveniently located to Granddale Gardens, offers an opportunity for service and worship to all of that growing community. Plenty of room and a hearty welcome to strangers. Services not too early for the healthy people of today and not too late to interfere with dinner. Make this church your "home church."
Newburg church, standing as a sentinel at the crossings, in a small but delightful community, offers a means of spiritual growth to many. Every Sunday school class holds out welcoming hands to any and all. Beginning on Sunday evening, Dec. 16, there will be a series of services bearing upon philanthropic or Christian work of many kinds in which all are interested. Heading the list will be Wesleyan Players from Ann Arbor, presenting the religious play, "Mansions." No admission. You are welcome.
Perrinsville church is now the proud and happy parent of a thriving and happy Sunday school, meeting on Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The children are planning a Christmas program and are gladly extending invitations to all in the community to meet with them. Junior choir meets at 2 o'clock for practice with Mrs. Winchester. Work was begun on the excavation for the furnace on Wednesday of this week by an interested group of men of this community, the ladies serving them with a very beautiful dinner at the home of Mrs. J. A. Lefevre at noon.

The chicken dinner and bazaar at the home of Mrs. Pettibone, Dec. 12, 5:30 p. m., until all are served. None want to miss this, we are sure.

BAPTIST NOTES

The young people's Sunday school class held their monthly business meeting and pot-luck supper at the Baptist parsonage Monday evening. There were 15 present, including Mrs. Arthur Hampton, of Detroit. Mrs. Hampton is a Baraca and Philaetha organizer and has traveled extensively in the interest of this work. After hearing Mrs. Hampton's message the young people decided to organize two such classes.
The Baptist church will meet with the other Protestant churches Sunday evening at the Methodist church. The H-Y boys will report on their annual meeting.

METHODIST NOTES

"Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts."
During this busy season of the year plan to spend forty-five minutes at the prayer and praise service each Wednesday night, 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock, and see if you don't feel refreshed and strengthened for the remainder of the week. It is a great help to one not to neglect the spiritual life. "Take time to be holy. Speak oft with thy God."
Next Wednesday, Dec. 12, our annual L. A. S. Christmas party will be held. Dinner will be served at 12:30 o'clock, followed by the distribution of presents, according to our usual custom. During the afternoon a group, under the leadership of Mrs. Borek, will present a play. All the women of the congregation are cordially invited to meet with us.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

It was very gratifying to see the large number of people who made their communion last Sunday, the largest since Easter. It is a good beginning for our Advent preparation for Christmas.
While the religious census is not yet completed, there being a good number of not-at-homes to be revisited, the results to date are very enlightening and satisfactory. It is to be hoped that a great many of those who have now definitely committed themselves as to their proper place of worship will soon find it in their hearts to renew their affiliations. That would be an especially fitting thing to do just before Christmas.
The churches extend a hearty welcome to all those who have no affiliation at present, or who find that their own church is not represented in Plymouth. We invite all who will to attend our service next Sunday morning.
Preparations are being made for the children's Christmas festival, to be held during Christmas week, on St. John's Day, December 27.

EATS SAUERKRAUT NOW, FEELS YEARS YOUNGER

"Now I eat even sauerkraut and sausage and feel fine. Adierka ended stomach gas and I feel 10 years younger," Mrs. M. Davis.

A BRAND NEW PONTIAC IS COMING!

IN KEEPING with its policy of progress, Oakland has for months been working on a new Pontiac Six. It is more than a refinement of its famous predecessors. It is essentially a brand new car from beginning to end.

Details will be announced later. But this much can be said now. This new Pontiac will represent an even greater innovation today than the first Pontiac represented in 1926! Without departing from the low-price field, it will bring to this field finer elements of style, performance and luxury never before provided in a car so inexpensive to buy!

The Case of the Day-Coach Passenger versus the Elimination of the Pullman Surcharge

ABOLITION of the Pullman Surcharge is once more being urged for passage by the Congress of the United States.

ADoption of the Robinson (Senate) Bill involves direct losses to the railroads in revenues aggregating $40,000,000 per annum and this loss of necessity will have to be made up in some manner. There are three expedients only:

- (1) Increased passenger rates for all passengers whether in the day coach or in the Pullman or Parlor Cars.
- (2) Restricting passenger service on certain lines.
- (3) Charging this expense to the shippers of freight.

ANY one of these three expedients is undesirable, unfair from the community standpoint, and not in the best interests of society as a whole.

AFTER all the Pullman service—for passengers traveling in sleeping or parlor cars,—is a high class hotel service on wheels, that a great part of the traveling public does not demand nor expect.

THE surcharge—the 50 per cent. additional—tacked on to the regular Pullman charge—is the special revenue derived by the railroads for the performing of special service to the passengers who want to travel in extra comfort and luxury. Such passengers require:

- A heavier capital investment in cars per capita.
- Two and one half times the space that is allotted to the passenger in the day coach.
- An average of twelve thousand two hundred and sixty pounds of car as against 8,800 pounds per passenger riding in day coaches.
- Parking of Pullman cars before train departure from and after arrival at the terminals involving considerable extra work and heavier terminal costs and requiring the holding, for that purpose only, of the railroads' highest-priced lands in the larger cities.
- Pullman cars being often moved one way empty—as for instance, in the California and Florida service, which means a double road haul for one fare and in many cases to take care of these movements, cars have to be hauled extra distances.
- Railroads having to guarantee earnings on every line of Pullman cars operated and contracting for their use over a period of years.

ALL of these obligations are extra expenses upon the railroads which are not involved in the handling of day coach passengers.

IT is a principle of good business and good government to make the user of a service pay for that special service. That is followed in the higher charge for air mail as against the ordinary service.

THE Interstate Commerce Commission has twice refused to abolish the surcharge as being contrary to the basic principle of the greatest good to the greatest number, the guiding standard of all of that body's decisions. The Interstate Commerce Commission is a properly constituted court that represents the interests of all the people. Why should its decisions be upset for the benefit of the few to the prejudice of the interests of the many.

Write your senator or congressman to-day protesting against this unfair and uneconomic legislation

MAN AND WIFE BACK TO HEALTH; PRAISE KONJOLA

One Of The Many Cases Of Homes Freed From Suffering And Made Happy Again.

MR. & MRS. DONALD DICKSON

As the fame of Konjola spreads, there pour in day by day an endless stream of endorsements of this super-medicine from the men and women, old and young, that are rejoicing in the new and glorious health this remedy has brought them. Think of the new happiness in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickson, 42 Alden avenue, Battle Creek. Read what Mrs. Dickson says:

"What Konjola did for me is nothing short of wonderful. For years I suffered from indigestion and kidney trouble. Medicine after medicine did not a bit of good, and I grew worse. I lost in weight, strength and general health. When things looked darkest a friend recommended Konjola, and I started with it. Within a few weeks I was well again; full of joyous health. My system is built up, and I feel years and years younger. My husband had rheumatism for 15 years, and, seeing what Konjola did for me, he started taking it. Wonder of wonders—it restored him just as it had me. He was made a new man again in a few short weeks, free from indigestion, headaches and rheumatism. Surely Konjola has been a blessing in this home."

Konjola is sold in Plymouth at COMMUNITY PHARMACY and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.

CAPITAL REVIVES OLD-TIME DANCE

Debutantes Lengthen Skirts for Staid Steps.

Washington.—Turning completely away from the jazz of recent years, Washington society this winter will revive the stately, old-fashioned cotillon as quite the latest and most correct thing in dancing.

Debutantes who figure largely on the season's calendar are eagerly planning lengthened frocks of frills and furbelows to match the dignified figures of the cotillon. They are consulting hair dressers concerning false knots of curls to attach to their bobbed locks.

Invitations for the first of the affairs to be given at the Mayflower hotel December 10 by the Washington Bachelors are already out. The list of the committee in charge is thickly sprinkled with honorables and generals and commanders.

All sorts of novel stunts and favors are being planned. There will be two orchestras, one imported from New York. Favors, by which the men will find their partners, will eclipse anything seen in Washington for many a day. The older members of the Bachelors' club who are versed in the ceremonious etiquette of a former day when society shone in stately splendor instead of scintillating jazz, will lead the younger generation through the figures of the cotillon.

Not alone the cotillions, but the fact that many of the season's debutantes will emerge into the social limelight with not only one coming-out party, but two, makes this season unique. Hereafter one ten or one ball was deemed sufficient to give Miss Debbie her due, but now many of the younger set are demanding both.

Sends Lock of Hair

to Protect Legacy

Washington.—A lock of "brown hair with a reddish tint" was in closed in a letter, signed with the name of Mrs. M. J. LaMay and post-marked Redlands, Calif., which was received by Theodore Cogswell, district registrar of wills. The writer warned him that a "blonde woman" would impersonate her in an attempt to gain a legacy.

The letter informed Cogswell that the "blonde woman" has discovered where property of the writer is located and "will claim to be me and fool you if she can." However, with all the description and novel identification, Cogswell is still in a quandary, for the writer failed to designate the identity of the deceased from whom the legacy is expected. She declared that she would later forward Cogswell an address where an answer could locate her.

New Device "Cans" Sound and Then Gives It Back

London.—The Daily Express said recently a device had been perfected which recorded sound and reproduced it immediately in full volume and with clarity and accuracy.

A short test speech spoken into an ordinary telephone microphone came back with startling distinctness one minute after it was finished. It was recorded on a few inches of magnetized wire; no wax, chemicals or other fixing materials were needed.

The device can be attached to a telephone and the entire conversation re-heard immediately after it is finished. The paper said the device was the simplest, cheapest and most practical system of sound reproduction ever invented. It is a development of an invention known to experimenters for thirty years.

Baby Bites Pet Dog.

Berkeley, Calif.—Little Stanley Jones, eight-months-old Berkeley boy, and his new bull dog pup, cut their full set of teeth about the same time. Unluckily for the bull pup Stanley decided to try out his new teeth on the pup and the dog adopted a similar policy toward Stanley. The boy and dog were taken to general hospital for treatment and recovered.

Find Stone Age Relics.

Khandebiz Klidze, Caucasus—Stone age implements estimated to be 16,000 years old have been recovered in the Caucasus near here. They include bone and stone hatchets, tinnoine instruments, bone needles and cave bear bones.

8 Languages Soon to Be Taught at Once

Paris.—Despite the alleged wear and tear of modern life every one has time enough to learn eight languages at one time, says Dr. E. P. Samsonovitch, a Paris lawyer, who has just completed a volume which fellow professors admit is convincing.

Common phrases, questions, grammatical rules, short conversations are arranged in parallel columns—French, English, Spanish, German, Italian, Dutch, Rumanian and even Esperanto. Without the aid of a professor, the Parisian savant believes that a vocabulary of 3,000 words in each language can be mastered within a few weeks, as well as the ordinary terms used in banking and other commercial correspondence.

IN THE THEATRE

"HIS LAST HAUL"

A drama of the underworld is revealed in sympathetic understanding in "His Last Haul," a Marshall Neilan production featuring Tom Moore and Seena Owen which will be shown at the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, December 9 and 10.

Neilan's genius in catching human moods and emotions for the camera has never been more strikingly evident than in this production which he made for FBO from Louis Sarecky's story.

In swift-moving yet human drama, he tells of the romance of a criminal and a Salvation Army girl.

Moore in the criminal—a man hardened by life and environment whose quick hand and alert brain have so far enabled him to escape the law. He meets Blanche—played by Miss Owen—and determines to go straight, only to learn that the arrest of both himself and the girl has been ordered.

The commission of one final crime offers a door to escape but he sticks to his promise and, in a deeply moving climax, gives himself up to the police. How the tangle of love and the law is unraveled should not be told here out of consideration for those who have not yet seen the picture.

The principals are ably supported by a cast which included Al Roscoe, Charles Mason, Henry Sedley and William Seidmore.

"FOUR SONS"

"Four Sons," Fox production, is coming to the Penniman Allen Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, December 12 and 13.

Briefly, it is the simple, intensely human story of a mother and her four sons. The theme is faith—the faith of the mother in humanity. In spite of all the troubles that beset the old lady, her confidence remains unbroken.

There are contrasting back-grounds of America and Bavaria during the war. It was not a war picture, however, there being only a flash of the battlefield, depicting the meeting of the two brothers in opposing armies. This scene is one of the emotional highlights of the picture.

The role of the mother is beautifully portrayed by Margaret Mann, the sixty year old extra who achieved everlasting film fame through her remarkable performance in this production. The four sons are no less admirably played by James Hall, Charles Morton, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., and George Meeker.

Others in the large company are

Earle Foxe, whose character role is a distinct departure from the usual comedy parts with which this player is identified, June Collyer, Ruth Mix, daughter of the noted screen star, Tom Mix, Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, son of Mme. Schumann-Heink, the opera singer, and Archduke Leopold of Austria. John Ford, the man who made "Mother Machree" and "The Iron Horse" directed the production.

"MORAN OF THE MARINES"

Rapid-fire action describes "Moran of the Marines," starring Richard Dix, which comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre, Saturday, December 15. The story is swift moving from beginning to end packed with thrills, tense moments, and laughter.

Dix is at his best in the happy-go-lucky role he portrays in this picture. While he has his serious moments, his ability to handle the laughs makes "Moran" one of his finest to date.

Ruth Elder, the pretty aviatrix who drew so much attention with her almost successful flight across the Atlantic, makes her professional motion picture debut in this picture. She performs in a veteran manner, and impresses one as being a natural screen "find." Dix plays an irresponsible youngster who excites his rich uncle's ire by getting into jail. He wants to go to China because the girl he has "fallen" for is going there, so he selects the United States Marine Corps to send him there. What he hasn't found out, however, is that the young lady is the daughter of the marine general.

The picture is one of quick action in which members of the supporting cast rise to the occasion. Roscoe Karns gives an admirable characterization of Dix's buddy, and Duke Martin portrays a hard boiled sergeant in a typical manner. Brooks Benedict does excellent "menacing" as the villain and Capt. E. H. Calvert is perfect as the marine general.

The story was written for the screen by Linton Wells, famed war correspondent. Frank Strayer, who directed the production, lives up to his previous hits, and injects plenty of breezy action into the play.

All in all it is a very pleasing picture.

ALCOHOL AND GLYCERINE CONTENT TABLE FOR RADIATORS

As winter comes, the American motorist will have to watch the daily weather reports more closely than he has the rest of the year.

For on the temperature of each locality will depend the amount of anti-freeze solution to use in his cooling system. This is especially true if denatured alcohol is being used.

In order to keep the motorist well informed regarding this important phase of motoring, the United States Bureau of Standards has experimented with various forms of anti-freeze in varying proportions and under different temperatures. As a result, the engineers have formulated a table of figures telling what proportion of anti-freeze to use with water for the degree of temperature expected at any locality or at any time of winter.

Here is the table:

Degrees Fahrenheit	Per cent Alcohol	Per cent Glycerine
20	19	22
10	30	32
0	38	40
-10	45	47
-20	52	54

The alcohol here considered is the denatured variety, 188-proof. The glycerine is the pure, distilled chemical that is now being prepared in several commercial forms for radiator use especially.

Forms of ethylene glycol may be considered for the purposes of this table as "glycerine."

The temperature given is the lowest to which the percentage of anti-freeze and water may be used with safety. Below that temperature, the proportion should be increased in order to keep the solution from freezing.

Water ordinarily freezes at 32 degrees Fahrenheit. In order to keep it from freezing when the outside temperature is lower than 32 degrees Fahrenheit, a proportion of anti-freeze must be added to the water. Since the freezing point of the anti-freeze is lower than that of water, the mixture of this liquid with the water of the cooling system tends to keep the resultant solution from freezing.

This is the explanation for the use of anti-freeze.

As the temperature of the air outside drops it is obvious that the amount of anti-freeze in proportion with water would have to be raised. Thus, according to the table given, if the outside temperature is expected to go down to 20 degrees above zero, which is 12 degrees below water's freezing point, alcohol to the amount of 19 per cent, or one-fifth of the total cooling system content, should be used, with the remainder water. If glycerine is to be used, this proportion would have to be 22 per cent of the entire amount.

In order to tell exactly how much alcohol would make one-fifth of the cooling system content at 20 degrees Fahrenheit, the capacity of the cooling system must be known. This is given in the instruction book that goes with each automobile. If this book is not handy, any dealer or service station attendant will furnish the information.

In the case of alcohol, only so much should be used as is necessary to satisfy present conditions, or at least for a time until a rise in temperature is expected. This can be gauged by the time of year and the average temperature conditions of each locality.

If glycerine is used, however, the problem is simplified. The lowest possible temperature over the entire winter may be considered at the very start and the proportion of glycerine suggested by the table for that temperature mixed with the water.

Thereafter there should be no more worry about the proper amount of glycerine in the cooling system, provided there is no leak.
